Selby named acting dean of arts and sciences

John E. Selby, professor and chairman of the history department, has been named acting dean of the faculty of arts and sciences.

Selby's appointment, which is effective Sept. 1 and extends through June 30, was approved Aug. 21 at a meeting of the Board of Visitors.

The position became vacant July 1, when Melvyn D. Schiavelli was appointed provost by President Paul R. Verkuil. Since then, a committee has been formed to conduct a national search for a permanent successor.

A native of Boston, Selby joined the William and Mary faculty on a part-time basis in 1963 and has been a full-time faculty member since 1968. A specialist in American colonial history and economic history, he holds an undergraduate degree from Harvard University and master's and doctoral degrees from Brown University.

From 1968 to 1970 Selby was acting dean of graduate studies for the faculty of arts and sciences and was appointed to serve full time in that position from 1971 to 1981.

He has served as history department chairman since 1984. He also currently serves as book review editor of the William and Mary Quarterly for the Institute of Early American History and Culture.

Stanley E. Brown, former director of the placement office, was named director of career services. In his new position, Brown will head an office combining the services of placement and career planning.

Brown was assistant director of student aid and placement, 1969-72, and director of corporate relations and placement, 1972-79. He was acting vice president for development, 1979-80.

The new office of career services will be located on the first floor of Morton Hall in offices formerly occupied by placement and career planning.

Robert E. Fritts, U.S. Ambassador to Ghana, principal deputy assistant secretary of state for consular affairs, 1983-86, has been appointed diplomat-in-residence in the government department. He is expected on campus in mid-September.

Ambassador Fritts was Director for ASEAN and Thailand, Indonesia, Malaysia, Burma and Singapore Affairs, Department of State, 1977-80, and was U.S. Ambassador to Rwanda, 1974-76. He has also served at U.S. embassies in Luxembourg, Tokyo and Jakarta.

This year's writer-in-residence is Bobby Jack Nelson, a Texas novelist who won a Pulitzer Prize nomination for his novel Brothers in 1975. His latest book, The Pull, is receiving good reviews and is available at the campus bookstore.

A native of Hatchel, Texas, who attended the University of New Mexico, Nelson has led a colorful life. "He has been a roughneck in the oil fields, a cowhand, a bullfighter, a two-time Golden Gloves champion, a pilot and a prospector. He has lived in Portugal, Austria, Greece, Saudi Arabia, Cuba and the outback of Australia," according to the biography on the book jacket of The Pull.

He is the author of five novels including The Last Station (Houghton-Mifflin, 1972) and The Devil To Pay (New American Library, 1980), "ghosted for the late Earl Thompson." The Boy's Place, St. Martin Press, is set for publication in 1987.

Nelson has published stories in magazines in Australia, Arkansas, Montana and New York. He has sold movie scripts to Columbia Pictures and Warner Brothers. His play, "They Don't Sing Too Loud in Church," was produced and performed by the Australian National Theatre Company in Sydney, Melbourne and Perth, 1964-65. Nelson has also written television advertising scripts for over 30 different products as diverse as Coca-Cola and Bell Helicopters.

Marriott's MARKETPLACE opens in C. Center

Marriott's new Marketplace in the Campus Center is being established as a model for college eateries, and director Ron Morgan says he means for the College's new food service to stay that way.

The newly refurbished restaurant in the Campus Center now seats 390, and the service area has been designed to scatter customers to eight different service stations rather than concentrate them in one long line. The new organization and four check-out cashiers should give patrons a more leisurely lunch hour than they have been used to.

Morgan has planned a gala grand opening with contests and prizes for Sept. 15.

Monday through Friday the Marketplace will be open from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. with the following services:

Melting Pot — hot line, entrees, vegetables, soups, American food including ethnic foods that make up that category (e.g., pasta extravaganza, plainsman sandwich, roast beef with special sauce, fried fish, barbecued chicken) — hot breakfast, 7-10 a.m.; lunch, 11 a.m.-2 p.m.; dinner, 4:30-7 p.m.

H. B. Quick's — Roy Rogers' concept, fried chicken, homemade biscuits, roast beef sandwiches, hamburgers, cheeseburgers, french fries, onion rings, milkshakes, frozen yogurt, sundaes — 11 a.m.-7 p.m.

The Cutting Board — deli — 10:30 a.m.-11 p.m.

The Upper Crust — pizza, special Italian sandwiches — 11 a.m.-11 p.m.

Eden's Greens — 10:30 a.m.-7 p.m.

Soup-e-rrior — choice of two soups and specialty sandwiches — 11 a.m.-2 p.m.

Sweet Sensations — desserts — 7 a.m.-7 p.m.

Tea, coffee and an assortment of soft drinks will be available 7 a.m.-11 p.m.

Saturday and Sunday the Cutting Board and the Melting Pot will be open for brunch from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., and the Upper Crust, the Melting Pot and the Cutting Board will be open for dinner from 4:30 to 7 p.m. Continental breakfast will be available with the salad bar from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

One of the new services of the Marketplace is delivery service, seven days a week from 7 to 11 p.m., within a four-mile radius. Deli sandwiches, pizza, stromboli, calzone and sodas will be available. There will be a minimum of $5 per order.

Verkuil to attend Harvard's 350th

President Verkuil will represent the College at Harvard University's 350th anniversary, Sept. 3-6.

Among the functions he will attend will be a luncheon for Prince Charles on Sept. 3 and a formal convocation on Sept. 4.

President Verkuil will be in Cambridge Sept. 2 to participate in a symposium on "The Corporation at Risk:

Liberal Learning and Private Enterprise," sponsored by the Corporate Council on the Liberal Arts in association with the American Association of Arts and Sciences. Verkuil has written a paper titled "Charting a Course for Liberal Education in the Age of Technology" for the symposium in which several university presidents, business leaders and Secretary of Education William J. Bennett will participate.

Baker defends history dissertation

Emerson W. Baker will defend his dissertation in an oral examination from 3 to 5 p.m., Friday, Sept. 5 in the Blue Room of the Wren Building.

Baker, a doctoral candidate in history, has taken as his dissertation topic

"Trouble to the Eastward: The Failure of Anglo-Indian Relations."

Baker received his bachelor's degree from Bates College and a master's from the University of Maine at Orono. He is currently employed by the Maine Department of Cultural Resources.

NEWSMAKERS

Lewis W. Leadbeater, professor of classical studies, has published an article, "Aristophanes and Kafka: The Dung Beetle Connection," in Studies in Short Fiction, vol. 23, no. 2 (1986).

Richard L. Wetzel, associate professor of marine science, and Kenneth A. Moore, instructor of marine science, recently attended the American Society of Limnologists/Psychological Society of America meeting at the University of Rhode Island. They presented a paper titled "Relationship between Seagrass Production and Water Quality in the Chesapeake Bay" that they co-authored with H. A. Neckles. Moore also chaired the session on seagrass and tidal marshes.

William J. Hargis Jr., professor of marine science, Beverly Anne Weeks, associate professor of marine science, and Michael E. Bender, professor of marine science, were invited participants at a national EPA workshop titled "Finfish as Indicators of Toxic Contamination in Estuaries," at Airlie, Va., July 28-30.

Professor of history emeritus Bruce T. McCully's review of Indian Nationalism: An Historical Analysis by R. Suntharalingam was published in the Jan. 1986 issue of the American Historical Review.

Physics professors R. L. Waterland, M. L. Du, S. K. Knudson and J. B. Delos attended the joint meeting of the division of atomic, molecular and optical physics and the division of chemical physics of the American Physical Society, held in Eugene, Ore. They participated in four talks: "Semiclassical Determination of Vibrational Frequencies in Non-Bending Ozone," by S. K. Knudson, D. W. Noid and M. L. Koszykowski; "Quantum Wave Functions from Classical Lagrangian Manifolds," by J. B. Delos, S. K. Knudson and D. W. Noid; "Rydberg Atoms in Parallel Electric and Magnetic Fields," R. L. Waterland and J. B. Delos; and "The Close-Coupling Theory of Electron Detachment for $H^- - He$," by M. L. Du and J. B. Delos.

Du and Delos also presented talks at the first international conference on the physics of phase space in College Park, Md.: "Atoms in Strong Fields as Candidates for the Laboratory Study of Quantum Chaos," by J. B. Delos, S. K. Knudson, R. L. Waterland and M. L. Du, and "An Introduction to Maslov's Semiclassical Theory," by J. B. Delos, S. K. Knudson and D. W. Noid.

Delos also presented a seminar, "Collisions of F^+ with Ne ," to the molecular physics group at Johns Hopkins University, as well as two colloquia, "Highly Excited Atoms in Strong Electric and Magnetic Fields" and "Classical Trajectories and Quantum Wavefunctions," to the Department of Applied Physics, Yale University.

Fu-Lin Chu, assistant professor of marine science, presented a paper titled "Preliminary Results from the Study of Acquired Immunity in the Oyster Crasostrea virginica" at the annual National Shellfisheries Association meeting in Seattle, Wash.

Michael Rohrbaugh, associate professor of psychology, presented a paper titled "Researching Family Hierarchy" at the American Family Therapy Association meeting in Washington last month. Rohrbaugh's article, "Q-Sort Comparisons of Structural, Strategic and Systemic Family Therapies," appears in the current issue of the American Journal of Family Therapy and in Zeitschrift für Systemische Therapie, a German family therapy journal.

Richard C. Terman, professor of biology, was involved in the presentation of four papers at the recent annual meeting of the Virginia Academy of Sciences. He authored "Demographic Characteristics of White-Footed Mice (Peromyscus leucopus) in Natural Populations During a Three-Year Period of Numerical Fluctuations," and was co-author of "The Role of Tactile Cues in the Release of Reproductive Inhibition of Females from Laboratory Populations of Prairie Deermice," with Kristie A. Deyerle. With Susan Creigh he co-authored "Release of Reproductive Inhibition in Males from Laboratory Populations of Prairie Deermice: The Role of Contact with Females or Their Urine," and with Waller Thompson and Erica Lilleleht he wrote "Observations of Raccoon (Procyon lotor) Predatory Behavior in White-Footed Mice (Peromyscus leucopus).

On the recommendation of the academic calendar advisory committee, I have approved the calendar published below for the academic years 1986-89. Because the fall of 1986 examination schedule has already been published, there is no change in the fall semester. However, starting with the spring of 1987, exams have not been scheduled on Saturdays or Sundays.

The Marshall-Wythe School of Law has a separate calendar and is not affected by this one.

Construction work underway at Swem Library, Muscarelle Museum

Additions to Swem Library and the Muscarelle Museum are taking shape. At both construction sites bricklayers are working on outside walls.

Both contractors are about two weeks behind schedule, says James J. Connolly, director, facilities planning and construction. But he doesn't consider this will have much effect on the overall schedule.

Work began in early March on a $3 million, four-story addition to the Library. Construction by the O. K. James Company of Williamsburg will take approximately 15 months and is expected to be completed in late 1987.

The new addition, which is being added to the front of the library, will provide stack space, reading areas, administrative offices, a 24-hour study

Writing 101 exam

Students who want to take the second Writing 101 exam may do so on Monday, Sept. 1 in Millington Auditorium. The exam will be given from 6 to 9 p.m. Blue books will be provided.

Tennis tournaments

There will be a women's tennis team-faculty doubles tournament on Sunday, Sept. 14 at 2:30 p.m. on the Adair courts. Contact Ray Reppert before Sept. 9, ext. 4360, to register.

Part-time and full-time students, faculty, staff, their families and patrons of the College are invited to participate in the Volvo Campus Mixed Doubles Tennis Championships, Sept. 19-21.

The entry fee is $10 per team and registration must be made by Sept. 12 with Ray Reppert in Adair gym, ext. 4360.

There is no age limit on players, but those participating must not have played on a varsity or junior varsity team in the last 10 years and must not be considered a professional player.

There is a picnic planned for players, and each participant will receive a T-shirt or bag. Winners have the opportunity to go on to other Volvo tournaments with the chance to win up to $5,000 in prize money and trips.

P.E. tests

Physical education proficiency tests for upperclassmen have been scheduled. Written tests will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 2 and 3, from 6 to 8 p.m. in Adair 104. The swimming test will be held in the pool. Practical tests will be arranged after the written tests.

W&M athletics airs TV show

William and Mary athletics will be featured on a cable television network throughout the mid-Atlantic region this fall.

For 26 weeks the Jimmie Laycock and Barry Parkhill shows will reach nearly 600,000 homes in a six-state area with a comprehensive picture of the College's 26-sport athletic program and the campus in general.

The half-hour show begins the first week in September, just prior to the football season-opener against Colgate at Cary Stadium, Sept. 6. The Jimmie Laycock Show will run 11 weeks during the regular season and continue through the Division I-AA playoffs should the Tribe qualify.

The Barry Parkhill Show begins in December and runs through the regular basketball season in late February. Filming of the show runs through the Colonial Athletic Association (CAA) Tournament as long as the Tribe is competing.

Shows will be produced in the Williamsburg studios of Continental Cablevision under the direction of Karen McFall, public access coordinator. Tapes will be copied and dispatched to four other cable systems for airing on their networks as well.

For both shows, game action highlights will be described by the coach, and feature interviews with chosen players will be included. Jay Colley, the "Voice of the Tribe," will co-host the show, teaming with Laycock during the football season and Parkhill during the basketball season. Colley will continue his duties as play-by-play man for football and basketball games on the Tribe radio network.

Two feature segments, the "Campus Spotlight" and the "Olympic Sport Spotlight," will be included in the show's schedule.

On the "Campus Spotlight" viewers will have the opportunity to meet distinguished administrators, faculty and staff at the College. President Paul R. Verkuil will be one of the featured speakers.

With the "Olympic Sport Spotlight" the College's athletic department will showcase its broad-based men's and women's intercollegiate athletic programs. Head coaches and athletes will be featured during interviews in this segment.

Bill Sullivan, director of sports information, will serve as executive producer and, with University Relations Director Bill Walker, will coordinate the feature segments. Rebecca Whyley of the university relations office will serve as the "Campus Spotlight" correspondent. Bernie Cafarelli of the sports information office will be the "Olympic Sports Spotlight" correspondent.

John Randolph, the show's creator, is pleased with its potential widespread appeal to alumni, faculty, staff, athletes and other supporters of the College.

"It will be more than just a program that depicts the athletic side of William and Mary," he said. "It'll put us in contact with all our supporters of the College, since it features the total athletic and academic experience of the College."

Randolph cited the support he received in developing the show's concept. "Many elements of the College administration have been supportive. I'm particularly grateful to the Society of the Alumni for their financial support."

Locally the program will be seen on Continental Cablevision, channel 44, 7-7:30 p.m., Tuesdays.

FAMILY EDUCATION RIGHTS AND PRIVACY ACT

Under the terms of the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, the College is to inform enrolled students annually of their rights under the law. The act does not apply to students admitted to the College who have not officially enrolled.

The College hereby affirms that its policies and procedures are in full compliance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, whereby each student's right to the privacy of his or her official College records and access to the same is assured.

Enrolled students should have the following rights under the law:

1. The right of access to his or her official College records. Under the terms of the Act, the College is not required to make available to students the following materials:
 - a. Confidential letters of recommendation placed in student's files before Jan. 1, 1975, and those letters for which the student has signed a waiver of his or her right of access.
 - b. Parents' confidential financial statements.
 - c. Medical, psychiatric, or similar records "which are created, maintained, or used only in connection with the provision of treatment to the student and are not available to anyone other than persons providing such treatment; provided, however, that such records can be personally reviewed by a physician or other appropriate professional of the student's choice."
 - d. Personal files and records of members of faculty or administrative personnel, which are in the sole possession of the maker thereof and which are not accessible or revealed to any person except a substitute.
 - e. Records of the Admissions Office concerning students admitted but not yet enrolled at the College. Letters of recommendation are removed from the admissions files before the files are forwarded to the Registrar's Office.
2. The right to inspect and review his or her official College records.
3. The right to a response from the College to reasonable requests for explanations and interpretations of his or her official records.
4. The right to an opportunity for a hearing to challenge the accuracy or appropriateness of his or her official records.
5. The right to have disclosure of his or her official records limited to College officials or other persons authorized under the Act, for legitimate purposes, unless permission for release of such information to other parties is given in writing.

The College has designated the following information as "Directory Information," which may be released to the public:

1. Student's name, address (permanent and local), telephone number (permanent and local).
2. Student's birthdate.
3. Dates of attendance at the College, field of concentration, current classification, current enrollment status (full or part time), degrees awarded.
4. Previous schools attended and degrees awarded.
5. Honors or special recognition.
6. Height and weight of members of athletic teams.

A student who does not want the above information made public must file notice in writing of his request in the Registrar's Office, James Blair, by Sept. 10, 1986.

A student wishing to review his or her College records must consult the directory of official student records in the Registrar's Office. The directory lists the offices where official student records are maintained and the name of the official responsible for the maintenance and release of each type of record and to whom requests for access should be made.

CIT/IIT seeks research proposals

The Institute of Information Technology (IIT), part of Virginia's Center for Innovative Technology (CIT), is requesting proposals for research in computer systems, communication systems, decision and system sciences, intelligent systems and human-computer interaction. To date the CIT/IIT has funded 39 proposals in these areas.

Potential research projects should address problems of the highest relevance to core research issues, be of the highest scientific merit and deal with leading-edge research that has potential for significant advances in information technology. They should be directly relevant to one or more industries in information technology. Preference is given to proposals for which industry is willing to share 50 percent of the costs.

Proposals are accepted at any time. Those received by Oct. 1 will be decided

Special Programs offer variety

Courses that teach personal skills for a variety of lifestyles are among those being offered by the Office of Special Programs this fall semester.

Such programs as "Career Development Planning," "Your Attitude Is Showing," "Enriching Marital Relationships," "Understanding People," "Creative Thinking" and "Coping with Change" are offered in a variety of time modes.

Some courses meet weekly for 12 weeks, others for eight, six or even three weeks. There are also one-day field trips and seminars.

Senior citizens - persons who have lived in Virginia for one year and who are 60 years of age or older - may register for reduced costs or free tuition.

As interesting as the course titles are the backgrounds of some of the instructors.

Julia Brazelton, assistant professor of business administration, is bringing the master's swim program to Williamsburg with a 12-week course that begins Sept. 17. It is for early-bird swimmers and will meet Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 6 to 7 a.m. in Adair pool.

This program is for individuals over 25 who are swimmers and would like to improve their techniques and endurance and sharpen their competitive skills. Swim meets will be conducted for persons interested in formal competition with members of their own age groups. The course is also appropriate for those training for triathlon competition, says Ms. Brazelton.

While her career is business education, Ms. Brazelton has been a swimmer most of her life, beginning as an age-group competitor. She has coached swim teams in Rock Hill, S.C. Helping Ms. Brazelton will be Ann Howes, women's swim coach, and Lisa Greeley, from the intramurals program, who has worked with the master's program before.

Selective Service reminder

Recently a young man in Tennessee was denied entrance to the University of Tennessee. His grades were excellent, but he was not registered with Selective Service.

Following federal leads, nine states have now enacted legislation that denies state financial aid to male students who fail to register with Selective Service. Several others have proposed such legislation. Some states go as far as Tennessee and deny entrance to a state school.

Men need to register with Selective Service within 30 days of their 18th birthday. Registration with Selective Service has now been linked with federal student aid, job training benefits, federal employment, as well as some state benefits. Registration is also required for any job where applicants must not have a felony record.

Non-registration is a felony, and the penalty can be up to $250,000 in fines and five years in prison. Registration forms are available at any U.S. Post Office and take only a few minutes to complete.

Trevor B. Hill, professor of chemistry, claims no degrees or licenses in seamanship, piloting, navigation, small-boat handling or marine architecture, but has about 8,000 miles of sailing experience to his credit and a lot of good nautical information to impart in a course on small-craft sailing, which begins Sept. 22. This course is for the novice whose interests lie in cruising coastal waters. Classroom instruction only.

Another instructor who brings a wealth of experience to the classroom is Sidney B. Smith, who was chairman of the music department of Holyoke Community College, Holyoke, Mass. He has toured the U.S. and Canada as a piano accompanist for singers from the New York City Opera and has taught piano and music courses for 40 years.

Bob Jeffrey will have news from a summer folklore conference in Wales to share with his class in southern folklore. Jeffrey, who attended graduate school at the Curriculum in Folklore, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, spent two weeks this summer in Wales and Ireland. Jeffrey worked for two years in the field, locating, interviewing and recording traditional artists for the Tennessee State Parks Folklife Project and the Mountain Heritage Center at Western Carolina University.

In a further exploration of the American heritage, "Muzzleloading Firearms" is a course taught by a Williamsburg dentist, Ron Rosenthal. Also a writer, Rosenthal is a member of the North-South Skirmish Association and has an extensive collection of replica firearms of the 19th century. He is an NRA-certified firearms safety instructor.

"Beginning Conversational and Cultural Russian" will be taught by Margarita Stovall, whose talents range far beyond the traveler's guide to Russia she is teaching. A native of Leningrad, Ms. Stovall was a dancer and teacher with the world-renowned Kirov Ballet. She has also instructed gymnasts preparing for the Olympics.

For more information about registration or specific classes or for a copy of the fall schedule, contact the Office of Special Programs, 8 a.m.-5 p.m., Monday through Friday, or write P.O. Box CS, Williamsburg, VA 23187.

Windsurfing trips schedule given

Recreational windsurfing trips for experienced sailors - no rank beginners - are scheduled by Sylvia Shirley in physical education. Reservations are required.

Trips to Sandbridge are scheduled for Aug. 30, 31, Sept. 6 and 20. Surfers will leave at 10 a.m. and return at 7 p.m. The cost is $13.

There will be six trips to the James River, Sept. 1, 8, 15, 22, 29 and Oct. 6 from 3 to 6:30 p.m. The fee is $7.

There will be two trips to Willoughby Spit, Oct. 5, 11 a.m.-5 p.m. and Oct. 18, 10 a.m.-4 p.m. The fee is $11.

Interested persons may sign up and pay in advance in the Adair gym office.

Shakespeare returns

The Virginia Shakespeare Festival's production of "Romeo and Juliet" is currently appearing at the Philip Morris manufacturing plant in Richmond. Philip Morris is underwriting the expenses of the of the company's seven performances there, Aug. 26-30.

The Festival went on the road earlier this month with several performances at Ash Lawn-Highland. Following the performances in Richmond, actors will have a week off before giving two final performances Sept. 5 and 6 for returning William and Mary students and the campus community.

Board actions include new faculty appointments

The Board approved the following faculty appointments to fill existing vacancies.

Jonathan F. Arries, part-time instructor of modern languages and literatures, effective Aug. 16-Dec. 31, 1986. This is a temporary, restricted appointment. Ph.D. candidate, University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Patrick J. Flannery, full-time assistant basketball coach, athletic department, effective July 1, 1986-June 30, 1987. This is a temporary, restricted appointment. M.A., Bucknell University, 1983; assistant basketball coach, Drexel University, since 1983.

Allan P. Geddes, part-time lecturer in business administration, effective Aug. 16-Dec. 31, 1986. This is a temporary, restricted appointment. B.S., Cornell University, 1972; group vice president, Ex-Cell-O Corporation, since 1972.

Wilton E. Heyliger, full-time visiting associate professor of business administration, for the 1986-87 academic session. This is a temporary, restricted appointment. Ph.D., Indiana University; associate professor, Norfolk State University, since 1984.

Ann L. Hobson, part-time lecturer in business administration, effective Aug. 16-Dec. 31, 1986. This is a temporary, restricted appointment. M.A.T., Emory University, 1969; director of grants, fiscal administration, William and Mary, since 1984.

Russ F. Huesman, full-time assistant football coach for the intercollegiate athletics department, effective Aug. 1, 1986-Feb. 28, 1987. This is a temporary, restricted appointment. M.A., University of South Carolina, 1985; defensive end coach, William and Mary, since 1985.

Christopher R. Kelly, full-time instructor of government, for the 1986-87 academic session. This is a temporary, restricted appointment. Ph.D. candidate, University of Virginia.

Judith F. Ledbetter, full-time visiting associate professor of law, for the 1986-87 academic session. This is a temporary, restricted appointment. J.D., Hastings College of Law, University of California, 1976; assistant director, U.S. Department of Justice, Civil Division, Federal Programs Branch, since 1984.

Julius J. Mastro, part-time lecturer in government, effective Aug. 16-Dec. 31, 1986. This is a temporary, restricted appointment. Ph.D., New York University, 1965; professor, Drew University, since 1960; founder and director, Center for Public and Corporate Affairs, Drew University, since 1981.

Kenneth Steven Moore, part-time assistant professor of education, effective Aug. 16-Dec. 31, 1986. This is a temporary, restricted appointment. Ed.D., William and Mary, 1986; certified school psychologist for the Newport News Public Schools, since 1973.

Grant E. Mouser III, part-time lecturer in government, effective Aug. 16-Dec. 31, 1986. This is a temporary, restricted appointment. J.D., Washington and Lee University, 1948; American consul general in Hamburg, Germany, 1980-85.

John Norman Shoosmith, part-time lecturer in mathematics, effective Aug. 16-Dec. 31, 1986. This is a temporary, restricted appointment. Ph.D., University of Virginia, 1973; head, computer applications branch of the analysis and computation division, NASA, Langley Research Center, since 1965.

Daniel G. Stimson, full-time director of track and field, intercollegiate athletics department, effective Aug. 15, 1986-May 15, 1987. This is a temporary, restricted appointment. M.S.E.D., Miami University, 1975; assistant track and cross country coach, University of Tennessee, since 1982.

Arunthavarani Thiyagarajah, full-time histopathologist/research scientist at VIMS, effective Sept. 1, 1986-Aug. 31, 1987. This is a temporary, restricted appointment. Ph.D., Auburn University, 1985; research associate, West Virginia University, since 1985.

Michael A. Plater, full-time director of M.B.A. program admissions, School of Business Administration, with the faculty-equivalent rank of lecturer, effective Aug. 18, 1986-Aug. 17, 1987. M.B.A., The Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania, 1982; strategic planning associate, The Standard Oil Company, since 1984.

Vaheed Ramazani, full-time assistant professor of modern languages and literatures, for the 1986-87 academic session. This is a temporary, restricted appointment. Ph.D., University of Virginia, 1986.

Linda Rodgers, part-time instructor of English, effective Aug. 16-Dec. 31, 1986. M.A., Brandeis University, 1984; writer/historian, P. Tavilla Company, Inc., since 1984.

Karen M. Ryerson, full-time women's assistant basketball coach, athletics department, effective Aug. 1, 1986-July 31, 1987. B.A., Loyola College, 1984; guidance counselor and psychology teacher, St. Vincent Pallotti High School, since 1985.

Sharon L. Zuber, part-time instructor of English, effective Aug. 16-Dec. 31, 1986. This is a temporary, restricted appointment. M.A., Butler University, 1975; adjunct faculty, Christopher Newport College, since 1979.

Martin T. Benson, full-time associate sports information director, athletics department, effective Sept. 1, 1986-Aug. 31, 1987. This is a temporary, restricted appointment. B.A., St. Bonaventure University, 1984; sports information director, Hobart and William Smith colleges, since 1984.

Vicki Beck Caminer, part-time clinical psychologist, Psychological Services, effective Aug. 16-Dec. 31, 1986. This is a temporary, restricted appointment. Psy.D. candidate; Virginia Consortium for Professional Psychology, since 1982.

Jane Ashworth Echols, part-time instructor of English. This is a temporary, restricted appointment. M.A., West Virginia University, 1961; English Department, Greenbrier Community College Center, since 1977.

Pamela Lisbeth Ewouds, full-time associate director of career services, with faculty-equivalent rank of lecturer, effective Sept. 22, 1986-Sept. 21, 1987. M.Ed., University of Florida, 1981; career development specialist, Valdosta State College, since 1982.

Janet E. Finch, full-time clinical psychologist, Psychological Services, with faculty-equivalent rank of lecturer, effective Sept. 1, 1986-June 30, 1987. This is a temporary, restricted appointment. Psy.D. candidate; Virginia Consortium for Professional Psychology, since 1982.

Alison Hope Jesse, full-time assistant director of student financial aid/assistant dean of undergraduate admission, with the faculty-equivalent rank of lecturer, effective Sept. 1, 1986-Aug. 31, 1987. M.A., Washington University, 1979; assistant to the associate registrar, William and Mary, since 1986.

Kenneth Steven Moore, part-time adjunct associate professor of education, effective Aug. 16-Dec. 31, 1986. This is a temporary, restricted appointment. M.A., Radford University, 1973; school psychologist, Newport News Public Schools, since 1973.

Patrick G. Van Rossum, full-time assistant director of track and instructor of physical education, effective Aug. 16, 1986-May 15, 1987. This is a temporary, restricted appointment. M.S., University of Tennessee, Knoxville, 1985; instructor, University of Northern Iowa, since 1985.

In other Board action, Theodore R. Reinhart was promoted from associate professor to professor of anthropology.

Leaves of absence were approved for the following:

Franz L. Gross, professor of physics, on leave for the 1986-87 academic session, to continue his association with CEBAF.

Leslie Loar, reference/documents librarian, Marshall-Wythe School of Law, on leave Sept. 1, 1986-May 30, 1987, to attend an educational program in Kansas.

CEBAF begins short courses

The College, in cooperation with the Continuous Electron Beam Accelerator Facility (CEBAF), announces the first of a series of short courses on topics in accelerator physics.

The first course, Fundamentals of Radio Frequency Superconductivity, will be conducted by Helmut Piel, distinguished visiting professor from Wuppertal, Germany, Sept. 8-Oct. 3 in the William Small Physical Laboratory. The class will meet four hours per week at times to be announced and deal with the following topics: London phenomenological theory of superconductivity, microwave cavities with and without losses, skin effect, experimental methods and applications.

The series of courses, appropriate for faculty members, graduate students and professionals, will focus on the physical principles underlying the operation of CEBAF and other accelerators.

Further information on this and other courses in the series is available from Ms. Paula Spratley, Physics Department, ext. 4471.

The Board accepted these resignations:

Laurence M. Bart, clinical psychologist, effective Aug. 29.

David J. Derrick, assistant track coach and instructor of physical education, effective May 15.

Andrew B. Fogarty, vice president for administration and finance, effective July 31.

Carlton R. Newton, assistant professor of fine arts, effective May 15.

Geraldine Olivia O'Donnell, assistant professor of government, effective May 15.

Reminder to the Faculty

The President's Faculty Brunch will be held in the Wren Yard on Sunday, Sept. 14. Invitations will be mailed this week. Please respond with your return card as soon as possible. If you have any questions, please call University Relations, ext. 4600.

Exhibits open in Andrews galleries

Two invitational shows of work by contemporary artists are currently on display in Andrews galleries until Oct. 2.

"Table Top/Still Life," is in Andrews Gallery, and "Contemporary Works" is in the Andrews Foyer.

The galleries are open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. There will be a closing reception at 5 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 2.

The exhibit in Andrews Gallery includes the work of Elis Ayiter of New York; Janice Becker of New York, a recent Mellon Fellow; Nell Blaine, who is considered one of the country's leading figurative painters; Lauri Crow of Richmond, Va., who studied at VCU under Jack Solomon, Morris Yarowsky, Jose Paig and David Freed; Kevin M. Donahue, visiting assistant professor of art at Bowdoin College; James Konrad, a lecturer at Marycrest College; Margaret Olney McBride, who has been associated with the Foundry Gallery in Washington, D.C., since 1975; Rosaline Moore, who divides her time between Washington, D.C., and East Blue Hill, Me.; Barry Nemett, head of the senior painting program at the Maryland Institute, College of Art, Baltimore; Janet Niewald who teaches art and art history at Virginia Tech; and Sarah Riley of Richmond, Va.

The foyer show includes the works of John Anacher, who teaches at Montana State University; Murray Horne of Philadelphia; Christopher Brand Koep of New York; Victor Kord, the chair of painting and printing at VCU; Laura M. LaFave, an alumna; C. W. Richardson, a faculty member of the art department, University of Maryland; Susan Slavick, associate professor at Carnegie-Mellon University; Robert Straight, associate professor of art, University of Delaware; and Susan Togut of New York.

WANTED

Wood, wheels and bedsteads are wanted for a physical education adventure class.

One-half-inch plywood pieces; 2" x 4", 1" x 2", any length, are needed; also assorted wheels from bicycle wheels to lawn mower wheels, also bed frames with headboards.

Donors are asked to call Sylvia Shirley in the physical education department, ext. 4360 or evenings, 887-1493.

VIMS reorganization approved

The Board of Visitors approved the recent reorganization of the scientific units at VIMS, effective July 1.

According to Frank O. Perkins, dean/director of VIMS, the reorganization has a threefold purpose: (1) to provide the director a better opportunity to interact with the federal government for the purpose of obtaining increased federal funding, thereby enabling the Institute to be more responsive to the needs of the managers of Virginia's marine resources, (2) to concentrate the administrative duties with fewer individuals, thereby freeing more faculty to engage in research, education and advisory services and (3) to encourage and facilitate interdisciplinary research at the Institute by combining within selected divisions appropriate research capabilities that are now separated.

The reorganization creates a new designation, associate director for research, which has been filled by Robert J. Byrne, formerly an assistant director and division head of physical and engineering sciences at VIMS. Byrne's selection was based on his extensive knowledge of the various research programs and his ability to manage interdisciplinary projects. Additional appointments, which were made as a result of the reorganization, are:

Robert J. Huggett, assistant director for the division of chemistry and toxicology; Robert J. Orth, assistant director for the division of fisheries and biological sciences; L. Donelson Wright, assistant director for the division of geological and benthic oceanography; Bruce J. Neilson, assistant director for the division of physical oceanography; and Maurice P. Lynch, assistant director for special programs.

Concert Series a bargain at $13 for season tickets

An exciting and varied list of musical events for fall are planned at the College.

The 1986-87 Concert Series will offer patrons a varied program of music and dance at bargain prices.

The series opens with a performance by the Lar Lubovitch Dance Company, Monday, Oct. 20. Because of travel conflicts the company has changed its performance from the previously announced date of Oct. 21. The company will give a master class on campus Tuesday, Oct. 21.

Christopher Parkening, one of the foremost classical guitarists in the country today, will be heard Tuesday, Dec. 2.

The Vienna Choir Boys will be here Jan. 19, and the Preservation Hall Jazz Band is slated to perform Monday, Feb. 2. The Czech Philharmonic, which was warmly received seven years ago, will give an encore concert Friday, Feb. 13. The final artist on the program will be tenor William Brown, who will be here Wednesday April 15.

Concert series flyers have been mailed this week inviting the public to sign up for season tickets. The price is $13 for the six-concert slate for all faculty, staff and students, $17 for the general public.

Series director Ken Smith, associate dean of student activities, expects a brisk response from this week's mailing because of the quality and diversity of the programs offered.

Individual tickets may be purchased for $5 and will go on sale two weeks before each performance. Patrons may request tickets by calling the Arts Information line, 253-4367. Requests will be handled by the office staff during the week. After office hours and on weekends requests may be left on the answering machine.

Individual tickets will also be available at the box office the evening of performances. Since the box office does not open until one hour before performances, Smith suggests that patrons reserve tickets through the Arts Information number to prevent disappointment.

In addition to the series, several other musical events are scheduled at the College to which the public is invited.

During Parents Weekend, Sept. 26-28, "Some Like It Cole," a musical review of Cole Porter tunes by a trio from California will perform Saturday at 8 p.m., Sept. 27 in William and Mary Hall. Admission is $2.

The William and Mary Choir and the University Singers from the University of Virginia will give a joint concert in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall, at 8:15 p.m., Oct. 24. No admission will be charged.

The William and Mary College/Community Orchestra under the direction of Joel Suben will give a performance Oct. 29, also in PBK Hall.

The popular musical "Hair" will be presented by the William and Mary Theatre, in PBK Hall at 8:15 p.m., Nov.

14, 15, 21, and 22 and at 2 p.m. Nov. 16 and 23.

The traditional Christmas concerts by the William and Mary choir and chorus are scheduled for 8:15 p.m. in PBK Hall, Dec. 4 and 5. Admission is $2.50.

COLLEGE-WIDE FACULTY MEETING

The annual college-wide faculty meeting will be held Tuesday, Sept. 2, in Millington Auditorium at 3:30 p.m.

On that occasion we shall be introducing new members of the faculty to their colleagues. Deans and department chairmen are urged to extend special invitations to their new colleagues to attend this meeting. Biographical information on new faculty will be distributed in advance of the meeting, to reduce the time of introductions. Provost Melvyn D. Schiavelli will introduce all new faculty.

The academic deans will report on the highlights of the past year and expectations for the coming year, and I will share with you the administration's plans as well. Miss Anne Dobie Peebles, rector of the College, and I will also make a few brief remarks to introduce the college year.

The meeting should be over about 4:30 p.m., after which you are invited to attend an informal reception in the Muscarelle Museum. I hope to see each of you on Tuesday, Sept. 2.

Paul R. Verkuil
President

P.S. Please also mark your calendar for Sunday, Sept. 14, at 11:30 a.m. when Mrs. Verkuil and I look forward to welcoming you to the annual faculty brunch.

Alcohol Awareness Week planned

There will be a meeting at 4 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 3 in Room D of the Campus Center for anyone who is interested in helping with Alcohol Awareness Week at the College.

Alcohol Awareness Week was observed last year by a controlled drinking demonstration in Trinkle Hall, but many problems were evident, says Leonard Holmes of the Alcohol Task Force. He is asking members of the campus community to come to the Sept. 4 meeting "and help us do a better job this year."

Muscarelle expansion to add five new galleries room and a snack area. The current library comprises 112,000 square feet. The new addition will increase this space by 38,600 square feet.

During the construction period, the main entrance to the library is at the service entrance, which is accessible by a ramp on the southwest side facing the Small Physical Laboratory.

Work also began in March on the two-story addition at the Muscarelle Museum. Work is being done by the Evans Construction Company of Sandston. The $1.5 million addition will provide additional work and preparation space on the first floor and five galleries on the second. It will add approximately 10,000 square feet to the museum.

Work at the Muscarelle Museum is expected to take a year.

Currently in the planning and design stages are projects for renovations and an addition at Ewell Hall for the music department, construction of a new physical education, recreation and intramural center near William and Mary Hall, a residence hall for graduate law students adjacent to Marshall-Wythe School of Law and work on Tyler Hall. Tyler, which currently has a wood frame, will be gutted to the outside brick walls and completely rebuilt to house a center for international studies.

Connolly says he expects bids for these projects to go out in December or January.

Purchasing offers help with IFB forms

The College Purchasing Office occasionally receives calls for advice from faculty and staff who are having trouble evaluating and recommending bid awards.

Most problems in this area can be directly attributed to the lack of adequate bid specifications released in the Invitation for Bid (IFB). Specifications are the essence of an IFB. Not only do they describe the goods or services required, they are the basis of evaluation and ultimately determine (along with price) which vendor is awarded a contract.

Bidders depend exclusively on specifications when they propose their bid responses. They offer the lowest priced goods or services that they think will satisfy the bid specifications. If the bid specifications are inadequate for your needs, chances are the vendors' offers will be inadequate as well, leaving you with choices you would rather not make.

The next time you develop bid specifications, make sure they describe what you need in detail. If you need advice, call the College Purchasing Office, ext. 4215, 4279 or 4373. Our buying experience may save you much effort, time and money. But, most important, the advice will help you get the goods and services you want.

Special tickets for home games

The Department of Athletics has provided the Office of Employee Relations and Affirmative Action with complimentary football tickets. According to Dale Robinson, director of employee relations and affirmative action, these tickets can be distributed to any classified or hourly employee, except those appointed on a less-than-90-day basis, whose gross annual salary does not exceed $12,269.

Each employee may receive one ticket for each of the following games: Colgate, Sept. 6; V.M.I., Sept. 13; and Princeton, Nov. 8.

Employees who wish to take advantage of this offer may visit the Office of Employee Relations and Affirmative Action. A limited supply of tickets is available and will be distributed on a first-come, first-served basis.

Labor Day at Muscarelle

On Labor Day, Sept. 1, the Muscarelle Museum of Art will be open from noon to 4 p.m. The featured exhibition, "Red Grooms: The Graphic Work," consists of approximately 50 works, including two- and three-dimensional paper prints, multiples and constructions. The exhibition will be on view through Oct. 12.

Governor's Fellows gain appreciation of state, public service

Richard Sullivan '86, is a New Yorker who is thinking of making Virginia his adopted state.

After a summer in Richmond working as a Governor's Fellow, he is enthusiastic about the Commonwealth. It is, he thinks, "a state that is going places."

"Since I'm a New Yorker I didn't know much about Virginia but I have learned so much in two months. . . . I had a paranoid view that government would be sort of an octopus, and I haven't found that to be the case here. It is rather small, intimate, very friendly. I'm really surprised at how close the whole governor's office is. People know each other and care about each other. It is not as impersonal as I thought it would be."

Sullivan has been working with Governor Gerald Baliles' speech writer, Gordon C. Morse, a former Daily Press editor.

Seven or eight speeches that the governor has used this summer have been 90 percent Sullivan - with only minor revision - and this has been a thrill for Sullivan.

"It is a good feeling," he says, "listening to a speech and hearing the words come back. . . . I've had the opportunity to get a very broad view of everything that is going on in state government. Governor Baliles makes a great many speeches. As soon as he was elected invitations started pouring in." Sullivan has worked on speeches for the National Extension Homemakers, the Virginia Peninsula Economic Council and the Patrick and Henry Counties Allied Families, to name a few.

Researching information for speeches posed no problem, said Sullivan but getting used to the governor's style was more difficult. "The hardest parts of the speech to create are the illustrations and the jokes. I can't tell you how many anecdote books I've read," said Sullivan. Some groups, he adds are easier to write for than others.

"For instance, when the governor is addressing a bar group there are millions of lawyer jokes you can use but for a group like the homemakers it gets a little tougher. And then there are some really tough speeches. When the governor gave a speech to the POWs. The key there was to keep it simple and show the governor was sincere." There were times, admits Sullivan, when he would like to have interjected some of his own thoughts but he never did.

Part of the reason it has been such a rewarding summer, says Sullivan is Mr. Morse. "He is thoroughly professional and has been very encouraging all along. I had no experience as a speech writer. . . . He has given me enough freedom and leeway to find my own way." Sullivan was invited to stay past the Aug. 1 deadline of the program to help prepare for the special general assembly session.

A Rhodes Scholar applicant, Sullivan says that when A. E. Dick Howard, Rhodes Scholarship trustee for Virginia and director of the Governor's Fellows Program, incited him to apply, he viewed it as a consolation prize. "But it really has been the greatest," says Sullivan. "I can't say enough about it. It has exceeded all my expectations."

Sullivan's enthusiasm is echoed by Kelly Doyle '84 of Richmond, who has been working with the staff of Mrs. Baliles at the Governor's Mansion.

Doyle says she has been following the Governor's Fellows program since she was a freshman, waiting for her chance to apply. She was attracted to work in the public sector because she hopes it may one day provide her a path back to campus.

"That may not be the answer you were expecting," she said, "but I really enjoyed my years at William and Mary."

During her stay in Richmond, Kelly has had an opportunity to travel with Mrs. Baliles in connection with the first lady's literary project, which is one of her top priorities. She has worked with the mansion staff and seen the backstage preparations for social functions there, met some fascinating people and sat in on a Governor's Mansion committee meeting.

Mrs. Baliles, says Doyle, is an extremely busy person. "She is very dedicated to the literacy program, mental health and restoration of the mansion. She does a balancing act with all three. I can't imagine how she manages to do as much as she does and with such grace and finesse. I can't say enough good things about her. She works hard behind the scenes in addition to the duties she performs in the public eye. She is a very wonderful, caring person. She takes her job very seriously. I think I took this for granted when I came, but having had this experience this summer, I wish other people could have this view, too. . . . The whole family works longer hours than I did, especially when there are special functions."

Would Doyle like to be the first lady of Virginia one day? "Perhaps, or maybe governor."

Sheila Venable, who will be a second-year law student at the Marshall Wythe School of Law this fall, has several degrees and experience in the fields of education and business, but her reactions to the Governor's Fellows program equals that of new graduates. This summer she has worked with Attorney General Mary Sue Terry on torts reform.

"It is not just the job," she says. "It is the people you meet, the chance of getting to talk with cabinet heads, sitting down at the table with Douglas Wilder, the lieutenant governor, or the attorney general."

"For people just out of college it is not only a learning experience but also an opportunity to make valuable contacts if you are seeking a job in state government in Richmond. But the program is not just a program for new graduates. Anyone thinking about a career in government should seriously consider applying. And whether you are thinking of a career in state government or not, it is a good opportunity."

Sullivan will be working as an intern in New York City next year in a similar program with New York state agencies. Doyle will enter the University of Virginia law school. Venable hopes to work in Washington after graduation from Marshall-Wythe. She worked as an intern with Judge Nettlesheim in Washington and wrote an opinion that was used in a claims case. "That was a thrill," she says. "I'd really love to be a judge but that is not a goal that I can set for myself."

The man behind the success of the Governor's Fellows Program is A. E. Dick Howard. He views his involvement as an extension of his commitment to public service as a former Rhodes Scholar.

This is the fifth year for the program, which Howard recommended to Governor Charles S. Robb the first year of his administration.

The program, says Howard, is very solidly established. It was created to give college students a first-hand look at state government and policy-making. "Over the long haul," says Howard, "the quality and talent of participants has made quite a difference."

"The quality of applicants from William and Mary speaks well of the kind of students that are attracted to the College. They are bright, talented, energetic and motivated," says Howard. There have been 99 Fellows in the program to date.

The program brings the best talent to Richmond, says Howard. He tries to get a good mix of non-Virginians and Virginians who are going to school out of state. This year Harvard and Yale were represented. There is also representation from large and small schools and a wide variety of disciplines from medicine to philosophy.

One of the objectives of the program, says Howard, is to infuse a fresh perspective into the offices in Richmond. It is strictly a voluntary program for state workers, he explains, because supervisors must make an investment of time to get Fellows settled in. Virtually every office that has had a Fellow in the past has wanted one again. The common plea, says Howard, is "give us more."

The program has been kept deliberately small. This year approximately 100 applied, and Howard personally interviewed 40 before picking the final 20. Fellows can enjoy the collegial aspects of the program and get to know each other through weekly seminars, brown-bag lunches and field trips.

Howard wants to keep in touch with all who have participated and plans to work into the schedule next year an event in which alumni will participate.

Clayton receives Law Week award

Gail Patricia Clayton, a 1986 graduate of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law, is the recipient of the school's United States Law Week Award.

Ms. Clayton was selected for the award as the graduating student who, in the judgment of a faculty nominating committee, showed the most satisfactory scholastic progress in her final year of law school. The award is made available to all accredited law schools subscribing to Law Week, published by the Bureau of National Affairs, Inc., of Washington, D.C., and consists of a year's complimentary subscription to the student selected. A certificate of award is also presented to the winner.

Ms. Clayton is a native of Spring Grove, Va., where she has returned to pursue a career in law.
