Our Strength!

When one studies the geographic distribution of William and Mary Alumni, both in Virginia and elsewhere, one cannot but marvel at the potential strength that appears to lie dormant all about us.

That it is dormant, makes us think of the potentialities all the more and we realize that if this strength in the urban centers, where it is expected to be the strongest, should be whipped into a unified group, acting for and in the interest of William and Mary, the many intricate problems of the College, about which the Alumni generally are concerned, would be remedied.

Perhaps you may be able to draw the picture for yourself. Let us take Richmond and Norfolk for examples. In the city of Richmond alone, there are at the present time over six hundred Alumni and Alumnae. While it is true that for some years the Alumni and the Alumnae, working through the two Richmond Clubs, have been more active and had larger representation at their meetings than have those of other cities, it is certain that over half of the available groups have never become interested in participating in the activities of these Clubs. Recently a third Club, composed of younger men and women, has been organized which may reach a greater number.

Our second largest group is in Norfolk where there are more than five hundred Alumni and Alumnae. The Club there is open only to men and, if our information is correct, there are seldom more than twenty who attend the meetings of the Club.

Whether or not this is a reflection upon the Alumni, individually or collectively, is open to discussion. Most assuredly it unhappily reflects upon the College, and is a great loss to the College, for what is true in Richmond and Norfolk, is true in other localities where there are large groups of Alumni.

Now, we do not necessarily advocate Clubs holding a great number of meetings, nor do we believe that mere attendance at these meetings is a positive exhibition of interest. Likewise, we do not say that an Alumnus must be a member of the Alumni Association in order to prove his interest in the affairs of Alma-Mater.

What we should like to see, and what we believe we need, is that these large groups or Clubs will become united with but one common objective—TO HELP WILLIAM AND MARY—to take a genuine interest in her many problems—to send her able men and women students—to boost her in athletics, winning or losing—to boost her in scholastic attainment.

All this may be accomplished by rounding up this potential strength as shown below.

Membership Drive Lags

The County Drive to increase membership in the Alumni Association and to bring the files of the Alumni Office up to date, has all but succumbed. In many counties, it never took birth. One hundred and forty-eight alumni and alumnae, in ninety-eight counties, have been solicited and asked to serve as captain of the drive in their respective counties. Thirty-seven have accepted the call and to them goes credit for what little success has obtained.

Most encouraging results have come from Floyd County where J. E. Proffit was captain and from Roanoke County where E. B. Broadwater has devoted a great deal of time to the work. Other helpful work, though less productive, has come from Mrs. George A. Reynolds (Pearle Young), in Caroline County; Katherine Holman, captain of Goochland County; Lunsford Healy Settle, King George County; and Harold W. Ramsey, Franklin County.

In some of the counties where

BASEBALL SEASON OPENS WITH GOOD TEAM PROSPECTS

Veterans in All Positions Save Two; Adams, Waugh, and Oliver to Pitch.

KELLISON COACH AGAIN

From all outward appearances, William and Mary's baseball team will open its 1938 23-game season with veterans in every position save two.

N. C. State will be the Indians' first opponent, with the game scheduled at Raleigh on March 28. Wake Forest's strong Demon Deacons will be played on the following day at Wake Forest, N. C.

Honest John Kellison, back in the baseball coaching reins after a three-year's absence, can start lettermen in every position although it is doubtful that he will do so. At least one sophomore and possibly two, will be in the opening lineup.

Only two lettermen were lost from last year's team, but one of them was Dan Edmonson, big first baseman, whose position has not yet been satisfactorily filled. Several men have been tried at the initial sack, but none have matched the play of Edmonson.

The infield probably will show Larry Oliver at first, Frank Koss at second, either Red Hern or Charlie Beale at short, and Frank Yeager at third. Beale, a sophomore, is fighting it out with Hern for the shortstop berth.

In the outfield will be Rudy Tucker, a converted sophomore catcher, Bud Metheny, veteran center fielder, and Charlie Baltimore, a holdover from last year's team, in right field. Clyde Haley and Robert Martin, two sophomores, will substitute in the outfield.

The pitching and catching situation is apparently set, what with three winning hurlers in Bob Adams, Rosy Waugh, and Larry Oliver. And three capable receivers are also on hand in Wayne Harper, Al Tirelis, and Ed Motley.

HERBERT LEE BRIDGES NAMED ALUMNI DAY ORATOR, JUNE 11

HERBERT L. BRIDGES

FIVE MEN, ONE WOMAN AWARDED MEDALLIONS

Lipscomb, Wager, Long, Robinsin, Brooks, and Barksdale to Receive Award Alumni Day.

Six alumni of the College have been selected by the Board of Managers of the Alumni Association, to receive the Alumni Medallion, on Alumni Day, June 11, 1938. The Board, assembled for a special meeting, March 12th, acted upon the recommendations sent to them by the medallion nominating committee consisting of: Mr. Herbert Lee Bridges, '93, Chairman, Dr. William T. Hodges, '02, and Robert M. Newton, '16. Those selected were: Phillip Dodderidge Lipscomb, '91, Richmond; John P. Wager, '95, Washington, D. C.; Rev. Charles Henry Long, '11, Philadelphia, Penna.; Albert Pemberton Slaughter Robinson, '18, Norfolk; Julian A. Brooks, '20, Richmond; and Martha Elizabeth Barksdale, '22, Williamsburg.

Dr. Lipscomb is a physician in Richmond, having taken his medical degree at the University of Maryland after leaving William and Mary. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Kappa Alpha Fraternities. He has been partic-

WAS GRADUATED IN 1893.

Herbert Lee Bridges, '93, Registrar-Emeritus of the College, has been selected to deliver the oration on the annual Alumni Day program, June 11th. Mr. Bridges has long been associated in the affairs of William and Mary. He came here as a freshman in 1888, when the College reopened under Dr. Tyler, registering from Hayes Store, Gloucester County. He received his A. B. degree in 1893, along with Dean Robert H. Tucker, of Washington and Lee University, the only other student to graduate that year. On leaving College, Mr. Bridges taught in various schools in the state. In 1906 he was called back to the College to be the first registrar, and has remained in Williamsburg ever since.

He served as registrar continuously for twenty-six years, and in 1932 was forced to retire because of illness. He was initiated into Phi Beta Kappa on December 6, 1909, and is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa Honorary Fraternity. For many years, and until his retirement, he served as secretary to the Board of Visitors of the College. On November 17, 1934, he received the Alumni Medallion in tribute for his many years service to the College. He now serves as chairman of a permanent committee to receive and make recommendations for the award of the medallions.

Mr. Bridges has one daughter and two sons, all graduates of the College: Miss Margaret Florence, (A. B., M. A., '27); Herbert Lee, Jr., '21; and James Malcolm, '25; the latter being a member of the Board of Managers of the Alumni Association.

Mr. Bridges' oration is anticipated with much interest because of his long association with the College and her alumni. It is expected that he will relate some of his experiences in this connection.

Elliott Gives Cutler Lecture

Dr. William Yandell Elliott, Professor of Government at Harvard University, will deliver the tenth in the series of annual lectures on the Constitution established here under the provisions of the James Gould Cutler trust, speaking on "The Crisis of the American Constitution," in Phi Beta Kappa Hall at eleven o'clock, Thursday, March 31st.

Presiding at the exercises will be Albion Guilford Taylor, assistant dean of the Marshall-Wythe School of Government and Citizenship, and the speaker will be introduced by President John Stewart Bryan.

The entire program will be broadcast over the newly opened

College To Broadcast Weekly From Campus Over WRNL

Establishment of a regular series of radio broadcasts from the campus was inaugurated with an hour of excerpts from the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta "The Mikado", Tuesday, March 22nd at three o'clock and a number of other programs have since been presented.

Under the arrangement, station WRNL in Richmond transmits the programs which are arranged by the College Bureau of Public Information. Each week, Thursday from 5:45 until 6 o'clock, some member of the faculty speaks on "The William and Mary Forum Program", and beginning April 6th the chapel program, with music by the Choir, will be aired from 6 until 6:25 each Wednesday.

Telephone lines, coupled with broadcast apparatus set up in Phi Beta Kappa Hall, carry the programs to Richmond and the studios of WRNL in the News Leader Arcade Building where they are again amplified and sent on to the transmitters of the station located on the Washington Highway some six miles north of the city.

Excellent reception of the "Mikado", annual spring musical of the College, was reported from points as far distant as Washington, D. C., and the program won high praise from listeners.

Today at eleven o'clock, the annual Cutler Lecture, to be given this year by Dr. William Yandell Elliott of Harvard University, will be broadcast over the same system. Other broadcasts scheduled include a semi-monthly series of talks by State Officials on their work before the Marshall-Wythe School of Government and Citizenship. The first of these, an address by Mr. C. H. Morrisette, State Tax Commissioner, was aired Tuesday, March 29th. Frank Bane, chairman of the Social Security Board will be the next speaker in this

THE IDEAL ALUMNUS

It may be that no man lives who typifies the Ideal Alumnus. Yet in any alumni body there are those who so closely resemble the ideal that their attitude is an inspiration to the rest. What, then, are the attributes of the Ideal Alumnus?

He is one who realizes that the measure of success which he has attained is not due entirely to inherent genius, but in a large part to the knowledge and inspiration which he has gained during his college years.

He cherishes the memories of those college years as a fundamental asset to the enjoyment of his maturity and old age.

He obliterates from his memory whatever there has been of petty grievance and fancied injustice toward him during the college course.

He sees the faults of his Alma Mater, but instead of growling about them he seeks some measure by which they can be remedied.

He recognizes the fact that his college must continue as a living institution in order to train young men for the big things of life. To be a living institution it must grow. It must look to its alumni for assistance in attaining its material growth. The Ideal Alumnus feels a pride in giving such assistance as his worldly means permit. At least, he gives his moral support to any movement which will assure the welfare of the institution.

He realizes that to be of the greatest service to the institution and to each other, the alumni must be effectively organized. He supports the Alumni Association by attending its meetings when possible, by paying the nominal dues, and by subscribing to its publications.

He lends his knowledge and judgment to the formulating of sound policies for the administration of the association and the college.

Finally, the Ideal Alumnus sees the need of interesting young men in securing an education. He knows the high quality of education which is offered at his Alma Mater, and so goes out of his way to urge ambitious youths to follow his footsteps.—(Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Journal, June, 1923.)

Awarded Medallions

ularly loyal to the College in returning for all alumni meetings and has taken an active part in the affairs of the Richmond Alumni Club.

Mr. Wager is another who has not been known to miss a meeting of the Alumni Association in many years. He is in the government service in Washington, and has long taken an interest in the College through the alumni club of Washington.

Rev. Long is the pastor of the Zion Episcopal Church in Philadelphia and though not a graduate of the College, he has always taken an interest in her affairs as well as in the club in Philadelphia. At the meeting of the Association in 1937, he made a very strong appeal to the alumni everywhere to forget their differences and to cooperate in an effort to help the College; particularly on the question of the percentage of men in the student body.

Mr. Robinson is principal of the James Madison School in Norfolk. He, too, has been interested in getting more men to come to the College, and has worked toward that end through the Alumni Club in his home town. Mr. Robinson is a member of Theta Delta Chi Fraternity and has given much of his time to helping his chapter by organizing its alumni.

'Judy' Brooks, son of Archie Brooks, '76, has interested himself in the athletic problems of the College, his most recent efforts being centered on a plan of cooperation among the alumni to bring promising men of athletic and scholastic ability to the College. He is an active participant in the activities of the Richmond Alumni Club.

Miss Barksdale, the fourth woman to be awarded the medallion, is a professor of physical education at the College. She has received a Master's degree from William and Mary and will shortly receive her Doctorate from New York University, having completed all her work but her dissertation.

Ancient Bell-Ringer Recalls Days "When"

Served College of William and Mary During Presidency of Col. Ewell—Memory "Hazy."

Malachi Gardiner—his age unknown and his memory "sorta hazy, boss"—rocked peacefully on the porch of his Nicholson Street home at the end of a soft spring day and painfully conjured memories practically forgotten by even the most reflective Williamsburger.

Malachi, who works each day on the grounds of a local institution, was a bit bashful about having his picture "took", and especially in his working clothes, but we soon had him so busy answering questions that he failed to notice even the click of the camera.

This interest in the old negro began back in November when J. P. Little, one of the oldest living alumni of the College of William and Mary, came back to be an honored guest at the Homecoming Day exercises, and asked to see "the old bell-ringer."

Of course, every one thought he meant Henry "Doc" Billups, who has hung up a world's record as the greatest-number-of-rings-artist of any college in the next fifty years he's been pulling the old bell rope in the Sir Christopher Wren Building. But it wasn't "Doc"—'twas Malachi who was remembered by Alumnus Little.

Ewell Family Retainer

Malachi grew up—and old—in the service of the Ewell family. His first duty was to ride the seat of the Colonel's carriage, to open the gates of the home in nearby James City County, or to run occasional errands. With increasing age came increasing duties and responsibilities, and it was a great day in life when he first drove the Colonel into town alone—a full fledged coachman.

The Colonel was kind, but some times he got on his "high horse" the old negro said, as he described him as being "bald and severe looking." Malachi stayed with the Ewell family until after the death of Mrs. Scott, the Colonel's daughter, and then went to work on his own, his pledge of allegiance to the Ewells fulfilled.

Malachi did his bell-ringing in the mid-eighties, back in the darkest days of William and Mary's long history when the college buildings were dark and deserted and only the spirit of Colonel Ewell kept even the name of William and Mary alive. A few students from Williamsburg attended the few classes still offered by the poverty stricken institution.

Ewell would drive in from the country, leave his carriage while Malachi "hitched up" and then mount the steps of old Sir Christopher Wren Building to ring the bell to call the faithful to class. George B. Coleman, a resident of the St. George Tucker house on Nicholson Street, remembers being one of the handful who attended the colonel's classes, and like Little, always speaks of Malachi as "the old bell-ringer."

It was Colonel Ewell and Malachi, who kept William and Mary open through those dark years, which were concluded for the two when Lyon G. Tyler became president in 1888, and Ewell, with his faithful coachman, retired to live in the country home near what is today called "Ewells", and which until recently was a station on the C. & O. railway.

Colonel Was Kind

Colonel Ewell was both "kind" and "severe" the old retainer said, as he described him. This may have been because the colonel was both a soldier and an educator, having graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1832, resigning from the army in 1836. During the War Between the States, the colonel served as commanding officer of the Thirty-second Virginia group and as adjutant general to Joseph E. Johnson, commanding the Department of Tennessee and Mississippi. He became president of William and Mary in 1854 and held this office until 1861, returning after the war with instructors and students who had given up their classes to serve their flag.

SPECIAL MEETING OF ALUMNI MANAGERS

The Board of Managers of the Alumni Association held its fourth special meeting of the session. Saturday, March 12th, in the Blue Room of the Wren Building. Dr. Sidney B. Hall, '20, president of the Association, presided, and every member of the Board was present.

Plans for Alumni Day, June 11, were discussed and formulated. Herbert Lee Bridges, '93, was chosen orator for the occasion and six other alumni were elected to receive the medallion.

Miss Cornelia S. Adair, '23, chairman of a committee to make recommendations for the co-ordination and creation of alumni clubs, made an extensive report but because of the importance of the project and the need for a well defined policy, the report was referred back to the committee with suggestions for future consideration.

A committee was appointed to search the by-laws of the Association to determine if there is a need for amendments before the by-laws are reprinted. Robert M. Newton, '16, was named chairman with Miss Adair and J. Malcolm Bridges, '25, serving with him on the committee.

The Board of Managers will hold its annual meeting Friday, June 10th, at four o'clock in the Blue Room, at which time reports for the annual meeting of the Association will be prepared.

While called to the campus for the Board meeting, four members brought prospective students with them, to interest them in coming to William and Mary. Joseph E. Healy brought six high school seniors from Norfolk; James S. Jenkins brought four men from North Carolina; Amos R. Koontz brought his nephew; and Miss Adair brought her niece. Most of the group were shown about the campus and entertained by the Athletic department.

Dr. Elliott to Deliver Cutler Lecture Here

remote control lines to the Richmond transmitter of WRNL during the hour from eleven until twelve.

In 1926, the late James Goad Cutler of Rochester, New York, established a trust fund for the benefit of the College of William and Mary in Virginia. Its purpose was to endow the John Marshall Professorship of Government and Citizenship in the Marshall-Wythe School of Government and Citizenship; to provide certain prizes for student essays; and to maintain a course of lectures on the Constitution of the United States. One lecture is delivered annually by an eminent authority on the subject. Mr. Cutler possessed an abiding faith in the American constitutional system, but felt that the popular understanding of the Constitution in all its phases is necessary for its continuance.

Alexander Wilbourne Weddel gave the lecture last spring speaking on "Some Analogies between the Constitution of the United States and That of Argentina". Other speakers have been: James M. Beck, George W. Wickersham, John Holladay Latane, Guy Despard Goff, William E. Dodd, Patrick J. Hurley, Newton Diehl Baker, and Ethelbert Warfield.

Baseball Season . . .

Clyde Haley, is being given a trial at first base and, although a good fielder, Oliver's hitting is none too healthy.

Coach Scrap Chandler's varsity and freshman track teams were scheduled to open their respective seasons here Saturday, March 26 against the Newport News Apprentice School and Thomas Jefferson high, of Richmond.

Hit hard by the loss of several sure point-winners in Walter Zable, Bill Murray, and ex-captain Al DeGutis, the Indian thin-clads look for their best showing in running events.

Some of the men who will compete this year include Lloyd Phillips, Jack Clare, Ray Dudley, and John Winston in the 100 and 220; Slaughter, Hayden, and Duke in the 440; Hudson in the 880, Captain George Roller and Peterson in the mile run, and Marsh and Alley in the two-mile.

In the field events will be Johnny Coiner, pole vaulter; Sam Walker, shot putter and discus thrower; and Vince Lusardi and Chet Lang, javelin throwers. Lloyd Phillips, a one-man freshman team last year, may double in field events.

For hurdlers Coach Chandler has Bob Rowland and Bud Herbst, both of whom ran the highs last year. Loss of Zable in the low hurdles deprived the Indians of last year's southern conference outdoor champion.

Spring football practice, originally scheduled to last throughout March, came to an abrupt end after two weeks of drills. Conflict of baseball and track forced Coach Branch Bocock to abandon the spring sessions to allow competition in other sports.

What results accrued from the brief drills were not immediately discernable, but the small squad went through their daily fundamentals and staged several intersquad scrimmages. About 30 men, including freshmen, were out for the drills.

Already toughened physically by a month of wrestling activities under the tutelage of freshman Coach Otis Douglas, the Indian footballers were ready for a scrimmage the first day out.

Signal sessions, designed chiefly to acquaint next year's sophomores with varsity plays, occupied much of the two-hour afternoon drills.

Conducting the spring practice were head coach Bocock, line coach John Kellison, and freshman coaches Otis Douglas and Joe Flickinger.

Elected President

Sarah Louise Hall, x-39, has been elected President of the Executive Council of the Women's Student Cooperative Government Association, for the session 1938-39. Miss Hall is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta and has been active in student organizations, having served on the Women's Honor Council during the present year.

Coach John Lewis and his Indian tennis team, looking longingly for warm weather, were rewarded last week with a burst of spring that brought almost mid-summer heat. They immediately took to the courts.

Only man missing from last year's team is Carl Mitson, ex-captain and No. 1 player. Back for another season are Bill Reynolds, Jimmy Ryder, Lorimer Walker, Sidney Jaffe, and John Teal.

William and Mary's newly organized golf team, first to officially represent the college since the sport was dropped in 1933, will open its season next Thursday, March 31 against Wake Forest.

Somewhat hampered by rainy weather for the past two weeks, the Indian divot-diggers have been practicing on the Yorktown course, where home matches will be staged.

No definite line-up has yet been established but it seems fairly certain that the six-man team will be drawn from Murphy, Farrington, Hornsby, Harlow, Newton, Cobb, Texido, and Parry.

For competitive practice, the varsity has engaged a freshman team in informal matches at the Yorktown course. Best men in practice matches have been Bill Murphy and Palmer Farrington.

Coach Tucker Jones' fencing team chalked up its sixth straight victory here last week with a 10-7 triumph over University of Maryland's swordsmen.

Hit hard by the loss of their ace man, Jimmy Stangarone, who left school after the first semester, the Indian fencers have nevertheless come along nicely and last weekend were entered in the Eastern Conference tournament at East Orange, N. J.

Winners in the Eastern meet will go to Chicago to battle winners in the Mid-West and Far West tournaments.

Making the East Orange trip were Henry Kibel, Paul Makler, Ed Ware, George Anner, and Nick Woodbridge. The Jonesmen have one more dual meet scheduled this season against the University of North Carolina.

series, talking from 3:45 to 4:30 on Tuesday, April 7th. On April 21, Mr. John S. Battle, Senator from Charlottesville, will speak on the work of the Virginia Advisory Legislative Council, and on May 5, Mr. Abram P. Staples, Attorney General, will talk concerning the work of his office.

Other programs, including a possible Good Friday music service from the Chapel, will be broadcast from time to time. The pick-up equipment, being entirely portable, makes it possible to broadcast any program of sufficient outside interest from points throughout the campus.

There is no cost to the College whatever connected with the broadcasts, the apparatus and telephone lines being owned and operated by WRNL and operation of the apparatus is done by a member of the station staff. The station transmits on a frequency of 880 KC, and is known as "The Station in the Middle of Your Dial."

It is expected that the arrangement will allow Alumni and friends of the College a chance to hear what is going on in Williamsburg at times when they cannot return to the campus, keeping alive associations with the College.
