Grooms next at Muscarelle

"American artist Red Grooms proves that good art doesn't have to be deadly serious," says Mark Johnson, director of the Muscarelle Museum of Art, which will open an exhibit of Grooms' graphics Aug. 30.

The Muscarelle Museum is open Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. and weekends from noon to 4 p.m. The Grooms exhibit will run through Oct. 12.

A rare example of an artist who is admired by the art establishment and adored by the general public, Grooms shows ingenuity, technical virtuosity, humor and brilliant range in chronicling life as he views it. Critics have called him a quintessentially American artist.

The show, says Johnson, will include prints and three-dimensional pieces including his famous "Dali Salad" and "Gertrude Stein," both sculptures made of paper. Grooms also makes woodcuts, linoleum cuts, screen prints, etchings and lithographs.

He has also tried many other ways to express his talent. He is a painter, sculptor, printmaker, carpenter, commander, puppeteer and showman, dancer, actor, satirist, portraitist and film maker, radical, traditionalist; no category holds him.

"He has done as much as any painter of our age to crack the sour humor that rules the realm of art," says Paul Richard, noted art critic for the Washington Post. "His work bombards us all-at-once with tragedy and comedy, with movement, color, showmanship, narrative and travelogue. Its density astonishes. I know no fuller art," says Richard.

Grooms began his career in art in Feb. 1955 when he and Walter Knestruck, both members of the senior class at Hillsboro High School in Nashville, Tenn., presented an exhibit of 35 buildings. An art critic for the Nashville Banner reported "the unusual ability of this Nashville student is like a fountain, bubbling up from some inner resource of imagination and impressionability. He moves with amazing rapidity from one subject to another, with no surcease of idea or inspiration. He draws sensitively and then applies watercolor with the boldness of the Fauves and employs black line with the ruthlessness of Roualt."

An illustrated catalog will be available for purchase at the museum sales desk during the exhibit.

The exhibition was organized by the Cheekwood Fine Arts Center, Nashville, Tenn., and is circulated by the Trust for Museum Exhibitions.

COLLEGE-WIDE FACULTY MEETING

The annual college-wide faculty meeting will be held Tuesday, Sept. 2, in Millington Auditorium at 3:30 p.m.

On that occasion we shall be introducing new members of the faculty to their colleagues. Deans and department chairmen are urged to extend special invitations to their new colleagues to attend this meeting. Biographical information on new faculty will be distributed in advance of the meeting, to reduce the time of introductions. Provost Melvyn D. Schiavelli will introduce all new faculty.

The academic deans will report on the highlights of the past year and expectations for the coming year, and I will share with you the administration's plans as well. Miss Anne Dobie Peebles, rector of the College, and I will also make a few brief remarks to introduce the college year.

The meeting should be over about 4:30 p.m., after which you are invited to attend an informal reception in the Muscarelle Museum. I hope to see each of you on Tuesday, Sept. 2.

Paul R. Verkuil
President

P.S. Please also mark your calendar for Sunday, Sept. 14, at 11:30 a.m. when Mrs. Verkuil and I look forward to welcoming you to the annual faculty brunch.

State mourns John N. Dalton

Former Gov. John Nichols Dalton '53, died Wednesday, July 30 of lung cancer in the Medical College of Virginia hospital in Richmond. He was 55.

A popular governor he was remembered as "a common man of uncommon courage - particularly in the face of death," at a funeral service at the Second Baptist Church in western Henrico County, attended by about 1,000 of the state's corporate and political leaders, his law partners and members of his family.

In an editorial in the Richmond Times Dispatch, Dalton was praised for his efforts to attract new business to the state (he is credited with creating possibly as many as 32,000 new manufacturing jobs in Virginia during his four-year term, 1978-82), and his work in education, transportation and corrections.

"In all his endeavors, he was guided by a principle that he enunciated in his inaugural address: 'We must seek to make the government itself more efficient so that the people who pay the bills, the taxpayers of Virginia, see that their money is being put to good use.'

"John Dalton's life was all too short, but he lived it energetically and constructively. And its positive impact on the state he loved will endure." E.G.

The School of Business Administration Sponsors, Inc., in the interest of continuing Dalton's impact on the state, are establishing the Governor John N. Dalton Memorial Fund in his name. Income from the fund will be used to provide financial assistance to a William and Mary undergraduate student majoring in business administration who has a sincere interest in public service during his or her life career.

Dalton was immediate past president of the Sponsors, Inc., and had anticipated assuming the chairmanship of the board last April but had to decline because of ill health. Dalton had battled cancer for three years and had undergone surgery for removal of part of a lung in 1983.

Born July 11, 1931, in the southside Virginia town of Emporia, Dalton grew up in Radford where his interest in politics was sparked by his uncle, Ted Dalton, a well-known Republican lawyer who had adopted him as a teenager.

At William and Mary he was a dean's list student, an ROTC cadet and was elected president of the student body his senior year. He was active in intramurals, was manager of the football team and a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. At commencement he received the James Frederick Carr Memorial Cup, given to the senior who best combines the qualities of character, scholarship and leadership.

After graduation from William and Mary Dalton served in the Army and then earned a law degree at the University of Virginia. He returned to Radford to practice with his father.

He served in the House of Delegates from 1966 to 1972 and spent a year in the State Senate before being elected lieutenant governor as the running mate of former Governor Mills E. Godwin.

At the time of his death he was a senior partner in the Virginia law firm of McGuire, Woods & Battle. He was also a member of the Governor's Commission on Transportation in the 21st Century.

College/CDR Seminar

The School of Education recently co-sponsored a program on early childhood intervention with Child Development Resources. AT far right Toni W. Lindler, chairperson of educational psychology, School of Education, University of Denver, a program speaker, chats with (l-r) Sharon E. Kiefer, outreach project director, CDR; Corinne W. Garland, executive director, CDR; Virginia K. Laycock, associate dean, School of Education; and John M. Nagle, dean, School of Education.

On the recommendation of the academic calendar advisory committee, I have approved the calendar published below for the academic years 1986-89. Because the fall of 1986 examination schedule has already been published, there is no change in the fall semester. However, starting with the spring of 1987, exams have not been scheduled on Saturdays or Sundays.

The Marshall-Wythe School of Law has a separate calendar and is not affected by this one.

History student wins PAT award

Phi Alpha Theta international honor society in history has awarded the Donald B. Hoffman Advanced Graduate Student Fellowship for 1986-87 to Nancy L. Hagedorn of Cincinnati, Ohio, a doctoral student in history.

The award is in the amount of $1,000, which Ms. Hagedorn plans to use for research on her dissertation, "Mediating the Exchange of Cultures: Indian Interpreters Among the Iroquois, 1630-1770."

A summa cum laude graduate of the University of Cincinnati, 1981, with high honors in history, Ms. Hagedorn completed course requirements for a master's degree in history at William and Mary in 1982 and has recently completed a year as a teaching fellow in the history department. She is a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

Her honors this year also include the Jamestown Fellowship offered by the Jamestown-Yorktown Foundation, a state historical organization. Established in 1984, the three-year fellowship was initially awarded to Nathaniel Turk McCleskey, then a second-year doctoral student in history at the College.

McCleskey had anticipated using the fellowship for three years to complete his work, but has chosen to relinquish it and serve as a teaching fellow this year. Ms. Hagedorn has been awarded the third year of McCleskey's award and will continue indexing duties for the Foundation that he had initiated.

College women set party

The College Women's Club invites all women newly connected with the College of William and Mary through either their own or their husband's employment to a newcomer's party at the Muscarelle Museum on Monday, Sept. 8 from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

A social period, featuring wine and cheese, will provide an opportunity for newcomers to meet each other and the Women's Club board members. Following the social period, an informal introduction to Williamsburg and the College will be given and information packets will be distributed. Mark Johnson, director of the Muscarelle Museum, will give an overview of the museum and its upcoming events.

Membership in the College Women's Club is open to all women connected with William and Mary through either their own or their husband's employment. The group is primarily a social club and holds many social activities throughout the school year. Eligible women who would like to join may call Elise Bick at 229-0818 for membership information.

The College Women's Club will hold its fall tea 4-6 p.m., Monday, Sept. 15, at the President's House. There will be a short business meeting with an overview of activities planned for the year followed by a social tea. During the tea there will be an opportunity to sign up for the interest groups sponsored by the club.

Observance of Holiday Labor Day - Sept. 1, 1986

Labor Day, Sept. 1, is a legal holiday for permanent classified employees and W&M support personnel. The administrative office, the plant department and campus mail room will be closed with the exception of essential employees who are required to work. The Campus Police Department will maintain its regular schedule.

Classes are scheduled for Sept. 1. Academic support staff who are required to work will be credited with compensatory time on an hour-for-hour basis. Consistent with an exception in the Fair Labor Standards Act, non-exempt employees are eligible for compensatory leave if they are required to work on this holiday.

The names of W&M support personnel who are required to work must be reported in writing to the Office of Employee Relations and Affirmative Action by Sept. 5 in order that these employees may be credited with compensatory leave on an hour-for-hour basis.

Compensatory leave earned should be taken as soon as possible after Sept. 1 with the approval of management. Compensatory time not taken within 12 months will lapse. Hourly employees who are required to work on Sept. 1 will be paid at their regular hourly rates.

The Virginia Institute of Marine Science will observe this same holiday schedule and procedure.

NEW EXIT INTERVIEW PROCEDURE

The Office of Employee Relations and Affirmative Action strongly encourages all classified and support employees who are terminating their employment or have been promoted to another department to have an exit interview.

Effective Aug. 1, 1986, exit interviews will be conducted by the training/employment manager in the Office of Employee Relations and Affirmative Action. Upon notice of an employee's termination or promotion, we will forward the employee an exit interview questionnaire.

The training/employment manager will follow-up the questionnaire by contacting the employee to schedule an exit interview. Exit interviews for William and Mary personnel will be conducted in the Office of Employee Relations and Affirmative Action; exit interviews for VIMS personnel will be held in the Employee Relations and Affirmative Action Office in Watermen's Hall.

We feel that this procedure will provide terminating employees with important information about their benefits coverage and will allow employee relations and affirmative action staff to better analyze turnover and remedy problems. Equally important, this procedure will let us know where we excel.

If you have any questions about the exit interview procedure, feel free to call Liz Jones or me at ext. 4214.

Expiration of Automobile Rental Services Contract No. 07001-5; July 31, 1986

The Division of Purchases and Supply has decided not to renew or rebid the above subject contract. The decision was based mainly on the fact that most state agencies and institutions now have travel management services contracts. These contracts require the travel agent to obtain the lowest applicable fares/rates for commercial transportation, automobile rentals and hotel/motel accommodations that meet the requirements of the traveler. Thus the need for a separate contract for automobile rentals no longer exists.

Effective Aug. 1, 1986, state agencies and institutions should rely on their existing travel management services contracts to arrange for commercial automobile rentals. These contracts already require the contractor to arrange such rentals, using the state contract if available. On a case-by-case basis travelers may be permitted to arrange their own vehicle rentals. Agencies and travelers that arrange their own travel are required to obtain the lowest fares and prices available that meet their minimum needs.

As a state institution that expends more than $10,000 per year in travel-related services, i.e., commercial common carriers (air, rail or bus), automobile rentals and hotel/motel accommodations, we were required to establish a travel management services contract. The contract was awarded to the following: U-Travel, Tri-Global and C. I. Travel.

Any questions concerning this memorandum may be directed to the College Purchasing Office at ext. 4215, 4279 or 4373. Thank you for your cooperation and understanding.
