PRESIDENT BRYAN'S INSTALLATION WAS VERY IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

Hundreds of Distinguished Guests Honor William and Mary's New President At His Inaugural.

CROWD OF 10,000

President of United States and Governor of Virginia Receive Honorary Degrees.

The installation of Mr. John Stewart Bryan as the nineteenth president of William and Mary which took place here on October 20th, was a most colorful and impressive event. From the time that the roar of cannon, giving the presidential salute, announced the presence of the President of the United States in the ancient City of Williamsburg, it was a stirring and thrilling event in spite of the utter simplicity of the program.

It is estimated that 10,000 people attended the exercises. It was the largest crowd of civilians ever to visit the City of Williamsburg on any occasion. Hundreds of distinguished men and women were here to take part in the exercises.

In the academic procession which preceded the inaugural exercises there were representatives from twenty-two institutions of learning of colonial origin, dating from Harvard 1636 to Union College 1795, and twenty Virginia schools founded since 1800.

The weather was perfect for the occasion, the whole city bathed in the warm sunshine of Indian summer. Williamsburg, now almost completely restored, was never so lovely and the Duke of Gloucester Street, flanked by its reconstructed and restored dwellings with old fashioned hitching posts scattered here and there from the Capitol to the College, was within itself the very essence of Colonial Williamsburg.

Mr. Bryan's inaugural address was a masterpiece. After touching upon the high-lights of William and Mary's early history he asked, "what account can William and Mary, the recipient of royal, colonial, state and private bounty give of its stewardship?" He answered by citing the great part played by William and Mary alumni in shaping the destinies of America.

As to the future of William and Mary he said: "The vital principal of

LITERARY SOCIETIES AT WILLIAM AND MARY REMEMBERED BY ALUMNI

Phoenix Debate Assignment Ruins G. Walter Mapp's Xmas Holiday Besides Paying Fine.

There has been much interest at William and Mary in the past years in the date of founding of the Phoenix and Philomathean Literary Societies but nothing definite has been established except that the Phoenix is known to have been in existence as far back as 1852. No doubt both societies date back further than that year.

M. Carl Andrews, '27, now engaged in newspaper work in Roanoke, Va., interested himself in this matter while a student here and we are indebted to him for the letters that follow. At that time J. S. Prout was the oldest living William and Mary alumnus.

Fishkill, N. Y.
January 8, 1926

Mr. Carl Andrews,
Dear Sir,

In reply to yours of December 19th asking for information concerning the Phoenix Society. I can say very little, I am sorry to say. It is 74 years since I was there, 1850-52, but I was then a member, I think, in both years. I can only name one other member, whose unusual name sticks in my memory — Edward Anarkmandor Pollard, older than almost any one else and much more mature and abler to speak on his feet than the rest. We had a badge, a rosette with Phi Sigma on it, which I recall we wore at a commencement, 1852. We met in a small room on the third floor—and this is about as much as I can give you I wish very much I could do better and hope you will have better luck with others.

With best wishes, I am

Cordially yours,

J. S. Prout.

SPECIAL MEETING ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

By virtue of the authority invested in it by Section 2, Article 1, of the By-Laws of the Alumni Association, the Board of Managers hereby calls a special meeting of the Alumni Association of the College of William and Mary in Virginia to be held in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall at 5 p. m., Nov. 17, 1934.

The purpose of this meeting is to present the Alumni Medallions to alumni selected by the Board of Managers, to select a successor on the 3-3-3 Athletic Committee to Chas. A. Taylor, Jr., resigned, and to transact any other business that might come up.

Joseph E. Healey, President.

PRES. EMERITUS TYLER TO BE HONORED HERE

Followed Col. Ewell At William and Mary and Served for Thirty-One Years.

At a meeting of the Board of Managers of the Alumni Association held on Oct. 6, 1934 it was unanimously decided to make next Alumni Day, June 8, 1935, an occasion in honor of President Emeritus Lyon G. Tyler.

Dr. Tyler, who is now in his 80's, is living at Holdcroft, Charles City County, Virginia. He is still as straight as an Indian and is as active as many men one half his age.

His administration of 31 years as president of William and Mary produced hundreds of alumni who are now prominent in every field of endeavor and who cherish a great love for the College and hold Dr. Tyler in high esteem and regard him with much affection.

It is certain that a large number of Dr. Tyler's "old boys" will return here next Alumni Day to take part in the exercises in his honor.

Full details of the program for this occasion will be printed in the Alumni Gazette early next spring.

THANKSGIVING DINNER PLANS CHANGED

The William and Mary Thanksgiving Dinner held annually at Murphy's Hotel in Richmond on the night before Thanksgiving has taken on a new significance this year. The William and Mary Alumni Club in Richmond has decided to take over this event and make it the occasion to get out the Richmond alumni in force.

All William and Mary alumni visiting in Richmond at the time are invited to the banquet. The date is November 28th and the time about 6:30 p. m.

As the committee in charge of the banquet is expecting an attendance of over 300, including President John Stewart Bryan and the Governor of Virginia, the place of the banquet has not been decided upon but will be announced in the Richmond papers in the near future.

If you expect to attend this great get-together of William and Mary alumni, please notify Dr. Sidney B. Hall, president of the Richmond Club, State Office Building, Richmond, Va.

WILLIAM AND MARY FIRST COLLEGE IN AMERICA TO HAVE INTRAMURAL SPORTS

Prof. L. Tucker Jones Outlines New Program and Gives Historic Background of Sports.

When we settled down to the re-organization of our intra-mural program for men and women one of the veteran professors who attended this college along with Dr. Chandler and Mr. Bridges got the impression that we were attempting something that we thought new and he went on to explain that it was an old story even when he was a boy, for the very good reason that money for activities was so limited that there were few opportunities for games with outside schools.

Instead of intra-murals being new or novel on this campus, the Physical Education Department considers William and Mary the home of intra-mural sports since its early students were all sportsmen. They were celebrated for fox-hunting, shooting, cock fighting, fencing horse racing, to mention only a few of the Colonial sports.

Being the second oldest college in the United States and blessed with the cavalier ideas and traditions about social and sporting activities the first intra-mural sports flourished to such an extent that it was necessary for the faculty from time to time to make rulings to curb the enthusiasm of the students. A few examples of this legislation are interesting.

Parade, Outdoor Dinner, Football Game, Alumni Meeting and Party Saturday Night Arranged.

NOVEMBER 17TH IS DATE

Washington and Lee Will Be Indians Opponent in Football Game.

Plans for Homecoming Day, November 17th, are practically complete. Students, City of Williamsburg officials, civic organizations and the College administration are cooperating with the Alumni Office to make it the red letter day on the College calendar for this season.

Fraternity and Sorority houses will be decorated appropriately and business firms on the roads leading into and out of Williamsburg will join in this form of greeting and welcome to returning alumni. The whole city will take on a gala appearance for the occasion.

One of the main features of the day's program will be a great parade down the Duke of Gloucester Street of floats and gayly decorated cars, representing student organizations, civic organizations, and some of the business firms of the city. A number of prizes in cash, donated by the business men of Williamsburg, will be offered for the best floats in the parade.

It is hoped that the Drum and Bugle Corps of Newport News, an outstanding organization of its kind, will participate in the parade again this year and give a drill demonstration between the halves of the football game.

An added feature of the program for this year will be a series of Hockey games to be put on by the Women's Athletic Department. At 9:30 a. m., the Reserve Team of the College will play the Richmond Division of William and Mary while the Freshmen will engage the team from the Norfolk Division of William and Mary. At 1:30 p. m. the Womens' Varsity team will play a team made up of former players. All games will take place on the Womens' athletic field on Jamestown Road.

At 11:00 a. m. the student body led by the College band will give a dem-

President Horrocks and Masters Appeal to Bishop of London

In the last issue of the Gazette we printed a Memorial from the President and Masters of William and Mary to the Board of Visitors in 1768 setting forth a number of grievances against the Board. The Memorial accomplished very little so the President and Masters took up the matter with the Chancellor of the College, then the Bishop of London. The letter follows:

July 22d, 1768.

At a Meeting of the President and Masters of William and Mary College, Present,

The Revd. Mr. James Horrocks, President, Mr. Camm, E. Jones, and Mr. Johnson.

The following Letter to the Chancellor was this Day read and unanimously agreed to:

My Lord,
The great attention Your Lordship has been pleas'd to show to the Concerns of William and Mary College, plainly express'd in the Letters the President has had so many Opportunities of laying, as his Duty requir'd him, Before the Visitors, which contain'd the strongest Remonstrances against every Attempt of our Superiors to exercise an unlawful Power over us, demands our warmest Acknowledgements; But particularly so Your Lordship's Answer to the Letter of the Visitors, which, tho' by no means agreeable to their Inclinations, has operated so powerfully in our Favour, that we have been induced to entertain the pleasing Hopes that the Affairs of our College would at last be put upon a tolerable Footing, from an apparent Conviction in the Visitors of their own improper Conduct, & their Resolution, in Consequence

HOMECOMING DAY

The custom of observing a Homecoming Day for alumni is now almost a universal one in American colleges and universities. Through this custom hundreds of thousands of college men and women come back to their Alma Maters each year, usually in the fall when the weather invites excursions over highways that are flanked with the lovely colors of autumn.

This year at William and Mary the event is being looked forward to with much interest by the students, faculty, local alumni and the citizens of Williamsburg. From present indications there will be more alumni on the old campus on November 17th than have ever gathered here for any occasion.

We can only say that we eagerly await your Homecoming visit and that the latch string will be out.

A REDEDICATION

The inaugural address of Mr. John Stewart Bryan, delivered here on October 20th when he was installed as the nineteenth president of William and Mary, reveals that he has divined the true spirit of this ancient institution of learning and that he will seek to apply it to the present and to the future. There could be no better augury for the future of the College than this rededication to the principles that made it the most potent force in America in a revolution that wrote a new charter for the liberties of mankind.

Mr. Bryan, in a profound analysis of the character and genius of the earlier alumni of the College, has formulated a new creed for William and Mary that should be an inspiration to every student here and a motto for every alumnus.

There are many problems ahead of Mr. Bryan at William and Mary but he has already solved one; he knows where he wants to go and the alumni are back of him in his vision for the William and Mary of the future.

Money is the greatest problem. William and Mary will need a very sizable endowment for this rededication program. We believe that Mr. Bryan can get this endowment and that he will. The matter of securing students of high character and intellect who can assimilate the traditions of William and Mary is of major importance and Mr. Bryan has very properly solicited the interest of the alumni in this matter.

There is already abundant evidence that the courageous action of Dr. Chandler in June, 1933, when more than one hundred students who were not profiting by their stay here, were requested not to return and more rigid entrance requirements were adopted, has resulted in a marked improvement in the student body. Close observers at the College this session will bear witness to the fact that the present student body is the most serious minded one to represent the College for the past decade. As a whole they are conscientiously applying themselves to their work.

No problem at William and Mary has created more interest among her alumni, both men and women, than that of co-education. Women graduates of the College, no less than the men, regret the present ratio of women students to men students. We have faith that the problem will be solved to the satisfaction of all concerned. Its solution will require the consideration of some very broad questions. The status of woman in the civilization of today is quite different from what it was when William and Mary was founded and for over 200 years after it was founded.

A significant statement in Mr. Bryan's address was his reference to William and Mary's duty to the public school system of Virginia when he said that the College would strive to meet the demands of the system for adequate and efficient teaching service. We believe that a majority of William and Mary alumni want to see the College become known as a strong Liberal Arts College rather than for training specialists in any field.

But it must be borne in mind that since 1888 William and Mary has turned out thousands of teachers, principals and school superintendents. The public school system of Virginia of today bears their impress. They are members of one of the most important professions in the country, are loyal alumni of William and Mary and we believe that their views will be considered in whatever policy the College may adopt in reference to teacher training.

Our own view is that William and Mary should continue to train teachers, principals, and superintendents but with the following limitations: 1st. That applicants for teacher training be most

TAYLOR RESIGNS FROM THE ATHLETIC COMMITTEE

October 2, 1934

To the Board of Managers of the Alumni Association of the College of William and Mary in Virginia. Gentlemen,

I wish to take this opportunity to present my resignation as a member of the 3-3-3 Athletic Committee to become effective Dec. 31, 1934. My reason for resigning from the committee is that I have served continuously on it since its organization in 1924 and I have come to feel that the interests of the athletic system at William and Mary can best be served by occasional changes in the personnel of the committee.

I wish also to thank the Alumni Association through the Board of Managers for the privilege and honor of membership on the committee for the past ten years and for the opportunity to have served William and Mary in this capacity.

Cordially yours,
Chas. A. Taylor, Jr.

By resolution of the Board of Managers, President Healy appointed a committee of three alumni, to consider a successor to Mr. Taylor whose term on the committee would have expired in June, 1936, and to make a recommendation to the special meeting of the Alumni Association called for Nov. 17, 1934, at which time the vacancy will be filled.

DEATHS

L. W. Lane, III, '11, died in his home in James City County on Sept. 24th. He was the son of Col. L. W. Lane, Jr., who passed away several months ago.

Mr Lane was born in Williamsburg and entered William and Mary in 1909. He is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Lee Atkinson, and one son, L. W. Lane, IV, a cadet at V. M. I.

S. A. Thompson, '95, a prominent attorney and leading citizen of Stuart, Va., died last July.

Mr. Thompson had served as commissioner of revenue of Patrick County and also represented the county in the legislature of 1893-94.

Henry B. Marston, '09, a well known native of Toano, died suddenly on October 14th at the age of 44.

He was engaged in farming near Toano and formerly operated the William and Mary College Farm.

Mr. Marston is survived by his wife who was Miss Anne Simpson.

carefully selected on a basis of character, intellect, and natural ability to teach and to lead. 2nd. That none be admitted here to train for teaching in the elementary grades—the Normal Schools of Virginia should get these. 3rd. That the main emphasis in teacher training be on scholarship, which already receives more emphasis here than at most schools, and a minimum on teaching methods.

That William and Mary is well on the way to the fulfillment of the destiny intended for her by her founders cannot be denied and her alumni will join hands with Mr. Bryan toward that accomplishment.

WILLIAM AND MARY'S CREED

From Mr. Bryan's Address

And may we not perhaps, find new purpose for the college and new direction for the nation, if, in some such words as these, we formulate the political creed of those great sons of William and Mary?

They sought something more than learning, and their faces were turned to the past only for examples.

It was in the present they acted, and it was for the future they built.

They were not troubled by any doubts of their own ability to meet and deal with time and chance.

No theory of life which reduced man to a physico-chemical reaction shook their faith or crippled their power.

No doctrine of the control of the conscious choice by the unconscious chooser had been put forward, and to the men who wrought out the salvation of this continent there was no escape from duty by taking flight along the easy path of materialistic determination.

To their mind, the way to destroy evil was by resistance, not by acquiescence.

They knew nothing and cared nothing for the philosophy of surrender; they had the supreme gifts of courage and of vision.

With a certainty that far transcends the conclusions of reason, they both perceived and knew that they were fighting the battles of freedom everywhere.

No specious argument of expediency deflected them from their course; no traitor's thought within, no trampling troops without, could undermine their convictions or shake their fortitude.

With that perfect union of will and faith and action that marks the highest reaches every attained by self-governed man, all their being flowed in a smooth concurrence to the one great purpose of human liberty.

They believed in themselves; they set up ideals. To these ideals they pressed by conference, by speeches, by writing and by war.

They broke the bands of philosophic doubt, and came to grips with reality; they cast off the nightmare of dreadful impotence, and, struggled against all throttling fears, they awoke to find themselves masters of a new world. They made for mankind not a theory, but a discovery.

Here, if ever, we may say, the will of man wrought out an intended destiny.

MARSHALL-WYTHE BUILDING

The Marshall-Wythe Building to be used for Administrative offices and class rooms is now under construction and should be completed by May 1935.

The building from the outside is practically a duplicate of Washington and Rogers Halls. It is 92 ft. wide and 150 ft. long.

The first floor will be used exclusively for Administrative Offices. Here will be the offices for the President, Dean of the College, Dean of Women, Bursar and Business Manager, Registrar and the Treasurer. In addition to these offices there will be a large business office, a conference room, two file rooms, rest rooms, record room and two reception rooms.

On the second floor are eight class rooms and seven offices for professors while the third floor has practically the same arrangements.

NEW SOCIAL DIRECTOR

Miss Marguerite Wynne Roberts was recently appointed Women's Social Director for the College to fill the place vacated by Miss Bessie P. Taylor who had served in this capacity since 1920.

Miss Roberts is a graduate of New Haven Normal School of Gymnastics, Bedford College of Dancing and Arnold College. She came to William and Mary in 1928 as an instructor in the Physical Education Department but resigned about two years ago on account of her health. She spent last year visiting in England.

Miss Roberts' family have been residents of Williamsburg for a number of years.

The scope of extra-mural activities was undoubtedly widened by participation in the field days which were established in 1691 by Governor Sir Francis Nicholson who is quoted by Mary Newton Standard page 163 "Colonial Virginia," "To the Sheriff of Surry Co. I desire that you give public notice that I will give first and second prizes to be shot for, wrestled, play at backwards, and run for by horse and foot, to begin on the 22nd day of April next, St. George's day, being Saturday, all which prizes are to be shott for, etc. by the better sort of Virginians onely, who are Bachelors."

It is a far cry from the days of these horse-racing, rollicking youths to our modern program of 42 sports with its systematic organization, managers, supervisors and consultants. But with all this we hope that the cavalier spirit will be our chief guide.

In former years we have averaged about 750 players in a rather limited program. With the enrichment resulting from the addition of 12 new activities affording an opportunity for every student to select those social and physical activities to his liking, we expect to have at least a thousand participants.

The Enriched Program

Archery, Badminton, Baseball, regulation; Baseball, soft; Basketball, Battleboard Tennis, Bicycling, Bowling, Boxing, Bridge, Camping, Canoeing, Casting, Checkers, Chess, Croquet, Cross-country, Dancing, social; Deck Tennis, Efficiency Test, Fencing, Football, touch; Foul Shooting, Golf, Gymnastics, appartus, Handball, Horseshoes, Jiu Jitsu, LaCrosse, Life Saving, Ping Pong, Riding, Shooting, Roller Skating, Soccer, Speedball, Squash, Swimming, Tennis, Track, Volleyball, Wrestling.

FOOTBALL TO DATE

By the time this issue of the Gazette gets into the mail the William and Mary football team will have played five of its schedule of eight games for this season including the game with Roanoke College, which is an unknown quantity as this is written since they upset all known football dope by defeating Emory and Henry on October 20th. The Virginia Conference situation is a sad mix-up with Richmond College defeating Roanoke 27 to 0, Emory and Henry taking a 13 to 0 game from Richmond College and then losing to Roanoke.

William and Mary's season opened with the Navy on Sept. 29th which the Navy won 20 to 7. It was a case of too much Borries who scored the Navy's three touchdowns. This same half back beat the strong Columbia University team on October 20th. The Indians fought hard against heavy odds and in the fourth quarter "Stumpy" Bryant gave the alumni and friends of William and Mary the thrill they had been waiting for by taking a forward pass and after eluding many Navy tacklers scored a touchdown.

Against Emory and Henry on Oct. 6th W. & M. scored sweet revenge for the 25 to 6 defeat of last year by trimming E. & H. by the satisfactory score of 20 to 8. Taking the ball on the initial kick-off W. & M. scored on seven plays, the final one a pass to Zabel who ran 30 yards for the touchdown.

A bad pass to Shade resulted in a safety or 2 points for E. & H. After that E. & H. was near W. & M.'s goal line three times but a stalwart line threw them back. Finally E. & H. intercepted a pass and from there worked up a touchdown and 6 points.

Later on a break came when Waddy Stewart grabbed a fumbled punt on E. & H.'s 1 yd. line. Trueheart went over the goal untouched.

In the 4th quarter with the ball in E. & H. territory a forward lateral pass, Shade to Michaels to Bryant, put the ball on the 2 yd. line and full back Yerkes carried it over.

It was a thrilling game from beginning to end.

On Oct. 13th the V. P. I. jinx again settled in the Indian camp and W. & M. lost a hard fought battle by the score of 6 to 0. V. P. I. earned their lone touchdown in the 2nd quarter but the Indians held them for the rest of the game and rolled up 6 first downs to none for V. P. I. in the second half. They carried the ball to V. P. I.'s 1 yd. line but suffered a 5 yd. penalty and lost a good scoring opportunity. A completed forward pass near the goal line of V. P. I. was fumbled when Franklin who received it was tackled and thus one more victory is chalked up to the credit of a team which in the last few years has become one of William and Mary's chief rivals for the football supremacy of the state.

The remainder of the year's schedule is:

- Oct. 27—Roanoke, home.
- Nov. 3—V. M. I., Norfolk.
- Nov. 17—W. & L. here, Homecoming day.
- Nov. 29—Richmond College, Richmond.

PROGRAM FOR NEXT HOMECOMING DAY INCLUDES MANY ITEMS OF INTEREST

onstration of welcome to the alumni on the front campus. Immediately after this demonstration the parade will take place.

At 1 p. m., an oyster roast and Brunswick stew dinner will be served on the rear campus to alumni, faculty and students. Y. O. Kent, an alumnus of William and Mary and steward of the College, will have charge of this affair and alumni who were here last year will remember how well it was handled.

If the Drum and Bugle Corps can attend they will give an exhibition drill on Cary field at 2 p. m., and also between the halves of the game. The College band will also participate in this part of the program. Those who saw the Drum and Bugle Corps perform last year were thrilled with the precision and intricacy of its drills.

One of the high spots of the day will be the football clash with Washington and Lee on Cary Field at 2:30 p. m. W. & L. has a strong team but the Indians will give them a good fight and no one can predict with any certainty the final outcome. The series with W. & L. so far stands as follows: '31, W. & M. 0 W. & L. 0; '32, W. & M. 7, W. & L. 0; '33 W. & M. 0, W. & L. 7.

At 5 p. m., there will be a special meeting of the Alumni Association to award Alumni Medallions to twenty-five alumni, selected by the Board of Managers, for Service and Loyalty to the College. The Medallions will be presented by President John Stewart Bryan.

Alumni who attended a similar function here last year will remember the good fellowship of the occasion.

Alumni are urged to be here early in the day on November 17th to see the parade of floats which is expected to be a very colorful part of the program.

PRESIDENT HORROCKS AND MASTERS APPEAL TO
BISHOP OF LONDON

thereof, to do every thing in their power for the true Interest of the College. Your Lordship's Recommendation to our Governors to compose all past Differences has produced this great Condescension in them that they have call'd upon us to lay before them (what we have long wish'd for the Opportunity of doing) a Representation of all our Grievances & what Alterations in the Statues, &c., we judg'd necessary for the Support of good Order & Discipline, and the Advancement of Education & Learning. Such a Representation, or Memorial, my Lord, we present'd to the Visitors in May last. Upon this they form'd a few Resolves, and directed a Committee to draw up an Answer to your Lordship's Letter, containing at the same time an Account of their Determinations on this Subject. Tho' the Visitors have not thought proper to transmit our Memorial to Your Lordship, we cannot be persuaded that the partial Representation they have given of the same can be satisfactory, or enable Your Lordship to form a just and proper Opinion of it. We have, therefore, judged it necessary that the whole Transaction of this Affair should appear before our Chancellor, that he may see how it stands without being oblig'd to attend to any Comment of theirs or our own upon it, as we are neither afraid of giving him Offence by putting him to the trouble or perusing what we presume to have receiv'd from one of the Parties, nor of submitting to his Decision whether we have been unreasonable in making such Demands upon the Visitors, or they themselves in rejecting them. We have therefore My Lord, sent our Memorial with the Resolves of the Visitors, faithfully copied from their Journal, & do beg leave to make the following Remarks, and then refer the whole to the Opinion and Judgment of our Right Reverend & Worthy Chancellor. As we were desirous that the sense of the Debates of the Visitors upon every Subject should appear which may show their general Disposition, Your Lordship will observe that we are not able to produce proper Vouchers for some of the following Particulars, they not being recorded by the Visitors, & therefore must rest solely on the Testimony of the President, who is present at their Meetings, and who is persuaded that what is thus related is done with that Moderation that the Visitors themselves would acknowledge the same to be true.

The Preamble to this Memorial gave Offence to several of the Visitors, as it seem'd with too much Arrogance to point out to them the Line of their Duty. We can only say to this, that we look upon one great Deficiency in the Charter to be that of not exactly defining the Powers of the Parties concern'd, and far from being explicit in some essential Points, we presum'd to think it desirable that something of this Sort should be settled. Probably to some it would not appear insolent in us to suppose ourselves capable of judging what is their Duty and our own as well as they are of both the same themselves.

Upon the first Article it did not seem agreeable to them to determine any thing, but certain Members said they thought it a proper term enough, that of a Delegated Power, being such as they could give or withdraw by making Statutes for that Purpose in what Manner they thought best, and this appear'd to be in general the Sense of that Visitation. The Comparison at the End of this Article was made some time ago by the Gentleman who is suppos'd to have wrote this Letter to Your Lordship, in a Correspondence with the President, and as that Gentleman is a leading Member of the Visitation, we thought to take this Notice of it. However, we must do some of them the Justice to declare they pronounc'd that we were not their Servants.

The 2nd, tho' we cannot help looking (upon) this as one of great importance, yet the only Part we can find assented to was the latter Clause, "that in all such Trials whatever, they shall be allowed, at all Times they may think proper to appear with their Council before the Visitation," &c. We humbly apprehend that there is little Security for us, if acting agreeably to their Statutes is not sufficient, and all that they ought to call us to account for; neither can we see of what use Council can be to us, if a proper Knowledge of our Character & Status will not enable such to defend us upon any Occasion whatever.

3d, The former Part of this seem'd not to meet with their Approbation, As to the Disposal of the Scholarships they have answer'd this in their Letter to Your Lordships. With Regard to those Foundations which flow from Piety and Charity, &c. they say, "to have put these in the Hands of the President & Masters would have been Impiety to the Dead, and Injustice to the Living." We are at a Loss to discover how that would be Impiety & Injustice in us which is not so in themselves. Are we alone to be forever suppos'd as acting without Conscience in these Matters? May it not be persum'd that we should at all proper Times have apply'd to the Heirs of such Benefactors & desired them to appoint Successors to the respective Vacancies, which if they had neglected to have done, we might then fairly have taken upon ourselves? But after all, would it be in our Power to appoint otherwise than those our Benefactors chose we should do by their express wills provided for these Purposes?

As to the Foundations upon the Duty granted by the Assembly, we do not see how it could be deemed a Resignation or Breach of Trust to have invested us with the Power of appointing even to these Scholarships.

The Act, as far as we learn, directs indeed the Visitors to found the Scholarships, which we apprehend is far from forbidding our Society to fill them up when so Found with proper Students. But we would not imagine that Body to act so capriciously as that they would withdraw their bounty, when they should see we were going to make a proper use of it, nor indeed should we be so afraid of incurring the Displeasure of the General Assembly, if such a Conduct would expose us to it, as the Visitors themselves seem to be. But the Visitors seem not to have consider'd this Proposition right; our Requisition is not that they would resign these Appointments to us, and that instantly; but that they would join us in an Application to the Assembly to have this Donation put upon the same Footing with the other Revenues of the College. We will not presume to say that they did not choose to consider this in the Manner it was designed to be understood, but we clearly see that it is not their Intention to join us in an Application of this sort.

The Appointment of our Officers and Servants ultimately was disallow'd & their Control over this & every thing else asserted.

The 4th rejected as appears in their Letter to Your Lordship.

The 5th subjected to their controul, &c. 6thly. On their second Meeting the Visitors mentioned their taking Offence at the Paragraph mark'd by inverted Commas, as they thought it contain'd a Reflection upon their Visitation, and expressed their Desire it might be withdrawn; they asked the President to consult the Society if it would be agreeable to do so. He immediately withdrew for this purpose, and return'd with an Answer to this Effect, "that as that Sentence had given Offence to the Visitors, & it was not our Intention to give them any just Reason for taking such, we were unanimously agreed to withdraw the Paragraph, tho' we presum'd to think it was builded upon Fact."

7thly In Answer to this the Visitors readily assur'd us that they were willing to join us in any probable Plan for this Purpose, whenever we were prepared to lay such before them. We now beg Leave to assure Your Lordship that the whole of this Affair is laid before You with great Fidelity & Truth. We are very desirous that it should be so, as we observe the Visitors talk so largely of what they have done for us. We are of Opinion that the many Speeches, however handsome they might be, that were made by them on this Occasion, are of little avail to us, and upon them Nothing can be fairly or securely built. Their Statutes and recorded Determinations are to be the Rules of our Action in our several Departments, which ought to be obligatory upon both Parties for the Observance of them. As for the former they may be forgot or chang'd at any subsequent Meeting, and we know from past Experience that according to the Temper with which different Visitors, or the different Dispositions with which the same Visitors meet, nothing is so uncertain and variable as their Language on these Subjects. We humbly refer the whole of this Transaction to Your Lordship's Judgement, & entreat your Opinion & Advice.—Your Opinion whether the Visitors have made such Concessions or Grants as are agreeable to your Wishes & such as we might reasonably have expected; And Your Lordship's Advice what Conduct would be proper for, and become us in Consequence of these Proceedings; at the same time that we assure Your Lordship that that both will have a just Weight with us. After requesting Your Lordship's Opinion on so interesting a Subject, we humbly beg leave to submit our own to your Lordship's Consideration, being loth to take any Step of Consequence without your Concurrence & Approbation. As the Visitors, in their Debates, when they allow the ordinary Government of the College to be in our Hands, still insist on their Right of Control, by which, we know from dear bought Experience, they mean a Power to deprive the Professors, if they think proper, for expelling a Student, or removing a Servant as when they seem willing to allow us an open Trial before them by the Laws of the College, and to bring our Counsel with us, if we think proper, to plead for us, they at the same time talk of Cases which may arise, wherein it may be necessary that a Professor, or Professors, should not come off with Impunity, tho' no Breach of any Law can be made to appear against them, by which it seems to us that they are desirous of judging us by Law when that will answer their Design of punishing us without Law; as they seem willing to retain the Power of disposing, in Effect, of the Revenues of the College in as full and ample a Manner as if no Transfer of the Revenues had ever been executed by them to the President and Masters and they objected to a Passage in our Memorial because it contain'd in their Opinion, an Imputation on their Conduct and after we had agreed to withdraw it (tho' we maintain it to be founded upon Facts), that we might not give them Offence, & that the rest of the Memorial might gain a Place in their Minutes, they first ordered it to appear on their Journal that we had agreed to expunge the said Passage, & then finally order'd that neither that nor Part of our Memorial should appear in their Journal; and as they seem willing, on Occasion, to enter what, in their Judgement, make against a Professor or Professors, but cautious of entering what may set them in a favourable Light. From these Premises it seems impossible for us, notwithstanding fair Words, to make any other Conclusion but that the Visitors mean to keep the grand Points of Power, on which the practical Utility of a College must turn, unsettled and in Confusion, and to leave us without the Authority which is necessary for obtaining that Discipline and Regularity which the Visitors are desirous should be enforced, provided that it can be done by us without any of these Powers, of which, whether granted to them, or assum'd by them, they are tenacious and resolved to continue in the Exercise. It is plain, we think, from this last Experiment, as well as from many others, that the Remedy for the Disorders of which both the Visitors & we complain must come from some higher Power, to which both they & we are bound to submit, whether that shall take its Rise from a Petition to the King for a new Charter, or from an Appeal to His Majesty as supreme Visitor of the College, which we suppose him to be, as most of the standing Revenues of the College are Grants from the Crown.

We are confident that it is with equal Truth to that which our Superiors have express'd on the same Occasion, when we beg Leave to conclude by requesting the Continuance of Your Lordship's Patronage and Protection for our College.

AT WILLIAM AND MARY REMEMBERED BY ALUMNI

Mr. Carl Andrews

Box 255

Williamsburg, Va.

My Dear Mr. Andrews,

I am sorry that we have nothing here relating to literary societies at W. & M. A few years ago we published in our magazine a number of letters from students written about the beginning of the 19th century. There are several mentions of formation of "clubs" as they called them then. In the beginning Phi Beta seems to have included debating. Mr. Swem can show you magazines referred to.

When I was at W. & M., 1875-76. both the Phoenix and Philomathean were flourishing. Each had libraries which were a good deal used by the members. I do not think there were any fraternities of any sort, so the debating societies drew almost all the students. My recollection is that for some years before the Phoenix had been the most prosperous, but in 1874-76, Philomathean had a very unusual brilliant set of men, the Garretts, Hobsons, etc. One literary society or other had gotten the best of it for a time.

I shall be very glad to have the account completed. My part in Philomathean was a very small one but the meetings always interested me. There was much friendly rivalry between the two societies.

With best wishes for the new year

Yours very truly

W. G. Standard.

December 31, 1925

My Dear Mr. Andrews:

Your letter of December 29th has been received.

Yes, I was a member of the Phoenix Literary Society while a student at William and Mary. I think the Societies were revived the same session the College was reopened, namely, 1888, certainly the Phoenix was going when I was a member in the fall of 1889, because an assignment for duty as a debator just prior to the Xmas Holidays for the Saturday night immediately following the Holidays, practically ruined my Holidays for me. I remember still how much concern and anxiety this assignment for my first public appearance gave me, and when the time came for me to perform, I was not equal to it, kept my seat and paid my fine.

I regret that I have no data relative to the History of this society. Of course, I have many recollections of our contests and its membership during my life at William and Mary, but those great sons of William and Mary must be made operative and applicable today."

"For the fundamental creed of William and Mary is that of the scholar in politics."

"For us as for the young King Solomon arises the insistent supplication. "Give thy servant a right judgment, O Lord. The College of William and Mary had that prayer answered in the revolutionary era of the 18th century, and again, as we Southerners believe, in the revolution of 1861. She must make herself worthy of like direction in the third revolution."

"Whatever the demands that a proper study will impose upon her in keeping the teaching force of the public school system adequate for most efficient service, she will strive to meet them."

"She must endeavor, as in the earlier days, so to inspire her students that whatever their chosen sphere of activity they will restore informed good citizenship to its proper place as the chief avocation of gentlemen."

"If in another two centuries and a half of life, there shall be among her graduates a second Jefferson, another Marshall or a spiritual successor to Wythe, then those of us who now people her halls shall not have lived in vain."

The honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon Gov. Peery of Virginia and President Roosevelt.

President Roosevelt was in a happy frame of mind and his address was listened to with rapt attention. He laughingly told his audience that his first visit to Williamsburg was made 20 years ago when he landed from a boat at Jamestown and starting to walk to Williamsburg he was picked up by an aged negro in a horse and buggy.

In speaking of Jefferson he said: "I like to think of him not only as a statesman but as the enlightened father of American education."

Speaking of education he said: "As education grows it becomes the partner of government" and "at the same time there is a definite place in American life—an important place—for broad, liberal and non-specialized education."

Speaking of National needs and of the future of William and Mary he said: "It is in the realization of these needs in their national scope of today that the present and future generations of William and Mary can best carry forward the fine traditions of their centuries."

"So I would extend my heartiest good wishes to the College of William and Mary, built early in the morning of American life, dedicated to the education of the makers of a great Republic, seeking to enrich and broaden the meaning of education, and seeking, above all things, to recognize that Republican institutions are, in the last analysis, the application to human affairs of those broad humane ideals that a liberal education preserves, enriches and expands in our beloved land."

Julian T. Baber, '10, who had not visited Williamsburg for 24 years was among the Secret Service men who accompanied President Roosevelt to Williamsburg. Members of this force said that the whole affair was the best arranged and handled of any that they had ever attended.

these would be of little value.

With the hope that you will be more successful in some other direction, and with every good wish for you and the Society during the approaching year, I am,

Sincerely yours,

G. Walter Mapp.
