Cubic SECOR satellite surveyor makes first direct coast-to-coast measurement of U.S.

Cubic's SECOR, world's most precise satellite tracking system, recently completed the first direct "single-leap" distance measurement across the United States, from San Diego, Calif., to Herndon, Va. In only 10 seconds, the distance between these points was determined to be 3,628,300.5 meters, or 2,254.5 miles.

More important than actual distance computation was SECOR's ability to accomplish this historic feat. SECOR uses a satellite 600 miles in space to plot and measure the earth with amazing speed and surveying accuracy.

"... a first order geodetic tool..."

After initial tests, SECOR won the highest praise of the surveying and mapping profession.

Army officials noted, "SECOR has the full capability of a first order geodetic tool." In present operations, Cubic's all-weather SECOR system is successfully measuring distances between points of land separated by broad expanses of ocean.

29,000 "ranges" in six minutes...

During a typical satellite pass of six minutes duration, SECOR's four Cubic-built ground stations make approximately 29,000 measurements or "ranges" with 95% success. Within the SECOR satellite, a miniature 7-lb. Cubic transponder acts as a receiver-transmitter.

Tests prove that SECOR can extend control over distances exceeding 2000 miles with geodetic accuracy.

SECOR's far-reaching applications...

Data gathered by Cubic's SECOR will have lasting importance in the fields of geodesy, global navigation and satellite navigation. SECOR will have a role of major importance in space and defense programs requiring distance measurements with pinpoint accuracy. Information about the earth's shape and gravitational field is also being obtained.

SECOR is a product of Cubic Corporation, leader in the field of electronic measuring systems.

Dave Forer and his wife Margery started their greeting card business 17 years ago against some advice and with some unconventional ideas. Their studio cards now bring joy to hundreds of thousands.

Some Discarded Advice

By Ross Weeks, Jr.

MEN WITH creative minds and artistic talents frequently prefer to do things their way, notwithstanding the advice they might get.

Dave Forer, '41, creator of this month's Gazette Christmas cover, was advised at William and Mary to major in government instead of art. Later, he was warned to stay away from the greeting card industry because his ideas were too unconventional.

Today, he's the head man and a chief artist for the D. Forer & Company Inc., the successful New York greeting card firm Dave and his wife, Margery, founded in 1949. In the past 17 years, D. Forer & Company has become known here and abroad for, among others, its Brett Collection of Christmas cards featured in many top department stores.

Forer, using the talents of some of the best-known artists for some of his lines, creates on his own two lines for Christmas and several birthday cards, using a studio in his 10-room New York City apartment. Contributors to D. Forer & Company lines include Otto Soglow, sports cartoonist Willard Mullin, Hilda Terry (Teena) and Henry Syverson, a frequent contributor to Saturday Evening Post. William McCarroll, a Reader's Digest regular, gets a breather from his New England landscape work by doing watercolors of Colonial Williamsburg for the Brett Collection.

Forer, a native New Yorker, put his artistic bent to work before enrolling at William and Mary. He painted Broadway stage scenery and constructed sets.

"A more interesting phase of this backstage experience," Dave recalls, "included the old Billy Minsky Burlesque. Gypsy Rose Lee was in her heyday as a young headliner."

At William and Mary, Dave edited art for the Royalist and the Flat Hat, and painted a series of murals at the Iron Bound Inn. Despite these early excursions into the world of art, an art instructor suggested he should not major in art, and Dave chose government because of an interest in political affairs. The same instructor later urged Dave to stay out of the greeting card business.

Following a World War II tour with the Navy as a destroyer navigator, Dave settled temporarily on the West Coast. Back into the art world, he

Part Of Our Heritage

*From President
Paschall's
Convocation Message*

AN OLD FRIEND has come out of retirement and stands ready to greet you at the Earl Gregg Swen Library. You doubtless have read about the statue of Lord Botetourt—and the first requirement of a William and Mary student is to pronounce his name correctly!

Since 1958 it has been necessary to keep him from the weather, for he has endured many hardships since 1773—wars, and the ravages of time and weather, and periodic paintings by our friends from rival institutions on the eve of athletic contests. So, for seven years, he has been carefully crated in a campus warehouse; he has not been impatient, for he has moved several times before, and survived every move.

He is an old friend of William and Mary, but I should like to stress both references—he is old, and he is a friend. He is one of the oldest pieces of marble statuary in America, and has been praised by art critics as a rare example of colonial sculpture. If you regard him impersonally as a cultural asset—an important and historic piece of art which the College is fortunate to possess—I know you will treat him with respect. He has been through enough, so that in his air-conditioned, scientifically lighted, glass-walled gallery in the library, we should be able to have him with us for a long time to come.

But having said, "Please do not touch," I want to close by trying to recapture for the incoming students, as well as for the sophomores, juniors and seniors and most of our graduate students who have not known him either, the peculiar significance Lord Botetourt has for this College.

The body of the man himself—the Honorable Norbourne Berkeley, Baron de Botetourt—lies in the crypt under the Wren Chapel. One of the last of the Royal governors to Virginia, he so loved this land that he asked to be buried here when he died. The colonists so mourned his loss that they commissioned a statute, to be made in London, to memorialize this "best of governors and best of men." But the statute had only stood in the old colonial Capital for a few years when the American Revolution turned us against everything that reminded us of British authority. In New York the statue of George III was overturned and the lead melted down for patriot bullets. In Williamsburg the recently honored statute was seriously defaced, and its head broken off.

But after passions and extreme partisanship had cooled, men remembered how deeply this colonial governor had loved this place, and a group of College faculty members undertook one of the first restorations in Williamsburg. The head was retrieved from the scrap heap and carefully put back on the body by means of an iron plug. Then the statute and pedestal were brought from the abandoned Capitol to the other end of the Duke of Gloucester St., and placed before the Sir Christopher Wren Building. There, through most of the nineteenth century and half of the twentieth, it stayed.

Many currents in the stream of campus and national history have flowed past it—Union and Confederate armies, advancing and retreating so many times during the Peninsula campaign across this very ground; Colonel Stoic old Lord Botetourt is wheeled into the Swem Library on a special iron cart. "It's like kids pulling apples in a wagon," commented Librarian Jim Servies on the successful move.

Benjamin Ewell, driving up to the weed-grown, deserted campus of the 1880s, and passing the statue on his way to the Wren Building to ring the College bell, symbolically opening the year and keeping the ancient Royal Charter alive.

This is what many generations of William and Mary students and faculty remember. Lord Botetourt is a symbol and a witness to the changes and chances which this College has experienced over so much of its long history. It is rather appropriate that he has moved once more—from the old Capitol of colonial days to the front campus of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries, and now to the center of advanced arts and sciences which is being built around the new library. This fall, having come once more out of retirement and having once more overcome adversity, he speaks the creed of William and Mary to you who have come to be part of our heritage:

"I have loved this place," he seems to say to us. "I have seen it grow from colony to Commonwealth to Confederacy to a new and ever greater nation. I have endured and survived fire and storm and war and forgetfulness. I have kept faith—and I know that you will do the same."

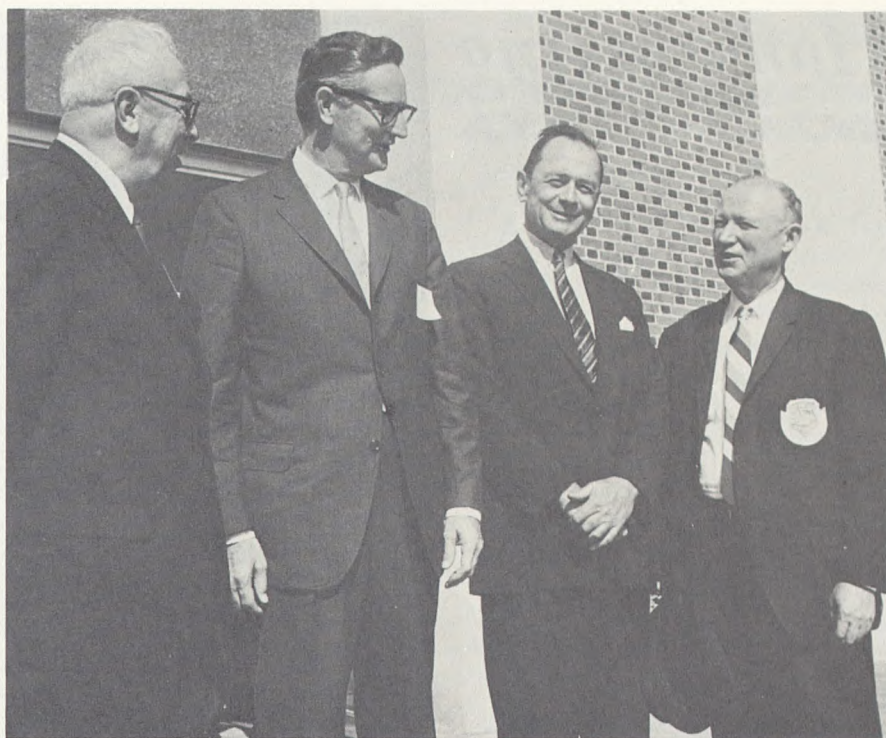

A Gentle Move

"His Majesty's late lieutenant and governor general of the Colony and Dominion of Virginia" was taken out of a storage crate September 21, where he had rested for nearly seven years, and slowly, gently moved to the Lord Botetourt Gallery in the new Swem Library.

The old statue which stood for a century and a half in front of the Wren Building—truly a symbol of William and Mary—was hoisted on a truck for the move to the library, then lowered on a special cart and wheeled into the building where it was lifted onto its pedestal.

President Davis Y. Paschall, right, chats with the three 1965 recipients of the Alumni Medallion for service and loyalty to the College. They are, left to right, former federal district Judge E. *A
Homecoming
Report
By
Will Molineux*

IT WAS—by all means—a fine weekend.

The parade, the game, the parties, the weather—all made Homecoming 1965 a memorable time.

It had rained a little on Thursday and early Friday, but during the Sunset Parade in the Sunken Garden the round orange October sun burst through the midst. And, in every way, it was a bright weekend.

The Colonial Williamsburg militiamen marched across the campus and fired a "Volley of Joy" in salute to returning alumni. Then came the red-jacketed Queen's Guards, in slow solemn step. Their salute was for those who loved William and Mary who had passed away.

Perhaps a record number of alumni returned to Williamsburg. The sidewalks of Duke of Gloucester St. were filled for the parade and more than 10,000 turned out for the 28 to 14 win over George Washington in Cary Field Stadium.

The Society of Alumni honored three graduates for the service and loyalty to the College. Recipients of Alumni Medallions were R. William Arthur, '38, a Wytheville attorney who formerly served as vice rector of the Board of Visitors; J. Bruce Bredin, '36, of Wilmington, Del., a philanthropist and oceanographer; and E. Sterling Hutcheson, '17, of Boydton, a retired federal district judge and a member and former rector of the Board of Visitors.

Elected to three-year terms on the society's board of directors were Robert A. Duncan III, '24, a Williamsburg banker; John E. Hocutt, '35, dean of students at the University of Delaware; William E. Pullen, '22, president of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co.; Mrs. Kathryn C. Sweeney, '35, of Lynchburg; and Walter J. Zable, '37, president of Cubic Corp. of San Diego, Calif.

The society's annual gift to the College was presented by Dr. George Sands to Dr. Davis Y. Paschall. The gift included $5,000 for faculty research grants, $1,000 for faculty recruiting; $500 for the support of the Queen's Guard, and $500 to help support the interpretation program at the Wren Building.

Gamma Phi Beta's Indian, lying prone with crayon in hand, goes through the William and Mary Coloring Book while sorority sisters suggest he color George Washington "clobbered," "creamed," "pale," and "gone." William and Mary did, 28 to 14.

Homecoming Queen was pretty Patricia Patterson—and she was elected queen on campus over Patricia Patterson. No, it's not a typographical error. There were two Pat Pattersons.

The queen was Patricia Leigh Patterson of Lynchburg, a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority and president of the Woman's Dormitory Association. The other girl was Patricia Ann Patterson of South Boston and she and Gail Williams of Springfield were the queen's principal attendants.

As usual, Dr. Davis Y. Paschall was happy to oblige photographers and kiss the queen on the cheek during halftime coronation ceremonies. The photo caption could read "Pat Kisses Pat" as Pat is both their nicknames.

The winning floats in the homecoming parade were entered by Gamma Phi Beta sorority and Theta Delta Chi fraternity. Gamma Phi Beta won with a tremendous papier-mache Indian shown with a crayon coloring in William and Mary's 30-foot tall coloring book. The caption read: "Color the Colonials Clobbered." Theta Delta Chi showed a large papier-mache figure of George Washington holding his head in his hands. Beside Washington was a cherry tree holding an ax. The caption: "Give Them the William and Mary Ax—The Cherry Tree's Revenge."

Kappa Alpha Theta took second place among the sororities with a giant "Pink Yink" holding George Washington in a bathtub. The slogan read: "Without Our Pink Yink, George Washington Will Sink." Keplar took second place among the men's organizations with a huge white colonial wig and the theme "Scalp the Colonials."

While some of the festivities were going on the annual alumni tournament was held in the Golden Horseshoe Course at the Williamsburg Inn. Nat Withers, '59, recorded the low gross score and Alden C. Flint, '45, the low net score. Second low net was marked by George Chalmers, '40, and the spouse low net was recorded by Dot Mercer, wife of Bryon W. Mercer, '35.

Baroque To Jazz

THE WILLIAM and Mary Concert Series offers a wide range of music this season—everything from medieval music to jazz.

The season opened last month with a concert by Pro Musica, a group of musicians who offered medieval, renaissance and baroque music played on ancient instruments. Next month the Lee Evans Jazz Trio will appear in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

The New Orleans Philharmonic, under the baton of Werner Torkanowsky, will present a program in February with pianist David Bar-Illan. It will be the first time that a well known symphony has been included in the popular concert series. Metropolitan Opera soprano Terese Stratas will conclude the program in April.

Community Spirit

STUDENTS showed their interest in the Williamsburg community last October by donating $331 to the Williamsburg-James City County United Fund campaign. A dormitory solicitation was conducted by members of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity and Delta Delta Delta sorority.

A W&M Stamp?

IT IS POSSIBLE . . . just possible . . . that in two years the Wren Building could be pictured on a commemorative U. S. postage stamp. The Student General Cooperative Committee has suggested a stamp be issued Feb. 8, 1968, to commemorate the 275th anniversary of the College Charter.

In a resolution, the student group said William and Mary warrants a stamp because it "has had profound effect upon the state, the nation and the world in which we live."

Before the student resolution is forwarded to Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien it must be approved by College authorities and the Board of Visitors.

The College

First Sabbatical

AN ENGLISH professor, Dr. Frank B. Evans, has been granted the College's first faculty sabbatical leave. Dr. Evans will study the European literary and intellectual background of 16th century English literature.

The sabbatical leave was made possible by a gift to the College by J. Bruce Bredin, '36, of Wilmington, Del. Dr. Evans, a member of the faculty since 1947, will leave his teaching duties in February for a semester.

College Publicist

A Richmond newsman, Ross L. Weeks Jr., has been named director of information for the College. Weeks, a political reporter for five years with the Richmond News Leader, assumed his duties at the College in mid-October.

A native of Jamestown, N. Y., Weeks, who is 29, is a graduate of Colgate University. He wrote for the Jamestown Post-Journal before coming to Richmond in 1960.

As information director, Weeks works in the College's recently reorganized development office, headed by James S. Kelly. He is responsible for the public information program of the College as well as internal communication within the College community.

Colonel, Sir!

IT'S NOW proper to call College president Davis Y. Paschall "colonel." Kentucky Gov. Edward T. Breathitt signed the commission papers in October and certified Colonel Paschall as a man "who has given unselfishly of his time and effort to benefit his less fortunate fellows . . . and whose moral discipline and courage are a shining light to all humanity."

The presentation of the commission was made by Jack Tompkins, a sophomore history student from St. Paul who is a personal friend of Governor Breathitt's.

Respectability Regained

By Bill Bryant

Coach Marv Levy has a word on the sidelines with George Pearce who, during William and Mary's 20 to 6 win over The Citadel, broke both the College and Southern Conference records for most pass receptions during a single season.

TO THE CHINESE, it would be the Year of the Two Quarterbacks. To the gridiron faithful, it would be the Year of Regained Respectability.

Following a tense 3-0 decision over national defensive leader Southern Mississippi in the Oyster Bowl, William and Mary's well-drilled Indians boasted a 4-3 record (including 3-1 in the Southern Conference and an outside shot at the SC title).

Left on the ledger were Citadel, Boston College and University of Richmond, and from that group were almost bound to come contributions to the first break-even or winning campaign in recent William and Mary history.

The Indians last broke even in 1954 (at 4-4-2), last came out on top in 1953 (at 5-4-1). Boston College loomed as an obstacle, but Citadel and Richmond claimed only one victory between them (Citadel's over Richmond the same weekend as the Oyster Bowl tilt).

Ahead of their opposition in all major statistical categories, the Indians were being paced this fall by a pair of sophomore quarterbacks, passer Dan Darragh and scrambler Mike Madden. The former, possessed of a steady hand and accurate eye, and the later, a competent passer but an exciting runner on the option, were being interchanged liberally by Marv Levy, the intense young coach now in his second year on the Reservation.

Levy's crew was also receiving all-star performances from senior end George Pearce. After the Southern Miss upset, Pearce was within three grabs of the all-time William and Mary pass reception mark (44) and within shouting distance of the College's receiving yardage standard (793), both the property of Vito Ragazzo after the 1949 season.

The path toward regained respectability has been strewn with obstacles, not the least of which has been the albatross of recent memory, of a cumulative record of 26-68-4 during the drought which began in 1955.

An indication of relief came last fall, when Levy's initial band of opportunistic Indians parlayed breaks, discipline and uncommon dedication into a 4-6 season filled with excitement.

The Tribe started the 1965 campaign with a come-from-behind 32-21 decision over Virginia Military, a contest played under withering heat at Cary Field. Then came a 34-14 loss to mysterious West Virginia (later to collapse offensively), a last-minute 9-7 loss to successful Virginia Tech and a 42-14 setback at the hands of Navy.

It was at this critical juncture (1-3) that Levy, already tabbed as a master of adaptation, threw conformity to the winds and abandoned two-platoon football. "The best 11 men will play," he tersely declared.

The gambit was to work. Davidson, undefeated and unscored-upon in three games, was demolished 41-7 by the reorganized Tribe. George Washington took a 14-0 lead on breaks then succumbed 28-14.

And along came once-beaten Southern Miss, boasting one of the nation's top runners in quarterback Vic Purvis, and that top defense. Levy's men adapted, out-defensed the Generals (and outgained them, 174-131, in offensive yardage), and pulled one of the season's major upsets on the strength of a 31-yard field goal by Donnie McGuire, the first of his career.

With three games remaining, the chances of a winning season appeared good. Pearce, his pass-catching antics blunted somewhat by having to play defense (and brilliantly, too), was still a sure bet to become the Tribe's greatest pass receiver ever. Madden and Darragh were certain to keep opposing defenses guessing. And the rest of the Indians—styled "heroes by the dozen" by one sportswriter—seemed anxious to make up for lost time.

Glancing around the corner, William and Mary's gridiron faithful could also derive satisfaction. Not only do many of this year's key performers return, including that precious pair of quarterbacks, but also coming up are the graduates of this year's freshman team, one of the best ever assembled on the Reservation. The Papposes, like their predecessors of a year ago, were undefeated.

To the spectator, it would also be the Year of Anticipation.

Depth And Discipline

THE GOSPEL according to Bill Chambers preaches discipline, and partisans of William and Mary basketball have long since been converted.

Last winter, they witnessed a rebuilding Tribe come within a few points of the Southern Conference tourney title after a late-season, disciplined surge. The Tribe finished at 12-13, giving Chambers a 100-98 record after eight years on the Reservation.

The threat should be more constant during the 1965-66 campaign. Depth is better, the defense looks good, and the types of personnel available seem just right. Then, too, there is the unifying force of discipline.

Two-thirds of last year's scoring punch returns, headed by senior guard Walter Wenk, who averaged 14.3 points an outing last winter and also shone as a defender and floor leader. Three other starters return—Ben Pomeroy, a junior who scored at a 12.4 clip and was the SC's third best rebounder (11.1); Larry Paffrath, a senior who scored and rebounded ably; and Tim Walter, a senior who rebounded well and came within a fraction (9.6) of double figures in the scoring column.

A fifth returning letterman is big (6-7, 205) Lew Ollice, who should be more valuable as a junior.

The sophomore talent on hand is impressive, too. The varsity's top scorer might be Ron Panneton, a likely starter at guard after a strong (18.7 points per outing) season with the frosh.

Jimmy Rama (6-6) and Billy Taylor (6-4), also sophs, are products of Newport News High School, where Chambers preached the gospel of discipline with championship success for several years before coming to William and Mary. Rama tallied 18 points a game last winter.

The 13-man squad is tall—all over 6-1, one man at 6-7, four at 6-6, one at 6-5, one at 6-4, two at 6-3.

The schedule is perhaps the toughest in a decade, but Chambers (W&M '53) and assistant coach John Harvey (W&M '57) are optimistic.

joined the Walt Disney studios as an artist, helping to illustrate such well known films as "Uncle Remus" and "Wind in the Willows," along with "various Mickey Mouse shorts."

But life in New York City attracted him away from the West Coast and he returned to the East. Through a classmate, Bob Stainton, Dave renewed an old friendship with Margery and later married her. (The staintons and Forers are a few blocks apart on East 72nd Street.)

The Forers launched the greeting card company in 1949 on "the proverbial shoestring" and after setbacks coupled with encouragement from the trade, found its niche in the industry.

The company was among the first to popularize the sophisticated "Studio Card," and later branched into the more serious-minded, tasteful and luxurious Brett Collection. (Brett is the middle name of the Forers' son.) The company went into a light-hearted, gay and whimsical series called "JOY," which keeps to the lighter side of Christmas spirit.

D. Forer & Company has its own modern plant employing from 20 to 85, depending on the season. Of Margery's role, Dave says "Her sense of marketing is invaluable as well as her merchandising knowledge."

The Forers take their two children, David, 14, and Katherine, 10, to the Jersey shore for the summer months. At Deal, N. J., there's fishing, golf, water sports and tennis—but Dave remains an "interested bystander" while his children pick up laurels in tennis and trampolining. His gout Dave observes, is not "just for rich old men!" His active interest runs to collecting contemporary American art and some early American and English works.

Listed in Who's Who in the East, Dave is treasurer and a director of the Greeting Card Association and a member of several trade groups.

"Now that our greeting card enterprise has the earmarks of respectability," he says, "my father no longer refers to me as 'my son' the artist' with a pained expression. Both my parents are very happy with the results."

Homecoming 1965, just past, was wonderful. It's getting bigger and better every year. It takes a great deal of planning and the cooperation of the College with the Society of the Alumni for this annual event is all that we could ask. Because of the large return of Alumni, larger facilities are needed to take care of all those who wish to attend class dinners and dinner dances.

It is essential for all returning Alumni to make reservations, if possible, via the "orange" return card sent out from the Alumni office each year. It is very necessary to return this card so adequate planning can be made. It was a joy to see so many friends, Alumni and classmates. Those of you who are not returning for Homecoming are missing a great deal. Whether or not we are having a class reunion does not matter. In a sense, every year can be a class reunion as more and more are coming back every year. Whether or not your husband or wife went to William and Mary does not matter either. They seem to have just as good a time as the partner who attended. From our personal viewpoint, if you have any doubts about it, direct your inquiries to my wife.

We have two fine letters from class members whom we haven't heard from before. One from John E. Neal, 600 Stockton Street, San Francisco, Calif. 94120. This is his "first report" since graduating in 1929. He enjoys reading the ALUMNI GAZETTE and hearing about his classmates. He taught school for a short while before entering the life insurance business in 1933. John is with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, and is currently vice president, in charge of the company's western operation, which covers eight western states. He has just about traveled the entire country with the company in various capacities. During his career he has served as president of several Life Underwriters Associations. In addition he has found time to serve on the board of directors, California division, American Cancer Society and San Francisco Chapter, National Safety Council. His son is also with Metropolitan Life and is now serving as family security analyst. John finds time to do pheasant and duck hunting and also plays golf with a 9 handicap. We would like nothing better than to visit you sometime, John, and we hope you will be with us next fall at Homecoming.

Our other letter comes from William "Billy" Bickers, M. D., professor and chairman department of gynecology and obstetrics, American University Hospital, Beirut, Lebanon. Billy was in Williamsburg last summer for several days and enjoyed seeing the College and the fine job done in "beautiful restored" Williamsburg. The only thing he missed were the faces of old classmates and friends that were not there. He wishes to be remembered to all.

Ranking Officer

Henry Viccellio, '33, an Air Force lieutenant general, is believed to be William and Mary's highest ranking officer in the military service. He is now deputy commander-in-chief of the U. S. Strike Command at MacDill Air Force Base, Fla.

The class letter for the class of 1930 is strictly pictorial. And this picture tells more than a thousand words of the gay reunion.

Commands American Legion

L. ELDON JAMES, '34, of Hampton has been elected national commander of the American Legion.

James, an attorney, was named to the post August 26 at the Legion's national convention in Portland, Ore. James, who is 52, served as a naval officer during World War II.

Since taking over his duties as national commander, he has visited with President Johnson at the White House and conferred with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara and other key civilian and military commanders across the United States. In Washington on September 9 he presented President Johnson with a diamond-studded American Legion pin.

In October James went to Viet Nam for a "first-hand look." He inspected American troops there and interviewed Vietnamese leaders. Under James' leadership, the American Legion has conducted a forceful campaign to back United States servicemen in Viet Nam.

James was given a gala "homecoming parade" in Hampton October 2 when the Peninsula city staged the largest parade in its history.

James has pledged the American Legion to a strong program of support for the United States' efforts in its determination to resist attacks upon free peoples; to maintain a consciousness of government responsibility to care for those who have borne the burden of battle, and to encourage respect for law and American institutions of government.

(Elbert Slaughter substituted for the Class Secretary)

After the Homecoming football game, I still had not seen our esteemed class secretary, so I began making notes. I enjoy seeing news about our classmates, and I'm sure that all of us do. Hope I haven't forgotten about some I saw, but if I did, please forgive my poor memory.

Colonel Robert Rawl, USAF, and Dorothy Coppridge Rawl, '40, living in Arlington were present. Bob and Dot are students again, studying some language of India in preparation for his going there next June as a military attaché.

Captain Caldwell Cason, USN, now called "Casey," and his wife, Marion, came down from the National War College. I believe they have five children. Casey is working on his master's thesis, in international relations. Two of his sons are working of their master's theses also, and in the same field!

Colonel Jack Hudson, USMC, and his wife Miriam (Casey's sister), came down from the University of Virginia, where Jack is commanding officer of the Navy ROTC unit there.

Bill and Maureen Stuart Dulin, Homecoming regulars, from Chevy Chase, Md., were present. Bill is an actuary for Acacia Mutual Life Insurance Company. He also teaches at American University in Washington, D. C., and he recently received his Ph.D. degree.

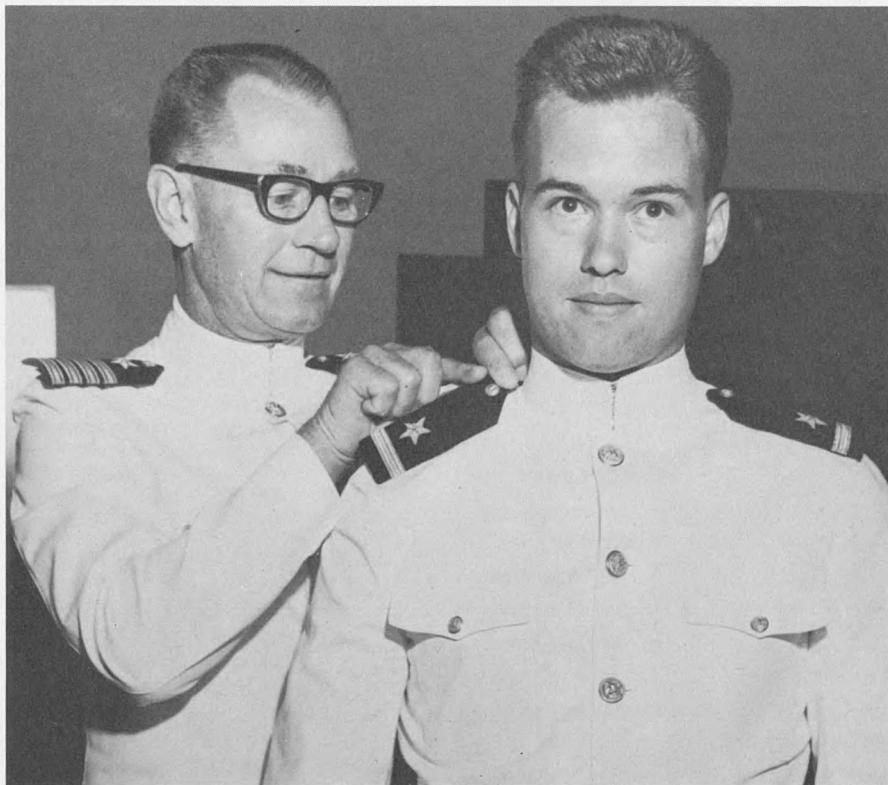

For the first time since 1939 I saw Eldon

Langbauer, and he hasn't changed a bit. He is a manufacturer's representative for the Budd Corporation, living in Detroit with wife, Lucille Harder Langbauer, '40. Their oldest son graduated from Duke University last June and is now in graduate school studying theology in California. Their 17-year-old twin sons are in Gow preparatory school in New York.

Others whom I saw included many of the regulars who show up nearly every year: Jordan Sizemore, Herb Krueger, Preston and Lucy Ruffin Greene, Ray Dudley, Joe Kennedy, Rosa Evans Stetson, Ned Ferguson, Paul Post (Commander, USN, Retired). George Nea, Lee and Mary Allen Kearney Mitkeivicz, Steve Lenzi, George Sands, Bill and Minnie Dobie Musser, John and Peggy Duval Winston, Bud and Frances Davis Metheny, Dede Allen Bunch and George, '38, and Jean George Sykes. Many non-classmate spouses were there.

Peggy Prickett Miller was not able to come, but I did hear that husband Frank is now a brigadier general.

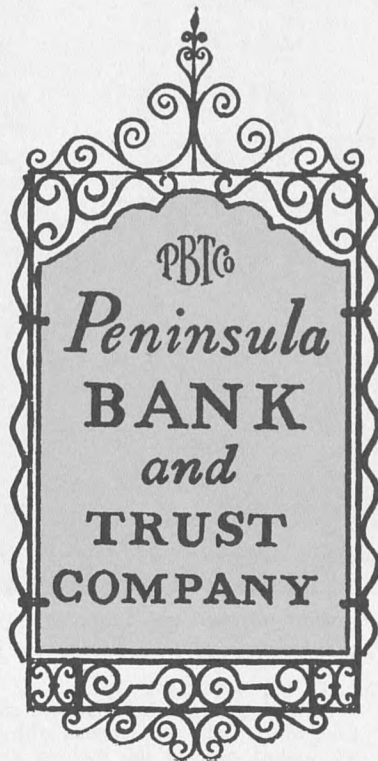

Navy Captain Mitchell Mozeleski, '31, pins ensign bars on his son Jan, '65, during a commissioning ceremony last June at the College. About 20 other senior students were commissioned in the Army during commencement weekend.

I think all who attended our 25th reunion at Homecoming would agree that it was a marvelous weekend and those of you who couldn't make it really missed a wonderful party. I heard some remark that it surely reestablished their faith in humanity—for everyone was so congenial and happy. And, as before, our class broke the record for having the best attendance ever.

Our weekend started on Thursday when Ben and Jane Brandt Wild arrived. They were here with us overnight and we managed to get the reunion spirit underway. We hadn't seen them since our 15th so we had lots of catching up.

Friday morning we trailed over to Williamsburg and got settled at the Lodge where we had adjoining rooms. Jack and Ann Terrell Garrett and Dave and Donna Senft joined us and we had a run-down on who had arrived so far, then the Garretts, Wilds, and Hendersons and Ginny Brenn Steele lunched together at the Coffee Shop. That evening we all went to the cocktail party and it really was a talking crowd. I thought I was going to end up minus a voice, but fortunately we found the adjoining room less crowded and it was wonderful to visit with so many old friends. Among those that I saw were: Frank and Jean Clarahan Bratton, Sally Bell Wainwright, Scrib and Ginny Clauden Allen, Carney and Ann Cross Pearce, Ned and Helen Gudebrode LeGrande, Bob and Emily Edgerton Gladstone, Walt and Betty Carter Zable, Tweedy and Kitty Edge Bryant, Eldon and Louise Eppinger Nuernberger, Al Frazer, George and Marie Harris Young, Jack and Miriam Hudson, Charles and Helen Strange Patterson, T. and Leah Waller, Nils and Gervais Wallace Brekke, Betty Wood Walton, Caulwell and Marion Cason, John and Marion Milne Barba, Merritt and Mary Foster, Ed and Rosa Ellis Long, Chester and Helen Jones Baker, Connie and Nancy Chisholm Akers, Amie Lee Cobb Harvell, Ruddy Tucker, Harry Gebauer, Jack and Harriet McCarthy Purtil, Mary Willis O'Farrell, Bob Klein, Ed Miller, Jayne Magee Lilliecrapp, Frank Yeager, Temple and Virginia Coulbourn Lee, George and Dede Allen, Joe and Jesse Kennedy, and Bob Simpson.

The class dinner followed the cocktail party and for the first time we were guests of the Society of the Alumni. It was a delicious dinner and Jack Garrett had added to the atmosphere pre-taped recordings of music from our era. Tommy Cartwright and Bob and Maizie Coggan Sanders were among those sitting near us. Dr. Paschall, George Sands and Jack Garrett spoke words of welcome to us and following that each of us introduced himself, which really helped in locating those we hadn't seen before in such a large crowd. I believe about 160 were present. I managed to see Al and Janet Wood Chestnut, Paul Post, Frank Cuseo, Coleman and Joan Bowers Dupont, Brock Steele, Otto Boysen, Pat (Frank) Damrosch, Madge Dunn May, Dinney Forward Pate, Charlie and Marjorie Frey, Eldon and Lucille Harder Langbauer, Ruth Ann Holzmueller Chancellor and her husband Bill Mahood, Bob Klein, Bob Lansburgh, Bill and Minnie Dobbie Musser, Pinkie (Bob) and Kay

Newton, Len Owen, Bob and Dotty Coppridge Rawl, Ben and Frances Wagener Read, Bill and Lill Waymack Amburgey, Bunny Blair Riepma, Bernie Russell, and Harvey Shuler.

After breakfast Saturday—which was a perfectly heavenly day—we walked over to Duke of Gloucester Street to watch the parade. It was as colorful and gay as ever and after it passed Jane Wild and I walked all the way to Phi Beta where the Alumni meeting was underway. En route we bumped into Kay Hoover Dew and Jean Cox Phillips, and at the meeting we saw Virginia Garrett and Ada Stuart Holland. There was a good turnout of all classes and we were happy to see Bill Arthur among those few outstanding alumni to receive the Gold Medallion. It was nice to meet his wife, Dot, at long last.

Following the luncheon and our class picture, which really was jammed with people, we walked over to the stadium to watch William and Mary and George Washington University play a wonderfully exciting game of football. It was a real thrill to have our boys win 28 to 14 after starting the second half two touchdowns behind—and I think the final half was enjoyed more by those around us when Frank turned the microphone so we weren't deafened by its blare. We sat in the '40 section between Sy Schwiller and his wife and Johnny and Evelyn Lengrick Dillard.

Before going out to dinner at the Inn we saw Herb Young, now of Atlanta, and Sonny Almond. Then we took in the alumni dance at the Motor Lodge and had a ball. Joe and Sue Duncan Thomas, Ralph Baker, Tom and Jean Stigall Abernathy, Johnny and Mae Hocutt, Senator Blake Newton and Blake Newton, Jr., and his wife, and Ginny Mister Walker were all a welcome sight.

There were numerous people I'm not certain that I saw but I know attended Homecoming and they were: Alex Apostolou, Bill and "Jimmy" Elliott St. John, Carlton Laing, Bud Metheny, Irving Opheim, Charlie Quittmeyer, Evelyn Robinson Funk and Jim Talley.

I know you all were as delighted as I to receive the class directory of alumni and here are a few addresses for you to change and names to add to your book:

For a 1940 reunion, the Class of '41 was remarkably well represented. To work backwards, a '41 breakfast was held at the Lodge Sunday morning with chairman Bill Land presenting plans for our 25th. Austin Roberts, Ralph Taylor, Tweety Bryant (and Kitty), Kay Hoover Dew, Nancy Chisholm Akers, Buddy Strange, Bob Hornsby, Houston Ashworth, Bailey Wilkinson and Lil Douglas Andrew (and Wallace) attended. Bill's plans show a lot of work, are very comprehensive, and sound great, so start making your arrangements now to attend on October 15-16, 1966. Gene Ellis is Bill's co-chairman. You will definitely be contacted by someone in your area.

Throughout the weekend, beginning with the class dinners on Friday night, through the parade (which was fabulous), lunch at Phi Beta, game, social hour and dinner-dance on Saturday night, many more of our group were at least glimpsed and chatted with briefly. Among them were Dot and Pat Harper, Sonny Almond, Harriet McCarthy Purtil and Jack, Al Chestnut and Janet with their teenage son John, Billy Wyatt, Sid Brooks, Marian Milne Barba and John, Bill St. John and Jimmy and a lovely teenage daughter, Julian Samuels, John and Margaret Janke Brennan, Herb Young, Steve Lenzi, Jean Cox Phillips, Ed Goodlow (and his brother Bill, although we can't claim him) and Nan Johnson Piddington.

Many of us have children at William and Mary. Harriet and Jack have a senior daughter and a freshman son; Austin has a freshman son; Lil has a freshman daughter; Buddy, a sophomore daughter; John and Mugs have a daughter here and Nan has a daughter who was graduated in '64 and is married to football great, Charlie Weaver, and is living in Williamsburg. Bob Vining has a daughter here and Bud Wooley, a freshman son. Neither Bob nor Bud attended Homecoming.

Ruth Rapp Thayer of Pacific Palisades, Calif., wrote in August that she and her two sons and husband were leaving on a month's tour of the wilds of Alaska, hoping to fly to the Eskimo villages.

That was all of the news we had time to gather. (This was a cooperative effort of everyone at the breakfast.) Please try to come next year and come on Friday if at all possible. We had a marvelous time this year and it can be even better next year. Just remember that there are lots of people who really would love to see you.

Members of the class of '42 must be waiting for our 25th reunion as there were few present for Homecoming this year.

Pat Nichols Curcuro made a hurried trip from Connecticut where her husband is teaching at the University and Pat is working in real estate. At the open house of the

December 1965

College radio station, WCWM, Pat's son, Steve, took us on a tour of the facilities.

Ed Fisher talked with Bob Aldrich, who was down from Detroit. Ed and his wife, Mildred Anne Hill also brought word of the marriage of Annette Carter on Sept. 4 in the Friends Meeting House, Media, Pa.

We were distressed to hear of the death of Claude Kelly, who has been a doctor in Mechanicsville until August of this year. A memorial fund has been established in his name for the benefit of the new library.

Dot Hogshire Harper and her husband, Pat, were present and "Red" Irwin and his wife were back. Old faithfuls Don Griffin and Ben Read also attended the festivities. For the benefit of any who have not been back for Homecoming in some time, we find that the program is well planned by the alumni officials and very gay with enthusiastic alumni.

Was Homecoming a success? Well—I've lost my voice—and I went to the woman's club today to do a book review—a week early! If you haven't been back lately, you don't know what you're missing. The dinner Saturday night was sold out by Friday, so make your reservations by the cards they send out. It was the best Homecoming yet—even the weather was perfect, and the football team performed their best—to the cheers of the largest crowd I've seen in Cary Stadium in years! See you next year!

The class of '45 was back strong. They were all back, Suzy, Jo, Fran, Abner, Lee, Edie, Bill, Martha, Maggie, Ellie, Jack, and many more. Read Denny's column and WENTY YEARS ago, William and Mary students lived on the site of our present store, played touch football where our parking lot now is. Those were the days of the "Vets Dorms," the "Rubberguts" and "Flying Vets," and cafeteria food so good that many students walked out specially for Sunday dinner. Today, students walk, drive, ride Hondas—any way at all—just so they get to the Williamsburg Shop for its broad and economical line of quality clothing, gifts, notions, housewares, footwear and luggage.

VIEWPOINT

WILLIAMSBURG SHOPPING CENTER ON RICHMOND ROAD

be sorry you didn't see them. The class of '40 was also much in evidence. Everyone looked great. Our alums seem to get younger all the time! Congratulations to Marion Pate Macon (and Jimmy) for the newest coed prospect, a new daughter!

Among the dancers Saturday night were Nancy and Dixon Foster, Marge and Wayne Gibbs, Louise and John Hollis, Lois Sprattley Donald (and Doug who is a great W&M booster). They had been looking at lots in Williamsburg. It seemed like old times seeing Pogo Brown dancing every dance. His attractive wife says their daughter loves W&M. Hal and Evie King, Jean and Virgil Ford, Martha Macklin Smith (and husband Herb), Ben Reed and Fran, Herb Young (down from Atlanta), Ruthie Weimer Tiller and K. T., Mary Hamner and Mary Alsop with their respective spouses and, Dean Lambert and his sweet wife who always makes you feel so welcome. They were all there. We rented the kitchen behind the Brick House Tavern with Jane Welton Anderson and Bill, and it couldn't have been more fun—but enough of Homecoming.

Jane Whitmore Whittemore got a large group together at the beach last summer. Emily Snyder Alexander was there (now lives in Washington) also Bobby Steely and Gin Tunstall (from Australia). Can't think of their married names at this moment. Carole Talbot Egelhoff and I came over from Sandbridge. Her husband is an Episcopal minister, and they live in Williamsburg. So does Jane Turner Laird. Hannah Leonard Merrick and Jack are now in Washington as is Jane Craig Beaver (and Bob).

William and Mary women gathered at my house in May for a garden party honoring Dr. Paschall. Had several hundred alumnae and mothers of students (who also enjoyed his "State of the College" talk and meeting Jim Kelly and hearing Alum information). Jean Schoenwolf Preston, Jane Welton Anderson, Connie Curtis Laws, Jean Canoles Bruce, Jean Cox Phillips, May Berry, Elsa Gerst, and Ann Dunn Lea were hostesses with me. We'd love to make it an annual affair.

Jean Boyd McIntyre was here from Bristol this summer. Had lunch with her and with Aud Hudgins Thompson. Aud lives in Florida.

Virgil Ford will head the music dept. at the new Virginia Wesley when it opens here soon. Saw Buddy Newby at the club one night in September. He's an industrialist consultant in Pittsburgh.

Dick Copeland teaches at William and Mary as does Lewis Foster. Miss Barksdale is still there going strong. At the game we sat near Mr. and Mrs. Tom Thorne.

I had an odd experience at one game. I kept seeing people that looked like KAs—Bob Matthews, Hunter Andrews and Don Hahne. Rolf said I was having hallucinations, but I found out several weeks later that there was a KA reunion that weekend. I felt better; I did see them.

Fran Laesch Brunner and Bob stayed with us en route to Homecoming. She was so interested in all the new buildings on campus. Lots has been happening since you left. You have to come back to see it all next year.

The class of 1945 had such a good 20th reunion that it is already planning its 25th annual get-together. For a complete report, see Dinny McAlinden's letter below.

McAlinden

Our editor kindly extended the deadline to Oct. 27 for all class secretaries for this issue so that Homecoming news could be included. I am, therefore, writing this Monday evening after returning last night from our Tremendous Twentieth. My news is purely that which was gathered over the weekend, and that mostly at our highly successful class dinner.

First of all, those of us who made it to Homecoming and our reunion unanimously agreed that it was well worth it. We're already planning for 1970. Everyone had a marvelous time; and on behalf of all of us I should like to say, "Thank you," once again to our excellent committee: Virginia Darst Pope, Jeanne Schoenewolf Preston, Martha Macklin Smith, and Jane Welton Anderson. The Brick House Tavern was an ideal headquarters and provided a wonderful view of the Homecoming Parade, among other things.

For those of you who were not with us—a brief report of our weekend. The Friday morning schedule included a re-orientation program and campus tour. There was, as well, an all-day golf tournament. The McAlindens didn't reach Williamsburg until lunch time so I can't give you too much information on that score. We checked in and got settled at the Brick House Tavern in time to go over to the Lodge for lunch. Cary Hughes Opitz and I played "Hide-and-Seek," seeing each other from a distance several times until finally having a chance to chat that evening. As we walked into the Lodge dining room, we met Betty Aurell and Henry Schutz who were off to see Henry, Jr., play freshman football against GW. After lunch, registration, and back to headquarters where people were beginning to arrive. Soon the Brick House Tavern resembled any one of the dorms after summer vacation.

Six o'clock found most of us off to the Lodge and social hour. Here is where we began to think that maybe '45 was to have a good turnout. Much socializing enjoyed by all alumni and spouses, and suddenly we were being herded to the site of our class dinner.

Dinner was served in a room just the right size and with small tables. Everyone talked at once, at the same time enjoying a delicious dinner. Following dinner Lee Dorman took over as master of ceremonies, introducing president Ginny Darst Pope. Ginny, in turn, distinguished herself by introducing everyone without hesitating. We all had to stand and give an account of ourselves. Your substitute secretary at the same time made herself obnoxious by sending around a memo book to get the same information written down. Finally President Paschall dropped by to greet us and give a short progress report. Friday evening ended with another social hour in the basement lounge of the Brick House Tavern.

Saturday burst upon us, the kind of beautiful October day Williamsburg used to blossom out with—in short, perfect. Coffee and doughnuts were promised for first thing in the Brick House basement. Everything was laid out invitingly, but then our coffee makers blew a fuse. Coffee was delayed until after the parade, but the doughnuts filled in nicely. Our headquarters was ideal for viewing the parade, and the front steps were filled. The parade turned right at our corner and then came around again so we were able to view it from both sides. This was especially appreciated by your secretary who ran out of film in the middle of the parade and had to dash inside to reload.

More socializing after the parade, then the annual meeting, and lunch under the tents in front of Phi Beta. We grouped together for our official picture and started off for the game. Naturally W&M beat GW in spite of anxious moments during the first half, and we all cheered New Jersey's own Mike Madden, who should be providing some thrilling moments in Tribe football for the next two years.

Relaxation after the game, another social hour at the Motor House, and finally the dinner dance in the cafeteria there, with not an inch of extra space in that large area!

And now: Who was there? Daphne Andrews and John Crum, Betty Aurell and Henry Schutz, Fran Loesch and Bob Brunner, Jo Parker Flint, Donna Lepper and Don Ware, Jane Welton and Bill Anderson, Joan Worstell and Jack Carter, Jeanne Schoenewolf and Pasa Preston, Floss Metius and Dwight Johnson, Slizie Jones and Tom Price, Ruth Waters, Nancy Outland and Web Chandler, Ginny Darst and Bill Pope, Betty Bradley, Martha Macklin and Herbert Smith, Abner and Libby Pratt, Mary G. Jones and Arthur Vliet, Ruth Weimer and Cato Tillar, Banks and Nancy Talley, Margery Sease Burruss, Ellie Harvey Rennie, Jane Atkinson, Ruth Schmitz Kerns, Carolyn Hughes and Paul Opitz, Janet Miller Noll, Nancy Hochstrasser Lichliter, Lee Dorman, Dale Myers, Wally Heatwole, Roger Woolley, Larry and Patricia Forwood, Joan Kable and Max Griffith, Edie Marsh and Clark Wakefield, Mary Jane Chamberlain Howard, and Kay Tomlinson Bartlett.

And, at last, news: Martha Macklin Smith made it a real celebration by winning the Tidewater Women's Golf tournament just before she joined us on Friday. The Crums brought three of their four. Their eldest, Jean, is a freshman at the University of New Hampshire. They expect to return for Daphne's 20th next year. Banks and Nancy Talley have four children.

Floss Metius Johnson, three children—12, 14, 16—teaches ballet dancing to little girls once a week, substitute teaches in Cheltenham township, Pa., schools. Slizie Jones Price brought their 16 and 14 year olds along, other two stayed home. From Nancy Outland Chandler, Web is a consulting engineer practicing in Norfolk, was president of Norfolk Rotary last year, and is member of Norfolk Fine Arts. Jean Ferebee Reynolds is still living in Dallas, has four children. Ellie Harvey Rennie still living in Richmond, three children, teaches at Cerebral Palsy Center.

Jane Atkinson is a chemist at the Medical College of Virginia. Carolyn Hughes Opitz and Paul made it all the way from Yorktown where Paul is stationed but left their four children at home. Janet Miller Noll has just moved into a new home in Purcellville.

Nancy Hochstrasser Lichliter is librarian at Handley High School in Winchester. Two children, daughter 14, a W&M hopeful, and son 12. Lee Dorman, Cincinnati, Ohio, three daughters, one junior high, one high school, one sophomore at W&M. Jeanne Schoenewolf Preston, freshman daughter at W&M, three other potentials two girls and a boy. Dale Myers lives at Salem, Va., three children headed for W&M. Boys 13 and 7, girl 6.

Wally Heatwole is claimed by the classes of 43, 44, 45, 46, and 47, is officially 47, but says all his friends are in 45, so he joined us. Larry Forwood lives in Harve de Grace, Md., where he is an automobile dealer and president of a finance company, has a 14-month-old daughter. Abner Pratt is with NASA headquarters in Washington, has a daughter 15, sons 12 and 3.

News of others: Edie McChesney Ker will be in the states for a visit in April, 1966. The Kers will circle the globe before returning to Nairobi, Kenya. Sunny Maneewal and Ken Murray's son "Rip" is a freshman at Dartmouth. From '44, Mu Koch Ernstmeyer's daughter Jan is a freshman at W&M. Your guest secretary and her partner became parents of a daughter, Mary Ann, born May 12, in June. She joins James Lee, now 2½.

Seena Hamilton operates Gulliver's Trails in New York City. It is a children's sightseeing service. Having just returned from Homecoming, I am filled with nostalgic thoughts of classmates, College and all the excitement of the weekend. All the while I was there my thoughts kept running to next year when our class will be returning for our 20th! We are starting to put the wheels in motion for that occasion so if any of you would like to serve on the committee please let me hear from you. We need all the help and ideas we can get and I assure you that you will find it a rewarding experience to be a part of the planning. We have tentatively reserved the Motor House again for our headquarters inasmuch as so many people last time stated a preference for rooms there; however, it is still early enough to make a change if a majority of the class prefers another place. Please pass along your suggestions so that we can make next Homecoming a memorable and meaningful weekend.

Very few '46ers were back for the Homecoming—I trust that means you are all saving up for next year. Saw Cecy and Scotty Cunningham—dear Cecy, it just wouldn't be Homecoming without her. She saw Jene Carr Dent and Dottie Fitzcharles Weber. Chatted with Norma Tucker Katz and Daphne Andrews Crum who was there with Johnny and their children. Both Norma and Daphne are looking forward to our big reunion next year. Also saw Barbara Nycum Moore and Al at the Brunswick Stew luncheon before the game. Nicky very sweetly volunteered to help with our reunion in spite of her many civic activities. Saw Fred Frechette and Donnie Lepper Ware—Donnie was back with Doc for his 20th but she promises to return next year for ours. She says she loves living in the South and is kept busy with all the children's activities as well as community interests.

I hear from Pam Pauly Chinnis occasionally though not as often as I'd like—and we live within visiting distance, too. Pam continues to shine in her every endeavor and was recently reelected National Editor of Mortar Board. We're so proud of you, Pam—you continue to do yourself and our class proud! She tells me that Ann Vineyard Roach and Hal are living in Missouri now. Hal retired from the Marine Corps and is teaching high school history. Had a grand chat with Jan Freer Scantlebury this spring when she was visiting in the area. They are still living in Wauwatosa, Wisconsin and enjoying the skiing. And of course, one of our star skiers is Dottie Hammer who went to Sun Valley last year but I haven't caught up with her activities this year yet. Dottie should actually be writing this letter as no one keeps up with all the news quite like she does! Had a nice telephone chat with her in the spring but have missed seeing her.

Keith Anne and Tom Duncan are by this time confirmed northerners having been located in Birmingham, Mich. (120 Vorn Lane), for nearly a year now.

Versie Rae Brown Massey has a busy social life with many visits to New Orleans. She says that life in Mississippi is still quiet and good. Ann Singer Banes writes that Roy has gone into business for himself and they are ever so happy in what she calls a paradise way of life in Phoenix, Ariz.

Julia Oxrieder, '46, had breakfast at the White House on Oct. 7 as a guest of Mrs. Esther Peterson, assistant secretary of labor and special assistant to the President on Consumer affairs. After breakfast Julia lobbied on the Hill for the Beautification Bill. The bill was passed that night!

I'll be hoping for some word from all of you letting us know your thoughts on the reunion and volunteering to help—it will be great fun to be together again!

James S. Skipwith, CLU, '48, has been appointed manager of the Dayton branch office of Connecticut General Life Insurance Company. In his new position he will direct the office's services in life, accident and health insurance, and retirement planning on both an individual and group basis.

Jim began his career with Connecticut General in 1948 at the home office in Hartford. He has held field managerial group insurance posts in Richmond, Charleston, W. Va., and Pittsburgh, and was appointed district manager of the Indianapolis group office in 1958. He joined the staff of the Indianapolis branch office in 1964, and was named assistant manager there that same year.

He is married to the former Elaine Wilsey of Rockville Center, Long Island, N. Y. They have three children.

The Class of 1950 held its fifteenth reunion and where were the rest of you? The weather was glorious, sunny and cool, the football game ended in a victory for us, the social hours were very social and the handful of our class that were there had a great time.

Class honors go to Martha Belford Root who traveled the farthest to be there. It was a real pleasure to meet her husband, Donald, too. Connie Carhart Stamm and Walter came from Ohio, Sis Shoff Fox and John ventured down from New York, and Barbara Campbell Borst and Bob arrived from Pennsylvania. The rest of us didn't have so far to go. Among those we haven't seen in a long time were Hank Blank, Nicky Dillard Dewing and Janie Copeland Upshur.

Now we can understand why Mac MacKenzie Kirkpatrick and Jim couldn't make the trip from Hawaii but what people like the Scofields, the Massaros and all you Texans? Start planning now for the reunion in 1970! Come and see how well preserved we all are. Bring the kids too, they think the parade is great.

three children recently moved to New Jersey from Florida. They hope to run across more alumni in their new area than they met in Florida.

Evelyn Gardner King writes from Europe that Tita and Clark Myers called from Bonn where they are stationed, only about three hours from them. They hope to have a reunion.

Right about now I feel that the class of 1953 has forsaken me! Please keep in touch; news is really sparse. I hope our class was represented at Homecoming in October and that all enjoyed themselves.

I appreciated hearing from "Willie" Willingham in Tucson, Ariz., where he is a doctor in the practice of orthopedic surgery. He received a M.D. degree at Baylor Medical School and then completed training in his field at the University of Michigan for five years. The Army then claimed him for two years at Fort Huachuca in Arizona. "Willie" is married and has two children.

"Tex" Wilde, our class agent, added a note at the end of his William and Mary Fund letter. He also is a doctor practicing orthopedic surgery but in Houston, Tex. He was released from Navy duty in July and set up his office shortly afterward. His three boys attend the same grammar school he went to 30 years ago; the oldest boy even has the same third grade teacher. Dr. Wilde also teaches at the Baylor Medical School.

Scott and Caroline Young Petrequin and our little ones are back in Bedford, Ohio in their big farmhouse after two years of renting it to others. Scott remains with Mohawk Paper Company in Albany, N. Y., but now has charge of the midwest office. Both are busy with church work and "Y" activities.

Carol Myers Miffin, '54, her husband, and three children were due to return in August from England to Texas after a year's stay. They have been taking advantage of the many places of historical interest despite England's fog and their colds!

Ginnie Gary Lupton and her Major husband, Ed, '52, left Fort Monroe in July and are now settled in Honolulu, Hawaii. They and their three children made a sight-seeing trip out of their drive to California. Some of the stops were in Chicago, Yellowstone Park, the Grand Tetons, Reno, San Francisco, and Yosemite Park. They arrived in Los Angeles just in time for the racial riots, but managed to see Disneyland and Marineland of the Pacific despite the frightening events going on. This was Ginnie's first experience at camping out during most of the 5,000 miles covered. Their new home is near Pearl Harbor and fairly near Hickam Air Base where Ed is stationed. He is in a flying group called the "Blue Eagles." Schools in Hawaii are quite different from those in the states. Children may go to school barefooted if they wish! It must be fabulous being able to travel to different places and to absorb such different ways of living as smoothly as the Luptons do.

Bruce and Camille Grimes Henderson, '52 are again back in Sao Paulo, Brazil, and love it as much as ever. They have a rambling Spanish colonial home with plenty of room for the four children.

Jan and I are busy making room for Amy who arrived in September. Every corner of our house seems to have a child or a toy of some sort in it! I still cannot believe we have five children. Things either go very smoothly or we have complete confusion!

William Wagman who is an assistant professor of psychology at Southern Illinois University has recently received a one-year continuation of a National Institute of Mental Health grant for research begun two years ago. He received both his MA and Ph.D. degrees from Columbia.

Margaret B. Hall of New York City is listed in the publication "Outstanding Young Women of America."

Carl P. Taylor of New York City wrote last summer that after five years as designer and antique buyer at W&J Sloane, Inc. he has now opened his own design firm on East 57th Street.

Mrs. Joseph Amory Egger of Boise, Idaho, represented the College in October at the inauguration of the President of the University of Idaho.

Just returned from a winning Homecoming weekend where I saw among others Don Dew and his wife Karen. They are back from Germany and are at Fort Eustis with orders for Don to go to Viet Nam in May 1966. They have a five-year-old son. Harry Cornell said that Niel Hock has been in Viet Nam for five or six months. Niel's wife, Peggy Hoyle and their three-year-old daughter are presently living in California. Harry married Janet Morgan and they have a sixteen-month old son, Christopher Scott. Harry is manager of accounting with Ward's TV and moved to Richmond from New Jersey a year ago. He asked about Tony Wilson who at one time wrote for a Pennsylvania newspaper and was last heard from with a New Jersey newspaper. Anyone have any news of him?

Saw Clyde and Julie Vakos Nordstrom. They are still on the Eastern Shore and have five children now. Other Eastern Shore residents, Anne Richardson Tankard and John Ed were there—still planning to get that house built. They have a two-and-a-half-year-old son, Ed. Stew and Pat King Sell are back from England—complete with three daughters. Jim and Nan Maurer Rosenbaum sold their meat business and moved with their three girls to Newport News from Houston, Tex., to join Chip Mason's stock brokerage firm, Mason and Company. I'm told there are twelve William and Mary alumni with Chip.

Rusty Dietrick McDaniels received a note from Ray and Alice Perry Linker announcing the adoption of a baby boy, Carson Ray. Kent Watkins wrote that he and Linda have settled in Georgetown, D. C. (3120 R Street, NW) after a five week honeymoon in Europe. Kent is finishing a study of Senate rules for an impending reorganization of Congress. In February he will receive a $15,000 nine-month Ford Foundation grant which is given annually as a Rayburn Fellowship for a Congressional Staff member. Congratulations to Peggy Willhide who has completed her residency at Duke and is now there on a one-year fellowship in pediatric allergy. She expects to practice in Statesville, N. C., starting July 1, 1966.

That concludes it. Enjoyed Homecoming, but wish I could have stayed long enough to see everyone. Please write or call me with any news.

P.S. Our class has $78.85 plus interest in a savings account in a Richmond bank. It had been dwindling slowly with service charges so I put it in a savings account in the class name last year.

Ten years ago Gene Guess, '55, was president of his class. Now an attorney in Anchorage, he is a member of Alaska's House of Representatives. Gene, here chatting with College President Davis Y. Paschall, and his wife, Carolyn Suber Guess, '56, were among those who came the greatest distance to attend Homecoming.

Such a frustrating weekend October 22 was for me! As I have mentioned in previous GAZETTE issues, my husband, Pat, is a football coach. We had hoped and thought right to the last minute that we could change his Saturday game to Friday night. But it did not materialize, and I thought about you the entire weekend. (Being here in Pennsylvania was the last place I would have chosen.) I trust that all was wonderful; and to those of you who did attend the festivities—please send me a card concerning who was there and any other details you enjoyed. I am sure you now have much wonderful information to give our entire class.

I send a special thank you to Nancy Gilliam Kulp for answering my plea. She and her husband Jim are living in Martinsville, where Jim is practicing law as an associate member of Joyce and Stone Law firm. Nancy is enjoying the "friendly and picturesque atmosphere" of the area, and she sounds doubly excited about the arrival of a little "Kulper" sometime in October. Congratulations, Nancy and Jam! To anyone in the Martinsville area—The Kulp's live on Booker Road. Nancy expressed an interest in contacting any William and Mary alumni.

My second and last letter for this issue came from Judi Urian Lownes. She married Ken Lownes (they met in high school), and he is a draftsman, designing machines for the Samuel Langston Company of Camden, N. J. Judi is still teaching fifth grade at Scenic Hills School in Springfield, Pa., and she and hubby are living in a rancher in Broomall, Pa.

Judi also writes that Merci Carlson married John Coffey. The Coffeys have one son, Jac, who is now a year old, and currently they are in Houston, Tex., where John has just been transferred by IBM.

George Rostron served four years in the U. S. Marine Corps, was a civilian for a while, and just rejoined as a sergeant. At the present time he is in Viet Nam. Peggy Clement is teaching elementary school in Stafford, Pa.

I am so sorry I missed you all at Homecoming, but please write and tell me about it. Any small item would be so appreciated.

After absolutely no news for the May GAZETTE, our class is making a slight comeback with this issue, thanks to a great amount of effort by a few friends.

Marti Todd Parks writes from Davis, Calif., that Jim, '60, and Marebe Crouse,

'65, visited her and Ted, '59, several days this summer. Their western trip helped celebrate Jim's Ph.D. in psychology from Northwestern and Marebe's summer graduation from William and Mary. Jim is now associate professor in psychology at Washington and Lee. While living in Evantson, the Crouses often saw Marshall Barry, '60. In August Marti and Ted attended the Western Psychological Association convention in Honolulu for five days. Ted recently was awarded an honorable mention in the Creative Talent Awards Program, given in the field of psychology for the most creative dissertation by a graduating doctorate candidate. Marti has a new job as head resident at Regan Hall on the campus, with duties similar to a housemother's. The Parkses are looking forward to returning to Williamsburg this summer for the wedding of Marti's brother, G. Thomas Todd, '66.

Susan Bruton Bailey and Marianne McKee Withers provided most of the remaining information over coffee and cake at Susan's. At Homecoming Marianne saw Dick and Dale Harris Cohen, '63; Joe, '60, and Di Titolo Alexander; Bob, '60, and Lois Hamilton Hopkins; Stu Riley, '62; Jack White, '60; Carol Ridgeway Hall, '60, and her husband; Paul Dinsmore, '60, and his wife; Danny Plummer; Benny Johnson, '60, and his wife Chris; and Ira Lebenson. She also reports that Carol Veazey Titmus and Edward adopted a baby girl in May, named Kimberly Carol.

Susan reports that she and Dean found the social hour at the Motor House quite a blast. They spent much of the time with Jack Marker, who is making a career of the Air Force and is assigned with the honor guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Don Farrell drove from Chicago for the weekend, spent with Ed Parkins and his wife in Norfolk. Bachelor Don recently bought a big house in Naperville, Ill. Mike, '59, and Evelyn Avery Richardson were here from the Washington area where Mike works for Ortho. They have two daughters and a new house. Tom, '60, and Suzie Ragland Farrington just returned from Germany. They report that Hannah Trice Richardson and Jim are stationed with the Navy in San Diego. The Richardsons have a little girl, born last spring. Newly-wed Pete Yahr and wife were here. Pete just bought a seat on the New York Stock Exchange and plans to open his own brokerage firm soon, with no intention of practicing law as yet. Bill, '59, and Carol Dodd flew from Honolulu for Homecoming. Owen Knopping and his bride Margaret flew from Niagara Falls. David and Lynn Carr Ladd, '60, came from Columbia, S. C., where David works for Aetna Insurance Co., supervising sales in more than half of the state. Nick, '60, and Lorna Bowen St. George drove over from Norfolk, where they live with their two sons and Nick is practicing law. Al and Polly Mayhew Owens, '64, also came from Norfolk. Al is practicing law for I.L.A., and they have a baby girl, six weeks old as of Homecoming. They brought news of Phil, '62, and Abbie Falvey Albright. Phil was teaching high school science but now is selling insurance in Michigan. This summer they visited the Bailey and Withers families in Williamsburg. Al is spreading the rumor that Dr. George Conrad, '59, is in Texas. Can you confirm this, George? News of Vern Keese and John Stone is also desired. Dave and Cammie Day Montague, '58, came from Hampton, where Dave practices law. Dick Grizzard, '60, and Sara report that they built a new home in their old home town, where Dick is practising law.

Susan saw others briefly at the social hour—Danny Newland, '60, and his wife; Sally Branham Nahill; Benny, '60, and Chris Harms Dulaski; Bobbie and Jim Ukrop, '60; Ellen and Leon Long; Skeets, '59, and Phyllis Akers Mink; Johnny and Willie Mae Aliotti; Jim and Lee Bowman Porach; Tom, '59, and Beth Humrickhouse Secules; Tom, '60, and Jackie Good Legg, '60; Wayne Woolwine and his wife; Ed and Bev Harris Jenkins; Jim '60, and Bea McKay Osbon, '62; and John and Mary Cushman Kimberly, '60.

Other news that Susan is passing on concerns some who were not here for Homecoming. Jay, '61, and Cathy Watson Lawler, '59, could not make it because Jay was in New York in I.B.M. training school. They have recently moved to Richmond. Tony and Grey Hoerber Standen are at Washington University in St. Louis. On a fellowship, Tony is working on his Master's in ancient history, and Grey is working in the publication office. Their son Julian is almost old enough to go to school. Terry Brown was with the Common Glory last summer and has recently written the script for a musical comedy. He is in Europe now, hoping to spend a year. Pete, '60, and Suzanne Thomas Farrell were in Williamsburg last summer gaining publicity for Pete's new invention, a colonial perfume. Other inventions form an interesting side-line for Pete. Paula Lauritzen and her husband are now living in Gloucester, where he is practicing dentistry. Ann Litchesfeld and her Air Force pilot husband are living in Virginia Beach. Ann and her baby son recently visited with Bobbie Berkeley Ukrop and Jim, who have a new home in Bon Air. Frannie McLean Pforr and her son Cameron stopped in to see Jeannette Ankrum on her way to visit us for the weekend, and Bobbie and Ann went over for a visit. They had quite a time with five little boys running around.

A recent note from Edward A. Witt advises us that last June he received his Doctor of Medicine from University of California and is now serving his internship on the staff of the Los Angeles County General Hospital.

Bill, '60, and Ann Fox Harrison, '62, announce the arrival of a baby daughter, Carrie Randolph, August 16. Another new baby is Mary Kimbrough Stock, born October 9 to Laura and Ken Stock. Ken was graduated from law school here in 1964 and works for a law firm in the Washington

Mary Beatty returned to William and Mary this year as an instructor in the English department.

Bill and Yynne Hagen Clarke, '60, spent several days with us this October. They live in Natchez, Miss., where Bill works for Sears and Lynne works for International Paper Co. They may return to Williamsburg this June for Lynne's sister Kathy's graduation.

Frannie Pforr and Cameron, a year old, could not make it for Homecoming but did spend the weekend with us in early October. John, '60, in his new job with the Secret Service, is on a temporary assignment in Gettysburg, guarding Mr. Eisenhower.

C. Peter Siegenthaler of Atlanta, Georgia represented the College at the Centennial Convocation commemorating a century of service at the University at Atlanta University in October.

Dr. John H. Borghi has been appointed part-time assistant professor of Psychology at San Jose State College for this year.

Louise MacDowell is working as a Systems Engineer for IBM in Washington, D. C. and living in a Foggy Bottom town house with Carolyn Washer.

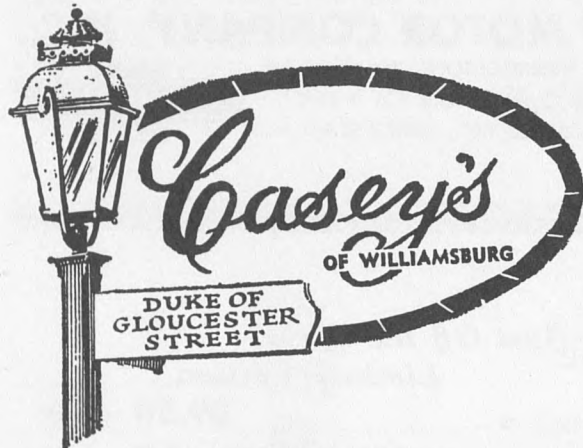

George B. Chapman of Atlanta, Georgia this past summer wrote that he was presently associated with the Charles M. Graves organization—doing planning for recreation facilities and programs in cities throughout the southeast.

Barbara Beckman Schaaf of Oakland, California writes that after nearly 3½ years of flying as a stewardess for United Airlines and a grand finale vacation trip around the world, she was voluntarily grounded last February by marriage to Richard.

Steirling and I were greatly revived this summer by our six-week, 8500-mile western trip. Stopping along the way to visit relatives and friends, we headed for Colorado, then north to Yellowstone and the Grand Tetons, back through Salt Lake City and the Grand Canyon to southern Arizona and into Nogales, Mexico. Then we turned east through Carlsbad Caverns and on to Lawton, Okla., to spend a fabulous Labor Day weekend with Paul, '63, and Jane Stryker Bahn, '63, Evelyn, and Becky. Two weeks later, on Sept. 15, their third child was born, a boy, named Marc Edward. When Paul's tour at Ft. Sill is finished this spring, they hope to return to the East Coast. From Lawton we drove east to Atlanta and then north to Williamsburg, happy to be home.

After such a gala Homecoming this year, we should all be planning to return next fall for our fifth reunion. 'Til then, I'll be waiting for your news.

At Homecoming I saw Bill and Betty Joseph, '63, Kucewicz, who are living in Williamsburg until Bill finishes law school in February; then, they hope to move to South Carolina where Betty will retire from the teaching world. Marc Higginbotham has been living in Philadelphia since getting out of the Army and working for the Pennsylvania railroads. Warren and Nancy Carol Taylor Joblin recently moved to Westport, Conn.; Warren is with a law firm dealing primarily with real estate. Johnny, '61, and Willa Mae Aliotti now live in the Hampton area where Johnny works in the shipyards; they have visited Johnny's home in Turkey twice since graduation.

In Paris, Carita and I had lunch with Carol Keyes DeVoe, who has been busy travelling around Europe and Northern Africa, particularly Morocco.

From the New York City area I received a letter recently from Marcia Ann Hoffman with news of several classmates. Marcia has left the theatrical agency to do television and radio commercials. She writes that Erik Howell is also doing television commercials after starring in "Where's Charley." Terry Browne departed for Europe Sept. 26 to study at RADA in London and to travel. Steve Bellon is teaching, doing graduate work, and directing plays at the University of Southern California.

Marcia recently received an announcement of the birth of a baby girl born to H. Mason and Connie Catterton Sizemore, who lives in Washington state. Scott Glenn, '61, has the featured role in the new Broadway show "Impossible Years," starring Alan King; it opened Oct. 13. Johnny Reese plans to spend Christmas in London this year.

Nancy Van Shreeven Gordon is in charge of the art-slide division of the fine arts department, the University of California at Santa Barbara; Michael is teaching there in the political science department. Lynn Marie Crisman writes that she married Sept. 26, 1965, Walter Wieland, a physicist who works for an optical company in Norwalk, Conn. Judy Child, who introduced them in Washington, D. C., was their maid of honor. Judy is a secretary for the Department of Agriculture. Before her marriage, Lynn Marie worked as a psychologist in Richmond and did some work on her master's thesis. Nanie Montgomery Trexler and Warner are both teaching school in Columbia, S. C.; Warner is working on a Ph.D. in political science and Nanie is expecting a little one sometime around the first of the year.

A letter from the Rev. James E. Thomas brought much news. Jim is filling an appointment as an assistant dean of freshmen at Harvard University, where he is working on his master's degree in theology. Jim completed his bachelor's degree in theology last June and was ordained June 13, 1965. He was also voted into membership in the Society for Religion in Higher Education. Next year he is considering remaining at Harvard for a Ph.D. in theology or going to Claremont, Calif. to work on a Ph.D. in philosophy. Jim wrote recently that he had lunch with Brandon de Wilde, whose mother went to W&M.

Sim Wade is now in England on extended Fulbright grant for research and travel; he plans to spend most of the year in England with trips to the continent, the Soviet Union, and possibly North Africa. Sim has completed his course work and exams and is now preparing his thesis for a Ph.D. in history from Harvard. Russ Gill, '63, and Jeff Marshall, '63, are in the Ph.D. program in English at Harvard. Also there are Dennis Thompson studying in government and Tony Steinmeier in law.

Dick Guthrie writes enthusiastically from Paris where his doing his master's work in French literature at the Sorbonne. Recently as president of his student group he received the key to the City of Paris from the Mayor, which is quite a nice honor. Bill Allen is job hunting in Boston; he plans to study German and either government or education in preparation for a teaching job in Europe.

Jerry and Dorrie Heide Bracey have been married for nearly a year and Jim writes they are either at Stanford University or in Hong Kong. Dorrie is finishing research for her Ph.D. at Harvard in social relations and Jerry is finishing work for a Ph.D. in psychology from Stanford. Dr. John Lachs is happily engaged in writing and researching his book on Santayana. He has a year's leave and a grant from the Ford Foundation and is working at Duke and University of North Carolina.

Please keep the letters coming so I can keep the column going!

I wish you all could have been at Homecoming this year. The College campus looked beautiful in fall colors and many old friends were back for the festivities. The changes in the back part of the campus are very evident; looking toward Phi Bete and the tennis courts from Jamestown Road you can see the new library, girls' gym, physics building and other new buildings among the trees. It hasn't been so long since all of that area was dense woods.

December 1965

John and I saw all of the following people during the Homecoming weekend and I only wish there had been more time to talk with each of them. John and Laura Youngblood Meagher, '65, are living in Alexandria. John is serving as legislative assistant to a New York Congressman. He finished Law School at William and Mary last June. Laura is teaching fourth, fifth, and sixth grades at Woodbridge Primary Day School, at Woodbridge. Michael Hogan Gatti is working at Rockefeller Institute and Dave, '62, is a senior at New York Medical College. Jeanne Wilkinson Shuler is a mathematician at N.A.S.A. in Hampton, while Bill, '62, has passed his Ph.D. qualifying exam in physics at the College. John and Charlene (Stafford) Gravely have recently built and moved into a new house in Newport News. They are expecting their first child the middle of December. Judy Hall is married to Paul Halesky, '59, who is a captain in the Army, stationed at the Pentagon. Judy is teaching second grade in Fairfax County and she and her husband live in Alexandria. Cindy McClary Beale, '66, and Billy live in Springfield with their eight-month-old son. Billy is a tax consultant in Washington, D. C.

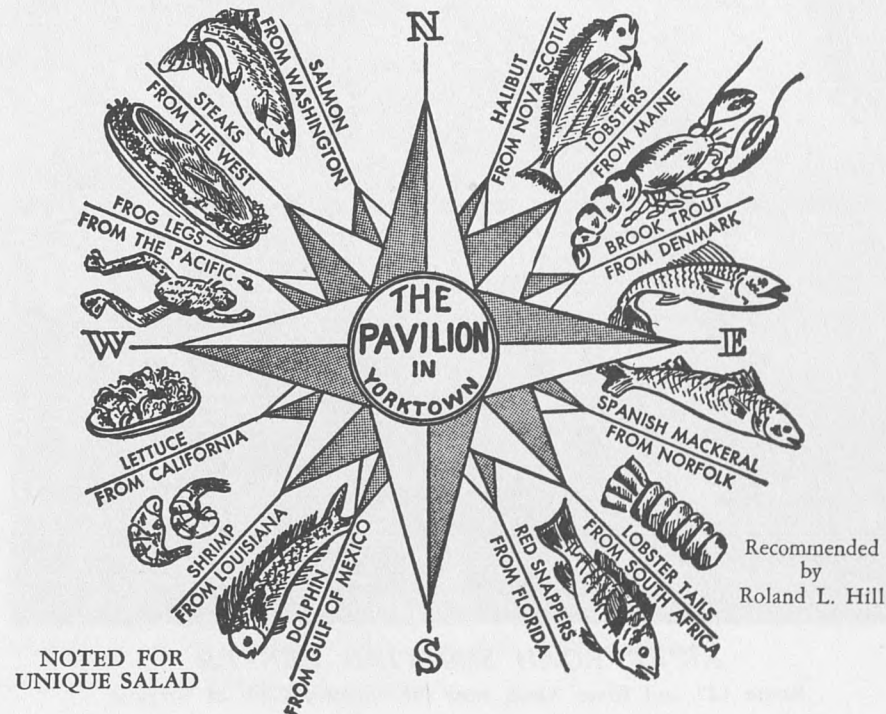

Wally and Janet (Fohs) Lynn, '64, are both going to school at night, he taking business courses and she taking elementary education. Wally works for Corn Products Company and Janet for Prentice-Hall Publishing House. Lee Williams McBride is living in Alexandria and teaching, her husband is with the government. Bonnie Higgins and Joe Barnes, '64, were married in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in September. Joe passed his C.P.A. exam last fall and Bonnie received her M.A. in June 1965. They are now living in Riverdale, Md. Tricia Lee White, who is married to Charlie White, '62, is living in Mathews, while Charlie finishes his tour in Viet Nam. He is practicing law as an Army J.A.G. officer. They have two children Laurie, 2 years old, and Jeffrey, 7 months.

Betty Joseph Kucewicz and Bill are living in Williamsburg and Betty is teaching school at Magruder. They toured Europe this past summer and while there saw Lynn, '62, and Jackie (Johnson) Shaw. Jackie and Lynn have a little girl, Kathryn Lania, who was born August 14. Fran Kubitz Crater and Hap, '64, have a little boy, John, who is eight-months-old. Hap is taking graduate work in physics at Yale University. Gale (West) Fretwell and Jack are now living in Silver Spring, Md., and both work for the C&P Telephone of Washington, D. C. Judy Crummett Burnside is teaching in Richmond while Bill, '61, is in law school. Judy and Bill have a little boy three-years-old. Bill, '62, and Boni Lyman Buyn, '65, are living in Winston-Salem, N. C., where Bill is in his second year of law school. They are expecting their first child in March.

Lucy Lawler Huggett is teaching in Newport News while her husband Bob is in his senior year, majoring in chemistry, at William and Mary. Sarah Larkin Bove and Roger live in Norfolk with their 18-month-old son Christopher. Roger is a lieutenant in the Navy and will go to the Mediterranean in November. Martha Walker Blanks lives in Hampton with her husband Dink. Martha teaches fifth grade and Dink is an apprentice architect.

Linda Holland Camp and Bruiser, '59, live in Newport News. Bruiser is an Army captain. They have a little girl, six-months-old, named Karen Cotton. Chuck and

Cynthia Fulwiler Puskar made the trip to Homecoming from Pittsburgh. Their son Charles E. Puskar III, "Chip," was born Sept. 9. Chuck is a sales representative with I.B.M. Chuck and Cynthia had news of several others who live in the same city. Dan and Joan Driscoll are living in that area. Dan is out of the army and is working for his father's optical supply house. Bob Soleau and Laurie (Yingling), '65, live in Pittsburgh while Bob plays football with the Pennsylvania Mustangs, a professional team in the North American League. Laurie teaches at Mt. Lebanon Elementary School. JoEllen Maxwell Miller and Howdy, '62, have a little girl Karen, 1½-years-old. Howdy is in partnership with his father in the hardware business in Pittsburgh.

Judy Linton Heald and John live in Alexandria. John is working for I.B.M. as a systems engineer and Judy is teaching a combination elementary class in Fairfax County. Ann Harvey is with the Planning Research Corporation as a technical assistant doing economic research. Val Simms has a scholarship to Georgetown University and is working on her Ph.D. there. Jackie Murphy is teaching second grade and spent her summer in Hawaii. Ann, Val and Jackie are living together in a townhouse in Georgetown. Robin Reighley is an ensign in the Navy, stationed in the South China Sea. He is married to Sue Hubbard and they have a baby daughter. Jim Delaney just separated from active duty as a lieutenant in the Army. He is now working as a tax accountant in New York City. Chico Herrick is an insurance agent with Variable Annuity Life and is also a tennis professional at Kenwood Country Club in Washington, D. C.

Bonnie Miller Hill is working at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore. Her husband, Howard, '61, is assistant minister at Babcock Memorial Presbyterian Church, working primarily with the youth program. Nancy Lee Ramsey Carwile is teaching first grade and her husband C. L. is dairy farming. Nancy Lee's younger sister is now a freshman at William and Mary. Jeanne Dixon was married in September 1961 to F. B. Newcomb. They have a daughter, Sharon Marie, who was born in April, 1964. Jeanne and F. B. live in Madisonville, not far from Nancy Lee and C. L. Carwile. Pat Bromback, who is working at the Housing and Home Finance Agency in Philadelphia, recently married Arthur Pion, an engineer from California who is with General Electric. Also in Philadelphia with H.H.F.A. is Marilyn Sterner Keat. Jane Turns is working for the Agriculture Department in Washington, D. C.

Carolyn Birch Knowles was at the Homecoming game. Her husband, Kenny, is in the Navy and is at sea but will return in early November. The Knowles have bought a house in Charleston, S. C. Their daughter Linda is about 18-months-old now and they are expecting another child in March. John and I were able to visit with Sunny Scott Beyer and Emil for a short while. They are both back in school this fall after taking a year off; Emil will study law when he finishes his undergraduate work. Sunny and Emil are expecting their first child in June.

Larry Simpson wrote that he is a first lieutenant now stationed with the 101st Airborne Division at Fort Campbell, Ky. His wife, JoEllen, and he are expecting a second child early next year; their first child is a daughter, Stephanie. Larry says that he is scheduled to go to Viet Nam in May 1966. Doyel Adams is with the 101st Airborne Division, also, and is presently in Viet Nam; Jim Bennett, likewise, is with the 101st forces that are deployed in Viet Nam.

John Armentrout was awarded a Master of Arts degree with a major in history from University of North Carolina in August 1964. He is now serving as a second lieutenant, Transportation Corps, at Fort Eustis.

Fran McCampbell Ring and Stewart are the proud and happy parents of a baby girl, Susan, born Sept. 19, 1965. Crellin James Byrd and Bob are expecting in early November. Bob will get out of the Army in December and will return to Richmond, from Fort Stewart, Ga., to work with the telephone company. Crellin is still teaching the G.E.D. classes offered by the army to help men complete their high school educations and will continue until the baby is born.

I received a note from Sue Meara Coyle, who is living in Rahway, N. J., with her husband Dick, '61, saying that they are expecting their second child next spring; Richard, Jr., is now about eight months old. Dick works for the telephone company in New York City. Jeff Allen and his wife, Susan Bunch, are living in Marshfield, a small town on the south shore of Massachusetts. Jeff is attending Boston University for graduate work in business and Susan is teaching the fourth grade. George Chapman was living in Atlanta until recently, but has now gone to work for Wilbur Smith and Associates in Columbia, S. C. His work involves transportation planning.

He will be in Columbia only briefly as he will be transferred again shortly to Baton Rouge. Carolyn Walsh is presently living and teaching in Atlanta.

George M. Dyer, III of Riverdale, Md., is a field representative and director of urban research for Maryland Municipal League; studying law at the University of Maryland; received an MGA degree from the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania last May. He is not married.

Lt. Wayne C. Coakley of Alexandria received his commission as a 2nd Lt. in the Air Force last summer. He at present is at Lowry AFB in Colorado.

Carl S. Hacker is now attending Cornell University having moved from Rice in Texas. He is still working on his Ph.D.

Dennis R. Sullivan of Palisade, N. J. is presently employed in the wholesale jewelry business in New York City.

Miss Hartley Campbell of Alexandria writes that she is working in Washington at the Department of Commerce as an international economist with the Bureau of International Commerce. She has done volunteer work for the War on Poverty Program. She has traveled throughout Europe and says she will return this winter for skiing in Switzerland and vacationing in Spain.

Elizabeth T. Wight of Arlington writes that her husband is half way through medical school at George Washington University.

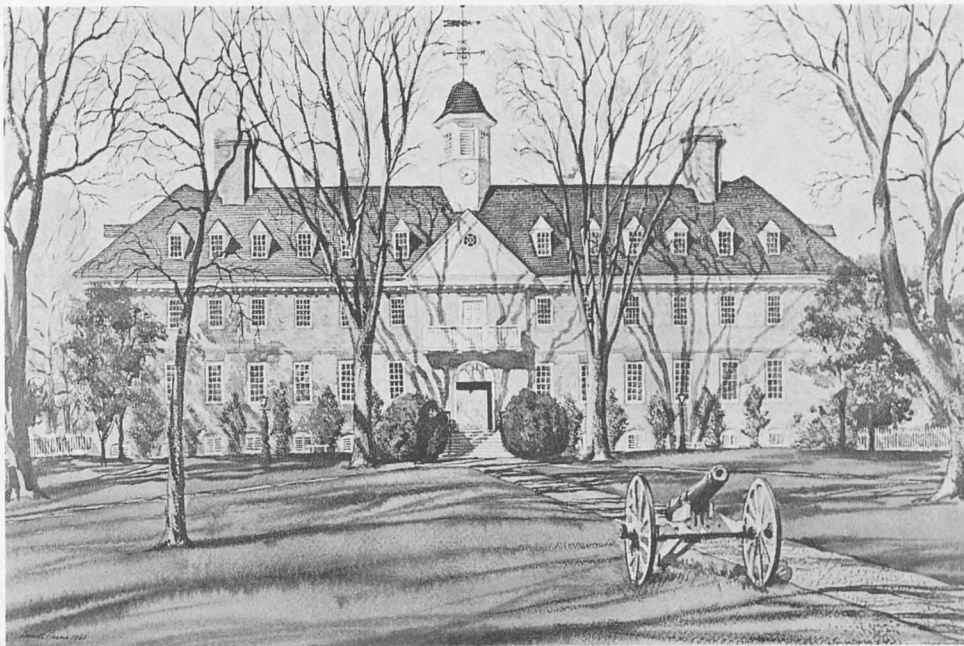

Karen Leslie Harkavy of New Haven, Conn. writes that she finished in June two years at Yale Medical School and has loved every minute of it.

Phyllis Eason Galanti of Lemaora AFB, Calif. writes that her husband, Paul, left in November for a nine-month cruise. He is a Navy pilot. She spent two weeks in Hawaii while the ship was in port there returning to Virginia where she is staying with her parents until next June.

James M. Goodell of Schenectady, N. Y. is employed at the ALCO Products Inc. as a systems analyst in data processing. He plans to enter graduate school somewhere for his MBA degree in February.

Pat Foutz writes that she is an instructor of English at VPI.

Jennie Beary of Fairfax is again working for the Peace Corps after being in El Salvador for two years.

For those who wish a ready reminder of the pleasant days spent on the campus, there is now obtainable a striking watercolor painting of the Wren Building. The artist was Kenneth Harris, and the actual size of the picture, unframed, is 22" x 14 1/2". Just the thing for the office, the den, or looking ahead, for Junior's room as an inspiration and a goal. Available from the Alumni Office, Box 60, Williamsburg, at $5.50, an attractive price for discerning alumni and art lovers.

Homecoming was not only a success for the Indians, but it was a gay reunion for the Class of 1964. I enjoyed seeing and talking with Pete Raihofer, who informed me that he is enjoying his work as a stock broker in New York. Bob Joynt, who is now stationed at Fort Story, says that William and Mary is still his second home; but this will not last long, for he will be transferred to Panama in November. Dick Carling was also glad to get away from the service and Carolina for another glimpse of the reservation before getting too far away from it. Sandy Dail Reigelman and Bucky also got away from the army and Fort Meade in Baltimore where they will be until April. Steve Mosier has informed me that Bucky will be sent to Africa, but the Reigelman's seem to have different ideas! Tom Meadows tells me he is in his second year of Law School at Washington and Lee, and really seems to enjoy it. Bill Corley is in his second year of graduate studies in hospital administration at Duke; he has been living in Greensboro for the past six months while working at the Moses H. Cone Memorial Hospital. Bill commutes to Durham twice a week for classes in addition to working on his thesis.

In October, I received a letter of correction from Steve Mosier; he is on a research assistantship at the University of Iowa while working on his Ph.D. in space physics. His wife, Susie Spindle is teaching high school math and history. Steve also informs me that Laidler Freeman is continuing work on her Master's in psychology at Iowa, while Barry Tinsley transferred from William and Mary to complete his Master's in sculpture there.

Christopher S. Hale is attending the University of Chicago graduate school where he has received a scholarship to continue his work toward an advance degree in Germanic languages and literature. Last year he was at the University of Oslo in Norway on a Fulbright Fellowship.

Carol Evans Tetu, now living in Colorado, was proud to announce the birth of her son, Michael Thomas Tetu, on Aug. 16.

News about two Washington area gals include Mickey Cloney, who is working for the Office of Economic Opportunity, and Linda Kontnier, who is working for Project Cause under the Interior Department. Beth Chiles, who was doing graduate work in Chapel Hill last year, is now working as a librarian for the army in Germany.

Aubrey Morrison is living at Virginia Beach and teaching Spanish and English at Harry Hunt Junior High School in Portsmouth, Virginia. He thinks teaching is a wonderful, rewarding profession.

Robert and Kathleen Casey will be living in Michigan this year. He has been granted a research assistantship and a fellowship from the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor where he plans to work for his Master's degree in public administration. Kathy is teaching in Lincoln Park.

Emily Vawter and Randolph Barbee of Richmond, Virginia are enjoying life there. She is teaching 11th grade English at Thomas Jefferson High School and helping in the Drama Department. Bart is working for Psychological Consultants Inc. as a Personnel Manager and Chief Psychometrist.

Frank Brown of Newport News, Virginia entered dental school in '64 at the Medical College of Virginia and is a sophomore this year. He is engaged to Pat Teagle of Hampton.

Dan Armour of Fort Knox, Kentucky is serving his two year active duty obligation in the Army. In September he was sent to Korea for his final thirteen months in the service.

Margaret Holland of Washington, D. C. is working for VISTA, the Domestic Peace Corps, part of the Office of Economic opportunity.

Fredrica Dudley and her husband, Bruce Burgess moved to Seattle, Washington where he teaches English at the Lakeside School, a prep school for boys. She has begun graduate study in English at the University of Washington.

Judith Davis is employed at Agency for International Development and living in Arlington, Virginia.

Gregory A. Presnell of Gainesville, Florida is attending law school at the University of Florida. He was fifth in his class.

Wesley D. Jones of Hampton, Virginia returned in May from India where he spent a very educational and interesting year. He taught and studied for ten months there on a Fulbright scholarship.

Terry Price of Norfolk, Virginia who received her MED degree in Guidance at W&M in June is a counselor at Cox High School at Virginia Beach this fall.

On July 7, Ann Lyon married Tom Ackiss of VPI; they are now living in Cambridge, Mass. where Tom is attending Harvard Architectural School. Polly Cherry married J. P. Royalty of Vanderbilt on July 30; now residing in Charlottesville, Polly is teaching elementary school while J. P. is in Law School at the University of Virginia.

In August, Dick Kern married Sharon Cosminsky; Dick is now stationed at Fort Eustis. On to September 18, Melissa Hall married Charles D. Griffin, Lt. J.G. in the Navy; the wedding took place in the Navy Chapel at Annapolis.

Peter Granz of Los Angeles gave a going away party for Glenn Hickerson who studied at the Coast Guard Academy in Yorktown in the fall of 1960. Glen worked as a crew member aboard the yacht "Tugboat Anne" in the annual sailboat race to Hawaii which left Long Beach Harbor on the Fourth of July.

Mary Grafton London of King William, Virginia is teaching elementary art in the Richmond Public School System.

Valda Fay Rosado is teaching first grade in Arlington, Virginia and loves it.

Richard E. Wegner is a programmer for the U. S. Army at the Pentagon. He lives in Arlington, Virginia.

Linda Kay Lawrence is teaching ninth grade English at the George C. Marshall High School in Fairfax County. She is sharing an apartment with Lynne Marmaduke, Dabney Ragland and Penny Guerin.

In their second years of Law School, we find Dick Thomasson at the University of North Carolina, and Blake Newton at the University of Virginia.

After spending a year of teaching in France, Gretchen Scherer, Cathy Parsons, and Karen Patrick have returned to the States to resume their work. Gretchen is teaching French at Woodson, the largest high school in Fairfax County, while Cathy is at Edison High School; Karen is teaching French at Virginia Beach High School. Two of my roommates this year, Bobbie Mulcahey and Patty Vaught, have also returned from their summer tour of Europe, Greece, and Yugoslavia to another year of teaching; Bobbie teaches French at Madison High School, and Patty is the German professor at Mount Vernon High, both in Fairfax County. I, too, could not resist spending my summer pay checks in Europe. Preceding a quick tour of the continent, I spent most of the summer studying at the University of Valencia in Spain and am now resuming another year of teaching Spanish at Fort Hunt High School. I have had many questions about you classmates, so please let me hear from you soon. Just drop me a postcard telling me where you are and what you are doing. I would appreciate it very much, as recently, I have not heard from many of you. Let's get up to date.

We, of the Class of 1964, send our best wishes to all those serving our country in Viet Nam, among whom are John Randolph, who has recently received a medal for heroism; others include Jim Bennett, Jim Perry, Steve Merrill, and Don Beck. We are looking forward to your safe return.

Peter McPhee of Randwick, Australia, is employed by Nestle's as a general planning officer. He is now married to Myrna Hallinan. They plan to return to the United States in two years.

Richard Wilfong at present is doing graduate work at VPI in Blacksburg where he is also coaching football at the local high school.

Doris Nadine Williams of Bethesda, Md. is doing computer programming for National Institute of Health in Bethesda and studying philosophy part-time at the University of Maryland.

Janet H. Willer of Buffalo, N. Y. writes that she is at present working toward her MA in English at the State University of New York at Buffalo where she has a teaching fellowship.

After graduation in June 1964 Robert Andrew MacIntosh entered the Army. He is presently in Japan and enjoying the country very much. He has lost a lot of contact with his classmates and hopes to return to Homecoming in the fall of 1966.

MEMORANDUM

*Susan Stevenson
527 Lilly Drive
Beckley, West Virginia*

As the GAZETTE's last issue was beset by a surplus of material our class letter was set aside to be included this month. Thus many of you may still be wondering just where to send news of your activities. While Mary Erskine is with the Peace Corps in Liberia, I shall be assuming the duties of class secretary. Please let me know any information of interest regarding our classmates for the next issue. In the meantime I can offer only information I obtained at Homecoming.

Margaret Temple, Donna Munsey, and Bridgette Sullivan are living together in Richmond. Each is braving the classroom and teachers' registers. Sara Shafer and Pam Cooke are also teaching in the Richmond area. Joyce Hoskins, Susie Shomon, and Diane Owens are sharing a house at Virginia Beach while they pursue teaching careers. Diane participated in a special training program in New York City last summer, working with underprivileged children. Marki Reams is teaching eighth and ninth grade English at the Beach, living with two fellow teachers from North Carolina. Susan Roberts has gone to Fairfax to teach, while Ernie Boyce remains in Williamsburg.

Suzanne Frayser spent last summer at the University of North Carolina working on a research project concerning delinquent girls, and she is now at Columbia engaged in their master's degree program. I was excited to see her on the Tonight Show representing Virginia in the "Miss College Queen Contest."

Mary Elizabeth (Nibs) Smith is working at Eastern State Hospital. Mary Chichester worked at Eastern State for the summer, but is now in graduate school.

Mary Elizabeth Smith (II) and Sammy Sadler, '64, were married June 7 in the Wren Chapel, and following a short stay in Elizabeth City, N. C., they moved to Bend, Oregon. Mary Liz is receptionist-technician in a radiologist's office while Sammy is employed by the regional TB

Association. Laurie Yingling and Bob Soleau, '64, were married shortly after graduation. Laurie writes that they spent the summer traveling up and down the coast. She is presently teaching elementary school in Pittsburgh. Melinda Duke married Stuart Ball who graduated from the University of North Carolina. Melinda is teaching in Virginia Beach while her husband is stationed at a naval base in the area. Carol Pierce is doing social work in Chesterfield County, though she took a vacation in September to marry Norris Strickland who is presently attending RPI. Tricia Davis Cleveland and Bill, '64, have been living in Williamsburg since their June wedding. Bill is going to Law School at William and Mary, and Tricia is working for the Virginia Historical Society. Diane Bright married Larry Manning, Washington and Lee graduate, August 14. She is now teaching in Charlottesville while Larry goes to Law School at U. Va. Micki Leef and Pete Stout, '64, were also married in August. Pete is going to T. C. Williams while Micki teaches in Richmond.

Beatrice Wishard Cherryman accepted a position with the Virginia Beach Department of Public Welfare in the Child Welfare Division last June.

David G. Blood of Linwood, N. J., is for the second year teaching school at Middle Township High School in Cape May Court House, N. J. He is working with a special class of children who are mentally retarded, emotionally disturbed, or both.

Suzanne Proudman Cowles received her BA degree in education at the University of Maryland in June 1965. Also, her husband Carter C. Cowles III received his MA degree in mathematics at the same time. He has accepted a position with International Telephone and Telegraph Company at Virginia Beach.

Janet Thurman, Kim Routh, and Ellen Rennolds are sharing an apartment in New York City. Kim and Ellen are in training programs as buyers for two large department stores, while Janet is working as a secretary for a vice president of Conde Nast.

Clyde Culp and Mary Ellen Coleman, '66, are married. They are in New York, Clyde going to law school and Mary Ellen going to NYU.

Leslie McAneny completed the training course at the United Air Lines Stewardess School in early August. Kathy Power is in Europe and still looking for a job the last I heard. Deedle Rowland is in Williamsburg taking some graduate courses in biology. Bonnie Cheshire is going to business school in Richmond. Anne Barden and Sally Lyons Hardy are living in the Mount Vernon Apartments in Richmond. Ann is teaching Latin, while Sally is employed at the telephone company. Bob Andrialis is also in Richmond, working for the business office of the Virginia Museum. Dabney Delaney and Betty White are living together in northern Virginia. Betty works for the Department of Education and Dabney is working for IBM. Priscilla Brown Holman and her husband Charles are living in the Washington area. Dave Rector married Ann Stone, '67, on Oct. 23.

Of course many of our classmates are in the service. Win Luther and Tom Demakes are at Fort Eustis. Tom's orders are for Seattle, and Win will remain at Fort Eustis for two years. Donny Owens is living in Williamsburg and Arthur Henderson is in Portsmouth, until they go in the Army in January. Jay Anthony is in South Carolina until the Army calls in April. Tommy Conner is stationed at Fort Belvoir, and Dick Weber is at Fort Knox.

Graduate school claims the attention of many of our fellow graduates. Henry George is in the Business Department at the University of Virginia. Rod St. Martin and Tucker Coleman are doing graduate work at Washington and Lee. Billy Wellons and Mel Booker are going to law school at William and Mary. I was told that Martin Morris and his wife Gail are in South Carolina where he is attending USC.

Nancy Porter and Jack Allison, both '65 graduates, were married last summer. Nancy is teaching the fourth grade at Kempsville, and Jack works for IBM at Virginia Beach. Scott Swan is coaching in a high school in northern Virginia.

I must thank Melinda Duke Ball for the following information regarding the whereabouts of the Tri Delta alums. Jean Freeman is working at a real estate agency in Washington until a job opens at CIA. Marty Boyd is working in a library in Washington, sharing her apartment with

W & M Presents Its Largest Request

The Virginia General Assembly convenes in Richmond once again in January and it will have under consideration the largest budget request ever submitted by the College of William and Mary.

The College is asking for a maintenance and operation budget of $7,514,330 in 1966-67; and $8,417,915 in 1967-68, for a total of $15,932,245. That biennial figure is up 50.33 per cent from the budget allotted the College in 1964-66.

William and Mary's capital outlay requests, detailed in the October GAZETTE, total $12,832,840. The capital outlay budget includes such needed new facilities as the Life Science Building, the first phase of the Men's Physical Education Building, renovation of the Old Library Building for the Law School, and the Chemistry-Geology Building.

Dr. Davis Y. Paschall, College President, told the General Assembly in his budget presentation that "the most critical need facing the College is still the lack of instructional facilities. With the exception of the Science Building which was completed in April 1964, no classroom building has been built on the campus for a period of 30 years."

He said in his presentation that the State Council on Higher Education's study of the instructional space currently used by the College showed that a total of more than 30,000 square feet is unsuitable for such instruction.

The proposed maintenance and operation budget contains provisions for additional funds to maintain faculty salaries at a level comparable with the national average. Additional equipment for College operation and salary increases for other College employees are also provided for in the proposal.

Among new programs for which funds are sought is one in which the College and the Institute of Early American History and Culture would jointly undertake to gather and publish the Papers of John Marshall. This significant proposal would be aided by a special $60,000 grant from the General Services Administration, acting on the recommendation of the National Historical Publications Commission. The result of the project would be a collection of Marshall Papers of about ten volumes.

Lib Rawlings and Betsy Burrows. Mary Lynn Sigmon is employed at the Smithsonian in DC. Barbara Wampler and Kay Bonner, '64, are in Denver, Colo., where Barbara is working for an advertising agency. Sally Wells and Ginny Blount are in White Plains, N. Y., working for AT&T. Glenda Hudgins and Kathy Parsons, '64, are teaching French in Fairfax and sharing an apartment. Jeanne English Bolander and her husband Bob, '64, are living in Norfolk. Bob is a history professor at Old Dominion College and is currently advisor for the college newspaper. Jeanne is a probation officer for the city of Norfolk. Bonnie Edwards and Larry Fennelly were married in Florida, went to Fort Knox, and then to Germany for two years. Barbara Riley Scott and Jim, '63, are in Madison, Wisc., where Jim is stationed with the Air Force and Barbara is teaching second grade. Peggy Peacock married Gregg Bartos, and they are presently living in Lorraine, Ohio, where Gregg is working for Ford. Patsy Canady is at home in Hampton where she is employed by the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company. Joanne Smith Dupuy received her degree while living in California. She is now working for IBM in Washington while Max is in Korea.

My next batch of news comes from Barbara Watson who is a counselor for mentally retarded youngsters at the Tidewater Vocational Center in Norfolk. She reports that Ann Birk is in medical school at Rutgers. Lorelei Adams is a secretary for an electrical contractor in Leesburg. Toni Fitzhugh married Bob Smith, and they are living in Arlington where she is doing secretarial work. Penny Plummer is working for AT&T in Washington. Diane Freeman is teaching at James Blair in Williamsburg, while Joy Edman is teaching high school English in Leewood, Kan. Sandra Bolick left for France where she will be studying near the Riviera. This fall Sue August was in Richmond still looking for a job . . . a problem bothering many of us!

A few more here and there: Barbara Hopson is in graduate school at Cornell; Barbara Anderson is teaching in Michigan; Andy Egseth is going to the Michigan Law School; Jesse Hawk is working for a radio station in Newport News; Howard Busbee and his bride are in Williamsburg where he is going to law school.

WILLIAMSBURG is at its hospitable best during ten Colonial Life Weekends that begin January 7, 14, 21, 28, February 4, 11, 18, 25, and March 4, 11. Each Colonial Life Weekend includes activities that recall the days when men from all walks of life came to conduct their affairs in Virginia's bustling eighteenth-century capital. Highlights of the weekend are a visit by candlelight to Carter's Grove Plantation, crafts demonstration and tour, and the festive Groaning Board banquet with colonial entertainment. Each registration includes accommodations at Williamsburg Inn, Colonial Houses, Williamsburg Lodge, or The Motor House, four meals, activities, golf on the Golden Horseshoe Golf Course, and admission to the Exhibition Buildings of Colonial Williamsburg. Offered at a special rate, a festive Colonial Life Week- end provides the perfect opportunity for a return visit to William and Mary. Come and see.
