LEGEND HAS it that young Thomas Jefferson ventured the hope that "the College should always look upon the country." The "College," of course, was the early name for the Wren Building and evidently Jefferson's gaze fell westward as he stood in the Wren portico when he made the remark.

William and Mary has since expanded westward with, first, its traditional Georgian campus and now the more contemporary style of the new campus. But the view from the west portico remains unbroken by architecture, and if all goes well, that "Jefferson prospect" will extend all the way to Lake Matoaka.

The "Jefferson prospect" concept begins with the Sunken Garden, with its wide expanse of lush green lawn crossed by old brick walks, and surrounded by beautiful boxwood. In the late summer, the dark pink of crepe myrtle appears as a striking backdrop to the greenness everywhere.

Just west of the Sunken Garden lies what has been known over the years as "the lily pond," "Matoaka Lake," or "Landrum Pond." Its relative seclusion, in the setting of a small woods, has made it popular among many generations as a place to "get away from it all."

The pond lies directly in the "Jefferson prospect" though the surrounding trees hide it from view from the Wren Building.

In the spring of 1966, the pond and the area surrounding it were developed and landscaped into what is now called Crim Dell. It was named in honor of the late John W. H. Crim '01, an attorney who achieved national prominence as prosecutor of the Teapot Dome case.

An oriental bridge, painted russet and sycamore white, spans the old lily pond. It is matched by a sturdy oriental fence next to the pond along Campus Road.

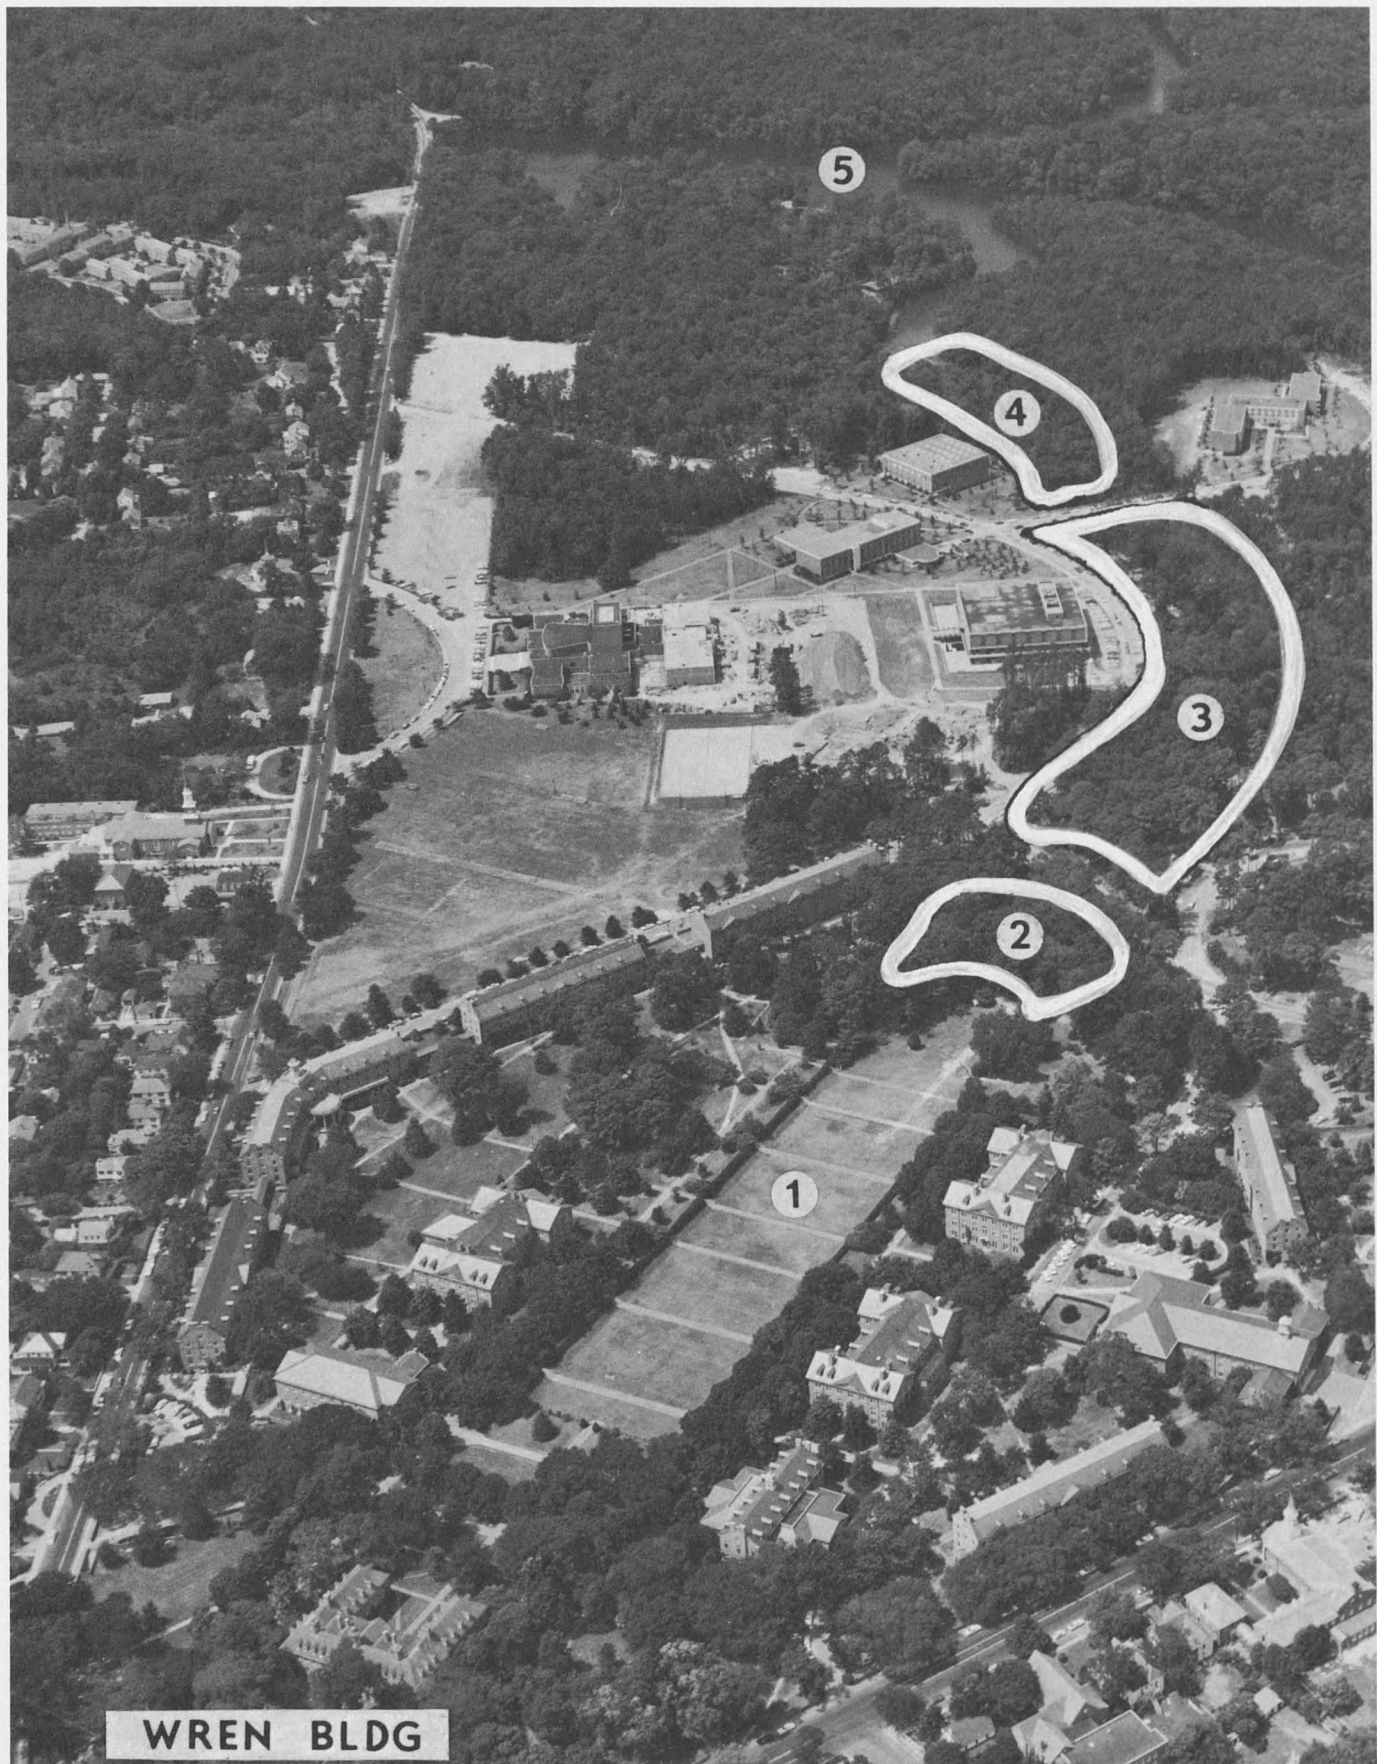

Walking paths, stone stepways, and an antique brick wall or two have helped develop the miniature woods into a rustic retreat.

Dozens of flowering shrubs and trees planted last year came to maturity this spring, blooming forth in a profusion of reds, pinks, whites and other striking colorings. The landscaper's work included planting azaleas, camellia, dogwood, weeping cherry, mountain laurel, magnolia, bayberry, evergreen japonica, snowballs and tea, as well as various types of holly, hemlock, barberry and osmanthus. Plans for 1967 include plantings of shrubs that bloom during other seasons of the year.

The Crim Dell beautification was completed in 1966 just in time for the College's first Parents Day. It was on this occasion that the Dell was informally dedicated, and President and Mrs. Davis Y. Paschall greeted visiting parents at a reception near the Dell. Funds for many of the project's features came partially from a gift of the Class of 1964 and

The College

CHRONICLE OF THE COLLEGE

BY WILLIAM AND MARY standards, 40 years is not a long time. But in the field of theatrical education, a 40th anniversary rates highly—and the current College session has been a major event for the William and Mary Theatre.

For 30 years of that time, beginning with the Theatre's founding in 1926, it was guided by Miss Althea Hunt. Miss Hunt retired ten years ago from her formal position, but as a resident of Williamsburg she maintains close ties with Director Howard Scammon. She looks forward to the day when an unusual history of the Theatre can be published in book form.

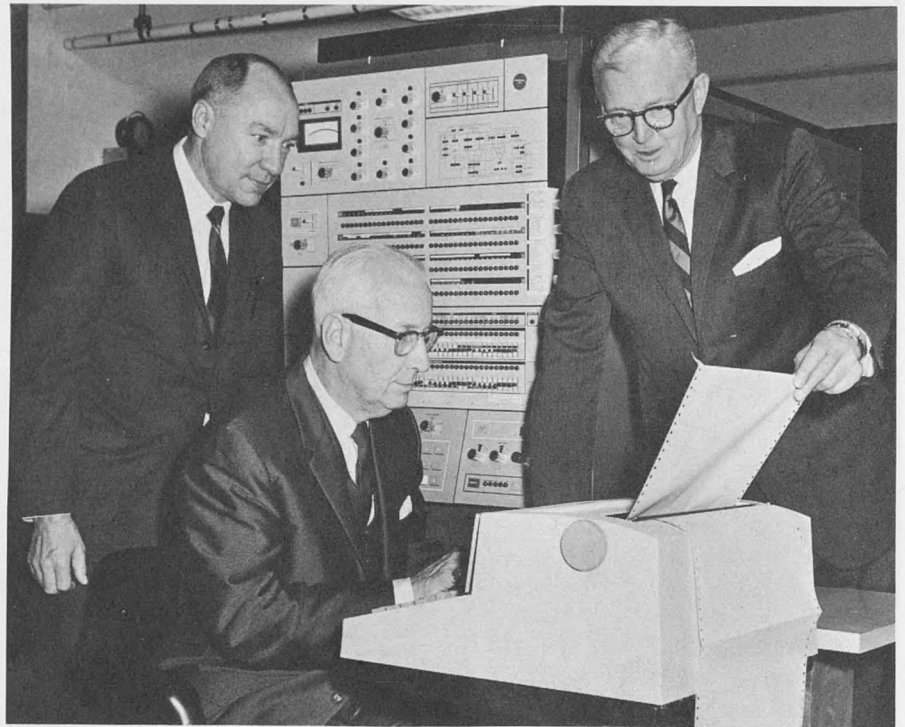

The Theatre, during the current College session, has received unusual acclaim for its productions. Each of the performances during the 40th anniversary year has served as somewhat of a "homecoming" for many Theatre alumni.

Miss Hunt's earlier performances were in old Phi Beta Kappa Hall, which burned in 1953 and left the Theatre temporarily homeless. She retired shortly before completion of the new Phi Bete, with its modern, up-to-date 800-seat auditorium. The Theatre's staff now includes the director, a playwright, technical director and set designer, all full-time.

Regarding the Theatre's history, Miss Hunt says she doesn't "know enough about writing. I couldn't remember everything important that happened to me in 30 years. Then, suddenly, it dawned on me that my students could write the book." To that end, she has received some 1,000 letters from her former students, who reminisce about their days with the Theatre.

In other news of significance at William and Mary, there were these items:

Men's upperclass residence units, designed for fraternity living, were rising on schedule in the new campus area. They will replace the Lodges and permit admission of more men to the College.

W. Melville Jones, Dean of the College, punches a key to start programming the College's new IBM System 360/Model 50 computer, now in operation serving the Tidewater region, as Dr. Raymond Southworth (left), Computer Center director and Robert T. English, Jr., College Bursar, look on. The Computer Center is housed temporarily in the William Small Physics Building, but later will occupy a floor in the proposed Mathematics Building. It is leased under a 1966 General Assembly appropriation of $235,000 a year.

Senator Strom Thurmond, the South Carolina Democrat-turned-Republican, scheduled an April 26 address sponsored by the Political Science Forum after he was unable to land at nearby airports in mid-March for a prior engagement. Later in the spring, the Forum scheduled an appearance by Sen. Eugene McCarthy to balance the program with a spokesman for more liberal political thought.

Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark, who stepped down when his son became Attorney General, scheduled a May 6 address at the College for the annual Law Day program of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law. The same weekend, the Law School was co-sponsor with the Federal Bar Association of an international conference on legal problems in outer space, a one-day symposium of government, educational and legal experts as well as scientific and diplomatic officials. Paul H. Gantt '42 is current president of the Federal Bar Association.

A new regional computer center was placed into operation, in a new program which centers upon a new IBM 360 computer leased by the College with a General Assembly appropriation. The computer, temporarily housed in space in the third floor of the William Small Physics Building, will serve research and administrative operations at the Virginia Institute of Marine Science, Virginia Associated Research Center, and Christopher Newport College and perhaps others in the Peninsula and Tidewater area, as well as the research being conducted on campus. The center is headed by Dr. Raymond Southworth, who joined the faculty in 1966 after 23 years on the Yale University faculty.

John H. Willis Jr., a member of the English Department faculty since 1959 and administrative assistant to the President for a three-year period, was appointed to the new post of Associate Dean of the College to work with Dean W. Melville Jones in administering academic affairs.

Levy: The Strongest Team of the Four

By STEVE ROW, '68

ALTHOUGH not quite the appropriate season, the spring is still the first time to start evaluating the William and Mary football team. The Indians' annual spring drills and practices began the first week in April, and all indications were that this would be the strongest of the four teams. Head Coach Marv Levy has had here at the Reservation. Among the most significant reasons for this evaluation are these:

The team will boast 23 returning lettermen of the 66 listed on the preliminary roster. Of these returnees several outstanding players are included—Dan Darragh and Mike Madden at quarterback, All-Conference Adin Brown at linebacker, All-Conference Bob Gadkowski at defensive end, and Marty Fuller at fullback.

The coaching staff was increased by one—fulltime backfield coach Bobby Ross from VMI. This addition brings the total coaching staff to eight: Levy, Ross, offensive line coach Augie Tammarriello, defensive line coach Joe Downing, defensive backfield coach Larry Peccatiello, and coach Ralph Pucci, freshman and linebacker coach Don Roby, and kicking coach and trainer Mont Linkenauger.

Four good football players from George Washington University enrolled at the College when that school dropped the sport from its program in January. One of the four—Brad Cashman—was All-Conference guard and won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy in the league. The other three are Ralph Beatty (6-2, 230) at tackle, Dick Hester (5-11, 205) at linebacker, and Jim Barton (5-8, 165) at halfback. In addition, Dick Korn, starting Indian center in 1963, has enrolled this year after a three-year tour with the Marines.

The picture is not completely optimistic for the 1967 season, however, as Levy quickly points to a schedule which could be a major obstacle to a third consecutive winning season. Besides SC opponents East Carolina, VMI, Citadel, West Virginia, and Richmond, the Indians play five tough non-conference games—Quantico, VPI, Vanderbilt, Ohio, and Navy.

The football program received an unexpected stimulus during the past five months, when it appeared that Levy was seriously considering taking a similar head coaching post at the University of Arizona. For a week in December, Indian fans waited anxiously to see whether Levy would stay here or accept the more lucrative offer from the western school. The Arizona budget was much higher, the coach's salary was higher, 95 scholarships

Football Schedule Adds the Marines

WITH the George Washington University dropping football from its list of varsity sports, William and Mary was one of ten schools forced to find a replacement for the coming 1967 season. As a result, the Indians have scheduled the Quantico Marines for a home game Sept. 9, and Oct. 28 is now an open date. Homecoming will be the last game of the season—Nov. 18 against Richmond.

The complete schedule:

September

- 9 QUANTICO
- 16 EAST CAROLINA*
- 23 At Virginia Tech
- 30 At Vanderbilt

October

- 7 VMI* (Tobacco Bowl, (Richmond))
- 14 At Ohio Univ.
- 21 At Navy

November

- 4 At The Citadel*
- 11 WEST VIRGINIA*
- 18 RICHMOND* (Homecoming)

*Southern Conference games were offered, and the stadium had a greater capacity than Cary Field.

But after discussions with Athletic Director Lester Hooker and President of the College Davis Y. Paschall, Levy announced that he would continue at William and Mary. He received several immediate "boosts" to his already-expanding program which helped influence his decision. Effective 1967 he can work with 35 instead of 25 full scholarships. Levy eventually wants 100 players in uniform who are receiving some sort of assistance for their education. A sixth full-time assistant coach was selected, as was a full-time director for the William and Mary Educational Foundation—Maj. Louis A. "Dick" Simonson '42, who is returning to the College athletic program after a 16-year absence.

Levy was also assured that Cary Field would be expanded in the near future to perhaps a 25,000 seat capacity. This would be accomplished through permanent end-zone seats and a possible extension to the side opposite the present press box. Plans for the future also include a double-decker press box capable of handling television equipment, to be built opposite the present facilities.

Thus the football picture at the Reservation is bright as Spring Practice ends. The program has had its long-range development schedule "quicken" somewhat, and because of this the augmented program may allow the Indians to compete evenly with the best teams in the East.

After easily winning the State, Conference, and District 3 cross country championships (March Alumni Gazette), Harry Groves' track teams continued to overpower all opposition as the indoor edition captured both the State and Conference crowns by substantial margins. Now competing outdoors, the spring trackmen seem assured of taking both State and Conference outdoor titles, too. The freshmen were strong indoors (unbeaten) and were as powerful outdoors. One of the most spectacular of the frosh is high jumper Bruce Dallas who set a W&M frosh and varsity indoor record with a leap of 6-8.

Basketball finished well, too, with a sound 14-11 record overall (including wins over Davidson and Richmond), and a third place 8-5 record in the Conference. The Tribe advanced to the semi-finals of the Tournament this year. First-year coach Warren Mitchell, runnerup in the SC Coach-of-the-Year balloting, got outstanding efforts from senior Ben Pomeroy, who repeated as first-team All-Conference; Ron Panneton, the first Indian since Jeff Cohen to average better than 20 points per game; and Dave Daugherty, the 6-8 soph who led the team and conference in field goal and free throw percentages (both school records). The frosh finished 10-5 and were paced by 6-6 Bob Sherwood, who averaged 32 points per game.

Wrestling, in only its third full year, produced a Southern Conference champion in 177-pound Scott Curzi, who finished the year with an 11-2 record. The frosh wrestlers lost only one of eight matches and will give the Indians great depth next winter. Swimming ended with a better record than last year and swam fifth in the Conference championships. This year's frosh team—like so many other outstanding freshman teams at the College—had a great year, winding up unbeaten with an 8-0-1 record. It was the first frosh swim team to do so.

Baseball began its 32-game schedule in mid-March with six straight home games, then a Florida trip over the spring break. A 23-man roster rich in talent helped the Indians greatly. Tennis was not expected to quite equal last year's 11-2 record due to a shortage of experience. Golf was also not expected to match its previous record (9-5). Lacrosse made its debut this spring with a five-game schedule.

Check Your Bookshelves— You May Help the Library

OUT-OF-PRINT books are hard to get.

No one knows this better than the Acquisitions Department of the Earl Gregg Swem Library.

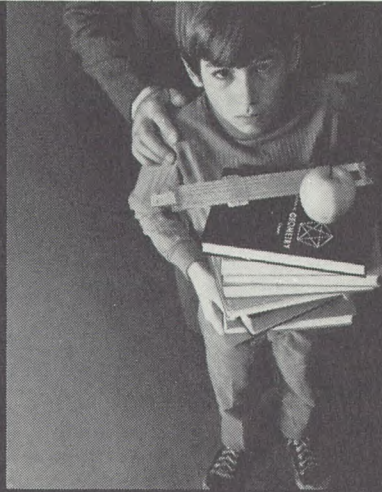

It is possible that alumni have on their shelves some recent books that are badly needed in the honors and graduate study work at the College. To encourage contributions of such books to the Library, the Gazette here publishes a list which has been developed by the English Department to help improve the Library's holdings in areas of concern to the Department.

Books which are contributed should be sent to William C. Pollard, Librarian, Earl Gregg Swem Library, Williamsburg, Va. 23185.

Jefferson Prospect

from gifts from several friends of the College who wished, as they said, that there be a place where "one could walk in beauty."

Further westward, development of the "Jefferson prospect" will include creation of a park-like area south of the fraternity lodges in the direction of Lake Matoaka. The lake itself will be brought further into the campus if one of its arms is dredged to complete the "Jefferson prospect."

Still another possibility—perhaps more of a dream—is the creation of a waterfall flowing into the extended Lake Matoaka, to be kept flowing by a mechanical system which would continually pump water from the lake to the top of the falls.

Young Jefferson, standing in the Wren portico and looking west into a yet undeveloped campus, probably never envisioned a waterfall out there. But he undoubtedly would have helped design the mechanical system to insure its operation.

It was recently announced that the four-million-dollar Arts and Science Building at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute in Blacksburg, Virginia has been named Paul Derring Hall. Derring was YMCA Secretary and Director of Religious Affairs at VPI for 45½ years. He graduated from both this College and Vanderbilt University with honors. Blinded at the age of twelve he was the first person without sight to graduate from a Virginia college and holds the unique distinction of serving longer in one college as Student Secretary than any of his colleagues. Presently he and his wife, Kitty, are retired and living in the Berkshire Apartments, 300 West Franklin Street in Richmond, Virginia.

J. Patrick Kemp of Charleston, West Virginia was appointed Comptroller of The C & P Telephone Company of West Virginia recently. He began his telephone career in 1926.

27

Frank S. Hopkins of Washington, D. C. represented the College at the Charter Day Convocation at Howard University early this year.

Mrs. Nina B. Trevett of Washington, D. C. is directing the District Commissioners' Youth Council which voted itself defunct three years ago. But a modest plaque at the entrance of an undistinguished Capitol Hill row house indicates that the council, one of the city's least known agencies, still lives. From her tiny office she directs the council with unusual independence and with a remarkable capacity to survive congressional budget cuts.

'Science and the Bible Mix' — The Rev. Tom Christie '29

RELIGION and the sciences, despite opinion to the contrary, make a logical union. For evidence of this, look at the Rev. Thomas H. Christie '29. He is head of the science department in a large high school as well as pastor of a Baptist church.

Mr. Christie believes "nothing in real science contradicts the Bible. Anybody who takes a look at the periodic table (of chemical elements) and doesn't see the hand of God is stupid."

He was head of the science department at Washington-Lee High School in Arlington, Va., was teaching four chemistry classes, sponsoring the school's Bible Club and heading the Arlington County Adult Education program when he entered his spiritual calling.

In 1941, he was ordained after summers of study at a seminary and Bible colleges. For 11 years after, he served as pastor of the Woodbridge Baptist Church and since 1955, he has been pastor of Bon Air Baptist Church in Arlington. He continues full steam in his public school work.

The Washington Post recently described his activities in this way: "A pink-cheeked, smiling man, his hair brushed back pompadour style, his bow tie flashy, his gait springy, he maintains an easy camaraderie with his 110 students. With infectious enthusiasm he leads them into the mysteries of science.

"On Thursday afternoons he introduces the 30 members of the Bible Club to spiritual mysteries clarified by the Christian formula. . . .

"For this energetic minister, his school duties are a prelude to full-time pastoral work. At the end of each school day he sets out on pastoral calling," the article went on.

Last year, he made 1,033 pastoral calls—a record he believes will compare favorably with any pastor's.

Mr. Christie, a native of Newport News, went on to George Washington for his master's degree following graduation from William and Mary. He began his career at Washington-Lee in September, 1929, and that same year married Frances Wilkins of Danville, Va.

Their two daughters chose appropriate paths to follow in their adult lives.

One is married to a minister.

The other is married to a high school teacher.

years with the Maryland State Roads Commission.

W. Brooks George, President of Larus & Brother Company, Inc. in Richmond, Virginia, was recently elected a new director of The Life Insurance Company of Virginia.

Dr. Robert H. Riley, Director Emeritus, Maryland State Department of Health, passed away on January 25. He is survived by his wife Marion, and four step-grandsons, ranging from 17-24.

Dr. Mary E. Johnston of Tazewell represented the College at the inauguration of the new President of Bluefield State College in April.

Nancy Latane Lewis and her husband G. Ruffin Winfree of Richmond who both have degrees from the College have three children who also have degrees from the College—the third one to receive hers next month. This is truly an outstanding record.

Dorothy Jordan Pully writes that she and Peggy French Edmundson had their own "Homecoming" at Andrews Air Force Base Hospital, where Peggy's daughter was a patient. Peggy's husband has retired (Lt. Col.) and is now with Morganite. The Edmundsons have four children; their daughter, who is a freshman at Mt. Olive Jr. College, and three teen-age sons. They are living in Dunn, N. C.

From Chuck Gondak comes news of two other classmates who did not get back for Homecoming. John Brodka, a pilot with Pan American Airlines, has just been transferred from Miami to San Francisco and will be flying the Pacific routes. The Brodkas have four children. Tom Andrews is a science teacher in the Sacramento, California high school system, has three daughters and still looks very trim and athletic. Both regretted not getting back in October. The big news is that Homecoming and twenty-fifth reunion has been set up for November 17th and 18th instead of the usual October date. William and Mary will play the University of Richmond in football on Saturday. Maybe you can work a trip to Williamsburg in with your Thanksgiving holiday. Let me urge you to come for the Friday events—especially the Alumni Golf Tournament. I won a lovely prize last year for low net and I'm no golfer. The Golden Horseshoe course is a beauty just to walk around. Of course, Friday night is the big banquet and get-together.

You will receive a questionnaire concerning the reunion sometime in April. Be sure to fill out the information card and return it right away.

From Westport, Connecticut Alice Walton Swift writes that she has a freshman son at the University of Pennsylvania and is looking forward to Homecoming.

Elizabeth Douglas Conwell lives in Swarthmore, Pennsylvania and has two college-age sons plus three boys and a daughter at home.

Nancy Jordan Parker had a nice visit with Betsy Wakeman Serbell, who is teaching the new biology curriculum and molecular biology. One of Betsy's daughters marched with the Whitton High School Band in the Rose Parade last year.

See you on the first tee for the twenty-fifth reunion!

Homecoming seems so long ago that I had to resort to my old year book to refresh my memory as to who was there.

Saw Gladys Wallace Goldsmith and Larry and Gervais Wallace Brekke and Nils. Both have sons at the College. It's always great to see folks sending their sons! Too many alumni I meet say, "We are sending our sons to VMI, U. Va., Yale, etc. and our daughters to William and Mary. As the mother of a daughter, I feel that is not quite fair.

Daughters set for next year's class are those of Jean Schoenwulf Preston and Nancy Outland Chandler. Louise Spalding Hollis and John have a second Freshman daughter this year.

Alumni Gazette

Bill Diehl, and Joe Brichter were among those present. The Class of 1941 was back en force. They looked great! You all would have enjoyed seeing them. Max and Joan Kable Griffith and children came back and stayed with us which we enjoyed immensely. They live in a fascinating old house in Charleston.

Quite a few William and Mary artists are in this area. Willie Ann Boschen Wright exhibits all around. Julie Bristow had an exhibit of her watercolors this month, and Sally Guerry Rector does excellent portraits.

Had a nice letter from Sue Whitehead Byars. Her daughter is president of the freshman class at St. Mary's in Raleigh. Her other daughter is a junior at the University of Georgia. Sue lives in Dunedin, Florida. She had seen Dot Agurt Edmunds in October at a Clearwater Jr. Woman's Club fashion show. They were both charter members of the Club.

Nancy Hale Mortimer and her Air Force husband are in the "divided city". Luella Fitzgerald Anderson writes from Maysville, Kentucky that she teaches. She has her MA from Morehead University.

It is great to see Miss Barksdale and Miss Wynne-Roberts both living in Williamsburg. Seeing them and Dean Lambert really makes you feel at home at the College.

Saw George Holmes this fall in Norfolk. He's still in Edinton, N.C., an Episcopal minister. Mary Lou Taylor McGoodwin visited Connie Curtis Laws in Norfolk recently. Mary Lou lives in Portland, Oregon, has a daughter who is a junior at the College.

Donald Griffin is principal of Granby High School in Norfolk, and Mike Mikula is district manager here of a tractor operation.

News from far and near corners of the world:

Eddie McChesney Ker, whose home is now in Africa, visited her father here in this country last spring and while in Washington lunched with Mary Jane Chamberlain Howard and Nellie Greaves.

Kay Leavey Hite probably will come to the States from her Hawaiian home when her older son enrolls in college next fall.

Willie Anne Boschen Wright had a one-man show at Westhampton College and partnered in a two-man show at the 20th Century Gallery in Williamsburg in January. Son John is a Sigma Nu at Georgia Tech and Jack has become an avid amateur photographer.

Jean and Virgil Ford have two college-age sons—Taylor is a third year engineering student at the University of Virginia and David attends Virginia Wesleyan where Virgil teaches music.

Judy Fisher Allen, still in Dallas, reports that her daughter, Judy, was married in October and both are students at the University of Houston. Her son, Dan, is a senior college student, nominated for "Who's Who."

Rennie Keezell Harrison and family, now back in Harrisonburg, Va., vacationed in the lake country of Minnesota last summer and visited friends at former home-sites along the way. She and Bill have two sons, 10 and 12 years old.

A clipping from the Trenton Times reveals that Bob Engelbrecht had an accident in Vermont ski country during the holiday week—and on returning home discovered his secretary had also broken her ankle. Our Viv Foltz is Bob's wife.

Ginny Kerns, daughter of Ruth Schmitz Kerns and Jim, is a William and Mary freshman. Ruth reports that Ruth Kenyon Jolly is living in Villanova, Pa. Her husband is a v.p. with Campbells.

Louise Brown Porter visited Williamsburg last summer with her boys. And Dot and John Blom, with their daughters, Laurie and Ann, also returned for a visit. Dot was especially impressed with the growth of the trees lining the Sunken Garden.

A long letter from Jean Boyle Herbert—which reads like a chapter from "Please Don't Eat the Daisies" (if Jean Kerr will pardon the comparison!) Life in the suburbs of St. Louis certainly isn't dull. She, husband Tom and three sons flew to Philadelphia for a holiday visit.

The lovely avalanche of mail that crosses a class secretary's desk at holiday time makes the January and March deadlines easy to meet. Now all the news about 45-ers has been used! If we are to have class information for the remaining two 1967 Gazettes—you must write to us.

Robert Sanderson attended the June graduation of his god-child, Cornelia Allen, when she received her degree in Fine Arts. He is now Director of a new gallery in Memphis and interested in showing works of any graduates of William and Mary who are professional artists or art directors.

Nancy Grube Williams was generous enough to share some of her Christmas card information with us, and it goes this way. Joyce Remsberg Shank and Tim, a Major in the Air Force, were East last summer with their five children, visiting relatives and such friends as Jacy Borman Stroup and Helen Robinson Zeigler. Joyce lives in Fort Worth, on the base, and sees B. J. Relph Samuel and her family from time to time.

Cecy Waddell Cunningham stays her usual busy self, and was recently elected secretary of the Newport News Alumni Board. Betty Lawson Sallada was wrapped up in local politics this past year, actively supporting a winning candidate, Biester, for Congress. They plan a spring vacation to Washington to check on "her boy."

Nancy sees Julie Woodbridge Oxreider now and then. She and John have an attractive home in Bethesda, and a three year old daughter whom we all admired at the reunion. The Oxreiders have Expo '67 on their summer calendar, spending additional time in Montreal. Julie keeps busy with charitable and community activities. Her brother, Hensley, is at the University of Southern Illinois and has recently been included in "Who's Who"; now that great volume claims both Hensley and his illustrious father, Dr. Dudley Woodbridge.

Edie Harwood Smith wrote on her Christmas card that 1966 had been a rugged year for them. Kent nearly died of pneumonia in February and was still having to take things easy. Edie had major surgery in April, but is fine now. Their daughter, Wendy, is a junior in high school, seriously studying ballet in New York and was in summer stock last year. Their sixth-grade son, Woody, is active in sports; Edie is a Volunteer at the hospital in her spare time.

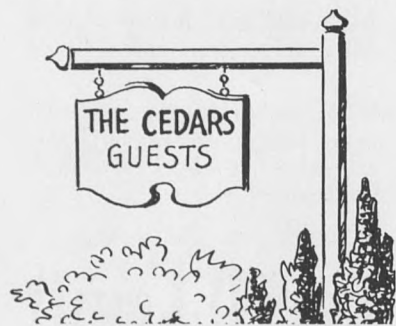

While attending the Washington Antiques Show recently, Nancy and Jim Williams ran into Dewey Lee Curtis. He was assisting a friend of his who was exhibiting in the Show. After graduating from William and Mary, Dewey went on to the University of Virginia for graduate work and continued studying at the University of Pennsylvania. He remained at the latter as Assistant Dean of Admissions for several years and is now Curator of Pennsylvania Manor, the home of William Penn in Morrisville, Pa. He also owns a number of properties on Society Hill in Philadelphia and has restored several houses there. Nancy was delighted to have seen Dewey again and enjoyed the chat.

Nancy finished her most helpful letter by saying that upon Jim's return from a business trip in Europe, the entire family will enjoy an extended Spring vacation in the Caribbean. It does sound delicious. Please remember, those of you who might want to order a picture of the group at reunion, to contact Thomas L. Williams, Williamsburg, Virginia, at $1.25 each.

A happy summer to you all!

Eva Kafka Barron is completing her studies to earn her Master's Degree in English. She started teaching at Mahwah, N. J. high school in February. I have taken over her job as class secretary and hope that you will all help by sending me lots of letters and news items.

Also well on her way to completing requirements for her Master's Degree is Babs Griffin Whitaker.

We had a brief visit with Barbara Seifert Meyers and dentist husband Mike at their home in Westminster, Md. shortly before Christmas. She gave up her dental practice some time ago and is concentrating on their family of three youngsters.

Elaine Campton Baker wrote on her Christmas card from Ankara, Turkey where husband Jim is an information officer for the American aid program that they and their two sons are enjoying life in that pleasant city. They have been there since June, having spent a busy leave in the states visiting friends and relatives after their stay of several years in Madras, India.

Also from a Christmas card I learned that Mary Wilcox Rietman and family have moved to a new and larger house in Springfield and are happily furniture shopping and decorating.

Preston and Jane Wilson are living in Petersburg where Jane is serving as the Child Welfare Supervisor for the Department of Public Welfare. Preston is on leave from his civilian position at the U. S. Army Logistics Management Center at Ft. Lee and is doing advanced graduate study at American University in Washington, D. C.

Ward and Emma Boston and family are in Naples, Italy where Ward, who is a Navy captain, is serving a tour of duty as a Staff Legal Officer in the Mediterranean area. Emma visited Florence with other Navy wives last fall just in time to get caught in the flood. She had to be carried piggy back into her hotel which finally had 18 feet of water surrounding it but didn't lose any of her purchases! They spent Christmas in the Italian Alps at a ski resort and Easter in England.

Hugh Moore, a newspaperman and a leader in youth athletic programs, was one of the fourteen persons nominated for the annual "Distinguished Service Award" of Halifax County as announced by the South Boston, Va. Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Helen Mason Boyle wrote that they sold their home in Kilgore, Texas, and moved to Dallas in August where her husband Bob has accepted the position as head of the Social Science Department of the new Dallas County Junior College. Since this is the only junior college in the whole Dallas-Fort Worth area, it opened in September with a very large enrollment. Helen and Bob have three children, Rob, Mary Blanche, and Margaret. Their new address is 7726 El Santo Lane, Dallas, Texas.

William F. Stone who got his M. A. in Education from W&M in '51 is the new principal of the Colonial Heights High School here.

Maggie Slayton Glauber wrote that they arrived in Paris in January 1966 and then they were to move to Stuttgart, Germany, in February 1967 for two years. Jim is assigned to the J-4 Division of EUCOM. Her mother spent three weeks in September with them, and they had a fabulous trip to Denmark while she was there. They had a shaky moment when they were not sure if they were on the right ferry leaving Denmark and had visions of docking in East Germany!

Ginny Gallaher Sharp and Ed. now have four girls: Susan 8, Mary 7, Ann 5, and Kathleen Marie who was born on January 9, 1967. They live in Rockford, Illinois where Ed. is a doctor specializing in heart surgery. Ginny is busy as president of the women's work in their church this year plus working with Brownies and the P.T.A.

Jean Watkins Saunders, Elmore, and their three children, Mary Meade 10, Carson 6, and Jim 3, live in Emporia, Va.

Harry J. Kostel, a lawyer and young Democratic leader was the head Newport News campaign for the Byrd-Spong senatorial ticket in the Va. November elections.

Mary Earhart Jenkins and Bob bought a five year old ranch in the country and moved in October 1966. Since then they have been busy painting and remodeling. Their new address is Rt. 3, Box 285, Flemington, New Jersey. They have three children.

Jane Waters Nielsen and Bud who live in Vernon, Connecticut, hope to build a summer place out at Cape Cod this spring. Jane and her family came south to North Carolina last summer for the wedding of her brother. On the way down they spent a night with Sarah Enos Brown and her family in Washington, D. C.

As you may know, Commander Don R. Ashby, a Navy pilot was killed on January 19th when his F4 Phantom jet crashed into the sea. This happened just seconds after the fighter plane lifted off from a U. S. carrier stationed off the coast of Vietnam. His wife, Wilma, and three children live in Newport News, Virginia. This is certainly a great loss to our class.

Mary-Jo Finn Aarestad represented the College at the European Commencement exercises in Wiesbaden, Germany for those students who completed the requirements for the University of Southern California Master's degree in Aerospace Operations Management last summer. Over twenty American, European and Asian universities were represented.

Have a wonderful summer! Call or come by if you are in Colonial Heights. We are just two blocks off Rt. 301 in Sherwood Hills. Also, don't forget to write!

That was back in 1964 after William H. Koptis had spent 14 years as the owner-operator of a sporting goods store in Parma, Ohio. "I was working 80 to 90 hours a week," said Bill "but the big discount stores moved in and service became secondary to prices. I wanted to get into something where I would have independence and an opportunity to apply my philosophy and public service. After much thought I selected the life insurance business, and then New England Life."

Bill made his move in 1965. During that year he established the finest first-year record of achievement in the entire Company and received the New England Life Rookie of the Year award. In 1966 his success continued to the point where he is a leading agent of the E. Clare Weber Agency in Cleveland—one of New England Life's larger agencies serving business and professional men.

The Martins have five boys, ranging from eight to fourteen, and one daughter. Jack renews old acquaintances at least one day each fall as alumni host on Burgesses Day at the College. He recently saw Hardy Cofer; Marine Corps Major Don Layne, '51, stationed at Quantico; Dick Forrest, '52, sales executive with Blue Cross in Richmond, Virginia; and Larry Fones, with Fairfax County Recreational Department. Jack would like to extend a personal plea to those who remember "Pappy" Gooch and his untiring efforts with the William and Mary Athletic Department. Please send all contributions in care of Lester Hooker at the College.

Bob and Peggie Bunting Mitchell's letter came from Berkeley Heights, New Jersey, where "Mitch" is employed by Western Electric. The Mitchells spent 7½ years on the west coast before coming east. They have two children and Peg still has time to teach fourth grade. "Mitch" keeps up his good golf game and played with Bruce Ramage, '56 for the past two summers. They try to make Annapolis for the William and Mary-Navy game each year. Peg's brother, Jere Bunting, '50 has been transferred to Christ Church as minister in Urbanna, Virginia. He also will help with athletics at the Episcopal boys' school located there. Peg and "Mitch" heard from Welton and Beata Swanson Mansfield in December. They are in Michigan where Welton has a Chrysler dealership. Jo Ann Mitchell Holmes wrote from Murfreesboro, Tennessee. The Mitchells last word was "come and visit."

Posie and Betty King Hundley and three daughters have been living in Dallas, Texas, for the past four years. Posie is assistant sales manager in the O.P. division of IBM. Both have taken up flying and Posie is a glider pilot. Betty recently talked with Mrs. Delbridge, Barrett housemother. She added that Ann Reynolds Felton and her family moved to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania where they saw Jack and Helen Barber Stabile; that Joan Hansen is living in West Palm Beach, Florida; and that Ginny Postles Keithley, '54 lives in Dallas. Betty and Ruth Woods Lett, '60 would like to start an alumni chapter in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. Would those interested please write to Mrs. Posie J. Hundley, 3311 Princess Lane, Dallas, Texas 75229. Please give current address and telephone.

A few more notes: Pete Giblin is now in Connecticut, and Bettye Zepht and Evie Abdill are Washington, D. C. neighbors. Bettye lives on the outskirts and Evie is in Georgetown and teaches first grade.

"Bebe" Fisher Arbuckle writes that children Dana and David received this year the Kansas Awards for top boy and girl rider. Husband, Bob, has been elected to the International Pony of the Americas Board of Directors.

Tyler Deierhoi, who received his Ph.D. in 1953, got his BA at Richmond University, his MA and Ph.D. at Duke University, and now is teaching History at the University of Chattanooga.

"Bobbie" Castle Kohin is an instructor of Physics at State College at Worcester, Massachusetts.

Major Brian Kent has been transferred to the Office of Legislative Affairs in the Navy Department in Washington, D. C.

Jean Kramer Gray, husband three children, now live on the Chesapeake Bay in Prince Frederick, Maryland.

Hello, Everyone! So often we get a good, newsy letter or phone call just after a deadline, and this was the case with Jean Beckh Robinson's call in January to say she is now in the greater Washington area, Silver Spring, Maryland, to be specific. She is situated there as a result of a transfer of her husband, Stuart, who is Assistant District Manager for Humble. She has been in touch with Joan McCarthy Kane, who is the mother of five and who lives in New York where her husband is with IBM.

Gail Van Benthuyzen Pigeon is in Richmond, Virginia now after having been in Alaska with the Army.

Strasenburgh Pharmaceuticals has announced the appointment of Chuck Cornell as Controller. He has been Assistant Controller since 1964, and was previously with Price Waterhouse and IBM. He lives at 17 Mill Valley Road, Pittsford, New York.

W. R. Griffin represented the College at the inauguration of Dr. John Van Gaasbeek as President of New College in February. I would assume New College is not far from Pete's home which is in Sarasota, Florida.

We have a notice also from Daniel J. Edelman and Associates stating the appointment of Rene Henry as Director of the Los Angeles office.

Carl Taylor is Interior Design Editor for Hearst Publications.

Dr. Winfred Ward, in addition to a busy medical practice, has been team physician for the high school football champions of Franklin, Virginia. They've enjoyed an 18-game winning streak. The Wards have a new addition, an 18-year-old son whom they've recently adopted. This makes three children counting the girls who are 4 and 6 years old.

Joe Kinder, whose home is still in Bristol, Rhode Island, is now a partner in the law firm of Armstrong, Gibbons, Black and Lodge. He was elected in November to the Bristol School Committee.

Walt Herkness and June, his wife live the busy suburbanites' life in the vicinity of Philadelphia, where Walt sings in the church choir and a businessmen's choral group, called "The Commuters." June is busy with PTA work and in the Tri-Delta Alumnae Alliance. Walt has been engrossed in a big project of recent months, making an extra-special doll house for their eight-year-old daughter, Diane. June's continuing hobby is gourmet cooking.

Henretta Trent Band and family are back from England. They are in East Lansing, Michigan in a house that is brand new. They have a two-year-old daughter, Elizabeth.

Philip T. Brown is now regional attorney at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare's regional office in Charlottesville, Virginia.

General Motors is people making better products for people.

Don Trites's dummies lead a rough life. For your sake.

To Don Trites, these dummies are very special people.

True. Their expressions never change, but they do have feelings. Mechanical feelings that can be measured by Don in moving simulated impact tests. These tests have helped GM safety engineers find and develop automotive designs that are safer for real people.

The tests go on day after day, year after year, ever increasing in sophistication and value.

Safety is an important part of every General Motors car. Maybe that's why Don thinks his dummies are something special.

They're silent heroes.

Many thanks are sent to Taffy Evans Olson for her letter. Newlywed Taffy married Dr. Walter Olson this past February. She wrote of Mary Welsh Doyle, who cared for neighbors with bread and milk (via her freezer) during Chicago's crippling snowstorm.

Janice Plummer Gerry taught a class for IBM in Sydney, Australia. When she finished, she and hubby Ed visited Tokyo and Bangkok; and then they returned home to Boston.

Lynn Carr Ladd wrote from New Jersey of her expected family addition in the latter part of June. She had heard from Margo Larson Bales, now the mother of three.

I received a pleasant letter from Patricia Maloney Hamner. She and attorney husband, Duncan now reside in Alexandria with their two daughters, Clarissa and Marion. Pat, write to the Alumni Office for any desired information.

Dr. Lee Ellison is currently in Malawi, Africa where he is a physician for the Peace Corps. He and his wife Ruth will return to the U.S. in 1967 where he will be a resident in Hartford Hospital in Hartford, Connecticut. Lloyd Field is now a practicing attorney in New York.

Judy Dickerson married William Bullock in June in Richmond. Sue Singer Christianson and husband Jerry, who is with the foreign service, are living in D.C. Nancy Moore returned to graduate school at the University of North Carolina to work on her master's in education.

John Gibbs is an assistant division chemical officer in Cu Chi, Vietnam. He is due to return stateside in September. Dr. James Egan is physician to the inmates at Leavenworth Penitentiary. In July he will begin a psychiatry residency at St. Vincent's Hospital in New York City.

Barbara Wilson Ritto is quite active in community affairs in Virginia Beach. She and Ginny Pollock are trying to reactivate the Alpha Chi Omega Alumnae Club in the area.

Ken and Kay Elmore Rice call Richmond home. Ken is employed by First and Merchants' National Bank as manager of computer operations. They have two children, Ken, Jr., and Robert. Also from Richmond, Ruth Chambers is currently a library assistant at the University of Richmond. Ben Smith recently completed requirements for his Ph.D. at Georgia Tech.

Moving north, I have word from Frances Henderson Coburn in Baltimore, Maryland. Her husband works for a CPA firm, and they have two daughters, Cheryl and Ashley. In Pittsburgh, Rosalie Schmitz Johnson and husband Ken, who is a sales engineer for General Electric, live with three-year-old Kevin and one-year-old Karen.

Miriam Janzer Singer simply loves being a minister's wife. Her husband, Robert is pastor of the Easton Congregational Church in Easton, Connecticut. Also in Connecticut, Glenn Cayward has completed his first year with the Travelers Insurance Company as a member of the publications staff.

From Tangier, Morocco comes word from Charles Dudley. He is serving as vice-consul at the American Consulate General.

Our son, Pat, (at this writing four months old) is indeed the proverbial "bundle of joy." Big, squirming, and always hungry are his main attributes.

To those who wrote, I send a huge thank you. To all—please keep the information coming.

John and his bride, the former Nancy Sykes, a 1963 graduate of Madison College, spent their honeymoon in Williamsburg. John has had some interesting roles in several of the campus productions and Nancy is teaching history and sociology at Euclid High School. On a recent vacation to New York City, John saw several classmates. Erik Howell is playing the Boy in the off-Broadway production of The Fantasticks, and has made about five commercials for national television. Marcia Hoffman has recently completed a Drefit commercial, and is also auditioning for the role of Sally Cato in the national company of Mame. During the summer Marcia played Tessie Tura, the stripper, in a stock production of Gypsy.

Jeanne Raab is working in San Francisco. Steve Bellon, who received his M.A. in theatre in California, went to Germany where he is currently studying the staging

All-Purpose Cleaner

Soap generally was made by colonial Virginia homemakers. Some was sold by merchants, however, and the most popular form was a sphere, about the size of today's tennis ball. Perhaps it was delicately scented; most likely it was not. The same type of soap is available today in Colonial Williamsburg, the fascinating city of yesteryear. Colonial bakers, candlemakers, wigmakers: all are part of the exciting scene in Virginia's eighteenth-century capital. Become part of it: stay in the Williamsburg Inn, Lodge, or The Motor House when you return to the College this Spring. And look for a thousand interesting details, like this soap ball in the Apothecary Shop of long ago.

Luckily, this turned out to be a short column for me to write because on January 28th our son, Michael, was born and our quiet lives have become quite hectic! Thanks to Alan Scott for his long letter. He is in the second of four semesters as a candidate for the M.B.A. degree from the Graduate School of Business at Indiana University in Bloomington, while also working as a counselor on the Dean of Students' resident hall staff. Scotty provided the following news about other class members: (Lt. J.G.) Kent and Joie Krider Delano, '65, returned this month from the Mediterranean, where Kent completed a 9-month cruise as a carrier pilot aboard the U.S.S. Independence, while Joie and other Navy officers' wives followed the ship from port to port. Kent expects his next cruise to be to the Pacific.

(Capt.) Harry Green recently returned from Viet Nam and is now stationed at Ft. Rucker, Ala., where he is C.O. of the Army Aviation Test Board. (Capt.) Karl Zavitkovsky is beginning a tour of duty with the Marines at Chulai, Viet Nam, where he is in charge of a radar control crew with collateral duty as a civic action officer. (Capt.) Mike Lyle, '62, recently arrived at Duc Hoa, about 15 miles NW of Saigon, where he is assigned to an APC troop unit. Jim Hunter is undertaking postgraduate law study at Harvard Law School and living in Cambridge, Mass. Knox Lovell is a professor at State University of New York, Binghamton, N.Y.

Raymond G. Frey is a graduate student at St. John's college, Oxford University, England.

David Adams is continuing work toward a Ph.D. in Political Science at the University of Chicago. He is a Fellow of the Center for the Comparative study of Political Development. Last summer David received a scholarship to attend the British University Summer School Program at the University of Edinburgh. He attended the session and spent the remainder of the summer traveling in England and Scotland.

Penny Stenbo Sapolsky is working as a data analyst for Seymour M. Lipset at Harvard and her husband, Harvey, is a assistant professor in the political science department at M.I.T. and a research associate at Harvard.

Julie Kneen Brown and Nick live in Arlington. Julie is taking graduate courses at Catholic University in library science.

Glen McCaskey of Philadelphia represented the College at the inauguration of the new president of The Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia early this month.

The following is news from another Alpha Chi news letter supplied by Judy Murdock Snook. Judy and Don, '61, are living at Bryn Mawr, Penna., while he is Assistant Director at the Jefferson Medical Center in Philadelphia. Their second child is expected in March. Last fall, Kathy Dudley was teaching seven classes of art in Prince William County and going to the Corcoran School of Art to work toward her Masters in art. In February, she went to California work. Lee Williams McBride took some courses at Central Missouri State in Warrensburg where she and Mike were stationed. They expect thier first baby in March and will transfer to Bolling A.F.B. in D.C. that same month. Johanne Riddick Betsch and Bill are in Greece where they will be until June when they will travel across Europe on their way to Berkley, Calif., for the fall session. Bill will be studying there next year. In April, Johanne and Bill are expecting their first child. Pat Thomas Ogren and Ken live in Charleston, S. C. where Ken is stationed on submarine duty with the Navy. Pat teaches 7th and 8th grade English at a small school outside of the city.

The Tri Delts compiled a Christmas news letter, too, and the following are excerpts from that. Jay and Pat Farrell Franklin are still living in Annandale where Jay is working in the construction and land development field. Pat is no longer teaching, but enjoying her role as full-time wife and mother. Fran McCampbell Ring, her husband (Lt. Cdr.) Stuart, and daughter Susan, have transferred from California to Alexandria while Stuart is stationed at the Pentagon. Sharing an apartment in Washington, D. C., are Ann Harvey and Jackie Murphy. Ann received her M.A. in July and is now doing economic research in the fields of education and future transportation in the Northeast Corridor (between Washington and Boston. Jackie has retired from the teaching field and taken a job with IBM as a systems engineer. Carol Boardman has been working in New York City at the French Cultural Services in the Education Department since December 1964. This summer she spent a 10 day "working vacation" in Putney, Vermont, employed by the African-American Institute as the official interpreter for the African students orientation program. Simsbury (Hartford), Conn., is the home of Babs Beaumont Anderson and Gene, and son Christopher. Gene is the owner of The Clipper Shop, which is a men's shop. Babs has been putting her artistic talent to use in designing some of the furnishings for the shop as well as decorating their home.

Pete and Judy Beers Trelogan both received their B.S. degrees from V.P.I. in June. Pete is now working as a systems analyst for the Department of the Army in Radford. Mike Hogan Gatti and Dave, '62, are now living in Richmond while Dave is interning at M.C.V. Also living in Richmond are Bob and Crellin James Byrd. Jeannie Wilkinson Shuler is still working at NASA in Hampton as a mathematician, while her husband Bill, '62, is preparing for his Ph.D. dissertation at William and Mary. John and Lynne Thomas Johnson have been transferred from Utah to Atlanta, Ga., with the Pine Chemical Division of Hercules. Early in June Al Baumann completed his obligation to the Army and took a job with Abbott Laboratories as a professional hospital representative in Miami, Fla. His wife, Janet Bowery, did volunteer work for the Red Cross and worked one morning a week in an OB-GYN clinic while they were stationed at Ft. Benning, and plans to continue this work in Florida after the birth of their second child, due in April. Mary Frances Bonner attended a graduate session in statistics at Yale this summer, courtesy of the Dept. of Health, Education, and Welfare, where she works. Her roommate since graduation, Mary Key Walsh, accepted a job with H.E.W. in Denver, Colo., last February.

Your notes on William and Mary Fund contribution envelopes are another source of news which the Alumni Office forwards to me periodically. The latest batch includes some envelopes with old postmarks and so, I am listing the month in which they were written August: Dorothy Ann Shaw Cody taught third grade for two years near Austin, Texas. Her husband, Gary, is presently employed by Texaco, Inc., and they live in Gainesville, Texas. Al Scott entered the two year MBA program at Indiana University's Graduate School of Business in Bloomington. Cordell Bowman has returned from Ecuador after 2 years in the Peace Corps. Al reports having visited Bill Richardson at Chelsea Plantation, who is in law practice with his father after graduating from the Marshall-Wythe Law School this spring.

September: Steve and Jean Garde Parker now live in New Haven, Conn., where Steve is completing his last year at Berkeley Divinity School. Jean is a lecturer on the staff of the Peabody Museum of Yale University. Liz Holland Lunger and George are looking forward to their return from Hawaii to the East coast and civilian life in March of this year. Bill Dyer is now beginning four years of theological studies in Vale, France, with the White Fathers of Africa, in preparation for ordination as a Catholic missionary priest. Robert Stewart is continuing his work as Head Resident in the Temple University residence halls as well as starting a full-time psychology internship at the Child Study Center of Philadelphia.

Page Brinkley has accepted a position in Shell Oil Co.'s credit department in Atlanta, Georgia. He had recently completed a 2 year tour with the Army. October: Jim Hunter is working toward his LL.M. at Harvard Law School. Valerie Simms is teaching at Bishop College in Dallas, under the auspices of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation Teaching Internship program. Bishop is a medium-sized Negro college and Val is teaching nine hours in Political Science. Next year she plans to return to Georgetown U. to write her dissertation. Wyley Powell spent two years after graduation in Toulouse, France teaching English conversation to French children. He is now doing graduate work at New York University.

We were very sad to learn that Diane Stuart Perry's husband, George, was killed in action in Viet Nam in June of last year. Diane returned to teaching elementary school early this year and will continue to live in Annandale with her son, George III.

Martha Walker Blanks and Edward are living in Hampton, Virginia. She is teaching Fifth Grade while Ed continues to work toward his license as an architect.

Sambra Neet is teaching English in Turkey in the province of Ordu on the Black Sea.

From Fund letters we find: Anne Piddington Weaver and Charlie and living in Newport News where Charlie is teaching at Denbigh High School. Also in Newport News are Tish Paschall Mirguet and Bill, '62; Bill works with First and Merchants National Bank and Tish teaches at Newport News High School. Not far away, in Hampton, is Karen Rackley, who is a mathematician with NASA at Langley Research Center; Karen is also taking graduate courses through the University of Virginia. Marynell Roberts Gordon and Steve are in Norfolk after a year in New York City where Steve was associated with Lord and Taylor's; Steve is now in a women's specialty shop business with his father and Marynell is a medical secretary. Val Rosado has been teaching first grade in Arlington since graduation and will soon be doing graduate studying at West Virginia University in the Human Resources Research Institute.

William Prestley has been working toward his Ph.D. at Duke and teaching freshman English. Dave Pond, who is continuing work on his Ph.D. in Chemistry at South Carolina, writes of classmate Dave Mims who was married to Anida Perna, a graduate of the University of South Carolina, on September 4; Dave is doing graduate work in business. Charles Lucas is pursuing a Ph.D. in physics at the University of Maryland and also serves as secretary of the William and Mary Alumni Christian Fellowship. Robert Lent graduated from the Marshall-Wythe School of Law in 1966 and is presently employed by Tobin and Simionesen Accountants in River Edge, New Jersey. Living in Avalon, New Jersey, is Dave Blood, who is a special education teacher at Middle Township High School; he also serves as yearbook and band advisor and junior class sponsor. Joel Brook can be found in his third year of medical school at New York University; on November 24 he married Marjorie Ann Morrison, also in the medical school. After a summer of legal research with Traveler's Insurance Company, Dave Gibson is now completing his final year of law school at the University of Connecticut in Hartford; he has also served in the national competition of moot courts.

After completing his master's in 1966, Wayne Price and wife, Janice Gerry are now in Fayetteville, Arkansas, where Wayne serve as an Army second lieutenant in the medical corps on active duty at the University of Arkansas where he will complete his Ph.D. requirements in Experimental Psychology. Last heard from, Ray Old and Ross Connerly, both Army lieutenants, were stationed at Fort Bliss, Texas, assigned to the Air Defense 1st Training Brigade; they have trained both American and foreign units in the Nike Hercules and Hawk missile systems. Bonner sends news from the ski slopes of Aurora, Colorado, where she has been doing research in the field of accident prevention; next she will be transferred to Boston to help start a second research team. And Dan Root was recently promoted to Lieutenant, jg., and is serving at the Naval Support activity in DaNang, Viet Nam; he adds that he frequently sees Lindsey Stringfellow, in the Red Cross there—such a small world.

After receiving his MA from Duke, Cort Schlichting is now serving on the faculty of Augustana College in Illinois as an instructor in economics. Billy Bussell Thompson received his master's in 1965 in Spanish at the University of Tennessee; he is now teaching Spanish and French at Georgia Southern College and served as a visiting teacher of Spanish at Furman University during the summer of 1966. Currell Pattie was also awarded his master's degree in 1966 in Psychology at the University of Richmond.

Shirley L. Minnick of Mt. Jackson, Virginia writes that she is teaching at Stonewall Jackson High School for the second year and is directing plays for the drama group.

Through the grapevine, it is learned that Joan Mitchell recently won a $50 third prize in a contest conducted by the Famous Photographers School of Westport, Connecticut.

Congratulations are also in order for Bob Pavey of Dayton, Ohio. Bob, now a second year student working toward his MBA at the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, was named one of the 15 Baker Scholars from a class of 669 students; this is the highest scholastic honor given to a master's student prior to graduation. Bob has also been designated as the first winner of the Ackerman Memorial Fellowship in Management Science by the Texas Instruments Corporation of Dallas, upon completing his master of science degree in metallurgical engineering at Columbia University.

Marg Holland writes from Geneva, Switzerland. In January she gave up her job with VISTA and is now secretary to James Roosevelt, President of the IOS Management Company. At the time of her letter she still hadn't found an apartment, but nevertheless was taking advantage of the Alpine skiing. Marg relates that Steve Webb is with the U. S. Employment Service, as well as teaching sociology at George Washington University while working toward his master's.

News from Melissa Hall Griffin reflects her Navy life; after fluctuating between the ports of San Diego and San Francisco, she and husband John are now in Newport, Rhode Island, where he is in school.

Linda Lawrence Pendray is still teaching English at Marshall High School in Fairfax County, Virginia, but acquired a new husband, Lt. USAF John J. Pendray, a '62 graduate of the University of Florida; their marriage was October 15, 1966. Linda also relates that Karen Back is still in Medical School at Emory University in Atlanta.

Leland A. Orr has completed his two years of service in the Army, and is now doing work in Business Administration at Cornell University.

Two more contributors for the Class of '64 to The William and Mary Fund are Keith E. Blackburn and Greg Presnell. Since 1965 Keith has been working as an inventory manager for the U. S. Army Mobility Equipment Command in St. Louis; he is a civil service employee. Having heard from Dave Barley, wife Margaret, and daughter Missey, Keith says that Dave is working toward his degree in Veterinarian Medicine at Ohio State. Keith also relates that Dave Ricker has been serving in Viet Nam.

Greg Presnell can be very proud of his law degree recently attained at the University of Florida College of Law; he graduated with high honors, second in his class. He is now an Associate Attorney with the firm of Akerman, Senterfitt, Eidson, Mesmer, and Robinson in Orlando, Florida.

May everyone have an enjoyable summer, and let me know of your new endeavors and surroundings soon.

Unfortunately, I have heard from relatively few of our classmates during the past several months. Please send me a postcard relating your whereabouts and activities.

Lib Rawlings Willey and Bob seem to have two homes. Lib is teaching in Fairfax, Virginia, while Bob is working for a broker dealer in New York City through Investors' Planning Corporation. He is a 2nd Lieutenant and waiting to report for duty this spring.

Harriet Baer Madden and her husband James remained in India after their wedding in Delhi. Harriet is teaching English as a foreign language in a rural village. The Maddens plan to return to the States in time for Harriet to enter graduate school this fall.

Alan Brown is serving as a 1st Lieutenant with a military police company in Korat, Thailand, some 150 miles northeast of Bangkok. Alan hopes to join Malinda (Sproul, '65) in Virginia this fall, and then go to graduate school.

Sandy Bolick has returned home to Charlottesville after spending a year in southern France studying at the English Central Mediterranean University.

Pat Ward and Ann Kabler left Chapel Hill for two weeks to visit Ann's parents in Panama.

Deedle Rowland is the electron microscopist for the Department of Surgery at MCV in Richmond, Virginia. She is currently doing research on human kidney transplants. Bonnie Cheshire and Deedle have found sufficient time to leave Richmond and visit Glenda Hudgins and Mary Lynn Sigmon in the D.C. area. Leslie McAneny has spent several weekends in Richmond when her airline stewardess responsibilities permitted.

My news of the Class of '66 has really been sparse this winter. I hope that more of you will find time to let me hear from you in the future.

Susan Romans is teaching English at Patrick Henry High School in Hanover County, and living in Richmond, where one of her apartment-mates is Sally Lyons Hardy, '65.

Also in Richmond is Ginny Knoop Adams, who is working for the Telephone Company while her husband, '65, studies at Medical College of Virginia.

Karen Cottrell Schoenenberger is living in Culpeper, Va., where she is teaching third grade while her husband Mike, '65, is teaching high school history.

Dorothy Hutton Tudor is working for NASA, while her husband John is teaching history at Warwick High School in Newport News.

Dotti Traynor Hollowell is here in Williamsburg, working at Eastern State while her husband Tom, '65, is in law school.

In Virginia Beach, Ann Jeffries, Michelle Lester, Dede Day and Paula Lippard are sharing both the problems of the first-year teacher, and joys of a house on the beach. Michelle has announced her engagement to Ken Crooks, '67, and is planning a summer wedding. Paula, engaged to Spenser Timm, is also planning a wedding in the summer, as soon as Spenser graduates from OCS at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Steve Critchfield is finishing his first year of law school at the University of Georgia, and planning to spend his summer as a guest of the Army at Training Camp.

Ed Shifman has been working in Boston for Proctor and Gamble, and is now on active duty with the Army.

Richard Mueller has been appointed to the U. S. Foreign Service, while Dena Kay Wade is doing graduate work at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, Tufts University.

Connie Hudson is teaching third grade at Lee Hall School in Newport News, and planning a summer wedding to Bill Harris, who is a chemistry graduate student at the University of South Carolina.

Sally Mac Smith Brown is teaching seventh grade math and English in a culturally-deprived section of New Haven, Conn., where Arthur is studying for the ministry.

Carol Boysen is flying the skies of United Air Lines from a home base in New York City.

Judy Hein is teaching high school English in Alexandria, and planning a summer wedding.

Kathy Hollingsworth Reese is living in Alta Vista, Virginia, where husband Mike works for the Lane Furniture Company.

Bill Humphries is attending Graduate School in Education at William and Mary, as is Dave Kerns. Jim Dick is teaching and coaching at Norview High School in Norfolk, and attending graduate school at night.

Sallye Lashley Groome and her husband Jon are living in Northern Virginia, where Sallye works for the government.

Debby Thomas is teaching elementary school in Virginia Beach, as is Linda Arey. Debby is planning a summer wedding to Ben Pomeroy, '67.

Jane McAdoo is teaching in Cambridge, N. Y., a ski resort, which Mac loves in spite of the plunging temperatures.

Betsy Reed Godsman is living in Shaker Heights, Ohio, where her husband, Jim, works for General Foods.

Bunni Popkin Latkin is living in New York City and working for the Salvation Army.

Patti Heath is teaching elementary school in Northern Virginia.

Gail Williams Wertz reports that she is working hard at the University of Pittsburgh, but enjoying her studies very much. She is occasionally homesick, she says, for the beautiful scenery and pure air of Williamsburg.

I am teaching eleventh grade English at Denbigh High School in Newport News, where I frequently see several other members of the class of '66: Joan Kelly Lowry, who teaches social studies; Bob Moore and Glen Brodie, who are both teaching science and coaching.

I am hoping to hear from many of you in the near future.

BUILD A BETTER mousetrap, coin a new word or phrase, sell a better suit—these are recognized methods to attract notice. At Williamsburg Shop we don't build mousetraps or devote long hours to words or phrases. We devote ourselves to selling better suits—and shirts, skirts, hats, cravats, socks, frocks, notions and fashions—all fine quality. Our goal is to dress you up to your status. That makes us "statusticians," doesn't it? Remember, "Your clothes never stop talking about you."

Cubic SECOR satellite surveyor makes first direct coast-to-coast measurement of U.S.

Cubic's SECOR, world's most precise satellite tracking system, recently completed the first direct "single-leap" distance measurement across the United States, from San Diego, Calif., to Herndon, Va. In only 10 seconds, the distance between these points was determined to be 3,628,300.5 meters, or 2,254.5 miles.

More important than actual distance computation was SECOR's ability to accomplish this historic feat. SECOR uses a satellite 600 miles in space to plot and measure the earth with amazing speed and surveying accuracy.

"... a first order geodetic tool..."

After initial tests, SECOR won the highest praise of the surveying and mapping profession.

Army officials noted, "SECOR has the full capability of a first order geodetic tool." In present operations, Cubic's all-weather SECOR system is successfully measuring distances between points of land separated by broad expanses of ocean.

29,000 "ranges" in six minutes...

During a typical satellite pass of six minutes duration, SECOR's four Cubic-built ground stations make approximately 29,000 measurements or "ranges" with 95% success. Within the SECOR satellite, a miniature 7-lb. Cubic transponder acts as a receiver-transmitter.

Tests prove that SECOR can extend control over distances exceeding 2000 miles with geodetic accuracy.

SECOR's far-reaching applications...

Data gathered by Cubic's SECOR will have lasting importance in the fields of geodesy, global navigation and satellite navigation. SECOR will have a role of major importance in space and defense programs requiring distance measurements with pinpoint accuracy. Information about the earth's shape and gravitational field is also being obtained.

SECOR is a product of Cubic Corporation, leader in the field of electronic measuring systems.

For additional information about SECOR, write to: Chief Scientist, Cubic Corporation, Department D-143, San Diego, Calif. 92123.

The Other Side Of The Wren Building

The front view of the ancient Wren Building as seen from the College yard is historically embossed on the nation's mind and indelibly impressed in the hearts of thousands of alumni. However, it is to the west that the campus pulses and the links are being forged that knit the generations each with each.

The Endowment Association of the College of William and Mary suggests that now is the time to ensure the future of the College by joining a growing number of alumni and friends who in their wills and bequests are assuring such a future commensurate in quality and vitality to the esteemed heritage of this College, the Alma Mater of a nation.
