THE RECORD!

The December Gazette called attention to the embarrassing and distressing fact that only five per-cent of the living alumni of the College were members of the Alumni Association. The situation is not as impossible as it might otherwise be when it is noted that the younger alumni are the ones who are responding to the call for service to the College in increasingly greater numbers. Is it conceivably possible that the younger alumni of the College are better able financially to maintain their responsibility in the Alumni Association? Or do they just care more about it? Or are the oldsters not acquainted with the alumni program? Or are they concealing some displeasure? What is it? Can we remedy the cause?

Well, here is the record—

HOW DOES YOUR CLASS RANK?

DR. MILLER NAMED DEAN OF FACULTY EFFECTIVE 1938-39

Hoke Made Dean of Summer Session,
Chairman of Degree Committee;
Lambert to be Dean of Men.

A reorganization in several administrative departments of the college effective at the opening of the 1938-39 session, has recently been announced by President John Stewart Bryan, in a letter to the faculty. Most important of the several shifts is the appointment of Dr. James Wilkinson Miller to be Dean of the Faculty, a position not held on the campus since the death of the late Dr. J. Lesslie Hall.

Dr. Kremer J. Hoke will become Dean of the Summer School instead of Director, and will continue as head of the Department of Education and Chairman of the Degree Committee. J. Wilfred Lambert, '27, will become Dean of Men, and the position of Dean of Freshmen which he now holds, will temporarily remain vacant.

Dr. Miller came to the college in 1935, and has since been associate professor and head of the Department of philosophy. He received his A. B. Degree from the University of Michigan and his A. M. and Ph. D. from Harvard.

Mr. Bryan's message to the faculty was as follows:
To the Faculty:

At the opening of the new Semester I take occasion to convey to the Faculty the grateful appreciation of the College for the increase in interest, in scholarship, and in work which the student body has shown in the last Semester.

The Faculty is, I am sure, thoroughly aware of the advance that has been made in the number of courses offered, and equally in the response, both in effort and in achievement, of the student body.

Perhaps the Faculty would also like to know that in my opinion there has been a marked increase in the efficiency of administration in the matter of student guidance, as well as in discipline and supervision.

The students, by their studies, have demonstrated afresh the force of the "expulsive power of a new affection". In order to keep this affection fresh and this power active, it seems to me that we are led, and I might almost say compelled to follow the line of development which in the past has proved so effective.

These forward steps have necessarily involved labor on the part of the Faculty and the Administration, but the results are so abundantly satisfactory that in my judgment they suggest with the highest cogency the need for further progress in this field. This matter was in my mind before taking the position as President of William and Mary, and it has been constantly in my thought. I believe that the step which I have

NATION MOURNS DEATH OF GRAYSON DISTINGUISHED ALUMNUS OF W. & M.

CARY T. GRAYSON

Chairman of American Red Cross
Personal Physician to Roosevelt,
Taft, and Wilson.

VISITOR TO COLLEGE

Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, x99, chairman of the American Red Cross and physician and confidant of Presidents, died at his home in Washington, D. C., February 15th. The 59 year old naval physician, close friend of President Roosevelt and the late President Wilson, had been ill of anemia.

Grayson was most widely known as personal physician to Woodrow Wilson, but he was first attached to the White House medical staff in 1907, when Theodore Roosevelt was President and Grayson a lieutenant in the Navy's medical corps. Roosevelt recommended him so highly that he was kept on at the White House when President Taft came into office. President Wilson made him his personal physician after he had attended the first Mrs. Wilson, and he remained in this capacity until the death of Wilson in 1924, when he retired from the Navy and became a figure in the inner councils of the Democratic Party. With this background and a friendship that had its roots in the Wilson administration when Franklin D. Roosevelt was assistant secretary of the Navy, the ex-medical officer was made chairman of the 1933 and 1937 inaugural committees.

Admiral Grayson was born in "Salubria", Culpeper County, October 11, 1878. Orphaned in boyhood, he managed to take a pre-medical course at the College of William and Mary, when he was a student from 1895 to 1899. While he did not receive his bachelor's degree from William and Mary, he was initiated into Alpha Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa December 4, 1915, and was awarded the honorary degree of LL. D. by the College in June, 1926.

MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN MAKES SLOW PROGRESS

33 Counties Reporting Activity While
65 Not Heard From; Office Records
Being Corrected.

Reports from the county membership drive have not been encouraging during February. In many counties no organization has been started. In the ninety-eight counties in which one or more alumni were contacted and asked to take the leadership in their respective counties, only thirty-three have thus far accepted. In the remaining sixty-five counties, many of the alumni who were asked to take the leadership, replied that they could not do so. Others have not been heard from, indicating their acceptance or rejection.

Most satisfying results obtained to date have come not through new memberships, but in the correction of the geographical files of the alumni office, in which the county captains have been co-operative in advising the office of the many changes that have never been reported. This

William and Mary Basketball Team Defeats Virginia Again

William and Mary's varsity basketballers, with only one home game with Richmond remaining on their schedule, seem destined to end the cage campaign with a record of two victories and 10 defeats.

The Indian quint has thus far recorded two victories over University of Virginia, the latest triumph over the Cavaliers having come on February 16. The Tribe won, 41-40 in a thrill-packed battle.

After a three-week's layoff because of exams, William and Mary's Indian team opened a two-game Maryland invasion with a 61-20 loss to Navy. Maryland, played on the following night, rallied in the last half to whip the Indians 45-38.

University of Richmond, met at Richmond on February 14, showed too much height and speed for the Tribemen and the Spiders coasted easily along to a 43-28 triumph.

Then came the Virginia game, which, if not the best played game of the season, was at least the closest. The two teams fought tooth and nail down to the final minute of play, with William and Mary successfully protecting a slim two-point lead.

V. M. I., next home opponent for the Indians, broke a 15-15 halftime deadlock early in the second period and spurred away to an imposing lead which the Kellisonmen once threatened but never overcame. The final score was 35-30.

Washington and Lee's highly touted Generals, played here February 21, were not over-taxed to whip the Indian quint, 61-40. Big Bob Spessard, 6 foot 7 inch center, bagged 30 points for the victors.

Their regular dual season now ended, William and Mary's varsity swimmers are looking hopefully towards the southern conference tournament which will be held in Lexington on March 4-5.

Somewhat disconcerting to Coach Otis Douglas' mermen, however, was the 39-36 defeat which they suffered on February 19 at the hands of Washington and Lee's three-time conference champions.

Gift of $50,000 Received From Unnamed Donor Through Grayson

The College has recently received a gift of $50,000, from an unnamed donor, having been made through the late Admiral Cary T. Grayson, x99, which was accepted by the Board of Visitors at a meeting held on February 8th.

The conditions of the gift specify that it is to be used in any manner prescribed by Admiral Grayson, the details of which, have not been arranged.

Writing the donor, in care of Admiral Grayson, John Stewart Bryan, President of the College, said:

"My Dear Sir:
"I am happy to learn from Admiral Cary T. Grayson that it is permitted to express to you the formal thanks of the College of William and Mary for your munificent gift to this institution.

"In transmitting our grateful thanks for your generosity I am somewhat limited by the doubt as to whether you have ever visited this place in person and therefore have a certain background of knowledge as to the youth we serve and the methods by which we try to make their time enriched and valuable.

"On the possibility that you are not perfectly familiar with the situation, permit me to say that the College of William and Mary—the second oldest in America, and the first south of Boston to do any advanced education in the English-speaking Colonies—has through the stress of Indian, Revolutionary and Civil wars, developed a fibre and a spirit of citizenship that has been able to survive famine, hardship, war, fire, tumult and worst of all, grinding poverty.

"It is only the spirit of William and Mary, and only, as I firmly believe, the unfailing example of its great Alumni that have enabled this institution to come to the place it occupies today. In this time of doubt and uncertainty of crumbling standards and of cynical disregard of the faith of our fathers, I myself, and I am sure many others like me, gain a restoration of faith and a renewal of courage from association with this

CARY TRAVERS GRAYSON

"As physician, as humanitarian and as Red Cross executive, Admiral Grayson touched life at many angles and did outstanding work in every field of his endeavor. His earlier activities were a logical preparation for his work in these later years as chairman of the American Red Cross. Whether directing relief at home or co-operating in the alleviation of human misery in far lands, his tact, industry and genius for getting things done made his work outstanding.

But it is as a friend that so many of us will always think of Cary Grayson—a friend in the truest finest sense of that fine word. A staunch friend, an old and close friend has been taken from us."

—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"During late years he gave unsparingly of his splendid talents and exceptional ability to civic and humanitarian work, and his fellow citizens will long remember with grateful appreciation his outstanding and eminently successful efforts in the alleviation of human misery and suffering."

—Cordell Hull.

"... As a member of the board of visitors of the College of William and Mary, he has rendered splendid service. He was identified with Virginia in so many different ways that his death will bring great sorrow to the hearts of our people..."

—James H. Price.

"The passing of Cary Grayson takes away a fine and decent wisdom. It helped to guide matters of the greatest moment. He was a man men naturally trust with their confidences and, in that walk of life in which it pleased God to call him, five of those men were Presidents. ... Admiral Grayson was too young to go and too much needed, not only by his friends but also by the nation and its President. Franklin Roosevelt has few left to whom he can look for a sympathy, support and wisdom as quiet and unselfish but us dependable, sure and effective as Cary Grayson's."

—Hugh Johnson

"... Admiral Grayson's head was never turned, his heart was never hardened; his instincts and kindness remained fresh and springing, and to the end he maintained and practiced the will to serve."

—Richmond News Leader

"... And he was one of the few whose intimacy with the World War President was never clouded by misunderstanding. ... This friend of Presidents knew how to keep his counsel and respect a trust. His untimely death robs the Nation of a man of great distinction and the city of Washington of a very charming and greatly beloved figure."

—Washington Post

Cary Grayson is gone. But the spirit of him is with us. We shall not soon forget him for he has left his mark upon the College he loved so well and which he served devotedly to the last hours of his life.

A distinguished and honored alumnus, though always reluctant to have his services to William and Mary publicized; a great citizen who walked and talked with the mighty of three decades, yet never losing the 'common touch'; and a Gentleman of Virginia, whose memory we shall cherish until time is no more.

Manson, x23, Kenbridge, Lunenburg County. J. B. Robertson, x79, Campbell County. Rev. Thomas Deane Lewis, x93, Amherst, Va., died November, 1937. Wilmer Burruss Sweeney, x96,

The Rev. J. Hubbard Lloyd, '05, of Wakayama, Japan, was a recent visitor to the Alumni Office, and conducted services at Bruton Parish Church January 9. Mr. Lloyd has been a missionary to Japan for nearly 30 years and is in this country for a brief furlough, visiting his home in Norfolk.

In his talk at Bruton, Mr. Lloyd declared that "the Japanese military regime wants war and is convinced that it can lick the world." He emphasized that the military represents only one tenth of the population, but by destroying its enemies and injecting the Japanese people with propaganda, it has overpowered the 90 per cent that do not want war. Because the Japanese military has never been defeated in war, it believes itself to be invincible. Mr. Lloyd stated that 'Japanese soldiers are taught that Japan is the dominant nation in the world and that they have a "divine mission", that of spreading the Japanese culture and rule throughout the world. Summing up, Mr. Lloyd believed that there was only one thing the Japanese army would understand, and that would be a military power larger than their own. He said that the Japanese people were friendly to the American people, when we came to their assistance after an earthquake had wrecked two of their large cities, but that they became incensed when congress passed a bill limiting Japanese immigration to this country.

Mr. Lloyd is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Pi Kappa Alpha. While in college, he was a member of the football team, and was on the staff of the Colonial Echo. He was president of the graduating class of 1905.

James G. Driver, x09, former athletic director at the University of Virginia has just received his document and medal as rewards for his services during the Olympic games at Berlin in 1936. Mr. Driver, a member of the National Intercollegiate Boxing Committee, went as a delegate-at-large from the United States and officiated at several of the Olympic bouts. The rewards arrived more than a year late.

Edwin Lamberth, '28, an instructor in Maury High School, Norfolk, is distinguishing himself in the field of education. After leaving William & Mary, he taught in the schools of Northampton county, and is at present teaching at Maury. He has recently completed work for a graduate degree at the University of Virginia, where his work was centered on education. In addition to this experience, Mr. Lamberth was a member of one of the committees appointed by the State department to work on the revision of the Virginia curriculum for secondary schools. He is a member of both local and national educational organizations and has been honored with memberships in several honorary groups, including Phi Delta Kappa, a professional educational fraternity.

Richard D. Mullowney, '31, star squash racket player, recently obtained some head-line prominence in the New York Times, when the team of which he is a member played a hard fought match with the women's division of the Metropolitan Squash Racquets Association. Retaliating for two earlier defeats, the women defeated the men 3 to 2, at the Junior League Courts, January 15. In the previous matches, the men had things their own way despite the handicap allowed their rivals, but by virtue of extra-game matches, the women triumphed in the finals. The women players received an eight-point handicap in each game, but it was not until Mrs. Brookfield Wyck-off scored against Mullowney that they cinched the match.

While at William and Mary, Mullowney was a member of the tennis and golf teams, being captain of the latter. He was also president of the student body.

George J. Oliver, '31, has recently been appointed State Supervisor of High Schools, effective February 1. Announcement of Oliver's promotion was made by Dr. Sidney B. Hall, '16, State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Oliver was formerly superintendent of schools in Henrico County, and is a native of Lancaster County. He studied at the University of Richmond for two years and at William and Mary for two years. He received his Master's Degree from Columbia University.

"No. 1 Life Underwriter" in one of the country's major life insurance companies is J. E. "Jack" Capps, '11, of Norfolk, who has won leadership of Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company's nationwide sales organization.

Capps, associated with the Joseph E. Garland Agency of Farnville, wrote more insurance policies on more people for a greater total amount than any other Pacific Mutual man in 1937. This names him president for the ensuing year of the Company's honorary Big Tree Club of stellar representatives.

Capps, who has been with the Garland Agency for twenty-one years, has had an interesting background of education and experience. He received his A. B. degree from William and Mary, and an M. A. from Columbia University; he is a member of several honorary scholastic fraternities, and he is qualified as a Chartered Life Underwriter—highest technical attainment for life insurance men.

Prominent in Shrine activities and in Church work, Capps has served for the past five years as President of the Norfolk Forum, an organization of 2,200 members. He is Past President of the Norfolk-Portsmouth Underwriters' Association and a Director of the Y. M. C. A., the Chamber of Commerce and the General Hospital in Norfolk.

Capps has always taken an interest in college activities and was for many years a member of the athletic committee.

Galen W. Ewing, '36, has recently written an interesting article entitled "Early Teaching of Science at the College of William and Mary in Virginia", and which was published as the leading article in the Journal of Chemical Education. It is well illustrated with photographs of early scientific apparatus at the college and of former professors here.

"William and Mary", the article says, "has had a history unique among educational institutions, being the first in America to introduce several highly important educational methods, notably the lecture method and the system of election of studies.

"Its undergraduate departments of science have been among the foremost in their fields from the earliest times even to the present day. Its great teachers of science of the past—Small, Madison, Hare, the two Rogers and Millington—were generally recognized as among the outstanding men of their respective periods.

"If the college has in recent years lost its unique position, it is not because its interest in the teaching of science has declined, but rather it is due to the fact that its ideals have become generally recognized and put into practice in many institutions. But its members never forget that it was a pioneer, and they take great pride in that memory.

"Reorganization of the college and abandonment of the old Oxford curriculum in favor of the modern system of electives resulted from the close cooperation of Thomas Jefferson, then Governor of the Commonwealth and a visitor of the college, and President James Madison of William and Mary."

William and Mary Alumni in the legislature are breaking the headlines these days while the regular session is in progress. Ashton Dovel, '08, distinguished speaker of the House of Delegates, in an address before the annual meeting of Richmond Chapter, University of Virginia Alumni Association, predicted that the General Assembly would not make any changes in the poll tax law and stated that "any policy that has worked for 36 years is not to be brushed aside simply for the sake of a change."

Senator Anderson E. Shumate, x02, of Pearisburg, has proposed a measure calling for the audit of all State departments which handle any finances.

Delegate Frank Moncure, x09, of Stafford, is sponsoring a bill that would slash boxing-wrestling license fees in three classifications and other important changes would be made affecting the State Wrestling and Boxing Commission, including that of changing the name of the Commission to the State Athletic Commission.

Va. Assembly Meets in Restored Capitol

The General Assembly of Virginia held its biennial session in the restored House of Burgesses, Saturday, February 12th, at which time Dr. Francis Pendleton Gaines, president of Washington and Lee University, delivered the principal address to the joint session.

Governor Price, in a brief address before Dr. Gaines was introduced, said the biennial session held at Williamsburg was a day of rededication and reconsecration to a finer public service. He said the assembly in turning back the pages of history to old Williamsburg would be inspired to loftier ambitions and nobler actions.

Separate sessions were held by the two houses prior to the joint session, the senate meeting in the hall of the "general court", and the delegates meeting in the hall of their forebears. Received as distinguished guests were President Kenneth Chorley of Colonial Williamsburg, John D. Rockefeller III, Laurence R. Rockefeller, and President John Stewart Bryan of the College of William and Mary, the latter being paid high tribute by Governor Price.

Volume of Early Va. Records Donated

The College Library has recently received a rare and valuable copy of "The Debates and Other Proceedings of the Convention of Virginia", which has been presented by Dr. Hunter D. Farish, director of the department of research and education of Colonial Williamsburg.

The books came from the library of Charles Tait, born in Louisa county, February 1, 1768, and who was a cousin of Henry Clay. He moved to Georgia in his youth where he studied law, was admitted to the bar, and later was elected to the United States Senate where he served with distinction as chairman of the naval affairs committee.

Dr. Farish acquired the library from the Tait family. The volume which he has presented to the College is beautifully bound in leather and is a first edition.

The Virginia convention met in Richmond, June 2, 1788, for the purpose of deliberating the proposed federal constitution as adopted by a convention at Philadelphia to which George Washington represented Virginia and became the president of the convention. Edmund Pendleton was president of the Virginia convention. The volume shows that the debates were lengthy and the votes close.

Dr. Hoke to be Honored By Mount St. Mary's

Dr. Kremer J. Hoke, Dean of the College, will be honored by his alma mater, Mount Saint Mary's at Emmitsburg, Md. on June 15, when he will receive the degree of LL. D. Dr. Hoke holds an A. B. degree from the Maryland institution and later received his M. A. and Ph. D. degrees from Columbia University. He joined the faculty of William and Mary in 1920, and has been Dean of the College, Professor and head of the department of Education and Director of the Summer Session.

It was Dean Hoke, who in the early years of President Chandler's administration, was constantly on the alert to improve the academic rating of the College by maintaining the ever increasing requirements of scholarship that are responsible for William and Mary's high standing today. He later served as acting President when Dr. Chandler was unable to carry on the work.

Nation Mourns

During recent years, he served the college in a number of capacities. He was the first president of the William and Mary Alumni Club of Washington, later becoming vice-president, which office he held for many years. He served on the Board of Managers of the Alumni Association for six years. On January 3, 1935, he was made a member of the Board of Visitors of the College. In many ways, he showed his love for his alma mater, and only a week before he died the College received a gift of $50,000 from an unknown donor, given through Admiral Grayson.

Grayson was appointed chairman of the American Red Cross by President Roosevelt, succeeding another great friend of the College, John Barton Payne, and it was he who made the successful appeal for $25,000,000, in 1937, for the work in the Ohio Valley.

He is survived by his widow, and three sons—Gordon, William, and Cary, Jr.

place, and so I feel, our dear Benefactor, that through your generosity you will have made it possible to put into the hearts and minds of many young men the perpetual flame of devotion to country, of consecration to truth, and of service to mankind. To me the unfailing knowledge and force of its ideals have increased, and that we are building here upon a foundation now nearly two hundred and fifty years old for the development of the individual and for the service of the State.

"Should you ever desire to visit William and Mary, it will be my intense pleasure to show you what we are doing, or should you prefer to remain unknown to me, let me earnestly beg that you come sometime with Admiral Grayson, than whom this College has no Alumnus who so fully typifies the spirit of manhood, gentleness, courage, and unselfish service which this College has ever desired to see in its students.

"Believe me, with high regard and with renewed expressions of grateful appreciation.

"Very truly yours,
John Stewart Bryan."

Dr. Miller

taken recognizes the past services of the Faculty and will undoubtedly result in increased efficiency in administration for the future. Of course, no changes are purposed until the end of the present semester.

Beginning with the year 1938-1939, Dr. James Wilkinson Miller will be Dean of the Faculty.

Dr. K. J. Hoke, to whose value I wish to pay a tribute of affection and esteem, will be Dean of the Summer School instead of Director, as heretofore. He will continue as head of the Department of Education and Chairman of the Degree Committee. This will enable the College of William and Mary to avail itself of Dr. Hoke's long experience, gathered through years of service, in the fields of Education and Administration.

Mr. J. Wilfred Lambert, who has been Dean of Freshmen, will be Dean of Men, and will continue to discharge the duties of Chairman of the Committee on Student Aid.

An Assistant Dean of Men will be appointed later.

Dr. Grace Warren Landrum will continue as Dean of Women.

Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts will continue as Assistant Dean of Women.

What I am about to say can in no sense be a novelty to many of the Faculty, yet in view of the additions since I last made a formal statement, I beg to take this opportunity to express to the entire Faculty of William and Mary my grateful appreciation and personal thanks for the unfailing support which they have accorded me, and for the energy, intelligence, and confidence with which they have attacked the problem of educating the young men and women whose priceless years of youth have been entrusted to our keeping.

Faithfully yours,
John Stewart Bryan,
President.

Sports

The Washington and Lee meet, second of the month for William and Mary, was not actually as close as the score would seem to indicate. The Indians, pinning their hopes on victories in either the 220 or 100-yard dashes, took no firsts in either event.

Lennie Goldberg, conference breast stroke champion, and Johnny Adams, Ace Indian diver, brought home firsts for the Tribe, as did the relay team composed of George Bunch, Adam, Helfrich, and Shuler.

In the only other dual meet of the month, the Indian swimmers out-splashed University of Virginia, 46-29. Virginia, who had doubled the score on the Duke team which had defeated William and Mary, failed to live up to expectations.

Prominent William & Mary swimmers who should be point-winners in the conference tournament are Johnny Adams and John Tinsley, divers; Goldberg, breaststroke; Shuler, Brill, Bunch and Helfrich, dash men; Pur-till, distance swimmer; and Brown, back-stroker.

Jimmy Moore, a star of last year, and Don Lord, a newcomer to the Indian squad, both seem to lack the power necessary to bring home conference points in their specialties—distance swimming. Moore's poor showing this year is attributed to loss of weight.

Freshman basketball and swimming teams, after making auspicious starts during the first part of February, were finally and unexpectedly ousted from undefeated ranks.

Joe Flickinger's Papoose cagers ran their victory string to five straight before bowing to Norfolk Division's fast and clever Braves, 41-38. The Papooses also dropped a surprise game to Richmond's Baby Spiders, 23-21.

On the other side of the ledger, however, were triumphs over Fork Union, Thomas Jefferson high of Richmond, Benedictine high, also of Richmond, Farmville high, and South Norfolk high.

Every victory recorded by the Papooses has been by more than decisive margins, and both defeats were by the close margins of three and two points.

Outstanding men on the frosh cage squad are the Andrews brothers, Tom and Virgil, Charlie Gondak, Vincent Taffe, Bud Mackey, Sid Broocks, and Sid Fishel. These seven men form what can be called the real freshman team.

The Papoose swimmers rolled up four straight triumphs before bowing to Fort Monroe in a meet at Fort Monroe. Victims of the yearling tankmen were Fort Monroe (first meet), Norfolk Division, Augusta Military Academy, Virginia frosh, and, after a defeat in a return meet with Fort Monroe, Langley Field.

Chief point-winners for the Papoose swimmers have been the Brennan brothers, Ray Walker, Allmond, Wallin, Flickinger, and Schwartz.

"The Mikado" To Be Given March 17-18

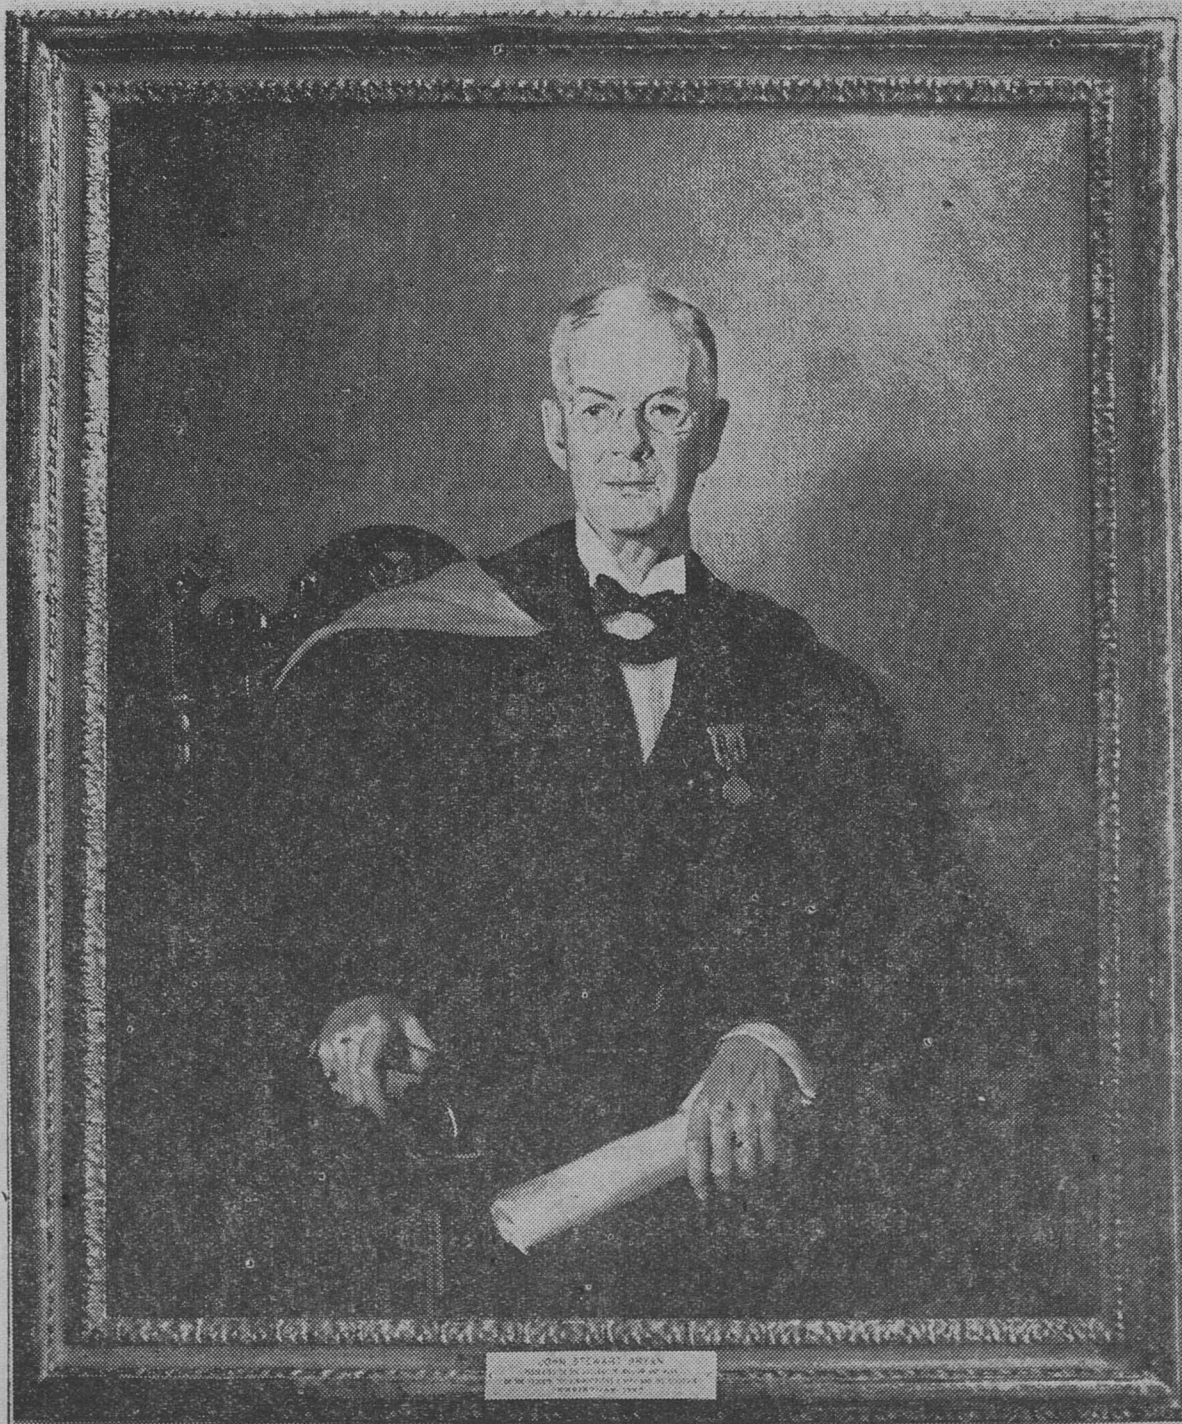

An entirely new and modern interpretation of Gilbert and Sullivan will give new life and new appeal to an old theme when an elaborate production of "The Mikado" is presented by the Department of Fine Arts on March 17 and 18. Although essentially modern, the production will at the same time retain the magnificent traditional features. With each branch of the Fine Arts Department handling a specific and definite part of production, the operetta will be a collaborative production of the highest order. Brilliantly painted sets which will serve as a decorative background for the show have been designed by Mr. Leonard Haber, instructor in painting. The first scene will consist of a large tryptic screen containing a Japanese landscape, while the second scene will be played against a large decorative backdrop. The sets will be executed by crews under Mr. Arthur Ross, instructor in stagecraft, who is technical director and light designer for the show.

Gay and exotic costumes based on Japanese styles have been designed by Miss Jean Nelke, noted costume designer and visiting professor of costume. Miss Nelke attended for two years the Yale Graduate school of Fine Arts, and while there designed the costumes and sets for the Yale ice carnivals which featured Sonja Henie and other well-known skaters. Since finishing Yale, she has worked with the Group Theatre in New Haven and New York, and has designed costumes for plays and ballet groups in Philadelphia. Miss Nelke planned and supervised the costumes for "The Gondoliers" presented by the Fine Arts Department last year, when for the first time at William and Mary, emphasis was placed on costume design. The sparkling and shimmering colors of Miss Nelke's costumes will match Mr. Haber's sets and enhance their brilliance.

Mr. George Small, professor of music is in charge of the casting and the singing. A completely reorganized Symphony Orchestra is under the supervision of Mr. Raymond Douse, instructor in music. Miss Althea Hunt, professor of drama will direct the action, lines and make-up, and Mr. Tucker Jones, head of the department of Physical Education will be in charge of the dances.

The casting of the principals is now complete. The voices of two new men, Armand Harkless and John Prinzevalli, will be heard in the roles of Nanke Poo and Poo Bah. Both of them have fine voices, tenor and baritone respectively. Lucille Eldridge who played the part of Patience in "Patience" year before last, and Tessa in "The Gondoliers", will play Yum Yum. The part of Katsusha will be played by Margaret Williams, who had a leading part in "Patience" and played Gianetta in "The Gondoliers". Jane Baker who was in the chorus of "Patience" and who played the old nurse in "The Gondoliers" will play Pitti Sing, and Jane Upchurch who was in the chorus of both "Patience" and "The Gondoliers" will play Peep-Bo. Alfred Alley who took the part of the Grand Inquisitor last year will play the Mikado. Kendall Beavers who drew many a laugh in his amusing role as the Duke of Plazatoro will play Ko Ko, and Walter Snowden who was in the chorus of "Patience" and played a small part in "The Gondoliers" will play Pish Tish.

"The Mikado" is Gilbert and Sullivan at its best. It is the biggest money-maker of all the operettas, and the highest in popular favor. "The Mikado" is a Japanese version of the typical boy-meets-girl plot. Although Japanese in name and dress, the characters are typically British. Throughout the operetta, the satire is clever and biting, and the lyrics completely captivating.
