KINGS

MUST

DIE

BE he scoundrel or saint, the death of a king has always been a tragic moment in history. And though the mob may have yelled for his head, when it fell there was silence and perhaps grief. Shakespeare knew this, and so does the modern press—and each have in their own way capitalized on the fact to move the hearts and emotions of men.

On the campus our hearts have been moved and we grieve, for a king is dead—the mighty American elm that for decades gave shade to Botetourt is gone, the victim of too much weather and a foreign disease. We watched the Colonial Williamsburg "charmen" dissect him; and more than one member of the College family stopped by to pay their last respects and remind the workmen, because of the proximity of Lord Botetourt, to take care for if they "harmed just one white hair of that noble stone head" they would incite the wrath and damnation of his many friends. The axe men did their job well; the tree is gone; and his lordship still stands in the warm autumn sun receiving his due from 660 freshmen.

There are other freshmen in the College yard, at first they were hardly noticed, but now that the one giant is gone we suddenly realized the presence and importance of recently-planted trees—the result of some good planning several years ago. Good planning in all phases of the academic community is absolutely important if we are going to enjoy shade or if we are going to enjoy a reputation for the highest achievements in the field of higher education. And our planning and planting must be diversified for overspecialization in any one thing or subject will lead only to mediocrity and grief. We are most fortunate that when the time of the elm has passed we shall still have oaks and beeches, magnolia and maples.

Living and working in a college community offers many advantages, chief among which is the association with the students. We see them as freshmen, eager and brave, ready to take all comers. We watch for four years, see many of the class develop the potential that was evident on their admissions request, see some fall by the way. When graduation comes members of the College family pause to speculate on the success we hope they will enjoy hoping for them and for the nation that they will accept President Chandler's challenge to equal and surpass the College's heritage, and perhaps somewhat selfishly wanting them to remember.

Newly planted trees and freshmen are good stimuli for thought. They are symbols of tomorrow, of hope, and of change. They cause us here in Williamsburg to plan, to reason, and to remember. That the trees receive the best place in the sun, and the students an enduring respect for truth is our responsibility. We must do all within our means to prepare the soil and nourish their youth, they must grow tall and strong for they have come to take the place of the giants that must fall.

THE 1958 William and Mary Fund has just passed the $20,000.00 mark. The class race saw the Class of 1933 jump into the lead with $1,541.00 and 119% of their goal. While The 1958 William and Mary Fund will continue until the end of the year, the principal effort has been made. However, alumni who have not contributed may look forward to receiving at least two more reminders in the mail.

A moment for thought:

to consider his newly launched college career*

ORIENTATION

APPROXIMATELY 660 freshmen—anxious and apprehensive—entered William and Mary early in September to begin for the most of them four years of academic work, recreation and fellowship.

As in past years an orientation program filled with aptitude tests, guided tours and mild hazing in front of the ever-still, ever-watchful Lord Botetourt helped the incoming freshmen to learn of William and Mary's academic program, history and traditions and its reputation for friendliness. The week-long (September 7 through 12) orientation schedule opened as in previous sessions with an address of welcome by President Alvin Duke Chandler and a late Sunday afternoon picnic supper in the Sunken Garden and ended with the signing of honor pledge cards and registration appointments. In between were lectures on the college library, the Reserve Officer Training Corps, a Colonial Williamsburg reception in the candlelit Capitol and a jazz concert.

The freshman class, the largest to enter William and Mary in a decade, is the first beginning class to have the opportunity to take advantage of an advanced placement and credit program whereby freshmen are able to obtain credit for college-level work taken on the secondary school level. Each incoming student was given advance placement tests offered by the College Entrance Examination Board. Upon the successful completion of the tests the superior students were granted college credit for their high school achievements. The departments of biology, chemistry, English, history, mathematics, modern languages and physics participated in the new program which has two basic advantages for the undergraduate.

First, it permits an able student to enrich his total program by providing him with more time to pursue courses in areas related to his field of concentration. It serves to offer him more election in his choice of course work during his last two years of college.

The second advantage of the program is that credits earned through advanced placement will be of material assistance in reducing the student's academic classroom requirements thereby enabling him to earn his bachelor's degree in less than four academic years. It will permit a graduate to assume the responsibilities of his chosen vocation or to commence his graduate studies at an early date.

Upperclassmen returning to William and Mary for the 1958-59 academic year (which started with Saturday classes, September 13) had an opportunity to enroll in the college's first honors program. Juniors and seniors with superior academic records (an above "B" average) who participate in the program take special reading and research courses under the direct supervision of a faculty member. The student also is required to submit an honors essay or complete an honors project and must satisfactorily perform in a comprehensive examination. Students completing the program will be awarded a degree with "honors," "high honors" or "highest honors."

Another academic program was initiated at William and Mary during the summer session. An intensive series of courses in chemistry, mathematics and physics have been designed to help high school teachers improve their science instruction methods. The undergraduate science-teaching plan prepares students to teach biology, chemistry, mathematics and physics in the secondary school system.

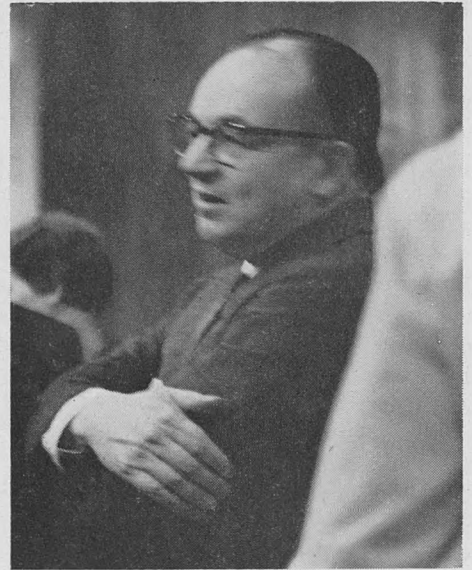

After registration, students—the freshmen and the 1,300 returnees—no sooner became settled in an academic routine when early rush opened and their schedules were disrupted as sororities and fraternities once again conducted their membership trackdown. But once rush week was over the real and complete freshmen orientation had ended. The freshmen then started with spirit and drive their William and Mary careers not so anxiously or apprehensively as when they first arrived bag in hand and hopes in heart.

Many college friends are created during orientation week meetings. One of the program's popular outings is a hot dog-and-soda picnic lunch held near Lake Matoaka.

ORIENTATION

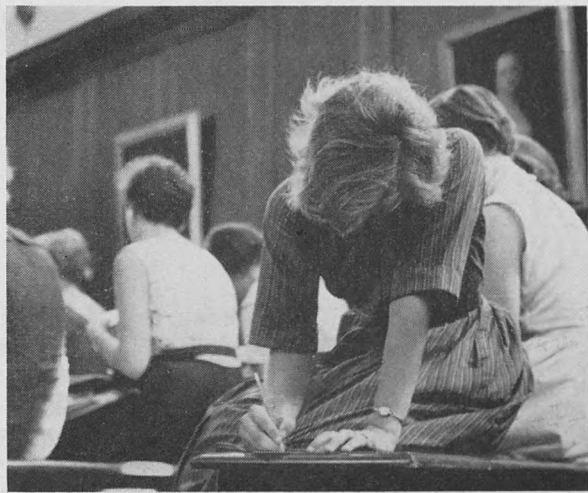

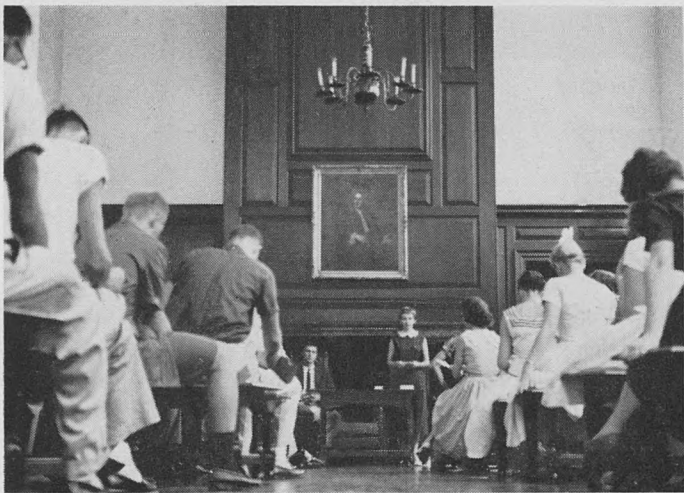

ORIENTATION is a period of acquaintanceship with William and Mary living and learning. The week-long get-together opens with a reception for new students and their parents given by President and Mrs. Alvin Duke Chandler (this year held in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall) and ends with class registration. During the week freshmen adopt their bennie insignias, participate in mild hazing stunts ("it never rains in Williamsburg!") and attend dances. Serious moments during the generally carefree schedule come during lectures on the honor system and placement tests.

IN his welcoming address, President Chandler urged the freshmen to "avail yourselves of the many educational and extra-curricular opportunities that await you and that at the end of four years you will have learned to love learning for learning's sake, that our college will have carved an enduring place in your life."

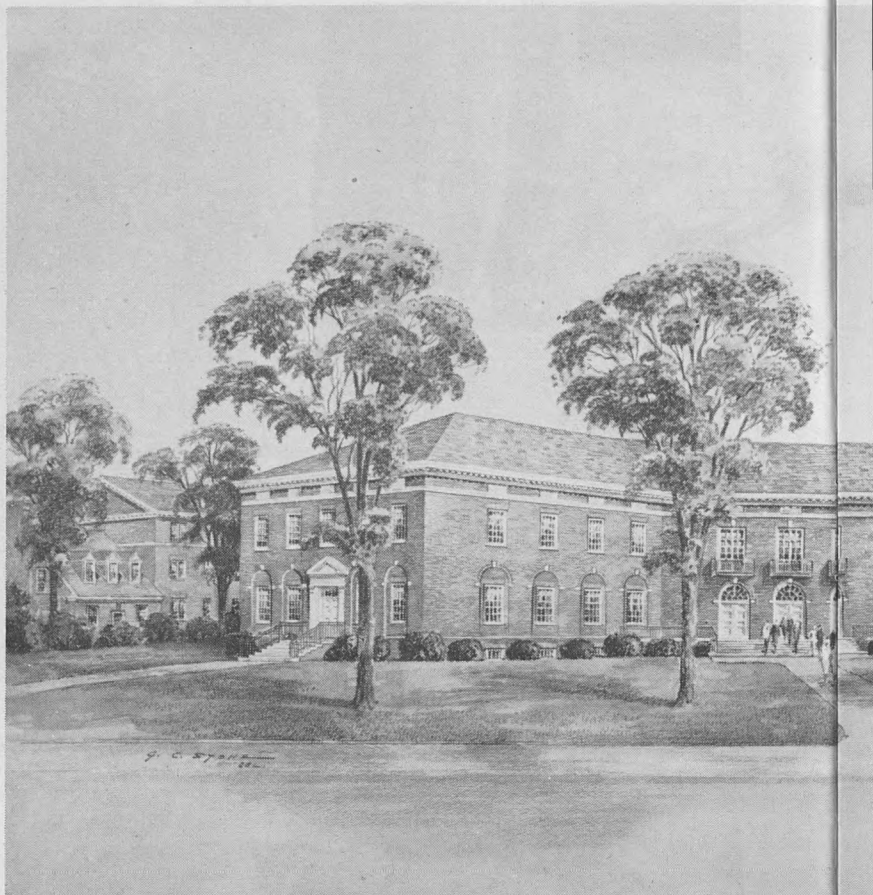

Long lines of lazy, lingering loafers mark orientation week as patient freshmen line up for placement tests and interviews or for talks on William and Mary's traditions, the honor system and the Reserve Officer Training Corps or for a cafeteria-cooked meal.

And the college's 266th academic year

WILLIAM and Mary, long known for its many academic priorities, quickly is becoming known for its enlarging and modern physical plant.

Within the past five years four new buildings—Bryan Hall, Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall, Ewell Hall and Landrum Hall—have been constructed and placed into service. Ground was broken in August for a fifth structure, the long-awaited Campus Center.

The two newest buildings—Landrum, a woman's dormitory adjacent to Chandler Hall, and Ewell, the college's music building erected where fire-destroyed Phi Beta Kappa Hall once stood—were put into use for the 1958 summer session. Bryan, a men's dormitory, was opened in 1953, and Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall, widely acclaimed as the best non-professional theatre in America, was completed in 1957.

Landrum Hall is named in honor of Dr. Grace Warren Landrum, dean of women and professor of English at William and Mary from 1927 to 1947. The new hall houses 217 students on four floors. It is equipped with a lounge, a recreational room, student kitchens, laundry and ironing rooms.

Ewell Hall honors Benjamin Stoddert Ewell, William and Mary's president from 1854 to 1888 who is remembered for keeping the college open by annually ringing the Wren Bell. Two previous campus buildings have been named for Ewell, but both have been torn down. The new hall (including the north wing of the old Phi Beta Kappa Hall) contains classrooms, large rehearsal rooms for the band and choir, individual music rehearsal rooms and faculty offices.

The Campus Center which will house student recreational facilities and offices for undergraduate extra-curricular activities is scheduled for completion before the start of the 1959-60 academic year. The two-story, brick building of modified Georgian style will be located between Taliaferro and Tyler Halls in front of and attached to Trinkle Hall. The center will face Jamestown Road.

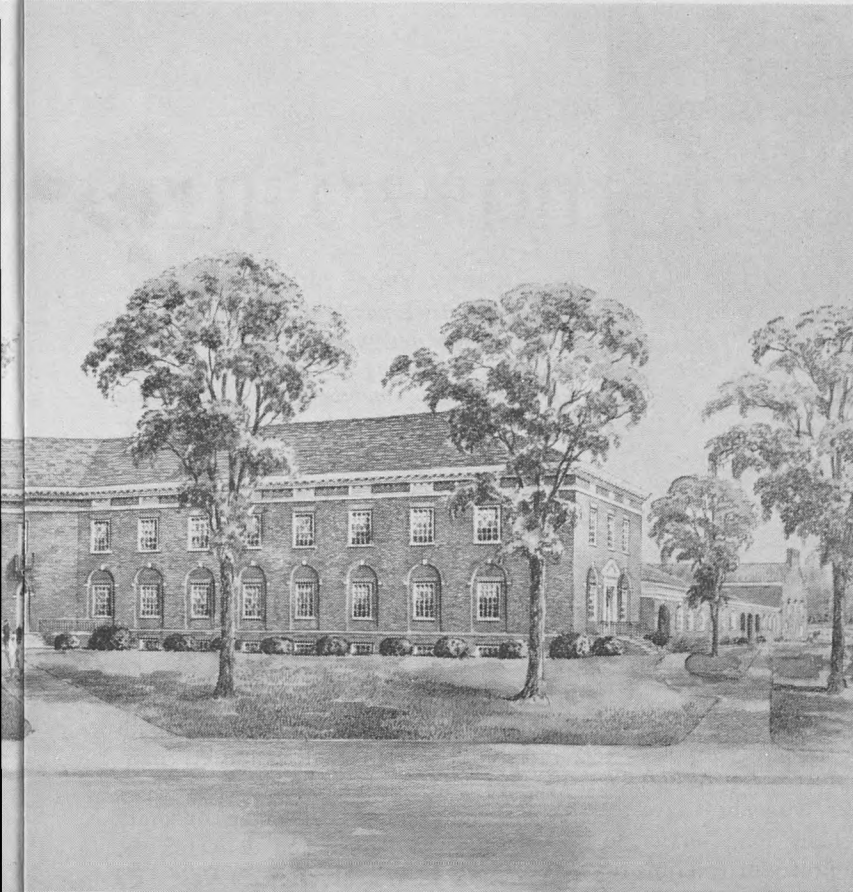

The basement of the Campus Center will include utility rooms, a craft shop, two photographic darkrooms, a game room, four bowling alleys, a billiard room and a 200-seat meeting room with a stage and movie projection booth. The meeting room also can be used for small dances.

A manager's office will be located on the first floor along with two music rooms for listening to phonograph records, a magazine browsing room, kitchen facilities and a large lounge that will open onto a terrace behind the Campus Center. Two covered walkways, one completely enclosed, will connect with Trinkle Hall.

On the second floor will be three meeting rooms, rest rooms and offices for the student government, The Flat Hat, The Royalist and The Colonial Echo. A room lined with file cabinets will hold records for various undergraduate organizations. A large oval-shaped ballroom (about the size of the small gym) will be on the second floor. The ballroom, incidentally, will have the only wood floor in the building.

The location of the Campus Center was selected because it is in the normal path of student traffic (to and from the cafeteria and the Duke of Gloucester Street). Studies at many colleges and universities have shown that campus centers must not be in out-of-the-way areas if they are to be used. The William and Mary Campus Center also is near adequate parking areas and existing campus pipe and power lines.

Sometime after the Campus Center has been completed the old Fine Arts Building, which will be in the front yard of the new center, will be torn down.

Other in-the-near-future building plans on the Williamsburg campus call for the construction of a pedestrian tunnel underneath Jamestown Road, two additional wings on Bryan Hall and a large and modern college library.

Because the growing William and Mary physical plant is the answer to long-time needs, the college has had an opportunity to consider and to plan at length the facilities most urgently required. The Campus Center, for instance, has been under serious consideration since 1940 when the then new General Co-operative Committee stated: "While the need for such a building has been evident for many years, it has not appeared as urgent as it does today. The improvement in the student morale by having such a building will, we feel, warrant the necessary cost of erecting such a building."

A committee under the chairmanship of Charles P. McCurdy, Jr., executive secretary of the alumni society, recommended a series of facilities to be included in the building. Student opinion surveys conducted by Dean of Students J. Wilfred Lambert and consultations with a professional director of a campus center added much information to the college's plans for the structure.

Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall, as reported previously in the ALUMNI GAZETTE, is the result of concentrated and lengthy studies and consultations. So is Landrum Hall. These studies of needed facilities have contributed in a large measure to the construction of buildings which contain many space-saving and money-saving features of advanced campus design.

But a college, and especially William and Mary, is more than bricks and ivy.

Most important, of course, is the faculty. William and Mary welcomed 23 new faculty members in September.

They are Joe Agee (BS '53), instructor in psychology; Richard D. Bullock, instructor in English; Deore Cannon, associate professor of education and director of counselling; Yerger H. Clifton, instructor in English; Frank C. DeSue, associate professor of mathematics; Armand J. Galfo, assistant professor of education; Leon Golden, instructor in ancient and modern languages; Paul L. Goodfriend, assistant professor of chemistry; Eugene Rae Harcum (BS '50), assistant professor of psychology; Charles R. Haywood, instructor in psychology; Thomas J. Hemmens, instructor in English; Robert D. Higginbotham, acting assistant professor of history; Ludwell H. Johnson, assistant professor of history; Robert L. Kernell, assistant professor of physics; Dave Nusz, assistant football and track coach; Clifford F. Owen, associate professor of economics; Talbot R. Selby, associate professor of ancient languages; Miss Joan Slaughter, instructor in English; William F. Swindler, director of development and professor of legal history; Louis F. Thompson, assistant professor of English; Louis L. Tucker, instructor in history; Edwin W. Webber, assistant professor of government, and Charles M. Woodliff, director of audio-visual education and assistant professor of fine arts.

Returning to William and Mary classrooms after leaves of absence are Abraham Hirsch, assistant professor of economics; Alexander Kallos, assistant professor of modern languages, and E. Lewis Hoffman, assistant professor of modern languages.

*Albin G. Taylor
professor emeritus in economics*

Two chancellor professors—Albin G. Taylor and A. Pelzer Wagenor—have retired after exceptionally long service to the college. Taylor, professor emeritus of political economy, first came to William and Mary in 1927 and Wagenor, professor emeritus of ancient languages, has taught at the college since 1929.

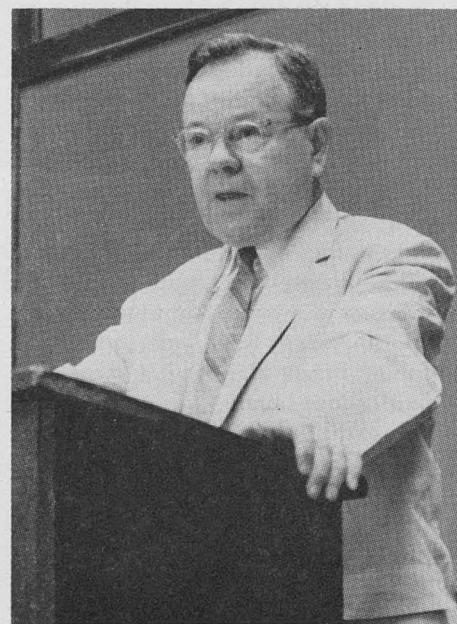

Two members of the administration—Charles F. Marsh, dean of the faculty, and Joe D. Farrar, dean of men—resigned this summer to accept other academic posts. Marsh, who has served William and Mary for 28 years as a faculty member and administrator, has assumed the presidency of Wofford College, a men's liberal arts institution closely associated with the Methodist Church in Spartanburg, S. C. W. Melville Jones, professor of English, has been appointed acting dean of the faculty. Farrar, dean of men since 1952, accepted the presidency of Pineland College and Edwards Military Institute in Salemburg, N. C. Amos O. Durett, Jr., who was assistant dean of men under Farrar, has been appointed acting dean.

Three new members of William and Mary's Board of Visitors were appointed last spring by Governor J. Lindsay Almond, Jr. They are James Asa Shield of Richmond who succeeds J. V. Bauserman of Woodstock; W. Brooks George of Richmond who succeeds James D. Carneal of Richmond and M. Carl Andrews of Roanoke who succeeds H. Hudnall Ware of Richmond.

In June William and Mary awarded 335 degrees at the annual commencement exercises marking the end of the 265th academic year. Dabney S. Lancaster, chairman of the Virginia State Council of Higher Education, received an honorary doctor of laws degree and delivered the graduation address. Walter E. Vest (BS '02), a distinguished member of the medical profession, was awarded an honorary master of arts degree. Diplomas were awarded to 59 students at the end of the summer session.

President Alvin Duke Chandler received an honorary degree—his second—last June from Brandeis University in Waltham, Mass. The president received an honorary doctor of laws degree.

THE CANDIDATES

MEMBERS of the Society of the Alumni must choose three new members for the Board of Directors this fall. Members will receive in the mail in the near future their ballots and Homecoming schedule. All ballots must be returned to Williamsburg not later than November 5 in order that the election judges will be able to announce the winners at the annual meeting of the Society on Homecoming, the eighth of November. Here is presented a brief biographical sketch of the candidates.

DOROTHY (WILKINSON) CAMPBELL, '25, Winston-Salem, North Carolina. Born in Norfolk. She returned to Norfolk after graduation to teach in South Norfolk High School. Her teaching career came to an abrupt halt one year later when she married her classmate, James "Red" Campbell, Jr., '25. Her husband is now Superintendent, Technical Publications, Western Electric Company, Inc. Mrs. Campbell has four children, and seven grandchildren. One daughter, Baynham (Campbell) Ellson, graduated from William and Mary in 1955. As an undergraduate she was President of Chi Omega social sorority, President of the German Club, and Vice President of the Woman's Athletic Council. The Campbells have lived in Upper Darby, Pennsylvania and Great Neck, New York where she was active in the local alumni chapters, the Girl Scouts, P.T.A., Women's Clubs, and several church and community projects.

CARLTON J. CASEY, M.D., '33, Williamsburg, Virginia. A native son of Williamsburg who since 1954 has been chief medical officer at the Veterans Administration Center, Kecoughtan, Virginia, he received his M.D. from the University of Virginia in 1939. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Pi Kappa Alpha social fraternity, Theta Alpha Phi, and the Raven Society. From 1942-44 he was an instructor in Internal Medicine, and in 1945 assistant professor of Medicine at the University of Virginia. He is Diplomate, American Board of Internal Medicine; Associate, American College of Physicians; and Chairman, Advisory Committee of the Williamsburg-James City County Medical Society to the Board of Directors, Williamsburg Community Hospital.

MILDRED ANNE (HILL) FISHER, '42, Richmond, Virginia. One of the undergraduate leaders of her class she was Chairman of the Women's Honor Council, Vice President of Women's Student Government, member of Mortarboard, recipient of Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award, and a member of Chi Omega Social fraternity. Following graduation she studied at the Richmond School of Social Work, 1942-1943, case worker for Family Service Society in Richmond 1943-1945, Medical Social Worker for American Red Cross 1945-1948. In 1948 she married her classmate, Edgar J. Fisher, Jr. who is Executive Director of the Virginia Council on Health and Medical Care. They have one daughter. From 1952 to 1957 she was Class Secretary for THE ALUMNI GAZETTE.

JOHN P. HARPER (PAT), '41, Norfolk, Virginia. A member of the General Assembly of Virginia, he has served in the House of Delegates since 1955. He is a practicing attorney and received his LL.B. from the University of Virginia. His undergraduate activities foretold his future for he served in the student assembly and was a member of the Wythe Law Club. A former assistant U. S. Attorney, Eastern District of Virginia, he is a member of the Virginia Bar Association, Maritime Law Association of the U. S., a veteran of World War II (USNR), and a member of Pi Kappa Alpha social fraternity. He is married to Dorothy Leigh Hogshire, '42, B.S. His father, Wilson B. Harper, is Class of '12 and his brother, Wilson B. Harper, Jr., is a member of the Class of '38.

ROBERT S. HORNSBY, '41, Williamsburg, Virginia. Hornsby is a wholesale petroleum jobber associated with the family firm of J. W. Hornsby's Sons, Inc., with a side interest in developing real estate. He is a member of the Rotary Club, Board of Directors of the Peninsula Bank and Trust Company, Past President of the Virginia Petroleum Jobbers Association, Past President and charter member of the Alumni Interfraternity Council of the College of William and Mary, and member of the Board of Trustees of the Williamsburg Area Memorial Hospital.

*On a road to gridiron prominence:
Milt Drewer's large and tough squad has plenty of ground and air punch to make a successful season*

SMOKE SIGNALS

Frank Simons

Co-Captains Tom Secules and Dan Plummer and Coach Milt Drewer.

MILT Drewer, youthful coach who last year put William and Mary back on the road to gridiron prominence, moves into the second year of his rebuilding program this fall as the Indians launch their 63rd football season.

In his first season, Drewer guided the Indians to a 4-6 mark, the best at the school in three years. The victories included a 7-6 win over powerful North Carolina State in one of the nation's biggest upsets last fall.

Seventy candidates, one of the largest aggregations at the Reservation in several years, reported for fall drills. Among them were 13 lettermen and 25 freshmen. The lettermen: ends Dan Plummer (co-captain), Dick Hover, and Ben Johnson; tackles Elliot Schaubach, All-Southern Conference, and Mike Lashley; guards Al Crow, Howard Tomlinson, and Dick Rinker; center Gray Lynn; quarterback Tom Secules (co-captain); halfbacks Mike Chunta and Dave Edmunds, and fullback Len Rubal.

The Tribe again faces one of the East's toughest schedules. Following a late September battle with the U. S. Naval Academy, William and Mary takes on Virginia Tech, Virginia Military, N. C. State, George Washington, Boston University, Davidson, West Virginia, and Richmond. Davidson, on Nov. 8, is the homecoming fracas.

Lack of depth, a problem that has plagued Tribe coaches for years, has cropped up again this fall, and this, coupled with the murderous schedule, promises to make the road a tough one.

As for the first team, William and Mary may field its toughest unit in several years. The squad certainly will be one of the largest in the school's history and one of the South's biggest this fall. From tackle to tackle, the team will average 218 pounds, with an overall line average of 213 pounds. Here's the way the first squad lines up: Plummer and Hover at ends; Schaubach and Lashley, whom Drew-er terms "two of the South's finest," at tackles; massive Crow (250 pounds) and Tomlinson at guards; and Lynn at center.

The entire first team backfield of 1957 returns and will average about 193 pounds, with plenty of speed and power. Drew-er, pointing out that the team has had a year to become familiar with his "belly series," expects his offensive game to be improved considerably over that of last year. The first unit backfield contains three of the conference's finest backs in halfbacks Chunta and Edmunds, and fullback Rubal. Three-year veteran Secules will direct the aggregation. Chunta, a fast and shifty missile-carrier who averaged 4.8 yards per carry in 1957, could well be among the area's leading runners this year. Edmunds, a 155-pound scatback, is the team's fastest man and a top broken field operative. Rubal, the squad's leading ground-gainer last fall with 356 yards, runs like a freight train, can squeeze that extra yard out of a play, and is a rugged, smart defensive man.

For the first time in several years, few problems are expected at the end position. All-Southern Larry Peccatiello is gone via graduation, but co-captain Plummer and tackle-turned-end Hover ably man the front line slots. They are capably backed by letterman Johnson, varsity returnees John Farrell and Ed Brusko, and sophs Calvin Whealton and Joe Poist.

Tackle is one position where Drew-er expects some difficulty. This slot was weakened considerably by the switching of Hover to end and Tomlinson to guard during the spring. Stan Pokrywka, varsity returnee, is expected to nail down one second team berth. Drew-er is counting heavily on sophomores Wayne Barber and Loye Bechtold to take up the slack here.

The guard position seems to be capably manned despite the loss of last year's three top operatives, Lloyd Hicks, Denys Grant, and Tom Kanas. Crow and Tomlinson are ably backed by letterman Rinker, varsity returnee Paul Dinsmore, and sophs Dave Gatti, Wayne Woolwine, and Mike Pokorny. The only thing apt to develop into a real problem here is slowness afoot. The guards are larger than in 1957 but lack the speed of last year's lighter operatives.

Center may turn out to be the team's weakest spot. First teamer Lynn capably moves in to fill the shoes of the departed All-Southern, Bill Rush. Reserve strength is doubtful. Tom Martin, returning after a year's absence, probably will hold down the second team slot, but he is slow and needs experience. Ron Colclough, a junior transfer student, and Carl Archer, varsity returnee, may help out.

Quarterback appears to be the best manned position, and Drew-er expects no problems here. Co-Captain Secules will guide the first team, and if he lives up to a sparkling spring performance, could rank among the conference's top quarterbacks. He is more-than-capably backed by brilliant sophomore passing whiz Bob Stoy. Stoy, a lanky 185-pounder, who can throw the ball sixty yards with amazing accuracy, has shown promise of becoming the finest passing quarterback at the Reservation in a decade. Soph Wayne Cheek, who directed the freshman team last fall, showed considerable improvement during spring drills and could help.

Lack of depth at halfback could prove to be Drew-er's biggest headache. After Chunta and Edmunds, there is little experience. Lee Miller, who was being counted upon to fill one second team berth, did not return to school due to his transfer to a midwestern medical school. Jim Porach, hard-running soph from Hershey, Pa., will move into the second unit right half spot. Skip Harris, returning after a year's absence, varsity returnees Dick Snyder and Hub Ross, and sophomore Bob Nicholson are other halfback candidates. All have seen little action.

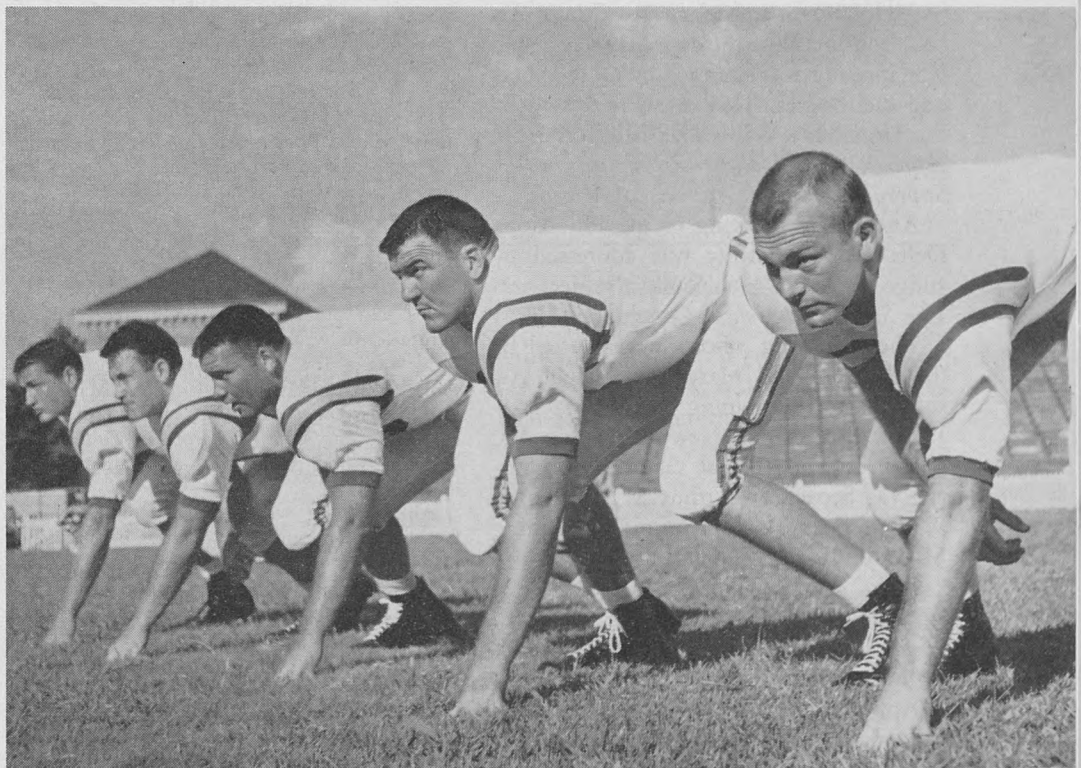

Fullback should be one of the team's stronger positions. Rubal, a 215-pound cross between a Sherman tank and a bulldozer, is one of the conference's most rugged individuals. He is capably supported by junior Lauren Kardatzke, a varsity returnee who saw considerable action last fall. Dave Way will be the third team fullback.

Another area that may cause Drew-er some trouble is punting. Hicks handled the kicking last fall, and Drew-er must come up with a capable replacement. Edmunds and Porach are the best bets.

Overall, Drew-er expects to field a rugged first unit with considerably more ground punch than last year's eleven. The Tribe, leaning on the strong arms of Secules and Stoy, will open up its offensive game a bit this year, and Indian fans may expect to see more passing than in recent years.

New coaches joining the staff this fall are Dave Nusz, former Maryland star and assistant mentor; Joe Agee, former Tribe cager and member of the Warwick high staff, and Peccatiello. Nusz is serving as defensive backfield coach, Agee and Peccatiello as freshman assistants.

Other members of the staff are Joe Mark, offensive line coach; Ed Derringe, defensive line coach; Bill Chambers, offensive backfield coach, and Boyd Baird, head freshman coach.

From tackle to tackle the middle of the Indian line features Mike Lashley, Monk Tomlinson, Grey Lynn, Al Crow, and Elliott Schaubach.

Sewell H. Hopkins taught classes in parasitology for two months this summer at the University of Oklahoma Biological Station, on Lake Texoma which is on the Texas-Oklahoma boundary. Sewell's second son Nicholas graduated in June from Texas A. & M., where he was captain of the soccer team and specialized in languages. He has studied, among others, Spanish, Czech and Hungarian.

Sewell reports that Texas A. & M. alumni claim a participation of 49 per cent in their alumni fund-raising last year. The alumni supported 400 boys in A. & M. on "opportunity award" scholarships and gave six awards of $1,000 each to faculty members for outstanding achievements. The alumni have also built a non-denominational chapel on the A. & M. campus.

Walter Neal Chinn, Jr. is a lawyer in Fredericksburg, where he is doing well. He hopes to take his daughter on a trip to Europe after her graduation from college next summer. We're expecting to see Walter in a judgeship one of these days.

Herbert L. Ganter, archivist in the College Library, supplied some wonderful materials for an historical exhibit on the Battle of Yorktown which your correspondent promoted in Martinique in connection with the celebration of American Independence Day on July 4. There are many interesting historical connections between Martinique and Virginia, including the fact that Fort de France bay, spreading out in a beautiful panorama before our hillside consular residence, was the main West Indian anchorage for the fleet of the Comte de Grasse before and after Yorktown.

While on principle your correspondent believes that other classes should have enough gumption to write their own news, he is glad to devote a few lines to reporting that Virginia C. Farinholt, '28, visited in Martinique in June accompanied by one of her professorial colleagues at North Carolina College for Women, where Virginia is associate professor of Spanish.

Although he was only in college during freshman year, one of '27's most distinguished members, listed in "Who's Who," is C. Eugene Stephenson, a former national president of the American Institute of Decorators. Gene has had his own decorating and interior design firm in New York City, and is the co-author of a recent book entitled "How to Decorate and Light your Home." Originally from Portsmouth, he now lives in Southbury, Conn. He was a contributor last year to the William and Mary Fund.

Lacking actual news, we can at least report the whereabouts of some of our co-ed members from time to time. Virginia Ayers is now Mrs. Gordon R. Woody, Durham, N. C.; Virginia Clark is Mrs. William Penn Fulton, Stuart, Va.; Eleanor Edwards is Mrs. R. S. Pitts, Hanover, Pa.; Hyde Fowlkes is Mrs. Harvey C. Hallum, Evansville, Ind.; Pattie Hunter is Mrs. Fitz O. Clarke, Whaleyville, Va.; Mary Hurt is Mrs. Llewellyn Irby, Blackstone, Va.; Rosa Jacobson is Mrs. Irving M. Kolker, Pikesville, Md.; and Marguerite McDaniel is Mrs. Roy Dawson, living in Norfolk. Dr. Leslie B. Copenhaver reports that he has been in general practice in No. Woodstock, N. H.—nine miles from the Old Man of the Mountain since 1933. He and the Mrs. attended the 11th annual meeting of the World Medical Association in Istanbul last fall and continued the trip around the world with other members.

S. Douglas Fleet, vice president and sales manager of the Albemarle Paper Manufacturing Company of Richmond, was elected President of the Kraft Paper Association at the annual meeting in New York. The association is composed of twenty-six paper manufacturers of kraft paper in this country and is quite an achievement.

Macon Sammons has just rounded out ten years' service with Pitney-Bowes, Inc. as sales representative in the Roanoke area. Pitney-Bowes, Inc. is the world's largest manufacturers of postage meter machines. Macon has also served as President of the Alleghany District P.T.A. at Shawsville, Virginia.

Madge Bolling Lambeth

A luncheon in memory of the late Mrs. Madge Bolling Lambeth, housemother for Chi Omega sorority, College of William and Mary, for nineteen years, was held at the Williamsburg Lodge, Sunday, May 18.

A memorial plaque in her honor was presented to the sorority and the first presentation of the Madge B. Lambeth Memorial Award was made.

Robert Bolling Lambeth of Bedford, son of Mrs. Lambeth, presented the double award, based on Loyalty, Achievement and Service to sorority and college, to two outstanding senior Chi Omegas. They were Sue Davis, of Wise, Virginia and Betsy Stafford, of Pearisburg, Virginia.

The Alumni Office passed on news from Bertha Jane (Capps) and Robert Allen Sheeran that their daughter, Marion, entered William & Mary in February as a sophomore. Now they have a good reason to visit Williamsburg more frequently.

E. T. Crowson is still in the History Dept. at Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S. C. He is very busy being vice-president of the local A.A.U.P., director of S. C. Employees Assoc., and chairman of Winthrop Christian Association Executive Board.

Congratulations to Ted H. McGowan on his recent appointment as General Commercial Manager of Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. in Washington, as reported elsewhere in this issue.

Greetings! Ann Terrell Garrett has asked me to take over for her, as class secretary, while she and her family are out of the country. It's a large order to follow Ann in writing this column for she's done such a bang-up job. Ann and their five children sailed to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba in June to join Jack, and a letter from her last month had me all set to leave on the next boat. She says it's truly a "tropical paradise"—their house is high on a cliff overlooking the harbor surrounded by a variety of tropical fruits and flowers. Their latest acquisition is two Cuban riding horses, mainly for the children, but she and Jack are enjoying them too. She writes that the riding trails are fabulous—up over the mountain tops and down by the sea.

Al Alley wrote from Germany where he's been Base Chaplain for the 7310th Air Base Group. He'd been in London for two weeks in July where he attended the Lambeth Conference as Chaplain to the Bishop of Dallas and Observer for the Air Force Chaplains. In September he takes up his new assignment at Scott Air Force Base near St. Louis. Welcome back to the states, Al!

Shirley Griffin Allen, Guy, and their daughter and son live in Aldon, Pa. Guy is in Electronics in the U. S. Navy Shipbuilding Scheduling Activity in Phila and, as a ham, operates Amateur Radio Station W-3RLA. Shirley enjoys gardening and handloom weaving as her hobbies. They plan to vacation at Rockport, Mass.

Charles L. Quittmeyer received his Ph.D. from Columbia University in 1955 and is now Associate Professor of Commerce at the University of Virginia.

Howard P. Anderson of Crystal Hill, Va. was recently elected to the General Assembly from Halifax County.

Philip Francis is a research chemist for U. S. Sugar Corporation, Clewiston, Fla. and is doing free lance writing for several magazines. In addition he is Consulting Editor for The Fisherman magazine and has, to his credit, a first book, Florida Fish and Fishing, published by Macmillan Co. in 1955. All you fisherman take note. Kemp Boot has just completed 3 years as Asst. Prof. Military Science and Tactics at Western Michigan University and has been transferred to the Army's Quartermaster Food and Subsistence School in Chicago, Ill. Prior to his stateside duty he had had three years in Korea and Japan, and expects to go overseas again after the first of the year. Mary Frances Zarbock Miller plus husband and three children are in Decatur, Ga. where her husband Ben is Southeastern Regional Manager for TV Guide. Nancy Johnson Piddington moved a year ago to Fairfax, Va. She and Tom, who is with the U. S. Army at the Pentagon, have five children, the oldest of whom hopes to enter W. & M. in another two years. Frances Reeder Burnett White writes from San Diego that she was widowed in 1955 and has since remarried her husband's first cousin and is now the mother of five teen-agers—three hers and two his! We have just returned to hot and humid Cinn. from two months in delightfully cool Maine, and now it's back to the grindstone for all of us.

Our news this time seems to be mostly of accomplishments professional or industrial among our classmates. I think it is impressive!

Huntington Curtis is teaching in the Engineering School at Dartmouth. He writes, "Besides professional duties at Dartmouth, I am a consultant to the Ionosphere Physics Panel, advisory to the U. S. National Committee for the International Geophysical Year. Translation: annual vacation with pay, in northern Greenland and Baffin Island. Hanover makes a fine base for Arctic travel, however."

While attending a convention in Williamsburg last May, Samuel B. Robbins, Jr., was elected president of the National Drug Box and Label Association. Sam is president of the

T. James Clark Box and Label Corporation of Jamestown, New York.

We received notice from The Texas Company that William L. Slater, Jr., is a copatentee of a recently issued patent connected with Improvements in Method of Shutting Down the Gas Generator, which is part of a process now being employed throughout the world for the manufacture of ammonia and fertilizers. It sounds highly technical! Bill now lives in La Habra, California.

This fall will be a busy one for Margaret Kelly (Dunham). Margaret is opening a nursery school in her home. Her husband has recently been appointed director of the Franklin Technical Institute in Boston which this fall will celebrate its fiftieth year.

Doris Berg-Johnsen (Kuhl) and husband, Carl, sailed for Europe in June, and Doris wrote, "We are only taking four of the children with us." The Kuhls now live at 469 Laurel Lane, Smoke Rise, Butler, New Jersey.

Please any of you who get to Homecoming this November write me all the news you can about our classmates. It is so interesting for us all to keep in touch, and I will certainly welcome the "copy." We have a date with the stork in October for our No. 3 child and so do not expect to get very far from home for the time being.

Hi again, Class of '43! Thanks to a few faithful contributors to the Alumni Fund who took time to add a note, we have some news.

Plus a welcomed note from Libby Fisher Beville who announced that she and Charlie ('41) have a brand new baby boy. It seems strange, Libby says, to have a baby in the house, since son Chick is 15 and daughter Susan is 12. The Bevilles live in Chester, Va.

Dorothy Stouffer Adamson now lives in Washington, N. J. Her husband is the Staff Psychologist for Warren County Guidance Center in Phillipsburg, N. J. Here's hoping that you're completely recovered from your operation, Dorothy and all set for a happy winter.

Barbara Pogue Preston, husband John, and son Tom are living in N. Y. now while John becomes a member of the N. Y. bar. He has been transferred to the Legal Department of A. T. & T. Son Ted will be away at Exeter for three years.

Joe Solomon is now self-employed as an Accountant-Tax Consultant Insurance Agent in West Newton, Mass.

Anna Korn Shea and Howard (living in Woodbury, N. J.) took the two oldest of their four children to Williamsburg and the festival last year. Result: two eager candidates for the classes of '65-'67!

We Kings have had a wonderful summer and hope you have had the same. Several of us in Richmond plan to go to Homecoming November 8. This time I vow to have a pad and pencil ready for notes on the Class of '43.

Their three daughters, Jan, Carol and Lynn, are aged 11, 8 and 4. They thoroughly enjoy the advantages of being on the base with facilities for golfing, boating, riding and swimming.

Sunny Trumbo Williams and Marge Retzke Gibbs both sent word of a '44-'45 get-together in March at Page and Jeanne Schoenwulf Preston's in Virginia Beach, Va. Those present were Jack and Hannah Leonard Merrick, Cato and Ruthie Weimer Tillar, Russell and Natalie Sanford Hill, Sunny and Rolf Williams and Marge and Wayne Gibbs. Gene Hanofee wrote that he and Elizabeth Ann Carpenter of New York, were married on January 15, 1958, at St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands. He said it was a most romantic elopement! In February he formed a law firm with two other lawyers and moved into new attractive offices in Liberty, N. Y., his home town. He had practiced law in White Plains for a few years, and returned to Sullivan County in April, 1954, to become assistant counsel to the Board of Supervisors, a position which he still has. Prior to his marriage, he made some exciting bachelor trips to Bermuda, Cuba, Mexico, etc. He said, "It was all fun, but I must admit that I am most happy at the present. Due to the fact you lose touch over the years (something I find very difficult to avoid, even though I value old friends highly), your column means a great deal to me. Keep it crowded with news!"

Many thanks to Mrs. Walter H. Keen (Nancy's mother) for bringing us up to date on the interesting life and travels of Nancy Lavinder Keen. "Nancy left the U.S.A. in 1949 to go to Bern, Switzerland, where she was attached to the American Legation for two and a half years. While there she studied at the University of Birmingham, England. Later she became Recreational Director at an American Air Base in England. She met and married Dr. Michael John Thornley Norman at Hurley, Berkshire, England, on June 28, 1952. They have one daughter, Caroline Rawson Keen Norman born in England, August 18, 1955. In Feb., 1956, they left England for the Northern Territory of Australia where they make their home. Nancy, her husband and small daughter left Katherine, Northern Territory on July 7th—flew to Sydney (a 12-hour flight) and sailed from there on the S. S. Oronsay, for San Francisco, on the 11th—docking at Auckland, New Zealand, Sura, Fiji Island, Honolulu, Vancouver and San Francisco on July 31st. Her husband will return to Australia in October but Nancy and Caroline will remain with me until after Christmas, sailing from San Francisco on Feb. 8th."

Lebe Seay Grey and her husband happily announced the adoption of James Alexander Grey on August 11, 1958. "Sandy" was born on May 8, 1958. Lebe said that Mary Wilson Carver Sale and her husband visited them a few days after the arrival of "Sandy." They hope to see everyone at our reunion next year.

1959 is our reunion year and I shall try to have definite news about reunion plans in your next class letter. I am sure that our class president, Prickett Carter Saunders, will welcome suggestions for our class get-together. Her address is Mrs. J. H. Saunders, Route 1, New Martinsville, West Virginia. Thank heaven, for little cards! Without them what would class secretaries do! That also goes for letters, telephone calls, notes on class letters, news included with fund donations and the A & P.

The letters this time include a newsy one from Dottie Fitzcharles Babbitt, who with husband and two children, lives at Buckland County Farms, Washington Crossing, Pennsylvania. Their children are Patty 10½, and Jimmy 8½. Lew has his own General Agency for Life Insurance at 340 West State Street, Trenton, New Jersey. Dottie and another William and Mary graduate, Sally Leigh Minkel, have a girl scout troop together. Joan Kueffner McLaughlin and family, which includes three children, have moved from New Jersey to Bardstown, Kentucky, where her husband, Jerry, has a position with "Heaven Hill" Distillery. Elaine Hall Rankin is still in Lindsborg, Kansas where her husband is in the Army and they also have three children, as have Marilyn Wood Cushman and Don, who live in Green Bay, Wisconsin. Dottie and family moved from Yardley, Pennsylvania where they have been the past seven years, to the above address, last August.

Then a letter from Mary Sue Ebeling, who is now Lieutenant Ebeling of the U.S.N. Mary Sue is stationed in Honolulu and her address is: USAFI, Hawaii, APO 958, San Francisco, California. She started out in Newport, Rhode Island, then was in Cincinnati on recruiting duty for two years. USAFI provides correspondence and class course materials on elementary, high school and college levels to active duty military personnel in all branches of the service. She also has the additional duty as the Information and Education Officer for the staff of the Commandant, Fourteenth Naval District, located at Pearl Harbor. Such interesting work, but also such pleasant extracurricular activity. A telephone call from Bob Horowitz brought the following news. Bob was just before leaving Philadelphia, where he has been located for the past two years working in electronics, to drive back home to Palo Alto, California. He had visited William and Mary over New Year's. Bob had a letter from Gus Andrade who has returned to Rome after a three-months' tour of South America, where he is working for the F.A.O. Gus visited his native Colombia after having been away for sixteen years. He made a trip to this country in August.

Bob had a call from Rollins Richardson who was graduated from the Medical College of Virginia and is now practicing in Simpsonville, South Carolina.

A note on a class fund letter from Joyce Rensberg Shank tells us that the Shanks have a son, Robert Timothy, born December 27.

In June, Allen and I and the two children drove up to Westfield, New Jersey to spend the day with Edie Harwood Smith and Kent and their two. We had a wonderful get-together and while there Edie and I drove over to see Lolly Quinn Rivero who lives in Scotch Plains. Lolly's husband is with the Technical Publication, Volt and they have a four year old daughter, Janie. The Riveros are making a most attractive recreation room in the basement, the whole thing done on the theme of a street in Paris complete with fountain, planters, and gay lamp posts—one of the most original creations I ever saw. Fran Loesch Brunner and family also live in Westfield. They have two children and Fran's husband has his own optical office in Cranford, New Jersey. Edie has seen something of Beebe Nelson Judge in Madison, Beebe has three children.

From the Alumni Office comes news of Dr. Robert H. Bryant. He has been assistant professor of religion at Mount Holyoke College since 1956 and has been appointed associate professor of philosophy and religion and chairman of that department at Centre College in Danville, Kentucky. He is a magna cum laude graduate of Yale University Graduate School and spent the 1954-55 school year studying at the University of Heidelberg, Germany on a Fulbright Grant. Dr. Bryant has written articles for religious and theological magazines and journals. His wife is also a graduate of William and Mary and holds an M. S. Degree in Social Work from Boston University. They have a son age four.

And in the A & P I met Bonnie Wolfgram Ware and discovered that they have moved back to Wayne, her home, after living for a while in Newtown, Pennsylvania. Her husband, Frank, is with Rohme & Haas Chemical Company and they have two daughters, Diane 5, and Nina 2. At Bonnie's I saw Jane Whitmore Whittemore. From all reports, we had a right poor turnout for our tenth reunion. Harvey Chappell wrote that he and Ann and Eddie Dunbar and his wife Dorothy went down from Richmond for the Friday evening dinner and there were only eight or ten members of our class present. Mary McGinnis White and Howard went over from here for the festivities. They combined their trip with a visit with Mac's family and their wedding anniversary—an event which took place June 6, 1947, in Williamsburg. Among the people they saw were Garry Clark, Barbara Rommel Pitman, Dick Rinehart, Evelyn Armstrong Harper, Margo Ross Tubbs, and Becky Becktol Garrison.

Had a nice long letter from Jo Wattles Ash. They were home in May. Dusty took his active duty ashore in Washington this year so they stayed with Jo's family during the week and went down to Dusty's family in Petersburg for the weekends. At 9 months Tommy was standing and walking around in the playpen and crawling faster than they could run.

Mary McCarthy wrote on the Fund letter that she has two children—a boy 7 and a girl 6. They are in Duluth where Mary teaches kindergarten.

Eleanor Duvoisin sent an announcement of her engagement to James Henry Coale of Churchville, Harford County, Md. He attended the University of Maryland and is serving a tour of duty with the Army at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds. This was received in April.

Dave Pulley wrote that he had served as a Fulbright Lecturer in Education at the University of Chile. On February 1, he assumed duties at Furman University. From May 1st to June 1st, he served as consultant to the University of Baghdad in Iraq.

Helen Thomson Stafford has another son, Mark Thornton, born April 19th. That brings the count up to three!

Had a delightful note from Jane Eastham Rottier. She and her husband Jack live in Annandale, Va. They were married in 1952 and now have five children—Janie, 5; Ross, 4; Kathy, 3; Julie, 18 mos.; and Richard, 3 mos. Jack is a photographer and, as Jane says, photography at home is like the plumbing in a plumber's home—it never gets done. Jack made a movie in Alaska last summer and was in the Northwest on a movie assignment in April. They moved into a new home last December.

Joe Rego and his wife sent an announcement of the arrival of Michael Joseph, born March 4th. The rest of the family includes Katherine Joy, 9; Joseph Harold, 3; and stepsons Anthony Francis, 17 and Francis James, 16.

Macy Diggs Sankey's Fund contribution included the note "that though we have lived in South Africa eight years neither Jim nor I are wearing rings in our noses—not yet that is!" They are due for home leave in late 1959.

Jeannie Bevans stopped by for a few days visit with us last May. She was on her way to Lexington to spend some time with Marnie and her family. Dick had just been made commanding officer of the Lexington Signal Depot. We had a wonderful time catching up on the five years since we'd been together. We continued our visit the following weekend by visiting at the Depot with Marnie and Dick and their family and Jeannie. What fun we had. The middle of June, Paul, the baby and I drove up to Dover, New Hampshire for a week to visit his sister and her family. One night I actually had my fill of lobster. It nearly broke my heart but I had to quit half way through my fourth. We had a grim trip home. The baby got sick as we left NYC and the car broke down on the Penna. Turnpike. We sat for 5 hours in the rain before help came. And they say no one ever gets stranded on Turnpikes. Don't believe it! In the meantime we ran out of diapers. Took me two weeks to recover. The baby did much better than that! We are hoping to get to Homecoming so I hope we'll see you all there.

Marcia MacKenzie and Kirk Kirkpatrick and brood are currently stationed at Fort Benning, Ga. Kirk, a Lt. in the Airborne, is taking advanced training. Never could resist an opportunity to visit, so I trundled down for a weekend. We talked William and Mary for hours, decided we looked the same and wondered about all you others. We also romped with the little Kirkpatricks—Jimmy, Lynne and Donnie. They are as captivating a threesome as one would ever meet. I had such a delightful time forgot to take notes. I can report that the Kirkpatricks love their transitory Army life.

Now for the second hand news—Phyllis Reardon (Morrison) reports from Matilija St. in Ojai, Calif. that Bob received his Masters in November, and that they are so happy in Ojai they are hoping Richfield will leave them there for a long time.

Susan Strong writes from the big city that she has been seen on television both on film and "live" and heard on radio dramatic shows. Near by in Elizabeth, N. J. Edmund Burke is an advertising promotion writer for Life magazine.

To the South in Fairfax Harriett Smith (Funkhouser) is teaching at Fairfax High School. She says there are several other W & M graduates on the faculty.

From the midwest Connie Carhart (Stamm) tells that there have been no changes since last reporting except that she and Walt are a year more exhausted due to their 3½ year old Cleveland Indian. The Stammers were happy to welcome Herb Chandler to their neighborhood in April. His insurance firm transferred him from Richmond.

From across the sea we hear that Leonard Silverman is serving temporarily in the Army Medical Corps in Wurzburg, Germany.

That's all the news I have to print.

Hope all of you had an enjoyable summer. We stayed close to home until August when we went to visit Bev's mother for a week. From there we went to visit my parents at the river for three weeks. Tom will be two in September, and as you can imagine he thoroughly enjoyed the water, the beach, and being spoiled by grandparents. I must admit that I enjoyed the change, too. I went over to Williamsburg twice, and how thrilled I was over the improvements on the campus! I only hope that all of you will make a point of visiting there in the near future. You won't recognize it!

Congratulations to Ginny Gallaher (Sharp) and Edward whose first child, Susan Lee, was born on April 25, 1958. The same to Gladys Joyner (Wright) and her husband whose third child, a boy, Marion Rivers, was born on August 8, 1958.

I talked with Dot Franklin (Eckles) for a few minutes in a Richmond department store in July. She and Russ have two children and live in Richmond near Arden Kirkby (Perkins) and Perk. She told me of Tom Comer's death in an automobile accident in Europe in January.

In 1948 he passed the Virginia State Bar and received his BCL from William and Mary in 1949. From 1942 to 1946 he served in the United States Navy rising to the rank of Lieutenant Senior Grade. As an undergraduate he was a member of the Flat Hat Club Society, a President's Aides, and a member of Pi Kappa Alpha social fraternity. He is married to the former Lois Saunier of Richmond and has three sons.

HARVEY PAGE WILLIAMS, '16, Raleigh, North Carolina. Born in Brookneal, Virginia, Williams entered the William and Mary Academy in 1911, and the College in 1912. His scholastic record was excellent; however, his undergraduate fame stems from his activities as shortstop on the championship baseball team of 1916, and an equally famous quartet. Following graduation he taught at the Academy until he was sent to France in 1918 with the 80th Division. He received an MA from Duke University, is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Theta Delta Chi social fraternity, and American Society of Engineering Education. Since 1920 he has been a member of the Department of Mathematics at North Carolina State College, and is now a professor of Mathematics. He is a past president of the Kiwanis Club, 32 degree Mason, Shriner, Deacon in the First Presbyterian Church, and serves as Chairman of the Fraternity Life Committee of the College. Hobbies include hunting, fishing, golf, gardening and duplicate bridge—ranking as a National Master.

ary 1958. I am sure that each of you would want me to extend our deepest sympathy to his family.

I read that Peggy Harmon was a guest speaker at a club in a nearby town and told the group of some of her European and African experiences when with the International Red Cross. Peggy, write us about them.

Mrs. Norman T. Hornsby of Williamsburg, better known to us as "B. G." Graves, is the new junior president of the Tidewater District of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs.

Don Fields and his family are now living in their new home on Lake Ontario. They have two children, Sharon Anne Leslie, and Scott McBride.

Dorothy Urban (Wright) and Bill are living in Chestnut Hill, Mass., where she is a physician in the Tumor Therapy Clinic of the Children's Hospital in Boston, and Bill is beginning his second year of Neurology Residency at Boston City Hospital. They have two sons, Stephen, three years, and David, ten months.

Mary Elizabeth Null (Clontz) wrote from Washington that she and her family are moving from their lovely home near the Potomac to St. Louis—"typical Air Force vagabonds!"

Irma Vinson is still teaching at Great Bridge High School near Norfolk. She teaches U. S. History, sponsors the senior class, and is a guidance counselor. She chaperoned the senior class trip to New York in April.

Suzita Cecil (Myers) is living in Arlington, Virginia. Their son, Clark Cecil, arrived September 30, 1957, five days before daughter Diana's second birthday. They see many W&M friends there: Nancy Kurtz (Falck) and George, Bobbie and Chuck Redding, and Ann Rixey (Boyd) and Ed. Some of them got together for a farewell party for Janie Copeland (Upshur) and Giles who departed for duty in Baherein (isle in Persian Gulf) in June. Jan Laskey (Smith) and Gordy paid the Myers a surprise visit in the spring while they were driving home to Michigan after a Florida vacation.

Mary Jo Finn (Aarestad) returned with her husband, Captain James Aarestad, from Germany a year ago. He finished his first of two years at Georgetown University in June. The Army is sending him for a M. A. in International Relations. Mary Jo is copy and production editor of both Air Cargo and Armed Forces Management magazines.

Ann Buckles appeared in Richmond in the spring in "He Was Not There," one of several plays sponsored by Moral Rearmament. After graduation Ann worked with the Barter Theater from which she received an award as the best actress of 1951 in Virginia, and then continued her career in New York. On Broadway she appeared as Mrs. McThing in the play of the same name, and she was the feminine lead in "Fifth Season," "Mr. Wonderful," and "Pajama Game." A year ago she went to the Moral Rearmament center in Mackinac Island, Mich., where she was so impressed with the simplicity and aims of the group that she decided to devote her life to the movement.

Jim Stewart has been promoted to Assistant Vice President of the National Bank of Westchester, New Rochelle, New York. He is in charge of the Central Operations of this bank. He, Betty Jane, and their three children dropped by the Alumni Office while on their vacation, and from all reports everyone there was certainly impressed with your family, Jim.

Here's wishing the best to three new brides. Lou Tull who was in our freshman class, was married to Thompson Arthur Mashburn, Jr., of Durham, N. C., on July 26. Martha Craig Wood was married on July 17 to Olaf Kongshaug of New York City, formerly of Copenhagen, Denmark, and Casablanca, N. Africa. Betty Ann Swecker was married to Robert William Abbott of Richmond during the summer.

A letter from Budapest, Hungary, from Carolyn Rohman (Gardiner) brings us up to date on her. She met her husband in Vienna, Austria, where they were married in 1954. Their first boy was born there in 1955. They returned to the U. S. for three years, and here their second son arrived in 1957. Her husband Lion Gardiner is in the Foreign Service. They have been in Budapest since March and love it so far. While in Washington, D. C., she heard from Maribe Chandler (Hill) who now lives in Evanston, Ohio, and has three children.

Summer has sped by this year and it's column time again.

Late last Spring a note arrived from "Rusty" (Davis) Schumacher, heralding the arrivals of 1.) her own baby—Mary Elizabeth—last March 11th, 2.) Kathryn Patricia who came upon the scene, same date, at the home of Vi (Marsland) and Walt Raymond, and 3.) a boy who joined proud parents, Liz (Beard) and Jerry Patterson. Rusty's note also related news of Hetty Roos, who continues to work for the Dutch Embassy in Mexico, not to mention some sightseeing in California, Europe, Washington and Williamsburg. Hetty, in spare moments, is active with a theatre group (there are reports of a bit part in a Spanish production of "Anna Karenina"). Rusty was busy at letter-time designing and building a mosaic table.

"Johnny" (Braun) Jackson's mother wrote to tell us that Johnny and family are now in Baton Rouge, La., after being in Japan. Beside keeping house and taking care of Sharon, Johnny is working with a travel agency. Our thanks to Mrs. Braun for taking time out to write us.

Lots of baby news—a second son, Kent Corey, joined Peggy (Blair), Bob and Steve Hackler on April 26th. (Peggy also mentioned the purchasing of a new home as added family excitement). May 2nd marked the debut of Thomas Stephen at the home of Frances Anne (Brown) and Don Stocking.

From the director of News Service at Southwest Texas State College comes an announcement that Sue Herzog is taking a year's leave of absence to teach (history) and study (toward her Ph.D.) at the University of Texas. Sue has been teaching at Southwest Texas State for the past three years, as well as being co-sponsor of a girls' social club, Zeta Sigma Chi, and co-sponsor of the freshman class.

A brief message from Charles Monaghan mentions a trans-Atlantic change-of-address for him, from Bristol, England to Halifax, Nova Scotia. He recently wed (June 8, 1957) Miss Dorothy Jean Smith, and on March 6, 1958 they became the parents of a son, Michael James.

Progress marches on, with a notice from Cornell that Gene Cohen was due to graduate June 16th with a Master's in Business Administration.

Paralleling the Hacklers, June (Compton) Merkle writes from Atlanta of two big happenings in her life—her second son, Scott Edward, was born Sept. 9, 1957, and last March she moved into a new home. June & family visited Geri (Wall) and Jim McKean in December. Geri also entertained Mr. Stork (in January) and evens up her brood—two boys and two girls. June mentioned also seeing Dundy & Claude Nock and their two girls.

Ernie (Cox) Peak now toils as a psychologist at Harvard Med School Behaviour Research Lab, while her husband is doing grad work in nuclear engineering at M.I.T.

Our last bit of news comes from W. H. Thaxton who migrated to W & M in 1950 to start on a law degree. He is now Commander of the Installations Group at Greenville AFB, Miss., and works on his Ph.D. whenever close enough to a school offering courses in his field.

Canning, freezing, and The Royal Order of the Sandbox, Neighborhood Chapter #563, are holding full sway in our household these days. Be sure to take a few minutes out from your busy days to keep us up on your doings.

Fall is here which means time to catch up on all the latest news and happenings over the summer. I do hope our column is readable—the Woolston household is trying to adjust itself to our newest member, Jack, who at this particular writing was just nine days old! Please excuse the lateness of certain items which were either too tardy for the last two issues or were omitted because of space devoted to May's issue on colleges.

Ray Bridger's postcard related that he received his Education Degree at Duke University. The Bridgers family including four children left August 15th for Oswego, New York, where Ray has accepted a position at New York State Teachers College teaching sixth grade at the "Campus School."

Camille Grimes Henderson, '52, and I attended Philadelphia's Alumni dinner-meeting. Bruce, '52 at the time was working out of New York City with his banking firm; Camille and daughter, Leslie, were visiting with her parents in Jenkintown. At the meeting Dick Dallas was the newly-elected president. He is employed by Strawbridge and Clothier's Department Store and was promoted to the personnel department. Familiar faces at the meeting were "Josh" Thompson '56, Jim Stone '52, Jim Kelly, '51, and Linwood Hines, '54.

Jean Farley Verner, husband, and two children are in Tampa, Florida.

Bobbie Bowman Allison and Bill are living in Boston.

"T" Marston Taylor is in Oregon.

Jim Alderson again is with the Navy and supposed to leave for Japan.

Mavis Walter Pacchioli, '52, husband, Al, and their two children, Marc and Valerie, have moved to Boston due to a change of jobs. Jay and I are most sorry to have them leave Philadelphia and Candlebrook.

Ginnie Gary Lupton wrote of attending a tea ceremony similar to an American open house in Okinawa. It was given by a woman who teaches a flower class—how to arrange, make, care for flowers, etc. Shoes were left at the door and all guests were served green tea! Ginnie remains active in several activities. She took part recently in a Panhellenic tea held on Okinawa and also has won several bowling trophies. Ed, '52, was due back from Korea in late August and is scheduled possibly to leave for Fort Sill in December. Ginnie mentioned hearing from Betty Gayle Henley, '53 and added that Wes and Ann Williams Ferguson, '53 recently visited in Richmond with their three children. They were supposed to move to Long Beach, California this summer. I hope get well wishes no longer are in order for Joann Lore Kersey. Her leg was in a cast.

Ed Aubin's new work is at the Forrestal Research Center at Princeton University; he is with Security Direction for Project Matterhorn.

Frederick S. Burford, III, is now associate rector of Trinity Church, in Houston, Texas.

Nancy Jane Lovell Dean has sent several news items. Firstly about herself—upon completion of her Army tour of duty with the U. S. Military Mission in Greece, JUSMAGG, she toured Italy for two weeks and then London for a week. Besides visiting important spots she was able to get various close-up shots of Queen Elizabeth on the occasion of her official birthday in June of 1957. She then flew to Hawaii to attend her brother's military wedding and also visited several areas of California. Nancy married Lt. Dean, USNR, in January at Fort Myer, Virginia. Her husband now is a civilian electrical engineer. Nancy can be reached in Arlington, Virginia. Jean Lang Zauner, husband, and son are living in Rome, Georgia. Isabella Rubert is in Washington, D. C. Stephanie Johnson Neal and husband Don completed their Army duty in Germany. Don now is assigned to Guided Missile School, Fort Bliss, Texas. They have two daughters. Nancy Johnson is working toward a Master's Degree at Chapel Hill. Brad and Nona Schulse Besse are in Waltham, Massachusetts, where Brad is employed by Raytheon Electronics. Elizabeth King Welsh's husband is one of the sports reporters for the Newport News Daily Press. Peggy McCune Field has become active in various clubs and committees in the Virginia Beach area.

From Fred Bell comes the news that he is serving with the 34th Artillery at Fort Carson, Colorado. He was integrated into the Regular Army in September 1957 and plans to make it a career. Fred, his wife whom he married in Germany, and their two daughters live in Colorado Springs.

Bob Hamel is an account executive with Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner, and Smith.

Betty Schaffer Risjord wrote the nicest letter containing much news of herself, husband Norm, and friends. After graduation, Betty, "Gina" and "Baby" Bell, and Lois Kendrew shared an apartment in Boston. "Baby" now is Mrs. Bernard Hall and lives in Norfolk with husband and son, Keith. "Gina" became Mrs. Richard Mulford; they live in New Jersey and have two children. In 1955 Joanne Eversole, '54, lived with Lois and Betty; in 1955 Marge Huff Brown, '54 was a roommate. Joanne now is working in Minneapolis. Nan and Layton Zimmer visited while Layton was in Cambridge Theological Seminary. In the fall of 1955 Betty became a one-woman art department at Newport News High School and also taught adult night classes. Norm began study at the University of Virginia in '56 and now is working toward a doctorate in History. Betty has been seriously ill. We all hope she is completely recovered.

Caroline Young Petrequin again stopped in August at our home for a short visit. She and children, Carey and Scott were on their way to the Youngs in Connecticut.

Jim Kelly, '51, made a quickie stop at Candlebrook on his way back from attending alumni meetings in the East. He then headed for York, Pennsylvania to pick up Bev and the children.

"Tex" Wilde has completed a year of internship at the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center in New York City. In July he became a resident at Baylor University Hospital in Houston, Texas. He eventually will go into Orthopedic Surgery and then into practice in 1962. He added that "Willie" Willingham is beginning his surgical residency at the University of Michigan Hospital following interning there and graduating from Baylor.

Harriet Willimon Cabell's husband, Ben, has been promoted to manager of his office for Atlas, automobile finance concern in Tuscaloosa, Alabama. They had planned a week's summer trip to Natchez, Mississippi, New Orleans, and the Evangeline Country.

Wayne Boyle has received her Master's Degree in English and is teaching in Michigan.

Another fall, another series of GAZETTE issues beginning. In case you've lost count, it is the fifth school term beginning since our graduation. The time for our first real reunion as a class is approaching and is scheduled for next June 5 and 6. Hope you will count on it and plan to come.

Charlotte Henderson became Mrs. James Lewis on the 13th of September. Her husband will finish law school at George Washington University next June. They are living in Bethesda, Maryland.

Betsy Skinker Barnes will continue to live in Colorado for a while. Ron has accepted the position as Assistant Dean of Students at the University of Colorado where he received his Doctorate in June. Their new address is 270 South 40th Street, Boulder, Colorado.

Betty Fralin Powell writes that she was visited by Ann Walker early in June. Ann is working toward a Master's Degree in Social Work at Tulane. Also, Carol Butters Marsh and John paid a short visit on their way to Williamsburg.

Joyce Springer Darnton and Don are in Ann Arbor, Michigan where Don is presently working on a doctoral thesis. He is to be instructing in Economics during this school year. They have two children, Randy and Rebecca.

Phyllis Woodyard Williams and husband are living in North Hollywood, California, not in show business, but the oil business instead.

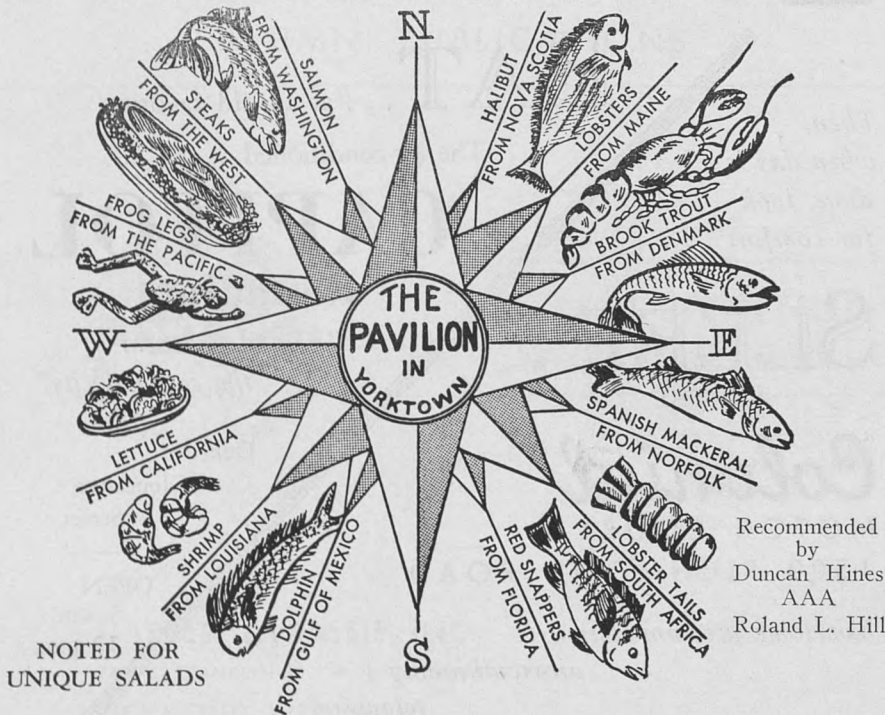

Cary Scates and Betty, now living in Silver Spring, Maryland, have named their younger son Robert Kent, after Ken Hackler. He was born in August of 1957. They have another son, Cary Malcolm, III, born in 1956.

When we were in Williamsburg for a few days in June we talked with Sue Joerndt Revielle on the telephone. She and Bob are expecting a baby, their first in October. Bob has a position with Colonial Williamsburg craft shops. We saw Hugh DeSamper and learned that he and Carol have two children, and are also living in Williamsburg.

During July, a nice note came from Marthanne Hodges Luzader who was writing from Texas where she and daughter, Lucy, were spending the summer while husband Randy is Hi! Please excuse me for missing the last column, but our wee tad demolished my correspondence time for a few months. This new address will be in effect, we hope, around the middle of November, and till then we'll continue to receive mail at 309 Zelda.

A few nights ago as I was scurrying around the dog track, I felt a tap on the shoulder, and there stood Bob Hoitsma. He is in the land of sunshine for his wedding, September second, to Jean Dunn, a recent W. & M. grad. Bob and Jean will return to Richmond, where he is employed by an insurance company.

Bunny Ward Golovin writes that her seven month old son, Milton Neal, is keeping her life lively, and complicating the packing of items for a coming move to 8 Bishop Drive, Framingham, Mass., by falling into tears or laughter at the sight of suitcases, boxes and such. She writes that Carol Backman was married in May to Robert O. Langdoc, and they are living in Kittery, Maine, while he is stationed at the Portsmouth Naval shipyard. Robert Swearingen, '56, is still teaching in Baltimore, while Phyllis Easler Porter, '54, is in Weymouth, Mass.

Joining the ranks of the newly-wed are Jerry Clulow and his bride, Margaretta Maganini. They were married August sixth, in Greenwich, Connecticut. Jerry is now in the army, and has recently finished paratrooper school, and by now is probably facing his thirteen month duty as a platoon leader in Korea. Margie and Jerry met in an off Broadway production in which he acted and she was costume designer. Mrs. C. plans to move to Japan during Jerry's time in Korea. News of others from Jerry included the fact that Jean Shepard has moved to Italy, and has little intention of returning. Bill Thomas is stationed in Germany, and touring Europe when conditions allow. From distant Hawaii comes a grand letter from Gail Bowen Jordan and Mike. She writes that after college Mike worked in insurance until Uncle Sam called, which was soon. Since then they've been to OCS in Newport, D. C., and Pearl Harbor. Their son Steven, 17 months, will have a new brother or sister in November. Mike will be released from service next May, and the Jordans have no definite plans thereafter. Gail closes with, "If you ever have a chance to come to Hawaii, do!" 233 B St. NHA I, Honolulu 18, T. H.

Pat Culpepper Powell and Floyd have recently moved into their new self designed home in Norfolk, and Pat is still teaching at Granby. The addition to the family of which Pat and Floyd write is Crissie, a Boston bull terrier, who resides with them at 8318 Bufalo Ave., Norfolk.

Diana Marsh left her publicity job to work in her future husband's architectural office, called Maydesa, C. A. Diana's fiance, Angelo de Sapio, is in charge of building offices for some American oil companies, while Diana acts as jack of all trades . . . secretary, publicity agent, etc. Betty, class of '56, has graduated from Katherine Gibbs in N. Y. and is executive secretary for the manager of the Caracas branch of the First National City Bank, and loves her job. The Marsh address is Apartado 4533 ESTE, Caracas, Venezuela.

Joan Evans and Betty Holladay collaborated on a fabulous letter, which provided all the following tidbits. They have an apartment in Hampton, where Joan is working for the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics at Langley as a mathematician. Betty is in Ft. Eustis as a position classifier in personnel. Betty took time off last January for a trip to California, Acapulco and Mexico City . . . all "fascinating."

Bernie Magruder is living in the Hunting Towers Apts. in Alexandria and likes her job as a stewardess with United Air Lines and has just returned from a trip to the Caribbean. Nancy Griffin Eich and Bob became parents of a girl, Olivia Louise, born April third. The Eichs live near Quincy, Mass., where Bob is employed by Bethlehem Steel. Ruthie Peyton is living with her parents in Wilmette, Illinois, and working for her Master's at Northwestern. Dave and Shan Duis Carico are in Urbana, Illinois, where Dave is working on a Master's also. The Caricos expected a baby in April. Dick and Gail Wannan Mosher live in Baltimore around the corner from Jim and Marilyn Zaiser Ott. Gail has been working for her father while Dick is back in school; the Ott's have a baby, Carolyn, who was born last fall.

Hampton is also home for Nan Humes Hess and Bob, and their daughter, Susan, and Bob is working at Langley, also. Hank and Barbara Solomon Dressel are back from Germany now, and Hank was getting out of the service in June, when he was to start as an accountant in a New York firm. Kenneth, their son, was born last September.

Sue Rosar and Phyllis Heck are doing the travel agency routine, in N. Y. and Detroit, respectively. Tom and Joan Danskin Kembell are living in Iowa now, planning to move to the Northeast when he is through school. Glenn and Claire Schoener Laedtke live in Rochester, Minnesota, where Glenn is working for IBM. They have a girl, too, Susan, a year old in August. Judy Naginey will be two in October, and is the daughter of Chuck and Connie Clague Naginey. They are living in Pennsylvania while he finishes his studies at Penn State. Tom and Woozie Compe Foard are in Norfolk, where Tom is in the Navy. Betsy James Simmons is living in Saluda with her family while husband Pete is in Korea, and she will be teaching English this fall.

Jane Wills and Barbara Skinnell were living in Hampton, but Jane married George Klein, an engineer from Texas, and they have returned to the lone star state to live. Barbara works for the welfare department in Newport News. In nearby Portsmouth one finds Nancy Butler Standish, Myles and daughter Kathy occasionally, visiting Nancy's mother. The Standishes make their home in Concord, Massachusetts. Debbie Young Caufield and Don are back from Okinawa, where their girl, Mona Paige, was born, and now call Waterford, Connecticut, home. Jack Evans Robinson and husband are in Champaign, Illinois, where he has one more semester to go. Sam and Lollie Scott and their three boys are in Lawton, Oklahoma, while South Plainsfield, New Jersey, is the residence of Bill and Judy Brown Raas and son, Scott.

Joan Showalter drops in to see Betty and Joan occasionally, as she is living in not too distant Roanoke now, with her parents. Joan toured Europe last summer, and is reported to have had a grand time. Bay Campbell Ellson and husband were expecting a baby in June when they ran into Betty Holladay at the Victor Borge show in Norfolk last April. Don and Cissy Smith Spivey are in Germany, and were expecting a family addition in April. Don and Connie Wait Lawrence are in Warwick, Virginia, and have a little girl, while two boys keep Marge Willard Duer and Jack entertained at their home on Eastern Shore, Virginia.

(I don't know why I didn't think to just send that letter from Joan and Betty to Jim for the Gazette . . . that's the most news I ever saw on two pieces of paper!) The girls' address is 134A Armstrong Drive, Hampton.

Floyd Craig writes that after completing some teaching and his army bit, he is with the personnel department at Dan River Mills. Floyd extends an invitation for anyone to drop in and visit him and his wife at 861 Green St., in Danville. Floyd ran into Lorne Hicks in Roanoke when Lorne was on his way to his unit in Florida, since he is a salty old ensign now and is on the admiral's staff. Leo Schutte is holding down the other end of the globe, and is traveling with the Army in the Yukon territory. Sergeant Schutte of the Yukon! Another Navy man is Phil Snead, who did make it home to Lynchburg last Christmas.

Elaine Elias writes that she will be married September 13, 1958, to Richard Walter Kappel in Pittsburgh. Dick was a Sigma Nu at Lehigh and a '54 graduate. Elsa Stromberg is to be maid of honor and Diane Broderick Hamilton will be one of the bridesmaids. Pat Perkins Berryman and Don are living in Philadelphia while he is at Warton. Wayne Jones was married in June and is living in Cleveland. Elaine's address is Oak Hill Farms, R.D. 2 Allison Park, Pennsylvania.

Now for a few brief statistics! Ann Lunas and Charles Vincent were married March twenty second in Upper Montclair, New Jersey. June fourteenth was the happy day for Lee Everitt and Harry Kostel, and they were married in Alexandria.

In the new babe camp we find young Gail Miler, born August first, the first daughter of Barbara Leuring Miler and Marty. Betty Wright Carver and Harry are the proud parents of Harry S. Carver, IV, born May 30. Sally Dahn Elfelt and Jim are in Palo Alto, California, at 709 Los Robles Ave., while Jim is at Stanford Graduate School to earn his Master's. Their daughter, Liz Ann, became an older sister on August sixth, when Helen Suzanne was born.

Eileen Segal Lorher is now in D. C. where she is working for the Bureau of Labor Statistics as a programmer. Donna Melnick and Michael Moskow were married March 16 in Chestnut Hills, Mass. Herbert Goldberg is now entering the fourth year at State U. of N. Y., College of Medicine. Barbara Brown Harman and Arlie left Tidewater and the Navy on June 10, and are now in Cincinnati, Ohio with Procter and Gamble. Arlie will concentrate on developing new P. and G. products for use overseas. Their first born was expected the first of August. Ann Zimmerman is living in Park Ridge near Chicago and will be teaching sixth grade this fall. Andy Anderson stopped by to see Ann and was to be married to a St. Louis lawyer in June. She had just finished training in Occupational Therapy at Washington U. Howie Bollerman is teaching Driver Education at Hackensack High School. A son, Robert Howard, born April 25, joins sister Sandy and Wife, Bobbie.

Well, I'll now go soak my aching finger tips in Epsom salts. I'm not used to the typewriter route anymore. But before closing I must tell you that Boysie and I have joined the clan and have a six month old son, Mitchell Thomas. He joins our basset hound, Agony, making us a foursome. We've had a fabulous summer of waterskiing, swimming, golfing, dog racing and diaper changing, for all of which (except the last) Florida is famous. You must all plan to come to Daytona next summer, and we can provide shelter, though possibly neither furniture nor food . . . our home goes under construction next month, so the fall will be a busy time! Hoping you all have a grand autumn, and that we may meet at a football game ere long!

(Eloise (Skooky) Gideon)

Providence, Rhode Island

Hello again! Here's hoping that everyone had a very pleasant summer. At the moment I am sitting amidst hurricane warnings and raging winds, so if this doesn't get to press you'll know it blew away somewhere between Providence and Williamsburg.

I'm starting out with news that is a carry-over from last spring. Hope it isn't too stale! Received a letter from Bette (Bloxsom) Witherington last February telling us that they are all fine; Aubrey is teaching the 7th grade in Richmond, Bette is hoping to enter MCV to complete her degree in Medical Technology, and their little boy is growing rapidly. Bette tells us that Hugh Mac Mahon and Graham Palmer are studying at MCV. Also Ross Rudolph, Susie Gove's husband, while Susie is taking care of their little boy plus doing graduate work in biochemistry. I believe Ross won the Bryan prize for the highest ranking sophomore in pathology last year.

Also last spring we heard from Joel Hurley. Joel is busy writing his thesis for his Master's plus taking business trips for his father in his spare time. He writes that Jerry Kornbloom is attending NYU at night, working toward his Master's, while teaching high school history during the day. Howie Turner was married last January after a six month Army stint, and is now finishing his studies at Wharton Graduate School. Bill Miranda, who also has just completed his Army tour, is working for the Brookline Oil Co. in Mass.

Received a muchly appreciated note last spring from Bea (Lemos) Frank. Bea and her husband have returned from Germany and are living in Baltimore where her husband is with Standard Oil. Bea is busy taking care of their two children, a boy and a girl.

Received a nice letter from Delores Diggs last spring, who is now Mrs. Fred Fauber as of last May. Delores is working as Director of Christian Education at Centenary Methodist Church in Lynchburg and is enjoying it very much. Her husband is a hardware salesman in Lynchburg. Delores said she is also enjoying participating in the W&M Alumni Chapter recently organized in the Lynchburg area.

Received a very welcome letter last spring from Mary "Turtle" Warren. Turtle is living and working in D. C. but says her busy schedule doesn't leave her much time for getting in touch with other grads in the area. She is working with CBS Television as Production Assistant for "The Jimmy Dean Show" and working part time for the Teleprompter Corporation. And loving every minute of her busy schedule.

Received a nice long letter from Alice (Jordan) Purvis last May. Alice taught in Norfolk the year after graduation and was married the following June to Ens. Bruce H. Purvis from the Naval Academy. They have been in Pensacola, Fla. for the past year where Bruce was taking flight training, and are now in Corpus Christi, Tex. Alice reports that Jo Ann McLearn married a flight instructor from Pensacola last February, Lt. Donald Smith. Don was ordered to Honolulu in April. They sailed on the SS Leilani and on the way over Jo Ann was selected "Miss Leilani" of the ship. Belated Congratulations, Jo Ann!

A letter from Binnie (Owens) Watkins last June tells us that she and Ed are still in the Williamsburg area, living on post at Ft. Eustis where Ed is stationed and will be until next April. Meanwhile, Binnie is working at the Mariners Museum in Warwick, as Assistant to the Curator of Prints, and loving every minute of it. She reports that she and Ed are singing in the choir at Bruton Parish Church, thus keeping them in touch with the 'Burg at least twice a week. They see Will and Paula (Margolf) Molineux frequently; Will is working for the Virginia Gazette and during the summer did publicity for the "Common Glory." Binnie tells us that Vickie Stone is working in D. C. and makes occasional trips to Williamsburg. That Lois Mortashed, after a trip to Europe last fall, has been doing graduate work at Catholic U. in art history. Also, that Jim Bryden married Betty Stanton of Petersburg in June, and Bob Clarke married Gini Anding ('57) also in June.

Even though "Little Rhody" is the smallest state, I'm happy to say it isn't completely overlooked by people traveling to New England. Harry and I were very pleased to see a few familiar faces up here this summer. Pat Wells, Dot Chapman and Tribble King stopped by on their way to Cape Cod for a two week vacation. Pat is still in the Personnel Dept. of Woodward & Lothrop's Dept. Store in D. C., Dot is planning to teach in Richmond this year, and Tribble is working in the Trust Dept. of First and Merchants Bank in Richmond. Also vacationing at the Cape this summer were Rod and Wyck (Jean Wyckoff) Mercker, who spent a few days with us. Wyck tells us that their neighbors in Washington, Dave and Sue (Colclough) Crouch, are moving to Detroit this fall. Dave became a civilian this summer and has taken a job with Mutual of N. Y. Insurance Co. Also leaving D. C. for Michigan are Joan and Jukie Dunn who have both taken teaching positions in Ypsilanti. Meta Fooks was in Providence for a few days this summer. She has left Greenwich, Conn. and is going to teach in Ft. Benning, Ga. this year where her family is living. Meta brought news of Sally Ives' engagement to Ken Coons. I believe they plan to be married in February.

Received a very welcome letter from Jane (Thompson) Kaplan. It seems that the Army has moved Jane and Jim five times in the past year but they hope to remain at their present location, Torrance, Calif., for at least a year. Particularly since they are expecting the first addition to their family in October.

Elaine Pratt was married to Lt. John R. Carlin in June. Jo Napolino vacationed for a few weeks in Europe this summer. Maury Tonkin is in N. Y., and has been for the past year, working as a fund raiser for the Federation of Protestant Welfare Agencies. Tom and Mary Jo (Milam) Rink had a baby girl, Donna Jo, last April. Herb and Ginger (Portney) Klapp had a baby boy, Michael, also last April. Marcia Page went to Europe last summer. Delores Mannion is engaged to Buddy Barker. Pat Florence married Don Flint a year ago last September. Larry Bobbin, after receiving a degree in chemical engineering, is now working for the Reaction Motors Division of the Thiokol Chemical Corp. in Denville, N. J. "Trish" Kizzia was married to Bob Landen ('52) in July and in August they left for England for a year where Bob will be doing research for his Ph.D. Ed and Fay (Smith)

Schefer are living in Williston Park, L. I. Having completed his six month Army stint, Ed is working with Arthur Anderson C.P.A. firm in N.Y.C. and Fay is a social worker with the Suffolk County Welfare Dept. "Larry" Knapp was married a year ago last April to Allan F. Hubbard from Chicago. Larry and Al are living in Hollywood where Al is acting plus working for Olympic Plastics, Inc., and Larry is working with Aero Publishers, Inc. John and Elle (Lundberg) Martling had a baby girl, Lynn, in June. Marty and Barbara (Luhring) Miller had a baby girl, Gail, in August.

Thus ends the news gathered over the summer. Hope a lot of you will be able to attend Homecoming on Nov. 8th when W & M meets Davidson.

Just a little over a year ago we were all counting the days until we received that piece of "sheepskin" granting us a B.A. or B.S. degree, but now it seems that a great many of us have obtained another degree in a very short time, plus "additional honors." All I can say is, "Look out, Mr. Cunningham, for the year 1975 when all the 1957 legacies descend upon you." This summer has seen many knots tied and many additions born to join the W&M bandwagon.

Sandy (Cromwell) and Lt. Charles Moses are receiving congratulations on the birth of their son, Scott Cromwell Moses, born May 23. Charles and Sandy are stationed at Ft. Campbell, Ky., along with Faye (Jones) and Tom Burke, who are bursting with pride over the arrival of their daughter, Cathy Dunnivant, on May 18. While Walt is working on his M.A. in biology, June (Rickard) is busy at home with their little girl, Diane Beth. Also Mickey (Curro) and Pete Rowe are beaming over their new addition. Loje (Lee) and Mike Spears (Princeton, 1959) are the proud parents of another future W&M coed, daughter Julia. Other parents of future W&M coeds are Mary Jo (Milam) and Tom Rink and Boo (Luck) and Fred Bane. Liz (Shell) and Bob Allen are in Naples, Italy. Bob is at sea most of the time, but Liz has her time occupied with their 3 month old son, Robert Addison Allen, III. Ann (Baird) married William Millard in the summer of '57. In June Bill received his law degree from U. Va. They are living in Cleveland and now are the proud parents of William Baird Millard, born Aug. 3.

Bill Armbruster is in Newport, R. I. at O.C.S. and Betty Wright is staying in Blackstone anxiously awaiting their heir around Halloween time. Other expectant parents are Carolyn (Canoles) and Russ Redmond, Barbara (Sylvia) and Bobby Doggett, and Bobby (Shaw) and Henry Thomas. Joyce (Mitchell) is now Mrs. Frank Mulligan. They are stationed at Ft. Belvoir and are expecting a baby in Dec.

Uncle Sam and graduate schools claimed many classmates during the past year. Marcie Kocher was buried beneath the books at Fordham, while Bob Thiele and Marcia McKemen remained at W&M to pursue their studies. Bob Anshel and Carlton Rezendes are at Ft. Dix. Others in uniform are George Hall, Ron Masnik, John Cayward in Hawaii, and Mal Anderson at Ft. Thomas where he is Personnel Psychologist in a recruit station. After a stay at Ft. Benning Hugh Cole is now in Germany in Special Services singing in a glee club. Instead of the normal army routine, he will travel all over Europe giving concerts. Terry Slaughter is at Columbia dental school and wife, Barbara, is busy with their baby girl. Another to-be dentist is Phil Secules, who is studying at Pitt. BUT, Ben Field has the ideal set-up at law school at the U. of Fla. with parties at Daytona Beach every week end. John Harvey transferred from U.N.C. in Feb. to W&M grad school and a little bird tells me that it is partly because he has placed a ring upon the left hand of Anne Brown, '58.

Received a letter from Lynn Bennett and she is doing social work in connection with foster children in Maryland. She is most thrilled with her job, as is Sue Fryer, who is working at Eastern State Hospital. Bill Wingate has been attending the Art Institute of Chicago, the Goodman Memorial Theatre branch where he is working on a Masters of Fine Arts degree. This summer he attended the World's Fair and also the Munich Opera Festival with Paul Gutermuth. Phebe Hoff has been a research assistant at Jackson Lab in Maine doing research in tissue transplantation. This fall she will begin graduate work in zoology at Columbia. Norwood Boone received his M.A. at Southern Illinois Univ. and will teach school in Va. this fall. Diane Oakerson writes us about her most interesting work at Emory U. where she too will earn a M.A. Her specialization is in parasitology and she is engaged in research on the physiology of tapeworms. She was elected to membership and also as secretary of Phi Sigma Society, a biological sciences honorary society. All of this plus the duties of her teaching assistantship keep her pace rather rapid. Congratulations on your outstanding work, Diane. J. L. Penick is working on his M.A. in history at the U. of Calif. and Margie Helter received a school board scholarship to obtain her M.A. in history. In August she took a break from the hectic school pace and headed for a SLOW trip through old Mexico—even on burros, she writes.

Many congratulations to those who have just "walked down the aisle." Ann Vaughn and Rick Rigenback were married July 12. Carolyn Scheele became the bride of Alex Fakadej on Aug. 30. Carolyn will teach while Alex is in med school in Charlottesville. Vanessa Darling became Mrs. Charles Alan Prigge and Ann Sappenfield is now Mrs. Mills Tuttle, Jr. On Sept. 6 Letty Shield married Stephen Black, a future attorney and Ann Dodd tied the knot with Tom Shaw. Three days later Shirley Stephenson married David Cox in Denver, Colo. Bobbie (Hobbie) and Fred Aucamp also chose Sept. 6 as their date. Fred has another year of law school at W&M and Bobbie will teach in Williamsburg. They will be living in Ludwell along with Pam (Cartin) and Lud Johnson. Pam is busy working to complete her M.A. in summer school and Lud will return to the history dept. at W&M this fall. Jo Kline caught her husband in the office where she worked and married him Sept. 6. Nan Lingenfelter became Mrs. Eugene St. Germaine in April and Sally Dallas will become the wife of Jack Messick on Oct. 8.

Received a letter from Rick Asals. Last year he taught English at the Hill School and said that he enjoyed it immensely for it was quite a challenging year though lots of fun. He reports that Dick Bell is a travelling salesman. Al Stringer is in Richmond along with Charlie Cheek, who is with Mitchell, Wiggins & Co., C.P.A. Also he writes that Bob McClintock is at the U. of Rochester doing grad work in science sponsored by the A.E.C. Del Wilson is doing grad work at the U. of Md. and will have Norma Marshall as his bride this fall. Dick and Helen (King) Calvert are at U.V.A. where Dick is becoming an engineer. Rick also heard from Brad Leshner who is in Baltimore with I.B.M. and Wayne Adams who is with Brad working for the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co.

Bunky (Crooker) and Bill will return from Iowa and Bill plans to teach drama at Western Maryland in Westminster, Md. Lee (Hammer) Scott writes that they are still in Norfolk and in April they spent a gay week end at High Point, N. C. with Betsey (Davis) and Bruce Hathaway. Harriet Rippel toured Europe after graduation and then taught 3rd grade in Baltimore. Kathy Hamilton is working for the Arkansas Fuel Oil Corp. in the Personnel Dept. in Shreveport and is quite enthused with her job and the gay Shreveport life. Sue Briggs took up her teaching profession in Hollywood, Fla. Sue (Journey) and Lowe Lunsford are still living it up in Germany.

Kathy Christian, Mary Talmadge, and Jo Ann Shipp have an apt. in Hampton and are mathematicians at NACA at Langley Field. Kathy writes that she saw Shirley (Richardson) and Aubrey Fitzgerald at the Peninsula dinner meeting of the W&M Foundation Fund. Last I heard from Shirley was that she and Aubrey had become rabid golf fans. Carolyn Meachum and Carol Simmerman will return to Va. Beach to teach this fall after a wonderful summer working at Disneyland in California. Two more newlyweds are Janie Hutton and Anne Hannegan, Mrs. Bill Prince. Kay Wirth is in Calif. with her parents and Elva Beckam is doing secretarial work at Averett College in Danville. Gini (Anding) and Bob Clarke were married June 21 and now are at Ft. Knox until Bob is discharged. Ann Walker, '58, and Rod Elliott will join the married clan this fall. Jo Ann (Abbott) and Ruf Gordon are being transferred from Calif. to Indian Head, Md. and are taking a month to drive cross country. I met up with Cheron (Black) Hargrave this summer. Cheron went to U.C.L.A. after she left us our freshman year. Bill (USNA, '54) is now in the Med for 6 mos. and Cheron is maintaining their home in Jacksonville and has her hands full with their year old boy, Rusty.

Ed and I have had a wonderful but cold summer except for our trip to Florida. Our 5 month old daughter, Slee, keeps us busy and rather tied down, but we are still keeping our fingers crossed that we will get down for Homecoming. The date is NOVEMBER 8. LETS ALL BE THERE!!! If I don't see you, please let me hear from you.

Well, a new school year is upon us and we are at last alums. Now that I am settled in Arlington I want all of you to write and tell me what you are doing. I love to know what is happening and to receive mail.

It seems there have been many marriages over the summer, but I haven't news of all of them, so please do not be offended if I leave some out. On August 30 Charlene Baumbach married Lt. Dorsey Smith (V.P.I. '58) and they are living in Pensacola, Florida. Carolyn Scheele and Alex Fakadej ('57) were also married on August 30 and are living in Charlottesville where he is in medical school. Carolyn will be teaching elementary school there. Art Perry ('59) and Barbara Skaggs too were married last summer. Jean Zwicker married Lt. John Durant on September 13, and on September 19 Helen English and Dave Sweeney were married. Betsy Stafford married Frank Elliot last June and they lived in Williamsburg for the summer. Pat Clark and Jim Godfrey were married and will be living in Williamsburg this year. Pat is teaching in Hampton while Jim finishes school. Margie Schoonover married Mark Jensen of the academy and is living in Denver. Nan Carper and Bob Bowan were another couple married this summer, as were Pat King and Stu Cell

Robert D. Calkins '25
President
Brookings Institute

Robert de Blois Calkins (BS '25), is an economist whose career from a one-day teaching job at Phoebus, Virginia, to the presidency of the Brookings Institution has been guided by a sage's advice. "I have always tried to follow," Calkins explains, "the advice of a wise advisor in my youth urged: 'Never take a job unless you can learn something from it.' The main course of my career has been one of learning while doing things I enjoyed doing."

Calkins did not enjoy teaching high school and after a short venture into the business world he assumed a position on the faculty of the University of California and in five years was named chairman of the institution's department of economics, a post he held for six years. He then served another six years as dean of Columbia University's school of business before holding the vice presidency and directorship of the General Education Board, a Rockefeller-sponsored organization devoted to improving education, primarily in the South.

In 1951 he was named president of Brookings, an endowed institution which conducts impartial analyses of problems of American public policy. The Institution tried to bring professional knowledge and skill to the study of important economic, governmental and international problems, and reports its findings to the people in an effort to aid them in reaching informed judgments on public issues.

"My efforts," Calkins states, "have been dedicated entirely to the development of an effective center for advanced study and research. This country has now entered a period when brains, not brawn, will determine its future. In that contest I am glad to be engaged in giving brains their opportunity."

At various times during his career Calkins served as a consultant on various governmental committees and agencies such as the National Recovery Administration, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, the National Resources Planning Board, the Office of Price Administration, the War Department and the Railway Labor Panel.

Recently the 55-year-old scholar received an honorary doctor of laws degree from the University of Pittsburgh for "distinguished contributions to higher education and assiduous and successful efforts to find new understanding of complex public problems." William and Mary, Emory and Lehigh also have honored Calkins.

('56). Among those with plans for marriage soon are Ann Walker and Rod Elliot ('57). Ann is now working for IMB in Richmond. Julie Vakos and Clyde Nordstrom were pinned this summer and plan a marriage soon. Julie is teaching in Virginia Beach this year. Nan Maurer and Jim Rosenbaum are to be married on October 11. Bobbie Clarke and Ernie Cox plan to be married in January at which time Ernie will transfer to Michigan.

Europe saw some W & M'ers too. Bud Mooney was there this summer but has returned to work for the same insurance company in New York as Tom Lightner and Jim Rosenbaum. Bill Hamblar was also in Europe for the summer, as was Nicky Macy. Carolyn Jordan now has a permanent job in England, and Anne Powell has an apartment in Paris with Gracie Munson's sister where she is a secretary with Civilian Services. Biji Nunn is also in France on a Fulbright scholarship.

Janet Day and Marsha Murphy are teaching together in Little Creek, Virginia. Mary Dunham, Nicky Macy, Ellen Anne Hunter, Arlene Laurent, Nancy Fehr, Alice Osborn, and Sally Applegate are all teaching in New Jersey. Sue Davis, Sidney Saunders, and Bobbie Ramsey are rooming together, and along with Virginia Coomes, Lina Linton, and Gretchen Sedam, are teaching in Richmond. Eve Mapp and Anne Richardson are rooming together and teaching in Virginia Beach. Jane Anne Mathes is teaching English in South Carolina.

Gita Licitis is working for duPont in Wilmington, Delaware. Brucie Morton is with the Suffolk Welfare Department. Yvonne Beattie is one of us in D. C., working for the Utilities Workers Union of America. Gail Morgan and Margaret Mullins will join me this month in this area and we shall be rooming together. At the moment I am in cancer research with Health, Education and Welfare—and it is fascinating. Linda Schrader is working with Connecticut General. Irv Blacher is working with his father in New Jersey. Melissa Smith and Paula Heslin are in Denver. Hil Albiez and Cindy Sanborn are in California. Barbie Holcomb is with an advertising firm in New York. Ginny Kendall is with a TV studio in New York and is sharing an apartment with another girl in Greenwich Village. Jay Schreiber has been working in Springfield, Illinois for his uncle this summer.

Bernie Goldstein is going back to school for his Master's degree. Jean Schindler is studying graduate psychology at the University of Maryland. Nancy Mowlds has been taking summer courses and has returned to school this fall. Mary Aleese Shaw has been accepted at graduate school in Government at George Washington and has also taken some summer courses.

Don Dew is now stationed in Fort Benning, Ga., after many trips to Williamsburg this summer. Bob Bradley is at Fort Eustis. Scott Bailey is working for Jamestown and living in Williamsburg. Dave Shepardson is working in Richmond and living with Dan Zipperer ('57). Mary Dyekman and Anne Shoosmith were counselors at Camp Shenandoah this summer. Mary, at the time of this writing, is with her parents who have just returned from Fontainebleau, France and are now in Chicago.

Well, I guess that pretty well exhausts my supply of information. Do get in touch with me if you are ever in this area, and be certain to write if you hear any news. Hope you all have a good year, and maybe we can get together at Homecoming.
