Cubic's electronic tracking systems determine the position of aircraft, missiles, drones, satellites and space vehicles with precision unavailable by other means. Multi-target and omni-directional systems are a unique capability of the firm.

By the end of 1960 all three Military Services, the civilian space agency (NASA) and the civilian aviation agency (FAA) will be relying on Cubic products in programs of major significance. Foreign markets will play an increasingly important role in Cubic operations, with negotiations well advanced for Cubic tracking systems on foreign ranges around the world.

In serving the industrial market to broaden the base of its activities, Cubic has developed and marketed Electrotape surveying equipment, which can measure distances as great as 50 miles with an accuracy of  $\pm 1$  inch. Cubic Digital Systems are specified as superior instrumentation in both government and industrial applications, and the unique Talking Meter demonstrates the years-ahead engineering effort that goes into an ever-expanding line of Industrial Division products

COVER. Since this issue features a salute to the Honor System (pages 4 through 13), it seemed highly appropriate to display this year's student guardians of the code on the cover. Reading from front to rear, the members of the Men's and Women's Honor Councils are, respectively, Craig Carlson, Mike Sopchak, Bob Buckley, Ed Watters, Roger Hardy, Karl Zavitkovsky, Dean Flippo, Tom Bosserman and Susan Roberts, Kathy Wiese, Karen Back, Tish Paschall, Beth Childs, Bonnie Barr, Judy Hall, Pattie Pound.

FULSOME FOOLED SOME. Mainly your editing staff, we dolefully admit. Among those not fooled were a pair of sharp-eyed, articulate purists who rightfully—and gently—called us to task for inexcusably misusing the word in granting writer Bill Bryant a “fulsome” A on page 1 of the December issue (See Letters). Actually “fulsome” means “so much as to be disgusting; offensive.” Its synonyms are “excessive, immoderate.”

For the final word—he bravely assumes responsibility for the first word—here is comment from our editorial advisor:

That gruesome error on fulsome comes from regarding my dictionary as troublesome. The result was noisome. Editing, though lonesome, is awesome, not frolicsome, even though you lose some and winsome.

That's the wholesome and substance of it.—FF

NOT FOR SCALPING. Beginning with this issue, the little tomahawk shown here will be applied to selected items in the class news columns (see pages 35-47). Its appearance will mark things which the editors feel are of more than passing interest to all alumni. Basis for “tomahawking” a tidbit will vary with the nature of the news. Sometimes it will mark a noteworthy accomplishment. It may point to a good story. Other times, it will act as an exclamation point for what seems to be startling information.

Although a tomahawk seems eminently suited as a symbol for use among columns of Indian lore, dissenters on the Gazette staff argued strongly for using scalps to mark notable achievements. After all, they argued, scalps were the real Injun status symbol. True. But we could not quite imagine hanging little scalps in our columns to mark such events as arrival of triplets, winning a good citizenship award or becoming president of a company.

To execute our tomahawk the Gazette turned to Professor Tom Thorne, head of the Department of Fine Arts. He assures us the tomahawk is authentic Virginia Indian. This is an important consideration. Local Indians had little in common with the more widely publicized Western Plains types usually associated with the term “Indian.” In a future issue of the Gazette we will explore this interesting, little known aspect of Indian history with a member of the William and Mary faculty who is the world's leading authority on Virginia Indians.

OSCAR LANE SHEWMAKE '03. As an undergraduate, he was class president, valedictorian and football captain. As an alumnus he served as dean of the Marshall-Wythe School and member, vice-rector and rector of the Board of Visitors. On February 18th, death claimed distinguished alumnus Shewmake. ●

Plug for Boldface

Janice Hendricks Clucas' letter in the October issue of the GAZETTE seems to have stirred up some interest. I too would be interested in seeing more in the GAZETTE about what is happening in the academic departments of the College because there is no doubt that the College is growing and expanding continually. . . .

I am happy to see that in the Class Notes you are going back to putting the names of classmates in bold type. . . . Now one can read through the Class Notes section quickly picking out the names of those one knows in several classes.

I can't tell you how happy I am that the College has once more become a unique institution and that RPI and Norfolk have been set free to develop in their own way. . . .

Sincerely,
John H. Fritz '48

Class Reunion Photos

I was particularly interested in the way the class reunion pictures were shown. To the best of my knowledge this was the first time you have handled them this way and I think it is a big improvement.

Very truly yours,
William A. Reynolds '38

Plea for Yankees

Read with empathy classmate Jan Hendricks' letter.

Read with enjoyment the Alumni Coloring Book.

But!

Read with concern and disbelief the new ratio for Virginia and out-of-state students! People of the United States—please don't let them do this to us!

Very sincerely,
Barbara Blair Ruhl Odland '44

Ode to a Dean Emeritus

Following are some lines of verse which try to express my sentiments re Dean Woodbridge. . . .

A modern Wythe is Dudley Woodbridge;
A king of torts, and contracts too!
Whose name and fame we'll long remember;
A man of law, and humanity, too.

Bricks and mortar don't make greatness;
A profound mind and character do.
Our lamp of the law is Dean D. W.—
The finest man I ever knew.

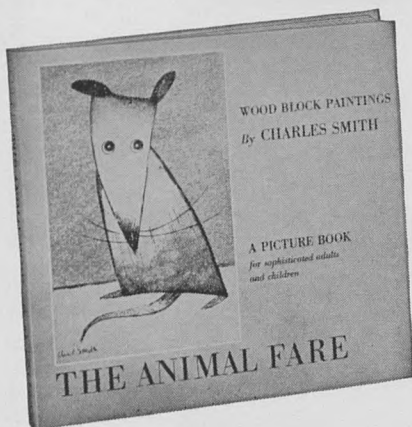

A peer of peers he was to us;
An inspiring teacher, strict but just;
With a helping hand and friendly ways
He molded fine lawyers all of his days.

His former students now salute him
For 35 years well-spent and true;
For his ideals of justice under law
William and Mary is viewed with awe.

*Not mentioned are the Dean's other legal specialties, such as real property, negotiable instruments, sales, etc.

Sincerely,

Work Study

I read with considerable interest the December GAZETTE and wish to thank you and your staff for the description of William and Mary's Work Study Program.

My reasons for commenting on W&M's Work Study Program are personal and professional. On the personal side I remember clearly Professor Wayne Gibbs calling on me in the fall of 1942 in my home in Ivor, Virginia, explaining the program. I entered W&M in the fall of 1943 and worked forty hours, and sometimes more, a week in the Williamsburg post office. My brother Reid was a member of the Travis House group.

From a professional viewpoint I would submit that W&M's Work Study Program will rank with distinction in comparison with efforts of other higher educational institutions operating similar programs.

Sincerely yours,
David C. Pulley '48
Director, Summer Session
Furman University

I enjoyed your article in the December GAZETTE. It brought back a lot of good memories of the working days at Travis House. I think I enjoyed the fun and oysters there as much as going to school. You know Dr. Umbeck never told me I was in a work study program—he just said to come on down to Williamsburg, play tennis and do a little work and it won't cost me anything to go to college!

Regards,
Bert Rance '47

Crow-eating Department

I would not rashly say that its a case of the pot calling the kettle black, but apparently an old grad's journalistic cognizance of "this new breed of students" ("Of Changes and Bows, Maturity and Misspelling", December issue) is crow to be eaten.

It was bad enough for writer Frechette to use an apostrophe to denote plurality (Barbie Dolls and Chatty Cathy's) but when he "misspelled" memento, he's likely to get an "ultimatum."

But editorial adviser Frechette got unvacillating support from writer Bill Bryant's "consensus" in an account of what professors think about spelling errors in calculating grades.

How long have they had that "M" grade at William and Mary?

Enough of the badinage. I get considerable pleasure from the ALUMNI GAZETTE and look forward to its arrival. . . .

Yours in the editing fraternity
J. Raymond Long '29

The "M" grade has been in use since 1950. As for the other comments, pass the bicarbonate.—Editor

That Word

I was taken aback by . . . that confusing word, "fulsome" and its misuse in the December GAZETTE for the fine piece by Bill Bryant. Please look it up in the original Webster's!

Your researcher
D. Ferenbaugh '47

(The following was addressed to Writer Bill Bryant.)

After reading the editor's remarks concerning what the reader might expect to find within (the December issue), I couldn't resist turning directly to "Alphabet of Academic Life," which happened to be the lead article. In my opinion (it) is a well written and informative article, worthy of appearance as a lead article in the GAZETTE's recently announced "new look".

Now if that was all I had to say there would be little sense in writing to you now. What puzzles me is the editor's characterization of your efforts. Surely he didn't intend to announce a new policy of higher quality in one issue, and then follow with an issue led by an article of which he thought so little. Perhaps the editor was writing in the same vein as one student would say to another who continually earned an A on all his work. I'm sure you've heard one student say to another, "I think it's disgusting that you always get an A." What he really means is that he is disgusted with himself for not doing the same.

At any rate, take heart, Mr. Bryant. If I were grading your efforts I would give an unqualified A. What makes the editor's remarks all the more unpalatable is the fact that he could "unhesitatingly" give you a "fulsome A". Why could he not just say that you did your damndest.

Very truly yours,
William T. Prince '55

See page 1 for comment.—Editor.

Our Mary was II

Speaking of the three queens who have aided William and Mary, Mary, wife of William of Orange, is mentioned as Mary I. Should that not be Mary II? Was not Mary I the daughter of Henry VIII, who succeeded young King Edward VI on the throne, Mary Tudor, (wife of Philip II of Spain)?

Yours very truly,
Mary Meares Galt

Althea Hunt Book Fund

MISS Althea Hunt expresses her deep appreciation to the friends and alumni listed below who have contributed to the fund established in her name by a committee of her former students. Dr. Hunt, who retired after 34 years on the William and Mary faculty, established the flourishing Theatre Department. The fund named for her will be used to provide an income to purchase books on, of, and about the theatre to enrich the college collection.

Howard Scammon, chairman of the committee which established the fund, explained that the fund will continue to welcome contributors. ●

I Pledge On My Honor . . .

by Fred Frechette

THE wife of one of William and Mary's eminent faculty members was showing a professor from an English university around the College. She paused as a matter of course before the tablet of priorities on the wall of the Wren Building. The visitor was duly impressed, but one item puzzled him.

"What," he asked, "does 'Honor System' mean?"

His hostess explained.

"Do you mean to tell me that William and Mary students take examinations without proctors?" The Englishman shook his head incredulously, then smiled tolerantly. Surely she was merely pulling his leg.

His reaction was not unusual. Whether English or American, the stranger to William and Mary and to honor systems finds it incredible that undergraduates can be trusted to perform their work honestly without supervision and policing. His disbelief, unfortunately, stems from the prevalence of cheating in American schools and colleges.

Someone estimated that perhaps two of every five students are repeatedly guilty of cheating. Though no records can be kept of this sort of thing, the figure may be close to correct. Certainly concern over cheating is widespread. In the past three years more than 22 articles on the subject have appeared in nationally circulated periodicals. They sound every note in the literary scale: American Disgrace; College Cheating; Cheating Your Way Through College; Are We Teaching Our Children to Cheat; Ghosts for Hire; Ghost Scholar Racket; Of Ghosts and Cheaters; Cheating; All Children Cheat Sometimes; B. A. in Cheating; No Panacea for College Cheating. . . these are some of the stimulating titles offered the casual researcher.

The articles view with alarm, beat breasts and gnash teeth. They blame almost everything from poor teaching and general moral decay to lack of parental discipline and overemphasis on competition.

Sometimes, in fact, they compound the felony. Life printed an article which was nothing more than a do-it-yourself manual for dishonest students despite the author's insistence that it was "not intended as a handbook for prospective cheaters. Cheaters need no instruction and the techniques seem to be widely known."

Providing a handbook for cheaters, which he did, seemed less insidious than the attitude with which he wrote his article. Purportedly a college English instructor, the author injected a kids-say-the-funniest-things approach to the subject. This is something like laughing hysterically over the antics of a gang of muggers.

Perhaps the attitude is understandable in a society which makes beating speed laws, cheating on expense accounts and fudging income returns part of its way of life. It is the old chicken and egg proposition. Which came first, cheating as children or adults?

Mirroring this is the fact that none of the 22 articles published since late 1959 offered a simple, workable solution to the problems of classroom dishonesty. Indeed one of them—No Panacea for College Cheating, in the New York Times Magazine—indicated there is no solution.

It is worth reading . . . if for no other reason than it works. ●

The Honor System

John Crane

Evolution in William and Mary's honor system, oldest in the nation, has brought more protection for defendants, including counsellors and tape-recorded trials.

Background

AMONG the most treasured traditions of the College of William and Mary is the student-administered plan of discipline known as the Honor System. The essence of the Honor System is individual responsibility in all matters involving the student's honor, and the System assumes that every student is concerned with the strict observance of the principles of honorable conduct which he upon matriculation pledges to uphold, for his own sake, for the sake of his fellow students, and for the sake of the College.

The evolution of the Honor System over the years to its present form is best understood when considered against the background of changes in the character of the College itself. The College originally combined the higher school with a grammar school and served almost exclusively the sons of Gentlemen of the planter aristocracy, who took especial pride in their reputation as men of honor. The students formed a small, closely-knit group, at times numbering fewer than a hundred; and a violation of the College code of discipline was punished by ostracism. Because of the existence of this gentlemen's code of honor that characterized life and conduct at the College from its beginnings, it is difficult to pinpoint a specific date marking the beginning of the Honor System as a system. It was assuredly emerging in one form or another prior to 1779, when the College was reorganized under Jefferson's leadership, the year often claimed for its official establishment; and minor details of administration have changed from time to time to meet contemporary needs and conditions.

From its earliest days the College has evinced an interest in the character of its students. In 1736 the College Statutes expressed the view that "special care must be taken of their morals, that none of the Scholars presume to tell a Lie. . . , or do any Thing else that is contrary to good Manners." The Faculty resolved in 1784 that every student should, upon matriculation, pledge to observe all College regulations, and "particularly such as require that kind of conduct. . . conducive to the Honour & Prosperity of the University."

The Board of Visitors expressed their faith in the students' integrity in the statute of 1788 which stated that "whereas those, who are generally admitted into the higher schools, are from their years entitled to a certain degree of confidence in their discretion, . . . the ordinary strictness of schools may with respect to them be in some measure relaxed."

One spokesman for the "liberal and magnanimous character of discipline" at William and Mary, Nathaniel Beverley Tucker, then Professor of Law at the College, explained in 1834 something of the attitude underlying the System in an address to a group of law students. Said Professor Tucker: "It has been the study of its professors to cultivate at the same time the intellect, the principles and the deportment of the student, laboring with equal diligence to infuse the spirit of the scholar and the spirit of the gentleman. He comes to us a gentleman. As such we receive and treat him, and resolutely refuse to know him in any other character. . . . His honor is the only witness to which we appeal. . . ."

As the College has grown in size and complexity, the student body has become less and less the homogeneous group which characterized the earlier years, particularly to the latter part of the nineteenth century. The College no longer serves exclusively young men from restricted or provincial areas of social and economic life, but is a co-education institution serving several thousand students from all parts of the United States and from foreign countries. It is accepted that honor and responsibility are not absolute, intrinsic human values, but are acquired in a specific environment and are, therefore, relative to that environment.

As a relative value, honor means many different things to many different people. Today, for immediate purposes within the College community, its applications are restricted to four specific areas—lying, stealing, cheating, and failure to report an infraction of which one has firsthand knowledge. This restriction of definition enables the theoretic concept of honor to be applied on a practical level within a heterogeneous body.

As numerous bulletins state, the discipline of the College was entirely "in the hands of the President and faculty" until the twentieth century, when student government was instituted at William and Mary. Today the Honor System is student administered through elected councils.

Whereas the present administration of the Honor System by the students through elected councils evolved during the 1920's, the spirit and essence of the Honor System have historically threaded the years undisturbed and, guarded jealously, have remained intact.

Meaning

UNDER the Honor System the basic assumption is made that every student in the College community is a person of honor. The fact that it is impossible to be absolutely certain that an individual is honorable is, for the purposes of the Honor System, irrelevant. Primarily, the function of the Honor System is to educate. Morality is not inborn; it is learned, and it is learned in a specific environment. The Honor System helps to create an environment which will be most favorable to the development of honorable traits and honorable behavior.

The very assumption that a person is worthy of trust is a powerful factor in insuring that confidence will prove to be deserved. Experience has shown that only very rarely does this tacit appeal to honorable behavior find a person so lacking in inner control as to betray the trust placed in him.

When students pledge to abide by the Honor Code they are indicating publicly their acceptance of the System and their intention to live by certain principles. That anything but rare violations of these principles should occur is inconceivable, for frequent violations would mean that the spirit of honor, and hence the Honor System, did not exist. That a violation should never occur is equally inconceivable. The students resolve, however, that their ideals shall be maintained, whatever penalties must be imposed to maintain them. Whereupon the Honor System becomes more than a matter of individual morality alone, and emerges, in essence, as a system of external control administered by one's peers as the constituted authority created by the students themselves. In this continuing emergence of the System, care is exercised to insure that no violence be done the spirit of morality. On the contrary, morality is supplemented and reinforced: supplemented for those who lack the depth of inner sanctions of conduct, and reinforced for those the inner sanctions of whose conduct may be in need of that stimulus, enlargement, and support which come from subjection to discipline that is self-imposed.

The effectiveness of the Honor System rests upon the high sense of inner morality of the student, and the efficiency of the external control established as a form of self-government by the students and collectively imposed. These operational forces complement each other, and one

The Honor System

John Crane

Heart of the honor system are the student members of the Honor Councils. Undergraduates like Tom Bosserman must administer justice impartially.

cannot be substituted exclusively for the other. The fact that the first—a set of personal ideals or code of conduct—has traditionally dominated and characterized the operation of the Honor System is, in itself, a tribute to the System, and constitutes an individualized challenge to its continued effectiveness in the life of the College.

Administration and Practices

THE students administer the Honor System through two elected councils, the Men's Honor Council and the Women's Honor Council. Whenever a student is accused of a breach of honor, the Councils have the power and the duty to investigate the alleged offense, and, if necessary, conduct a hearing or trial. In addition, the Honor Councils are responsible for explaining the Honor System to entering students during the College Orientation period, and for handling all campus elections throughout the school term.

The Honor Council

The Men's Honor Council is composed of three senior representatives, three junior representatives, and two sophomore representatives, elected by the men's student body. A chairman and a vice-chairman are chosen by the Council from among the senior representatives and a secretary is chosen from among the junior representatives. In case of a tie-vote for chairman, vice-chairman, or secretary, the outgoing chairman will cast the deciding vote.

The Women's Honor Council is composed of a chairman and two additional senior representatives, three junior representatives, and two sophomore representatives, elected by the women's student body. A vice-chairman and a secretary are chosen by the Council from among the senior and junior representatives, respectively. In the case of a tie-vote for chairman, vice-chairman, or secretary, the outgoing chairman will cast the deciding vote.

Pledge

Upon matriculation, each student is required to sign a statement to the effect that he understands what is expected of him under the Honor System and that infraction of the Honor Code at any time during his student days may be punishable by dismissal from the College. This statement is a pledge and, as such, is a guarantee of the student's earlier decision that upon enrollment he would uphold the Honor System. Even though the initial pledge stands as long as the student is enrolled in the College, a professor may require the student to sign a formal pledge on work as a reminder to the student that he is neither to give nor to receive help on the particular assignment concerned.

Infractions of the Honor Code

Infractions of the Honor Code include cheating, stealing, lying, and failure to report an offense.

(1) Cheating. Giving aid to any student or receiving aid without the consent of the professor on tests, quizzes, assignments, or examinations is a violation of the Honor Code. The student should assume that he is neither to give nor to receive help on any work; any exception to this rule on a particular assignment must be expressly and specifically made by the individual professor.

An individual is considered to be guilty of cheating, and thus of committing a breach of the Honor Code, only if he acted with specific intent to deceive. In the absence of evidence unknown to the accuser, only those cases which in the opinion of an honest and just man appear to be quite serious should be referred to the Councils; but all such cases should be reported promptly, regardless of the personal feelings of the accuser.

Plagiarism is the act of presenting the information, ideas, or phrasing of another person as if they were one's own. Such an act is plagiarism whether the cause is ignorance of proper scholarly procedures, failure to observe them, or deliberate intent to deceive.

Regardless of its motive, plagiarism is a violation of the standards of scholarship which the College endeavors to teach. While these standards encourage the constructive use of materials for reference and research, they also demand the honest acknowledgment of all sources of help. If such acknowledgment is not made according to the accepted procedures in the scholarly discipline involved, the instructor will evaluate the paper accordingly. Ordinarily work containing significant plagiarism does not receive academic credit.

If the failure to acknowledge aid is so flagrant as to raise a presumption of intent to deceive, the instructor will bring a charge of cheating before the Honor Council. In trying the case, the Honor Council will assume that all students enrolled in the College of William and Mary are cognizant of the following two basic principles and understand that they apply regardless of other directions:

(a) All quoted material must be identified by quotation marks, indentation on the page, or other recognized method, and the sources must be clear.

(b) Any information, ideas, or phrasing borrowed from any specific source must be explicitly attributed to that source, whether or not the material is actually quoted, unless the borrowed item is obviously in the realm of "common knowledge"—that is, knowledge which persons conversant with the topic involved could be expected to have in their memories as a matter of course.

Ignorance is not an excuse for violation of these basic principles. It is the responsibility of the student to learn from the individual instructor the procedure for acknowledging sources and indicating quotations required by each assignment.

(2) Stealing. Stealing is the act of taking or appropriating without right or leave that which belongs to another with intent to keep or make use of wrongfully that which was taken. It is assumed that the individual will exercise good judgment in determining whether an act is an act of theft or merely an act of borrowing. Common sense dictates that students take ordinary measures to safeguard their property just as they would in the non-college community.

Removing books from the College Library without checking them through the proper channels is considered stealing and, as such, constitutes a violation of the Honor Code. The College Library is operated upon the principles of the Honor Code. The open-stack system is in effect; that is, students may browse in the stacks, and the students themselves assume responsibility for checking out books at the circulation desk. The alternative of the open-stack system is a closed-stack system, under which students are not free to browse, but rather must give the titles of books they are interested in to a clerk who locates the books. The advantages to the student of the open-stack system in terms of ease of research and intellectual stimulation make the open-stack system preferable. The system can continue, however, only so long as students assume their obligation under the Honor System to obey Library regulations.

(3) Lying. Lying is the intentional statement of an untruth made with deliberate intent to mislead another about other than trivial matters. If an individual tells an untruth concerning some matter, but later tells the truth concerning the same matter before he is accused of committing a breach of honor, he is not considered guilty of lying.

Falsely testifying before the Honor Council is itself an Honor offense. If an individual is being tried for an offense of the Honor Code on one count and lies while appearing before the Honor Council, he will be accused of committing an additional breach of Honor. In such cases, a new trial will be held to determine the guilt or innocence of the accused on the additional charge of lying.

(4) Failure to Report an Offense. The requirement that a student report an infraction of which he has firsthand knowledge is the point of the Honor Code which is frequently least understood.

Occasionally there is the tendency to feel that this fourth point requires spying or "tattling." This feeling is rooted in the early education and family life of an individual where "tattling" is rightly frowned upon as causing unnecessary altercations. There are two points which should be remembered when comparing the childhood situation with that of the college community. First, a child looks to adults for authority and discipline, while students at William and Mary govern themselves to a large extent, especially in matters of honor. They cannot continue to be self-governing, however, without the cooperation of members of the student body. Secondly, "tattling," by implication, concerns trivial matters, whereas infractions of the Honor Code threaten the way of life at the College. While an individual might hesitate to report a parking violation to the authorities, the same individual probably would not hesitate to report a robbery or an act of violence, acts which threaten the welfare of the society as a whole. The people who are concerned that a way of life be maintained must accept responsibility for maintaining it.

There is sometimes a tendency to feel that to report another's breach of honor is to deprive honor of its personal sanctity. For any code of rules or Honor System to be effective, however, there must exist two forms of social control: one is an individual, inner morality resulting from religion, education, and public opinion; and the other is an external control, law. Although distinct in their mode of operation, these two forms of control are supplementary. Neither is possible without the other, nor can one be substituted exclusively for the other.

The Honor System

John Crane

Sitting in judgment of one's fellow students is an awesome responsibility. Tish Paschall mirrors the soul-searching concern an Honor Council member feels.

For the vast majority of students, the Honor Code takes the first form, that of a set of personal ideals or code of conduct. In a group of persons with varied backgrounds and different moral standards, however, there are always some, who, for a time at least, must be made to understand that dishonorable conduct has temporal penalties also, one of which may be a forced separation from the group whose integrity they have violated.

Reporting a Breach of Honor

(1) Challenging an Accused Student. Any person believing that a breach of the Honor Code has been committed should challenge the student accused of the act and offer him the opportunity to resign from the College immediately or to report himself to the Honor Council (if the accused does not report himself to the Honor Council, the accuser must report the case).

(2) Reporting an Accused Student. In such cases where a direct challenge is not feasible, he may report the suspect directly to any member of the Men's or Women's Honor Council, who will in turn notify the accused of the accusation against him.

Investigations of Alleged Dishonorable Practices

Whenever, in the opinion of the President of the Council, or a majority thereof, evidence of probable dishonorable practices should be sought and impounded, and there are reasonable grounds to suppose that such evidence may be found in a particular place, any member of the Council when accompanied by an administrative official of the College or a member of the faculty of the College above the rank of instructor, may enter any room or building within the jurisdiction of the College in search of such evidence, and, if found, may impound the same for such period of time as shall be necessary for investigation and trial.

Whenever it is brought to the attention of the Council that there is reason to believe that practices by students in violation of the Honor Code may be occurring, it shall be the duty of the Council or Councils affected to hold a meeting or meetings for investigative purposes and to summon witnesses to disclose to the Council any information requested that is relevant and within their knowledge.

Witnesses

A witness called to testify must appear before the Honor Council and must give such testimony pertaining to the case as may be requested by the Council. Any student who in the opinion of the Council refuses to testify frankly and fully shall be reported to the Chairman of the Discipline Committee of the College. Falsely testifying before the Honor Council is in itself a violation of the Honor Code.

Failure to Stand Trial

Should the accused leave the College without appearing before the Honor Council for trial, the accuser shall report the name of the accused and the breach of honor to the presiding officer of the Honor Council. The Honor Council shall then record the facts of the case and advise the President of the College that the student withdrew under suspicion of a breach of honor.

Rights of Accused

The accused shall have the following rights in the event he elects to stand trial:

(1) A right that the charges against him be reduced to writing and served on him personally by some member of the Honor Council before trial. If these charges are so vague or indefinite as not to apprise fairly the accused of the charge or charges against him, he may ask for a more definite statement as to time, place, and any other particulars relevant to the case, which shall then be furnished him promptly and in advance of the trial.

(2) A right to a written statement of his rights and duties with respect to the trial, and the procedure thereof. This shall be given him at the same time he is served with notice of the charge or charges against him.

(3) A right to have the opportunity to seek the advice of his parents, teachers, or spiritual adviser, and that matters told in confidence not be disclosed.

(4) A right to a trial at a proper time and place. In general the trial should not be held with undue haste, nor, on the other hand, should it be postponed unnecessarily. Trials should not be held for too long periods of time without recess, or at unseemly hours. In general there should be a recess every two hours, and no trial should continue past midnight, though members of the Council, if they so desire, may deliberate until a majority ask that proceedings be recessed.

(5) A right to summon witnesses and to testify in his own behalf, but the number of character witnesses, if any, may be reasonably limited by the Council.

(6) A right to be confronted with the witnesses, and to question them.

(7) A right that he not be tried for one offense, e.g., cheating, and convicted on another, e.g., lying before the Council, without the same opportunity to defend himself against any other charge.

(8) A right that his or her husband or wife, or brother or sister of the full blood or of the half blood or by legal adoption, not testify against him.

(9) A right to request the President of the College to review a finding of guilt and the propriety of the penalty. This right must be exercised promptly after notification of the accused by the President of the College or his administrative assistants of the penalty. The request should be made in writing and should state clearly the reasons relied upon for reversal or modification. The accused shall not attend classes or take part in any College function while his request is under consideration.

(10) A right to elect to be tried separately where he is one of two or more accused of a joint violation. If none of those accused jointly of an alleged joint offense request separate trials, they may be tried jointly or separately as the Council deems best.

(11) A right, even though guilty, to present evidence of extenuating circumstances.

(12) A right, in event of acquittal, that the minutes and recordings of his trial be destroyed promptly after the expiration of two weeks from the time he is notified of his acquittal. A verdict of acquittal is not final during this period, and the case may be reopened for good cause shown at the request of any party in interest. If so re-opened, it is to be regarded as a continuation of the original case.

(13) A right to an acquittal unless at least six out of seven of the Council believe that the charge or charges against him have been proved beyond any reasonable doubt.

(14) A right to ask any member of the Honor Council who will not be a witness (except the chairman), to be his counsellor. If the accused does not wish such a counsellor, than the chairman shall direct one member of the Council to withdraw from the Council so far as the trial of that particular case is concerned, to the end that the accused be tried by a council of seven. If the accused does request a counsellor, the duties of such counsellor shall be as follows:

(a) To explain to the accused his rights and duties.

(b) To investigate the charges to determine whether or not any violation of the Honor Code is charged, to investigate the facts, and to counsel the accused as to the best way to present any honest defense or mitigating circumstances; but the counsellor shall not himself advise the accused as to whether or not he should plead guilty or not guilty, as that decision must be made by the accused himself.

(c) During the trial, to question the accused and all witnesses, if he thinks such questioning may be helpful in presenting the case of the accused in the best possible way; but he shall have no right to argue the case of the accused before the Council or to participate in the deliberation of the Council; and this last for the purpose of avoiding the appearance of having one member of the Council defending and seven members prosecuting.

(d) Not to disclose to anyone any matter relevant to the case that has come to him in his capacity as counsellor unless expressly requested to do so by the accused himself.

Duties of the Accused

If he elects to stand trial, the accused shall be under the following duties:

(1) A general duty to co-operate reasonably with the Council in conducting the trial and bringing it to a close without undue delay.

(2) A duty to answer all relevant questions frankly, fully, and honestly, unless such answers would tend to expose him to the probability of a criminal prosecution, in which case the accused, if he does not wish to answer, shall so state: but any such refusal to answer may be considered by the Council in determining the issue of guilt or innocence.

Rights of Accuser

(1) An accuser shall have the right to be present at the trial, if he so desires, so that he can satisfy himself that his complaint has been properly heard and considered. He shall take no part in the trial unless called as a witness.

(2) He shall have a right to be advised of the final decision.

(3) He shall have a right that neither his person nor his property shall be insulted, molested, threatened, or damaged because of his part in the trial.

The Honor System

Fred Frechette

Conduct of Trial

(1) Every trial shall be conducted by a council of seven members. Should some of the regular members be unavailable, the chairman, with the advice of the members who are available, may appoint any member of the student body as a temporary member of the Council. In the absence of the chairman, the vice-chairman shall perform all the functions that would otherwise be performed by the chairman. In the absence of both the chairman and vice-chairman, the remaining members shall elect an acting chairman.

(2) The Chairman of the Council shall preside.

(3) The accused and all witnesses shall be reminded that lying in an Honor Council trial is itself a violation of the Honor Code.

(4) The questioning of the accused and all witnesses shall be done by the chairman. When he is through questioning, each member of the Council shall be given the privilege of asking additional questions. Then the accused may ask the witnesses questions he wishes to ask. When he is through, the witnesses may be asked additional questions by any member of the Council. Then the accused may ask additional questions, and so on, until all parties are satisfied, for the time being, that the witnesses can furnish no further information. Hearsay evidence may be heard at the discretion of the chairman, when some useful purpose may be served thereby, and there is some guarantee of its reliability. The chairman shall pass on all questions raised as to relevancy of proffered evidence, and where no unfairness is likely to result, may depart from the order of procedure set forth above.

(5) Where the evidence consists in whole or in part of written work or other exhibits, the accused shall be permitted to examine them during the course of the trial.

(6) Witnesses may be recalled in the light of new or unexpected developments.

(7) No trial shall be held on Sunday or any religious holiday in the event that anyone connected with the trial objects in good faith to its being so held.

(8) The accused shall not have a right to be represented by counsel, unless, in the opinion of the majority of the Council, he is incapable of properly presenting any defense he may have. In such a case, some other student approved by the accused and the Dean of Men or Dean of Women may act for the accused.

(9) Any student who in the opinion of the Council refuses to testify frankly and fully shall be reported to the Chairman of the Discipline Committee of the College.

(10) If six or more of the seven members of the Council participating in a trial shall believe the accused guilty beyond a reasonable doubt, he shall be deemed guilty as charged; otherwise he shall be acquitted.

(11) The Council, after having found an accused guilty, shall by two-thirds ( $\frac{2}{3}$ ) vote of the Council recommend the penalty, which normally shall be dismissal from the College. If two-thirds ( $\frac{2}{3}$ ) or more of the Council believe that there are extenuating circumstances of an exceptional nature and wish to recommend a less severe penalty, they shall put that recommendation in writing, along with the alleged extenuating circumstances. In determining guilt or penalty it is not proper to consider extraneous matters not brought out at the trial.

(12) If the finding be one of guilt, that fact shall be reported in writing through the appropriate deans to the President of the College, along with the recommended penalty and alleged exceptional extenuating circumstances (if any). The accused should be notified only of the finding of his guilt, and told that the President will in due course notify him of the penalty. The accuser shall also be given notice in writing that the accused has been found guilty.

(13) If the finding be one of innocence, that fact shall be reported in writing to the appropriate deans. The accused should be notified of that finding and cautioned that the trial may be re-opened for good cause within a period of two weeks at the request of any interested person. The accuser shall be given notice in writing that the accused has been acquitted.

(14) At the request of the accused, or of the parent or guardian of the accused, an observer acceptable to the President of the College shall be permitted to be present during the trial. The College in such an event may also designate a suitable person to act as an observer. Observers, unless called as witnesses, shall take no part in the proceedings and shall not be present during the deliberations of the Council.

(15) The Secretary of the Council shall take and keep minutes of the proceedings. Recording devices may be used if they are under the control of the Council.

(16) If the accused is acquitted, the minutes and recordings of the meeting shall be kept for at least two weeks and shall be destroyed immediately thereafter, unless the case has been re-opened for good cause.

(17) The minutes of any trial may be inspected by the President of the College or his administrative assistants. Others may inspect the minutes in the presence of two or more members of the Council after having first satisfied the Council of their legitimate interest in the case. The recommendations of the Council as to the penalty shall become a part of the minutes from and after the notification of the accused by the President of the College of the penalty imposed, and not before.

(18) Any member of the Council who is an accuser or a witness in a case is automatically disqualified. A member may also disqualify himself in any case because of interest, bias, close relationship to the accused or to the accuser, or for any other good reason.

19) No member of the Council shall communicate in any way with any person not a member of the Council about any case while that case is being tried. After trial, except under unusual circumstances, both discretion and good taste require continued secrecy.

(20) A failure to follow any of the above stated rules shall not be grounds for a mistrial where there is no reasonable doubt about the guilt of the accused and the propriety of the penalty finally imposed.

Penalty for a Breach of Honor

A violation of the Honor Code is punishable by dismissal from College. The essential basis of the Honor System is that honor is indivisible and, as such, calls for the same treatment in case of violation; but the penalty may be modified when in the opinion of the Council conclusive reasons for doing so exist.

If, after trying a case, six of the seven members of the Council are convinced of the guilt of the accused and so cast their votes in a secret ballot, the Honor Council shall immediately report its findings and recommendations to the President of the College.

Penalties shall be imposed promptly, and in the case of dismissal, the President of the College shall have the parents and the Alumni Secretary informed, and shall have the facts recorded on all official records.

Public Notice of Actions Taken

After the expiration of two weeks from the completion of any case, the Councils shall cause to be posted on the Library bulletin board notices of the charge for which an accused was tried whether found guilty or acquitted, and the penalty, if any, that was imposed. A copy of this notice shall also be sent to the Editor of the Flat Hat along with a request that it be printed in a conspicuous place in that paper. The notice shall make no mention of any names.

Re-Opening Cases

No case shall be re-opened after the expiration of two weeks from its completion before the Council except for newly discovered evidence, provided that the availability of such evidence was unknown at the time of the trial by the party seeking to re-open the case, and provided further that such evidence in the opinion of the majority of the Council would be apt to change the result of the original trial. In such cases either the accuser, the College, or the accused may ask that the case be re-opened. If a case is re-opened after the expiration of two weeks from its completion before that Council, it shall be tried anew.

Stale Cases

Any breach of honor alleged to have been committed more than four months before complaint shall be disregarded unless at least two-thirds of the Council believe there has been just cause for delay and that it is still feasible to hold a fair trial.

Amendment

These rules may be amended from time to time by three-fourths vote of each Honor Council concurred in by the President of the College. ●

Gold and Silver on the Green

Lester Nehamkin

Big Mark McCormack towers over Client Gary Player.

IF Mark McCormack ever saw gold and silver on the greens of the Williamsburg Inn golf course during his student days, it could be chalked up to either an overdose of school spirit or something he ate in the College dining hall. Green, gold and silver, William and Mary's unique colors, can sometimes present a bilious combination.

These days, 32-year-old Mark sees a great deal of gold and silver on the green and there is nothing sickly about it . . . unless one is allergic to money. Mark is not. He has turned golf into a Mother Lode, winging to fortune with the game's three top players: Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus. In Mark's hands, each is well on the way to his first million. So is Mark.

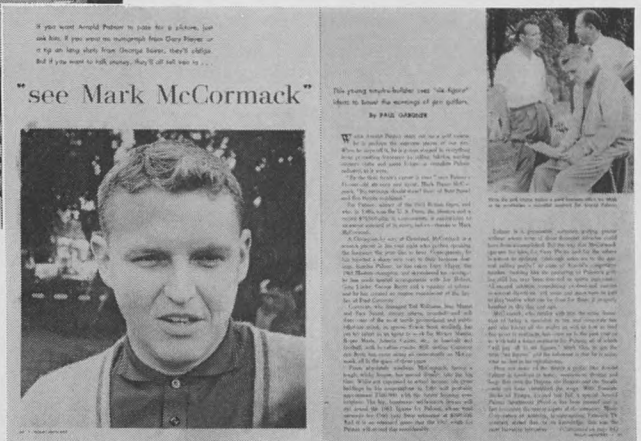

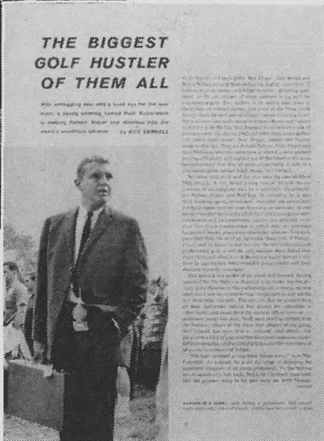

He has hit professional golf the way Rockefeller hit the oil industry. In less than three years, he organized his clients' affairs in such money making patterns that he captured a great deal of attention. His activities, widely reported in newspapers around the country, have been the subject of articles in Time, Sports Illustrated and Golf Magazine.

Golf has almost always been a way of life for McCormack. During his Williamsburg tenure, 1948-1951, the genial Theta Delta Chi played number one or number two on the College golf team. His constant devotion to improving his score card gave certain of his professors cause for concern. Then as now, however, he channeled enough energy and intellect into his non-golf affairs to do the job. He graduated in 1951 with grades good enough for admission to Yale Law School.

In 1954, with LLB and a new bride,

the former Nancy Breckenridge (Smith '52), Mark entered the Army and served in the Military Police School at, of all places, Augusta, Ga., convenient to the Masters Tournament. He did not neglect his game. After discharge in 1956, he began competing as an amateur. In 1958, he finished fifth among play-for-fun golfers in the United States Open Championship.

When not playing golf, he worked for a Cleveland, Ohio, law firm. On the side, he formed a company to help professional golfers solicit and book exhibitions and obtain endorsements. The firm, named National Sports Management, Inc., still operates and represents about 20 professional golfers.

"It worked out pretty well and after a while some of the players began to come around and ask for advice," said McCormack. "'Look, Mark, you're a lawyer', they would say, 'how about helping us with some of these endorsement contracts?' There wasn't much to it; I was amazed that no one had been performing this service before. Anyway, one of the golfers was Palmer. One day, early in 1960, before he won any of his big tournaments that year, he asked me if I would be interested in representing him on an overall basis. So I went to the law firm and asked them if that would be all right. They were hesitant, but eventually they said O.K. It meant quite a bit in legal fees to them, of course. And that's the way it began."

Mark had first met Palmer when he was playing for Wake Forest's golf team. "Fortunately," he recalled, "someone else had to play Arnie that day. At the end of five holes, our man was even par—and three down." They didn't meet again until Mark set up National Sports Management, Inc.

At the time he took over the affairs of Palmer, McCormack was earning less than $10,000 annually, driving a 1954 Ford and living in a $130 a month apartment. Today by virtue of the minimum 10 per cent he extracts from every Palmer-Player-Nicklaus deal—and sometimes his interest is much higher—McCormack drives a Lincoln Continental convertible, lives in a $100,000 home, and can anticipate an increase in his net worth of approximately a quarter of a million dollars in 1962.

"This is only the beginning," says Mark.

"I keep expecting the Continental to turn back into a pumpkin," says his wife.

Once McCormack organized his three champions and began to exploit the possibilities, all Palmer, then Player and now Nicklaus have to do is keep swinging . . . and watch the money pour in. The three of them are incorporated like German munitions firms. McCormack has set up so many of them, in fact, that three of them—McBreck Enterprises, McTodd Enterprises and McDallie Enterprises—are named after his two little sons and their Dalmatian dog.

The reason for the network of corporations is to provide profitable investments for golf-gotten gains and to show income, insofar as possible, as corporate income rather than salary. McCormack, who also arranges all his golfers' appearances, negotiates their contracts for everything from appearances on television to exhibition matches. He obviously drives hard bargains.

"I am thoroughly resented by every company used to dealing with players without me, and I consider it my best personal ad. I am knifed by everybody. If they welcomed my entering the picture, I wouldn't like it—I would be suspicious," Mark comments.

"I think that these pro athletes have been badly mishandled too often," he says, "because most of them have too many people doing various things for them. Most pro athletes will have one man for endorsements, one friend for investments, another for insurance—and everybody is moving in a different direction. The comprehensive program, aiming in a specific direction, is the thing."

McCormack, who hit upon a bright idea and then turned the full thrust of his energy into making it work, sometimes has misgivings. "I'm making more money than I ever believed possible," he says, "but I don't have time to enjoy it. The house is wonderful—except that I'm never there. I built it right across from the country club, and I haven't played a round of golf there this year."

There are consolations, of course. As he put it, "I'm having a great time. I've always loved to travel, and here I am traveling all over the world. I mix socially with people I once only read about, celebrities from show business and government and finance and sport. And who do I play golf with? The three best golfers in the world, Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus. When you stop to think about it, this whole thing is fantastic." ●

Zable Makes Silver All-America

WALTER J. ZABLE '37 has been named a member of the 1962 Sports Illustrated Silver Anniversary All-America. He is the third William and Mary alumnus so honored in the past five years. John W. Tuthill '32 and Dan H. Edmondson '38 were previous winners of this high honor.

A resident of San Diego and president, chairman and a founder of Cubic Corporation, Zable was one of 25 ex-football players chosen for the 1962 Silver Anniversary All-America. Others included Associate Supreme Court Justice Byron "Whizzer" White of Colorado, Clint Frank of Yale and John Michelosen of Pittsburgh.

Best in State

As an undergraduate Zable was a four-letter man, an all-southern end, shortstop on the baseball team, forward in basketball and holder for many years of the school's low hurdle record. In 1937 he was recognized as the "Best Athlete in Virginia." Two months after being graduated from William and Mary with a Bachelor of Science degree in physics and mathematics, he was playing right end for the Richmond Arrows, a professional football team in Richmond, which permitted him to continue graduate work at the College. While in Richmond he received an appointment as an instructor at a vocational school in Danville. During this period he coached and played professional football with the Danville Greenwaves, another southern team. Zable later completed his graduate studies at the University of Florida and at Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, and has a Master of Science degree in electrical engineering.

From 1 to 600

In 1951, Zable launched the Cubic Corporation and thus added another chapter to the classic American success story. From its initial address at a post office box and one part-time employee, Cubic has grown in ten years to a 112,000 square foot San Diego electronics plant with over 600 employees. It is this country's foremost producer of geodetic and surveying systems; it is a leading producer of aerospace tracking and data handling systems (Cubic antennas play a major part in Project Mercury orbital flights of Astronauts); it has recently launched a full scale industrial division which immediately gained competitive status in supplying digital and automation components to industry. Behind all these significant developments in a field so vital to our national welfare is the driving force of Zable.

Electronics his Career

His business career has been almost entirely in the electronics field starting as an electronic engineer with Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company and including increasingly responsible positions with Sperry Gyroscope Company, Federal Telecommunications Laboratories, Control Instruments Company, and Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Company.

Zable is well known in the San Diego area where he is on the Board of Directors of the YMCA and the Board of the Theatre and Arts Foundation. He continues to have a keen interest in young people and is a sponsor of the San Diego YMCA Community Clubs (youth clubs in local high schools), and not being too far removed from his days as coach, he sponsors one little league and one colt league team (Loma Portal and Clairmont) in local competition. This year Zable was judged by the San Diego Junior Chamber of Commerce to be San Diego's Aerospace Man of the Year.

Good Alumnus, Too

Zable's association with the College is also commendable. He has set a splendid example for all alumni by his interest and support. He is one of thirteen members of the College's Endowment Board and has just been elected to the Board of Directors of the Alumni Society.

Dean of Students J. Wilfred Lambert, who has had an interest in Zable since his arrival on campus twenty-nine years ago, noted that he came to Williamsburg with two consuming interests—football and radio. He pursued both with equal vigor, the football for the glory of his College, the radio to the embarrassment of the Dean who is still convinced that Zable was the ringleader of a clandestine communication center. With obvious pride the Dean says of Zable, "From his freshman year there has been consistency of development coupled with an understanding of the need for initiative and drive that has carried him to the success he enjoys today, and has made his company one of the nation's most valuable tools in the conquest of space." ●

Solos, Symptoms, Scholars & Such

IN December, Senior Allan Baumann became the first William and Mary student in 30 years to solo in a College connected pilot training course. His flight, from College owned Central Airport, was part of an ROTC program inaugurated during the fall.

Flight training is offered under Army auspices to ROTC seniors who meet rigid academic and physical qualifications. Consisting of 71 hours' instruction, half in the air, the program is entirely extra-curricular. Trainees are not excused from other prescribed ROTC courses.

Volunteers for the program must agree to apply for Army aviation training and, if they qualify as Army pilots, must also agree to serve three years on active duty instead of the usual two. Fifteen senior ROTC students enrolled for the course last fall. Because he was scheduled to graduate at the end of the first semester, Baumann was allowed to accelerate his flight training. Thus he became first soloist.

Instruction is in the hands of Floyd Clarke, manager of Central Airport, under F.A.A. approved contract. All costs of the program, including transportation for the students from campus to the airport three miles west of Williamsburg on U. S. Route 60, are borne by the government.

College ownership of the airport, leased by Clarke, dates to the establishment of a School of Aeronautics in 1932. During the school's brief history, a number of students—including at least one coed—earned their wings at William and Mary.

THROUGH the years the most consistent function of William and Mary student government seems to have been posing for pictures for the Colonial Echo. Perhaps because responsible undergraduates desired to improve upon the record, a new constitution was drawn up a year ago and submitted to the student body for approval.

Although like its predecessor the new constitution dealt more with self-perpetuation than actual powers, it hopefully offered a significant change. Representation of students would be placed on a residence rather than class basis. Instead of three men and three women from each of four classes, dormitories would elect one representative for each 50 residents.

Most alumni are unaware of this change. So, apparently, were most of the students. When put to them for ratification in March, 1962, only 18.6 per cent bothered to turn out to vote either for or against it . . . which may be symptomatic of student government importance in undergraduate eyes.

In spite of the low turnout, the new constitution was adopted. Student government began operating under its provisions last fall. Then someone made a horrible discovery. Ratification of the new constitution required a simple majority of the entire student body. By no stretch of the imagination could 18.6 per cent qualify as a majority of anything.

The flap was on. The whole thing—including, presumably, Colonial Echo photos—was illegal. Hurriedly a new constitution, virtually the same as that of March 1962, was drawn up. A vote for ratification was scheduled February 4th. Hopefully, at least 51 per cent of the undergraduates would be induced to turn out and approve it this time.

ILLUSTRIOUS alumnus Thomas Jefferson was guest of honor, so to speak, at William and Mary's 270th birthday party. He was subject of (1) the Charter Day speech February 8th, (2) a special library exhibit and (3) a brand new faculty award.

Dr. Julian P. Boyd, Princeton history professor who is editing the multi-volume Papers of Thomas Jefferson, delivered the Charter Day oration. Entitled "The Enduring World of Thomas Jefferson," it dealt with Jefferson's times and influences.

Jefferson was a student at the College from 1760 to 1762 and remained in Williamsburg most of the ensuing five years to study law under George Wythe. Later, as governor and member of the Board of Visitors, he was instrumental in revising the curriculum and installing Wythe as first professor of law in America. Reflections of his Williamsburg career found in College archives were featured in the library display.

Dean Emeritus Dudley W. Woodbridge of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law became first recipient Charter Day of a new $500 award to be given annually to the faculty member at William and Mary who "best exemplifies the ideals of Thomas Jefferson." The award was made possible through a $10,000 gift from the Robert Earl McConnell Foundation of Florida. William and Mary was the seventh educational institution to receive a grant from this foundation.

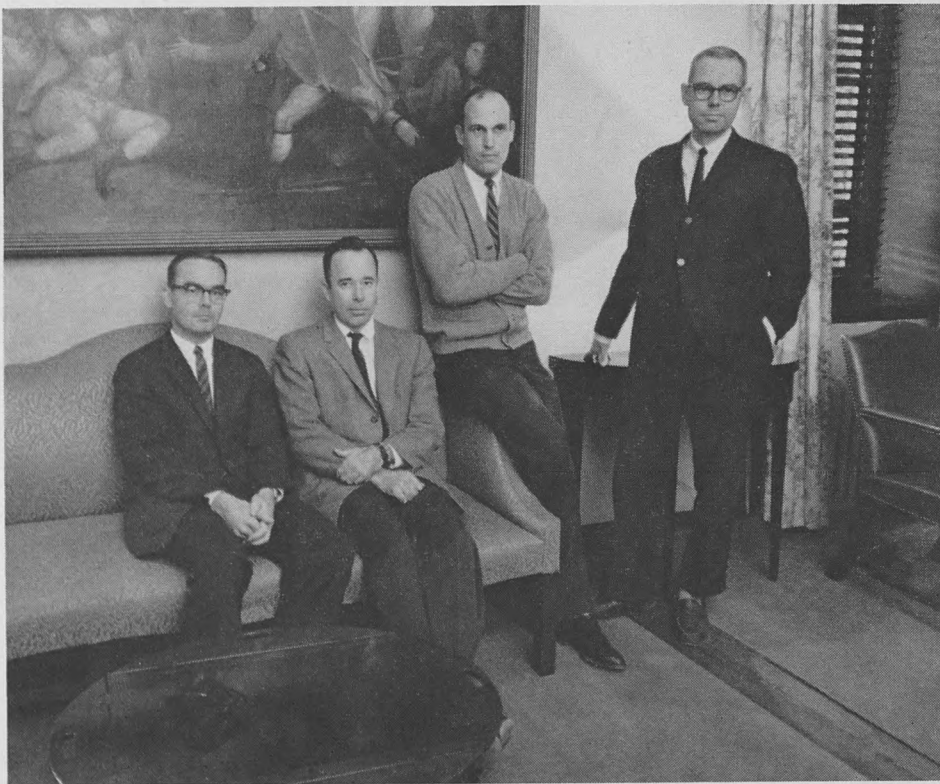

Dean Woodbridge, who joined the faculty in 1927, was selected for the award by a committee composed of W. Brooks George of Richmond; R. K. T. Larson of Norfolk; Mayor H. M. Stryker of Williamsburg; Professor Carl Rose-berg, and Jerry Van Voorhis, student body president.

FOUR professors have been awarded grants from a Chicago philanthropist to pursue scholarly research and writing projects. Willett Research Prize Awards in the amount of $1250 each went to Carl R. Dolmetsch, Ludwell H. Johnson, Richard B. Sherman and Dabney Stuart 3rd.

Dolmetsch, an assistant professor of English, will use his grant to pursue his projected Literary Biography of William Byrd II, scheduled for publication in April 1965. Johnson, associate professor of history, will continue work on his monograph, Contraband Trade in the Civil War. Sherman, assistant professor of history, will be able to continue his study of the political significance of mass migration of Negroes from the South to the large Northern cities during and immediately following World War I. Stuart, an English instructor, will complete a long poem entitled Fair.

The grants were made possible by the generosity of Howard L. Willett, president of the Willett Company, Chicago. His research prizes are designed to permit young scholars to pursue research and creative work. Similar awards are given at Skidmore College, Northwestern University and among public school teachers in Chicago.

THE Old Dominion's scholastic banners waved proudly December 5th, 186th anniversary of the founding of Phi Beta Kappa. On that date 18 William and Mary undergraduates were initiated into this honorary academic fraternity. Fifteen of them were products of Virginia's rapidly improving educational system. Seven were from burgeoning Arlington, six from the same high school.

Initiates who prepped at Arlington's Washington and Lee High School were Yvonne Louise Baay, Lucinda Sherrill Parrish, Diane Elise Rucker, Mrs. Lydia Susan Salmon, William I. Salmon and Paul Fenton Shepard. Also from Arlington was Anna Byrd Mays, who attended Wakefield High School.

Other Virginians who became Phi Beta Kappa members were Karen Leslie Harkavy and Jeryl Sheila Diamant, both of Newport News; William Jones, Jr., Whaleyville; Raymond G. Frey, Jr., Norfolk; Betty Barrow Kreger, Abingdon; Joan Lee, Williamsburg; Nancy Lee Ramsey, Charlotte Court House, and Valerie Jean Simms, Springfield.

The three from out of state: Sylvia Joy Sidwell, Takoma Park, Md.; Karen Penny Stenbo, Harrison, N. Y., and Alfred Young Wolff, Jr., Hanover, Pa.

Initiated with the students was Dr. Stanley Williams of the Psychology Department. Also honored during the program was Dr. John Lachs, of the Philosophy Department, selected to receive the 1962 Faculty Award for Advancement of Scholarship.

MARSHALL-WYTHE is no longer headquarters for the President of the College. Dr. Paschall has changed his operating base to Ewell Hall. (Ewell Hall is the name given to what remained of old Phi Beta Kappa Hall after the fire which destroyed the auditorium in December 1953.) The president's new office is in what used to be known as the Dodge Room. Dr. Paschall's evacuation of the well known corner room in Marshall-Wythe resulted in some fast shuffling of administrative offices. Among the moves were those of the Bursar into the president's former quarters and of the personnel office, headed by Dennis Cogle, into the Bursar's old operating area.

TWO areas of study were elevated to departmental status by the Board of Visitors shortly after the December issue of the GAZETTE went to press. Scheduled to help fatten the next edition of the College catalogue are the Geology Department and Theatre and Speech Department.

Highway, Bridge Damage In Flood Set At $2,000,000

RICHMOND, Feb. 6 (AP)—Engineers today boosted preliminary estimates on flood damage to south-west Virginia highways and bridges to $2,000,000.

Previously, the State Highway Department had estimated damage at $1,300,000. It said today, however, more complete reports from Buchanan County had indicated the damage total would be considerably higher. In Buchanan alone, the estimate was upped from $350,000 to $800,000.

All bridges damaged or destroyed by last week's flood in an eight-county area are expected to be repaired or replaced by temporary crossings within the next few days, a spokesman said.

Elsewhere in the State, the department moved to prevent the breaking up of rain-soaked routes by restricting load limits. On many secondary roads, mostly in the Fredericksburg, Suffolk, Staunton and Richmond districts, as well as on a few primary routes, loads have been limited to eight tons.

This precaution was taken because of heavy rains and alternate freezing and thawing, the department said. District engineers have been ordered to make repairs to damaged roads as quickly as possible to prevent "deeper frost penetration."

ENGINEERS TRANSFERRED
 As a means of quickly reopening blocked roads in the hard-hit Buchanan-Dickenson-Russell area, the department temporarily transferred resident engineers at Chatham and Suffolk to assist engineers in the three counties.

Bridge crews from the Salem and Lynchburg districts and the assistant bridge engineer from the Richmond central office also have been sent to the Bristol district to assist with the job of repairing the damage.

Sections of portable steel bridges, road equipment and operators for 24 hour operation also have been sent to the Bristol area, the department said. More than 800 highway

He then gives up a club, and no matter who wins it, no damaging return can be made. The defense will presumably continue to cash diamonds. The third round is ruffed by South. A trump is led to dummy's king and the queen of hearts is trumped away, establishing dummy's fifth heart.

The defense wins, in all, a diamond, a club, and the queen of spades.

workers are being used in the gigantic repair and cleanup job.

The department said in many instances washed out bridges have been replaced temporarily by fills and metal pipe, with permanent repairs to be made as quickly as possible.

In addition to State bridges, numerous private spans leading to coal tipples were washed out.

Summarizing, the department said Buchanan County, which suffered the most severe damage, had 49 bridges washed out or damaged. Traffic had been restored at 27 of these locations by today.

Of the estimated $800,000 damage in Buchanan County, the department said $700,000 was for secondary system roads.

OTHER CONDITIONS

The summarized road conditions in other countries in the flood area are as follows:

Bland—Two bridges are being repaired and are expected to be open to traffic within the next two days. Residents of the area have access to other roads.

Tazewell—One 30-foot beam span washed out and some 70-foot steel truss bridge closed because of damage to an abutment. The truss span is being placed on a temporary abutment to serve traffic until permanent repairs can be made.

Dickenson—Twelve vehicular bridges and four footbridges are still closed but are scheduled to be open within the next two or three days. Portable bridges are being assembled for installation on Route 635 at Haysi and on Route 607 at Birchleaf. More than 40 private footbridges and 20 private vehicular bridges were destroyed or damaged.

Russell—All roads have been made passable except Route 651 west of Blackford and Route 633 west of Swords Creek where two bridges have not been replaced. Temporary repairs at both locations should be completed within the next two days.

Wise—All roads and bridges have been restored to passable condition.

Scott—All vehicular bridges are in service. Four footbridges are still out. Conditions on roads near the Clinch and Holston Rivers are expected to be improved by tomorrow.

Lee—Only minor flood damage occurred and all roads, except US Route 58 west of Jonesville, are open to traffic. Traffic being detoured over alternate Route 58 and Route 659.

Ike Joins Press Laugh At Chiding By Mrs. Wilson

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—President Eisenhower said with a laugh today that he's "too old a campaigner to be bothered by many things"—including the chiding he got from Mrs. Charles E. Wilson.

Thus he endeavored to lay to rest last week's extraordinary interview in which the wife of the secretary of defense criticized the President for making "uncalled for" remarks about her husband.

Eisenhower had said Wilson made an "unwise" statement in accusing some members of the National Guard of draft-dodging during the Korean War.

A lady reporter asked the President at his news conference today whether he was "a little upset" about Mrs. Wilson's "Mild rebuke."

Eisenhower looked somewhat surprised. But he joined in the general laughter and then said, "I think I am too old a campaigner to be bothered by many things."

Betty Beale reported in her column in the Washington Evening Star today that Mrs. Wilson's defense of her husband made a hit with the politicians and "won her immortality in the city of Washington."

Miss Beale said she found that, generally speaking, Washington wives fall into two categories: "the kind who are publicly articulate and the kind who leave all political talk to their husbands."

She said all the politicians' wives shied away from commenting publicly on the case of Mrs. Wilson.

Early Life At Jamestown Depicted In Forum Talks

WILLIAMSBURG, Feb. 6. — Archaeologists have pieced together fragments of brick, iron, pewter, glass, and bones into a vivid picture of how the settlers at Jamestown lived in the early 17th century.

Two men from Colonial National Historical Park—J. L. Cotter and J. Paul Hudson—testified to this fact before the Williamsburg Antiques Forum audience today.

Archaeology has been going on at Jamestown since 1934 when the National Park Service became interested in the project. Dr. Cotter supervisor of archaeology for CNHP, has been involved in the excavations since approximately 1949.

He told the audience how excavations were carried on for two years with the loss of only one day's work because of weather. Often, he said, they worked under tarpaulins during snow storms.

Showing slides of methods and tools—a whisk brush and trowel—Dr. Cotter illustrated the excavation work which revealed 41 foundations including 24 wells, 13 brick buildings, and four brick kilns.

The structures at Jamestown which visitors now see, Dr. Cotter said, have been "mocked up." The real foundations have been covered because of the damage that might be done to the old brick by frost, he explained.

Besides the foundations, archaeologists found pins, thimbles, scissors, pottery, jugs, vases, earthenware pots, a rapier and broad sword, and a coin dated 1698. The largest collection in America of early 17th century items is now at the Jamestown Museum, according to Dr. Cotter.

Many skeletons and burial grounds were uncovered in the excavations. There may have been as many as 300 graves, Dr. Cotter estimated. The cemetery is presently thought to be somewhere in the James River.

Evidence of an ice house, brick kilns, and iron works were also found. This and other types of early industry were enlarged upon by J. Paul Hudson, NPS curator at the Jamestown museum, in his speech "The Crafts in Early Jamestown."

As the settler toiled in his vineyard and tobacco field, he probably "never dreamed that the seeds of his incessant labor would some day bloom into the greatest industrial nation in the world," Hudson told the forum.

Hudson said a blacksmith, barbers, carpenters, lumbermen, and many other craftsmen were among the first group of 103 settlers to land at Jamestown in April, 1607.

Hundreds of tools used by these early men have been found—hammers, chisels, axes, and one highly-prized cross-cut saw.

In January, 1608, Hudson said, 120 new settlers arrived at Jamestown, including 15 artisans: two jewelers, six tailors, two metal workers, a blacksmith, cooper, tobacco pipe maker, goldsmith, and perfumer.

Several barrels, staves, and some small local pipes have been found which were probable works of this group of craftsmen.

Late in 1608 a ship brought eight Poles and Dutchmen skilled at making pot ash, tar and pitch, and glass, records show. These men erected a glasshouse "one mile up river" from Jamestown and built four furnaces there.

It was not known what type of glass was made at Jamestown because no complete objects, only fragments of green glass, have been found, Hudson said. It is believed that bottles and vases, but no glass beads, were made at Jamestown.

Records say only that several "trials" of glass were made and sent to England. In 1609 more glass-makers were sent over, but records tell only of their failures—the glasshouse blew over during a storm, the right kind of sand couldn't be found, a furnace was broken when one worker got mad and attack it with a crow bar.

This glassmaking venture was ended in 1623 by an Indian massacre, according to Hudson.

Attempts to make silk at Jamestown were undertaken for 70 years, but this venture also failed. Other records show that in 1609 net makers were sent over, and in 1610 a brewer came to Jamestown.

A man familiar with cultivating vineyards and making wine from the grapes came in 1615, but this industry failed because the vintages usually were spoiled by the time they arrived in England.

Earth ovens have been found during excavations, therefore, Hudson said, "It is possible" that iron was smelted at Jamestown." However, he said evidence shows that ovens were established at Falling Creek, up river from Jamestown, in 1621 and iron was smelted there.

He said Falling Creek was truly the birthplace of the American iron industry, contrary to Monday's Forum speakers who claimed that honor for Saugus, Mass.

In 1622, Indians massacred the workers and destroyed the ovens, thus ending the iron works at Falling Creek.

The first recorded use of brick at Jamestown shows that in 1617 brick was used to build the foundations for the third church. Later, houses were made almost entirely of brick, Hudson said.

"Pottery may have been made at Jamestown as early as 1608," Hudson said, discussing another early craft. Two small pottery kilns in which crude vessels glazed only on one side were made have been found.

A reference to furniture making was recorded in 1610, in connection with the pews, chancel rail, and pulpit for the first church, Hudson said.

Pewter work was another early craft. One of the prize findings at Jamestown include a pewter spoon handle dated 1675 made by Joseph Cpeland at Chuckatuck, across the river from Jamestown. It is the only piece of 17th century American made pewter that has been found to date, Hudson explained.

In conclusion, Hudson said perhaps most of the things in the settler's home was made by himself or by his fellow craftsmen.

As a follow-up to the morning speeches on Jamestown, a tour of the rebuilt glasshouse of 1608, reconstructed James Fort, and the excavations and new Visitors' Center on Jamestown Island was given to those attending the second session of the ninth annual Forum sponsored by Colonial Williamsburg and Antiques Magazine.

A slide-commentary by Mrs. David Holmes, garden tour supervisor of Colonial Williamsburg, was also given in the afternoon for those not desiring to take the Jamestown tour.

A recital of 18th century music by Janet Hall and Arthur Rhea of Bruton Parrish Church was given in the evening for Forum members.

Program for tomorrow, the fourth day of the five-day session, will include two morning speeches, an afternoon tour of Colonial Williamsburg, and an evening address on country collectors.

Heart Diseases Hit 10 Million; Research Is Keystone of Help

Research is the keystone of the Heart Association's three-part assault on these (heart) diseases—the most determined mass assault on the heart problem in our medical history,"

Dr. R. Blackwell Smith, president of the Medical College of Virginia, told an audience of approximately 50 Heart Association volunteers and others interested in the Heart programs of research, education, and community service last week at the regional meeting of the Virginia Heart Association held at the Raleigh Hotel in Richmond.

"The heart diseases affect more than 10,000,000 people in the United States, old and young—some 500,000 still young enough to be in school," Dr. Smith continued in developing the subject, "Heart Research—Your Best Investment." This means that one person in each 16 is a victim of one or more of the cardiovascular diseases.

They accounted for 810,000 deaths during 1955—the most recent year for which statistics are available. This is 53 per cent of all deaths from all causes during the entire year; or more than one out of every two deaths.

broken into a home by breaking windows or doors, he always enters through an unlocked entrance." He cautioned residents to keep windows and doors locked.

Newport News police report that the same man is believed to be operating there in the same manner, only much more actively in that city, Kelly pointed out.

Unlocked Window

The woman criminally assaulted Tuesday, who lives in the restored area, was reported in satisfactory condition after the assault in which she was knocked unconscious. The assailant, believed to be a light-skinned Negro, according to police, gained entrance to the residence about 2 a.m. Tuesday through a second-story window which was unlocked. A ladder was used to reach the window.

The assailant made his way downstairs to the first floor bedroom occupied by the woman where he attacked her. He later forced her upstairs and shut her in a clothes closet, blocking the door with furniture. Stealing about $10 from the woman's purse and her car keys, he left with the seeming intent of taking her car.

However, as the man apparently made ready to drive off in the woman's car parked in front of her home, he turned on the headlights which happened to be spotted by a special police officer cruising in the vicinity. As the officer started to investigate, the lights went off and when he arrived no one was in the car. He heard the woman's calls for help at this time and notified the city police.

Chief Kelly said that the woman was unable to furnish an accurate description of her assailant or identify his race positively. The victim reportedly said that the man warned her with threats if she attempted to turn any lights on.

Police believe the same man burglarized this woman's home earlier in January, also stealing her car, which was recovered in Newport News the following day where it had been abandoned.

Prowler Reports

A rash of prowler reports and other incidents have flooded into the police station since January 3. Beside some business break-ins, the number of incidents affecting residences numbered 35 from January 3-29. Numerous reports also have been made to the police in which suspected prowlers were not actually seen or evidence found that they were around the premises.

Of the 35 reports in which prowlers were actually seen or goods reported missing, three involved peeping toms; one, prowling and assault; one, criminal assault and burglary; six burglary; three, stolen autos; and 21, prowling.

The incidents were reported at the following residences: January 3, 356 North Henry Street, burglary, lady's wallet that contained $8 and personal papers, also car keys; on the same evening, 7:15 p.m., 309 Prince George Street, peeping tom; January 8, 12:10 a.m., 304 Ludwell Apartments, peeping tom; also at 11:32 p.m., Old Guard House, Francis Street, prowler; January 9, 1 a.m., restored area house, burglary, auto stolen, later recovered; January 13, 11:33 p.m., 11 Magruder Heights, prowler;

Periphrasing Sports

By Al Ferguson

Virginia Gazette Sports Editor

In New York, we've noticed that they've caught the "Mad Bomber." In a few weeks, people around this grand ole Commonwealth will be wondering when they're going to catch the "Mad Indians."

Coach Boyd Baird's team faced a ferocious schedule at the beginning of the season, but at last the sun peeks through, and the scene looks bright.

Davidson, Furman, George Washington, VMI, Virginia Tech, VPI, Washington and Lee, West Virginia and Richmond dot the Tribbers' slate for the remainder of the season.

When Washington and Lee smacked a loss on the Indians' Big Six record, everyone suddenly stopped talking about a repeat performance of last year.

It was on February 25 that the Indians captured their heart-pumping victory over Richmond to unseat Les Hooker's boys in the domination of Big Six championships.

An overflow crowd in Blow Gymnasium saw little Bill "Fumbo" Ouseley arch a one-hander in the final seconds of that

Bruton Spiders Top Woodson By 56-50 For Fifth Conquest

Coach Ruell Blair's Bruton Heights Spiders rang up their fifth basketball victory of the season Monday night with a 56-50 conquest of Carter G. Woodson on the losers' home court.

The Spiders, after getting the season started on a slow note, have made a formidable comeback to post victories over Norcum and T. C. Walker.

Bruce Spraggins sparked Bruton's win over Woodson with a 17-point performance. Otis Jackson contributed 14 points to the Spider victory.

Trailing by one point at intermission, the Spiders soared back to register 14 points in the third period and 17 points in the final quarter to account for the victory.

On Tuesday night, Phoenix dashed a bit of cold water on the Spiders, via a 60-50 victory.

Police Take All Possible Steps To Get Prowler; Woman Assaulted On Tuesday

Seeking to quell the wild rumors and hysteria mounting in Williamsburg this week following the criminal assault of a 54-year-old woman by an unidentified man early Tuesday morning, City Manager Hugh B. Rice and Police Chief W. H. Kelly stated in a press conference Wednesday afternoon that all possible steps are being taken to apprehend this man whom they believe is the prowler who has been terrorizing local residents for several weeks.

Rice reported that the eight-man Williamsburg police force has been putting forth all efforts possible in conjunction with volunteer auxiliary police, Colonial Williamsburg police and county and state police to apprehend the prowler. A 24-hour police vigil is maintained and all calls, whether reporting authentic prowlers or not, are immediately answered by police investigation.

"The city council has authorized us to do everything in our power to capture this particular operator and wipe out this crime wave that has caused so much current panic," Rice stated.

Despite the seriousness of the situation, a lot of unnecessary furor has developed, Rice reported. "One lady called one evening and said she understood 14 homes had been entered that night. There is nothing like that. It looks like one man is doing the prowling, and the petty thievery in businesses unfortunately happens as routine."

It was pointed out that the number of actual break-ins by the prowler were not very large. Police records show that eight break-ins occurred out of 35 verified reports since January 3.

Make Sure of Report

Rice cautioned citizens to be sure there is definitely a prowler around the house and not a bush or shutter being blown against the walls by the wind before reporting to the police.

"This place is policed as well as anyplace in the country could be under the circumstances, and we'll get him," Chief Kelly stated. He cited the police network that has been set up to capture the prowler. Extra walkie-talkies are being used and experts from other Peninsula police agencies are being consulted.

Chief Kelly stated that the man "must be a former criminal or parolee of a mental institution. He is a methodical, cold-blooded man. He hasn't yet

A member of various learned societies, Dr. Jackson carried on extensive studies and travel abroad. He suffered a heart attack last summer while in Europe.

Born in Alexander City, Ala. on October 8, 1888, he was educated in the city schools and attended the University of Alabama where he received A. B. and A. M. degrees. Dr. Jackson received A.M. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard, and between 1926 and 1931 studied and traveled in a number of foreign countries.

Dr. Jackson did graduate work at the University of Copenhagen, Denmark, 1926-27, and spent three years in research work at Copenhagen's Royal Library. Other places of study and research included the University of Norway, Sweden, Iceland and Stockholm, the Folk Lore Library at the University of Oslo and at the British Museum in London.

His travel abroad included visits to Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Germany, France, England, Belgium, Canada, Iceland, Faroes and Ireland.

Dr. Jackson was an elementary school principal in Birmingham, Ala. and taught at the University of Texas and Harvard before coming to William and Mary.

He was a fellow of the American Scandinavian Foundation, 1926-27, and a fellow of the American Council of Learned Societies, 1930-31. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the Royal Society of Northern Antiquarians, Sigma Upsilon, the Society for the Advancement of Scandinavian Studies, Modern Language Association, Sogufelagio Islands Society, Det kongelige nordiske Oldskriftselskob, Sanfund til Udgivelso af gaumel nordisk Litteretur, Linguistic Society of America, Medieval Academy of America and other learned societies.

Dr. Jackson had numerous articles published in scholarly journals and presented many papers at learned societies.

St. Vincent's will meet the York Falcon's tonight on the Falcon's home court as the two teams swing into action after a 17-day Christmas holiday.

Sporting a 4-2 record, with a spotless 3-0 slate in league play, the visitors are expected to give Coach Allen Moughan's squad a strong test.

At any rate, tonight's battle will surely be closer than the Falcon's last outing, when they crushed a five-man alumni team 68-28.

Gloucester handed St. Vincent's a 61-54 defeat earlier this season, while Windsor bested the Knights 47-44.

Gregory Leads Attack

Leading the visitors will be forward Frank Gregory, who is currently showing the way in individual point-scoring, averaging 15.2 in six games. Mickey Smith has chalked up 56 points for a 9.2 average. On Tuesday night, Gloucester will invade Yorktown in the first conference game of the season.

The Falcons, winners of the Western Conference with a 5-1 record last season, ended the season with a 11-5 record.

Drewer Weathers A Storm

IN January it became apparent that Coach Milt Drewer would receive a new contract. Under the circumstances, there was nothing automatic about his retainment as athletic director and head football coach. Some alumni and students, deprived of scalps as the Indian gridders finished their eighth consecutive losing season, wanted Drewer's as consolation.

Agitation for a new coach began immediately after the Thanksgiving Day loss to the University of Richmond. With six minutes left, William and Mary held a 3-0 lead. The fact that it had frittered away several scoring opportunities with somewhat inept offensive play did not seem at that point to be important, for superb defensive play by All-Conference linemen Bob Soleau and John Sapinsky and their running-mates had kept the Spiders well in hand.

Keeper was Loser

When Quarterback Dan Henning broke into the clear on a keeper and scooted 15 yards to the Richmond 45, the Indians' attack seemed to have shed its impotence. Then, as Henning was tackled—by the last man with a chance to prevent his going all the way—the ball was either stolen or jostled loose. Possession of the ball, plus a 15-yard penalty against William and Mary for piling on, gave Richmond a lift . . . and took the starch out of the Tribe's defense. Final score, Richmond 15, William and Mary 3. That made five losses and a tie in 10 games.

Late game moans of despair from Indian faithful became rumblings of discontent as Christmas approached. Without official support from College sources, sportswriters for Norfolk, Newport News and Richmond newspapers reported a movement to drop Drewer. According to them, Drewer stood in dire danger of losing his job.

Friends Spoke Up

The coach, however, was not without support. The players themselves petitioned unanimously that he be retained. Around campus and among alumni his many friends rallied to defend him. Indeed, there was much to say in his favor. Milt Drewer is a likable, clean-cut Eastern Shore native who conducts himself honestly and honorably. He has operated on a shoestring for several years and is not himself overpaid. In spite of handicaps, he eliminated a horrible financial situation he inherited.

As The Flat Hat succinctly pointed out in an editorial on December 14, William

Don Weymouth

and Mary's outlay for recruiting, grants-in-aid and football in general ranks just about last in the nine-member Southern Conference. The fact that Drewer's team managed a fourth place finish in 1962 was to his credit. The Flat Hat alluded to an article in Fortune to support its inference that to produce winning teams, a coach must be more heavily financed than Coach Drewer has been.

If money were the only criteria, of course, there would be no need to play out the football season. On the first of September colleges and universities could compare bankbooks and determine the best teams on the basis of who could write the biggest checks. Fortunately, football is something more than merely a my-coach-spends-more-than-your-coach proposition. It is an athletic contest in which coaching, skill and desire are very much a factor. Next fall, nine of the starting 1962 Indian eleven will return. So will Drewer. Football fans will have another season in which to judge whether lack of coaching or lack of resources has been the trouble with William and Mary football. ●

Resurgence

ON December 11th, the William and Mary basketball team beat Virginia 71-69 at Charlottesville. It was the first time since February 17, 1961—two seasons ago—that the Indians had won a regularly scheduled roundball game away from home.

Although they won only two of their first seven games, Coach Bill Chambers' boys rallied sharply to take six of the next eight, including three more away from cozy Blow Gymnasium and first place in the Richmond Invitational Tournament. At the first semester examination layoff, the team had achieved an 8-7 record for all games and stood at 4-5 in Southern Conference play. A year ago they were 4-11 and 2-8 at the same schedule point.

Senior forward Bob Harris, who bucketed 25 points in leading the Tribe to a scintillating 78-63 January victory over Virginia Tech, was top team scorer with a 13.3 average. Guards Dave Hunter (12.8) and Roger Bergey (12.6) provided consistent support. Center Kirk Gooding, leading rebounder, contributed an 11.7 average. A sophomore who became a topnotch defender, 6-6 Martin Morris chipped in with a 9.3 scoring average. First line substitutes Jim Roy and Paul Cowley also scored well on several occasions.

Coach Chambers' team hit an average of 42.4 per cent of all shots from the floor to the opponents' 39.5. The team scoring average was 67.7 points per game, the opponents' 65.2.

As the basketball team resumed play after exams, Indian faithful looked forward to a better than average season. Four of the last eight games were to be in Williamsburg with a fifth, against West Virginia, scheduled at Norfolk. A berth in the Southern Conference tournament seemed assured and another crack at the Mountaineers, perennial champions, a possibility. ●

The Keys Aren't for Jangling

SEEKING a man to lead the Alumni Society during 1963, the Directors looked from the long to the short of the Board. To succeed towering Robert S. Hornsby '41, president the past two years, they elected R. Harvey Chappell, Jr. '48. Teaming with him will be Vice President George D. Sands '37 and Secretary-Treasurer Dorothy Wilkinson Campbell '25.

Chappell, who grins like a sophomore, thinks like a computer and works like he is on piecework, seemed an eminent choice and she labors diligently on behalf of the Richmond Public Library and Virginia Home for Incurables. When it comes to discussing their many good works, Ann and Harvey Chappell brag unblushingly . . . about the bass, catfish or crappies they hook in the James River near their home or about huge Sam, the misgendered Poodle who uses their tasteful Chesterfield County residence as doghouse for her two overgrown puppies.

Sands, the new vice president, is an aerospace scientist with the Space Vehicle as president. He could jangle ODK and Phi Beta Kappa keys together on his watch chain if he were the key-jangling type. A native of Clarksville who worked his way through the College, Chappell earned his law degree at William and Mary in 1950. Now partner in one of Richmond's leading law firms, he has held presidencies of the Richmond Alumni Chapter, Law School Association and Richmond Thanksgiving Festival. At All Saints Episcopal Church he is vestryman and Sunday School teacher. In his profession he is associate editor of the Insurance Counsel Journal and member of the editorial board of the Defense Law Journal.

Ann Callahan '48, whom he married in 1950, matches her spouse in several respects; including relative height. Her Phi Beta Kappa key is as unostentatious Branch of NASA's Langley Research Center. Many alumni remember him as a member of the Chemistry Department faculty, for he served as associate professor in Williamsburg for eight years. From teaching he went to nearby Fort Eustis as chief of the nuclear branch of the Transportation Research and Engineering Command. Before joining NASA he served as director of scientific requirements for Baltimore's Martin Company.

A Phi Beta Kappa, Sands earned his doctorate at the University of Illinois in 1945 and worked as a research chemist for Firestone Tire and Rubber Company before joining the College faculty. His current work at NASA involved him in the Echo communication satellites. He is a member of the American Chemical Society and Virginia Academy of Science.

Vice President Sands

Dorothy Wilkinson Campbell, the Society's new secretary-treasurer, married James "Red" Campbell, Jr. '25, who possesses the only Phi Beta Kappa key in her family. He's superintendent of technical publications for Western Electric Company and they live in Winston-Salem, N. C. Dorothy entered William and Mary from Norfolk, led an active undergraduate career, taught for a year in Norfolk, then married Red and started a family which now includes two sons, two daughters (one, Baynham Campbell Ellson '55, is also an alumna) and seven grandchildren.

She lived in the Philadelphia area until 1946, spent six years in Great Neck, N. Y., then settled in Winston-Salem in 1952. In each of her home communities she has been extremely active in civic and church activities. Until her girls outgrew it, she was an adult Girl Scout leader.

The World Beyond Toano

WHEN the Society's Board of Directors held its epochal joint meeting with the Board of Visitors last fall, it took advantage of the occasion to provide the Visitors with a detailed report of the status and future hopes of William and Mary's official alumni body. One of the significant references concerned local alumni chapters. The Directors reported that the Society sponsors chapters and interest groups in approximately 20 areas across the nation and that such local groups can and do perform considerable service to the College. Accordingly, they reported, efforts will be made to support and stimulate their activity.

First steps have already been taken to provide such help. Additional help is scheduled in a high priority program and efforts will be made to establish alumni chapters wherever possible.

Existing chapters vary considerably in both size and activity. Projects range from sponsoring Choir trips and recruiting outstanding students to bowling teams and family picnics. Here is an up-to-date report on the doings of some of the more active groups:

Chicago

The fall meeting of the Chicago Chapter of William and Mary Alumni took place October 28 in the Gold Room of the Pearson Hotel. A new Restoration film, Music in Williamsburg, was a feature of the program which also included motion pictures of the William and Mary-Furman football game. Officers elected were Robert E. Davis '57, president; Michael Druny '61, vice president; and Joan Myers '56, secretary.

Lower Peninsula

This bustling chapter in Williamsburg's back yard has recorded a number of successful activities during the past few months. Its annual picnic was held in July at Kings Marsh, the Dare residence of Suzanne Garrett Montague. A reception for the faculty of Christopher Newport College took place on September 26 at the Holiday Inn. The fall meeting, held October 24 at the Civic Meeting Room of the Home Federal Savings and Loan Association, featured Dean W. Melville Jones as guest speaker.

Chapter officers are John K. Shields '50, president; Robert L. Davis '50, first vice president; W. Robert Phelps, Jr. '51, second vice president; Harry J. Kostel '51, third vice president; Kenneth C. Hogg '54, secretary; and Billy C. Brooks '55, treasurer.

Lynchburg

One of the purposes spelled out in this chapter's constitution is "to make vigorous efforts to secure outstanding young men and women as students of the College." So vigorous and successful were the Lynchburg group's efforts last year that this year's freshman class at William and Mary numbers 17 of the Lynchburg area's best 1962 high school graduates! This outstanding recruitment work is only one of several projects. The chapter also fielded a team in Lynchburg's alumni bowling league, losing the championship by a narrow margin in a play-off with Virginia Tech.

Officers are Larry O. Phillips '55, president; Betsy Stafford Elliott '58, vice president; and Charles R. Daniel '57, secretary-treasurer.

Philadelphia

Consistently an active, strong center of William and Mary interest, the Philadelphia chapter was the first to send its own newsletter—a four-page enterprise —to alumni in its area. It also sponsored the first meeting of alumni in the South Jersey area across the Delaware River. On its own behalf, the group sponsored the William and Mary Choir appearance in Philadelphia last spring and had alumnus Caskie Stinnett, of Saturday Evening Post, as guest speaker at its highly successful annual meeting. More recently it held a meeting in December at the Mask and Wig Club.

Officers are Dudley E. Connors '58, president; Walter W. Herkness '54, first vice president; D. Nicholas Hoffman '34, second vice president; Mrs. Eugene Barclay '36, third vice president; Mrs. Walter W. Herkness '57, treasurer; and Mrs. Richard D. Carter '47, secretary.

Richmond

Recruitment is the major continuing project of the Richmond group. In an effort to assist President Davis Y. Paschall's campaign to enroll more outstanding Virginia young men, the group this year took on the job of personally contacting every prospective William and Mary student who qualifies for admission in the fall. This activity is in addition to an annual autumn dinner for outstanding seniors and their principals from all 14 Richmond area high and prep schools. Dean J. Wilfred Lambert was guest speaker at the successful 1962 affair held in November. The other major chapter activity is a picnic at Dr. J. Asa Shield's Fullstream Farm, an annual spring event which attracts hundreds of Richmond alumni and their families.

Officers are Fred L. Frechette '46, president; Owen L. Bradford '43, first vice president; Walter L. Tarver '56, second vice president; Betty Hicks Wagner '51, secretary; and Arthur C. Livick, Jr. '48, treasurer. Directors are Dr. Merritt W. Foster '40, Jack Freeman '44, Charles B. Shade '36 and Chester E. Starkey '35.

Richmond Chapter leadership: Seated, Walter L. Tarver, 2nd vice president; Owen L. Bradford, 1st vice president; Fred Frechette, president, and Betty Hicks Wagner, secretary. Standing, Dr. Merritt W. Newest William and Mary chapter was established here last spring during a meeting at which Dr. Paschall was guest speaker. He was introduced by Lieutenant Governor Mills Godwin '33. Charter officers are Colin Randolph Davis '50, president; Edwin C. Ferguson '39, vice president; William W. Jones '43, treasurer; and J. Edward Hall '49, secretary.

Chapter organizations also exist in the following places:

William and Mary Fund contributions made possible establishment of the Queen's Guard

The Results Were Beginning to Show

Fred Frechette

1962 Alumni Research Grant recipient was Dr. Warner Moss.

TWO thousand, one hundred and sixty-seven alumni and friends of the College contributed $31,867.98 to the 1962 William and Mary Fund. Money-wise this was a modest improvement—$1,400—over the 1961 Fund total. In terms of participation however, the results were highly disappointing: 272 fewer alumni contributed than in 1961.

The feeling among Society and College officials is that William and Mary people can do a whole lot better than they did last year. To help them do so, steps have been taken toward eliminating bottlenecks and shortcomings which cropped up in the administration of the 1962 Fund. The College needs more alumni financial help.

The disappointing decrease in number of givers came at a time when the Alumni Society was just beginning to be able to make significant contributions to the College. An example is the Queen's Guard, created by alumni efforts and modest financial support from the William and Mary Fund. This colorful ROTC drill team with drum and bugle corps has become a surprisingly effective public relations tool which has helped create interest in the College through its frequent public appearances. The striking red-coated unit, capturing public fancy, is increasingly in demand at parades and public functions in Virginia.

A vital contribution to the academic field are the $1200 Alumni Research Grants established last year. First recipient was Dr. Warner Moss, who is using his grant for a study of political change in Virginia. The findings made possible by alumni contributions will serve scholarly purposes, be helpful to Virginians generally and, most important, provide important data for undergraduate research.

The Results Were Beginning to Show

"Heretofore," declared Dr. Moss, "our government students have had to spend much of their time in leg work. Now they can spend more time putting material together, thinking about it and using their imagination."

Dr. Moss feels that scholars generally do not understand Virginia politics. He believes his study, tentatively entitled Political Behavior in Virginia in the 1960's, will help them avoid the common pitfall of lumping Virginia with other Southern states.

The 1963 Alumni Research Grant, just announced, has been awarded to Dr. Nathan Altschuler, assistant professor in sociology and anthropology. It will make possible a three-months' visit to three African nations by Dr. Altschuler to study problems of maintaining human status in these cultures. A native of Detroit who attended the University of Michigan and earned a doctorate at Harvard, he will spend one month each in Ethiopia, Kenya and Nigeria. He has previous experience in field work at Hudson Bay and in Arizona.

Boost for Faculty

Research grants like those given Professors Moss and Altschuler help inject the College faculty with academic vitality. In the process, they also help attract and hold the kind of teaching staff needed for a first-rate institution. To continue to offer this kind of assistance to the College, it is necessary that the Society of Alumni increase its only source of income, the William and Mary Fund.

With this in mind, Society officers have added muscle to the 1963 Fund campaign. First of all, the solicitation has been placed on a more reasonable time schedule. It will begin earlier and, hopefully, end earlier. Secondly, it will begin with an extra push in areas of heavy alumni concentration. In such places as Norfolk, Richmond, the Lower Peninsula, Northern Virginia and Washington, New York, Philadelphia and Boston, special telephone campaigns will be staged within the next few weeks. Thirdly, the harrassed alumni office staff will be provided extra help in order to conduct fund-raising operations on a broader scale than has been possible in recent years.

1963 Can Be Better

Other basic ingredients of the Fund drive will remain unchanged. Class agents are again scheduled for important roles; the telephone canvass will be performed in addition to their work. With their continued devotion and a modest expression of interest in their College by William and Mary alumni generally, the 1963 Fund can show a healthy increase . . . one large enough to compensate for the falling-off in participation which occurred last year.

Following is a summary of results of the 1962 William and Mary Fund and the annual honor roll of those who expressed their loyalty in the most meaningful of all ways: With money. ●

Please let us have those letters and news items concerning your whereabouts, activities, promotions, family, etc., so that your classmates will know what you are doing as of now. It is only through this media that all of us can benefit from news from each member. Often it brings word from someone you have not heard from in a long time. Some of the classes are getting an excellent news response from their members and by so doing are able to keep in touch periodically. Our news response has not been very good of late and we hope to improve on this in future issues of THE ALUMNI GAZETTE. Won't you sit down now and do something about it?

We hope many of you either saw or heard the W. & M.-V.P.I. basketball game from Blow Gym at Williamsburg the night of Jan. 10th. Our team played a fine game and controlled the ball most of the way. The packed house really seemed to enjoy this one, since Tech won the first game earlier in overtime at Blacksburg.

Mrs. Franklin D. Henderson
(Barbara Clawson)
Box 17, Irvington, Va.

I'm most grateful for the Christmas letters I received to have some news to pass along this issue. A grand long one from Al Alley tells of his activities the past year. His main outside interest is working with the Choral Society at Scott Field which among other things put on the "American Jazz Mass," which proved particularly exciting. Come spring the Alleys will be heading for Guam where Al will be Base Chaplain for the two-year tour. Hope you like the South Pacific, Al! And do keep us posted. I really appreciate your letters.

Jean Clarahan Bratton lives out in Northfield, Minnesota, now where her daughter, Ann, is a freshman at Carleton College. Her husband, Frank, was at Harvard for their management program this fall and Jean spent a week with him in December in Boston and then they returned home together. Boy, I'll bet it's some cold in Minnesota this time of year!

Jane Brandt Wild who lives in Winchester, Mass., has a thriving family of four. Her oldest, Scott, graduated from Exeter in June and is now a freshman at the University of California at Berkeley where he played on the freshman soccer team. Rod is in 3rd year at Exeter, Leslie Jean finishing Jr. High and Chris, her youngest, is in 8th grade—another possible Exeter candidate. Jane and Ben are taking the month of February and heading for Hawaii with visits to Scott and Ben's sister in Calif. That should be a perfect trip, Jane!

Charl Bagot White writes of her active family, 2 girls and 2 boys—and the youngest just started kindergarten this year. Now Charl has a few moments to herself, which I know are a blessing.

Rosa Ellis Long says she'll be attending the Girl Scout National Convention in Miami Beach this Easter so she doesn't expect she'll get to Virginia as she has for the past 3 years. She sent a picture of her fine family all on "ski patrol"—husband, Ed, and their daughter and 3 sons!

Jack and Ann Garrett keep us posted about their doings. Jack has, as of July, received another stripe, and is now Capt. Garrett and we are duly proud. Their Johnny, who spent July with us, had a knee injury at Storm King School, tearing 2 ligaments, so has had a very uncomfortable semester.

Margie Hoskins Bloxom's card says that her daughter, Margaret, loves Radford College where she's a freshman. Margie and Red and their family are living at 4012 N. Tazwell St. in Arlington, Va., while Red (USN Capt.) has duty in Washington.

A card forwarded from the Alumni Office sent by Paul Post announces a ceremony at the Marine Barracks, Mare Island, California, honoring Retiring Naval Officers in June 1962. Paul, are you now in the retirement bracket? It doesn't seem possible yet!

As for the homefront, Christmas holidays were very exciting. It was wonderful having Bambi home from Virginia Intermont and her holiday was a memorable one as she was among the girls from the Rappahannock area presented at the Annual Holly Ball. We had company most of the holiday so I was very let down when it was over and I went back to my little Nursery School class. I do enjoy it though and find teaching quite rewarding and never dull!

Do keep up the good work and keep me posted on your activities. It's the only way we can have a Newsletter!

Mrs. William G. Mollenkopf
(Mickey Mitchell)
231 Hillcrest Avenue
Cincinnati 15, Ohio

Kay Hoover (Dew) covered Homecoming for us, and reports that it was "great, as always—beautiful weather, fine parade, terrific football game and so many good friends." Among those present were Ella Dickenson, still fussing because a few of us (namely your secretary) failed to recognize her last year! Several of our class combined homecoming with visits to their sons or daughters on campus, including Harriet (McCarthy) and Jack Purtill, and Margaret (Jahnke) and John Brennan. Marion (Milne) and John Barba have a daughter at Mt. Holyoke, while the Dew's oldest is a freshman at Westhampton. Charlie and Olive Major, Tommy Savage, Pat Harper, Bob Hornsby, Peggy Duval Winstead, Sidney Brooks, Jr., Gervais Wallace Brekke and Betty and Walt Zable were among others Kay had a chance to visit with.

Dick Earle writes that he is now with the Ohio Plate Glass Co., covering Wisconsin for them in the Floor Covering Division, and finding the work very much to his liking. Their oldest, a son, graduated from high school last June and has gone ahead with his plans for the military first and college later. A 15 year old daughter is enjoying life in general and doing well as a high school sophomore, while a 12 year old son is their sports fan, being particularly partial to the Milwaukee Braves and Green Bay Packers.

Mildred Russell's Christmas card was most welcome—she is editor of the Index to Legal Periodicals and enjoying every minute of her work. After a recent trip to San Francisco where she attended the Law Librarian Convention, she was getting ready to spend Christmas in England. Thanks, Mildred, for your note.

Ruth Rapp Thayer writes that their family of four are planning a European trip this spring, leaving from New York in mid-April. The Thayer family was recently featured in a newspaper story for their outstanding work with Boy Scouts. Bob Thayer, as well as their sons Robert and Bruce are Eagle Scouts and leaders in their troop, while Ruth is past chairman of the troop's women's auxiliary. Both boys are honor students, class leaders, and active in sports. Congratulations to a fine family.

Louis Rives, Chief of the Division for the Blind, Office of Vocational Rehabilitation, Department of HEW, recently received the 1962 Louis Braille award for "conquering his handicap and becoming the head of a Federal Government Agency." Our class is very proud of you, Louis.

From The University of the South, Sewanee, Tennessee, comes news of the establishment of a Sigma Xi Club. This national scientific honor society claims as one of its members in the new Club, Dr. David B. Camp, who is professor of chemistry at the University.

The Mollenkopfs had a wonderful Christmas—we spent four delightful days in Williamsburg, sampling the best the town had to offer including Christmas Dinner at the Kings Arms.

Best wishes to all of you for the new year.

Margaret Kelly Dunham recommends trailer travel for sightseeing after her family made a seven-week cross-country vacation trip from their home in Stoughton, Mass., last summer.

Marybeth Black Dowling reports from Severna Park, Md., that her youngest child is in first grade this year and that she herself is involved in Girl Scouting activities.

R. Philip Haddock, an attorney in Lakeland, Florida, received signal honor from the Lakeland Ledger recently. In tribute to his community service, the newspaper printed an editorial entitled "Thanks to Phil Haddock," which said, in part:

"Polk County is very much obligated to R. Philip Haddock, Lakeland attorney and president of the Chamber of Commerce, who has had the goodness to accept the presidency of the Polk County Blood Center, one of the most important civic responsibilities in the county.

"... President Haddock is one of Lakeland's most faithful and willing civic leaders and therefore one of Lakeland's most highly esteemed citizens. In addition to heading the Chamber and the Blood Center, he is a member of the Polk County Draft Board and has been president of the Lakeland Kiwanis Club, the Tenth Circuit Bar Association that includes three counties, president of the Lakeland Bar Association and a member of the board of the Boys Club of Lakeland. . . . He is also a trustee of the Polk County Law Library and a trustee of College Heights Methodist Church. . . ."

Mr. & Mrs. John S. Entwisle
(Marilyn Miller)
Meadowbrook, Pennsylvania

It was truly a bounteous Christmas, as cards arrived here from unexpected sources and warmed the cockles of our hearts.

An especially nice letter postmarked Sandy Spring, Maryland, brought us up to date on Hazel Riggs, who for the past eighteen years has lived happily as Mrs. Daniel Ligon. The Lignons have two daughters—Ann, 15, active in 4-H Club work, and Carol, 12, already a dedicated equestrian, who spends most winter week-ends fox hunting with her father. Hazel has served on the school library, taught Sunday school and is presently committed to never ending chauffeuring for the girls.

Morgantown, W. Va.—William O. Morris, professor of law at W. Va. Univ., has been named an honorary member of the W. Va. Trial Lawyers Association.

This honorary membership is only the third conferred by the association, former recipients being Governor W. W. Barron and Roscoe Pound, dean emeritus of the Harvard Law School. Bill was elected because of his contributions to the success of demonstration trials for University law and medical students in each of the past two years, his efforts to improve trial lawyer standards at the University level, and his work in disseminating information about law in general. In addition to teaching, Bill has been doing research and writing. Recently he has had articles published in the Wisconsin Law Review, Bankers Law Journal, W. Va. Law Review, Wyoming Law Journal and others.

Sunny Trumbo Williams and Rolf had an exciting year. In February Rolf was knighted by the King of Norway; in March the Williams oceanfront beach house was completely washed away; in April they went to Europe on a business trip; in May Rolf had an audience with the King of Norway; in September rebuilding of the oceanfront house was begun. Never a dull moment!

Martha Eddy Hassell is working 3 days a week in a Salem, Mass. historical museum. . . . Jeanne Mencke McAfee and George get to Williamsburg once a year and play golf there on the Inn's course.

(We saw George referee an Eagles football game here in Philadelphia last fall). . . . Ann Swensen White, still in St. Petersburg, Fla., has become quite involved with Cuban refugees and she finds them to be delightful people. Ann has been studying Spanish at the U. of Florida but states she will feel more comfortable teaching English to the refugees next month. . . . Hallie Vaughan Rennie Martin and Joe enjoyed a Christmas party in Chatham, N.J. with Sally Douglas and family. Rennie also reported that Prickett Carter Saunders is now living in Pennsylvania, but didn't name the town. Do hope we can all get together soon.

Dr. Anne Smith Goldston and her husband, Dr. Edgar C. Goldston of Mayo Foundation in Rochester, Minnesota, have a son Ed, Jr., and a daughter, Maryanne, four years old. Ed is in internal medicine and clinical metabolic research; Anne is in pediatrics. If any of you get up to the cold and snowy northwest, please know that you will be most welcome by them.

Lelia Ann Avery (Merrifield) reports in from Houston, Texas, where Bob is now with NASA. Their address is 5523 Edith Street. Lee has lunched with Julie Rowan (Murray), mother of two boys and wife of an attorney; with Louise Thomas Cooley, whose offspring number five girls and whose husband is a world-renowned surgeon performing the modern medical miracle, heart-surgery; and with Rita Struminger Wise, mother of two sons and a daughter, whose husband is a dentist. The Merrifield's are living near Mary Raney Begor's sister, Julia and her family, also with NASA.

A surprise card came from Charleston, S. C., where Mildred Foster Lewis, husband Bill, and four very handsome children are living. The Lewis six visited Williamsburg last summer and Gayle, their oldest daughter, immediately decided she would like to follow her mother's footsteps and enroll at William and Mary. Millie teaches kindergarten and Bill is associated with the Armco Steel Company as sales engineer.

From Ruthe Schmitz Kerns out Indiana way comes news of their exciting European trip. Ruthe, Jim and their daughters, Ginny and Liz, flew to Copenhagen—a fantastically beautiful city they say. Then to Rome where Ruth's sister and family showed them the sights—"from Roman ruins and the art of past centuries to modern times." Their Thanksgiving Day was spent in Naples. "Ginny stands quite high in her high school Latin class this year as a result," writes Ruthe! Enclosed with the note was a picture of little Liz, who is a carbon of her mother.

We look forward each Christmas to the Martha Macklin and Herbert Smith "newsletter" which is chock full of the year's doings of their three boys and themselves. Martha is again president of the Virginia Golf Association, sings in her church choir and is a circle leader of their church's women's association for two years. They spent some time last summer with the boys in Maine and report great enthusiasm for their boating activities—they added a small sailboat to their "fleet" during the year and their letter tells that Martha uses their small outboard for fishing! Their youngest son, Mac, is enrolled in a school which specializes in teaching the children French, and has done quite well. The other two boys, Herb and Garrett, along with young Mac make a very handsome trio—all smiles—for their annual Christmas card picture.

That "house built around a house" which you read about in the last issue of the GAZETTE is "coming along nicely" say Dinny Lee McAlinden. We've been promised a house-warming come warm weather (at this writing Hopewell, N.J. is white with snow as we are here in Hasbrouck Heights) and we're looking forward to seeing the "finished house" which will be lovely we know!

Jean Boyle Herbert and Tom sneaked two vacation days into the busy holiday season and enjoyed New York City. En route home to Huntingdon Valley, Pa., they called on the Van Dams. Such a lot of talk sandwiched into a short hour—Tom and Ted said nary a word. (Truth is, they didn't get a chance.) All three Herbert sons are healthy and happy and their mother is active in the Alpha Chi alum group in the Philadelphia area.

Betty Aurell Schutz and Henry are new owners of a summer cottage at Yorktown—which they thoroughly enjoyed this past summer.

Mary Louise Lowell Williams and Al, who live in Feasterville, Pa., attended a Philadelphia Alumni meeting in November. There they saw Gus Winder who gave them news of his sister, Lois Winder Hudgins. Lois is a frequent visitor on campus since her daughter Linda is a freshman in Jefferson Hall.

Fred and Millie Gaito Steingress spent a weekend in Williamsburg in August, showing the sights to their five children. Elsie Cottam Ebersole and her husband visited Millie and Fred in Westwood, N.J. one day last summer on their way home to Virginia after a trip north.

Kay Tomlinson Bartlett wrote a nice note at Christmas. Bart, who has two more years in Naval Reserve, was concerned about the Cuban crisis. Their three girls and two boys keep both busy, though Susie, the newest member of the family, is a doll at 15 months.

Alice White Tomlinson and husband,

Whit, have bought an old place in Maine near Boothbay Harbor and are having fun furnishing it with antiques.

Peg Johnson Smart has all three youngsters in school, so is busy with church work, hospital work and Brownies. She and Bud took their children to Williamsburg last spring, and to Canada in October.

Antoinette Robinson was married August 30, 1962 in Seattle, and is now Mrs. Lawrence Jerome Hobby.

Paul Emerson has just been made manager of Mechanical Research for the Chemstrand Corporation, and is to be located in the Raleigh-Durham area. Tine Stultz Emerson is delighted with the move which brings them closer home, but says they will be sorry to leave Pensacola.

Rennie Keezel Harrison and two sons spent most of the summer visiting her family near Harrisonburg. With husband Bill, they were looking forward to flying into Dulles Airport by jet from Minneapolis for Christmas at home, also.

Mary Jane Chamberlain Howard and Vaughan have moved to a 10 room house in Richmond, just a block from where they had been living. All their four children are now on a swim team. Mary Jane is now taking Library Science courses and works in Richmond organizing two new elementary libraries, a job she enjoys very much. She and Dot Hoadley Burnett of Wheeling, W. Va. attended a Gamma Phi Beta convention at the Monmouth in Spring Lake, N.J. last June and had a fine visit.

Pat Riker Pimbley sent news of her family on a Christmas card from Los Alamos. She is active in church activities and the League of Women Voters. She and George plan to camp out with their three children this year for vacation. They visited Pat's home in Princeton, N.J. last June.

Eleanor Haupt Bolen, Waldron and Marni took a tour of New England this past summer, and hope to go to Nova Scotia next. Waldron enjoys teaching at Clemson, and Eleanor likes campus living. Marni is a 6th grader.

Louise Leath wrote from Baltimore that she is looking forward to switching from juvenile to adult work with Enoch Pratt Library. She will be administrative assistant at one of the large branches after January 1st.

Bette Freeman Fee and her husband still like San Antonio. Their Debby started kindergarten this year and Bobby is a big boy at 8.

A few more helpful souls sent us class news—which we are holding for the next GAZETTE issue. For those of you who would like to do your good deed, please help us out so our '45 column can be filled EVERY issue.

Guess we were all surprised and pleased to see our class picture in the GAZETTE. Our group looks a little small which we hope will be remedied in '67. This picture was taken at luncheon under the tent, and in all fairness there were many of our classmates who were not present when it was taken. It was certainly a weekend to remember.

March 1963

Christmas brought us a flurry of news and pictures which are always much appreciated. Bonnie Wolfgram Ware reported on her card that she and Frank are anxious to return to "Bilysburg" next fall and we Moores are anticipating the same thing.

Mildred Draper Lipps sent a nice news commentary on her busy family of 3 Brownies and a little Cub. She has added the job of "traffic directing" to her many and varied activities.

The Virginia Heart Association sent me a notice that Aubrey Mason has been named to the State Heart Fund Campaign Committee to assist in developing corporate and special giving. This adds another important position to the long list he already maintains including President of the Paul Munro Parent-Teachers Association, and Superintendent of the Senior Dept. of the First Presbyterian Church. It is gratifying to know of the leadership W and M grads show in community affairs.

Other bits of information revealed Ruth Paul Katherman '46 busy raising her four and teaching several hours a week. Jane Oblender Atwater and Howe '49 happily enjoyed Christmas in their new house. B. J. Yoder Petersen's little girl paid a visit to the hospital but was recovering well for the holidays. Jean and Dennis Cogle '49 had a busy Williamsburg Christmas participating in the many activities which go on down there during the holidays.

You all know the address to mail your news letter to. "So how's by you the family?"

Clippings from the Alumni Office reveal that R. Lee Aston is superintendent of the Virginia Granite Company, a division of Coggins Granite Industries of Elberton, Ga., which last year opened a black granite quarry at Buena, Va. Lee is also assistant superintendent of quarries for Coggins' nine other quarries throughout North and South Carolina and Georgia. A Mining Engineer and Geologist, Lee attended the Missouri School of Mines after graduation from W & M. His wife is Martha Lamborn Aston.

Robert M. Burger, Ph.D., writes that he is a Physicist and Head of the Solid State Laboratory at the Research Triangle Institute, Durham, N. C.

The Ed Griffins report from Richmond, Va. that they are now a two daughter family—daughter Amy Rosalind arrived last August 9.

Mary Alice ("Mac") Cooper writes that she and husband Dr. Charles Kotsch ('46) have been in their new home in Harrisburg, Penna. for a little over a year. In addition to the hectic pace of a doctor's life, there's always something going on in their community, which keeps her pretty busy. The Kotsches have a seven year old son, Gary.

Walter N. Carroll, former elementary supervisor with Princess Anne County schools, has been named principal of the new Frank W. Cox High School in that county.

James M. Helmer has been appointed principal of the Virginia Beach High School. He previously served as principal of Suffolk High School for four years.

Dr. Sterling N. Ransone has opened an office in Mathews, Va.

Douglas Townshend Bolling, Jr. received his Master of Arts degree at the State University of Iowa in June.

Ronald Gonier has been named varsity football coach at East Brunswick, N. J. High School. He previously served for two years as line coach.

Mary-Alice Slauson Sipfle has been named an instructor of French at St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn. Her husband David is an assistant professor of philosophy at Carleton College. They have two children.

Walter J. Gander Jr. has been elected a vice president of the First and Citizens National Bank of Alexandria.

Jo and Dick Schofield wrote last year and asked if I would like a swing at the column and in the process of moving I didn't get around to it until now. However we are at last settled for awhile and I will be looking forward to any news from you all. I did have Xmas cards from several and will pass my meager information on to you. Received a card from Woody Wayland and family. A lovely picture of Woody, Yvonne and Kathy and young Scott. They are in Washington state and we keep hoping they will come south and stop to see us. Last time I saw Woody was when we were in Casper, Wyoming about 7 years ago. Had a card and letter from Shirley Lyons Hardwick. She writes that she and Charles see quite a bit of Sue Green (forgive me Sue I can't remember your last name). Shirley has a girl, Scarlet, aged 6, and I believe Sue has a little boy. They are both always glad to see anybody visiting London. Heard from Pat Jones that she and Bill will be coming to L.A. in February and I am crossing my fingers that we can get together. I haven't seen Pat since we first came out to California but did talk to her on the phone one time when I was changing planes in Fort Worth. Maybe if we can get together we will have some info' for the next column. Jeanne Bambforth is in Jenkintown, Pa. and I believe teaching there. Had a card from Skippy Beecher Scrymgeour, they are still in Italy and love it, beg any visiting fireman to stop by. Ruthie Barnes Chalmers is in Houston and sent a picture of Dave and their two poodles (I am beginning to feel out of it with only a cat). Nicky Dillard Dewing wrote that they had been transferred to Philadelphia from New London. Nicky has three children and Jay is now a Lt. Commander. Nancy Kurtz Falck and George are in McLean with their three. I was so sorry to miss Nancy this summer as we have gotten together on every trip back but this last one. We had a short jaunt this time, less than two weeks as I had to get back and get us moved in time for school. However I did see Liz and Bob Shuman. They had just moved from Phila. to Rockville. We spent an afternoon with them trying to catch up. Liz and Bob have two boys and Bob is going great on home brew so stop by and sample some. Also saw Janet Pierce Waller (1949) and Eddie Pierce and his wife Gail. They are all in Alexandria. Janet only lives 2 blocks from my parents so I can always be sure of seeing her. Had a card from Bob Harper, they are back in Delaware. Jo and Dick wrote on their card that they were suffering from too much snow, no newspapers and this summer they acquired a new poodle and a new baby all at once.

I feel like we have been moving for a year because it took us almost that long to get moved. Bob came up here in February and the girls and I didn't come up until September. However we are beginning to feel like we live here and although we thought no place would be like Ojai (there isn't) we like many things about it. I did find one small world, got to talking to one of the mothers at dancing school and one thing led to another and it turns out she is Wheezie McNabb's sister.

We are leasing a huge old house here with a swimming pool so anybody that gets out to this neck of the woods please stop by and please please send me your news for the next column.

Mrs. Beverley F. Carson
(Ann Reese)
406 North High Street
Franklin, Virginia

Congratulations to Dr. Mary Lou Hoover ("Ludie" to us) upon her marriage to John Carlton Hale on October 20, 1962. I am told that she has a fine general practice in Fishersville, Virginia, and is very well liked.

Betty Hicks Wagner was recently elected secretary of the Richmond, Virginia alumni chapter.

Walter F. Milkey has been named manager of economic research, Stanley Steel Strapping, division of The Stanley Works, New Britain, Connecticut. Walt has been with this company since 1954.

I had a note from Gwen Batten (Perkins) in September. She and Perk are living in Alexandria, Virginia. They have two children, Gwen Anne who will be seven in February and is enjoying the first grade this year, and John who is three. Perk is doing quite well in his work, and Gwen stays busy singing in a church and a civic choir, teaching a young professional group in Sunday School, taking a Bible course, attending PTA and Young Republican meetings, and entertaining a great deal. They also attended Homecoming in October.

I received quite a few Christmas cards from W&M people. Most came from the old faithfuls with a few new ones included this year. (I do hope that I will hear from more of you through the year. Please take a few minutes to write some news about yourself and any other W&M people about whom you know or hear.) Some of the cards included pictures of adorable children. Cards came from Helen Mason Boyle, Bob, Robby (3½) and Mary Blanche (4 mos.) of Kilgore, Texas; Doris Hamilton Jones, George, George W., and Helen of Mannboro, Virginia; Phoebe Martin Harcum, Rae, Sally and Payten of Williamsburg, Virginia; Jane Waters Nielsen, Bud, and three children of Vernon, Connecticut; Teddy Nicas Maddos, Jim, Laura, and Jimmy of Jeffersonville, Georgia; Kathryn Gray Bradshaw, '52, Bob, Bill Brad, and Key of Norfolk, Virginia; Ella Tuck Frith, '52 and Doug of Martinsville, Virginia; Joyce Fentress Garland, Jack, and children of Larson Air Force Base, Washington; Jackie Jones Myers, '52, Averette, Jackie Lu, and Perry of Alberta, Virginia; Jane Dill Gleason, Bob, Bobby, Kathy, Mike and Patricia Ann of Baltimore, Maryland; and Carol Gardner Lorenz, Roy, Connie, and Debbie of Annapolis, Maryland. Some of the cards had long notes. Jean Carter Watkins Saunders who was in our class our freshman year and who now lives in Emporia with her husband, Elmore, and two children, Mary Meade and Carson, wrote of having a visit with Paulette Chambers Van de Zande one day this summer. Paulette is now living in Somerville, New Jersey.

Betty Cox Scott wrote from Charlottesville about their trip to Europe this summer. They started in Paris where John gave a paper at an international meeting on combustion, and then went to Nice for another meeting; then they went sightseeing in northern Italy, Austria, Germany, and then went on to London for another week of work for John and more sightseeing for Betty. They divided their four children between their parents for this real vacation. John has been recently made director of the Project Squid, the Navy's long-range research program in aircraft, missile, and space propulsion. This project was transferred to the University of Virginia from Princeton University in October 1962.

Mary Anne Woodhouse Waugh wrote her usual long and interesting Christmas letter. Her husband Ron works in the Engineering Department of Delco Remy, and they have three children: Ron, Jr. who is in the fifth grade; Tim who is eight, and Mary Helen who is almost four. They live in Anderson, Indiana.

Ginny Gallaher Sharp wrote of the arrival of their third daughter, Ann Elise on August 7. Susan and Mary are also under school age so she stays quite busy with her three little ones. Ed is a doctor of thoracic surgery, and they are enjoying living in Rockford, Illinois, where he began his practice about a year ago.

Connie Carhart Stamm '50 wrote a long letter from Shaker Heights, Ohio, telling about Ricky (2½) and Bobby (8). She also told of their wonderful vacation in Bay Head, New Jersey last summer and of their plans to go back this summer. She invites any friends of hers and Walt's to drop in for a visit if you are in the neighborhood this summer.

A note came from Mary Earhart Jenkins and Bob who live in New Brunswick, New Jersey, where he is on the faculty of Rutgers University. They have three children; Brian who is in the first grade, Robbie who is two, and Mary Ellen who was born on August 12, 1962.

Sally McGuire Gray, '50 wrote from Arlington where she and Richard live that she had seen Connie Taylor and her husband at church. Connie's husband is a Lt. Commander in the Navy, and they have three children.

Toni Reynolds Gilman wrote that they had moved from Birmingham to Huntsville, Alabama, and they would like to welcome all familiar faces who might be visiting the Space Center. Their fifth child and second girl, Laura Rene, was born on November 19, 1962.

Katherine Bell Martin wrote from Huntington Station, New York, that she and Tom attended Homecoming this year. As usual they had a wonderful time. She said that Jim Kelly is doing a great job and those who don't attend really do not know what they are missing. Maybe by the next Homecoming my little ones will be easier to leave, Katherine, and I hope to see you there. I guess some of you are like I am. I know and regret what I am missing when I cannot get to Homecoming but sometimes it is just impossible to get there! I just keep hoping that I'll make the next one.

Sarah Enos Brown and her family moved to Washington, D. C. in January where Jim will be the minister at the Capitol Hill Presbyterian Church. They have three children: David, Mark and Virginia.

Milly Johnson Woodling, Pete, and their three children moved to Houston, Texas in July. Pete was transferred to the Manual Spacecraft Center with NASA there.

Sidna Chockley Rizzo, Paul, David (5), and Ann (3) moved to Armonk, New York, the last of August.

An interesting and long "Klinger Gram" came from Jan, Dave, Bill, Mark, and Bryan Klinger who are now living at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. Dave is at the Command and General Staff College there after "homesteading" for four years in Cincinnati, Ohio. Dave was made a Major in September. They will be in Kansas until June.

I saw some familiar names in the Sports Section of the Richmond Times-Dispatch of January 18, 1963. Marvin Bass, football coach at South Carolina, was at the Norfolk Sports Club's annual Jamboree on January 15, as were Jack Cloud (now an assistant Navy coach), Buddy Lex and Tommy Korczowski. In the same section was an article and the picture of Paul Webb, basketball coach at Randolph-Macon College in Ashland, Virginia. There was also an article about the W&M basketball team having a winning streak under the Coach Bill Chambers. Do these names bring back memories to you as they did to me? Remember those thrilling football and basketball games we saw when these people were making a name for themselves?

Do not forget to write to me and here is hoping that this will be a wonderful year for you.

A wealth of news comes your way to welcome Springtime.

First, a most impressive news release announcing that Bill Nixon has been appointed as Assistant Director of Dow Jones & Co.'s Educational Service Bureau, located in the Wall St. Journal's Washington, D.C., office (Dow Jones publishes said Journal). Bill's job will be co-ordinating the Bureau's Classroom Service Program and speaking before various student groups on the Dow Jones news-gathering and editorial organization.

Another news-worthy publicity release tells us that Joe Zullo has recently been promoted to Major in the Army Medical Corps at Walter Reed Hospital, also in Washington, where he's in his third year of residency, training in general surgery. Joe and Dolores and their four children are living in Rockville, Md.

Received in the alumni office is a note from Gene Zane noting a change for him to Harris, Upham & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange.

Gleaned from Christmas card messages—"Andy" (Anderson) and Don Beimdiek have added Lynn (born Oct. 18th) to Steve & Bevy. Andy writes that Don is doing well in his own private law practice now.

Back in 1953 Fran Jewell paid a 2 week visit to Jackson Hole, Wyoming, and was so taken by it she stayed on. One of the main "attractions" was Dick Lange (they were married in '55) and they now own and operate an offset printing shop, assisted by son Gordon, 6, and daughter Robin, 4. Jackson Hole is the site of Grand Teton National Park with its spectacular scenery, and the lucky Langes get to ski on a 2,000 foot vertical rise two blocks from Fran's home! In addition to their business, Fran keeps up with her painting, does some sewing and is active in church. In spite of a winter population of about 1,200, Jackson managed to form a Fine Arts Foundation with a full-sized symphony orchestra last summer. Fran and Dick welcome any of you tourist-type alums, and she has given us two other addresses for those traveling through these areas—Bobbie (Buell) Hastie residing at 1779 Cordova Road, Germantown, Tennessee, and Cadsie (Forman) and Chris Moe at 1640 Old W.

SERVICE
BANK

We are proud to have served the financial needs of The College of William and Mary—faculty, alumni, and students—since 1897. Two convenient locations—Duke of Gloucester Street and 120 Monticello Avenue.

Williamsburg, Virginia

Member Federal Reserve System and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Main St., R.D. No. 4, Carbondale, Ill. where Chris is connected with the drama department at the college. Fran's welcome letter was written on two lovely samples of note paper from her shop. Anyone interested, I guess could write Fran at Box Y, Jackson Hole, Wyo.—especially those of you who owe the rest of us a resume of your past ten years!

Supplementing our last column, Mary Alyce (Harvey) Tuska's new baby is named Evelyn.

Holiday greetings were forthcoming from Meredith (Stewart) Ferebee, Doug Ryder, Betsy and Ron Barnes, and Margaret (Roberts) Thomas, not to mention that rascal, Ann (Lockwood) Phillips who owes her ex-roommate a letter. Taffy Davis's card told of her wonderful time at homecoming, seeing Mary Rogers King and Reba Blair (plus husbands), Ann and Jerry Harris, Betty Ann and Bob Wallace, Ann and Bill Strum, Camile and Bruce Henderson, Lee and Dave Wakefield, Johnny Dalton, Russ Barrett, George Ritzel (rumored to be getting married soon!), Joe Agee, Ginny Gall, Avery (Leavitt) Manning and many more. Taffy and family are now in the Legion of Proud Boat Owners.

Friends of Mary and Gene Burns will be pleased to hear Gene has graduated from the Advanced Management Program of the Harvard Business School. Mary added that he has spent much of the past year in Europe, Central and South America. Their two boys—Bill, 6 and Andrew, 3—are extremely proud of dad's accomplishments.

Another lucky Homecoming attendee was Katie (Byers) Hoffman who rates the event highly. Katie's Bob leaves the Navy and Jacksonville in July to begin private practice. He's passed his Radiology Boards and now their only problem is where to live—the mild Florida winters have spoiled them.

Mac Richey's card mentioned how much he enjoyed the class picture in the last GAZETTE, as did we all. Mac, his wife, and 15 month old daughter Andrea are anxiously awaiting the completion of their new home near Oceanport, New Jersey. He is associated with the investment brokerage firm of E. I. duPont & Co. in the underwriting dept.

Although Springcleaning has not officially begun, two news items have been uncovered that I can't remember having told you before, so...

1. Frank Edelblut has a master's degree in Business Administration from Temple, and
2. Larry Bell was appointed to a supervisory position with the Glen Falls Insurance Co.

Many apologies if these two bits are stale or repeated, but it's feast or famine with us newshounds!

Even though the sunny (?) state of Georgia is a bit cool (last week the Marietta thermometers read 11° below zero!), our trusty mailman is glad to deliver any and all of your letters. Do write!

Hi to everyone. Hope you all survived the excitement of the holidays and are getting back in the groove again. Start thinking now about our 10-year reunion this fall at Homecoming. Let's have a really good turnout. I've heard nothing but raves about the other class reunions, so how about us?

Christmas cards contained bits of welcome news. Chris and "Cadsie" Moe's card, '52, came from Illinois as did Bill and Ginny Campbell Furst's. The Fursts are busy building a fallout shelter in the basement of their newly purchased home. Al and Mavis Pacchioli, '52, wrote from Maryland. Al works for GE and has made trips up to the Valley Forge plants near where we used to live. Beth Forester Hansen's card arrived from near Oslo, Norway, where she, her husband, and three children live. They spent four years in Gray, Austria. Beth's husband is a civil engineer and started a new job in January. They hope to see Beth's parents in New York in 1964. Beth wrote of several people. Bill and "Bobbie" Bowman Allison and their three children now live in Wellesley, Massachusetts. Joane Alleman Rubin, her son, and husband, are still in New York City. Martha Wood has married and has two boys. John and Patty Westberg, '54, now have three children.

Cards came from "Shan" Duis Carico, '55; Eddy and John Dalton; Marguerite Oldfield; Jaquelyn and Vince Pirri; and Bruce and Camille Henderson who plan to settle near the Philadelphia area. Bruce has accepted a position with Girard Trust Corn Exchange Bank. Bill and Anne Hines Fuller wrote from Arlington.

Fred Bell in October commanded Battery A of the Army's 38th Artillery's 3rd Middle Battalion at White Sands Middle Range in New Mexico. He is regularly assigned to Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

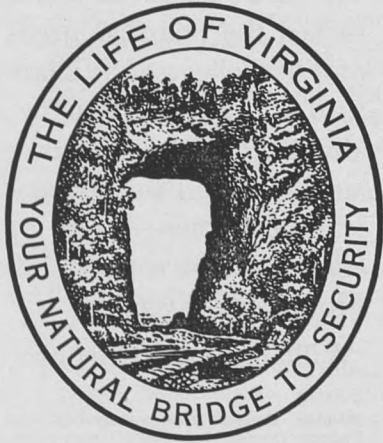

The Gale Carrithers now live in Hamburg, New York. Gale is an assistant professor teaching 17th century poetry and prose at the University of Buffalo.

Dave Potts enjoys being a diplomatic courier in the foreign service. He recently made trips to Stockholm, Helsinki, and Moscow.

Ed and Ginnie Gary Lupton occasionally see Pete Klinger and Sally Cronk Lombard, '55, while in Leavenworth, Kansas. Two of the little Luptons had scarlet fever during the holidays.

News from others: Nan Evans Scott plans to make our 10th reunion. Marilyn Zaiser Ott's husband, '55, in October transferred to Proctor and Gamble's new building in Augusta, Georgia. They built their new home there. "Boots" Crovo Wickham, '54, saw Carol Myers Mifflin, '54, her husband, and two boys this past summer while Carol visited in Virginia. Both returned to Williamsburg this fall. They mentioned that Pam Hall has married. Carol discovered "C. J." Hodgdon, '52, and Brenda Kane, '54, Dot Hagberg Bower's card arrived from Hanover, New Hampshire. Dot designed their new home; Dick enjoys teaching at Tuck graduate school of business at Dartmouth. Emmy Ketterson Smith's note was full of news. They still remain in Richmond, Indiana. Emmy has seen Bruce and Madge Noffsinger Lester, the Bowers, and Scott and Caroline Petrequin and four children. The Lesters recently attended a convention in Cleveland, Ohio. They have two children and live at Fort Thomas, Kentucky. Caroline saw Betty Holladay Bellaire last spring. She and her husband live in Virginia. The Petrequins were due to move in January. Scott has accepted a position with the Mohawk Paper Mills near Albany, New York. Caroline will stay behind to sell their house in Ohio. I hope they have good luck.

The five Woolstons are still busy getting settled in our new home. We're about five months old now and still find much to do. Please keep writing.

Hi, Everybody! The letters went out to sixteen people in hopes of gathering news. None have been returned at deadline time. If yours has been laid aside, please send it back to me and we'll get it in the next issue.

Jean von Schilling Bennett recently saw Marty Robey Mattox '55, and her daughter and son. Connie Cox Smith and Fred, both '53 are now in Johnston, South Carolina. They have a son and a daughter.

Jeanne Beckh Robertson writes that Joan McCarthy Kane has a new home in Poughkeepsie, New York. Her husband is a Sales Training Instructor with I.B.M.

Ann Angle Smith and Frank are still in Sarasota. They have two girls and a boy. Carl and Gail Van Benthuisen Pigeon are living in Richmond. Carl is a major in the Army.

Jean says Mark McCormick '53 was written up in Sports Illustrated last fall (see page 14.—Ed.). Jean's husband Stewart is a Heating Oil Supervisor with Esso. They've been in Lynchburg for the past three years. She says 1962 was a year of broken legs and operations for them. Hope '63 will be better.

Horace Speed graduated from the American Institute for Foreign Trade and has begun his career with U.S.I.A.—This note comes from the Institute in Phoenix, Arizona.

The Roanoke Times carried a picture of Jack Place in October as he accepted command of the 5th Engineers, Marine Reserve in Roanoke.

Dot Hagberg Bower '53 and Dick are moving into a new home designed by themselves, and Dick is on the faculty at Dartmouth. They have three children.

Thanks so much for all the cards and letters you sent. Just keep it up.

Heard from Larry Phillips before I received my own copy of the GAZETTE. He writes that he and his wife Lavinia Pretz Phillips '57 have two children Becky, 6, and Richard Henry, 2. Larry is a stockbroker with Francis I. Dupont & Co. and president of the Lynchburg Central Virginia Alumni chapter of W & M. He was recently promoted to captain (USMCR) and will command his local unit in a few months. Larry extends an invitation to any alums to join their chapter, if they are in the central Virginia area. His address is 1034 Rivermont Terrace, Lynchburg, Virginia.

Other news from Larry follows. Frank and Betsy Stafford Elliott, both class of '58, are in Lynchburg. Frank is guidance counselor at E. C. Glass High School. Betsy is vice-president of the alumni organization. Doug Proffitt just moved to Denver, Colorado last month with the Insurance Company of North America. His new address is 1960 Upham Street apt. 1, Denver 15, Colorado.

Elaine Thomas Moore sent this news she received. Helen Noble Russ married Clarke Russ in Dec. '60, and lived in Los Angeles, El Paso, and now Sacramento. They have a son, Brian. Clarke is with Douglas Aircraft. Helen would like to hear from any W & Mites in Northern California. She informs us that Helen Male Katz had a daughter, Margaret, in March '62. The Katz family lives in Larchmont, N.Y.

Ann Smith Crovatto, living in New Orleans, wrote the most intriguing letter. Her biggest news was the birth of son number two, J. Thompson Smith Crovatto, on July 25. She and Ray now have four children. Life has really been hectic for the Crovattos. Their oldest son, Philip, caught the house on fire last year and Ann just barely saved the children and two dogs. She nearly lost the baby, and was laid up for weeks. They had to live in a hotel for about six weeks until the house was repaired.

Patti Perkins Berryman and Don have a son, their first child. Lollie Eggar Scott and Sam have moved to St. Petersburg, Florida with their three sons.

Beatrice Verra Wissel must have written as soon as her GAZETTE arrived. Thanks, Bea! She is married to Conrad Wissel III, and has two boys, Jimmy, 5, and Randy, 4. The Wissels have a lovely home in Mountainside, twenty miles out of N.Y.C., N.Y. Bea is an office manager for Verra-Nalitt Associates. Barbara Newberry Shebill and Bea are often in touch. Barbara, Pete, and two daughters live in Interlaken, N.J., where Pete is practicing law.

A card from Martha Briggs says she received her Master of Arts degree from N.Y.U. in October and traveled to Egypt and Greece.

Sally Stoker Neyendorf wrote that she and Don both work for the same company my husband, Skip, does. Sally is a programmer for the Honeywell 800 computer at A. C. Nielsen Co. They live in Northbrook, Illinois, a suburb of Chicago.

From Jane Ottaway Dow comes the news that she and Peter visited Donna Melnick Moskow, her husband, and twin sons in Boston in the fall. The Moskows are re-doing an old house and have lots of land, a dog, a cat, and bird. Janie also saw Shirley Dodrill Bacon and her three children in Natick. The Dows often see Patsy Wall Beasley and her husband as they live near by. Janie and Pete have a daughter, Jennifer, and a son, Peter the III. They live in Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich.

Since the last newsletter I've learned from Jane Kesler Upshur that she had a son, Arthur, in August. Her daughter, Jan, is 3 years old. Jane says that Marilyn Zaiser Ott, Jim, and daughter Carolyn, aged 5, have moved to Augusta, Georgia. Jim was transferred there by Procter and Gamble.

Have also learned that our information about Barbara Coogan was incorrect. She is no longer teaching with the Norfolk school system, but is now with the Princess Anne County system.

Carol Kent is still living in Santa Monica, California. She went to Honolulu recently, and loved it so much she's thinking of applying for a government job there.

We saw Barbara Brown Harman and Arlie in November. Just got a letter from her with news from her Christmas cards. Mary Lou Riggan will be married to Edward R. Baird by the time you read this. Eleanor Green Jolley is in Indian River City, Florida. Jim works for the U.S. Gov't. and they are involved in the exciting business of the space program. Ellie had a Christmas card from Mary Alice Woods Davis who lives in Waynesboro, Va.

Anne LeHew Legge '54 sent Barbara a Christmas coloring book—"color us pink with glee at the thought of being through with residency and settled in Winchester, Va. by next July 1." They're now in Winston-Salem, N.C. Reynolds has specialized in ophthalmology. Shirley Haabestad Hollen '54 and Gene have acquired a Triumph sports car. Gene works for Johnson and Johnson in N.J. and does lots of travelling. Barb says they have boys, but I don't know how old or how many.

Skip and I went to Norfolk to spend Christmas with our families. We enjoyed seeing my brother Denys '58, his wife Barbara Turner Grant '59, and their little boy Bruce. Denys lives in Richmond, Va. and works for A. T. and T. We also visited with Bob Forrest, Violet, and our darling Godchild, Nancy, their 5 year old daughter. They have another daughter, Beth, 4, and son, Scott, 3. Bob and Vi live in Portsmouth, Va. where Bob is in the math dept. at Fredericks College.

It was just great seeing Skip Hull and his wife Barbara Barker Hull '54. We were introduced to their little baby daughter, Patricia, born in November. Skip is working for the Mortgage Investments Corporation.

Other news culled from Christmas cards is that Cindy McCalla Boyhan is now a justice of the peace in Dubois, Wyoming. Her first job was a marriage! Cindy and Johnny are raising quarter horses and a son and daughter. Also learned that Brenda Kornis Cattell '56 and Roscoe '53 will be leaving the Congo in July. Roscoe is with the American Embassy and Brenda has been teaching English.

Andy Thunander Miles '56 and Jerry are still living in Chicago. Jerry has just received a promotion and Andy is now working for management consultants. Bobbie Lynn Wheeler '56 writes that she is expecting her first child in April. Laurin works for Procter and Gamble. Bobbie says there are several W & Mites in her local A.A.U.W. chapter. They are Dibsie Prick Hill who lives in Chatham with two little ones, Nancy Fehn Booth, of Summit with one offspring, and GINNY Butterfield Ferre, also of Summit with one child.

Mrs. Vernon L. Nunn, with whom I did my practice teaching, writes that her daughter Betty Joyce '58 is teaching government at W & M and likes it.

That's all for now. Please let me hear from all of you and real soon!

Thank heavens for Christmas, which brought lots of news from lots of you, and saved this column from a quick demise.

Washington area alumni started off the holiday season with a cocktail party at which were seen, among others, Pat Wells, Betty Bloxson Witherington and Aubrey, Judy Buckert White and husband Phil, and Randy Hall. Judy and Phil are now the parents of three little girls, and have moved into a new house at 3804 Beatty Drive, Alexandria, Va. Judy reports that Carolyn Smith is teaching school for the Army in Germany; her address: Frankfurt American Junior High School, APO 757, New York, New York. Also, that Julie Conrad is now Mrs. Byrne and lives at 2014 Gallows Road in Fairfax County, Va. Randy Hall is now with IBM in Washington, and Pat Wells is teaching merchandising at Marymount College in Arlington. She teaches five different courses each semester, and is head of the Merchandising Department.

If you are looking for a good dentist in the Harrisburg area, Jane Dougherty Marfizo reports that husband Bill has opened an office for "the general practice of Dentistry" at 2440 Rudy Road in Harrisburg. Bill graduated with honors from Temple Dental School last June.

Received a good letter from Willie Burkes Hughes, along with a picture of her two darling children, Craig, 2½, and Leslie, 1½. After four years in Houston where husband Bob spent his medical residency, they have hung out their shingle in Memphis, Tenn., a town they love but which boasts no William and Mary alumni. The Hughes live at 5230 Mesquite Road.

Patty Speltz Roby writes that she and Al are now in their own home, at 32 Lost Brook Road, West Hartford, Conn. Also new home owners are Skooky Gideon Collins and Harry, at 5 Newbrook Drive, Barrington, Rhode Island. Their second daughter, Carolyn, was born October 1.

A letter postmarked Kailua, Hawaii, invites anyone who just happens to be in the Islands to be sure to give Betsy Swaine Ihune a call. The Navy has been kind enough to station them there, and Betsy, who now has three children, is taking "hula lessons, Chinese cooking lessons, and guitar lessons." What fun! Their address: 855 Kainui Drive, Kailua, Oahu, Hawaii. She reports that the Hawaiian alumni chapter consists of herself and "Cooter" Molzer Severance, who's husband is also a Naval officer stationed on a submarine.

Belatedly, congratulations to Joanne Napolino Bickel and Alex on the birth of their second daughter, Claudia Rose, on June 25.

Meta Fooks Rickard and Dan are back in civilization after three years in Alaska and are now stationed at Fort Leavenworth—430 Second Avenue, Leavenworth, Kansas. They, too, are new parents—Ann Bolling was born on September 2.

The William and Mary Tomahawk marks items in class news columns which your editors feel are of more than passing interest to all alumni: noteworthy accomplishments, surprising information or, simply, good stories.

Also back—in Washington, that is—are Sue Colclough Crouch and Dave after several years in Michigan. Sue is teaching school and they have a lovely new home at 102 Croton Drive, Alexandria, Va.

Paula Balck Kirisko found herself erroneously listed in the Class of '58 notes in a recent issue of the GAZETTE, and has written to give us the true scoop. She is in Kentucky, where her husband is a naturalist in the National Park Service, stationed at present at Mammoth Cave National Park. Their first child, Kathleen Adele, was born March 16, and they live "in a beautiful home supplied by the Park Service, where deer browse in our yard at will, and racoons raid the garbage cans at night—and will even walk into our living room following a trail of bread." They, too, would welcome seeing any William and Mary-ites.

Elaine Pratt Carlin and her husband are back in the east after a year in Kansas, and have a wonderful-sounding house in Marblehead, Mass. Their address: Gingerbread Hill, Marblehead.

A fascinating clipping from the Los Angeles Herald Examiner devotes 10 inches to Christine Montgomery. I must quote the headline: "Christine is a Cutie With Unusual Duty." The article reports in rather an informal way that her "duty" is to stuff Russian sentences into a computer, then check the results to see if the machine has made any errors. Her official title is member of the Synthetic Intelligence Department of Thompson Ramo Woolridge, Inc. The article goes on to say that Chris is one of very few American women who understand Russian, and adds: "She was a language major at William and Mary, a very good baseball school." So there!

If you all don't write, there just can't be a newsletter; so PLEASE drop me a line. I need more news. Other than there being complete lack of contact with any classmates here, Southern Florida has the most wonderful winter weather I've ever experienced. We have been basking in the sun and surf at every chance—in Dec. and Jan. too. I can hardly believe it myself.

To go to another extreme in weather, Virginia Holsinger returned from a winter in Alaska last year where she was doing graduate work at a university outside Fairbanks. She said that she thoroughly enjoyed it and that the winters are no worse than in New Hampshire. Presently she is back in the dairy division of the Dept. of Agriculture in D.C. Ellen Johnston is on leave of absence from the architectural school at Harvard and is also in D.C., working for an architectural firm there.

Nan Maurer Rosenbaum wrote that she has seen Anne Willis Scott ('59) in Houston. Anne's husband is with NASA, and they have a 16 month old daughter, Kathy. Frances Gilliam wrote her that Jack Herring is in Newport News working for Chip Mason. She also said Betty Wright and Bill Armbruster have 3 children. Nan and Jim have 2 daughters and moved into their new home in Houston last April 1st. Gail Morgan Filion wrote that Barbie Doan Stout had a son, John, Nov. 9th; and GINNY Kendall Cooper a son, Kenneth, Nov. 14th.

Bill Slaughter ('59) is now a junior at Syracuse medical school—and just delivered his first baby in Nov. He and Pattie Lynn (Adams) see the Vernons often. Betty (Schindler) and Bill Howser ('56) are up there working for GE. Pattie Lynn wrote that Sara Linder ('60) is working on a master's degree and probably has it by now. Debbie McMahan O'Hara had a son in Nov. also. Another classmate in New York is Bobbie Ramsey Brooks who is teaching third grade in Rochester.

Otto Lowe was off on a business trip to the Middle East last Nov. He stopped in Berlin and met Mayor Willie Brandt. Otto was in both sectors. Patsy (Westcott) '59 and Otto won a vacation in Paris through some contest and left Christmas Day for their two weeks. Diane Montague Morsey wrote that John and Anne Lee Bruen ('57) are in Pittsburgh where John got his M.A. Diane has a son, a daughter, and a dog to keep her busy.

I almost forgot to mention that my husband Ned has been named director of a summer school here in Boca Raton.

We have some new babies in the class: On October 18th, Beverly (Harris) and Ed Jenkins welcomed a girl, Kathleen Elizabeth; Karen (Thomas) and Ed Liske a son, Hans Phillip, born on August 5th; Carolyn (Bloxsom) and Bob Dennis celebrated the arrival of Kevin Peter on September 23rd.

I've learned that John R. Grantier received his Master of Science in Library Science at Western Reserve University on Sept. 7th. Dave Edmunds wrote a terrific letter bringing me up-to-date on his whereabouts—after completing Quantico training, he headed for the "last outpost of the world," Okinawa where he spent 15 wonderful months squeezing trips to Hong Kong, Philippines, and Tokyo. While there, Gil McNair, Bob DeTombe, and Dick Grizzard were all stationed with him, as was Tom Secules. He understands that Dick is now back in school, Gil and Bob should now be out of the service. He was scheduled for a discharge on January 10th and will then resume his position with C & P Telephone Company of W. Va. working in Fairmont, about 100 miles south of Pittsburgh. He also included news that Chip, Jane (Boorman) and Dawn Rene Archer were discharged from the Marines four months ago (if a whole family gets a discharge!). Tommy Martin is teaching in Alexander and working on his Masters. Dave—many thanks for your good letter and much luck to you. (By the way his home address is: 924 Forest Pk. Blvd., N.W., Roanoke, Va.)

A lovely handmade card from Bill Ryan says he'll be in New York in January for the Lamp and Home Furnishings Show—please call! Dave Roller's card came from Duke where he'll complete his Ph.D. in American History this summer. Carolyn (Bloxsom) and Bob Dennis are now in New Haven (470 Prospect St. Apt. 55) where Bob is doing further grad work in Physics at Yale after getting his MA last June from W & M. Carolyn tells me Barbara Gene (Chandler) MacDonald has two boys and is living in Marietta, Ga. Joan (English) and John McIntire and Ziggy are in Laurel Bay, S.C. (467 Dogwood). Lee Granata is still writing from Germany but expects to leave this year so is trying to "hit" the spots she's missed!

Capt. Bill and Kathy (Hickam) Prout and "Skipper" head back to Little Rock in February after enjoying their time in Texas. Suzie (Watters) Jones with Julie and Frank are living in Fort Worth. A lot has happened to them, for Bob graduated from Fixed Wing School, made 1st Lt. and received a Regular Army Commission of which she's most proud, but this November he left for Vietnam for a year where he'll be flying helicopters. Shiras Elliott was here in New York for IBM training and is now settled in Greensboro, N. C. Lu Shillat writes from Cleveland that she's at home taking secondary education courses. Alice (Roberts) and Dick Gordon were married in November, '61 after Alice had taught school and attended court reporting school. They have, since Jan. '62, been living in Bristol, Va., where Dick is a buyer for Universal Moulded Fiber Glass Corp. and she is court reporter for the area—I tried to contact them while there, but to no avail! Phyllis (Garris) and Bob Powers have bought a house in Norfolk and are nearly settled down! Roney (Chesson) and John Morton have moved in New Orleans (1723 Broadway) and are pleased that John has graduated, passed his boards, and is a full-fledged architect—congratulations, John. Ben (Harris) and Causey Davis spent June and July moving in Norfolk where they hope to be at least a year, then off to jolly England, got stuck in snow in Scotland, and back home (615 Stockley Gardens, Norfolk 7).

FOR AN EVENING'S FARE that is different: Enjoy a festive dinner at Williamsburg Lodge and then enter the theater world of 200 years ago with the William and Mary Players. Each Friday evening, beginning in mid-April, they present a comedy, The Lying Valet, in the sprightly fashion of the eighteenth-century. Plays are but one of the many activities in Williamsburg during the Spring. Write now for a Spring Calendar to Beryl G. White, P. O. Box C, Williamsburg, Virginia, and arrange your colonial theater trip!
