Cubic SECOR satellite surveyor makes first direct coast-to-coast measurement of U.S.

Cubic's SECOR, world's most precise satellite tracking system, recently completed the first direct "single-leap" distance measurement across the United States, from San Diego, Calif., to Herndon, Va. In only 10 seconds, the distance between these points was determined to be 3,628,300.5 meters, or 2,254.5 miles.

More important than actual distance computation was SECOR's ability to accomplish this historic feat. SECOR uses a satellite 600 miles in space to plot and measure the earth with amazing speed and surveying accuracy.

"... a first order geodetic tool..."

After initial tests, SECOR won the highest praise of the surveying and mapping profession.

Army officials noted, "SECOR has the full capability of a first order geodetic tool." In present operations, Cubic's all-weather SECOR system is successfully measuring distances between points of land separated by broad expanses of ocean.

29,000 "ranges" in six minutes...

During a typical satellite pass of six minutes duration, SECOR's four Cubic-built ground stations make approximately 29,000 measurements or "ranges" with 95% success. Within the SECOR satellite, a miniature 7-lb. Cubic transponder acts as a receiver-transmitter.

Tests prove that SECOR can extend control over distances exceeding 2000 miles with geodetic accuracy.

SECOR's far-reaching applications...

Data gathered by Cubic's SECOR will have lasting importance in the fields of geodesy, global navigation and satellite navigation. SECOR will have a role of major importance in space and defense programs requiring distance measurements with pinpoint accuracy. Information about the earth's shape and gravitational field is also being obtained.

SECOR is a product of Cubic Corporation, leader in the field of electronic measuring systems.

The Library Opens

THE MAGNIFICENT Earl Gregg Swem Library, instantly a success when it opened its doors January 4, has quickly become an appropriately favorite place for hundreds of College students.

They talked admiringly of the spacious, brightly-lit building as they toured it—sometimes losing their way—the day after their Christmas holidays were over. Creaky hard chairs at the Old Library were a thing of the past and so were dim passageways and noisy stairways. The students could forget the clock—one room in the new Library was placed open 24 hours a day.

Dr. Earl Gregg Swem set the tone for the library bearing his name: He wanted it to be "a haven to all mortals who may wish to commune with immortals." Judging by the first few weeks of use, the new Library is carrying out that hope.

Dedication ceremonies for the Earl Gregg Swem Library came on Charter Day, February 12. (See this issue for a complete picture-story on the Charter Day activities.)

Between December 17 and Charter Day, Librarian James A. Servies and his staff carefully supervised the transfer of more than 1,120,000 pieces of literature—400,000 volumes, and 800,000 periodicals, manuscripts, pre-1900 newspapers and other items—from the Old Library and various attics and warehouses about the campus. It was no small assignment. It kept Servies busy day and night, especially at the holidays when the main collections were packed, carried across campus and unpacked again by as many as 70 workers. The job, planned long ago in 1965, had been delayed for several months until the top three levels of the Earl Gregg Swem Library were ready.

The Library faces the rear of Phi Beta Kappa Hall, adjoining the William Small Physics Building and the soon-to-be-built Life Sciences Building. These four structures, soon to include a fine arts addition to Phi Beta Kappa, form a center for the arts and sciences.

Entry to the Library into the first floor takes one across a short bridge, through glass doors and onto soft carpeting in a lobby and lounge area, where he faces the efficient circulation desk. Elevators lead to the second and third floors, where the stacks and various study areas—including private carrels—are located.

At the ground level, below the first floor, William and Mary's heritage is strikingly evident. Entering via raised walkways above a pool, one is greeted by the College's old friend, Lord Botetourt, gleaming white under soft lighting after a thorough cleansing. Surrounding the Lord in the Botetourt Gallery is a portion of the Library's collection of early Virginia portraiture, including works by Bridges, Wollaston, Sully and others on permanent display. Toward the rear of the building from the Gallery are the Museum, the Rare Book Room, the Virginia Room and the Tucker-Coleman Room. Shortly, the offices of the Institute of Early American History will be located in that area.

The Museum contains, on public display, such artifacts as the College Mace, early Phi Beta Kappa records, the earliest book of faculty minutes, the lone surviving volume from the first library at the College and other historical items.

The Gallery, fully carpeted, is surrounded by marble and by an unusual walnut paneling. Extensive use is made of walnut in the ground level rooms open to the public.

The impressive building, designed by the Richmond firm of Wright, Jones and Wilkerson, was constructed by R. L. Bulifant & Co. Inc., also of Richmond. Its construction and equipment cost of about $3,200,000 came from several sources including a $1,600,000 appropriation from the Virginia General Assembly, gifts and donations from alumni and friends, a federal grant and the sale of a portion of the old Eastern State Hospital Site. The College also sold revenue bonds to help finance the building.

Now that the Old Library is vacant, planning work is under way so that it can be remodeled for the Marshall-Wythe School of Law. Although preliminary plans had been drawn, final planning was impossible until the building was vacated. The Law School currently is located in the basement of Bryan Dormitory.

The Old Library was erected in 1908 and expanded twice in the 1920s. The College's first library, records show, was created in 1697 when college funds were spent for "books, Mapps & papers." The next year, Governor Francis Nicholson presented the College books from his private library. But the first library was destroyed by fire in 1705 and in 1734, the General Assembly levied a duty of one penny per gallon of rum and other spirits, part of which was to buy books "for the use of the Scholars and students in the college." Various statesmen and even King Louis XVI of France gave volumes to the William and Mary Library until, in the College's 100th year, the collection numbered about 3,400 volumes. That library was destroyed by fire in 1859 and a third library was formed from donations by alumni and friends across the nation the next year. The third burning of the Sir Christopher Wren Building in 1862 destroyed a portion of that library, too.

When the Old Library was built, the collection numbered about 15,000 volumes. By 1920, when Dr. Swem became librarian, the library had grown to 20,000 volumes.

From that poverty, Dr. Swem in his 24 years as College librarian acquired more than 200,000 volumes, catalogued the collections, acquired archives and manuscripts and established various special collections.

Dr. Swem, an alumnus of Lafayette College, was most known for his scholarly works in bibliography and history. But the College Board of Visitors departed from tradition in 1963 by deciding to name the new library after the then Librarian Emeritus, thus honoring Dr. Swem during his lifetime. He died early in 1965.

Through The William and Mary Quarterly, which he edited, the College became known as a place for valuable historical materials and papers and the Quarterly attracted a great deal of historical information from various persons.

Servies Leaves

Servies, who had been librarian since 1957, spent much of his waking time in planning, conferring, proposing and hoping for this day when the new William and Mary library was a fact. He joined the University of West Florida in Pensacola this month as Director of Libraries and Professor of English, where he'll be heading up a library that—again—is just getting off to a start in a new institution.

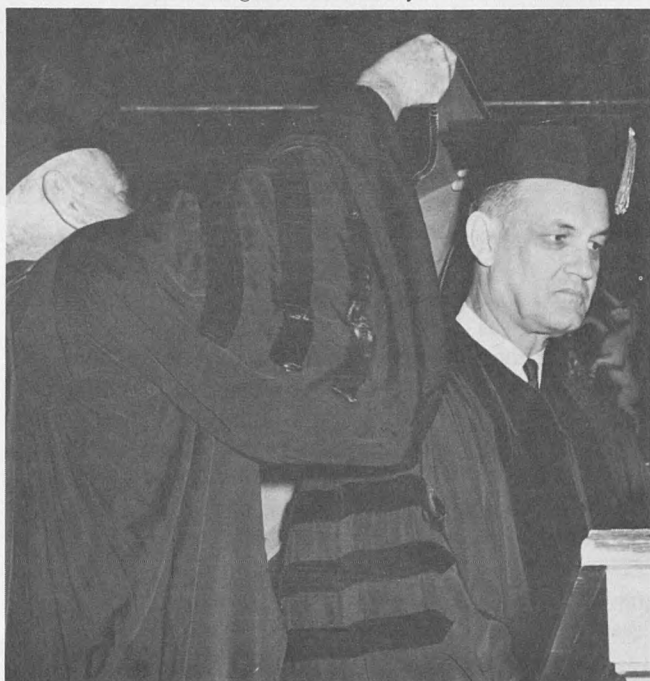

He left behind one of his favorite sidelines—the King and Queen Press, an old post-Civil War platen operated by a foot pedal and once used by the Harpers Ferry (W.Va.) Times. Though noisy and old, the press—donated in 1961 by Bernard Hunter of Berkeley Springs, W. Va.—has been highly useful in printing covers for library exhibits, book plates, and certain items for special College events. It, too, has its place in the Swem Library.

The new Library is connected by teletype to other major libraries to expedite the exchange of books to satisfy special needs. It contains microfilm facilities, photocopying units, seminar rooms, meeting areas and—in all—1,600 seats at various places.

Governor and Mrs. Godwin, W. Brooks George, President Paschall, J. B. Woodward and Librarian James A. Servies view one of the special collections areas in the new library during a Charter Day tour.

Governor Godwin receives his hood after the honorary doctor of laws degree is conferred upon him at Charter Day convocation in Blow Gymnasium. Dr. William C. Guy drapes the academic hood over the Governor.

Charter Day

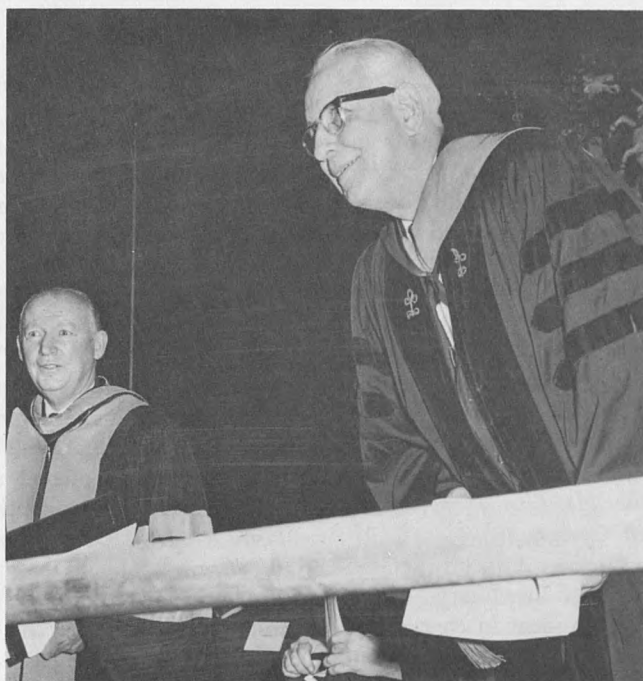

VIRGINIA'S new Governor, Mills E. Godwin Jr., attended William and Mary as a member of the Class of 1936, but he went to law school before earning his degree. Now, 30 years later, he has a William and Mary sheepskin.

Godwin was awarded the honorary doctor of laws degree February 12 in the Charter Day convocation which dedicated the new Earl Gregg Swem Library and commemorated the 273rd anniversary of the College's charter. Miss Marjorie Hope Nicolson, noted literary scholar and professor of English emeritus at Columbia University, delivered the principal address and received the honorary doctor of literature degree.

The colorful event included a special honor guard formed by the Queen's Guard, which had occupied an up-front position in the Governor's Inaugural Parade in January.

The Governor and several members of the General Assembly and other College guests toured the Swem Library accompanied by, among other persons, Earl Gregg Swem Jr. and his son, Earl Gregg Swem III who is a member of the Class of 1968 at the College.

In dedicatory remarks, President Paschall said the new library has quickly become the "intellectual heart of this ancient institution." He described how the Old Library could hold less than half of the College's library collections but noted, too, that there is a desperate need for books to strengthen the Library.

Dean W. Melville Jones, right, arises to accept the Thomas Jefferson Award to him, while President Paschall watches audience applaud. The award cited Jones for his capabilities as teacher and administrator.

Pappy's Red Ones'

Ned LeGrande Shows off 'Youtz Red' Following Setter's Win at Club.

"PAPPY" NED LeGrande's brothers at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house will remember that he was rarely without a hunting dog . . . his dogs frequently chewed the buttons off his brothers' jackets!

LeGrande, co-captain of the College football team in 1935 with Mel "Stumpy" Bryant, still is in love with his dogs—especially "red ones," Irish Setters. In 1951, he began spearheading a movement to popularize Irish Setters among present-day hunters and to develop a better strain. Since then, he has more than 300 field trial wins across the country including national field trial champions.

His efforts among the "red ones" have been covered in nearly a dozen national magazines, as well as the book The Hunting Dogs of America by Jeff Griffen.

William Edward LeGrande '36, a native of Lynchburg, Va., is executive vice president in charge of production at the Pottstown, Pa. plant of Gudebrod Bros. Silk Company Inc., which makes silk threads, surgical sutures, fishing lines and electronic tapes. He took a position with the 96-year-old firm in 1941 and in 1943, began work on developing the manufacture of fishing lines to complement existing products. Reception rooms at the plant are decorated with black marlin, Pacific sailfish, grouper and rooster fish captured by "Pappy" and his wife, Helen Gudebrod LeGrande '40, while testing the fishing lines.

At William and Mary, he was on the swimming and track teams, "13" Club president; and—of all things for a football captain—Junior Class poet. He played semi-pro football for the old Richmond Arrows while attending law school at the College and it was during his law school career that, friends will remember, he showed once more his love for dogs.

In 1938, the furnace at the SAE house exploded, scalding two of Ned's puppies to death. With the help of Dr. Dudley Woodbridge of the law school and co-student George Mason '36, he sued the company which made the furnace and won against its seasoned attorneys.

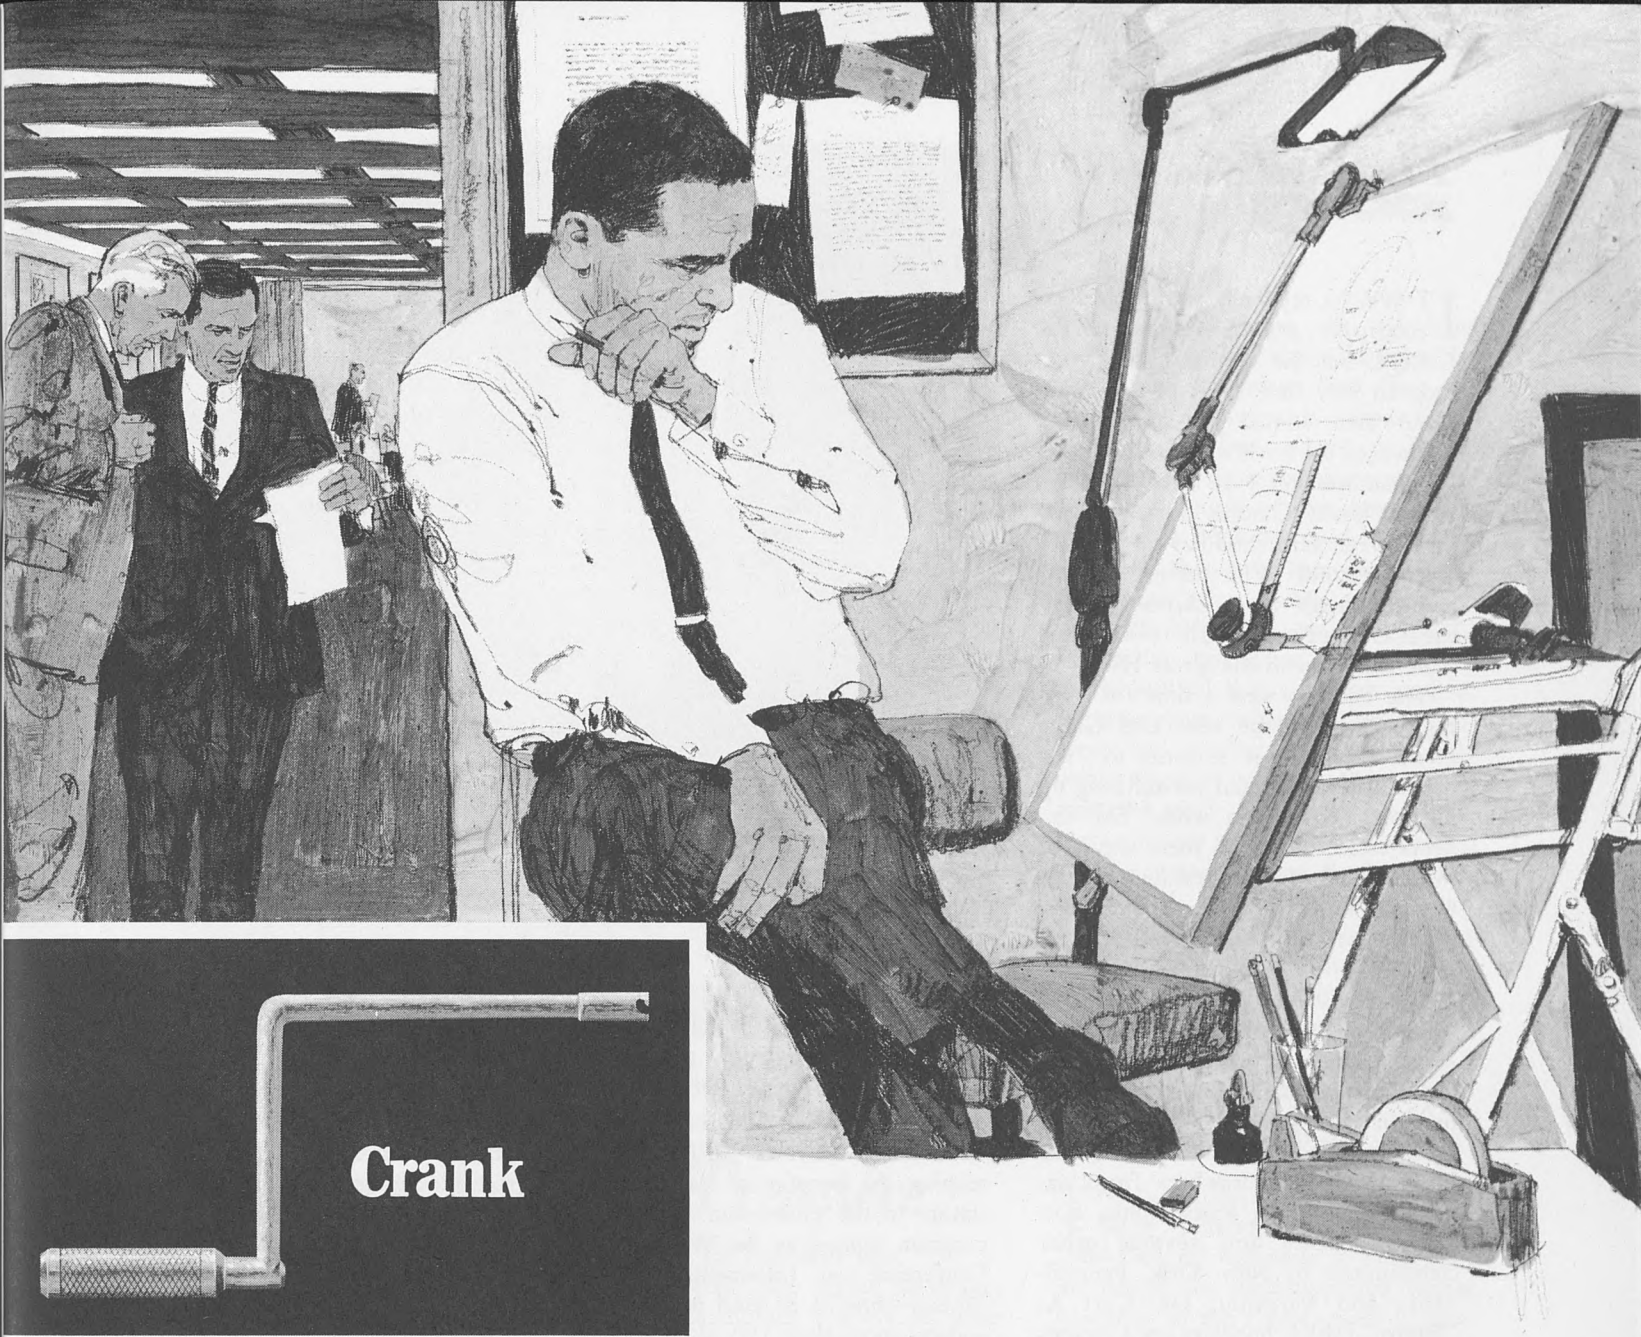

How did LeGrande go about improving the species of Irish Setters?

One magazine writer said "The Douglasville sportsman read everything he could get his hands on—and he hasn't quit searching for additional material even now. He advertised in sportsmen's magazines that he wanted to buy Irish setters that were honest-to-goodness bird dogs. He put a number of professional trainers to watching for worthwhile prospects. He sought and obtained advice from such world-famous authorities as Henry P. Davis, Horace Lytle, McDowell Lyon and many others.

"He faced the fact that he could interest himself in bird dogs as bird dogs. Beauty and every other factor would have to be ignored, at least until immediate goals could be reached.

"We can recall writing to him about that time that the history of the breed indicated that there was too much challenge for any one man to master . . . that warning was unnecessary. Showing the measure of a true sportsman, LeGrande had determined that it would not be enough for him to develop a successful strain for himself, even if that were possible. He set his sights on the much larger goal of popularizing the Red Ones among average hunters by breeding the dogs up to true field quality."

Crank

Self-Starters

It took a human self-starter to eliminate the crank. General Motors engineers have been inspired by that example ever since. They have kept to the trail laid down by a genius named Charles F. Kettering.

Back in 1910, the experts told Mr. Kettering that a practical electric starter for automobile engines was an impossibility. It took him six months to develop one. His self-starter eventually eliminated the dangerous hand-crank, revolutionizing motoring and putting women in the driver's seat. His record of scientific achievement in the decades that followed is without parallel.

And like this remarkable man's most famous invention, today's GM engineer is a self-starter—one who doesn't wait to be asked, who seeks out the tough problems and sets out to solve them.

They're a vital group, these men of science who follow the Kettering flame—restless, curious and devoted to the idea that nothing is so good it can't be improved. Their collective contribution to GM's progress over the years is beyond measure.

General Motors Is People...making better things for you

The College

IT WAS a relatively warm—and exceedingly dry—Christmas at the College, but the weather gave workmen an easy time of it as they went about their annual job of re-laying sections of the brick walks and clearing up what was left over after Autumn's crop of leaves. Candles glowed warmly from Wren yard windows for the estimated 18,000 Williamsburg visitors and the night after Christmas, hundreds enjoyed the annual 18th century Yule reception in the Great Hall.

The holidays were a time for moving books into the new Earl Gregg Swem Library, for students to "rest up" before exams and for catching up or getting ahead on work. The students took home with them copies of William and Mary's latest humor magazine—Indian Made—an attractive publication that poked some fun but wasn't banned anywhere.

On Christmas Eve and again on Christmas Day, the community enjoyed telecasts of Christmas songs by the College Choir beamed from stations in Hampton and Richmond. The specially taped program reached millions of viewers elsewhere from stations in Baltimore, Philadelphia, Boston, Charlotte and several other communities in New York, Pennsylvania and Virginia. Dr. Carl A. "Pappy" Fehr's choristers got a nationwide radio audience, too, for the same tape—arranged and reproduced by WVEC-TV in Hampton—went to the American Broadcasting Company's radio network.

The William and Mary story was told, also on radio, by Jerry Van Voorhis '62, assistant dean of admissions, on the program "Off The Wing Tip," which went to more than 100 American stations plus 250 stations in the Armed Forces Radio and Television Services.

Out at Phi Beta Kappa Hall, contractors were building the foundation for what will become a $700,000 Fine Arts wing. The wing, directly behind Phi Bete, will have an art gallery as well as classroom, studio and office space. The future of the old Fine Arts Cadet Charles E. Thorne, Commander of the Queen's Guard, stands as Lt. Gen. William Train, Commander of the Second U. S. Army, troops the line during the high-ranking official's visit. The Queen's Guard a few weeks later marched near the head of the Inaugural Parade honoring Governor Godwin.

Building across Jamestown Road from The Brafferton, is unsettled; hopefully, it'll be empty next year.

Nearby, the Physics Department—comfortably settled into the new William Small Physics Building—was reaping the benefits of its increasing stature in the profession. A February program known as the Williamsburg Conference on Intermediate Energy Physics—first of its kind in the world—drew more than 150 physicists and eminent scientists from around the globe. The federal government, through various programs, granted more than a quarter million dollars for special work, including development of an optics research facility.

Further away to the west, the College Woods was the subject of study. A special committee, at the instigation of President Paschall and the Board of Visitors, was formulating a plan for managing the Woods so that it could be used for scientific-educational purposes and maintained for aesthetic values. Going still westward, the College-owned Central Airport stood a chance at undergoing as much as $100,000 worth of improvement from federal-state aviation funds to make it more useful to the College and the Community.

There were these other news notes at The College:

Fourteen students were initiated as charter members of the new Thomas Jefferson Inn of Phi Delta Phi, America's oldest legal fraternity. A team of three law students took William and Mary into the national finals for the first time in the Moot Court competition.

The English Department played host to English poet Stephen Spender, who is this year's consultant in poetry in English to the Library of Congress, and who delivered the address for the 189th anniversary meeting of Alpha of Virginia, Phi Beta Kappa. He talked with students at several English classes during his visit. The Department was preparing for a new Summer Institute for Advanced Study in English, under a $45,000 federal grant.

Winthrop Rockefeller, chairman of the board of Colonial Williamsburg Inc. and a well known Arkansan, praised the William and Mary concept in a speech on "The Harmonious Man," delivered as he underwent honorary initiation into the College's chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, educational fraternity.

Another Echo to Treasure

ANOTHER college year is fast coming to a close, and no one knows it better than Bob Gatten '66. Gatten, a biology major from Lexington, Ky., is editor-in-chief of this year's Colonial Echo—newest in the series of yearbooks which began before the turn of the century.

March is deadline time for the Echo staff and this year's yearbook, 400 pages long, took a full year's work to produce. Gatten found himself spending more time on the Echo during the summer session of 1965 than he did on his studies—"Unfortunately," he adds.

The Echo is compiled as a souvenir, of course, of the years at William and Mary. But Dr. Davis Y. Paschall, College president, points to its value as a "treasury of memories . . . for alumni everywhere."

"It is the finest overall continuing record of events at the College that we have," the President says.

Every year, the Echo undergoes change. Crumbling binders of years ago notwithstanding, the Echo library at the Alumni Office attests to the high quality that has been consistent—as the editors experimented with brown and black inks, as they gradually used more photographs and fewer drawings, and as they introduced color photographs.

The 1966 Colonial Echo is taking on another "new look." Gatten, turning to the nation's largest yearbook publisher for the 1966 edition, chose to convert to printing by the offset process rather than letterpress. He finds it flexible, and by saving money on printing costs he could up the size of the Echo by about 80 pages.

With the increased size, Gatten, says, the 3,000 Echo readers will get "more life," with more candid shots and a wide variety of page layouts.

New Bookstore Reflects Trend In Studies

IN A DAY when the world of books has become revolutionized by paperbacks, bookstores find their clientele—and space needs—expanding.

At the College, where professors prescribe six or eight times as many books per course as they once did, a modern new Bookstore has been opened to serve this growing demand. It opened early in January.

Y. O. Kent, the manager, recalls the earlier days when one book per course was all that a student needed. In those days, when College enrollment was smaller, he needed only some space in the old Wigwam to meet the need. In recent years, however, even the wing of New Taliaferro Hall occupied by the Bookstore became much too small. Last fall students waited in line for hours to have their orders filled individually by clerks, as much as 15 minutes for each order.

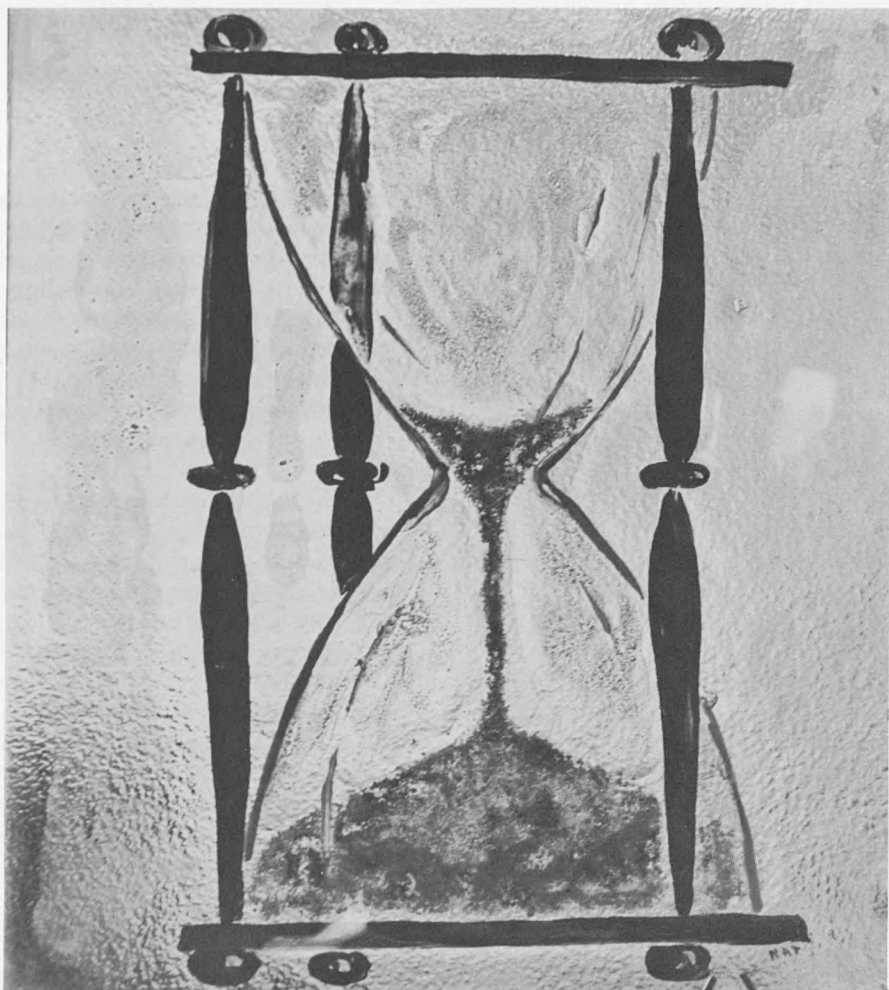

College Planning "Wise," Says Va.

THE VIRGINIA Higher Education Study Commission, created by the 1964 General Assembly to help chart the course for state-supported higher education in the future, made a number of recommendations which could be far-reaching.

For William and Mary, the Commission concluded in its report to Governor Albertis S. Harrison Jr., no great changes—except more funds—are necessary. The report came in December.

"The College . . . is a distinguished institution with long traditions of high quality programs, very selective in its admission policies, and with a heavy list of applications for admissions from all over the country. It is one of Virginia's prestige institutions, and it should be preserved as such.

"It should not be converted to a mass education university, but should wisely follow the course of its recent development as a high grade college of liberal arts with associated graduate programs," the report said.

Mary Anna Thomison created this panel for her screen in Atlanta's IBM Building. It depicts the hourglass, ancient symbol of time. Surprise: Loose sand is trapped in air enclosed between glass.

Math Under Glass

*'True
Creative Art'*

A FEW YEARS ago, Mrs. Mary Anna (McKinney) Thomison '48 spent some cold winter days at a neighbor's, dabbling with glass to create Christmas decorations in her friend's kiln. The work became fascinating and she discovered glass laminating to be "a true creative art."

After increasingly intense study and experimentation, Mary Anna created a work that—in the words of one newspaper writer—"is causing totally unmathematical people to make a pilgrimage to the IBM Building just to look."

The work, dubbed "Mathematics Under Glass," is a large paneled screen in the lobby of the IBM Building in Atlanta. The panels symbolically trace the challenge and uses of mathematics from the cuneiform clay tablets of Babylon to the tapes of today's sophisticated computers.

An IBM official who saw some of Mary Anna's glass work at an arts festival asked her to create the screen as a means of combining art with architecture and he succeeded in overcoming the fears of architects that it wouldn't work. Then began months of patient work in her small shop at her Lookout Mountain, Tenn., home—designing, cooking, cooling, and waiting to see what temperature changes did to them. Her husband Locke, who is with Penn Mutual Life Insurance Co. in Chattanooga, helped her in figuring out how to hang the panels in the frame without them looking heavy.

Since that project, Mary Anna has created a number of glass pieces, finished an interior glass dividing wall for a home and currently is working on a glass mural for a home being built on the bluff of Signal Mountain.

"I try not to tackle more than I can handle without running the family crazy," she says. "Family" includes three children—Kathy, 15 (she has "her heart and sights set on William and Mary"), Grier, 13, and Strand, 10.

After studying drawing and painting, architecture, music, advertising, interior decorating, and jewelry-making at William and Mary, Mary Anna now finds "glass is a glorious material—with unlimited uses."

In an article written about her work, which was published in a local magazine, she credits her years at William and Mary as laying the basis for her varied interests.

"I left a secure,
satisfying job after 15 years for a new and even more rewarding career!"

Says — MELVIN WEISZ, C.L.U., The Gold Agency, Detroit

"My 15 years as a high school teacher were personally rewarding and now, as a representative for Mass Mutual, I'm still enjoying some of the satisfactions of teaching. I'm now educating adults in the art of solving their financial problems. Helping people save money, create estates, and guaranteeing their families the resources they'd need in case of premature death."

"Financially, the rewards of a career with Mass Mutual have been gratifying, too.

In fact, each of the 5 years I've been at it, I've put in force over $1 million in life insurance! This has made possible foreign travel, a new home, a college education for our son, and the leisure time to participate more fully in community activities!"

"And Mass Mutual representatives are a skilled group of professionals who work for themselves, but not by themselves. Backing them is the prestige of a company over 100 years old, with over $3 billion in assets."

If you're looking for the same rewards that appealed to Mr. Weisz in his new career, write a personal letter to: Charles H. Schaaff, President, Mass Mutual, Springfield, Massachusetts. He's always interested in hearing from a good man!

Athletics

This proposed building will house a 10,000-seat multi-purpose fieldhouse, gym-auditorium with rising stage, physical education classrooms, auxiliary gyms and locker facilities, as well as a natatorium. The 1966 General Assembly approved a $2,000,000 emergency appropriation for the first phase of this structure, which ultimately will cost $4,000,000. President Paschall indicated hopes for an opening of part of it in time for the 1967-68 basketball season. Designed by Wright, Jones and Wilkerson, Richmond architects, it will be built northwest of the new library near a new dining hall.

By Barry G. Fratkin

WILLIAM AND MARY finally received Richmond as its guest for the traditional last football game of the year, and when the day was over, Marv Levy's Indians had shut out the visitors, 21-0.

It was important that William and Mary had claimed a victory over its arch-rival; it was also important that William and Mary had placed second in the Southern Conference. But, what was so important and vital was the fact that for the first time since 1953, the gridiron Indians had won more games than they had lost.

The final won-lost count showed six victories in 10 games. It had become obvious that Marv Levy, the man from California who came to William and Mary for the 1964 football season, had established respectability in two years and was well on his way toward making the Indians a contender in their league.

"We would like to think that we have a 50-50 chance against any team on our schedule," both Levy and Les Hooker, the athletic director, have said in eyeing what's next.

That schedule in the future will feature five or six Southern Conference teams, independents like V.P.I. and Navy and such prestige games as Vanderbilt, Syracuse and Miami in future years.

The increase in alumni support, the better attendance at the home games and the fact that the Indians played in the Oyster Bowl last year and have a date with V.M.I. in the Tobacco Bowl in 1967, indicate that 50-50 chance can be an attainable goal.

Achieving that winning season took a dramatic change at midstream. After being demolished by Navy, Levy and his staff decided to toss away the popular two-platoon system and go back to all-the-way performers.

The results were immediate and emphatic. First, undefeated Davidson was crushed, 41-7; then George Washington was a Homecoming victim; then nationally tough Southern Mississippi fell, 3-0, before 24,000 in Norfolk's Oyster Bowl.

The Tribe stretched the streak to four by beating the Citadel, 20-6, before Eastern power Boston College reminded the Indians that miracles aren't accomplished overnight. The Richmond shutout ended the season, but the honors began to pile up.

Levy was named coach-of-the year for his second successive time. George Pearce made the second team All-American and was named the Southern Conference's outstanding player as he and four other teammates made the all-conference team. With a 5-1 record in the Southern Conference the Indians finished second only to the champs, West Virginia.

Even before the football honors came in, the basketball team was busy preparing for the winter season. Haunted by the memory of last year's near win in the tournament, the cagers of Bill Chambers spent 1965 trying to live with that memory.

The results were disappointing at first, but as the Indians headed into the tournament again, the disciplined, control-type game preached and taught by Chambers seemed to be taking hold again.

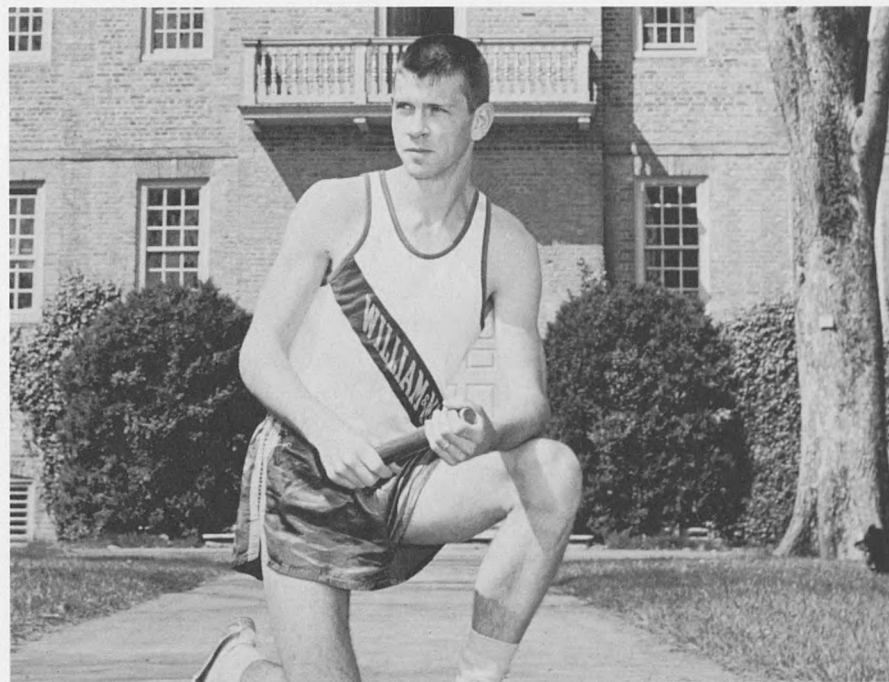

The Indians did claim two significant victories over state rivals Virginia and Richmond. The Cavaliers visited Williamsburg and never recovered from an 18-2 lead the Indians quickly and shockingly ran up. Later, just before the exam break, Richmond's strong Spiders came to Williamsburg and the Tribe dealers held all the high cards, trumping with defense to win, 71-65.

With 13 varsity sports in the athletic program, antique Blow Gym is a busy place all year. No fewer than six varsity sports dominated the winter scene with gymnastics, wrestling, rifle, swimming and indoor track sharing the spotlight with basketball.

Outgoing Educational Foundation president Harry J. Kostel (right) and newly elected president Quimby Hines, Jr. stand while President Paschall talks with outgoing secretary-treasurer Edward Spencer, seated at right. Elliott Shaubach was elected vice president and Bill Geiger secretary-treasurer. Athletic director H. Lester Hooker, Jr. became first executive secretary.

William and Mary track star Jimmy Johnson of Norfolk graduates in June after pulling down state and regional honors throughout his career at the College. He holds the Southern Conference indoor and outdoor mile record, the Virginia Intercollegiate mile record and has won 23 first places in state and regional contests.

The Society

Harry D. Wilkins Named To Head Alumni Society

Alumni Grants Reach $5,000

ALUMNI ARE contributing $5,000 toward $17,000 worth of summer research grants made for 1966 to sixteen faculty members. The Society's contribution has increased steadily from $1,500 in 1963, $2,500 the next year, and $3,000 in 1965.

Dean W. Melville Jones said in announcing the recipients that four of the grants are designated as Alumni Research Grants. He said a "large part of the growth of the summer grants can be attributed to the generosity of the Society of the Alumni, whose Board of Directors has continued to support the faculty research fund with increasing amounts."

He pointed out that besides funding the four Alumni Research Grants, the Society's contribution helps pay for travel in connection with the research projects.

The four Alumni Research Grant recipients, and their projects, are:

Kee Il Choi—Patterns and Processes of Japanese Economic Development between 1868-1900.

Ludwell H. Johnson—Influence of Pressure Groups and Party Politics on the Conduct of the Civil War.

Chonghan Kim—Democracy in the Republic of Korea, 1948-1963: Progress and Problems.

Carl Roseberg—A New Sculpture: The Creation and Execution of a Large Carving in Lignum Vitae Wood.

HARRY D. WILKINS '24 is the new president of the Society of the Alumni. He was elected to succeed Dr. George D. Sands '39 at the annual Board meeting last November.

Dr. A. F. Chestnut '41 was re-elected vice president and Mrs. Kathryn C. Sweeney '35 was renamed secretary-treasurer.

Wilkins, of Eastville on Virginia's Eastern Shore, retired in 1963 as assistant vice president for public relations and advertising for the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. of Virginia in Richmond. A past president of the Richmond Alumni Chapter, he was active in capital area college fund efforts.

Dr. Chestnut, of Morehead City, N. C., is professor and Director of the University of North Carolina's Institute of Fisheries Research. Mrs. Sweeney, of Lynchburg, Va., is active in community women's circles and her oldest daughter, Mary Kathryn, is a member of the Class of 1967 at the College.

The Faculty

DR. WARNER MOSS, chairman of the Department of Government since 1937, has become director of the College's new Marshall-Wythe Institute of Public Affairs. Dr. James H. Roherty succeeded Dr. Moss in February as department chairman.

The new Marshall-Wythe Institute will seek to undertake research in the social sciences, cutting across departmental lines. It also will have charge of such activities as the Marshall-Wythe Symposium, the law school's Tax Conference and the Business Index, as well as the coordination of visits to the campus by notables.

DR. LUDWELL H. JOHNSON, III, a Civil War historian, became chairman of the Department of History to succeed acting chairman Bruce McCully. Dr. McCully acted as chairman after Dr. Harold L. Fowler became Dean of the Faculty in 1964. Dr. Johnson is married to the former Pamela Cartin '57.

MISS GRACE BLANK, a member of the biology faculty between 1931 and 1965, died in January. She had retired in 1965, becoming professor emeritus. Funeral services were held in Williamsburg.

DR. THOMAS C. ATKESON of the Law School was responsible for preparation of a massive report on a proposed state-wide sales tax for the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce. The report drew wide praise, although the 1966 General Assembly appeared to be divided over just what kind of sales tax Virginia should have. He is a former high-ranking Internal Revenue Service official.

BOOKS: Dr. William F. Swindler of the Law School is author of "Magna Carta: Legend and Legacy," published in January by Bobbs-Merrill. He currently is preparing manuscripts for three other books.

Marcel Reboussin, professor of modern languages, wrote "Balzac Et Le Mythe De Foedora," to be published in Paris in the spring. The book, in French, depicts Balzac as "an artist—not just a 'camera' who depicted only what he saw."

March 1966

Skipatitis?

The 1965 William and Mary Fund came up with a total of $60,887, a sizable increase over the year before but without a noticeable increase in the number of contributors.

It surpassed an informal goal of $60,000 and marked the fifth consecutive year that Fund donations showed increases.

The William and Mary Educational Foundation, meanwhile, reported contributions of $49,304. That fund, for athletic scholarships and awards and other athletic purposes, collected $30,500 in 1964.

What happened to many who contributed to the Fund in 1964, and not in 1965? Perhaps it was a case of "skipatitis," an old Society disease. Or maybe it was forgetfulness.

There were many new contributors. But if alumni who forgot to make a 1965 contribution had instead remembered, their gifts could have raised the Fund total by $10,000. The Fund Committee, though concerned with that segment of alumni, takes some comfort in knowing that William and Mary alumni have a lower percentage of forgetfulness than most other alumni groups.

Plans for the 1966 Fund will be announced shortly by Fund Chairman John Dalton '53.

President Davis Y. Paschall addressed a Richmond alumni chapter meeting recently, outlining the high points in his five-year report published last October. Lyle D. Thornhill succeeded Arthur C. Livick, Jr. as president; Dr. B. F. Wittkamp was elected first vice president and Julian R. Irvin became second vice president. Mrs. William B. May was elected secretary and Robert W. Day, treasurer. Livick, Harold B. King and Richard C. Duncan were elected to the board.

The Reverend Morris W. Derr, D.D. of Covington, Ky., recently observed two anniversaries: His fortieth year in the ministry of the Episcopal Church and his ninth year as Rector of St. Stephen's Church in Latonia. Also he has recently completed over 30 years of writing a weekly newspaper column for a Pennsylvania newspaper, The Port Royal Times. Upon his retirement next June, Dr. Derr will move to Lexington and reside at the Seminary House on Sayre Avenue.

23

Francis F. Wilshin at present is Superintendent of the Manassas National Battlefield Park. Since leaving William and Mary, he has been associated with the National Park Service, is the author of the Manassas Handbook, is the co-author of the Saratoga Handbook and has contributed to American Heritage. He, his wife, Katherine and their daughter, Julie, live on the park grounds.

24

Jesse C. Phillips, formerly Manager of the Harrisburg, Pa. branch office of the U. S. Fidelity and Guaranty Company retired last September.

25

Russell A. Stuart of Buckland has recently opened an employment service office in Warrenton, Va. He stated that he will put special emphasis on the developing electronics industry.

Edward P. Simpkins, Jr. a Richmond, Va. lawyer and Hanover County Democratic Committee chairman, was recently appointed Judge of the Circuit Court of Hanover and Caroline counties. Ed lives on a small farm at Studley in the Cold Harbor section of Hanover County.

Melba G. Finch of Richmond, Va. writes that her daughter, Carole Virginia, is in third year of the B.S. in Nursing course at the University of Virginia; and that they both spent six weeks in Europe and Britain during the summer of 1965.

R. K. T. Larson of Norfolk, Va. retired last year after a 40-year news executive career with The Virginian-Pilot and Ledger-Star. He has started a business of his own, R. K. T. Larson & Associates, Newspaper Sales and Services, offering and seeking newspaper properties, counseling. He retains contact with journalism, having planned and directed specialized seminars for business and travel writers, among others.

The William and Mary Tomahawk marks items in class news columns which your editors feel are of more than passing interest to all alumni: noteworthy accomplishments, surprising information or, simply, good stories.

29

A feature article in the Roanoke World-News described how the Roanoke Valley Red Cross went briefly into show business in December to pun and poetize the chapter's "Page," Mrs. Page Vaughan Wright. The show commemorated her 30 years of service with a Punch and Judy skit entitled "A Page from History."

30

C. Ione Smith Potter of "Chestnut Grove," New Kent County, Va. and her husband own a beautiful home in which Martha Dandridge Washington was born. During the winters they live in an apartment in Richmond. She writes that their son is at Hampden-Sydney College and their daughter is being trained for a transportation specialist with the U. S. Air Force.

32

W. Brooks George, president of Larus & Brother Co., Inc. of Richmond, is the 1966 president of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce. He was elected in January, at the Chamber's 99th annual meeting. Brooks is vice-rector of the College Board of Visitors.

33

Rachel Black Smith of Washington, D. C. writes that she received her second NDEA Grant—a summer of study and travel in France in 1965—and is now back at Calvin Coolidge High School as head of the French Department.

A letter from Marjorie Sparrow Curtis, 33-34 Crescent Street, Long Island City, N. Y., tells us she is busy with community affairs. She is serving on the Board of the local Methodist Church plus acting as President of the Women's Society of Christian Service. Her daughter, Linda Dorothy attends St. Andrews Presbyterian College in Laurinburg, S. C. Marjorie would like to hear from her classmates.

Winnie Nelson Fisher of Woodside, Cal., has a daughter, Page, at the University of California in Berkeley, majoring in history of art. Kathy and Randy attend Crystal Springs School for Girls in Hillsborough. Husband Bob is with California Packing Corp. in San Francisco. Winnie is doing experimental psychology at NASA.

A Christmas note from Jerry Murphy Silber advises us that she has one girl a college-graduate, one a college-sophomore, and one to start college next fall.

Vi Somerndike Foerster writes from Milwaukee that their daughter Mimi is a freshman at the University of Arizona; their son, Bruce, a lieutenant (jg) in the Navy.

Clover Johnson, Pittsburgh, had a visit from Jane Lewis Kruse this past year.

Ruth Engel Wright, '35 writes that she, husband Ben, and son David visited the campus this past summer. On this trip they visited Dr. Taylor in Washington and Virginia Clementson Stewart, '35.

The best of everything to all of you in 1966. Keep the letters coming.

Notes gleaned from Christmas cards and Alumni Office:

First, Jim Knox wrote that he and Peg had just bought a new home with a lovely sea view at 2617 Haywood Ave., West Vancouver, B. C. They are spending the winter in Mexico.

Dottie Kincaid Portz is doing part time work on a law degree, at Western Reserve.

Jane Speakman Hauge and Bobbie Robertson Litzenberg, '38 met in Wilmington before Christmas to see Doris Johnson Alsop '38 who is a dormitory director at University of Delaware. Nancy Adams Barr in Kentucky alerted them to Doris' whereabouts.

Margie Beggs Brice writes that her younger daughter, an honor student, talented in art has applied for college admission this fall—hope she is accepted where she wants to attend.

This year Mildred Albee Babb has been teaching in Newport News so that her daughter, Ellen would live with her and attend Christopher Newport College. Ellen hopes to transfer to William and Mary next year. Her son, Terry, was commissioned in the Navy in September and is now at supply corps school. Mildred went to Homecoming but reports she didn't see many from our class.

Margileth Meyer Anderson in Oklahoma City informs us that she visited Mary Barthel Williams, Eugenia Matthews Kleinknecht and Carl Kleinknecht in Richmond, Ind. and Clover Johnson and Augusta Porter in Pittsburgh, Pa. in June. Margileth's eldest son, Joe, graduated from Princeton in June and is now in Rio de Janeiro at the University of Rio on a Fulbright scholarship studying economics.

Rodney Jones represented William and Mary at the inauguration of Gen. Barksdale Hamlet USA (Ret.) as President of Norwich University, Northfield, Vt. Rodney is in the Dept. of Economics and Business Administration there. Since there was no representative from Harvard, Rodney had the honor of leading the academic procession.

Carol McCoy Auer had a display of her paintings at the Greenwich Library Gallery in December. Her flower studies and landscapes, mostly oils, are in a "free traditionalist" style. Carol's husband, Bernard, is the publisher of Time Magazine. They have three children: Susan, who majored in art; Sally, a freshman at Bennett College; and William, a student at Suffield Academy.

Happy New Year. Here we go with Christmas card gleanings.

Dorothy Hosford Smith and her husband are in Thailand again (last visit 1958-59) where Herb is furthering his study of Southeast Asian History and where he is doing some research at the National Library in Bangkok. Before their departure from Claremont, California, the Smiths did catch up with several of the Alpha Chi's from William and Mary—notably, an evening with Shirley James Johnson, '41 and her husband and Harry and Betty (Mary Virginia) Cook, and her husband dropped in on that West Coast reunion. Louise Ely Nestle '40 saw the Smiths during her visit to California with her three boys, the purpose of the trip to enroll the eldest son at Mt. Hermon. Then Dorothy and Herb spent several days with Louise in Manila on their way to Bangkok. If you want to drop in on the Smiths before March 1, the address is Vientai Hotel, 42 Tannee Road, Banglumpoo, Bangkok, Thailand.

Brig. Gen. and Peggy Prickett Miller are in Korea where Miley is G-4 of 8th Army. They have quarters at Yongsan, the American Military compound in Seoul. Peggy writes that the children have adjusted quickly to the uprooting and have found congenial friends and activities. Polly and Peggs (5th and 8th graders) are in Girl Scouts, Jerry (9th grader) is also busy with Scout activities—camping and honor guard. Bos, high school senior (his fourth high school) is currently spending his extracurricular activities on soccer and judo. Maile, my lovely goddaughter, was graduated from Woodson High last June and is currently taking University of Maryland extension courses and expects to return to the United States in February to continue her college education. In addition to keeping her family well and happy (and I can personally report that they are just that—I did see them last spring) Peggy is devoting a great deal of her time to church and club work. To round out the Miller roster, Frank, Jr. and his wife and baby girl are at North Carolina State where the Captain is finishing his second year of graduate work in nuclear engineering. Lieut. Brink Miller and his wife are stationed in Germany.

Emily Stuart Heydt, '39 reports that son Stuart, who graduated from dental school last June, is now in the Navy at the Great Lakes Naval Center with his wife and son, Geoffrey. Chuck and Billy are at the University of Vermont and Sue goes to college next fall.

Gwen Evans Wood has had a Theta year—saw Roberta Rosendale in Birmingham, Mich., and had dinner with Bayley Bucher at Fort Monroe, where she learned that Barbara Bundy lives in the New York area (how about it, Barbara—let's have that address so I can look you up on one of my trips). She also saw Jean Clarahan, '40 somewhere along the line and spent a day in Washington with Elizabeth Jane Cook '40.

Elaine Woody Walker enclosed a fact sheet on the Walkers in their Christmas card. Here are the facts. Husband, Bill, is still in advertising with Clyne-Maxon. Son Peter is in the Meteorological service of the Army, stationed in Fairbanks, Alaska. Andy is in his junior year at Walt Whitman. Elaine is involved in a few things, such as taking courses at C. W. Post for her master's in library science, at the same time serving as elementary school librarian for 950 5th and 6th graders in Deer Park, performing the duties of President of the Board of Trustees of S.H.P.L. and has been nominated for "Who's Who". Oh yes, there's a house to look after and a few husbands and one child—no, no, it's the other way around—I'm so excited about all this news from everyone that I can't cope with it.

Pearl Brueger Reid and Joe, her husband, spent a football weekend with Margi-

Carl A. "Pappy" Febr leads the William and Mary Choir during taping of a special Christmas television program seen by millions in the East and heard coast-to-coast by radio. The 75-member choir is available to alumni groups and civic, women's and other organizations which can furnish a tuned piano, auditorium and audience; contact the Alumni Office.

Ieth Meyer Anderson last November. The Reids are still in Kansas City, where their daughters, Pat and Debbie, are attending junior high school.

Frances Fitzhugh and her husband, Captain Mayo Fitzhugh, USN are living in McLean, Va. He is stationed in the Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Navy for installations and logistics. Their oldest son is a freshman at Washington and Lee and the other three boys are, respectively, a junior, senior, and 8th grader. My curiosity is aroused—where in high school since I visited several for Carnegie Tech in November. Fran is an officer in the local PTA, is secretary-treasurer of the McLean Babe Ruth League, and is on the Altar Guild at church.

Lt. Colonel Daniel J. Blocker, Jr. and family (wife Helen, and 2 sons John and Jim almost 16 and 14 years of age) are living in Johnson City, Tenn. Dan has taught in the ROTC of East Tennessee State University for seven years and will retire early in 1966.

Harry C. Gravely, President of Gravely Furniture Company of Ridgeway, Va. is one of ten men in the nation named by the Free Enterprise Awards Association as a winner of the organization's 14th annual American Success Story awards. Harry was cited "for his enterprise in bringing a new floor clock industry to Virginia and America and bucking its traditional European domination". The citation further stated that Gravely Furniture is the world's largest producer of grandfather, grandmother and granddaughter floor clocks, some selling for less than $200.

That is all for now—but another letter will be due all too soon. Let's hear from you.

Between Christmas notes and items from the Alumni Office, I'm delighted there is no slump in news following our 25th Reunion.

Carlton B. Laing has been appointed insurance administrator for the California State Employees Association and will give full-time direction to their programs which provide life, health and disability coverage for state employees. Carlton is a member of the American Management Association, the National Foundation of Health, and the American Society of Insurance Management. He and his family leave for Sacramento in January.

Alice Gates Goodman recently received her Master of Science Degree in Education at the University of Richmond. Alice lives at 8352 Charlise Road in Richmond.

Madeleine Howard Warlow (Mrs. Francis W. Warlow) is presently engaged in working, professionally, for Dickinson College's $16,000,000 Development Campaign. She hopes that some day her experiences there will help her to help William and Mary raise money. Add Madeleine's name to your Class Directory. Her address is: 133 N. College St., Carlisle, Penna.

The William and Mary Tomahawk marks items in class news columns which your editors feel are of more than passing interest to all alumni: noteworthy accomplishments, surprising information or, simply, good stories.

Dorothy Schmitz Chalmers (Mrs. George E. Chalmers) lives at 3127 N. Thomas St., Arlington, Va. She and her husband who is a Captain in the U. S. Navy have two children.

Bunny Blair Riepma has a daughter, Elizabeth Blair, who is a junior at William and Mary. I saw in the Richmond paper the announcement of her engagement to Robert Anderson Gaines of Roanoke, a William and Mary graduate. Bunny's husband is a Trade Associate Executive.

Chaplain Alfred Alley was promoted to Lt. Colonel in April and in June he and his wife and son left Guam where they were stationed for the past three years and are now happily settled at Beale Air Force Base, about 50 miles north of Sacramento, California. Al's Christmas card was one of his own paintings which was very interesting.

Vince and Carolyn Moses Lucardi were sorry to miss Homecoming and our 25th, but Carolyn was just recovering from major surgery. She's fine now, I'm glad to hear. Their oldest daughter is a William and Mary junior and they have three younger ones at home.

A grand picture on Ruth Ann Holzmuel-ler Mahood's card this year with her and Bill's combined families. R. A.'s daughter, Donnie, is a freshman at William and Mary and her younger daughter's at home. Now she has three new children, two older sons and a 14-year old daughter.

Jean Clarahan Bratton wrote that en route home to Minnesota from Homecoming she visited her brother in New York and spent an awfully nice day in Basking Ridge, New Jersey at Christine Cowen Halsey's (Mrs. William G. Halsey, III). Gwen Evans Wood and Sue Duncan Thomas were there for lunch too. Chris must lead a busy life for she has six children—four daughters and two sons, ranging in age from one college graduate to one preschooler. Her husband, Bill, is an architect.

Charlotte Bagot White writes from Kansas City that she and her youngest daughter flew to Buffalo last summer and spent a couple of weeks with her mother at the beach. Charl says she's working now so is very busy.

At long last a note from Deede Eastlack Gray (Mrs. Howard E. Gray), 4329 Lynnvilleville Crescent, Virginia Beach—says they were unable to make Homecoming as they had conflicting plans. They expect their only child, "Rick", to enter Virginia Tech this fall.

Dede Allen Bunch wrote a nice Christmas note and said they looked forward to having their family with them for the holidays. Their daughter, Susan, who graduated in June from William and Mary, married Al Allen's son, Jeff, in September and they live in Marchfield, Mass. where Susan teaches the 4th grade and Jeff commutes into Boston to school at Boston University.

Fran Grodecoeur was sorry to miss Homecoming this year. She is with Carnegie Tech. and does lots of traveling. She says they usually schedule four school visits a day and meet with alumni in the evening, so, she goes on to say, "you can see, I'm not sipping champagne and kicking up my heels on these jaunts."

Yvonne Johnson Jenkin's daughter, Kathy, is a sophomore at William and Mary this year. Her next daughter wants to go to Carolina at Chapel Hill, but prospects don't look too great as they take only 15 out-of-state girls.

Marge Hoskins Bloxom writes that she and Red are happy as can be in Hawaii where they are now stationed and are living it up! Would really love to go out there for a visit!

Jack Garrett is now C.O. of Ships Parts Control Center, temporarily, since it's an admiral's billet, but he's pleased to have it, even for a little while. This past weekend he and Ann came down from Mechanicsburg, Penna. to help us celebrate Frank's birthday. It was great fun having them and I managed to keep their coming a complete surprise for Frank.

When looking at the class picture in the last Gazette I saw Jeane Parker Collins right in the center. My apologies, Jeanne, for not including your name among those attending Homecoming and our 25th Reunion!

I shall look forward to hearing all your family and business news, so keep it coming to me, please.

Peg Apperly Knowlton writes that their daughter Elizabeth is a senior at New York University and lives on the edge of Greenwich Village. Their son Stephen has won a National Merit Scholarship and entered Princeton last fall. Anne is in junior high and Barbara in fifth grade. Peg, like the rest of us, keeps busy with the various activities of town and school. Thanks Peg, for your note. The occasional letter which wanders in is always most welcome.

Christmas cards bring the rest of the news. I was surprised and delighted to hear from Mike Stousland, who is Professor of Architecture and Chairman of the Department at the Univ. of Miami, which makes us practically neighbors. Ruth Rapp Thayer writes that their family vacationed in Alaska, driving the Alaskan Highway to Fairbanks, then flying by small plane to the Eskimo villages in the Arctic. After sightseeing where the roads permitted, they sold their car and returned to California by ship via the inland waterway to British Columbia and flew home the last leg of the journey. What a wonderful experience! Ruth is hoping to get back for our reunion, as is Ella Dickenson Hurt. Peggy Peck Latham is also planning to be back for our 25th. She writes that they are still enjoying country life and that she is President of the High School PTA. Their older daughter is a junior at Monmouth College and the younger a freshman at Knox College—both in Illinois.

The Mollenkopfs enjoyed Christmas in Williamsburg, and are now looking forward to getting back in October, where we're hoping to see MANY of our classmates.

To start the new year we are blessed with more news than usual thanks to those little notes scribbled on the William and Mary fund envelopes.

Tony Manzi's current job in the theatre is stage manager of "Hello Dolly" at the St. James Theatre, New York starring—Ginger Rogers.

Doris Berg-Johnsen Kuhl of Kinnelon, N. J. writes that she and her husband took their five younger children on a tour of Europe last summer. The oldest daughter will soon make them grandparents.

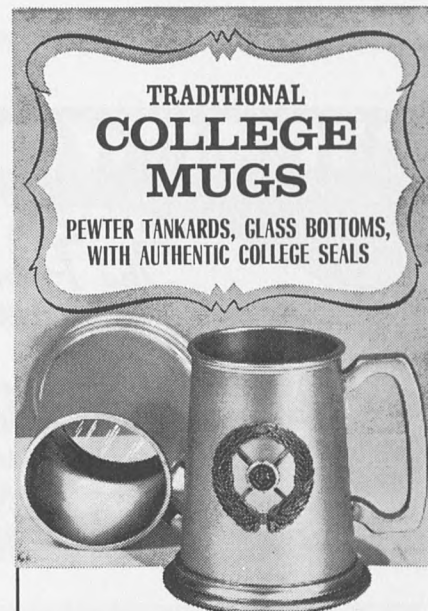

Louise Wallace Richards tells of moving into a new home last Thanksgiving. Also in the house building stage is Mary Ruth Black Dowling, Severna Park, Md., who is busy leading a Girl Scout troop of which her two daughters are members.

Ginny Sims Wilkinson writes from Huntington, West Virginia, that her family spends springs in Jamaica and summers in Canada. Louise Gordon Tucker hears from Ginny by telephone when she is in Washington, D. C. visiting her oldest daughter who attends Mount Vernon School. Louise speaks of being busy, busy with four children in three different schools. They also have a new home on a lake where there is boating and swimming in the summer and ice skating in the winter.

Margaret Kelly Dunham of Stoughton, Mass. continues to enjoy traveling by trailer with her family. Last summer they had a trip which took them to Virginia and the World's Fair.

An interesting Christmas letter came from Terry Teal Crutchfield, who has been living in Geneva, Switzerland for a record of six years. She has settled in a "routine" which consists of skiing at Saas Fee, vacationing in Portugal and the U. S. and scouting. Terry has recently had a visit from Natalie Rogers Mabry who was traveling in Europe with her husband. In May Terry will come to Richmond to help

From Richmond there is news that Charlotte Mooers Stevens is working on her M.A. in English at the University of Richmond. It is always stimulating to hear from class members who are busy "keeping the cobwebs out." Claire Hulcher McMullan is eager to find Cleo Tweedy Stuart who has been missing from the Chi Omega round robin. Information about Cleo's whereabouts would be appreciated.

Dr. H. W. Curtis writes from Chappaqua, N. Y. of his distress to hear of the death of Dr. Claude Kelly—"President of Men's Honor Council at William and Mary, physician, outstanding citizen, fine friend and one of five students specially honored in the '42 yearbook as a principal contributor to campus life." It was mentioned in the last issue of the Gazette that a memorial fund has been established in his name for the benefit of the new library.

VIEWPOINT

TWENTY YEARS ago, William and Mary students lived on the site of our present store, played touch football where our parking lot now is. Those were the days of the "Vets Dorms," the "Rubberguts" and "Flying Vets," and cafeteria food so good that many students walked out specially for Sunday dinner. Today, students walk, drive, ride Hondas—any way at all—just so they get to the Williamsburg Shop for its broad and economical line of quality clothing, gifts, notions, housewares, footwear and luggage.

Pa. writes that she and husband Charles are teaching in the local schools. She is teaching English and Charles is teaching distributive education at a technical school. Their older son, Randy, has spent three years in England with Army Security. Their younger son, Chris, is now in high school.

Jane Cummins Heidingsfield, her husband, Dr. Mike who holds the Food Fair Foundation Chair of Marketing in the College of Business Administration at the University of Florida, and their son, Michael, had a most interesting summer trip to the West Coast and to the Orient. In California they enjoyed a tour of movie studios, Disneyland, saw the filming of "Please Don't Eat the Daisies." Stopping in Hawaii they saw the Battleship "Arizona" which is still lying in the water on its side. The ship has never been decommissioned and each morning and evening the American flag is raised and lowered. They went on to Japan visiting Tokyo, Mt. Fujiyama, Hong Kong and other points of interest. They were fascinated with the beautiful sights and were very much impressed with the Japan Airlines, excellent food, personal slippers and fans.

The Reverend John Paul Carter of The Plains, Va. writes in his Christmas letter that the Carters continue in first-rate shape. Joan, his wife, is firmly in charge of the house and is devoting a good deal of time to the Girl Scouts; Steve is a senior at The Wooster School and is holder of the current 110 lb. Connecticut State Wrestling Championship; Christie is a ninth grader at The Hannah More Academy; Janet is in sixth grade at The Highland School; Andy is in the third grade at Highland and is the best soccer player; Ginia is in the second grade at Highland; and Tom is in nursery school. Jack writes that he is hard at work in a new job as the Executive Secretary of the National Association of Episcopal Schools.

Sunny Trumbo Williams is the only woman on Norfolk's first Fine Arts Committee. Serving on this seven-member board with her is alumnus Frank Ritter and Webster Chandler (husband of Nancy Outland Chandler, '45). Mrs. Williams has been active in the Junior League, Vice President of the AAUW, President of the Redwood Garden Club and Tri-Delta Alumnae group. She is currently on the boards of the Norfolk Historical Foundation and Historical Society, the Museum Council and Girl Scout Council, and the Tidewater Federation of Garden Clubs.

A rousing cheer to Dinny Lee McAlinden for the fine Homecoming report in the December Gazette. Her letter, plus that wonderful picture, was nearly as good as being in Williamsburg for those absent and a permanent memory for those fortunate enough to attend.

Our theme this issue is: "Happiness is a Christmas note from a '45 member." Lee Ann Avery Merriveld sends her new address—18610 Carriage Court, Nassau Baym Houston, Texas 77058. They are located near the Manned Spacecraft Center to which Bob commutes each day via bicycle. Lee Ann has returned to college, working toward a teaching certificate, and Robbie, Meg and Charlie, their three children, took the move from Virginia to Texas in great stride.

A beautiful picture accompanied Willie Anne Boschen Wright's greetings. Her oldest son, John, is a Georgia Tech freshman, Anne is a 9th grader and Hank is in the sixth grade. Willie Anne reports, modestly, that she had a one-man show in a Richmond gallery in October, teaches two classes per week and is still painting. We're proud of you!

Our class can boast of grandparents within the ranks. Betsy Yow Pearce and Bob, who are still at Redstone Arsenal, Alabama, but who will be transferred to the Army War College in Pennsylvania in the fall, welcomed a grandson in October. Their daughter, Perry, married a junior at the University of Alabama, and she, her husband, and twin brother, Mac, are all studying on the Alabama campus together. David Pearce, a basketball buff, has taken the West Point exams.

A note from Ruth Weimer Tillar from Emporia says that her son, Tommy, is a Virginia Tech freshman and daughter, Elizabeth is a high school freshman. Ruth does substitute teaching at the high school and thoroughly enjoyed Homecoming week-end.

Mary Raney Begor wrote such a welcome letter from their 71 Norwich Road, Ludlow, Mass. home. Roland was back in the States after a prolonged Asian tour of duty and the five Begors were transplanted from the warm climes to which they had been accustomed—Virginia, the Philippines, et al—to New England.

Received a lovely card from Gloria Blakelock, but without a report on that Hawaiian vacation they took last spring.

Flosse Metius Johnson has also joined the ranks of substitute teachers, as well as her weekly stint of dancing school teaching.

Betty Aurell Schutz and Henry, whose oldest is a William and Mary freshman, are house-hunting for larger quarters. Look for a new address in a future Gazette.

Mildred Foster Lewis wrote that their daughter, Gayle, is a freshman at Furman University; Pam will enter the University of South Carolina in September; Billy is 14 and Judy is 10. Mildred and Bill live in Mt. Pleasant, S. C.

A long letter arrived from Princeton, W. Va. where Mary Simon Blevins and Doug live. Their five children swim in the A.A.U. meets, all winning ribbons and trophies. Mary and Doug enjoyed a European trip last May and June. She, too, is a substitute teacher.

March 1966

The traditional holiday letter from Martha Macklin Smith and Herb was more than welcome. Their boys are an active trio and their mother, our class golf champion, is now teaching second grade at a new elementary school.

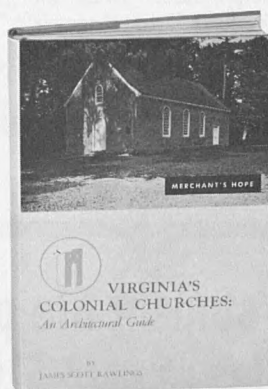

Two pieces of mail from Jean Boyle Herbert—the earlier giving us news on their marvelous trip from St. Louis through Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and into Canada to see the Falls, then down into Vermont for a visit with Tom's family . . . the second a holiday greeting. Jeanie has kept in close touch with Ginger Prickett Cage, whose eldest son is a second-classman at West Point. They are enjoying being stationed at the Aberdeen Proving Ground. The Herberts spent a short holiday visit in Philadelphia with Jeanie's family.

Both of Dinny Lee McAlinden and Joe's additions materialized during 1965, she says. Their daughter, Mary Ann, arrived in June to join Jimmy and their new section was added to their home, which includes a darkroom for Dinny, an indoor pool, sauna and bedrooms and baths.

The Bloms—John, Dot, Laurie and Ann—vacationed in Florida last summer, enjoying every day of it. Laurie is an enterprising high school freshman who sews beautifully for fun and profit. She is gaining quite a nice reputation for her bulletin board displays which she has created several times for the local library.

Sophia Dumas Coburn, "Dee," sent a marvelous Christmas letter giving an account of each of the seven members of the Coburn family. "Pip" is a handsome little guy born last November; Sandee is a daughter in boarding school in Philadelphia; Ted is a seventh grader interested in Scouts and not girls yet; Diane is a third grader; Drew is a five-year-old and is ready for anything; Red, her husband, was named "Manager of the Year" of the Little League in Cleveland; and Dee is knee-deep in Brownie work. She writes that last year Diane's second grade was studying Williamsburg. They made a beautiful replica of the town with each building placed along the Duke of Gloucester in all proportions. Diane was chosen to do the Wren Building—and since Dee had gone to William and Mary she showed the class colored pictures, etc. She thought this was such an unusual thing for second-graders to do that perhaps other alumni would be interested in the project.

Christmas cards brought much news to the Cunninghams, and we are pleased to share it with you all.

M. J. Talle Tilton wrote from 1335 Bunker, Flossmoor, Ill. Jessica's arrival in '64 explained her silence. Son Bill is at Monterey in the Army's Defense Language School. Talle Ann is at Russell Sage—so three are at home.

Polly Krotts Wright of Fresno, Cal. sent M. J. a picture of her son, Mike, who graduates from high school in June. She and Mel have seven other children. Polly is active in Tri-Delta alumnae group, bridge clubs, adoption auxiliary, and the usual mothers' clubs. She and Mel are planning to come east next fall for Homecoming.

Carol MacNeill Gettings and Roger have both families retired near them in Florida. They are at 764 Palmetto Avenue, Ormond Beach, with daughter, Holly. Mary Laura Hoey Bender and Fred are permanent Floridians as Fred has gone into the wholesale electronics business for himself. They are living at 54 Cayuga Road, Sea Ranch Lakes, Ft. Lauderdale. Sissy wrote it's great keeping up with two teenage girls and coping with nursery and pre-nursery boys. She chatted with Dr. Dick Neubauer at a party recently.

Scotty and I see many William and Mary alumni and are active in the Lower Peninsula Chapter. I am in an Alpha Chi Omega alumnae group and there is a fairly new City Panhellenic. The real treat is the annual picnic at General and Mrs. Schlater Montague's picturesque old summer home—complete with pool and pony rides for the children.

Jene Carr Dent and Bob live near Yorktown. Jene met Colonel Burgwyn, who is a doctor and practices in Newport News.

Fred Frechette had two of his films win "Chris" awards at the Columbus Film Festival and received a Merit Award at the San Francisco Film Festival.

Jackie Sanne Cox says Don is a freshman at Randolph-Macon. Jackie and John live at 8837 Burbank Drive, Annandale, Va.

Bob and Louise Henderson are in Atlanta with two sons and a daughter. They toured New York and Washington last summer but plan to relax at Nags Head this year.

John Kopp wrote for Brooksie as she was hospitalized with a bad back. They had fun in Europe, and have the pleasure of having her family as neighbors in Waycross, Ga.

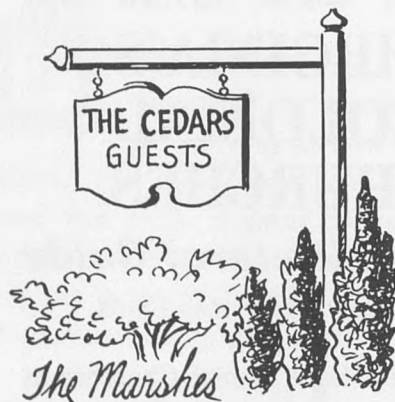

Stan and Zella Mervis keep us posted each year with a picture of their two daughters and a son. Blair Parsons Goff and Bob had a European trip. Blair is busy with her drug store and young son Ben. Blair is looking forward to our reunion as is Suzy Braude Stutzmann. Suzy's daughter, Karen, is at Drake and there are three young ones at home.

Patty Wattles Spiegel and Bill are at 4 Gina Drive, Centerport, Long Island, N. Y., and are enjoying a 28' fiberglass sailboat. Bill is out of the Navy and with Grumann.

Marion Lounsbury Dean and Manliff were in the 'burg in November. Rain and colds forced them to retreat to New Jersey. Dee Hampton Simpson and Bud were at Homecoming. Their son, Robert, goes to Scotty's prep school, Pingry in Elizabeth. Bud is with Koo's Brothers—a delightful furniture concern.

Pam Pauly Chinnis sent much news in response to my plea. She, Carter, Ann and Cabell spent the holidays in Palm Beach to be with her brother, John, who is a doctor. Pam said they went swimming Christmas Day. Betty Marie Ellett Lile, 1404 North Mellon, Little Rock, reports completion of an eight-sided lake house 70 miles from their home. Daughter Carole is 16, and Ned is 9. Pam shared Mary Baker Flynn's picture of Jamie and Kathy, and told of Edie Burkard Thompson's new home and son Bill, 11 and Sara.

Shirley Printz Scott is back in Norfolk while Scotty is on a tour in Vietnam. Kay Johnson Selton and Bob are at the Army War College in Carlisle Barracks, Pa. after a tour in Paris. Bob is a Lt. Col. and their three boys like on the post. Joey Armstrong lives in New Jersey, where her husband is an engineer.

Now a student life policy a father can afford! Insurance: $10,000 Premium: $30

College is costly enough without high insurance premiums . . . yet students should be insured. Life of Virginia now offers a way to give students ten thousand dollar coverage, for only thirty dollars a year, with no medical examination. Both full-time college students up to age 27 and high-school seniors who will be in college within six months are eligible. And the insured may convert to permanent insurance at any time the Student Life Plan is in force, without evidence of insurability. For information on Student Life Plan, Call a Life of Virginia representative today.

Surry and Marie Harrison live near us. Their 4-year-old, Lindsey, is in the car pool with our 5-year-old, Ann Wescott. Todd at 3½ is an active passenger (our small son).

Mary Frances Thomas Propst lives in Boynton and is Librarian of the Southside Regional Library. Allen Tanner's firm, Tanner, Eggleston, and Smith, CPA, has a branch in Williamsburg—main office is in Newport News.

A picture and clipping from the Springfield, Massachusetts, Daily News relates that Kenneth Porter is a Commander and assumed command of the Glod Crew of the Lewis and Clark, nuclear-powered ballistic submarine, which was commissioned in Newport News. He and Mary Lisbeth Stedman have two daughters and a son.

Adina Allen is in private practice of social work and says living near San Francisco and Lake Tahoe isn't hard to take. Emily Snyder Alexander and Navy husband, Jim, are in Washington. They entertained Pam and Carter Chinnis with Pat Snyder Smith and Smitty visiting from York, Pa., where they own a 14-room house of pre-Revolutionary vintage.

As you can see, Scotty, and I are so fortunate in keeping in touch with many William and Mary alumni. Wish I had pages to write—but come back for our reunion and see the lovely new buildings and check yourself on the marvelous progress that has been made at your Alma Mater.

The Christmas mail did not bring me any startling news from hitherto unheard from alumni, but I am happy to report about those kind souls from whom I did receive notes.

Millie (Draper) Lipps in Luray, Va., reports she doesn't see many alumni in her territory. Her four youngsters are all good swimmers and love to ride and care for their ponies.

Betty Jane (Yoder) Peterson and Roy came to visit us just before Thanksgiving. They both looked wonderful and are busy with the many projects in which parents become involved. B. J. is a den mother for Cub Scouts and really enjoys it.

From a newspaper clipping dated last September, we received news that Eugene Hanofee of Liberty, N. Y. had launched a campaign for the office of District Attorney in his area. While we don't know the outcome of the situation, we wish him a successful career.

From the East Brunswick, N. J. paper, a clipping has disclosed that Malcolm B. Savage has been appointed the vice president and trust officer of the Middlesex County First National Bank. He is a member of the Virginia Bar and is New Jersey chairman of the Trust Legislative Council of the American Bankers Association.

A fund envelope brought news that Marvin E. Harvey has received his Ph.D. in history from the University of Washington in Seattle. He is now chairman of the history department at the College of the School of the Ozarks.

I did so enjoy the pictures of the class reunions, especially the 1945 group. They all looked great, and I can only hope we

Something different has happened to the Class of 1948—we are beginning the New Year with news!

Bernard (Tut) Bartzen of Fort Worth, Tex, represented the College of William and Mary at the inauguration of Dr. James M. Moudy as Chancellor of Texas Christian University on Nov. 19, 1965.

Congratulations to Gerald M. Schadegg who has been appointed Controller of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. Prior to joining Dun & Bradstreet as auditor and business analysis consultant the first of last year, Gerald had been with General Electric for sixteen years, having joined them in 1948 after his graduation. During his years with GE he held the post of Manager, Budgets and Measurements, Erie, Pa., and Manager of Business Information Systems. The Schadeggs with their two daughters live in Summit, N. J.

Frances Kane Wright notes on the alumni fund envelope that she, her husband and five children will be living in London, England until the spring of 1967. They would love to hear from any William and Mary-ites who happen to be in London. Their address is 42 Hanover House, Regents Park, N.W. 8. Phone PRI 4901.

L. Daird Lindauer writes that he has been a partner in the Law firm of Bangel, Bangel and Bangel in Portsmouth since Jan. 1, 1965. Congratulations! Daird's address is 1321 Augusta Ave., Portsmouth, Va.

Charles and Jay Hyle moved to the Minneapolis area in June and are enjoying exploring their new state. Buck is with Inland Container Corporation in sales. They have two daughters, 14 and 12. Jay writes that she is active in P.T.A., New Neighbor's League and St. Alban's Episcopal Church choir.

Received many welcome Christmas cards from class members this year. Ruth Richmond Austin writes from sunny Tampa, Florida that she is President of the Carrollwood Garden Club, and stays busy coordinating their many activities. Jim is with Martin and Associates, and they have two children, Jimmy and Carol. Ruth and Jim recently spent a week's vacation in Miami.

Ed Griffin, still in Germany with Stars and Stripes, says the children are in German kindergarten and becoming fluent in the language. Alison and the children spent three weeks in Ireland last April while Ed was in London and Paris. Then they spent a lovely week in Alsace in September. The Griffins expect to come to the States on home leave at the end of May and stay until the beginning of July.

Also received a Christmas note from Norma Burgess Schrader, in Newport News. Norma and Jim have two children, Jenny and Ann, and they all enjoy tennis.

Marie Stevens Harrison writes that they are in the throes of construction at her house adding on a much needed playroom-den. Lindsey, 5, is in kindergarten now and Tom is 2. Marie and Surry took in several football games this year—including Homecoming.

Virginia Hawkins, now Mrs. Hight Smith of Dallas, Texas, received her Master's degree in Education from Southern Methodist University in December. She has two daughters.

Many thanks to Nancy Kurtz Falck for doing a very good job on the last issue. She was good enough to do the column since I didn't go to Homecoming.

The William and Mary Tomahawk marks items in class news columns which your editors feel are of more than passing interest to all alumni: noteworthy accomplishments, surprising information or, simply, good stories.

Also congratulations are in order for the Falck's on the adoption of Andrew Bichsel Falck on December 16th.

Other news received from Homecoming was a long letter from Liz and Bob Shuman, Bob thinks plans ought to be started for the 20th right now.

Sue and Randy Davis also enjoyed Homecoming and were visited by Betty and Henry Blanc and Jean and Jack Bruce. Also heard from was Nancy Dillard Dewing. I think everybody went but me.

Joanne and Dick Scofield were in Williamsburg for the KA 100th Anniversary Celebration. They saw Adelaide and Frank Angle, Peggy and Si Nelms, Lee and Harry Kostel and Bobby Doll who left his wife home to baby sit.

A letter from Nancy Rigg Kollock announced the addition of Meg Howtown to their family, born July 5th. Nancy's husband does Commercial and Fine Art and has several shows to his credit.

Shirley Lyons Hardwick was expecting her parents to visit them in London for the holidays.

Ruth Barnes Chalmers has brought a new house in Houston. They were planning a trip to Montego Bay after Christmas.

Jeanne Bambforth is teaching eighth grade outside of Philadelphia.

Yvonne and Woody Wayland have added John Mosby to their family on December 5th. They are still living near O'Hare Field in Chicago.

Skippy Beecher Scrymgeour and Bruce are still soaking up the Florida sunshine in St. Petersburg.

Ben Hamel became Manager of the Mobile, Ala. office of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith on January 1st.

Robert Wilson is living in Virginia Beach, is married and has one child. Robert works for the Bureau of Yards and Dock in Norfolk.

Dick Duncan has recently gone into business for himself—Duncan-Goodloe Associates, Insurance in Richmond.

John D. Kilbourne has become director of research and reference at the Maryland state Hall of Records in Annapolis.

John Kuemmerle has been elected Vice President of Schroder Banks in New York City. John and his wife and two children live in Cranford, N. J.

Robert Stevens was presented the Clarence Watson Award as "Southeastern Conservationist for 1965, For Distinguished Service in Fishery Research." Bob and his wife, Mary Hunter, '51 live in Moncks Corner, S. C. and have three children.

Joan Meadors Hawkins, '51 and Buddy send word of their activities in Ohio. They get back to Virginia several times a year.

Milly Johnson Woodling and Pete are very busy in Texas with Pete's job at NASA.

Harriet Burden Mathews, '51 are beginning to feel like Colorado is home. They live in Littleton.

From the Pierce family comes word that Janet Pierce Waller, '49 and John have adopted a daughter, Ellen Gale and Eddie Pierce, '51 have adopted a son.

Robert E. Engel has recently joined the staff of The Merrill Anderson Company, New York bank and trust advertising agency, as a trust writer and editor. Previously he was Legal Editor of Trusts and Estates Magazine for Matthew Bender and Company, and has been associated with the legal firms of Meloney, Dick and Engel, and Milbank, Tweed, Hadley and McCloy. He started his business career in March 1956 in the Personal Trust Department of Chase Manhattan Bank.

William K. Kapp is Division Sales Manager for "Sales Management," the magazine of marketing in New York City.

Peggy Anne Benedum Stout is in Okinawa at present. She writes, "In November I went on a trip into Southeast Asia which included Hong Kong, Macau (a delightful Portuguese colony bordering Communist China), Singapore, and the most delightful of all, Bangkok. I went from Okinawa to Singapore on a Dutch ship where I made friends with people from the Union of South Africa, New Zealand, Italy, Korea (there were 385 migrating to South America). A group of Ukrainians boarded in Hong Kong also going to South America to resettle under plans of the United Nations." There was a certain air of excitement about sailing through the waters off the coast of Viet Nam with planes checking us from time to time.

As a new year brings time for reassessment, it prods my conscience to be a better correspondent. And so, here are a few of the past events concerning our classmates.

Two of my favorite people have, unfortunately, lost two of their favorite people—Meredith Stewart Ferebee's mother passed away as did Peggy Derring Lewis's dad. Meredith and John are kept busy, though, by Terry, Stewart & Anne, while Peg & Dickie keep pace with Susan, Ricky & John. While on the children topic, a new Ryder has joined the future alumni—Amanda was born to Doug & Arline Ryder on Aug. 12th, joining brothers Jeffrey & Scott. Doug's current address puts him in Fountain Valley, Calif.

Coming back cross country, we find Ron & Betsy Skinker Barnes ready to leave Iowa for Grand Forks, N. Dakota where Ron is to be Dean of Students at the University. The Barnes newsletters are always so interesting—here are some excerpts. During most of '65 they included a 15 year old as their foster daughter along with their own Lisa & Timothy, plus two new puppies (brave Betsy!). Their community activities read like a who's who. We all wish Ron much happiness in his new job and the University of North Dakota is getting a most capable dean.

Had a holiday card from Taffy (Lay) & Jeff Davis out Cincinnati way. Kim, Kelly & Stephen are their 3 kiddies.

Coming eastward, we find Mary & Gene Burns (Bill & Andrew, too) wishing us well from Ridgewood, N. J. (my original hometown), and Jim & Mary Alyce Harvey Tuska send their Christmas greetings from Pennington, N. J. (my immediate past residence). Mary Alyce has two girls—Jeannette & Evelyn.

From the deepest South—St. Petersburg—came a newsletter from Katie Byers Hoffman, Bob, Eric, Brett & Cathy. Bob continues his busy hospital practice, while Katie is working toward her final 5 semester hours to obtain a Florida teaching certificate. Katie happily writes that they are building a new home.

My Marietta contact with Dr. Bob Sessions is mostly limited to teaching his two year old Jeanie in Sunday School. Bob's surgery practice continues to grow and from all reports he is doing a wonderful job. And picture this—he and Jean recently acquired a Rolls Royce to carry around Kimby, Robie, Susie and little Jeanie. '52 really rolls along in style!

As for me, with another handful of grey hairs sprouting (thank goodness for Revlon Colorsilk!), I have sent my second daughter out into the big world of first grade. One more to go, folks! Most absorbing new events in my recent past are joining a Garden Club and helping in the newly-formed Mental Health Clinic as a volunteer receptionist.

Since it's been almost 14 years that we donned cap and gown, the plaintive class-secretary's question—where are you now??? Fred Allen, class president, "Perk" Perkins, vice pres., Julie Youngquist, historian, Dick Sayford, our Colonial Echo editor, Tillie Prichard of the Royalist, and Audrey Doll Bates of the Flat Hat. And what's become of Claudia Richmond, Mac Richey, Mavis Walter, Bill Bigelow, Helen Wesson, the other Katie Byers, Irv Raskob, Marty Paisley, Kathryn Gray, Dick Hildick, Jeep Friedman, Rusty Davis, Phil Denman, & Russ Barrett. Still waiting to hear from: Edie Moser, Bob Barlowe, Fran Jewell, Haynie Trotter, Jeanette Mussman, the DuVal brothers—Frank & Tom, Rosie Dwyer, Ed Wisbauer, Mary Jane Gill, Dick Hutcheson, Arden Hennig, & John McDaniel. Please resolve to write us in '66 because there are so very many of you we haven't heard from.

Many thanks to those of you who took the time to add a note to your Christmas card. Im passing on your news as my two-year-old stands at the sink washing dishes, so will hope for a coherent letter!

"Bebe" Fisher Arbuckle sent an extremely interesting letter from her home in Hutchinson, Kans. The entire family, including Dave, Dana and Jess, are busy with their "Pony of the Americas." Bob bought "Bebe" her first fur coat, in her words, in the shape of a P.O.A. mare, Sequin Penny W! She brought home the Grand Champion Mare trophy in her first show, which meant all were off on the show circuit to Nebraska, Missouri, Oklahoma, Colorado, plus shows in Kansas. The three children all brought home ribbons in the International Show in July. This summer the Arbuckles joined "Wagons Ho" for a wagon train trip along the Butterfield Trail. They survived a mock Indian attack, a night bath in the Smokey Hill River and a visit from the Pony Express.

I received from the McCanns in Lynchburg a leaflet telling of Frank McCann's qualifications as a Republican candidate to the Virginia House of Delegates. Frank lost the November election to all-American William "Bullet Bill" Dudley. But what a list of credits go to the losing candidate! Frank is busy with his private law practice, the Capitol Federation of Cosmopolitan International where he acts as Judge Advocate; the local Navy League; legal counsel of the Virginia Young Republican Federation; the Lynchburg Cerebral Palsy Drive as chairman; Young Republicans Club as president; the Holy Cross Knights of Columbus as Chancellor; the Bar Association, Chamber of Commerce, Elks, American Legion, etc. etc. You probably know there are seven McCann children ranging from 11 to 2. What a busy household!

Speaking of the Virginia House of Delegates, John Dalton was elected to such this past fall as a Republican Delegate. Many congratulations, Johnny.

Emmy Ketterson Smith told of visiting with "Bumpy" Bozarth Davis and her four children when they came through Indiana. "Bumpy's" husband, "Sommie," has sea duty at present. Emmy also has seen Edie Moser Bezzell '52 and Barbie Bowman Allison in Boston. Two of Emmy's three children climbed Mt. Washington with their parents this summer. Dan will again be at Harvard next summer.

From Tuscaloosa, Ala., came Harriet Willimon Cabell's news. She and her husband have become interested in working with retarded children. "Harry" is director of a pre-school group of retarded children and spends about 30 hours a week with them, especially helping with speech difficulties. She expected to see Dr. Bob Barrett during the holidays. The Cabells also are busy with four children of their own.

Kitty Shawer Gaertner is now in Campaign, Ill. She spent the summer in Cocoa, Fla., and also assembled material

Teaching English To A Major

IN LIBERIA, English is the national language. But there are 26 separate native languages, so most citizens have an English vocabulary of 50 to 100 words.

Richard Bethards '49, a speech specialist in the National Scientific Laboratories of Washington, has written a 550-page book with which he hopes to teach second-grade English to Liberian soldiers. All army communications are written in English—so it's sometimes a problem passing along "the word."

Bethards, of Monrovia, Liberia, conducts a course in English in a small school in an army camp in the bush, where he has a 10-position language laboratory, complete with tape recorders and playback facilities. The course is given for six hours a day, five days a week, over a four-month period.

He teaches from a small vocabulary and expects no more than a 30-per cent success rate among the soldiers, many of them from tribes. His book, he believes, will improve that percentage considerably.

His classes are said to be the first to teach literacy by the use of language labs.

Bethards, who earned a master's degree from Harvard, taught for three years at Roberts College in Istanbul, Turkey, after teaching English and German in public and private schools in the United States.

He worked with the Congolese army in Luluabourg, where he taught native soldiers enough English to let them take training in the United States. In his language laboratory in the Congo, his students included soldiers ranking from corporal to major. But his school there was discontinued after six months because Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu ordered the students back to fighting the rebels.

for his thesis on the Missile Sites Labor Commission. She saw several shots close up including Gemini 5 and also toured the Vehicle Assembly building.

Our class president, Carmen Romeo, his wife, and four children are now relocated in Waynesboro, with the labor and community relations section of General Electric. They had been living in Allentown; new address as of April will be 721 Gwynne Avenue, Waynesboro.

Ed and Ginnie Gary Lupton spent a warm Christmas in Hawaii where Ed presently is stationed. They have seen Pete and Sandy Bettiger Crenier '54 there. Pete is a representative of Scott Paper Co.

Anne Hines Fuller, husband and daughter are still in Bethesda, Md.

George Ritzel and his wife are in Richmond and often see familiar faces from College. George ran into Bill Hilliard '54 in Buffalo, N. Y. at a national Jaycee convention.

Ginny Campbell Furst and husband, Bill, hope to make use of their Christmas ski equipment this winter. The Fursts and their two children made a summer trip to Colorado.

Barby Schwartz Smith, husband Jim, and their three children visited with the Arbuckles on the farm in Kansas at Thanksgiving time. The Smiths now live in Oklahoma City. Barby and "Bebe" chatted by phone with Mary Ellen Romney Baude who moved to Denver, Colo. last August.

Al and Joann Lore Kersey are busy with their three children and with community projects. Al is now a district officer in the Lions Club. Jean Kramer Gray's husband also is a member of the same club. The Grays have three children.

Marilyn Zaiser Ott '55, husband and three children moved to Cincinnati, Ohio, last spring.

"Rite" Oldfield is still with the U. S. Embassy in Ontario for at least another year, then off to another part of the world. She broke her leg skiing last year and probably is an expert by now!

Kenneth Slater has been named lay minister in charge of St. Andrew's Mission for the Deaf near Boston. He previously had worked in the accounting field for seven years. He entered the Church Army training program in 1960 and did graduate work at Gallaudet College in Washington. Kenneth is married and has two sons.

Dot Hagberg Bower, husband and three daughters sent a card from Hanover, N. H. Dick has a Ford grant to do research which will postpone teaching for a year. Dot is working at Tuck School doing computer programming. She also is taking cello and silk screening lessons! Such a busy gal. The Bowers are looking forward to skiing again this winter.

Jay and I send best wishes for a happy year ahead to all.

"Robinson Crusoe," a dramatization of the Daniel Defoe classic tale, was recently presented at Fort Lee, N. J. The hero of the play was portrayed by William Farley. He received his master's degree in Theatre Arts at NYU. He has appeared with Helen Hayes, Olsen and Johnson, and is recognized for his parts on the Phil Silvers show on TV, and is a clever comic in his own right.

Thankful for your holiday notes and letters, I have much news this time. An enjoyable letter with picture included was from Anne LeHew Legge, who, with her three children and husband, Reynolds, has moved into a new old house three miles north of Winchester, Va., where they are enjoying the charm of its antiquity and the additional space. She eagerly encourages friends from William and Mary to visit.

Phyllis Woodyard Williams is still happy living in Houston, though a recent trip to Paris was even more exciting, so much so that she cannot wait to go back.

Nancy Jane Lovell Dean, '53, sent me the notice of the death of Mary Kyster Scott, who was with her mother and her children in Bethesda at her mother's home, planning to remain there while her husband, a major served a tour of duty in Korea. She died on November 28. She had three children, a daughter and two sons.

Jim Duff has been named Assistant Product Manager for Scovell Manufacturing Company and has moved back to New Jersey from Nashville, Tenn. His address is 2 Allen Drive, Convent Station, N. J.

The annual, happily anticipated letter from the Barnes family came, this time with news of a new position for Ron. Betsy, Ron and family will move to Grand Forks, North Dakota, where Ron assumed the post of Dean of Students at the University of North Dakota at the end of January.

Dr. Nathan Carb was promoted to Professor of English at Glassboro State College at Pitman, New Jersey. He is the youngest full professor in the college's history. He and his wife, Jackie, toured Europe last summer. They have two boys, Steve, 3½, and Robert 8.

Carol Myers Mifflin just returned from an interesting year in England, where they made long-lasting friends, and took trips to Wales, Scotland, Ireland, and on the continent, Holland, Belgium, Germany, France, the works!

Graham and Jane Pillow are both working at Christopher Newport College in Newport News, Va. Graham is teaching Physics still, having received his Master's degree recently from William and Mary, and now Jane is the Assistant Registrar. She has begun working on her Master's degree also.

Tom Gutherie, now of Charlottesville, has been promoted from senior underwriter to underwriting unit supervisor of State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Co., North Carolina Division, Eastern Office. He and his wife and son live at 1960 Lewis Mountain Road.

Those of you at Homecoming last October must be wondering what happened to all the news your reporter was gathering. Somehow I never received a deadline letter, and because our May issue came out in September I thought there was some sort of delay again. Anyway I'm sorry we were left out of all the big Homecoming news, so here it is somewhat late.

Skip and I stayed in Norfolk, but drove in each day for the big doings. At the Sunken Garden Memorial Ceremony we spotted Gene Guess and Subie, '56 who traveled all the way from Anchorage, Alaska. Also there were Marc and Betty Holloday Bellaire, Anne Lunas Vincent and Jerry, Donna Melnick Moskow and her husband, Carolyn and Joe Bacal, and Elaine Elias Kappel and Dick.

The Friday night class dinners were held at the Williamsburg Lodge with a hugh cocktail hour first. I gave up trying to balance pencil, notebook, and drink, but can tell you who was at the dinner. At our table were Shorty and Tish Rustad Herrmann, Dale Lutton, Floyd Craig and their wives, and Larry Phillips. At other tables were Babs Newberry Shebell and Pete, '54, Bea Verra Wissell and Conrad, Martha Briggs, Ron Drake and Carol, Shirley Staubs Jay, Jo Stephenson Miners, Mary Sue Pitman Aldridge and Dave, Darrell High Wittkamp and Bernard, Bill Neal and Libba, Bunny Scheie Belford and Ralph '56, Anne and Quinby Hines, Norm Moomjain, Joanna Evans Swanson and husband, Bruce Sturges and wife, Gail Wannon Mosher and Dick, Pat Sperb Waby and David, Joan Mattson Kriszat and Fred, Debbie Young Caufield and Donald, Anne Zimmerman Kulp and Paul, Betty and Marc Bellaire, Anne and Jerry Vincent, and Gene and Subie Guess. Ed and Bob Coco and their wives dropped in for a few minutes to see everyone.

A picnic lunch was held in front of the Phi Beta Kappa Hall Saturday and most of those mentioned before attended. Some new faces were Betty Lowe Eaton and her husband Jim. Jim is in the Navy stationed in Norfolk and they live in Portsmouth with their 2 boys and girl. Their oldest boy was with them and so excited about seeing a football game. Others we hadn't seen before were Lee Everitt Kostel and Harry, '51, Jim Todhunter, and Sarah Jane Blakemore and husband. At the football game we were so pleased to see Marie Comley Williams and Dave who was a William and Mary Law School graduate in '55. It seems they live in Bethlehem, Pa. which is only about an hour and a half drive from us.

After a glorious win, we ran off to another crowded, but festive cocktail party and spotted more alumni we hadn't seen before. Among them were Barbara Coogan, Joe Campagna, Doug Profitt, and Roger and Vivian Krick Hill. We finished our big weekend with a dinner dance at the Motor Lodge. Quite a few of the class of '55 attended, all of whom have already been named. It was really a marvelous reunion and everyone seemed anxious to make the next one.

Caroline Brown Moon called me before Homecoming. She had been staying at her parents' home in Wachung, N. J. while waiting for her new house in Flemington to be finished. The Moons have a little girl about 1½ years old. Tim is an architect who attended William and Mary for one year and graduated from the University of Virginia. Caroline said Sally Stoker Neyendorff had adopted a baby girl last May. She also said that Cynthia Frye Howes and Hal were at McGuire Air Force Base and have one son, Walter, age 9.

The week before Homecoming Bruce Muni called and at that time he was planning to attend. Bruce works in Chatham, N. J. for Travelong and comes through Westfield quite often. He and his wife and two children live in Hazlet.

Christmas cards also brought news. Pat Culpepper Powell sent greetings from Norfolk, Va. Christmas was a busy season for them as Floyd is a music director and besides his own choir helped with the presentation of "The Messiah" at the Norfolk arena. Their two girls are Amy Lynn, 4, and Wendy, 14 months. Jane Kesler Upshur writes that she and Bill occasionally get to say hello now that she's back in school as a junior and Bill is working toward an M.A. in philosophy. They live in Summerville, S. C., and have a son and daughter. Pat McClure Caplice hoped to make Homecoming, but one of their four children got sick. Jane Ottaway Dow also hoped to attend, but their baby was sick.

Carol Kent Carlson wrote a combination Christmas greeting and wedding announcement. She said when I received it she would be in Palm Springs, Cal. on her honeymoon. Carol and Louis were married Dec. 19th in Los Angeles. Louis is a psychology major and plans to get his masters from California State College this spring and be a school psychologist. Carol has been promoted to secretary and assistant to her company's Accounting Systems Analyst. She also writes that her brother Kevin graduated from William and Mary Law School last June. Carol's new address is 2908 Exposition Blvd., #3, Santa Monica, Cal. 90404.

From the alumni office come the following class notes. Allan Roby has been appointed assistant actuary, group pension department, at Connecticut Life Insurance Company. Allan is a Fellow of the Society of Actuaries and serves on its Education and Examination Committee. He is married to the former Patricia Speltz of Memphis, Tennessee. They have three children and live in West Hartford, Conn.

Joann Spitler was awarded a Master of Commerce degree from the University of Richmond in August. Joann is an advertising and public relations assistant for Life of Virginia and was featured in their publication Licova News. The article stated that Joann became editor of the Licova News in 1957 and was advanced to her present position in Sept. '64. Joann is a busy gal. She serves as chief advisor for the First Baptist Church's teenage paper and is secretary of the Junior Department of the Christian Training Fellowship. Now that she has her degree Joann plans to take a religion course at the university and devote even more time to church activities.

Bob Elzey writes that he is a Lieutenant Commander in the Navy and has been in over 10 years now and hopes to go for 30. He is presently deployed to the Mediterranean Sea aboard the USS Forrestal serving with the Sixth Fleet. He expects to be transferred in March when his squadron returns, but doesn't know where his next flying assignment will be.

Mary Sue Pitman Aldridge is teaching Elementary Cocal Music in Frederick County. Her husband, Dave, is a lawyer in Frederick and they have a daughter, Anne Katherine, 3.

Write lots of news right away, so that we'll have another big column in May.

Greetings! And a Happy New Year to all! Christmas cards are a blessing—we have lots of news.

Barbara Mitchell Welch writes that she and Paul and daughter, Kimberly, have moved into a new home in Annandale, Va. Living five minutes away are Charlie and Lois Vill Carter. The Carters had a son last March, rounding out their family to two boys and two girls. The Welches and Carters are already making plans to attend our 10th reunion (eek! does that make you feel old?) at Homecoming this October. In fact, just about everyone I heard from said they were hoping to be there—you others start thinking about it too so we can have a real successful reunion!

In their annual Christmas letter, Mario, Hloy and daughter, Popita, catch us on the Peña's doings. Both Hloy and Mario are attending Florida Atlantic University; Hloy doing graduate studies in education and Mario working towards his Master's. Last summer they directed coeducational camp in Highlands, N. C., which Mario says was a lot of work but rewarding—even though he finished the summer in the hospital with a good case of mumps! Last fall they were pleasantly surprised by a visit from Gene and Subie Guess from Anchorage, Alaska. Now they are settled in a new home in Ft. Lauderdale and Mario continues teaching math and science in the upper elementary division. Mario, also, is hoping to make it to our reunion!

Dabs of news: Dave and Sue Colclough Crouch have a son, Neal, born last February. Jack and Elaine Pratt Carlin gave their son a sister last October. They are hoping to make the trip from Milwaukee to Williamsburg this October. Joanne Napolino Bickel writes that she and Alex and two daughters have moved into "an old, white elephant of a house" in New Haven, putting them within walking distance of Yale, where Alex teaches. John and Pat Wells McDonnell and son have bought a home in Falls Church, Va. Doralie Hultquist Rafferty writes that they are in the process of building a house in Overland Park, Kan., which they hope to move into this spring. She and Bob are planning to leave their two boys long enough to come to Williamsburg for our reunion. Tribble King, a New Yorker with a southern accent these days, is looking forward to Homecoming and our reunion. Ken and Sally Ives Coons left their two sons last fall for ten glorious days in Puerto Rico, trying to soak up enough sun to last them all winter. Sally and Tribble drove to Hartford last fall to visit Patty Speltz Roby and the three are planning another get together soon in N.Y.C. Jane Dougherty Marfizo writes that Bill is doing well in his dentistry practice and that he and their two daughters keep her plenty busy. John and Elle Martling added daughter, Susan, to their family last May. They now have two girls and a boy. Dan and Meta Fooks Rickard had a son, Paul, born last August at the Air Force Academy where they are stationed (along with daughter, Ann) for a year. Roland and Sue Whaley Howard are now living in Pittsburgh with their three daughters where Roland is working for Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. Bill and Betty Scidler Howser visited Jim McInnes and family in their new home in Winston-Salem last fall and the four of them made plans to attend our reunion. Betty adds that Paulette Yates Glove hopes to be there next October, too.

From the Alumni Office we learn that Gray Bromleigh, working for Bell Telephone Laboratories in N.Y.C. as assistant editor of The Record, a company publication, was recently elected Republican municipal chairman of New Providence, N. J., where he lives with his wife and two daughters. Also, that Douglas Smith, living in Richmond with his wife and daughter, has been named district manager for Va., Md., and W. Va., for the National Chamber of Commerce.

That's it! Thank you one and all!

A very happy 1966 to you all. At this writing I'm just home from the hospital with our fourth daughter, Whitney Taylor, who arrived January 11.

Received a nice letter from Pete Kalison who produces ABC Network radio sports shows and does production work for ABC-TV Sports in New York City. His job keeps him traveling a lot, but he still finds time to be president of the William and Mary New York Metropolitan Area Alumni Chapter. He spoke at William and Mary's Athletic Award dinner last May at the College. He and his wife, Narska, and their first child, Kristina Helen, born January 3, 1966, live in their new home at 30 Surrey Road, Somerset, N. J.

Peter mentioned that Frank Patella is working for AT&T in Washington, D. C. and Bill Ouseley and his wife are in Prairie Village, Kan. where Bill is an FBI agent.

Tom and Jo Ann Nelson Horton are living at 3915 Oberlin Court, Tucker, Georgia. Tom has recently been appointed Director of Underwriting with the United Trust Life Insurance Company in Atlanta. They have one son, Thomas Wade, born September 14, 1963, and adopted in March 1964.

From Willie McKenna's letter after Homecoming we learned that Elaine Abbott Houghland and her husband, Wright, and their two boys are living in Williamsburg where Wright is in business for himself as an architect. Wayne Adams and his wife were down from Richmond. After several years in business he decided to take up dentistry and is now in his second year of school. Don Harris and his wife drove up from Norfolk where Don is a Navy chaplain. Aggie and Carolyn Vassos live in Williamsburg and Aggie is teaching in the Transportation School at Fort Eustis, Va. Karin Waters Hogge and Ken were there from Hampton where Ken is a lawyer.

Mary Ripley Barry also wrote after Homecoming. She and John and Wally and Shirley Ross Wood stayed with Lud and Pam Johnson. She mentioned having seen Phil Colcough who's in the insurance business in Winchester, Virginia; Larry Loung who is a manufacturer's representative in Richmond; Fred and Bobbie Hobbie Aumcamp; Bud and Lynn Wescott Johnson.

Lion Miles has recently completed training at American Airlines' Flight Training Center, Fort Worth, Tex., and has been assigned to the flight crew base at La Guardia Airport. He lives in Croton-on-Hudson, N. Y. with his wife and two children.

Alex and Carolyn Scheele Fakadej '58 are the proud parents of a third daughter, Sarah Louise, born November 29, 1965.

Ann Lee Bruin and Jim are in Rhode Island since Jim had the honor of being chosen to be a student at the Navy War College.

Thanks to Betsy Stafford Elliott, who furnished the most news for this issue! Betsy and Frank moved to Richmond in September with sons David, age 4, and Michael, 16 mos., from Springfield, where Frank was in high school guidance. Presently he works in the research division of the State Department of Education. Betsy is expecting a daughter in May.

Aggie, '57, and Carolyn Sue Bernard Vassos are living in Williamsburg. Aggie is working in the capacity of an instructor at Fort Eustis, and Carolyn Sue, after several years of teaching, is leading a "leisurely" life as a housewife. Their little boy, Howie, will be four in June.

Al and Sandie Longfellow Ferguson are still living in Woodstock. Al recently sold his newspaper there and is presently winding up the affairs connected with the sale. They have two children, Elizabeth, age 4, and Bobby, age 1.

Loje Lee Speers, is living in Karachi, Pakistan, with her husband, Mike, and their two children, Julie and Mitchell. Mike is with the Agency for International Development. For awhile they lived next door to the Russian First Secretary an experience they found quite interesting. Recently while on leave, they visited Bombay, Djakarta, Singapore, and Hong Kong.

Jane Anne Mathes Dick and her husband, John, are still living in California, where John is a physician in the space program, but they are contemplating a move back East. They have a daughter, Alice.

Capt. Tom Lightner, back from a tour of duty in Viet Nam, is living in Fort Sill, Oklahoma, with his wife, Carol, and their two children, Jeff and Julie. They were in Dallas, Texas, in October, where they saw Tim and Susie Moore Cochran.

John and Roney Chesson, '59, Morton are living in Metairie, Louisiana, just outside New Orleans. John is an associate in an architectural firm, and they have a son, John.

J. Hamilton and Judy Watts Andrews are living in Arlington. Andy works for the National Science Foundation, and Judy does some substitute teaching in one of the local high schools. They have a daughter, Sally Beth, who will soon be 2 years old.

Nicky Macy and her husband, Clem Pease, are still living in Berkeley Heights, New Jersey; and Clem works for the Bell Telephone Laboratories. They have two children, a daughter, Judy, age 4, and a son, Scott, age 2.

Lina Linton and her husband, Mike Williams, are presently living in Anaheim, California, where Mike teaches history. Mike recently completed the work for his M.A. in history, and they are planning to come East, possibly to Connecticut, next year to live. A son, Christopher Linton Williams, was born in April.

Dick and Barbara Saunders Shively are still in Canoga Park, Cal. Barbara has been taking some classes at U.C.L.A. to get certified to teach in California and says that she will be student teaching all this semester. She said that Dick was in Williamsburg in November, sort of a "detour" on a business trip. They have two boys, Steve and Scott.

Bob and Sidney Saunders Sumpter are now living in Amelia. They have a new daughter, Suzanne, to keep the twins, Sam and Bill, company.

Sally Howard Thompson is living in Alexandria with her two boys, Chad and Kevin, while her husband is serving a tour of duty in Korea as Aide de Camp to the Chief of Staff, Eighth U. S. Army.

Diane Montague Morsey writes from Leavenworth, Kans., that husband Jim left for Viet Nam in August and hopes that he'll be back next August. She said many William and Mary alumni there: Jean Kirsh Gressette, '56, Anne Rich Palastra, '59, Louise Green Crow, Ellie Lundburg Marthing, '56, to name some. Diane's son Scott is in first grade and daughter Jill in nursery school, so Diane is busy with club work.

Dr. Albert D. Kowalak is now an instructor in chemistry at V.P.I. He was formerly a research assistant in chemistry there and received his Ph.D. in 1965. Marion Duerr is an assistant to the Director of the Computer Division of Bryant and Stratton School in Boston. She also lives at and is director of an Emerson College private sorority house—with 36 upperclass girls. She is a member of the Young Republican Club in Greater Boston, and was planning to join the Boston Publicity Club when she wrote last October. Margaret Bruce Stewart has been living in New York City for the past six years and is teaching remedial reading at P.S. 51 on the West Side. She plans to attend N.Y.U. next fall. Bev Wilson Palmer is teaching English part time at the newly-formed women's college in Claremont, Cal., Pitzer College. She has one daughter, 1½ years old.

Mary Aleese Shaw Schreiber wrote from Kirkwood, Mo., that her oldest, Scott, started school this year, and that she is room mother with Betty Edge Garcia, whose oldest little girl is in the same room. Gail Morgan Filion has a son Vic, age 17 months at this writing, with blond curly hair and big blue eyes. Gail said she is expecting a girl in April. Ross is involved in psychology research at Princeton. Nancy Mowlds King is in France with the Air Force—and has had son number three. Ginny Kendall Cooper and children are in California. Gail said that she saw Dave Little several times last year while he was with the repertory company at McCarter Theater in Princeton. He's been very active in the acting business. He spent last summer at the Great Lakes Shakespearean Festival in Cleveland, and is back in New York City now, where he plans to resume his study of acting. She saw Pete Neufeld one night at the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts during the summer. He is an assistant manager at the New York State Theater there. Paul Gardner is or has recently been a T.V. critic for the New York Times according to Rusty Dietrich McDaniel. Carolyn Scheele Fakadej had another little girl, Sarah Louise, born November 29, 1965, in Wichita Falls, Texas. Liz Mitchell Day in Alliance, Ohio, is teaching sixth grade this year. She and Phil have bought a new home. They have a boy, Jeff, 3½ years, and a girl, Ann, 1½ years. Pattie Lynn Adams, Mason Anne, and Bill Slaughter, '59, are at Fairchild AFB in Washington, where Bill is a captain. Sally Smith Manifold wrote that husband Rod is Safety Director at the U.S.M.A., West Point, N. Y. They often see Gretchen Grunenfelder Guise and her family—a girl almost two, Gabby, and John George, born last June. Sally has a boy Bill in first grade and a girl Diana, age 4.

George and Gretchen Sedam Niedermayer have a new daughter, Sarah, the third child. George opened his medical practice in Internal Medicine in Philadelphia this past summer. Pete and Donna Cole Goodwin have moved into a new home in Philadelphia, and are expecting their second child in January. Larry and Muffy Funk Houstoun had their first child, a daughter, Alexandra, this past fall. They are in Princeton, N. Y., temporarily on a Job Corps assignment, but may be back in Washington by now. Peg Brooks hopes to finish a Masters in Rehabilitation Counseling at the University of Georgia by the end of the summer. Raymond and Ginny Anding La Charité both passed Ph.D. orals last June, and are working on their dissertations now at the University of Pennsylvania.

More news from Betsy Elliott—Barbara Teagarden Thomason is living in Fairfax with her husband, Scott, and their four boys. Weldon and Arlene Laurent Helmus have moved from Wisconsin to New Jersey with their 2 year old. He is with J. C. Penney there.

Thank you all so much for writing. It was a big help.

Christmas brought greetings from far and wide which are always a delight to receive. Lu Shillat had a marvelous summer traveling around the world in 80 days exactly—purpose of the trip being a Fulbright summer seminar on Indian History and Culture. She spent 8 fascinating weeks in India and returned home via Bangkok, Hong Kong, Japan, and Hawaii but admits her students are now tiring of her constant use of India as an example. Kathy Hickam Prout says her 5 year old Skipper has now begun nursery school and roly-poly 7½ month old Stuart is a real joy. Husband Bill is on a missile crew and hoping for a transfer soon; he will receive his B.A. in history this May from Little Rock University. Kathy reports that Diane Tucker and John Bridgwater are still in Cambridge, England, Diane having had to return to the states this Fall for her father's funeral. Kathy and Bill welcome any visitors in the Jacksonville, Arkansas area.

Another Captain's wife, Suzie Watters Jones writes from Fort Knox, Ky. where Bob is in the Armor Career Course. It's hard to believe their Julie is a 2nd grader, loving French, the Brownies, and dancing school, and that Frank is now attending half-day kindergarten. Bill Ryan regrets not getting down to visit the college but seems to enjoy his job in New Jersey. Gay Barnes and Tom Law sent a newsy letter from their new address: Rt. 2, Box 574, Greenville, N. C. 27834 which has been home since the end of August. Tom is the minister of Red Oak Christian Church which has about 200 members. What with decorating their parsonage and keeping up with Lisa, 4, Michael, 3, and Mark, 16 mos., Gay has her hands happily full.

Sandy Styron Wilbur's card brings us up-to-date on several people: Marianne Hodges '60 is with the Peace Corps teaching in Africa; Phyllis Atwood '60 and John Gouches are at St. Thomas, Virgin Islands where Phyllis is teaching. Sandy and Harry are pleased with their move from apartment to house. Joyce Hayter and Jack Ferratt also sent along a grand newsletter telling of life in Alexandria. What with Jack's job on the NIKE-X project, night courses in Reliability Engineering and Bomb Shelters, plus Joyce's tennis lessons, bowling (didn't you take that for PE, Joyce?), and canning they are also busy, but the brightest spot in their lives is Brion whose Cheshire cat smile sports 7½ teeth and whose first haircut brought out another of Daddy's talents.

James Herring wrote last spring (!) to tell of his work with the Anglican Church of Canada as Administrator of a Hostel for Eskimo and Indian Children in the Northwest Territories. He finds his work an interesting and valuable experience as we can imagine it must be. Dave Little was acting with the McCarter Theater Repertory Company in Princeton through November—where are you now, Dave? Also back last May, Roby Schrom Schmidt wrote from cool Wisconsin reveling in the welcomed change from hot Key West. While Ray works on his M.A. in International Relations at the U. of Wisconsin, Roby works parttime for the Department of Education keeping most of her time free for Doug. They live in an internationally flavored apartment building but interestingly enough she told me her cousin would be entering Northfield this year (that seems to be a non sequitur!). She's a lovely girl, Roby! Their new address is 506-G Eagle Hgts. Apartments, Madison, Wisc.

Dottie Haynie Bush writes that on Nov. 2 her husband, William E., a 1960 graduate of Marshall Wythe Law School, was re-elected Supervisor of the Town of Camillus, N. Y. (Pop. 24,000). Having been appointed in 1963, this is his second successful bid for re-election.

Various news releases: The law firm of Cohen and Wolf, in Bridgeport, Conn. announced the association of Stuart A. Epstein with the firm. He is a member of the Connecticut and California Bar Associations and is admitted to practice before the U. S. District Court in Southern Calif. Philip C. Tuck has joined the Boston, Mass. branch office of the Peerless Insurance Co. where he will serve as an underwriter. Richard Hawkins has been promoted at the Eastern Office (Charlottesville) of the State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Co. He has been named accounting manager.

Many thanks are sent to all of you who during the hustle of the holidays found time to write.

Debby McMahon O'Hara wrote a newsy letter from her home in Towson, Md. She and hubby Jack have three children now—Patrick, three; Kathleen, two; and Michael, one. Debby has joined the Baltimore Museum for relaxation other than the three small O'Haras.

She sent news of Bill and Pattie Lynn Adams Slaughter and their daughter Marion Ann, who are near Seattle, Wash., at Fairchild Air Force Base. Fay Young Kaufman is working toward her master's in English. Fay and Lester, who is in electronics, have a son, Craig, 2½ years old. Chuck and Erin Harrocks Findlay and two daughters live near the Kaufmans in the North Hollywood, Cal. area.

The William and Mary Tomahawk marks items in class news columns which your editors feel are of more than passing interest to all alumni: noteworthy accomplishments, surprising information or, simply, good stories.

John and Fran McLean Pforr are in close proximity to the O'Haras. John is with the Secret Service and during the past few months he has been at Gettysburg guarding ex-President Eisenhower. John and Fran have a 1½ year old son, Cameron.

Jack and Nancy Read McNichols have come home after two years in Spain. As of June they will be in Key West, Fla. This past fall, Nancy spent some time with Nancy Callahan who was motoring through Spain.

Bruce and Sherry Wood McCaskill are stationed in Glendale, Arizona and have a daughter named Jennifer. Jon and Priscilla Kreitzer Hopkins are in North Carolina. Both are quite active in church work, and Pris teaches retarded children.

From San Francisco, Merrily Long sends word of her activities. For the past five years she has been directing a small private nursery school. Last summer, she spent three months in Europe on a study tour of early childhood development. The group was directed by Temple University.

After five years Pat Boyer Borghi wrote from Los Altos, Cal. Glad to hear from you, Pat. Pat and John have three children, ages 2, 3 and 4, which she claims keep her busy 20 hours a day. Her husband received his Ph.D. last June and now is teaching at San Jose State College.

Two of our classmates are recent members of law firms. Phil Hendel is currently associated with the Kamberg and Berman firm in Springfield, Mass. and Warren Joblen has joined the law firm of Sherwood, Garlick and Cowell in Westport, Conn.

Mickey Gale Snead sent a card from Glenview, Ill., where Lewis and she will be for the forthcoming two years. Lewis is studying at Northwestern University, and Mickey is a homemaker and mother. Jim and Mew Welsh Doyle have added number three to their young bundles of energy. Martin is now 4, Sharon is 1½ and Christopher, a bare three months. They also are settled in the mid-West—Park Forest, Ill. Lake Forest, Ill. is the home for Taffy Evans, who is teaching remedial English and reading to freshmen and sophomores.

Mary Jane Thomas Stokes is retiring from teaching seventh grade to have her second child in April. She mentioned seeing Ricki King Wilson occasionally. The Stokes' home is still in Chester. Christmas greetings came from David and Lynn Carr Ladd in Columbia, S. C. Further into Dixieland John and Margie Fitton Hixon wrote from Montgomery, Ala. John is enjoying his banking endeavors, and Margie is caring for 20-month-old John Jr.

Frank and Sally Williams Merrick have bought an old colonial home on the Merrimac River in Amesbury, Mass. that was built in 1737. Amid restoration they moved the first of this year. Ross and Gail Erikson Anderson are living in Marblehead, Mass., where Ross is working for a company that makes racing cars.

Dean and Missey Griggs Sackett are residing in Hawaii. Dean is on the Plunger, a nuclear attack submarine like the Thresher was. Missey and little Skipper spent five weeks on a trip to Japan to be with Dean.

All of us who knew him were saddened by the death of Marine First Lt. Glenn D. Mann, '62, who was killed in action in Viet Nam on November 23. He had recovered from wounds received November 14 while on a combat mission, and had returned to flight duty. The first William and Mary alumnus to die in Viet Nam, Glenn was piloting a helicopter in the battle of Hiep Duc when he received his fatal wounds. Earlier in November Glenn had written the Flat Hat, criticizing the current student anti-Viet Nam demonstrations and urging William and Mary students not to take part in them. When they learned of his death, members of Pi Lambda Phi, Glenn's fraternity, started a successful campaign for blood donation by students to the Red Cross. A scholarship for the first time in August; her son is College. Shortly after his death memorial services were held at Chu Lai, South Viet Nam; and funeral services were conducted later in Arlington National Cemetery. Glenn and his wife Mary Margaret Dameron Mann, '62, had two sons, Glenn, Jr., three, and Scott, two.

Christmas brought more cheerful messages. Gobe and Karen Gobrecht's Christmas letter told of their travels while stationed on Okinawa, Gobe as Supply Officer for the Communications Group and Karen as Air Traffic Co-ordinating Officer. They have recently visited Bangkok and New Delhi. In November, Karen's tour of duty with the Air Force ended. After visits to Hawaii, New York, Connecticut, and Florida, the Gobrecht's have settled at Ent Air Force Base in Colorado Springs, where Gobe is working in the office of the Directorate of Supply and Service.

Another seasoned traveler, Barbara Barnhart Merrick wrote from Bukanu, in the eastern Congo, where she and her American Vice Consul husband are living. After teaching for three years in Baltimore, Barbara was married to Roger on December 29, 1964. They spent seven months in Leopoldville before moving to Bukavu for their tour of at least two years. Barbara runs a household of three servants who speak only Swahili, and she teaches English to Congolese at U.S.I.S.

A card from Tisa Piper Masci, Ron, and daughter, Robin, informs us that they are back in Fairfax and Ron is a stockbroker with Reynolds and Co.

Paul and Jane Stryker Bahn write from Ft. Sill, Oklahoma, that they are hoping to fly to the Washington area for a vacation in the spring. Paul would be interviewing for a job since he expects to be out of the Army this summer; and with daughters Evelyn and Becky and son Marc they would visit relatives near Washington.

News from Bill and Lynne Hagen Clarke, '60, was that just before Christmas, Sears transferred Bill to a store in Panama City, Florida. Steirling and I are hoping to visit them during spring vacation.

The alumni office has received a few interesting items. First Lt. Victor Lesher arrived in St. Louis in December to assume command of a detachment of the 1918th Communications Squadron. In San Diego, Gary Fentress has joined United States National Bank's staff as assistant trust officer. Bill Nicolai is still a media buyer at Grey Advertising in New York City. His two accounts are Renfield Importers and P. Lorillard Co.

Allan Brownfeld is a graduate assistant in government and politics at the University of Maryland. In December he completed a research project on Viet Nam for Congressman Charles Mathias of Maryland. Now he is working as an assistant to Senator Thomas Dodd of Connecticut. Allan reports that Shore Robertson is an officer in the Army, stationed in Atlanta. Joe Phillips is still practicing law in Williamsburg. John Meagher, '62, is working for Congressman Alexander Pirnie of New York. Fred Bartlett, '62, is an associate minister of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Pacific Palisades, California. Crammond Macomber, '62, is working for Hallmark Cards in Kansas City. Rolf Svendsen, '62, after receiving his Master's from Colgate University, is teaching in Mexico City.

Arnold and Patty O'Doherty Jones ('64) live in Columbus, Georgia, and have two children, Kelly, age 2½, and Arnie, 9 months old. Arnold played semi-pro football this fall while attending to his duties as Special Services Officer at Ft. Benning. When he finishes his active duty in the Army next summer he plans to return to teaching, either in Fairfax County or Alexandria. Arnold was backfield coach at McLean High School in 1964-65. Ronnie and Judi Jones are stationed at Ft. Benning, Georgia, also. Patty wrote that she and Arnold saw Joe Anne Smith Depuy ('65) when they were home in September;

Glenn D. Mann, '62

Marine First Lieutenant Glenn Dill Mann, '62 died in November, 1965, as the result of injuries suffered in combat in Viet Nam. The College, with the support of the Williamsburg community, of which he had been a resident, has begun a Glenn Mann Scholarship Fund which is being aided by a "one dollar per student" effort on campus.

Contributions to the Fund may be made to: The Endowment Association, Box 60, College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Va., specifying that the same should go to the Glenn Mann Scholarship Fund.

Bill is in Korea and Joe Anne is living in the Washington area. The Jones' often visited with Tom and Keven Farley Richardson ('64) while Tom and Keven were at Ft. Rucker, Alabama. Keven recently wrote me that Tom will leave for active duty in Korea on February 1 and that she will live in Ohio for the year. Tom has just finished fixed- and rotary-wing courses at Ft. Rucker.

Joe and Gail Potter Weston have been stationed at Ft. Ritchie, Maryland, for 18 months. Joe has decided to make the Army his career and is expecting new orders very shortly. The Westons see Suzanne Wood often, as she is the godmother of their son, Alex, who was born June 22, 1965. Alex's godfather is Bruck McCloy ('62) who returned from his Army tour of duty in France last April.

Marcia Clough writes that she and Allen Sheffer were married last August. Allen has been in the Army until recently and will be going back to the University of Maryland in February to resume his studies in engineering. Marcia is teaching a combination class of third and fourth graders in Fairfax County. Other news of interest from Marcia: Jean Garde and Steve Parker plan to be married in Williamsburg this June. Don ('62) and Peggy List Duvall are living in Upper Montclair, N. J., where Don is going to dental school. Joanna Scott Hennessey is living in Canada with her parents until her husband, Mike, returns from Vietnam. Mike and Joanna are expecting their second child in February.

Richard L. Michener received a Master's Degree in English and creative writing at Indiana University in June 1965. He now is teaching freshman English at University of Kentucky and working toward a Doctorate. He recently married Sandra Carlson who was a member of the class of 1965 at Indiana University.

Judy Leeds Kernell and her husband, Lee, live in Oak Ridge, Tennessee. Judy is harpist for the Oak Ridge and Knoxville Symphonies. Lee is in graduate school at the University of Tennessee. They have a two year old son, Robert William.

Dale Harris Cohen is working as a research chemist for the American Cyanamid Company at Bound Brook, N. J., while her husband Dick ('61) is serving as a lieutenant on active duty with the Army at Ft. Monmouth in the Office of the Staff Judge Advocate. Dick also maintains an office in Bound Brook where he is a partner in the law firm of Cohen and Cohen.

Emily Renzel is working in the Stanford University Development office. She sees Ernie and Lynne Cooper Hill, who live in Los Angeles, and Jerry and Dory Hyde Bracie. Dory is studying Sociology at the graduate level and she and Jerry left for Hong Kong in July where Dory is doing her field work. Mary Ann Dalton ('65) and Susan Levine ('65) visited Emily recently, as did Penny Stenbo, who is now a research assistant at Harvard.

Carroll Owens is presently a 1st lieutenant at Ft. Ord, California. He is a training officer and has been stationed at Monterey for 20 months but will be returning to Virginia in February when his tour of duty is finished. Carroll is married to Patty Bayliss ('62) and they have one son, Carroll W. Owens III.

Judy Murdock Snook writes that she and Don ('61) became parents of a daughter, Pamela Ann, on Christmas Eve. Judy taught second grade until the end of October. Don has helped establish a new system at the hospital at Ft. Knox during his active duty there. They will be getting out of the Army in July and hope to settle somewhere in the East.

On November 27, 1965, Lynne Marmaduke married Pat O'Malley. They will be stationed at Camp Le Jeune, N. C., where Pat is a Marine lieutenant.

Hartley Campbell has been living in Alexandria since graduation and working with the Department of Commerce in Washington as an international economist; she is presently writing a guide for American exporters. In addition, she has been doing volunteer work for the anti-poverty program and in this capacity has been sent into depressed areas of Michigan, Missouri, Kansas, New Mexico, and Alabama to help set up head start centers. Hartley traveled in Europe for a month last fall and plans to return there this February for skiing in Austria and vacationing in Madrid.

Bob Bess is presently a personnel management specialist trainee at the Lebanon Veterans Hospital. He was recently appointed to this position after having worked with the Virginia Employment Commission in Norfolk as an employment interviewer and counselor.

Doug Etka was recently promoted to the position of executive vice president of Lynch Brothers in Springfield, Va. Elvin Byler has joined the law firm of Samuel S. Wenger in Lancaster, Pennsylvania.

Susie McAnnaly Palmer writes that Tom took the bar examination early in December and then attended the National Moot Court Competition in New York City. Their daughter, Dayle, was 4 years old in December.

Libby Harrison has been on Okinawa with her husband Col. Robert C. Harrison for the past 20 months and has been teaching in elementary, junior high and high school within the American dependent school system. For two months she taught as a substitute in the International School in Bangkok. Libby and her husband are looking forward to returning to the U. S. in September 1966 and hope to be stationed on the Virginia peninsula again. Libby would like to hear from or see any William and Mary friends who are out in her part of the world; she can be contacted at Qtrs. 9, Plaza, Ft. Buckner, Okinawa.

Chico Herrick is in Atlanta for a two month assignment for his company, Variable Annuity Life Insurance. Although he works in the Washington office, he is here temporarily selling tax sheltered annuity to public school employees. In addition to his job with Variable Annuity, Chico is a tennis professional 7 months of the year at a country club in Washington. Among news items that Chico relates: Diane Barrett is teaching school in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida. Wayne Cokely is a second lieutenant in the Air Force. Bob Gaston is a claims adjuster with G.E.I.C.O. and goes to law school at G.W. in Washington. Ann Smith married Jim Hughes who is an account executive at WTOP. Ann works for the Post Office Department in the office of one of the administrative assistants to the Postmaster General. Sue Spillers works as an IBM programmer at the Dept. of Navy, Bureau of Ships. Frank Govern is a salesman for Sealtest Milk in Washington. Frank Silcox is a claims adjuster with Liberty Mutual. Tom Scott is teaching school in Alexandria and is selling life insurance for Mutual of New York. Emily Varter Barbee ('64) and Bart are living in Richmond where he is office manager of a psychological consulting firm and she is teaching.

Rosalee Johnson wrote an interesting and newsy letter about what she has been doing since graduation. Starting out as continuity editor for ABC in New York, she transferred a year and a half ago to CBS in Washington, serving as their promotional copywriter and public service director for television. At the end of January Rosalee begins a new job with the National Association of Broadcasters as a broadcast monitor for the Radio Code. As a "spare" time activity, Rosalee recently joined the writing and editorial staff of Career Girl Magazine—one of her stories will appear in the February issue. She will be covering career all over the country in the next few months and invites any William and Mary alumnae who hold what they feel to be interesting jobs to write her (4201 Mass. Ave. N.W., Apt. 3078, Washington 16, D. C.). Rosalee heard from Mary Gear recently—Mary has left her job at C.I.A. to do graduate work in history at G.W. University in Washington.

The Class of 1964 is keeping busy. It was a pleasure to hear from so many of you and to learn what you are doing.

Joey Krider Delano writes from Key West, Florida, where she and Kent are now living. After graduation, Joey attended the University of Mississippi taking courses in Guidance and Counseling; she also worked as the Graduate Counselor for Kappa Kappa Gamma. Dec. 22, 1964, she married Kent Delano '63; Kent is now a Lieutenant JG in the Navy and is flying the T-4 jet. Joey is teaching a mixed first and second grade class. In July they will be stationed at Oceana and plan to live at Virginia Beach.

Doug Vess writes that he is teaching French at Franklin High School and likes it very much. He is also taking some extension courses in Education from William and Mary.

Carol Evans Tetu writes that she, Bob, and new son Michael left Colorado in December for Ft. Rucker, Alabama, where Bob is now in flight school. She also informs me that Tom Barber was stationed at Ft. Carson, Colorado.

I am very thankful to Vicki Williams Giraud who supplied a great deal of news about you classmates. After graduation, Vicki traveled to Heidelberg, Germany, with Fredna Ross, where she worked for the Officers' Club of the U. S. Army. While there she married Lt. Hans Giraud, April 10, 1965. Hans is a 1962 graduate of Civil Engineering at the South Dakota School of Mines. Now living in North Hollywood, California, Vicki is the secretary to the Director of Finance and Public Relations of the Angeles Girl Scout Council, and Hans is a civil engineer with the Los Angeles County Engineer Department.

After completing her graduate program in government at Rutgers in June, Kay Burdett made a trip to Chile to visit her fiancée, Bruce Potter, who is in the Peace Corps. Kay is now working for the Federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare as a GS-9 with the Social Security Administration in Baltimore.

Vicki relates that Sandy Heagy is working on a newspaper in Charlotte, North Carolina; while Sharon Heffington is an Interior Decorator for Sears in Hampton, Virginia. Bonnie Engel, also in Hampton, is a Computer Programmer for NASA. Sydney Buttrill Costello became a mother for the first time in August; her son is Patrick Sean. Charles Griffith is in the Graduate School of Education at Columbia. Thank you Vicki for all of your news.

In November, I received a letter from Pete McPhee, who is now in Sydney, Australia. Pete is the General Planning Officer for the Nestle's Company. On December 4, 1965, he married Myrna Halliman of Sydney; they both plan to work in Australia until 1967 when they will return to the United States or go to England.

June 26, 1965, Sandy Talbert married Lt. John Howard Absalom III; they are now stationed in Spain. On November 20, Richmond saw the wedding of Kitty Anderson to Dick Carling.

For we teachers who claim we have a rough schedule, Gail Blake Wright, who teaches at Caledonia High School in Columbus, Mississippi, writes that she is teaching Trigonometry, Geometry, Algebra II, Algebra I, and 7th grade science. Husband, David, is a real-estate salesman for the Jim Walter Corporation there in Columbus.

Gail writes that Judy Parker Hamilton and Richard are both attending the University of Maryland. Al and Pam Etheridge are living in Charlottesville; Al is in Law School at the University of Virginia, while Pam is teaching the 5th and 6th grades. Joyce and Ike Ikenberry are now living in Panama City, Florida. This summer, Joan Thompson will marry Don Burchell '63, while Dedo McFadden, who received her Master's from Bryn Mawr, married T. McCutchen at Thanksgiving.

Correspondents through the William and Mary Fund are Dave Pond, who is working toward his Ph.D. in Chemistry at the University of South Carolina. Bill Overacre is now in Germany for a three year tour in the service. After graduation, Bert Anker attended the army's 6-month active duty program at Ft. Bragg, North Carolina; he is presently a junior accountant for a Newport News CPA firm. Joel Brook is in his second year at the New York University Medical School. Dan Root, now an Ensign in the Navy, just returned from a five-month tour in the Mediterranean. Julie Johnstone is teaching 6th grade in Annandale while studying for her Master's in Education at the University of Virginia extension.

Carol Jones, who teaches English at Fort Hunt High School in Fairfax County, married Don Smith on December 24; Don teaches speech and drama at Edison High School. Carol also relates that December 27 saw the marriage of Denise Brooks to Ed Anderson; Denise teaches at Marshall High School in Fairfax County. Joanne Bode is a social worker for the Episcopal Diocese of Washington. Judy Davis and Ed Johnson became engaged just before Christmas and are planning an April wedding.

Newspaper articles tell us of Frank C. Lepore of Little Silver, New Jersey. Frank completed the 8-week signal officer orientation course at the Army Southeastern Signal School at Ft. Gordon, Georgia; he is now a second Lt.

An article written by Lt. Donald A. Kerr appeared in the November 11 issue the Daily Register of Redbank, New Jersey. Donald, a ROTC student and graduate of the College in February, 1965, is now stationed with the army in Korea. Donald wrote an impressive letter discussing the question of pride and of the discontent that servicemen in the Far East have concerning the anti-draft demonstrations. He discusses the pride of voluntary service in return for a proud heritage and the privilege of United States citizenship. He writes, it is only dismay "for those of us serving with pride for those who would subvert the interests of the country to their own through reasons of selfish personal comfort." William and Mary can certainly be proud of Donald Kerr.

I shall take a break from studying for exams to write our class letter. I received some Christmas cards and a few letters bearing news, but I am sure we could do better! Kathy Power writes that she has a job as a radio announcer, continuity director, and newswriter for the Armed Forces network in Italy, and she is hoping for a higher paying job in Germany to finance a summer of touring before returning to the States.

Gretchen Van Dyck provided lots of news as to the whereabouts of the '65 Kappa Delta graduates. Diane Wilson and Marjorie Robert are sharing an apartment in Bethesda, Maryland. Diane is working for the government, and Marge is a research assistant in the Immunology Branch of the Cancer Institute at the National Institute of Health. Joanne Taylor is teaching at Hampton High School. Diane Kettner married Mickey Urmann last June, and they are presently living in Arlington where she is employed by the C&P Telephone Company. Peggy Coddington Barker and her husband, Jimmy, moved to California following their June wedding. They are finishing a tour of duty with the Air Force. Glenne Hines Young and Garry, '64, also went to California following their wedding last June. Glenne is working as a research assistant in the Department of Psychiatry at Stanford University. Pat McMahon is studying law at Emory University in Atlanta, Georgia, while Trilby Busch is working on her Master's in English at Ohio State. Gretchen was working as the psychometrist in the William and Mary counseling center, but following a February wedding, she and her husband, Captain Richard Daggett moved to Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Becky Ruffin also supplied me with information about many of our classmates. She has been in training with the Social Security Commission, going from Louisville, Kentucky, to Baltimore, and finally to Richmond in January for her permanent assignment. Becky writes that Libby Gebhart has been working in Williamsburg since graduation, but will be flying to Chicago soon to train with United Airlines.

Kenny Nichols is working towards his Master's degree in Sociology at Duke, while Donna Lynch is at the University of Maryland attending graduate school in radio and television. Mary Wilson Land and Jill Blevins are living in the same apartment house complex and working in Richmond. Rose Ella Sutherland will be joining them the first of the year. Pat Trevvett is teaching Spanish at Henrico High School near Richmond.

Virginia Moyer is in the Peace Corps in Turkey. Virginia Spain is employed by du Pont in Richmond in the programming division. Linda Mesimer is teaching in the Richmond area, and Ann Cook is teaching in Williamsburg.

Mary Ann Dalton is working in the Division of Biological Standards, National Institute of Health. She is conducting research on proteins under the direction of a prominent biochemist.

Many '65 graduates are still pursuing their education. Randy Adams, Jim Holliman, and Bill Wolfe are in Medical School at MCV in Richmond. Dick Wolfson is in graduate school at Vanderbilt; Chuck Lachenmeyer is in a sociology graduate program at the University of North Carolina; and Bob Bennett is in graduate school at Middle Tennessee State University.

Jay Louise Weldon is working for Reytheon just outside of Boston. Dianne Dettmer married David Maugham in December, and they returned to Seattle, Washington, where Dianne was formerly working and David is engaged in graduate studies in biophysics at the University of Washington.

Kathie Wiese is teaching French in a junior high school located in Wilton, Connecticut. She is living in New Canaan with Jodi Russell. (After transferring from William and Mary Jodi graduated from the University of Georgia) who is working for the Baker Furniture Company in New York. Kathie also sent along additional news. Judy Weismann is married and living in Texas where she is teaching elementary school. Pat Niccoli is doing programming for CIA in Washington, and Lynn Meushaw is doing graduate work at Catholic University in guidance. Ginny Whitener is in graduate school at the University of Kansas doing work in Psychology. Lynne Marcus is teaching high school French in Media, Pennsylvania, while Pam Cooke and Rusty Rollings are teaching in Richmond. Margie Hodges is in Roanoke employed as a librarian. Byrd Lacy Murray and Gene, '64 are in Alta Vista, Virginia where she is teaching.

Tom Yerkes is working in Wilmington, Delaware. Jimmy Little is getting his Master's in History at NYU and is living in the City. Laura Youngblood Meagher, and John, '62 are in Alexandria where she is teaching elementary school. Jean Ball Bugg and John are living in Mobile, Alabama. Margie Kelly is a receptionist for Philip Morris in Richmond. Babs Dunaway Bowers and Mike live at Fort Bragg, North Carolina. Susan Bunch Allen and Jeff, '64 are in Boston where she is teaching.

Ginny Blount writes from White Plains, New York that she and Sally Wells love their jobs at AT&T doing computer programming. She also reports that Kathy McGurrin Dunlap and her husband are living in Newton, Connecticut where Kathy is employed in computer operations at AT&T. I can imagine the programming that is getting done with that threesome!

Richard LeRoy is teaching English at Christ Church School in Virginia and Joe Ellis is working toward a doctorate in history at Yale. Ken Hutchinson is at Georgetown, and Pete Richardson is in the Army in Korea. Joe Lieb is getting his master's at William and Mary and teaching Physics. Howard and Mary Busbee are living in the James Blair Apartment and he is going to law school at William and Mary, as are Frank Fletcher, Tom Hollowell, and Ron Woerle. Skip Bamen is at Cambridge and is on the crew team there.

Ellen Rennolds sent a most interesting letter from New York City. She is working as a training supervisor in the Personnel Department of Bloomingdale's. She has taken the job on a temporary basis and is looking for permanent employment. Janet Thurman and Kim Routh are sharing an apartment with Ellen. It seems Kim is in charge of "the tables" in Macy's, the scene of much competitive shopping among female bargain hunters. Janet works for Time-Life as the assistant to the business manager of the editorial staff. They are all enjoying the plays, concerts, museums, and ballets afforded in the City.

FACULTY BOOKSHELF

(Editor's Note: We asked some members of the Department of Business Administration to describe, for alumni, books they are reading. The following are their comments.)

William H. Whyte, Jr., The Organization Man, Doubleday & Co., Inc., 455 pages.

In this best seller, William H. Whyte, Jr. has made a penetrating analysis of the influence of the big organization, e.g., the corporation, government, university and labor union as employers on the attitude, mores and values of mid-twentieth century Americans. The author concludes that the paternalistic nature of the large organization has changed the values and modes of living of this generation and has created a new class, the managerial class in society.

—Algin B. King

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., My Years With General Motors, Macfadden-Bartell, N.Y.C., 1965. 467 pages. (softback)

This business biography has become a reference book. It is to be read, again and again, by those interested in the history of the automobile and/or the development and testing of many of the management principles used in business today.

It contains a clear account of the development of the automobile to include some of the engineering problems that had to be solved and some that remain to be solved to this date.

For business men it provides an opportunity for a better understanding of return-on-investment as a management tool for decision making. It pro-tion, how does GM do it?

vides the best answer yet to the ques-

Many readers may find the book tedious, but for business men it can be classified as required reading and reference.

—Gilbert C. Jones

John L. Carey, The CPA Plans for The Future, American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, 1965. 541 pages.

This comprehensive review of the more important social, economic, political and international trends which are likely to affect the professional practice of accounting is based in part on a nine-year study by the Long-Range Objectives Committee of the Institute. Mr. Carey foresees the probability of an extension of the attest function beyond the measurement and communication of financial and economic data to appraisals of management performance by both corporate and government officials.

He further urges the preparation of textbook materials to permit development of accounting instruction for liberal arts and science students designed to emphasize the end uses of accounting for external reporting and for internal planning, control, and decision-making without involvement in the techniques and procedures of application. "Understanding of accounting," he emphasizes, "must carry with it an understanding of the corporate structure, the relations of government, business and labor, the basic principles of management—in fact, the wealth-producing and wealth-distributing processes which support the people of the United States. It is an indictment of present liberal-arts curriculums that many of the finest minds among American youth with college degrees which mark them as educated men are wholly ignorant of any of these things."

He also urges practicing accountants to acquire competence in operations research and computer technology.

WILLIAMSBURG'S CELEBRATED GARDENS, special tours and activities, candlelight concerts, and interesting events at the College feature Spring's program for visitors to Virginia's colonial capital. Visit William & Mary soon and plan to see three new craft shops in the Historic Area. After 185 years, Anthony Hay's Cabinetmaking Shop (above) again is turning out beautiful works by master artisans who use tools and techniques of the eighteenth century. Two other shops—the harness-maker and the gunsmith—have also been added to Colonial Williamsburg's expanding program "that the future may learn from the past." For more information and reservations, write Mary R. Thompson, P.O. Box B, Williamsburg, Va., 23185 or call (703) 229-1700. There is free, direct telephone service from New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington.
