

Gubernatorial candidates to debate at law school

Gubernatorial candidates Gerald Baliles and Wyatt Durrette will square off in a televised debate at 4 p.m., Friday,

Oct. 4, at the College of William and Mary's Marshall-Wythe School of Law. This, the second of four televised debates between contenders for the state's highest office is co-sponsored by the College and the Hampton Roads Jaycees.

The hour-long debate, to be held in the law school's Moot Courtroom, will not be open to the public, but will be aired later the same evening at 7 p.m. on WHRO-TV, Channel 15, in Norfolk. The debate is co-produced by WHRO-TV and Newport News Cablevision, which will also air the program at a date and time to be announced, and will offer it to other cable services throughout the state.

Moderator for the debate is Joel Rubin of WAVY-TV in Portsmouth. Panelists include Ernest C. Gates, editorial page editor of the Daily Press in Newport News; Gordon C. Morse, associate editor of the Virginian-Pilot; and Edward Jones, editorial page editor of the Fredericksburg Free Lance-Star.

According to Gates, the format for the debate will be similar to that used in last year's presidential debates. Each candidate will make an opening statement, then will take turns fielding questions from the three panelists. The candidates will have two minutes to answer each question, and the candidate answering first will have a one-minute rebuttal before moving on to the next question.

Show opens Thursday

The William and Mary Theatre presents Sam Shepard's "Fool for Love" and "Savage/Love" Oct. 3-5 and 10-12 at 8:15 p.m., and Oct. 6 and 13 at 2 p.m. in the Studio Theatre of Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. For tickets and information, call the theater box office at 253-4272. Pictured above are members of the cast of "Savage/Love" (clockwise from the top): Deborah Fetterman, Doug Walter, Laurie Martin, Ted Stark, Laura Carson (center), Matt DeLuca, Sheri Holman and Cathy Bortz.

Campus braced for Gloria

"We were geared for the worst and are very thankful that it didn't come," says John Bond, director of buildings and grounds, of Hurricane Gloria, which threatened to be a killer storm.

There were some trees down on campus, some minor flooding in a few low areas, but otherwise no major damage from Gloria.

Because of the dire forecasts about the storm, which began once it started gaining momentum off the Florida coast, Bond and his crews had plenty of time to get ready for bad weather. Known trouble spots were sandbagged, the covers of air-handling units on the roofs of buildings were double bolted, a generator was leased from Richmond to insure that vital areas like the food service at the Commons would be able to stay in business.

Key personnel of the Department of Buildings and Grounds stayed on the job around the clock Thursday evening and kept in radio contact with campus police.

A tree that fell on a transformer at the Matoaka substation cut off power to most of the campus for four or five hours Friday morning. The basement of the Computer Center, the coaches' area in

William and Mary Hall and the basement of the President's House had flooding because of the storm.

Students were evacuated from the lodges near Crim Dell to William and Mary Hall. Some of the pine trees in the lodge area are 80 feet high and although healthy, might have snapped in the high winds, said Bond. Residence halls, be-

Symposium studies Africa

A day-long symposium devoted to the "The Crises of Transition in Africa," Saturday, Oct. 5 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Campus Center Ballroom, is designed to "go beyond the news" and explore the roots of the on-going political and socioeconomic changes in Africa. Internationally known Africanists and African scholars will participate in a format that will invite audience participation.

There will be two major addresses during the morning session. David E. Apter, Henry J. Heinz II professor of political science, Yale University, will speak on "The Problems of Nation Build-

BABY WHALE DIES

Despite the tender loving care of scientists at VIMS, "Bubba," the baby dwarf sperm whale that had beached itself at Virginia Beach a week ago, died at the National Aquarium in Baltimore on Saturday. The mother, which also beached herself, died enroute to VIMS from Virginia Beach.

The baby whale appeared to be thriving on a diet of soymilk, whipped cream and pureed squid and was scheduled to be transferred to the New York Aquarium and Osborne Laboratories of Marine Science Sept. 30. Because of Hurricane Gloria, it was decided to transfer the whale to Baltimore to escape the bad weather predicted.

College joins Occasion, Oct. 6

The Wren Building and the Campus Center will be entertainment centers for the annual fall festival, An Occasion for the Arts, Sunday, Oct. 6 and will host a variety of entertainers including many members of the College community.

Bill Baird's Marionettes will perform "The Dragon and the Dentist," as a caper to the day-long celebration of the arts at 5:30 p.m. in the Wren Yard.

The program there begins at noon with "The Lift," a modern rock group. Jazz bands from Lafayette High School, Bruton High School and James Madison University will play during the afternoon, and at 5 p.m. the Williamsburg Symphonia Players will present "L'Histoire du petit tailleur."

In the Great Hall Marian Harding, harpist, will open the program with a performance at noon. The program will also include performances by the Drummond Duet, clarinet and flute; the Prelude Woodwind Quintet; Kathy Exton, soprano, and Mary Gonzales, piano, presenting old love songs from the 1930s and 40s; the Clarinet Quintet; Cathy

United Way Drive Opens

Dear Fellow State Employees,

As citizens who live and work in our great Commonwealth, each of us shares the opportunity to help our neighbors in need through the United Way. Our jobs touch the lives of every Virginian and I am proud to be a part of the dedication to service displayed by our state employees.

Both the United Way and state government employees are in the business of finding ways to improve the lives and well-being of Virginia citizens. Like state government, the United Way works year-round to ensure the human care needs of our communities are met. Success of the United Way Campaign is essential if those in need are to enjoy the opportunity for a meaningful life.

In the past, state government employees have established an enviable reputation of caring for those in need in our communities. You have actively supported the United Way by volunteering your time and talents as well as through your generous gifts and contributions.

As Honorary Chairman for the 1985 State Government United Way Campaign, I am again requesting your active support in this important community needs movement. I encourage each of you to give your share to the United Way because thanks to you it truly does work for all of us right here in Virginia.

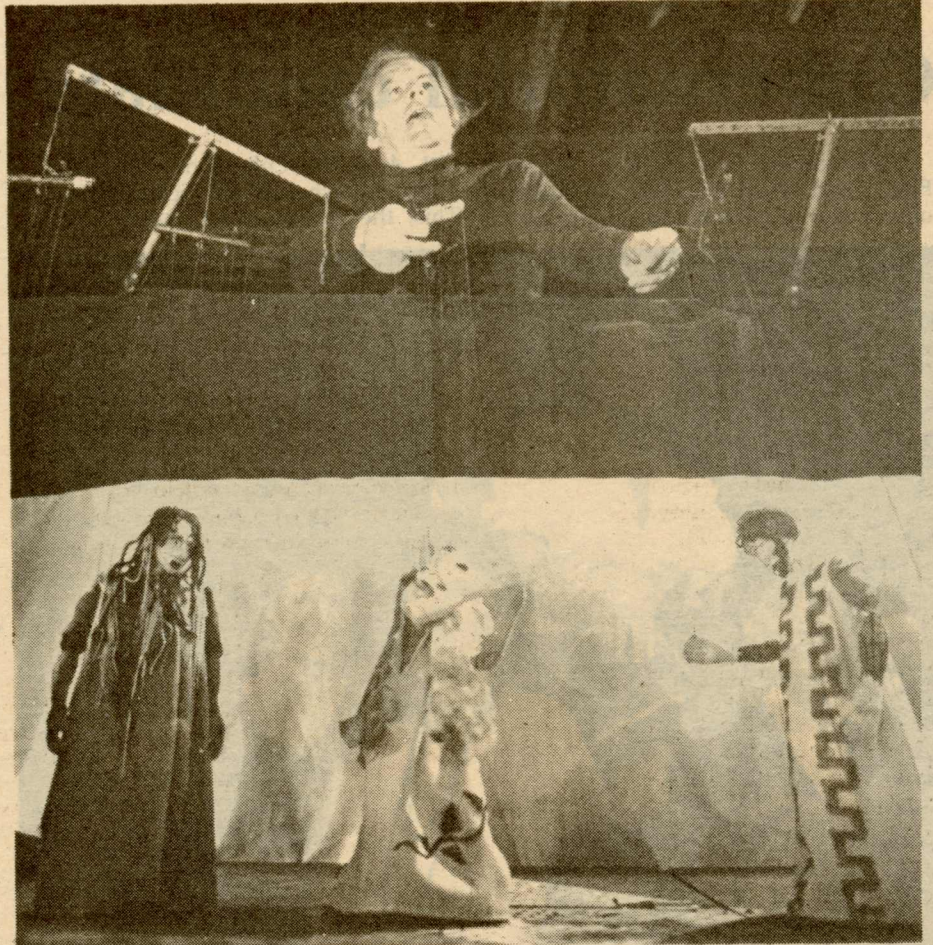

Sincerely,

Charles S. Robb
Governor

Information regarding the College's participation in the Greater Williamsburg United Way campaign was distributed with the Oct. 1 payroll. I join with Governor Robb in encouraging all employees to support the United Way. The organizations and agencies funded by the campaign do much to enhance the quality of life in our community.

Peter Arnott

Honors Sponsors Arnott

The Honors Program is sponsoring a three-part visit by Peter Arnott and his marionette theater, Oct. 9, 10 and 11.

A performance of Antigone is set for Wednesday, Oct. 9 and Oedipus the King on Friday, Oct. 11. Both performances will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Williamsburg Regional Library Arts Center.

On Thursday, Oct. 10, Arnott will talk on "Sight and Sound: A Problem in the Greek Theatre," at 8 p.m. in the Botetourt Theatre of Swem Library.

Peter Arnott was born in Ipswich, England, and educated at Oxford University and the University of Wales. In 1948 he originated the one-man marionette theater to exploit the possibilities of this neglected medium for the purposes of serious drama and particularly for the recreation of works from the Greek and Roman repertory. He has performed frequently in the United States, Great Britain and Canada.

The purpose of the theater is to employ the unique potential of the marionette theater to reproduce ancient conditions of performance which are often inaccessible to modern actors and directors and to perform works which are rarely seen. Arnott is currently chairman of the drama department at Tufts University where he both teaches and directs plays in the University Theatre. He is the author of 26 books and translator of French, Latin and Greek plays.

Although the medium of puppetry is associated with children's entertainment, Arnott's plays are not for young audiences. They offer serious and mature dramatic entertainment and children under 12 will not be admitted. Cameras and tape recorders are also not allowed.

ing in Africa," at 9:30 a.m. Ashley Wills, U.S. Department of State, will discuss "U.S. Policy in Southern Africa," at 10:45 a.m.

The first session in the afternoon will begin at 1 p.m. and will be a panel discussion of African value systems. C. Eric Lincoln, professor of religion and culture, Duke University will discuss "An Afro-American Perspective on Africa." Kwasi Wiredu, professor of philosophy, University of Richmond, will discuss the question of violence in African political thought, and Ismail H. Abdalla, assistant professor of history, will talk about changing values and the African family. Vinson H. Sutlive, chairman of the anthropology department, will preside.

Dr. Lincoln will preside at the second session, which begins at 3:30 p.m. and will focus on African political economy. Panel participants will include Kwame Gyekye, professor of philosophy, Howard University, speaking on "Ideology and African Development"; Berhanu Abegaz, assistant professor of economics, speaking on "The African Famine Fiasco: An Entitlements Approach"; Edward K. Brown of the World Bank, speaking on "The Population Factor in African Development"; and Ely A. Dorsey, associate professor of business administration, speaking on "Technoism: The New Colonialism."

Opening remarks at the conference will be given by George R. Healy, William and Mary provost, and Melvyn D. Schiavelli, dean of the faculty of arts and sciences.

The conference program has been planned by Eric O. Ayisi, Department of Anthropology and Berhanu Abegaz, Department of Economics. Funding for the program has been obtained from the Virginia Foundation for the Humanities and Public Policy.

Open House

Gloria caused cancellations of plans for Parents Weekend. Campus offices were closed Friday and classes cancelled. A mammoth telephone campaign was undertaken by the Office of Student Affairs to get in touch with parents who had registered for Parents Weekend.

Friday was a bright, sunny, cloudless day. The storm had only grazed the Williamsburg area. Everyone was relieved that the weather predictors had been so wrong.

Reade to discuss stone reliefs

Julian Reade of the Department of Western Asiatic Antiquities at the British Museum, a scholar and archaeologist, will present a lecture at 7 p.m., Monday, Oct. 7 in Washington 100. His topic will be an analysis of stone relief panels recovered from the small kingdom of Assyria in present-day Iraq.

These sculptures date from the ninth to the seventh centuries B.C., a period in ancient history when the Assyrian Empire dominated the Near East. They depict relationships, in war and peace, between Assyria and the Biblical kingdoms of Judah and Israel. As part of his talk, Dr. Reade will consider to what extent the sculptures can be regarded as reliable historical records.

Dr. Reade is an internationally known scholar, who is conversant in both the prehistoric and early historical periods of Near Eastern history. He took part in

Charny to talk on genocide

"The Psychology of Genocide," will be the topic of a midday lecture by Israel Charny on Tuesday Oct. 8 at 12:30 p.m., in Millington 211.

Professor Charny is a clinical psychologist at the University of Tel Aviv, Israel, and has written and edited several important works on genocide and alternatives to violence. Two of his recent books are How Can We Commit the Unthinkable? and Toward the Understanding and Prevention of Genocide. Dr. Charny is also the Director of the International Conference on the Holocaust and Genocide, a continuing organization with offices in Jerusalem. He was born in New York and has resided in Israel since 1973.

Green and Gold seeks volunteers

Students are now busy organizing the popular Green and Gold Christmas. This year the event will take place Dec. 7 at William and Mary Hall.

Underprivileged children from the area have an opportunity to participate in games, create arts and crafts and enjoy the fellowship of college students. The highlight of the day occurs with the arrival of Santa Claus and a pack of gifts.

Each year hundreds of students help organize the event and sponsor children. In order to participate, an application must be submitted by the student. Applications can be picked up at the Trinkle Hall Information Desk. They must be returned by Oct. 11. Share a bit of holiday spirit with an underprivileged child.

SA Notes

FALL BREAK SHUTTLE:

To assist students in their travels during Fall Break, the Student Association will sponsor shuttles to Norfolk Airport. Buses will leave for Norfolk from the PBK parking lot on Friday, Oct. 11 at 8:30 a.m., 1 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. The return shuttles, on Tuesday, Oct. 15, will leave Norfolk at 4:30, 8 and 10 p.m. and return to the PBK parking lot. Tickets are $5 each way and must be purchased in advance in the S.A. Office.

Change in Call Forwarding Variable

Due to an electronic change within the Centrex system, it is necessary to change the procedure to activate the Call Forwarding Variable feature on all College telephone lines.

As indicated in our memo of May 30, 1985, and subsequent announcements in the William and Mary News, this feature enables incoming telephone calls to ring at another number within the College. This change applies only to activating procedures for Call Forwarding Variable. Deactivating procedures remain the same.

The new procedure to activate Call Forwarding Variable is as follows:

Step 1. Pick the line you want to call forward and depress the appropriate button (this does not apply to single line sets).

Step 2. Listen for the dial tone.

Step 3. Dial 102

Step 4. Dial the number you want your number to ring on and tell the person that you speak with that you are doing so. (You will no longer hear two beeps to indicate that you have activated Call Forwarding Variable.)

Step 5. When you hang up, Call Forwarding Variable is activated

It is mandatory that you speak with a party at the other end after you dial 102 plus their number in order to activate Call Forwarding Variable.

Again, this change applies only to activating procedures.

We would also request that you correct the procedures to this feature that are on page 3 of the 1985-86 Faculty/Staff Directory.

If you have any questions regarding this change, please call Pam Owen or myself at ext. 5516.
