Sunday Series Concert Begins Busy Arts Calendar

McMurrin-Short To Play Brahms On Sunday Series

Cary McMurrin, pianist, and Dora Short, violinist, will open the 1982-83 Sunday Series of concerts with a memorial performance honoring the series' benefactor, Warren Green, former director of the Campus Center.

Short and McMurrin will present a program of Brahms at 3 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 12 in the Campus Center Ballroom. There is no admission charge.

The program will include the three violin and piano sonatas of Johannes Brahms: Sonata in G Major, Op. 78; Sonata in A Major, Op. 100; and Sonata in D minor, Op. 108.

McMurrin and Short have been engaged to perform this program at the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C., on March 6, 1983.

A native of Newport News, Dora Short is first violinist of the Feldman Chamber Music Society and vice president and musical director of the organization. The Feldman Quartet is beginning its 36th season under her leadership.

Mrs. Short has performed as a recitalist and also as soloist with orchestras from Maine to Georgia. She has played in Town Hall, N.Y., the Juilliard School and Abraham Goodman House, N.Y., several times to high critical acclaim.

Having served on the faculties of William and Mary, Old Dominion, University of Maine, Alfred University, N.Y., and the Juilliard, she has devoted her musical life to the Tidewater area both as a performer and teacher.

She is presently Performer-in-Residence at Old Dominion University and assistant to Joseph Fuchs, violinist at the Summer Chamber Music Institute at Alfred University. A specialist in the sonata literature, she has taught in that capacity at the Juilliard. She has taught many successful musicians in New York as well as in the Tidewater area for 40 years.

At the time of his retirement as conductor of the Virginia Classical Orchestra last June, McMurrin was named Conductor Emeritus of the Virginia Orchestra Group.

Last fall, in addition to his regular chamber music concerts at the Governor's Palace, he conducted eight performances of the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation's revival of Dr. Thomas Augustine Arrie's ballad opera, "Thomas and Sally."

In April 1981, McMurrin was piano soloist in the opening concert of the annual American Music Festival by the National Gallery Orchestra in Washington under the direction of Richard Bales. McMurrin did the first Washington performance of William Schuman's Concerto for Piano and Chamber Orchestra. This performance was later broadcast nationally on Public Radio.

A native of Newport News, McMurrin studies piano with his aunt, Ethel Cottrell

Epes, and with Bristow Hardin before winning a scholarship to study with Olga Samaroff Stokowski. He holds bachelor's and master's degrees from the Philadelphia College of the Performing Arts and studied conducting and composing while there with Vincent Persichetti. For four summers he did special postgraduate work

Children's Doctor On Cosmos Series

Dr. Lendon H. Smith, nationally known pediatrician, author, teacher and speaker, will discuss "Diet, Behavior and Self-Image," at 8 p.m., Monday, Sept. 13, at the Hampton Coliseum as part of the "Our Future in the Cosmos" lecture series, sponsored jointly by the College and the NASA Langley Research Center.

Free tickets are available in advance by calling the William and Mary Office of Special Programs in Newport News at 877-9231. After Sept. 6, tickets will be available from the Coliseum box office and at the door the evening of the lecture.

Dr. Smith is the author of "The Children's Doctor," "The Encyclopedia of Baby and Child Care," "New Wives' Tales," "Improving Your Child's Behavior Chemistry," "Feed Your Kids Right," and "Foods for Healthy Kids." He has been a frequent guest on TV talk shows such as "Phil Donahue," "The Tonight Show," and "House Call."

Dr. Smith

Dr. Smith has been in the forefront of recent interest by the medical profession in the relationship of nutrition to health and disease. Although medical research has only recently been concerned with determining the role of various foods, vitamins and minerals in disease, aging and well-being, Dr. Smith's 30 years of practice have convinced him that many so-called behavior problems and irritating personal habits are the result of physiological and chemical imbalances rather than parental or psychological pressures.

NY Touring Company To Present 'Home'

"Home," a play about a former North Carolina boy, which garnered nominations for two Tony Awards and the Outer Circle Critics Citation for the Best Show of the Year in 1980, will be presented by a New York touring company, Daedalus, at 8:15 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 15 in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall by Daedalus Productions. Tickets are $4 for the general public; $3 for faculty, staff and students of the College.

The play, written by actor Samm-Art Williams, spotlights a young black man, born and raised in Cross Roads, N.C. Cephus Miles is a bright, playful character who loves his simple life - the field work on his grandfather's farm lightened by the kick of moonshine and rip-roaring Saturday night fish fries. But, on the verge of manhood, he suffers hard losses - his girl, his family's land and finally his freedom. Quoting the Commandments, he is hauled off to prison for refusing to fight in Vietnam.

On his release, Cephus runs north to the big city for nights of glitter and high times. But the life he lives there - with welfare hand-outs and street corner drug dealers, fills him with a longing for home. He takes the bus back to North Carolina where he finds a startling surprise. A gift of love and friendship proves to him that the "on vacation" God he used to pray to "has finally come back from Miami."

Although joyously entertaining, "Home" powerfully portrays one man's courage and his will to survive and triumph. The play is fast paced and funny, sharply attuned to the wit and songs of its people.

Bargain Tickets

Members of the faculty and staff are reminded they are eligible for the $10 student rate for the William and Mary Theatre season which this year will include "A Streetcar Named Desire," Oct. 8, 9, 10, 14, 15, 16; "Tartuffe," Nov. 18, 19, 20, 21; "Kiss Me Kate," Feb. 17, 18, 19, 25, 26, 27; and "Of Mice and Men," April 14, 15, 16, 17.

Subscription checks should be made payable to the College of William and Mary and sent to the theatre department in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

For further information, please call the theatre office, ext. 4395.

Court Room Provides Set

"Trial by Jury," a one-act musical by Gilbert and Sullivan, will be presented Sept. 16, 18, 23, 24, 25 by the Sinfonicon Opera Company.

The first of Gilbert and Sullivan's collaborations, "Trial by Jury" will be presented nightly at 8:15 p.m., in Tucker Hall, room 120. Tickets are $1.50 each and will be on sale at the Campus Center from Sept. 9 - 25 from 11 - 2 p.m. and 5 - 7 p.m., and at the door the evenings of performance.

The setting for "Trial by Jury" is quite appropriate since Tucker Hall 120 was formerly the Moot Court Room for the Marshall-Wythe School of Law until it moved into new quarters.

"Trial by Jury" concerns the suit of Angelina who is seeking damages from Edwin for breach of promise. Beth Miller will play the part of Angelina and Chris Quartana will portray Edwin. The judge before whom the two appear will be played by Bruce McConachie, associate professor of theatre and speech.

Clay Cromley will play the foreman of the jury and David Eye will be the counsel; David Edelson, the usher.

Employees Rewarded for Inventiveness, Bravery on the Job

William R. Bennett, a member of the Campus Police department and James Marrs, a member of the Buildings and Grounds department, have been awarded $50 U.S. Savings Bonds for significant contributions in their fields in accordance with the College's employee recognition program.

Bennett is a 1980 graduate of the University of Maryland. He joined the campus police nine months ago. He is currently attending the state mandated Police Academy in Hampton, an intensive two and a half month training program required of all police in the state within one year of employment. He will graduate Sept. 10.

Bennett was cited for "outstanding performance beyond normal job requirements" for the apprehension of a suspect in an attempted robbery and sexual battery case on campus in April. He was recommended for the award for his exceptional alertness and bravery" in handling the case.

As a patrol officer, Bennett works one of the three shifts, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., 4 - 12, midnight to 8 a.m. and rotates his schedule every four months. He says he plans to make a career of police work.

Bennett is from College Park, Md., where his father, Dr. Robert L. Bennett, is a member of the economics faculty of the University of Maryland and director of the computer center for the School of Social Sciences. His wife, L. Starbuck Bennett, works for Colonial Williamsburg.

Marrs received his award for recommending ways to improve efficiency. His suggestions for a zone concept for the maintenance of residence halls has been established and proved effective in saving both time and money.

Marrs' "zone" concept establishes mechanics who intercept work orders from resident advisers, before they are relayed to the Buildings and Grounds department. If the work to be done is of a minor nature, it can be completed by the on-site mechanic, eliminating the need for a truck and workmen to be sent out from the Buildings and Grounds office. As well as the more efficient use of men and materials, the zone concept means that only major items go to the shop and others are handled by the zone mechanic.

Marr's plan also gives zone mechanics an opportunity to thoroughly know a building and be familiar with plumbing and electrical wiring and be able to respond to repair requests more effectively.

Gordineer Wins $1,000 Prize For Essay

Brian Gordineer of Williamsburg, a 1982 graduate, B.A. history, has been awarded the 1981-82 essay prize by the Huguenot Society of the Founders of Mankind in the Colony of Virginia.

Gordineer won the award for a paper entitled "The Huguenots Removed: A Study of the French Community at New Paltz, N.Y." which he prepared originally for a class in the history of France taught by Thomas Sheppard of the history faculty.

The essay prize includes a gift of $1,000 which Gordineer is using for his education as a first year student in the MBA program in the School of Business Administration. His essay will also be published as part of the proceedings of the annual conference in May, 1983.

Initial screening of essay contest applicants is conducted by the Institute of Early American History and Culture but the final choice is made by the Huguenot Society.

Mrs. Lena Banks Wins August Employee Award

Mrs. Banks (r) and her supervisor Mrs. Williams pose outside James Blair Terrace Residence Hall.

Mrs. Lena Banks, a member of the College's housekeeping staff since June, 1980, has been awarded the certificate of merit as outstanding housekeeping employee for the month.

Ernest Boyer, executive housekeeper, speaking at the presentation ceremony held Wednesday in the office of Dennis K. Cogle, assistant vice president for business affairs, said that there were many candidates for the award but Mrs. Banks had the edge over the competition because of her excellent attendance record.

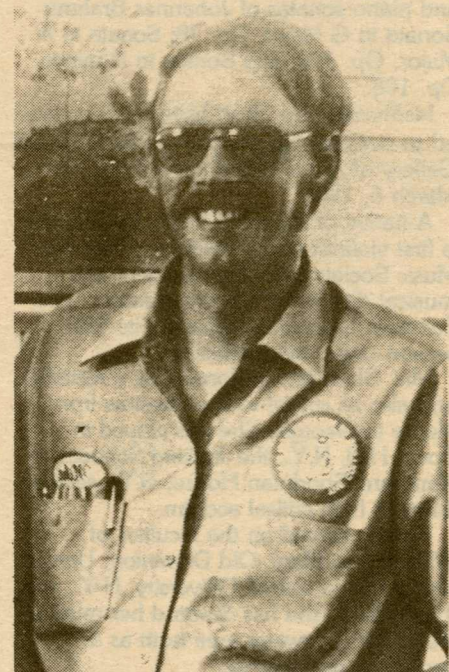

For the past three months, said Boyer, she has been part of the work force which has been getting the campus residences ready for returning students.

"She has done a good job," said her supervisor, Mrs. Rebecca Williams. "She has a very good attendance record and she has helped a lot of people," added Mrs. Williams. Mrs. Banks has helped train new employees, especially in the cleaning and care of floors in campus buildings. She is currently working at James Blair Terrace, Building 42, and says she enjoys getting to know the students who live there. Mrs. Banks said she particularly enjoyed her summer assignments because she had an opportunity to move from building to building and meet a number of other housekeeping staff members.

A native of Charles City County, Mrs. Banks now lives in Williamsburg. She has worked for the College two years and before that was a waitress in the dining room at the Williamsburg Inn. Her husband, Richard Banks, is assistant chef at Morrison's Cafeteria.

Mrs. Banks is a graduate of Ruthville High School and a member of the Liberty Baptist Church in Charles City. She is also a member of the Daughters of the Elks in Williamsburg. She has one brother, Louis Washington, living in Williamsburg.

During her off-duty hours, Mrs. Banks likes to read and work in her garden. She is, she says, "crazy about flowers."

ROTC Cadets Attend NC Camp

Eighteen William and Mary Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) cadets were among the 3,447 students from east coast colleges and universities that successfully completed the ROTC Advanced Camp at Fort Bragg, NC this summer.

Students received instruction during the six-week period in subjects relating to military skills, land navigation, airmobile operations and leadership assessment. Much of the training was physically oriented and demanded individual stamina and perseverance of the 12 male and 6 female W&M participants. Advanced Camp afforded students the opportunity to increase their technical proficiency while reinforcing fees, textbooks and other educational costs. In addition, each scholarship cadet receives up to $1,000 a year as a living allowance for the duration of the scholarship.

The Army ROTC program offers four, three, two and one year scholarships that are awarded on the basis of student merit and potential leadership ability.

with the legendary conductor Pierre Monteux at the Domaine School of Music in Maine.

McMurrin has appeared in solo and chamber music recitals in Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., and many parts of Virginia. In addition to his appearances in this country, McMurrin has made three tours of Europe in two-piano recitals with the noted French pianist Aline van Barenzen. Their concerts were heard in Brussels, Paris, Lugano, Bern, and Basel.

For over 30 years, McMurrin conducted the Peninsula Symphony Orchestra, now the Virginia Classical Orchestra, which grew out of a little symphony of sixteen professional musicians.

Eighteen service organizations in the Williamsburg area will be represented and representatives from each agency will be on hand to explain the scope of their work.

"We want to let students know what service organizations operate in the opportunities for volunteerism, said Eileen Jackman, student coordinator for Help Unlimited.

The Society of the Alumni is providing tents for the fair and Jackman says she hopes the fair's locale will attract a large number of student visitors.

A senior from Oakton, Va., Jackman is heading Help Unlimited this year for the first time. She became interested in the

Hockey Opener

The women's varsity field hockey team will open its season at 1 p.m. Saturday against Ohio State at Barksdale Field on Jamestown Road. Spectators are welcome.

The field has undergone extensive work to ready it for the match and is currently roped off to ensure that it is in top condition for the match.

Film on Rape

The Mary and William Women's Law Society will present the movie "Why Men Rape" at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 15, in room 119 of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law.

Following the movie, William L. Person, Jr., Commonwealth's Attorney for the City of Williamsburg and James City County, and Denise DeWald, a Co-Coordinator of Sexual Assault Victims Assistance (SAVA), will offer comments and answer audience questions. The program is free and open to the public.

Assertiveness Course

A ten-week assertiveness training course will be offered beginning Sept. 15 at the Center for Psychological Services, each Wednesday from 3-5 p.m.

The course will be taught by Miriam Cardi and Leonard Holmes of the Center staff. There is no fee for the course and no credit will be given.

Class size will be limited. Early registration is suggested. Registration information may be obtained by calling the Center at ext. 4231.

Being assertive is expressing thoughts, feelings and beliefs in responsible and appropriate ways and claiming, defending and maintaining personal rights in ways that do not violate another's rights.

The essential goals of assertiveness training are as follows: to learn to differentiate assertion, aggression and non-assertion; to become aware of and accept personal rights; to discover and change irrational assumptions which are obstacles to assertion; to learn ways to reduce or eliminate anxiety and anger which interfere with assertion; and to develop assertive skills through guided analysis and active practice.

The short course has been designed to offer an opportunity to learn these new attitudes and behaviors with a small group in a safe situation.
