"The real challenge and excitement in my career is helping businessmen solve their problems."

says Hal Gatewood, Jr., C.L.U., Ohio State '55

"From the day I went with Mass Mutual 8 years ago, I started becoming an integral part of our professional and business community.

"You see, a life insurance man just naturally becomes involved with his client's future. Many of my clients began describing their business problems along with their family needs. As a result I had to increase my technical studies. This broader field was tremendously interesting and exciting to me. Soon I found myself specializing in the application of life insurance to all phases of business, including pension and profit-sharing plans.

"One of the things that appeals to me most about being in business for myself is this opportunity to specialize exactly where I find the greatest challenge and stimulation.

"Of course, it helps a lot to be associated with a Company that has an elite reputation, over $3 billion in assets and is more than a century old. Mass Mutual has a large number of representatives throughout the United States who work much as I do. And believe me, this Company is equipped to provide us with appropriate back-up . . .

both contracts and services to meet the demands of our growing market."

If you think Hal Gatewood's career offers the kind of challenge and excitement you would enjoy . . . why not write our president for more details? He is: Charles H. Schaaff, Mass Mutual, Springfield, Mass. Your letter could be the start of a very worthwhile career.

Brafferton Sits

Silent Beside

Storied Old Wren

By Wilford Kale '67

Nineteenth Century View of Brafferton.

STANDING peacefully among elm, beech and sycamore trees, the Brafferton, the second oldest building of the College of William and Mary, has watched in silence as years of history have passed by its door.

Doctors, lawyers and even the proverbial Indian chief have made the Brafferton their home during its 243-year history. Time and time again the building has stood alone, serving the community while the main (Wren) building was rebuilt after its several fires.

The story of the Brafferton begins in England about 1691, two years before the actual chartering of the College. In 1691 the Honorable Robert Boyle, eminent natural philosopher, had died. His will provided that 4,000 pounds sterling of his money should be employed in "pious and charitable uses." However, this portion of his will had not yet been acted upon when the first President of William and Mary, the Rev. James Blair, returned in 1697 to London in search of financial assistance for his fledgling little College in Virginia.

Being the Bishop of London's Commissary to Virginia, Rev. Blair obtained an introduction by means of Bishop Burnet, to the Earl of Burlington, Boyle's nephew and executor. Rev. Blair entreated the Earl to direct a fund (approximately 4,000 pounds) to the support of an Indian School at the College.

Burlington, a man of some standing and prominence, was interested and accordingly agreed "to lay out five thousand, four hundred pounds . . . in the purchase of lands, and to apply the yearly rent thereof towards propagating the Christian religion amongst infidels." The English manor called "the Brafferton" was the scene, as the venerable Bede informs us, "where the first British missionary, Paulinus, baptized in the little river Swade 10,000 British heathen." Located in the East or North Riding (historical records differ) of Yorkshire, "the Brafferton" provided rents, "subject to 40 pounds sterling for Harvard College and 45 pounds sterling for the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in New England with the remaining sums to the College in Virginia."

The settlement between the Earl and the Bishop noted that the President and Masters of William and Mary were to "keep att the said Colledge soe many Indian Children in Sicknesse and health in Meat drink Washing, lodgeing Cloathes Medicines books and Educacon from the first beginning of Letters till they were ready to receive Orders and be thought Sufficient to be sent abroad to preach and Convert the Indians at the rate of fourteen pounds per Annum for every such Child."

Although there is no known date, the Indian School is thought to have begun in 1700. Francis Nicholson, Lt. Governor of Virginia, gave instructions to "west-bound traders that they should tell the Indians that a great & good man who lately died in England . . . having a great love for the Indians, hath left money enough to the College here in Virginia, to keep 9 or 10 Indian children at it, & to teach them to read, write and all other arts & sciences, that the best Englishmen's sons do learn."

There was no permanent building for the school at this early stage and it is said that the Indians were first taught in a schoolhouse where Col. William Byrd II attended meetings of the Visitors and Governors of the College.

Carved in brick near a door of the Brafferton are the figures W B 1723. According to Robert J. Morrison in a Faculty Report of December 14, 1869, the date represents the laying of the foundation, probably by Col. Byrd. The Brafferton is constructed after the fashion of the period and is of red glazed Virginia brick, three stories high. Henry Cary, the younger, was probably the builder, since he took over the construction of the Governor's Palace three years earlier and built the President's house nine years later.

President Lyon G. Tyler (1889-1919) reports in his History of the College that there "are four large rooms to a floor, or twelve in all." However, it is known that originally there were only two "furnished" floors containing one large room to the west and two smaller rooms to the east of a hallway. Historians feel that stairs were added to the unfinished third floor and it was partitioned sometime about 1736, to provide more space for the Indians.

Just how the rooms were used for the Indian School is not known. It would seem that the Master had two rooms downstairs, since the "Professors" of the College each had two rooms and the large room on the ground floor was probably the Indian schoolroom. In 1732 Rev. William Dawson, Professor of Philosophy sought, with permission of Bishop Blair, to have a college library included in the Brafferton.

The petition to Lord Burlington was granted because later that year John Randolph, Esqr. traveled to England and returned with a portrait of Boyle, which Burlington had promised to send the College. The oil portrait of Robert Boyle, by Frederick Causabon, alias Kerseboom, remained for a time in the library "over the Indian School," however, it now hangs in the Blue Room of the Wren Building.

Until 1776 and the American Revolution the Boyle Foundation always provided for the care of the Indians, "although most of them seemed to have forgotten their prayers and catechism when they left Williamsburg." Masters, as well as Indians, came and went during the early years of Brafferton history and there is little of importance recorded for almost 45 years.

With the advent of the Revolution, the College and the Brafferton, as well as the entire City of Williamsburg became involved in the struggle for independence. In 1781 before and during the seige of Yorktown, the Brafferton was occupied by British and French troops. The President's House was accidently bürned by the French, but the Brafferton remained unharmed. The Brafferton is the only one of the three ancient buildings that has not been ravaged by fire.

The College prior to the Revolution had as many as 75 to 80 students in attendance, but after the war the number dropped. With the Indian School now history, the Brafferton became a faculty residence and the dining hall for the College.

In 1782 the faculty passed a resolution renting the "Brafferton House" at the rate of 50 pounds sterling per annum." Robert Michie, a student from Louisa County, wrote to former student David Watson on November 3, 1797 describing his first reactions to the College. ". . . I have taken your room as its called in college and have the happiness to tell you that there is an alteration considerable in the Brafferton diet. . . . but far are they yet, from the Heliogobelon proficiency."

The 1800s record little but bills paid for the upkeep of the College "problem." What to do with Brafferton house, as it was called then? In 1824 the Brafferton was valued at $1,500. It should be noted, however, that about 25 years later in 1851 approximately $1,000 was spent in one year repairing the structure.

Students evidently were somewhat destructive because a statement was adopted on July 28, 1828 by the "Society of William and Mary College" stating "that the rooms occupied by students in College and in the Brafferton shall be Kept up and returned at the End of the course, by the Steward in the same State of repair as they were at the Commencement of the session."

It is known in two instances that William Barton Rogers, Professor of Chemistry and later founder of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, lived for several years at the Brafferton. On March 9, 1832 Rogers was attacked by a Mr. Charles Byrd at the Brafferton. Records of the "Society" note that "Wm Rogers returned, and as he closed the Brafferton door Mr. Byrd brandishing his stick cried out to him that he had a mind to cowhide him . . . Byrd later threatened Rogers inside the Brafferton with a pistol."

The Wren was again gutted in 1859 and Rector John Tyler, former President of the United States in a letter to President Benjamin S. Ewell asked, "Is the Brafferton rented to Dr. Totten or is it part of his perquisites? If the first, could not the Doctor accommodate himself in the city? The room of that house would answer for lecture rooms. I merely make reference to this in the emergency of our condition." The letter was dated Sherwood Forest, Feb. 11, 1859. (Dr. Totten was at that time a resident of the Brafferton.)

The second reference to Rogers is found in several letters and notes of Rogers on a visit to Williamsburg, April 4, 1859. "I drove past, with a tearful eye, noting that the mossy coat of old Botetourt was unscathed, that the dial kept its place, the President's House and our home the Brafferton, had not been injured . . ." Rogers was referring to a fire which had gutted the Wren just two months before his visit.

Just prior to the Civil War the rent on the Brafferton had gone up to $200 per year with "expenditures for repairs of said house, not exceeding in each year $50." But then came the holocaust of Civil strife.

The Brafferton as well as the College and President's House was occupied in turn by Confederate and Union troops. It was the Federal troops, however, that caused much damage to the inside of the structure. President Ewell recalls in remarks made before the Committee of Education and Labor of the United States House of Representatives on January 24, 1872 "that Brafferton house was pulled to pieces," stripped of its doors, windows, window frames and much of the flooring for use as fire wood. The out-houses and fences were also destroyed.

The third fire at the Wren necessitated using "spacious Brafferton Hall" again as class rooms from 1865-68. "The session opened at the prescribed time. The Grammar and 'Matty' School room and the recitation room for the College classes being, as was the case last session in the Brafferton," (Faculty Minutes, October 15, 1867.) The Grammar school remained there until 1869 when it was moved to the Palace lot (site of the old Governor's Palace.)

From 1870 until the College closed its doors because of lack of funds in 1881, the Brafferton served as a men's dormitory. President Ewell reported on July 1, 1881, "The Brafferton was vacated last summer. It was too much out of order to rent. For its protection I allowed Mr. (John S.) Charles to move into it. By his care and improvement he has paid a fine rate and he has extended life care to the entire college premisses."

The Wise Light Infantry—a volunteer militia company of the City of Williamsburg—had their armory in a lecture room of the College, while it remained closed (1881-1888). However, a Board of Visitors report in December, 1883, says ". . . the President be requested to inform the Company that they must remove their Armory and that for the present they be allowed to use a room in the Brafferton House for the purpose of an Armory."

Ewell retired as President in 1888 and in his Final Report to the Board of Visitors and Governors on May 1 he noted that "in 1865 it (the Brafferton) was cheaply and partially repaired. It furnished recitation and lecture rooms till 1868 to the Grammar School and college classes. After 1868 it was occupied by students, until the College exercises were suspended . . . during the short time it was unoccupied much injury was done by some of the lawless peoples of the town and immediate vicinity. . . . to fix the Brafferton for a dwelling, would require from 1500 to 2000 Dolls, with a much less sum 8 rooms for students could be prepared."

The rooms were prepared and the Brafferton serving again as a men's dormitory from 1888-1921. Between 1922 and 1931 the old building served as administrative offices for the President of the College, Dean of College, Registrar, Treasurer, Director of Extension, Alumni Secretary and editorial offices for the Colonial Echo and the Flat Hat.

On December 2, 1931 the Williamsburg Holding Corporation, a forerunner of Colonial Williamsburg, Inc. began the restoration of Brafferton Hall. With funds provided by the late John D. Rockefeller Jr. the old Indian School was restored to its original form. A spokesman for Colonial Williamsburg, Inc. notes that "the Hall, having, in the intervening years, undergone only slight modifications" was restored with only "certain minor changes in plan on the third floor to more adequately suit it to the needs of the College."

The entire framing of the building is new. The sizes of the dormer windows were determined by the existing frames, however the design was copied from the President's House dormers which were of the same period. Door and door frame designs were inspired by the Wythe House entrance, while

The College

THOSE OF US "on campus" during the hot and humid Summer reflected frequently on the prestigious news that William and Mary had made during the last few months.

Former Rep. Walter Judd, noted expert on foreign and especially far Eastern affairs, dined in the Great Hall with members of Omicron Delta Kappa, the leadership society, and later addressed a capacity audience at Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

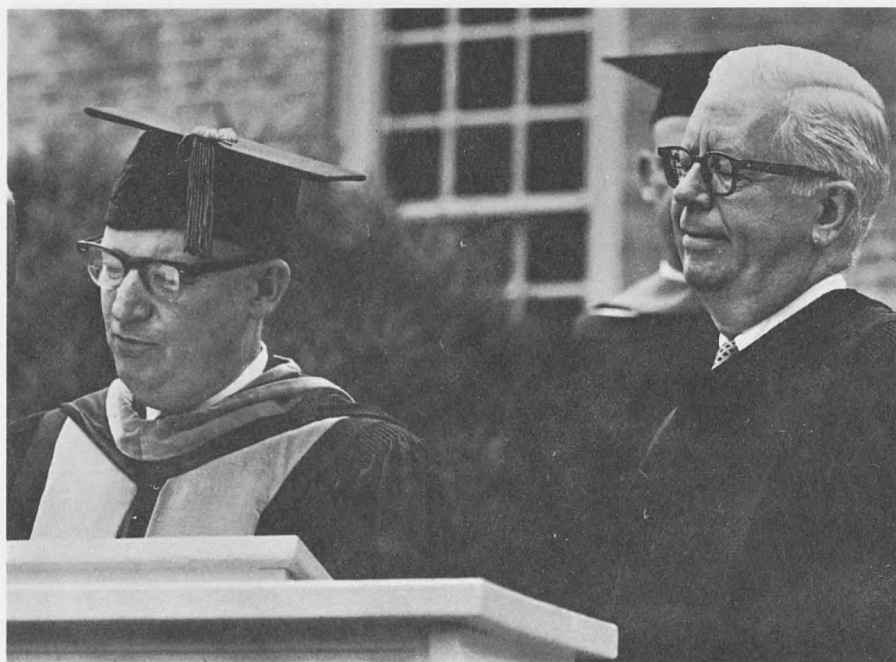

The Political Science Forum brought to campus Ambassador Muhammad El-Farra, Jordan's envoy to the United Nations, only a few days after a controversial border clash between Israel and Jordan. His address proved to be provocative and timely and the long-simmering controversy which it pointed up proved to be the source of a lively discussion afterward.

At one point during the Spring Semester, the College seemed to be abandoning its long tradition of having an outside guest as Commencement speaker. But the Editor of the Flat Hat, John Sours '66 of Harrisburg, Pa., and Walter Wenk '66 of Arlington, Senior Class President, organized their classmate leaders and without fanfare convinced the administration that their class preferred to have a guest speaker.

And a speaker they had—Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, who also was awarded the honorary Doctor of Laws degree. A leading Virginia Episcopal clergyman, the Rev. Peyton R. Williams of Norfolk, delivered the Baccalaureate sermon.

The more than 700 who earned degrees on June 12 witnessed during their William and Mary years a rather dramatic and significant stepping-out by the College into important new directions. Almost to a man, these graduates seemed to feel that the future holds as much promise for the College as any in America. Youthful impatience fired their enthusiasms for solving the problems of the College and the Nation—but their efforts were carried on in good taste and without the kind of ill-mannered displays so prevalent on American campuses today.

Among items of interest to Alumni this Summer were these:

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, right, listens as President Davis Y. Paschall reads the citation presenting Fowler for an honorary degree at Commencement. "Beset by a Gallic lust for gold, he must attempt to achieve a balance of payments; faced by the demands of full employment, he must confront the dangers of inflation; elated by the greatest industrial boom in our history, he must finance a foreign war and pay the bills of a Great Society . . . each of us (is) his debtor," Paschall said of Fowler.

Junior Barry Cressman of Hicksville, N. Y., will be the first to spend his junior year at St. Andrews University, Scotland's senior university, under a new exchange program supplementing those in existence with Exeter in England and other British universities.

This fall, the Department of Fine Arts will offer special programs which will train selected students for careers in heraldry. Participants will be eligible for summer internships at the Army Institute of Heraldry in Alexandria, Va.

The Institute for Early American History and Culture, with offices in the Earl Gregg Swem Library, launches this fall a nationally significant project of editing and publishing (in 10 volumes) the papers of Chief Justice John Marshall. Chief Justice Earl Warren praised the scholarly effort as a long-needed one. It is being financed partly by the College, by the U. S. Historical Publications Commission and by funds obtained by the Institute, a cooperative venture with Colonial Williamsburg, Inc.

Non-Virginia Visitors Appointed

THREE ALUMNI, including the first non-Virginia residents in a half-century, were named in July by Governor Mills E. Godwin Jr. to the College's Board of Visitors.

The non-residents are Blake T. Newton Jr. '35, of Greenwich, Conn., president of the Institute of Life Insurance and J. Edgar Zollinger '27, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., retired executive assistant to the president of International Business Machines Corp.

The third alumnus named is R. William Arthur '38, of Wytheville, Va., an attorney and former member of the Board.

Addition of three members to the Board, and the authority to appoint as many as three non-Virginians, was a part of legislation enacted by the 1966 General Assembly session. Under the new Board organization, a total of 17 members serve under gubernatorial appointment.

William and Mary

'Most' Selective

WILLIAM AND MARY continues to be one of the nation's most selective colleges in terms of its admissions requirements.

In 1962, it was rated among the 58 most competitive colleges and universities in America. The same list of "highly competitive" institutions was expanded to 92 this year in the New American Guide to Colleges, published by the Columbia University Press.

In the South Atlantic region, the list included only William and Mary, Agnes Scott, Davidson, Duke, Goucher, Hollins, Johns Hopkins, New College, Sweet Briar, Trinity (D. C.), Washington & Lee and the School of Pharmacy at the University of West Virginia.

In other sections of the East, the list includes Allegheny, Barnard, Bryn Mawr, Carnegie Institute of Technology's School of Fine Arts; Colgate Columbia College, Cornell, Cooper Union, Dickinson, Franklin & Marshall, Hamilton, Haverford, Julliard, Montclair State (N. J.), Pratt Institute's Art School, Princeton, Rutgers' Douglas College, Sarah Lawrence, State University of New York at Albany, Swarthmore, Union, University of Pennsylvania, University of Rochester, U. S. Merchant Marine Academy, West Point, Vassar, Webb Institute of Naval Architecture, Wells, William Smith and Wilkes.

In New England, this list includes Amherst, Bates, Bennington, Boston College's College of Arts & Sciences, Bowdoin, Brandeis, Brown, Clark, Colby, Connecticut, Dartmouth, Harvard, MIT, Middlebury, Mount Holyoke, Pembroke, Radcliffe, Simmons, Smith, State College at Bridgewater (Mass.), and at Worcester (Mass.), Trinity, Tufts, Coast Guard Academy, Wellesley, Wheaton, Williams, Yale College and Yale School of Engineering.

In the North Central, there were Northwestern's College of Arts and Sciences, Medill School of Journalism, Oberlin, University of Cincinnati's College Conservatory of Music. In East South Central states, there was only Alice Lloyd; in the West North Central area, only Carleton and Grinnell were included. Only Rice from the West South Central area, including the state of Texas, made the list.

In the Rocky Mountain states, only Colorado College and the Air Force Academy have become "highly competitive," while in the Pacific area, there are California Institute of Technology, Claremont Mens, Depp Springs, Harvey Mudd, Occidental, Pomona, Reed, Stanford, University of Southern California's School of Architecture and Fine Arts, and the University of Redlands' School of Engineering.

Pomfret Retires

Dr. John E. Pomfret, President of the College from 1942 to 1951, retired in September as Director of the Henry E. Huntington Library and Art Gallery in San Marino, Calif. He and his wife will make their retirement home in Carmel, Calif.

Among the accolades he received this year was one from the Institute of Early American History and Culture, which he founded, at the College. Dr. Pomfret visited the campus briefly in June to attend the Institute's annual meeting. The University of Southern California awarded him the honorary Doctor of Letters degree and he received the same degree from the Claremont (Calif.) Graduate School of the Claremont Colleges.

Miss Wilkinson

Celebrated Young Novelist Joins English Faculty

TIME MAGAZINE calls her "one of the most talented Southern belletrists to appear since Carson McCullers." Stanford University's Wallace Stegner predicts "this girl will be somebody."

"This girl" is Miss Sylvia Wilkinson, 26, one of this fall's few leading new novelists whose book "Moss on the North Side" was published in August.

Miss Wilkinson joined the College's English department in September as an instructor, one of the youngest members of the faculty. When she came to Williamsburg she was working on the final phase of her second novel—carrying on a writing love that began at the age of 13.

A talented painter with several one-man shows to her credit, Miss Wilkinson was also 1959 Eastern North Carolina tennis champion and kept the Durham city title for two years. She has studied at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro (under the late Randall Jarrell), and at Hollins College and Stanford (under Stegner).

Among her non-teaching, non-writing interests is "Wolfgang," her Porsche sports car which she enjoys in the company of other sports car enthusiasts.

William And Mary Brokerage

A GRADUATE with the Class of 1959 is earning a wide reputation in the investments field for his success in guiding a four-year-old firm to the status of one of Virginia's largest. He has done it with the aid of seven William and Mary associates—all young and all aggressive.

Raymond A. "Chip" Mason is president of Mason & Co., Inc., formed in Newport News when he was 25 years old. It now has branches in Richmond, Portsmouth, and Williamsburg and plans to expand elsewhere in Virginia and outside the state within a year. Chip's firm has its own seat on the New York Stock Exchange, membership in the American Stock Exchange, and serves more than 6,000 customers.

Among his key associates are James W. "Jim" Brinkley '59, John E. Gravely '64, John T. "Jack" Herring, Jr., '58; Thomas H. "Tom" Legg, '60; Larry O. Phillips '55; James K. "Jim" Rosenbaum '58; Nicholas J. St. George '60 Law; and Harold C. Thaxton '62.

When he opened his office in May, 1962, in Newport News, Chip had four employees; it has now grown to more than 75 including 30 registered representatives. He went into the business during the now-famous May, 1962 stock market decline, but survived with his and Jim Brinkley's combined energies. From that beginning and subsequent growth, Chip is looking for a staff of 200 by 1970. Mason sees great virtue in having "youth and vitality" in his staff; its average age is 32.

Among the ingredients of his firm's success, Mason feels, is taking the investment business to the customer—shopping center locations, with hours to match. "The brokerage business," he observes, "was where the banking business was 20 years ago."

Married and the father of two daughters, Chip finds little time for hobbies. He is a member of the Warwick Rotary Club, the James River Country Club and the Hampton Roads Cotillion. But he devotes most of his time to administrative duties as well as handling the accounts of about 25 persons.

He comes from an investment family. A native of Lynchburg, Va., he grew up in Bethlehem, Pa., returned to Virginia to enter William and Mary and then went to Richmond to work with Mason & Lee, Inc., a Lynchburg-based brokerage firm of which his uncle is chairman of the board. Chip had some customers in the Newport News area and the opening of his own firm there came after some businessmen urged him to organize a local brokerage agency.

Two Popular Housemothers Die

Two housemothers who were popular with thousands of William and Mary students have died recently.

Edith Laura Ficklin, who was housemother at Monroe Dormitory, died in Baltimore on November 17, 1965.

Mrs. Lawrence D. Wall, housemother for Kappa Alpha Theta sorority until 1958, died June 30, 1966 in Henderson, N. C.

Vliet Answers Call And Issues One

Dear Alumni:

I'll be the first to admit that any chance I had to stand beneath a spreading elm, gaze upon the old Wren Building, sniff magnolia blossoms was never questioned, only answered. When the Call came from Williamsburg I was on my way before they had time to reverse the charges. Hastening up Duke of Gloucester, turning my head neither right (Chownings) nor left (Corner Greeks), vaulting the brick wall at Jockey Corner, pausing only to kneel at the old Botetourt circle, I plunged headlong into Ewell Hall.

It was a touching scene, reminiscent of the Surrender of Cornwallis hanging on the wall of Brafferton, as the grizzled ex-Marine Kelly shook my hand and dictated my pledge card. It is not the same now as it was in the olden days as a student; no indeed, it is better. Jim has assembled a fine group in the office, and now that they have their fogleman, things will really begin to function. Seriously, we are all looking forward to the work which lies ahead, to the future of the College and the Alumni Society, and what part we can play in it.

Our primary purpose in the immediate future will be to develop strength within our current alumni structure; and as these become an effective force in guiding alumni in support of the college, to expand into new chapter areas. As the college has grown in size and influence so must our alumni organization. We now have over 18,000 located alumni. To provide an effective channel of interest for a group of this size, covering many years, stretching from coast to coast, in truth around the world, will require close liasion with our active chapters and formation of new chapters in vital areas as the call arises. In our chapter organizations lies our greatest strength. While we hope that the College, and the community of Williamsburg, will always be a mecca for tired Indians, it is the chapter which has the closest contacts with our alumni.

We also hope to augment our class organizations and activities. In connection with this effort we will be expanding a variation of the alumni program on the undergraduate level. We hope that by increased cooperation with undergraduates we will be able to extend the relationship into active future participation.

In order for these activities to properly function it is necessary to disseminate information as well as gather it. It is only through the cooperation of the alumni that we learn of address changes and other information about their activities, and are able thereby to pass on news of the College and fellow graduates. We enlist your assistance.

It is our purpose, once again, to mobilize behind the college, the strength of an organized alumni, to assist in preserving the relevance of the past while acquiring the essentials for the future.

—Gordon C. Vliet
Director of Alumni Affairs

Gordon C. Vliet

A member of the Class of 1954 has returned to William and Mary to become Director of Alumni Affairs, a new position within the Society of the Alumni. Gordon C. Vliet of Alma, Michigan, joined Executive Secretary James S. Kelly on June 1.

Vliet, president of the Alma Varsity Shop, will work specifically in the areas of chapter and class organizations among the more than 18,000 William and Mary alumni.

Under the new Alumni Office organization, Vliet will be responsible to Kelly whose role in the College has been expanded to include Director of Development. Thus alumni, development and public information programs come under Kelly's supervision.

Vliet earned his bachelor's degree in economics and after graduation served with the U. S. Navy. He was a Rotary Foundation Fellow for study at the University of Exeter in England (1957-58) and has been active in Rotary Club activities in Alma, including service on the local and district board of directors.

At William and Mary, Vliet was Art Editor of the Colonial Echo and Royalist, president of the Society for the Advancement of Management; tennis manager and president of the Westminster Fellowship. He is a member of Phi Kappa Tau.

Indians at Boston Set for Telecast

By Barry Fratkin

WILLIAM AND MARY'S growing reputation for good football goes on network television this November for a major regional game-of-the-week. The ABC Network will televise throughout the East the William and Mary-Boston College game November 5.

The coaching staff, the same as last year's, is intent this fall on improving on 1965, the year that brought the Tribe its first winning team since 1953.

Marv Levy, the football coach with a Phi Beta Kappa key and a master's degree from Harvard, is the architect of this staff, building it with two hold-overs from the Milt Drewer era, adding two of his former students from his alma mater Coe College, and Joe Downing, who by experience has the keenest knowledge of Virginia College athletics of most people around.

Former William and Mary captain (1957) Larry Peccatiello, an assistant under Milt Drewer, stayed on when Levy came in time for the 1964 football season as did Augie Tammariello, the former scholastic All-American from Denver.

With these two providing the continuity to the staff, Levy went about finding youthful, energetic men who were intent on making William and Mary a winning enterprise.

The search went all the way to Iowa, first for Don Roby in Oskaloosa and then a year later for Ralph Pucci. Both played for Levy at little Coe College in Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Levy's last assistant came from a little closer—Richmond—where Joe Downing had made a name for himself as a successful line coach, able recruiter and scout.

These men, who give the credit to the players in victory, but must accept the blame in defeat, are the ones behind the success of Marv Levy, twice the Southern Conference Coach of the Year. Levy readily admits that the award should be "staff of the year" for preparing a football team for Saturday afternoon's battle is not only a team effort on the part of the players but also for the coaches.

A lady once asked Levy at an alumni dinner, "what do you do the rest of the year if you only play ten games?" Few people realize the hours and the preparation that go into the 60 minutes of football action.

For Levy's staff there are films to break down, games to scout, players to evaluate, practice to plan, strategy to be plotted, and attitude to be developed. Everything that goes on in preparation for a game is all important in the Levy philosophy. "We're not going to out-coach anyone on Saturday afternoon," he tells his team. It matters not how smart you are on Saturday, but how prepared you are, might by the Levy axiom.

Behind all the philosophy, strategy and preparation are different personalities and abilities that comprise the Levy staff.

Don Roby, a most unlikely little All-American at Coe where he was a center weighing around 150 pounds, likes to tell the story when his coach grabbed him by the arm and was ready to send him in when the coach felt Roby's slender arm and decided against it. Roby was just a sophomore but went on to gain national honors for Levy his senior year.

Ralph Pucci, a teammate of Roby who were each other's best men at their weddings, stepped right in as end coach and was instrumental in helping George Pearce become an All-America end last year as George went on to break all the W&M and Southern Conference pass catching records.

Larry Peccatiello, the only W&M alumnus on the staff, has held a variety of jobs at W&M ranging from graduate assistant on the freshman coaching staff, to end coach to back-field coach, a post he now holds. Larry was an All-Southern his senior year and had the distinction of seeing five of his recruits gain All-Southern Conference honors last year.

Augie Tammariello ranks behind Larry in tenure at W&M, now entering in his sixth year. Although Augie played for Denver University and gained Scholastic All-America honors, he knows what big-time football is, catching on fast as an assistant on the Penn State staff when he was in graduate school. Augie recruits the Pittsburgh area, near his home and coaches the linebackers, centers and guards.

Joe Downing the man about Virginia, was reared in Charlottesville, went to school at Virginia Tech and coached at Richmond before coming to W&M. The easy going Massachusetts native has quickly established himself as a top-notch scout and recruiter. This past year he organized the Fellowship of Christian Athletes chapter at William and Mary.

Levy has a varied group, but they are all relatively young, dedicated and eager to continue to bring William and Mary football to the highest level of respectability. Marvelous Marv Levy has surely brought miracles to W&M football and not the least of these miracles is a fine staff of assistants.

Harry A. Hunt, who had been Superintendent of Portsmouth, Virginia schools for a record 41 years died last March 23d. An editorial stated "Mr. Hunt looked the part of the educator he was before he was anything else. Quiet and scholarly, almost the aesthete, he insisted on an advancement in teaching techniques; simultaneously, he directed the school system through impressive physical growth. He had a command presence; whatever activity he entered he soon was leading, and when he stepped aside he usually was elected to honorary status."

When you are writing your Christmas cards this season, don't forget to send one to your Class Agent. A note at this time will keep your classmates advised of your activities.

We have notes from the following: John E. Neal, Vice President, Pacific Coast Head Office, Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, 500 Stockton Street, San Francisco, California, who made his first hole-in-one recently while playing in a Member-Guest Tournament at the Belle Haven Country Club at Alexandria, Virginia. The water hole of 172 yards was negotiated with a six iron. Virginia Bishop Fayerweather received a 25-year service award in Health and Physical Education at the State N.E.A. convention in Atlantic City. William M. (Billy) Bickers, M.D., Professor and Chairman, Department of OBS & GYN, American University Hospital, Beirut, Lebanon, who hopes to visit the College again upon his return to the homeland. Virginia Turner, 2314 Willard Street, Wilmington, Delaware, who regrets she is too busy with school duties to return for Homecoming. Nyle H. Miller, who sent in a copy of the Historical Society Mirror, publication of the Kansas State Historical Society, Topeka, Kansas, of which he is Editor.

We hope to see many of you at Homecoming on October 14-15. A fine program is being planned as usual and a large crowd is expected.

The following members of the class are reported as deceased: John S. Owens, September 20, 1965, Robert A. Callis, Newport News, October 26, 1964, Clair Wallick, Norristown, Pennsylvania in 1965.

Laura C. Colvin, Professor of Library Science at Simmons College in Boston, last year received The Margaret Mann Citation in Cataloguing and Classification as a distinguished cataloguer, author, leader and teacher. Her work on committees and in the classrooms is characterized by a unique combination of sound scholarship, original thinking and personal charm.

32

Elizabeth Hope Urban of Norfolk, Virginia is the first woman to win first prize for short story since the contest was made state-wide, four years ago. Until four years ago, the literary contest was limited to Norfolk and a thirty-mile radius around it. The Irene Leache Memorial Association sponsors this honor.

33

William M. Connelly of Richmond, Virginia is City Real Estate Agent for the City of Richmond.

P. Hairston Seawell, Box 216, Newport News, Virginia writes of an interesting and amusing event: "In the introduction to my talk a review of related events in my career and various affiliations were enumerated. A comment was made that my selection of college was in question. (This was said with a smile). I arose to the bait and inquired then and there just which college Mr. Jefferson had elected to attend". This occurred at the 223rd anniversary of the birth of Thomas Jefferson when Mr. Seawell was the dinner speaker in the Rotunda, the evening of April 13 at the University of Virginia.

Bessie Mae Elcan is now librarian at Lee Junior College, Jackson, Kentucky.

Peg Sheehan ('31) is professor at Marymount Manhattan College in New York City doing counselling and Asian studies.

K. Louise Allen Germer of 1056½ West 9th Street, Erie, Pennsylvania writes that she would like to hear from some of the Class of 1937.

Louise Outland Smith of Norfolk writes that she is teaching. She moved from Falls Church in 1963. Her daughter, Caroline is a Chi Omega member at the College and will be graduating in 1967. Her son, Jack is at Washington & Lee and is a Kappa Sigma. Her youngest son, Owen, will be a junior at the Norfolk Academy next year.

Our class must have decided to wait until Christmas to let me hear any news. Very little has come in lately. Just after the last letter was mailed came a note from Robert Hale McEwan, who is director of a medical laboratory in Orlando, Fla., with news for the Kappa Alphas that his son, Robert, Jr., had pledged KA at the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn. The McEwans also have a daughter, Amy, 17.

Recently heard from Margie Beggs (Brice) that her younger daughter, Lissa, has been accepted and will enter the Carnegie Tech College of Fine Arts in September. This is quite an accomplishment since the college only numbers about 250. As high school graduation present Lissa and a couple of girl friends spent a weekend in Williamsburg touring the buildings, dining at King's Arms and the Inn, going to Jamestown, etc. I hope they had good weather and loads of fun.

Ed Sullivan took note in one of his recent columns in a New York paper of the engagement of Susan Auer, daughter of Bernard and Carol McCoy Auer.

'Way back in the middle of March Bobbie Robertson Litzenberg, Doris Johnson Alsop and I had lunch with Jane Speakman Hauge at her lovely home in Wilmington Del. We did a good deal of reminiscing, you can be sure.

Our elder son, Ryland, went on active duty in the Army in February, taking courses at the Aberdeen Proving Ground. He is now stationed in Korea, where he will be for 13 months. He hopes to meet up with fellow officers from the University of Richmond who are already there.

I'm really amazed this time to have so much material to pass on to you all. It's wonderful to feel so comparatively swamped!

Al Alley is certainly a faithful contributor. I have three letters enclosing clippings of his activities at Beale AFB in California where he's chaplain. In April he took one of the leads in a production of Camelot at Yuba College and he said it was fun to be in on a musical again. Another clipping pictured Al with his guitar, accompanying the hymns sung during Chapel Services there. They say something of the "hootenanny" is in the air but the worship is refined and the men find they can sing more easily to hymns pitched in a low key. In June Al had one of his paintings, "Sunflowers", in an exhibit and it was voted the best of the realistic paintings. He's going to be all set when retirement comes for all artistic outlets. Al says they plan to spend his leave in Dallas.

I had such a nice letter from Jeanne Parker Collins (Mrs. Paul T. Jr.) whom I missed seeing at Homecoming. Jeanne has a daughter, Betty, who is a freshman at the College and a son, Paul III who is fifteen and in High School in Norfolk.

Ann Garrett writes that Jack has been nominated to take the Advanced Management Course at Harvard starting in September. She and their youngest child, Jean, will stay on in Mechanicsburg, Pennsylvania, until Jack gets his new assignment this winter. Ginna, their next younger, will be a freshman at College this fall, Terry is at Shenandoah, Johnny will be a senior at William and Mary and Lucy Ann is with C. O. Alley Travel Agency in Richmond. Incidentally, she received a wonderful bonus—a week's vacation in the Bahamas, all expenses paid!

From the Alumni Office I received word that Frank Raffo, owner-manager of Raffo's, Leesburg department store and one of the area's foremost fashion centers, has been named Virginia's Retailer of the Year. Besides being a leader in many phases of retailing and merchandising, Frank is a lieutenant governor of Kiwanis Clubs and chairman of the committee which organized a Key Club; he is PTA president this year and committee president of two hundred citizens interested in beautification of the countryside. Frank was instrumental in forming what is now the local Chamber of Commerce and is a former mayor of Leesburg and former holder of the area title, Man of the Year.

Virginia Forward Pate who has been a member of the Board of Education of Harford County since her appointment in 1959 by Governor Tawes, was recently elected President of the Board, having served as Vice President for the past six years. She is also a member of the National Committee for the Improvement of Public Schools.

"Dinny" is President and General Manager of Radio Station WASA, Havre de Grace, and was the first woman elected to the board of directors of the Maryland-District of Columbia-Delaware Broadcasters' Association of which she is now Vice President and Education Chairman. She is listed in Who's Who of American Women, Who's Who in the East, and World Who's Who in Commerce and Industry.

"Dinny's" three children are: David, a senior at American University and daughters, Kennon, a sophomore at William and Mary, and Barbara, who enters the College this fall.

Ann Chancellor, daughter of Ruth Ann Holzmüller Mahood, is with the Peace Corps in South America. Her sister, Donny, will be a sophomore at the College.

In the midst of writing this I made a trip to the post office and found a most welcomed letter from Eileen Woods Middleton, 225 Leon Street, Johnstown, Pennsylvania 15905. "Cookie's" husband, John, attended Penn State after W. W. II and is a Forester for Pennsylvania Electric Co. and Metropolitan Edison Co. They have two sons and a daughter. John Jr., in his second

Gene Smith got the radio bug in 1927... today he's an electronics analyzer at GM

The date: September 22, 1927. Gene Smith of Huntington, West Virginia, hunches over a radio crackling with static and the excitement of an historic fight—the second Dempsey-Tunney world heavyweight match.

But more importantly, for Gene, it's his first closeup look at radio, and he is fascinated with the maze of wire and tubes that somehow—miraculously—snatch the announcer's voice from the air. That fascination never cools.

First, Gene Smith built crude crystal sets. Then, he rebuilt a set operated off his father's car battery. Next a plug-in set, one of the first in the neighborhood. And radio was a big part of his life in the U.S. Navy, where he served as Radio Technician, 1st Class.

And then, in 1953, Gene Smith joined the Cadillac Division of General Motors and set up the Test Instrumentation Application Section. Today he heads up a crack team of technicians responsible for the accuracy of test equipment that helps make Cadillac the leader among luxury cars.

There were three winners that eventful Fall day many years ago: Gene Tunney, Gene Smith and General Motors!

General Motors is people making better things for you.

year at Penn State is majoring in Landscape Architecture and also plays with the Johnstown Symphony Orchestra. Jim is entering senior year at Westmont High School as president of Student Council. He's just returned from a three-week tour of the U.S. and a Conference of Student Councils at Tacoma, Washington. He is their athlete and Key Clubber too. Their daughter, Jean Ann, is ten and doing fine in fifth grade.

After getting her B.S. from William and Mary, "Cookie" completed a year of graduate study at University of Georgia School of Medicine. She served as Chief Dietitian at Macon Hospital and then at Alexandria Hospital in Virginia. She later taught at Penn State in the Home Economics Department. Presently "Cookie" has been appointed to the professional staff of Talus Rock Girl Council and is Assistant Program Service Director of the Council, all of which she's thoroughly enjoying.

"Cookie" said that she had lunch in Hagerstown with Ann Huyett Minnich who gave her several Alumni Gazettes to read and so was prompted to write me. She said Ann left College after two years and went to Baltimore School of Design. She says Margie Lytle Lake lives in Indianapolis and travels a great deal in Europe with her husband. Their daughter Karen just finished Chatham.

I've just returned from a little trip with my sister out to West Virginia. We spent a night en route in Roanoke with Mrs. Oakley who was housemother at the Kappa House my senior year. It was just delightful and she wished to be remembered to all "her girls." We went on to Charleston to visit our daughter, "Bambi", and was there to celebrate our grandson's second birthday. We also went to Huntington to another of my sister's and while there had a nice telephone conversation with Peg Stigall Chafin. She has three red-headed children—a son, nineteen at Marshall University, and two teenage daughters. I was sorry time did not permit my getting to see them all.

Will hope to see many of you at Homecoming October 15th and in the meantime I'd love to hear from you.

It is always interesting to learn of honors received by our friends, and we are delighted to report that Peg Gildner Coale has recently been named Editor of the Year by the Industrial Editors Committee of Los Angeles, and the company newspaper which she edits The Orbiter also placed second in the industrial newspaper competition publicizing United Crusade in 1965. Peg is editor of the Aerospace Corporation's company newspaper and is manager of employee news publications and community relations for the company which is headquartered in El Segundo, California. Active in civic affairs, she is serving as charter president of the International Mile Business and Professional Women's Club in El Segundo and is also a member of the El Segundo Chamber of Commerce. Listed in the current edition of "Who's Who of American Women", Peggy is a member of the Aviation/Space Writers Association and the Industrial Editors Association. Her daughter is a junior at the University of California at Santa Barbara.

Bob Vining has been practicing law in St. Louis for the past ten years with his work confined to representing management in the field of labor relations in all areas. He is involved in union negotiations, arbitrations and labor board hearings. Bob's son graduated in June from the College and he has a daughter who will graduate in the Class of 1969.

Lt. Colonel Samuel K. Boot of St. Petersburg, Florida this year received the Bronze Star Medal in Saigon, Vietnam for meritorious service. He is the chief of the purchasing and contracting division and has been overseas since May 1965.

Frances Pollard Owens of Broomall, Pennsylvania writes that her husband, Jordan, retired from the Navy four years ago as Commander after 24 years of service and is now a high school guidance counselor. She has taught high school English four years and has just completed her first year as junior high librarian. She received her Master's degree in library science at Villanova University in August.

The Mollenkops are eagerly awaiting the arrival of their adopted son for a year—an American Field Service student from Norway who will be living with us and who arrives in this country in August.

We are looking forward to Homecoming and the 25th Reunion and to seeing many of you again.

Many thanks to Mary Moncure Waldron '41, all the way from California, for locating Cleo Tweedy Stuart. The Stuarts moved in March to familiar surroundings on Long Island, Port Jefferson, New York. Gil retired from the Army at this time and they are making their home "right around home."

A welcomed letter from Tabb Taylor May tells us that their son, David, was a freshman at William and Mary this year. Their younger son completed Junior High in Clarksville, Maryland where the Mays have been living for the past eight years.

Tabb writes that it is fun to match faces with names of the freshmen and alumni. Many of our classmates now have sons or daughters at William and Mary. Among these are the daughter of Anne Bruce '42 and "Red" Irwin '43 and the son of Sam Ellenson '42.

A press release from the Consulate General of the United States gives the information that Seaborn Foster, husband of Eleanor Graham '42, has been promoted to Class I in the Foreign Service of the United States. He is presently serving as Consul General in Rotterdam, The Netherlands, and he has previously served in our Embassies in Paris and Manila. The Fosters have four children, three boys and a girl.

Marion Smith Turner of Towanda, Pennsylvania wrote that she and husband Dave and two daughters had a wonderful vacation in Jamaica. They had a Rotary Exchange student from Bolivia. Their son, David, Jr., has been drafted and is now an M.P. in Vietnam.

Louise B. Forsyth of the Quincy School Department guidance staff in Quincy, Massachusetts has been named President of the Massachusetts School Counselors Association—She is the first woman president. She graduated from Bridgewater State College and received her Master's degree at William and Mary.

George T. Blanford of Tampa, Florida this year was promoted in the National Gypsum Company to be responsible for field market development programs in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Western Tennessee and is making his headquarters in New Orleans, Louisiana.

of your class! Jane Welton Anderson and I are playing together in a tournament at the Princess Anne Country Club Saturday. Hope we can hold up for the sake of W&M.

Was reading an exciting book last night, "The Search for Bruno Heidler." It was written by an alum, Stephen Marlow '49! I felt the same pride this morning when I saw one of Hugh Haynie's great political cartoons on the editorial page. You cannot help knowing that he had a good background and art training (W&M)!

The combination of Paschall + Kelly + Garden Party = rain in Norfolk. In spite of the deluge we had several hundred alumnae and mothers of William and Mary students at my home in May. Co-hostesses were Jean Schoenwolf Preston, Helen Massey, May Carrouthers Berry, Dot Halstead Harper, Nancy Outland Chandler, Jean Cox Phillips, Carolyn Todd Schaubach, and Cherry Whitehurst Wood. Mr. Grover Outland braved the elements and the ladies and came with his daughter Jean Outland Chrysler to speak to Dr. Paschall. He has three alum daughters and a granddaughter at the College now. It was fascinating to hear of the terrific building program (including a new gym). We also learned of the problems of choosing seven hundred freshmen from seven thousand applications.

As to news—Was in New York in May. E.S.P. made me call Dorie Wiprud Diggs as we passed through Wilmington. Found she was recovering from an operation for a brain tumor (non-malignant, thank Heaven). She is getting along all right now, is busy with her four daughters. I had hoped to stop on the way back, but husbands don't take kindly to detours, I've found.

After meeting of the Swedish Consuls on the East Coast we went out to Far Hills, New Jersey to stay with Fran Loesch Brunner and Bob on their ten acre "estate" (complete with green house, sunken garden and swimming pool). Bebe Nelson Judge came over from Madison, New Jersey and we tried also to get together with Ginny Kelsey Leland. Did talk to her and gave her some of the Homecoming news. The Brunners and Ruthie Weimer Tiller and K. T. and their families are coming for a house party in August with us at Sandbridge Beach. Other W&M folks vacationing there in August will be Mary and Don Taylor, George and Jane Bacon, and the John Foxes. He is Curator of the Corning Glass Museum. Carol Talbott Eglehoff and Bill will also be there with their children.

Read in the paper that Colonel Benjamin S. Read '42 (USMC) was presented the Navy Commendation Medal at the Industrial College of the Armed Forces. I believe they have a freshman daughter at the College.

Lois Spratley Donald and Doug were at Virginia Beach in June. They are still in Charlotte, North Carolina.

Bill Morris writes that he would love to see some alums at the West Virginia game. Will hold open-house, help with reservations, etc. He did not say who he'd yell for! He is on a three months' trip to Europe with his family, they on pleasure, he studying and advising with respect to banking practices—both domestic and international. Bill teaches at West Virginia University Law School.

Had a long letter from Marge Talle Merriman. She and Jack are leaving their eight acres, horses, pool and old farmhouse and are moving closer to Baltimore, Address: 8201 Tally-Ho Road, Lutherville, Maryland. They have a son—a junior at Dickinson College, a daughter, a senior at The Friends School and two younger children. Marge is playing string bass with the Goucher Chamber Music Orchestra. That and riding are her great interests. She rides with a group of "older ladies" and they recently won a blue ribbon in a horse show in competition drill. The Merrimans and Peg and Bob Knight attended the KA 100th Anniversary in the fall in Williamsburg and took a Caribbean cruise together in February.

Helen Talle Koteen and Bob live in Washington. She teaches art in a junior high school. He is a lawyer with the Federal Communications Commission. Her oldest daughter is a Tri-Delt pledge at the University of Maryland. M. J. Talle and her lawyer husband live outside of Chicago.

A bit of Norfolk news—Dick Alfriend is on the City Planning Commission; Fred Herman is spearheading a drive to buy a Renoir for the museum, Bobby Boyd ran Senator Robertson's campaign here; Jean Boyd McIntyre is moving from Bristol to Virginia Beach, will join Connie Curtis Laws, and John Tucker at the beautiful newly-built Norfolk Academy; and Roy Charles is to marry an attractive Washington lady in the fall. Frank Ritter is one of the new owners of The Marshalls at Virginia Beach.

In a recent Flat Hat a student editorial spoke of how to improve the attitude of our alums, educating seniors, etc. We older alums should support the Society of the Alumni, give generously (if we are able), give something anyhow (many companies will match your gift), come to Homecoming just once so you can see how great it is, retain an interest in and love for the College, and Write News To Your Class Secretary.

Our own Mary Epes Raney Begor, now living in Ludlow, Mass., represented the College at the inauguration of the president of Springfield College, Springfield, Mass. on April 30.

Betty and Henry Schutz treated themselves to a grand and glorious twentieth anniversary celebration—five weeks in Europe. Betty phoned us from the airport just a few minutes before take-off and to say she was excited would be the understatement of the year. A postcard later conveyed the "having a wonderful time" attitude that is fitting and proper for such an event.

A postcard from Jean Boyle Herbert in the spring told of a lovely week-end in Chicago with Tom, who was conventioning there for his company.

Clement S. Vaughan, who received his law degree from the College, has been appointed deputy regional vice-president of the Mountain States region of the State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Co. He has been manager of the Alabama division since 1962.

Robert J. Steckroth has been named principal of Maury High School in Norfolk, as of last July 1. Bob went to Maury in 1952 as an assistant football coach, head basketball coach, and a mathematic teacher. He became acting assistant principal of Maury in 1957 and assistant principal in 1958. Since 1962 he has been principal of Blair Junior High School. Congratulations, Bob!

Class Agent John Fritz taught at the College again this summer, from July 25 to August 26. Jack was with the History Department.

William H. Saunders, Jr. of Rochester, New York started in July as Chairman of the University of Rochester Chemistry Department.

For most of us, the only way of keeping in touch is through our class newsletter. Why not take five minutes now to drop us a line about your year's activities? Someone in your class is bound to be interested in that promotion, new baby, or trip to Europe. Let us hear from you!

Phyllis De Haven Jones writes that they arrived in Brussels in January and will be there about three years. Her husband, Stan who is a Commander in the Navy is the Naval attache to the Embassy there. She says the country is lovely and the people wonderful. Her only regret is that she did not study French at College. She hopes any alums in the vicinity will call her.

I am writing this in the middle of July while we are still in Franklin and waiting for Bev to get through painting the interior of the house we have bought at the new address which heads this letter. He likes his new job which he began on June 6 at the West End Pharmacy, 901 West Washington Street, Petersburg. We are going to miss the friendliness and small town living in Franklin, but we are hoping we will be able to enjoy some of the advantages of living in a larger city. Please come by and see us or call us if you are in our area.

If all goes as planned now, Bev and I will be in Williamsburg on October 14 and 15 for our fifteenth reunion. My parents have agreed to keep our three children for us. I hope that you are making plans to be there, too, as I am looking forward to seeing all of you so much. I am sure that you will hear from the Alumni Office concerning reservations for the weekend, and I hope that you will reply promptly. If you have a new address for yourself or of some other member of our class, please notify Jim Kelly or Gordon C. Vliet, the newly appointed Director of Alumni Affairs. Jim will continue to serve as Alumni Secretary.

Charles E. Somervell has been named manager of data processing for Chesapeake Corp. of Virginia at West Point, Virginia. For the past two years he was group manager of Technical Operation, Inc., a consulting firm that is developing a command and control system for the Continental Army Command at Fort Monroe. He also served as systems analyst for Reynolds Metals Co. in Richmond for 11 years.

I read in the society news of Richmond where Betty Hicks Wagner, her husband Allan, and their four children, Allan III, Elizabeth Lee, Susan Alison, and Robert Clayton, were new Richmond members of the Fishing Bay Yacht Club.

Joe P. King, Jr. '48, was elected in July to be Chairman of the Franklin City School Board. He, Georgia, and their four children, Karen, Ricky, Becky, and Liz Ann, live across the street from us. Joe is quite active in the Franklin Baptist Church, the Franklin Rotary Club, and the Franklin Chamber of Commerce. He is personnel manager of the Franklin Division of the Union-Camp Paper Company. His wife, the former Georgia Shelly of Williamsburg, teaches horseback riding, and their son Ricky who rides quite well, won some ribbons in shows in this area in the spring.

I heard from Holmes Bailey in May. To me, he is "Cleve" Bailey! Anyway, he and Judie returned to the East last September and now live at Glen Avenue, Llewellyn Park, West Orange, New York 07052. They have two daughters, Alison 5 and Katherine 1 1/2. He is responsible for N. Y., New England, and New Jersey for Motorola which is a sales and marketing position in the electronics industry.

Calvin Warren Breit, prominent attorney and Jewish community leader of Norfolk, Virginia, has been re-elected to the Young Leadership Cabinet of the United Jewish Appeal. He has been a member since 1960 of the Campaign Cabinet of the Norfolk Jewish Community Council, of which the UJA is a major beneficiary. He has also been active as Vice-President and a Board member of Temple Israel. In 1963 he accompanied the Young Leadership Mission to Israel and Europe. He is a partner in the firm of Amato, Babalas, Breit, Cohen, Rutter and Friedman.

In a letter I had from Milly Johnson Woodling in January she stated that they were still enjoying Texas. Pete works with NASA, and the interesting people they meet through it makes it quite exciting. She had expected her year with the three children being school to be an easy one. She lead Kerry's fifth grade Camp Fire Group with 14 girls; took lessons in oil painting; and still enjoyed garden clubbing. Before she left Virginia she started taking the courses to become a National Council Flower Show Judge and completed the requirements last year.

Mrs. Beverly Simonton Kelly '53, wife of Jim Kelly, sang one of the solos in Beethoven's Mass in c major, "Opus 86" which was presented at this year's John D. Rockefeller Jr. Memorial Concert on April 24 and 25 at Bruton Parish Church.

Parker & Co. is a new real estate agency in Suffolk, Virginia, which offers a complete realty service with two licensed brokers and 12 licensed salesman. Principals of the new corporation, which is a separate organization from Parker & Co. insurance, are Robert E. Parker, Jr., who also heads the insurance business, John F. Crowgey and David E. Crockett. After Bob graduated from college he served in the Korean War and then he was employed by Travelers Insurance as a field representative in a large part of Virginia. He returned to his native town of Suffolk in 1956 when he founded his insurance business. He is a charter member of the Liberty Spring Ruritan Club and is a past Lt. Governor of Zone 1, Holland District, Ruritan National. He is a member of the Liberty Spring Christian Church and is very active in many other civic affairs in the Suffolk area. He also was one of the founders of the Williamsburg Life Insurance Co. in 1964. He and his wife, the former Jessie Penny Wilkins of Cape Charles, have two daughters, Penny 13, and Pat 11.

In the June 1966 issue of Friends, the little magazine sent to all Chevrolet owners, there are several pictures of the Robert W. Arbuckle family of Hutchinson, Kansas. While reading this article about these wagon train excursions on the Kansas plains that follow a famous trial across the Indian and buffalo country, I kept seeing the name Arbuckle and then the picture of the wife of the family dressed in pioneer dress and bonnet saving her son Jess from an Indian attack staged for the travelers. When I read the name Bebe Arbuckle, the name sounded familiar to me. I hunted until I found the name of "Bebe" Fisher Arbuckle '53 in an old issue of the Alumni Gazette. There are several pictures of the Arbuckle family in this interesting article. I am sure it must have been a fascinating vacation for them and their children.

Jackie Jones Myers '52 from Alberta wrote me a long letter in May telling about the Virginia Chi Omega State Day which was held on April 23rd at the Hotel Richmond. It was sponsored by the Northern Virginia Alumni Chapter of Chi Omega. There were around 200 actives and alums present. Those there from William and Mary whom Jackie knew were: Jean Anne Harrup Cogle from Williamsburg who is an advisor to the chapter there; Ebbie Shelton Rice from Reedville; Billie Potts Place from Roanoke; Shirley Arndt Lamb from Springfield; Mary Kay Langan Flegler from Annandale; Mare Newcomb Massey, Betty Wilkinson Smith, Carol Turner Kurtz, and Jeanne Watkins Hughs all from Richmond; and Jane Kerwick Biel from Norfolk. Mary Kay, Ebbie, Betty, and Jackie spent that Friday night in Richmond and had a wonderful time being together again.

Within a week after I had written to say there was no news at deadline time, I began hearing from people all over the place.

I had gone away for four days (unheard of) and while visiting in Mobile, Biloxi, and New Orleans, two notes arrived and Barnes had left a telephone message that she was in Washington, D. C. for a short stay. Luckily we got back before she left and were able to meet for dinner. She and Ron were attending the meetings of the American Personnel and Guidance Association and interviewing for a dean of women. We did not even know that they had moved again, this time to Grand Forks, North Dakota, and they had left home during the time when everyone was making preparations to protect against expected flood damage. They had arrived in Grand Forks just in time for the worst blizzard since 1888!

One of the notes awaiting me was from Nancy Williams Stearns who is in Oregon, Wisconsin where she is the wife of an assistant professor of Meteorology, and the mother of a small son, Jimmy, who should be two by now. They live on a farm which she describes as ancient and very dear. It serves, she says, as a very expensive hobby. She had been teaching in University Extension Drama, but though she is not teaching presently, she has been very much involved in dramatics from time to time. She recently directed the 18th Century play, "The Clandestine Marriage" for the Playhouse at the Madison Art Center.

Another note came from Peggy Wells Stiles, who is trying to locate Joan Schlepper, whose maiden name she has forgotten. Martha Bennett Stiles is the name Peggy uses for writing. Another book is to be published this fall, the third, I think called "The Sixth Hour." She was to sail to Italy in April for two months.

Then a telephone call from Peggy Morgan Johnson who is now almost a neighbor of mine. She has moved to a community just about five miles away. They came from Pennsylvania to this area where Phil is with GEM region of IBM. When we first talked, she was expecting her third child any moment. Their daughter was born a week later.

Anne and Reynolds Legge came to Peggy's for a visit early in June, and brought their three children. There the same weekend were Karlee Smith Gifford, Bob Gifford, and their three children, the third born last November.

Sally Hurse is back in Washington, D. C. having come from Paris recently.

Robert W. Tyson, Jr. now lives in Fort Lauderdale, Florida and is practicing law. He hopes any alums living there or visiting will call him for a chat about W&M.

Ralph and Madge Francis like Louisville, Kentucky very much. They recently saw Audrey and Hall Bates and think they look just as they did 14 years ago. Last Thanksgiving they had as their guests, Peg and George Emerson and Peg and Bob Hackler.

Our own family has taken up sailing in the past few weeks. Having never tried it before, we found there was lots to learn.

Gordon C. Vliet of Alma, Michigan has recently accepted the position of Director of Alumni Affairs at the College of William and Mary.

The big news in the Harrell household is the arrival of our adopted baby, Julie Ann, on July 1st. She was born on April 18th, the day after my birthday. Her brother, Mike, age 3, seems pleased with her although he says he would still rather have a dog.

From Stan and Florence Bain comes the exciting news that they have returned to the States. At this writing the Bains will be in Princeton, N. J. where Stan will study Biblical languages and Florence will "major in supermarkets". Their address is Payne Hall, Princeton Theological Seminary, Princeton, N. J. 08450. After leaving Sarawak, Malaysia where they were missionaries for several years, the Bains visited places in the Congo where Florence worked previously and they also visited friends in Liberia. In August they spent a few weeks with their families in Sharon, Pa., and Dinwiddie, Va. Welcome back, Stan and Flo!

Mike Jordan and Gail, '57, are back in Hawaii. Gail writes that while Mike was in the Navy they were stationed there and always hoped to return. In June they moved into a split-level condominium located on a marina. Gail and Mike have two boys and a girl who really enjoy the easy island living. The Bowens hope to remain in Hawaii permanently.

The Alumni office sent along some interesting information. Otto Lowe has been appointed Executive Assistant to the President of the New York Stock Exchange, G. Keith Funston. Our congratulations go to Otto for this notable advancement.

Congratulations are also in order for Charles R. Johnson who writes that he was promoted to Captain in the Air Force in February. He is stationed in Tachikawa, Japan.

Barbara Brown Harman wrote in July of vacation plans at Nags Head and Norfolk. She also said she sometimes sees Marilyn Zaiser Ott at the pool. They both live in Cincinnati now.

Sally Dahm Elfeit writes that after an interesting year at the Naval War College in Newport, Rhode Island, they are bound for Los Alamitos, California this summer. Jim, her husband, is a commander and will take command of a Long Beach based destroyer. Their children are now 8, 7, 6, and 4.

Virginia Hungerford Moore has three boys and 1 two-year old daughter. Her husband writes that Ginny who is a former Backdrop Club president, has resumed her acting, starring in their local amateur group.

Sally Little Hodges of Thomasville, Georgia writes that she is busy with three children, while her husband Charles builds

*Mrs. Henry V. Collins, Jr.
(Eloise Gideon)

Barrington, Rhode Island*

Greetings! We have some news and it isn't even Christmas! Wonders will never cease!

I have some exciting news myself. We had a son, Patrick Gideon Collins, born last May. After having two little girls, we were more than pleased to have a little boy.

I received a very official looking envelope from CBS Television Stations, Washington, D. C. It was a note from Mary ("Turtle"—no more!) Warren who just loves her job as Administration Assistant in the CBS Regional News Bureau. Mary says this is a fancy title which translated, really means "den mother" to the six men she works with. They cover Washington news of special interest to the areas served by the five TV stations owned and operated by CBS. Mary has a visit now and then from Mary Lou Pardue ('55) on her way to and from Yale where she is getting her Ph.D.

A card from Meta Fooks Rickard tells us that she and her son and daughter will spend a year in Pebble Beach, Calif. with her parents while her husband, Dan, is in Viet Nam. Before she left Denver, Colo., she hoped to see Elle Lundberg Martling and family, as they were to drive to their "ranch" in the mountains west of Denver for their vacation.

A note from Dot Chapman Sullivan tells us that she had a nice visit with Meta in Denver. Dot and husband, Patrick, a doctor, are in the Army for two years and stationed at the Fitzsimons General Hospital in Denver. The Sullivans and their two daughters, ages two and one, are thrilled to be back in Colorado—the weather is a little more to their liking than Louisiana's. They are hoping to be able to combine our class reunion with a medical convention in Washington, D. C.

A note from Jeanne Napolino Bickel tells us that she and Alex and their two daughters are spending the summer in Palo Alto, Calif., where Alex is teaching the summer session at Stanford University. They will return to Yale in the fall and if they can solve the babysitting problem, they hope to be in Williamsburg in October.

From the Alumni Office we learn that Brenda Kornis Cattell and husband, Bob ('53) are stationed in Yaounde, Cameroon, where Bob is Branch Public Affairs officer for the U.S. Information Agency. With the USIA Bob has served at diplomatic and consular posts in Bern, Leopoldville, Douala and Yaounde. The Cattells returned to the U.S. on home leave during the summer.

The Alumni Office also tells us that Lloyd Hagan is in Ankara, Turkey with the U.S. Information Service.

Richard E. Ringer received a promotion with Ames Company, Inc. and he and his family moved to Greensboro, North Carolina in June.

Hugh R. MacMahon is in Seattle, Washington doing two more years of residency in Neurology at the University of Washington Medical School hospitals. He writes that he will miss his 10th class reunion.

Barton H. Tayer of Brookline, Massachusetts writes that he opened his offices for the practice of orthodontics. He and his wife have recently had their third child, a second daughter. He is looking forward to the 10th reunion.

Joel Hurley of New York City is enjoying a great deal of success putting on sales of antique and Estate Jewelry in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

That is all until October. Hope to see many of you in Williamsburg then!

Whee! That was a busy, but very happy summer with our four little gals. Hope you had as much fun as we did.

Nice to hear from Bob Anchell who is now a C.L.U. and is Assistant Director of Agencies with Seaboard Life Insurance Co. in Miami. He married Leanora Weaver, a first grade teacher, December 19, 1965.

Two of our classmates are at Newport, R. I. with their families. Mentioned Ann Lee Bruin in the March issue, but have received a long letter from her since then. Her husband, John, graduated from the War College June 15 and was off to Karat, Thailand in July for a year. Ann has decided to stay on there with their three children so has rented a house on the beach.

Sara Gallamore Marthinson and her Lcdr. husband Det have recently moved there after two years in Key West, Florida. Det is executive officer on the destroyer Moale. They have one daughter, Sydney Elizabeth, who is one year old.

Congratulations to Emogene and John Cayward of Manchester, Conn. on the birth of their first child, Darren Ottley, May 16, 1966.

A political career is in the offing for Dave Allred who married Patricia Moyer. Dave, who took some night classes at W&M while stationed at Fort Eustis and Fort Story in 1956 and 1957 has won the Democratic primary for nomination to the Texas House of Representatives. Dave has no Republican opponent in the general election in November. Dave and Patricia live in Wichita Falls, Texas with their two children. Dave, a former Washington correspondent and Congressional staff member, is a writer for the daily newspaper, The Times. Patricia has been active in civic and church activities including a lot of work as a volunteer leader at the YWCA of a new club for girls from underprivileged

Al Ferguson has joined the public relations department of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company at the Covington mill as a public relations assistant.

For the past four years, Al was editor and publisher of the Shenandoah Herald, a newspaper and commercial printing business in Woodstock, Virginia. Prior to that, he was an associate editor of Medical Economics Magazine, a national business magazine for doctors.

Al's initial responsibilities will include editing the mill's news letter and assisting in expanding the mill's program to promote employee and public understanding of the operations in Covington and other Bleached Board Division locations, including wood buying yards in Virginia and West Virginia.

He is a former president of the Woodstock Chamber of Commerce and until his recent resignation was a member and secretary of the Woodstock Planning Commission.

Sandy Longfellow Ferguson wrote that Peggy Cress Brice and husband Ralph have a daughter, Carolyn, born January 31. He is an architect in Charlotte, North Carolina. Gail Morgan Filion had a seven pound baby daughter, Christine Marie, on May 1, 1966.

Received a notice that Mike Alembik has been made a law partner in the firm of Nall, Miller, Cadenhead, and Dennis in Atlanta, Georgia. Alan Sherman and wife Maren have moved to Scituate, Massachusetts. They have two children, Jane and David. Alan entered his third year of Law School at Boston University last year. He is in the Marine Corps Reserve as aviator captain. Barbara Speight Peroe and Bob are living in Colonial Heights near here. They have a daughter Cynthia, age six, and a son Richard born March 23, 1966. Bob is an architectural engineer and works as an architectural projects manager. He previously taught for five years.

Bob won the councilmanic election in Colonial Heights recently and will take office September 1966.

On July 5, Rusty Dietrich and Mac McDaniels became parents to another girl, Melanie, who weighed 5 lb. 14½ oz. Rusty's sister, Martha Dietrich Guthrie ('61), was here to help out. Martha has two children, Bonnie age four years, and Tommy age 2½ years. Pattie Regan Carson and husband Bill with six-months-old daughter Diana Lee wrote Rusty that they had spent a week in Mexico.

I saw Ginny Wachob and Ed Shine ('56) at the William and Mary picnic last spring. Ginny has three children now—the last of whom will be a year old August 13. She said that Anne Shoosmith McInnes has three children now also. Cissy Smith ('56) and Don Spivey ('56) were at the picnic with their two children. Don is president of his local Lions Club group. He and is the sum of many parts: The Wren Building is the oldest and most revered. But, in later years, alumni recall other places that project clear images of their own—Cary Field, a fraternity or sorority house, the sunken garden, Washington 100, Phi Beta, O.D. 4th, many others. The Wigwam has been, is now, and will be a traditional meeting place. Come back soon!

Cissy celebrated their 10th anniversary in New York City for a week at the International Lions Club Convention. There were 26,000 people there. Sounds swinging! The Shines, Spiveys, Dick Rowletts, Denys Grants, and Ed Walton have season tickets to the William and Mary games this year.

Harry Cornell and Janet were at the picnic also. They are expecting parenthood in August. Harry said that Neil Hock is back from Viet Nam and living in Baltimore. He and the McCrays saw Neil in May or June when Neil came to Richmond. Harry received a wedding invitation from Tony Wilson a short while ago—but I caught Harry on short notice and he had no details.

Betsy Stafford and Frank Elliott now have three boys—the last born in April. She seems a bit harried these days for some reason. Their oldest boy David is four years and the middle boy Michael is almost two years. Kathy Watson ('59) and Jay Lawler had a third child—a girl Terry Kathryn on May 31. That about covers the news I have. Please drop me a line soon. Everyone wants to hear what you're up to.

too loudly, let me bring you up to date on what I've learned though some of this is "old hat" now.

It is most exciting to see Linda Lavin's name on the marquee for "It's a Bird . . . It's a Plane . . . It's Superman." Friends of mine who have seen the play speak very highly of her performance as do the critics. Congratulations, Linda.

Stuart A. Epstein has moved from a Los Angeles law firm to the firm of Cohen and Wolf in Bridgeport, Connecticut.

Philip C. Tuck has joined the Boston branch office of the Peerless Insurance Co. where he will serve as an underwriter.

Richard Hawkins has been promoted to accounting manager at The Eastern office of the State Farm Mutual Automotive Ins. Co. in Charlottesville.

Bill Davidson has been appointed ass't. H.S. Principal of Petman H.S., New Jersey. He is also enrolled at Temple University in the doctoral program.

Lewis Preston and wife Janet (627 Foothill Rd., Somerville, N. J.) moved last April to the above address. He is presently Ass't. V.P. of Mararetten and Co., Inc., Perth Amboy in their mortgage dept.

Carey Adams Robertson and her husband had a temporary assignment in Long Beach, Calif. but have now returned to Baltimore.

Dorothy Haynie Bush writes that her husband, Bill, a 1960 Marshall Wythe Law School graduate was re-elected Supervisor of the town of Cainillus, N. Y.—his second successful bid for re-election.

Charles A. Kengla, staff engineer at IBM Corporation's Federal Systems Division Engineering Laboratory in Bethesda, Md., recently presented a paper at the Communications Satellite System Conference describing a satellite communications terminal. The paper stressed several unique technical features of the proposed multiplexor which is adaptable to the current space program. He is working toward his M.A. degree in electrical engineering at George Washington University.

Ted Parks received an Honorable Mention Award from the American Psychological Association's creative talent awards program, given in 1964 for his doctoral dissertation at the University of Wisconsin, "An Experimental and Theoretical Analysis of Recognition Memory Performance." Dr. Parks' award was one of four in his area and one of twelve in the country. He and Martha are now located at the University of California, Santa Barbara where Ted is on the faculty.

Audrey Phillips Lum writes from Fairfax that she has continued her employment with the Virginia State Welfare Dept. as an eligibility analyst on the Quality Control Program.

Laurence Miller, wife, and three children are in Hawaii (Waianae) where he is studying Philosophy at the University of Hawaii.

According to plans then, they and the Snyders were getting together this summer—hope you had a grand time. Dottie (Gell) Ruffin and her husband, Nick, are living in Shelby, N. C. and have two children; Bud Mooney '58 has been in Ethiopia with the Peace Corps since June, 1964 and has visited Kenya, Zambia, Rhodesia, South Africa. He particularly liked Victoria Falls, Capetown, and Nairobi; Sherry (Kimball) and Larry Davis and little Larry live in South River, N. J. near the Snyders where Larry is with Dupont. Alice (Rannels) Meyers and Dave and Amanda also live nearby; Patsy (Wescott) and Otto Lowe and two sons live in Manhassett., L. I. Ann (Willis) Scott and Bill and two daughters love being in Houston where Bill is working on the Apollo moon shot; on a visit to Richmond and Williamsburg, the Snyders stayed with Rusty (Dietrich '58) and Mac McDaniel '57 and three year old Molly, visited Louise and Bill McCray '58 and three year old Hunter; Cathy (Watson) and Jay Lawler have moved to Richmond with Brad, four, and Kelly, two; the Snyders have, as Carolyn described, a red-head, blue-eyed feminine version of Don—they are in a new home at 470 S. Livingston Ave., Livingston, N. Y. from which Don commutes to NYC where he's in the staff operations dept. of N. Y. Telephone Co. This summer Don completed work at Rutgers for an M.A. in Business Ad.—Carolyn, many thanks. You were a dear to write so much.

I got a most enticing invitation to visit Roney (Chesson) and John Morton in New Orleans and what fun it would be to take them up on it. Tom and Susan Ely did visit them from Houston where Tom is with IBM and Lynn (Bennett) de Voest called while home for a visit from Brazil—she has three children; Roney and John are both active in their church but little John keeps them even busier.

Martha Phyllis Powers Garris writes that having been in Monterey, California for two years she has made contact with Anne Brown Lanham who was there while her husband and Phyllis's husband were attending US Naval Post Graduate School. It's hard to imagine, while I sit in this unbearable heat during this mid-July, a lovely October for the present issue. I trust you all survived the ravages of summer.

Currently I am thoroughly enjoying the pleasures of the idle class. After six years of teaching and coaching, I resigned this past June. As of this writing Pat and I are happily awaiting the passage of the next four months, for in early December we are expecting our first little Picariello. Now that I've blabbed about our small "earthshaking" event, here's what other news I have.

Lt. John French, USN is presently main propulsion assistant on the polaris submarine, USS Simon Bolivar. Home is in Richmond.

Ruth Clark Garverick writes from San Diego, California. Her husband, Mickey, is also a lieutenant on a nuclear submarine. The Gervericks have called California, Connecticut, Maryland, New York and Spain home during the past two years. They have two children, Karen 1½ and Ricky 3½.

Miles Chappell received a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship for graduate study at the University of North Carolina during the early part of this year.

Dick Neely is to be congratulated for his outstanding work as traffic supervisor for Telephone Business Services in Richmond. His company handles any and all telephone problems. His picture and an article by Dick appeared in the company's magazine T.B.S.

Glenn Cayward sends his greetings from Rockville, Connecticut where Kathy and he report daughter number two, Amy Jo.

Dave and Laurie Bottoms recently completed an 18-month tour with the Army, spending time in Bavaria, Germany. Before Uncle Sam called, Dave attended and graduated from law school at the University of Virginia. Laurie taught English in Charlottesville. Dave has now begun law practice in Alabama. They have a two-year-old daughter, Sarah Frances, who has some German sprinkled in with her English vocabulary. Good luck, Dave, with your new practice.

I received a pleasant letter from Sarah Delk Perkins, who has been living in Cherry Hill, New Jersey since March of 1965. She and Hubby Tom moved from Arlington when Tom joined the Radio Corporation of America. He is now a corporate staff auditor with R.C.A. They have one son, Thomas, 2 years old. Sarah recently heard from Anne Leach Atkinson. Anne and husband Davis are living in Jacksonville, Florida with their son, Marshall, two years old. They had their second child this past July.

Carol Sue Dowdy Roberts and daughter Dianna are in Carthage, Texas. Her husband Forrest is a captain in the Army and is presently in Southeast Asia for 18 months. Thank you so much for your informative letter, Sarah.

Carolyn Dewey Simmons has been teaching high school in Newport News since graduation. Her husband, Frank, '59, is assistant copy editor for the Times Herald.

Randolph and Bette Brown Hinkle have been in Korea for the past two years where Randy is working for the State Department. They have two daughters.

Gin Ann Joyce Conger, the mother of two sons, assumed the presidency of the Newport News-Hampton-York Panhellenic Association this fall. Congratulations, Ginn Ann. And many thanks to you, Carolyn; your letter helped a great deal.

Mickey and Mary Jane Thomas Stokes report from Chester that on March 24 of this year, 7 lb. Catherine Jane was born. Congratulations to you both!

Pat Stevens has recently married Faust Villareale, a lawyer in the D. C. area. They are living in Oxen Hill, Maryland.

Pete and Robin Burns have two children, Lorelee, 2½, Kerry, 10 months, and they are expecting their third in January.

I just finished a delightful telephone conversation with Becky Fauber Becker. Bill and she moved to Yardley, Pennsylvania last September. They have one son, Scotty, who is 6½, and any day they will have little Becker number two. Bill is a market analyst with the SMC Corporation in Philadelphia and he received his graduate degree in statistics from Rutgers this June. Becky has taught kindergarten in a private school in Levittown, Pennsylvania, and this past year she worked with mentally retarded pre-schoolers in Bristol, Pennsylvania.

David N. Ladd has been named supervisor in the agency department at the Newark, New Jersey casualty and surety division office of Aetna Life and Casualty.

Nancy Lee Hanson Benson writes that she and Peter moved to Des Moines last December. She is a welfare worker for Welfare Department and her husband is 4-County Sales Manager for Stoner System (outdoor advertising).

G. Philip Bullard has been elected an assistant secretary in the international division of Manufacturers Hanover Trust Company. In his new position he will be stationed in France and will assume the responsibilities of an assistant representative in the bank's Paris office. He will also represent the bank in Belgium, The Netherlands, and Luxembourg. He is married to the former Mary L. King.

61 Mrs. J. Steirling Gunn
 (Margie Barnhart)
 200 Beechmont Drive
 Newport News, Va. 23602

Personal news must come first this time, since I can't wait to tell it. Steirling and I have a little girl, Nancy Randolph, born June 16 in Williamsburg Community Hospital. She is a little doll, and we now understand the pride with which you other new parents write of your babies. In May we moved to a house we bought halfway between Williamsburg and Newport News. Several William and Mary neighbors we are happy to see in this area are Marty and Penny Anderson Trusty and Bev Vaughn. Marty just received his M.A. while continuing to work at N.A.S.A.; and Penny keeps busy tutoring, caring for Karen and Jimmy, and giving me advice in my new role as mother. Bev has been coaching and teaching at Denbigh High School but was to return to William and Mary this fall as assistant basketball coach. Steirling graduated in June from William and Mary and is enjoying his work as a stockbroker with Abbott, Proctor and Paine in Newport News.

During spring vacation we drove to Panama City, Florida, for a visit with Bill and Lynne Hagen Clarke, '60. It was too chilly for us to swim, but our Labrador Retriever puppy, Beauregard, enjoyed dips in the gulf and the Atlantic while we walked on the beach and played golf. While having dinner in Charleston one night on our return trip, I recognized a couple at another table as being former William and Mary students, John and Priscilla Kreitzer Hopkins, both '60. Lynne and Bill paid us a brief visit early in June when they were in Williamsburg for Lynne's sister Kathy's wedding and graduation.

John, '60, and Fran McLean Pforr have moved to Alexandria for John's current Secret Service assignment at the White House. They spent a weekend in Williamsburg in the spring and hope to be back for Homecoming.

We were sorry to bid farewell to Nat and Marianne McKee Withers, who moved to Pittsburgh, where Nat has a fellowship at Carnegie Tech for work on his Ph.D.

Susan Kohler Frost wrote abroad the Michelangelo that she and her husband were enjoying a "gala crossing." After landing at Gibraltar they planned to tour Spain, Italy, Austria, Switzerland, Germany, and France before settling in a "flat" in London. Her husband received a University Fellowship to do research for his Ph.D. dissertation in history.

First Lt. Victor Lesher has been awarded the U.S. Air Force Commendation Medal for meritorious service as chief of programs management for an Air Force unit at Taipei, Formosa. He is now commander of a communications detachment at Headquarters ACIC.

Judith Meyer Schultz and her husband Stephen are living in Cincinnati, where she teaches biology and chemistry at a girls' preparatory school and Stephen is with the William S. Merrell Company.

Carol Noble Braun wrote from Smyrna, Georgia, that her husband, a U.S.M.C. captain, is serving a year's assignment as an adviser in Viet Nam. They have one child, Cindy.

In April, Suzanne Farrell represented William and Mary at the inauguration of Dr. Glenn Leggett as president of Grinnell College, Carolville, Iowa.

Joan Gamble Brown, '60, wrote from Edinburgh that she is studying for her B.D. degree at New College and is thoroughly enjoying her three-year stay in Scotland.

Mary Jane Thomas Stokes, '60, and Mickey now have a little girl, Catherine Jane, born March 24.

A letter from Pete Siegenthaler has informed us all of our fifth! reunion at Homecoming, October 14 and 15. We hope to see many of you then.

D. Marshall Barry, lecturer in economics at Lake Forest College, Illinois and his wife, Patty Pound, will spend the coming year traveling and studying in Great Britain and Africa. He is the recipient of a Ford Foundation Intersocial Research Grant awarded by Northwestern University. He plans to finish his doctoral dissertation dealing with the banking system in the former British Colony of Nigeria.

Richard D. Westlake received his MA in Theatre degree in the spring at Southern Illinois University.

William B. Lincoln writes that after leaving College he began work on a Ph.D. in Russian history at the University of Chicago. He and his wife spent a year in the USSR affiliated with the Institute of History and the Moscow State University.

Harrison Stephen Golden received his MFA degree from the University of Iowa in June.

At the May meeting of the metropolitan Washington alumni group I saw Milt Baker, who is currently in an administrative training program with Montgomery Ward in Maryland after having lived several years in Paris. Tom Johnson was in Washington for a week this summer and traveled back to Williamsburg, through New England and to Canada. After his year at Exeter, England, Tom returned to the University of Michigan where he received his M.A. in economics in December 1965. Since then he has been working on his doctorate there in sociology. Tom saw Richard Grubb in England during a short trip to Europe last summer. Tom reports that Dean Fillop is attending Wayne State Law School and is married. Also married is Mickey McKann, who is doing graduate work in library science at the University of Michigan. Pete and Sandy Bracken and family are living in Maryland where Pete is doing graduate work in math at the University of Maryland and working at the Goddard Space Center.

Bob Dennis, '61, called while in D.C. on a business trip for Bowman Gray School of Medicine, Winston-Salem, N. C. where he is associate director of Clinical Computer Sciences. Bob and his wife, Carolyn Blossom, '59, have one son, Kevin, age 4. Bob received his master's degree in physics from Yale in 1962 and did systems work for IBM until early this year. He is working on his Ph.D. in information science at Chapel Hill. Bob reports that Danny Sheehan, '60, is assistant director, Computer Systems, at the University of Georgia. Also in Athens is Shiras Elliot, who is doing graduate work at the university. Bob and Ed Knight, '59, are working in the reference section of the Library of Congress. Jim, '56, and Ann Shoemith McInnes also are living in Winston-Salem, N. C., where Jim works for IBM. The latest addition to their family is a third daughter, Jennifer. Bill Hunt is doing graduate work in physics at W&M. Benny and Chris Harms Dulask ('61) ('59?) recently left for a 2-year government assignment in Afghanistan.

Robert M. and Sara Anne (West) Chapman are living in Colonial Heights, Va., where Robert has been working in the Gaming and Simulation Branch of the Logistic Studies Office, Combat Operations Research Group of Technical Operations, Incorporated, as an Operations Analyst since June 1964. He received his M.A. in math from W&M in June 1964. In Richmond Richard B. Gunston has been assigned to the L. P. Gas District of the Humble Oil Refining Company as sales representative for marketing within Virginia. After graduation from W&M Genny McCeney taught

DRESS RIGHT!

A RMY VETERANS quickly recall the command, "Dress Right." It means straighten up, sharpen up, line up with others in your rank. It has nothing to do with wearing apparel. Here at Williamsburg Shop we also urge our civilian friends to "Dress Right"—but in terms of their appearance. Try us for fine gentlemen's wear (ladies, too), footwear, luggage, plus departments for children, notions and housewares. Above all, remember: "Dress Right, you can't afford not to. Your clothes never stop talking about you."

school for 2 years in Charlottesville, Va. For the past year she has been traveling around the country as a member of Procter and Gamble's Market Research Department; although she is still with P&G Genny is now living in Cleveland with her traveling limited to within a 200-mile radius. Brynn Aurelius was elected to membership in the Sons of the Revolution in the State of New York on 21 March 1966; Brynn is living in Ridgewood, N. J.

Ken and Dorris (Smith) McElroy are at N.C. State where Ken is getting his master's degree in public health. Rich and Jane (Noble) Lundy are in Europe for approximately 15 months; Rich is on sabbatical leave beginning in June. Jackie Fleming received her master's degree in guidance from Colorado State University. Jim and Linda (Lester) Hagen are living in Clovis, N. Mexico; Jim is in the Air Force and attended a special school in Dayton at Wright-Patterson earlier in the year. Motherhood was in the future for Maggie (Bounds) Evans and W. Janet (Perry) Ellis. Living in the San Francisco area has been advantageous for Cliff and Judy (Deelbridge) Higginson, who have made several trips to Squaw Valley this year. They spent part of the summer traveling throughout Europe as Cliff was selected as one of 3 California graduate students in business for a tour that goes to Russia. Gordon and Donna (Floyd) Fales were at Wimbledon (England) for the tennis season this year. David and Martha (Bell) Laxson spent two weeks during the summer in Hawaii. Stacy and Elena Ruddy McMarlin returned in June from a tour of duty in Hawaii to Fort Bragg, N. C. Gary McGee was planning to be married in Arlington in August before joining a law firm in Charlottesville, Va.

John and Judy (Linton), '63, Heald bought a house in Arlington this summer; John works for IBM and Judy retired from teaching for a while with the end of the school year in June. Fred Codding and Judy Hawkins, '63, were married this summer and are living in the Washington area. Lee McCandless, '61, lives in Arlington and works for General Technologies Corporation in Alexandria, Va. After receiving his doctorate from the University of Virginia, Bill Piotrowski, '60, has been working for a year as a research physicist with Bellcom, Inc. in Washington. First Lt. Stephen B. Tatem, Jr. completed a 10-week military law course in April at the U.S. Army Judge Advocate General's School, Charlottesville, Va., and has been assigned to Fort Knox, Ky. Dick Krickes, '59, is a consultant for the D.C. office of Arthur D. Little & Co. Bernie Thole, '59, lives in Summit, N. J. and is in the construction business. Norm Burnett, '61, is working in the public relations office of the Red Cross, Alexandria. Joe Orth, '61, is a physicist for the Washington office of Illinois Institute of Technology; previously he worked in Annapolis, Md. and for the Chrysler Corporation. Danny Plummer, '59, and Marlene Fabrice of Philadelphia, were married this summer; Danny, who works for the National Institute of Mental Health, received his master's degree from George Washington University and plans to begin work on a doctorate this fall in Calif.

Jerry and Dorothy Heid Bracey have returned to Palo Alto after visiting Jerry's mother in Williamsburg and Dorothy's mother in New York. They have just returned from a year of study at the University of Hong Kong and a tour of the Far East and Europe. Dorothy is engaged in the field work for her doctorate in anthropology from Harvard University and Jerry from his doctorate in psychology from Stanford.

William Harold Briola received his MA in Education degree from Western Reserve University in June.

News has been very sparse this summer! I hope with the thought of approaching fall, which means cooler weather and, of course, Homecoming, that you will take a moment to write me a letter or a post card about what you have been doing.

Mary George writes that in June 1965 she married Charles White, who is a structural engineer for a Norfolk firm. Mary enjoys her job as a revenue officer for I.R.S. Also living in Norfolk are Jim and Sandy Harris Carney. Sandy is teaching and Jim works for I.B.M. Mary and Charles visited Washington last winter and saw Sue Appleton there. Sue works for the Library in Arlington County.

Bob Huggett is finishing up his work at W&M in summer school this summer and in the fall he and Lucy (Lawler) will be heading West, as he is going to graduate school at the U. of California in La Jolla, a suburb of San Diego. Bob has a fellowship to work on his PhD in marine geo-chemistry. Lucy will work while they are on the West Coast, but doesn't know yet what she will be doing. Lucy and Bob are looking forward to a two or three week camping and sight-seeing trip between Williamsburg and San Diego at the end of August.

Pam Johnstone Hitt and Dave sailed to Europe for a two month stay for travel and study during the summer of 1965. While there they ran into several William and Mary friends, one of whom was Lou Platt. Lou was Pam and Dave's best man and is now stationed with the Army in Germany. For the school year 1965-66 they returned to Philadelphia where Dave completed his studies at Westminster Theological Seminary and graduated in May with a Bachelor of Divinity degree. Pam taught forth grade in a Christian day school and said she breezed through with 13 students! This summer Dave is working in a church in Berkeley, California, gaining experience for the ministry. He is not yet ordained and is the assistant to the pastor. The Hitts are awaiting the birth of their first child about Thanksgiving. With her note, Pam enclosed a long mimeograph letter which they had sent to their friends about their Cubic SECOR satellite surveyor makes first direct coast-to-coast measurement of U.S.

Cubic's SECOR, world's most precise satellite tracking system, recently completed the first direct "single-leap" distance measurement across the United States, from San Diego, Calif., to Herndon, Va. In only 10 seconds, the distance between these points was determined to be 3,628,300.5 meters, or 2,254.5 miles.

More important than actual distance computation was SECOR's ability to accomplish this historic feat. SECOR uses a satellite 600 miles in space to plot and measure the earth with amazing speed and surveying accuracy.

"... a first order geodetic tool ..."

After initial tests, SECOR won the highest praise of the surveying and mapping profession.

Army officials noted, "SECOR has the full capability of a first order geodetic tool." In present operations, Cubic's all-weather SECOR system is successfully measuring distances between points of land separated by broad expanses of ocean.

29,000 "ranges" in six minutes...

During a typical satellite pass of six minutes duration, SECOR's four Cubic-built ground stations make approximately 29,000 measurements or "ranges" with 95% success. Within the SECOR satellite, a miniature 7-lb. Cubic transponder acts as a receiver-transmitter.

Tests prove that SECOR can extend control over distances exceeding 2000 miles with geodetic accuracy.

SECOR's far-reaching applications...

Data gathered by Cubic's SECOR will have lasting importance in the fields of geodesy, global navigation and satellite navigation. SECOR will have a role of major importance in space and defense programs requiring distance measurements with pinpoint accuracy. Information about the earth's shape and gravitational field is also being obtained.

SECOR is a product of Cubic Corporation, leader in the field of electronic measuring systems.

For additional information about SECOR, write to: Chief Scientist, Cubic Corporation, Department D-143, San Diego, Calif. 92123.

adventuresome trip to California—it made a very enjoyable reading.

Sarah Larkin Bove is in Arlington with her family awaiting the arrival of her second baby, due in mid-July. Roger left for Northern Europe with the Navy in May and will return in early September. Sarah and Roger's first child, Christopher, was two in April and Sarah describes him as a perpetual question asker. She stays busy at their home in Norfolk with Navy Relief work, too many social activities and just plain motherhood. Sarah saw Sherry Parrish Sullivan and her two small sons when they were in Arlington this summer on their way from Boston to Fort Madison, Iowa. Sherry's husband Paul will work for the Sheaffer Pen Company there. Glen and Fran Newton Harwood are due to get out of the Coast Guard in August. Glen will either go to graduate school or work for a company in the Washington area. Anna Byrd Hays and her sister are going to Germany for 3 weeks in mid-July. Fran Oliver Knapp and Skip will move from Newport News to Racine, Wisconsin, in September. Skip will be a student and Fran will teach high school history.

Vi Sadlier, who is one of our class agents for the William and Mary Fund, penned a few notes on the back of her solicitation letter about different members of our class which follow: Dale Harris Cohen and Dick, '61, have a little girl, Janice, born in February. Rosemary Brewer Phillips and Charlie have moved into a new house in Lansdowne, Pennsylvania. Cathy Day is back from a Peace Corps tour in Peru and is undecided about the future. She may go on to graduate school. Gary and Dotty Shaw Cody are living in Texas and have a baby boy, Kevin. Patti Pound Barry and Marshall, '61, are off to Africa for a year, where Marshall has a study grant.

Dick, '61, and Sue Meara Coyle moved into a new home in Waldwick, N. J., this spring. Dick still works for the telephone company in New York City. Sue has her hands full at home with "R. J.," who is a year and one-half, and Katie, who was born in mid-June.

Cordell Bowman of Boones Mill, Virginia writes that he has just returned from two years working with the Peace Corps in Ecuador, teaching in a high school, organizing summer schools and credit cooperatives and building co-op production facilities.

Phyllis L. Callis of Charlottesville, Virginia writes that after graduation she taught tenth grade biology for two years in Chesterfield County and this past year she has been at the University of Virginia working for her M.Ed. degree which she received in August. On August 27th she married Frank L. Rawlings, Jr., a chemical engineer for duPont. They are living in Richmond.

Knox Lovell of Burlington, Vermont writes that he has been in graduate school for two years.

Captain M. John Barlow, Jr., '61 BS

(W&M) and '65 MD (Medical College of Virginia) of the Army Medical Corps, with his family, the former Nancy Engel and their daughter, Karyn Alicia, who was born last Christmas Day, are stationed at Tripler General Hospital in Honolulu, Hawaii. He is taking a pediatric residence there for the next two years.

As usual, the Class of 1964 is in full swing with new jobs, marriages, and graduateschool degrees. I have heard from and about many of you since spring, so a lot of my news will have to wait until the next issue.

Bill Cleveland, Class Agent for the William and Mary Fund, writes that Mike and Maureen Lesniak have a son, Timothy, born the week around Christmas of last year. Charlie and Anne Weaver are expecting their first child in the fall. Charlie is teaching and coaching in high school in Newport News. Lloyd Becker is in his second year of graduate school in English at the State University of New York at Buffalo; he also teaches Freshman English there. Gary Workman is working toward his Ph.D. in Chemistry at the University of Rochester. Jack Pollard married Catherine Gunter '66; they are currently in Charlottesville where Jack is attending the University of Virginia School of Medicine.

It was good to see Linda Walker and Bill Corley this past summer. After spending a term at the University of Rochester, Lynda has transferred to the University of Minnesota to continue her work in Psychology. Bill Corley has received his Masters degree in Hospital Administration from Duke and is now serving his time in the Army as a lieutenant.

I thank the following people for their interesting letters and cards. Jackie Crebbs Peter writes from Fort Bragg, North Carolina where Karl is stationed as a 1st Lt. (JAG) in the Air Force. Previous to this they were in Charles City, Virginia, where Karl was practicing law in association with the County Commonwealth's Attorney. Jackie also writes that on November 24, there was a new addition to the family, Karl Kristian. Tom McCullough writes that he is going to the Graduate School of History at Western Reserve University and for the past two years he has also been teaching history at York Jr. College; he says his replacement at York will be Joe Ponic, Class of 1957. Diana Weisbod Gant sends news from Miami, Florida. Husband John, who received his degree in business from the American University, is now Assistant Head of the Coast Guard Auxiliary in the Miami District. Diana says she is enjoying her life of leisure there (not teaching any more), and especially enjoyed their trip to Puerto Rico in May. After teaching in the public schools for a year, Aubrey Morrison writes that he has switched to the college level, in fact, taught Spanish at William and Mary last year. Aubrey was married to Ellen Barrett Roberts '66, on July 3, and this fall will be doing graduate work at Georgetown in Washington and teaching part time in Maryland.

Information about Lindsey Stringfellow comes through the American Red Cross. After attending Yale Drama School, doing graduate work in play writing, as well as working for the Civil Defense in Charlottesville, while taking business courses, Lindsey has now joined the American Red Cross as a Recreation Aide in their Overseas Program. After completing her training in Washington in June, Lindsey flew to Viet Nam for a year's tour of duty.

Bobbie Mulcahey and I spent most of the summer in California, where we worked and took in the sights of the golden coast. We will both be teaching again this year and probably living in Georgetown. Please come by to see us if you are in Washington or surrounding area; if not, please write.

Reginald McLemore of New York City is working there with the Urban Renewal Administration. He plans to return for Homecoming.

Howard and Rebecca Coyner Hopkins of McLean, Virginia have lived in Arlington for two years. Howard is a physicist with the National Bureau of Standards and worked for two years in Washington. Rebecca has been teaching fourth grade and will continue this fall.

Janet K. Faulstich of Washington, D. C. has been working on Capitol Hill for a year and a half, first for Congressman James Roosevelt who designed last fall to become an ambassador at the United Nations, and now for Congressman Thomas M. Rees who represents Beverly Hills, California.

Paul D. Woodson of Alexandria, Virginia was awarded his Master of Science degree at Brown University in June.

I arrived home from school this spring to find a William and Mary graduate had moved in across the street. John Shumate, '56, and his wife Martha Jean are living here in Beckley, West Virginia, where John works for the telephone company. Their third child, David Andrew, was born this month. I have been spending a portion of the summer in Athens, West Virginia, at Concord College taking a few English courses. In my spare time, I have been planning a wedding and apartment hunting in Charlottesville.

Special thanks go to Kathy Hagen, '66, for sending me a copy of the Kappa news letter and an information packed letter. Kathy reports that Margie Kelly is engaged in some post-graduate studies, having given up her job with Philip-Morris in Richmond. Babs Dunaway Bowers left Ft. Bragg when her husband Mike was sent to Santo Domingo. Babs is working in Richmond at Thalhimers. Jean Ball Bugg and John live in Mobile, Alabama. Susan Bunch Allan and Jeff, '64, live near Boston, Massachusetts, where Susan is teaching and Jeff is in graduate school. Every letter I receive states that Lynn Meushaw is pursuing a different course of study—the latest is that she is studying medical sociology at Catholic University in Washington, D. C. Laura Youngblood Meagher teaches fourth grade in Alexandria while John, '62, works for Congressman Purine of New York. Margie Hodges is a librarian in Roanoke. Teaching French are Kathie Wiese in Connecticut and Lynne Marcus in Media, Pennsylvania. Ginny Whitner is studying psychology at the University of Kansas. Betty White is still in Washington working for the Department of Education.

Marguerite Furey writes that she just finished a year of course work in German at Duke University. She has been given fellowships for the coming year to finish her master's degree and will spend a pleasant summer in Germany with the Experiment in International living.

Isabella Lam is working toward a PhD in organic chemistry at the University of Michigan. Peggy Jo Korty is on the same campus working for the PhD in physiology. Isabella and Olivia Lam are spending the summer in Europe with a trip to Hong Kong to visit their family. Olivia has been studying textile design in Philadelphia.

Nanci Coppari and Jeff Gould were married December 18th. Prior to the wedding, Nanci taught English to 8th and 11th graders at Denbigh High School in Newport News. Nanci and her husband live in Middletown, New York, where Jeff has a lumber company and builds houses. Recent additions to the family include a golden retriever and a Honda. Nanci wrote that Kathie Brewer Jones and Charlie spent the past year in Williamsburg. Kathie taught the fourth grade at Lee Hall Elementary School in Newport News, and Charlie worked at Eastern State. At last report, they were awaiting summer orders from the Army for Germany or Italy. Charlie's work will be connected with biophysics. Joanie Solinger took a civilian job with the Army Special Services. She received her training in Heidelberg, Germany, last summer, and then went to our base in Nuremberg. Joanie is enjoying seeing Europe in her spare time and plans to come home no sooner than the summer of 1967. Barbara Hopson spent the past year at Syracuse where she had an assistantship in mathematics. She will be married this summer. Martha Bean and Nancy Mitkiewicz are in Africa, separately, working on Peace Corps projects. Ridgely Montross was living at home in northern Virginia when last heard from! Paulette Odom and Scot Blankinship were married last August. They have been living in Richmond where Scott works for Shell, and Paulette works at an insurance company. JoEllen Kirssin served as the Alpha Chi's rush advisor last year while doing graduate work in psychology at William and Mary. Lynn Kirby, who has been teaching in Fairfax County, married Darby Bowman from Hamilton College June 25th. I saw Marcia Anderson in Norfolk looking for a teaching job for the coming year. She married Bart Park, '62, June 25th. Bart works for IBM in Norfolk. Marcia told me that Kathie and Charlie Jones were moving to Texas—to look for them in Texas or Europe!

Nancy Barton married Kenneth Scott on November 26, 1965. They are living in Wilmington, Delaware, where Nancy is a pre-kindergarten teacher for Project Head Start.

Ellen Rennolds writes from the big City that Janet Thurman is leaving New York to teach this fall in Falls Church. Ellen and Kim Routh are moving into a smaller apartment this summer. Ellen is now Personnel Assistant for the Savings Banks Trust Company, located in the Pan Am building. She ran into Gay House Grossman, '64, in the grocery store and was pleased to discover that Gay and Bill live in a nearby apartment.

A rather yellow, dated letter from Susan Roberts states that she has been accepted by the Florida State University Library School, though she is also considering going to Maryland this fall.

Suzanne Frayser made plans to spend the summer in Italy with the Experiment in International Living. Sara Shafer went to Emporia, Virginia, in June for the wedding of Suzanne Stainback, '66, and Bill Parker, '63. She is now touring the west, her ultimate destination being California. Sara will be teaching in Richmond again next fall. Mary Ellen Rowland is in Richmond looking for a job. Joyce Hoskins, completing a year at Virginia Beach, returned to the William and Mary campus to take some graduate courses in summer school. Leslie McAneny, a stewardess with United, was transferred from the West Coast to Miami. Mary Erskine, after a brief trip back to the States, is once again in Liberia with the Peace Corps. Diane Owens is spending the summer in Norfolk, taking a few courses at Old Dominion College.

Marki Reams and Wynn Luther were married in April. Marki completed her teaching duties in Virginia Beach, and they left for Hawaii. Wynn is now in Viet Nam, and Marki is staying with her parents in Richmond. Kathy Power married Stanley Russel Fallis in Verona, Italy, where her father is stationed. Kathy will be living in Kimberly, Idaho, where her husband will complete graduate school studies.

Donny Owens is stationed in Orleans, France, having left the states last March. He bought a new car and is planning several trips to Italy and Spain during the summer. John Bell, formerly at Fort Bragg, has orders to Korea.

Diane Bright Manning and Larry are going to Northern Virginia for the summer. Diane is working as a playground director. She will return to her teaching position in fall while Larry resumes graduate work in Business at University of Virginia. Mary Elizabeth Smith Sadler and Sammy, '64, enjoyed a combined business and pleasure trip to San Francisco during the early part of the summer.

Don Olson completed the Navy O.C.S. program and went to the Med. This summer he was due to be stationed in Charleston, South Carolina. Don will marry Carol Miller, '66, in August. Jerry Stettler spent the past year in the graduate school of Business Administration at U.C.L.A. Jerry and Kathy Hagen, '66, were married June 11th. Randy Adams and Ginny Knoop, '66, were married in July. They will be living in Richmond next year while Randy continues working towards an M.D. at the Medical College. Tom Hollowell and Dotti Traynor, '66, are engaged. Tom is going to law school at William and Mary. Jay Bassage and Jim Murphy are at American University and Georgetown doing graduate work.

Carol Pierce Strickland found time to write when home from work with the measles! She is enjoying her job as a social worker in Henrico County, and visited Williamsburg on a Social Work Conference. Norris is busy with school work and his job.

Before I left Norfolk, Melinda Duke Ball gave me a few bits of news. Melinda is planning to take the summer easy after teaching this year. Stuart is back after a trip to the Med. Dick Carling, '64, is on a similar cruise leaving Kitty (Anderson) in Norfolk. Kitty is working part-time at Miller and Rhoads. Barbara Wampler is somewhere in California, but no one seems to know anything very specific about her whereabouts. Sally Wells and Ginny Blount have rented a house in Connecticut on the beach for the summer. They are commuting to their jobs in White Plains.

Betsy Burroughs and Clark Thompson are getting married in Ft. Totten, New York.

The Williamsburg Medal

Commemorating the historic city and its ancient college, the Williamsburg Medal may be kept in a beautiful holder, worn as a pendant, on a bracelet or key ring, or as a charm. The size of a half-dollar, the Medal is a cherished item for collectors.

Anne Barden and Tom Kirkup were married May 14th. Tom has reported for duty in Viet Nam. Pam Wandell Flemming and Bill are still living in Norfolk, Virginia.

Jean Acker is attending Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, Massachusetts. This is her second year. She spent last summer in North Dakota in a hospital chaplaincy program.

Ensign Kent Stevens graduated from Naval Officers Candidate School at Newport, Rhode Island last February. He is now Engineering Officer on board the minesweeper USS Woodpecker, based in Sasebo, Japan.

Thomas E. Vaughan has been in Korea commanding an aviation transport unit of the Army since April and says he "loves every moment of it . . . I am thrilled with the responsibility." On the other side he is studying public administration and real estate. He writes that Ray Lankford, Pete Richardson and Tom Richardson are in that area.

Glennore Vaden Hines and Gary Young write that he is presently serving with the 161st Aviation Company in Phu Tai, Vietnam. She is living in Palo Alto, California.

Welcome to the back pages of the Gazette, Class of 1966. I hope it is not as great a shock for you to find mention of yourselves here as it was for me to realize that the time had come to start writing these letters. The following reports the activities of quite a few of our members—it would be nice to hear from more of you.

Among those who will be continuing at various graduate schools around the country this fall are:

Dee Boren who will study in the Department of Experimental Biology at Baylor University College of Medicine in Houston, Texas; Joel Fontaine, who will be doing graduate work in Biochemistry at Pennsylvania; Frances Cole will be doing graduate work in English at Duke; also at Duke will be Joe Pitt, who is studying Philosophy. Dena Kay Wade is going to Massachusetts to study at Fletcher in their Foreign Affairs school, while Frank Turner plans to attack the History Department at Yale. Al White is also heading North to do his graduate work in Biology at Harvard. Mary Faulstich will be at the University of Wisconsin studying Sociology. Betty Bradley plans to continue taking English courses while picking up a few Education credits at Georgetown College in Kentucky. Tom Ryan, Cooper Pierce and Kathy Thompson will all be studying Medicine at University of Virginia. John Houkinson is continuing his study in Biology at New York University. At the Medical College of Virginia will be Carol Thomas and Tom Daugherty in Medicine, Lee Bradshaw will be there also in the Dental school. Jerry Harris has an assistantship in the Department of Economics at the University of North Carolina. Bobbie Holtzman will be studying Radiology at University of Virginia. Walter Wenk, who has been filling buckets for VEPCO all summer is going to try teeth as he starts at Georgetown Dental School this fall. At the University of Florida will be Mary Sherman studying Physics, while

Gentleman Minstrel

Cecil Houck has had a number of vocations — in vaudeville, theater, and business — but Houck's greatest joy is his avocation: his banjo. Williamsburg's gentleman minstrel learned to play it many years ago under Eddie Peabody and you can still hear traces of the master in Houck's happy music. Each Monday evening, he strolls through Chowning's, the colonial tavern that is the favorite gathering place for students and alumni. His tunes delight diners each Tuesday evening at Williamsburg Lodge. Usually, Houck may be found at many festivities during Homecoming. Williamsburg's gentleman minstrel, hostesses, craftsmen, and hundreds of others make a visit to Virginia's colonial capital a different and rewarding experience. Come back to the College soon and see.

Bill Harris will study Chemistry at the University of South Carolina. Bill Weiland will be attending University of Virginia Law School and Ted Hansen also will be in Law school in Richmond.

This summer has carried quite a number of our class to the Altar. I have heard of the following marriages, though I know there must be more. Margaret Conn to Pat Walsh, Ginny Knoop to Randy Adams '65 they will be living in Richmond while Randy is at MCV, Ginny will be working for the Telephone Company there. Kathy Hollingsworth and Mike Reese were married in Williamsburg in May and will be there for at least another year. Betsy Reed and Jim Godsman were married on July 9, and will be living in Findlay, Ohio where Jim is with General Foods. Tom Todd and Elaine Thornton were married in Springfield on June 18. Tom will be studying at the University of Texas in Austin next year. Jim Dick and Merrill Barber were married in Florida in July and will be living in Williamsburg where Jim will be working on the coaching staff and doing graduate work in Education. Other marriages: Dorothy Currie to William Jordan, Sharon Ketcham to John Kuechle, Karen Ringley to John Dunlop, Peggy Hall to Bob Kunkle, Betty Staten to Ray Hogan, they will be living in Lynchburg, where Betty will be teaching, Nancy Neet to Rob Artman, they will both be teaching English in Laos for Special Services.

Mary Baker will be working in Cytogenetics at National Institutes of Health in Maryland, Beryl Slayton is also working there in cancer research. Carol Boysen is going to be working for United Airlines as a stewardess. Keith Taylor and both Pat and Art Walsh are working for Procter and Gamble. Marjorie Rankin is working for IBM in Washington. Sue Rankin will be working for VISTA. John Benedict is with the Department of Commerce in Washington and both Bruce Griffin and Tom Ford are with the Medical Corps. Michelle Lester, Farmer Jefferies and Anne Klare will be teaching school in Virginia Beach and the three of them have a house together. Anne who will also be taking Education courses toward her Master's and can be reached at P.O. Box 1740 in Williamsburg, will be writing this column for the next four years while I will be working on my Ph. D. in microbiology at the University of Pittsburgh Medical School. I shall be married on August 13th to Ken Wertz who will also be working on his Ph.D. in Econometrics at Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh. I should like to thank Anne for taking over the column for this time and know she will appreciate any news you may send her at the above address.

Brafferton...

the newell post and handrail of the stairs were adapted from a design in the Freedman House (Chiswell-Bucktrout).

After restoration the building was again used as administrative offices and housed the School of Jurisprudence and Secretarial Science. During World War II it provided housing for the WAVES attached to the Chaplain's School and faculty members.

In 1948 the Brafferton became the official offices of the Society of the Alumni. Since 1932 the Alumni offices had been located in the Brafferton Kitchen; however, the quarters became too cramped and the Alumni received permission to move their headquarters into the ancient building.

In 1950 the College renovated the top two floors to provide housing for guests of the college when they were required to remain overnight in Williamsburg. Today the Brafferton still houses "special" guests of the College.

For 18 years the Alumni maintained offices in the Brafferton; however, last year the Alumni moved into new facilities in Ewell Hall and the Brafferton once again became a key center of College administrative work. Dr. W. Melville Jones, Dean of the College, moved into two rooms on the first floor that some 200 years before had served as offices for the Master of the Indian School.

The most recent of a long series of administrative officers to occupy quarters in the building, Dean Jones is truly, "working in history." "As I look from my window out on the ancient College yard," explained Dean Jones, "I still see in my imagination the white figure of Lord Botetourt looking toward the Capitol from the center walk.

"The quiet dignity of these rooms redolent with the atmosphere of the long history of the College back to the days of the first President, Reverend James Blair, is constantly a reminder of the distinguished past and the potentialities of a great future."

It's a 'Blue Chip' policy to improve your policies

When you own a Connecticut Mutual Life policy, you'll probably get more coverage than you bargained for.

New benefits and options, as they come out, aren't put only into new policies. Whenever possible, new policy features and provisions have been made retroactive to our existing policyholders. This fact is substantiated by Best's Life Insurance Reports, impartial industry authority.

In recent years, no less than 18 new policy benefits have been extended to old policies. This has meant substantial money in policyholders' pockets.

It's another reason Connecticut Mutual is known as "the Blue Chip company that's low in net cost, too."
