Farewell Receptions

Vrooman

Members of the College community are invited to a reception for Alta Vrooman from 3 to 5 p.m., Monday, Sept. 30 on the lower level lobby of Blow Memorial Hall, hosted by the Office of the University Registrar.

Alta is retiring after 25 years of service to the College.

Wallace

The Office of University Publications will host a farewell reception for Fred Wallace, print shop supervisor, 3 to 5 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 25, Dodge Room, Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

President Verkuil Resigns To Head AAA

President Paul R. Verkuil announced Wednesday he plans to leave the College after Charter Day to become the president and chief executive officer of the American Automobile Association.

"There is never an ideal time to leave, and I am sensitive to the continuing needs of the faculty and students. But I am also confident that there are others who can carry on the work that we have begun. We have a singularly effective leadership team in place to fulfill the mission of this College," the president said during a press conference in the Campus Center.

His announcement prompted mixed emotions from Rector Hays T. Watkins. "On behalf of the Board of Visitors I just want to express both our congratulations to the president on this new opportunity and at the same time our sense of loss. I think what this College has accomplished in the last six years has been most dramatic," he said.

"The time to leave is when you are right at the top — when things are going well. And as much as we hate to see Paul and Fran not be at the helm in 1993, I think the accomplishments that this College has had, does have and will have during our Tercentenary will be eloquent testimony to what he has established," said Watkins.

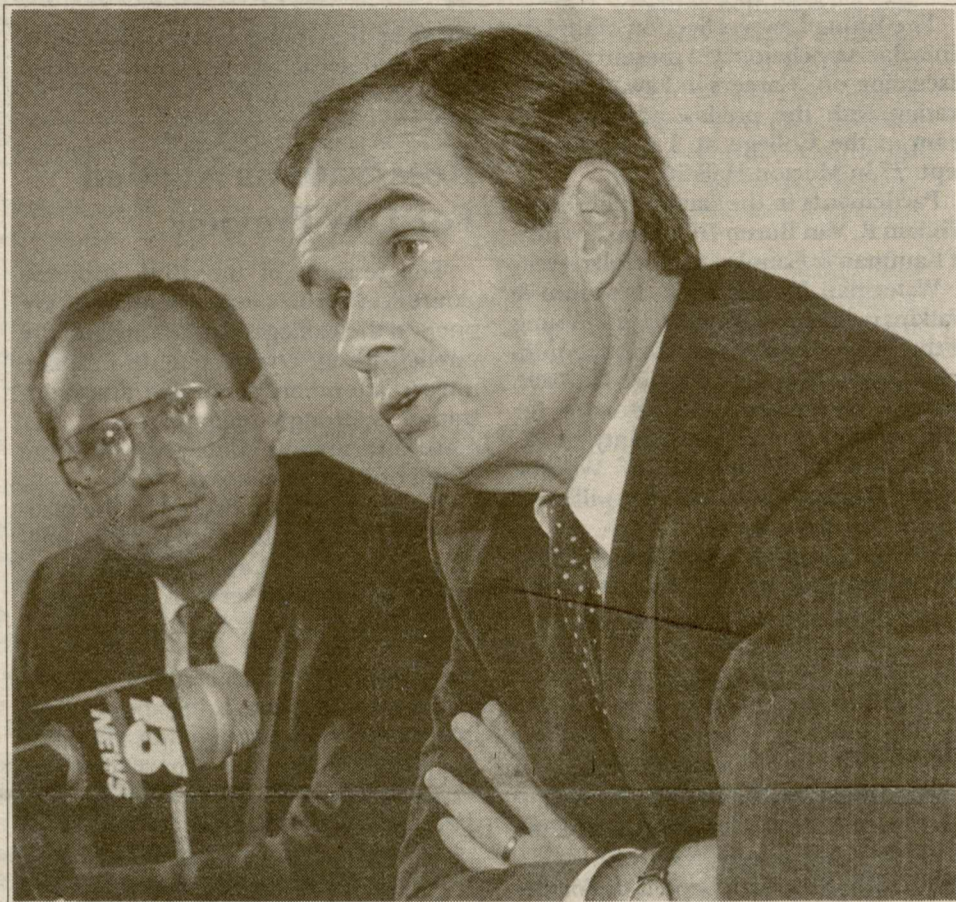

Like Verkuil, Watkins was confident of the College community's continued support. "Paul has done an outstanding job of putting together a team—a supportive faculty, an excellent student body, a great Society of the Alumni—and together we will move ahead and all celebrate [the College's Tercentenary in] 1993 and continue to plan for the Fourth Century," said the Rector.

Verkuil took the opportunity to publicly praise the William and Mary community, saying he had the highest regard for its students, faculty and staff. He called the College, "the outstanding state university for the education of undergraduates, judged by the critical variable of the quality of the undergraduate student body."

Although he will be leaving the College in February, he pledged to stay involved in the Campaign For The Fourth Century and the Tercentenary planning to ensure that both are successfully concluded.

"I had a difficult choice to make, for obvious reasons. William and Mary has been home to me and my family for over six years. I care very deeply about its success and future," he said.

In the end, the opportunity to move to a new challenge in a new field with the AAA was too powerful to pass up. "I have been offered an unusual opportunity to lead an organization of enormous national influence, tradition and prestige," Verkuil said. "The American Automobile Association is a non-profit corporation with a diverse mission. It starts with service to the motorist but includes research on new technology, lobbying for automobile safety and highway construction, and travel and insurance services for some 32 million members."

President Verkuil with William Walker, director of university relations, at press conference.

Alumnus Roger S. Woolley '47, AAA Chairman of the Board, said: "We are extremely pleased to have someone of Paul Verkuil's stature and accomplishments poised to lead the American Automobile Association to continued great success in the 1990s and beyond."

"Triple-A is confident Mr. Verkuil will provide the long-range leadership necessary to enable this organization to grow and prosper as it has the past 20 years under Jim Creal, our current president, who will retire at the end of the year."

Verkuil became William and Mary's 24th president in 1985. He said he was proud of the many accomplishments during the last six years. "Our overall objective—to be a high-quality, but relatively small institution of broad dimensions has been achieved," he said.

Among the areas Verkuil noted were the establishment of Ph.D. programs in American studies, applied science and computer science, along with the creation of the Master of Public Policy degree under the Thomas Jefferson Program in Public Policy.

In addition, he pointed to the significant national recognition garnered by the law and business programs, and improvements to the College's physical plant.

Overall, Verkuil said, his intentions at William and Mary were nicely summarized by John McGlennon, government professor and chair of the Faculty Assembly. "He said he felt what I brought to the faculty and the College was 'a sense of possibility, an opportunity and a willingness to take new directions.' That is, after all, what a college president should do."

Watkins said the search for a successor to Verkuil could take several months. "We will be organizing for the establishment of a search committee. I will be meeting with Prof. McGlennon, with representatives of the student body, the alumni association and with the administration and we expect to get a search underway as quickly as feasible."

"Obviously, it takes a little time to put these together, but with the support and the consultation of all of the parties I would hope that within a period of several months we will at least have a timetable and hopefully have a selection by late spring or early summer. That's subject to a lot of ifs and reservations. But our timetable will be to move as expeditiously as possible," said Watkins.

On a personal level, Verkuil expressed his thanks to the College community for their support over the years. "Both Fran and I are grateful for the opportunity to serve, and as alumni, we hope that our days of service are not over."

New Program Gives Faculty Extended Borrowing Privileges

"It is as if the William and Mary libraries suddenly opened branch offices coast to coast," said Nancy H. Marshall. "For faculty, that is the effect of William and Mary's participation in the OCLC Reciprocal Faculty Borrowing Program. This program will allow any William and Mary faculty member to borrow books when visiting any one of more than 150 university libraries throughout the country."

It is the newest service offered by OCLC, a non-profit computer library service and research organization whose computer network and products link more than 11,000 libraries in 37 countries and territories; Swem Library and the Marshall-Wythe School of Law Library are active members of OCLC. The program allows faculty from one institution to borrow materials when on the premises of another participating library. Boston University, Duke University, Georgetown University, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Rice University, Virginia Commonwealth University and Vanderbilt University are just a few of the institutions participating in the program.

Before a William and Mary faculty member goes to another institution and asks for borrowing privileges, it is necessary to obtain a Reciprocal Borrowing Program borrower's card. These are available from the Interlibrary Loan office in Swem Library, Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

When issuing a card, the interlibrary loan staff will check the policy statements of the libraries the faculty member is planning to visit. These statements will list loan periods, renewal privileges and any restrictions established by the other libraries for loans made through this program.

It is necessary to obtain one of these cards before visiting another library and asking for borrowing privileges. If a book is lost or overdue, the faculty member who borrowed the items is responsible for any fines or charges.

To learn more about this new program or check to see if a particular institution is a participant, call John Lawrence at ext. 13071.

Pre-Law Plans Program On Legal Careers

The Young Lawyers Section of the Virginia Bar Association will present a panel discussion on "Careers in Law," in cooperation with the pre-law advising program at the College at 3 p.m., Friday, Sept. 27 in Morton Hall 20.

Participants in the panel will include William R. Van Buren III, of the law firm of Kaufman & Canoles in Norfolk; Avery T. Waterman Jr., of Patten, Wornom & Watkins in Newport News; Virginia Young of the law department of Norfolk Southern Corporation; and Patrick D. Kelly, assistant commonwealth's attorney for Williamsburg/James City County.

Michael F. Urbanski, of Woods, Rogers, Hazelgrove in Roanoke, will serve as panel moderator.

The program is open to all William and Mary students and is part of the effort by the Young Lawyers Section to provide outreach to students considering a career in law.

Reservations Needed For Law Preview

The sessions of the 1991 Supreme Court Preview on campus Sept. 27-28 are open to the College community and the public without charge but those planning to attend are reminded that registration is strongly recommended. For more information contact the Institute of Bill of Rights Laws, ext. 13810.

The preview is sponsored by the Institute of Bill of Rights Law at the Marshall-Wythe School of Law. Rod Smolla, institute director, will serve as moderator.

rents of the early 20th century, Catholic Modernism sought to bring about a revolution in Catholic thought out of a medieval scholasticism and into a historical way of thinking. The movement was condemned by the Vatican in 1907 and Tyrrell was excommunicated, but it bore fruit eventually, after 1960, as evidenced in the actions of the Second Vatican Council.

Swem Library

University Librarian Nancy H. Marshall has been appointed to the Advisory Board and Merle A. Kimball, Serials Collection Development and Preservation Librarian, is a member of the working committee for the Virginia Newspaper Project, which is being sponsored by the Virginia State Library and Archives, the Virginia Historical Society, the University of Virginia and the College. The project is aimed at finding, cataloging and preserving newspapers in the Commonwealth. The Virginia project is part of a national effort to identify, preserve and make available to researchers newspapers published in the United States from the 17th century through the present.

Theatre and Speech

Professor Louis E. Catron is finalist judge in the North Carolina "Playwright's Competition" for original plays. The winning playwright will receive a cash award plus production. Catron has served as playwrighting judge for a number of comparable contests, including those sponsored by the Virginia Commission for the Arts and various theatres and publications.

Theatre Opens Season with Musical on La. Politics

One of the entertainment bargains of the 1991-92 season is the William and Mary Theatre calendar which includes an eclectic combination of dramatic offerings.

The season will include "All the King's Men" by Adrian Hall; "A Doll's House" by Henrik Ibsen; "Noises Off" by Michael Frayn and "The Wake of Jamey Foster" by Beth Henley.

Season tickets are $17. Individual tickets are $5 except for "All the King's Men," for which tickets are $6. Subscription forms may be obtained by calling the theatre department office at ext. 12660.

The season opens Oct. 10 with "All the King's Men," a musical adaptation by Adrian Hall from Robert Penn Warren's Pulitzer Prize-winning novel. "A Doll's House" by Henrik Ibsen opens Nov. 21. "Noises Off" by Michael Frayn opens Feb. 27 and the final play of the season, "The Wake of Jamey Foster," opens April 16.

"All the King's Men" is based on the career of Louisiana populist Huey Long and is presented from a reporter's point of view. Billed as a lively tale of political corruption," the play raises the specter that ends may justify means. The director will be Richard H. Palmer, professor of theatre and speech.

play that rocked 19th-century bourgeois society and ushered in the social drama of the modern stage.

Performances are scheduled at 8:15 p.m., Nov. 21, 22, 23 and 2 p.m., Nov. 24.

A fast-paced comedy that was a hit in London and on Broadway, "Noises Off" will be presented at 8:15 p.m., Feb. 27, 28, 29 and 2 p.m., March 1.

Palmer will direct this play, which gives the audience a comic view of the theatre from both sides of the footlights.

Louis E. Catron, professor of theatre and speech, will direct "The Wake of Jamey Foster." The playwright is Beth Henley, winner of a Pulitzer Prize for "Crimes of the Heart." She is known for her offbeat humor. The plot involves the eccentric family of Jamey Foster who gathers for his wake and decides they won't miss him.

The box office for each production opens approximately 10 days ahead of opening night. Tickets may be reserved by calling the box office at 221-2674.

Auditions For 'A Doll's House'

Auditions for the William and Mary Theatre main stage production of "A Doll's House," Henrik Ibsen's naturalistic masterpiece, will be held Oct. 7-8, in the Lab Theatre (PBK 129). The director will be Jerry H. Bledsoe.

Auditions will be held from 4 to 6 p.m., Monday, Oct. 7, and from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 8.

No preparation is required for the audition, but familiarity with the script is encouraged and prepared pieces will be seen. Prepared pieces may be from any translation.

Roles are available for four men and four women. The roles of the three children will be cast at a later date.

Callbacks will be held on Oct. 9, with rehearsals beginning Oct. 16. Performances will be Nov. 21-24.

For further information, check the call board at PBK or call ext. 12659.

Performances will be given at 8:15 p.m., Oct. 10, 11, 12, 18, 19, and 2 p.m., Oct. 20.

Jerry H. Bledsoe, executive director of the Virginia Shakespeare Festival this summer, will direct "A Doll's House," the

Early Morning Assaults Near Crim Dell, Cafe Reported

In a Collegewide memo to students Sunday, W. Samuel Sadler, vice president for student affairs, reported an assault on an undergraduate woman early Sunday morning.

"At approximately 2 a.m. this morning, an undergraduate woman reported that she had been assaulted as she walked on Stadium Drive (near Crim Dell). An unknown assailant grabbed her from behind by her throat and attempted to shove her down. She ran and was able to escape further harm.

"Thirty minutes later, a local woman reported being the victim of a similar assault in the parking lot behind the Green Leaf Cafe. This woman was also able to fend off her attacker who is described as a black male, tall (over 5' 10"), of medium complexion and with a gold front tooth.

"This is the second time in two weeks that women have been attacked in Williamsburg. Three of the four victims have been students although only one of the attacks, that occurring early this morning, has taken place on campus. The police have not established whether the attacks are related. Their occurrence, however, is an unfortunate reminder that even on our campus and in a community like Williamsburg, attacks can and do occur. Whenever possible, police advise, we should avoid being out alone after dark or in isolated areas. Suspicious activity should be reported to the Campus Police immediately.

"Anyone who might have information about the incidents this morning is asked to contact the Campus Police at ext. 14596."

Treasurer's Note To Freshmen

To make life easier and to avoid long lines, Stafford Loan checks will be disbursed on the following schedule based on the first letter of your last name:

Merck To Speak At HACE Meeting

William F. Merck, vice president for administration and finance, will be guest speaker at the monthly meeting of HACE at 1 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 8 in the Campus Center Room E.

Merck will speak on "The New University Center" and the upcoming Combined Virginia Campaign.

Following Mr. Merck's talk, the Employee of the Month will be announced and officers will be elected for next year. The new officers will be installed at the Nov. meeting.

The Athletic Department will sponsor a drawing for two tickets to the homecoming football game against The Citadel, Oct. 19. Winner must be present at the meeting.

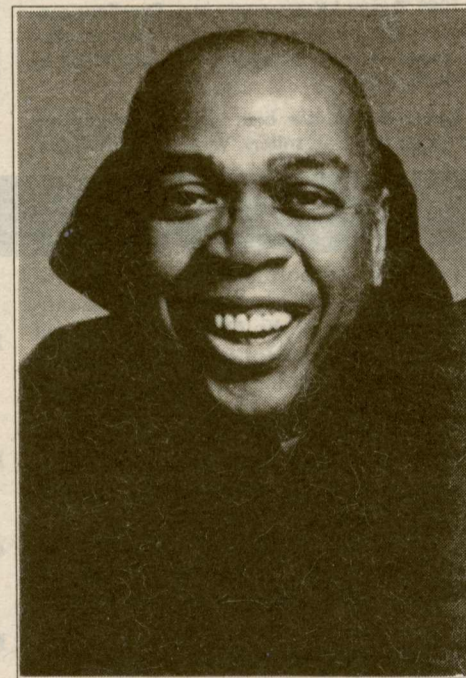

Geoffrey Holder Coming Saturday Night As Part Of Family Weekend Program

"Instant Theatre" by Geoffrey Holder at 8 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 28 in W&M Hall, part of the program for Family Weekend, is also open to the general public.

Tickets are $5 for the general public; $3 for staff and faculty. Students will be admitted free with current I.D.

A multi-talented entertainer, Holder received two Tony Awards for his work in the Broadway musical "The Wiz" for best director and best costume design. He directed, choreographed and costumed "Timbuktoo" on Broadway starring Eartha Kitt and won several Clio Awards for his work in 7-Up and British West Indian Airlines commercials.

As an actor he starred on Broadway in "Waiting for Godot." His films include "Live and Let Die," "Dr. Doolittle" and Woody Allen's "Everything You've Always Wanted to Know About Sex." He was premier danseur at the Metropolitan Opera House in "Aida" and "La Perichole." As a painter he won the Guggenheim Fellowship Award. Goodwin Island Beach Clean-Up Set

The sixth quarterly Goodwin Islands Beach Clean-Up will be held Saturday, Sept. 28, sponsored by the Virginia Institute of Marine Science through the Chesapeake Bay National Estuarine Research Reserve System in Virginia.

Volunteers from the York Chapter of the Chesapeake Bay Foundation will take part in the cleanup, which is part of a volunteer-driven study of the debris problem on U.S. beaches.

Previous teams have collected 400 pounds of plastic, aluminum, styrofoam and paper trash in one day.

The Goodwin Islands, owned by the College, are one of four York River sites that were designated as National Estuarine Research Reserves in June.

For further information on the Clean-Up program, call Bland Crowder at 804-642-7135.

Director of Annual Support

The following position is open to applications from current William and Mary and VIMS employees only.

The College of William and Mary invites applications for a professional position in the Office of University Advancement/Development. This position requires an advanced degree or training and work experience at a level which equates to an advanced degree. The successful candidate will be well organized, highly motivated, with strong personal and written communication skills, capable of dealing with a diverse constituency.

The Director for Annual Support serves as director for the William and Mary Annual Fund, responsible for planning, organizing, and implementing programs designed to increase levels of current operating support for the College from all constituencies with primary focus on alumni, parents, and friends. The Director supervises professional and support staff in their roles within the Office of Annual Support. In addition to regular duties, during the public phase of the CAMPAIGN FOR THE FOURTH CENTURY, the Director will conduct an integrated mail and telephone program in support of the regional campaign effort. The Director will also be responsible for the planning and implementation of the faculty/staff component of the campaign.

In addition to the general requirements, applicants should have prior successful development experience, preferably in a higher education setting with focus in direct mail, telephone, and personal solicitation methods.

Send letter of application, resume, salary history, and names and telephone numbers of three references to: Dennis Slon, Director of Development, The College of William and Mary, P.O. Box 8795, Williamsburg, VA 23187-8795. Deadline for applications will be Oct. 2.

The College of William and Mary is an Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity Employer. Applications from women and minorities are encouraged.
