

Moneta Va.
Dec. 17, 1923.

Dearest Lillian:

Will make a

start tonight on my letter to you, only wish could be talking instead.

This has been a busy day with me and have not done so very much either, went to Bedford this morning and have been stripping tobacco this evening.

Don't it bad about Morgans Church being burned down?
Surely was sorry to hear of it, but told Papa it might be best for the church for it to burn for if there were ever much said about building a new one the people more than likely would get divided so this may be the best way to have it settled, nothing to do now but rebuild.

Wish could be talking instead of writing for have so many things would love for us to talk about.

Sat and Sunday were real treats for me, only the time passed so fast anyway I enjoyed every minute and am till now.
When I have a few minutes to dream of my future home and see the different things as we have them in their places, then the thought comes how happy we are as we come to the table, sit by the fire talking, then to think that I am only dreaming of the near future.
Believe you said Sunday that some times you think our love is one sided and that you are doing all the loving.

Well I know what ^{that} can't be for nad one could, that ~~they~~
of such a thing as me.
Any way I appreciate your love to the utmost and hope can always be worthy of all the love and confidence there is for me.

Am sorry you do not conceive of the love have tried so hard to prove to you, but you will know some time I hope and sometimes I feel like am the one that is doing all the loving, anyway will take your word at your word, that you do care a little something for me.

We declare we love each other, know I do and believe you, so if we will only put our trust and confidence in us, can't see why things should not go along fine all during the year to come, if we are spared to be here.

It is past my usual bed time so if am going to write any tomorrow night expect had better be seeking some rest and a little sleep

There was lots of people about the city doing their Xmas buying but I did not have anything to buy with so was not bothered along the buying line.

Here goes again after another days work in the tobacco, have just quit for.

the night,

Papa said we could work a while longer, but when I said my speal he decided has just as well quit.

It does not get much warmer especially at night.

An expectin to help Uncle Sam kill his hog tomorrow and that will be the end of hog killing for this year, I hope.

Don't think Isaac is going to be there to fix up the land and etc. but reckon they will get through some way.

Hope Joe is feeling better now and is well enough for the work in school.

Guess you are working your self to death fixing for Xmas.

Am hoping to saw my wood some time towards last of the week or first of next so won't have that to do during the holidays.

From way things look now doubt if can get up to the Xmas tree Sat. but will if can.

Tell you if she don't send Jack and his sister a special invitation they will be mad with her.

If Jack don't come around next Sunday she will not be apt to be so plentiful about Christmas eve.

That may be why he is staying away, for have known boys to do such things about this time of the year.

now please don't forget to write me a long sweet letter before this week is gone for I don't want to be disappointed like was the other week.

Believe have about run out of something to write except the same old story so ~~supper~~ expect had better stop and pet my cat a little then sleep a while.

With all best wishes and
love,
From your devoted lover.
yours,
Rob.
