FOREWORD

To the '24 Colonial Echo Staff falls the duty and pleasure of preparing the chronicle of the multifarious activities of William and Mary's two hundred and thirty-first Year. This we have attempted and in the pages that follow, we present to you our sincere efforts—seeking neither commendation nor offering apologies.

The hope of the Staff is that

To those who treasure their college associations, this volume may be a source of souvenirs of golden days;

To the less constant in their loyalty, this reminder of the William and Mary of 1923-24 may bring a renewal of affection and devotion;

To those who are neither sons nor daughters of Alma Mater, this book may be an impressive evidence of the extraordinary rebirth of an ancient institution;

To the extent that this Echo brings joy, arouses dormant zeal and portrays effectively the life of the Old College, the staff will be rewarded.

Mrs. George Preston Blow

DEDICATION

To one who has so generously enriched our Alma Mater; who has so freely given to erect upon this campus a Memorial gymnasium "in order that a sound mind may come to dwell in a sound body"; who has thus become a peerless benefactress to the Ancient College of William and Mary in Virginia;

To

Mrs. George Preston Blow,
Gracious Woman, Philanthropist, and Friend
this annual is gratefully inscribed.

George Preston Blow

Sailor, man of affairs, friend of William and Mary, George Preston Blow was born at Norfolk, Va., in 1860, and was graduated from the Naval Academy in 1882.

A survivor of the Main disaster, Mr. Blow's career as a naval officer was active and interesting. He resigned from the service in 1900 to enter business.

In 1893, Mr. Blow had married Miss Adele Matthiessen, of La Salle, Illinois, so that when he retired from the navy, he became connected with various business and industrial enterprises in this thriving mid-western city. At the time of his death, he was president of the Western Clock Company, of La Salle.

Mr. Blow was always and everywhere a patriotic Virginian. He bodied forth his affection for the Commonwealth by purchasing the Thomas Nelson house at Yorktown, and converting it from decay into the beautiful "York Hall," which is today one of the show-places of the state.

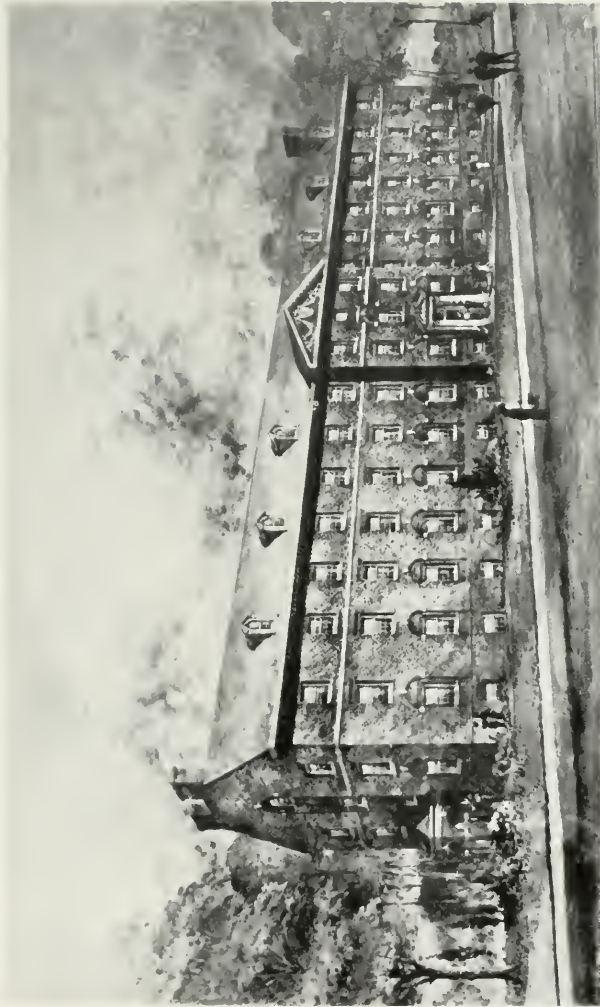

By works as well as faith, Mr. Blow proved himself a lover of this college. He set aside a scholarship in honor of his father and his grandfather, both graduates of William and Mary. He made a contribution to the Monroe Memorial Dormitory.

He died in 1922 and lies buried in Arlington Cemetery. The George Preston Blow Memorial Gymnasium, the gift of his wife, will perpetuate on this campus the life and zeal of a typical American and Virginian.

Alma Mater

Hark! the students' voices swelling,
Strong and true and clear,
Alma Mater's love they're telling,
Ringing far and near.

Chorus

William and Mary loved of old,
Hark upon the gale,
Hear the thunder of our chorus,
Alma Mater—hail.

All thy sons are faithful to thee
Through their college days.
Singing loud from hearts that love thee
Alma Mater's praise.

Iron shod or golden sandaled
Shall the years go by—
Still our hearts shall weave about thee
Love that cannot die.

God, our Father, hear our voices,
Listen to our cry—
Bless the college of our boyhood,
Let her never die.

J. S. Wilson, '02.

To the Class of '24

God of all Life, Thou dost not die
In spirit or in content;
For whom the feverish centuries fly
In doing Thy intent,
O dauntless knowledge, stoop to fan
The embers of this life's brief span.

God of Duty grant us truth
To lighten this dark doubting world;
We pray Thee spare, protect this youth,
And keep Thy scroll unfurled.
O fearless wisdom, come to guide
Us from disaster on to pride.

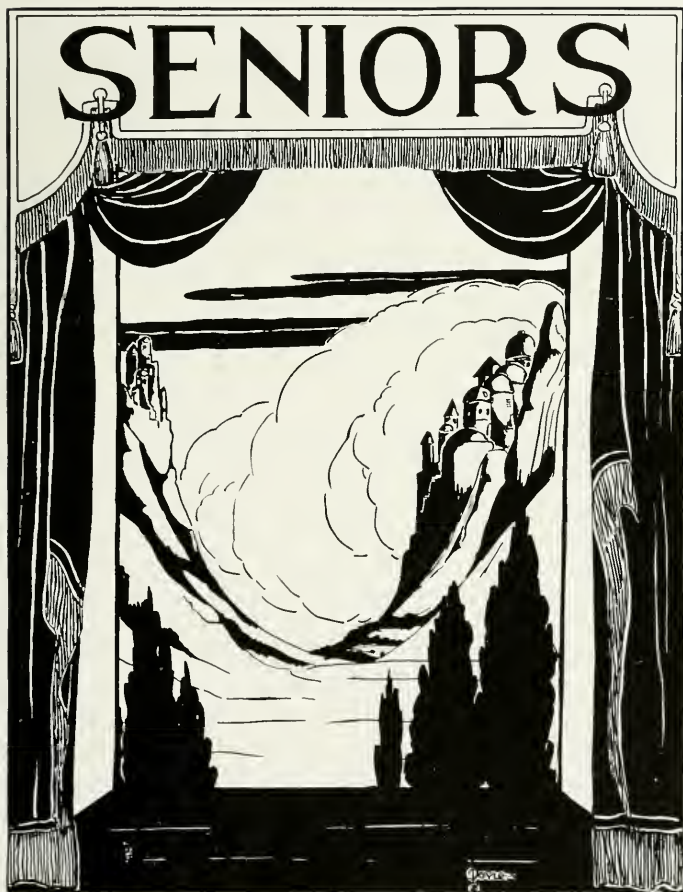

God of Knowledge, Lord of Life,
Pause in Thy appointed path,
And drag us from our toil and strife,
And calm our fears and wrath,
O hear our pleading, stoop to know
Our soul's deep yearning ere we go.

H. T. M., '24.

ROY E. KYLE, B.S.
GALAX, VIRGINIA

Eta Alpha; Phoenix Literary Society; Southwest Virginia Club; Treasurer of Phoenix Literary Society 1920-21; Parliamentary Critic of Phoenix Literary Society 1923-24.

This young man is one of the three Kyle brothers whose Alma Mater is justly proud to claim as her product. He came to this college with a real purpose—to study. His friendly smile and strong personality has won him many friends and the respect of all. We entertain no fear as to his future success. Some day he will do credit to his Alma Mater and cause every member of class 1921 to feel justly proud to recall him as a classmate.

CLYDE JOHN MADISON KYLE, B.S.
GALAX, VIRGINIA

Eta Alpha; Phoenix Literary Society, Southwest Virginia Club; Vice-President Phoenix Literary Society 1924.

B.S. degree in three and a quarter years—that's "Big Kyle." His outstanding characteristics seem to be dignity and pleasing personality, but when one knows him there is a wealth of qualities which endear him to us.

A hard worker and a true friend are the titles most befitting him.

CLAUDE MANBY RICHMOND, B.S.
ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA

Alpha Phi Epsilon; Philomathean Literary Society; Baseball 23; Monogram Club; "Enemies of Women." 20-21.

They all fall sooner or later. This little boy is no exception to the rule. Beneath his seeming dignity and quietness resides a jovial, kind, and sympathetic nature. Slim's many friends all agree that he is the best kind of a pal, just as all those who have seen him play baseball think there's none better.

Will he get his fast one over?—broad A if you please. You bet he will.

W. EDWARD SPICER, B.S.
PORTSMOUTH, VIRGINIA

Phoenix Literary Society; Portsmouth Club; Assistant in Chemistry 1923-24.

Here is a real student, a true friend and a good sport.

After a year at V. P. I. and a year of our school, he came to W. and M. to get his degree in two years. He is doing this with ease and "A" grades as well as assisting in chemistry. He is always busy but never too much so to help others.

He is no stranger at Jefferson Hall. We are glad that "Spike" has been with us.

BARTLEY GARNET WILLIAMS, B.S.
GATE CITY, VIRGINIA

Discipline Council, 1922-23; President Discipline Council 1923-24; President Southwest Virginia Club 1922-23; Assistant Business Manager Flat Hat 1922-23; Circulation Manager Literary Magazine 1923-24; Inter-Fraternity Council, 1923-24; Laboratory Assistant in Physics 1923-24; Alpha Phi Epsilon, Omicron Delta Kappa, Chi Beta Phi, "13" Club.

When you hear "Southwest Virginia" who is the first man you think of? "Bart" himself! Since he has been here he has been an exponent of law and order and he has not left a question in any one's mind as to what stuff he's made of. If there's a man on the campus, he's one, ask anybody—they all know it. If there are any more like him in the "Southwest" let 'em come, the College needs 'em. It doesn't matter where he goes or what he does, he can't fail.

THATCHER HAROLD MAWSON, B.S.
NORFOLK, VIRGINIA

Debating team 21-22, 22-23; Assistant in Physics 22-23, 23-24; Assistant Business Manager Colonial Echo 22-23; Business Manager of Colonial Echo 23-24; Assistant Cheer Leader 22-23, Cheer Leader 23-24; Omicron Delta Kappa, Chi Beta Phi, Tau Kappa Alpha, Phoenix, "13" Club.

Mawson, known on the campus as "Zulu," hails from the sea-side town. He has shown his ability as a student, business man and keeping the campus full of pep. When there is anything to be done, there is always a call "Zulu." He is the man for the job. He never refuses to answer the call, and in the end he always pleases the one who sent it forth.

Just keep your good work going, "Zulu," and success cannot refuse you. A "Mexican Athlete"—and William and Mary's most popular man in '24.

CATHERINE EGGLESTON MOORE, A.B.
NEWPORT NEWS, VIRGINIA

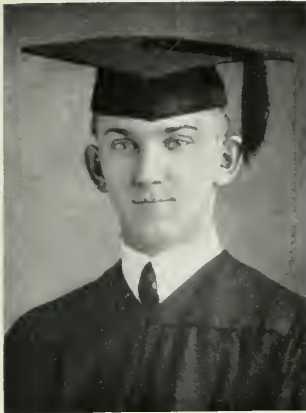

Chi Omega; German Club; G. G. G.; Newport News Club; Los Quixotesque; Y. W. C. A.; Graduate Harrisonburg State Normal School, 1922.

Kitty, Kitty, what a pity that you have to go, and we sing this charming ditty because we'll miss you so; you've learned most all there is to know, and we, since you must really go, reiterate this little ditty: we hate to see you leave the city.

VIRGINIA VENABLE ANDERSON, A.B.
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

Chi Omega; G. G. G.; Whitehall Literary Society; Y. W. C. A.; German Club; Piedmont Club; Swimming '22-'23, '23-'24; Baseball '23-'24; Graduate State College for Teachers.

So you'd like a line on Virginia Venable? Well, she can attend classes all morning, go down to Newport News for practice teaching, and be back by five for a college shop soiree; she can say the funniest things you ever heard; she can be the best friend you ever had; she can be the sweetest thing you ever looked at; she can curl without bothering to hold down the curlers' bench; she can—(yes, just when we've started the printer says we've used up our space). Anyway, everyone who knows Virginia likes her except her friends, and they love her.

HUGH H. JOHNSON, A.B.
ZUNI, VIRGINIA

Philomathean Literary Society; Philomathean Representative in Freshman contest, '20-'21; Vice-President Philomathean Literary Society, autumn quarter, '23-'24; President, winter quarter, '23-'24.

Sincerity, persistence, and a pleasing personality along with a native ability to "curl" have meant success throughout four years of college for Hugh. His influence has been especially felt in Literary Society work. A diligent student, a true friend, and an ardent supporter of old William and Mary can not help but succeed.

BERNARD TAYLOR WHITE, JR., A.B.
BLACKSTONE, VIRGINIA

Corillon Club; Phoenix Literary Society; Piedmont Club; Education Club.

"B. T." as he is known to all his classmates, although not an athlete, has managed to keep pace with the class of '24. "B. T." entered W. and M. in 1920 and since has made a creditable showing. We extend to him our most sincere wish that his future may ever be as bright as the days spent at W. and M.

JOSEPH C. CHANDLER, A.B.
PETERSBURG, VIRGINIA

Varsity Baseball 1921, 1922, 1923, 1924; Capt. 1924; Varsity Track 1921, 1922, 1923, 1924, Capt. 1922 and 1923; Asst. Mgr. Football 1921, Manager of Football 1922; Mgr. of Basketball 1924 (resigned); Varsity Basketball Squad 1921, 1922, 1923; President Honor Council 1922-23; President Senior Class 1923-24; Theta Delta Chi; Thirteen Club; Omicron Delta Kappa; T. N. T.; Monogram Club; Secretary and Treasurer Cotillion Club 1923-24; Highest batting average 1921 (364), 1922 (412).

"Scrap," president of the Senior Class. A sincere friend, a good scholar and a wonderful athlete. "Scrap" captained the track team for two consecutive years and this year he leads the baseball team.

Everyone knows "Scrap," he is an enthusiastic worker in every important activity. Always ready and willing to do more than his share. We are proud of you, and we wish you a deserved happiness and success.

HARRY D. WILKINS, A.B.
CAPE CHARLES, VIRGINIA

Theta Delta Chi; Omicron Delta Kappa; Flat Hat Club; "13" Club; Cotillion Club; Bi. I. C.; Phoenix; Reporter, Flat Hat Staff '21-'22; Assignment Editor, '22-'23, Managing Editor, '23-'24, Flat Hat; Vice President Cotillion Club '24; Assistant Manager Football '23; President Eastern Shore Club '22-'23; Associate Editor Straw Hat '23 (Summer School); Summer School Minstrels.

"Haven't you met that good looking Mr. Wilkins?" Well, you've missed something. Excellent student, dependable friend, proverbial "curler" and "campus sheik." Thus we have Harry, one of the most popular members of the Senior Class. His ability to "curl" in the classroom and among his friends makes him one to be admired and one whose friendship is to be sought. His honors speak for themselves. Harry's ambition is only equaled by his ability. One of the hardest working men at William and Mary and one who gets results in proportion.

RUTH KLINE, B.S.
RICHMOND, VIRGINIA

'22-'23.

She is quiet, she is sweet,
She always does her best,
She always smiles, she always helps,
She'll be a great success.

HILDA FRAUGHNAUGH, A.B.
SPARTA, VIRGINIA

J. Lesstie Hall Literary Society; Rappahannock Club; Basketball, 1920-21.

Hilda is a rare article—a co-ed who is studious and who does not talk very much.
Yet she has a smile for every one and is always ready to enter into any kind of fun. Her ambition at present is to get her degree and then to take her place among the educators of the country.

VIRGINIA COWLES ISLEY, A.B.
RICHMOND, VIRGINIA

Kappa Alpha Theta; K. O. B.; President German Club '23-'24; Secretary and Treasurer of Richmond Club, '23-'24; Parliamentary Critic of Whitehall Literary Society, '22-'23; Y. W. C. A.

"Fulla pep" should have been her nickname. Wherever you see or hear her, you know there is something going on. Gay and light-hearted she danced away her 'teens—literally, she did, at Mid-Winters. She "kids" the faculty, but she doesn't get her A's that way—they're due to the honest-to-goodness grey matter that she says folks don't suspect. If you're feeling down-hearted, hunt her up and beg her to play "Aggravatin' Papa" on that banjo uke.

CAROLYN KELLY, A.B.
MITCHELL, INDIANA

Oxford College for Women, Oxford, Ohio, 1920-'22; Kappa Alpha Theta; Alpha Club; K. O. B.; Dramatic Club; Flat Hat Staff 1922-'23; Assignment Editor Flat Hat, 1923-'24; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet 1923-'24; "Mabel" in Suppressed Desires 1923.

After two years training at Oxford College, "Cato" wandered way down South to our own William and Mary for her degree. It is difficult to try to describe "Cato," she is a combination of fun, wit, and mirth. She is dignity, diligence, and an excellent student. There never was a friend more loyal and deserving of one's esteem than Carolyn. Even Dr. Hoke says, "That's all right, "Cato," you don't have to worry." She is worthy of the best of everything.

NELLIE JANE HARRIS, A.B.
RICHMOND, VIRGINIA

Women's Student Council '22-'23; Chaplain J. Lesslie Literary Society, '21-'22.

Nellie Jane has at last succumbed and has cut her hair, thereby losing much of her dignity but none of her charm. She will be remembered by her classmates as a good student, a witty talker, and a sincere friend. The training she has received at William and Mary will be invaluable in her future work which she says will be in the library. Let us know where that library is, Nellie Jane, and we'll be right over.

THEODORA WHITWORTH, A.B.
FITCHETT'S VIRGINIA

Los quixotescos; Tidewater Club.

"A genius in our midst and we knew it not," we will say some day when a "History of the World War" is published, and we see that the author is that authority on the subject, Theo Whitworth. She will have to do something of that sort with the immense amount of it she has absorbed in the three years she has been with us. Yes, she is one of these brilliant people who need only three years to make a degree.

J. C. PHILLIPS, A.B.
ROSLYN, MARYLAND

Leader of College Orchestra 1920-24; Leading man, Dramatic Club 1921-22; President Dramatic Club 1922-23; College Cheer Leader 1921-22; Candidate for Rhodes Scholarship 1921-22; Chairman Y. M. C. A. Social Committee 1921-22; Secretary of Athletic Council 1923-24; President of Junior Class 1922-23; Secretary Senior Class 1923-24; Inter-fraternity Council; Sigma Phi Epsilon; Alpha Kappa Upsilon; Flat Hat Club; T. N. T.

He can lead an orchestra with as much enthusiasm as he leads college yells, and when he directs the "Spasm Spreaders" to join the dancers the girls are all "Thrilled to death"—almost as thrilled as when he sings and picks on his old banjo. As the Dramatic Club's leading man he was an ideal "Clarence." He can't help leading something, and he is just as much at ease in the classroom as he is at Jefferson Hall or on the Athletic Council. In other words he is one of these rare creatures successful at all they attempt—"an all-round college man."

JAMES ALBERT DOYLE, A.B.
McKENNEY, VIRGINIA

Sigma Phi Epsilon, Sigma Upsilon, Inter-Fraternity Council, Dramatic Club; Cotillion Club; T. N. T.; Phoenix Literary Society; Flat Hat Staff, 1922-23, Assignment Editor of Flat Hat, 1923-24; President Piedmont Club, 1923-24.

It's always fair weather when Jimmie and his friends get together. Both boys and girls testify to his magnanimous disposition and appealing manner. His interests are many; but he possesses that most desirable virtue of discriminating among them to the best advantage so that he has the reputation of being exceedingly well informed. If you want to know what's going on anywhere—ask Jimmie, if you crave amusement listen to some of his jokes, if you're hopelessly broke—follow Jimmie to the College Shop and he'll set you up. That he is popular and a good sport deserves quotation marks because the whole campus has said it.

MARY EVELYN WILLIAMS, A.B.
RICHLANDS, VIRGINIA

German Club; Whitehall Literary Society;
Southwest Virginia Club; Student at Martha
Washington and Salem College.

Among the Williams and Marys
At this venerable place,
The name of Mary Williams
Is looked upon with grace;
For she has charm, her hair is red,
Her eyes are very blue;
She walks and talks deliberately,
And then she smiles at you.

CAROLINE BAYTOP SINCLAIR, B.S.
NAXERA, VIRGINIA

J. Leslie Hall Literary Society, Program
Chairman 1923, elected Treasurer 1923-24;
Hockey Manager 1922-23; President Athletic Association 1922-23, 1923-24; Vice-President Gloucester Club 1923-24; Campus Committee 1922;
Varsity Basketball 1922-23-24; Point Program
1923; Red Cross Life Saving Corps 1923; John
Archer Coke Scholarship 1923; Tennis Club;
President Monogram Club 1923-24; H.E. Club;
Alpha Club.

How do you suppose Tinnie has done it all? Imagine finishing in three years and then having time for college activities, athletics, and heaps of friends. All of this and the happiest grin on the campus—what could be sweeter?

MARGARET WELLS JETER

RICHMOND, VIRGINIA

Richmond Club; Y. W. C. A.; Chairman Debate Council; J. Leslie Hall Literary Society.

Something small and very snappy
Vivacious, gay, and always happy.
But in deed and purpose true
To herself and others too,
Working, studying with a zest,
Ever striving for the best.

HALLIE HAZEL HOOTMAN

ASHLAND, VIRGINIA

Y. W. C. A.; J. Leslie Hall Literary Society; Richmond Club.

Hallie comes to us a dignified Senior and we feel very fortunate in having such a valuable addition to our class of '24. To her there is no mark but "A." It is to be regretted that we could not have had her for the whole four years.

She obtained her previous education at Muskingum College, Ohio, and Fredericksburg Normal; and came to William and Mary in September, 1923.

MILDRED BARKSDALE, A.B.
RED HILL, VIRGINIA

Vice House President '22-'23; Fire Captain of Tyler Hall, '22-'23; President Piedmont Club, '22-'23; Member Discipline Council, '22-'23; Secretary Piedmont Club, '23-'24; Secretary Discipline Committee, '23-'24; Vice-President J. Lesslie Hall Literary Society, '23-'24.

Three years ago Mildred came to college, for knowledge, so she says. Well, she's made A's galore, and has had much pleasure by the wayside. Rather quiet and demure is she, but capable in everything she undertakes. (Witness her list of honors.) Many a home sick Dnc has been grateful to her for her help not only for the first day, at college, but for the many problems she has solved through the year. A better and truer friend can not be found.

ELIZABETH DESHAZO, A.B.
CENTER CROSS, VIRGINIA

Undergraduate Representative Y. W. C. A., 1922-'23; Publicity Chairman Y. W. C. A., 1922; President Whitehall Literary Society, 1922-'23; Chaplain Whitehall Literary Society, 1921-'22; Music Chairman Whitehall Literary Society, 1920-'21-'22; Vice-President Tyler Hall, 1921-'22; President Tyler Hall from Student Council 1923-'24; Associate Editor Literary Magazine, 1923-'24; Art Staff Colonial Echo, 1922-'23.

With a freckle on her nose, and a smile on her face, she has come through four years of college liked by the faculty, loved by her friends, and each year adored by the homesick "dues." Successful in everything she has undertaken—and she has had a hand in just about everything that has happened—in short, our best-beloved DeShazo.

VIRGINIA LOUISE POPE, A.B.
DREWRYVILLE, VIRGINIA

Whitehall Literary Society; Y. W. C. A.;
Southside Virginia Club; Discipline Committee,
'22-'23; '23-'24.

Louise came to us after one year at Farmville; she came smiling and has been smiling ever since. Pop—that's Louise, wit—that's Louise, brains—that's Louise too. And with all of these she has her secret loves. Her happy spirit and quick mind will carry her far, making friends wherever she goes.

HOPE DREWRY, A.B.
CAPRON, VIRGINIA

Y. W. C. A.; Whitehall Literary Society;
Southside Virginia Club; Chairman Publicity
Committee Whitehall Literary Society, 1923-'24;
Graduate Farmville Normal School, 1922.

Faith, Hope, and Charity, and the greatest of these is Hope—in this case anyway. Hope has been with us for only two years, yet has been long enough for everybody to know what a wonderful girl she really is. We can confide in her, we can depend on her, and we can count her to support college activities. And now, how we hate to give up Hope.

AMELIA PAGE WALKER, B.S.
FERRANNA, VIRGINIA

Alpha Club; Kappa Alpha Theta; German Club; G. G. G.; Rappahannock Club.

If you've heard her laugh, you know Amelia. Her sense of humor adapts itself to every situation, and approximates a most winning personality. Wherever she is—at radio concerts or on the east steps of Jefferson Hall, at the dances, n'everywhere—she radiates fun and that spontaneous expression of mirth which is irresistable. Unlike the proverbial serious senior, she is an unusual and pleasant contrast. This completes her 4th year at William and Mary where she has been outstanding both in activities and as an all-round co-ed.

ETTA BELLE WALKER, A.B.
EMPORIA, VIRGINIA

Graduate of State Normal School, Farmville, 1922; Chairman Program Committee, Whitehall Literary Society 1923-24; Art Club; Southside Virginia Club.

Etta Belle's ability to accomplish things makes Duke of Gloucester Street idlers stand open mouthed. She doesn't sit on the "curlers" bench, but she curls them just the same with efficiency and with a charm that is dsarming. Poise, pep, and sympathy are multiples of which product is many friends, these multiples have meant lots of friends to Etta Belle and one very special one.

RACHEL TARRALL, A.B.
NORFOLK, VIRGINIA

Iota Mu Pi; Vice-President Y. W. C. A., 1923-24; Fire Chief, 1923-24; Norfolk Club; J. Leslie Hall Literary Society; German Club.

How these girls do change—or do they? Rachel's hair is now bobbed and it wasn't when she came to W. & M.—only three years ago, by the way—but she has fulfilled the brilliant promise of her duc days. She will leave imprinted on the camps and the footsteps of a maid whose name may be in Who's Who some day—if she is as cruelly relentless in her profession as she has been disturbing our slumbers for fire-drills!

HELEN LANNIGAN, A.B.
CHARLOTTEVILLE, VIRGINIA

Iota Mu Pi; Chi Delta Phi; German Club; President Piedmont Club, 1920-21; Golf Club; Debate Council, 1921-22; Freshman Representative, Student Council, 1920-21; Student Representative, Student Council, 1922-23; Literary Critic, Whitehall Literary Society, 1922-23; President Whitehall Literary Society, 1923-24; P. O. B.; Vice-President Dramatic Club, 1922-23, 1923-24; Chaplain of the Senior Class.

Take one heaping tablespoonful of native Irish wit, one cupful of wisdom and common sense, one teaspoonful of philosophy, a dash of eccentricity, and just enough devilment to add a delicious flavor, and you'll have an intoxicating mixture which we call by the name "Pop" Lannigan.

MARGARET DAVIS, B.S.
WILLOUGHBY BEACH, VIRGINIA

Secretary Edith Baer Club, 1921-22; Vice-President of Edith Baer Club, 1923-24; J. Lesslie Hall Literary Society; Norfolk Club; Clayton-Grimes Biology Club; Y. W. C. A.

No one knows what Margaret had in mind when she decided to major in Home Economics, but quite a few of us can make a guess. When a girl naturally likes cooking, sewing, and housekeeping, does it not indicate that some day she will enter the sacred bonds of matrimony?

May fortune favor you, Margaret, and may your future husband love you as much as we do.

SADIE IOLA FORBES, B.S.
FRANKLIN, VIRGINIA

Laboratory Assistant in Chemistry; J. Lesslie Hall Literary Society; Southside Club.

We fear that this small creature has spent so much of her time among microscopic life that it has stunted her growth. Yet nature, with her law of averages, has made up in quality what Sadie lacks in quantity. She is original, frank, and positive—three attributes that make us predict a rosy future as a pedagogue.

OCLE JONES, B.S.
WILLIAMSBURG, VIRGINIA

Edith Baer Club; Art Club; Y. W. C. A.; Whitehall Literary Society; Secretary of the Williamsburg Club, '23-'24.

And this is another point in Williamsburg's favour. For Ocle comes from you hamlet and grew up with her Alma Mater. She has a sunny disposition, always does her share, and is ready to help someone else, and what is more to the point, she is one of those Home Economics students who can curl her professors by inviting them to dinner.

ELOISE DAVIS, B.S.
HICKS WARE, VIRGINIA

German Club; Whitehall Literary Society; Y. W. C. A.; Secretary of Edith M. Baer Club, 1922-'23; Clayton-Grimes Biology Club; Hiking Club 1921-'22.

What's the use of saying anything? For everyone who has ever known her can only say nice things about her. Eloise is one of the best sports and one of the best friends anybody could have. And in addition to this she has done the undoable, she has landed a Home Economics degree in three years.

CARROLL BROWN QUAINANCE, B.S.
WOODVILLE, VIRGINIA

Alpha Phi Epsilon; Omicron Delta Kappa; Chi Beta Phi; Forensic Literary Club; Engineers Club; Tennis Club; Piedmont Club; Souther Scholarship, 1922-23; President Philomathean Literary Society, 1922-23; Secretary Philomathean Literary Society, 1923-23; Parliamentary Critic Philomathean Literary Society, 1923-24; Freshman contest, 1920; Debater in final Literary Society Celebration, 1923; Laboratory Assistant in Chemistry, 1922-23; Math Assistant, 1924.

On his studies he rates an "A."
And with the girls he's all "OK"
As a dancer he is quite the "berries."
With speaking and Physics
The least of his worries.
Chem. Lab. Assistant and Trig. prof., too,
Are just a few of the things he can do.
He is a friend when needed.
The best there can be
Is Carroll Quaintance—old "C. B."

ROLFE EWING KENNARD, B.S.
SABINAL, TEXAS

Alpha Phi Epsilon; Omicron Delta Kappa; Sigma Upsilon; Chi Beta Phi; Associate Editor Flat Hat, 1922-23; Associate Editor Literary Magazine, 1923-24; Manager Baseball, 1923-24; Athletic Council 1923-24; Class Poet 1921-22; Phoenix Literary Society; Freshmen Contest 1920; Laboratory Assistant in Chemistry, 1922-23, 1923-24; T. N. T. Club.

"Sleepy" came to William and Mary in the fall of 1920 a regular Texas Ranger with slouch hat and all. Since then he has developed into a poet, a student, and all-round college man. In stature "Sleepy" is very small, but he can do great things if he doesn't allow his interests to be too varied. He is to be a frequent visitor at Tyler Hall—now he has a special box at the post-office to hold the incoming mail from Farmville.

"Sleepy" is a likable chap and well known on the campus. We expect him to put himself through life as he has put himself through college.

CATHERINE AMISS, A.B.
SALEM, VIRGINIA

J. Leslie Hall Literary Society, Elizabeth College, 1920-22; Student of the University of Virginia Summer School; Y. W. C. A.

Arrived on the Campus of William and Mary September 19 a very blase, sleepy-eyed, albeit a very dignified young woman labelled Catherine Amiss. At first she viewed this ancient institution with scornful eye, but after a while with a resigned sigh she decided to stay. Although she has only been here a year, she has firmly ensconced herself in the hearts of her fellow-students who recognize in her a thoroughly likable girl.

MARY O'HAMMILL BELL, A.B.
ROANOKE, VIRGINIA

P. O. B.; Tennis Club; Clayton-Grimes Biology Club; Southwest Virginia Club.

Witty—but not tiresome
Cynical—but not disagreeable
Literary—but not pedantic
Epicurean—but not to excess
Self-opinionated—but not narrow
Popular—but not craving so
Different—but not odd
In short—possessing that sought for mediocritas aurea

LUCY MASON HOLT, A.B.
NORFOLK, VIRGINIA

J. Leslie Hall Literary Society; President of "Mature Minds;" Chi Delta Phi; President of Norfolk Teachers' Association; President of Home Economics Section, State Vocational Society; Vice-President of Classroom Teachers' Section, National Education Association; President of Virginia Chapter, University of California Club.

"Miss Lucy" has been endowed with the twin gifts of a quick wit and sound common sense. Hers is a deep and far-reaching understanding. She thinks in big mulls, and her heart is as expansive as her thoughts.

IDA MAY BUTCHER, A.B.

Edward Coles Scholarship, 1922; Y. W. C. A. "Mature Minds;" Literary Critic J. Leslie Hall Literary Society, 1923-'24; Richmond Club.

We have taught long enough
To know marks are a bluff
But regardless, she carries straight "A's"
She is genuine stuff
Friend for fair days or rough
This "Butchie," my pal of school days.

TRINIE JOHNSON, A.B.
EMPORIA, VIRGINIA

G. G. C.; Alpha Club; Chairman of Student Government Music Committee, 1922-23, 1923-24; Reporter of Hiking Club 1922-23; Treasurer of Y. W. C. A., 1923-24; Fire Captain; German Club; Vice President of Southwest Virginia Club; Whitehall Literary Society; Student at Hollins College, 1920-21.

She dances and she plays
And still makes A's

Whenever there is work to do, and no one knows how to go about it, just ask "T. J." For brains and executive ability she can't be beat. One of the first co-eds to come here, she wandered around for a year or two, making a little time elsewhere. For two years past she has endeared herself to the hearts of all who know her. Behind any sharp word, there is a good intent, and she is honest in her convictions. Such a combination must succeed, and we know "T. J." will.

ALINE ELIZABETH FOREMAN, A.B.
NORFOLK, VIRGINIA

Whitehall Literary Society; Y. W. C. A.; Spanish Club; German Club; Art Club.

As merry as a sunbeam
That shines from skies of blue,
Always kind and friendly,
Ever sincere and true,
When everyone else is gloomy
She radiates good cheer;
Oh Aline! kindly tell us
What will we do when you're not here?

MILDRED FERREE HOLTZ, A.B.
ROANOKE, VIRGINIA

Vice President Southwest Virginia Club; J. Leslie Hall Literary Society; Student at Elizabeth College.

In her mind lie the mysteries of the future and in her power the recounting of these. To her things are now what they seem for her vivid imagination cultivens the most humdrum everyday affairs for herself and others. Many of us have been cheered by her vivid painting of our characters and futures, an art in which Mildred is skilled.

EVELYN W N FRED SPIGGLE, A.B.
ROANOKE, VIRGINIA

First Honors Elizabeth College, 1921-21, 1921-22; J. Leslie Hall Literary Society 1922-23, 1923-24; Southwest Virginia Club 1923-24.

Evelyn Spiggle came to us in her Junior year in order to profit by the greatness of William and Mary. And instead we have profited by having her here. Her scholarship has lifted the average in our class and her friendliness and good fellowship will always be a pleasant thing to remember in future years.

ROBERT GAINES HAILE, B.S.
MINOR, VIRGINIA

We now invite your unmitigated attention to "Robert Gaines Haile" from the land of Essex. He came to us in the year 1920, presenting at that time his youthful smile and his ability to curl. He has curled them all ever since. Here's to you Robert! Keep up the good work.

BARTON W. PARKER, B.S.
ONANCOCK, VIRGINIA

Chi Beta Phi; Engineers Club; President Eastern Shore Club, 1923-24.

"B. W." comes to us from across the Chesapeake. We do not have to converse with him to find that he is a real student. His records during the past four years are obvious evidence to support this truth. In Physics and Mathematics he is a master.

As a friend and companion, whole-hearted sincerity best expresses his character. "B. W." as you go away from us we hope that you will meet with that success which your life here shows that you so richly deserve.

JAMES HUGH GARNETT, A.B.
BUCKINGHAM, VIRGINIA

Sigma Delta Tau; Alpha Kappa Psi; Manager of Track; Circulation Manager of Flat Hat, 1922-23; Business Manager Flat Hat, 1923-24; Member of Cotillion Club; Athletic Council; Monogram Club.

"Shake" came to us just four years ago, straight from the wilds of Buckingham County, but just the kind of a man that was bound to succeed. Our claimant for the diminutive stature class honors succeeded well during his sojourn at William and Mary, dividing his attention between various business ventures, and mixing a little study (?) in occasionally for good measure. He is famous chiefly for his good nature, but when his good nature is ruffled the adjective should be changed to notorious, for then he is capable of most anything. If you want an opinion from "Shake" you will get a frank one, no dilly dally with it, but the straight truth, and if there is anything you want that he has, just say the word and you'll get it.

J. HERBERT MOSS, A.B.
RICHMOND, VIRGINIA

Track Team.

To know Herbert is to like him. He always has a smile and time to help for everyone.

Brilliant in the classroom, sportsman on the cinder path—he has passed his college days among us.

Somehow, we see Moss as a college professor in the years to come, but you must ask him about that.

JAMES DANIEL CRIEGLER, B.S.
MADISON, VIRGINIA

Eta Alpha; Phoenix Literary Society; Basketball, 1911; Baseball, 1917; Monogram Club.

J. D. hails from the central part of the state. The seriousness and earnestness with which he started on the road to his degree stamp him a thorough and no-to-be-dismayed man in all he undertakes. His record in college spirit and in studies is worthy of the best. Here's to you, J. D., we wish you luck.

DENNIS DRYDEN FORREST, B.A.
MESSICKS, VIRGINIA

Philomathean Society; Glee Club, 1923; Senior Representative to Honor Council, 1924; Eta Alpha Fraternity.

Geniality is the one word that describes the subject of this sketch. "Den" takes a delight in taking the hardest courses in college, and then, at exams, he makes marks that most students would be glad to make on easy subjects. Here's to you, "Den," an agreeable companion. A good friend, and a student par excellence.

OSCAR FITZALLEN NORTHINGTON, B.A.
LA CROSSE, VIRGINIA

Sigma Phi Epsilon; Alpha Kappa Psi; Cotillion Club; T. N. T.; Inter-Fraternity Council, 1922-23; Asst. Circulation Manager of Flat Hat 1922-23.

After sojourning for a while at fair Harvard and spending a year or so at U. Va., "Billy" Northington settled in our midst with the firm determination to capture the elusive sheep's skin. While never a conspicuous figure on the campus, he won many friends by his quiet and pleasant manner, to whom he was familiarly known as "Hawkshaw." Though a student of more than average ability, it appeared to many that his major subject during the last year or so was "Heartology" in which we have reason to believe he was a scholar par excellence. While his diligence in pursuing the above subject consumed a great deal of his time, he did not neglect his duties.

EDWARD CLAUDE JOHNSON, A.B.
PARISLEY, VIRGINIA

Here he is characterized by his dignity and mixture of indifference. "Johnnie" is big in stature as well as being a giant in intellect. He is a combination of the business man, student, and last but not least, he is a "Whirlwind" with the women.

Tennis, however, is "Ed's" specialty. An excellent player, and a mainstay in the winning combination at William and Mary.

EVELYN MARY RYCE, A.B.
NEWPORT NEWS, VIRGINIA

Tennis Club; Secretary Whitehall Literary Society, 1923-24; Art Club; Music Committee; Y. W. C. A.; Newport News Club.

Evelyn came to William and Mary in 1921, after graduating from Newport News high school with honors and her splendid record has continued throughout her college career. She has completed the four year's work in three years with many "A's" to her credit, and she was no grind. Quick, unassuming, and thoroughly likable, Evelyn has won the lasting friendship of all who know her, even including her practice teaching pupils. What more could we say?

FLORENCE FLEET, A.B.
BISCOE, VIRGINIA

Art Club; Edith Baer Club; Whitehall Literary Society; Tennis Club; Rappahannock Club; Chairman Music Committee; Whitehall Literary Society, '23-'24.

No, we wouldn't say that she was fast exactly, but she usually manages to live up to her name. Incidentally she has made those marks that look so well on the report card, supported by activities, and had a pleasant time in general. And she has done all this quietly, unassumingly, and with rare sympathy and good humour. Florence, did you say you were going to teach? Lady, lead us to that school.

MARY LOHMAN, A.B.
PORTSMOUTH, VIRGINIA

J. Lesslie Hall Literary Society; German Club; Gibbons Club; Secretary and Treasurer Portsmouth Club; Tidewater Club; President Yankee Club.

Red, bobbed hair and a line like a ton,— sounds like a flapper, eh? Here's one time when the combination doesn't equal the obvious. Mary's mind is as keen as her wit. Neither Greek nor law offered her any fears. In fact, we shouldn't be surprised if she were to grace the legislature.

HELEN ALICE BERLIN
NORFOLK, VIRGINIA

Carveran Scholarship, June 1921; Joseph E. Johnston Scholarship, June 1922; J. Lesslie Hall Literary Society, 1921-23; Norfolk Club; Fire Captain of Jefferson Hall, 1923-'24; Woman's Student Council as House President of Jefferson Hall, 1923-24; Ecole Francaise De Middlebury College, Summer 1923.

She came in laughing and she goes out laughing. Sometimes we wonder whether she would shake her bobbed hair so gayly if she knew how big a gap her going made.

Is she bright? Yes, an honor student. Attractive? We think so, don't you? Dependable and Honorable? Yes, infinitely. A dignified house president? Yes, yes. Likeable? More, she is lovable.

ELIZABETH MERCER, A.B.
WHITE STONE, VIRGINIA

Delta Phi Kappa; Janet Weaver Randolph Scholarship, 1922-23, 1923-24; Vice-President Student Council 1922-23, 1923-24; Secretary Student Council 1921-22; Secretary Alpha Club 1923-24; Vice-President J. Lesslie Hall Literary Society, 1922; Secretary J. Lesslie Hall Literary Society, 1921-22; Debating Team, 1920-21; Debate Council, 1921-22; Secretary Rappahannock Club, 1921-22; Associate Editor Colonial Echo, 1921-22, 1922-23, 1923-24; Student Assistant in Mathematics, 1921-22, 1923-24; Vice-President Junior Class; Northern Neck Club.

In Elizabeth you will find one who is naturally a leader in scholarship and all college activities. Plenty of life and fun are hers always. Capability plus a spirit of determination explain her success. To know her as a friend is to know a wealth of qualities which endear her to us. Sincerity, a sweet disposition, wit and humor combine to form a good sport.

HAZEL YOUNG, A.B.
PENNINGTON GAP, VIRGINIA

Delta Phi Kappa; Pan-Hellenic Council, 1923-24; Discipline Committee, 1923-24; Colonial Echo Staff, 1922-23; Program Chairman, J. Lesslie Hall Literary Society, 1922-23; Vice House President 1922-23; Southwest Virginia Club.

Here is the embodiment of intellectuality, poise and good humor. Hazel has the good fortune to be both serious minded when the occasion demands, and hilarious when hilarity is in order. She is interested in all college activities, and the part she contributes is indispensable. A united opinion declares her to be versatile and sweet-tempered.

WILLIE LEE BLAND, A.B.
WEST POINT, VIRGINIA

Theta Delta Chi; Alpha Kappa Psi; Cotillion Club; Tidewater Club; Student Council, 1920-'21.

Here is a man of the class of '24 who has been the object of more wistful sighs on the part of the fair sex than Cleo had lovers. With but one exception he has managed to remain just outside the danger line. It is rumored, however, that one summer school almost "fixed him right up." Business is his chosen work and we predict that his trustworthiness and ability will conspire to make him a second "J. Pierpont." He is a faithful friend and a man who has left his influence for good on William and Mary.

MIRIAM MCKNIGHT SIZER, A.B.
RHODESVILLE, VIRGINIA

Mature Minds; Y. W. C. A.; J. Lesslie Hall Literary Society.

She taught for many busy years, in city systems three, in Hampton, Norfolk, Staunton, where the supervisors see. Then at the Navy Base (U. S.), the Army Base, nerrly, also the foreign born to be, Americanus, Ace high. These facts were naught when she got here, for she must practice teach. Else how could one know she was worth the pay check she could reach.

MARRIETTA CLAIBORNE HENDERSON,
B.S.
WILLIAMSBURG, VIRGINIA

Delta Phi Kappa; Edith Baer Club; K. O. B.;
Alpha Club; Williamsburg Club.

Etta is another shining light of Williamsburg, and another Home Economics shark,— a good combination. Now that her degree is in sight, Etta announces her intention of going forth and teaching the youth of the country the gentle art of cooking and sewing.

SARAH HOUSTON RHODES, B.S.
NEWPORT NEWS, VIRGINIA

Delta Phi Kappa; Sec. Treas. Edith Baer Club; Newport News Club; Sec. Y. W. C. A.; Clayton-Grimes Biology; Whitehall Literary Society; K. O. B.; German Club.

"Never let no one man worry your mind" summarizes Sarah's philosophy of life. She goes her way unconcernedly and the passing of the academic years takes no toll of her good nature. Everybody has a ready smile for Sarah, her infectious laughter will never be forgotten.

WINIFRED GREY, A.B.
NORFOLK, VIRGINIA

"Here's a girl with a heart and a smile
That makes the bubble of life worth while."

Did you ever have friends who saw only the good in you and in other folks, and who never failed to smile and be happy? And did you ever have a leader who had the wonderful ability of holding all her followers to her by the tie that binds? Well, that's "Winnie" all over. Friendly to the Nth degree, recommends the sleeping cure for gronches, and divides her time equally between classes and the College Shop. When anyone is so fortunate to possess a smile and a disposition as "Winnie's," popularity with the girls and boys alike, is the inevitable consequence. Her friendliness is contagious.

WINNIFRED BENSCHOTEN, A.B.
BUCKNER, VIRGINIA

Dramatic Club; Whitehall Literary Society;
German Club.

Clever? Yes. Intellectual? To be sure.
Attractive? Why of course, haven't you seen her? Dependable? Always. Yet one word describes Winnifred better than any other—efficiency.

JOSEPHINE GRAY, B.S.
SALUDA, VIRGINIA

Reading Club, 1920-21; Whitehall Literary Society; Rappahannock Club; Y. W. C. A.; Business Club 1922-23; Vice President Whitehall Literary Society, 1923-24.

With an ever-ready smile, calm, dignified, she goes about this business of acquiring knowledge. In the legal world, "Jo" will lead them all if her grades in law are any indication. She fills a big place in our college life, one which will leave a huge gap when she is gone.

DICEY MILLS, A.B.
CURBURN, VIRGINIA

Graduate of Radford Normal School; Student at Westhampton College.

Dicey may seem very quiet, but that is no reason to say that she really is. When we see her eyes sparkle, we decide that she is simply hiding behind a mysterious cloak of silence. In fact, we know that to be the case, for those who have penetrated this cloak have found her to be a jolly pal and a sincere and conscientious student.

LAWRENCE MAJOR DICKERSON, B.S.
MASSAPONAX, VIRGINIA

Omicron Delta Kappa; Chi Beta Phi; Philomathean Literary Society; President Clayton-Grimes Biology Club, '23-24.

How strange! One who is really brilliant, yet unpossessed with his own importance "Dick" has done some valuable research work in Biology since he's been here, and taken part in other fields as well. A conscientious student and the type that the Old College would like to see more of. Much success to you in your future associations.

CAPE CHARLES, VIRGINIA

Quiet and unassuming, with a capacity for work exceeded only by his ability—that's Page. His dominant characteristic is his grin, rain or shine—it can't help but appear. He is a curler of the old school—ask Dr. Hall, and a Bull fighter of no mean ability, which fact the Country clubbers will confirm. During his stay at college, Page has filled a niche which will be hard to replace when he is gone. A L.L.D. is his goal and we predict that a matter of time will be the only condition provided a matrimonial career does not become too interesting in the meantime.

WILLIAM J. HOLLIDAY, A.B.
RESCUE, VIRGINIA

Alpha Psi; Wythe Law Club; Philomathean Literary Society.

This is the other Holliday brother, and he's a follower of Blackstone too. At least he rates with Dr. Hamilton "ace high."

William has set the example of being a good student, and yet not reach the stage of the grind. Isn't it funny how these brothers vie with each other in making "A" grades. For the life of us we can't say yet which of the two will be most successful, but we are betting on you, Bill, ole top. Go to it.

CARLETON E. HOLLIDAY, A.B.
RESCUE, VIRGINIA

Alpha Psi; Wythe Law Club; Philomathean Literary Society; Treasurer Philomathean, autumn and winter quarters, '23-'24; President Philomathean, spring quarter, '23-'24; Manager Debate Council, '23-'24; Senior Representative to Discipline Council, '23-'24; Vice-President Discipline Council, '23-'24.

Here's to one of our shining lights. For your long years he has been "curling" the professors, and has collected a bunch of A credits that any student could well be proud of. The training he has received here loth in the class room and elsewhere (glance over his honors) together with his legal talent spells success for him in the field of law.

HELEN KATHERINE GRAHAM, A.B.
WILLIAMSBURG, VIRGINIA

Treasurer of Williamsburg Club, 1923-24;
Graves Scholarship, 1921-22.

Williamsburg may well be proud of her for her work at William and Mary has proved to be of the very best. We not only admire her for her intellectual abilities, however, but are pleased to recognize her many other qualities. Helen is faithful and true, and the community which is blessed by her service in the future is to be envied.

HAZEL THORPE, A.B.
WILLIAMSBURG, VIRGINIA

This dignified senior entered William and Mary four years ago, as an honour graduate from the little red school of Williamsburg. In studies she can't be beat; she manipulates the Greek language with amazing ease, not to mention all the other things she does that way. Her wisdom, judgment and personality will win for her success in whatever field she may enter.

MARY ELIZABETH FRISTOE, B.S.
FRONT ROYAL, VIRGINIA

Kappa Kappa Gamma; Treasurer Whitehall Literary Society, 1921-22; Vice-Pres. Athletic Council, 1921-22; Campus Committee, 1921-22; Pres. Edith Baer Club, 1921-22; Elected Campus Committee and Pres. Edith Baer Club, 1922-23; Literary Magazine Representative; Teacher of English Front Royal H. S., 1922-23.

Elizabeth Fristoe? Yes, she's the kind of girl who steps down to college. A degree in three years. Sometimes we wonder how one can make straight "A's" on twenty-one hours work without studying more than she does. I guess it must be brains.

To say nothing of her ability to make friends. When you leave us "Fristoe" William and Mary will lose a big "Peach," but whatever you undertake we feel sure that success is yours.

DOROTHY LAMB ZIRKLE, A.B.
STAUNTON, VIRGINIA

Kappa Kappa Gamma; Dramatic Club, '19-20.

The same Fate which decreed that Charles Lamb should rub his elbows daily upon a desk in the East India Company gave Dorothy Lamb to us. She has succeeded admirably in fitting into her place, which happened to be a big one; yet we have always looked upon her with a "something bordering upon awe." We realize that she is not of us. She calls up vague recollections of rigidly inviting drawing rooms, coronets, or delicately tinted fans. Her thoughts are spacious, and according to a classmate are, "somewhat ahead of her time."

With pride we introduce Dot. Our veritable Lady Windermere, who combines a Saxon beauty with the "temperament of the South."

MARGARET ELWARD LAWLESS, A.B.
NORFOLK, VIRGINIA

Delta Phi Kappa; Chi Delta Phi; Alpha Club; Dramatic Club; "Clarence"; "The Land of Heart's Desire"; "Wurzel-Flummery"; Associate Editor "Flat Hat"; Associate Editor "Colonial Echo," 1922-23, 1923-24; Historian Sophomore Class; Secretary Junior Class; J. Lesslie Hall Literary Society; German Club; K. O. B.; Norfolk Club; Poetry Society of Virginia; Gibbons Club; Reporter Gibbons Club 1923-24.

Now can any bright little girl or boy tell me the name of the lady who writes the funniest things you ever read and says still funnier ones, who ambles with ease on the other side of the footlights, and who keeps the publications running as well as almost everything else? All right, you tell me Johnny. (No Mabel, sit down, I saw his hand first). What, "Judge" Lawless? Yes, Yes, Johnny, step to the head of the class

MARGARET KEISTER, A.B.
ROANOKE, VIRGINIA

K. O. B.; German Club; Discipline Committee; Woman's Student Government Organization, 1923-24; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, 1922-23; Clayton-Grimes Biology Club, Secretary, 1923-24; J. Lesslie Hall Literary Society; Southwest Virginia Club; College Orchestra; Graduate, Marion Junior College.

If the opinion of a frank roommate is worth anything, you may believe Margaret to be happy in disposition, even in temperament, and possessed of the great virtue, patience. Life with her is a pleasant thing, for she has learned well the lesson of "give and take." Endowed with an acute sense of humor and a natural faculty for pleasing people, she may look forward to an existence plentifully supplied with the good things of life.

PETER PAUL PEEBLES, B.S.
WILLIAMSBURG, VIRGINIA

Orator's Medal Phoenix Literary Society, '04; Distinction in English, Latin, Science, Political Science and Pedagogy, '03-'04; Dramatic Club; German Club, '03-'04; Member Sigma Nu; Omicron Delta Kappa; Alpha Kappa Psi; Flat Hat Club; Gofflion Club; Chancellor Wythe Law Club; Vice-Pres. Rough Ashler Club; President Williamsburg Club; Joseph Prentiss Scholarship, '22; Chancellor Scholarship, '23; Advertising Mgr. Col. Echo, '22; Member Virginia Bar Ass'n.

Behold!—the man who has the highest number of "A" credits yet accumulated at William and Mary by a single individual. And what's more, he's the proud possessor of the "Duke of Gloucester Special," which unique chariot will have been over our grandé boulevard 484 times at the end of this year in securing Paul's education.

"Still waters run deep," and to those of us who know him, this is a fitting epithet. Mr. Peebles is already a member of the Virginia Bar, and soon will begin to disseminate his invaluable mis-information to a most select clientele.

E. WELFORD BRAUER, A.B.
RICHMOND, VIRGINIA

Pi Kappa Alpha; Omicron Delta Kappa; Flat Hat Club; Pres. Rough Ashler Club; Alpha Kappa Psi; Sigma Upsilon; Dramatic Club; Associate Editor Col. Echo, '22-'23; Assistant Editor Lit. Magazine, '22-'23; Editor Lit. Magazine, '23-'24.

Welford has put something into his college life, and in turn has gotten more than his share out of it. He's a Mason and Shriner, and like most members of the order, the first pin he ever wore was the Safety pin.

An intellectual man, if you please, a wonderful Masonic lecturer, and one who can tell you anything you happen to ask about, from the number of King Solomon's wives on down.

Brauer, you have occupied a big place in the life of this old college for four years, and your shoes will be hard to fill. (You wear size 11, do you not?)

BETTY SUE JESSUP, B.S.
CHARLOTTESVILLE, VIRGINIA

Kappa Kappa Gamma; Alpha Club; Sec'y Edith Baer Club; Clayton-Grimes Biology Club; G. G. G.

Thank you! This write up is not the stereotyped—"A sweet demure young lady came to us, etc."....

But, introducing the one and only Betty Sue of the United States of America. The kind of a girl you read about and seldom see. Accomplished? We should say so—authority on anything from "Duc" English up to keeping the dogs out of the practice-house pies. She's a level headed girl all right—even if the position of the cap above leads you to presume otherwise. Show us another girl with such a characteristic, indifferent toss of the head, and we'll show you a Gloria S.

Seriously, Betty Sue, we are sorry to see you go. You have made the old college a happier one by having been in it, and it will be a sadder one when you leave it.

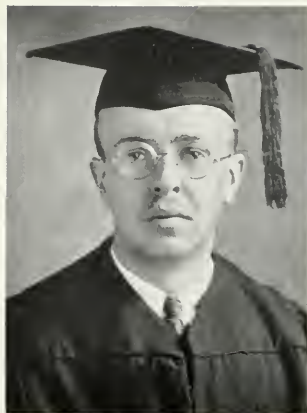

FRANCES LOUISE GIBBONS, A.B.
ROANOKE, VIRGINIA

Kappa Kappa Gamma; Alpha Club; K. O. B.; Captain Freshman Basketball, '20; Chairman Program Committee J. L. Hall Lit. Soc., '20; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, '21-'22; Historian Sophomore Class, '21; Treas. German Club '21; Member Athletic Council, '21-'22; President Y. W. C. A., '22-'23; Captain Basketball, '22-'23, '23-'24; Secretary German Club, '23-'24.

"Gibbie!" That one little name said, with first a sigh and then a vim, expresses all we have to say. For it gives an impressionistic picture of a trim figure, a shock of curly hair, a pair of "devilish" brown eyes (intriguing in a Y. W. President) and a grin that won't come off. Remember those Westhampton games or the times when Frances had an honest opinion and stuck to it?

For further particulars we refer you to the professor who inquired, "Is there anything Miss Gibbons can't do?" To which we were forced to answer, "No, nothing that anyone else can do, and she even gets up for breakfast."

HENRY TRAVILLIAN MONCRE, A.B.
WILLIAMSBURG, VIRGINIA

Kappa Sigma; Flat Hat Club; '13' Club; Baseball, '16; President Cotillion Club, '15-'16; Sec. Monogram Club, '21-'22; Vice Pres. Monogram Club, '22-'23; Inter-Fraternity Council, '21-'22, '22-'23; Pres. Inter-Frat. Council, '23-'24; Manager Ministerials, '22-'23; Pres. Cotillion, '22-'23; Sec. Monogram, '23-'24; Associate Editor Lit. Mag., '23-'24; Poet Senior Class of '24.

Behold—if your vision can take him in at a glance, the squire of the Hamlet of Williamsburg, "Monty," "Judge" or Henry, whichever you choose to tag him, belongs to that hail, hearty, and good cheer class that is gradually making the rest of the world round-shouldered by its mighty slaps on the back.

His favorite trick is giving you an under-back kick while you are dancing with your best girl. Possibly the greatest tribute is that never a party or "B" session can be classed as dull when "Monty" is on deck. A typical "Country Gentleman" Sportsman, Athlete, and Ballroom Baron.

REGINALD ARTHUR KENNEY, A.B.
UTICA, N. Y.

Kappa Sigma; Flat Hat Club; Sigma Upsilon; Rough Ashler Club; Associate Editor Lit. Magazine, '22-'23.

Introducing the Duke of our own foreign country—New York. One who has acclimated himself to Virginia and the South rather than try to reform them. "Reggie" is still another of the "old school," and the Kappa Sigs will suffer when he goes. He once left his Alma Mater for a sojourn at Harvard and University of Virginia, but soon returned to the fold. A highly cultured gentleman, we must say. He has traveled in France, "bi-cycled" in England, drank select vin blanc, and smoked passionate cigarettes. He leaves our college as one of those of whom we are proudest.

WILLIAM L'ANSFORD PERSON, B.S.
WILLIAMSBURG, VIRGINIA

Kappa Sigma; Alpha Kappa Psi; Cotillion Club; Tennis Team 1924; Tidewater Club; Williamsburg Club.

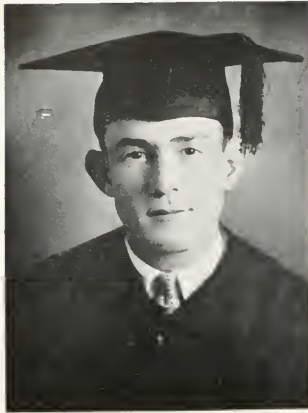

Billy—Williamsburg's business prodigy. Bill has hinted to several of his best friends that H. Ford has been worrying him to death to take over half of his tin business. At the beginning of each September term Bill watches the incoming mob at the train, and if you happen to be a special friend, or on the other side extremely good looking, well, you may get an offer to ride up in that "Sporty Red Buick." Besides wielding a nasty racket on the tennis courts, this lunky youth claims to be the youngest male graduate in this noble class. According to this business shark, the Economics Department was the greatest stroke of genius that this College ever instituted. We wonder why this conclusion!

HUGH TRENWITH HANCOCK, B.S.
RICHMOND, VIRGINIA

Kappa Sigma; Sigma Upsilon; Assist. Bus. Mgr. Echo, '23; Athletic Editor Echo, '24; Sports Editor The Flat Hat, '23-'24; Track Team, '21-'22, '23-'24; Tennis Team, '23-'24; Mile Relay Team, '22-'23, '23-'24; Richmond Club; Monogram Club; Captain Track, '24; Cotillion Club.

Jacques was right when he said, "All the world's a stage, and all the men and women merely players." "Red" has played his part in track, tennis and with the wimmen—being fast in all three sports. Yes, indeed! He's from the town of the Capital City Cafe and Tag days. In short "Red" knows his eggs and how to crack 'em. He's taken all the economies, government and other crips and is consequently ready to leave College. Good-bye, "Red." You is some shrewd.

ALVA HORSON COOKE, A.B.
HAMPTON, VIRGINIA

Kappa Alpha; Pres. Student Body, '23; Football, '19; Baseball, '22, '23; Captain Baseball '23; Basketball, '21, '22, '23; Capt., '23; Asst. Football Coach '22, '23; Vice-Pres. Class, Freshman year; Vice-Pres. Honor Council, '22; Inter-Frat. Council, '21, '22, '23; President Inter-Frat. Council, '23; Flat Hat Club; Monogram Club; Senior Rep. Athletic Com., '23; Secy Ath. Council, '22; "13" Club; Cotillon Club; Overseas Club; Historian Class of '24.

A scholar, an athlete and a gentleman. This is "Tac" Cooke, and we may add a "wire puller" and other things. "Cookie" was in some way mixed up with every "he-man" affair that has gone on around school for his four years. Look him up in the "Hall of Fame."

RAMON W. ANDREWS, A.B.
RICHMOND, VIRGINIA

Kappa Alpha; Cotillon Club; Minstrels, 1922-23, 1923-24; College Quartette; Richmond Club; College Orchestra; Chairman Senior Programme Committee.

Ramon, being a native of Richmond, spent the first two years of his college life at Richmond University. He began to "pick up" in his second year, though, and came to us for his third and fourth years. His pleasing personality, with his ready made wit and cheerful smile has made him a popular favorite with both the Williams and Marys. We expect big things from him in the accounting world.

JAMES OSCAR FAISON, JR., B.S.
CHATHAM, VIRGINIA

Sigma Nu; Alpha Kappa Psi; '13' Club; Southside Va. Club; T. N. T. Society; Joke Editor Col. Echo, '23; Ass't Manager Baseball, '22; Mgr. Baseball, '23; Interfraternity Council, '22, '23; Athletic Council, '22-'23; Monogram Club; Phoenix Literary Society; Cotillion Club.

Gaze upon the Earl of Chatham, alias, Gentleman Jim. Sil vous plais. One of the last of the Old School, and what will the College do without him? For five years he has served in various and diverse capacities, among them being that of "Exalted Assistant Dietitian Generalissimo."

He is a true-blue, cut and dried disciple of Adam Smith (or any other economist you can think of) even if they would not own him as such.

We predict some glorious future for him, such as Connoisseur of Finances for the Fiji Islands, or, perhaps of a more literary nature, as the writing of a text, entitled, "How to properly mismanage a College Baseball Team."—Walk right along, please, and don't feed the animals as you pass out.

TED DALTON, A.B.
PULASKI, VIRGINIA

Sigma Nu; President Omicron Delta Kappa Society, '23-'24; Flat Hat Club; Vice Chancellor Wythe Law Club; Alpha Kappa Psi; Rough Ashler Club; Interfraternity Council, '22-'23; Phoenix Literary Society; Monogram Club; Cotillion Club; '13' Club; Manager Track, '23; Athletic Council, '22-'23; Col. Echo Staff, '23; Editor-in-Chief Colonial Echo, '24; Member Virginia Bar Association.

You may be skeptical, but he's a lawyer and a man of affairs. Ted prides himself on having gone through college without "flunking" a course, and at the same time enjoying life. He has had everything a college man could want from an Airedale dog to a bright red automobile, and has also had the pleasure of cultivating the friendship of the "College Beauty," but these things make no difference with him. He is the same, first, last and all the time. In reverio, Theodore!

WILLIAM H. IRVINE, A.B.
EVINGTON, VIRGINIA

Kappa Alpha; Track Squad, '23.

"Get out of this pool room," shouted Bob Wallace as Bill entered the door. "Don't you know you'll flunk your courses by hanging around here so much?"

Oh! Boy, weren't those wonderful days? We all know that Bill left us with his sheepskin last term, even if he did try to keep it a secret. Bill never said much, but when he did, he was certain to have a listener. An ardent admirer of Henry Ford, a cue artist and one who was surrounded with friends, was this chap from the lumber regions.

Godspeed to you, Sweet William. May the "15" ball always fall for you in your gigantic undertakings. Here's to you first, and Betty all the time.

CARA ARMISTEAD, B.S.
WILLIAMSBURG, VIRGINIA

From the wilds of Panama, Cara has come back for her degree. Whether she be parleying francs, making slides for microscopical technique, or what, she does it with ease. And not only does she do it well, but she has the happy faculty of making the professors think so too.

Senior Class History

The task of the Historian, especially of him who must chronicle the happenings of his classmates at college, is both pleasant and difficult. In years to come, when far from the dear old college, when widely separated from his classmates, and when memories of student life are but dim and shadowy we hope this effort will give pleasure and bring fond recollections.

To bridge the gap between today and that September morning four years ago when many divergent streams of human entities became a unit in time, place, desire, and opportunity; to do this it is necessary to possess a very clear mirror with a backward look.

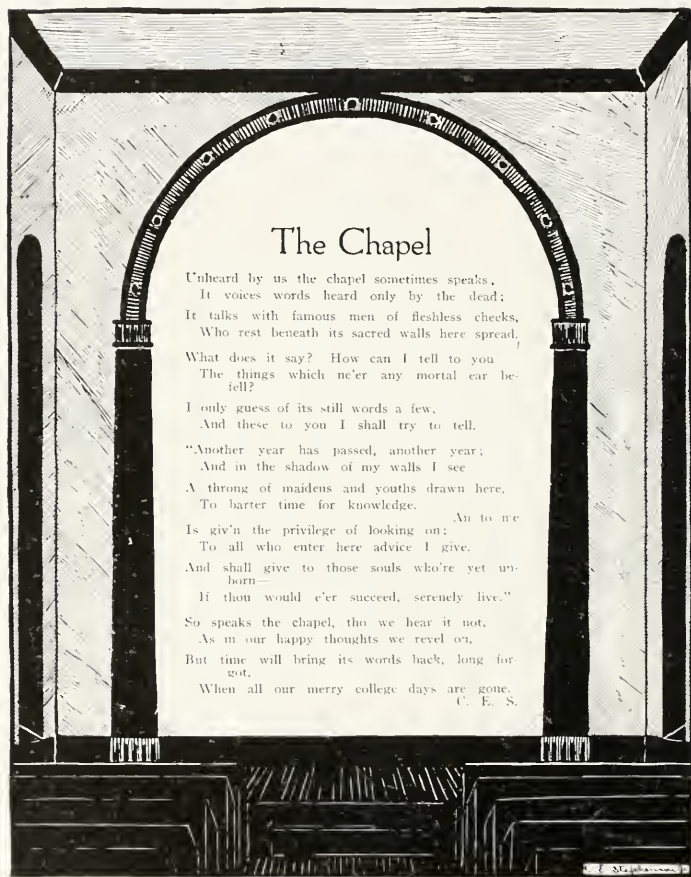

With hearts filled with thoughts of home, we became objects of attention to "the powers that be"—the wily Sophs. They with undimmed ardor and unrelaxed vigilance, taught us to dance, to sing, and all other kindred accomplishments. Time wore on; exams were met and manfully vanquished; vacation came and passed away.

Then we Sophs, literary assembly, and on athletic field, we fought, for the glory of the class and our Alma Mater.

Within our numbers can be found men who have made great contributions to the athletic life of the college, women who have made possible a wholesome social life. Among us are leaders. Upon close analysis we feel that all life is represented in embryo in our class.

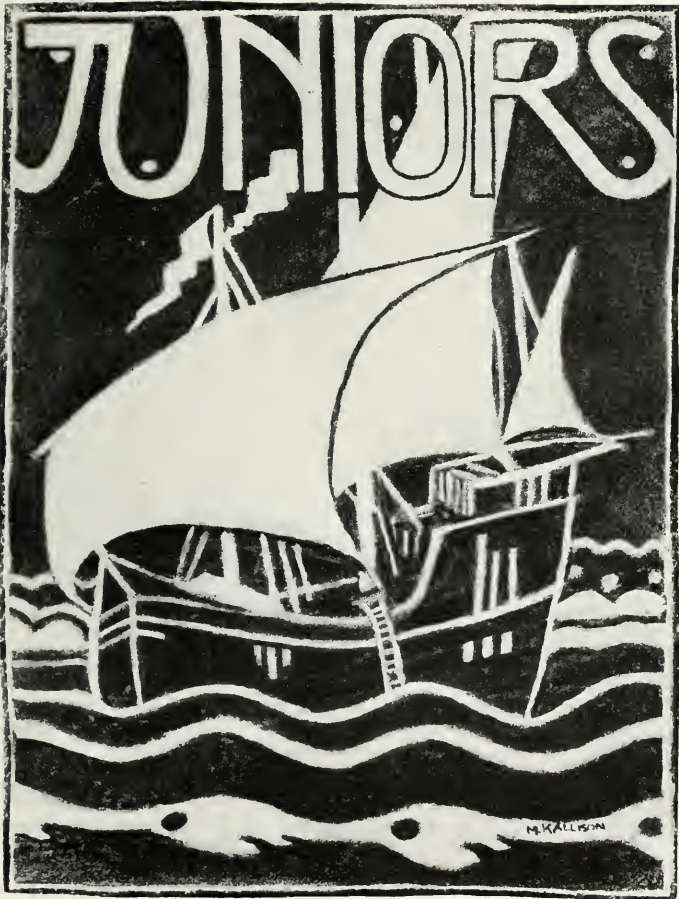

Let us remember then, these four years spent together under the protecting arm of Alma Mater, and as we enter the battle field of life, let these joyous days never fade. Therefore, as we say farewell, let it be said with a determination, that the Class of 1924 will play its part upon the stage of life. The State, even the Nation, looks to William and Mary; and William and Mary looks to us, her sons. Our College, confident in her trust, parents the Class of 1924.

Historian '24.

The Chapel

Unheard by us the chapel sometimes speaks,
It voices words heard only by the dead;
It talks with famous men of fleshless cheeks,
Who rest beneath its sacred walls here spread,
What does it say? How can I tell to you
The things which ne'er any mortal ear be-tell?
I only guess of its still words a few,
And these to you I shall try to tell.
"Another year has passed, another year;
And in the shadow of my walls I see
A throng of maidens and youths drawn here,
To barter time for knowledge.
An to we
Is giv'n the privilege of looking on;
To all who enter here advice I give,
And shall give to those souls who're yet unborn—
If thou would e'er succeed, serenely live."
So speaks the chapel, tho we hear it not,
As in our happy thoughts we revel on,
But time will bring its words back, long forgot,
When all our merry college days are gone,

Junior Class History

Life today is the history of tomorrow. History is a vital, moving thing, a dramatic chain of events infused with the vividness of personality. Hence, is it not a bit ironical that for lack of better means of expression, one is called upon to write history? We ask you to look and read in life the history of the Class of '25.

Our class had its beginning in 1921, a year known in the history of the college for the opening of Jefferson Hall as a dormitory for women, and for the largest proportionate increase in the college enrollment made in any previous year. Our class, being large, was quite independent; we felt that we were a little more than the average group of "dues". Yet, we were never lawless, thanks to a predominating element of common sense.

The three years that elapsed since 1921 have passed all too soon. "Verily", think we, an old thought overcoming all originality, "Time is a fast old man". Has it been a few weeks or a few days since we went about with "due" caps and were represented in the "Echo" by a group picture so very "group" that not even our eagerly searching family could not recognize its cherished college student?

The three years have transformed us into Juniors, a privileged type of person known only to the college world and characterized by the jingle, "when they are gay, they are very, very gay, and when they are sad, they are morbid." (Is that not a clever way of saying that Juniors do all things well without being so immodest as to really say it?)

Being a Junior, however, is not all happiness. In June the Seniors, the last of those to whom we have looked for guidance, the last of those who have taught us the meaning of William and Mary, will move on. We shall enjoy the increased responsibility; but we shall sigh for the pleasure of leaning upon, looking up to, minds more experienced and respected than our own. It is not always pleasant to be "at the top."

The Old Bell Ringer

IT is the hour of sunrise on the first of October, 1885. An old man drives in from his country estate and hitches his horse to a post of the broken down fence near the campus of the College of William and Mary.

Entering the College grounds at the head of the Duke of Gloucester Street he passes "with feeble step and slow" up the walk which leads to the main entrance of the old College building.

Halfway up the walk he meets Lord Botetourt. His Lordship's right arm is broken off: his nose has also disappeared. There, amid the sunshine and shadows he stands, as he had stood for one hundred years, waiting to give his benediction of approval to all who with high purpose, passed along that walk to the College which, as Colonial Governor of Virginia, he had supported and befriended in every way.

The old English Lord had lost his arm and his nose in a student riot which grew out of the agitation immediately preceding the War of the Revolution, during which he had been thrown from his pedestal by those who made his presence in the hall of the old Capitol the inciting cause of their riotous conduct.

Kind friends had lifted him from the ground and restored him to his present place in the campus of the College of William and Mary. There His Excellency stood, facing the sunrise on this first day of October, 1885, and there he stands today.

The old gentleman pauses before the statue of His Excellency, Baron de Botetourt, and views the scene of desolation. He and the old Colonial Governor stand alone beneath the elms, the sole occupants of the campus. To the right is the closed home of the former presidents of William and Mary. To his left on the opposite side of the campus, he sees the closed and barred doors of the Brafferton Indian School.

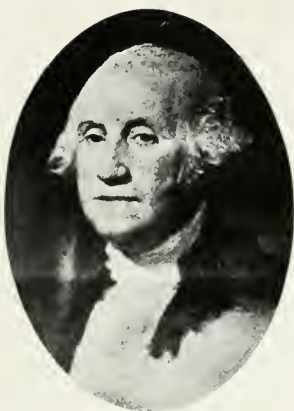

The old man passes on. He climbs the steps of the Old Main Building designed by Sir Christopher Wren and enters the door. His steps echo and reverberate through the deserted building. From out of the past there appear the faces and forms of by-gone men, and though the building is uninhabited by any visible personalities, invisible patriots and statesmen appear and enter the chambers of imagination.

Washington comes, carrying the mace, the symbol of his authority as Chancellor of the College.

With long stride the tall red-haired Jefferson marches in to attend the lectures of William Small, to whom he credits the formation of his character.

John Marshall comes with his mind set upon the pursuit of justice as expressed and interpreted in the law, to attend the law lectures of the distinguished George Wythe, the friend and associate of George Mason, the author of the Bill of Rights.

Then the Randolphs come, and later on James Monroe, John Tyler, and many others now distinguished in American history.

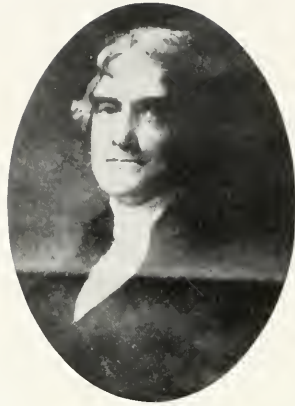

The scene changes, and Benjamin Franklin appears before the Chancellor and President and Masters and the assembled multitude of by-gone days to receive from the College the honorary degree of Master of Arts.

Presently the chambers of thought are filled and thronged with men of earnest gaze of earnest purpose. The old man lifts his hand and lays it upon the bell rope, and the sunrise hour, and the sunlight air catch the peal of the college bell as it calls in vain for students who are no longer present to rise from their slumbers and begin the work of a new session.

Thus, for many years, Colonel Benjamin S. Ewell, President of William and Mary, on the first day of October, at sunrise, rang the bell to mark the opening of the session of the College of William and Mary. Throughout the years no students responded to the call.

The faith of Colonel Ewell is being vindicated today. Some idea of the conditions which confronted him is given by a report of Commissioner of Education Dawson in 1887:

"The College of William and Mary, founded in 1693 by Royal Grant, and long supported by popular legislation in Virginia, has been suffered to decline almost to ruin since the Civil War, which destroyed the greater part of its property. The oldest college in the south, in fact the oldest in the country with the exception of Harvard University, has been left to decay while the latter institution with which William and Mary College used to share the annual income of the bequest of Robert Boyle, the English philosopher, has lately celebrated its 250th anniversary amidst general rejoicing, with the President of the United States and representatives of American and European Universities to do honor to the occasion. The old college at Williamsburg, which gave Washington his first degree as civil engineer, and to which he gave his last public service as chancellor, the college which trained in law and politics Thomas Jefferson, Governor Randolph, Chief Justice Marshall, and nearly all of the Virginian statesmen of the Revolutionary and formative periods in our Federal history, has not now a single student. Its classic halls are closed and deserted. From a once flourishing faculty, which early and ably represented both history and political science with other liberal arts, only the president, who is also professor of mathematics and physics, now remains. At the opening day of every academic year in October Doctor Ewell causes the chapel bell to be rung reminding Williamsburg that the ancient college still lives. To friends of the higher education in all our states, this fact will echo as a note of warning against public neglect and legislative indifference towards higher institutions of learning.

This period in the life of the College was referred to by Senator George F. Hoar of Massachusetts, who said in an address in 1886 at the 250th anniversary celebration of Harvard University.

“The stout-hearted old president still rings the morning bell and keeps the Charter alive; and I want to salute him today from Harvard and I should value it more than any public honor or private good fortune that could come to me if I might live to see that old historic college of Virginia endowed anew with liberal aid of the sons of Harvard.”

Could Benjamin S. Ewell return to the campus of his beloved College today, he would see how well the traditions and ideals of William and Mary have been preserved for the present generation, and for those to come. He would discover that once again she is forging to her front, building soundly on the enduring basis of her founders, breathing the spirit of her idealism into the schools of the Old Dominion, and carrying her code of honor and her staunch Americanism to the workers in the cities.

JONATHAN S. PROUT, M. D.
Student of William and Mary, 1850-52.

In the systematic reorganization of the Alumni Association of the College instituted by Professor W. T. Hodges, perhaps the most interesting incident has been the discoverer of the oldest living alumnus in the person of Jonathan S. Prout, of Fishkill, New York, student at William and Mary in the years 1850-52. The college records for that period having disappeared, Dr. Prout's existence was not known until a most fortunate chance unearthed it.

Dr. Prout came to the College from Washington, D. C. through his family relationship (second cousin) to Professor (later President) Benjamin S. Ewell. He modestly writes of himself: "I was a dull, slow boy, and found the course at William and Mary too hard for me. My elders, among them Professor Ewell, as I had no choice of my own, decided for me that I should study medicine, showing knowledge neither of it nor of me." Young Prout was graduated M. D. in the Medical Department of old Columbian (now George Washington) University in 1856.

Dr. Prout has a fine war record, having served as regimental surgeon in the Federal Army of the West from 1862 until the close of the war between the States, and participating in Sherman's March to the Sea. He settled in Brooklyn, New York, and, with the exception of two years spent in study in Germany, continued the practice of his specialty, ophthalmology, until very recent years.

It is hoped that Dr. Prout may visit Alma Mater on Alumni Day of the approaching Finals. We assure him a royal welcome awaits him, but, if the weight of years and infirmities should prevent his coming, the Colonial Echo salutes him with love and veneration, and wishes him many more years of keen wit and pleasing recollections.

J. WILDER TASKER
Director of Athletics

Coach Tasker, present head of athletics at William and Mary, is an alumnus of Syracuse University. During his career as a student there from 1907 to 1911 he played on the football, basketball, and baseball teams. In 1912-'13 he attended Union University, playing on the football and baseball teams.

Since 1913 Coach Tasker has coached and played professionally.

Coming to William and Mary in 1923, Coach Tasker was made head coach of football, basketball and baseball.

His football team last fall was practically the greatest team ever turned out at William and Mary, defeating Richmond University for the first time in four years, and by the decisive score of 27 to 6.

In basketball, his team was greatly handicapped by men leaving school and being ineligible on account of scholastic standing. This early in baseball he has already developed several stars to fill the vacancies.

VARSITY FOOTBALL SQUAD

Captain John Todd
Center

Captain John Todd, Center, has proved himself to be the most versatile line man on the squad. Having played every position in the line during his three years John has proved a most valuable man to the team. He was placed on the second all state team. He is possibly one of the greatest linemen this college has ever produced. Todd was re-elected captain for next year.

Weight, 184

Charles
Halfback

"Dicky" Charles playing his second year on the varsity alternated between quarter and half. Charles is a product of F. U. M. A., where he played on all four teams. In the Naval Academy game "Dicky" intercepted a forward pass and ran the ball back sixty yards. Weight 156.

House
Guard

"Kerno" House, right guard, is considered one of the best guards in the state. House's strong point is his variations in methods of attack. "Kerno" was captain of the strong Maury H. S. eleven two years ago, this being his second year on the varsity.

Weight 170.

Parson
Guard

"Farmer" Parson, left guard, is a product of the W. and M. coaching staff. Parson first came into prominence as a member of the scrub team, three years ago, when he began to "horse" two opposing linemen on the varsity during scrimmage. Weight 175.

Elliott
Tackle

"Snook" Elliott, left tackle, is considered one of the smartest line men in the state. "Snook" has that knack of keeping his man guessing how he is coming in to meet the play. Although next to the lightest man in the line he fills his position as if he were a 200 pounder.

Weight 175.

Young
Tackle

"Blunder Young, right tackle, played his last game for his old Alma Mater when the Indians triumphed over the Spiders. "Blunder" played his most outstanding game against the University of Delaware, in Williamsburg, when he recovered fumbles on two separate occasions which indirectly resulted in touchdowns. "Blunder" has played on the varsity four years, making three letters in this time.

Weight 189.

Jordan
End

"Tommy" Jordan, left end, faced the Spiders for the fourth and last time on Turkey Day. "Tommy" may be well pleased with his closing "grid." game, as his catch of a forty-five yard pass seemed an impossible feat. Jordan was one of the state's best receivers of forward passes this last season. Being the lightest man in the line, he did not let this handicap weaken his side of the line.

Weight 162.

L. Todd
End

Lee Todd, right end, was one of the two freshmen to make the varsity this season. Lee was Captain of Newport News High last year and also on the all-state scholastic eleven; he has proved worthy of the honors bestowed on him while in prep school. On going down under punts Lee let the opposing safety man know who he was after the first deadly tackle. He has a big figure ahead in his next three years on the gridiron.

Weight 190.

Matsu
Quarterback

"Art" Matsu, the sturdy little quarterback, proved himself to be the headiest little field general in the state. "Art" was the only man that scored on the famous Syracuse team, until their eighth game. He booted a drop kick from the forty yard line against both the Navy and Syracuse. Matsu is the only freshman besides L. Todd to make the varsity. Last year he made the all state scholastic eleven of Ohio.

Weight 143.

Cain
Fullback

"Caino" Cain, the ramrod of the backfield, stopped at nothing, much less a Spider line of defense. In the Richmond game Cain was everything a fullback should be. In the third quarter he ran through the entire Richmond line for a sixty yard run, and in the last quarter he pulled off two runs of thirty yards each.

Weight 175.

Hastings
Halfback

"Stink" Hastings, the veteran back fieldman, completed his fourth year on the varsity when he starred in the Turkey day battle. "Stink," although playing halfback, was one of the hardest charging men on the team. Hastings could always be counted on for a gain on an off tackle play. The gap left by him will be mighty hard to fill next year.

Weight 165.

Irwin
Halfback

"Wince" Irwin, the speedy little halfback, was one of the hardest fighting men on the team. On end runs he paved the way for many a first down. In both the Hampden-Sidney and the Delaware game. "Wince" was everything a brilliant back should be. When the team is on the down side leave it to Irwin to put the pep in the old eleven.

Weight 155.

The team that donned the orange and black jerseys for William and Mary last fall gave promise from the very start of being the greatest Indian eleven in the history of the venerable institution. It was confronted by the hardest schedule ever handed a W. and M. team, and they did the job nobly. They overlooked the jinx that had accompanied Indian elevens in the years past—especially that of having the team disorganized about mid-season, due to some internal friction. The whole squad buckled down to the job from the first practice day in September and they well deserve the glory with which they covered themselves on that never-to-be-forgotten Thanksgiving Day.

When Coach Tasker called his warriors together on September 4th, he let them know from the very start that he was going to have the best William and Mary team ever turned out or none at all. Uniforms were immediately issued by that most efficient of managers, Stanley Gay, and the veterans and the rookies took to Palace Green as our old athletic field was undergoing a state of great improvement.

There were holes to be filled with Ranglely, White, Chandler, Captain Flanders, and Haskell gone from our midst either by graduation or change of school. Flanders, Captain-elected, failed to return. John Todd, center for the past two years, was elected to the honor of leading the team. There was abundant material from last year's scrub squad and from the incoming freshmen class.

The season opened on Saturday, September 21st, with a game against the Norfolk Fire Department. Coach Tasker had secured this game so as to get a line on his men, never having seen them under fire. The game was played on a muddy field, which prevented either team from displaying unusual form. It was apparent from the start that the visiting team was not in good condition. A thirty yard pass to Jordan netted our first down and paved the way for the initial touchdown of the season. Coach Tasker made substitutions during the game and practically every man on the squad got his chance. Although the Indian line was out weighted several pounds, it had little trouble with the opposing forwards. The hard plunging of the backfield brought the spectators to their feet several times. Immediately after the game Coach Tasker reduced the Varsity Squad to twenty-five men. Final score: Norfolk Fire Department 0, W. and M. 21.

The following Friday the team caught the boat for Baltimore and on the following day, Saturday, September 29th, the Indian team encountered the famous Navy Eleven on the Navy's own field. The weather was better suited for baseball than football, but despite this there was a cheering crowd of 5,000.

Although the Indians crossed the Navy goal line and then added three more points by the way of a drop, they were unable to break up the end runs and forward passing of the Navy. The two outstanding features of the game was an 85 yard run by Flippen of the Navy and a 40 yard gain for the Indian eleven when Charles caught a forward pass from Matsu. The Indians' first tally came in the second quarter with the ball on the Navy's own ten yard line. An attempted forward pass was intercepted by Captain John Todd, who raced across for a touchdown. Matsu then kicked goal. In the third we came within striking distance of the Navy's goal but their line stiffened, and on the third down Matsu booted the ball between the goal post for a forty yard drop-kick. Flippen, McKee, Cullen, Shipley, and Ballinger played the best game for the Navy, while Matsu, Captain Todd, Elliott and Charles starred for the Indians. Final score: Navy 39, W. and M. 10.

Returning home Sunday from the Navy game the team got down to hard practice for three days, and on Wednesday afternoon packed their moleskins and set sail for Syracuse, N. Y. The team stopped over in Williamsport, Pa., for a day's practice and on Saturday took the field against the cream of eastern elevens, namely, the powerful Syracuse eleven. The game was played before a crowd of 15,000 which was brought to its feet several times by the brilliant running of the Syracuse backs. Syracuse had one of the greatest backfields in the country, being second only to that of Yale. The Syracuse backfield, composed of Simmons, Bowman, Simmerman, and McBride, gained on the Indian eleven at will. On the first kick-off Bowman of Syracuse received the ball on his own goal line and raced 100 yards for a touchdown. Incidentally Bowman is a 9-3-5 man and is rated as the fastest man in football this year. During the same quarter, Foley, a substitute back, received the ball on a kick-off on his own 2 yard line and raced through the entire W. and M. team for a touchdown. Matsu, the Indian quarterback, again came to the front and saved the team from going scoreless. In the first quarter the team had the ball well down in Syracuse territory and as the Syracuse line stiffened for three downs, "Art" dropped back a few yards and with a brilliant drop-kick from the 38 yard line, brought the Indian tally to three points. Although downed by the overwhelming score of 63 to 3 the team gained considerable experience by the game. Captain Todd for the Indians booted the ball on every kick-off, either over the Syracuse goal or within five yards of it.

Next Saturday the ends were reversed and the team came out on top of a large score against Guilford College, from Carolina. This being the first collegiate home game the students and town rooters turned out en masse. The team used only four plays in the game yet they gained practically every time they carried the ball. The experience gained in the last two big games showed to advantage among the big eleven. When the final whistle blew, the score stood: Guilford 0, W. and M. 74. Jack Chalkley, end, was injured during this game, to such an extent that he was out of the game for nearly the rest of the season.

The next Saturday we ran into our old Carolina rivals, Trinity. The "Blue Devils" from Carolina had been looking forward to this game with intense interest, as we had defeated them for the last two seasons. The game was played in Rocky Mount, N. C., before a very large crowd. As the papers expressed it, "with an impregnable line and a backfield working with machine-like precision, the William and Mary Indians completely outclassed and defeated the Trinity 'Blue Devils.'" The feature of the game was the dazzling aerial attack which completely disorganized the Trinity squad. Twice long passes were shot to Jordan by Matsu, one for forty yards which resulted in a touchdown. In the second quarter John Todd, although playing center, made his second touchdown of the season when he scooped up a fumble and raced over the line. The third quarter brought about another touchdown for the team, by the aerial route. This brought the score up to Trinity 0, W. and M. 21, which was also the final score of the game. The old pass combination of Matsu to Jordan was beginning to come into evidence.

The next game was played on the home grounds, with Randolph-Macon College. Coach Tasker has so much confidence in his second team that he started the entire second squad. The second team held their own until the second quarter, when the varsity replaced them and shoved over two touchdowns in short order. The second squad again took the field in the second half and succeeded in scoring a touchdown. The varsity finished up the fourth quarter and pushed over another touchdown. Final score: Randolph-Macon 0, W. and M. 27.

On November 3rd we vanquished Hampden-Sidney. The Tigers were met in Norfolk and the city turned out to welcome the two teams. Practically the whole student body was at the game and the team was not lacking the least bit in support. That evening a mutilated Tiger skin waved over the Indian campus. The Tiger team was expecting great things from their star back, Ben Smith, and while he really stood out to advantage, he could not break loose for any noticeable gains, and he was thrown for losses several times by our husky linemen. The team shoved over a touchdown in the first quarter, but after that they seemed to lose the old pep. In the third quarter two more points were added by a safety, and in the last quarter the boys really got to going and walked down the field twice, each time for a touchdown. Cain, who had broken his nose in the first quarter, returned to the game the last period and started an offensive march that could not be stopped. He made both of the first and last touchdowns. Score: Hampden-Sidney 0, W. and M. 20.

The following Saturday brought about the best football game that Williamsburg had witnessed in many a year. The strong Delaware eleven was met and defeated on the home grounds. The day was ideal for football, and the side lines were crowded.

Many of alumni were on hand to see the brilliant Indian victory, which brought joy to numerous Indian hearts. Up to this point the Delaware team had been undefeated and for the first half it looked as if they would continue their clean record. During this period the opposing team outplayed us, but the second half was yet to be played. At the close of the half neither team had scored. Early in the third quarter "Blunder" Young recovered a fumble and from then the old team could not be stopped. Irwin and Hastings led the attack. They advanced the ball to the ten yard line from where Irwin carried it over on the next play, on an end run. A few minutes later Young recovered another fumble, this time on Delaware's five yard line, and an off-tackle play with Hastings carrying the ball, resulted in our second touchdown. Matsu kicked both goals.

Lee Todd at end played a wonderful game throughout. He smeared up the interference on his end and when it came to getting down under punts, well, Lee simply looked like all-American material. "Art" Matsu played a great game at quarter, and generalled his team with brilliant leadership. For Delaware, Elliott was their brightest star, and displayed his abilities as an excellent triple-threat man. McKerly and "Red" Donaldson playing end for Delaware put up an excellent game. The entire William and Mary team played practically their best game of the season, at least up to that point of the season. The very favorable score of Delaware 0, W. and M. 14, ended the game.

Everything was now pointed toward the championship for the Class "B" Colleges, with only Roanoke and Richmond in the way. So the following Thursday, trunks were packed with moleskins and the team started towards Roanoke. The Sport writers throughout the State had picked the Indian team to win this game, although it was expected to be exceedingly close. There was a high wind blowing over the field and as Roanoke won the toss they chose to kick with the wind to their backs. Early in the first quarter the team scored on the maroon eleven. The Roanoke center passed the ball over his backs' heads and House pounced on it like a cat after it had rolled across the goal line. For the rest of the game the team was on the defensive, as two Richmond scouts were in the stands and Coach Tasker was not taking any chances of giving away his plays. In the entire game the Indian team did not use but four plays and all of them were straight line bucks or end runs, while Roanoke turned loose everything she had, as it was her last game. There was hard fighting for every yard gained. When the team was on the defensive, John Todd was shifted from center to end, and with the Todd brothers holding down the wing positions, the Roanoke backs found it impossible to gain any grounds on end runs. Late in the second quarter, Hurt for Roanoke shot a thirty yard pass to Miller, who fell over the goal line for their touchdown. Hurt failed to kick goal. Score—Roanoke 6, W. and M. 7. Matsu, the star quarter back, was kept out of the game until the second half. In the fourth quarter with only a few minutes to go, Roanoke had the ball in mid-field, and it looked like a sure William and Mary victory. Then the Roanoke team resorted to forward passes, and completed two, bringing the ball on the thirty yard line. Two attempts at the line proved futile, so Hurt dropped back a few yards and neatly booted a thirty-five yard drop kick between the goal posts. Two minutes later the whistle blew, ending the game and downing our chances for the championship. Fatal score, Roanoke 9, W. and M. 7.

RICHMOND-WILLIAM AND MARY GAME 1923

A Spider-Indian game! The great event of the year! Bonfires, speeches from all the dignitaries, burning of the Richmond Jinx, speeches from the team, not so much of the Webster type, but with that go-gettem twang, and the rousing cheer to old Lord

Botetourt of "COME ON, RICHMOND," at all hours of the night—was evidence of the spirit that pervaded our campus.

With practically the whole student body accompanying the team the next morning on the special train, it was evident that the support of the Indians would be just as strong as that of the Spiders. We took the enemy's town by storm and after gathering more backers we proceeded to the scene of the game.

At 2:30 sharp the Richmond team took the field amid rousing cheers from the opponent's stands. A few minutes later the crowd of eight thousand people were given a real treat when the Indian team took the field, clad in new uniforms, which revived the ancient colors of the College, discarding the orange and the black. The team was arrayed in gold jerseys with green numerals, and green stockings with silver and gold stripes.

The game was the thirty-third played between the two institutions. Old man Dope had said that William and Mary should win and there was no disposition on the part of the warriors clad in Gold, Green and Silver to upset the dope. They bettered all predictions. A powerful set of driving forwards, and backs using plays that combined speed and deception, swept the Dobson machine completely off their feet.

Richmond was decisively outplayed in every phase of the game, registering but five first downs, while William and Mary smothered the Spider line, tallying sixteen times for first downs. The team used a powerful running attack in their unstoppable drives, and the series of onslaughts led by Cain, Irwin and Hastings, tore the Spider line to shreds, gaining 268 yards on line plays alone. The Spiders attempted a daring open game coupled with reverse shifts and trick passes, but these accomplished little against vengeance-seeking Indians, who tackled their shift plays behind the line and converted their passes into Indian touchdowns.

the vengeance-seeking Indians, who tackled their shift plays behind the line and converted their passes into Indian touchdowns.

From the initial whistle the frills came fast and furious. Jordan, playing his last time in an Indian uniform, brought the game's greatest thriller. It came in the second quarter just after Richmond had succeeded in making a touchdown, when he snatched a fifty yard pass from Matsu out of the hands of two Richmond backs and ran unimpeded for a touchdown. The team, true to form, did their spectacular work in the second half. They ripped the Spider line for gains ranging up to 45 yards. Once they marched 60 yards down the field on drives through guard and tackle. Cain proved the brightest luminary of the W. and M. backfield. His smashing attacks disorganized the Richmond eleven, and time after time he broke through center for thirty and forty yard gains. "Stink" Hastings, a four year man, ended his football career by sharing the backfield honors of the day. He scored the second Indian touchdown on a beautiful end run. "Blunder" Young, seen in action for the last time, divided line honors with the Todd brothers in hurling back the Richmond offense. In the last few minutes of play, Coach Tasker sent his second team against the Richmond machine and they held them with apparent ease.

The Scrubs

Now sing, if you will of the varsity star
Who plunges through oceans of gore;
Sing in the praise of his startling plays.

The fifty-yard runs for a score,
Your song is the song of the star who shines,
My song is the song of the dub;
So when you are done, let us sing, everyone,
Of the guy who plays on the Scrub,

The stars who win amid the din
Are praised with wide acclaim;
But the unknown dub who plays on the Scrub
Is the one who perfects his game;
He takes his bumps, absorbs his thumps,
With not one to tell his story;
But his heart is true as the skies are blue,
Who gets thumped for another's glory.

So sing, if you will, of the plays that thrill,
And cheer for the stars of the game;
I'll sing of the chumps who take their thumps
That others may win their fame,
I'll sing of the Scrub, the mutt and the dub,
Who never break into story;
For his heart is true as the skies are blue
Who gets thumped for another's glory.

VARSIY BASKETBALL SQUAD

BASKETBALL

With the loss of three veterans from last years squad, Coach Tasker started the basketball training with three letter men and a large number of promising cagers. The old stars back in uniform were Capt. Horace Hicks, Sexton and Todd. Harwood, a letter man of two past seasons who had been out of school for a year was back in the old harness for his former place. The schedule was the longest undertaken by any team in the state. There were twenty-four games listed and a trip of two weeks, with twelve games to be played in thirteen nights. Of the twenty-four games the team won eight and lost sixteen. Considering the fact that we played the best teams in both Virginia and North Carolina, the season cannot be adequately judged by the number of games won and lost. Harwood quit school to enter business, before the season was hardly started, and Marshall the most promising man for the vacant position at forward had to quit the squad in order to give more time to his studies.

Three games were played before Christmas, which were won with apparent ease and it seemed that we were going to repeat the long string of victories of last year. The first defeat came on Jan. 12 when Wake Forest defeated us by 2 points. They had turned the trick by the margin of three tallies the year before.

We next took the Union Theology Seminary into camp by a 24 to 16 score. A week later the Richmond Blues defeated the team, 43 to 38.

CAPTAIN HICKS, Forward

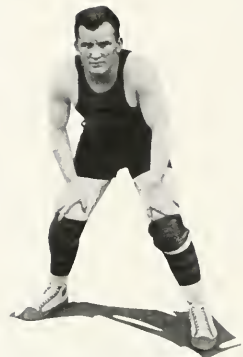

SEXTON, Center

Monday our old rival Richmond, came into camp, and the Indian quint upset the dope and turned in a 25 to 22 victory. The game was marked by numerous fouls, there being fifty six in all. Three nights later another independent team from Richmond, the Va. Boat Club, managed to turn the trick and defeated us by a lone point, 24 to 23. The team left on the Virginia trip, playing Va. W. & L., V. M. I., V. P. I., Roanoke and Lynchburg on successive nights, and came out with the small tally in each. Laying over one day they started the Carolina trip on Monday and turned in a victory for the first game over the Norfolk Naval Base. In the next five games remaining on the trip they were successful in four, winning over the Elon five.

On Washington's birthday Richmond was again played and this time the team was forced to take the small end of the score. Cofer and J. Todd were mis-ing from our line-up on this night. The following night Randolph Macon defeated us for the first time in four years.

The season was closed in a brilliant game on the home floor with Guilford. Capt. Hicks playing his last collegiate game was easily the outstanding star of the game with seven field goals and two fouls.

The team has the distinction of having the leading state scorer in Capt. Hicks. Horace turned in a total of 273 points for twenty-four games. He was over seventy points ahead of his closest rival. Hicks was unanimously chosen for the all-state team, and naturally made the all college team which our star guard, L. Todd also made.

TRACK

The Track season of 1923-24 started off with the bang of the starter's gun early in October. The team was greatly handicapped from the start in not having a suitable track of any nature on which to practice. The old Cary field was undergoing many changes and the new athletic field was far from finished. The grass plot in front of the Library was chosen as the stamping ground for the Indian Chargers, and real work was started. Coach Jones impressed on his men that the fall training would be more or less distance work so as to get the proper stamina, and then put more stress on speed when spring practice came around.

The letter men who returned were: Scrap Chandler, Red Hancock, Doc Rangely, Sprig Winder, Al Hooff and Rats Wesson. "Tighty" Moore who had starred in the field events in every meet last year failed to return, and Buck Young, who cleared the bar in pole-vaulting last year at 11 feet 3 inches, had completed his four years on the team. At the end of the winter quarter, Rangely left school, thus his highly needed services were lost. The loss of Moore and Rangely greatly crippled the team in the field events and the hurdles. These two men in the dual meet with Richmond University last year picked up exactly twenty-five points. In the South-Atlantic meet, Moore hurled the javelin 181 feet 3 inches, winning first place and breaking the standing record. In the same meet Rangely put the shot 41 feet 7 inches, taking third place.

No meets were held during the fall and winter, but the Mile Relay team entered three indoor meets.

On February 9th the relay team competed against the quartet from the University of Richmond. The track was only 110 yards on a hardwood floor. Richmond won the toss and this proved the factor that decided the race. The going was thrilling to the finish, when the anchor men for each team crossed the line with a scant six inches separating them, Richmond winning. The next meet was the Georgetown indoor games which were held in Washington on the 21st of February. The Indian four was pitted against the strong team from Johns Hopkins. Hopkins had their star, Luis Clarke, who broke the world's indoor record for the hundred yards, two night later, running in third place for them. Hopkins won the race in fast time. The team then journeyed over to Baltimore where Johns Hopkins University was staging its annual indoor relay carnival, on the 23rd. The William and Mary relay team was entered in the Mile relay for the South-Atlantic Championship. The race was exceedingly thrilling from the start, with first one team leading and then another, the Richmond University team finally winning out. The time for the distance was the second fastest of the night.

The men who ran on the relay team in these various meets were Hancock, Spraker, Winder, and Chandler, running in order named.

Spring practice was started the last of March. Work was commenced in earnest, although the runners still had to practice on the 150 yard circular track in front of the Library.

Coach Jones at the very start layed stress on speed, for the distance men as well as the sprinters. The team seemed especially strong in running events with Hooft in the 100 and 220, Hancock and Chandler in the 440, and Chandler and Winder in the 880. Among the other men from last year's squad were: T. Daly, Shields, Moss, Wells, Durham, Spraker, Charles, Van Lear, Mapp, J. Daly, Irwin, Baker, St. George, J. Todd, Lash, Norsworthy, Wilkins, and Moncure.

Among the new men who are going to give some one a fight for it are: L. Todd, Meades, Matsui, Miles, Yeates, Swink, Miller, Wilshin and Smith. The team is unfortunate in not being able to use two sure point winners, Edgar and Groves. These two men would do well in the field events and the hurdles against any school.

The whole season is pointing towards the meet with the University of Richmond on May 17th, at Richmond.

Last year the Indians lost to the Richmond team by the bare points of a lone third place. The final score being 64 to 62. In 1922 the Richmond team also won by the close score of 66 to 60. That year the Indian team captured ten out of fourteen first places. In 1921 the William and Mary runners also lost by a score of 69 2-3 to 56 1-3. Every year the Indian team has been drawing nearer their Spider opponents and it is just about time they were breaking through.

Next year, with the completion of the athletic field this summer, William and Mary will have a regulation cinder track of 440 yards with a 220 yard straightway. There will also be an indoor track in the new gymnasium, which is fast nearing completion.

Rangley

Doc, starred in the shot put, discus, and the high hurdles, last year. He made a high number of points in each meet he entered, and in the South-Atlantic meet pulled down third place in the shot, hurling the sixteen pound ball 41 feet 3½ inches. The team greatly misses Doc during the past season.

1923 South-Atlantic Stars

Tighty, the hurler of the javelin, carved his name in the hall of fame by acquiring the art of throwing that old stick. Tighty was high point man in several of last year's meets, and in the South-Atlantic meet, broke the record for the javelin throw, although he was not given credit for a record on account of a slight wind, he was given first place. His distance for the throw was 181 feet 7 inches. The failure of Tighty and Doc to return greatly crippled the team in the field events.

BASEBALL

Although we only split even with our ancient rivals, The University of Richmond, in baseball for the 1923 season, it was nevertheless highly successful. The season's record was twelve wins and six losses, and some of the best teams in the country were played.

Baseball has always been the big sport at William and Mary and last year's team lived up to all expectations. Such schools as Holy Cross, intercollegiate champion for the past two years, New York university, Amherst, Harvard, Penn State, Virginia, Quantico Marines, Navy, Richmond Univ. and Wake Forest, were on the Indian schedule. Three of these games were lost, namely to Holy Cross, Penn State, and Navy.

New York Univ., who had defeated us for two seasons, was defeated in a fast game by the score of 2 to 1. The second game of the season was lost to Holy Cross, who pitched their star, Carroll. The following week William and Mary team completely annihilated the Amherst Nine by a 10 to 0 score. Curt Thompson, pitching for W. & M. hurled a no hit no run game. The next day the team was defeated by the Penn State nine, 5 to 3.

Our old jinx team, Virginia, was the next victim. The Indians were de-terminated to win this game, and when the final smoke screen cleared away the score stood 17 to 6 in favor of the old W. & M. nine.

The greatest victory of the year came with the next game, when the two oldest colleges in America met,—Harvard and William and Mary. The game was played in Richmond and a large part of the student body accompanied the team to the Capital City. The final outcome was more than the bravest Indian heart had hoped. On that day the Great John Harvard bowed to the small Indian of W. & M. by great score of 14 to 0. Saffelle, the freshman pitcher, time after time turned the Crimson horde, and on that day he had as good support behind him as any college pitcher ever enjoyed. Every man in the infield dug them out of the ground, threw to first from any angle, while the outfield was everywhere, taking them on the run over the shoulder, or on the shoestrings. Scrap Chandler, the little outfielder, had a perfect day at the bat. Five times up. Two home runs. Two doubles, and last time he was honored with a walk. The Harvard nine was composed of such nationally known figures in the athletic world as George Owen, Buell, Hammond, Percy Jenkins, Hill and K. N. Hill.

In the first game with the Quantico Marines, Richmond made his appearance, and although he allowed five runs the first two innings, the English lad settled down to work and held the soldiers scoreless after that, winning the game 9 to 5. According to this lanky hurler, he couldn't get his "fawst" ball to work at the start. Two days later the Navy put the damp cloth on a successful trip by defeating our team by the score of 18 to 7.

In the two games with the University of Richmond, the first game was won 11 to 7, being played on the home grounds, while the return, two days later, was lost by the same score, thereby costing us the state championship.

The 1924 season was started rather early when Coach Tasker issued the call for batteries—the middle of February.

This bunch of tossers and receivers worked out in the Gym until the call for all candidates was sent forth the second week in March. When the veterans were checked over it was found that five of last year's champion team were missing. Lowe, third base; Cooke, first base; F. Chandler, catcher; Thompson, pitcher; and Love, outfielder, had passed from our midst. But Coach Tasker had such veterans and stars left as Capt. Chandler, Hicks, Chalkley, Saffelle, Todd, Richmond, Denton, Moss and Westbrook, with which to build another world beating nine.

After trying many combinations for the infield, in order to fill the vacant positions at first and third, Coach Tasker shifted two of his outfielders, Moss and Westbrook, to these vacant corners. Moss going to first and "Andy" Westbrook to third. This left a vacant position in the outfield, but Parsons, a substitute, soon showed to all opposition, that this spot was his.

The pitching staff had retained two veterans from last year, Saffelle and Richmond. These two tall lads will bear the brunt of the mound work for the Indians this season.

The new material has several very good men in it, especially pitchers, and at least two of this bunch will break through before the season closes.

As this book goes to press, four games have been played, one of which was lost. The first game, which was with Roanoke College, was staged on the home grounds, and the Indian nine lost by the score of 5 to 2. Capt. Chandler was unable to participate in the opening game, as he was suffering from a bad knee, the result of sliding practice. Moss also was not in the line up. The next three games were won in straight order.

J. TODD

Three men will complete their careers for the old school at the close of this season. Capt. Scrap Chandler, Horace Hicks, and Slim Richmond.

In Jack Chalkley, the veteran catcher, the team has one of the best college receivers in the country, and it is a great thing for the team that he has one more season to play.

The team was handicapped from the start by not having a regular diamond on which to practice. When the season opened the new field had not been completed, and Coach Tasker had to hold practice on any vacant lot possible. The opening game was played on the court green, but the second game of the season was staged on the new field, although it was slightly rough. This field is much larger than the old Cary field, giving the outfielders plenty of room. By the middle of the season it should be one of the best diamonds in the state.

Coach Tasker was exceedingly fortunate in securing the services of the famous Ted Sullivan, the grand old man of baseball, who piloted the Giants and White Sox around the world in 1912. Mr Sullivan aided Coach Tasker for a week in the coaching of the team, also giving several lectures to the members of the squad on the fine art of baseball.

At the present time Mr. Sullivan has in mind a scheme whereby he intends to carry the baseball teams from Harvard and William and Mary on a trip abroad. Definite arrangements have not been made. Mr. Sullivan is now negotiating with several promoters in Europe as to guarantees to defray the expenses of the trip. If William and Mary could come up to her standard of last year when Harvard was defeated 14 to 0, the Indian team would be the strong favorite on the tour.

The schedule this year includes nineteen games, some of which are with the cream of American college teams.

The big games are with Yale, Georgetown, Syracuse, Lafayette, N. C. State, Virginia, Marines, Richmond Univ., Catholic Univ., and Wake Forest.

CAPT. GIBBONS

MGR. TOWNSEND

The Girl's Basketball team started practice early in December with the hope of repeating last year's highly successful season. By highly successful we mean that the basketball team of the William and Mary Co-eds were the state Champions and that they did not suffer a single defeat during the season, which made the second season without the loss of a game. Practically all of last year's team had returned with the exception of the star forward, Love. Those returned were Capt. Gibbons, Best, Dixon, Sinclair, Townsend, and Chase, the premier eager of two years back had again entered college, so the old team looked as good as ever.

The first game of the season was with the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond. The home team had very little trouble with these bankers, and the final score was 29 to 11.

The first collegiate game of the season was on Feb. 2nd against George Washington. Quite a gallery attended the game for two reasons. First, the Governor and his staff, along with half of the state legislature, were there; and second, because the Geo. Washington girls were inaugurating a new type of uniform on the local court. When the final cheering died away the score stood W. & M. 19 G. W. 10.

The first defeat in three years was handed to the team on the night of Feb. 9, when our fair Co-Eds bumped into the strong aggregation from Temple College of Philadelphia.

The Indian sextet played one of the best games of their careers, but they were up against a slightly superior team.

The following week-end the team ran into their second defeat. The Sweet Briar team turned the trick by a 30 to 24 score. The hardest blow of the season came when the team lost to the sextet from Westhampton, or in plainer words, the Co-eds of Richmond University. This was the first time a Richmond team had defeated the girls in a basketball game in three years. The final score was 21 to 17.

The first week in March the team left on the northern trip. Four games were played on this trip and three of the four were victories for our team. Temple College handed the local team a defeat for the second time. The next night the team played the girls from the University of Penn., and after four hard and fast quarters of fighting, the W. & M. girls emerged victorious, 33 to 27. The team continued to Brooklyn, where the Adelphi team was defeated by the close score of 32 to 29. On the home trip the George Washington girls were again played and defeated for the second time of the season.

The season as a whole can be considered successful, although four games were lost, two of these were to the best girls' team in America, Temple University.

Chase at forward was the outstanding star of the team, but she was cleverly aided by her running mate at forward, Dixon. Capt. Gibbons has to be classed as one of the best women guards in the state; many of the low scores of the opponents have to be attributed to her clever work. Best, the jumping center, practically outjumped her opponent in every game, which is a mighty big factor in girls basketball.

Townsend and Sinclair were but a step behind their partners when the thick of the fight started. Their excellent playing kept the ball in the possession of our forwards most of the time.

Next year's team should also be one of high caliber, as only one member of this squad is lost. Capt. Gibbons has completed her four years on the squad.

The Honor System

Down through the ages, man has respected and cherished his honor as dearer to him than his life. It is with this same spirit that William and Mary justly clings to the priority of founding the Honor System.

In 1779, less than a century after the chartering of the college, the Honor System was established at the College of William and Mary in Virginia. Five years later, a ruling was adopted which required all students, on the first Saturday after the opening of college, to pledge themselves to respect the regulations of the institution. It was customary for this ceremony to take place in the presence of the assembled students and faculty, and a few of the townspeople.

In 1830 an unusual ruling was adopted whereby a student's word, given on his honor, was to be accepted without question. This was, indeed, a step towards the recognition of the individual. Thereafter a man's "honor was his only witness."

Up until 1922 matters of both honor and discipline were in the hands of a men's Student Council which was composed of seven delegates—one elected from each of the four classes and three from the student body at large. The president of the college then acted as the president of the student body. With the advancement of the college and a realization of its needs, the constitution was amended to the effect that student government thereafter be composed of, first, an Honor Council to deal with matters of lying, cheating, and stealing; second, a Discipline Council to deal with matters of student conduct, and third, a president of the student body independent of the two councils.

From time to time the Honor System has been changed in its method of functioning, yet it has ever retained as its underlying foundation the virtue of truth. In spirit and practice it has remained the same. Belief in man and his ideals were exchanged for methods that naturally repulsed the sense of honor and obligation. Cannot, then, William and Mary look upon her record as an "honor" school with a justified feeling of proudness?

Women's Student Government

WHEN the college became co-educational in 1918, the Women's Student Government Organization was founded upon the principles then existing in the men's organization. The purpose of the Women's Student Government is to represent and further the best interests of women students, to regulate their conduct under the authority of the college.

For the successful operation of the Honor System the co-operation of the student body is essential. It is the duty of each and every member of the student body to show her appreciation of the trust reposed in her under this system, not alone by her own conduct, but by insisting on the absolute honesty of others.

Student Government has the power to legislate in all matters that do not fall under the direct jurisdiction of the college authorities. The official power of the organization is vested in two councils, the Student Council and the Discipline Committee. The latter body deals with the infringement of social rules. The Student Council deals with all other matters.

Student Government promotes in the individual a sense of personal responsibility, and prepares her for future citizenship.

Now and Then

"Pencils, eh, why should I buy
Pencils from you, with your broken thumb,

And your carved-in face? Why man!
You can't sell pencils with a broken hand.
Been to France, eh? So have I.
Here's a dime; why didn't you die?

"Pencils, eh, I could buy them all,
And take you in from the cold;
But the things that are burned into your heart
Can never be wiped out with Gold."
The moon is hanging, a blood-red disc,

In a field of purple sky,
While Death laughs aloud in glee,
At the shrapnel's whining cry.

Curses and prayers are rising
From the rain-soaked, mud-filled holes,
And Hell is opening its gaping maw
To receive the pain-racked souls.

"Why there's a bunch of poppies,
Bloomin' on your head,
Hell, your head's gone,
But the blood's red."
There's a gunman from Chicago,
And a lad from 'way down South,
And a preacher from Massachusetts,
With a cigarette in his mouth;
And there's a guy from Cuba,
Stretched out across a Chink;
But I can't tell the difference,
From the wan their bodies stink.

"What's that you said?

"A wheatfield is a Hell of a bed?"
Shut up, you crazy weop!
At zero hour and over the top,
You'll find a bed in the mud and rain,
That'll make you forget your pain.
The rats will come,
To eat your face away
And your body'll make a place
For the poppies to bloom and sway;
And the folks at home
Will shout and rave,
At the victory won
And forget your grave."

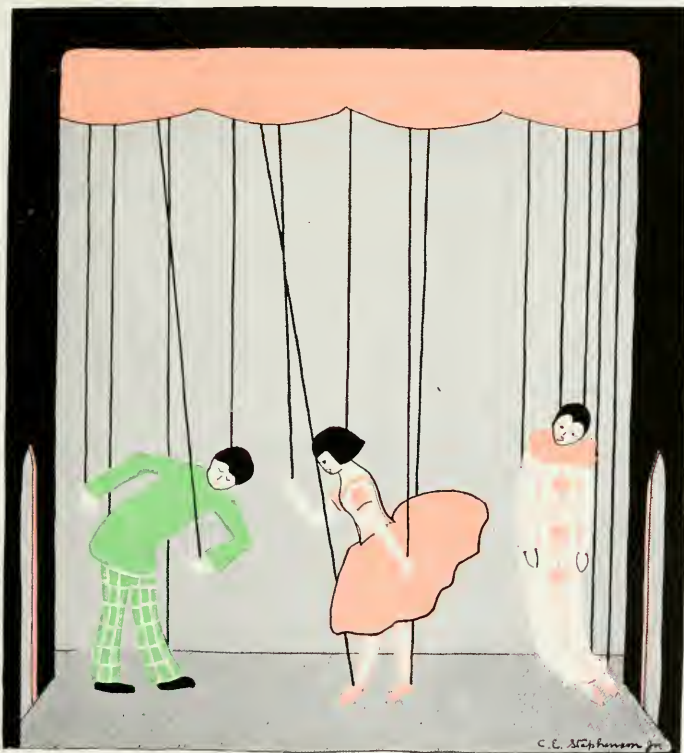

The wheat is nodding its head,
With its load of ripening grain;
Dawn is creeping out of the East,
Through the gas and smoke and rain,
From the way their bodies stink.

"The blood's stopped now, quit whinin',
You're worse than a baby to beg,
Don't you know you'll be decorated
With the order of the wooden leg?"

The sergeant's whistle is blowin'.
The shells are screaming high;
So, it's over the top and at 'em,
And the lucky ones will die.

"Pencils, eh, I could buy them all
And take you in from the cold;
But the things that are burned into your heart
Can never be wiped out with Gold."

Fraternities

*"If I could write one little word upon the hearts of men,
I'd dip into the fount of love and write with golden pen
One little word, and only one,
And feel life's work on earth well done,
For every heart would speak to me,
That one sweet word—Fraternity."*

—Anon.

To the College of William and Mary truly belongs the credit of introducing fraternities into American College life. The first fraternity of which there is record was the "Flat Hat Club", founded here in 1750 and continued in uninterrupted existence for twenty three years. It was secret, literary and social in its character. It had a badge, grip and general characteristics of the present social fraternities. The meetings were held in the upper room of the old Raleigh Tavern. This club, of which Thomas Jefferson was a member, gave to college students the ideas which culminated in the formation of our first Greek Letter fraternity, PHI BETA KAPPA, established here Dec. 5, 1776.

Always has this College been a fertile soil for fraternal organizations. War and fire have been powerful obstacles to the local progress of fraternities, but never have such forces been entirely successful. Chapters and groups have died out only to be revived again in a few years, and others established, until now William and Mary has eleven social fraternities for men and five for women—not to mention the various honorary ones.

We are glad and proud to have them all. They make up an essential part of our college life, and will continue to do so as the institution progresses, and so long as human nature remains the same. Groups must necessarily limit their respective numbers to retain the high degree of internal spirit and development so much desired. This will call for additional organizations in proportion to the increase in the student body.

An admirable feature of fraternities at this college is that no wide gulf exists between fraternity and non-fraternity students. Clannishness and snobbishness are obsolete, except with premature students, and they will soon find that such membership in such organizations is not the sole test of the individual, but only a small part. The College has become very large, yet democracy prevails between and among those from without and within the Chapter circles.

Great Limitless Sea, Thou Art Life

In childhood all the playful moods of sunlight fleck,
The little waves that toss the foam upon the shore,
And race with each in gladsome game,
Till tucked beneath the soft, gray blanket of the night,
They sleep below the silent stars.

And restlessness of youth is in the yearning wave!
The shy, reluctant roll that seaward starts again,
Till in the very strength of final dash
It break upon the shore; but fearful of the wreck
There wrought, flees swiftly to his mates.

And manhood's strength rides awful on the storm,
He wreaks his passions on the ship
That flounders in his midst,
Or stealthily he creeps before the typhoon's grip,
And turns, as in a flash—
The sparkle of the sunlit path into a grave.

And after passion's gamut thou hast run,
And wiles, and soft caresses, tender blue,
And storms, and winds, and love, and death are thine,
Back to thy great green deeps—
Thy calms no more o'erflow.

Oh Sea! Great, Limitless Sea! Thou Art Life!

Lucy Mason Holt.

Chi Beta Phi is an honorary scientific fraternity whose purpose is the advancement of scientific interests among the undergraduates. It is composed of men who have been recognized as having the interests of science at heart and who have worked toward that end. Physics, Chemistry, Biology and Mathematics compose a real scientist, therefore, Physics, Chemistry, Biology and Mathematics compose Chi Beta Phi.

“It's been a trying day,” said the judge as he locked the courtroom for the night.

This page is solemnly dedicated to our beloved bell-ringer, Henry Billups, familiarly known as "Doc," once professor of an Exalted Chair which became extinct with the advent of the 18th Amendment. "Doc" came to William and Mary along with Ex-Pres. Tyler and Dr. Hall in 1888, and has in that period of thirty-six years, rang our bell about 200,000 times. Students of the '90's and about 1900 vouch that Henry is younger today than when they were in College. What a distinct pleasure it is for the alumni of the Old College for the past thirty years to come back and always find two familiar faces in Dr. Hall and Doc Billups! "Students may come and students may go, but they go on forever."

'27: Wassa matter, Stauley?

Stanley Gay: Sad news. All the great men are dying.

'27: What about it?

Lord Gay: "I don't feel so good myself."

* * * * *

Padre: "You'll ruin your stomach, my good man, drinking that stuff."

Old Soak: "S'all right, s'all right. It won't show with my coat on."

"Would you say that a man with water on the brain was L'eau minded?"

* * * * *

Russell Stuart: "What did your sight-seeing trip cost you, Kenny?"

Duke Kenny: "Five dollars a pint."

* * * * *

Visiting man: "What would you say if I threw you a kiss, Peggie?"

Peggie McClure: "I'd say you were the laziest man I ever knew."

* * * * *

Miss Taylor: "Elizabeth doesn't Larry know how to say good night?"

Elizabeth Palmer: "Oh! Miss Taylor, I'll say he does."

* * * * *

Kitty Holmes: "Young man, are you going to kiss that girl?"

He (straightening up): "—er—no—sir."

Kitty: "Hold my search light."

* * * * *

Duc. Medlock: "What do they call that man in the English department that marks all our papers?"

Upperclassman: "That depends on what he marks them."

* * * * *

Gay Burruss: "Hear you're leaving College, Tarzon, what for?"

L. B. Young: "Oh! economic reasons, accounting investments and money and banking."

* * * * *

Duc Branscome: "What did you do with that check I sent you?"

Duc Mason: "Alma mater took it."

Branscome: "And I advised you to keep away from those co-eds."

* * * * *

Ducess Pattie Hunter (thoughtfully): "I think I'll teach school long enough to get a pension, and then I know some man will marry me for my money."

* * * * *

Colonel Lane: "Look here, Wince, from what I've heard I think you ought to be charged three or four library fees, one isn't enough for you."

Hastings: "Will that watch tell time?"

Bob Wallace: "No, you have to look at it."

France Du Pont says that in a few years we will be able to get along without food, sleep, or disease. W. & M. has accomplished part of the feat; we get along without food.

"Jack Davis sure is a dumb guy."

"How's that?"

"They had to burn the school house to get him out of the first grade, and the citizenship building to get him out of Virginia government."

A LETTER

The Institute, State of Va.,

Feb. 30, 1924.

Colonial Echo,
College of William and Mary,
Williamsburg, Va.

Before the annual goes to press I would like to have you publish in it a little disitation on "How to become a Millionaire While in College!"

As you are well aware, I, myself, am in close proximity of that happy and hilarious state of richness, and if things go well and I get my degree in a few more years, I feel confident of reaching such a financial position.

At the present writing I wish it to be known that I am Ye Yiek the Laundryman, the one and only artist that can return your clothes even more soiled than when you send them to me, not to mention tearing off the buttons and etc. Furthermore, I have served on the Discipline Council for three years, and consequently had plenty to drink—to be frank about the matter, I am quite a Connoisseur of Choice Liquors. To crown the whole biography, I am the sole Custodian of the Institute, also known as Hell's Half Acre.

There are many other things that I could mention such as being High political boss, etc., for three years, all of which tend to land you in strategic financial places, but my time is so pre-occupied with assisting Col. Lane in his sonorous activities that I cannot say more at this writing. But, remember two words. GET JOBS, Get Jobs, and the rest will take care of itself.

Always Busy,

J. SWANSON SMITH.

FORESAW, when a youth, the great necessity for conserving and caring for his already weakened vision. Had he not, early in life, had the proper attention to his eyes, he never could have attained the national success that came to him later.

Vision efficiency and personal success go hand in hand and the surest way to have good eyesight is to care for it while you have it. Periodical eye examinations will ensure your visual efficiency and is one of the safeguards to your success you cannot ignore.

We've had Dukes and Counts on the Campus, in fact most of us belong to the nobility—noability whatsoever!

When I am Dead

When I am dead, and in the silent tomb
This living flesh, now so full of love's unrest,
Shall lie, a heap of cold, gray dust,
Deep hid in Mother Earth's secluded breast,
No grass-grown grave shall house my love,
No iron-bound tomb shall my devotion keep,
Through all the days that you shall live
I will not sleep.
But in the stillness of the night
When I shall long to touch your hand,
My love will burst the bonds of Death,
And in your living presence I will stand.

B. L. T., '25.
