

"Sweeney Todd" Opens Thursday in PBK

Director Louis E. Catron says audiences should "shift gears" in their musical theatre tastes when they come to see "Sweeney Todd" which opens Thursday. It's not a boy-meets-girl show, or one in which wonderful people go to wonderful places to do wonderful things.

It is based on the legend of the demon barber of Fleet Street, Sweeney Todd, who conspires to murder the judge who sent him to an Australian prison for 15 years. Todd's revenge seems justifiable when it is revealed that the judge passed the sentence on a trumped-up charge, so he and Todd's wife could run off together. Todd is aided in his murderous quest by the equally demonic Mrs. Lovett, a pie seller.

While Sweeney Todd awaits his opportunity to kill the judge, he "practices on lesser throats," taking out his wrath on innocent victims in his barber's chair.

The cast of nearly 50 will open with an aggressive rendering of the title song. The chorus performs a variety of roles throughout the play, each one assuming two or three different low-life characters. The chorus also will move the scenery around the stage. "I think of them as gargoyles in a Charles Dickens atmosphere," Catron says, adding, "none of them are playing good people."

"Sweeney Todd" is a difficult show to produce, Catron says, because Sondheim's music is not easy to sing. "There are several lines of song going on at the same time." There is a dissonance to the music which Catron chalks up to "the modern sound."

He adds, "Sondheim's whole story-telling technique is as different as his music." In this show there is a variety of theatrical technique, too. There is a vaudeville comedy number, there is melodrama, the horror tale surrounding the murders, social injustice, and social commentary.

"Don't come expecting a typical musical," Catron warns.

The cinderblock rear wall of the stage will be left exposed, not only giving the actors more room, but providing a ready-made "industrial" look to the scenery, since the setting is in the grittier, grimier section of old London. The lighting also will be appropriately shadowy and dim to cast a dismal mood upon the set.

Katz Lectures

Steven T. Katz, Visiting Walter G. Mason Professor of Religion, will give two public lectures on "The Holocaust in Historical Perspective." Katz is considered the leading scholar in the country today in the field of modern Jewish thought.

Katz will give his first lecture at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 4 and the second at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 13. Both lectures will be given in Rogers Hall 100 and are sponsored by the Department of Religion at the College.

Katz is visiting the College this fall from Dartmouth. He has also taught at Cambridge University, the University of Lancaster, and the Hebrew University of Jerusalem, among others. He has written and edited several books including "Mysticism and Philosophical Analysis and Post-Holocaust Dialogues: Studies in 20th Century Jewish Thought," published this year by the New York University Press

Campus Mourns Anthony Lucas

Anthony Andre Lucas of Newport News, an 18-year-old freshman and a member of the varsity football squad, died Tuesday, Sept. 27, at 11:02 a.m. in Riverside Hospital. Lucas was taken ill that morning in his dormitory and treated at Williamsburg Community Hospital before being flown by helicopter to Riverside Hospital.

Doctors attributed his death to a severe infection. There was no indication of sports-related injury.

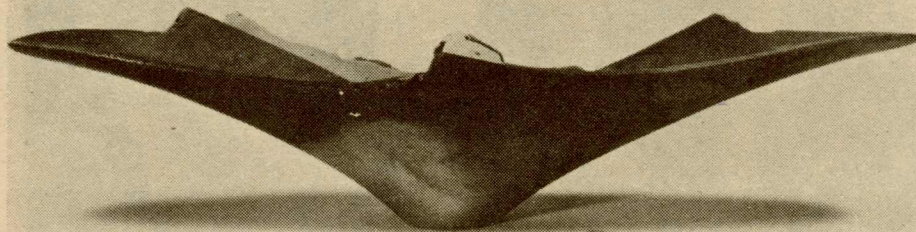

A graduate of Warwick High School, Lucas played football for William and Mary but because of a knee injury did not play in the W&M-UNC game Sept. 24. His physician, Dr. J.J. Schultz, oncologist, said in an interview with a Daily Press reporter that "there was just no way this could be traced to football. Anthony had been treated, successfully, for Hodgkins disease in 1979 with radiation therapy. No trace of it has been found since."

Funeral services were held at 11 a.m., Saturday, Oct. 1 following a wake Friday evening at Cooke Brothers Funeral Home.

A campus memorial service was held Monday, Oct. 3, at 1 p.m. in the Wren Courtyard.

In a special tribute to Lucas, a moment of silence was observed prior to the Oyster Bowl Game Saturday in Norfolk and members of the William and Mary team will wear Lucas' number "29" on the back of their helmets for the rest of the season.

Lucas' parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Lucas, reside at 4107 Orcutt Ave., Newport News, Va. 23607.

Art Lecture

DAVID CRANE, artist and assistant professor at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, will present a slide lecture of his ceramic work and its development over the past few years, Thursday, Oct. 6, at 5 p.m. in Andrews Hall, room 201. Crane's work has been included in many recent publications on ceramic art, and has been represented in numerous exhibitions across the country including shows at The American Hand in Washington, D.C. and The Elements in New York City.

Baltimore Channel Studied

The Virginia Institute of Marine Science has been awarded a $364,000, 21-month contract by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to study the best possible sites for dredge material disposal as part of the Baltimore Channel deepening project in the Virginia waters of the Chesapeake Bay.

The purpose of the VIMS study, based on the best available scientific information, is to determine the areas where dredge materials can best be placed to afford the least disruption of the Chesapeake Bay's eco-systems.

Beginning this month VIMS scientists, under the direction of Robert J. Byrne, professor of marine science, and Robert J. Diaz, assistant professor of marine science, will be investigating three areas of interest from potential sites. These areas of interest are the existing benthic invertebrate organisms, sediments at the sites and the extent to which the benthic resource value for commercial fisheries may be changed at the potential disposal sites.

According to Diaz, 30 million cubic yards of material will be dredged from the Virginia section of the Baltimore Channel. Four sites have been proposed to dispose of this material. Two sites are located near Wolf Trap between Mobjack Bay and the Piankatank River with two more sites at Rappahannock Shoals. One site will be selected in each area.

Basically, we will be collecting pre-operational data on the proposed disposal sites for disposal of the dredge materials," explained Diaz.

The VIMS study only applies to disposal of material dredged from the Virginia portion of the channel according to Diaz. Much of the material from the Maryland section of the deepening project will be disposed of differently than the Virginia material due to possible high concentrations of toxic materials.

"Virginia dredge materials are basically sands and contain very low levels of toxic materials; therefore, they are considered clean material under Environmental Protection Agency guidelines. This means that an overboard disposal process can be used for Virginia material; whereas, the Corps must use a more expensive, confined disposal process for the Maryland dredge materials," stated Dr. Diaz.

Deepening of the Baltimore Channel has been under consideration for approximately ten years.

Chappell Identifies Grassia Work

Miles Chappell's paper "Bernini, Francesco Grassia, and the ALLEGORY OF HUMAN LIFE" was published recently in the Southeastern College Art Conference Review.

The article concerns a sizeable piece of 17th century sculpture purchased as a Bernini work from the Cardelli Collection in Rome in 1910 by Major James H. Dooley of Richmond. The sculpture, now on display at the Dooley Mansion in Maymont Park in Richmond, was considered lost when, in 1958, documents were discovered in the Cardelli archive identifying the artist as the later 17th century sculptor, Francesco Grassia.

Chappell's article, which concerns the mistaken and rightful identifications of the artist, Francesco Grassia's artistic debts to Bernini, and a new identification

Study Skills Workshops

Oct. 5th: HOW TO PRODUCE A GOOD PAPER ON TIME

"Writing is the BASIC skill for educated people. We can't instruct you in writing - only someone who goes to the trouble of correcting what you write can do that - but we can provide you with rules to make it easier for you to write well." says Carole S. Mirik, director of the Study Skills Office.

This workshop and others on various aspects of study skills will be offered throughout the semester on Wednesdays from 7:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in Jones 301. These workshops are open to all students. No registration is necessary.

French Speaker

A Cultural Affairs officer from the French Embassy in Washington will speak Oct. 12 at 7 p.m. about French college youth in France. The program is at the French House. Everyone is welcome.

The Music Business

Applications are due Nov. 14, for the Orchestra Management Fellowship Program of the American Symphony Orchestra League. The League offers 12-month fellowships in management training with leading orchestra across the country. The program provided full-time, on-the-job training with symphony orchestras, with the music industry, and with the American Symphony Orchestra League. Each participant will receive a $12,500 yearly stipend, plus funds for travel and relocation.

For additional information, please contact the Office of Placement, Morton 140 and ask for announcement S-26-1.

Air Traffic Controller's Examination

The Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) has announced that applications to take the Air Traffic Controller's written test will be accepted through Oct. 17.

Applicants who wish to take this test should complete application form CSC Form 5000-B, which is available in the Office of Placement, and forward it to: Office of Personnel Management, Norfolk Area Office, Federal Building, 200 Granby Mall, Norfolk, VA 23510.

For instructions and additional information, see announcement number S-28-1 in the Office of Placement, 140 Morton Hall.

Starving Artists

The author of the outstanding work published by the W&M Review in each of three categories, fiction, poetry, and art, will be awarded a $50 prize in recognition of his achievement. The submissions deadline is Oct. 14, the Friday after fall break.

Restaurant Guide

A representative from "The University Restaurant Guide" will be visiting campus on Oct. 14 to interview juniors and seniors for an internship type marketing position. The candidate doesn't necessarily have to be a business major, however, an interest in marketing is desired. As in most marketing positions, the candidate should have strong communication skills, a "hard-working, self-starting" attitude and the business sense needed to take charge of a project and succeed.

The project should last roughly three to five weeks during which time the student will gain excellent experience in marketing and advertising. Potential employers will look very closely at an individual with this experience. Moreover, the selected student will be compensated very well for his efforts.

Call ext. 4604 or visit the Office of Placement, 140 Morton to arrange an appointment for Oct. 14.

tracts, but "the political role of a writer in South Africa is inevitable," Ms. Gordimer observes. "It is not a matter of choice." A writer draws his substance from the life around him, and life in South Africa is absolutely impregnated with the effects of politics in the most personal part of people's lives."

Although several of her books have been banned in her own country, they have won international acclaim. Her literary prizes and awards include the James Tait Black Memorial Prize, the Booker Prize, the Grand Aigle d'Or, and the Scottish Arts Council's Neil Gunn Fellowship.

Many of Ms. Gordimer's books, including her most recent novel, July's People, are available in Penguin paperbacks at the College Bookstore. Both Swem Library and the Williamsburg Public Library also have copies of her works.

In connection with Ms. Gordimer's visit to the campus, several departments, including History and English, are sponsoring the showing of three recent films

Philip Morris

Do you need practical marketing experience? Enter the Philip Morris Marketing/Communications Competition. For the 15th year, Philip Morris invites students to research any of its non-tobacco products/operations and submit a marketing/communications proposal that could succeed in today's competitive business world.

To enter, students currently enrolled in accredited colleges or junior colleges should prepare projects under the supervision of a faculty member or a recognized campus professional society. Committee size should be three or more at the undergraduate level and two or more at the graduate level. Student ideas must relate to the non-tobacco products or operations of Philip-Morris, which include The Seven-Up Company, Miller Brewing Company, Philip Morris Industrial, Oregon Freeze Dry Foods, Inc., Lindemans Wines, and Mission Viejo Company.

United Way Drive Unerway

The United Way fund drive is underway. Material has been distributed to all faculty and staff of the College. If you have not received a pledge card, please call Barbara Ball at ext. 4331 and one will be sent to you.

The American Red Cross is on the list of United Way Agencies this year. This organization has special significance for the College community. When Jefferson Hall burned in February, the Red Cross was on the scene to help in whatever way they could. The chapter's local disaster relief funds were virtually depleted.

The Rita Welsh Adult Skills Program, another United Way agency, is home based on campus. Named in honor of a member of the College community who contributed so much to its establishment, the program provides an important assistance to those without a high school education or those who use English as a second language, to improve and enhance their lifestyle through education, individually tailored to their needs.

Most of the other organizations listed have a College connection through the volunteers who work with the programs.

The goal for English as the campus drive is $11,800.

For details concerning any part of the fund drive, please contact the College Campaign chairman, Robert Orwell, department of chemistry, ext. 4673.

Women's Club Officers

Mrs. Graves hosted the first meeting of the College Women's Club at the President's House. Officers for the year pose with Mrs. Graves during the afternoon program and tea. Second row, Merry Feyock, publicity; Pat Housman, treasurer; Susan Holmes, newcomers chairman. Back row, Donna Broomall, secretary; Mrs. Graves and Becky Palmer, interest group chairman.

Search for Arts and Sciences Dean

The College of William and Mary in Virginia invites applications and nominations for the position of Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences.

William and Mary is a state university chartered in 1693 with an enrollment of 4700 undergraduate and 1700 graduate and professional students in the five divisions of the university, the College of Arts and Sciences and the Schools of Business, Education, Law and Marine Science. Its central purpose is to provide liberal education for its undergraduate students, who are largely in the College of Arts and Sciences.

The Dean is the chief administrative officer of the College of Arts and Sciences which comprises 23 academic departments. The Dean is responsible for the administration of instructional programs, budgetary planning and allocation, faculty development and academic advising within the Faculty of Arts and Sciences. The Dean is assisted administratively by an Associate Dean and a Graduate Dean of Arts and Sciences and reports to the President.

Candidates should be established scholars with administrative experience consonant with the complexity of a university system and should have a strong commitment to liberal education. The position carries professorial rank and a tenured appointment in the appropriate department.

Send resume, letter of application and arrange for three letters of recommendation to be sent by November 15, 1983 to

Scientific Reports Available

A report entitled "Products and Productivity of the Men and Women of the Virginia Institute of Marine Science from 1940 to June 1983" by William J. Hargis, Jr., professor of marine science and Thomas M. Armitage, research assistant of the Estuarine and Coastal Ecology Department at VIMS, has been published and is available for distribution.

This 457-page document is a culmination of a three-year study of the productivity, programs, and projects of the Virginia Institute of Marine Science of the College of William and Mary, and includes separate written articles or communications available in the archives of the Institute. Incorporated are the Products of Research and Scholarship which have appeared in written form and published in scientific and scholarly journals as well as locally printed documents. Also listed are the Products of Graduate Student Research. A second report, now available from VIMS and co-authored by William J. Hargis, Jr. and Dennis A. Thoney, research assistant, entitled "The Bibliography of the Monogenea: Literature of the World 1758 to 1982" Special Scientific Report No. 112, will be of interest to parasitologists and scientific libraries the world over. The Bibliography includes all available references on this interesting group of aquatic parasites from the entire world literature starting with the first report published in 1758 and continuing through March, 1983.

The 384-page report is the result of work begun in the mid-1960's with supporting grants from the National Institutes of Health (NIH Grant E-2389) and the National Science Foundation (NSF Grants G-13853, GA-65, GA-235, GA-684 and GA-1494) as well as local funds.

The report is dedicated to David Erick Swerner, assistant professor of marine science, who for 20 years has been very active in the study of parasites and diseases of fishes at the Institute.

This work will provide scientists, interested in parasites and pathogens of fishes (and other aquatic hosts), with a ready reference to the entire world literature of this interesting group of parasites.

"Comparison of Hospital Charges"

The Personnel Office has a copy of the "Comparison of Hospital Charges" prepared by the Virginia Health Services Cost Review Commission. The list compares hospitals based on ten selected charges.

We urge you to receive quality care in the lowest cost setting when obtaining hospital services. Dollars saved in using less expensive services will hold down health care rates since these rates are based on claims paid and a small administrative cost. Claims payments account for 95% of the cost.

The benefits office in the Department of Personnel and Training is currently considering proposals from companies that want to administer the State's Health Care Plan. It is hoped that requesting proposals will lower the health care costs, but the only way to substantially reduce costs is for employees to continue to use health care services wisely.

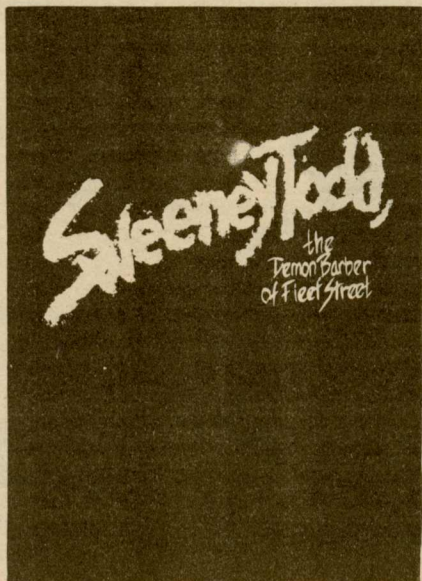

Increase in Credit Union Membership Fee

Effective September 19, 1983, the Board of Directors for the State Employees' Credit Union raised the Credit Union's membership fee from 25 cents to $5.00. The 25 cents fee was established when the Credit Union was organized in 1928, and a $5.00 fee is considerably more realistic in view of the costs involved in setting up new accounts.

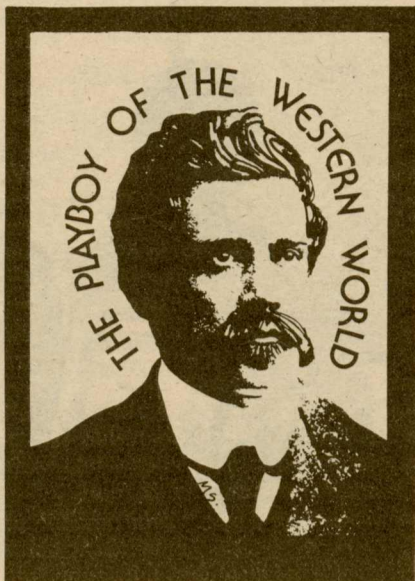

Application and other forms concerning the Credit Union are available in the Personnel Office.

News items for the News should be in hand at James Blair 310 by 5 p.m. on the Thursday preceding the Tuesday of publication. Short items may be phoned in to the office at ext. 4331. WMT 83 - 84 SEASON

Sweeney At Work

Playing the challenging title role will be George Jack, who appeared in last season's "Fiddler on the Roof" as Tevye. Mrs. Lovett, the pie-seller, will be played by Cara Newman of Fairfax. The orchestra for the production will be directed by Buddy White '82.

There will be five evening performances of "Sweeney Todd," Oct. 6, 7, 8, 14 and 15 at 8:15 p.m., and one matinee at 2 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 16. All performances will be in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. Season tickets are $13, and individual tickets are $5. All seats are reserved.

The box office is open weekdays 1-6 p.m. and 7-8:15 p.m. the evenings of performance; and beginning 12:30 p.m. the day of the matinee.

For the remainder of the theatre season, William and Mary will present "The Playboy of the Western World," by John Millington Synge; "The Good Woman of Setzuan," by Bertolt Brecht; and the musical, "Amadeus," by Peter Shaffer.

For reservations and information, call the box office at ext. 4272.

Foreign Service Careers

Constance Huggins, a Foreign Service Officer working in the Bureau for Refugee Programs, will be conducting a seminar for any students who might be interested in the Foreign Service. The seminar will include application procedures as well as her personal experience as a Foreign Service Officer.

The seminar is scheduled for Friday, Oct. 14 at 3:30 p.m. Please call ext. 4604 or come by the Office of Placement to sign up for this session. The location will be given at that time.

Jackson Browne

The Student Association and Whisper Concerts have joined forces to bring Jackson Browne in concert to William and Mary Hall on Tuesday, October 18, at 8 p.m. Reserved seat tickets cost $13.50 and $12.50 for the public. William and Mary students receive a $1 discount on those prices for tickets purchased before October 8.

Tickets are on sale at the William and Mary box office. A valid student ID is required for discount purchases.

Martha Day Busy Arts Agent

The William and Mary Theatre has a booster in Petersburg.

Martha Day, professor of English at Richard Bland College is again arranging college-community season subscriptions to the theatre's season.

A faculty member since 1970 at the Southside Virginia branch of the College, Day encourages participation in theatre-going trips by not only those associated with the campus but by interested local residents.

Through her volunteer sponsorship of programs, she has introduced many to a first-time experience of seeing live drama in widely scattered theatres. Parties travel to Washington, D.C., for presentations at the Folger Shakespearean Theatre. In fact, Day has notices out on campus about the college van's going to the Folger Nov. 5 to Shakespeare's problem comedy, "Troilus and Cressida." It will also be heading Nov. 13 to the Virginia Museum Theatre for "Macbeth."

Her dedication to "opening new vistas" brings praise from producers at various theatres. Richard Palmer, chairman of the W&M theatre department and general manager of the Virginia Shakespeare Festival, says, "We are indeed aware and grateful to Martha Day for the enthusiasm she has demonstrated over the years."

After attending Smith College, Day earned an undergraduate degree from Springfield College and master's at both University of North Carolina and Yale.

Helen Thomas Will Address Network Luncheon

Helen Thomas, senior White House correspondent for UPI, will be the guest speaker for the Peninsula Women's Network Luncheon. The Luncheon, to be held Friday, Oct. 7, at 12 noon, Hampton Holiday Inn, is one of the highlights of the second annual Work of Women Week, sponsored by numerous professional and women's organizations on the Peninsula.

The cost of the luncheon and program is $8. Seating is limited. For additional information and registration, call (804) 838-2122.

Her doctorate was awarded at UNC.

During four years of study and travel in Western Europe, she earned a diploma from the University of Aix-Marseilles in France and a Fulbright certificate from the University of Tubringen in Germany. A past president of the Virginia Humanities Conference, she is an advanced violinist currently playing with the Petersburg Symphony Orchestra, the Petersburg String Quartet and the Richmond Community Orchestra.

Katz

Katz has three books in progress which have been accepted for publication and will be out either this year or 1984: "Cambridge History of Judaism," Cambridge University Press, for which he is a member of a three-member editorial team; "Cambridge History of 19th Century Religious Thought," for which he is one of four editors; and "Classical Jewish History; A Source Book," University of California Press. This volume contains over 300 pages of introductory essays and annotations for individual selections in addition to 700 pages of original source material.

Katz was baccalaureate speaker for the 1983 commencement at William and Mary and took as his topic, "Change and Renewal in an Uncertain World."

Katz was educated at Rutgers University (B.A., 1966); New York University (M.A., 1967) and Cambridge University (Ph.D. 1972). He was Supervisor of Divinity and Jewish Studies at Cambridge University 1969-71 and lectured in Judaism and Comparative Religion, 1971-72.

Lecture on Purcell

An illustrated lecture by Frank T. Lendrim, chairman of the music department on "Henry Purcell" will be given in Ewell 100, Oct. 5 at 7:30 p.m.

Purcell, the leading English composer of the last quarter of the 17th century, was the official court composer to Charles II, James II, and William and Mary.

Research leave was spent examining this topic.

Three Win Housekeeping Awards

Three members of the housekeeping staff were honored Friday for their service to the College.

Clara Roane, who works in Adair gymnasium was named Housekeeper of the Month for September. Louise Berkley, who works in Dillar Complex at Munford Hall, was named Housekeeper for the Month of August. Eleanor Johnson, who works in the Wren Building, was recognized as Housekeeper for the Month of July.

Mrs. Roane is active with Paris Hill Baptist Church, Charles City, where she is a member of a prayer group. She also is a member of the Charles City Women's Club, and enjoys travel. This summer Mrs. Roane traveled to Dallas, Texas to visit her daughter. Mrs. Roane has two children and one grandchild, and has been employed by the College for 12 years.

Mrs. Berkley is a 20-year employee of William and Mary and lives in James City County. She is a member of Bethel Bible Way Church, and enjoys crocheting, making rugs, and sewing. Mrs. Berkley has two children and six grandchildren. She says she enjoys her work at William and Mary, her supervisor and the friends she has made at the College.

Mrs. Johnson, who has been employed at William and Mary for 14 years, is active in her spare time as a cook, an usher for Chickahominy Baptist Church, and as a nurse's aide. During her vacation each year, Mrs. Johnson says she sets aside week to "tend sick folks and help out" at Williamsburg Community Hospital as an aide. Prior to joining the housekeeping staff at William and Mary, Mrs. Johnson worked at Eastern State Hospital. She also has been a restaurant cook and waitress. She has one daughter and one grandchild, four sisters and two brothers. She is a resident of James City County.

Those attending the Awards ceremony held at Bridges House, Jamestown Road, new location of the business office, were housekeeping supervisors Julia Ann Jones, Bernice Holmes and Raymond Wallace; Irving H. Robitshek, personnel director; Dennis K. Cogle, assistant vice president for business affairs; Julius Green, superintendent of support services; Ervin Farmer, director of buildings and grounds; and John Bond, assistant director of buildings and grounds.

Theological Fellowships

Students wishing information and/or wishing to be nominated for ministerial fellowships programs administered by the Fund for Theological Education, Inc., should ask for Announcement S-27-1 and give their name to Stan Brown in the Office of placement, Morton 140.

Students are voted to fellowship status on the basis of their intellectual, spiritual and vocational strengths and promise, not on the basis of their financial need.

Nominations must be received by the Fund by Nov. 20.

Happy Returns

Richard Bland College librarians are still shaking their heads in disbelief over a note included in an inconspicuous 86-page book, "Customer Relations," found in the library's outside receptacle.

Signed "Bookworm," the note reads: "I am afraid the overdue charges are more than I can bear. Thank you for the opportunity to enjoy this material so thoroughly."

The book had been checked out from the college's library in 1968 when it was located in the original college building in Prince George County. Since then the library has been moved into the Campus Center on the Dinwiddie County side of the campus. In 1974 the library was equipped with the 3M Tattle Tape Detection System that noisily proclaims an attempted removal of unchecked material from the library - too late to prevent the abduction of "Customer Relations."

Holiday Schedule

To: The College Community Date: September 20, 1983
 From: Lawrence W. Broomall Vice President for Business Affairs
 Subject: Holiday Schedule for November and December 1983

THANKSGIVING HOLIDAYS, 1983

The administrative offices, the plant department (except for those employees required to maintain essential services), and the mail room of the College of William and Mary will be closed on November 24 and 25, 1983. The Campus Police Department will maintain the regular 24-hour schedule.

The names of permanent classified employees who are required to work on either November 24 or 25, 1983, should be reported in writing to the Personnel Office in order that they may be credited with compensatory leave. Permanent classified employees who are required to work on either of these days should take compensatory leave earned as soon thereafter as possible in order to avoid excessive leave accumulation. Hourly employee who work on either of these days will be paid at their regular hourly rates.

CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS, 1983

Again this year the College will observe an extended Christmas-New Year's Holiday period beginning Friday, December 23 through Friday, December 30, 1983. In the event the Governor declares an additional day or days, we would extend the holiday period. As an example, if he declares one day, the holiday would begin December 22, 1983; if he declares two days, it will extend through January 2, 1984. Such extensions into January are required, because examinations are scheduled through December 21, 1983, thus precluding an earlier beginning date for the holiday.

Due to the nature of the service provided by the College of William and Mary, it is necessary that employees work on certain days which are listed as legal holidays in the Virginia Personnel Act. In recognition of this fact, the Board of Visitors of the College has authorized an alternate holiday schedule, and it includes no holiday time over and above those total holidays authorized by the Virginia Personnel Act for all State employees.

The alternate holiday schedule adopted by the College provides for only five working days during this period. It will be noted that six working days are involved in the schedule described above. In order to provide the sixth day, we will utilize the holiday which falls on November 11.

Administrative offices, and the plant department (except for those employees required to maintain essential services), will be closed during the period.

The Campus Post Office will be open from 9:00 a.m. until 12:00 noon on December 23, 26, 27, 28, 29, and 30, 1983. If the holiday period is extended by one day, the Post Office will be open from 9:00 a.m. until noon on December 22, 1983, in addition to the other dates shown. This Post office will NOT be open at other times during the holiday period noted above.

The Campus Police Department will maintain the regular 24-hour schedule.

Emergency service may be obtained at any time by calling the Campus Police at 253-4596, or at Emergency Extension 333.

The names of permanent classified employees who are required to work during this holiday period should be reported in writing to the Personnel Office in order that they may be credited with compensatory leave. Permanent classified employees who are required to work on any of these days should take compensatory leave earned as soon thereafter as possible in order to avoid excessive leave accumulation. Hourly employees who work on any of these days will be paid at their regular hourly rates.

Those individuals or groups who might be seriously inconvenienced by this extended holiday should indicate their concerns to me, IN WRITING, no later than Friday, December 2, 1983. Such requests will be evaluated carefully before any special arrangements will be made.

Employee morale constitutes one strong justification for the extended holiday. Another justification, of equal importance, is the fact that it enables the College to exercise effective energy and cost saving measures. We are under constant pressure on these points, and, with the students away from the college, this holiday period affords the best opportunity of the entire College year for a virtual close-down of most facilities.

Paychecks for permanent employees will be available at the normal location (Payroll Office, 3rd floor, James Blair Hall) from 9:00 a.m. to 12 noon only on Friday, December 30.

The temperature in unoccupied buildings will be reduced to 50 degrees after 5:00 p.m. on Thursday, December 22nd. This requirement will prevail through Sunday, January 1, 1984; if an additional day is declared by the Governor, this reduced temperature will begin on December 21st. Buildings occupied during this period, are subject to the following schedules for temperature and lighting:

1. Student Residences

Hughes Hall, Corner House, Hoke Garage, Thiemes and graduate housing in the Randolph residences will have reduced temperatures during the period of December 23, 1983 through January 3, 1984.

Heat will be reduced in all other student residences after 12:00 noon on Friday, December 23, 1983 through 8:00 A.M. on Friday, January 13, 1984. Separate instructions to Area Coordinators and Resident Tutors will be issued by the Office of Residence Hall Life.

2. Offices

Brafferton, Rogers, Washington, and Millington Halls and the Population Laboratory will not have reduced temperatures during the period. Heating temperatures in the buildings connected to the Honeywell "BOSS SYSTEM" will be controlled by the "BOSS" operator during this period. Heat and lighting will be provided to the Campus Police Office at all times during the holiday break. Heat and lighting will be provided to the College Post Office from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon from December 23rd throughout the holiday.

3. Libraries

Access governed by hours of operation established by the two libraries (Swem Library and the Law Library). However, heat, lights, and electrical devices in offices will be reduced according to the overall College schedule noted above.

4. Adair and Blow Gyms

Heating temperatures will be reduced and office lighting will be shut off at 5:00 p.m. on Wednesday, December 21, and remain off until 5:00 p.m. on Sunday, January 1, 1984. If the holiday period is extended, these dates will be extended accordingly. Emergency and exterior lighting will be left on.

The following information pertains only to the Virginia Institute of Marine Science:

1. The switchboard at VIMS will be closed November 24 and 25, 1983 for the Thanksgiving Holiday. The switchboard will also be closed beginning Friday, December 23, 1983 through the end of the Christmas-New Year's Holiday.
2. The VIMS payroll office in Clayton House will be open December 30, 1983 for paycheck pickup from 9:00 a.m. until 12:00 noon only.
3. The names of employees who will be required to work either during the Thanksgiving or Christmas-New Year's Holiday must be provided to the Associate Director for Finance and Administration no later than Wednesday, November 23, 1983.

The following information pertains only to the Virginia Associated Research Campus:

1. The switchboard at VARC will be closed November 24 and 25, 1983 for the Thanksgiving Holiday. The switchboard will also be closed beginning Friday, December 23, 1983 through the Christmas-New Year's Holiday.
2. The VARC Business Office will be open December 30, 1983 for paycheck pickup from 11:00 a.m. until 2:00 p.m. only.
3. The names of employees who will be required to work either during the Thanksgiving or Christmas-New Year's Holiday must be provided to the VARC Business Office prior to the beginning of either holiday period.
