WILLIAMSBURG INN WILLIAMSBURG LODGE

A cordial welcome and the true traditions of Virginia hospitality await students and alumni of the College of William and Mary at Williamsburg Inn and Lodge. You will find the wide variety of accommodations and facilities consistently reasonable and comfortable. Guest accommodations also are maintained at Market Square Tavern and Brick House Tavern as well as at the several colonial guest houses. Dining rooms at the Inn and Lodge offer distinctive cuisine. Coffee Shop at Williamsburg Lodge.

CHOWNING'S TAVERN

A reconstructed eighteenth century alehouse operated in the manner of colonial times. Beverages and light refreshments are featured on the old-style menu and served by waiters in colonial dress. On Duke of Gloucester Street, east of the Court House of 1770.

TRAVIS HOUSE

Midday and evening dinner prepared from old Southern recipes are served here in an eighteenth century atmosphere. Virginia Ham and Fried Chicken are featured. Opposite Palace Green.

All income derived from Williamsburg Inn and Lodge and its associated units is used to maintain and develop Colonial Williamsburg and to carry forward its educational program.

What to do . . .

. . . with these two columns has been a constant irritant to the editor since the magazine was started way back in October, 1938. For a while we started the first news story on this page . . . the Post Office stopped that by insisting that the "mast-head" go here. We tried notices and announcements . . . there were not enough to fill it. Then we asked the President to take over with two columns each issue "carte blanche." This became monotonous and a burden to the President. Next, we attempted to promote a "Letters to the Editor" column. Again, no luck. Alumni just wouldn't write in for or against anything. The last two issues found some personality sketches of "campus characters" which batted out some good-natured jabs at two well-known and admired professors. These proved popular but will not be available for every issue.

The editor has grown weary of racking that which, somewhat loosely, he calls his mind. He is going to adopt these two columns himself to comment, perhaps gratuitously, on a variety of subjects pertaining to the College. While the approach may sometimes be editorial in form, there will be an avoidance of the pontifical. Indeed, if and when the editor's various crusades essay an invincible sermon, that will be the time to find a new occupant for The Brafferton.

Great alterations. These columns are not the only changes being effected in the GAZETTE. The entire layout between the covers has been altered with an eye toward better readability. By departmentalizing under standard heads, eliminating continuations and including a greater number of small news items, it should make a more interesting magazine for, we hope, a greater number of alumni.

We were going to alter the cover too, until the judges of the American Alumni Council 1949 magazine contest suggested we not do it. Writes William Bentinck-Smith, Editor of the 1948 prize-winning Harvard Alumni Bulletin: "The judges were unanimous in thinking the ALUMNI GAZETTE of William and Mary had the best covers of all alumni magazines coming to their attention. They thought that they looked refreshingly original beside so many similarly designed covers at other institutions."

Mr. Bentinck-Smith added that the judges felt the GAZETTE fell down on its interior arrangement.

Out to beat Dartmouth. It isn't likely that the 32- or 40-page quarterly ALUMNI GAZETTE can take any prizes away from the 96-page Dartmouth Alumni Monthly which won the 1949 award . . . but it's certainly going to make an effort.

Fred Frechette, who has been contributing feature articles to almost every issue since his graduation in 1946, is now assistant editor and will continue to have a hand in each issue, though minus his usual by-lines. Cecy Cunningham, chief factotum in the outer office, will watch out for the alumnae angle to make sure the men in the front office don't overlook the fact that William and Mary IS coed.

So . . . we are off to a new year. Volume XVII it is! Like everything else, we suppose, the GAZETTE aspires to greater things. It wants to contain more news; have a larger circulation; and come out six rather than four times a year. It particularly would like to have a midsummer issue and some better sports coverage that would not be completely stale by the time it is published. Can we leave it to the reader's own dear imagination as to why we haven't yet done any of these things?

Recalcitrant alumnus. There was an alumnus in the office the other day who had been unlocated for a great many years and considerably aggravated with everybody because he hadn't had notice of his class reunion last June. He didn't know there was such a thing as the Society of Alumni, much less the ALUMNI GAZETTE. His case was not singular. Maybe we need a new advertising campaign! Maybe our present subscribers could do it!

Well, our faithful Richmond printer who, incidentally, is really responsible for the virtues of the GAZETTE, is on the phone with his quarterly "When in the h-- are you going to get the copy up here? We can't print your magazine unless you give us the copy." That is what we really need—a printer who won't be picayune about the copy.

We've taken two columns to talk about the GAZETTE. It's a favorite subject with us and here in The Brafferton we talk about it all the time. We'll get around to something else for the next issue.

THE COLLEGE

ADMINISTRATION

Prexy Reports

It is too bad that President Pomfret's annual report on the "State of the College" does not receive wider circulation, particularly to alumni whose interest in the inner working and ticking of the College is continuous. The current issue just released to the Board of Visitors and Faculty makes for good reading, not only because of the facts it reveals, but for the philosophy it expresses in the President's usual fine, terse English.

Alumni come in for some especial attention this year. It is a refreshing thing to find a college president who realizes that alumni loyalty springs from undergraduate experience and that colleges need good will more than money. Says the President: "The loyalty of alumni the country over arises principally from a satisfying undergraduate experience. It does not, by and large, depend upon games and circuses or other extraneous forms of excitement. True, many alumni have an abiding interest in athletics, the theater, the choir, the fraternity and sorority, and so on. However, the alumni annual gift-giving, which is at present dedicated to scholarships, the library, and faculty research, includes a surprisingly large number of undesigned gifts for general college purposes. In fine, it would seem that alumni loyalty stems principally from some affection for the institution as a whole. Non-alumni support, which at present is predominant, arises from an appreciation of the history and achievements of the College, coupled with a very real sentiment and interest in her welfare. Few of the non-alumni stalwarts know anything of the institution save what is gleaned from these reports, and, in some instances, from a slight personal contact. Their support, however, is continuous, unswerving and resolute. They deserve well of the College for they have butressed it through precarious years.

Amen! "Alumni support must rest upon other grounds. The interest of the teacher in the student and the interest of the teacher in the institution are here, as elsewhere, the factors that measure the difference between a loyal and an indifferent alumnus. What an institution needs most from its alumni is good will. Whether, in every case, this good will is translated into financial support is in the main immaterial. Experience has shown that in many cases it will be. I, for one, have never had any doubt concerning the support that will be forthcoming in future years from our alumni. It should not be forgotten that the most numerous group of our alumni is young in years, that most of them have spent precious years in the armed services, and that they are belatedly entering upon careers and raising families. Ten years hence they will find time to devote to the welfare of the College."

PRESIDENT POMFRET

What we need is good will.

Statistics Hmmm! There are some other significant affairs pointed out by the President. He observes that the last session will go down in our annals as the largest student body—a total enrollment of 2,047 and more than 550 graduating in February, June and August. The end of postwar crowding is in sight and five temporary men's dormitories have been dismantled. The faculty is stabilizing with only nine new appointments for the present term, compared with 49, 29, and 24 for the three previous years. The faculty is young: average age, 43. Full professors average 51; instructors 35.

Bad. The current financial situation is bad, with deficits during the past two years. The College cannot keep abreast of rising prices. The State appropriation has not increased, while with decreasing enrollments the revenues will diminish.

Good. The long-range financial picture is good. The College endowment passed the $2,000,000 mark for the first time. The standing debt was reduced by $50,500; by $500,000 since 1942. It now stands at $189,500. Mr. Pomfret has an ambition to see the College out of debt for the first time since 1693. What an ambition!

The faculty salary schedule has been raised again: minimum $2,880; maximum, $6,200; Chancellor professors, in time, may advance to $7,000. Salaries are not yet in schedule, but the College has been able to go approximately 80% of the way from the old to the new scale. The important thing is that the new salary scale compares favorably with that of any college in the country.

Gifts, bequests, and other unanticipated revenues for the year came to $193,000. The College tries to raise $100,000 each year through contributions. Alumni annual gift-giving is below par, but it will improve. This college owes much to its generous non-alumni friends.

Library acquisitions for the session were 5,800 volumes, thousands of manuscripts. Noteworthy is the fact that 56% of book acquisitions came via gift, exchange, and deposit. By actual count, friends of the Library presented 2,100 volumes during the year.

Greek hullabaloo past. The fraternity lodges have been constructed and are in operation. Chapter memberships are higher than ever before. Practically all fraternities are in sound financial condition. The Lodge Plan is so popular that one wonders about all the fuss and feathers of recent years. Five national fraternities are on the waiting list, hoping to establish chapters here when vacancies occur.

Everyone seems happy about the athletic program. Football and tennis teams made enviable records, but basketball, baseball, and track were close behind. Golf and swimming have been revived. Moreover, the Athletic Association finished in the black, thanks to excellent management.

The veterans are finishing up, fast. Last session there were 800; this session, only 400, principally seniors. Business administration junior-senior concentrators still lead by a wide margin, 220. Economics, chemistry, biology, jurisprudence, English literature, and psychology follow in order. These elections reflect the predominantly male enrollment; 1,400 men, 600 women.

Enrollment will decrease this September as deferred education comes to an end. The best guess is probably Dean Lambert's: 1,200 men and 650 women. The incoming class looks promising, on paper.

Fishes Forsaken

The College opened the session with a new top-drawer administrator in the person of Dr. Nelson Marshall, former fisheries head, named Dean of the College by the Board of Visitors on June 4. The announcement of Dr. Marshall's appointment to the position formerly held by Sharvy G. Umbeck, now President of Knox College, came as a complete surprise to all but a few in the College community. Rumors and speculation over Umbeck's successor were rife, but Marshall's name was noticeably absent from these.

NELSON MARSHALL

Surprise!

For the past two years, Marshall has headed the Virginia Fisheries Laboratory operated jointly by the State and the College, and where, according to President Pomfret, "Dr. Marshall has abundantly demonstrated his ability as an administrator and is highly regarded as a scientist and teacher." Born in Yonkers, New York, the new dean has been educated in the South, receiving his B.S. degree at Rollins College in 1937, and his Ph.D. at the University of Florida in 1941. He also took graduate work at Ohio State, and became an assistant professor at the University of Connecticut.

Marshall's research won him a fellowship to the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution during the summers of 1943 and 1944, and he worked with the University of Miami in 1946. In the latter position, he served with the marine laboratory and as a fisheries biologist, and with such success that he was called to the University of North Carolina as an associate professor in 1946. He was called to William and Mary in 1947 to head the Virginia Fisheries Laboratory, which was then a subdivision of the College's Biology Department and which is now a separate State agency, being sponsored by the Virginia Commission of Fisheries and the College. Dr. Marshall will continue to be associated with the laboratory and the research which it is carrying on and will retain his responsibility as director until the contracts for the new laboratory to be located at Yorktown are in order, and a new director is found.

A scholar as well as an administrator, Dr. Marshall has been the recipient of many honors and the author of many papers. He is a member of Phi Sigma and Sigma Xi, national honorary professional fraternities.

Job Swap

The Board of Visitors had more than one surprise (see above) resulting from its meeting on June 4. While naming a new administrator for the College, it also reorganized itself and elected a new rector. Alvan Herbert Foreman, '99Ba, Norfolk, rector of the Board since June, 1946, and a member of it since March, 1924, decided to resign the rectorship in favor of his long-time friend and associate, Oscar Lane Shewmake, '03Ba, Richmond, who had been vice-rector since 1946, and a member of the Board since 1940. He had previously served from 1919-1921. Mr. Foreman assumed the vice-rectorship again.

Mr. Shewmake has been serving William and Mary in various capacities intermittently since 1899, when he entered the College as a freshman. As a student, he engaged in debating, publications and athletics, and was president of his graduating class. He captained the football team two years and was editor of the old literary magazine.

After graduation, he taught at the College for two years, and then became Superintendent of Schools at Georgetown, South Carolina. He received the LL.B. degree from the University of Virginia in 1909, and commenced the practice of law in Surry County in partnership with the late James Gordon Bohannon, '02, and a former rector of the Board. He was elected commonwealth attorney in Surry in 1915.

He resigned his first service on the Board of Visitors in order to accept the chair of Constitutional History and Political Science at the College, which he held until June, 1923. Having previously served as general counsel for the State Corporation Commission, he returned to this position, but in a few months was appointed to membership on the Commission, a position he held for one year. Since that time, he has been the senior member of the law firm of Shewmake and Gary, of Richmond.

In 1911-12, and again in 1918-19, Mr. Shewmake was president of the Society of the Alumni. He gave the Alumni Oration in June, 1913, and received the Alumni Medallion in 1939. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Pi Kappa Alpha, and Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity. His present term on the Board expires in March, 1952.

And He Sleeps, Too

The invincible J. Wilfred Lambert, '27, has taken over another major College administrative post. The extensiveness of his various titles considerably outdistances his physical size though not his administrative ability.

When Kathleen Alsop, '25, began a year's leave of absence in July, 1948, Lambert, who already was dean of students and director of admissions, was appointed acting registrar. He had been an instructor and then assistant professor of psychology off and on since 1931. When Miss Alsop found that her health would not permit her to reassume the registrar's duties, Mr. Pomfret named him registrar and Miss Alsop became head of the Department of Secretarial Science.

Though a psychologist by training, Lambert has a mathematical mind in which facts and figures once planted are scarcely ever forgotten and this coupled with a remarkable facility for efficiency have made him a natural phenomenon for registrar. He had not been in the office very long before he placed an order for International Business Machine equipment, the installation of which has mechanized practically all operations in the maintenance of records and speeded up the services expected of the office. The equipment was installed in May, and records were transferred to the IBM pattern during the summer. Not the least of its accomplishments has been the operation whereby entering students have been registered for classes prior to their arrival at the College and the class rolls prepared for professors in advance of registration.

Lambert anticipates that all manner of College surveys may be accomplished through the IBM machine, and even looks forward to the day when alumni office records may be similarly tabulated. Jay Wilfred (Cy, Little Caesar, Little Napoleon) Lambert will now not only do the job of two men, but four. Dean of Students, Director of Admissions, Registrar, Associate Professor of Psychology.

In the afternoons he will probably serve on more College committees, faculty and student, than any other person on campus. His evenings have not yet been assigned.

Now, A Resident M.D.

The College's health facilities have been materially implemented in recent months with the employment of the first full-time physician to the College staff plus some extensive renovations to the College infirmary, accomplished and in prospect.

Dr. Gordon Keppel reported to the College after completing a residency at St. Luke's Hospital in San Francisco. He replaces Dr. Baxter I. Bell, who has served on a part-time basis for the past twelve years.

A graduate of Princeton, Dr. Keppel received an additional B.A. degree from Cambridge and the M.D. from Columbia University. He interned at Strong Memorial Hospital in Rochester, New York, and during World War II served with the 16th Medical Regiment and the 3d Ranger Battalion. He was captured at Anzio and spent sixteen months in a German P.O.W. camp where he was medical officer to American prisoners. Commissioned a first lieutenant, he was discharged from the service as a major.

The Longest Line

In an age when most colleges and universities are talking about the record size of their graduating classes, William and Mary, perhaps unfortunately, is no exception. When Vice Admiral J. Lesslie Hall, Jr. took his B.S. degree back in 1909, he was one of seven graduates. As commencement speaker forty years later, he had the unprecedented experience of speaking to 383 graduates who were, of course, the largest number in the history of the College. Most of these were veterans who have spent a good portion of their time during the past seven or eight years standing in one kind of a line or another. Their commencement was no exception. The line waiting to cross the commencement stage extended from the Wren Building past The Brafferton to the College gate. President Pomfret, an old hand at the business, got them across in record time.

Over 4,000 fathers, mothers, sisters, brothers, guests, and miscellaneous others crowded into the College Yard to witness this procession and to hear Admiral Hall tell them in the wisely chosen naval terminology, which he knew so well, what they might expect once they departed from ivy-clad life.

Intelligent living. "When a military leader is assigned a task which he must accomplish . . . it is known as his mission." Admiral Hall figured that the college graduate's mission is one of intelligent living and that "the onus of accomplishment is just as demanding as that on a military leader who has a mission. He dare not fail. His country demands that he succeed! You dare not fail to live intelligently! A world depends on you!"

Like father, like son. Not only the size of the class nor the number of spectators distinguished this commencement from others. It also saw a record number of law graduates (9) getting their degrees and the first commissions (13) bestowed by the College's ROTC Unit. It then saw Admiral Hall receive the honorary LL.D. degree, being the fifth man in the history of the College to receive the same degree which his father before him had received. Professor J. Lesslie Hall, Sr. received an LL.D. in 1921.

FACULTY

Mission For Humanity

Heading the United States government expedition to Liberia in search of raw material for the new wonder drug cortizone is John T. Baldwin, '32Bs, professor of biology at the College.

Sponsored jointly by the Public Health Service and the Department of Agriculture, the expedition is conducting a search for Strophanthus plants, collecting seeds and making cuttings in an effort to produce the drug which has proven highly successful in the treatment of rheumatic fever and arthritis. Dr. Baldwin was summoned secretly during July to take charge of the expedition.

Cortizone, already produced from ox bile, is not available in sufficient quantity to make clinical work possible. If cortizone can be synthesized from steroid compounds found in certain plants of the Strophanthus variety, the process will be much more economical and simple, and the cost much lower. Cattle must be killed before the original process can take place.

Dr. Erich Mosettig, research chemist of the National Institute of Health, is accompanying Dr. Baldwin on preliminary visits to London's Kew Gardens and to laboratories in Basel, Switzerland. Certain of the Strophanthus plants are under cultivation there.

May equal atomic energy. Oscar R. Ewing, federal security administrator, has stated that the discovery of cortizone and its development may be to biological chemistry what the discovery of atomic energy was to physics. He has also advised that the work has only begun to be explored.

Baldwin received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Virginia. He was chosen by the government to head the cortizone expedition not only because of his experience and skill in biology, but because of his familiarity with Liberia and plant life there.

During 1947 and 1948 Baldwin served as a member of a State Department Economic Mission to Liberia, formed for the purpose of making recommendations for the development of resources in that country. Baldwin's particular task as horticulturist was to evaluate the agricultural potentials of the area.

Previously, Baldwin had spent two years in the Amazon River Valley of South America, so exploration and study in tropical lands is no novelty.

Baldwin is expected to be gone for several months, and every effort is being made to develop the production of cortizone as rapidly as possible.

Prof Supplants Alumnus

Charles F. Marsh, head of the Department of Business Administration at the College and city councilman of Williamsburg, has been named coordinator-consultant to the Advisory Council on the Virginia Economy, and has been given a leave of absence from the College until September 1, 1950. He is taking over the work of Dean George Baskerville Zehmer, '16Bs, director of extension and dean of the summer school at the University of Virginia. Zehmer will continue with the Council in an advisory capacity.

"CHUCK" MARSH
A year off with pay.

The Council was created by Governor William M. Tuck, '19, two years ago with a pronounced purpose of stimulating and arousing State-wide interest and action in improving economic conditions. Objective of the Council is to ascertain why Virginia's per capita income is so far below that of other states, and to seek out ways in which the per capita income may be raised. The Council has thirty-two voluntary committees, and approximately two hundred and fifty members. It is non-political.

During Marsh's absence from the College, Hibbert D. Corey will serve as acting chairman of the department, and Marsh's courses will be offered by acting assistant professor Ralston D. Scott, who received his A.B. and A.M. degrees at the University of Pennsylvania and his Ph.D. from New York University.

On The Move

A college faculty is not supposed to be static. If a good portion of it is not constantly on the move, it may be tagged "stale"—the pinnacle of academic opprobrium. President Pomfret has referred to thirteen new permanent appointments made this year. These do not represent the majority of changes occurring.

William and Mary, having not yet reached the affluent stage where sabbatical leaves are available, grants just plain "leaves-of-absence" when the occasions demand. Most of them are for instructors working on advanced degrees. A few, having all the degrees they need, want some free time for research. The College wishes to encourage both.

Coming back. The opening of College in September found some instructors coming back for duty and others going out. Wayne Kernodle came back with his Ph.D. from the University of North Carolina just in time to fall heir to Sharvy Umbeck's job as head of the Sociology Department. Howard Marston Smith, '43Bs, came back after only six months at Syracuse where he completed his M.A. in physical education.

Archie Garnett Ryland returned too, after two years' absence, and has become head of the Modern Language Department, succeeding Pierre Macy who resigned.

Going Out. Leading the list of those "going out" this year is John Thomas Baldwin, '32Bs, (see above), professor of biology, who took a year's research leave in Liberia two years ago and has returned for another stint with the Department of Agriculture. Bruce McCully, associate professor of history, has a six months' leave for research. Carl A. (Pappy) Fehr, the College's famed choir director, is at Columbia University working on his doctorate.

Our own. Quite a group of William and Mary young graduates are going on the instructional staff this year. Louis J. Hoitsma, Thomas M. Mikula, and Brendan H. Macken, all of the Class of '48, have been assigned to the Physical Education Department. John Milton Hollis, '44Ba, and Wesley R. Cofer, Jr., '47Ba, both 1949 law graduates, have been named lecturers in jurisprudence. Five 1949 graduates have been appointed as follows: W. Warren Sprouse, Jr. (music); Ralph E. Alston (biology); Joseph A. Dunaway (physics); Stuart Ashman and John W. McCrary, Jr. (psychology). J. Neville McArthur, '44Ba, has been named instructor in Spanish.

THE SOCIETY

HOMECOMING

Stay-at-Homes Enfranchised

October 8th will auspiciously witness the first annual meeting of the Society of the Alumni to be held in the fall rather than at commencement, the first election of Alumni Directors by mail ballot, and the first Homecoming ever held so early in the season.

Ballots for the board election were mailed on September 6th to the alumni who held membership in the Society on September 1st. A total of 1,471 ballots were mailed. The names of six alumni appear on the first ballot, all nominated by the official nominating committee. No names were added by petition. Elizabeth Caroline Schmucker (Stubbs), '26, and Jay Wilfred Lambert, '27, are competing for the vacancy which must be filled by a resident of Williamsburg. The remaining two vacancies will be filled by two of the following: William Brooks George, '32, Richmond; Arthur Briggs Hanson, '39, Washington, D. C.; Charles Malcolm Sullivan, '42, Chicago; and Milton Greenblatt, '43, Waterbury, Connecticut.

Exit Geddy. The terms of Vernon M. Geddy, '17, Williamsburg, and Robert E. Henley, '06, Richmond, expire December 1st, and Geddy, after nine years' service, declined to be considered for renomination. Henley was ineligible. Greenblatt, the third member of the Board whose term expires, was renominated.

Ballots must be returned by midnight October 6th in order to be counted by the official tellers, non-alumni members of the faculty: Professors W. W. Woodbridge, Charles F. Marsh, and William G. Guy. The tellers will announce the results of the election at the annual meeting.

For those who come. The annual parade of student floats will commence at 9:30 in the morning. Weather permitting, the annual meeting of the Society, first to be held in the Lake Matoaka Theatre, will follow at 11:30. Routine business will be considered at the meeting, along with reports of officers and remarks from President Pomfret.

No alumni medallions are to be awarded this year.

Luncheon, including it is hoped, somewhat better fare than experienced a year ago, will be served alumni in the picnic area adjoining the Matoaka Theatre.

William and Mary plays V.M.I., a traditional Homecoming rival, at 2:30.

Fraternities and sororities will have "open house" following the game, and Williamsburg Lodge will provide a special supper for alumni, commencing at 6 P.M.

INTERMURAL

We Threw A Party

The American Alumni Council has held 34 national conferences. It held its largest in Williamsburg in July. Over 360 persons were in attendance to observe, among other things, some rehabilitated 18th century contributions to American life, and experience some 20th century humidity.

Alumni secretaries, fund directors, and magazine editors came from as far as the University of Washington, and UCLA, and as near as Richmond and Hampton Institute for their annual "seeking after the truth" on maintaining more efficient records of this nation's seven million alumni and to learn the latest methods for exacting a tribute from this host, i.e., the alumni fund to support the ever-increasing cost of ivy-clad higher education.

Witch hunts? President J. Lewis Morrill of the University of Minnesota keynoted the conference with a profoundly intelligent dissertation on the dangers of witch hunts now prevalent in some universities and colleges to scourge Communists and party liners, particularly from the teaching staffs. Citing the freedom at Harvard where left wing professors have not been fired and the University of Washington where they have, President Morrill drove down the middle of the road without revealing a positive stand of his own, thereby dismissing his audience to an evening of post-mortem argumentation, broken down into small gatherings throughout Williamsburg Inn and Lodge.

Judge Dorothy Kenyon, AAUW official and flamboyant advocate of women—their rights and everything else—and Ohio Wesleyan's new president, Arthur Sherwood Fleming, highlighted other meetings. William and Mary's own Pomfret and Geddy shared the role of host with such finesse and sparkling humor that the public relations cause of William and Mary reached a new high.

The Council concluded its three days of business sessions with its annual magazine award luncheon at which the ALUMNI GAZETTE received two honorable mentions.

After us, Harvard. Having tasted the hospitality of the country's second oldest college, the members packed their bags and voted unanimously to move on to Harvard for the 1950 session and then out to Colorado in 1951.

REUNIONS

Quid Pro Quo

Class reunions in the Princeton-Dartmouth-Cornell tradition are not to be realized merely by by-law amendments establishing the intention and the desire. Separate class tents sheltering beer kegs, together with distinctive class costuming, and taking over the campus and town for elaborate celebration may all be things to contemplate for the future.

A by-law amendment, however, did break up the traditional William and Mary class reunion by substituting something for nothing, and those experiencing the tradition shattering events on June 11, decided it was a good idea.

Waistlines predominant. Five classes were invited to return. Four of them arrived. The old-timers who had been out of college all of twenty-five years captured the spirit better than most and, following the leadership of secretary Jesse C. Phillips, cut quite a swath all over the campus, culminating in a banquet at Williamsburg Lodge, which made the Executive Secretary observe "at long last—this is it." Time has been pretty tolerant with the class of '24. While belts may have been let out a notch or two and girdles may be a size larger, the pep remaining and the enthusiasm to unload and exchange twenty-five years of gossip and information was remarkable. Lucy Mason Holt was probably the oldest member present at the reunion. In her student days, she was among those referred to as a "mature mind." Now, twenty-five years later, "Miss Lucy" still carries the same title, but has allowed her classmates to catch up with her, while she has outdistanced them in stamina and spirit. She could retire from teaching, but refuses to do so. There was certainly no evidence of any reason why she should.

Progressive dinner. While the class of '24, perhaps in keeping with its silver anniversary, was dining in style, the class of '34 was being less formal about its fifteenth reunion at a picnic luncheon in Matoaka Park. President Pomfret and the Executive Secretary, who were eating for free all day long, got through the entree and a few remarks at the Lodge; hustling out for dessert and a few more remarks with the class of '34. President O. C. Southern, who had made the long trek from St. Petersburg, Florida for the occasion, presided. Bob Land, who ran the reunion, thought to swell the attendance by inviting all faculty members still with the College who were teaching in 1934. A large delegation of these turned out, for which the class was thankful, not because it needed larger attendance, but because it gave them an opportunity to renew these friendships which, despite a lot of opinion to the contrary, are still the most binding link between the alumni and the College. The class elected Ruffin Winfree, Richmond, as its new secretary.

Following the afternoon band concert and President's reception for graduates and their families and after a quick change of clothes, the President and Secretary started out again at six o'clock for two more reunions. The class of '44 staged its fifth anniversary reunion in Matoaka Park with a picnic supper and disposed of some good food arranged for by Ricki Goldberg (Jacobson). Class president Prickett Carter (Saunders) presented President Pomfret with a class gift to the College in the form of a check to be used for such purposes as the President desired. Having disposed of its first reunion, the class prevailed upon Marge Retzke to take over the class secretaryship relinquished by Lebe Seay (Gray) after five years of distinguished service.

Alumni like it too. The famed Chowning's Tavern has been a haven for students ever since its opening before the war. The class of '29 was the first alumni group to utilize its delightful facilities for a reunion. John Lewis and Max Lanier, local members of the class, entertained the group for cocktails preceding the supper served in the garden. Eddie Justis, president of the class, coming face to face with the spontaneous enthusiasm for the first reunion the class had ever had, even though it had been out of College twenty years, immediately inaugurated plans for a bang-up silver anniversary reunion five years hence.

Pleased, but not complacent. The President and Secretary, somewhat gorged after two luncheons and two suppers within six hours, concluded Alumni Day with a "well fed" conviction that William and Mary's first attempt at class reunions needs a good deal of embellishment in future years by way of greater provision for programming throughout the day. The idea itself of having separate class reunions uninterrupted by business meetings, alumni luncheons, and orations is exactly what the alumni want, and tangentially, what the College needs.

FINANCES

It's The Fashion

While the incurring of annual deficits has become established practice with some organizations, i.e., the Federal government, and the College itself having become unavoidably a victim of deficit financing during the past two years, the Alumni Society Board of Directors has been wringing its hands over the one it fell heir to on June 30th.

For the first time in at least fifteen years, the Society closed its fiscal year with fewer dollars in the bank than it had twelve months before.

A deficit of $822.82 is probably not alarming, but those having custody of Society funds hated to break its tradition of not only breaking even each year, but usually showing a slight surplus.

The Board of Directors took a deadeye sight at the unbudgeted $1875 appropriation for the renovation of The Brafferton following the removal of the Alumni Office in August, 1948, and concluded that as between the choice of incurring the deficit or forfeiting the new quarters, their constituents would probably approve their first (and, they hope, last) splurge into deficit financing.

Some have to. There are probably not a dozen members of the Society who read the financial statement published each October as required by law. Nine members of the Board of Directors not only read it but study it carefully twice a year—once when it is submitted by the Executive Secretary, and again when it has been audited. The President of the College gives it a jaundiced eye each year too in view of the College subsidy now approximating $9,000 a year. A $15,000 a year budget ought to be observed by somebody, if for no other reason than to see if the value received is worth it.

THE INDIANS

We'll Still Take McCray

Graying Rube McCray, a giant of a man with a Gary Cooper profile, can point to a football coaching record as brilliant as any in the business. In five years as head man at William and Mary, and for 10 years at Tennessee Wesleyan, he has never had a losing season, and there have been more than twice as many victories as defeats.

MIKULA, CAUGHRON, HOITSMA

Clean living, studious, respectable . . . tough!

He's brought fame and fortune to the Reservation in the postwar grid boom, as well as two bowl bids (Dixie in '48, Delta in '49) and a Southern conference championship. And he's done it at a fraction of the expense incurred by teams with similar records.

This year he's arranged a ten-game schedule that will test the mettle of player and coach. Pittsburgh and Michigan State, giants of the Midwest; North Carolina and Wake Forest, pride of the Southern conference; feared Arkansas in the Southwest . . . all of these had the power, in preseason ratings, to knock off McCray's 46-man squad which was smallest in the Southern conference.

So much for so little. But the mettle of the player and the coach are William and Mary's forte. In a confidential mood, McCray might tell you he's more proud of the product than the record. He can't bring all promising freshmen with even more promising cash, so he goes after quality. And the quality pays off.

The payoff is most significant this year on the William and Mary staff. McCray has been planning that staff for a long time, and when North Carolina's Carl Snavelly lured W & M's Marvin Bass, so that the Tarheel lines could gain the same savvy that Bass had instilled in Indian walls he could match the move with home-he's taught. They stand up well in comparison.

Only soft-spoken, drawing Red Caughron is married, though all three are veterans of the past war. Pretty Cathy Caughron worked three years while her husband played ball and studied; she saw that he hit the books, too, and rose from a borderline student as a freshman to a B plus average in postwar days.

Handsome Lou Hoitsma and Tom Mikula, both heartthrobs of fluttery coeds in the past, look like the best targets for feminine objectives in sight.

TENNIS

We'll Miss Sharvy

William and Mary will miss the Doctor, and most folk think the nation will continue to hear a lot about him.

When Sharvy Umbeck accepted the presidency of Knox College it was another rocket on a meteoric career that promised to go on forever. As professor and dean at William and Mary, he had proved capable and popular. As tennis coach, of necessity a sidelight, he had created the greatest net power in the history of the collegiate sport, winning two national championships and running a victory string to 74, longest ever compiled by a college athletic team.

His teams have rolled up 15 points toward the Garland Bowl, national team trophy, and that's good enough to lead UCLA, Miami, San Francisco, and the rest of the nation. In June three of his boys, Fred Kovaleski, Howe Atwater and Jim Macken, carried the Indians' hopes into the NCAA tourney at Austin, Texas. Kovaleski reached the semifinals before Sam Match of San Francisco knocked him over. Match and teammate Art Larsen won the team title for their college.

There was no shame for William and Mary. They still have the best record, and have demonstrated complete dominance over arch-rival North Carolina in the Southern conference. The Tarheels, whose 68-match streak was broken by W. and M., faced Umbeck's men in the last match of the season, and the conference championship rested on it. Kovaleski whipped Vic Seixas, and the team went on to win, 8-1.

Macken should know how. Umbeck can't be replaced, but Brendan Macken should have plenty of similarity as a tennis coach. The 1948 graduate, unbeaten in 28 matches as a player, has been a Canamade products.

Home-grown. Joining Tom Power as line coach is Harry "Red" Caughron, varsity tackle for the past three years, and co-captain in 1948. His fellow captain, end Lou Hoitsma, was signed as freshman head coach and varsity track coach, and 1948 grad Tom Mikula brought back to assist in backfield coaching. This trio represents the finest in American college athletes, and the type that Rube McCray and William and Mary would enroll and produce.

All are clean-living, hard-training and respected. All were campus leaders, Mikula and Hoitsma being ODK. All made Dean's List as students, and all either have, or will soon have a Master's Degree in Physical Education. While most coaches try to surround themselves with battle-scarred veterans of many campaign years, McCray is stringing along with boys dian Davis Cupper for the past two years. He won't have Kovaleski, Bob Galloway, brother Jim or Huck Cole back from the '49 outfit, but he will have Howe Atwater, Dick Randall, Bill Ozenberger, Lyman Chennault and a hot freshman crew.

BASEBALL

Shortstops And Long Hits

Under the guidance of old pro Lefty Rogers, the William and Mary baseball team won 16, lost but eight. Until Richmond clubbed them, 15-0, in the last conference game, they might have been headed for intersectional honors.

Shortstop Tommy Korczowski was the big noise. He made all-state for the fourth straight year, and captured a berth on the All-Southern team. Then he dickered with a half dozen pro clubs before joining the New York Giants for a fat bonus. In late August he was swatting well over .300, and poling long balls in typical Giant fashion.

Another William and Mary athlete of distinction, football coach Eric Tipton, had his best year yet with the AAA American Association St. Paul club. He, too, was a .300 plus batter, and might be helping the parent Brooklyn club out in 1950, despite his nonapparent lack of youth.

The Elusive Twenty

As we went to press, Vic Raschi, '49, had not become a twenty-game winner. The Yankee pitcher had run into the same trouble he experienced last year. The first fifteen victories came easily, then he lost his winning magic.

TRACK

New Marks For The Stadium

William and Mary's 1949 track record wasn't too much to brag about in the won-lost column. The Indians rolled over Richmond and the Apprentice school, gave VMI a tough match, and made a creditable showing in the Big Six meet; but they didn't have balanced strength.

Some individuals, on the other hand, were outstanding. Sam Lindsay, unimpressive in form and speed, had endurance and condition. He ran the mile in 4:24, good enough to win most dual meets, though he finished third in the conference run. Giant Lou Creekmur arched his 230 pounds and looped the 16-pound shot 49'2" for first place in the Big Six meet and a new school, stadium and state record.

Both return for the 1950 season.

THE ALUMNI

MEDICINE

Family Doctor

The boy from Mathews County grew up to be a doctor, and for fifty years he has been a doctor, fifty years a general practitioner. When he first went to West Virginia to practice, in 1899, fees for an office visit were a dollar; a house call came a little higher . . . $1.50. Babies? ten or fifteen dollars; perhaps, just as now, nothing. His bicycle and buggy carried him on his calls in the early years, later, a Model T.

Edwin A. Davis, M.D., typifies the kind of man who has made the medical profession esteemed and honored by people everywhere. Not a high-priced specialist, merely a g. p., he has never attained the affluence which would let him winter in Florida and summer in Maine . . . nor would he want to, had he the chance. In his own words, he "started out poor and never did change much." His wealth lies in his home, his family, his myriad friends, his thousands of acts of mercy, and the countless children he has ushered into life.

Transplanted Virginian. Born in Mathews County, October 29, 1877, Dr.

Davis came to William and Mary in the fall of 1894, remaining two years before entering the Medical College of Virginia, whence he obtained his M.D. in 1899. Securing a position as company physician in the mining town of Mammoth, West Virginia, a few months later, he resided there for seven years before moving to Charleston. He has been there ever since and is still actively engaged in practice.

At present he is associate member of the medical department of the Charleston General Hospital and coordinator of the medical clinic of that institution. He is a member of the Kanawha County Medical Society, West Virginia State Medical Association, American Medical Association, and a Fellow of the American Academy of General Practice.

Fishing under handicap. Although he has been forced to give up hunting, he still continues to tend his garden and to fish, though as he says, "it takes someone with a strong desire and deep-seated instinct for fishing to carry on in the face of the present polluted and contaminated condition [of most of the streams and rivers]."

A veteran of the "horse and buggy"

It takes a strong desire and deep-seated instinct . . .

era, Dr. Davis is not sentimental about the past . . . there are many things about it to which he is not eager to return. He is happy as things are. His ambition has been fulfilled, even though he would never admit it. As he puts it, all he ever wanted in life was to "live in the house by the side of the road and be a friend to man."

Congratulations, friend!

Specialist

A doctor doesn't have to be a general practitioner to be a human being and great in the eyes of his fellows. Some doctors, true scientists, have contributed so much with their findings and teachings that the world literally beats a path to their door. Such a man is Dr. Claude C. Coleman, '98, and last May 30th the world beat a path to his door. The esteem and affection in which he is held by his contemporaries were vividly demonstrated on that occasion.

The occasion was a testimonial dinner given in his honor in Richmond. In tribute to his years as a member of the faculty of the Medical College of Virginia, in tribute to the contributions he has made in the field of neurosurgery, and in tribute to his position as the outstanding neurosurgeon in the South . . . if not in the country, a distinguished group of men met at the John Marshall to pay him homage. Outstanding neurosurgeons, former pupils of his, came from as far as California and the Mayo Clinic in Minnesota to join Senator A. Willis Robertson, Mayor W. Stirling King of Richmond, John E. Pomfret, Dr. W. E. Sanger, president of the Medical College of Virginia, and Dr. Winchell McK. Craig, director of the department of neurosurgery at the Mayo Clinic, in rendering to him the acclaim which his lifework has earned him.

Pioneer in brain surgery. A native of Caroline County, Dr. Coleman left William and Mary in 1898 and graduated from the Medical College of Virginia in 1903. After studying at Polyclinic Hospital in New York City, he practiced general surgery in Richmond, beginning to specialize in neurosurgery in 1915, when the science was in its infancy. During the first World War he served as chief of the school of brain surgery at Fort Oglethorpe. He founded the school of neurosurgery at MCV in 1919 and became professor of neurosurgery in 1924 and head surgeon of that division. In the recent war, he acted as civilian consultant in neurological surgery to the surgeon general.

EDUCATION

Boys From The Sticks

From all over the State they came; Albemarle, Spotsylvania, Charles City, Elizabeth City, King & Queen, King William, every county was represented at some time or other. Eager youths, most of them fresh from the farms, they came to William and Mary because of the Commonwealth's scholarship system. From the reopening of the College in 1888 until comparatively recent years, these farm boys annually composed a very large portion of the student body.

There were the scoffers, too. Among the "paying" students there were always those who looked down their noses at the unpolished Virginians. In the House of Delegates, penny-wise, pound-foolish legislators pecked away at the program. But there were more who liked the scheme which put so many boys through college. In return for helping them with their education, the State was receiving a steady, if not large, stream of intelligent, well-trained teachers for its dilapidated and depleted public school system. The students who came to William and Mary under this plan had to promise to spend two years as teachers to repay the Commonwealth for its help.

The tree bears fruit. Now, with Virginia in the throes of an intensive drive to raise the standards of its public school system, this emphasis on training teachers, of two and three decades ago, is beginning to bear fruit. Enough of the two-year teachers made education their lifework to give the state a large nucleus of experienced, intelligent men. It is upon the shoulders of these country boys, who in return for an education have devoted their lives to one of the most underpaid, underestimated, and underprivileged of professions . . . teaching . . . that the burden will be carried.

An index of the large share that William and Mary will play in the battle to improve State education is the fact that, with recent appointments, the number of William and Mary alumni who hold school supervisors positions in the State public school system has jumped to over thirty, with more being added each year. In addition, in two key posts in the hierarchy are William and Mary men, Blake Tyler Newton, '11Ba, chairman of the State Board of Education and Davis Y. Paschall, '32Ba, recently appointed State Director of Elementary Education.

The following is a list of William and Mary alumni who hold posts as county or divisional superintendents:

POLITICS

Legislator by Accident

When, on May 28, 1918, a special convention of the Democratic Party was held for the First Congressional District of Virginia in Newport News to nominate a successor to Representative Walter Jones

(who died in office), S. Otis Bland, '92, was merely a delegate. He was not among the candidates and, as far as is known, was not even considered until, on the eightieth ballot, with the convention hopelessly deadlocked, his name was put in nomination by a delegate from Mathews County. On the 82nd ballot, the Newport News lawyer, unsung politically, was elected Democratic candidate from the First District of Virginia to the Congress of the United States. Since that time, he has continuously represented his district, and in all elections after August, 1918 he has been unopposed . . . a tribute to the faith placed in him by his constituency.

First, last, and always. Now, with 31 years' service in the House of Representatives behind him, Otis Bland has announced that when his present term of office expires in January, 1951, he will not be a candidate for reelection. He will retire, instead, to his home, in Newport News, on the bank of the James River. There, on the water front, he can be continuously reminded of one of his outstanding interests, the Merchant Marine.

During his years of service on the House Merchant Marine Committee, he helped pass such laws as:

The Merchant Marine Act of 1936.

The Marine War Risk Insurance Act.

The Requisitioning Act, which authorized the government to seize foreign ships caught in American Ports by the War.

Acts promoting the safety of life and property at sea.

Legislation which improved the status of seamen.

Also, in the early days of radio, Bland's committee dealt with legislation concerning the then new medium of communication.

A misnomer. Today's Congressman has a much harder life than those of Bland's first years in Congress, he says. "A Congressman now is subjected more to pressure groups," he explains. "We must watch like a hawk to learn their ultimate objective . . . if it is in the public good or is entirely selfish."

S. Otis Bland was born in Gloucester County and, after attending William and Mary, studied law at the University of Virginia, starting in the practice of law in Newport News in 1900. Although he has never served as a judge, he is frequently addressed as "Judge" Bland. His explanation of the title is that "it is a Capitol Hill tradition to call good-looking Congressmen Colonel and ugly Congressmen Judge."

You Can't Always Win

Virginia politics may not be the best field for William and Mary alumni to enter. Aspirants to politically elective office might also say that if the people would give them a chance by trying them in office it might just prove that there is a new crop of Jeffersons, Tylers, and Monroes waiting around.

The Democratic primary in August found an increasing number of William and Mary men on the ballots, particularly for the State House of Delegates. Only two of them won: W. Tayloe Murphy, '21, Warsaw, and Paul Crockett (S), Yorktown. Down to defeat went William Latane Lewis Smoot, '10, Millers Tavern; James Edgar Pointer, Jr., '43Bs-49L, Gloucester; S. Ashton Ozlin, '28Ba, Kenbridge; J. Leon Codd, '94, an incumbent from Portsmouth; and Israel Steingold, '25, making his first bid in Richmond.

Even two candidates for City Sergeant: Lawrence Oliver in Suffolk and Owen E. Kahn in Richmond did not make the grade.

Russell A. (Rip) Collins, famous College cheerleader in the early '30s, made a bid for Commonwealth Attorney of Newport News, but didn't do so well.

Strange Virginians. Over in the Republican Primary—something new in Virginia—William and Mary men did a little better. As a matter of fact, the only contest on the Republican State-wide ballot was for Lieutenant-Governor of Virginia, and E. Thomas McGuire, Petersburg, a law student at the College, won this nomination. Lyman Gilbert Vann, '39, also won a Republican nomination for a House of Delegates seat from Norfolk.

If William and Mary men do not do well in State-wide contests, they make up for it locally on city councils and they are pretty popular as mayors. The city governments of Richmond, Williamsburg, Newport News, Hampton, Norfolk, and Crewe, to mention a few, are headed by alumni, and some of them won't resign unless there is an alumnus to succeed them. The last three mayors of Hampton were all at William and Mary at one time or another.

You Can Always Try

Blake Tyler Newton, '11Ba-41M, is not an alumnus to become discouraged by the lack of political success of his fellow alumni. He has announced his candidacy for Congress from the First District of Virginia. Upon his success depends the College's sole representation in the Federal Congress. The only William and Mary man there today is Schuyler Otis Bland, '92, Newport News, and he has announced that he will retire at the end of his present term. It is his seat which Blake Newton wants.

Probably no alumnus in the State is better known excepting Governor William M. Tuck, nor are there any who are more popular. "Pappy" Newton has made a career of public service. It has been a distinguished one.

Born and still living at "Linden" near Hague, he has been and is a farmer, banker, lawyer, churchman, and school administrator. He became division superintendent of schools of Richmond and

BLAKE NEWTON

Westmoreland counties in 1913; was named to the State Board of Education in 1937 and elected president of it in 1946.

He earned two degrees at William and Mary. He sent his two sons to the College, one of whom, Blake T., Jr., also received two degrees.

If Blake Newton is successful in his bid for election to Congress, his alma mater will certainly share in or even steal part of the glory and be proud of it.

WOMEN

Ambidextrous

Blending motherhood with a career has presented no problem for Rhoda Elizabeth Pratt (Hanson), '33Ba, of Miles City, Montana. Recently, she won the 1949 Vassar Summer Scholarship offered annually to an AAUW member and, in making application, stated she wished to attend the institute in order "to be better able to help mothers to help themselves, and by helping themselves to help their children."

While most William and Mary women seem to sacrifice careers in the interest of marriage and the home, Rhoda Hanson's activities may well have placed her near the top of that small group informally designated as "William and Mary's most distinguished women graduates." She is not doing too badly as a mother either. She has four children.

MRS. HANSON

Mrs. Hanson is an insurance underwriter and a successful one. The Western Life Insurance Company brackets her with its top agents who are producing at the rate of $100,000 a year or upwards, and, of the company's forty-three agents who are in this capacity, she is the only woman. But, insurance is not her only profession. She is also a newspaperwoman, being correspondent for the Billings Gazette, and the Great Falls Tribune, and writes special features for the Denver Post.

There must be a woman. For the past three years, she has been state publicity chairman for the AAUW and is slated to be president of the Miles City branch next year. An advocate of women in public office, Mrs. Hanson worked on committees which were instrumental in getting the first woman member on the city council, women on both school boards, county and city; and a woman from the branch on the Montana State Board of Education. She helped to organize a kindergarten in Miles City and, in addition, is a member of business and professional women's clubs, the Miles City Woman's Club, Women of the Moose, and serves on recreational boards for the Cub Scouts and the Red Cross.

The award to Vassar which she won is given each year to an AAUW member who is "especially interested in childhood and family life and who is giving and will continue to give AAUW leadership in this area of education."

Mrs. Hanson came to William and Mary from her native Massachusetts and spent her junior year at the Sorbonne where she received a certificat dans les cours de civilisation.

Movies and Moppets

Campus literary lights find an outlet for their talents on one of the several publications, notably the Royalist, but the lights are frequently dimmed or extinguished after graduation in the face of greater competition. Not so with Elise Leidheiser, '46, who has operated under the pen name "Elizabeth Nichols," and is officially Mrs. Ralph Martin Gibbs. She has conquered her competition and moved on from the Editorship of the Royalist to become Assistant Motion Picture Editor of Parents Magazine.

Editorially speaking, Mrs. Gibbs is quite talented. Until a few weeks ago, she was also Assistant Radio Editor for Parents Institute Incorporated, which publishes the magazine, and was responsible for getting out two radio scripts each week on child care and training subjects. The scripts have been discontinued and she has now taken over the Movie Editorship of Calling All Girls magazine where she has used her pen name. This magazine is soon to be published under the new name Prom. The same corporation publishes a juvenile publication, for girls aged 10 to 14, Polly Pigtales magazine, and she is Movie Editor for it.

Reviewing as many as three screenings a day of films which will not be released to the public for several months, Mrs. Gibbs prepares magazine copy and layouts for advance publication. Her reviews rate films for children, young people, and adults, attempting to warn parents of objectionable sequences and to help them select outstanding films.

People doing the same work for legiti-mate plays call themselves critics, but Mrs. Gibbs is a Reviewer and frequently intersperses her work by doing personality pieces on interesting incidents in a movie star's life.

The job is not entirely Utopian. A run of inferior westerns can produce saddle sores for the reviewer. Mrs. Gibbs reviews a picture so far in advance of its first showing that by the time it reaches her local theater she has forgotten all about it and can see it for pleasure with her husband.

sequent death of her father provided her with responsibilities which she had not anticipated, but which she has assumed with telling success.

Turning down her first inclination to sell the business, she became president of it, and is now operating it as a commission house dealing in the selling of carpet wool, most of which comes from China, Argentina, the Near East and the British Isles, and is sold to eight large carpet mills and dealers in Philadelphia, who in turn supply the smaller spinning mills in the area. She describes the business as being "exceedingly small trade, very steeped in tradition and quite clicky." In holding down the New York office, she maintains the contacts with foreign sources and negotiates the contracts. She figures to operate the business for three years when she thinks she will have had enough professional life.

MISCELLANY

Classified Success

"In Philadelphia nearly everybody reads the Bulletin"—including, we presume, the classified advertising section, now managed by William Francis Carr, '34.

Carr had a short one-year career at William and Mary at the start of the depression, and moved on to the Lewis Hotel Training School in Washington for a year, only to find that hotels were in the depression too, and not then looking for prospective assistant managers. Bill went back home to Cincinnati. It was a case of "any port in a storm," and he took a job with the Cincinnati Post as a classified salesman in 1933. The business manager of the paper was so impressed with his ability that within a year he made him his secretary, and in 1936 when the business manager moved over to the Cincinnati Enquirer, he took Carr with him. In 1940 he was assigned to the retail advertising department of the Enquirer.

He became head of the classified department of the Enquirer in 1945, and during his four-year tenure saw the Enquirer advance from third to first place in classified advertising among the three Cincinnati newspapers.

Now, Carr has moved on to greener pastures in the Quaker City where he has been appointed to a similar position with the Philadelphia Bulletin, the largest afternoon newspaper in the United States.

Carr is a past director of the Cincinnati Junior Chamber of Commerce and was a member of the Cincinnati Advertisers Club and Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Managers.

Pegs and Holes

When Richmond City Manager Reeder recently announced the appointment of John A. Mapp, '35, to the position of head of the City Department of Personnel, it marked a milestone in the latter's career. For ten years director of the Virginia Consultation service, he has had a great deal of training in the field of personnel; especially in the adaptability of people to particular jobs . . . the square peg, square hole—round peg, round hole sort of thing. Heretofore, however, he had only advisory powers. Now he's boss man for personnel in Virginia's capital city.

Job counseling, which has been John Mapp's work almost since he left William and Mary, is a relatively new branch of the field of psychology. In a nutshell, it consists of determining, through testing and interviewing, what a person is most suited to do. Through the years, a set of about 400 preference questions (example: Are you better at handling horses, giving first aid, raising flowers, or arguing?) has been evolved which, when combined with an intelligent interview, can pretty much determine which kind of a hole the subject "peg" best fits.

Now, graduated from his "advisory" post with the Virginia Consultation Service, John Mapp, one of the pioneers in this highly specialized type of work, will be in a position to apply his theories in actual practice. It's a stride ahead.

The Glory's Glory

"I'm a marrying man, made manifest and sanctified down to the ground. . . . I spet a charge of Virginia 'baccer juice slam in his eyes. . . . I give him the quietus. . ." With these choice pieces of prose, and others equally choice, Cephus Sicklemore stole the show for the third straight season. Cephus is the well-known comedian in Paul Green's symphonic drama The Common Glory which had another successful run in the Lake Matoka Theater.

Whether a quasi-historical performance should allow the comedian to supersede the principal character, i.e., Thomas Jefferson, in the minds and memories of the audience may be debatable. The vast majority of some 80,000 people who witness the show each summer do not find it objectionable. Somehow, the impression gets abroad that without Cephus there would not be the 80,000. There is a further impression that without Joe Buchanan there might not even be a Cephus.

After removing his make-up and false stomach at the end of the Labor Day performance, Cephus, for the next ten months, became Joseph Windley Buchanan, Jr., Berkeley Divinity School student.

A difficult decision. When Joe took his B.A. degree at the College a year ago, unlike some, he had no trouble making up his mind about his choice of profession. He knew exactly what he wanted—the stage or the ministry. He has followed both ever since. Some day he may become a bishop of the Episcopal Church or he may be on Broadway. It is too bad that he must choose one at the expense of the other.

The All-Stars

At the All-Star-Eagle grid contest in Chicago in August, William and Mary was represented by Tommy Thompson on the Stars and Otis Douglas and J. D. Kellison, assistant coach, on the pro's.

THE CLASSES

1899 Oliver P. Chitwood, retired professor of history at the University of West Virginia, is now back in harness as visiting professor at John B. Stetson University, DeLand, Florida.

1909 David Daniel Sizer, unlocated for years, has been in Virginia all the time and is an agricultural instructor at the Brookville High School, near Lynchburg.

1911 Harry Evan Trimble, after 33 years of Government service, has retired to the County Hospital, Santa Cruz, California, where he is a resident physician.

1915 John Waller Rixey Smith, executive assistant to the late Senator Carter Glass, was recently named president of the Woodlawn Public Foundation, Inc., an organization created to purchase and maintain as a public shrine the estate that George Washington built for his adopted daughter, Nellie Custis. He is also president of the Virginia Society in Washington, D. C.

1916 The Virginia State Dental Association has elected Dr. Leon J. Walton, Roanoke, as its president for the current year.

1923 Dr. James Brooke Pettis, superintendent of Western State Hospital, Staunton, has been elected president of the Neuro-Psychiatric Society of Virginia.

Captain Otho P. Smoot, USN, has been named chief of staff to the commander of the naval operating base, Bermuda, B.W.I. He had been commanding officer of the Naval Air Station, Squantum, Massachusetts.

1924 Secretary,
J. C. PHILLIPS
Box 188, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

The class of '24 had its 25th reunion in Williamsburg in June. Many familiar faces could be seen, and following is news that was gathered.

Ramon Andrews, Richmond, married, 2 sons, and handsome as ever. Ida May Butcher, Richmond, school teacher, retired. Lucy Mason Holt, Norfolk, school teacher, refused to retire. Both of these "mature minds" were present, well and delightful. "Scrap" Chandler, Norfolk, athletic director at Norfolk Division of College, married, a little gray, but just as lean. Lawrence Dickerson, Spartanburg, S. C., school superintendent. He and his wife were also attending the graduation of their son in the class of '49. Ted Dalton, Radford, Attorney, State Senator, married, one boy who will enter the College this Fall. Ted served on the Alumni Board and never misses a chance to boost William and Mary. Eloise Davis, Miles Store. Elizabeth DeShazo (Whitlock), Catonsville, Md., whose daughter will enter the College this Fall.

Frances Gibbons is secretary of information at the American Gas Association in New York City. Except for a few becoming strands of gray, Frances looks like June, 1924. Talmadge Foster, Waverly. Helen Graham, Williamsburg, school teacher. Josephine Gray, Saluda. Hallie Hootman, Ashland, school teacher. Edward Johnson, Arlington, married, attorney, former chief justice of Samoan Supreme Court, now legal adviser for SEC. Margaret Jeter (Burruss), Richmond, school teacher. Walter Kenney, Gloucester Point, recently retired as superintendent of schools. Ocie Fleet Jones, Lynchburg. Carlton Holladay, Wakefield, attorney.

Reginal "Duke" Kenney, Chatham, English professor, married, three daughters, and unchanged—the one and only. Ruth Kline, Richmond, school teacher. Roy Kyle, Hillsville, school superintendent. Clyde Kyle, Orange, school superintendent . . . they grow 'em tall and handsome in Southwest Virginia. Mary Lohman (Perrot), Portsmouth, charming and attractive with white hair. James Herbert Moss, Auburn, Alabama, math professor. O. F. "Hawk" Northington and Etta Belle Walker were married right after graduation. Hawk is an archeologist for the U. S. Park Service and is superintendent of Fredericksburg National Park. Etta Belle is very active in state politics and is an authority on antiques. Billy Person, married, three children, automobile agency in Williamsburg. Carroll Quaintance, Cranford, New Jersey, patent lawyer associated with Charles Pollard, '25, offices in New York City. Carroll is also a member of the Alumni Board.

Claude Richmond, Arlington, high school principal. Carolyn Sinclair, Dr., is Head of Women's Physical Education Department at the College. W. E. Spicer, Baton Rouge, Louisiana, married, came the longest distance, but his son was also graduating with the class of '49. Hazel Thorp (Poindexter), Hilton Village. Evelyn Ryce (Hughes), Williamsburg. Hazel Young (Click), Mt. Sidney. J. C. Phillips, married, insurance lawyer, plus forty pounds, medium mustache, but still recognizable.

We were very pleased that a number of the members brought their husbands or wives as the case may be. They were exceptionally nice and added much to the pleasure of the occasion. Reverend Carter Harrison and his wife were with us. Carter is rector of St. Paul's Church, Hampton. Additional guests included Edna Gibbons (Seward), '25, Roanoke and her husband; Dorothy Darden (Pierce), '26, and her husband Edwin "Piggy" Pierce, '23. Dorothy and Piggy have a son at the College, and they live in Alexandria. Nancy Pretlow (Bozarth), '26 was a visitor also.

Letters were received from many absent members. Winifred Benschoten (Young), Columbia, Connecticut, wrote that she has three children and her daughter is entering the College this Fall. Florence Holston (Sommers), Charlottesville, could not come as her son was graduating from high school. Mildred Barksdale (Higgs), Massies Mill, has a boy 11, girl 8 and had a polio attack in 1941, improving, but does not travel. She and her husband own and operate an apple orchard. Carolyn Kelly, married Floyd Berl, '23, three children, widowed, now Mrs. Brewster, Wilmington, Delaware. Margaret Keister (Felts) was in the midst of moving from Roanoke to High Point, North Carolina. Helen Lannigan (Cushman), Greentrees, Mt. Vernon, Maine, wrote that she could not make it because her son Erskine Caldwell, Jr. was about to leave for a script writing position in Hollywood, another son was graduating from Bowdoin, and her daughter from Kents Hill School.

Unlocated members of the class: Mildred Dorcas Bulifant (Garrison), Margaret B. Davis, Ada Virginia Evans, Mary Elizabeth Fristoe (Hobbs), James Hugh Garnett, Nellie Jane Harris, Benjamin Rosser James, Hugh Hanna Johnson, Edwin Wallace Lohr, Paige Wilfred

Powell, Miriam M. Sizer, Harriett D. Snow, Evelyn Winifred Spiggle, Isaac Jones Stanley, Rachel Tarrall (Wood), Theodora Whitworth, Mary Ella Williams, and Dorothy Lamb Zirkle.

1926 Samuel Eryle Howie is pastor of the Highland Presbyterian Church, Fayetteville, North Carolina.

Ward Scull has been elected vice president of the Mayflower Warehousemen's Association, at a convention held at Galveston, Texas. He operates a moving and storage company in Newport News.

1927 M. Carl Andrews, editor of the Roanoke World-News, and a member of the Society's Board of Directors, has been elected president of the Roanoke Rotary Club.

The lead article in the April issue of Foreign Service Journal, entitled "State Department and Foreign Service: Some Differences in Personal Attitudes," was authored by Frank Snowden Hopkins.

1929 Robert McCutcheon Thomas has been with the Kanawha (West Virginia) County School for 16 years—13 as teacher, and the last 3 as principal of the Ward Junior High School.

1930 Dr. Henry Jackson Hancock is chief of chest surgery at McGuire General Hospital, Richmond.

1931 Rev. L. Oakey Wilburn, pastor of Memorial Methodist Church, Lynchburg, received the honorary doctor of divinity degree from Randolph-Macon College, in June. He holds the bachelor of divinity degree from Candler School of Theology, Emory University.

1932 John A. Clark is another alumnus now serving as president of a Rotary Club, being head of the Hampton club.

1933 George Liff is vice president of Klein-Farris Co., Inc., Boston, dealers in foundry supplies and equipment.

1935 The former Elizabeth Wagner is now Sister Caedmon of the Episcopal Order of St. Anne, and was recently appointed superintendent of the Child's Hospital, Albany, New York. After leaving William and Mary she entered a business school in New York, worked for the Federal Government in Washington, and entered the Convent of St. Anne in Kingston, New York, in 1936. She remained at the Convent until May when she assumed her present position.

1936 William A. Morecock has been named commissioner of revenue of Williamsburg, succeeding the late Richard H. Lee, '31. He will be a candidate for the office in the November general election.

Robert Brittle (Westhafer) is living in Las Cruces, New Mexico, where her husband is associate professor of mathematics at New Mexico A. & M. College.

1938 Secretary,
ANNABEL HOPKINS (MITCHELL)
4 South Rogers Street
Aberdeen, Maryland

Did you ever see anything like the heat we had this summer? Or were you lucky enough to be somewhere cool? The Eastern Shore of Maryland was warm but being in a new bungalow was compensation. Now for news of others in our class.

Billie Nenzel (Ash) writes that her three boys really keep her busy. Roy was sick during the winter but is better now. Billie heard from Helen Wall (Burns) who also has a new son, born in April.

Margileth Meyer (Anderson) is another with three boys—6, 2½, and 6 months. Her husband begins private practice as a plastic surgeon in Oklahoma City in October. Margileth saw Jeannette Johnson (Banks), '37, when she stopped in Oklahoma City on a trip South from Ogden.

You will all be interested in the card I had from Katherine F. Moran in Milledgeville, Georgia. She says "I returned home from Europe in Nov. 1948 where I had been for three and a half years with the recreational branch of special services, U. S. Army. I was at various times stationed at Brussels, Paris, Berlin and Vienna. Since I have been in the States I have been on duty with Department of the Army, Washington, D. C. and have covered all of the six Army areas in the country conducting a training conference for recreational workers assigned to duty with the Army. I am now on leave and will return to Germany—Nuremberg—about September 15. My thoughts often turn toward William and Mary." We wish you the best of luck, Katherine.

Elizabeth Lea (Robey) has moved from Arlington, Cal. to 1100 Villa Ave., Belmont, Cal., near San Francisco. The Robeys have two daughters—Elizabeth Ann 4, and Mollie Claywell 4 months.

Nita Ligon (Morse) is now living at 12 Malvern Ave., Apt. 5, Richmond. She is a reporter for the Richmond Times-Dispatch and in August wrote a success story for Harvey L. ("Junie") Smith, '37. Junie had just been made chief deputy, top post under the treasurer of the City of Richmond. His wife is the former Audrey Harmon, and they have three children.

Sarah Robbins (Carmalt) has three children—Sammy 5, Charles 3, and Anne 1.

Shelley B. Lashman has moved to 150-41 Village Rd., Jamaica, N. Y.

And Carl Buffington has a new address in Greensboro, N. C.—106 W. Newlyn St.

Russell M. Haynie, Jr., was in Williamsburg for Finals in June. Incidentally, Russell has recently been appointed as instructor and course director of the North Carolina Training School for Professional Drivers. This is a part of the extension work of North Carolina State College, and is a short course which men can attend and learn to drive a commercial vehicle.

We were saddened to be informed of the death of Harriet Morden (Kivell) and her 5-year-old daughter, Harriet, in an automobile accident July 19 near Marlette, Mich.

My elder boy starts to school next week and is quite excited over the prospect—I just hope the enthusiasm lasts for awhile.

Please let me know any news that you all may have—it will come in handy for the next class letter—and remember, there are lots of your classmates who would like to know what you are doing.

1939 Secretary,
FRANCES L. GRODECOUER
810 Howard Street,
Monongahela, Pennsylvania

Hello, everyone! Here we go into that season which always reminds me of the opening session at school—and the trek back to Williamsburg. I'd like to say that I'll be seeing you for our 10th reunion during Homecoming week-end but am not sure what the pace will be in the J. Horne personnel office. I was all set for Williamsburg in June and had made plans to go first to Ocean City, Maryland, which I did, stopping off in Washington, D. C. on the way home, where I had a wonderful visit with Peggy Prickett (Miller) and her family and with Edna Klinge (Ketchum), '41. Edna is now living somewhere on the Mojave Desert, where her husband is with Naval Ordinance.

Peggy and the four children had just returned from Hawaii when I visited with them at Brig. Gen. Prickett's quarters in Alexandria. The entire family, with the exception of General Prickett, who is now in Germany, had a get-together, before they all set out for their various new homes. Peggy's address is: Quarters 45, West Point, New York. (Wish that she and Edna would settle in one place—they're ruining my address book—but on the other hand, are always good copy for GAZETTE letters.)

Lucy McClure (Joshua), '42, many thanks for your nice letter about your brother, Julian McClure. Before Bill, his wife and two children moved on to Memphis, Tenn., he did a tour of duty in Panama. Lucy has two children, one of whom, Ceci, was born in Hawaii. Her address: 1225 North Powhatan Street, Arlington.

Fletcher E. Weathers returned to his home town of Newman, Illinois, June 1st to take over and operate his father's grain business, after his father died April 17th.

Wynne Allan Stevens, Jr., received the Juris Doctor degree from George Washington University, June 1, 1949.

Elbert G. Slaughter is at Lake Drive, Bedford, Virginia.

Wyatt B. Carneal, Jr., (Lt. Col., U. S. Marine Corps—Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, North Carolina), Dan Blocker and his wife (from Houston, Texas) and Leonard Goldberg (30 Hollywood Avenue, Lynbrook, N. Y.) were on hand for finals—wonder how their "shag" is these days—or is that just too passé for the younger generation holding forth on the lovely William and Mary Campus?

Kendall C. Beavers, Jr.'s, address is 310 North Rosalind Street, Orlando, Florida.

Address any letters to Edna Howell (Barksdale) to 87 Maple Avenue, Maplewood, New Jersey. This seems to be the best arrangement since Edna and her husband, Col. Barksdale, move around quite a bit and have their mail forwarded from the above address.

Thanks, Harvey Shuler, for sending on H. W. Sadler, Jr.'s address (425 Grove Avenue, Evanston, Illinois). How about more about yourself—and what are you doing with Cadillac in Detroit? Giving away any samples?

Barbara Wastcoat (Carter) has been doing New England this summer—Vermont and Cape Cod. She and her husband plan to attend Homecoming—and there's a possibility that Polly Spinney (Marks) may make it, too.

Betty Roberts (Edwards) and husband spent their vacation in Jamaica—are still living in Fort Lauderdale.

Your correspondent's vacation was split due to change in job, both the June and August sessions being spent at Ocean City, Maryland. I've been switched over to the personnel side of the office where I'm now assistant personnel director. My duties consisting principally of wage administration, pensions, insurance and personnel problems in general. Note to Hib Corey—no statistics involved, thanks be.

William and Mary plays Pitt September 24th so a group of us are planning a get-together at the University Club. Details of our victory celebration in next issue.

1940 Secretary,
ROSA ELLIS (LONG)
368 Norwood Avenue,
Buffalo 13, New York

The Longs made it to Williamsburg

last May and both of us enjoyed it immensely since I spent my time in the Alumni Office catching up on the many changes in the College while Ed found an Osteopathic Convention in full swing at the Lodge. The only improvement I can think of would have been to find more of our Class there. This will be corrected in June 1950 when our Class will hold its Tenth Reunion, a really grand occasion, well worth attending if all of you will try to come!

Robert J. Klein is doing his part by this column and has sent us two postcards during the summer. One was from the Berkshire Country Club, Wingdale, N. Y., where he spent a week in July and had a grand time. The other is from the home of FDR at Hyde Park, which he said is a beautiful spot worth visiting. Bob was then on his way for a week's vacation at Schroon Lake, N. Y.

Robert Murphy Newton is in the real estate business working with Coldwell Banker in San Francisco.

Robert Winston Menzel is with the Biology Research Laboratory, Texas A. & M. Research Foundation (College Station, Texas) working on Project No. 9. What is it all about, Bob?

Betty Virginia Carter (Zable) has moved from Garden City, N. Y. to 1514 Jess St., Westmont, Pomona, California, where Walter is Chief Engineer of the DeMornay-Budd Co., Inc.

Emma Alicia Harrison (Pemberton), recently married, has moved to Doswell, where her address is Box 39, Route 1.

Mary Jane Miller received her master of science degree in education from the University of Pennsylvania on June 15th. She is teaching Physical Education at Westhampton College in Richmond this year. Congratulations, Mary Jane.

was resident physician at the Boston Psychopathic Hospital last summer and planned to enter private practice of psychiatry in Richmond. While he was in Boston he saw Joe Solomon, '42, who is in the florist business in Newton, and Betsy Richardson (Popof), '39, whose husband is working for Western Electric in Boston.

Jean Winifred Clarahan (Bratton) writes on a birth announcement that living in Newark, Delaware, is bringing them luck. They won a new Pontiac at the local fireman's carnival last summer and this year brought them a son, Danny. Jean's daughter, Anne, is five years old. The Brattons went to Homecoming last fall and had a wonderful time, but missed seeing any Class of '40 people. They are looking forward to the Big Tenth Reunion this June.

Plan now to be in Williamsburg in June, 1950. You will soon be receiving a letter with more of the details.

1941 Secretary,
CHARLES EUGENE STOUSLAND, JR.
Dept. of Architecture
University of Arkansas
Fayetteville, Arkansas.

Hello again. . . Hope everyone had as fine a summer as your secretary. I had great plans for writing everyone during the summer and needling the news out. However, spent the summer working in the big city, so not many letters written. This Fall William and Mary heads for the hills of Arkansas, as Bill Curry, '39, and myself will join the faculty of the University of Arkansas, Department of Architecture. Enough of my doings. . .

From Mexico City comes a card from Arlene Murray. Arlene and her husband Don will be in Mexico City for a year while Don works for his Ph.D. at the National University. How does your cocker like Mexico? While on the subject of Ph.D.'s, Al Chestnut received his doctorate from Rutgers in June and has been elected Secretary of the National Shellfisheries Association. Congratulations, Al . . . hope the shellfishes write . . . I'm beginning to think people have given up the habit.

Dot Ogden (Newman) came through with a nice long letter. Dot and her husband were located in Louisville, Kentucky where her husband worked for the Courier-Journal . . . now located in Washington, D. C. and Joe is working for the Post. Dot included the big news that Jeanne and Walt Measday have a son, Walt IV, born in March. Dot has been laid up for some time following an operation. Hope this issue of the GAZETTE will find you in the best of health. Dot's permanent address is: Mrs. A. J. Newman, The Springhouse, Wynnewood, Pa.

A postcard from Jean Cox (Phillips) arrived too late for the last letter. Jean's big news was the first addition to her family, Jean Ridgway Cox Phillips, a daughter born August 23, 1948. I don't know if this has appeared in the Born column but 'tis news. Jean and her husband and the little one are living at Virginia Beach . . . 33rd and Holly Road.

A note from Mrs. Dave Meyer tells us that Dr. Dave has gone back in the Army and is now stationed near Frankfurt, Germany. Ada expected to join him during the summer. Dave will be in Germany for about a year and a half. His address is: Capt. David Meyer, 0969339, 61st Troop Carrier Wing, APO 57, Postmaster, N. Y., N. Y. Think it's a good idea for the wives to write in. It's not that I think the married men of '41 are bashful regarding their accomplishments; the wives just seem to write longer letters.

Clifton Kreps has resigned as assistant professor of economics at Denison University to accept an appointment (what a title) as economist, Domestic Research Division, Research Dept., Federal Reserve Bank of New York, New York City. Welcome to the subway system, Cliff, I hope it's better in the winter than it was last summer.

Carter Holbrook writes that he has left the insurance business and is now with the sales force of the Carolina Container Co. in his home town of High Point, N. C. Carter's address is: 413 Friddle Street, High Point.

Found: Vic Carbonaro. Jack McCarthy reports that Vic is living at 734 Bushwick Ave., Brooklyn. Jack works in the Patent Section of United Aircraft Corp. and reports seeing Gene Ellis frequently as Gene works for Pratt and Whitney. Jack and Phyllis (Hile, '42) are living at 40 Turnbull Road, Manchester, Conn. Thanks for the news, Jack . . . hope to hear some news from Vic.

A nice note from Jean Crist (Schutt) reports the birth of a second son to the Schutt family in March. Congratulations. Jean added some news about the Measdays . . . seems everyone has news of Walt. Walter has completed his doctorate. Thanks for the news, Jean. Soon I expect a letter from Walt (HISSELF) Measday.

While on the subject of degrees Austin Roberts received a Master of Laws degree from George Washington University in June. Your secretary received a Master of Architecture from The Rice Institute. Harry Dilworth left The Rice Institute in June to accept a position as tower operator with the CAA. Ted Rust (former professor of Fine Arts) has left New York to become Director of an Art School in Memphis, Tenn.

an opportunity to visit Williamsburg while attending an Army Reserve training program at Camp Lee. Griffin Callahan will become Rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Huntington, West Virginia.

This letter seems much shorter than my last two letters; so hope the class will come to my assistance with vast quantities of happy news.

1942 Secretary,
MARX FIGLEY (WILLOUGHBY)
1522-C Dixon Street,
Glendale 5, California

In the midst of the excitement of having my mother and father-in-law from Virginia and two relatives from North Carolina, a three-month-old baby and a three-year-old daughter to keep track of, I shall attempt to write a few coherent words about our class. Each fall the news I have on hand seems to be less and less, but as long as I have a postcard I'll keep the column going!

I had a very surprising and unexpected visit the first part of June from Malcolm Sullivan and Art Kleinfelder. Sully and Art had driven to the coast from Chicago in Art's snappy convertible on their vacation. As they were making a grand tour of the west in just a couple of weeks, we didn't have much time together. Both Art and Sully seem to be doing fine in Chicago. Art is with a construction company, and Sully is with the J. Walter Thompson Advertising Agency. It certainly was grand to see them.

We welcome to our class Jim Creekman who just completed his B.A. degree this June. Jim is living in Scotch Plains, New Jersey.

Betty Blair Denit is serving as legal assistant to the chief justice of the Court of Appeals in the European Command at Nuremberg.

Those of our class who were lucky enough to get back for finals included Susan Crane (Rowe), Terry Teal, Nancy Boatwright (Bishop), and Lucile Jennings.

Phyllis Cady (Dubois) is living in Oakland, California and has two sons 6 months and 17 months (a few months older by press time) to keep her more than busy.

Charles Scripps has moved to Cleveland and is working there.

Willard Bergwall is the treasurer of the new San Francisco Alumni Chapter. He is in the Iron and Steel Division of the Henry Kaiser Company.

A card from Eleanor Ely (Mackey) said that she and her family were leaving Texas and going to Evanston, Illinois where her husband was going to start Ph.D. work at Northwestern where he would have a teaching fellowship in the School of Speech. Her address will be: Northwestern Apts., 1725 Orrington, No. 604, Evanston, Illinois. Eleanor said that they'd be taking their latest addition—"a girl this time"—along.

Claire Hulcher wrote that she was spending her vacation in New York state visiting various friends.

A letter from Patty Nichols (Curcu) said that they had a transient summer. "—Ed and I went east to West Point in June for my sister Penny's wedding. Then July in Michigan proved too hot for me so we packed up again and set out for Long Island—spent a week or so there (mainly on the beach!) and all wish we'd been able to stay the rest of the summer. Ed and I begin to beat a well travelled path between east and mid-west." Patty said that Malcolm Sullivan planned to order a block of tickets for the W and M vs Michigan State game for Chicagoans. "—I'm sure we'll be outnumbered numerically but perhaps not in vocal force!"

Mildred Anne Hill (Fisher) and Edgar Fisher planned to spend most of August touring the east.

Bernard Goldstein has been at the College taking courses this summer. In the fall he will teach at the Toano High School and will be living in Williamsburg.

Edward Dratz is attending the Parsons School of Design in New York.

A note from Gerald Rose said, "I received my master of science degree in dentistry from the University of Minnesota in June, and I have now opened an office for the practice of Orthodontia in Washington, D. C. at 1726 Eye St., N. W.

Had a nice letter from Terry Teal with a clipping about her forthcoming marriage in September to Jack Crutchfield who is a member of the staff of the Standard Oil Company of Brazil located at Sao Paulo. Terry said, "—I have a little job of accumulating all furniture and household equipment to be shipped south of the border. Have to stock up for a year's supply on all sorts of items such as buttons, aspirin, etc. We'll live in Sao Paulo for an indefinite period, but hope to get home once a year on leave! After all we'll have to make homecomings occasionally! I'm on the last lap of a trip to North Dakota to attend the wedding of an occupational therapy friend and visit my Indiana relatives en route." Terry said she heard that Edith Rathbun (Bell) and family have bought a farm in Meredithville, Virginia. Edie has three little ones now. Lucile Jennings sailed on a vacation cruise to Caracas, Venezuela.

No use telling how well Vic Raschi, '49, is doing with the Yankees. All you have to do is turn to the sports page of any newspaper!

This summer for the Willoughbys was a gay round of entertaining relatives from both sides of the family who trekked out from Ohio, Virginia and North Carolina. We love company, so if any of you get to California don't hesitate to look us up!

Please send some news in for the late October deadline. We want to hear from YOU! !

Let's be brief with the preliminaries by saying that we hope everyone has had an elegant summer and that this finds us off to a good start in the new alumni year.

There were several familiar faces at finals in June. Let's see if I can remember—George Blanford, Bill Harding, Martha Snow (Butts), Mary Louise Morton, and Milton Greenblatt. Milton and I were on hand for the Board meeting as well as the festivities, and I must say that the formal dance, on the "Common Glory" stage overlooking Lake Ma-toaka, was thrilling. There just wasn't an opportunity to talk with everyone but Mary Louise Morton told me that she would be teaching art this year at St. Mary's Hall, Burlington, New Jersey, so you can make note of her new address.

Page Seekford dropped by The Brafterton just before I was leaving and I learned that he is a surgeon with the U. S. Public Health Service, stationed at present at the Marine Hospital, Chicago. Since leaving college, Page has been married.

Robert Warner is at present a student in the graduate school of International Affairs at Columbia University. Bob has gone even further in international affairs by taking a girl, Isa Marie Galezowska, from Paris, France as his wife!

Dick Thomas wrote to tell us of his daughter's arrival and added a note about the convention of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology which he attended and enjoyed meeting many of the top men in medical research. His address is 4800 Newport, Detroit 13, Michigan.

It was startling but wonderful to receive (in August!) a Christmas card note from Nan McClellan (James). That "brilliant" young lady was getting her holiday cards lined up and even assembling and wrapping gifts in the best heat Texas could offer. Yes, she will have a peaceful Christmas. Nan's husband is doing graduate work at the University of Texas. They had a month's vacation in San Diego and San Francisco before returning to Austin for the fall semester. Nan said that they had seen Claire Bardwell (Lap-pin) and family in San Antonio. I talked with Claire after her return from Germany and just before she left for Texas, where her husband is stationed at Randolph Field. Before getting on to the next item, let me say that Claire can doubtless be reached through the Randolph Field P. O., and Nan's address is 3108 Walling Drive, Austin, Texas.

Bob Faulconer has been appointed resident pathologist in The Presbyterian Hospital, Philadelphia and assistant instructor in Pathology at the University of Pennsylvania. His new address is 25 Valley Road, Apartment 13, Drexel Hill, Pennsylvania.

Jane Cummins (Heidingsfield) writes that she and Mike had a vacation in June including sightseeing trips to Los Angeles, Long Beach, San Francisco and a week in Salt Lake City. They visited Barbara Ruhl (Odland) and Paul in Long Beach —also planned an additional two weeks vacation in Maine after summer session. Mike has received his full professorship at Temple University.

Here are three more changes of address. For Jane Enberg (Kindel), it's Rt. 2, Box 353, Arvada, Colorado; for Sis Jerry (Vassar), it's Box 223, Rt. 1, Browns Mills, New Jersey; and for Donald Hahne, it's 2723 Noyes St., Evanston, Illinois.

Jane Craig (Beaver) was at home (139 Righters Ferry Road, Bala Cynwyd, Pennsylvania) during the summer while Bob took a naval course at the RCA plant in Newark, New Jersey. They will be in Boston at MIT this winter, but use her home address for the time being.

The Lambert family, including Wilma Lambert (Hoey) enjoyed a family reunion in North Carolina during the summer prior to Wilma and Ivan's departure for Scotland, I believe, for a year's study. Lloyd Clarke attended summer school at the College, and I understand that Jean Gieselmann spent her vacation from Williamsburg with her parents in California.

Ginny Partrea (Bateman) and her husband have built a very attractive house in Williamsburg where they are making their home now. Orky Vaughn received his law degree from the College in June and he and Syl have gone back to California.

Scotty Cunningham and Ceci seem to have had a pleasant summer with several weekend trips between Scotty's work-weeks and thesis-writing, including a weekend in Annapolis where they saw Bill and Patty Wattles (Spiegel). Scotty and Ceci's real vacation came the first part of September when they went to Elizabeth, New Jersey to visit Scotty's family.

Grayson Clary was ordained deacon on June 10th at St. Andrew's Church, Lawrenceville, Virginia. Grayson's new address is 405 Church St., Lawrenceville.

John Todd has received a fellowship in surgery at the Mayo Foundation and can be reached at 811½ 7th St., N.W., Rochester, Minnesota.

Earl Kline, who has been at Princeton, is now teaching at The Citadel where he will also be working on his thesis. Among the teachers at The Citadel in addition to Earl are Harry Kent and Norman Allen.

Paul Couch and his bride went through Williamsburg on their honeymoon. Paul is with the Western Electric Company in Allentown, Pennsylvania.

Fleta Gregory was one of the eleven women to receive their MD degrees from the Medical College of Virginia in June. Fleta, who plans to enter the field of children's diseases, will take her internship at the Medical College.

Bill Jones has been appointed to the post of trial justice of Nansemond County. For the past two years Bill has served as assistant commonwealth's attorney. He is married and lives in Driver, Virginia.

James Fleming is in the interior decorating department of the City of Paris Department Store in San Francisco. Sorry I don't know his address.

Nat Coleman has moved to 316 North Main, Greeneville, Tennessee, and Jane Williams (Mahoney) may be addressed 3408 Guilford Road, Box 194, Station A, Canton, Ohio.

I do hope you will forgive me for being so strictly factual in my columns from now on, but elimination of adjectives, etc., will save valuable GAZETTE space. Of course, you realize how pleased all of us are to learn of the progress each of you is making, additions to family, marriages, and all the other types of news. Just wish I could take the space to tell you how happy I am over each new item. Let me know if you think I should not list all the address changes; I have been including them since it seemed to me that such is the best way for us to keep in touch with one another. "I aims to please," as my old nurse used to say, so let me know your preferences. Most important—just let me hear from you. Until next issue, my best to each of you.

Hello! Before I go further, I want to extend a vote of thanks to Lebe Seay (Grey) for her loyal service the past five years as our class secretary. She has done a fine job and I know I speak appreciation for the entire class. Many William and Mary-ites attended her wedding in Richmond in May. She and her husband, Bill, are now living at Hunton Hall, dorm for residents and interns at the Medical College of Virginia. Dr. Grey has an appointment for two more years there at the hospital for a rotating internship. Lebe still does social work with the Juvenile Court. They had a wedding trip to Ithaca, New York, on Lake Cayuga. Gloria Tyler (Robertson) and her husband, who is a resident on eye service at the Medical College, live across the hall from the Greys at Hunton Hall. I would also like to thank Lebe for the postcard mimeograph set which she has donated to the class for future secretarial work.

William Abbotts III is now in Milford, Conn. . . . married to Gloria Jet Morgan, has a son, and is working with General Electric.

Had a nice letter from Dorothy Agurk (Edmunds). She and David are now living in Belleair, Florida. They have a new house which they built themselves . . . porch 16 x 28 with gardenia bushes growing in the corners inside! Dot sees Margaret Carey McQuillan occasionally.

Norman A. Allen, Jr., and his wife, Amelia, were in Williamsburg in July. Doris "Deedee" Armor writes that she is still a Lt. (j.g.) in the WAVES. She has been stationed at the Philadelphia Naval Base for three years as commandant's custodian. She lives at home so hardly realizes she is in the Navy . . .

turned down an appointment in the Regular Navy and remains a Reserve . . . just returned from a wonderful trip to Bermuda.

Dot Agurk (Edmunds) wrote that she heard Jean Boyd (McIntyre) had "retired" from her teaching at Virginia-Intermont College. It was nice to get a card from Lillian Bourne (LeFevre). She and her husband, Tom, are living in Grosse Pointe, Michigan, where he is doing tax litigation with the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Had a wonderful long newsy letter (like I'd like to get from all of you soon) from Edie Burkard. She said she recently returned to Philly from a hot, dirty trip, but she really caught up on alums en route. She saw Lolly Quinn (Antonellis), who is working in New York and living in Flushing. She also saw Joy Wrigley and Betty Evan (McIntosh) . . . went to Schenectady for five days to see Aline Mims (Traylor), her husband, and son Philip . . . then went up to Bennington, Vermont, and back to New York for a real reunion with '44ers. Said she expected to be back pounding the pavements as a truant officer for the Board of Education come September.

Had a card from Mary Wilson Carver (Sale). She attended Lebe's wedding, and had received a card from Barbara Gray in Venice, Italy. Barbara toured Europe with her sister this summer for about five weeks. They flew to Paris and visited in Switzerland and Italy too.

According to the Alumni Office, William Garland Clarke is working with Tim Hanson's ('39) law firm in Washington, D. C. Speaking of law, I received a card from Chester (C. J.) Claudon, who is practicing law in Canton, Illinois, population 15,000. He was recently appointed city attorney and now has his own suite of offices in the Canton State Bank Building.

Had a card from Robert William Conkey. He is now located in Rhode Island, where he is public relations director for the School Department, City of Pawtucket.

I heard Billy Davison (Cantlay) was to have left Hawaii around May to join her husband in Japan.

Mary Dilts (Dixon) married a lawyer in June and is now living in Lakewood, Ohio. Faith Dratz (Means) stopped in the alumni office in Williamsburg on her honeymoon in August. She works for the Union Trust Company in Baltimore, in the Foreign Service Department.

I know most of the weddings and births are reported in the TRANSITION column in this journal, but we have so many of interest this time, that I can't resist mentioning them in the letter, and I know you will want to hear about them. Martha Eddy sailed on July 29th for Bremerhaven and was married the end of August in Heidelberg, to an English boy, in the State Department stationed in Frankfurt. A "launching" party for her in New York included Edie Burkard (who passed on the info), Emily Snyder, Aline Mims (Traylor), Doris Berg-Johnson (Kuhl) and husband, Pat Snyder (Smith) and husband, and Marilyn Miller (Entwisle) almost made it but had to settle for a telegram.

Had a nice letter from Lucille Fizer (Gooch). She said she is surrounded by University of Virginia alums in her family and among her friends, so was happy to get back to Williamsburg July 4th. She saw "The Common Glory" and enjoyed it, and also visited with Mrs. Campbell in Barrett Hall. Said the campus looked lovely and also noted the new Restoration buildings. Lucille has retired from teaching school but manages to keep very busy. Her husband got his MA in Geology at the University of Virginia in June.

Winnie Gill (Geesey) writes that she is kept busy with her two sons, Gill, two years, and Stephen, three months.

We are happy to have a new addition to our class ranks. Richard Allen Hill received his B.A. degree in June.

I understand Gene Kellogg (Williams) is with her husband at the University of Virginia. Also had a report that Jesse Kendler is in California. Anne Kirby (Black) is in Texas with her husband in the Army. Here's another LOST(!) notice . . . it's Muriel Koch (Ernstmeyer), last address Camp LeJeune, North Carolina. Can we find her? HELP!

Peg Lomas (Carpenter) is in Hilton Village. Her husband plans to come back to William and Mary for his M.A. in history this fall.

Libby Myers (Atthowe) is living in Lakeport, California, and is really busy with their new house, a puppy, and the two children. Understand Bebe Nelson is working on her M.A. in sociology at Columbia. Dick Neubauer and his wife are now located in Sandston. Formerly practicing medicine in Wilmington, Delaware, Dick is now connected with the Cardiology Department of the Medical College of Virginia.

Walter Murray North is at the University of North Carolina, where he plans to get his Ph.D. in sociology.

George Hollis Pryor has been a student at Wake Forest and graduated this summer with a B.S. in physical education. He is married and has three children. He will play football for the Baltimore Colts this fall.

Marion Ross (Karrick)'s husband is a major in the USA, and still stationed at West Point. Prickett Carter (Saunders) said they came down to Williamsburg a week after the '44 reunion and stayed overnight. Marion was active in the West Point Woman's Club last winter in the Current Affairs and Home and Garden sub groups. She also spent much time on two West Point Players' productions of "First Lady" and "The Man Who Came To Dinner," on the costume and stage crews respectively. Her husband was stage manager.

Barbara Ruhl (Odland) and her husband are now living in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Katie Rutherford (Watson) is still living in Seattle, Washington. Says it's a new apartment project with no shrubs or grass and much dirt.

Priscilla Schumacher (Beringer) and her husband are house hunting these days. Son, Bruce, is talking now much to their delight. Husband Marshall is still an instructor at Columbia. Pris says Sheila Stewart is back in Hawaii.

Had a report that Howard Shaw was studying abroad. Emily Jane Snyder is a buyer with Strawbridge and Clothier in Philadelphia. She was in Canada in August golfing where Eleanor Graham and Edie Burkard tried some skiing last Christmas.

Sally Snyder and Dyck Vermilye are living in New York right at Columbia, where Dyck is working on an experiment he hopes to use as a basis for his Ph.D. thesis. They keep in pretty close touch with W and M's there. Betsy Douglas (Munves) and her dentist husband live right near by.

Marjorie Talle and Jack Merriman are now in Baltimore, Maryland. Fran Pendleton (Elliott) wrote that she saw Mildred Talmadge (Bender) recently. Mildred and her husband and two children live in Tuckahoe, N. Y. He is with John Wanamaker Company.

Pauline Walker's new address is Waverly, Virginia. She had a vacation through Mexico, Texas, Colorado and Ohio earlier this year, taking nearly six weeks.

Bob Weinberg, married in June, is also living in Baltimore, Maryland. Susan Whitehead (Byars) and family (husband and two little girls) are down in Clearwater, Florida, near Dot Agurk (Edmunds).

Would like to put out another S.O.S. for a lost classmate at this point. . . .

Another Baltimore address to report . . . it's Dudley Woods who is working there in the bond department, Fidelity and Casualty Company of N. Y.

Now I suppose everyone would like to hear a little about the '44 reunion at Finals weekend in Williamsburg in June. It was a beautiful weekend and a fine time was had by all. I was there, and though I didn't get to see everyone, here goes: Iver Brook was there. Our class prexy, Prickett Carter (Saunders) was on hand. She tells me we contributed $135.97 to the College to be set aside for furnishings for the Student Activities Building when erected. Prickett and her nine-month-old baby and husband vacationed in Kentucky after her return to Alabama from Williamsburg.

Eleanor Dumper (Singer) and her husband were down from Brooklyn. Have had a nice letter from Ellie since. She confirmed the reports of New York heat and said they had spent many of the summer weekends on the Island at her family's where it was cooler. She saw Connie Cooley (Johnson) and Elinor Clayton (Wright) and their husbands in July. Each has two little boys. The Singers were planning a trip to Winnipeg, Canada in August. They were to drive and visit Cleveland and Chicago also.

Barbara Durling was at the class reunion, and a fine job she did serving those hamburgers at the picnic too. Nancy Norris and Dick Foster were there also.

Dick received his law degree at the W and M June commencement and they are now living in Irvington, Virginia. Also present was Wayne Gibbs, who is now district service representative for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, located in Richmond.

Dee Hampton (Simpson) and husband were also in Williamsburg for Finals. They had recently moved into a two-apartment house in Rahway, N. J. Dee's sister and husband live downstairs. Dee is still working for the Pennsylvania Railroad in Newark. Peggy Horn (Booth) and husband were down from Danielson, Connecticut. Jerry Hyman, Bill Morris, and Bud Neuby were there. So were Hallie Vaughan Rennie, and Norma Ritter (Dietz) and her husband . . . the Dietzes live in Wilmington, Delaware now. Also saw Hulda Stainback (Charuhas). Her husband is a professor at the W and M Norfolk Division. They have two children, a boy four, and a baby girl. Sunny Trumbo (Williams), Bob Conkey, Harriet Holland (Barrett), and Nancy Throckmorton (Franck) were there too. It was certainly fun to see everyone at the picnic . . . Charlie McCurdy and President Pomfret attended, and Mr. Pomfret, who had been attending various other class reunions that day, remarked on the fact that ours was the first class whose members he had known since coming to the College. Let's start planning right now for that 10TH YEAR REUNION!—1954!!

Nothing too new to report from yours truly in Chicago. I am still working for Columbia Broadcasting, now as Assistant Continuity Editor. The Chicago W and M Alum chapter had its first meeting June 17th, and some of those present you may remember were "Freddy" Steely (Woodward), Betty (Kirst) and Bill Baumann, and Alex MacArthur. Many of us are looking forward to attending the W and M-Michigan State game in Lansing, October 15th. I had a small reunion with Carol Sterner, and Annis McLean and Tom Fluharty, at Gloria Murphy Cunningham's in Glen Ellyn, Illinois, in June. The Cunninghams have two fine little boys. Carol was visiting from New Jersey, and the Fluhartys were in from Lansing, where they live with their daughter, Susan. Blake Clarke phoned me recently. He was in town on business for the Vicks Chemical Co.

I would like to hear from each and every one of you. If you don't hear from me first, throw pride away and write to me anyway! How about a letter or card before "Turkey-Time" ??? It will all go toward a dandy Christmas present in the form of a top-notch '44 letter in the December GAZETTE.

Thanks ever so much, for the stack of mail that was waiting for me on my return from Bermuda. Although my mind keeps wandering back to a certain deserted, foam-sprayed coral reef that was "my own special place" on the island, I am nonetheless delighted to read all the news of '45. (While we're still on the wonderful subject of Bermuda, what a nice surprise it was to run into a W and M boy down there! It was George Lex, '49, just ashore from the Saipan, where he was doing reserve duty as a Navy flier.)

From the alumni office comes word that William Frank Emerson, Jr., 182 Essex Street, Lynnfield Center, Massachusetts, has received his B.S. and rejoined '45. Welcome home, Bill.

Here's a change of address for the records: Edythe Marsh, or Mrs. M. C. Wakefield, to be exact, has moved to 615 Glendale Street, still in Alice, Texas.

Morris Gutterman writes that he is associated with Joseph Morris, public accountant, in Suffolk, as a Staff Accountant. He expects to move soon to Norfolk. Morris was in Williamsburg for Finals.

The Paul Oberlins (Ginnie Craddock) have bought a new home at 6014 Sonoma Road, Bethesda, Maryland, and moved in on August 29.

Betty Bradley has been teaching English at Norfolk Division of W and M, as well as working at the Armed Forces Staff College. Dorothy Hoadley (Burnett) has been enjoying singing at the Walters Art Gallery in Baltimore, as a member of a choir of seventy.

"Richard Myers Enters City's Political Race" is the interesting headline on a newspaper clipping sent us by the alumni office. Dale has announced that he will be a candidate for the commonwealth's attorney for the City of Radford, subject to the November 8 general election. In his statement Dale mentioned some of the industries in which he has been employed: the Lynchburg Foundry Company, Sutton Company, J. C. Freezer and Sons, Mason and Hanger Construction Company, and Hercules Powder Company. After William and Mary, Dale went to the University of Virginia Law School. He is married to the former Jean Katherine Charlton, from Salem. Dale is a member of the Radford-Montgomery-Floyd Bar Association, the Virginia State Bar, and Virginia Bar Association, as well as the American Legion. Good luck, Dale.

Speaking of the Virginia Bar, Mary Jane Chamberlain (Howard) and Vaughan spent part of June in Roanoke while Vaughan took the examination.

Marion Rozboril (Geuther) writes that after a year of graduate work at TCC of Syracuse University she has been teaching in the public schools at Binghamton. She and Del spent their honeymoon last winter in Florida and Cuba. On the way Marion showed Williamsburg to Del, who did some sketches of the place. Marion said that Lucille Bodwell (Macon) is very well pleased with her home in Littleton, N. H. Marion and Del will build a summer place in the Catskills.

In June Bill Britton was ordained priest. Now he has four churches and is chaplain of the Boys' Industrial School, all near Richmond. He enjoys his additional job of training the seniors in the high school in public speaking and dramatics.

A very happy couple are the Joe Doyles (Getta Hirsch). They have just returned to their respective marketing research jobs (Getta with Stewart Dougall, and Joe with General Foods) from a lazy vacation in Cape Cod. They like to exchange ideas about their jobs and have their new apartment well filled with all sorts of free samples. Getta sent the news that Sheila Keane spent the summer in Ireland, with side trips to England and Paris. Elaine Lewis drops Getta enthusiastic notes from various spots over Europe. The last item from Getta is that she has recently seen the small sons of Louisa Dietz (Gulick) and Beth McClelland (Orvis), both of whom are fine boys.

Switzerland—Huttenstrasse 45, Zurich 6, is the address of Barbara Hamilton (Hart). Barbara and Dave arrived in Switzerland last September, and for the past year Dave has been studying analytical psychology, both at the University of Zurich and at the C. G. Jung Institute. Barbara has been taking some courses at the Institute, too—fortunately in English, she says. Both the Harts have met Dr. Jung and are convinced that Jungian psychology has more significance than Freudian psychology. In two more years they'll be coming home, after Dave finishes his course. This summer they vacationed in Klosters, in the Swiss Alps, a place where one can swim in an outdoor pool surrounded by snow-capped mountains. Last Christmas Barbara and Dave went to Paris, the Riviera, and all through Italy, as far as Capri. In the spring they spent two months driving through southern and middle England.

In the fall Dave and Barbara will return to Zurich—to their new apartment, quite a find in Zurich, too, it seems. Besides their school and Barbara's house-keeping, they enjoy quite a bit of bridge and social life with people of many nationalities and have been skiing. It all sounds like a dream come true.

Another who is having a fascinating time is Dot Johnson, the Children's Librarian at the Public Library in Hagerstown, Maryland. Dot has a story hour on the local radio station, on which she entertains visiting authors and people of note. For her vacation she joined some Abingdon friends for a trip through the Southern States and a cruise to Cuba. Dot catches all of the Barter Theater plays and has just enjoyed seeing the Virginia Highlands Handicraft Exhibit.

After a year of shore duty in Annapolis, Ken Murray, '44, will be going back to sea—which means that wife Sunny Manewal and son Rip, 2, will be moving, but they don't know where.

Nancy Gibb (Jones), her husband, and three small sons, David, 5½, Teddy, 2½, and Steven, 5 months, have moved to 635 South Lincoln Street, Hinsdale, Ill.

Audrey Fountain writes that Mary Jane Holloway's new address is: Mrs. E. H. Mann, 72 Harvard Street, Pittsfield, Massachusetts.

Margie Knepp (Dodson), Joe, and two children hope to visit Virginia this Christmas. Edie McChesney spent a fine vacation in Canada with relatives.

Jeanne Schoenewolf (Preston) will be at 208 Church Street, Emporia, Virginia, while Page finishes his graduate work at George Washington Law School. In February they will return to Kingsport, Tennessee.

Bill Heffner has been elected president of the student body at the Virginia Theological Seminary. Congratulations, Bill.

Margie Sease (Burruss) and husband Bill are in Williamsburg. Bill manages the Princess Anne Motor Lodge, the new colonial-design court on Richmond Road.

The Burrusses have two children.

This fall Nancy Carnegie is changing jobs, from the Visiting Nurse Service in Akron to being school nurse for the community around Exeter, New Hampshire. (Her address is Jady Hill, Exeter.) Nan and her sister, a lab technician, have an apartment in the second floor of a remodeled, old-time New England carriage house.

Jean Berman (Intermaggio) has joined a dance group, besides doing her office and housework in Ithaca, New York.

Recently Dee Dumas (Coburn) enjoyed a visit from Ellie Dumper (Singer), '44, and husband Bill on their way to Winnipeg.

In June Lyon Tyler received his law degree from the University of Virginia. He is now employed as law clerk to Judge Armistead M. Dobie of the U. S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit, with headquarters in Charlottesville. He writes that R. C. Williamson, now living in Staunton, is a partner in the Whitten Potato Chip Company.

Mack and Betty Butt (Pusey) have moved to the Bradley Boulevard Apartments in Bethesda, Maryland. They are just back from a trip through New England. They saw Betty Havey (Johnson) in New York.

Norma Keith Bradshaw (Carmines) and "Wimpy" are fixing up their new house at 136 Chesterfield Road, Hampton. Norma K. plans to teach again this semester. She and Bettymay Becan (Gaston) live near each other and get together quite often. Bettymay and husband Dick recently "took in" New York, a la Hotel Commodore and "Mr. Roberts" and "Where's Charley." Last summer Dick and Bettymay participated in the Chamberlain Hotel play, "The Man Who Came to Dinner," with Dick playing the romantic lead and Bet painting such sets as an Egyptian mummy case. Bettymay is the official art advisor for the Girl Scouts of Elizabeth City County.

After a fine summer vacation of two months, Jeanie Boyle is ready to resume her job as "truant officer." In July she spent a weekend with Marion Lang and Ted van Dam and their son Tommy. Betty Willcox (D'Agostino) and her husband "Doc" came over and told all about their wonderful Leavitt house in Hicksville, L. I. Jeanie also spent a weekend in Cape May with Edie Burkard, '44, and was fortunate to see Dr. and Mrs. Pomfret, who have a home there.

ROBERT E. HENLEY, '06, President RICHMOND, VA.

be at Camp Shanks, New York, for a year, and then at West Point for the next three.

Betty Aurell (Schutz) has been busy keeping up with her two children. She furnished a new address for Mary Raney (Begor): Apt. D-3, St. James Terrace, Newport News.

Taylor, 3 years, and David, 11 months, keep Jean Clark and Virgil Ford, '43, occupied most of the time. The Fords have lived in Norfolk for four years, since Virgil first got out of the service. Virgil has his own studio and teaches popular and classical music.

Joyce Brewer (Ricketts) and her husband Bill are house-hunting in the suburbs of Philadelphia. Joyce tells us that Dossie Blake (Woods) and Dick are also anxious to get out of the Philadelphia heat. The Woods children are David 2, and Michael 3 months. Roselle Miller (Blackburn) has a house in Fredericksburg, with walls three feet thick to keep out the torrid summer air. Roselle has two sons and a daughter.

Gloria Chrestlick (Stulberg) received her MS in social service in February of '49 at the University of Buffalo, where her husband Burton is presently enrolled in the School of Medicine. Shirley Latham was maid of honor at Gloria's wedding in June. Shirley's parents have sailed for Germany, where Shirley may soon join them. The Stulbergs ran across several Old Grads at the wedding of Eleanor Westbrook (Heider), '47, in Jamestown, New York, recently.

Catherine Tomlinson (Bartlett) spent part of the summer in Maine and Glen Ridge, New Jersey, visiting, while Bart took his two weeks' Navy duty at Indian Head, Maryland. In Maine, she took part in Peggy Johnson's wedding. Cath often sees her sister-in-law, Alice White (Tomlinson), '46, who recently attended a weekend party of William and Mary girls at Lucille McCormick's.

From Cathy comes the news that Peg Johnson (Smart)'s new address is 327 Beacon Street, Boston 16, Massachusetts. Husband Bud (William J.) has one more year at Boston University. Peggy will keep working for a while, with a little housekeeping to use up the rest of her time.

38 Wiggins Street, Princeton, New Jersey, is Dinny Lee's new address. Dinny has a roommate who writes the Class of '46 column for Sweet Briar—so I feel that I have an ally up there. Dinny's job concerns personnel, especially employee service such as life insurance and a house newspaper, for the Educational Testing Service, an independent organization which furnishes research and testing data to many colleges over the country. The company services, among their largest testing programs, the college entrance examination, the graduates record examination, the medical college admission test, and the law school admission test. With the variety of problems that arise, Dinny is ready to tackle any task—even mind-reading. Although Princeton was terribly hot last summer, Dinny enjoyed the summer amateur and professional theater and the several summer sports that are offered there.

Martha Macklin (Smith) and Herb are settled at Virginia Beach, Herb graduated from the University of Virginia in June. Kay Johnson (Selton) is living at Fort Benning.

That winds up this quarter's news. Here's to a good crowd of '45ers at Homecoming . . . and even better AT FINALS! Keep the mail coming. And if anyone is looking for a beautiful honeymoon spot—it's Bermuda!

1946 Secretary,
EDITH HARWOOD (SMITH)
362 Westfield Road
Scotch Plains, N. J.

Seem to have lots of news for this issue. First will catch up on the newsy letters that arrived just a little too late for the April deadline.

Glad to hear from Dottie Fitzcharles (Babbitt), who is living in Middletown, Conn., Box 127 Wesleyan University with her husband and her two-year-old little girl Patty. Her husband Lew was graduated from Wesleyan University in June and is remaining on at the college with a job as executive assistant to the college president.

Vince Woolley wrote that he has been with Upjohn Co. since he graduated, first in Petersburg and now in Newport News. Vince has two little boys and his home address is 847 15th St. His territory includes Williamsburg, so he's able to visit the Alma Mater and keep up with the changes.

Other faithful correspondents wrote to keep us posted on Spring alumni reunions. Carol MacNeill has been active in the N. Y. Alumni. Carol got a promotion and transfer last Nov. and is now personnel manager for the White Plains store of B. Altman and Co. Daphne Andrews (Crum) was a good secretary and wrote a long letter with news of the N. Y. alumni meeting.

Doris Brandt came up from Baltimore for the occasion, though she didn't drive her new Crosley to the big city. Doris was staying with Peggy King, who has been working on her masters in educational psychology at Fordham University.

Al Appell was there and Janet Hilton (Antolick) and her husband.

Ann Singer wrote that the first meeting of the Chicago alums was most successful. Other 46's present were Joy Allen (Raulfs) and Frances Thompkins (Fletcher). Fran has since moved East, but more news about her later. Ann Singer has been transferred again. She is now personnel manager of a new, larger Sears Roebuck Store—address 413 W. Washington St., Waukegan, Illinois.

Also while on vacation in June, Ann was hoping to make a trip to Ashland to see Jan Freer (Scantlebury) and baby Alice.

Janet Hilton (Antolick) and her husband returned to 34 Rugby Rd., Brooklyn 26, N. Y. after being in El Salvador, from June through December. They lived 1000 ft. above the city in a Spanish style house. While there they flew to Tegucigalpa, Honduras for a short trip and were amazed to find that Honduras had no paved roads nor railroads. They were fortunate to be able to study many of the customs of the natives of both countries. In February at Betty Driscoll's wedding to Jim Moore in N. Y. C. she saw Peggy Burdick who was also there. Peggy is still with the recreation dept. in Baltimore.

Fritz Zepht, 23733 Detroit Rd., Westlake, Ohio, Tommy Smith and Nancy Grube were our faithful reunioners at finals. By the way, our President Grubie received a lot of publicity and her picture in the paper—being carried away by "Cavemen" in Washington, as part of a publicity tour of a Grant's Pass, Oregon citizens group. The "Cavemen" looked realistic enough, and everyone including the Congressmen seemed to be having a good time.

Betty Jane Relph (Crockett) and Clint were up from Arlington, Texas with their 3-month-old son. B. J.'s sister and Clint's brother both graduated so all the grandparents were there and they had someone to baby sit for them while they attended the dance. They were also planning to be in Virginia for 2 weeks vacation. Their new address is: 909 W. Sanford St., Arlington, Texas.

Joyce Remsburg (Shank) and her husband were also there for the dance. They are at 7007 Fordham Court, College Park, Maryland.

Mary Laura Hoey came down from Deal, N. J. and stayed with Cecy Cunningham. She has a new job with Jersey Central and Power with the publicity dept. and does such things as arrange banquets, press conferences, pose for publicity shots, etc.

Also June was filled with weddings of our classmates: Fred Frechette's, Dot Scarborough's, Monie Price's, and Jerrie Healy's Fred had Tommy Smith as best man. Margery Wallace was one of Dottie's attendants. Pam Pauly and Shirley Printz were in Monie's wedding. Bev Rose (Deans) had a bridge party for Monie in her new home on the By Pass Road. Dottie Schwarz, Betsy Hall, and Cecy were there.

I was very fortunate to be able to make a visit for a week in Staunton and be Jerrie Healy's matron of honor. Enjoyed so much seeing Jerrie and meeting Allen. Tas Mitchell, Barbara (Nicky) Nycum (Moore) and Allison, and Carol Beinbrink were there for the wedding. Jerrie and Allen honeymooned at Sea Island, Georgia, and are now living in a new apartment—104 E. Laburnum Ave., Apt. 3, Richmond. Allen graduated as an electrical engineer from the University of Virginia and is working with General Electric in Richmond as salesman of heavy equipment.

Tas Mitchell is still working in Sears in Richmond and is planning her wedding to Bob Hall, who is now down at Georgia Tech majoring in industrial management.

I see Carol Sterner, who lives in the next town. Carol started work again Sept. 1st for Chicopee Mills, Inc. in N. Y. C. This summer she took a trip out to Lansing, Michigan to see Annis McLean (Fluharty), husband and little girl Susan. Carol also visited Marilyn Wood in Green Bay, Wisconsin, whose little Linda is nearly 2 years old. Then Carol saw Marge Retzke, and Mike Murphy (Cunningham) in Chicago.

Last Friday Carol saw Marnie Bevans and Sally Lou Smith in N. Y. C. Sally is still working for Eastern Airlines. She's going to visit Sunny Sunstrom in Sea Island, Georgia. Marnie is still working for the State Dept. in Washington.

Clara Moses (Herndon) wrote saying that she and Bill are moving to Brookneal, Virginia, where Bill is going to be a partner in a Chevrolet agency.

Betty Grodecour (Gleeson) is living in Barnesville, Ohio with her husband Chick and little girl, who was a year old in August. Chick is a manager of a Murphy store.

Mary Brooks Harper (Kopp) and John have moved to 906 Carswell Ave., Waycross, Georgia, where John and a friend are setting up a law practice. John graduated from Mercer University in June '49 with a B.A. and law degree, passed the Bar in Feb.

Harold Reid was married in August. He has been member of the staff of Norfolk newspapers since graduation and is now with the Journalism Dept. of Norview High School and administrative staff of Norfolk County school system.

Eugene "Red" Wood was ordained to Sacred Order of Deacons on Saturday May 28, 1949 at Saint Andrews Episcopal Church, Hilton Village. Red and Mary are now living in Boston while he is doing some graduate work there.

Betty Cutshall is living at 3014 St. Paul St., Baltimore, Md.

Jerald A. Bowman, M.D. was married in July and is a resident in surgery at Henrotin Hospital in Chicago.

Herman Midkiff was married in June and living in Keeling. He attended Medical College of Va. School of Pharmacy, spent 2 years in the Army, and is at present attending Medical College of Va. School of Dentistry.

Ann Anthony Lester (Monterosa) has moved to 31 Ord St., San Francisco, Cal. Tony is a lab technician in a Dr.'s office.

in April '49 to succeed Mrs. Glenwood Clark as Colonial Williamsburg's assistant director of flower arrangements.

Lester Hooker left his position as athletic director at Smithfield High in June to coach football at George Washington High of Danville. His '48 team at Smithfield compiled the best record in the school's history.

Richard MacCracken's address is Guilford Apartments, No. 2, Baltimore 2, Maryland.

Carey P. Modlin, Jr., received his M.A. degree in economics from Princeton University.

Robert Harold Walters was graduated from General Theological Seminary in N. Y. C. His charge is All Saints Church, South Hill.

James "Pete" Christian married Libby Baynard and is now in business with Libby's father.

Julia Woodbridge has been transferred with N.A.C.A. to Muroc, California—Box 273.

Floyd Garland Shelton's address is 204 Church Street, Danville. He was just graduated in August and has joined our class. Three other new members as of June 1949 are: Jesse Moir Alderman, James Brooks Warwick, and Harry Edmond Webb, Jr.

Mary "Deeks" Phipps is vacationing in Europe and will return in September. Jene Carr (Dent) is living at 3460 Howard Rd., Richmond.

Carol Parker (Shafer) is living at 6925 Glasgow Ave., Los Angeles 45, California.

James Hendry is with the State Dept. at Peiping, China, but no mail is going there at present. His home address is 632 Roanoke Ave., Riverhead, N. Y.

Phyllis Laskey (Renick) is living in Richmond while her husband is going to V.P.I.

Cecil Burton Dixon was married in June. He attended University of North Carolina after leaving W and M. He was graduated this June from Medical School of University of Tennessee in Memphis.

John George McSherry was married in May. He left for a trip through the West and is making his home in Seattle where he has position with Boeing Aircraft Corporation. He graduated from the University of Minnesota as an electrical engineer.

Frank Greniker Davis is a buyer for Lion Dry Goods Co., Toledo 3, Ohio.

Patty Wattles (Spiegel) and Bill will be at M.I.T. for this next year.

I have seen quite a few of our Alums this summer. Mary Sue Ebeling came on to visit us for a week in August. She will be teaching junior primary in the Robert E. Lee School in Richmond this year. While she was here we had a small reunion on Saturday evening with Betty Marie Ellett (Klugh) and husband Buddy who had come on to N. Y. C. for the weekend. My, but the time did fly by quickly. Hadn't seen Betty Marie since graduation. Buddy has been accepted at Medical College in Little Rock, Ark.

I drove back from Staunton with Carol Beinbrink in her new Plymouth convertible. Carol is working for her dad on Long Island, paper business I believe.

Just this minute Edie Marsh (Wakefield) dropped by. Edie is up for a visit to see her folks in Westfield. She looks very well and we are planning to get together with Fran Loesch (Brunner) whom I also see occasionally around town.

Was looking through the Reader's Digest this June and saw an article in "Life in These United States" signed by Julia Thompkins (Ramsey). Sure enough after writing Judy, I found out it was our Judy Thompkins. She, husband Gene, and daughter Cindy, have been living in Brunswick, Maine, where Gene was going to Bowdoin. He graduated Magna Cum Laude, Phi Beta Kappa, and also won a prize for being the best student in political economy. They are leaving Bowdoin Sept. 1st for Westhampton Beach, N. Y. for a year. Gene is interested in writing and will be working on a novel. Then he hopes to go to graduate school to get his master's in American History.

Fran Thompkins (Fletcher) and Felix and young Judy who is 5 years old have moved on from Chicago to Westhampton. Fran and Judy will be living in the same two-family apartment house together.

Gloria Iden (Palm) had Shirley Printz as one of her attendants in her wedding. Gloria and Max were going on a trip to Mexico and then plan to live in Cincinnati, her husband's home.

Well, I guess I've come to the end of the news for this issue. Please answer my post card inquiries and keep us posted on your doings. Many thanks to those who have been so faithful in writing and supplying me with the news.

The class of '47 certainly came through with information for the alumni office these past four months. Cecy Cunningham has passed on a whole heap of notes, so here goes.

Susie Seay (Henzie) was visiting here in Virginia for several weeks this spring. She stayed for the wedding of her sister Lebe, '44, and then returned to Los Angeles where her husband George will practice law.

Ordway Benjamin Gates, Jr., is now employed as an aeronautical research scientist at NACA, Langley Field. He is doing graduate study at the University of Virginia Extension. He and his wife, Nancy Cogbill, '46, have three sons and are living at 143 Essex Street, Newport News.

Shirley Mason (Paxton) '47, and her husband Ronald are now living in Richmond. India Boozer (Harrison) and husband Don left Williamsburg the first of September and have headed for New Haven, Conn. Don will take graduate work and India says she is job hunting for something in the sociology line.

Peggy Pennewell, '48, was here in summer school doing graduate work. She is teaching Chemistry at Hampton High School.

Among those of the class who are now in Washington, is Edith Vance who is working for the FBI.

The names of P. D. Reynolds, Brooke Robertson, and Willard S. Smith all were registered in the Alumni office over finals week end.

Jane Hogg (Baker) was married in June and is now living in Bluefield, West Virginia.

Our honorary class member Dr. Grace Warren Landrum arrived home in Williamsburg in May. She is now living at 706 Pollard Park after spending the summer visiting friends and relatives.

Richard G. Quynn was one of twelve men awarded master of science degrees from the Institute of Textile Technology, University of Virginia, in June.

A job with the Senate Judiciary Committee keeps Barbara Duborg on the go. She finally got away on Saturday of finals week end, just in time to see brother George graduate. Barbara was hoping that if Congress ever did recess this year that she would get down for a real visit in the 'burg.

Dennis Wine left his farm for the summer and came back to student life during the summer session.

A letter from Inyokern, California, announces that Dev Levin (Williams) and her husband have wandered far. Dev is working in the Technical Library at the Naval Station there while her husband is in the Design Office.

Further word from Marilyn Woodberry (Brown) indicates that she and Pep are still at Lawson Hospital in Chamblee, Georgia, and expect to remain for 3 or 4 years. Marilyn is working as a receptionist in the South East district office of Westinghouse.

The "Miami Jiffy Car Wash" is the latest project of Ed Druker. According to its owner "it will be the most modernistic car wash in the south and the only one of its kind in Miami." Ed also has the key dealership for all Goodrich products in that area.

"Johnny" Payne '47, (remember the boy who fell out of a tree while spying on a secret session of the freshman tribunal) graduated from Alabama Polytechnic Institute. He and his wife are both in the publishing field and living in San Francisco.

First prize of $250 in the nationwide "Commercial Law Journal" essay contest was awarded to Stanley Mervis who has gone on to law school here.

Janet Campbell (Alley), husband Lofton and son Robert are now at Camp Holabird, Maryland.

Carroll Callis finished her hospital training in December and is now medical technologist for Dr. D. W. Howard in Portsmouth.

Stella Withers writes that she flew to Jamaica this summer for a visit with Pat Nunes. Pat has given up her job as secretary to the principal of the local school on the island and will remain here in the states after she pays a visit to Stella at her home in Tampa, Florida.

Mount Vernon, New York, is the new address of Jane Heller who will be teaching art there for the school year.

A news bulletin from the University of Arizona announces that Helen Fisher has been appointed a fellow in the Arizona State Museum and will join the staff on September 1. For the past year she has been assistant secretary in the Brooklyn Children's Museum. Her duties at the Arizona Museum will include the developing of a children's program.

Virginia Millard (Scott) and her husband are living in Norfolk. Ginny has kept her job as a child welfare worker for the city.

Betty Borenstein is still as enthusiastic as ever about nursing at Johns Hopkins. While she was on her vacation she sent me a card from Canada. Her trip took her through Pennsylvania, to Lake George, Montreal, Quebec, Gaspé and down through the White Mountains of New Hampshire.

Betty also passed along the news that Rita Koppelman (Dinner) has a daughter Janice Sharon born last May. Rita and her family are living in Scranton.

Betts Gayner (Lundberg) is living in East Lansing, Michigan, with her husband Jim while he completes work on his master's degree at Michigan State.

Dawn Disney (Yorke) and her husband Jim are in Covington. Jim was graduated from North Carolina State College with honors and now has a position with one of the large wood and pulp companies.

It is now Ensign Dorothea Shinn of the WAVES. She has been transferred from Newport, Rhode Island to a naval base near Washington.

GINNA Lewis is attending secretarial school in New York and at the same time rehearsing for a television show.

Mimi White (McNulty) writes that she and Bill and four-month-old daughter Carol have moved into a Quonset Hut Village near the Yale Bowl.

On July 8, Rev. Ben B. Bland sailed for a two months trip abroad. The trip was given to Mr. Bland by the congregation of his two Eastern Shore Churches.

Richard Margolis will be going on to Western Reserve University and Lakeside Hospital in Cleveland this fall where he will begin his last two years of medicine. He received his certificate of medicine from the University of North Carolina in June.

I am hoping to see a good many of you this Homecoming. A week afterward I am resigning from my job with Colonial Williamsburg and going to St. Petersburg, Florida. After the fifteenth of October the address of the class secretary will be 6191 Third Avenue, South, St. Petersburg 7, Florida. Just because it is a new address don't let it keep you from writing.

1948 Secretary,
MARY MINTON CREGOR
Anchorage, Kentucky

It's hard to realize that we are well into our second year as alums. Tempus is certainly fugiting. Fall and football are back again bringing that old nostalgia. The thought of Homecoming always makes me wish that I lived a little closer to the scene of action.

Now for some news of the summer. A fine time must have been had in Williamsburg August 20 by those attending the wedding of one Dusty Ash to Jo Wattles, '49. The wedding took place at Bruton Parish with a reception at the Inn. They plan to live in Evanston while Dusty continues his teaching at North-western.

Heard via Barbie Hughes that Fran Fleming has been at Michigan State working on her M.A. Also that Bud Jones has a job with a newspaper in Mount Pleasant, Michigan, as a reporter.

Bill and Helenette Newing (Hanson) have a beautiful three-room apartment in Endicott, New York. Last fall Bill attended the Ford Merchandising School for five weeks in Detroit and is now the sales manager at the Ford dealership there in Endicott and Helenette is working at the bank.

From the Alumni Office comes the following news: Robert Burger, Philip Lambdin, Albert Lang and Edmund Nielsen of the class of '48 graduated this past June.

Maybin Baker is back in the USAF as a first lieutenant stationed in the Panama Canal Zone. He has been assigned to the First Rescue Squadron and finds the work very interesting. He is on flying status and flies an assortment of planes. Now that he has his college degree, he is applying for a regular commission. . . Lou Hoitsma has been added to the Indian coaching staff. He will be an assistant coach and instructor in Physical Education. . . Tom Mikula has returned to Alma Mater to coach, too. He recently was awarded his master's degree in Physical Education from Columbia University. . . Ralph Sazio has been signed by the Chicago Hornets (néé Rockets) of the All-American Conference. . . Harvey Chappell was elected president of the Wythe Law Club for this year. He also edited the second issue of the William and Mary Review of Virginia Law. . . . Edward French is in Mexico City as an applicant for livestock inspector. . . Robert Streckroth has been named head football coach and Athletic Director at Warwick High School near Newport News. He took over his duties August 15. He worked toward his master's this past summer. . . Ben and Jim Bray were again in the cast of the "Common Glory." Jim was cast in the role of Patrick Henry which, like the entire drama, had been revised and made his one of the most important roles. . . Lois Willis is working at the Library of Congress. . . Bertie Coulter (Dolan) and Don and their son are back in the Burg for Don to continue his studies. . . M. Winona Colona attended the summer session at the University of Virginia. . . As nearly everybody reads the "Evening Bulletin," it was noted that Bren Macken was robbed of $20 when a masked robber invaded a room of the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel in Baltimore in which he and two other tennis stars were. The three were members of the Middle States team which lost the Church Cup to the Eastern States' squad on the grass courts of Baltimore Country Club later in the day. . . Jim Fitzpatrick, who is studying for a master's degree in economics at Columbia University, "interned" this summer at the State (Va.) Division of Planning and Development. He helped with regional studies and industrial surveys. He returned to Columbia in September to complete his graduate work. . . Elaine O'Hare is assistant buyer for the Jordan Marsh Company in Boston, Mass. . . As of March 14 Jo-Ann Prince has been a chemical research lab technician with the Bates Manufacturing Company. . . Jack Fritz spent the summer at Martha's Vineyard helping to manage a summer tennis club. As he said, what an ideal way to combine a vacation and a summer job. . . Nancy Morton spent the summer with her parents. . . Eugene Black was commissioned a second lieutenant in the USAF on June 30, at San Antonio, Texas, number 18 in an OCS class of 300. . . After a trip west, Helen Stapf is now working on cancer research for the Johns Hopkins University. She says it's fascinating. . . Joan Teer traveled west with her family for a month, after a short visit to the Burg in May. She is now back in N. Y. C. in the apartment with Marcia Magill who just received her master's at Columbia in English Literature. Beatrice Hafner lived with them for the summer. Marcia is now doing editorial work for Doubleday and Com-

Nothing like jumping out of the Colonial Echo fire and into the ALUMNI GAZETTE frying pan. I'm surprised that a class as discriminating as ours would let me juggle half of their names (A-K) and ever-changing addresses following last June's publication. A big Hello anyhow, to the newest members of the Society of Alumni! From all reports William and Mary in 1949 has made a noteworthy contribution to the pavement-pounding, job-hunting graduates of the country. In a more pleasant vein we'll start with the news of those more fortunate souls who will once again be in school this year.

Dick Bethards (that's a good place to start) is at Harvard taking graduate work in English this fall. Understand that he was in the burg for two weeks this summer. Ray Freed is back at William and Mary taking education, and Don Harrison is at Yale. Bernard Carver is attending M.I.T. this year. Cecil Evans has entered Med. school at the U. of Va.

The campus is once more graced with a number of us this fall. Jay Ball, Harvey Jacobson, Raleigh Cooley and Lorin Brown are in law school. Harry Alley is also back in school. Harry "Red" Caughron is coaching at the College. Gretchen Erb, back from a summer in Mexico and thereabouts, has settled down to the reality of the Hampton Roads office of the College. Dennis (Erie Canal) Cogle has a job in the Virginia Fisheries Laboratory, while wife, Jeanne Harrup (Cogle) works for the College. Beverly Bass (Luther) is teaching school this fall as Bill has one more year at W and M. Mary Lee Carter is working in the registrar's office. Margaret Alford (Cook) is managing the Bridle Path Riding Stables in Williamsburg. Harry Tanzer is teaching the seventh grade at Matthew Whaley. He and Bernie Goldstein, '42, have an apartment over Steve Sacalis' new store unit on Prince George Street.

Elsewhere in the state—Chick Cornell is managing a Smithfield clothing store. Bob Gill is teaching in the high school at Blackstone, and Margaret Brewer (Moore) is teaching in Roanoke this fall. Ralph Hendrix has joined Suey Eason's coaching staff at Hampton High. Audrey Allein is living in Alexandria and works at the Red Cross office there.

Marie Blair is on a special one-year archives project for the Red Cross. Helen "Chub" Hopkins is also working for the Red Cross at their National headquarters—seems that our class was especially generous with the Red Cross.

Mary Gerschank visited in Williamsburg this summer en route to a Barter Theater production.

Dick Carter is working for Westinghouse in Mansfield, Ohio. Dave Henritze is located in Atlanta, where he is associated with the Travelers Insurance Company. Bob Cartwright is working in Washington for Capital Airlines. Vernon Andrews is working in New York for the Shell Oil Co.

Number 1 man on our tennis team for two years, Fred Kovaleski, gave working for a Detroit oil company a try this summer. Fred is not certain whether he will be playing again next summer.

Kenneth Jones is now working as a Claim Adjuster for an attorney in St. Louis.

Heard from Mary Louise Hostetter. She was touring the country for a month this summer with three friends.

By way of changed addresses—Jane Coleman (Teach) and Charlie are living in Pittsburgh. Harmon Hoffman has moved to Washington as has Nellie Bering. I have moved temporarily too, as you may have noticed since I will be on B. Altman's Training Squad for the next year. Jeanne Wright and I are having a fling at keeping house. Ann Hirsch came from Ohio to work at Altman's too.

Dick Beatty is of course in England at Exeter. Gene Griffin wrote reports of a wonderful time in Oslo, Norway.

That's all I've heard about A-K in the class of '49. Here goes with the L-Z's.

Secretary,

Part II

As I send this in, "Summertime is nearly over," and I suppose most of you are adjusting yourselves to your new activities. Don't forget to write and let us know about them!

Although this letter is supposed to contain news of L through Z class members, it looks like there are a few items from the rest of the alphabet—my apologies to Jean Foote.

We were well represented in the "Common Glory" this year: James Weddle and Warren Sprouse sang in the choir—Warren was also assistant choir director;

Counting February, June and August commencements, the Class of 1949 has a total of 506 graduate members—the largest in the College's history. Of this number, 145 (28.66%) have joined the Society of Alumni and will regularly receive the ALUMNI GAZETTE. The October issue is being sent to the entire class which, it is hoped, will interest those who have not joined to do so.

Lou Creekmur sold hot dogs at the refreshment stand; and Wilford Leach was stage electrician. Willie will be an assistant in the dramatic department at Hollins College this year.

Lois Settle is teaching in the Warwick-York County system. Francis McFall is track coach at Warwick High. Chester Mackiewicz is coaching at Clifton Forge, and Brack McCaskey is teaching in Norfolk. Estelle Tankard and Anne Williamson are teachers in Roanoke.

Mary Lou Sibley is also in the Burg; she is working for the Chamber of Commerce and is sharing an apartment with Jane Segnitz.

Eleanor Moses was appointed a page at the 58th Continental Congress of the DAR. She is a member of the junior membership committee and is employed by the General Electric Company in Lexington.

Mogene "Red" Newman is at W and M for graduate work while Richard Palcanis is doing graduate work at Chapel Hill. Robert Harper is working in Pittsburgh and doing graduate work in chemistry at the University of Pittsburgh.

Robert White is now associated with F. F. Ames, C.P.A., in Newport News. Raymond Pechan has a government job at Rich Square, N. C., Walton Turnbull is with State Planters Bank in Richmond while Roy Shelor is way out in Hollywood, California with the Commercial Credit Company.

William Phelan took summer school law courses at W and M, but is continuing his law work at Connecticut.

Ken Scott is at Princeton studying for his M.S. in political science. He spent the summer at his home in California; Ken and some other boys bought a car and took the scenic route to the coast from Chicago.

Bonnie Renninger (Steele) has a farm which she is planning to renovate in Southampton, Pa.

Dick Reinhardt is working for United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co. in Baltimore, Md. Ed Stubblefield will be in South America for two years with Bethlehem Steel Co. Ed Mikula is working in Norfolk; he and Muriel Wadsworth (Mikula), '48Bs, have twins. Congratulations!

Marianne Lewis-Jones and Leroy (Buddy) Canoles, '48Ba (see transition) will live in Charlottesville where he will attend law school at the University of Virginia.

When last heard of, Patricia Macken was busy defending her women's singles tennis championship up in Montreal.

Tommy Thompson did nobly in the All Star Game against the Philadelphia Eagles. Tommy is playing pro ball with the Cleveland Browns this year and will move to Lynchburg where he plans to enter the brokerage business after the Browns' season is over.

That's all for this time. Be good and don't forget that Homecoming is coming up soon. Will you be there?

CHAPTERS

Chicago—

Windy City alumni, having successfully staged their first meeting on June 17, now plan to do it again just before the Indians tackle Michigan State at East Lansing, October 15. Malcolm Sullivan, temporary president of the group, will call an informal meeting (probably at the University Club) and arrangements are being made for Chicago alumni to go over to the game in a group via bus.

Los Angeles—

Bill Parry and Marx Figley, president and secretary of the Los Angeles Chapter, are making plans for their second meeting—to be held sometime in October.
