ACE Fellow here from Texas

Ann Die is a Fellow of the American Council on Education for 1986-87 and is spending the year at William and Mary as a student of higher education administration. Her office is in the Brafferton Kitchen.

An associate professor of psychology at Lamar University in Beaumont, Texas, Ms. Die has twice been recognized by her university for academic excellence. In 1979 she received the Regents Merit Award for distinguished teaching and earlier this year was named Regents Professor for 1986-1987. She received her doctorate at Texas A&M University.

Ms. Die is currently project director for a research grant investigating acculturation issues of the large Indo-Chinese immigrant population in southeast Texas. She has published three articles this year and presented five papers at professional conferences. Ms. Die is a licensed psychologist in Texas, is listed in the National Register of Health Service Providers in Psychology and is an item editor, reviewer and contributor for the National Licensing examination in psychology.

The ACE program, established in 1965, is designed to strengthen leadership in American higher education by identifying and preparing faculty and staff for responsible positions in college and university administration. Thirty to 35 Fellows, nominated by the presidents and chancellors of the institutions, are selected each year in a national competition.

Typically, each ACE Fellow, either at the home institution or on a host campus, is assigned to a college or university president and chief academic officer to participate in administrative activities. Fellows attend three five-day seminars dealing with higher education issues, read extensively in the field, produce an analytical report and engage in other activities to prepare them for administrative careers in higher education.

Ms. Die is working closely with President Verkuil and Provost Schiavelli.

Suben's musicians take new name

This fall the William and Mary Orchestra will debut and include in its season the premiere of a work specially composed for the orchestra by its conductor Joel Eric Suben of the music faculty.

The new ensemble was formerly known as the William and Mary College/Community Orchestra. The new name, says Suben, does not exclude musicians from outside the College. Musicians from the community and high school students are welcome to audition for places in the orchestra along with students, faculty and staff of the College.

The new name, however, more accurately describes the orchestra, which over the past six seasons has been primarily students of the College who account for all but a handful of players. Last year the orchestra had 52 players.

This year, following the practice inaugurated last season a select chamber orchestra of 15 to 20 players will be formed. The concerto competition will also be continued with the winner being featured as a soloist with the orchestra.

Rehearsals are held Tuesdays, 5-6:30 p.m., and Thursdays, 4-5:15 p.m. for string instruments and 5:30-6:45 for wind, brass and percussion sessions. The Chamber Orchestra rehearses Tuesdays, 4-5 p.m.

The first full concert by the orchestra will be Thursday, Oct. 30, at 8:15 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

The repertoire for the William and Mary Orchestra and the William and Mary Chamber Orchestra this season will include Tchaikovsky's "Romeo and Juliet," "Danse Macabre" by Saint Saens" and Schubert's "Rondo for Violin and Strings," featuring violinist Christy Wells '88, winner of the 1986 concerto competition, and the world premiere of a work specially composed for the orchestra by Suben.

For further information concerning the orchestra, please call Suben at ext. 4375.

The Faculty Club of the College has now completed arrangements for its annual seafood festivity on the grounds of the Virginia Institute of Marine Science at Gloucester Point. This year's party will be held Friday, Sept. 12, beginning at 6 p.m.

The club expects to offer a variety of seafood including oysters, crabs, mussels, clams and fried fish. Also included will be such complements as hush pup-

Sewanee Wind Quintet

Music department sponsoring Concert by Sewanee Quintet

The music department will sponsor a concert by The Sewanee Wind Quintet at 8 p.m., Friday, Sept. 19 in the Great Hall of the Wren Building. There is no admission charge.

The quintet was formed in 1982 at the Sewanee Summer Music Center on the campus of the University of the South, where members of the quintet were engaged as artists-faculty.

Members maintain active careers as soloists, college teachers and orchestral performers in various regions of the country. Performances of the Sewanee Wind Quintet have been featured on National Public Radio's "Americans in Concert" series.

The quintet will play "Variations on a Folk Song," by Sweelinck-Lubin; "La Chiminee Du Roi Rene," by Darius Milhaud; "Allegro and Arisoso," by Ingolf Dahl; and Quintet in E flat Major, Op. 88, No. 2 by Anton Reicha.

Frances Lapp Averitt, flute, is professor of music at Shenandoah College and Conservatory of Music in Winchester, Va. Mark Ostoich, oboe, is associate professor of music at Louisiana State University. J. David Harris, clarinet, is the clarinet professor at Louisiana State University and principal clarinetist of the Baton Rouge Symphony orchestra. Bruce Heim, horn, is now in his fifth season with the Tulsa Philharmonic. William Ludwig, bassoon, teaches bassoon and coordinates the wind chamber music program at Louisiana State University School of Music.

The opening number in the Quintet's program is a well-crafted transcription from an organ variation by the early baroque master Jan Pieterszoon Sweelinck (1562-1621). "La Chiminee Du Roi Rene" is a good example of the utilization by a 20th-century composer of the variety of instrumental combinations available in a quintet. "Allegro" has rhythmically vibrant and rich expressive qualities that make it attractive, even to those who do not like modern music. In "Arisoso" Dahl gains tension and dramatic effects by gradually adding each instrument until the climactic, unison melodic statement is voiced by all instruments.

Quintet in E flat Major by Reicha, is one of the most popular works by a composer considered by many scholars to be the originator of this chamber music medium.

Faculty Club Fest at VIMS, Sept. 12

pies, cole slaw, chips and clam chowder. All the usual beverages will be available. Music will be provided by F.O.A.M. Casual dress is advised, as is bringing a jacket or sweater since the wind off the river may be chilly.

The fee for membership in the Faculty Club this year will be $15. Payment will admit a member to the party on Sept. 12 at no extra charge. A fee of $4 will be assessed for a spouse or one guest, $8 for each additional guest thereafter. Only members and their guests will be admitted to this party.

The Faculty Club is open to all members of the faculty and administration of the College, and emeritus professors are accorded free membership. Membership fees may be paid at the party.

The Faculty Club wishes to emphasize

NEWSMAKERS

Tappey H. Jones, assistant professor of chemistry, was invited to Germany to present seminars on his research. On Aug. 14, he presented a seminar titled "The Structure and Stereochemistry of Ant Venom Alkaloids" at the Institut für Organische Chemie of the University of Hamburg, in Hamburg, West Germany.

He also attended the 10th international IUSI Congress at the Max Planck Institute for Biochemistry in Munich, Aug. 18-22. He presented a paper on Aug. 19 titled "Novel Pyrrolizidine Alkaloids from Myrmicine Ants Native to New Zealand."

An article by Nathaniel Elliott, professor of English, appears in the Spring 1986 issue of The Explicator. It discusses the possible influence of Wordsworth on Keats' sonnet "To Solitude."

Assistant professor of Chinese Stephen L. Field's review of Myth and Meaning in Early Taoism: The Theme of Chaos (hun-tun), by N. J. Girardot was published in the Aug. 1986 issue of the Journal of Asian Studies. In addition, Translation, of Columbia University, has selected Part I of Field's forthcoming book, Tian Wen: A Chinese Book of Origins, for inclusion in the Oct. issue.

Ryan Fletcher is busy soloist

Baritone Ryan Fletcher, lecturer in music, continues a busy performance schedule as the academic year begins. In October, he will be soloist in the Faure "Requiem" and join his wife Mary Eason Fletcher for a mini-recital at "An Occasion for the Arts."

He will give recitals in November at the Universities of South Carolina and Richmond and the Bloomingdale School in New York City.

He will be soloist with the Williamsburg Choral Guild in "The Messiah," in December and will give 14 concerts with the Madrigal Singers throughout the Christmas season. This summer Fletcher sang in 21 concerts with the Singers and will also participate in a series of concerts this fall to promote their recording,

Ryan Fletcher

"Songs for a Williamsburg Christmas." Released in 1982, it is one of the most popular albums produced by the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation.

Next year Fletcher will be heard in a series of concerts at the Hennage auditorium of the DeWitt Wallace Decorative Arts Museum and will join Mrs. Fletcher and pianist Allan Rogers of Boston University in a recital of songs and duets accompanied with original instruments from the collection of the Wallace Gallery.

In April he will be soloist in "The Creation" by Haydn for the John D. Rockefeller Memorial Concert. At the invitation of the French government and Daniel Ferro, Fletcher will return to Paris for recitals at the Fondation Royaumont in August.

Marsha Krotseng wins essay award

Marsha Krotseng, a doctoral candidate and research assistant in the higher education program, recently won an essay competition sponsored by Kappa Delta Pi education honor society.

In her essay, "Seventy-five Years of Commitment to Excellence in Education: Creating a Future from the Best of the Past," Ms. Krotseng drew upon the themes of her dissertation research concerning the image of "education governors."

She writes, "Throughout the past year bold headlines in Education Week and The Chronicle of Higher Education have proclaimed, 'Governors: No Longer Simply Patrons, They Are Education's Policy Chiefs.' . . . However, as University of Connecticut President John T. Casteen III suggests, this intense gubernatorial involvement in education is not unique to the mid-1980s: 'People who think that it's brand new have not read their history very carefully.'"

In discussing gubernatorial support of education at the beginning of this century, Ms. Krotseng notes that "In Virginia Governors A. J. Montague [1902-06] and Claude A. Swanson [1906-1910] initiated similar campaigns for educational excellence through raising standards and increasing access as well as by improving facilities, teacher preparation and salaries. Between 1905 and 1910 state chief executives of Tennessee, Louisiana, South Carolina and Georgia emulated the examples set by their North Carolina and Virginia contemporaries."

Ms. Krotseng, a 1977 graduate of William and Mary with a major in Spanish, also received her master's in educational administration from the College in 1981.

She has taught foreign languages in Virginia public schools and led a group of her students on a tour of Spain. In 1984 she was named a Governor's Fellow and worked with then-State Secretary of Education John T. Casteen III.

Ms. Krotseng's honors include membership in Phi Beta Kappa and Kappa Delta Pi. In 1984 she was named outstanding doctoral student by the School of Education.

Summer Faculty Research Grants: Thursday, Oct. 23

Semester Faculty Research Assignments: Thursday, Nov. 13

Computer Center lists fall short courses

The Computer Center has scheduled a number of free, non-credit short courses for the fall semester. Although there is no charge for the classes, enrollment space is limited. Anyone who wants to attend one or more of the courses should register in advance with Lenora Rodgers at ext. 4547.

Introduction to the PRIME and Text Processing: One three-hour session designed to get people started in using the PRIME. Tasks like typing, formatting and printing documents are emphasized. The editor taught in this course is EMACS. Students may choose one of three sections:

Section 1: Mon., Sept. 15, 2-5 p.m., Morton 244

Section 2: Thurs., Sept. 18, 2-5 p.m., Morton 244

Section 3: Fri., Sept. 19, 2-5 p.m., Morton 244.

Participate (PART I): This is a single session discussing the use and features of Participate, our new mail and conferencing system. Use of Participate can provide a new and highly effective means of communication among groups of people via computer.

Session held Thurs., Sept. 25, 3:30-4:30 p.m., Morton 342.

PCLINK: A single session discussing the capabilities and use of the telecommunications program PCLINK. PCLINK provides many special functions to those using an IBM PC (or compatible) or an Apple Macintosh to communicate with the PRIME system at William and Mary. The software that runs on the PC is available at no charge to Prime users.

Session held Mon., Sept. 29, 4-5 p.m., Morton 20.

20/20: One session introducing the spreadsheet program 20/20. This offers many features similar to those in Lotus 123, which is widely used on PCs. There will be opportunities to use 20/20 during the class. Enrollees should be able to log onto the Prime system.

Session held Thurs., Oct. 2, 3:30-5 p.m., Morton 244.

Introduction to the PRIME Word Processor WordMARC: A two-session course designed to introduce users of Prime 1 to the word processor WordMARC Composer. This is a self-contained processor that continuously formats text on the terminal screen as it is being typed; this helps the user visualize the printed results before actual printing.

This course will serve to introduce the Prime to beginners who want to use WordMARC; it is not recommended that those taking this course also sign up for the ordinary PRIME introduction earlier in the month. Participants must have access to Prime 1 before registering for this course; there is no other prerequisite.

Introduction: Fri., Sept. 26 1:30-4:30 p.m., Morton 244.

More topics: Fri., Oct. 3, 1:30-4:30 p.m., Morton 244.

SPSSX: A one-session introduction to SPSSX, which is the newest version of SPSS, a language for statistical problems available on both the NAS and the PRIMEs. There will be opportunities to practice using SPSSX on the PRIME system. Participants should be familiar with an editor on the PRIME.

Session held Tues., Oct. 7, 2-3 p.m., Morton 244.

Calendar

The calendar generally includes events for a two-week period. Notices should be submitted to the News Office (James Blair 310) by 5 p.m. of the Wednesday before publication. They should include date, time and location of the event and the name and extension of someone to contact for further information.

Use of all campus facilities must be scheduled through the Scheduling Office, Campus Center, ext. 4236.

Information received at least six weeks in advance of an event will be included in the monthly calendar mailed throughout the community.

According to Dr. Jay L. Chambers, director of the center, the evening hours have been added to accommodate those people unable to make appointments during the day.

Women's Club sets new date for tea

Because of a scheduling conflict, the College Women's Club will hold its fall tea on Sept. 22, from 4 to 6 p.m. at the President's House on the William and Mary campus. There will be a short business meeting providing an overview of activities planned for the year followed by a social tea. The tea will provide an opportunity to sign up for the interest groups sponsored by the club and to greet old friends and new members of the College community, as well as the hostess, Mrs. Paul Verkuil.

Membership in the College Women's Club is open to all women connected with William and Mary through either their own or their husband's employment. Eligible women who have not been contacted are invited to attend the tea and to join at that time. Women who wish to join but cannot attend the tea may call Elise Bick at 229-0818 for membership information.

Colloquium Sept. 12

Refreshments will be served at 3:30 p.m. in Millington 232.

Gugig awarded Gerald Miller prize

Darryl Everett Gugig '86 of Long Island, N.Y., has been awarded the Gerald Miller Award for the outstanding senior essay in philosophy.

Gugig plans to study law. As an undergraduate Gugig was active in campus affairs. The fall of 1985 he organized a campus-wide fund-raiser for African relief and raised almost $3,000 for Oxfam America. Earlier this year he took exception to education writer Edward Fiske's assessment of lifestyle and social life at William and Mary and did his own survey. Fiske rated William and Mary at the top with five stars for academics, but only three stars for lifestyle and social life. Darryl formulated a survey, much like the one Fiske used, and published his findings in a two-part article in the campus magazine Jump. He said he did the survey because he was worried that good students might turn away from William and Mary because of Fiske's rating on lifestyle.

Gerald Miller, for whom the philosophy essay award is named, is a William and Mary graduate and a lawyer.

Amnesty chapter to meet Monday

The Newport News chapter of Amnesty International will hold its monthly meeting on Monday, Sept. 8 at 7:30 p.m. The group meets at Denbigh Presbyterian Church, at the corner of Denbigh Blvd. and Lucas Creek Rd. (a half mile west of Warwick Blvd.).

This month Stan Parcell of Norfolk will lead a discussion on Amnesty International's stand on the death penalty. Childcare will be provided at a nominal fee.

For more information, please call 220-0602.

Daughtrey 5K run

The Grayson Daughtrey Memorial 5K run will be held Oct. 4 over a campus course.

The race is open to all students, staff, faculty, alumni and their guests.

There is a $5 entry fee. Runners may register at the physical education department. Awards will be made to top finishers in the various age-group categories.

Banking seminar

Representatives from Guaranty Trust will conduct an informational seminar for students who are interested in being considered for this program on Sept. 16 from 4 to 6 p.m. in Rooms A and B of the Campus Center.

Eligibility requires that students have six credits minimum in accounting. Upon completion of the internship program, students will be able to go into various areas of work within the bank, such as corporate banking, investment banking, marketing, etc.

Information on the bank can be found in the Career Library, Morton 140.

Students interested in attending this seminar should sign up on the seminar clipboard outside Morton 104.

SA needs workers

The SA is seeking volunteers as ballot box workers for the fall election Sept. 11.

Those interested please call the SA office, ext. 4350.

Foreign Service

The Foreign Service written exam will be given, Saturday, Dec. 6. The registration deadline is Friday, Oct. 24. Registration forms may be obtained from the receptionist in Career Services, Morton 140.

Reminder to the Faculty

The President's Faculty Brunch will be held in the Wren Yard on Sunday, Sept. 14. Invitations will be mailed this week. Please respond with your return card as soon as possible. If you have any questions, please call University Relations, ext. 4600.

M-W graduate gets CW position

Kenneth M. Wolfe, a graduate of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law and a certified public accountant, has been named director of planned giving at the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation. In the newly created position, Wolfe will work with potential donors who wish to make gifts by bequest to the historic preservation, research and public interpretation efforts of the Foundation. Also, he will offer technical assistance to individuals giving other tax-related contributions through such plans as life-income trusts.

A native of Detroit, Mich., Wolfe is married to Marcie L. W. Wolfe, also an attorney in private practice. The Wolfes will live in Williamsburg.
