WILLIAM & MARY

A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER FOR FACULTY, STUDENTS AND STAFF

NEWS

VOLUME XX, NUMBER 2 • WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 29, 1990

Sean O'Brien

Sean Michael O'Brien, 23, a May 1990 bachelor's degree recipient in sociology at the College of William and Mary, died in a motor cycle accident on August 25, 1990. Mr. O'Brien was traveling east on the Colonial Parkway when his motor-cycle struck a sign and landed in thick brush off the road.

A memorial service will be held Thursday evening in Immaculate Conception Church, Clinton Township, N.J.

Auditions

Auditions for the William and Mary Theatre production of the Sondheim musical comedy, "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," will be held at 7 p.m. tonight, and Thursday in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

All roles are open, and all members of the campus community are invited to try out.

"Forum" will be presented for seven performances beginning Oct. 5.

Musical director is Peter Mantey, managing director of television service; the director is Louis E. Catron, professor of theatre.

Posted on the PBK "callboard" is detailed information about auditions, rehearsal schedule, and production times.

CommonHealth

Sponsors 5K Run

CommonHealth, Virginia Employee Wellness Program and Eastern State Hospital, along with the Peninsula Track Club, will sponsor a 5K Run for Wellness to begin at 9:15 a.m., Sept. 29 through the grounds of Eastern State Hospital.

State employees who are CommonHealth members and register before Sept. 24 pay $4. After this date and on race day the fee is $5. All other runners pay $8 before Sept. 24 and $10 on race day. All pre-registered runners will receive a T-shirt.

A 1-mile fun walk/run will be held prior to the race at 8:45 a.m. There is no fee for the 1-mile fun run.

The course will start and finish at the pool area. Registration will begin at 8 a.m. Call 253-5460 for further details.

Campus Welcomes Class of 1994

Classes begin today for members of the Class of 1994. Like classes before them, this group will bring its own unique set of qualities to campus. Some 1,256 students were expected to move in on Friday, selected from an applicant pool of 7,877.

Dean of Admission Jean Scott expects members of the Class of 1994 to make their mark on campus, based on solid credentials and accomplishments already achieved.

"Of those who were ranked in their high school classes, over 72 percent were in the top 10 percent. They show enormous strengths. We are seeing people who have won a lot of major awards, valedictorians, participants in Governors' schools, the National Science Fair." The class includes team captains, actors who have been in prize-winning productions, accomplished musician. It is a bit breathtaking," said Scott.

"These are people who have taken a reflective look at their accomplishments, who've said, 'I'm proud of my community service,' or 'I faced a challenge and was able to meet it.' These students are self-motivated and they are going to do very well here. They come having won almost every award that is given to high school students.

"This is a group aware of a world beyond themselves. They have done a lot of Rusty Slagle (right) wears the Class of 1994 T-shirt. On the front it says "First class!" On the back—"the Fourth Century Begins ..." Slagle and classmate John Capati, both graduates of Franklin High School, take a breather on the steps of James Blair Hall.

Class of 1993 Begins Work at Marshall-Wythe

By all measurements, the Class of 1993 at the Marshall-Wythe School of Law is among the strongest ever enrolled, says Fay F. Shealy, associate dean for admissions.

They were selected from over 3200 applicants, the largest applicant pool in the history of the law school. The median LSAT for the class is 42 (94th percentile) and the median undergraduate grade point average is 3.38 on a 4.0 scale. Three members of the class achieved perfect 4.0 grade point averages in their undergraduate studies and six achieved scores of 48 on the LSAT, the highest possible.

The Class of 1993 consists of 71 women and 114 men who received their undergraduate degrees from 101 different colleges and universities. The College of William and Mary and the University of Virginia continue to be the law school's two primary feeder schools, followed by James Madison, Duke, Virginia Tech, Harvard, Princeton, Smith, Wake Forest and the United States Coast Guard Academy. Minority students comprise 11 percent of the class.

Ten percent of the class has earned advanced degrees in a wide variety of fields, and almost half has had full-time work experience prior to enrollment, many as legal assistants for large law firms, but also in fields other than law, including health administration, engineering, accounting and journalism. Among the students in the first-year class are a former Army Major General and Comman-

Collegewide Faculty Meeting

The annual Collegewide faculty meeting will be held at 3:30 p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 4 in Millington Auditorium.

Provost Melvyn D. Schiavelli will preside, and the academic deans will introduce new members of their respective faculties. Deans and departmental chairs are urged to extend special invitations to their new colleagues to attend this meeting. Biographical information on new faculty will be distributed in advance of the meeting to reduce the time of introductions. Mr. Hays T. Watkins, Rector of the College, will offer a few remarks, and I will discuss the administration's priorities for the upcoming year.

After the meeting, you are invited to attend an informal reception in the Muscarelle Museum. I hope to see you on Tuesday, Sept. 4.

Paul R. Verkuil, President

P.S. Please mark your calendar for Sunday, Sept. 16 at 4 p.m. when Mrs. Verkuil and I look forward to visiting with you at our faculty barbecue in the Wren Yard.

Tomoka Hamada Receives Grant for Asian/American Seminar Oct. 27

Tomoko Hamada, assistant professor of anthropology, has received a grant to $4,800 from the Virginia Foundation for the Humanities and Public Policy to organize a conference/seminar on Asians and Asian Americans in Virginia to be held at the College Oct. 27.

The conference, the first of its kind in the Commonwealth, combines the autobiographical, experiential accounts of Asian Americans with discussions of what these experiences mean for education and public policy development and the much touted but still murky notion of 'cultural pluralism' in Virginia, explains Hamada.

The conference is sponsored by the Virginia Foundation and the Virginia Consortium for Asian Studies of which Professor Hamada is vice president.

Departments

Anthropology

Professor Mario D. Zamora and Tomoko Hamada, assistant professor, are co-authors of "The State of the Art in World Anthropology: A Report on the 12th International Congress of Anthropological and Ethnological Sciences, Zagreb, Yugoslavia, 1988," in The Eastern Anthropologist, Vol. 43, No. 3 (1989), India.

Zamora's invited reviews of Heidi K. Gloria's book The Bagobos: Their Ethnohistory and Acculturation and Raul Perterra's volume on Religion, Politics, and Rationality in a Philippine Community, appeared in American Anthropologist, American Anthropological Association, March 1990.

Zamora recently served as external examiner for the Ph.D. degree in anthropology for Karnatak University (India) and Utkal University (India). He also was invited to Sweet Briar College, May 3-4 to be an external examiner for two B.A. honors theses of students in the sociology and anthropology departments.

Professor Sheila Walker has been invited to edit two volumes on African serviced religions in the Americas for a 30-50 volume series, The Schomburg Library of the Black Experience in the Western Hemisphere, 1491-1992, to be published by the Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture of the New York Public Library, in Jan. 1992. This series will represent the most comprehensive gathering of information in the field to date.

Photographs by Walker, based on field work in various Afro-American societies will be part of an exhibit, "The African Presence in the Western Hemisphere, at the Schomburg Center in Jan. 1991.

Walker participated in UNESCO conference in Trinidad on the African, Chinese and Indian Diasporas to the Americas, in May. She is currently attending the Emancipation Celebration in Trinidad and Tobago. Earlier she did slide lectures on Afro-Brazilian religion and culture and was invited to return.

Chemistry

Professor Gary C. DeFotis presented

two papers at the National meeting of the America Physical Society held in Anaheim, March 12-16. "Magnetic Behavior of $\text{Fe}[\text{S}_2\text{CNC}_4\text{H}_8]_2\text{I}$ " was co-authored with Edgar W. Harlan, the Camille and Henry Dreyfus Teaching Postdoctoral Fellow associated with Dr. DeFotis in the chemistry department this year.

A second paper, "Magnetic Behavior of $\text{Fe}[\text{S}_2\text{CN}(\text{C}_2\text{H}_5)_2]_2\text{I}$," was co-authored with former undergraduates Patricia L. Hibbard and Desmond N. Wichems, along with Dr. Harlan. DeFotis also presented two papers at the National Meeting of the American Chemical Society held in Boston from April 22-27. "Comparative Magnetic Behavior in Some Halobis (morpholyldithiocarbamato) iron(III) Compounds" was co-authored with undergraduates Wichems and Hibbard and Dr. Harlan, as was "Comparative Magnetic Behavior in Some Halobis (pyrrolidylidithiocarbamato) iron(III) Compounds."

All of this work has been supported by grants to DeFotis from the Solid State Chemistry program of the Division of Materials Research of the National Science Foundation and from the Camille and Henry Dreyfus Foundation.

Two recent papers published by DeFotis and co-workers are " $\text{MnCl}_2 \cdot \text{H}_2\text{O}$: A Quasi-one-dimensional Heisenberg Antiferromagnet" with former undergraduates Robert S. Wiese and C. W. Scherrer as coauthors, published in the May 1 issue of the Journal of Applied Physics, and "Magnetic and Structural Properties of $\text{Mn}(\text{SCN})_2(\text{CH}_3\text{OH})_2$: A Quasi-two-dimensional Heisenberg Antiferromagnet," with former undergraduates Eric D. Remy and Christopher W. Scherrer as coauthors, published in the May 1 issue of the Physical Review B. The work in these papers was supported by the NSF grant mentioned above and by a grant from the Petroleum Research Fund of the American Chemical Society.

Economics

"The Mule in Southern Agriculture: A Requiem," by Professor Martin A. Garrett, Jr., has been accepted for publication in the Journal of Economic History and is scheduled for publication in the December issue.

vious starting place, and currently about 12% of all law graduates take their first job in federal or state governments. Perhaps we should include government employees within the definition of public interest law we already encourage. Moreover contacts should be established with political appointees — cabinet and sub-cabinet officials, agency and commission heads and general counsels — who are both the primary decision makers and the ones most likely to confront and succumb to ethical difficulties as the HUD and S&L scandals show.

There are some 3,000 presidential appointees in the federal government now, which the Volcker Commission recommends cutting back to 2,000 by the way, so

Grant Application Deadlines

Application forms for faculty summer research grants, faculty semester research assignments and minor research grants (normally not exceeding $300) are available from the Office of Grants and Research Administration (James Blair 202).

Applicants should read the policy and principles statements attached to each application before submitting a proposal.

Application deadlines will be enforced strictly.

Deadlines:

Minor research grants, Sept. 27 and Jan. 31.

Faculty summer research grants: Oct. 18

Faculty semester research assignments, Nov. 1

Geology

A paper by Marilyn A. Johnson, Walsingham Academy, and Professor Gerald H. Johnson, "Fossil Field Trips with Preschool and Kindergarten Children," and one by R. Heather MacDonald, assistant professor, "Introducing Young People to Geology Through Visits to Geology Departments," have been published in A Sedimentary Geologists' Guide to Helping K-12 Earth Science Teachers: Hints, Ideas, Activities, and Resources, edited by M. F. Miller, R. H. MacDonald, L. E. Oakland, S. R. Roof and L. E. Savoy and published by the Society of Economic Paleontologists and Mineralogists.

Music

William DeFotis, assistant professor, worked this summer at the University of Illinois Experimental Music Studios with a summer research grant from the College, realizing a piece for electronic tape titled "Breaking Up Immediately Recognizable Units of Significance Is Hard To Do."

While in Urbana, he was asked by an ad hoc group of graduate students to read and discuss his paper "The Music' in Barthes' A Lover's Discourse," which appeared in Semiotics 1989.

Psychology

Two articles written by E. Rae Harcum, professor and Heritage Fellow, have been accepted for publication. "Parity for the Theoretical Ghosts and Gremlins: Response to Pollio/Henley and Rycklak" will appear in Journal of Mind and Behavior. "Students' Ethics Ratings of Ten Demonstrations in Introductory Psychology," co-authored with Herbert Friedman, will be published in Teaching of Psychology.

Harcum has had an article "The Relative Utility of Complementary Disparate Views on Voluntarism and Determinism" accepted for publication by the Journal of Psychology.

Professor Kelly G. Shaver recently served on the Social Science subgroup of a review panel conducted by the Undergraduate Faculty Enhancement Program with the Division of Undergraduate Science, Engineering and Mathematics Education of the National Science Foundation. The panel met to review grant proposals for workshops to improve undergraduate instruction in all areas of science and engineering supported by the Foundation.

Shaver recently served as an ad hoc member of the National Institute of Health review committee on Human Development (HUD-I). This study section reviews grant proposals dealing with the cognitive, social and emotional development of children from birth through adolescence.

Marshall-Wythe School of Law

Professor Ronald H. Rosenberger recently presented a paper at New York University's School of Law titled "Cooperative Failure: Intergovernmental Cooperation and the Problem of Air Quality Non-Attainment." This paper will be included in the fall issue of the Annual Survey of American Laws, published by New York University.

A new book, Environmental Regulation of Land Use by Linda Malone has been published by Clark Boardman.

Fred Lederer, professor, and Jim Moliterno, assistant professor, have just signed a contract with Carolina Press for publication of Introduction to Law, Law Study and the Profession. This volume will consist of materials used during the introductory week of the law school's Skills Program.

Richard Bland

Roland A. Havis, associate professor of psychology and sociology, presented a paper titled "Type, Temperament and Social Exchange Status of Shock Incarcerated Survivors and Failures" at the Great Plains Regional Conference of the Association for Psychological Type in St. Louis, June 23. Havis worked as a psychotherapist in Louisiana's Intensive Incarceration Program before joining the RBC faculty last year.

President Verkuil Addresses Law Association in Washington

President Paul R. Verkuil spoke on "Ethics for Bureaucrats," at a luncheon meeting of the Association of American Law Schools in Washington, D.C., June 23.

Verkuil's address was part of a workshop on Administrative Law.

"In my view the laws and public policy schools, and in particular professors of administrative law, have a responsibility as well as an opportunity to help restore ethical contact to government at several levels," Verkuil told his audience.

"In the first place as academics we are public servants. If our influence over students does not affect the public good we are deficient. Encouraging students to pursue careers in government is an ob-as to increase the influence and opportunities of the career service. That's a lot of law schools that are bound to be represented in the ranks of political appointees.

"Research should certainly encompass greater concern with ethics in government in at least two ways. Good writing about proposals for reform - such as the Volcker and Wilkey Commissions - is in short supply. Each of these Commission reports as an extensive list of recommendations that ought to be analyzed and endorsed for legislative action. Not much follow up has yet occurred.

The other research and teaching dimension involves the larger problem of political ethics — actions by the executive and legislative branches that threaten the separation of powers and checks and balances inherent in our constitutional scheme. This certainly provides justification if we need it for expanding the scope of administrative law to include the structural constitutional issues that emerge from the events of Watergate and Iran-Contra. The connection between constitutional doctrines and the limits of political action can be an organizing theme for public law courses. We should never forget that the oath to uphold the Constitution taken by bureaucrats and political appointees alike provides a moral basis and an ethical foundation for all public activity."

NOTES

Governor Names Slevin to Committee

Governor L. Douglas Wilder has appointed Kate Slevin to the 15-member Monitoring and Advisory Committee. This committee is responsible for advising the Secretary of Education on all aspects of the Virginia Plan for Equal Opportunity in Higher Education, from development through implementation, and for monitoring progress under the plan.

The plan emphasizes the further integration of college student bodies, the recruitment and retention of additional black faculty and the enhancement of predominantly black institutions.

Landmark Endowment Honors Spong

Landmark Communications, Inc., parent company of the Virginian-Pilot and The Ledger-Star newspapers in Norfolk, has announced it will establish a $200,000 endowment at Old Dominion University honoring William B. Spong Jr. former dean of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law who recently retired as interim president of ODU.

The William B. Spong Jr. Eminent Scholar Endowment will be used to establish the William B. Spong Jr. Professorship in the College of Business and Public Administration at ODU.

Theatre Ties

Glenn Close and Christopher Walken were scheduled to begin production in July on "Sarah," a 40th-season presentation of Hallmark Hall of Fame on CBS. The story is based on the Patricia MacLachlan novel Sarah: Plain and Tall, about a New England woman who answers an ad to become a prairie bride.

Close has also been chosen to play the part of an internationally famous soprano in "Meeting Venus," a film to be made in Budapest, Hungary, and Paris. Although Close will portray a singer, the soundtrack will use the voice of opera great Dame Kiri te Kanawa.

Karen Hall wrote the television play for the new comedy "Northern Exposure."

The College's T-shirt fashions got some good publicity as worn by Michael Rupert in the New York Times (July 23). The article detailed a new off-Broadway play "Falsettoland," a sequel to "March of the Falsettos."

Rupert, a recent artist-in-residence at the College is a Tony award-winner for his role in "Sweet Charity." While here in the fall of 1989, he appeared in the William and Mary Theatre production of "Becoming Memories."

Travel

Colony Travel Agency, Ltd., has been awarded a contract with the College for travel management. The Agency will arrange for flights, car rentals and hotel accommodations.

Colony Travel is located on Merchants Square, over the Williamsburg Theatre, phone 229-8684.

McDonald's, Coke Plan Fundraiser

Tidewater McDonald's Restaurants, Coca-Cola and representatives from five area radio stations will join forces Aug. 31 through Sept. 3 for the 4th annual McDonald's College Fundraiser.

Radio air personalities T. C. Brandt and Smokin' Tony, WOWI-FM; Tommy Griffiths and Henry the Bull, WNOR-FM; Chris Bailey and Doc Holiday, WNVZ-FM; Sonny Andre, WMYK-FM; and Joe Hoppel, WCMS-FM will all spend a day each in selected McDonald's restaurants competing, station against station, to raise money for five area colleges. Twenty-five cents from each 22-ounce Coca-Cola product sold during the competition period will be donated by the Tidewater McDonald's Co-op Association to the College Fund.

Five area colleges have again been named beneficiaries of the fund-raising event: Norfolk State University, Old Dominion University, Elizabeth City State University, Hampton University and the College of William and Mary. Last year's fund-raiser generated over $38,000.

Edwards to Speak On Libraries Sept. 8

Jack Edwards, professor of government and a member of the James City County Board of Supervisors, will be one of the guest speakers at the Congressional District I and II Regional Conference on Libraries and Information Services to be held at 9 a.m. at the Williamsburg Regional Library, Saturday, Sept. 8. Edwards' topic will be "Read My Lips - No New Books?"

Patricia Wilson Berger, immediate past president of the American Library Association and director of information resources and services for the National Institute of Standards and Technology, will also be a guest speaker at the conference. Her topic will be the "White House Conference on Library and Information Services is Coming - Should Anybody Care?"

The regional conference is the first of a series of conferences to be held that will culminate in a national White House conference on libraries and information services. The regional meeting will serve to identify issues and concerns relating to libraries and will focus on the Governor's Conference theme of productivity, literacy, and democracy. Delegates to the Governor's Conference to be held in

Program Set on Supreme Court

Supreme Court watchers will gather here Sept. 21-22 for a preview of the upcoming court term, which begins Oct. 1. More than 20 legal scholars and journalists will participate in the two-day conference.

The Supreme Court Preview is now in its third year. The event is free, and is sponsored by the Institute of Bill of Rights Law at the College's Marshall-Wythe School of Law.

The preview has become a favorite for legal reporters, editorial writers and columnists, and for editors who need background in upcoming legal issues to help plan daily news coverage.

As in previous years, the highlight of the preview will be the freewheeling discussion of prominent cases that will likely be taken up by the court. Rod Smolla, director of the Institute, will serve as moderator of the panels.

Legal experts who will participate on the panels will include Neal Devins of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law faculty.

While there is no fee to attend the conference, registration for the event will ensure seating and assist planning.

For more information, contact Millie Arthur, Institute of Bill of Rights Law, ext. 13810.

Labor Day Closing

The College and Virginia Institute of Marine Science will observe Labor Day on Monday, Sept. 3.

The administrative offices, plant department and campus mail room will be closed with the exception of essential employees who are required to work. The decision to require employees to work should be made by the dean, director or department head, as appropriate, and should be communicated to the employee(s) as soon as possible. The Campus Police Department will maintain its regular schedule.

The names of permanent classified employees who are required to work must be reported in writing to the office of Personnel Services by Sept. 12, in order that these employees may be credited with compensatory leave. Hourly employees who are required to work during the holiday will be paid their regular hourly rates.

With the approval of management, compensatory leave should be taken as soon as possible after the holiday on which it was earned. Compensatory time not taken within 12 months will be lost.

On behalf of the administration of the university, I wish each member of the College community a safe and enjoyable holiday.

Provost

Family Education Rights and Privacy Act

Under the terms of the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, the College is to inform enrolled students annually of their rights under the law. The act does not apply to students admitted to the College who have not officially enrolled.

The College hereby affirms that its policies and procedures are in full compliance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, whereby each student's right to the privacy of his or her official College records and access to the same is assured.

Enrolled students should have the following rights under the Law:

1. The right of access to his or her official College records. Under the terms of the Act, the College is not required to make available to students the following materials:
 - a. Confidential letters of recommendation placed in student's files before Jan. 1, 1975, and those letters for which the student has signed a waiver of his or her right of access.
 - b. Parents' confidential financial statements.
 - c. Medical, psychiatric, or similar records "which are created, maintained, or used only in connection with the provision of treatment to the student and are not available to anyone other than persons providing such treatment: provided, however, that such records can be personally reviewed by a physician or other appropriate professional of the student's choice."
 - d. Personal files and records of members of faculty or administrative personnel, which are in the sole possession of the maker thereof and which are not accessible or revealed to any person except a substitute.
 - e. Records of the Admission Office concerning students admitted but not yet enrolled at the College. Letters of recommendation are removed from the admission files before the files are forwarded to the Registrar's Office.
2. The right to inspect and review his or her official College records.
3. The right to a response from the College to reasonable requests for explanations and interpretations of his or her official records.
4. The right to an opportunity for a hearing to challenge the accuracy or appropriateness of his or her official records.
5. The right to have disclosure of his or her official records limited to College officials or other persons authorized under the Act, for legitimate purposes, unless permission for release of such information to other parties is given in writing.

The College has designated the following information as "Directory Information," which may be released to the public:

1. Student's name, address (permanent and local), telephone number (permanent and local).
2. Student's birthdate.
3. Dates of attendance at the College, field of concentration, current classification, current enrollment status (full or part time), degrees awarded.
4. Previous schools attended and degrees awarded.
5. Honors or special recognition.
6. Height and weight of members of athletic teams.

A student who does not want the above information made public must file notice in writing of his request in the Registrar's Office, James Blair, by Sept. 7, 1990.

Grants Fund Variety of Research Projects

Anthropology

The Virginia Department of Transportation has awarded three grants for evaluations in the state as follows: $11,618 for a Phase II cultural resource evaluation of the Good Field Site, Bedford County; $48,269 for a Phase III archaeological mitigation related to Route 164-City of Suffolk; and $143,930 for a phase II cultural resource evaluation of site 44MC367, South Hill Bypass, Route 58.

The Bedford site is being evaluated to determine the eligibility of the site for the National Register of Historic Places. The project director is Dennis B. Blanton.

Work in Suffolk follows a Phase II study, which exposed postholes and other features (mud-stick chimney and pier platforms) dating back to the 19th century and believed to represent the remains of slave or tenant cabins associated with the Yeates Free School. The project director is Donald W. Linebaugh.

Work at South Hill is also being undertaken to determine eligibility of the site for the National Register of Historic Places and to identify the effects of proposed construction on those resources that appear to be eligible. The evaluation of the archaeological component will be accomplished through a metal detector survey, systematic shovel testing and test unit excavation as well as limited backhoe stripping of selected areas of the site. The project director is Dennis B. Blanton.

A Phase I cultural resource survey of the focal stockpile facility, Isle of Wight County, has been undertaken with a grant award of $13,268 from Talbot and Associates. The project director was Dennis B. Blanton.

The College has awarded a grant of $13,182 for a Phase I cultural resource survey of the proposed site of a toxicology and pathology building at VIMS. This work will include a detailed evaluation of the archaeological resources on the property and of the potential architectural significance of nearby buildings that may be affected by the proposed project. The project director is Robert B. Hunter. Project architect is Thomas F. Higgins.

Archaeological investigations of sites along the Commonwealth Gas Company Solo pipeline, which will extend from Petersburg to Emporia, are being made under the supervision of project director Dennis B. Blanton. A grant of $2,936 for this work has been awarded by Gray & Page.

Grant awards made during July and August included $5,519 from the Virginia Department of Transportation for a phase I cultural resource survey of the proposed Route 658 project in Suffolk. The project director is Dennis B. Blanton; Donald W. Linebaugh, director.

Linebaugh will also direct the following projects:

A phase II evaluation of Site 44JC260 at the Middle School Site, funded by a grant of $8,633 from the Williamsburg-James City County Public Schools. This work will be undertaken to locate and identify features, such as wells, privies and other farm buildings associated with the 19th-century farmstead.

A phase II archaeological reevaluation of Site 44JC240, the Massie Farm property, funded by a $6,871 grant from AES Professional Corporation. The phase I investigation found that this site consisted of a 19th-century farmstead component including a cemetery, cellar and general artifacts scattered over the area. Phase II work will focus on locating and identifying features, such as wells, privies and other farm buildings associated with the 19th-century farmstead, as well as completely documenting the cemetery.

Archaeological survey of the proposed graduate housing project on South Henry Street between the Law School and Cedar Grove Cemetery. This work is being funded by the College. To date $3,282 has been awarded for this work.

A preservation plan for the Matthew Jones House at Fort Eustis. This is a brick structure built ca. 1729 around the remains of an earlier wooden structure. The preservation plan will utilize previously compiled data such as HABS documentation, National Register files and VDHR files, along with new data. A grant of $17,944 from Telemarc Inc. is funding this work.

Robert R. Hunter Jr., director of the Center for Archaeological Projects, will direct a phase II cultural resource investigation of Site 44JC92, St. George's Hundred, Section 5, James City County. This work is being funded by a grant of $13,310 from David M. Murray.

Dennis B. Blanton is project director for a phase I cultural resource survey of the proposed Route 340 widening project in Waynesboro, Augusta County. This work is being funded by a grant of $6,570 from the Virginia Department of Transportation.

Applied Science

NASA has made a grant of $5,910 for a project that will involve measurement of the ultrasonic properties of composite materials. Project director is Robert Orwoll.

Arts and Sciences

The State Council on Higher Education has awarded $30,000 for graduate fellowships. Robert Scholnick is dean of graduate studies.

Biology

Ruth Beck, assistant professor, has received a $12,000 contract from the Virginia Department of Game and Inland Fisheries for the management and protection of bird colony sites.

Chemistry

Professors Richard L. Kiefer and Robert A. Orwoll are directors of a study of the interaction of polymeric materials with the space environment that has received continued support from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration with a grant of $26,500. This brings the award total for this project to $84,526.

This research will study potential environmental hazards to exposed polymeric materials in earth orbit, including atomic oxygen, especially in low-earth orbit, ultraviolet radiation and high-energy electrons, especially in geosynchronous orbits and higher.

The European Vinyls Corporation and the B. F. Goodrich Company will sponsor a cooperative research and development program in which poly (vinyl chloride) (PVC) resins are to be prepared and in which complete structural characterization of these resins is performed. The grant from B. F. Goodrich Company is in the amount of $41,131. William H. Starner Jr., Floyd Dewey Gottwald Sr. Professor of Chemistry, will be project director.

Computer Science

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has continued support of a software project, "Writing Software for 2010," which is being undertaken by Associate Professor Keith Miller, Assistant Professor David M. Nicol and Dan Chrisman, a graduate student. Support to date totals $136,060.

A grant of $57,315 will continue funding until May 30 for this project which deals with designing, implementing and testing the CERES code, with a heavy emphasis on maintenance and portability.

Senior Research Associate W. E. Sivertson Jr. will direct work on developing practical operational products that can be used to address environmental issues. This project, titled "Image Processing Task," is being funded by a grant of $8,130 from the City of Virginia Beach.

Economics

"Econometric Impact Design" is a project being directed by Associate Professor David H. Finifter and funded by a $4,997 grant from the U.S. Department of Labor.

This project involves designing required evaluation materials to address patterns of earnings, unemployment, employment, and unemployment compensation usage following separation from military service for program participants and a comparison group of non-participants.

International Studies

The Korean Research Foundation has awarded a grant of $19,000 in support of a Korean Studies Program which will be part of the program at the Wendy and Emery Reves Center for International Studies, James A. Bill, director.

Mathematics

Professors Charles R. Johnson and Leiba Rodman have received a grant of $117,400 from the National Science Foundation in support of research that involves matrix theory, combinatorics, operator theory and applied mathematics.

The National Security Agency has made a grant award of $5,000 for a mathematics workshop in a variety of matrix theory and discrete mathematics, which will be directed by Charles R. Johnson, Class of 1961 Professor of Mathematics, and Professors Leiba Rodman and Douglas R. Shier.

The student summer research program at NASA Langley Research Center has received incremental funding of $1,582 from NASA. Grants awarded to date for this project total $12,595. Rolf G. Winter, Chancellor Professor, is director.

Physics and Chemistry

A grant of $120,000 has been made by the National Science Foundation for a study of the stability of highly excited states of two-electron atoms using classical-trajectory methods. This work is under the direction of John B. Delos, professor of physics and Stephen K. Knudson, professor of chemistry.

Physics

Liang-Guo Wang, research scientist in physics, has received a $750 travel grant from NASA in connection with an advanced gas filter correlation radiometer concept he is working on. To date $82,931 has been awarded for this project.

Wang has also received a grant award of $1,184 from NASA for development of a prototype of a "solid state" gas filter correlation radiometer concept and to laboratory demonstrate its capabilities.

A project to conduct research to better understand the interaction of the ultrasonic wave with the superconductor will be undertaken over the coming year under the direction of Keun Jenn Sun, research scientist. An award of $78,000 has been made by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration for this work.

The U.S. Department of Energy has made a supplemental grant award of $5,000 to professor Allen H. Boozer to permit foreign travel in connection with summer research at the Max Planck Institute to collaborate with scientists on a project involving the theory of fusion plasmas project.

School of Business

Associate Professor Lawrence Pulley has received a grant of $19,992 from the VSE Corporation for econometrics training and modeling of air-launched missiles maintenance costs.

This grant will provide training of Naval Air Systems Command Quality Management Board members in econometrics and assist in the evaluation of data to support the restructuring of maintenance program practices and maximize use of limited resources.

Bureau of Business Research

The Virginia Department of Medical Assistance Services has awarded a grant of $6,500 to the Bureau of Business Research, Roy Pearson, director, for an assessment of the economic impact of federally funded Medicaid payments in Virginia.

School of Education

The State Council of Higher Education for Virginia has made a grant award of $29,429 for an experimental design for science teachers. This project, directed by Professor Ronald N. Giese, is a dissemination project in cooperation with Virginia Commonwealth University and the Richmond area Mathematics and Science Center.

Muscarella Museum of Art

The Institute of Museum Services has made an award of $59,751 to the Muscarelle Museum for general operating support. These funds will support the use of professional consultants for assistance in the research and evaluation of the permanent collection, add accounting and auditing services and provide computer assistance in the development and transfer of records to programs for collections' donor histories and the mailing system. Funds will also allow the Museum to continue to expand its education programs and services. Mark M. Johnson is director of the Museum.

The Museum has been awarded $4,200 by the Williamsburg Arts Commission to enable the Museum to continue a permanent gallery/studio program for the youth of the Williamsburg area. The program, now in its fourth year, is designed to introduce young students to the museum and to foster and appreciation for the visual arts.

Provost's Office

The City of Newport News has awarded a grant of $265,595 in support of the Technological Entrepreneurship Center. The mission of the TEC is to facilitate the development of technology-based ideas from the laboratory or concept stage through prototype construction and market evaluation to commercial implementation. Grant directors are Professor Kelly Shaver and Provost Melvyn Schiavelli.

Charles Center for Honors and Interdisciplinary Studies

The State Council for Higher Education in Virginia has made an award of $150,000 which will continue curriculum renewal in freshman seminars, international studies, departmental curriculum development and interdisciplinary programs. The project titled "Funds for Excellence: Assessment and Renewing the Undergraduate Curriculum," is being supervised by Center Director Joel Schwartz.

Muscarella Museum of Art Receives I.M.S. Award

Mark Johnson, director of the Muscarelle Museum of Art, was in Washington earlier this year for a ceremony at the White House hosted by Mrs. George H. W. Bush to celebrate International Museum Day and pay tribute to the outstanding contributions of the nation's museums. It was also the occasion for the presentation of Institute of Museum Services grants.

The Muscarelle Museum received a grant of $59,751 which will be used to help support continuing conservation and education programs, and to fund extra staff and security costs, and to defray art transportation and installation expenses. This is the fourth grant the Muscarelle Museum has received from the I.M.S. in the past five years.

"You hold the cultural legacy of America, and you make unique contributions to the cultural literacy of our people," Mrs. Bush told her audience. "As museum directors you have two major charges - to keep your collections for future generations - and to share the ideas and values they represent. And this sharing is how museums help so much to meet our country's educational challenges."

The I.M.S. grant awards provide bedrock, meaningful support to outstanding museums from all over the country including those with only one staff members to those with more than 2,000; and with budgets of less than $20,000 to over $70 million.

"In this era of decreases in private contributions to museum, inflation in the art market and rising construction costs, fund raising for general operating support is one of the most difficult tasks museums face," said Johnson. "These grant awards open the door, turn on the lights, pay salaries and act as a stamp of approval to assist museums with their other fundraising efforts."

The Institute of Museum Services is an independent Federal Agency, established in 1976 to increase and improve museum services nationwide. $17.6 million has been awarded to 390. Applications were received from 1368 museums.

VIMS To Celebrate Golden Anniversary

by Beverly McMillan
VIMS Information

Ceremonies, martial music and a host of visiting dignitaries will mark the 50th anniversary of the Virginia Institute of Marine Science Sept. 6 through 8 at VIMS' Gloucester Point campus.

Kicking off several days of special events is an evening seminar open to the public, at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 6, in Watermen's Hall featuring noted marine researcher Dr. Sylvia Earle. Dr. Earle was recently named Chief Scientist for the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA). Earle's research and her innovative use of underwater exploration technology, was featured in 1987 in the National Geographic Explorer television series. This seminar is part of an anniversary series on "The Coastal Oceans: The Next 50 Years."

According to anniversary coordinator Bland Crowder, the invitation to the celebration includes the seminar and the open house from noon to 4 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 8.

The Open House will feature displays of old and new marine science research equipment, a photo exhibit that traces VIMS' history and development, demonstrations of computer modelling for the Coastal Inventory Program and a tour of the Institute's oyster hatchery and related laboratories. Vans will shuttle visitors to the Franklin Marine Center boat basin for tours of VIMS'

Dean Perkins

65-foot research vessel Bay Eagle.

"We'll also have our aquarium touch tank in Watermen's Hall," says Crowder, "so if you've always wanted to pet a horseshoe crab or go eyeball to eyeball with a flounder, now is your chance."

On Saturday morning VIMS alumni, state and federal officials, business leaders, and seafood industry representatives will hear remarks from President Paul Verkuil and VIMS Dean/Director Frank O. Perkins, followed by guest speakers, including Virginia Secretary of Natural Resources Elizabeth H. Haskell and NOAA Administrator John A. Knauss.

Additional information on 50th anniversary events can be obtained from Bland Crowder at 642-7016 or from the Dean/Director's Office at 642-7099.

Archives Receives Colum Letters

The University Archives at Swem Library recently was given five letters written by Padraic Colum. Donated by a member of the Board of the Friends of Swem Library, the letters were all written in 1953 and 1954 to William W. Seward Jr., concerning arrangements for Colum's lecture visits to the Norfolk Branch of the College.

Colum (1881-1972) was a prolific Irish playwright, essayist, novelist, biographer, poet and author of books for children. Along with William Butler Yeats and Lady Gregory, Colum founded the Irish National Theatre, later known as the Abbey Theatre. He was also co-founder and editor of the Irish Review.

He was regarded by many critics as an important nationalistic playwright because of his emphasis on the speech and attitudes of the common Irishman. Although he emigrated to the United States in 1914, the theme of all his work was devoted to the Irish people.

Docent Training Program at Muscarelle Museum of Art Begins Sept. 13

The Muscarelle Museum of Art invites area residents to become part of its docent program this fall.

Docents are museum volunteers who make a two-year commitment to serve as tour guides for school, adult and special interest groups and assist in many of the educational programs offered by the museum.

For those with an interest in the visual arts, the Docent program is particularly appealing since it provides a hands-on opportunity to become involved in the world of the arts.

A new docent training program will be held from September through May 1991 with sessions designed to acquaint participants with the Museum, its permanent collection and special exhibitions, as well as to provide instruction on developing and presenting tours for varied audiences. Participants in the program may also join one of the group's committees and plan an active role in developing docent activities.

Applications will be accepted through Thursday, Sept. 6. Training sessions this fall will be held weekly on Thursday mornings from 8:45 to 10 a.m., at the Museum beginning Thursday, Sept. 13 and continuing through Thursday, Dec. 13. Training sessions will continue in the spring on the first and third Thursdays of each month, January through May from 8:45 to 10 a.m. For further information about the docent program and to receive an application form, call the museum educator at 221-2703.

The valuable contributions of time and expertise the docents bring help the Museum enrich the community's resources in the visual arts. The 35 members of the 1989-90 docent group provided guided tours for over 30 different school and adult groups and gave hundreds of hours of service to the Children's Art Class Program.

The Muscarelle Museum of Art is located on Jamestown Road and is open without charge Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday, noon to 4 p.m. Docent-guided group tours are available with advance reservation. For information about current exhibitions or special events, call 221-2700.

Capriole Musicians Named Ensemble-in-Residence

Capriole, a group of accomplished area vocal and instrumental Baroque musicians, will be the ensemble-in-residence at the College for a period of three years, through the college's tercentenary celebration in 1993.

During its residency the ensemble, which specializes in 17th century vocal chamber music, will perform both on campus and for groups in the community, hold open rehearsals and lecture/demonstrations on campus, and give concerts in Williamsburg and the region.

"Community outreach will be a large part of Capriole's residency activities," says Johnson. The college will feature Capriole at one of its Town and Gown luncheons. Also open to the community will be a course on topics in historical performance to be offered on campus next spring.

Among Capriole's upcoming community outreach activities open to the public are:

*Noon, Tuesday, Sept. 18 - Informal concert at Old Dominion University, broadcast live by WHRO-FM;

*6:30 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 18 - Informal concert at Chambrel of Williamsburg;

*7:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 20 - Lecture/listening session on Monteverdi's "Combattimento di Tancredi e Clorinda," Ewell Recital Hall, William and Mary campus;

*Tuesday, Sept. 25 through Thursday, Sept. 27 - Open rehearsals in afternoon and evening, location on William and Mary campus to be announced.

The group's community performances are supported by grants from the Williamsburg Arts Commission. Performers at the informal concerts include: James Weaver, bass-baritone; Herb Watson, baroque flute and recorder; Dale Taylor, recorder; Wayne Moss, viola da gamba; Gayle Johnson, harpsichord and director; Diana Freedman and Ed Whitacre, baroque dancers.

While developing a base of local support, the group intends to maintain its expanding touring schedule in Europe and America, says Johnson. Capriole plans to make its first recordings in 1990-91, with music by Handel, Purcell and Monteverdi, which members hope will further increase the demand for concert tour appearances.

Earlier the group announced its plans for a series of three concerts during the

1990-91 season. Each concert will be given three times, in Richmond, Williamsburg and Norfolk.

The first concert will present Claudio Monteverdi's "Combattimento di Tancredi e Clorinda" and scenes from Jean Baptiste Lully's opera "Armide." Featured soloists are Jeffrey Thomas, tenor; Judith Malafrente, mezzo-soprano; and James Weaver, bass-baritone. Performances are scheduled at 8:15 p.m. Friday, Sept. 28 at the University of Richmond's North Court Recital Hall; 8:15 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 19 at Norfolk's Chrysler Museum Theatre; and at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 2 at the Williamsburg Regional Library's Arts Center Theatre.

The second concert will feature countertenor Derek Lee Ragin and bassbaritone James Weaver in "The Origins of Bel Canto," a recital of Elizabethan lute songs and Italian cantatas. Performances are at 8:15 p.m. Friday, Feb. 1, University of Richmond's North Court Recital Hall; 8:15 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 2, Williamsburg Regional Library; and 3 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 3, Chrysler Museum.

The third and final concert will present music by Henry Purcell and John Blow, both court composers to King William III and Queen Mary II of England. Soloists include Ragin and Steven Rickards, countertenors; Thomas, tenor; and Weaver, bass-baritone. Performances are at 8:15 p.m. Friday, April 26, University of Richmond; 8:15 p.m. Saturday, April 27, Chrysler Museum; and 3 p.m. Sunday, April 28, Williamsburg Regional Library.

Season tickets are available for $30, a 20 percent discount off the single ticket price of $12 ($8 for students). Tickets will be available at: Noteworthy Music, 806 Baldwin Ave. in Ghent, Norfolk; Book People, 536 Granite Ave. in Westhampton, Richmond; and Beethoven's Inn, 467 Merrimac Trail, Williamsburg. To order tickets or for more information on Capriole, call 220-1248.

Members Named to Sponsors Board

John W. Roberts of Richmond, president of Solite Corporation, and Gary L. Strickfaden of Norfolk, managing partner of KPMG Peat Marwick, Hampton Roads, have been elected to three-year terms on the board of directors of the School of Business Administration Sponsors, Inc., at the College of William and Mary.

Samuel H. Turner of Richmond, chief executive officer of W.T. Insurance Holdings, Inc., has been elected chairman of the Sponsors board; and Paul A. Dresser Jr. of Williamsburg, executive vice president of Chesapeake Corporation, has been named president of the board.

Roberts is a graduate of Swarthmore College and served on its Board of Managers for eight years. He is currently a member of the Board of Visitors of Virginia Military Institute. He began his career in Virginia in 1940, and in 1947 became president of Solite Corporation, a manufacturer of light-weight aggregate, or Solite, other building materials and fuels. His professional activities include serving as director, member of the executive committee and past chairman of the Virginia Manufacturers Association, and a member of the energy and resources committee of the National Association of Manufacturers, among others.

A native of Missouri, Strickfaden began his career with KPMG Peat Marwick in the St. Louis, office in 1965 following his graduation from the University of Missouri with a degree in accounting. He was admitted to the partnership in St.

Louis in 1975 and transferred to the firm's Decatur, Ill., office as managing partner in 1977. In 1982 he transferred to the KPMG Peat Marwick Roanoke, Va., office as managing partner and in 1986 to the Norfolk, Va., practice. His career has included service to many industries, however, his primary concentration has been in financial institutions.

William and Mary's School of Business Administration Sponsors, Inc., was formed in 1970 through joint efforts of the school and business leaders. Since then, the Sponsors organization has expanded its role to include providing financial as well as advisory support to the school.

First-year students arrived on campus Aug. 20 for a week-long introduction to law school and the legal profession. Their classes began Monday.

NOTES

At Richard Bland

Gerontology course

Social Gerontology, a course dealing with aspects of aging, will be available for health care professionals and others dealing with the elderly this fall.

Beginning Wednesday, Sept. 5, the one-semester class will meet each week from 1 to 3:50 p.m. on campus.

The course is open to students on a credit or audit basis. Senior citizens, age 60 or over, may attend the class free if space is available.

Additional registration information is available by calling 862-6209 or 862-6206.

Wind ensemble

Richard Bland College's Community Wind Ensemble begins fall rehearsals Monday, Sept. 17 in the campus cafeteria at 7 p.m. Rehearsals will continue each Monday, 7-9 p.m., in preparation for the band's annual pre-Christmas concert on Dec. 2. The conductor is Iris Schwartz.

Anyone interested in joining the group may contact Mrs. Schwartz at 520-1601.

Flea market

Exhibitors may now reserve spaces for the College's annual Flea Market to be held Saturday, Sept. 1, 8:30 a.m.-3 p.m. in the Pecan Grove.

Mrs. Shirley Peterson (862-6221) is coordinator for the event, which raises scholarship money for the RBC Foundation. Anyone interested in participating should contact her.

Grabowski Works Featured in Andrews Gallery

The Andrews Gallery has opened its 1990-91 invitational exhibit season with the prints of artist Beth Grabowski. This exhibit will continue until Sept. 28.

The exhibit includes 20 pieces by Grabowski intaglio, lithographs and monoprints that reflect the artist's concern with the nature of moral choice. Ms. Grabowski says she is curious about the physical and psychological factors that define people's perceptions and influence their actions.

"My art is a reflection of my belief that life's questions are complex and do not contain simple answers. Our decision to deal with these questions in all their complexity allows us to both gain and relinquish control of our lives."

The artist is a native of Virginia and a graduate of the University of Virginia and the University of Wisconsin. She is presently working and teaching at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Andrews Gallery is open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. For further details concerning the exhibit, call ext. 12519 or 12531.

of traveling, and not just as tourists. Many I have lived abroad with families to learn a different culture. These students are more sophisticated than entering freshmen five years ago.

The Class of 1994 is composed of 41 percent males and 59 percent females, reflecting perhaps, says Dean Scott, the fact that nationally more women than men are going to college.

The class also includes 28 foreign nationals and 17 permanent residents. We are beginning to see our work with counselors at schools abroad pay off, said Scott.
