

Dear Sir;

I brought to your notice a few days ago the names of Mr. Hilliard of Alabama and Mr. Boulware of Virginia, the first for the mission to Belgium and the last to Naples in the event of vacancies - I cannot commend either of those gentlemen too highly - The first has been one of the most active and talented men on our side in Alabama, and is prevented, as I believe, from sitting in the highest public places to which his district of country and talents could elevate him, by the General Ticket Law lately passed by the Alabama Legislature - Mr. Boulware is well and intimately known to me, and comes recommended to you by a letter from Professor Dew of Wm & Mary College, which I have had the honour heretofore to enclose you - And here ends my catechism - except to bid you adieu as preparatory to my return home -

Very Respectfully & Truly

Yrs &c
