INDIANS SMOTHER MUTES

Indians Have Won Few Games From the Spiders

Out of 27 Games, Indians Have Won 7, Tied 2, Lost 18.— Three Touchdowns In Last 10 Years

In 1898, the first football game between the Indians and Spiders was played. Since then, the two rivals have played twenty-seven games, William and Mary winning seven, tying two, and losing eighteen.

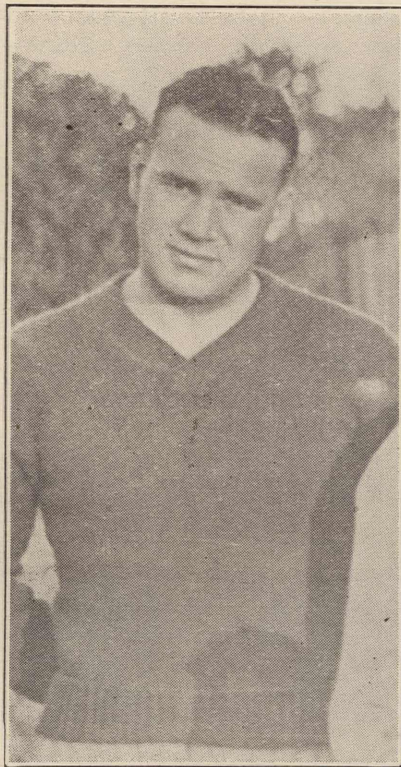

The coming game scheduled for Thanksgiving Day, will be the twenty-eighth football game staged between the two institutions.

As indicated in the tabulation of annual scores appearing elsewhere in

Some Dope On The Indians

WHITE, Halfback

"Monk" White, one of the most brilliant broken field runners in the South Atlantic States and a letter man for the past three years, received his early training at South Norfolk High School and in the army. Monk played five years on the high school eleven and two years on the army team. After the Armistice was signed, he entered William and Mary, where he has starred both as a student and an athlete. The game on Thanksgiving will be Monk's last appearance in the college football uniform, as this is his

COACH BILL INGRAM

Resume of Indians' Season Best In Years

Penn State at State College

Forced to use every ounce of strength and every trick play possessed, the Penn State eleven defeated William and Mary by the score of 27-7. The Indians put up a good fight during the whole game but they were finally overpowered by the heavier aggregation. The line held like a stone wall and on several occasions held the Nittany Lions within a few feet of their goal. William and Mary's score was obtained during the first few minutes of the conflict when Hastings scooped up a fumble and ran twenty yards for a touchdown. This is the first time that the Indians have ever crossed the Mason and Dixon line for a football game and, due to the showing they made, several large Northern colleges have written for games next season.

V. P. I. at Blacksburg

On the following Saturday, the Indians failed to play the brand of football that they exhibited at State College and received a defeat by V. P. I. by the score of 20-6. William and Mary at times showed flashes of brilliancy but at other times the

Score At Will After First Five Minutes

Fifteen hundred Peninsula fans saw Coach Ingram's Indians run roughshod over Gallaudet College, at Newport News. Line bucks, off tackle plays, and end runs spelled defeat for the Washington boys. The Indians did not open up at any time during the game.

Only once was the William and Mary goal threatened when, in the first play of the game, a neat forward pass, Sieff to Benedict, brought the ball to the fifteen-yard line. On the fourth down "Dickie" Charles, a Newport News boy, intercepted a pass and the Indians' stands breathed a sigh of relief. This was the first and last time the Mutes endangered the William and Mary goal. Gallaudet made only two first downs during the contest.

Indian Backs Run Wild

Charles, Cain, White and Irwin were the shining lights in the Indian backfield by bucking the line, skirting the ends, running back punts, and breaking up forward passes, these boys kept the cheering throng on its feet practically all the time. Charles, responsive to the cheers of his home town admirers, was easily the biggest individual ground gainer for the Tribesmen, making three of the local's touchdowns. Cain, substituting for Cofer, who had developed a fumbling streak, played a wonderful brand of ball. Cain is a hefty one hundred and seventy-five pound line plunger, and is no snail when it comes to running the ends. He seems to have recovered from his mid-season slump and can be expected to contribute heavily to the Thanksgiving classic in Richmond.

White, as usual, gained almost at will on several occasions, carrying the oval for twenty or thirty yards over the tackles or around ends. He is the hardest back to tackle on the William and Mary team. It required at least two men, and often more, to down the elusive Fairmont Richmond White.

How The State Does Its Work

122 Departments, Commissions and Agencies

Outline of Lessons in Virginia Government and Citizenship
By

Professor John Garland Pollard, LL.D.

The following classified list of 122 executive departments, commissions or agencies of the State will serve to give the reader a bird's eye view of the extent and nature of the State's activities we are to study in subsequent lessons. This classification is not based on legal relationship, but is made by the writer with the view of grouping agencies according to the nature of their functions. This often involved the separation of an agency from the department controlling it. Where the law creates in connection with a Board of Commission an office requiring the full time of the occupant, the title of the office follows that of the Board or Commission, but is not counted separately.

This list takes no account of the Legislative or Judicial Departments of the State Government.

Victorious Indians Entertained at Dinner by Peninsula Alumni

Ingram Lauded to the Skies

That William and Mary is, and should be more so, essentially a Peninsula school, and that Coach Bill Ingram is a wonderful coach and his return next fall imperative to the future gridiron success of the Indians, was the substance of several enjoyable talks made at a dinner given the Indian football team by William and Mary Alumni Association of the Peninsula.

Seldom has the Warwick Hotel ever accommodated a more enthusiastic meeting. The wonderful spirit displayed by the old grads, gave the students some idea of the Indian spirit that prevailed at William and Mary and made possible the Phoenix-like rise in 1888.

Mr. J. E. Wilkins was toastmaster of the evening. Short talks were made by several alumni. Fred Shawen, who was a member of the first football team to wear a William and Mary uniform, told of the days when the center rush was the best play in football, when equipment and money was so scarce that substitutes had to swap outfits with the men for whom they were substituted.

Professor O. L. Shewmake, the first Indian to score a touchdown on the Spiders, gave an interesting account of the early William and Mary-Richmond College rivalry.

Between courses, the Hampton Normal Institute quartette sang some melodious old darkey ditties.

In their turns, the Newport News and Hampton principals and football coaches renewed their vows of loyalty to their Alma Mater and promised to use their influence towards directing their graduates to William and Mary.

Coach Ingram emphasized the danger of over optimism in the outcome of the approaching Thanksgiving game. He said, however, that though the Indians would enter the game as the under-dogs, they could be depended upon to give a good account of themselves and reflect credit on the old institution. He concluded his speech by thanking the Peninsula Alumni for their hearty co-operation during the entire football season.

Indians To Face Dobson's Best

Optimism Prevails Here In Spite of Losses

When the Indians line up against the Spiders Thursday, they will do so with the full realization that they are facing heavy odds but with a determination to give their ancient enemies the battle of their lives. Had the Indians not lost ten regular varsity men since the opening of the season, Coach Ingram's men would have more than an even chance against Richmond College. As it is, Coach Ingram will oppose Richmond with the team that defeated Roanoke 14 to 0, and Gallaudet 45 to 0. While weakened in reserve power, the present varsity is in perfect physical condition and exhibits team work and fighting spirit never seen before on a William and Mary team.

Spirit around the campus is excellent. The entire student body promises to be present to cheer the fighting Indians. Utmost confidence in the ability of Coach Ingram to send to Richmond a worthy foe prevails.

No one will be surprised should the eagle of victory light on the standard of the Orange and Black. If there is any surprise, Richmond will undergo it.

The Spider team of '22 is the result of Dobson's best efforts after four years' work on the same material. If

COME ON, RICHMOND!

While we are not overconfident that the Indians will choose the laurel crown of victory rather than suffer its loss, we do feel that our team will present to the football fans a fighting squad of men, and in every respect good sports. Our team has suffered only two defeats during the season, but those defeats were victories for us. In no game have the Indians failed to score on the opponents, no matter how formidable the opponents were. With this record behind the team, we feel that the Orange and Black will revenge the defeats of the past three years at the hands of the Spiders and will take the palm of victory from Coach Dobson's powerful machine, the Spider eleven.

The student body is willing to lend its support and loyalty to the Indians and will manifest a real college spirit in Richmond on Thanksgiving Day. We are going 100 per cent strong to Richmond with the determination that we are going to stick behind our old Indian team whether we win or lose, and we have no great fear that we are going to lose.

Let's go to Richmond ready and armed with a spirit of loyalty and support for our team and manifest it at Mayo Island Park in a manner characteristic of William and Mary students. "Come on, Richmond," is our war cry. The Indian camp is ablaze with "pep" for our Big Game. Let's scalp Richmond.

Thanksgiving Dances 7th and 8th of Dec.

Jan Garber and his Garber-Davis Orchestra will be with us again on Thursday and Friday evenings, December 7 and 8, when the Cotillion Club will give their Thanksgiving Dances in the gymnasium of Jefferson Hall. There will also be a hop in the Gym on Friday afternoon.

Mr. Henry T. Moncure, President of the Cotillion Club, when interviewed by a representative of the Flat Hat, stated that the Club hoped to make these the best dances of the season. He also said that, in view of some misunderstanding in the past with reference to the show of enthusiasm upon the part of the dancers when college songs were played, the chaperones have been seen, and have conceded that what they took to be a breach of etiquette upon the part of the students, was but a spontaneous display of enthusiasm, and in the future a moderate amount of yelling during the playing of college songs will be tolerated, though those attending the dances are earnestly requested not to overstep the mark and make a bedlam of noise.

Mr. Moncure also stated that invitations to these dances will be sent to all those other than students and alumni whom the Club wishes to invite. Friends of students and alumni may attend the dances without written invitations provided they are identified at the door.

Senior Class Reception Dec. 9

At a meeting of the faculty Monday afternoon, November 13, it was decided to hold a reception for the Senior Class so that the faculty and students might become better acquainted in a different capacity. The reception will be held in the Library, on the evening of December 9.

Here And There

Should Coach Ingram return next year, and further perfect his wonderful Dobie system here, the 1923 Indians should excel any football team the old College has ever boasted. Give us Bill!

The Indians situated something like the French were at the Marne, will take up about the same cry: "On ne passera pas."

Monk White will sing his swan song at Richmond. We predict that the Spiders will remember its tune for years to come. Monk is being sought by several preparatory schools as a football coach. We wish him every success in his new field, and feel confident that his ability will win him great recognition.

team-play was very ragged. The lone tally was made in the last few minutes. White and Charles worked three successive passes, carrying the ball within striking distance of the goal, and White hit the center of the Tech line for the touchdown. Virginia Tech has probably the strongest team in the State and, while William and Mary supporters expected a closer score, few expected a victory.

Randolph-Macon at Williamsburg

Line bucks and end runs played the leading role in William and Mary's 33 to 7 victory over Randolph-Macon. During the first half, the Indians used only straight football but, in the second half, opened their bag of tricks and showed their versatility on the offense. The features of the game were, White's seventy-five yard run, Levvy's and Irwin's open field running and Flanders' generalship. At times the Yellow Jacket line under the leadership of Captain Smoot became impregnable. The game as a whole was not as one sided as the score indicates.

Trinity College At Norfolk

William and Mary won their second consecutive game from Trinity when they forced the Methodists to lower their colors in Norfolk. The closeness of the game is reflected in the 13-7 score. The otherwise thrilling game was marred at times by fumbling and poor generalship by both teams. The outstanding feature of the conflict was a seventy-five-yard run by Hastings. The Trinity aggregation secured their touchdown by an overhead attack and at all times were formidable opponents, fighting every minute of the game. Hatcher, Trinity's star tackle, displayed real courage during the contest. He was taken out during the early part of the game with a dislocated shoulder, and was under the influence of ether and worked on by surgeons. He returned to the conflict in the second half.

Hampden-Sidney At Richmond

After thirteen years of continuous defeats at the hands of Hampden-Sidney, the Indians twisted the Tigers' tails by an overwhelming victory. The final score was 32-6. The Indians got off with a flying start and only once did Hampden-Sidney have a chance. This was during the second quarter with Tyson as the luminary. The sturdy halfback received the kick on his own five-yard line and carried the ball sixty-eight yards through the entire Indian eleven. On the next play he skirted right end for a touchdown.

Wake Forest At Norfolk

In a slowly played and sluggish game in which penalties were as numerous as first downs, William and Mary conquered Wake Forest by the score of 18-0. William and Mary did not display her usual aggressiveness and should have won by at least thirty-five points. The game, however, was not without its redeeming features. Flanders' eighty-five-yard run from the kickoff through the entire Baptist eleven for a touchdown, was the prettiest bit of broken field running ever seen on the Norfolk gridiron. Especially commendable was the work of Cofer, Kiester and "Doc" Rangley.

Roanoke at Williamsburg

Minus five regular warriors, the crippled Indians outplayed the Roanoke College Maroons at every stage of the game and won easily by a 14-0 score. Several costly fumbles by the William and Mary backs cost the Indians at least two touchdowns. At no time did Roanoke threaten the Indian goal, the play being well in Roanoke territory all of the game. Roanoke, with a line weighing 196 pounds from tackle to tackle, could rush over only three first downs by line plunging.

Gallaudet at Newport News

William and Mary, playing straight football, walked over Gallaudet College by the score of 45-0. It was only during the first few seconds of the game that victory seemed doubtful. The Indians kicked off and the Gallaudet runner was downed in midfield. On their first play they executed a pretty forward pass which brought them within three feet of the goal. The Orange and Black line held like a stone wall and the Mutes lost the ball on downs. The features of the contest were, the broken field running of Monk White and Dickie Charles and the defense of Todd and Parsons. Cain was given his big opportunity at fullback and he plunged the line like a veteran.

fourth year on the team and he graduates in June.

White is William and Mary's triple threat and regarded as the most dangerous man that Dobson's men will have to stop. This versatile lad, besides winning athletic laurels, has been selected by the College as one of its three applicants for the Rhodes Scholarship.

Clem Cofer, fullback, served his apprenticeship at Lafayette High School of Norfolk. After a year of obscurity on the scrubs, he won his spurs in the Wake Forest game and has been a consistent defense and offensive man ever since.

"Dickie" Charles, left half, former protege of Mac Pitt at Fork Union and captain of that eleven last year, is one of the speediest backs in the State. Dickie, late in hitting his stride, has only recently begun to play his regular brand of football. Against Gallaudet he was the biggest ground gainer for the Indians.

RANGLEY—Left Guard

"Doc" Rangley, who claims Christiansburg as his native heath, came to William and Mary with two V. P. I. monograms and one Washington and Lee monogram. "Doc" was elected guard on the All-South Atlantic team in 1918.

PARSONS—Left Guard

"Farmer" Parsons, left guard, gleaned all his knowledge of the game from battling with the varsity lasat year on Mr. Counselman's scrubs. He is a light boy, weighing only 185 pounds, hard to handle on the defense, and a terror on the offense.

HOUSE—Right Guard

"Kerno" House, right guard, for three years a regular guard on LaMotte's Maury High squad, won his berth with the Indians from the start of the season.

YOUNG—Right Tackle

"Blunderbus" Young, right tackle and letter man of 1921, received his early training in the university of hard knocks, the William and Mary scrub team. Any Richmond linesman who faced him last Thanksgiving, can tell about his ability.

Ferdie Chandler, left tackle and letter man of '19 and '20, is a graduate student of the law school. Ferdie received his football training under Coach Driver. The big tackle did not go out for the squad last year due to a broken leg sustained in a baseball game the previous summer.

FULLER—Right End

"Pap" Fuller, right end and letter man of '21, comes to us from Maury High School where he made his letter as halfback. Pap was our regular center last year, but sickness last summer prevented him from joining the squad until late this year. He has been used at end during the past three weeks.

JORDAN—Right End

Tommie Jordan, right end, and a member of the teams of '20 and '21, is a product of the local high school. Tommie, who is a member of the sophomore class, received his previous football training from Coaches Driver and Fincher.

SAFFELLE—Right Half

Bob Saffelle, right half, served his time at George Mason High School, Alexandria. His good work on the scrub team won a varsity berth for him.

GOLD—Left Half

Norman Gold, a pupil of Coach Copeland at Hampton High School, has made a very good showing with the Indians. This is Norman's first year in college and he wears the earmarks of a future star.

FLANDERS—Quarterback and Acting Captain

George Flanders, letter man of '20 and '21, the William and Mary field general, came to the Tribesmen three years ago. He received his previous experience at Culver Military Academy. George has developed into a heady little quarterback and a consistent ground gainer under the tutorage of Coach Ingram.

IRWIN—Left Half Back

"Wince" Irwin, speedy left half, is another product of Lamotte's Maury High School team. "Wince" was rated last year as one of the best high school backs in the State. He has been a mainstay in the Indian backfield all the season starring in practically every game.

CAIN—Fullback

Howard Cain, fullback, is the product of Petersburg where he played three years on the high school eleven. He is a husky boy weighing 175 pounds. He runs well and tackles hard.

DUKE—Left Guard

Charlie Duke, left guard, received his knowledge of the great collegiate sport at Wake Forest and in France on an army eleven. Charlie, with his 195 pounds of avoirdupois, should be a source of trouble for the center of the Spider line.

TODD—Center

John Todd, center and letter man of '21, served three years under Nat Webb at Newport News High School before coming to the Indians. He was Captain of the Shipbuilders in 1920 when they won the State High School Championship. John is one of the most versatile players in the William and Mary line.

ELLIOTT—Right Tackle

"Snook" Elliott, center and right tackle, won three letters on the Maury High eleven and was captain of that team last year when they won the State High School Championship. "Snook" is a big man and tackles hard.

JENKINS—Left End

Jimmie Jenkins, left end, received his early tutorage under Nat Webb at Newport News High School. He played both scrub and varsity football last year under Bill Fincher.

Leo Haskell, left tackle, learned his knowledge of the game from LaMotte at Maury High and from Bill Fincher at William and Mary. Leo, since his debut last Thanksgiving against Richmond University, has steadily developed until now he is probably the headiest tackle on the squad.

INDIAN SPASMS

COME ON, RICHMOND!

We fought the Lion of Nittany,
At State College Penn.,
We left him torn and bleeding,
Hiding in his den.

Our next battle was at Blacksburg,
With the Gobblers of V. P. I.,
We chased 'em all around the field,
And made the feathers fly.

The Yellow Jackets then came down,
We greeted them with a shout;
Bruised their heads; clipped their wings
And pulled their stingers out.

The Baptists then from Caroline,
We met at City Park,
We baptized them with Indian fight,
And left hem in the dark.

Then we met the H. S. Tigers,
In Richmond with lusty cheers,
Twisted their tails and beat them,
The first time in many years.

Then back to City Park again,
Our trusty warriors flew,
To meet the Tar Heel Methodists,
And beat them black and blue.

The Maroons next from Roanoke,
We met on Cary Field,
And took their scalps of red,
And hung them on our shield.

We met the Mutes in Newport News,
And almost made them talk,
We slammed them, we banged them
And beat them in a walk.

Tomorrow we'll go to Richmond,
And break up the Spiders' nest,
We'll wind his web about his legs,
And show him who is best.

ON TO RICHMOND

The war-paint is ready; the tomahawks hang
In splendid array on the wigwam wall;

Ye wearers of Orange and Black,
The sound of their Chieftain's call.

On to Richmond! ye sons of the land,
Ye warriors of Orange and Black,
Into the web of the Spiders,
And bring me his scalp intact.

The rocks of the James are waiting,
For the sound of your battle-cry;
The Spider is strengthening his web,
As the Autumn days go by.

So look to your bows and your arrows,
Let the pipe of peace grow cold;
'Till the scalp of the Spider is hanging,
On the shield of the brave and the bold.

INDIANS HAVE WON FEW GAMES FROM SPIDERS

this issue, that period from 1908 to 1911, inclusive, might be termed the "Glorious Period" of our football history. In those four years, the Indians drubbed the Richmond team four times, actually holding them scoreless in two of the games. Since the "Glorious Period," victories over Richmond have been achieved seldomly. As the record stands, we have a man-sized job ahead of us if we hope to even up the number of victories. The Thanksgiving game will start things.

Be it noted that Messrs. Counselman, Shewmake and Driver, members of our faculty, have distinguished themselves in past years in the football uniform of William and Mary. Mr. Counselman played football here in 1897, and later at V. P. I. He became an All-Southern halfback. Take notice that it was none other than Professor O. L. Shewmake, quarterback, who in 1901, registered the first touchdown ever scored by the Indians against Richmond.

As to tomorrow's game, the loss of five regulars will not keep the football team of William and Mary from fighting Richmond University to a standstill. Physically, our team is in tip-top shape. Morally, nothing is wanting. The fighting spirit is running rampant throughout the campus as well as the team. Last year, Richmond beat us in Richmond by the score of 17 to 7. Our team went into that game lacking the services of its captain, Wilson, and three other regulars, Flicky Harwood, stellar end, Quarterback "Bake" Jones, known all over the South-Atlantic seaboard, and Halfback Joyce Levvy, who on that day of Thanksgiving, was lying in Newport News at the point of death. And yet Richmond beat us by only one touchdown and a field goal!

The winner of the Thanksgiving contest will have a just claim to the championship of the minor colleges of at least three States: Virginia and the Carolinas. It will be a hard fought tussle from start to finish.

INDIANS TO FACE

DOBSON'S BEST

the Indians succeed in throwing a spike in Dobson's machine this Thanksgiving, next year's game will be much easier for the locals. The Spider mentor will have to search far and near to gather together another team as good as the one he apparently has now. Practically all of Dobson's outstanding stars finish in June. Bill Ingram is losing only one, Monk White. Everybody should go to Richmond with the expectation of seeing a wonderful battle and having an enjoyable time—for they will!

"Lucky-Curve" is a Parker patent which employs the scientific principle of capillary attraction to make a smooth-flowing, leakproof feed. No other pen has it.

Get the Pen that Fills by a Press of the Button

*A Filler That's Not Exposed
So Can't Catch and Spill Ink*

THIS is one of the vital reasons why the Parker Pen ranks highest with America's educators and student bodies. Its filler is "safety-sealed" beneath the neat screw-cap end. There's no exposed lever to catch on the clothing, spill ink and spoil your suit or blouse. Remove the cap, immerse the pen in ink, press the button and the Parker is filled.

This simple, perfect filler was created by Geo. S. Parker, inventor of the celebrated leakproof "Lucky Curve" feed. And in no other pen can you obtain these features—so important to operation if a pen is to perform without a hitch. And that's what you want in a fountain pen—not one that distracts your mind when you're trying to concentrate on study or class instruction.

All Parker points are 14 K rolled gold, so they can't rust, corrode or tarnish and are not affected by acids.

Prices range from $2.50 upward according to style and mounting. These pens are made with the same mechanical perfection and jeweler's accuracy and finish found in the famous Parker 25-year Duofold—the lacquer-red pen at $7 that has taken America by storm.

Come pick out the point that best suits your hand—extra fine, fine, medium, coarse or stub. We'll give you a Parker Accident Policy free—insuring you for one year against any breakage, damage or unsatisfactory service of any kind.

His return of punts was one of the features of the game.

George Flanders ran the team well and gained through the line consistently.

Todd, Parsons, Haskell and Young sliced through opposing forwards and broke up play after play behind the line of scrimmage. On the offensive, the aforesaid lads would open up holes large enough to drive wagons through. The first William and Mary score came as the result of Todd's block of a Gallaudet punt on the enemy's fifteen-yard line and "Ostrich" Williams covering it for the touch down.

The line-up:

W. & M.	Position	Gallaudet
Williams	L. E.	Lucado
Haskell	L. T.	Benedict
Parsons	L. G.	Cherry
Todd	C.	Lohn
House	R. G.	Whalen
Young	R. T.	Kellum
Fuller	R. E.	La Fountain(C)
Flanders(C)	Q. B.	Wallace
Charles	L. H.	Stern
White	R. H.	Sieff
Cofer	F. B.	Langenburg

Summary: Substitutions—William and Mary: Cain, Irwin, White, Jordan, Jenkins, Saffell, Duke, Gold. Gallaudet: Bayne, Bradley, Falk, Cherry, Kellum.

Referee—Stoney, University of South Carolina. Umpire—Lieutenant Hogan, Holy Cross. Head Linesman—Hughes, V. P. I. Field Judge—Father Lee, Old Point. Touchdowns—Irwin (2), Charles (3), Flanders and Williams.

PHI BETA KAPPA
CELEBRATION DEC. 5

Dr. Samuel E. Foreman, Washington, D. C.; Henry A. Wise, New York; Norman H. Davis, New York; A. Lincoln Filene, Boston; Dr. William A. Hamilton, College of William and Mary; Ex-Governor Frank O. Lowden, Oregon, Ill. William G. Stephenson of Columbia, Miss., were elected to alumni membership.

The annual reunion and celebration of the chapter will be held December 5 with Norman H. Davis, formerly Assistant Secretary of State, as the orator of the occasion. There will be an initiation of the members just named, as well as of the following hitherto elected:

P. P. Claxton, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Robert B. Dade, Pulaski, Tenn.; Senator S. J. Fess, of Ohio; Dr. E. S. Taliaferro, Norfolk; Henry C. Coke, Dallas, Texas; Dr. H. G. Carter, Burkeville, Va., and Professor S. R. Warner, St. Louis, Mo.

Phi Beta Kappa was established at this College in 1776. Since that time it has become the leading organization of its kind in America. At a recent meeting of the council of the fraternity, a decision was reached to erect William and Mary a Founders' Hall to commemorate the services of fifty odd students who gathered in the Apollo Room of the Raleigh Tavern as the initiators of the great society of scholars.

Philomatheans
Win Banner

The Annual Freshman Contest between the Phoenix and Philomathean Literary Societies, held in Chapel Friday night, November 24, was again won by the Philomathean Society, giving them the Freshman banner for the fourth year in succession.

Judge C. N. Feidelson acted as Chairman, and introduced the contestants from the respective societies. The Judges were Professors Williams, Fitchner and Voke.

The Phoenix Society won the Declaration and Oration; but the Philomatheans, by winning the Reading and the Debate, secured the necessary three points to win the contest.

Sigma Upsilon Has
Best Meeting of YearJudge C. N. Feidelson Was Initiated

Sigma Upsilon Literary Fraternity held its best meeting of the year on Monday night, November 20, featured by the initiation of Judge C. N. Feidelson as an honorary member.

A regular programme preceded the initiation, Geo. A. Downing and C. R. Ball presenting interesting papers on literary subjects, both papers receiving general discussion by the members. There was also a wide discussion of recent fiction and of literature in general in connection with which Judge Feidelson read extracts from Babbitt and from Where the Wind Bloweth.

The next meeting was set for Thursday, December 7, and a committee was named to prepare a suitable programme for that evening.

Pictures At Palace
Theatre This Week

4:00, 7:30 and 9:00 O'clock

TUESDAY

The feature at the Palace Theatre for Tuesday will be "A Poor Relation," with Will Rogers as the star. Rogers is proclaimed the homeliest man in movies but, due to his versatility and ability, he has gained the admiration of a large number of movie fans. A Snub Pollard Comedy will also be shown.

WEDNESDAY

May McAvoy in "The Top of New York," is the star for Wednesday's feature. Miss McAvoy is seen in the role of a typical New York shop girl who rises to the top due to her charming personality. How she stays at the top despite the many perplexing situations that present themselves is well worth seeing.

THURSDAY and FRIDAY

"Is Matrimony a Failure?" is the two-day feature at the Palace. The cast includes T. Roy Barnes, Lila Lee, Lois Wilson and Walter Hiers. This picture is one of the best on the subject of matrimony ever produced, and was played to large audiences in the metropolitan theatres. An added attraction will be a Harold Lloyd feature comedy.
