Selected For National Show

Pictured above is a colored pencil drawing by Henry Coleman of the Fine Arts faculty entitled "Godiva #1" which was selected for the National Small Image Exhibition. The exhibition runs until March 16. Judge for the exhibit was James C. Christensen, nationally recognized painter and teacher.

Fire Safety System Has Brawn But Little Heart 'Siren, Siren on the wall You may not be fairest of all'

Over the past three years, the College has spent $392,374 in fire protection devices to improve safety and bring the campus into compliance with recent changes in the state fire code. Some equipment in the final phase of this project is currently causing problems - in fact, headaches for students, administrators and city firemen.

This is not a campus-wide problem, but

Career Exploration Brings Alumni Back

For the fourth annual Career Exploration Day, Saturday, Feb. 18, 63 alumni will return to campus to present their success stories in 21 different career fields including accounting and finance, energy, environment, museums, performing arts, research and journalism.

Zandra Thompson, a member of the planning committee reports that many alumni can be expected to stress the value of a liberal arts education in their field. Gail Porter Long '72, a television producer for the Maryland Center for Public Broadcasting, who will be a panelist for the journalism/media section of the program, is one of these, says Thompson.

The program begins at 9:30 a.m. in Morton Hall. Each panel discussion will last one hour. At 12:50 p.m., following the presentations, students will have an opportunity to meet informally with panelists.

Students may register for Career Exploration Day in the Campus Post Office, the Commons or the Wigwam. (A complete listing of program speakers is carried on p. 4.)

in some areas of the campus, primarily in DuPont and some buildings in the Fraternity Complex, students have been plagued by a "trigger happy" alarm system that has been activated by a variety of situations, none of them life-threatening.

The College is currently going through a shake-down period, getting the new devices, mandated for compliance with the latest state fire code, to fit comfortably into the lifestyle of the campus, says James J. Connolly, director of facilities planning and construction for the College. He says he is hopeful that the irregularities in the system will be corrected within the next few weeks.

Students in the involved areas are understandably confused and irritated by the inconveniences the alarms cause. Administrators are worried that students will not continue to respond as quickly as they should to alarms because of this rash of malfunctions.

The city fire department is not happy with the situation either. Because calls to the College within the past month have numbered over 100, the Williamsburg

Nezlek And Cole Chosen For Series

The Last Lecture Series this year will include talks by John Nezlek, psychology department, Feb. 14 on "Studying Psychology for Fun and Profit," and George Cole, Feb. 21, School of Business, Feb. 21, on "My First and Last Lecture."

Both lectures will be held at 7:30 p.m. in Millington auditorium.

1983 Parents Fund Tops $100,000 Mark

For the first time in its ten-year history, the William and Mary Parents Fund has surpassed $100,000.

In a report being prepared for distribution to parents, Susan Ripple of the Office of University Advancement staff, coordinator of the Parents Fund, reports a 1983 fund total of $105,276 in expendable support for the College's educational programs. The fund drive closed Dec. 31. The total represents a 22 percent increase in contributions over the previous year and an increase of nearly 100 percent over a four-year period.

Some 1178 families participated in the 1983 Parents Fund, a nine percent donor increase over 1982. Parents and grandparents of current students provided $49,101 in support, while 321 families of former students contributed $42,145 toward the final total.

Corporate matching gift contributions from 92 eligible donors generated $14,030 in additional support for William and Mary.

Leadership gifts of $1,000 or more were made by 14 families; 22 donors made contributions in the $250-999 range; and 65 families contributed $100-249. The average gift among all donors increased to $89 in 1983.

The campaign was chaired by George and Sue Cruser of New Hope, Pa., the parents of George, Jr., '84 and Susie, '87. Mrs. Elva G. Cruser of Princeton, N. J., sponsored a special campaign among William and Mary grandparents.

Vital to the successful campaign, says Ripple, were the personal contacts made by the chairmen, members of the Association's Steering Committee and the following parent volunteers around the country who assisted in fundraising activities: Mr. and Mrs. Alan Ageloff, Massapequa, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Berry, Elburn, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Owen Brook, Richmond, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs.

Ralph Burnette, Lynchburg, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. William Chase, Stevensburg, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Leo DeLuca, Jarrettsville, Md.; Dr. and Mrs. Guillermo Espejo, Virginia Beach, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Erich F. Haegele, Richboro, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jackson, Hampton, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Jue, Alexandria, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Moreau, Mission Viejo, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. John Osler, Grosse Pointe Shores, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Richardson, Columbus, Ohio; Dr. and Mrs. Roderick Sage, Reno, Nev.; Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Sansone, North Brunswick, N.J.; Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Shufflebarger, Radford, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Stark, Annandale, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sturm, Endicott, N.Y.; Dr. and Mrs. Daniel Witmer, Harrisonburg, Va.

Of the contributions received through the 1983 Parents Fund, 85 per cent provides critical revenue for the College's current operations, with highest priority given to improving faculty compensation, scholarship assistance and learning resources. The remaining $16,000 will underwrite four special projects chosen by the Steering Committee, projects which would not otherwise be funded:

--A computerized management system for the Placement Office to improve placement record-keeping, assist in students' job search and aid in researching employment outcomes, ($3000);

--A supplement for Career Planning to assist with pre-professional counseling and expand career development programs, ($5,000);

--A second Association contribution toward carpeting the reference section of Swem Library, ($5,000);

--A continuation of a fund that allows greater student interaction with visiting faculty, speakers or performing artists, ($3,000).

'Second Seasons' Auditions Set

Auditions will be held from 2-5 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 25 and 7-10 p.m., Monday, Feb. 27 in the Dodge Room of Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall at the College of William and Mary for the theatre's "Second Season," four student-directed plays to be presented this spring.

Area residents as well as members of the College community are invited to try out for parts in "Blithe Spirit" by Noel Coward, "The Romancers" by Edmund Rostand; "Scooter Thomas Makes it to the Top of the World," by B. Keith Ryder and "Medea," by Jean Anouilh.

"Blithe Spirit" will be directed by Lisa Middleton as a senior directoral project and will be staged March 29-31 at the Williamsburg Regional Library Arts Center Theatre.

The three remaining plays will be presented April 19, 21 and 29 in the studio theatre in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall through the advanced director's workshop program under the guidance of Louis E. Catron, professor of theatre and speech. "The Romancers" will be directed by Debbie Niezgoda. B. Keith Ryder will direct "Scooter Thomas Makes it to the Top of the World" and "Medea" will be directed by Henry McCoy.

An enchanting tale of love and adventure, "The Romancers" serves as the basis for New York's longest running musical, "The Fantasticks." "Scooter Thomas Makes it to the Top of the World" explores the intriguing, tragic relationship between two childhood friends and the vastly different paths they have followed as adults. In "Medea" Jean Anouilh, the master of French modern theater, has brought to life the classic account of Medea and Jason.

"Blithe Spirit" is a farce complete with invisible spirits and floating objects.

Stockmeyer Speaker For Faculty Forum

Paul K. Stockmeyer, department of mathematics and computer science, will speak at the Faculty forum, Thursday, Feb. 16 on the impact of computers on mathematics.

The Forum meets at 12:30 p.m. in the Dodge Room of Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. Participants are asked to bring their own lunch. Coffee will be provided.

"The development of electronic computers," says Stockmeyer, "starting with ENIAC some forty years ago, has had some profound effects on mathematics."

Correction on Kenan

The three Kenan Lectures to be delivered by cultural historian, theorist and critic Giles B. Gunn, Professor of American Studies and Religion at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and this year the William R. Kenan, Jr., Professor of Humanities, will be given at 8 p.m. on Feb. 14, 21 and 28 in Tucker 120, not Millington Hall as previously announced.

Giles will take as the topic of his lectures, "The Culture of Criticism in North America and the Criticism of Culture."

Williams' Music To Be Played By Symphony, Pianist Newell

Music by Edgar Warren Williams, assistant professor of music will be included in three concerts this spring.

The world premiere of Williams' "Landscapes with Figure" (1983), will be given by the Peninsula Symphony of Virginia, Joel Eric Suben, conducting, at 8 p.m., Feb. 19 in Warwick High School. This concert will be repeated at 8 p.m., March 4 in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

Composer-pianist John Newell will present a recital of twentieth century music at 8 p.m., Feb. 18 in Ewell 100 at William and Mary and will include in his program, "Six Studies in Harmonic Rhythm" by Williams.

Edgar Warren Williams

Williams received a master of arts degree in composition and theory from Columbia University and M.F.A. and Ph.D. degrees in composition from Princeton University. His principal composition teachers were Iaiam Hamilton, Charles Wuorinen and Milton Babbitt. His published compositions include works for solo instruments, ensemble pieces, music for voice and piano and a choral work, "Multum in Parvo" commissioned by the Duke University Chorale.

Williams was a prize winner in the 1981 East-West Artists international competition for his work entitled "Amoretti" for viola and piano which was performed at the Carnegie Recital Hall and will be performed this year at Ohio State University. "Across a Bridge of Dreams" (1979) which was commissioned by the Duke University Wind Symphony, was performed by the Michigan State annual symposium of new music for winds in 1982. Williams composed incidental music for the Virginia Shakespeare Festival's production of "Merry Wives of Windsor." He has been conductor of the College/Community orchestra for three years and has been succeeded this year by Suben. He has been the recipient of a College summer research grant for his work.

The Peninsula Symphony will include in its program Mozart's Violin Concerto No. 4, K. 218 and Schubert's Symphony No. 5 in B. Soloist for the Mozart Concerto will be Rose Mary Harbison, who has performed with the Milwaukee, Oakland, Pittsburgh and Madison orchestras. Her special achievement in the furthering of new music has been recognized by an Ingram-Merrill Fellowship in Performance and a Radcliffe Institute Bunting Fellowship. She has taught at MIT and Brandeis Universities. Conductor Suben is a lecturer in music at William and Mary.

Pianist-composer John Newell is a North Carolinian who graduated summa cum laude from Duke University and pursued further study at California Institute of the Arts and State University of New York at Buffalo. In Buffalo he held the first Edgar Varese Fellowship in composition while completing doctoral studies. He has composed for orchestra chorus various chamber music combinations and for the theatre. His compositions have received performances in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles, as well as cities in Europe and South America. On recent seasons he has appeared with increasing frequency throughout the Eastern states as a solo pianist in repertoire drawn from the entire spectrum of modern compositions.

His program on Feb. 18 will include "Fantaisie," by Bohuslav Martinu, "In the Mists," by Leos Janacek, Variations for Piano, Op. 27 by Anton Webern, Preludes, Book I by Debussy, his own "Knossos" and "Aardvark Dreams" and "Apotheosis" from "Aardvark Processions"; "Fantasy" by William Hawley and Six Studies in Harmonic Rhythm by Williams.

Eric Jensen, assistant professor of economics, attended a conference in Bangladesh, Dec. 4-8, on the effects of a large water control project. Participants met to devise a ten-year multidisciplinary study of the effects on a rural population of the building of a large levee which, when combined with two large pumping stations, will provide flood control in the rainy season and irrigation during the dry season. Scientists will chart the changes in lifestyles of large numbers of the populations. They will chart the extent to which attitudes toward risk, fertility, mortality, etc., are changed, and the effects on incomes and prices, as part of the data gathering process. The data generated by this proposal is expected to be extremely valuable to researchers working on projects involving developing countries.

Judith Ewell, associate professor of history, gave a paper entitled "Venezuelan Election Seasons and Foreign Policy" at the annual meeting of the Virginia Political Science Association on December 3 in Charlottesville. She attended the annual meeting of the American Historical Association in San Francisco from Dec. 28-30 and served as a commentator on a panel on nineteenth century Venezuelan political economy and as the chairperson for the annual meeting of the Gran Colombian Studies Committee. Her review of Stephen Rabe's The Road to OPEC: United States Relations with Venezuela, 1919-1976 has just appeared in the November 1983 issue of Pacific Historical Review. She also chaired a seminar at the Caribbean Basin Symposium held at the Armed Forces Staff College in Norfolk on Jan. 18 and 19.

Ismail H. Abdalla, assistant professor history recently attended the annual meeting of the South Eastern Middle Eastern and Islamic Studies seminar held at Boone, N.C., where he gave a paper on the "Social Status of Women in Muslim Countries." He also attended the 26th Annual Conference of the African Studies Association in Boston, MA and gave a paper on "Population Growth and Agricultural Change in Western Sudan."

Dale Hoak, professor of history, presented a paper on "The Coup d'Etat of Mary Tudor, 1553 at the annual meeting of the Southern Historical Association in Charleston, S.C. on November 12. Hoak's paper, which will be published by Oxford University Press in a forthcoming volume of essays reassessing the history of Tudor politics and government, was based on the discovery of an eye-witness' account of Mary's successful armed resistance against the government of the puppet queen, Lady Jane Grey. Questionnaires

As reported in this space in September, members to let them know of your concerns. The self study process includes opinion and fact finding surveys. Separate Chairmen of committees are listed below. A complete roster of committees was published in this column on Oct. 4, 1983.

Random sampling will be used for the students but the faculty will be polled in its entirety.

The questions range from objective to open-ended. They were developed by the various committees of the Self Study and collated by the steering committee with the help of experts in opinion surveys.

When you receive your questionnaire we ask you to complete and return it promptly so that the committees will be able to represent your views in their reports.

At the same time, you are urged to communicate directly with committee

Hoak's paper, which forms part of a longer project on the mid-Tudor court, was funded by a Summer 1983 Faculty Research Grant.

Associate professors John McGlennon and Ronald Rapaport of the department of government are co-authors of a research note, "The Party Isn't Over: Incentives for Action in the 1980 Presidential Campaign," which appeared in the November 1983 edition of the Journal of Politics. Joining McGlennon and Rapaport as a co-author was Alan Abramowitz, SUNY Stonybrook, formerly of the William and Mary faculty.

Berna L. Heyman, head of the bibliographic services division of Swem Library, coauthored an article on "Interlibrary Borrowing Patterns in Virginia" which was published in the November/December 1983 issue of the Virginia Librarian Newsletter. The article reported on a survey of the 165 public and academic libraries in Virginia and their activities in lending library materials.

Gloria L. Spell and Vicki Burcham attended a three-day seminar entitled "Basic Purchasing Seminar" in Richmond Jan. 18-20. This seminar was sponsored by the National Institute of Governmental Purchasing and the Virginia Association of Governmental Purchasing.

The seminar covered the basic rules of purchasing and the attendees had to take a written exam upon completion of the seminar. Mrs. Spell and Mrs. Burcham both passed their exams and will receive certificates of achievement.

Norma R. Chandler, Helen J. Carter, Annette Johnson, and Juanita Cary, represented the College at the Surplus Property Administrator's Conference held Nov. 21-23, at the Williamsburg Conference Center. Numerous workshops, speakers, and equipment were all interrelated on the subject of management of surplus property.

Terry Meyers, English department, has published a review in the Literary Research Newsletter (Spring, 1983) of Algernon Charles Swinburne: A Bibliography of Secondary Works, 1861-1980 by Kirk H. Beetz.

William F. Swindler, John Marshall Professor of Law Emeritus, is the author of two numbers in the "New Federalist Papers," a nationally syndicated series of newspaper releases distributed by a scholarly research office in Claremont, CA. The first article, on the significance of the Treaty of Paris, was distributed to 200 subscribing dailies in January. The second, on the adjustment of state and national constitutions to the postwar period, will be distributed in March.

Parish Reporters Enliven Script

Parish annual reports can be dull reading unless there are some creative reporters like the triumvirate at Bruton Parish Church, Jock Darling, Frank Lendrim and Jenrose Lashinger. Both Lendrim and Darling are members of the music faculty. A portion of their creative prose is included below. It should be added that the note of whimsy was only part of the musicians' report which highlighted the active program of music at the church which includes Canterbury Choir composed of William and Mary students.

Word has reached us that the Committee on the new Hymnal has been occasionally working on hymns for all occasions. We understand that the following have received special consideration, but that not all have been accepted YET!

The Flower Festival Hymn - Deck the Halls
The Traffic Court Hymn - In the Hour of Trial
The Obstetrician's Hymn - Come, Labor On
For Indian Missions - Hail to the Redskins
The Dentist's Hymn - Crown Him with Many Crowns
Contractor's Anthem - How Firm a Foundation
Pre-Sermon Hymn - Sleepers, Wake
Post-Sermon Hymn - Sleepers, Wake
Opening of Diocesan Council - Lead, Kindly Light, Amid the Encircling Gloom

Opponents of E.R.A. Hymn - Rise up, O Men of God
Romeo to Juliet Sunday - Abide With Me
Jock and all Choirmasters - He Leadeth Me
Genrose and all Choirmistresses - She Leadeth Me
Heads of Every Member Canvasses - Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen
Mathematicians's Hymn - When Morning Gilds the Sky

If you resurrect alternate suggestions, mail them to the Hymn Committee, Easter Island, Lost in the South Pacific, with adequate postage via Angel Air.

Wednesday, February 29 4-5 p.m.

No appointment is necessary.

School Districts Set Calendar

Listed below are the school systems which will be interviewing on campus during February.

Students should sign up for interviews in the Office of Educational Placement, Jones 305.

Credential papers must be on file in order for students to be interviewed.

Credential forms for setting up a file may be obtained in the Office of Educational Placement. This is not an automatic procedure; students must obtain the forms, fill them out and return them to the office. Students are also responsible for seeing that recommendations are also returned to the office.

AU MBA Program

Students interested in securing information about admissions to the M.B.A. Program at the American University are invited to make appointments to see Herb Stutts, Dean of Program Development. He will be in the Office of Placement, 140 Morton Hall, from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday, Feb. 27. Call extension 4604 or come by the Placement Office to make an appointment prior to the 27th.

Development Workshop

Two career development workshops are planned for students who are having difficulty making a career decision. Exercises, lectures and group discussions will be used to help identify interest, skills and values and then integrate them into a realistic career goal.

Each workshop will include four sessions. The first workshop will be held Feb. 15, 22, 29 and March 14 from 7 to 9 p.m. in Morton 140.

The second session will begin March 14 and continue March 21, 28 and April 4 from 3 to 5 p.m., in Morton 201.

For details, please call ext. 4427.

Summer Job/Internship Workshop

The Office of Career Planning is sponsoring a Summer Job/Internship Workshop Tuesday, February 14 at 4:30 p.m., in the Career Planning Library, Morton Hall 140. Topics to be discussed include how to find summer opportunities (both advertised and "hidden"), how to apply for these positions and how to use the Career Planning Library to facilitate this process. All students are welcome to attend.

Environmental Education Internships

Environmental education will be the theme of the next College VENTURE Program informational meeting at 3:30 p.m., Feb. 15, in Morton 240. VENTURE provides a job placement service for undergraduates who want to take time off to explore career goals or take a break from academics. A variety of jobs are offered through VENTURE including positions as environmental education interns. Interns teach students of all ages - from grade school children to adults, and in a variety of locations - from Kentucky to Minnesota to New England.

At the meeting will be special guest Craig Anderson who will give a slide presentation and discuss his personal experience working in the field of environmental education. Former Venture participant will also be present to answer questions. Refreshments will be served. For more information on VENTURE, please contact Mary Przyppyszny, Office of Career Planning, 140 Morton Hall, ext. 4329.

The Wilson Quarterly

The Wilson Quarterly, a national journal of ideas and public affairs, published by the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C., is accepting applications for its 1984 Summer Internship Program. Five positions are available, three with the Essays editors and one each with the editors of the book review and periodicals sections. Application deadline is March 1. For more information, see announcement in Internship Book III, Journalism section.

Student Conservation Assn.

The Student Conservation Association, Inc., is offering park, forest and resource assistant positions through the Student Conservation Program. Application deadline is March 1, for positions starting between May 1 and July 31. For more information, see announcement in Internship Book II, Environment section.

Both references can be found in the Career Library, Morton 140.

Control Data

Summer Internships are available at Control Data for students entering their junior or senior year in college. This program is designed to provide a practical, hands-on work experience and income for students majoring in engineering, computer science, and accounting. Application deadline is March 1. For more information, see announcement in Internship Book VI, Business section.

Kodak

Kodak's professional summer internship program is for students who are interested in a pre-professional summer position. A limited number of summer assignments are available to students in engineering, science, computer science or business who are within one year of completing a bachelor's degree. Application deadline is March 1. For more information, see announcement in Internship Book VI, Business section.

SA Notes

The schedule of workshops sponsored by the Student Association includes a unique offering - high tea at the President's House. Mrs. Graves will serve tea from 4:30 - 5:30 p.m., Feb. 16, given an informal discussion on etiquette and share with the students some of the humorous experiences she has had with her own family while entertaining dignitaries on campus.

Registration has closed but there is a waiting list for a second session which is in the planning stage. Students may sign up in the SA office in the Campus Center basement weekdays from 1-5 p.m.

Denise Shaw, extension agent with the Virginia Cooperative Extension Service, Toano, will give a workshop on cooking on a college budget at 3 p.m., Feb. 20 in the Dodge Room of Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

Those planning to attend are asked to sign up in the SA office by Feb. 20.

Students are reminded that they must register for the Billy Joel concert shuttle to Norfolk, Feb. 17. The bus departs from PBK at 6 p.m. and returns at 12:30 a.m. Shuttle tickets are $5.

In The News

William and Mary has been getting in the news on a national level.

Cable News Network on Feb. 6 showed the College's contingent marching in a program on the resurgence of ROTC on campuses.

CBS Morning News took note of the College's Charter Day anniversary in an historical note, Feb. 6.

Alumna Glenn Close, now starring on Broadway in "The Real Thing," has been the subject of feature articles in both the Wall Street Journal and "W" recently.

Black Music Focus Of Lanier Concert

Jo Ann Lanier, mezzo-soprano, will present a concert of Afro-American music at 7 p.m., Friday, Feb. 24 in the Campus Center ballroom concluding a series of cultural programs sponsored by the Black Student Organization and the Office of Minority Affairs at the College.

This concert is open to the public. There is no admission charge.

As an ambassador for the black arts, Dr. Lanier will narrate and perform a chronological perspective of American music from 1619 to the present. She will include classical concert music, folk-ethnic, opera, jazz and popular music and will show also how musical themes are also apparent in black art, dance, drama and literature.

Currently a member of the music faculty at Berea College, Berea, Ky., Dr. Lanier was educated at the Cleveland Institute of Music, and the New England and American Conservatories of Music. She also attended Pacific Western University. She has won fellowships and scholarships to the Aspen and Tanglewood music centers and for study at the American Institute of Musical Studies in Graz, Austria.

Art Historian To Lecture Feb. 22 In Andrews Hall

Svetlana Alpers, noted art historian and professor of the history of art at the University of California at Berkeley, will give a public lecture on "The Master's Touch: Rembrandt (In and Out of Dutch Art)" at 8 p.m., Feb. 22 in Andrews 101. The lecture is sponsored by the Twentieth Century Gallery in Williamsburg and the Muscarelle Museum on campus.

Ms. Alpers was born in Cambridge, Mass., received her B.A. from Radcliffe College in 1957 and her Ph.D. in Fine Arts from Harvard University in 1965. She has been on the faculty of the University of California at Berkeley since 1962. She has won a number of prizes and awards, including a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship in 1957-58, a Kress Foundation Grant in 1966-67, and a Guggenheim Fellowship in 1972-73. Ms. Alpers has been a visiting fellow at the Netherlands Institute for Advanced Study, Wassenaar, and a member of the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton.

A reception will be held following the talk.

Recitals Set By Dowler, Trammell

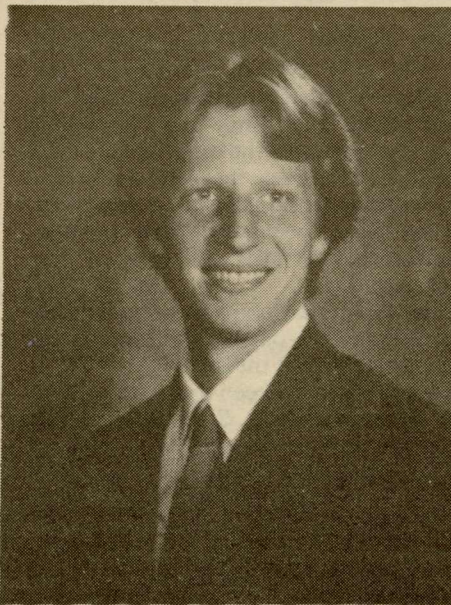

Janice Trammell

Janice Leigh Trammell has selected Sonata for Flute and Piano by Francis Poulenc; the Sonata "Undine" Op. 167 by Carl Reinecke and "Sonata a moll for flute solo" by C.P.E. Bach for her senior flute recital at 3 p.m., Feb. 18 in the Williamsburg Regional Library auditorium. Her accompanist will be Cynthia Fisher, piano.

Trammell studies with Deborah Cross. She is a member of Delta Omicron honorary music fraternity and was assistant director of the Sinfonicon Opera Company Orchestra.

She has received the Gladys I. Clark and the Stephen P. Paledes scholarships and in 1981 won the instrumental division of the Delta Omicron music competition.

David Dowler

David W. Dowler, a senior, baritone, will give a senior voice recital at 8 p.m., Feb. 20 in the Williamsburg Regional Library auditorium.

Dowler, a student of David Parks of the music faculty, will include in his program Cantata No. 82 "Ich Habe Genug," by Bach, French songs by Chabrier and Faure as well as two gypsy songs by Brahms and four British folk songs arranged by Benjamin Britten.

Mary Przypyszny, a graduate student in the counseling program will be piano accompanist for the recital. For the Bach Cantata Dowler will also be accompanied by an instrumental ensemble including Patrick Gainer, oboe; Victor Stalowir, first violin; Laurie Ramsey, second violin;

Undergrads Operate Successful Business

Direct-Marketing of Williamsburg, Inc., was created two years ago. It has an office at 732 Scotland Street, Suite 24, an answering service, logo and stationery.

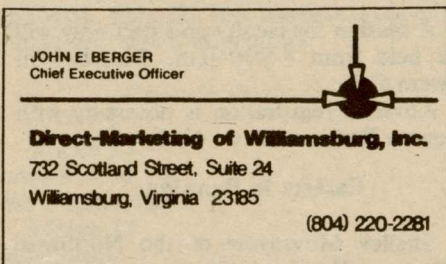

What makes this successful small business remarkable is that its chief executive officer, and in fact all connected with the business, are undergraduates, participating in a unique hands-on experience in the corporate world.

The idea of the business began with its present chief executive, John E. Berger, who will graduate with a bachelor of arts degree in business in May. During his junior year Berger began getting tired of book work, he was anxious to get the feel of the business world, to become involved with some of the practices that he was reading about. He talked things over with William Rice, one of his instructors, and together they explored the possibility of Berger setting up a student-run company as an independent study project. The project continues to enjoy the continued support of the School of Business.

The first job the fledgling company tackled was to provide the Williamsburg Pottery with 140,000 labels for a direct-mail catalogue that was being prepared. Conscientious Carpet Care has been another customer. For this account, Direct-Marketing of Williamsburg suggested a new logo, a change in letterhead and gave advice on the benefits of computerization.

The company has prepared graphics and promotional materials for Royal Travel Agency in Williamsburg and done work for Xerox and Exxon. Currently its principal customer is the National Park Service. The work load, says Berger, is as much as the company can handle.

The Management of Direct-Marketing of Williamsburg includes Larry Levy, president; Milan Turk, vice president/projects coordinator; Ed Healey, vice president, finance; Alison Horrocks, account executive, Travis Ebel, sales manager and Caleen Norrod, creative director.

Members of the company also include Sharon Crumpton, sales staff, research; Paul Golder, creative staff, copywriting, research; Scott Schroeder, sales staff, creative staff, graphics, Mary I. Iida, sales staff, creative staff, photography; and Anne Doyle, sale staff, creative staff.

Having achieved success, the Direct-Marketing of Williamsburg, Inc., must now decide how it will proceed in the future and how it can assure a continuum of managers and workers from the shifting student population of the College. Berger has a plan to recruit juniors as interns. By their senior year these students will be experienced enough to teach others, he suggests.

There is also the matter of how to resolve the profit-sharing aspects of the business. If students receive credit for work with the company as an independent study project, should they be able to

Bookstore Receives Thanks For Assisting Choir Project

Customers in the College Bookstore on Wednesday did a double take when they were suddenly serenaded as they shopped with such melodic tunes as "I've Got Rhythm" and "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes," sung by a choral ensemble.

While the customers enjoyed the mini-concert, the roving troubadours, members of the William and Mary choir, really came to express their thanks in a musical way to Carol Linville, manager of the greeting card department and bookstore manager Hal Holcomb for their help with a fund-raising project.

In order to earn money for their European tour in May, choir members sold Christmas cards and notepaper and the Bookstore was one of their outlets. The store took in approximately $5,000 in card sales.

Mrs. Linville says it was a joint effort, not the work of just one person. The bookstore was happy to cooperate and the choir helped too. "They had a good product, they packaged the cards so they were ready for the shelves, they kept our inventory well stocked and they put a good price on the cards," explained Mrs. Linville. Notecards are still on sale at the bookstore.

The Wednesday concert prompted one customer to seek out the cards and buy a pack before he left the store.

Mrs. Linville has been busy lately stocking Valentine cards. Students like the recycled paper ones with the whimsical pop art of Sandra Boyton on them, she says. Cats are big as card illustrations, also teddy bears and turkeys. The sentimental card will find its way into some mailboxes on campus this year but for the most part cards with a touch of light humor are being sent.

Mrs. Linville has been a member of the bookstore staff for the past six years. The choir project was something she enjoyed very much. She's a solid booster of William and Mary students. She's the parent of Carla Linville, a junior chemistry major. Carol and her husband, Carl, have another daughter, Nan, currently a junior at Lafayette High School.

Harrison Lecture

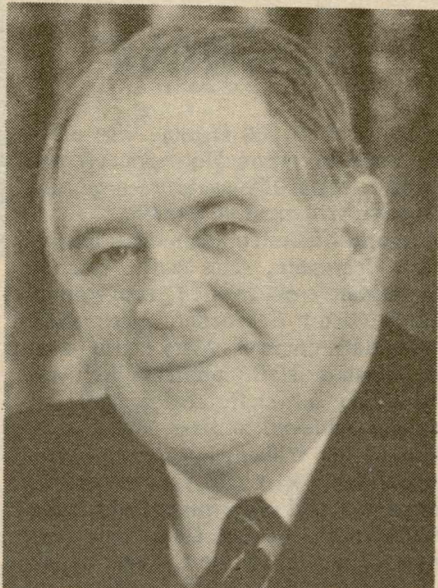

William J. Eccles, James Pinckney Harrison Professor of History, will give the final lecture in the current series on New France. He will speak on "La Question Ordinaire et La Question Extraordinaire: The Law Applied and Unapplied." This lecture will be given at 8 p.m. in Morton 220.

Linville donated a homemade Cabbage Patch doll for a Christmas auction and was immediately deluged with requests for more dolls. She's decided on a way to satisfy those requests - she'll teach a class in cabbage patch doll making this spring under the auspices of the Cottage Shop in Norge.

Brewmaster Talks To MBA Staffers

Former Schlitz president and Anheuser-Busch executive Frank Sellinger recently told MBA students working on the Business Review that the beer industry is finding it harder and harder to find new customers.

Sellinger said that Miller -- the country's second largest brewer behind Anheuser-Busch -- has yet to make any substantial return on its investments in the beer industry despite its success in capturing volume with its popular "Lite" and "Miller" beers. Sellinger said the smaller brewers are having an even tougher time than the large brewers. In the future, customers will probably be choosing a beer from one of only a few big companies.

Frank Sellinger

Most consumers will recognize Sellinger as the company spokesman in a series of Schlitz commercials (the commercials began: "I may be the only man running a major brewery who is a master brewer . . .").

Sellinger is a resident of Williamsburg. His campus visit was arranged by the staff of the William and Mary Business Review.

Festival Selects Meszaros For Development, Promotions

Patricia Meszaros has been appointed Director of Development and Promotions for the Virginia Shakespeare Festival.

Her main charge will be fund raising and she says she plans to work closely with the Lord Chamberlain Society of the Festival and the Development Office of the College. She will also work on subscription drives, individual and group sales as well as promotion.

From 1979-1982, Mrs. Meszaros was business manager for the New Jersey State Opera Company. In this capacity she handled a variety of assignments including subscription campaigns, public relations, advertising. She also did consultant work for the development staff of the company.

Mrs. Meszaros received an undergraduate degree in psychology from Wittenberg University, Springfield, Ohio and a master's degree in social work from Ohio State. Her master's program, she said, was focused on the administration of non-profit organizations and administrative planning. She completed an internship while at Ohio State with the United Way in Columbus, Ohio and later worked with the United Way organization in Elizabeth, N.J., as a government grant specialist and corporate fund raiser.

After moving to Williamsburg in 1982, Mrs. Meszaros and her husband William ran the Embers Restaurant from January through October, 1983. Mr. Meszaros is participating in Chi'Chi's management training program and expects to be work with the chain's Hampton restaurant.

Festival Guild Meets Feb. 19

The Guild of the Virginia Shakespeare Festival will hold its 1984 organizational meeting at 2 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 19 in the Dodge Room of Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

New members and former members are urged to attend.

Officers and committee chairmen will be elected. Plans for 1984 will be discussed and Leslie Muchmore, artistic director for the Festival will address the membership.

Volunteers for sewing, ushering, scenery, properties, auditions and the Elizabethan Fair will be needed for the 1984 season, says Muchmore. He added that many volunteer actors would be needed for this year's productions.

Members or prospective members who are unable to attend the Feb. 19 meeting are asked to call the Festival office at 253-4377 and information will be mailed to them.

Computer Courses Reopened At Center

Because of the demand for introductory course on the Apple Microcomputer offered on a non-credit basis by the Computer Center, additional sessions have been added.

A session open to all students will be held from 4-5:30 p.m., Feb. 29 in Swem G-5.

A session for faculty and staff only will be held from 4-5:30 p.m., March 1 in Swem G-5.

Advance registration is necessary with Lenora Rodgers at ext. 4547.

Careers in Banking

Shelley Movroydis of the Northwest Mortgage Co., Inc., will present a seminar on careers in mortgage banking at 4 p.m., Feb. 16, in Morton 341.

Movroydis, an alumna, received a B.A. in economics and fine arts and is completing her M.B.A. in accounting.

Pi Kappa Alpha Alumni Weekend Planned Feb. 18, 19

The Gamma Chapter of The Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity will hold its first annual Founders' Day-Alumni Association weekend in February 18 and 19. The event commemorates the fraternity's 113th anniversary and inaugurates the first annual meeting of the newly formed Gamma Chapter Alumni Association.

Dick Murgatroyd, the Executive Director of the national fraternity, will be the keynote speaker for the event. The Headquarters for the event will be the Sheraton Patriot on Route 60 West.

Pi Kappa Alpha, founded at the University of Virginia on March 1, 1868, is one of the oldest and largest college fraternities in the United States. With an approximate membership of 120,000, the Fraternity boasts over 175 chapters and colonies and some 90 alumni associations nationwide. The Gamma Chapter at William and Mary has a membership of 75 brothers. Chapter projects include the Pike Bike Marathon for Muscular Dystrophy, which is the most successful continuous student-run charity at the College. The chapter has been recipient of the national Alumni Relations Award from the national fraternity.

Omicron Delta Epsilon

Students interested in a minor or major in economics and who will have completed 21 hrs. in economics by the end of this semester are encouraged to apply for ODE, the international economics honor society. Requirements are an overall GPA of 3.0 and a GPA of 3.2 in economics.

Apply with Karen Dolan in the economics office, Mor. 110 by Feb. 24. There is an initiation fee of $16.

Careers in Government

John E. Pforr '60 (sociology) of the Secret Service, will present a career seminar entitled "Careers in Government," at 4 p.m., Monday, Feb. 20 in Morton 341.

Pforr began field work for the Secret Service in Baltimore and then spent four years on the White House detail with former presidents Johnson and Nixon. He has also worked in Seattle and New Haven, CT.

As a Senior Special Agent, Pforr often conducts complex investigations dealing with counterfeiting. He also served in a supervisory capacity in the protection of the President, Vice President and heads of state while they were visiting in the U.S.

This seminar is sponsored by the Office of Career Planning and is open to all interested in the topic. For further information, please call ext. 4427.

Changes Within Department of Telecommunications

As a result of the divestiture of AT&T effective January 1, 1984, several important changes have taken place within the Department of Telecommunications which will have a bearing on the College's telephone system. The following are direct effects the divestiture will have on William and Mary:

- 1) All responses to telephone service requests/calls will be slower and more costly.
- 2) Both AT&T and C&P will answer service repair calls and the following guidelines are offered:
 - a. AT&T only services problems dealing with the telephone instrument (i.e., lights out, broken cord, phone does not ring, cannot hear person on the phone, etc.)
 - b. CP services problems dealing with the telephone line (i.e., party cannot call in, you cannot call out, phone rings busy when it's not).
- 3) Reporting repair/service calls will be more involved and, if not handled properly, will cost the caller money.

Departments will have to be specific when reporting repair calls - if C&P answers a service call and it does not deal with a line problem, they will not perform the repair and will charge a maximum of approximately $66.00 for a service call. (Currently AT&T does not charge a service call, but will probably do so in the future.)
- 4) To alleviate uncertainty in determining whom to call for repair work and to eliminate the possibility of an erroneous service call, the Department of Telecommunications (DOT) has suggested that a SCATS call to 786-2201 will reach a DOT service order writer who will determine, based on the information received from the caller, whether to contact AT&T or C&P. The service order writer will then contact the appropriate company.
- 5) If you dial extension 4800 for repair service, the College operator will automatically contact C&P. So, it is very important that you are positive the problem is with the line and not the instrument when you utilize this number.

The caller should be prepared to give the following information to the service order writer:

INSTRUMENT PROBLEM: State the agency's name (William and Mary), your name, what department, building, room number and station number, and the problem.
LINE PROBLEM: State the agency's name (William and Mary), your name the line number which is experiencing trouble, the building and the problem.

As further information is received from the Department of Telecommunications, the Business Affairs office will pass it on to the College community.

Pre-Retirement Seminars

The Field Services Department of the Virginia Supplemental Retirement System will be conducting pre-retirement seminars in April. Presentations will be made by representatives from VSRS, Blue Cross/Blue Shield, and Social Security Administration. Questions concerning retirement will be answered at this time.

In Williamsburg, the seminar will be conducted on April 3, in the Dodge Room of Phi Beta Kappa Hall and again in Hampton on April 4 at Hampton City Hall - Council Chambers, 22 Lincoln Street. Each session will begin at 9:30 a.m. and conclude at 12:30 p.m. Employees who are nearing age 55 or older who have begun planning for retirement are urged to attend one of these seminars.

Interested employees may register by contacting Charla Cordle in the Personnel Office at 4560. Deadline for registration is Monday, February 20, 1984.

Fire Alarms

Fire Department has had to devise ways to keep from exhausting its resources. Their response has been to send engines and equipment to the first alarm turned in from a building, but to send an investigating officer as an advance agent on subsequent calls from the same area, before sending equipment.

One of the major problems, says Chuck Lombardo, director of residence life, is that under the state specifications, heat and smoke sensitive devices have to be placed in areas which would be appropriate in a home or hotel situation but which are not always applicable on campus.

A device outside a bathroom door is fine in a home where one person showers at a time but outside a dorm facility where several students may use the room at the same time, the steam from multiple showers, escaping when the door is opened, is enough to set off an alarm.

Hotel guests do not cook in their rooms. Students do sometimes, and even burned toast can generate enough smoke to set off an overhead alarm.

Air currents caused by the opening of an elevator were found enough to trigger an alarm placed, as specified, beside the elevator door. This device has since been moved.

No one was able to predict that migratory ants crossing the ionization pad of a device would also trigger an alarm. Also there have been some equipment malfunctions.

Lombardo says the planning and construction department is working on resetting the devices but must receive an individual variance from the state fire marshal's office of each unit that is moved. Over 2,000 have been placed on campus most without difficulty. The final phase of the project is the area now experiencing problems.

Both Lombardo and Connolly feel that some accommodations by students must be made in solving the current situation. Students must not leave cooking unattended. Students are also being advised not to use their own methods of testing the sensitivity of the units or to render them inoperable.

The major concern of the residence hall staff, says Lombardo, is that students continue to respond quickly to alarms. He is posting additional fire safety regulation notices in all residence halls. "None of us can forget the positive and prompt reaction of students last winter at the Jefferson fire and how many lives were saved because everyone evacuated the building quickly."

The devices which have been installed over the past three years are part of requirements for the fire safety code enacted by the General Assembly in 1982.

International Studies Office Has Information And Applications

The Office of International Studies has received information about the Scottish Universities' International Summer School, 1984. SUISS will run a six week program this summer from July 9 to August 17, concentrating on the history and literature of Britain in the Twentieth Century. The School, located in historic Edinburgh, has recently announced the availability of five SUISS awards for well-qualified American applicants to the School in the amount of 225 pounds sterling each payable in Edinburgh toward the fees of the summer school.*

Information and applications are now available for the Junior Year at the University of Exeter, the Exeter Exchange Scholarship, the St. Andrews Exchange Scholarship, and the James Blair Fellowship at St. Mary's Divinity School of St. Andrews University. The Exchange Scholarships cover room, board, and tuition for one year's study at either St. Andrew's or Exeter, and the James Blair Fellowship secures the recipient a place at the prestigious St. Mary's Divinity School at St. Andrews. Costs at both universities are approximately $6,000 to $7,000. There will be an informational meeting on Monday, Feb. 20 at 3:30 p.m. in the Campus Center, Room C, for all students interested in applying for any or all of these opportunities.*

Please contact the Office of International Studies, James Blair 111, x4354, for more information.

receive accrued profits? As an extracurricular service, there is no problem. One of the company's objectives is to earn a 19 percent profit on its work. Last year students received three semester hours of academic credit for one semester of work but are currently working without receiving credit.

David Moore, assistant professor of business, is current faculty advisor for DMW and Berger will sit down soon with Dean John Jamison and Associate Dean Henry Mallue to talk about the company's future.

One of the selling points of the project is that DMW is a college-wide project which involves undergraduates from a variety of different disciplines. Each brings a particular talent to the work of the company which includes marketing, advertising, copywriting, graphs and sales. Currently there are English, philosophy, economics and accounting majors involved.
