

WILLIAM & MARY NEWS

Non-Profit Organization
U.S. Postage PAID
Williamsburg, VA
Permit No. 26

VOLUME XXIV, NUMBER 15

A NEWSPAPER FOR FACULTY, STUDENTS AND STAFF

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1995

Bush On Tap For Commencement

George Herbert Walker Bush, 41st president of the United States, will be the keynote speaker May 14 for the College's annual commencement ceremony.

Bush, who served as president from 1989 to 1993, will receive an honorary doctor of laws degree from the College during the graduation ceremony in William and Mary Hall. Also during the ceremony, the College will honor David Beers Quinn, a history scholar and former visiting professor at William and Mary, and J. Maxwell Irvine, principal and vice-chancellor of the University of Aberdeen in Scotland.

In this century, Calvin Coolidge, Herbert Hoover, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower all spoke at campus events during their presidencies. Former President Gerald Ford and then-candidate Jimmy Carter held one of their debates in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial hall in 1976; and in 1983, Ronald Reagan led an economic summit of international leaders, which took place in William and Mary Hall.

A graduate of Yale University, Bush served in the U.S. House of Representatives from 1966 to 1970. After serving as U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations from 1971 to 1973, Bush led the U.S. Liaison Office in Beijing before becoming CIA director in 1976.

Bush was Ronald Reagan's vice president from 1981 to 1989.

An honorary doctor of humane letters degree will be given to David Beers Quinn, a distinguished historian and visiting James Pinckney Harrison Professor of History at the College from 1969 to 1970.

Quinn, who has degrees from Queen's University in Belfast and King's College at the University of London, is a well-published historian whose works on Irish history and the early British settlements in North America have won him international praise.

Also receiving an honorary degree at the ceremony will be J. Maxwell Irvine, principal and vice-chancellor of the University of Aberdeen in Scotland. William and Mary's first president, the Rev. James Blair, is a graduate of Marischal College, now a part of the University of Aberdeen. This year marks the 500th anniversary of the University of Aberdeen.

Irvine, an authority in nuclear physics, has degrees from the Edinburgh University, the University of Michigan, and the University of Manchester. His position as principal and vice-chancellor is equivalent to a university president in the United States. The College will grant him an honorary doctor of science degree.

Commencement is a ceremony for the graduating students and their families.

George Bush

Robertson, ACLU President Headline Law Symposium

Religious leader Pat Robertson and Nadine Strossen, president of the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU), will debate the role of religion in public schools at a symposium next week at the College. Titled "How Much God In the Schools?," the debate will be held Thursday, Feb. 23, at 6 p.m. in the University Center Auditorium. The event is free and open to the public.

Organized by law students from the Student Division of the Institute of Bill of Rights Law, the three-and-a-half hour program is designed to address the recent national debate over the issue of religion in public schools.

"Pat Robertson is the primary person responsible for the fact that this issue is even being raised," said second-year law student Peter Owen, director of the symposium.

Robertson and Strossen, whose organizations often represent disparate sides of the religion-in-schools issue, will not actually debate the topic face-to-face. Instead, Robertson will begin the event with a keynote address and Strossen will deliver the closing remarks.

Another highlight of the symposium will be a moot court debate among law students arguing for and against religion in public schools. A panel consisting of leading national authorities on religious liberty will also examine the issue, and members of the audience may ask questions of them.

Panelists will include: Elliot Minceberg, legal director for People for the American Way; Steven Goldberg, professor of law at Georgetown University Law Center; Ruti Teitel, professor of law at New York Law School; Lynn Buzzard, professor of law at Campbell University; and Jay Sekulow, chief counsel for Robertson's American Center for Law Justice (ACLJ).

"In composing the list of panelists, we sought to have a balance between those who think that the country has cut itself off from its religious foundations and those who strongly value a clear demarcation between church and state," said Owen.

President of the ACLU since 1991, Strossen is a law professor at New York Law School. She last visited the College two years ago when she debated former U.S. Attorney General Edwin Meese on individual rights and community values.

Robertson is founder and chancellor of Regent University, founder of the ACLJ and chairman of the Christian Broadcasting Network.

Pat Robertson

Nadine Strossen

Indoor Track Star Puts Team First

Brian Hyde

By Jonathan Hunley
News Intern

In a sport where individual achievement can often consume a runner, Brian Hyde puts his team ahead of himself.

Hyde, a senior, broke a College record at the USAir Invitational track meet at East Tennessee State University in Johnson City, Tenn., on Jan. 28. He ran the invitational mile in 3:59.92, surpassing the previous indoor College record of 4:00.01 set in 1990 by Paul Vandegrift '91.

"I always thought I'd break the four-minute [mile]. Now I'm thinking I have so much further to go."

"Everything that ranks really high for me are team things," said Hyde, adding that the rest of the College's distance medley team also broke records at the Invitational.

While extremely prestigious, Hyde ranks his accomplishment "fifth or sixth down the list" of his track memories.

"I always thought I'd break the four-minute [mile]. Now I'm thinking I have so much further to go," he said.

Hyde added there was formidable competition at the Johnson City meet.

Although Hyde broke a College record, he

CONTINUED ON PAGE 2

Cold Weather Causes Breach In Water Pipes

Two underground water pipes broke last week at the Dillard Complex and old campus.

The Dillard break took place Tuesday evening, and was repaired within three hours. A rupture Wednesday night, however, in an underground pipe near Ewell Circle interrupted service to Jefferson Hall until 11:30 a.m. Thursday.

Water freezing on the bricks near the old campus break also forced the temporary closure of sidewalks in the vicinity of Ewell Circle.

Paul Morris, director of facilities management, said underground water pipes, especially the older ones, are particularly prone to breaking during this time of the year.

"A lot of our older water pipes are beyond their life cycle," Morris said. "As the ground freezes and thaws, it heaves up and down and puts pressure on the pipes."

While parts of the College's underground water system have been replaced in recent years, some sections of piping are more than 50 years old. Breaches in these pipes occur most frequently during the winter.

College officials are optimistic this problem will be alleviated significantly within the next two years. As a result of a general obligation bond referendum passed in 1992, more than $6.2 million was appropriated to the College for upgrading underground utilities, including selected older sections of piping in the water system.

Chief plumber Edward Martin of facilities management repairs the rupture in the underground water pipe that burst last Wednesday evening near Ewell Circle.

But until these improvements are made, Morris warns that more underground water pipes will likely break, especially with spring only weeks away. "When the ground starts thawing, sometimes it can look like Yellowstone around here," he said.

Hyde Breaks Indoor Track Record

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

finished second in the race to Marcus O'Sullivan of Ireland who ran the course in 3:59.14.

Nonetheless, the fact that Vandegrift ran in the meet as well made the moment even more special for Hyde. "He [Vandegrift] was here my freshman year," Hyde said. "It seems like he owns just about every record we have."

Hyde began his love of sports early in life. Starting to run in elementary school, the Michigan native also played a variety of other sports in grade school.

"Except for football there's probably not a sport I didn't play," he said.

His decision to pursue solely track stemmed from the large amount of time he eventually began devoting to the sport. "I kind of got absorbed in the whole thing," Hyde said.

That devotion has grown more pronounced through his years at the College. To cope with the demands of his sport and his studies, Hyde moved off campus to avoid the often noisy dorm life. "I'm an early-to-bed person," he said.

Hyde, an accounting major, has one year of eligibility left. He plans to take next semester off to study for the CPA exam and return to competition in the spring of 1996.

For the remainder of this season, Hyde believes his performance and that of others should enable his team to continue improving its national track reputation.

"Since Walt [team coach Drenth] has gotten here, we've been carving out a name for ourselves," Hyde said. "As far as individual events, we have guys that can compete with anybody."

Hyde's teammates share his enthusiasm about their ability to succeed. They also look to Hyde as a source of inspiration.

"Running with Brian has inspired everybody on the team to improve and run better times," said freshman and fellow runner Eric Harter.

After graduation, Hyde doesn't foresee his dedication to running as diminishing. Considering he runs 80 miles a week currently, Hyde has found the sport an indelible part of his life.

"I'll always keep running," he said.

Upcoming Conferences

History Scholars Meet Here Feb. 19-25

Faculty and students from Europe and the United States will meet on campus Feb. 19-25 for a ground-breaking Atlantic history conference.

The conference, "Moving On: European, Atlantic and American Migration in the Age of Expansion and Settlement, 15th-20th Centuries," is part of a pilot program sponsored by the United States and the European Union to foster new types of trans-Atlantic academic collaboration and student exchange. Seven European institutions and two American universities will participate in the collaborative conference, which takes place here and at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

"This is not just another conference—it is, more accurately, a unique international workshop in which participants will actually do history," explained Craig Canning, associate professor of history and associate director of international studies at the Reves Center. "The program is designed to promote collaborative research at all levels of student and faculty exchange."

The American-European collaborative conference—the first of its kind in the United States—is concerned with the nature and impact of the migration of Europeans and Africans to Latin America, the West Indies and North America; the pattern of migration among Indian peoples; and the development of large-scale internal migration in the early 20th century, according to Canning.

The public is invited to attend a keynote address, titled "Comparative Perspectives On Migration," by Phillip Morgan, a professor at Florida State University, on Sunday at 8 p.m. in Tidewater A of the University Center. For more information, call 221-3592.

"Access Vs. Privacy" Conference Set For March 17

"Access vs. Privacy: Approaches to State Information Policy," is a one-day conference being held Friday, March 17, in the University Center to examine the growing conflicts between those who collect and then disseminate public information, and those who worry about invasions of privacy.

"We have not even struck a satisfactory balance with the government's paper records, and now the world of electronic storage and network access is upon us," said Professor of Law I. Trotter Hardy, a specialist in the growing field of cyber-law, who will moderate the program.

Hardy said the program would be useful for state information policy officials, scholars, attorneys who deal with government-held information; and public interest groups concerned about access, privacy or commercial information sales.

The $75 fee for registration is being waived for William and Mary faculty, staff and students. For more information, call ext. 13810.

Association Of Honor Societies Returns To Its Roots

The Association of College Honor Societies will hold its annual meeting this week in Williamsburg, where College students formed Phi Beta Kappa, the first honor society, in 1776.

"I know it sounds a little corny to say we're going back to our roots, but it's true: Williamsburg is the root of honor societies in America," said William Johnson, vice president and president-elect of the Association of College Honor Societies.

The organization represents more than 60 honor societies, from Alpha Chi, which recognizes achievement in all academic fields, to Xi Sigma Pi for students in forestry.

The annual meeting is being held Thursday through Saturday at the Williamsburg Lodge. Sessions are designed for each society's leader and will focus on ways they can better manage their organizations, and expand or enrich society activities.

President Timothy Sullivan will be the dinner speaker at the Association's banquet.

NOTES

Conference Services Has Summer Job Openings

Applications are available at the conference services office, 110 North Boundary St., through Friday, Feb. 24 for students interested in working with the College's summer conference program from May 19 through Aug. 12. Additional information is available on WAMI under the Administrative Information/Conference Services/Summer Employment. For more information, call conference services at 221-4084 or e-mail Bill Tian, associate director, at wjtian@confs.wm.edu.

Applicants Sought For Military Scholarship

The Association of 1775, the College's military alumni group, is accepting applications through March 1 for its annual scholarship, the "Association of 1775 Commitment to Military Service Scholarship." The scholarship will be awarded to a full-time William and Mary student who falls under one of the following categories: is enrolled in a commissioning program of one of the armed services; is a member of one of the reserve components; is serving on active duty; has been honorably discharged from one of the uniformed services.

The Association currently plans to award at least one scholarship, in the amount of $750 or more, but may, depending on the circumstances, choose to make one or more additional smaller awards.

Applications may be obtained at the Alumni House from Karen Wright, ext. 11184. Questions about the scholarship should be directed to James Dorsey, scholarship committee chairman, at 253-2324.

Libraries Need Permission To Use Social Security Numbers

For the automated circulation system, the College's libraries need to identify each borrower with a numerical code, preferably the borrower's social security number.

With users' permission, the College can provide a tape of social security numbers which can be loaded into the database where they will be protected from unauthorized use.

In compliance with the Virginia Code, section 2.1-385, the College requests permission to use your social security number within the database. Persons who find that this is not acceptable, please notify Linda Adams, circulation coordinator, Swem Library, in writing by Friday, March 17.

If the libraries do not hear from users by Friday, March 17, they will assume permission to use their numbers is granted.

Campus Crime Report

January 1995

Crimes
Assault	3
Larceny
Bikes	16
From Motor Vehicles	1
From Buildings	12
Arrests
Driving Under the Influence	4
Liquor Law Violations	1
Drug Abuse Violations	1
Assault	3
Fraud	1
Larceny/Theft	2
Miscellaneous (Not Traffic)	3
Summons Issued (Traffic)	68

Cupid Strikes College Employees

For couples who meet on the job, William and Mary holds a special place in their hearts

Like many Fridays when the day never ever seems to end, Jan. 31, 1986, wasn't going well for Nancy, a laboratory specialist at the Virginia Institute of Marine Science. Then, in the afternoon, her colleague and boyfriend Sam Wilson stopped by to see her.

"He came in looking like he had bad news to tell me," said Wilson. "Then he proposed to me."

Having worked in the same department at VIMS for eight years before starting to date, the two scientists began their relationship in 1984 when Sam asked Nancy out.

"I had no trouble saying yes because it felt real normal dating someone whom I worked with," said Nancy.

Sam and Nancy married in September 1986. Both agree that working together has kept their personal relationship sparkling. "It certainly hasn't made for a boring marriage," said Nancy.

No records are kept on the frequency of on-the-job romances at the College that led to the altar. An informal survey, however, discovered at least eight married couples who met in the workplace.

In many of these cases, romance ensued when job duties converged and both employees found themselves working together.

The Kathy and Charlie Yates story began in 1980 after Kathy had been on the Campus Police force for only two months. Within weeks of each other, Kathy had two accidents while on duty.

Kathryn and Matt Kelchner (above) were drawn together by a common love of football. Kathy and Charlie Yates (top right) met during Campus Police motorcycle training. Nancy and Sam Wilson in the VIMS lab where they both work and were engaged.

"It [working together] certainly hasn't made for a boring marriage," —Nancy Wilson

After wrecking a police motorcycle during training, Kathy was left with not only a broken arm, but shattered self-confidence as well.

Despite her trepidation about getting back on a motorcycle, Kathy had to continue taking motorcycle training. Assigned to Charlie, however, she soon lost her inhibition.

"He took me really slow through the rebuilding process," said Kathy. "He kept telling me that I'm not accident prone and that I was a good officer."

Kathy recalls that his sincere attitude made all the difference in helping her regain self-confidence. It also fostered their friendship.

Eventually working some of the same shifts, they realized that they shared many of the same interests. "The more I got to know him, the more I liked him," said Kathy.

After dating for more than a year and a half, Kathy and Charlie married in December 1981.

To have a more stable work schedule with the hope of spending more time together, Kathy took a job as an office manager in Campus Police. Charlie, meanwhile, has remained on the street.

While their jobs were the catalyst for their relationship, a common love of football ultimately brought Matt and Kathryn Kelchner together.

As an area director in Residence Life, Kathryn is responsible for the Preston and Giles dormitories where the football team stays during the latter part of the summer. Prior to the players' arrival in August 1992, Kathryn met with Matt to inspect the buildings.

"Dating him was not even in my picture of thought when we first met," said Kathryn. "But all I could think of when I first met him was, 'Poor man, he doesn't have a wife.'"

Within weeks of their initial encounter, Matt stopped by Kathryn's office to ask her out for lunch. She was out at the time, so Matt asked Kathryn's co-workers for her phone number at home.

"They refused to give out my phone number," Kathryn said. "I guess they were trying to protect me."

Undaunted, Matt asked Kathryn for her home number the next time they met in an official setting. "Sure you can have my number," Matt recalls Kathryn saying.

During their first luncheon date, Matt, a Penn State fan, and Kathryn, a Notre Dame fan, discovered a mutual passion for football.

"If we hadn't both liked football, we would have never gotten married," said Kathryn.

The two have been married since July 1993. Still working together occasionally, Matt and Kathryn have realized job benefits from their relationship.

"Before I knew Matt, I had little idea of the rigorous life a football player has at the College," said Kathryn, who administers dormitory hall programs for many athletes. "I now have a much better perception of the guys and can feel real open with them."

Matt, meanwhile, said he understands much better the importance of hall programs to his players.

by Poul E. Olson

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

FOR SALE

Specialized stumpjumper 20" mountain bike. Many add-ons—Vetta cycloputer, anodized quick releases, Cannondale seat pack, Onza ends, classic Deore DX components. Ready to race, like new condition, well kept, hardly used. Sells new for $850+, asking $450. Call 249-3166 and leave message.

Brother word processor: Model WP-3400. Many features. Manual included. $100. Call 888-0880.

Panasonic AG-455U, S-VHS CAMERA with Bogen fluid head tripod and attachable professional halogen light. Less than 20 hours use. Paid more than $2,000 for all. Will sacrifice for $1,500. Call ext. 15292.

Music equipment: Boss CE-2 Stereo Chorus, $50; Boss PS-2 Delay/Pitch shifter, $120; Samson VR-1 wireless, $125; Fender Mini-amp, $20; Memphis bass, $50. Call 229-7063.

Matching sofa/love seats, $70; maple chest-of-drawers, $50; exercise bike, $75; end table with built-in lamp, $20; baby carrier, $10; bicycle, $50. All items in excellent or good condition. Call 220-8128.

Dark wood living room set (couch, chair, footstool, coffee table), $150; dark wood bedroom set (twin bed, dresser, desk w/chair), $150; crate computer desk, $25; big velvet armchair, $20; twin bed frame, $20. All in good condition. Call 229-7341.

FOR RENT

Best kept secret at W&M: For spring break and weekend getaways, outdoor adventurers visit the Outdoor Rec Center. All camping essentials available—tents, sleeping bags, backpacks, stoves; as well as a variety of extras—canoes, cooksets, lanterns, grills, saws. All prices fit easily into college student's budget. Rent or purchase. Call ext. 13474.

Outer Banks family vacation home in Ocean Sands (north of Duck), 5 BRs, sleeps 12. Three tiled full baths (2 whirlpools). Central AC and heat, microwave, dishwasher, washer and dryer, TV, VCD. No smoking or pets. Very good ocean view, 200 yds to beach; tennis. $1,290/week. Off-season rates also available. Call ext. 13889.

SERVICES

Kaplan is offering a free test drive or practice test of LSAT, GMAT, GRE and MCAT on Saturday, Feb. 25. Spaces limited. Call 1-800-KAP-TEST to reserve a seat.

FREE

To a good home. Brown terrier mix, 10-month-old, 60-lb., male dog. Friendly, neutered, housebroken. Needs room to run. Call Cathy at ext. 12362.

Save Money With A Debit Card

Members of the College community who use their William and Mary debit card for the next three months will automatically receive a 10 percent discount on items purchased in vending machines on campus. Tied to the College ID card, the W&M debit card can also be used to purchase items and pay for bills at a variety of locations around campus. All faculty, staff and students are eligible to open a debit account. For more information, stop by the ID office located in the atrium (room 169) of the Campus Center or call ext. 12105.

WILLIAM & MARY NEWS

The next issue of the William and Mary News will be published on March 1. Deadline for submission of items is 5 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 24, although submissions prior to the deadline are encouraged. Call Editor Poul Olson at ext. 12639 with any questions or concerns.

The William & Mary News is issued during the school year for faculty, staff and students of the College and distributed on campus Wednesday afternoons.

News items and advertisements should be delivered to the News office in Holmes House, 308 Jamestown Rd. (221-2639), or e-mailed to wmnews@mail.wm.edu, no later than 5 p.m. the Friday before publication.

Poul E. Olson, editor

Marilyn Carlin, desktop publishing

C. J. Gleason/VISCOM, photography

Stewart Gamage, vice president for community relations and public service

CALENDAR

SPECIAL EVENTS

February 17-18

The Inter-American Ambassadorial Summit in the University Center, Commonwealth Auditorium, beginning at 2:15 p.m. on Feb. 17 and concluding at noon on Feb. 18. For details, call 221-3590.

March 1

St. David's Day festivities at 10 a.m. in Swem Library, Friends' Room. James Nicholas, Welsh poet, will speak on "The Secrets of the Welsh Bards."

PERFORMANCES

February 16-19

William & Mary Theatre Second Season production "Bent," at 8 p.m. (Feb. 16, 17, 18) and 2 p.m. (Feb. 19) in the studio theatre, Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. Free admission.

February 17

Black History Month Cultural/Lecture Series presents the Rodney Williams Dance Troupe at 8 p.m. in the University Center auditorium. The event is free and open to the public.

February 19

The University Center Activities Board invites the campus and community to a night of Chicago Blues, R&B, gospel and jazz with Katherine Davis and Sidney James Wingfield, at 8 p.m. in the University Center, Commonwealth Auditorium. Doors open at 7:15 p.m. Admission is $2 at the door. Call 221-3254.

February 23

The William & Mary Orchestra presents an all-Beethoven concert at 8 p.m. in the University Center, Commonwealth Auditorium. A $2 donation at the door is requested.

February 23, 24, 25, 26

William & Mary Theatre presents "The Matchmaker," at 8 p.m. on Feb. 23, 24 and 25 and at 2 p.m. on Feb. 26. All performances are in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. Tickets are $5 and may be reserved at the PBK box office. Call 221-2674.

February 26

Music at the Muscarelle, a chamber music concert by the Gallery Players under the direction of Burton Kester, Muscarelle Museum, 4 p.m.

The William & Mary
CONCER SERIES
presents

The Ballet Theatre
de Bordeaux

February 28 and March 1 • 8 p.m.
Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall

General admission $20
Call 221-3276

SPEAKERS

February 16

Hugh Ducklow, Glucksman Professor of Marine Science, speaks on "New Production and Export in the Northwestern Sargasso Sea: Can New DOC Observations Close the Gap?" at the SMS/VIMS Biology Seminar Series at 4 p.m. in the Watermen's Hall auditorium, Virginia Institute of Marine Science. Call 642-7369.

February 16, 23

S. Laurie Sanderson, assistant professor of biology, speaks at the Town & Gown luncheon (Feb. 16). Her topic is "Coral Reef Research: Living and Working in an Underwater Habitat." On Feb. 23, Bruce Campbell will speak on "Who Were the Nazis?" Luncheons are at 12:15 p.m. in the University Center, Chesapeake Room. For reservations, call 221-2640 before noon on the Tuesday preceding the luncheon. Cost is $7 for the public, $5 for faculty and staff, payable on the day of the luncheon.

February 17

"The Wild Pandas of China" is the subject of a lecture by Dr. Lü Zhi from Beijing University at 4 p.m. in Millington 117. Her lecture will focus on the study of wild pandas in their native habitats and international efforts to protect the species from extinction. The lecture is free and open to the public. Call 221-2227.

February 17, 24

Two guest speakers are scheduled for physics colloquia in February: Laurie E. McNeil, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, speaks on "To See a World in a Grain of Sand: Optical Spectroscopy of SiO₂," on Feb. 17. "Tailoring the Structural and Superconducting Properties of YBa₂Cu₃ Thin Films," will be the subject addressed by Julia M. Phillips, AT&T Bell Laboratories, on Feb. 24. Both colloquia are at 4 p.m. in Small Hall 109.

February 20

Concentration Week 1995 opening session at 4 p.m. in the University Center. Randy Coleman, director of academic advising, will discuss procedures and policies for declaring concentrations, and Mary Meade Saunders, associate director of career services, will review resources to assist concentration decisions. Sophomores and freshmen are encouraged to attend. From Feb. 20 to March 2, one-hour forums will be offered by departments and schools to offer information about concentrations in specific areas and to answer questions. For more information, call 221-3240.

February 21, 28

Commonwealth Center Brown Bag Series "Performance in American Culture" presents Robin Veder speaking on "Tableaux Vivants in 19th-Century America" (Feb. 21). On Feb. 28, Bert Ashe will speak on "It's All in DeTale: Narrative Negotiations in Charles W. Chestnut's The Conjure-Woman." Both talks begin at 12:30 p.m. in the College Apts., room 1. Call 221-1277.

Feb. 22

The Spring Speaker Series "Forging the 21st Century: In Search of New Solutions to Old Dilemmas," continues with David Feldman, Berhanu Abegaz and Yana Rodgers from the economics department, discussing "The Role of Government in Development," at 7:30 p.m. in the Reves Center. Call 221-4994.

February 23

The Rosalie Furman Lectures in Judaic Studies opens with guest speaker Jeffrey S. Gurock, Kalperman Professor of Jewish History, Yeshiva University. "A Discussion of the 1885 Reform Jewish 'Pittsburgh' Platform," is the topic under consideration by Gurock and Gumenick Professor of Religion Marc Lee Raphael. The event, which is free and open to the public, is at 11 a.m. in Tyler 302.

February 23

The Black Faculty and Staff Forum invites the College community to a brown bag series in honor of Black History Month. Guest speaker is James Pinckney Harrison Professor of History David J. Garrow. His topic is "Under-Appreciated Role of Women and Students in the Civil Rights Movement." The meeting begins at noon in the University Center, Colony Room.

February 24

Black History Month Cultural/Lecture Series presents Dr. Dennis Kimbro speaking on "Think and Grow Rich: A Black Choice," at 8 p.m. in the University Center auditorium. The talk is free and open to the public.

REC SPORTS

Feb. 18-19

National aerobic and step aerobic certification workshops. For details, call 221-3313.

SPORTS

February 15

Men's basketball vs. American, W&M Hall, 7:30 p.m.

February 16

Wrestling vs. Virginia Tech, W&M Hall, 8 p.m.

Feb. 21

Women's gymnastics vs. Eastern Michigan, W&M Hall, 7:30 p.m.

February 22

Men's basketball vs. Holy Cross, W&M Hall, 7:30 p.m.

February 27

Men's basketball vs. George Mason, W&M Hall, 7:30 p.m.

For information on events, call the sports information office at 221-3368.

MEETINGS

February 16

Black Faculty and Staff Forum (BFSF) meets at noon in the University Center, James Room. (Executive committee meets on Monday preceding the meeting at 11 a.m. in Thiemes House.)

February 21, 23, 27; March 1

Faculty meetings with candidates for School of Education dean, at 9:30 a.m. in Dodge Room, Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

WORKSHOPS

February 16

Linux Users' group organizational meeting at 6 p.m. in Small Hall 148. Linux is a UNIX variant that will run on any 386- or 486-compatible PC. Call Andrew LaRoy at 259-0309 or e-mail aclaro@birds.wm.edu.

February 21, 23

The Writing Resources Center, located in Tucker 115A, is offering two free writing workshops, "Documentation and the Research Paper" (Feb. 21) and "Strategies for Taking an Essay Exam" (Feb. 23). Both workshops are at 7 p.m. at the center, Tucker 115A.

For more information, call 221-3925.

MISCELLANEOUS

February 13

A second weekly discussion group "Waiting to Exhale," for African-American women students, begins at noon in the Counseling Center. Call 221-3620.

February 15

Summer Employment Fair, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the University Center, Tidewater A and B. Approximately 50 employer representatives will be present to discuss summer job possibilities with students. Call 221-3240.

February 15

"LegalCare" presentations for College employees interested in enrolling with Legal Resources of Virginia, 10 a.m. and noon, personnel office, Thiemes House and 2 p.m., VIMS. Call Brenda Johnson at 221-3151 or Rita Metcalfe at 221-3158.

February 16

A weekly discussion group "Waiting to Exhale," for African-American women students, continues at 4:30 p.m. in the Counseling Center. Call 221-3620. (See additional listing under Feb. 13.)

February 18, 25

Observatory open house beginning at 6:30 p.m. To reach the observatory, park in PBK lot and take the sidewalk between PBK and the Muscarelle Museum, then left to Small Physical Laboratory between Jones Hall and Swem Library. Once inside, follow signs to third floor. Call 221-1399 before coming for cloud-out information.

February 19, 20

Auditions for William & Mary Theatre's production of "Helene," to be presented April 13-15. Sign-up lists and additional information posted on callboard in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. Call 221-2654.

February 20

A study group on WAVELETS meets from 2 to 2:50 p.m. in Jones 306. Call Hugo Woerdeman at 221-2022.

February 23, March 22

President Sullivan has reserved office hours especially for students to discuss issues that concern them (or just to chat). Times available are 3 to 4 p.m. (Feb. 23) and 4 to 5 p.m. (March 22). Individuals or groups may reserve a 10-minute appointment through Gail Sears (gbsear@mail.wm.edu) or 221-1693.

February 27, March 4

The radio program "With Good Reason" features physicists Dennis Manos (William & Mary), Kenneth McFarlane (Norfolk State) and Carl Shunback (Old Dominion) discussing "Big Science: CEBAF and the Hampton Roads Economy." The program will air at 1:30 p.m., Feb. 27, on WHRV-89.5 (Hampton Roads) and at 10:30 a.m., March 4, on WNSB-91.1 (Norfolk).

EXHIBITS

Through February 19

The Muscarelle Museum of Art is hosting an exhibition of silkscreen prints by Andy Warhol titled "Works by Warhol."

Through February 28

An exhibit of books illustrating the beauty of the private press book is currently on display in the Botetourt Gallery of Swem Library. Eighteen volumes highlight the work of private press companies in the United States and Canada. The books on display are from Swem Library's Manuscripts and Rare Books collection.

February 25 through March 26

Two new exhibits open at the Muscarelle Museum. The first, "Drawings and Watercolors by Hans Grohs," is a collection of landscape drawings and watercolors by German Expressionist artist Hans Grohs (1892-1981). His work was given to the museum by his daughter, Frauchen Grohs Collinson.

"James Blair Studies by Lewis Cohen," the second exhibit, features the plaster and cast bronze three-dimensional models and preparatory studies done by Professor Lewis Cohen in developing a design for his larger-than-life bronze sculpture of The Reverend James Blair. An opening reception for both exhibits will be held Feb. 24 from 5:30 to 7 p.m. at the museum.

Portrait study, 1992
Pen and ink, 8 x 6 inches

From the "James Blair Studies by Lewis Cohen" exhibit opening Feb. 25.

Through March 7

A Black History Month exhibit is on display in the lobby of Swem Library. Included in the exhibit are materials from the College archives on the African-American presence at William and Mary.

Through April 30

What's cooking at the Swem Library? The answer is "From Rare to Well-Done: America's Cookbooks in Swem Library, 1739 to 1993," an exhibit currently on display in the Zollinger Museum. The exhibit includes manuscripts, periodicals, cooking utensils and tableware spanning more than two centuries.

DEADLINES

February 17

Applications for student associates for the Keio Summer Program, an intensive English language and American culture seminar for 40 Japanese students. Call Susan Glisson at 564-9107, or Gretchen Schoel at 565-1346.

February 28

Student activities fee funding requests for 1995-96 due. Call 221-3270 or 221-3271 for information.

March 17

Applications for Ferguson-Blair graduate scholarships in publishing (up to three scholarships available for William and Mary students/alumni enrolled in one of the following programs: Howard University Book Publishing Program, New York University Programs in Book and Magazine Publishing, Radcliffe College Publishing Procedures Course, Rice University Publishing Program, Stanford University Publishing Course and University of Denver Publishing Institute). Applications available in Office of Career Services. Call 221-3240.

COMMUNITY

February 22

The Williamsburg Area Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a Williamsburg area Job Fair from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the George Washington Inn, 500 Merrimac Trail.