Stone to Give Law Lecture

Geoffrey R. Stone, professor of law at the Law School of the University of Chicago, will discuss "Content Regulation and the First Amendment," as 1982-83 Cutler Lecturer at the Marshall-Wythe School of Law.

Stone will speak at 2 p.m., April 15, in room 119 of the Law School. He will be introduced by Frederick Schauer, Cutler Professor of Law. Welcoming remarks will be made by William B. Spong, Jr., dean of the law school.

Stone is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and received his law degree from the Chicago Law School in 1971 where he served as Editor in Chief of the University of Chicago Law Review. He was law clerk to Judge J. Skelly Wright of the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit, and then law clerk to Justice William J. Brennan, Jr., of the United States Supreme Court. Stone joined the faculty of the University of Chicago Law School in 1973.

Author of numerous important articles on constitutional law, particularly in the areas of constitutional criminal procedure and the protection of freedom of speech under the First Amendment, Stone's most important work has appeared in The Supreme Court Review, the University of Chicago Law Review and the American Bar Foundation Research Journal. He is also currently working on a book of cases and materials on constitutional law to be published by Little, Brown.

Varner Feted On Anniversary

Band director Charles R. Varner flashes a broad smile at a reception following the Carl Hibbard Memorial Concert Friday evening, given in his honor to mark his 30th anniversary with the band. Alumni (l-r) Michael Smith, Michael Pollock and Jim Anthony were part of the planning team which surprised Varner with a special presentation at the close of the performance. Letters of congratulations to Varner were read from the stage by Michael Pollock. Greetings came from alumnus Tommy Newsome, now with the Tonight Show band on NBC-TV, a former student at the Norfolk Division, now Old Dominion University; Senator John Warner, Congressman Paul Trible, Governor Charles S. Robb and President and Mrs. Ronald Reagan. As a final number, members of the alumni band assembled in the balcony at Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall, and played the William and Mary Alma Mater, directed by Jim Anthony.

Elizabeth Dole To Give 1983 Commencement Address

Elizabeth Hanford Dole, United States Secretary of Transportation, will deliver the 1983 Commencement address at 2 p.m., Sunday, May 15, in William and Mary Hall.

Receiving honorary degrees with Mrs. Dole will be Walter G. Mason, former member of the Board of Visitors and a former Rector of the College; Ivor Noel Hume, antiquary and resident archaeologist for Colonial Williamsburg; and Kenneth Nebenzahl, an internationally recognized expert on rare books and the history of cartography.

Mrs. Dole is the nation's eighth secretary of transportation. Nominated by President Reagan, she won unanimous Senate approval and was sworn in Feb. 7.

Prior to accepting the cabinet post, Mrs. Dol was Assistant to the President for Public Liaison. In that position, she directed the President's major outreach program at the White House, assuring that the views of groups such as business, labor and agriculture were considered in developing consensus for the Reagan Administration's policies and programs.

A 1958 graduate of Duke University, Mrs. Dole received a bachelor's degree with honors in political science, was president of the student body and a member of Phi Beta Kappa. She received a master's degree in education and government from Harvard University in 1960 and a law degree from Harvard Law School in 1965.

From 1966-67, Mrs. Dole was staff assistant to the Assistant Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. After a year in private practice, she served as associate director, then executive director of the President's Committee for Consumer Interests, and from 1971-73, was a deputy director in the Office of Consumer Affairs. In 1973, she became a member of the Federal Trade Commission, where she served until 1979.

A native of Salisbury, N.C., Mrs. Dole is married to Robert Dole, senior U.S. Senator from Kansas.

Walter G. Mason of Lynchburg, the founder and chairman of the board of the brokerage firm of Mason and Lee, now known as Legg, Mason, Wood, Walker, Inc., has played an active role at William and Mary for over 20 years. He was appointed to the Board of Visitors in 1962 by Gov. Albertis Harrison and reappointed by Gov. Mills Godwin. Mason served as Rector of the College from 1968-70.

In 1968 the Board established the Walter G. Mason Chair of Religion with gifts from Mason and his family. Mason is a life member of the Board of the College's Endowment Association, and served as the Lynchburg host for the Campaign for the College, a three-year capital fund drive from 1976-79.

Four of Mason's children and five of his grandchildren graduated from William and Mary. A lifelong resident of Lynchburg, Mason served on the Lynchburg School Board for 12 years, on the Board of Trustees of Lynchburg College, and on the board of directors of the Natural Bridge of Virginia, the Peteresburg Hopewell Gas Co., the Southern Motors Inns, Inc., and the Southern Industries, Inc.

In 1974, in recognition of his many and varied community contributions, Mason received the National Brotherhood Award of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Contracts Delayed

To: Faculty and Administrators of the College

From: George R. Healy

Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost

Subject: 1983-84 Contracts

Funding uncertainties for 1983-84 have significantly delayed the process of determining salaries for continuing teaching and research personnel, and it presently appears very unlikely that 1983-84 contracts will be mailed by the Faculty Handbook deadline of 15 April. We hope that the delay will be for not more than a week.

Memorial Bookshelf Established At Swem Library

A Memorial Bookshelf has been established in the Earl Gregg Swem Library. This collection numbering, at present, some twenty-one books has been made possible as a result of the income realized from an endowment fund established by Bruce T. McCully, Professor of History, Emeritus. In providing for a Memorial Bookshelf, Professor McCully was inspired by a similar project which was instituted in 1943 by a former President of the College, the late John E. Pomfret.

Professor McCully's purpose is to make available a collection of books for the general reader, not the specialist, including both fiction and non-fiction. In selecting the books, the library staff purposely chose works which a reader might enjoy perusing as a respite from more concentrated study. Included among the initial collection are works by Tom Wolfe, E. B. White, Charles Kuralt, and Kurt Vonnegut, as well as a pictorial history of Times Square, a collection of photographs from the "old" Vanity Fair and the highly acclaimed novel Dinner at the Homesick Restaurant.

A bookplate has been placed in each book indicating that it has been dedicated "To the memory of all those individuals in the past and latter-day who have contributed to the promotion of learning at Their Majesties' Royal College of William and Mary in Virginia.

It is the hope of Professor McCully and Swem Library that additional contributions will be made to the endowment fund by members of the College community, alumni, and friends of the College. Such expressions of support for the development of this collection will be greatly appreciated.

Director Of Clements Library Here April 11- 21

John C. Dann

John C. Dann, director of the William L. Clements Library, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, will be lecturing in the department of religion April 11 through 21.

Dann, who received both his master's and doctorate from the College, 1970, 1975, is the author of "The Revolution Remembered," University of Chicago Press, 1980, which was voted best book on the American Revolution that year by the American Revolutionary War Round Table. His book contains the memoirs of Revolutionary War participants edited from the government pension application files.

Dann is also author of "American Colonial and Revolutionary Autographs," in "Autographs and Manuscripts: A Collector's Manual," edited by Edmund Berkeley, Jr., Charles Scribner's Sons, New York, 1978. His doctoral work focused on social and humanitarian reform movements in the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries.

Dann has held his current position as director at the Clements Library since 1977. Prior to that he was manuscript curator from 1972-77. He was an instructor in history at Christopher Newport College, 1970-71 and editorial assistant for The John Marshall Papers, 1967-69.

Dann is a member of the American Historical Association, Organization of American Historians, Southern Historical Association, National Endowment for the Humanities Collections Grants Panel, Board of the University of Michigan Press, and president, Washtenaw County Historical Society, 1980-81. He was elected a member of the American Antiquarian Society in 1980.

John C. Munday, Jr. professor of marine science and Kevin P. Kiley, computer program analyst at VIMS participated in the Commonwealth Data Base "Satellite Image Processing and Geographic Information System Conference." Sponsored by the Department of Taxation the Conference was held in Richmond.

Munday's presentation "CDB Landsat Satellite Image Processing System Demonstration" described the major steps involved in performing an acre-by-acre land cover classification of the Rappahannock-Rapidan Planning District which consists of 1,250,000 acres in northern Virginia.

A video tape recording and color-coded maps used in the presentation were prepared with the assistance of the Education Media Department.

Kiley gave a similar presentation at the annual meeting of the Virginia Chamber of the American Planning Association held in Fredericksburg, March 25.

Professor Philip J. Funigiello's review of Toward a New South?: Studies in Post-Civil War Southern Communities, edited by Orville V. Burton and Robert C. McMath, Jr. (Westport, Conn.: Greenwood Press, 1982) has been published in The North Carolina Historical Review, LX (Jan. 1983), 115-116.

Robert J. Orth, associate professor of marine science, Gene Silberhorn, associate professor of marine science, and Ken Moore, marine scientist, recently had papers published in the scientific journal Aquatic Botany entitled: "Seed germination and seedling growth of Zostera marina (eelgrass) in the Chesapeake Bay" and "Anthesis and seed production in Zostera marina (eelgrass) from the Chesapeake Bay."

Chonghan Kim, professor of government, gave an address on "A Korean Perspective of the United States - Korean Relations: Problems and Prospects," at a conference on "A Century of United States-Korean Relations," held at Valdosta, State College, Georgia, March 1-2.

Nominations Sought For Prizes

The Committee on Prizes and Awards will meet shortly to select the recipients of the major College awards, the Carr Cup and the Sullivan Awards. Nominations for the Carr Cup and the Sullivan Awards may be made by any member of the College Community. Criteria for the awards are as follows:

The Carr Cup - "awarded (to a graduating senior) on the basis of character, scholarship, and leadership. The aim is to find a well-rounded student, having a good standing in all three of these respects, and withal carrying within the spirit of willingness to sacrifice and give oneself to a cause..."

The Sullivan Awards - awarded annually "to not more than one man and one woman in the graduating class, and to one other person who has a close relationship to the College. In the selection of the recipients, nothing is considered except the possession of characteristics of heart, mind and conduct as evince a spirit of love for an helpfulness to other men and women."

Please submit all nominations and supporting materials to the Office of the Dean of Students (James Blair Hall, Room 211, ext. 4387) by April 22.

Writing Awards

Competition is now open for four prizes which aim to recognize student writing of quality at the College. The Goronwy Owen prize is given to the poem judged best, the Glenwood Clark prize to the best work of fiction, and the Howard Scammon prize to the best play. In addition, the traditional Tiberius Gracchus Jones Literary prize is awarded to the best entry of any sort, whether belonging to one of the types above or some other. Each award consists of $50 and a certificate. Students may submit one or several entries. All submissions should be brought to Cecil McCulley's office, Tucker 303, by Wednesday, April 27, at the latest.

Publishing Grants Now Available

The Committee on Training in Publishing Procedures offers two grants of up to $1500 each depending on need and the availability of funds to recent graduates of William and Mary who are admitted to one of the following programs for training in publishing procedures in the summer of 1983:

Howard University Book Publishing Program
Publishers Weekly Internship
New York University Diploma Programs in Book and Magazine Publishing

Radcliffe College Publishing Procedures Course
Stanford University Publishing Course
University of Denver Publishing Institute

The deadline for application is May 2, 1983. Application forms are available at the Office of Career Planning (Morton 140). Applicants need not be admitted to a program at the time of application, but all awards are contingent upon subsequent admission as a full-time student.

Three Journalism Awards

Nominations are being sought for three prizes in journalism awarded each year at the College. Each carries a monetary reward.

The Virginia Gazette Award is presented annually to a sophomore or junior (preferably a sophomore) student who has made an outstanding contribution to a student publication of the College, on one or more of the journalistic arts (writing, editing, photography, drawing, graphic design, typography). The purpose of the award is to recognize and encourage excellence of expression in student newspaper and magazine production.

At least three but not more than five samples of work should be submitted with a short biographical sketch for committee consideration.

The Rex Smith Award was established in 1960 by friends of the distinguished alumnus of the College. A prize is presented annually to a student who demonstrates academic achievement, journalistic competence, choice of journalism as a career, and participation in the publication activities of the College.

The Charles McDowell-Kays Gary Award is an award made possible from the earnings of a fund established by Wilford Kale, an alumnus of the College. It is intended to honor excellence in journalistic writing at the College.

Nominations should be received by April 20, at the William and Mary News Office, 310A James Blair Hall. For further information, please call Barbara Ball, William and Mary News, ext. 4331.

Awards Given Wellness Winners

Awards for art, cooking and trivia were presented to winners of Wellness Week contests.

There were three winners in the "Perspectives" art and craft exhibit coordinated by Deidre Littauer and held in the Randolph Residences during Wellness Week.

Prizes were awarded to David Stephens for "Still Life," batik; John Todd, "Joseph K," watercolor; and Betsy Neal, "Scotch," pencil.

Prizes which included tickets to the Richmond Symphony, and the Virginia Philharmonic concerts and the Harlem Renaissance performances, were donated by Dean Ken Smith and the theatre department. Judges were Steve Tatum, director of the Creative Arts House and Paul Helfrich, associate professor of fine arts.

Cathy McCurdy won two awards for a dessert and vegetable dish at the Wellness Cooking Contest which was judged by Mrs. Mimi Riley, nutritionist at Williamsburg Community Hospital.

Entries were judged on nutritional value, taste and aesthetic appeal by a panel of "expert" eaters. McCurdy won for her strawberry mousse and a vegetable dish, "Copper Pennies." Lindy Shelor won for a main dish of wholewheat Tofu lasagna; Mary Shaw for "Dilly Bread," and L:ori Bainum for carrot muffins, judged most nutritious.

This is the second year that Mrs. Riley has assisted with the cooking contest and she also presented a program entitled "You Are What You Eat," about the effects of various foods on the body.

Prizes included dinner for two at The Garage, The Whaling Company and Second Street. Adam's at the Ramada Inn donated Sunday brunch for two.

Contest coordinator was Becky Johnson, area coordinator.

Jape Fitzpatrick, Mark Osler, Susan Allan and Scott Craig comprised the first team in the trivia contest. Winners were invited to enjoy pizza at Holly's Deli at the Village Shops. The contest and the "Wellfair" were coordinated by Pam Ficarra.

Festival Set Monday In CC

The Second International Festival will be held on April 11 from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Campus Center Ballroom.

Fred deBruin of the Embassy of the Netherlands will be the guest of honor and speaker.

Other features of the Festival will be an exhibit of some aspects of African history, life, and culture by the social studies students of James Blair Intermediate School under the leadership of Mrs. Loretta Hanum.

The Second Festival is sponsored jointly by the Department of Anthropology and James Blair School, with the assistance of the International Circle and the Asia and Africa Society of the College.

For further information, please contact Prof. Mario D. Zamora, ext. 4341.

Quattlebaums Aid Museum

A $50,000 commitment from Mr. and Mrs. Alexander M. Quattlebaum of Georgetown, S.C., has launched a $1 million effort to provide a permanent endowment for program and acquisitions of the Muscarelle Museum of Art.

According to museum director Glenn Lowry, income from the endowment will supplement institutional allocations for these purposes and provide future stability in funding for the Museum's operation.

"The foresight shown by Mr. and Mrs. Quattlebaum is extremely encouraging and timely," added Lowry.

A native of Conway, S.C., Lucille Godfrey Quattlebaum is a 1938 alumna of Richmond Professional Institute, then a branch of the College. An artist herself, she continues to paint and exhibit her works regionally with an exhibit currently on display in Bennettsville, S.C.

Construction on Phase I of the Museum is nearing completion, with October 1983 set for the official dedication.

for W&M students, faculty and staff, $8 for members of the community at the W&M Hall box office; $8.25 by Ticketron. Holders of Talented American Series passes will be admitted without charge.

Bike Race Offers Chance To See Champions

This country's first international professional bicycle race modeled after the famed Tour de France will include Williamsburg on its route and there will be an opportunity to see the competitors and cheer them along the route.

Several student organizations, fraternities and sororities are assisting with the visit of the cyclists. Teams from Italy, the Netherlands, Canada and the United States are competing for $100,000 in prizes.

Opening ceremonies will be held at Fort Story, Friday, April 8 at 9:45 a.m. Governor Charles S. Robb will be on hand for the official start. The racers are expected on the Colonial Parkway in Williamsburg near the Windmill at approximately 2:30 p.m. There will be an announcer at this check point at 1 p.m. to give progress reports on the race. Members of the teams will be introduced as they come in.

The race will continue Saturday morning at 9:30 a.m. from The Old Country, Busch Gardens. Racers will ride to Richmond for another stop before continuing on to Fredericksburg and Washington where the race will conclude.

For those who want to cheer the racers along the way, they will ride along Richmond Road out of town through Lightfoot and Toano and continue on Route 60 at Bottoms Bridge into Richmond to Ninth and Grace Streets, the entrance to the State Capitol. There will be a five-lap circuit through Richmond city streets beginning at approximately 11 a.m.,

Official host for the race is the National Park Service as much of the race route travels through Park Service land. Honorary co-chairmen are Governor Robb and Marion Barry, Jr., mayor of the District of Columbia.

The major sponsor is Peugeot.

Souvenir programs and T-shirts will be available at the two Williamsburg stops. Prizes are being offered through promotional programs over radio station KISS-96.

Boathouse Hours

The Boathouse, which is open to all students, faculty and staff (I.D. required) is open Monday-Friday from 3-5 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Canoes, kayaks and sail canoes are available.

Evans To Give Bellini Lecture

Robert H. Evans, professor and chairman of the Woodrow Wilson Department of Government and Foreign Affairs at the University of Virginia, will give the 1983 Cellini Lecture.

Evans will speak at 8 p.m., Thursday, April 7 in the Botetourt Theatre of Swem Library. He will take as his topic "Where Is The Italian Left Going?"

The public is invited to the lecture and the reception which will follow at the Italian House of Jamestown Road.

Evans has written three books "Coexistence: Communism and Its Practice in Bologna 1945-55"; "Life and Politics of a Venetian Community"; and "Arqua Petrarca, Profilo di una Comunita Eugenea."

Evans has studied both in this country and abroad. He received a diploma from the Institut d'Etudes Politiques in Paris and The Johns Hopkins University, SAIS Bologna Center. He received a masters's degree and a doctorate from the Graduate School of International Studies Denver, University of Denver.

He taught at the University of Notre Dame, 1966-71 before joining the faculty of UVA. Evans has been the recipient of Fulbright, Ford Foundation, Rockefeller Foundation and American Philosophical Society grants.

The Bellini Lecture Series, initiated in 1981, is named for Charles Bellini of Florence who was named to the first American chair of modern languages at the College in 1779.

President Named To Governor's Panel

President Graves has been appointed to a special 20-member committee recently formed by Governor Charles S. Robb to review 1984-86 budget prospects and issues facing higher education in Virginia.

President Graves participated in the group's first discussions in Richmond March 31. It is expected that the panel will explore a range of topics related to critical problems facing the state's colleges and universities and will hold several more meetings before making recommendations to the Governor later this year.

The group includes representatives from the House and Senate, spokesmen from the business community and selected educators.

The Governor first announced his intention to form this advisory group in his Charter Day address here Feb. 5.

Library Friends To Hear Haskell

The Provisional Organization of the Friends of the Library announces a pre-inaugural lecture by John D. Haskell, Jr., Associate Librarian at the Earl Gregg Swem Library, in the Botetourt Theatre of the Earl Gregg Swem Library at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, April 15.

Haskell will speak on the subject: "Bartlett and Welford: Booksellers of Broadway, 1840-1852."

Faculty, students and Williamsburg residents are invited to attend.

President Of Association Of American Universities To Give Higher Education Lecture

Robert M. Rosenzweig, president of the Association of American Universities, will give the second in the series of lectures on "Higher Education and Public Policy," sponsored annually by the Higher Education Program.

Rosenzweig will speak on "The American Research Universities," at 6 p.m., Thursday, April 14 in the Great Hall of the Wren Building.

A wine and cheese reception will be held in the second floor gallery of the Wren Building following the program. Those planning to attend both the talk and the reception are asked to contact John Thelin, co-director of the High Education Doctoral Program and coordinator for the annual lecture series at ext. 4312. Seating in the Wren Building is limited.

Rosenzweig has long been active in

Bids Opened For Asbestos Work

Last week bids were opened on the final phase of asbestos abatement and on the renovation of Trinkle Hall. The asbestos abatement project includes the natatorium in Adair Hall, the arena ceiling in William and Mary Hall, and all levels of Jones Hall. The project involves moving many people and their offices as well as shutting down the computer for two weeks. During the last several months, many of the College faculty and staff have been working cooperatively to plan for the project with all of its complications. Contrary to a recent article in the local media, Vice President Bromall indicated that there had been "no grumbling about air conditioning or any other recognized inconveniences." Rather, he said that members of the College community have been approaching the project in a very positive and harmonious manner. Based upon all of the discussions and plans that have occurred, he indicated that the project should far exceed previous experiences.

The low bidder for the asbestos project was Asbestos Containment Corporation of Waterville, New York. Their bid of $590,000 was very close to previous College estimates and fit within the appropriated project budget. After a required performance bond has been approved by the State Attorney General's Office, the contractor will be able to proceed and plans to begin work on May 2.

The renovation of Trinkle Hall actually involves that building, the Wigwam and the Pub. Two separate bids were opened on Thursday, March 31; one for construction and one for required equipment. The low bidder for the construction project was Hudgins Construction Company, Inc. of Newport News with a bid of $1,133,000. The low bid for food service equipment was from John G. Kolbe, Inc. of Richmond. Again, after a performance bond has been approved, construction could begin by mid-April.

Senior Input Needed

Stan Brown, director of the Placement Office is asking seniors who are graduating in May and August and who have accepted jobs or admission to a graduate/professional school, to complete a placement questionnaire in Morton 140. This will alleviate a summer mailing for the Placement Office.

Information on the questionnaire, says Brown, is valuable in counseling future students.

Classics Club

Detective novelist Carol Esler will speak to the Classics Club on her Scribner Prize winning thriller "Ariadne Clue," Thursday, March 31, at 7 p.m. in Morton 20.

A reception will follow.

Robert M. Rosenzweig

federal and state policy for high education. In 1982 he published a book entitled "The Research Universities and Their Patrons" with Barbara Turlington, prepared under the auspices of the Association of American University, published by the University of California Press, Berkeley.

From 1972 until he moved to Washington, D. C. in February to assume office as President of AAU, Rosenzweig was Vice President for Public Affairs at Stanford University. A graduate of the University of Michigan, he received his doctorate in political science from Yale, after which he was Special Assistant to the Commissioner of the U.S. Office of Education.

Rosenzweig's lecture is made possible by a grant from the College's Committee on Lectures.

Honors Sponsors 'The Sorrow And The Pity'

The Sorrow and the Pity Marcel Ophuls' powerful documentary on occupied France, will be shown at 12:30 p.m. on Sunday, April 10 in Millington Auditorium. Sponsored by the Honors Program, the screening is open to the public.

This four and one-half hour film focuses on the provincial city of Clermont-Ferrand. There Ophuls reconstructs wartime events through a combination of film clips, newsreels, and interviews with surviving residents, occupiers, and allies. "The film has to do with human dignity in an undignified political situation," according to Ophuls. But, he warns, The Sorrow and the Pity is not an objective or a compassionate film. It is a very partisan film. It's a film with good guys and bad guys."

Although begun under the aegis of French television in the late 1960's, the finished film was so controversial that it was banned from the state-run network for twelve years. Not until November 1981 were Frenchmen able to view it on their home screens.

Fortunately, Ophuls and his associates were able to release The Sorrow and the Pity in his own hit, Annie Hall. In 1976 critic John Simon called The Sorrow and the Pity "the most important historical documentary to date, and a work of art that revolutionized the concept of nonfiction filmmaking."

Junior Guild Will Meet Sunday

The first 1983 meeting of the Junior Guild of the Virginia Shakespeare Festival will be held at 2 p.m., Sunday, April 10, in the Dodge Room of Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

All children and young adults who are interested in Shakespeare, the Renaissance, the Middle Ages, and related theatre, crafts, games, food and music are welcome. There is no age limit or membership fee.

The Junior Guild will begin organizing activities for the Elizabethan Fair held each year to celebrate the opening of the Festival. Projects being considered include mini-plays, storytelling, music, booths on heraldry, alchemy, chess, herbs, calligraphy, or medieval guild craft demonstrations. The Guild also encouraged members to bring their own ideas for consideration.

For further information, call Cheryl Homatidis at 253-1254, any time, or Kathy Hawkins at 253-2230, between 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m.

VAAO Scholarships

economics at Harvard. She plans to study at either Harvard or Yale, toward a degree in Renaissance literature.

Payne, a 1982 graduate, is currently working toward certification in secondary school English at William and Mary. He plans to study at the University of Virginia next year toward a degree in English literature. In addition to the Mellon Fellowship, Payne has been offered a scholarship from UVA to cover the two years of the five-year doctoral program, not covered by the Mellon Fellowship.

Both Moroney and Payne are members of Phi Beta Kappa. Payne is also a member of Kappa Delta Phi education fraternity.

The College is one of 12 colleges and universities to have two among the award recipients and the only university to have two scholars in English.

The Mellon Fellowships have been created by The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation in response to rising concern over the increasing number of young people with scholarly potential who are not now entering academic careers. The Foundation seeks to counter that trend and, through the fellowship program, assure that the next generation of teachers and scholars will include men and women of exceptional talent. In all, 500 to 600 Fellows will be selected over five successive academic years. The Foundation's underwriting of the program will amount to some $25 million over a ten-year period. Some 96 awards were made this year to begin the program.

Faculty members at nearly 700 campuses nominated 2,267 possible candidates. Of these 1,374 were passed along to the regional level of screening and 200 were invited to appear for interviews. Recommendations from these interviews were made to a national committee which made the final selections.

Successful candidates came from 39 private universities, 29 public universities, 25 private colleges and three publicly supported colleges.

Special Assembly

Virginia's Department for the Aging in Richmond is issuing an invitation to citizens, 60 years of age or older, to participate in the first Silver-Haired Legislature, August 7-10.

Further information concerning this program may be obtained by the Aging Office in Richmond, 830 E. Main Street, Suite 950, toll-free in Virginia 1-800-552-3402.

Backdrop Show

Pictured above is a scene from "Atalanta," an original musical by Robert Amerman, a junior and Christie Gold, a UVA student, which will be presented by the Backdrop Club April 6-9, 8:15 p.m., nightly in the Campus Center Ballroom with a 1:15 p.m. matinee on Saturday, April 9. "Atalanta" is based on the ancient Greek myth in which Atalanta, a young girl who desires to remain chaste, is forced by her father to marry. The title role is played by Susan Anson. The director is Mark Wright.

This is the first Backdrop production since "Camelot" in 1981.

Tickets are $3 at the door. All proceeds benefit future Backdrop productions.

Connolly Concert Sunday in Andrews

Martha Connolly, lecturer, will present a recital of music by Italian composers under the auspices of the Italian house, "Casa Italiana," at 3 p.m., Sunday, April 10, in Andrews Hall.

Ms. Connolly will sing Italian arias from the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries; a group of four songs by Vincenzo Bellini; three songs by Ottorino Respighi; and songs to words by Persian poets by Francesco Santoliquido. She will be accompanied by pianist Ruth Easterling Winters.

Martha Connolly received her early training in music in the preparatory division of the New England Conservatory of music, where she studied piano for nine years. She received her bachelor of music degree from the University of Michigan, and her master's of music degree from Catholic University where she held a full scholarship for graduate studies in voice and piano.

She performed in the Washington, D.C. area for several years before coming to teach at William and Mary. She has performed in opera, oratorio, musical comedy, and given recitals in every major museum in the Washington area. In addition, she has performed a professional accompanist, and her choral group from Mt. Vernon College appeared in concert at the White House.

Ms. Connolly is past president of the National Association of Teachers of Singing for the State of Virginia. She has taught at Catholic University, Hood College, Mt. Vernon College and the University of Virginia.

Shaifer Wins Business Trip

Stephen C. Shaifer, a senior business administration major, is currently attending on a full-tuition scholarship, a week-long Direct Marketing Educational Foundation program, sponsored by the Chicago Association of Direct Marketing.

One of 30 students selected from over 200 applicants, he will get a practical introduction to basic direct marketing and direct mail techniques under the guidance of a dozen top practitioners in the fast-growing $125 billion direct marketing industry.

Shaifer recently worked on a class project developing an overall marketing plan for 17 Exxon stations.

Guest Speakers Named For Colloquia

Two guest speakers are scheduled for the mathematics and computer science colloquium series.

Leona F. Fass, department of mathematics, University of California at Davis, will speak at 3:30 p.m., Thursday, April 7 on "A Solution to the Inference Problem for Context-Free Languages and Related Results," in Jones 301.

Christian Wild, department of computer science, Old Dominion University, will speak on "Automatic Program Generation and Software Development at 9:30 a.m., Monday, April 11 in Jones 306.

Coffee will be served in the conference room approximately one half hour before each program.

King to Lecture On Faulkner

Richard King, professor philosophy at the University of the District of Columbia, will present a talk on William Faulkner and Southern History as part of the Wednesday Forum series of the Honors Program (Honors 201-202) at 8 p.m., Wednesday, April 6, in Millington Auditorium.

King's teaching and research interests include the American South, American thought and culture, and the relationship of history and fiction as well as forms of historical consciousness. He has spoken widely on these and other interests. Among his published works are The Party of Eros: Radical Social Thought and the Realm of Freedom, published in 1972, and A Southern Renaissance: The Emergence of Southern Writing, 1930-1955, published by the Oxford University Press in 1980.

Dye To Speak On Indian Art

Joseph M. Dye '67, Curator of Asiatic Art, Virginia Museum of Fine Arts in Richmond, will lecture on Indian art at 4 p.m., April 11 in Morton Hall 220.

Dye has been a member of the museum staff in Richmond since 1980. He was previously author and consultant for "Manifestations of Shiva," an exhibition of Indian art at the Philadelphia Museum of Art.

After graduation from William and Mary, Dye studied at the Institute of Fine Arts in New York City and received a doctorate in 1980. His major field of study was the art of India and Southeast Asia with a related minor in classical Sanskrit, and another minor in Islamic art before the Mongol conquest. He spent 1978-79 in India conducting research to turn his doctoral dissertation on "The Chronology and Stylistic Development of Seventeenth Century Malwa Painting" into a book. Previously Dye had spent time in Pakistan, Afghanistan, and Great Britain for research projects.

Dye has received many honors during his career including a Ford Foundation Fellowship, a Kress Foundation Fellowship and a travel grant from the JDR 3rd Fund. He has published in several journals and was responsible for the establishment of the Eleanor H. Pearson Summer Travel Fellowship for students at the Institute of Fine Arts in New York City. He headed the fund raising drive to endow it in perpetuity. He was editor of the William and Mary Review as an undergraduate here.

This lecture is sponsored by the Asian Studies Program, the Creative Arts House and the Department of Fine Arts.

Program on Love Canal Slated

A housewife who became famous for helping fellow citizens understand hazardous wastes during the 1980 Love Canal, N.Y., crisis, will discuss her experiences campaigning against environmental pollution at 7 p.m., Monday, April 11.

Ms. Gibbs' talk is sponsored by the Virginia Public Interest Research Group (VAPIRG).

Dixon Recital

Donna Tune Dixon, a music concentrator, will give her senior voice recital at 8 p.m., Thursday, April 7 in the Wren Chapel.

Miss Dixon, a mezzo-soprano, will be accompanied by Maureen Giles. Her program will include "O Rest in the Lord," from "Elijah," by Mendelssohn; "Jerusalem, Thou that killest the Prophets," from "St. Paul," also by Mendelssohn; "Er, der Herrlichste von allen," from "Frauenliebe und Leben, Op. 42," "Der Nussbaum," and "Still Tranen," from "Myrten" by Schumann; and "Voi, che sapete," from "Le Nozze di Figaro," by Mozart.

Miss Dixon's program will also include selections from "Old American Song," by Aaron Copland, and "Faites-lui mes ayeux," from "Faust," Gounod.

Four To Receive Honorary Degrees At Commencement

Author, antiquary, and archaeologist Ivor Noel Hume has become an internationally recognized authority on the artifacts and relics of eighteenth century America. He served as chief archaeologist for Colonial Williamsburg from 1957-64, director of the department of archaeology from 1964-72, and is currently resident archaeologist.

A native of London, England, Noel Hume is the author of many historical novels, journal articles and television films. His works include "Archaeology in Britain" (1953), "Treasures in the Thames" (1956), "Great Moments in Archaeology" (1957), "Here Lies Virginia" (1963), "1775: Another Part of the Field" (1966), "Historical Archaeology" (1969), "Artifacts of Early America" (1970), "All the Best Rubbish" (1974), and "Early English Deftware" (1977).

Noel Hume was the writer-director for the film, "Doorway to the Past" in 1968, and writer narrator for the 1981 TV film "Search for a Century."

A member of numerous archaeological societies, Noel Hume served as vice chairman of the Governor's Advisory Committee for the Virginia Research Center for Historical Archaeology from 1967-70. He was also a member of the review panel for the National Endowment for the Humanities from 1973-77, and a member of the Council of the Institute of Early American History and Culture from 1974-77.

In his 25 years as a dealer of rare books and rare maps, Kenneth Nezenzahl has developed a worldwide reputation among scholars, cartographers and librarians. He has been a major contributor to the understanding of the history of cartography and an active supporter of its establishment as an independent scholarly discipline.

In 1961, Nezenzahl published a paper, "A Stone Thrown at the Map Maker," which made a specific call for more studies in nineteenth-century American cartographic methods. He later compiled a major bibliography of contemporary printed battle maps of the American Revolutionary War. This work is now considered a standard reference work in the field. Nezenzahl also engineered the "Atlas of the American Revolution," a work which brought together the major plans of the period in large format.

Not only has Nezenzahl contributed to scholarly literature, he has also encouraged the new interdisciplinary field. In 1965, he established the Kenneth Nezenzahl Jr., Lectures in the History of Cartography, named for his late son, at the Newberry Library, Chicago. In 1978, he established the Harmon Dunlap Smith Center for the History of Cartography in the Newberry Library, an annual prize to encourage independent scholarly research in the field.

A resident of Chicago, Nezenzahl is a trustee of the Newberry Library, a member of the visitors committee to the Library of the University of Chicago, a trustee of the John Crerar Library Association, a fellow of the Royal Geographical Society and a member of the American Geographical Society.

Law Speaker

Among his numerous works on the First Amendment, Stone's article in the University of Chicago Law Review on the subject of content regulation has attracted a great deal of commentary, attention and criticism. His lecture here will treat the same theme, and he will attempt to both refine the arguments and to respond to critics. The published version of his lecture will appear in a forthcoming issue of the William and Mary Law Review.

The Cutler Lectures were established in 1927 by James Gould Cutler of Rochester, N.Y., to provide for an annual lecture at the College by "an outstanding authority on the Constitution of the United States."

The first series of 16 lectures, which ran from 1927 to 1944, included lectures by outstanding figures from both public and the academic world, including Harold Laski, Max Lerner and Charles Warren.

After 37 years of dormancy, the Cutler lectures were revived in the 1980-81 academic year under the auspices of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law. Lecturer for that year was R. Kent Greenawalt, Cardozo Professor of Jurisprudence at the Columbia University School of Law, speaking on "Silence as a Moral and Constitutional Right." The 1981-82 lecturer was John Hart Ely, then of the Harvard Law School and now Dean of the Stanford Law School, speaking on "Choice of Law and the States Interest in Protecting Its Own."

College Hosts Council Of Latin American Studies

The College will host the annual meeting of the Middle Atlantic Council of Latin American Studies (MACLAS) on April 8 and 9.

About 150 Latin American scholars and professionals from the region are expected to attend, and approximately twenty different panels and workshops on Latin American politics, history, economics, culture, and the teaching of Latin American studies will be presented.

All papers and workshops will be held on April 8 from 9:30 to 12 a.m. and 2:30 to 5 p.m. and on April 9 from 9:30 to 12 a.m. in the Campus Center. The Information Desk at the Campus Center will have a listing of paper titles and room locations on April 8.

George Grayson, professor of government, will deliver the luncheon address on Friday, April 8. Other William and Mary faculty who will be participating in the conference include assistant professor of anthropology Darrell Miller, who will be giving a paper on Latin American urbanization, and associate professor of history, Judith Ewell, who will comment on several papers on Latin American feminism. Other panels will treat the Malvinas/Falklands Controversy of 1982, problems of Latin American economic development, the Caribbean Basin Initiative, Latin American International Relations, the Dominican Republic, and economic, military and political perspectives on Central America.

All panels, except the luncheon and dinner speeches where seating is limited, will be open to students and the public. Most sessions will provide time for a question and answer period.

Judith Ewell, of the William and Mary History Department, is in charge of local arrangements. Any questions about the conference should be referred to her at ext. 4313 or ext. 4500.
