WILLIAM & MARY

A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER FOR FACULTY, STUDENTS AND STAFF

NEWS

VOLUME XX, NUMBER 1 • WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 22, 1990

Benefits Fair

Faculty, staff and administrators are invited to attend the Benefits Fair to be held from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., today, Wednesday, Aug. 22 in Trinkle Hall of the Campus Center.

Those whose benefits are provided through employment at the College are urged to take advantage of the opportunity of the Fair to talk with representatives from the College's health insurance plans, retirement plans, tax-deferred annuity plans and many more.

Parking Meters

Parking meters have been installed at various locations on campus. These are intended for short-term, high-demand areas and eliminate the need to obtain a temporary permit.

Visitors to campus will find these metered spaces especially helpful. Anyone may park at a meter (with or without a decal or permit) provided they abide by the fee requirement posted on the meter.

In addition to the two meters in the James Blair lot and the six in Hunt Hall parking area, 20 have been installed in the William and Mary Hall/Rec Sports area, two in front of Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall, four behind Swem Library and six in Ewell Circle.

HACE Calls Special Meeting for Sept. 5

"HACE and Athletics" will be discussed at a special meeting of HACE, at noon, Wednesday, Sept. 5 in Room E of the Campus Center.

Speakers will include Jimmie Laycock, head football coach; Bettie Adams, W&M Hall box office manager; and Wayne Burrow, assistant athletic director for marketing and promotion.

There will be a drawing for two football season tickets.

Plans are under way for a HACE tailgate party in the W&M Hall parking lot prior to the homecoming game against Furman, Saturday, Nov. 3.

Football tickets for HACE members are $4. Those interested in participating are asked to contact HACE president Glenda Page in Swem Library, ext. 13060.

Full Service Postal Facility Opens

President Paul Verkuil bought the first stamp to inaugurate the Campus Post Office as a full-service facility.

The Campus Post Office now provides all the services of the federal post office, including express mail and other special handling. There is also a UPS collection bin in the lobby of the post office.

For Patty Hogge, director of the College Postal Service, the celebration of the new status culminated two years of discussions with the U.S. Postal Service, which will finance most of the services. The Campus Post Office is expected to do approximately $500,000 worth of business in the first year. Currently getting ready for the return of students, the Post Office has over 4,000 individual mailboxes available.

Budget Cut Impact To Be Determined

The impact on the College of the state's $1.4 billion budget deficit is still being determined.

President Paul Verkuil and budget officials from the College were in Richmond Thursday when Governor L. Douglas Wilder announced he would ask for a broad range of cuts that will affect virtually every state agency and program.

In calling for "shared sacrifices," Wilder said state agencies must also become more efficient and effective in their use of scarce resources.

College officials are working with State Secretary of Education James W. Dyke Jr. on getting detailed information on the size of the budget cut that William and Mary will have to make. It could be several weeks before the full extent of the cuts and their impact on the College will be known.

Even so, it is clear from the Governor's public announcement that the 2 percent pay raise for classified employees scheduled to begin in December has been eliminated. College classified employees are among the 80,000 state workers who will not get the raise, saving the state about $145 million.

Additional details of the budget cuts will be released through the William and Mary News as they become available.

Nominees Sought for Governor's Conference on Libraries, Sept. 8

A regional meeting of the Governor's Conference on Library and Information Services will be held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 8 at the Williamsburg Regional Library, 515 Scotland St.

Faculty, students and members of the general public are encouraged to attend and to nominate themselves or others as delegates to the Nov. 10-11 Governor's Conference in Richmond.

Nomination forms are available at the Circulation Desk at Swem Library or the Reference Desk at the Williamsburg Regional Library.

Questions concerning the meeting should be directed to Nancy Marshall, University Librarian at ext. 13055.

In an announcement of the regional and Richmond meetings, Governor L. Douglas Wilder has encouraged participation.

"I invite your participation in the nomination process for selecting 200 delegates who will attend the Governor's Conference on Library and Information Services in Richmond on Nov. 10-11.

"You are invited to apply to be a delegate to the conference or to nominate people who know the needs for library and information services and who are willing to think about, plan for and work for their improvement. It is not a conference just for librarians, but for the public in general."

Career Services Given Fax Machine

Van Henderson, manager of college relations for AT&T and a recent MBA graduate, delivers a fax machine to the Office of Career Services. Director Stan Brown accepts the gift, which will be used to keep the office in contact with more than 300 employers, most of whom use a fax machine and expect the Career Services office to respond the same way.

According to figures in the Office of Career Services' 1989-90 report, more than 13,000 resumes were processed. Some were sent to employers for preselection, internships and job openings and others were collected for the Washington Job Connection.

Last year 1,225 students and 112 alumni registered with the office, which arranged for more than 3,800 employer interviews for them and scheduled 1,444 counseling appointments.

Departments

Anthropology

Professor Mario D. Zamora and Tomoko Hamada, assistant professor, are co-authors of "The State of the Art in World Anthropology: A Report on the 12th International Congress of Anthropological and Ethnological Sciences, Zagreb, Yugoslavia, 1988," in The Eastern Anthropologist, Vol. 43, No. 3 (1989), India.

Zamora's invited reviews of Heidi K. Gloria's book The Bagobos: Their Ethnohistory and Acculturation and Raul Pertierra's volume on Religion, Politics, and Rationality in a Philippine Community, appeared in American Anthropologist, American Anthropological Association, March 1990.

Zamora recently served as external examiner for the Ph.D. degree in anthropology for Karnatak University (India) and Utkal University (India). He also was invited to Sweet Briar College, May 3-4 to be an external examiner for two B.A. honors theses of students in the sociology and anthropology departments.

Professor Sheila Walker has been invited to edit two volumes on African serviced religions in the Americas for a 30-50 volume series, The Schomburg Library of the Black Experience in the Western Hemisphere, 1491-1992, to be published by the Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture of the New York Public Library, in Jan. 1992. This series will represent the most comprehensive gathering of information in the field to date.

Photographs by Walker, based on field work in various Afro-American societies will be part of an exhibit, "The African Presence in the Western Hemisphere," at the Schomburg Center in Jan. 1991.

Walker participated in UNESCO conference in Trinidad on the African, Chinese and Indian Diasporas to the Americas, in May. She is currently attending the Emancipation Celebration in Trinidad and Tobago. Earlier she did slide lectures on Afro-Brazilian religion and culture and was invited to return.

Chemistry

Professor Gary C. DeFotis presented two papers at the National meeting of the American Physical Society held in Anaheim, March 12-16. "Magnetic Behavior of $\text{Fe}[\text{S}_2\text{CNC}_4\text{H}_8]_2\text{I}$ " was co-authored with Edgar W. Harlan, the Camille and Henry Dreyfus Teaching Postdoctoral Fellow associated with Dr. DeFotis in the chemistry department this year.

A second paper, "Magnetic Behavior of $\text{Fe}[\text{S}_2\text{CN}(\text{C}_2\text{H}_5)_2]_2\text{I}$," was co-authored with former undergraduates Patricia L. Hibbard and Desmond N. Wichems, along with Dr. Harlan. DeFotis also presented two papers at the National Meeting of the American Chemical Society held in Boston from April 22-27. "Comparative Magnetic Behavior in Some Halobis (morpholydithiocarbamate) iron(III) Compounds" was co-authored with undergraduates Wichems and Hibbard and Dr. Harlan, as was "Comparative Magnetic Behavior in Some Halobis (pyrrolidylidithiocarbamate) iron(III) Compounds."

All of this work has been supported by grants to DeFotis from the Solid State Chemistry program of the Division of Materials Research of the National Science Foundation and from the Camille and Henry Dreyfus Foundation.

Two recent papers published by DeFotis and co-workers are " $\text{MnCl}_2 \cdot \text{H}_2\text{O}$: A Quasi-one-dimensional Heisenberg Antiferromagnet" with former undergraduates Robert S. Wiese and C. W. Scherrer as coauthors, published in the May 1 issue of the Journal of Applied Physics, and "Magnetic and Structural Properties of $\text{Mn}(\text{SCN})_2(\text{CH}_3\text{OH})_2$: A Quasi-two-dimensional Heisenberg Antiferromagnet," with former undergraduates Eric D. Remy and Christopher W. Scherrer as coauthors, published in the May 1 issue of the Physical Review B. The work in these papers was supported by the NSF grant mentioned above and by a grant from the Petroleum Research Fund of the American Chemical Society.

Geology

A paper by Marilyn A. Johnson, Walsingham Academy, and Professor Gerald H. Johnson, "Fossil Field Trips with Preschool and Kindergarten Children," and one by R. Heather MacDonald, assistant professor, "Introducing Young People to Geology Through Visits to Geology Departments," have been published in A Sedimentary Geologists' Guide to Helping K-12 Earth Science Teachers: Hints, Ideas, Activities, and Resources, edited by M.F. Miller,

Labor Day Closing

The College and Virginia Institute of Marine Science will observe Labor Day on Monday, Sept. 3.

The administrative offices, plant department and campus mail room will be closed with the exception of essential employees who are required to work. The decision to require employees to work should be made by the dean, director or department head, as appropriate, and should be communicated to the employee(s) as soon as possible. The Campus Police Department will maintain its regular schedule.

The names of permanent classified employees who are required to work must be reported in writing to the office of Personnel Services by Sept. 12, in order that these employees may be credited with compensatory leave. Hourly employees who are required to work during the holiday will be paid their regular hourly rates.

With the approval of management compensatory leave should be taken as soon as possible after the holiday on which it was earned. Compensatory time not taken within 12 months will be lost.

On behalf of the administration of the university, I wish each member of the College community a safe and enjoyable holiday.

Melvyn D. Schiavelli
Provost

R. H. MacDonald, L. E. Oakland, S. R. Roof and L. E. Savoy and published by the Society of Economic Paleontologists and Mineralogists.

Psychology

Two articles written by Professor E. Rae Harcum have been accepted for publication. "Parity for the Theoretical Ghosts and Gremlins: Response to Pollio/Henley and Rychlak" will appear in Journal of Mind and Behavior. "Students' Ethics Ratings of Ten Demonstrations in Introductory Psychology," co-authored with Herbert Friedman, will be published in Teaching of Psychology.

Professor Kelly G. Shaver recently served on the Social Science subgroup of a review panel conducted by the Undergraduate Faculty Enhancement Program with the Division of Undergraduate Science, Engineering and Mathematics Education of the National Science Foundation. The panel met to review grant proposals for workshops to improve undergraduate instruction in all areas of science and engineering supported by the Foundation.

Shaver recently served as an ad hoc member of the National Institute of Health review committee on Human Development (HUD-I). This study section reviews grant proposals dealing with the cognitive, social and emotional development of children from birth through adolescence.

Sociology

Professor Gary Kreps recently attended the 12th World Congress of Sociology meetings in Madrid, Spain. His paper, "The Federal Emergency Management System in the United States: Past and Present," was presented at the Research Committee on Disasters Program of the Congress. Kreps also was appointed to a four-year term as book review editor of the International Journal of Mass Emergencies and Disasters. The journal is the official publication of the Research Committee on Disasters.

Marshall-Wythe School of Law

Professor Lynda Butler's article "State Environmental Programs: A Study in Political Influence in Regulatory Failure," has been published in 31 William and Mary Law Review. 823.

An article by Susan Grover, assistant professor of law, discussing the rights of majority employees to challenge judicially approved affirmative action plans on reverse discrimination grounds, was published in the July 2 issue of Legal Times.

Professor Ronald H. Rosenberg recently presented a paper at New York University's School of Law titled "Cooperative Failure: Intergovernmental Cooperation and the Problem of Air Quality Non-Attainment." This paper will be included in the fall issue of the Annual Survey of American Laws, published by New York University.

Alumni Society

W. Barry Adams, executive vice president, Society of the Alumni, made two presentations at the annual Council for Alumni Association Executives/Big Ten Alumni Institute Aug. 4-7 in Merrimac, Wis.

Adams presented programs on alumni organizations and the capital campaign and working with consultants.

Swem Library

Nancy H. Marshall, University Librarian, has been elected chairperson for 1990-92 of the Association of Southeastern Research Libraries. The ASERL consortium was founded in 1956 to promote sharing of library resources and cooperation to increase the availability and accessibility of research materials in the southeastern states.

She has also been appointed by Governor L. Douglas Wilder to a three-year term on the State Networking Users Advisory board. This appointment was effective July 1. The Board advises the Governor and the Virginia State Library Board on policies and funding for library networking among all types of libraries in the Commonwealth.

Richard Bland

Roland A. Havis, associate professor of psychology and sociology, presented a paper titled "Type, Temperament and Social Exchange Status of Shock Incarcerated Survivors and Failures" at the Great Plains Regional Conference of the Association for Psychological Type in St. Louis, June 23. Havis worked as a psychotherapist in Louisiana's Intensive Incarceration Program before joining the RBC faculty last year.

'Literacy through Art' Exhibit at Muscarelle Museum

Original sketches, drawings and paintings, along with layout designs, proofs and authors' notes from 10 picture books created by some of today's finest artists are featured in "Literacy through Art: A Celebration of the Fine Art of Children's Book Illustration." The exhibit is on display at the Muscarelle Museum of Art until Oct. 14.

The exhibition celebrates the art of the book and coincides with the 22nd Congress of the International Board of Books for Young People being held in Williamsburg.

An exhibition reception will be held 5:30-7:30 p.m., Friday, Aug. 31. A seminar on the exhibit, led by guest curator Dilys Evans with authors/artists Troy Howell and David Wiesner, begins at 4 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 5 and will be followed by a reception and book signing.

Three Caldecott award-winning books are represented in the exhibit. Saint George and the Dragon, retold by Margaret Hodges and illustrated by Trina Schart Hyman, winner of the 1985 Caldecott Medal, is an example of a modern artist's ability to visualize and depict the medieval world of knights, castles, monsters and a fair princess. Ann Grifalconi's The Village of Round and Square Houses, a Caldecott Honor Book in 1987, tells the story of a unique custom in the small African village of Tos. Free Fall by David Wiesner, a Caldecott Honor Book in 1989, is a wordless fantasy adventure picture book.

The original art on display is designed to appeal to adults as well as children. The Incredible Painting of Felix Clousseau by Jon Agee features unknown artist Clousseau, whose painting of a duck became a runaway hit in a Paris art show. The watercolor and point of brush paintings in Nancy Ekholm Burkert's Valentine & Orson bring to life the 16th-century world of Bruegel's Flanders. Barbara Cooney's Island Boy joins strong simple prose with elegant paintings in a primitive style to illuminate the story of a Maine family.

The Muscarelle Museum and the Williamsburg Regional Library are joint sponsors of a presentation by Grifalconi at 7 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 26 at the library's art center theatre, followed by a book signing.

A gallery talk by Sewell will be given at 5:15 p.m., Friday, Oct. 5, followed by a reception and book signing.

Films for young people and adults will be shown on Sunday and Wednesday afternoons during September.

For information about films, the exhibition or other special programs, call the Muscarelle Museum at ext. 12700.

Registration for Muscarelle Children's Fall Art Classes Begins Aug. 25

In-person registration for the fall session of children's art classes at the Muscarelle Museum of Art will be held from 10 a.m. to noon, Saturday, Aug. 25 in the Museum. The Museum celebrates the beginning of its fifth year of children's art classes with a loan exhibit of special interest to young people: "Literacy through Art: A Celebration of the Fine Art of Children's Book Illustration." Classes have been designed to incorporate this theme with informal studio sessions.

Arranged according to 1990-91 school grade levels, pre-school through eighth grade, the following classes will meet on consecutive Saturdays beginning Sept. 8 and ending Oct. 27:

"pARTners," ages 3-4, will meet 9-10:30 a.m.; ages 4-5, 11 a.m.-12:30 p.m. Pre-schoolers with parent(s) will explore the Museum to learn how to use the basic elements of art—line, shape, color, space and texture—in their own designs and illustrations for picture books.

"Pigments of the Imagination," grades 1-2, will meet 9-10:30 a.m. or 11 a.m.-12:30 p.m. Fantasy, imagination and memory will be emphasized as students look at the paintings, sketches and designs in the special exhibition and make their own colorful creations with a variety of paints and pastels.

"Picture This," grades 3-4, will meet 9-10:30 a.m. or 1:30-3 p.m. Inspired by stories and art work in the special exhibition, students will write and illustrate their own short stories, fables or poems.

"Illumination," grades 5-6, will meet 11 a.m.-12:30 p.m. or 1:30-3 p.m. The class will learn the technique of making illuminated letters and use these to make cards, calendars and simple books.

"Brush with Art," grades 7-8 will meet 11 a.m.-12:30 p.m., or 1:30-3 p.m. Participants will examine paintings in the special exhibition and in the Museum's permanent collection to learn about the expressive qualities of brush strokes and color, and will create their own paintings with acrylics and watercolors.

If classes are not filled during registration on Aug. 25, in-person registration will continue through Thursday, Sept. 6. The fee is $20 per student; however, scholarships are available upon request in cases of financial need. The program is sponsored, in part, by a grant from the Williamsburg Arts Commission.

"ArtWalks," free informational gallery tours for parents and other interested adults, will be presented by Museum staff members at 9:15 a.m. and repeated at 11:15 a.m. and 3 p.m., on the following schedule:

Sept. 15: "Literacy through Art," with Mark M. Johnson, museum director.

Sept. 29: "Portraits: People and Ships," with Ann C. Madonia, curator.

Oct. 13: "Blanche Lazzell: From Morgantown to Provincetown," with Merry V. Higgs, educator.

The Muscarelle Museum of Art is located on Jamestown Road and is open without charge, Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, noon to 4 p.m. For further information about the children's art classes, call the Museum Educator at ext. 12703.

EPA Honors VIMS Video

In a ceremony on the VIMS campus Aug. 22, a VIMS video package on coastal growth issues will be honored as one of nine winners in the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's Region III 1990 Center for Environmental Learning Awards. The Gloucester Point ceremony will draw EPA representatives as well as Secretary of Natural Resources Elizabeth H. Haskell and Keith R. Buttlerman, administrator of the Council on the Environment.

The VIMS video, "Coastal Growth: A Delicate Balance," is designed for Virginia teachers to use in the classroom, and includes a printed study guide. Addressing a range of environmental issues related to coastal growth, the video was developed by Frances Lee Lawrence, a marine education specialist in the Advisory Services Group. The producer was Mary K. Sizemore of I Video Productions in Hampton. The Daily Press/Times Herald provided partial support for the project, which competed against more than 100 award nominees.

Other area winners include the Virginian-Pilot and the Ledger Star and the Chesapeake Bay Youth Conservation Corps.

Wincheski Awarded Scholarship For Post-Graduate Study by NCAA

Russell "Buz" Wincheski '90 has been selected as a recipient of one of 17 post-graduate scholarships awarded by the NCAA in the "Men's Other Sports At-Large" category.

A key member of the wrestling team for three years after transferring from the University of Tennessee, Wincheski was a three-time NCAA qualifier and finished his career with a 94-26-5 career record. During the past season, he was an Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association champion, a state champion, was ranked in the top 10 at 150 lbs throughout the year by Amateur Wrestling News, and posted a 17-6-3 record. In the classroom, Wincheski majoring in physics, graduating with a GPA of 3.88.

Wincheski's honor is the seventh such award received by a William and Mary student-athlete since 1977-78. Previous winners included G. Kenneth Smith (football) in 1977-78; Clarence Edward Gaines (football) in 1979-80; Mark Kelso (football); Keith Cieplicki (basketball) in 1984-85; Mark McLaughlin (wrestling) in 1987-88; and Jon Tuttle (soccer) in 1988-89.

In addition to his NCAA award, Wincheski was voted to the first team of the College Sports Information Directors of America.

Byrne Named To Head Committee

Robert J. Byrne, associate director for research at VIMS, has been selected to head the Search Committee for the Dean of the School of Marine Science/VIMS.

Members of the committee include Eugene M. Burreson, associate professor of marine science; Albert G. Curry, student, School of Marine Science; Cirila Djordjevic, professor of chemistry; George Hayes, director of buildings and grounds, VIMS; Carl Hershner, associate professor of marine science; Romuald N. Lipcius, assistant professor of marine science; Charlotte P. Mangum, professor of biology; George W. Roper II, chairman, Marine Science Development Council; and L. Donelson Wright, professor of marine science.

AIDS Quilt Here Aug. 30-31

Four 12-foot-by-12-foot sections of "The Names Project," the National Quilt memorial to persons who have died of AIDS, will be on campus Aug. 30-31, under the sponsorship of the Wesley Foundation, the United Methodist campus ministry program at the College, in cooperation with "Thread for Hope," the Virginia Peninsula chapter of "The Names Project."

The quilt sections will be exhibited 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Aug. 30, and 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., Aug. 31 in Trinkle Hall at the Campus Center.

The display at William and Mary will be staffed by volunteers who will answer questions and talk with persons whose lives have been affected by AIDS. A videotape describing the project will also be shown continuously.

Two of the panels also will be displayed at Williamsburg United Methodist Church on Sept. 2.

"Too often AIDS has seemed removed from the reality of our lives, or something that happens to other people," said David Hindman, director of the Wesley Foundation.

"But alumni of the College have died of AIDS. If William and Mary is a typical campus, there are HIV positive persons in our midst. The Quilt reminds us that AIDS is a reality that we ignore at our own peril."

For more information about either display, contact David Hindman at 229-6832.
