

Dear friend. Your ^{letter} postal received & handed over to Mr. Pickie who has written to Lachlan & is ready for the telegraph. I am in Newark for a week having just returned from the South with Lizzie whom I have brought North on account of her very delicate health. I am to take her to the sea somewhere. I have not made up my mind where. She has been an invalid for some years - and we hope that a radical change of air & scene may cure her.
Dear Julia I did receive your letter & postponed writing you day to day & then reflected it I will write to you soon - ever yours sincerely a Mother
