A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER FOR FACULTY, STUDENTS AND STAFF

NEWS

VOLUME XX, NUMBER 13 • WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1990

REMINDERS

Dolmetsch Speaker For Town & Gown

Carl Dolmetsch, professor of English emeritus and accomplished author, will be guest speaker at the Nov. 15 Town & Gown luncheon at 12:15 p.m. in the Campus Center ballroom. His topic will be "Mark Twain in Vienna."

Reservations are required. Those planning to attend the talk should plan to be seated by 12:45 p.m.

There will be no luncheon Nov. 22 because of the Thanksgiving holiday.

Undergraduate Faculty

The 1990 Undergraduate Honor Council Faculty Survey should be returned before Thanksgiving break to the Honor Council (attention: John Graham), James Blair 221. Faculty who did not receive a copy are asked to call the Honor Council office at ext. 13305 and one will be promptly delivered.

Mattfeld Cancels

Jacquelyn A. Mattfeld, vice provost for academic affairs and dean of faculty, Arizona State University, has cancelled a planned presentation, "The Crystal Ceiling in the Ivory Tower," which was scheduled for 5 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 15.

Dr. Mattfeld was to speak at a seminar sponsored by the Commonwealth Center for American Studies. It is anticipated that the seminar will be rescheduled at a later date.

Ball Tickets

Faculty and staff members planning to attend the Holiday Ball, Dec. 1 sponsored by the College Women's Club and the Faculty Club are reminded to book early if they want to reserve a table. Tickets are $25 per couple and available from Kathy Allenby, 565-2451; and Ken Kambis, 220-1819.

Dedication Invitation

Faculty, students and staff are cordially invited to the dedication of the Wendy and Emery Reves International Studies Collection in Swem Library at 2 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 29.

Mrs. Reves' generosity made this facility and the initial purchases for the collection possible, and she will be present for the dedication ceremony and reception following.

Governor Wilder To Give Opening Address At Symposium On Savings And Loan Crisis

Governor L. Douglas Wilder will give the opening address at a symposium on "The Impact of the Savings and Loan Crisis in Virginia" at 9 a.m., Wednesday, Nov. 28 in the Campus Center ballroom.

President Paul R. Verkuil will welcome participants to the symposium, which is sponsored by The Thomas Jefferson Program in Public Policy, in cooperation with the Commonwealth's Treasury Board. The keynote address will be given at 8 p.m., Tuesday evening in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. The speaker has yet to be announced.

While the primary goal of the symposium is to examine the impact on Virginia of the savings and loan crisis and related financial difficulties, the symposium will also examine the federal policy on environment and the experience in selected other states. All sessions will be held in the Campus Center ballroom.

Anne Marie Whittemore, who will become chairman of the board of directors, Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond in January, will be moderator for the first session on "Federal Regulatory Policy: Present and Future." Speaker for the session will be Kenneth E. Scott, Ralph M. Parsons Professor of Law and Business, Stanford Law School. Panel for that session will include James R. Barth, Lowder Eminent Scholar in Finance, Auburn University; The Honorable Preston C. Shannon, chairman, State Corporation Commission; and James F. Tucker, former senior vice president, Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond.

Edward W. Hill, associate professor of urban studies and public administration, Cleveland State University, will be speaker for a session on "The Savings and Loan Crisis: Impact on States." Herrington J. Bryce, Life of Virginia Professor of Business Administration, will serve as moderator. Panelists will include Gregory A. Root, president, Thomson BankWatch; The Honorable Martha R. Seger, governor, the board of governors, Federal Reserve System; and Timothy S. Wahl, executive vice president and general counsel, First Nationwide Bank, San Francisco.

Roy L. Pearson, Chancellor Professor of Business and director of the Bureau of Business Research, will be moderator on the session dealing with how the crisis has affected Virginia. Speakers will be John Boschen, associate professor of business administration; Clyde Haulman, professor of economics and dean of undergraduate studies; and Richard Fritz, research officer and senior economist, Federal Home Loan Bank of Atlanta.

The panel for this session will be composed of Albert J. Dvoskin, president, Albert J. Dvoskin and Associates, Inc., and Gregory A. Schnitzler, director of cash management and investments, Department of the Treasury, Commonwealth of Virginia.

The final session of the symposium will explore alternative policy approaches for the Commonwealth; the moderator will be Clyde Haulman.

Panelists will be Robert G. Butcher Jr., chairman, Investors Savings Bank; The Honorable George H. Heilig Jr., delegate from Norfolk and adjunct professor of law, Marshall-Wythe School of Law; Stanley Waranch, chairman, Federal Home Loan Bank of Atlanta; and Philip R. Wiest, associate professor of economics, George Mason University.

Closing comments will be given by the Honorable Eddie N. Moore Jr., Treasurer of the Commonwealth.

Class of '65 Sets Record With Commitment Of $275,000

Members of the class of 1965 have committed a record-setting $275,000 to the College in recognition of their 25th reunion. Richard C. Kraemer of Tempe, Ariz., chair of the class gift committee, presented the gift to President Paul R. Verkuil at the class dinner Nov. 3 during homecoming weekend.

Of the total commitment, most will be used to endow a Class of 1965 Merit Scholarship. Income from the endowment will provide tuition, room, board and fees for all four years to a top scholar athlete. The recipient will be selected based on an excellent academic record, strong leadership ability and participation in intercollegiate athletics.

In addition, $50,000 of the gift has been dedicated to the planned expansion of the College's Alumni House, for which $3 million in private funds is being sought as part of William and Mary's Campaign for the Fourth Century. In recognition of the class's generosity, a primary meeting room in the new alumni

State Asks College For New Budget Plans

Student Concerts Highlight Holiday Season

Surplus Equipment To Be Auctioned Thursday At Eastern State

Thanksgiving Holiday Observance

The College and Virginia Institute of Marine Science will be closed Thursday and Friday, Nov. 22 and 23 to observe Thanksgiving.

The administrative offices, plant department and campus mailroom will be closed with the exception of essential employees, who are required to work. The decision to require employees to work should be made by the dean, director or department head, as appropriate, and should be communicated to the employee as soon as possible. The Campus Police Department will maintain its regular schedule.

The names of permanent classified employees who are required to work must be reported in writing to the Office of Personnel Services by Dec. 7 in order that these employees may be credited with compensatory leave. Hourly employees who are required to work during the holiday will be paid their regular hourly rates.

With the approval of management, compensatory leave should be taken as soon as possible after the holiday on which it was earned. Compensatory time not taken within 12 months will be lost.

On behalf of the administration of the university, I wish each member of the College community a safe and enjoyable holiday.

Plan For New Cuts Requested By State Budget Office

The College has been directed by the state Department of Planning and Budget to develop a contingency plan for further budget cuts during the 1991-92 fiscal year, according to Samuel E. Jones, director of planning and budget.

A recent memo from state budget director Karen Washabau indicated that all state agencies should develop plans for reducing general fund expenditures by an additional 2.5 percent for the current fiscal year, and by an additional 5 percent for the 1991-92 fiscal year. However, on Nov. 12, Secretary of Education James W. Dyke Jr. informed the College that its contingency plan need only address the additional 5 percent reduction in FY1991-92.

The possibility of further budget reductions was raised by Gov. L. Douglas Wilder in his Aug. 17 presentation of the interim revenue forecast, especially in light of the continuing slowdown in the state's economy, said Washabau in the memo. "In the meantime," she said, "the reconciliation act adopted by the 101st Congress mandates costly expansions of the state and federally funded Medicaid program that will be taken up at the 1991 session of the General Assembly."

The state's next official revenue forecast is scheduled for early December. "The fact that revenue collections lag the interim annual forecast and tens of millions of dollars must be set aside for the expansion of Medicaid makes preparation of additional contingency plans necessary," Washabau said.

The College's contingency plan, which must be approved by Secretary Dyke, must be submitted to the Secretary by Nov. 19, and to the Department of Planning and Budget by Nov. 30, said Jones.

In a related matter, the College was notified that the state has approved a modified proposal for a tuition surcharge for the 1991-92 academic year. Under the plan, Virginia students will pay a one-time surcharge of $37 for the year, with out-of-state students paying $148.

The surcharge is expected to generate a total of $540,000. Approval has been granted for spending $242,000 of the amount on lease payments for equipment available under the state's Higher Education Equipment Trust Fund. "This funding will enable the college to lease approximately $1 million worth of instructional equipment during 1990-92," said Jones. The funds will cover leases on items such as faculty and student personal computers, and instructional equipment in fine arts, psychology, and the biological and physical sciences.

The remaining $298,000 generated by the surcharge will be split between support for the College's Applied Science Program and the planned Student Information System.

HACE Supports Green and Gold

By Loretta Early
President-elect

William and Mary students sponsor the Green and Gold Christmas, an exciting event for underprivileged children. The Hourly and Classified Employees Association (HACE) wishes to again coordinate gifts from employees of the College to this important program.

Please join HACE in supporting this worthy cause. Monetary contributions may be sent to Linda Melochick, HACE Treasurer, Administration and Finance, Bridges House. Please make your check payable to HACE. New toys (for ages 4-12) may be dropped off at the Computer Center, Jones Hall 6, or in the Campus Center lobby. They do not have to be wrapped, but if you choose to do so, indicate whether the gift is more appropriate for a girl or boy and the age group.

All contributions should be received by Monday, Nov. 26, 5 p.m. We hope you can help make this a special holiday celebration for these young members of our community. Your support and generosity will be greatly appreciated by everyone involved in this program.

During these tight economic times we may forget that there are still those less fortunate. As the holiday season approaches, we need to remember especially those children who may not have the opportunity to enjoy the simple joys that a small gift can bring.

Raffle Winners

HACE announces the following winners of the recent raffle to benefit the Rita Welsh Adult Skills Program:

First Prize: William and Mary chair; Mary Liz Sadler, Adult Skills Program

Second Prize: $100 cash; Anna Fisher, VIMS

Third Prize: $50 College Bookstore gift certificate; Connie Grimes, Vice Provost's office.

Sadler has donated the first prize cash equivalent to the Rita Welsh Adult Skills Program, the designated recipient of the raffle proceeds. A donation of $600 will be presented to the Adult Skills Program at the HACE Nov. general meeting, Wednesday, Nov. 14, noon-1 p.m., in the Campus Center ballroom. All are welcome to attend.

HACE would like to thank everyone who helped with and participated in the raffle, with special thanks for the generous support of The College Bookstore and William and Mary Athletics.

Cory Music Featured Dec. 1

The William and Mary Twentieth-Century Music Project will present its second Composer's Showcase at 3 p.m. Dec. 1 in Ewell Recital Hall. The music of New York-based Eleanor Cory will be featured. There is no admission charge.

Cory will spend two days on campus, where she will supervise the final rehearsals of two of her works, "Encounters," for six instruments, and "Epithalamium" for flute solo.

Immediately prior to the performance Dec. 1, the composer will offer a brief commentary on her works. She will also take questions from the audience following the performance.

Eleanor Cory's participation is made possible in part through Meet the Composer—funding provided through the Composers Performance Fund, supported by the National Endowment for Arts, ASCAP, BMI and the Getty, MacDonald, Metropolitan Life, Xerox, and Dayton Hudson foundations (NAT).

Cory received her DMA from Columbia University and has taught at Yale University, Baruch College, CUNY, Manhattan School of Music and Sarah Lawrence College. She has recorded on the CRI, Opus One and Advance labels. She was president of the American Composers Alliance, 1985-89, and currently serves as chairman of the board.

In addition to the two compositions by Cory, works by Judith Shatin, Malcolm Peyton and David Stock will be included on the Composer's Showcase program Dec. 1.

The Twentieth-Century Music Project

and its ongoing performance venue, the Composer's Showcase, were inaugurated in the fall of 1989 by Director of Orchestras Joel Eric Suben. Suben outlines the objectives of the projects as follows: "to allow student ensembles the opportunity to prepare performances of music by living composers, often under the composers' own supervision; and to bring composers, performers, and listeners together in performance situations which allow all participants to become more highly involved in each work performed than is usually the case at public performances."

Carla Bley

W&M Jazz Band Plans Concert

The William and Mary Jazz Band, composed of students from the workshop currently directed by Carla Bley, will give a performance at 8 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 1 in the Williamsburg Regional Library Theatre.

Admission is $2; $1 for W&M students.

The concert will showcase compositions by Carla Bley, Class of 1939 Artist-in-Residence.

This is the second public performance for the jazz group which made its debut at the Occasion for the Arts festival in October.

Holiday Choral Concerts

Holiday concerts by the William and Mary Choir/Chorus will be held Wednesday, Nov. 28 through Saturday, Dec. 1 at 8:15 p.m. and Sunday, Dec. 2 at 2 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

Tickets are $3 and are on sale at the Campus Center desk. Tickets will also be available beginning Monday, Nov. 26 at the PBK box office open daily from 1 to 6 p.m. Reservations may be made by telephone, ext. 12655.

Muscarelle Chamber Music Set Nov. 18

The "Music of the Muscarelle" chamber music series continues with a performance 4 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 18 in the Muscarelle Museum of Art. Both the concert and the Museum are open to the public without charge.

The program opens with the Divertimento in F by Alessandro Besozzi, featuring Carrie Hendrickson, oboe; and Julie Sandlin, bassoon. Giuseppe Tartini's Sonata No. 1 will be performed by Elena Collins and Shana Rickett, violins, and Peter Dujdon, cello.

The concert concludes with two selections by Mozart. Divertissement No. 4 features Hillery Stubb, oboe; Jenny Venter, clarinet; and Joseph Phillips, bassoon. The String Quartet K. 168 will be performed by Julia Bruggemann and Kathy Devald, violins; Mike Dominguez, viola; and Connie Wise, cello.

The last concert of the fall series will be held at 2 p.m., Sunday, Dec. 2 in the museum.

The public is invited to come to the performances early to view the special exhibition "Tovish: Sculpture, Prints and Drawings" and "Collection Highlights," selections from the museum's collection.

The Muscarelle Museum is open Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 4:45 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday from noon to 4 p.m.

For further information about exhibits and special events, call ext. 12700.

Recycling Day

Saturday, Nov. 17 is a comprehensive recycling day. Cardboard, paper, aluminum cans, plastic and glass will be received from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the W&M Hall parking lot by student recyclers.

DON'T BRING FOOD OR DRINK
INTO THE LIBRARY

ALL FOOD AND DRINK WILL BE CONFISCATED

Library Notes

Swem Library is continuing its efforts to stop patrons eating and drinking in the library.

The poster above, suggested by Bettina Manzo of the reference staff and computer generated by Kay Domine, university archivist, is a gentle reminder that the remains of food or drink attract mice and insects, which begin attacking books and papers when they can find no more scraps. Swem Library is dead earnest about its campaign. Staff members conduct regular foot patrols when the library is open and confiscate all food and drink that is found.

Concert Series

There are no advance sale tickets available for the performance of the Don Wagoner Dance troupe which will perform at 8:15 p.m., Nov. 20 in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall as part of the current Concert Series schedule.

A waiting list will be available at the box office the evening of the performance. Admission is $8.

Student Voicemail Update

To avoid the voicemail problems that occurred during fall break due to the absence of students, there will be a change made for the Thanksgiving holiday. Student telephones will not forward to voicemail to receive messages from Wednesday, Nov. 21 at 5 p.m. through Sunday, Nov. 25 at noon. If there are any questions about this change, please call Telecommunications at ext. 11776.

News Schedule

There will be no News next week because of the Thanksgiving holiday. Deadline for the Nov. 28 issue will be noon, Monday, Nov. 26.

Theatre Opens Shepard Play Thursday

"A Lie of the Mind," by playwright/actor Sam Shepard, is a demanding vehicle for both actors and audience, but it rewards with both humor and romance, says Richard Palmer, director of William and Mary Theatre's contemporary entry in its current season, Nov. 15-18.

Performances will be in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall at 8:15 p.m., Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 15, 16 and 17 and 2 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 18. Tickets are $5 and are available at the PBK box office.

"Lie of the Mind," says director Richard Palmer, is the story of love frustrated by circumstances. The plot involves two brothers, one very violent, and a girl who finds it hard to sort out her feelings of affection for them. Shepard, says

Palmer, is not a playwright who seeks to make a strident statement about social issues. But, he adds, "Shepard tells his story to emphasize how characters' acceptance of social goals can sometimes deafen them to individual voices crying for help."

Palmer will use the sounds and venue of country music as background for the action. The country music ballad themes of missed opportunities and lost love will reinforce the themes that will be acted out on stage.

The action of the play overlaps different scenes, and Palmer, who also designed the scenery, has created an abstract rather than a realistic setting. "This approach reinforces the idea that the characters' minds can bridge time and place," says Palmer.

Winner of awards for both acting and playwriting, Shepard is probably best known for his portrayal of the test pilot Chuck Yeager in the movie "The Right Stuff," for which he won an Oscar. He has written 40 plays, 11 of which have won Obie awards. He has also won a Pulitzer Prize for drama. He is a member of the American Academy of Arts and Letters.

Reception Invitation

All W&M alumni are invited to a wine-and-cheese reception, which will follow the matinee performance of "A Lie of the Mind" on Sunday, Nov. 18, 4-6 p.m. in the Dodge Room, Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. Cost is $5 per person.

Auditions Set

Auditions for the next William and Mary Theatre main stage production, "Six Characters in Search of An Author," by Luigi Pirandello, will be held Nov. 26 and 27 in the Lab Theatre, PBK 129.

Open auditions will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 26 and 5 to 7 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 27.

No preparation is required for the auditions but prepared pieces from any translation are encouraged. Roles are available for 12 to 15 men and eight to 12 women.

Rehearsals will be held Dec. 3, 4 and 5 and will resume Jan. 15. Performances will be held Feb. 21-24.

Several translations of the play are available in local bookstores and libraries, chiefly in anthologies of modern plays. For further information, check the call board at PBK or call ext. 12659.

Auditions are also scheduled for two senior directorial projects, "Winners" by Brian Friel, and "The Glass Menagerie," by Tennessee Williams. Auditions will be held from 7 to 9 p.m., Monday, Nov. 26 and from 5 to 7 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 27. Please check the call board for further information and to schedule an appointment for auditions.

Alumni Gift

center will be named the Class of 1965 Conference Room.

The class of 1965 gift topped three previous records for 25th reunion gifts to William and Mary. It represents not only the largest-ever 25th reunion gift, but also the largest in numbers of donors and percentage of class members contributing. The commitment brings to more than $1 million the amount raised comprehensively by William and Mary's 25th reunion classes since the program first began with the class of 1961.

"The level of support and generosity shown by members of the class of 1965 represents a tremendous source of pride for William and Mary," said President Paul R. Verkuil. "With dual support for scholar athletes and the Alumni House, their gift will benefit some of William and Mary's most outstanding students as well as the thousands of alumni who will visit and use the Alumni Center in years to come."

Surplus Auction

The College will conduct an auction of surplus equipment on Thursday, Nov. 15, at 9 a.m. The auction will be held at Eastern State Hospital, building #22. Items may be viewed and inspected Nov. 15 from 8 to 9 a.m.

Surplus equipment to be auctioned includes: typewriters, calculators, recorders, scientific equipment, miscellaneous office items, computer equipment and telephones.

For more information, call Annette Ashcraft at ext. 12052.

Chamber Orchestra Plans Brandenburg Festival

The William and Mary Chamber Orchestra will present the second annual Brandenburg Festival in two concerts at 8 p.m., Dec. 3 and 4 in the Great Hall of the Wren Building.

The orchestra will play the entire cycle of six Brandenburg concerti of Johann Sebastian Bach. Concerti nos. 3, 4 and 5 will be performed on Dec. 3 and Concerti nos. 1, 2 and 6 on Dec. 4.

In Dec. 1989 the all-student chamber ensemble of 20 musicians gave its inaugural festival performance to a standing-room-only audience of 117. For those wishing to guarantee a seat at this year's performances, subscription tickets are available by mail. Only 75 subscriptions will be sold in advance. Remaining places will be sold at the door for $2 each.

To order subscription or single tickets by mail, please send a check for $3 for two programs or $2 for one program to: William and Mary Chamber Orchestra, Department of Music, College of William and Mary, 23185. Those requesting a single admission are asked to indicate which performance they wish to attend. Telephone orders cannot be accepted.
