Real Governors eat quiche

Burgesses Day at the College went off in grand style last Saturday, with more than 600 VIPs and guests enjoying the festivities.

Present were Gov. Charles Robb and four former Virginia governors: Albertis S. Harrison, Mills E. Godwin, Jr., A. Linwood Holton, Jr., and John W. Dalton. A fifth, J. Lindsay Almond, could not attend but was represented by Mrs. Almond.

Guests gathered in the Sir Christopher Wren courtyard Saturday morning, passing through a receiving line composed of Rector Anne Dobie Peebles; President and Mrs. Thomas A. Graves, Jr.; Austin L. Roberts III, president of the Society of the Alumni, and Mrs. Roberts; and H. Westcott Cunningham, executive vice-president of the Society of the Alumni, and Mrs. Cunningham.

It was handshaking time all around as legislators, former governors, and friends met in balmy weather only slightly disturbed by winds from the fringe of hurricane Josephine passing offshore. One student handing out name tags was embarrassed after a handsome man appeared and asked for Mills Godwin's tag and she asked him how to spell that. But she probably wasn't even born when he first took office as governor, so the name wasn't as familiar as it was to those older than she. A popular guest was young Tayloe Holton, a high-school cheerleader when her dad was governor, 1970-74. She is now a physician of internal medicine in New York City.

The luncheon consisted of quiche (yes, real governors DO eat quiche!), stewed apples, sausage, cornbread, and creamed chicken and shrimp. Dessert was pound cake ladled over with hot fudge sauce.

'84 United Way campaign gets 42 percent of campus goal

The first College division to hit 100 percent participation in the United Way campaign of 1984 is University Advancement, according to John R. Thelin, campaign chairman. Every employee in University Advancement, which includes the Office of University Communications, contributed to the drive.

The campaign is off and running, says Thelin. To date, 42 percent of the College's goal of $16,400 has been reached in donations and pledges.

Early leaders in giving include the school of education, with the school of business and arts and sciences being runners-up.

Since there are 1306 employees of the College, and the goal is $16,400, if each per gives just $12.56, the goal will be met. A $12.56 pledge deducted from a paycheck means only $1.05 per month to

During luncheon, a dixieland band played tunes so lively that even special events coordinator Mary Dean, who helped plan the event, was dancing. Only one small hitch developed when a tablecloth, whipped by the gusty winds, came in contact with a sterno flame and caught on fire. It was quickly extinguished without disturbing presentations being made to the former governors.

Wives of governors were given long-stemmed chrysanthemums to wear to the football game between W&M and Boston College. Mrs. John Dalton gave hers to young Ann Evan Kale, daughter of Wilford and Louise Kale, and granddaughter of former Dean J. Wilfred Lambert. The Daltons' youngest daughter, Mary, is a student at U.Va., and it was Parents' Weekend there, so they were driving on to Charlottesville after the luncheon to be with her.

Flowers at the Burgesses event were outstanding. Huge tubs of cheerful yellow chrysanthemums graced the sunken gardens, and topiaries of mixed flowers were around the food tents. Tables were decorated with straw baskets of chrysanthemums and greenery. All the arrangements came from the talented hands of Roy A. Williams, assistant director of buildings and grounds.

The William and Mary choir ended the luncheon on a very upbeat note with a hauntingly beautiful rendition of "Shenandoah," followed by the stirring "This is My Country," and the William and Mary alma mater.

To top off the festive occasion, the W&M football team whopped Boston University, 24-3, at Cary stadium.

support 22 charitable agencies which benefit our community.

The campus steering committee for the United Way drive is composed of John Thelin, education department; Vinson Sutlive, anthropology; Cam Walker, history; Ken Smith, associate dean, student affairs; and Sam Sadler, dean of student affairs.

Special thanks are due, Thelin says, to Mrs. Theresa Freeman, of the student affairs staff; Marsha Weber, arts and sciences staff; and three graduate students in education, Marsha Krotseng, Bill Wilson, and Claude Marshall.

OPEN HOUSE HOURS

President Thomas A. Graves, Jr. will hold an open house for students Wednesday, Oct. 24, from 5-6 p.m. in his office. No appointment is necessary.

Among those in the receiving line at Burgesses Day were, from left, Austin Roberts, III, Society of the Alumni president; Anne Dobie Peebles, College rector; CeCe Cunningham and Scotty Cunningham, executive vice-president of the Society of the Alumni, and Governor Robb.

Above, dignitaries included former Governor A. Linwood Holton; Governor Robb, Mrs. J. Lindsay Almond, former First Lady of Virginia; and former Governors Albertis Harrison, Mills Godwin and John Dalton. Below, Williamsburg Mayor Robert C. Walker and Mrs. Walker are greeted by Mrs. Austin Roberts, III.

Virginia Secretary of Education John T. Casteen III has a word with Arts and Sciences Dean Mel Schiavelli.

Auditions are set by Sinfonicron

The Sinfonicron Opera Company, a student-run light opera group at the College of William and Mary, will hold open auditions for a production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Patience," scheduled for performance Jan. 24-27, 1985, in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall on campus.

Auditions are open to everyone — students and members of the community.

Those who plan to audition are asked to attend formal pre-audition workshops from 7 to 9 p.m., Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 17 and 18, in Ewell Hall, room 100. An informal workshop will be held from 7 to 9 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 23, also in Ewell 100.

Cast auditions will be held from 6:30 to 9 p.m., Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 24 and 25, in Ewell 100. All auditions are walk-in; no appointments will be made. Call backs, if necessary, will be held Friday or Saturday, Oct. 26 or 27. The first rehearsal will be announced at auditions.

Orchestra auditions will be held from 7 to 9 p.m., Monday, Oct. 29, and from 9 to 11 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 30, in Ewell Hall, room 200.

Tuck-ins are In Thing here

The In Thing at the College this month seems to be tuck-ins.

What are they? Tuck-ins are what caring parents do for children who're going nighty-night. There may be a lullaby, a bedtime story, and a teddy bear connected with a good tuck-in, possibly even a cookie or two. That's the kind of tuck-in the kids get at home.

At William and Mary and other colleges around the nation, the routine is very similar. Caring coeds tuck in other students, with bedtime stories and perhaps cookies. No hanky-panky. It's innocent fun and the tuckees can be either male or female.

As fund-raising projects, two sororities and residents of a dorm are peddling tuck-ins in October and the dollars are flowing in — for good causes.

The second floor inhabitants of Dupont Hall, a coed freshman unit, are selling tuck-ins Sundays through Thursdays, between 9 p.m. and midnight. Coordinators are Terri

Business conference to be held Nov. 2

Area alumni of the College of William and Mary's Master of Business Administration program and members of the business community are invited to participate in the second M. B. A. Alumni Conference entitled, "Strategies for Career Management," Friday, Nov. 2, in the College's Campus Center.

The conference, designed as an opportunity for business alumni to share their expertise with students and members of the business community, is sponsored by the Women in Business Program, the M. B. A. Alumni Association and the M. B. A. Association of the School of Business Administration.

Admission to the day-long schedule of discussions and workshops is free, but advance registration is required by noon, Monday, Oct. 29. For registration information, call Julie Leverenz, director of the Women in Business Program, at 253-4286.

The day's activities will begin with registration and coffee from 8:30-9:30 a.m., in the Campus Center Ballroom. From 9:30-10 a.m., Ed Flippen, M.B.A. '67, a partner in the law firm of Mays, Valentine, Davenport and Moore, will discuss "Managing Your Career Path."

Participants will have a choice between two panel discussions from 10:15 to 11:45 a.m., one called "Financial Institution Changes Mean Career Opportunities," and the other entitled, "Marketing in an Increasingly Competitive Market."

A luncheon at noon will feature Penelope W. Kyle, assistant corporate secretary of CSX Corp., as keynote speaker.

INTRAMURAL ENTRIES DUE

Entries close next Thursday, Oct. 25, for the intramural cross-country race. For further information call ext. 4498.

Ann Stokes of Bay Village, Ohio, Marike van der Veen of Arlington, and Lucinda Wever of Fairfax. They take reservations and send out the tuck-in teams of three young ladies. The $2 fee goes into a fund to hold get-together events so residents can become better acquainted.

All but two of their tuck-ins have been in Dupont Hall, and all have received the hilarious treatment, says Marike. A roommate will arrange a tuck-in for a buddy in the next bunk, then hang around to view the consternation.

"They like embarrassing their friends," confides Lucinda. "Sometimes the room will be full of laughing people."

Harassment doesn't ruffle the tuck-in team, which goes about its assignment methodically. Team members croon "Rockabye Baby," hand the tuckee a stuffed animal to hold, read a Dr. Seuss bedtime story ("Green Eggs and Ham" is a favorite), and then depart.

The Alpha Sigma Kappa sorority is currently taking orders for tuck-ins to be administered on one evening only, Oct. 24, according to Cary Stuart of Norfolk, who is arranging the money-raising effort. With the cash collected, the sorority hopes to win an award at the Sigma Chi Derby Day Oct. 27, when all fraternities and sororities compete in events and donate proceeds to the Red Cross. On the Derby Day agenda are such feats as Musical Ice Buckets, played like musical chairs except contestants sit in buckets of ice, and Zip-Strip Sleeping Bag Race, where opponents find out who can change clothes fastest inside individual closed sleeping bags.

"We did the tuck-ins last year and they went over real well," says Cary. "They're a lot of fun, and the guys are good sports about it. They play along."

Two sorority sisters go together for each tuck-in visit. Since there are 100 members and pledges this year, Cary hopes each one will sell three tuck-ins at $1 each and reach a goal of $300.

Most of the tuck-ins are delivered to men students, she notes. Only a couple have been to women students.

Jan Artman of Charlottesville and Betty Molnar of Long Island, N.Y., co-managed the Pi Beta Phi sorority's tuck-ins, held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings this week. They had more than 70 reservations at $1 each, and offered a standard tuck-in with cookies, milk, and a bedtime story. Funds collected will also go toward the Sigma Chi Derby Day. According to Jan, there was no favorite bedtime story used — each tuck-in team of two checked out a child's book from the library and picked a story to read aloud. Tuck-ins were scheduled every 30 minutes between 10 p.m. and midnight.

"It's an easy way to raise money," concluded Jan. "It's kind of a joke friends play on each other, and it's all platonic. Even my mother would approve."

Official Memoranda

SEARCH FOR NEW DEAN

In September, 1984, Dean William B. Spong, Jr., informed me of his wish to retire as Dean of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law effective September 1, 1985.

I am now in a position to appoint a Search Committee for the Dean of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law. The Search Committee is appointed as follows:

- R. Harvey Chappell, Jr., Partner, Christian Barton, Epps, Brent and Chappell, Richmond, VA, William and Mary: B.S., 1948; B.C.L., 1950
- John E. Donaldson, Ball Professor of Law
- Jack D. Edwards, Professor of Government
- Ingrid M. Hillinger, Associate Professor of Law
- Charles H. Koch, Jr., Professor of Law
- Andrea M. Maxa, Marshall-Wythe Class of 1985; William and Mary: B.A., 1982
- Douglas R. Rendleman, Godwin Professor of Law
- James F. Vehko, Attorney, Bondurant, Miller, Hishon, and Stephenson, Atlanta, GA, William and Mary: J.D., 1981
- Richard A. Williamson, Associate Dean of Law School for Admissions and Professor of Law

I am pleased to report that Dean Williamson has accepted my appointment as Chairman of the Search Committee.

Each of the individuals appointed to the Committee was included among those individuals recommended to me for my consideration for service on the Search Committee by faculty members, students, and alumni of the Law School.

My charge to the Committee is that the search for a dean to succeed William B. Spong, Jr., should be national, broad and intensive in its scope and attention, which does not preclude consideration of candidates from within the College. I am asking the members of the Committee to commit themselves to search for a dean who will provide strong educational and administrative leadership and direction to the School, in continuing to move it forward to a position of preeminence in legal education, within the overall mission of and as an integral part of the College of William and Mary.

The Search Committee has a major and serious responsibility and opportunity in its task, the outcome of which will influence in substantial ways the progress of the Law School for the foreseeable future. I am confident that the Committee will carry on its work with thoroughness, objectivity, sensitivity and discretion.

In conducting its search I am asking the Committee to pay scrupulous attention to the guidelines relevant to the fact that the College is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer.

As the Bylaws of the Board of Visitors state in Article III, Section 3:

The Dean. . . shall have general responsibility for the Faculty under his/her jurisdiction and for the direction of the work of his/her Faculty. . . . He/She shall report to the President, but shall be responsible for working directly with the Provost on all curricula, budgetary, faculty appointment and educational policy matters, for recommendation as appropriate to the President. . . . He/She shall exercise leadership in the development of educational programs within his/her jurisdiction, and shall preside at meetings of the Faculty over which he/she has jurisdiction. . . .

The Dean. . . shall advise with the Provost in the formation of the Faculty the determination of curricula, and matters concerning all the interests under his/her jurisdiction.

The College currently has underway a search for a new President of William and Mary. It is anticipated that the new President, once he or she is designated, will participate actively in the determination of the role and selection of an individual to succeed George R. Healy as Provost of the College and to determine the organizational relationships among the President, the Provost and the academic deans. The Search Committee, in conducting its work, therefore, will need to keep in mind the need to be flexible on these considerations until there is an opportunity to resolve those issues at the level of the President-designate and the Board of Visitors.

The President-designate will have the major responsibility for making a recommendation to the Board of Visitors on the new Dean of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law. I am asking the Search Committee to submit by February 28, 1985, to the President's Office, the names of no less than three and no more than five interested candidates unranked as to the Committee's preference, any one of whom, in the Committee's judgement, would be acceptable as the new Dean. I would hope that the Dean-designate of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law might be in a position to undertake his responsibilities as Dean-designate as of July 1, 1985, and work closely with Dean Spong during the period from July 1 to September 1, when the Dean-designate would succeed William B. Spong, Jr., as dean.

Under the understandings and expectations of the grant from the Alfred Wilson Lee and Mary I. W. Lee Memorial Trust Fund, the Dean of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law shall be the Director of the Institute of Bill of Rights Law. It will be important that the Search Committee take this matter into consideration as it goes about its work.

Dr. Healy and I are prepared to support the Search Committee as it begins its important work starting immediately, in any way that we appropriately can.

Thomas A. Graves, Jr.
President

HOLIDAY SCHEDULES

Thanksgiving Holidays

The administrative offices, the plant department (except for those employees required to maintain essential services), and the mail room of the College will be closed on Nov. 22 and 23. The Campus Police Department will maintain the regular 24-hour schedule.

The names of permanent classified employees who are required to work on either Nov. 22 or 23 should be reported in writing to the Personnel Office in order that they may be credited with compensatory leave. Permanent classified employees who are required to work on either of these days should take compensatory leave earned as soon thereafter as possible in order to avoid excessive leave accumulation. Hourly employees who work on either of these days will be paid at their regular hourly rates.

Christmas Holidays

Again this year the College will observe an extended Christmas and New Year's holiday beginning Tuesday, Dec. 25, 1984, through Tuesday, Jan. 1, 1985. In the event the Governor declares an additional day or days, we would expand the holiday period. As an example, if he declares one day, the holiday would begin December 24; if he declares two days, it will begin Friday, Dec. 21.

Due to the nature of the service provided by the College, it is necessary that employees work on certain days which are listed as legal holidays in the Virginia Personnel Act. In recognition of this fact, the Board of Visitors has authorized an alternate holiday schedule, and it includes no holiday time over and above those total holidays authorized by the Virginia Personnel Act for all state employees.

The alternate holiday schedule adopted by the College provides for only five working days during this period. It will be noted that six working days are involved in the schedule described above. In order to provide the sixth day, we will utilize the Veteran's Day holiday.

Administrative offices, and the plant department (except for those employees required to maintain essential services), will be closed during the period.

The Campus Post Office will be open from 9 a.m. until 12 noon on Dec. 26, 27, 28, and 31. If the holiday period is extended by one day, the Post Office will be open from 9 a.m. until noon on Dec. 24 in addition to the other dates shown. This Post Office will NOT be open at other times during the holiday period noted above.

The Campus Police Department will maintain the regular 24-hour schedule. Emergency service may be obtained at any time by calling the Campus Police at 253-4596, or at emergency extension 333.

The names of permanent classified employees who are required to work during this holiday period should be reported in writing to the personnel office in order that they may be credited with compensatory leave. Permanent classified employees who are required to work on any of these days should take compensatory leave earned as soon thereafter as possible in order to avoid excessive leave accumulation. Hourly employees who work on any of these days will be paid at their regular hourly rates.

Those individuals or groups who might be seriously inconvenienced by this extended holiday should indicate their concerns to me in writing, no later later than Monday, Dec. 3. Such requests will be evaluated carefully before any special arrangements will be made.

Employee morale constitutes one strong justification for the extended holiday. Another justification, of equal importance, is the fact that it enables the College to exercise effective energy and cost saving measures. We are under constant pressure on these points, and, with the students away, this holiday period affords the best opportunity of the entire College year for a close-down of most facilities.

Paychecks for permanent employees will be available at the normal location (Payroll Office, 3rd floor, James Blair Hall) from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, only on Monday, Dec. 31.

The temperature in unoccupied buildings will be reduced to 50 degrees after 5 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 24. This requirement will prevail through Tuesday, Jan. 1, 1985; if an additional day is declared by the Governor, this reduced temperature will begin after 5 p.m. on Dec. 21. Buildings occupied during this period are subject to the following schedules for temperature and lighting:

1. Student Residences
Heat will be reduced in all student residences (except Ludwell Apts.) after 12 noon, Friday, Dec. 21, 1984 through 8 a.m., Tuesday, Jan. 8, 1985. Separate instructions to Area Coordinators and Resident Tutors will be issued by the Office of Residence Hall Life.
2. Offices
Brafferton, Rogers, Washington, and Millington halls and the Population Laboratory will not have reduced temperatures during the period. Heating temperatures in the buildings connected to the Honeywell "BOSS SYSTEM" will be controlled by the "BOSS" operator during this period. Heat and lighting will be provided to the Campus Police Office at all times during the holiday break. Heat and lighting will be provided to the College Post Office from 9 a.m. to 12 noon throughout the holiday period.
3. Libraries
Access governed by hours of operation established by the two libraries (Swem Library and the Law Library). However, heat, lights, and electrical devices in offices will be reduced according to the overall College schedule noted above.
4. Adair and Blow Gyms
Heating temperatures will be reduced and office lighting will be shut off at 5 p.m., Monday, Dec. 24, and remain off until 5 p.m., Tuesday, Jan. 1, 1985. If the holiday period is expanded, these dates will be changed accordingly. Emergency and exterior lighting will be left on.

The following information pertains only to the Virginia Institute of Marine Science:

1. The VIMS payroll office in Watermen's Hall will be open Dec. 31, 1984, for paycheck pickup from 9 a.m. until 12 noon only.
2. The names of employees who will be required to work either during the Thanksgiving or Christmas-New Year's holiday must be provided to the Associate Director for Finance and Administration no later than Monday, Nov. 19.

The following information pertains only to the Continuous Electron Beam Accelerator Facility (CEBAF).

3. The switchboard at CEBAF will be closed Nov. 22 and 23, for the Thanksgiving holiday. The switchboard will also be closed through the Christmas-New Year's holiday period.

News deadline: Fridays, 5 p.m.

Oct. 19, in Small 109 at 4 p.m. Speaker is Peter Sauer, University of Hannover, West Germany, whose topic will be "Microscopic Nuclear Structure with Non-Nucleonic Degrees of Freedom." Coffee will be served at 3:30 p.m.

"Coastal Processes and Beach Erosion along the Delaware Coast" will be the topic of a lecture Thursday, Oct. 25, at 7:25 p.m. in Small 238. The lecturer is Dr. Evelyn Maurmeyer, president of Coastal and Estuarine Research, Inc., of Lewes, Del.

The event is sponsored by the geology department. Refreshments will be served and the public is invited.

The second session of the Auxiliary Writing Program will begin Oct. 30 in Tucker 202 from 7-8 p.m. The classes meet on Tuesday and Thursday evenings for four weeks. Students have the opportunity to improve their writing skills through the class meetings as well as through the use of private tutors. The program is free, and it offers no credit. Students are encouraged to take advantage of the opportunity. They may register in any departmental office, or may call ext. 4681 or 4359 for more information.

Organizations planning to enter floats in this year's Homecoming Parade on Nov. 3 should please have mercy upon the Society of the Alumni and turn in float themes. Entry forms are due no later than Oct. 30, but preferably sooner. John W. Phillips, director of alumni affairs, emphasizes the finished unit must match the idea submitted on the entry form. No spurts of wild creativity after Oct. 30! The parade kicks off at 9:30 a.m. on Duke of Gloucester Street at the Capitol and terminates at Cary Stadium on Nov. 3. Linda Lavin, '59, will be parade marshal.

The W&M Campus Police will join with the James City County Police in holding a Safe Halloween Party Oct. 31 for children of the town. Hours are 6-9 p.m. at Trinkle Hall, admission is free, and there will be games, prizes and candy. The party is in lieu of trick-or-treating on dark streets.

At a Red Cross bloodmobile drive last week in Trinkle Hall, sponsored by Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, 97 persons donated blood. Neil McShane was coordinator for the fraternity.

Receiving pins for consistent donations of blood over a period of time were the Rev. H. Braxton Allport, four gallons; Kevin M. Kelly, Kathleen Mackin and Michael Meinhardt, one gallon.

The next blood drive is scheduled for Monday, Nov. 19, from 1-6 p.m. in Trinkle Hall, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega fraternity.

Are you a trivia freak? What was Stonewall Jackson's first name? Where were the 1928 Olympics held? If you know the answers to these questions then Alpha Phi Omega's campus-wide Trivial Pursuits tournament is for you. Entry fees for each two-member team will be $5.00, with proceeds to benefit Children's Hospital. For further information, contact Dwayne or Brian, ext. 4067.

RAP SESSION SET

Robert Wachs, a W&M theatre graduate in 1961, will be back on campus Nov. 1 for a rap session with students on managing entertainers. The session is scheduled for 5 p.m. in the Dodge Room of Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

Among Wach's clients is television and film star Eddie Murphy. The public is invited.

She runs International Studies

Carolyn Blackwell is one of the College's youngest administrators, and certainly one of the prettiest. Only four years out of undergraduate school at the University of Virginia and two years past her master's degree in higher education at William and Mary, Carolyn's talents have taken her far.

She was named director of International Studies at the College last June, after serving as acting director for a year. The office has a five-pronged focus: to advise students on the College's junior year and summer study abroad programs; to advise and coordinate the Rhodes, Marshall and Fulbright Scholarship programs as well as the St. Andrews and Exeter exchanges to Great Britain; to advise the international students who come to William and Mary as undergraduates; to advise students in the College's International Studies concentrations; and to administer the language and creative arts house programs.

It's a big job and one that requires many hours a day, but she likes the diversity of it, and the contact with a large number of students here.

Anything to do with an international scholarship, exchange, or study program comes past her desk in James Blair Hall. She works almost a year ahead on the programs that send William and Mary students around the world to study, whether they are College programs or non-W&M programs. This job necessitates a lot of one-to-one counseling and advising, and September and October each year are very busy months. Spring is hectic too, since program deadlines for summer and junior year occur in late February or early March.

Part of her task, too, is working with the special interest housing units, in terms of academic and cultural programs developed in conjunction with the faculty.

One of the things that gives her great joy is helping the 110 undergraduate foreign students on campus. She does academic and personal advising to these young people and thinks they're super. "They blend well in campus life," she says.

Carolyn, along with the faculty, coordinates the academic program whereby W&M students concentrate in International Studies. The College has four set programs for this interdisciplinary curriculum — East Asian Studies, International Relations, Latin American Studies and Russian Studies — but a student can create his or her own individually designed program with an international interest. Western European Studies is an example of this, she says.

Carolyn is an Army brat and has lived all over the continental United States, Hawaii and in Japan. These travel experiences exposed her to a variety of cultures

Campus Spotlight

"Seems like my previous experiences were preparing me for this job," says Carolyn. "I knew I wanted to do something in higher education, but not exactly what. I was lucky to be in the right place at the right time. When I came to graduate school here in 1980, I got a parttime job in the office of Extramural Programs, which then handled the international programs. In 1982 I went fulltime with the office and was coordinator of programs. In the spring of 1983, when the extramural programs office was dissolved and the International Studies program established, I was appointed acting director."

She thinks the International Studies Program has come "a long way in the past eighteen months," with heightened visibility around the campus, and it offers a real service to the students. She likes working with the faculty, Residence Life staff, dean's offices and students, and applauds the College's commitment to offering international experiences to its students.

In her spare time, she is a recreational cyclist and tour leader with the Bike Virginia group here, plays tennis and racquetball, and swims.
