

Lauri Bell wins gold medal for top score in Va. CPA exam

Lauri A. Bell who received a B.B.A in accounting in May has been awarded the 1985 gold medal by the Virginia Society of Certified Public Accountants as recipient of the highest score in the four sections of this year's CPA examinations.

Miss Bell, who is currently an accountant in the Baltimore office of Peat, Marwick and Mitchell, will receive her award at the annual meeting of the Virginia Society, Sept. 20 in Arlington, Va.

Some 1800 candidates took the four parts of the examination in Virginia, submitting 7,444 papers according to the Society's Richmond office.

Miss Bell scored 89 in auditing, 92 in practice and 92 in law and a heart-stopping 97 in theory. The examination lasts two and a half days. When Miss Bell took the exam it was given the Wednesday, Thursday and Friday before graduation, right after the examination period closed on campus, making for a particularly heavy schedule for applicants.

This has been a year of awards for Miss Bell. At graduation she won the Wayne F. Gibbs accounting prize and the Virginia Society's outstanding student award, given each year to the top undergraduate accounting students at Virginia colleges and universities.

Miss Bell, who received word of her gold medal award on her birthday, was excited and surprised at the news. "I was just hoping to pass," she said. "I think it reflects on William and Mary's business training. I did not study much beyond my classroom work," she added.

Miss Bell was ranked second in her class of 177, had a G.P.A. of 4.0 in her major and a 3.71 overall. She was selected for Mortar Board; elected to Beta Gamma Sigma, the national business honorary; named to the National Dean's List, a publication recognizing academically outstanding students nominated by their college deans; elected vice president for communications of the Wayne F. Gibbs Sr. Accounting Society, 1984; chosen for the Emory Business Team, 1984; and was active in intramurals. She was also a volunteer for Circle K at the S.P.C.A.

The fall of 1984 Miss Bell was a financial analyst intern with James City County Financial Management Services in Williamsburg. She was an audit intern with the James City County accounting department the summer of 1984 and in the spring of 1984 was a budget analyst intern for the Williamsburg-James City County School Division.

Symposium on American architecture

The panel for the symposium on modernism, held Friday in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall, drew an enthusiastic audience and brought to the campus a distinguished aggregation of architects who discussed American architecture from 1935 to the present. The panel discussions were followed by a reception in the Muscarelle Museum for the current exhibition "Modernism in America, 1937-1941: Four Architectural Competitions." A video tape of the proceedings of the symposium are currently being edited by James Kornwolf of the fine arts department and will be available in the Muscarelle Museum.

Meeting set Sept. 19 on voter registration

On Thursday, Sept. 19 from noon until 5 p.m. there will be voter registration at the Campus Center. Any qualified resident of the Williamsburg area may register to vote or obtain Virginia absentee ballot applications at that time and place.

The registration drive on campus is being sponsored by AKA sorority with the assistance of other organizations. This opportunity for voter registration is open to the public.

The deadline for registering to be eligible to vote in the Nov. 5 General Election is Oct. 5 at 5 p.m. Questions about voter registration or absentee voting may be addressed to the registrars of the City of Williamsburg (220-0077) or James City County (229-3355).

RESUME WRITING FOR INTERNSHIPS

The Office of Career Planning will offer two workshops on "Writing Resumes for Internships." Workshops will meet Wednesday, Sept. 11 and Thursday, Sept. 12 in Morton 101 at 3:30 p.m. Students must preregister before the day of the workshop. Stop by the Career Planning Office in Morton 140, or call Barbara McGrann at ext. 4427 or 4329.

ATTENTION: NDSL RECIPIENTS!

If you are a National Direct Student Loan recipient for the 1985-86 academic year, you must come by the Student Loan Office, James Blair 102, between 8:30 a.m. and 3 p.m., no later than Sept. 20, 1985. Failure to do so by this date will result in the cancellation of your loan!

$85,000 grant from NSF gives physicists new VAX computer

Thanks to a special grant from the National Science Foundation, high-energy physicists at the College now have a powerful computer, the VAX 11/750 that will cover all phases of high energy physics experimentation. Scientists will no longer have to use a number of computer systems for different elements of their work.

The one-time $85,000 grant to buy the computer was made by the National Science Foundation when an NSF representative learned that the high-energy group needed more computer power to adequately perform their research, says Robert J. Whyley, system manager and research assistant professor of physics. The National Science Foundation provides the money for the high-energy group's operations budget, but the computer funds were a separate and special grant.

The new computer will have four main areas of use: to simulate physics experiments, assist in the design of experimental apparatus for those experiments, control an experiment once it is up and running and serve as a word processor.

The new VAX will also permit William and Mary physicists to share software with other scientists without having to duplicate efforts. Whyley is currently creating the software that will be fed into a VAX at New York's Brookhaven National Laboratory for an experiment to be run early next year.

"The VAX really enables us to move ahead with our research program," says Whyley, an Englishman who joined the department in 1982. The electrical engineer for the VAX is William F. Vulcan. Members of the high-energy physics research group include Morton Eckhause, Paul Guss, Donald Joyce, John Kane, Robert Siegel, Robert Walsh and Rolf Winter.

Heather Macdonald attended the SEPM (Society of Economic Paleontologists and Mineralogists) midyear meeting in Golden, Colo., in mid-August. Prior to the meeting she attended an SEPM Shortcourse on "recognition of fluvial depositional systems and their resource potential" under a professional grant.

"Listening — The Overlooked and Underdeveloped Other Half of Talking," by Robert Maidment, professor of education, appeared in the Aug. 1985 issue of Supervisory Management. He also presented "Writing for Publication" at the 1985 Staff Development for Teachers program at Menchville High School in Newport News.

Professor of Education Armand J. Galfo's "Officer Candidate School Evaluation Form" is being tested by the Yorktown Coast Guard Reserve Officer School. The form is being distributed to field evaluators who supervise newly graduated officers during their first assignment. Results of the testing are to be used to improve the selection of candidates and the program conducted at the Officer Training School.

Kevin Geoffroy, professor of education, had an article entitled "Congruence, Locus of Control, and Readings of English College Students: An Application of John Holland's Theory of Vocational Choice" published in the Aug. issue of the International Journal for the Advancement of Counseling.

During Spring semester 1985, while he was on leave to conduct research on Mark Twain's two-year residence (1897-99) in Vienna, Carl Dolmetsch, Department of English, gave guest lectures on Twain at the University of Vienna in Austria.

The National Endowment of the Humanities funded a seminar this summer at Cornell University directed by noted medieval art historian Robert Calkins. George Greenia, hispanomedievalist in the Department of Modern Languages, participated in the eight-week program entitled "The Medieval Illuminated Book: Context and Audience," and is collaborating with Calkins on a pan-European survey of illuminated manuscript borders.

Thomas M. Finn, professor of religion and dean of undergraduate studies, recently attended the annual meeting of the North American Patristics Society at Loyola University, Chicago, where he chaired the session on Jewish and Christian relations in antiquity and was elected secretary-treasurer of the society. He also published two book reviews on the rise and development of early Christianity in Patristics 14 (1985): 7-8, 10-11.

Gary C. DeFotis, associate professor of chemistry, attended the triennial International Conference on Magnetism in San Francisco, Aug. 25-30. He presented three papers there: "Scaling Analysis of Critical Behavior in Iron Diethyl-dithiocarbamate Chloride," with former undergraduate student Gary R. Laughlin as coauthor; "Co/Mn Dichloride Dihydrate: A New Kind of Insulating Spin Glass," with former undergraduate student David S. Mantus as coauthor; and "Magnetic Anisotropy in Quasi-2D Cobalt Dithiocyanate Dipropyl," with former undergraduate students Charles K. Barlowe and William R. Shangraw as coauthors.

DeFotis was recently awarded grants of $15,000 from the Petroleum Research Fund of the American Chemical Society and $90,900 from the National Science Foundation in support of his research on critical behavior, two-dimensional magnets and mixed magnetic systems. Approximately $223,000 has been obtained from various external sources in support of this research program.

Lawrence Beckhouse, Vernon Edmonds, Michael Faia, Elaine Themo, and Gary Kreps attended the annual meetings of the American Sociological Association in Washington, D.C. Kreps was part of a panel discussion on sociological theory as that relates to studies of disaster. Kreps also has published the following article: "Disaster and the Social Order," Sociological Theory 3 (1985): 49-65.

Catherine J. Elliott, assistant professor of economics, was invited to present a paper at the "Applications of Decision Theory" session of the 20th international Atlantic Economic Conference held Aug. 29-31 in Washington, D.C. A summary of the paper, "Preference: The Necessity for Separability," will be published in the March 1986 issue of the Atlantic Economic Journal.

Cirila Djordjevic, professor of chemistry, recently published the following two papers: C. Djordjevic, S. A. Craig, and E. Sinn, "A Polymeric Peroxo Heteroligand Vanadate(V): Synthesis, Spectra and Structure of $M_2[VO(O^2)(C^4H^5O^4N)]$," Inorg. Chem. 24 (1985): 1281. C. Djordjevic, K. J. Covert, and E. Sinn, "Conversion of Malonate and Malate to Oxalate in Aqueous Peroxo Molybdate(VI) Solutions: Synthesis and Structure of Potassium Oxodiperoxoalatomolybdate(VI)," Inorg. Chim. Acta 101 (1985): L37.

Berna L. Heyman, head of the bibliographic services division of Swem Library, was recently elected to a three-year term as secretary of the university section of the Association of College and Research Libraries. The association is a division of the American Library Association.

John H. Oakley of classical studies has recently had a book, The Phiale Painter, accepted for publication by Kerameus, a series devoted to the study of individual Greek vase painters, which is edited by John Boardman, Erika Simon, Donna Kurtz and Herbert Cahn and published by Philipp von Zabern in Mainz.

Oakley's article, "Double-Register Calyx Kraters: A Study in Workshop Tradition," has appeared in Ancient Greek and Related Pottery, Allard Pierson Series V (Amsterdam, 1985), 119-127. Oakley has also been appointed director of the summer session of the American School of Classical Studies at Athens for 1986.

Featured speaker at the Foreign Service Institute of the U.S. Department of State was Howard Fraser, professor and chair of the modern languages and literatures department. Fraser delivered a talk on "Mexico's War on Time: A Literary Perspective" for members of the diplomatic corps.

Included in the selected proceedings of the ninth annual Conference of Indiana University University of Pennsylvania's Hispanic Literatures series was Fraser's essay, "Looking Forward: Caras y Caretas and its Vision of Buenos Aires at the Turn of the Twentieth Century." The subject of the conference was "los escritores y la experiencia de la ciudad moderna" (writers and the experience of the modern city).

George Bass, associate professor of education, spent his second summer in New York working on a special research project involving computers and computer-assisted instruction for the Guardian Life Insurance Company.

Robert Hanny and Roger Ries, professors of education, conducted separate sessions during last summer's Elderhostel hosted at the College. Hanny's session was entitled "American Public Schools: Have They Done the Job?" and Ries' session was entitled "Themes in the 1980s for Psychology and Education."

Hanny also conducted a staff development session in late Aug. for teachers at Menchville High School in Newport News.

Ries and Bass have also recently completed a chapter on teacher awareness, which they were asked to prepare for publication in a training manual that will be used by all beginning teachers in the state of Virginia during the Beginning Teacher Assistance Program (BTAF).

William Bullock, professor of education, has coauthored an article with Joseph Davis, assistant superintendent of personnel in Prince William County, Va., entitled "Interpersonal Factors that Influence Principals' Rating of Teacher Performance," which was published in the spring 1985 issue of Planning and Changing.

John Lavach, professor of education, attended a "neuropsychological-emotional factors" learning workshop May 17-18 at Columbia University in New York City. He also participated in a workshop on human clinical neuropsychology July 5-7 in Philadelphia, and he is now certified to administer the Halstead-Reitan neuropsychological battery.

John Nagle, professor and dean of education, was reappointed to a two-year term on the Teacher Education Advisory Committee of the Virginia Department of Education. This 17-member committee makes recommendations to the State Board of Education on all requirements for certification and endorsement of public school educators.

John Thelin, associate professor of education, recently coauthored an article with Karen Schoenenberger, B.A. '66, M.Ed. '69 and Ed.D. '85, entitled "The Oldest and Cheapest College in the South: How William and Mary Became a Selective University," in The William and Mary Alumni Gazette Magazine (summer 1985).

Ismail H. Abdalla, assistant professor of history, participated during the summer in an NEH-funded summer institute for high school teachers at the University of Florida in Gainesville. The objective of the program was to incorporate the teaching of African history in world history courses taught at high schools in the state of Florida.

Professor of Psychology Kelly G. Shaver has been appointed to a second two-year term on the editorial board of the Journal of Personality.

During June Shaver presented a paper entitled "Attribution of Blame and Coping with Criminal Victimization" at the fourth International Conference on Justice and Law held at Nag's Head, N.C. Debra Drown, a doctoral student in the Virginia Consortium for Professional Psychology's Psy.D. program, was coauthor on this paper.

At the end of Aug., Hedy R. Dexter, a student in the psychology department's M.A. program, presented research coauthored by Shaver entitled "Women's Performance and Women's Place: A Natural Experiment" at the meeting of the American Psychological Association in Los Angeles.

A paper by Shaver and Dexter entitled "Personality and Social Psychology at NIMH: A Brief Guide for Investigators" was recently published in Contemporary Social Psychology. A commentary entitled "Pain without Behavior: Inhibition of Reactions to Sensation" by Shaver and Jana J. Herrman, a William and Mary graduate now in the physiological psychology program at the University of Virginia, was published in vol. 8 of The Brain and Behavioral Sciences.

David Finifter, associate professor of economics, has written a chapter, "Participation of Veterans in EVJTA," in a report submitted to the U.S. Congress entitled Evaluation of the Emergency Veterans' Job Training Program. Finifter worked with Centaur Associates, the Research Triangle Institute and the Veterans' Administration on this project.

COMPUTER SHORT COURSES

The William and Mary Computer Center has scheduled a number of free, non-credit, short courses for the fall semester. Although there is no charge for the classes, space in them is limited. Anyone who wants to attend one or more of the courses should register in advance with Lenora Rodgers, ext. 4547.

Introduction to the PRIME and Text Processing: a two-session course designed to get people started in the use of the PRIME. Tasks like typing and listing documents are emphasized. The series will be offered in two sections.

Section 1: Monday, Sept. 16 and 23, 3:30-5 p.m., Morton 244.

Section 2: Tuesday, Sept. 17 and 24, 3:30-5 p.m., Morton 244.

SPSSX: a one-session introduction to SPSSX, which is the new version of SPSS, a language for statistical problems. It is available both on the NAS and the PRIMES. There will be opportunity to practice using SPSSX on the PRIME system. Participants should be familiar with an editor on the PRIME. Tuesday, Oct. 1, 3:30-5 p.m., Morton 244.

ADVANCED PRIMOS: This course is designed for people who have used the PRIMES somewhat. It will introduce features for manipulating your environment, including login cpls and abbreviations, and will also discuss certain new features like the BIND loader. Friday, Sept. 20, 4-5 p.m., Morton 244.

TSO (IBM, NAS): A one-session introduction to TSO, which is the time-sharing system on the NAS computer. The topics will include the file system, common commands, and editing (creating, modifying) program and text files. Attendees should have a logon id and password on the W&MNAS system. Monday, Oct. 7, 2-5 p.m., Morton 244.

OPTIONAL RETIREMENT PLAN
TIAA-CREF

On Aug. 28, the Board of Visitors adopted a resolution that permits the College to offer TIAA-CREF as an option to VSRS for "eligible" members of the College community. The effective date of the Optional Retirement Plan is Oct. 1 with the first payments to TIAA-CREF beginning Oct. 16.

The Optional Retirement Plan is a defined contribution plan in contrast to the TIAA-CREF Supplemental Retirement Annuity program which is currently available.

Parameters of the Optional Plan:

Eligibility is limited to college and university presidents and to those employees engaged in teaching, administration or research who hold academic rank and are eligible for membership in VSRS.

The employer contribution from appropriated funds will be equivalent to that provided for employees covered by VSRS. This rate is currently 12.68 percent of the employee's gross annual salary. It may not be exceeded through additional contributions to the optional plan by employees or from the employers' appropriated funds. This limit on contributions will not affect other plans such as deferred compensation or the TIAA-CREF Supplemental Retirement Annuity program.

Vesting of the employee's interest in the optional plan will be immediate.

Insurance purchased with appropriated funds is limited to the Group Life Insurance plan of VSRS.

Current employees may elect to switch from VSRS to the optional plan any time after the effective date of the optional plan. The option to switch may be exercised only once and that election shall be irrevocable.

Two informational meetings have been scheduled for Sept. 24 to permit staff from VSRS and TIAA-CREF to explain the benefits of each program. The first information program will be held at Waterman's Hall at the Virginia Institute of Marine Science at 10 a.m. A second program will be held in Millington Auditorium at the College at 3:30 p.m. Prospective participants in the optional retirement program may attend either meeting. These are the only information sessions that will be scheduled at this time since each state college or university that elects to participate is also required to provide the informational program.

Two informational sessions will be held in the Administration Building at Christopher Newport College on Sept. 25 and 26 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. each day. Faculty from the College or VIMS may attend either of those meetings if they have conflicts on Sept. 24.

A booklet describing the specific benefits and differences between the two retirement programs will be mailed to faculty members by TIAA-CREF.

Additional information, including application forms, will be provided at the informational meeting. It will be possible for prospective participants to request annuity income illustrations from TIAA and VSRS to compare benefits prior to making a decision to enroll in TIAA-CREF.

Office of Employee Relations &
Affirmative Action

SUNSET CRUISE

How does a three-hour moonlight cruise of Hampton Roads and Norfolk Harbor on a Mississippi River Paddleboat sound? The SA is sponsoring a shuttle on Sunday, Sept. 15 for $10 a round trip, transportation and ticket for cruise included. Reserve your spot in the SA Office before Friday, Sept. 13. Bring a picnic to enjoy on the water.

BALLOT BOX WORKERS

Help is needed for the elections on Tuesday, Sept. 17. If you have two hours to spare, please sign up in the SA Office to be a ballot box worker. Sign up Monday through Friday between 1 and 5 p.m., or call ext. 4350.

TUTORIAL CENTER

Applications are now being accepted for students who wish to be tutors. For more information call the SA Office at ext. 4350 or stop by the Campus Center Basement or the Tutorial Office in Landrum Basement. The deadline for applications is Friday, Sept. 13 at 5 p.m.

VIRGINIA BEACH SHUTTLE

Back for one more week by popular demand -- a trip to Virginia Beach. The SA will sponsor the final shuttle to Virginia Beach this weekend (Sept. 15). The bus costs $6 and leaves PBK at 9 a.m., returning at 6:30 p.m. Preregister in the SA Office, weekdays between 1 and 5 p.m.

Official Memo

Blue Cross/Blue Shield Reminder

Faculty and staff members who have family coverage and have an unmarried dependent who is between the ages of 19 and 23 and is a full-time student should complete a notification of student status form promptly and mail it to Blue Cross. A new form is required each fall. If up-to-date information is not on file at Blue Cross, claims for dependents age 19 and over will be denied. The Student Status forms are available in the Office of Employee Relations/Affirmative Action.

Also, Blue Cross/Blue Shield members will be receiving within the next few days a Coordination of Benefits (COB) survey form. An accompanying memo will explain the purpose of the survey and the importance of completing the survey form. All completed forms should be returned to the Office of Employee Relations/Affirmative Action within 10 days.

Training Sessions

The Comptroller's office has announced that training sessions will be held Sept. 17 and 18 beginning at 9 a.m. at the Sit 'N Bull Room regarding the preparation of the new "combo" form which replaces the State Comp 5 invoice presently being used for payment of State invoices.

It is important that at least one representative from each department be present. All State invoices payable to vendors and presented to Accounts Payable for payment after Sept. 20 will be on these new forms. Invoices will be returned to departments not in compliance, which could cause payment to be made after the due date. This will result in the department being listed as delinquent on the late payment report submitted to the Secretary of Education.

If you have any questions, please call Joyce Smith or Ann Denton at ext. 4643 or 4669.

Republicans honored

William and Mary's College Republicans were recognized as one of the 10 best clubs in the country at the College Republican National Convention held in Atlanta this summer.

In addition to being tied for the best club in the nation, the CR newsletter won the Reid Irvine Journalism Award and the club was recognized as the second largest in the nation, with over 700 members last year.

William and Mary students Kathy Patten, Beth Loudy, and Howard Estes were recognized with National Chairman's Awards for their work in 1984-85.
