WILLIAM & MARY

A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER FOR FACULTY, STUDENTS AND STAFF

NEWS

VOLUME XXI, NUMBER 4 • WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1991

REMINDERS

Faculty Meeting

The annual Collegewide faculty meeting will be held at 3:30 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 12, in Millington Hall.

A reception will follow at 4:30 at the Matoaka Shelter.

President and Mrs. Paul Verkuil will host a faculty barbecue at 4 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 15.

Town & Gown

The speaker at the Town & Gown luncheon Thursday, Sept. 12 will be Laura Dillard, former press secretary for Governor L. Douglas Wilder. On Sept. 19, Capriole will present selections from their upcoming concert. Luncheons are held in the Campus Center ballroom at 12:15 p.m. There is a $6 fee. Reservations are necessary and may be made by calling ext. 12640 no later than Monday before the luncheon.

College Women's Club

The College women's Club will open its schedule of activities this year with a Fall Coffee which will be held from 4 to 6 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 19 in the Muscarelle Museum of Art.

Those planning to attend are asked to call Joyce Laughlin at ext. 14703.

For further information contact Mrs. Schiavelli at 565-2917 or Lillian Morris at 564-9768.

Journalists Invited To Supreme Court Preview

The nomination of Clarence Thomas, along with pending cases on privacy, free speech and equality issues will be debated at the 1991 Supreme Court Preview here Sept. 27-28

The preview is sponsored by the Institute of Bill of Rights Law at the Marshall-Wythe School of Law. Rod Smolla, institute director, will serve as moderator.

Now in its third year, the preview is designed to assist reporters and editors as they interpret the court's decisions for their readers and viewers. The program features panelists in a freewheeling format which offers perspective and background on the court's decisions.

Panelists for this year's preview include: Richard Carelli, Associated Press; Walter Dellinger, Duke University; Kyle Denniston, Baltimore Sun; Neal Devins, William and Mary; Aaron Epstein, Knight-Ridder; Bruce Fein, Washington Times; Michael Gerhardt, William and Mary; Linda Greenhouse, New York Times;

Tony Maclin, Boston University; Paul Marcus, University of Arizona, Ruth Marcus, Washington Post; Tony Mauro, USA Today; David Savage, Los Angeles Times; Suzanna Sherry, University of Minnesota; and Steve Wermiel, Wall Street Journal.

There is no fee to attend the preview, but registration is strongly recommended. For more information contact the Institute of Bill of Rights Law at ext. 13810.

Two Awarded Commonwealth Fellowships

Two doctoral candidates, Valerie Gill in English and Theodore DeLaney in American Studies, have been awarded $5,000 Commonwealth Fellowships by the Council of Higher Education.

Fifty students were nominated for awards and 11 fellowships were presented. Nominations were invited from six Virginia universities, George Mason University, Old Dominion, the University of Virginia, Virginia Commonwealth University, Virginia Tech and William and Mary.

The program has been set up to assist outstanding Virginians who are enrolled as doctoral students in state colleges and universities and who intend to become teaching faculty, possibly in Virginia.

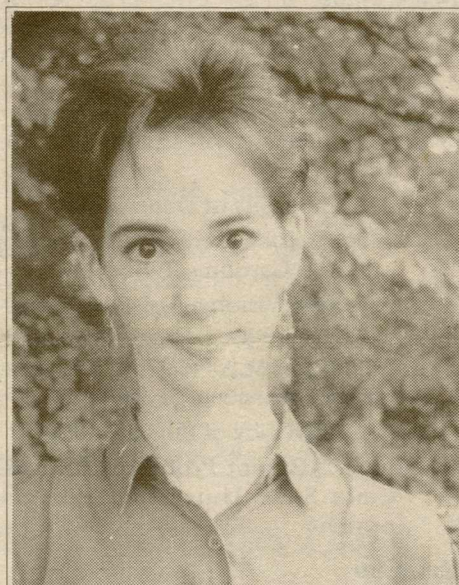

Gill received an A.B. in philosophy from Marlboro College and an M.A. in English from William and Mary. She spent a summer at Trinity College, Oxford University studying British literature. Her specific area of research is the domestic literature of the 19th-century. Her master's thesis addressed Whitman's simultaneous construction and repression of the speaker's self in "Song of Myself."

Currently a teaching assistant in the English department, Gill is working with Richard Lowry, assistant professor of English, to develop a new course in American literature for freshmen and sophomores.

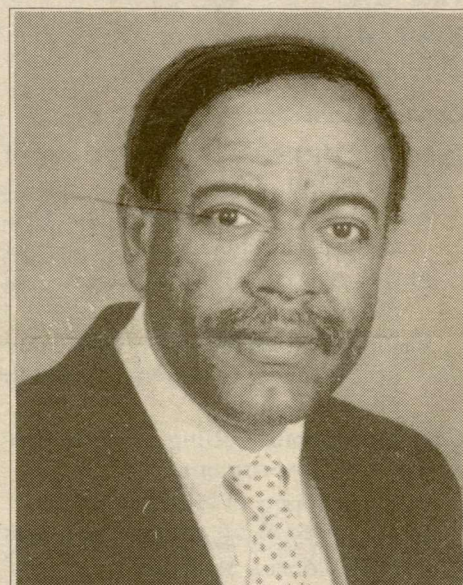

Gill has been praised for her talent of "getting inside texts—for developing her own responses and then placing them in historical and theoretical contexts." Says the Director of American Studies Robert Gross, "she has the power to make books come alive for students, to show them the close connection between literature and life." Gill also taught English composition at J. Sergeant Reynolds Community College.

Theodore Delaney received an ABD teaching fellowship from Washington & Lee University, his alma mater, in addition to his Commonwealth Fellowship and is currently teaching and doing research at W&L in Lexington.

Delaney entered college somewhat later in life than the typical student after a number of years as laboratory assistant at W&L. Delaney's years in the academic atmosphere at Washington and Lee were a teaching experience, suggests John E. Selby, Pullen Professor of History and Graduate Director, which gave Delaney a professorial maturity far beyond the level his status as a doctoral candidate might suggest. "Ted is genuinely concerned for his peers and associates and his students. When he joined our program he immediately became a leader, counseling fellow students, helping them surmount bureaucratic obstacles, and presenting the student point of view to the faculty. Many of his suggestions for facilitating the graduate program and easing the burden of graduate students have been implemented to the advantage of all." His work as a grader during his first year revealed a remarkable rapport with students, leading the department to ask him to assist in an experimental section of the European survey course. The choice proved most successful. Ted simply has a knack for classroom teaching."

Faculty Club Seafood Party

The William and Mary Faculty Club will sponsor its 10th annual Seafood Party at the School of Marine Science at 6 p.m., Friday, Sept. 27.

As usual the menu will feature fried fish, scallops, steamed mussels, steamed crabs, clam chowder, hush puppies and slaw. Beer, wine, liquor, mixers and soft drinks will be provided.

Tickets are $25 per couple, $15 per person.

Two rain dates, Saturday, Sept. 28 and Sunday, Sept. 29, will be used in the event of threatening weather. In the event of unsettled weather the party status may be checked by dialing ext. 12630.

As the party site is on the bank of the York River, there may be a cool breeze off the water, so patrons are advised to dress accordingly.

The first party of the year for the Faculty Club, this event is traditionally one of the best attended.

Catholic faculty and staff members are invited to meet for lunch and fellowship every other Tuesday at 11:35 a.m. at the Chez Trinh restaurant. The next meeting will be Tuesday, Sept. 17.

Father Charles Kelly, Catholic campus minister, joins the group for their lunch meetings. Special guests and topics of discussion are planned occasionally. Jay Trinidad, president of the Catholic Student Association, will be a guest for lunch on Sept. 17.

Those who would like to receive a voice mail reminder before the lunch dates are asked to call Karen Berquist at ext. 13539.

Director Peter Sellars to give Cohen Lecture

Peter Sellars director of the Los Angeles Festival and creative consultant to the Los Angeles Philharmonic, an internationally known stage director, will deliver the 1991-92 Cohen Lecture at 8:30 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 14 in Ewell Recital Hall.

Sellars will speak on "Cultural Survival in the 90s." His lecture is free and open to the public.

Student are invited to participate in two seminars conducted by Sellars. The first from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 14, will focus on art and politics. The second from 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 15, which will include brunch, will center on a discussion of issues raised in his Saturday evening lecture.

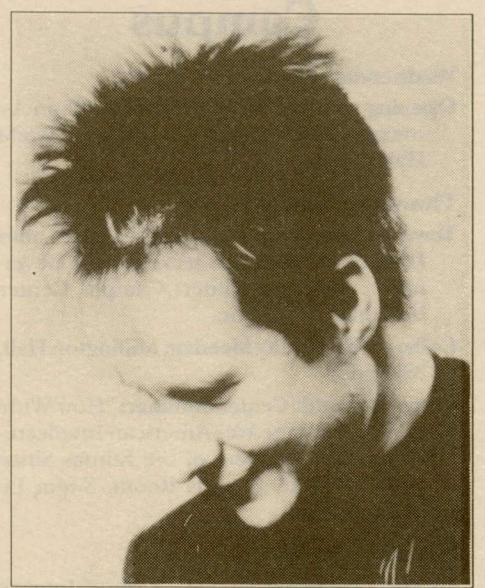

A graduate of Phillips Academy, Andover, and Harvard University, Sellars studied in Japan, China and India before becoming the Artistic Director of

The Boston Shakespeare Company. At the age of 26 he was made Director of the American National Theater at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. He has directed more than 100 productions in large and small theaters across America and abroad.

He is currently completing a book of essays on contemporary performance to be published by Harper & Row. He is also rehearsing the new Adams/Goodman opera, "The Death of Klinghoffer," which will appear in Brussels, Lyons, Vienna, New York, Glyndebourne, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Sellars has just completed his first feature film "The Cabinet of Dr. Ramirez," starring Joan Cusack, Mikhail Baryshnikov, Peter Gallagher and members of The Wooster Group, which he wrote and directed.

Winner of a MacArthur Foundation Fellowship, Sellars has lectured at many universities including Yale, Georgetown,

Peter Sellars

Northwestern, CalArts, NYU, UCLA and the Juilliard School.

Williamsburg Police Report Two Attacks On Graduate Students

City Police reported two incidents of attempted rape involving William and Mary graduate students.

The first was assaulted Friday afternoon at 4:30 p.m., in the Colonial Williamsburg Employees parking lot adjacent to the Williamsburg-James City County Courthouse.

The assailant is described as a light-skinned black male, approximately six feet tall, who was wearing black shorts and a baseball cap at the time.

A second student was assaulted Saturday evening around 8 p.m. as she attempted to enter her apartment just off Capital Landing Road.

Physical characteristics and clothing description of the assailant in these incidents are very similar and create the possibility that the attacker was the same person in both.

In a report to the College community on Sunday, Vice President for Student Affairs W. Samuel Sadler said, "We are saddened that two members of our community have been the victims of such senseless violence. Extra care should be taken in light of these assaults. Anyone who believes they may have information about either of the attacks is asked to contact the City Police at 220-2333 or the Campus Police at ext. 14596."

Recycling Organization Expands Collection Program

The William and Mary Recycling Organization has expanded its Comprehensive Recycling Program and will hold collections every Saturday at two sites, William and Mary Hall parking lot and the Crim Dell amphitheater. Both sites will be open to receive recyclables from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Recyclables should be sorted as follows:

Glass: Empty and rinse all jars; remove lids. Separate white, brown and green glass. No porcelain, please.

Aluminum: Empty and crush all cans. No soup cans or other such non-aluminum containers. Aluminum foil and pie plates acceptable if reasonably clean.

Newspaper: Stack neatly in brown paper bags. Please do not bind with string. Glossy inserts that come with the paper are O.K.

Plastics: Only types 1 and 2 accepted. Check the bottom of bottles for recycling emblem. These include milk jugs, soda bottles and shampoo and detergent bottles. Empty and rinse, remove lids, and separate by type.

Non-glossy paper: Separate computer paper, white ledger and colored ledger. "Ledger" defines non-glossy magazine type paper. Envelopes acceptable if stamps and plastic windows are removed. No phone books, please.

Cardboard: Break down neatly: remove any tape, labels, or stamps.

The William and Mary Recycling Organization meets Mondays at 7:30 p.m. in Small 152. For further information concerning recycling, contact Mary Nachtrieb at 220-9281.

At The Muscarelle Museum

'The Buck Stops Here' Opens Saturday

"The Buck Stops Here," an exhibition of original paintings from the recently published children's book of the same name by Alice Provensen, opens at the Muscarelle Museum Saturday, Sept. 14.

The paintings, which are on loan from the Henry Feiwel Gallery in New York City, will be on display until Nov. 10.

The paintings show each of the 41 presidents of the United States surrounded by richly imagined vignettes depicting important events in their lives and administrations. Provensen, along with her husband Martin, has written and illustrated numerous award-winning children's books, including The Glorious Flight, winner of the Caldecott Medal; A Visit to William Blake's Inn, written by Nancy Willard, a Caldecott Honor Book; and numerous books about Maple Hill Farm, their estate in Dutchess County, N.Y.

Weekly Coffee Hours At Reves Hall

The Reves Hall Council welcomes all members of the College community to its weekly coffee hours which are held at 5 p.m. in the first floor lounge of Reves Hall.

This Friday Tanya Myers, a senior, will talk about her experiences in Zaire this summer.

Drawing Contest

The Muscarelle Museum of Art is inviting artists to enter the American Drawing Biennial III, a competitive juried exhibition to be held April 11-May 24, 1992.

Artist Jack Beal will be juror.

Museum purchase and cash awards totaling $3,000 will be offered.

Deadline for slide submission is Dec. 16.

A prospective may be picked up at the Museum. To request a prospectus by mail, send a #10, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Muscarelle Museum of Art, College of William and Mary, P. O. Box 8795, Williamsburg, VA, 23187-8795.

Gill, Delaney Win Commonwealth Awards

Delaney taught U.S. history at The Asheville School, Asheville, N.C., from 1985-88 when he left to pursue graduate work.

For his dissertation, Delaney is writing a biography of Julia Gardiner Tyler, second wife of the President. Previous work has treated her as "the wife," an ancillary figure who comforted and encouraged her husband. Delaney plans to present her as a significant figure in her own right, not only a valuable assistant to a former president, but one who, as a New York-born Virginian and president's widow, played a significant role in everything from Confederate propaganda in New York to sectional reconciliation after Appomattox. There is a good collection of Tyler manuscripts in Swem Library. Julia's son became president of W&M.

Delaney makes his home in Lexington with his wife Patricia who has served as treasurer of Lexington since 1974. His son Damien is a freshman at Lexington High School.

Honorary Degree Deadline Extended

The deadline for submitting nominations to the Honorary Degrees Advisory Committee for honorary degree recipients for upcoming Charter Days and Commencements has been extended from Sept. 13 to Sept. 27.
