THE STUDENT BODY OF THE COLLEGE OF WILLIAM AND MARY PRESENTS THE 1952

*Colonial
Echo*

HERE IN WORD AND PICTURE IS LIFE AT WILLIAM AND MARY. HERE ARE THE ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY, THE UNDERGRADUATE MEN AND WOMEN, AND GLIMPSES OF THE HISTORIC AND TRADITION CLAD BUILDINGS AND CAMPUS. BUT THE COLONIAL ECHO HAS STRIVEN TO RECORD MORE THAN JUST THE PAGES AND SCENES AROUND THE COLLEGE. IT HAS ATTEMPTED TO CAPTURE AND PRESENT THE WARM, VIBRANT SPIRIT THAT IS WILLIAM AND MARY, TO MIRROR ITS POLITICS, ITS PUBLICATIONS, AND ITS PULCHRITUDE. TO PICTURE ITS

JOYS AND WOES, ITS TRIUMPHS AND ITS DEFEATS. TO REPORT ITS GOVERNMENT ITS HOMECOMINGS, ITS LOVES, ITS FRIENDSHIPS, AND ITS LAUGHS. TO BRING RECOLLECTIONS OF ITS MUSIC, ITS DRAMA, AND ITS SPIRITUAL INFLUENCE. THE ECHO HERE ATTEMPTS TO RECORD WILLIAM AND MARY'S ENTHUSIASM FOR SPORTS, AND TO PORTRAY ITS MANY ORGANIZATIONS OF HONOR, CAMPUS ACTIVITY, ACADEMIC SPECIALIZATION, AND FRATERNAL FELLOWSHIP. AND TO PICTURE IT ALL IN A WAY AS FRIENDLY AND HUMAN AS IS LIFE AT WILLIAM AND MARY.

DEDICATION

To Dr. Dudley Warner Woodbridge, Dean of the Department of Jurisprudence, we affectionately dedicate the 1952 Colonial Echo. Successful as an educator, popular as a lecturer, outstanding as an administrator, Dean Woodbridge has won a place in the hearts of all his students. For twenty-five years Dean Woodbridge has served the College with unstinting devotion. He has enriched and inspired the lives of his students with his intellectual wisdom, his stimulating spirit, and the sincerity of his warm friendship. Dean Woodbridge well merits the genuine respect and keen admiration of his colleges, the entire student body, and all with whom he has been associated. It is with real pride that we dedicate this book to Dudley W. Woodbridge.

BOARD OF VISITORS

Under state law the College is governed by the Board of Visitors who hold three regular meetings a year. The Board is made up of ten members with the Superintendent of Public Instruction serving in an ex-officio capacity. A Rector, who acts as chairman, is elected by the group and additional meetings when necessary during the year may be called by him.

Terms of office are for a period of four years with five members being elected every two years allowing an overlapping in terms. Rector of the Board of Visitors for this year was Oscar L. Shewmake of Richmond.

W&M'S 22ND PRESIDENT

On September 13, 1951, Dr. John E. Pomfret, who had been president of William and Mary for nine years, resigned. The Board of Visitors, upon recommendation of a faculty committee immediately appointed Dr. James W. Miller, chancellor professor of philosophy, as acting president until a new executive could be selected. In a brief ceremony on October 11, 1951, Alvin Duke Chandler, former rear admiral in the United States Navy, was installed as the twenty-second president of the College of William and Mary.

President Chandler's intense interest in the College may well have been inherited from his father, J. A. C. Chandler, during whose term as nineteenth president, from 1919 to 1934, many of the most important campus buildings came into being. Prior to becoming president of William and Mary, Admiral Chandler had a brilliant career as a naval officer.

After secondary schooling and a brief enrollment at William and Mary, he entered the United States Naval Academy and was graduated in 1923. Seven years later he was ordered back to the Academy as an instructor and while there collaborated in the writing of one of the school's Physics textbooks. After two years assignment on the battleship Oklahoma he again returned to Annapolis as an instructor and co-authored a text on torpedoes. Between 1937 and 1941 he was assigned as operations officer and flag secretary to the commander of Battleship Division Two, as commander of the destroyer Southard, and briefly at the Office of Chief of Naval Operations.

During World War II he commanded a number of destroyer divisions and squadrons and served on the staff of the Commander-in-Chief, United States Fleet. For his war service he was awarded the Legion of Merit, Gold Star and V, the Bronze Star Medal and V, and the Presidential Unit Citation ribbon which was awarded his flagship the USS O'Bannon. In 1948 he commissioned and commanded the Des Moines which at that time was the heaviest cruiser in the world. From command of the

. . . with Mrs. Chandler

Des Moines Chandler was assigned to the Imperial Defense College in London. From England he was ordered to the Office of Chief of Naval Operations as director of logistic plans, the office he held when notified of his selection as President of the College of William and Mary.

The first official appearance of the new president before the student body was at a special Convocation on October 18th when he delivered an inspiring address confirming his faith in the College and pedging his loyalty to William and Mary. President and Mrs. Chandler, during their brief residence on the campus, have made every effort to develop a cordial understanding of the student body and to become aware of its problems and interests.

The Colonial Echo, in behalf of the student body places its confidence and trust in President Chandler and welcomes him as the twenty-second president of the College of William and Mary.

THE DIVISION OF THE HUMANITIES

Wagener, Ryan.

ANCIENT LANGUAGES

The Department of Ancient Languages offers courses in Latin and Greek vocabulary and structure. Courses are also offered in heritage and literature as being of general cultural value as well as essential to an understanding of classical civilization.

ENGLISH

By offering a variety of courses to the English major, the Department of English strives to arouse an interest in the various fields of literature and to cultivate a desire to write. Outstanding are the studies of one particular writer's works.

Seated: McBurney, Swayze, Jackson, Edwards, Clark, Neiman. Standing: Davidson, McCulley, Summersgill, Jones.

Seated: Haigh, Hunt, Jones. Standing: Stewart, Fehr, Scammon, Newman, Haak.

FINE ARTS

The Department of Fine Arts is divided into three branches: Music; Painting, Sculpture, and Architecture; and Theater. Students may major in any division, but several survey courses, which give background and appreciation of all the fields, are required.

S. Rome, Dethlefs, B. Rome, Miller.

PHILOSOPHY

The Department of Philosophy, like the other College departments, is principally interested in developing humane, liberal character. It seeks to inculcate sensitivity to theory, critical respect for facts, and a love of the true, the good, and the beautiful.

Seated: Carter, McCary, Ryland, Reboussin, Morfit. Standing: Korpi, Stone, Moore, Hoffman, Banner, Armstrong, Kallos.

MODERN LANGUAGES

Beginning courses in the Department of Modern Languages teach writing, understanding, and oral use of French, Spanish, and German, plus reading and appreciation of literary masterpieces. Advanced courses further develop linguistic ability and offer foreign literature in the original form.

THE DIVISION OF THE SOCIAL SCIENCES

Seated: Corey, Marsh, Gibbs. Standing: Scott, Quinn.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Recognizing the necessity of a comprehensive education in the fields of human knowledge for a successful business career the Business Administration Department requires a two-year liberal arts course prior to concentration in the fundamental principles of business administration, economics, accountancy, and law.

Seated: Sancetta, Southworth, Taylor, Marsh, Corey. Standing: Scott, Quinn, Hirsch.

ECONOMICS

The Department of Economics had its origin in the course entitled Political Economy, which was first offered in America at the College of William and Mary in 1784. Emphasis is placed upon economic theory, finance, international economics, and industrial relations

Pate, Chou, Moss, McClure.

GOVERNMENT

The Department of Government is committed to the sincere search for truth and wisdom through creative and independent thought. To attain this goal courses in political thought, political parties, types of law, and political research and analysis are offered.

Seated: Morton. Standing: Adair, Fowler, McCully, Bright.

JURISPRUDENCE

The course of study is based on the concept of law as a social institution in a modern world. In addition to private law, public law is emphasized in accord with the general trend in judicial and administrative processes.

Seated: Baker, Gordon, Bradley, Cormack. Standing: Curtis, Woodbridge, Anderson.

Morland, Kantner, Kernodle.

SOCIOLOGY

The Department of Sociology was formally established in 1930, although courses in this subject were taught prior to 1920. The department combines sociology and anthropology in the scientific analysis of human society through courses in theory, culture and personality, and social research.

HISTORY

By offering a variety of courses both in ancient and modern history, the History Department develops in the student an understanding of modern problems and how they arose. Trends in European countries as well as in America are traced.

Lott

SECRETARIAL SCIENCE

Courses in secretarial science are open to junior and senior students as elective courses, regardless of their field of concentration. College credit is given for these courses and they may be taken as part of student's regular schedule.

THE DIVISION OF NATURAL SCIENCES

BIOLOGY

Courses in the Biology Department are worked out in sequences in order to prepare the student for various scientific studies. Some of these fields include zoology, botany, premedical and pre dental work, bacteriology, medical technology, nursing, and aquatic biology.

First Row: Jeffers, Blank, Ash. Second Row: Baldwin, Stinson.

CHEMISTRY

The Chemistry Department is approved by the Committee on Professional Training of the American Chemical Society. Graduates of the department who have met minimum standards established by the Committee are recognized by the Society as having received undergraduate professional training in chemistry.

MATHEMATICS

Courses in mathematics include not only the working of problems, but also the study of the history and development of this subject through the ages. Concentration in the field includes work in differential and integral calculus and differential equations.

Seated: Calkins, Phalen. Standing: Stetson, Smith.

PSYCHOLOGY

Science is increasingly useful in our understanding of man's behavior. The Department of Psychology encourages scientific attitudes in students while informing them of the results of experiments tests, and opinions in the major fields of theoretical and applied psychology.

Lambert, Orr, Bare, Williams, Brooks, Jones, Wolin.

PHYSICS

The Department of Physics, by offering a variety of courses, strives to give the physics major an understanding of physics and its appliance to everyday life. The more advanced students find the opportunity to study in the fields of electricity and nuclear physics.

Seated: Mooney Standing: Schuette, Hart

THE DIVISION OF TEACHER EDUCATION

Herrman, Oliver, Cleeton, Holland.

Seated: Smith. Standing: Jensen, Mikula.

Stewart, Wilkin.

EDUCATION

In addition to the materials and methods courses, the professional training of the teacher includes a knowledge of the significant facts in the fields of psychology, philosophy, sociology, and history. Student teaching is done at the Matthew Whaley School.

MEN'S PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The Men's Physical Education Department has a competent staff of coaches who provide instruction in the intercollegiate sports: baseball, basketball, cross country, football, golf, swimming, tennis, and track. Intramural sport schedules are also arranged for fraternity and independent competition.

HOME ECONOMICS

Courses in home economics may be elected by students as a part of their general education. This field includes such courses as Child Development, Home Management, Foods, Textiles, Textile Design, Historic Costume, Clothing Construction, Consumer Education, and Home Living.

Seated: Scott, Reeder, Barksdale. Standing: Conyers, Barrand, Burdsall.

WOMEN'S PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Women students enrolled in physical education courses are taught proficiency in team sports, individual sports, swimming, and dance. Along with varsity sport competition with other colleges, there are teams arranged from dormitories and sororities which also compete against each other.

Seated: Atkinson, Anderson, Byrd. Standing: Myers, Dunn, Johnson, Burruss.

MILITARY SCIENCE AND TACTICS

The Department of Military Science and Tactics offers two years basic training in military subjects and, to those who meet requirements of character, initiative, integrity, and scholarship, further training which results in a commission in the United States Army.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The Student Government of William and Mary consists of the Assembly, the Senate, and the General Cooperative Committee. The Assembly, the most important body in the Student Government, is composed of members elected from each of the four classes. It is presided over by the president of the Student Body, who was Dave Wakefield this year.

The main project for 1951-52 was reviving interest in the need for a Student Union building and a boat house on Lake Matoaka. There were many obstacles confronted, but much progress was made due to the energetic and enthusiastic attitude of the Assembly. In conjunction with other student groups, the Assembly planned and executed a very successful Homecoming in November.

A standing Cafeteria Committee was appointed to keep in constant touch with the management of the cafeteria, and to carry the complaints and recommendations of the students to the proper authority. Relations with other Virginia colleges were improved, and vital and interesting information was gained by the exchange of Student Government delegations. A Campus Chest Drive was created to embrace the combined charity funds of the campus.

The Senate is composed of 10 members which include the presidents of the four classes and the heads of certain campus organizations. It is presided over by the vice-president of the Student Body. This year's president was Larry Bell. The main function of the organization is to discuss pertinent matters to be brought before the Assembly in order to clarify the issues and stress important points. The Senate members, as representatives of the Assembly to the General Cooperative Committee, carry the recommendations or complaints of the Assembly to this group. Another duty of the Senate is to select the school ring. This year's choice was unanimously approved by the Assembly.

The General Cooperative Committee consists of 23 members. It includes the president of the college, administrative and faculty members, the Senate, and the heads of various student activities. Any discussions, recommendations, or complaints originating in the Assembly and pertaining to the college are brought before the General Co-op. If the proposals are approved they are sent through the proper channels to their completion. This year's president was Dean John E. Hocutt and Dr. R. Wayne Kernodle was secretary.

MEN'S HONOR COUNCIL

BERNIE WITTKAMP
Chairman of Men's Honor Council

The Honor System, the first organization of its type in an American college, was established at William and Mary in 1779 and has been in effect ever since. The basis of the Honor System is individual responsibility. Every student is expected to conduct his scholastic and social relationships with his fellow students and the faculty with a sense of honesty and integrity.

The Men's Honor Council acts as a court and investigates and tries reported breaches of the Honor Code—cheating, lying, and stealing. It also attempts to teach new students the concepts of the Code and to remind all students of their individual responsibility.

The members are elected by a vote of the entire male student body. Three members each are chosen from the senior and junior classes and one from the sophomore class. Chairman of the 1951-52 Honor Council was Bernard Wittkamp, with George Zupko as vice-chairman, and Layton Zimmer as secretary. Other members were Harry Wirth, senior member; Jack Martin and John Munger, junior members; and Thomas Kenyon, sophomore member.

The Women's Honor Council is a branch of the Women Students' Cooperative Government Association, and its members are elected yearly by the women students. The council investigates and tries cases placed before it and also attempts to educate new students as to the concept of the Code and to remind all students of their individual responsibility.

Many privileges are to be gained from the Honor System, and it, in return, requires the cooperation of the students. Every phase of college life comes under the Honor Code, which offers a means of protection against those who would disregard the standards of honest living under which we desire to live.

The members of the Women's Honor Council elected for this year were: Claudia Richmond, chairman; Jean Madsen, secretary; Elizabeth Beard and Kay Byers, senior representatives; Bettina Bass and Elizabeth Ross, junior representatives; and Shirley Haabestad, sophomore representative.

HOUSE PRESIDENTS
Cohn, Cox, Hammond, Rector, Pulley.

The Women Students' Cooperative Government Association was organized to further self-government and student responsibility in the management of women students' affairs.

Each woman who enters William and Mary automatically becomes a member of the WSCGA. Its work is carried on through three councils of elected representatives: the Executive Council, the Judicial Committee, and the Honor Council.

The first Monday of each month is devoted to discussing the business of WSCGA in meetings in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. Members of the Executive Council are Jeanne Vester, president; Nancy Child, vice-president; Ginny Campbell, secretary; Ann Lehew, treasurer; and "Rusty" Davis and "Andy" Anderson, representatives-at-large.

In addition to its regular program, the WSCGA continued the publication of student directories and sponsored the scholarship fund of one hundred dollars per year to be used by a woman student of the college. The WSCGA is a member of the Southern Intercollegiate Association of Student Governments.

JUDICIAL COMMITTEE

The purpose of the Judicial Committee is to uphold and maintain the social rules and good conduct of the women students of the College of William and Mary. Its activities are not limited, however, to regulatory functions. The Committee attempts through educational means to arouse the interest and personal responsibility of the woman student toward student government.

Social rules, unless otherwise provided for by the administration, are formulated by the women students with the approval of the Judicial Committee's faculty advisors. Women students make suggestions for changes in rules and vote on them. Those receiving an affirmative vote are acted upon by the faculty advisors with the Judicial Committee and in conference with the president of the College if necessary. The results are reported back to the women student with an explanation of any change or rejection of rules.

The Judicial Committee consists of a chairman, secretary, all house presidents, representatives of each class and a representative at-large. The house committees are also part of this group.

THE PUBLICATIONS COMMITTEE

The Publications Committee consists of the editors of the three student publications, the Flat Hat, the Royalist, and the Colonial Echo, one member of the Student Assembly, two faculty members, and the president of the student body. While this group acts as a regulatory body for the publications, it has no voice in their editorial policies.

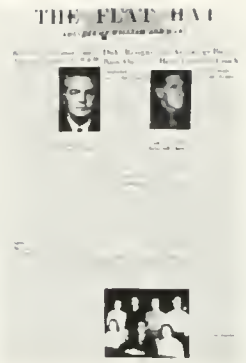

Powers and duties of the Committee are to elect the editors and business managers of the publications, to review the elections and appointments of other members of the various staffs, and to serve as a board for hearing and acting on complaints concerning staff organization or administration. The Committee also establishes rules and regulations governing the organization and operation of the several publications.

The Flat Hat staff embarked on another year with a great record to defend. For the previous two semesters the William and Mary publication had received first place honors from the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association. From 34 member schools the Flat Hat was twice chosen the best college newspaper in the state. The papers were judged on the quality and coverage of news, features, and sports; lay-out; editorials; and general appearance.

Things looked dark when school opened. The cost of printing was up, the copy editor left to get married, and it was soon discovered that half of the former staff had graduated the previous June. The "skeleton staff" rattled around for two or three issues until freshmen try-outs could be held. Of the 90 who tried out for Flat Hat positions more than 30 were "hired."

Dick Dallas and his news staff received the greatest boost with 10 eager writers. Mary Alice Slauson's crippled make-up staff added eight headline writers and copy readers. Ralph Francis and his "2 A.M. sports writers" took in a few helpers, too. The feature staff, headed by Jane Hale, enlarged itself with four more imaginative writers. The new members immediately joined with the old to try to capture another first place.

It took the reorganized staff a while to get used to being censored one week and praised the next by Editor-in-Chief Audrey Doll, but all accepted criticism and praise alike and settled down to work. The staff also received some constructive comment from "journalistic-minded" faculty members and townsmen in its weekly meetings.

The Flat Hat office maintains its customary hectic atmosphere from year to year. Dave Hall, the business manager, could always be found rummaging through piles of paper moaning, "We need more money—more money! We'll never meet our budget!" Bill Bigelow, circulation manager, kept careful guard over his precious addressograph. Advertising manager Cynthia Cohn and her staff of "go-getters" broke all records in advertising income. Jane Gross and her morgue staff of one at last got the cut files in workable order. All of the various problems and duties were cheerfully shared by managing editor Bob Hedelt. Of course there were always picture and engraving problems.

In early December the Flat Hat, for the third consecutive time, was named the best collegiate newspaper in the state. This time the cup was retired. The staff felt justly rewarded for its efforts to put out a first rate newspaper and agreed that this was one of the 'best years ever' for the Flat Hat.

This forty-first year for the newspaper at William and Mary was no less exciting nor hectic than the other forty years, but that is what makes newspaper work newspaper work.

THE ROYALIST

To anyone passing along the third floor of Marshall-Wythe on a Thursday afternoon about four o'clock, the clouds of smoke rising in the air and the rustling of "crit" sheets would attest that a Royalist meeting was in full swing. From these sessions issue the product of student literary effort, the Royalist.

In order to keep the criticisms objective the names of the authors are removed before the staff members read the manuscripts. In lieu of names are symbols, "P-24" means the twenty-fourth piece of prose submitted. In like manner papers marked with a "V" are the verse contributions. Each manuscript is carefully scrutinized and discussed. Material, whether poetry, fiction, or essay, is selected on the basis of good writing and student appeal. Those manuscripts about which staff opinion is divided go to the Editorial Board.

The meetings are characterized by Jane Hale's dry comments, Peggy Wells' enthusiasm, and the subtle humor that comes from Gale Carrithers' corner. Dick Hutcheson and Gale have managed to hold their own in what seemed to be almost a completely feminine ivory tower. Occasionally "Hutch" caused quite a furor by voting an enthusiastic "yes". There is always the suppressed desire in the heart of every staff member to turn in a poem by T. S. Eliot just to see if it would get in the Royalist.

Editor "Tillie" Prichard discovered as had her predecessors, that getting contributions on campus involved hounding the already harried English professors and exhorting the staff to go out and find an undiscovered literary genius lurking under a freshman cap. Prizes for best contributions are offered as an added incentive.

The Royalist is indebted to Mary Myers, the art editor, and her staff who turned out such fine illustrations on such short notice; to Mr. W. Melville Jones and Mr. Wayne F. Gibbs for their valuable assistance; and to the members of the English faculty who greatly increased our source of material by encouraging their classes to contribute to the magazine.

THE COLONIAL ECHO 1952

It is said that ignorance is bliss—and we agree. Experience for the most part was lacking among the editors, but out of our innocence may have stemmed innovations, renovations, and novelty.

In our blissful way we chose a new black and gold cover combination. Although they played havoc with our budget, the color divisional pages were a real innovation. We arranged our professors by departments; again included the Board of Visitors, and made other changes in layout and copy. All had a voice in the selection of the beauty queens with the New Yorker's Charles Addams having the final say. And for the seniors, we added an index.

Note too, that Business Manager Pam Hall has a new high in Echo patrons. This same kind of hard work and cooperation were contributed by all the editors. Without Bill Wilson, the associate editor; Alice Marston, organizations editor; Muriel Moore, class editor; Barbara Schwartz, make-up editor; John Westberg, sports editor; and Photography Editor "Tex" Wilde and their staffs the 1952 Echo could not have been created. We recognize and thank, too, the many other people who have helped us along the way. As we have said, it was mostly in ignorant bliss that we started to work on this book. We've learned much, worked hard, and have enjoyed it, too. It is with real pride that we present the 1952 Colonial Echo to you. We hope that you will enjoy it.

Dear Mr. Sayford -

This is a picture of me looking at a photograph of Grandmother. It was taken following her graduation from the Staten Island School of Toxicology.

None of your contestants, I'm sorry to say, really approaches the standard set here.

I have therefore tried to select Miss William and Mary on the arbitrary basis of the girl who looks least like Grandmother. Harriett Jordan fills this requirement admirably. Ann Savage, Peggy Derrin, Pamela Hall, Virginia Cottrell and Mary Ellen McCloskey do too - but Miss Jordan seems outstanding to me.

Sincerely
Charles Addams

Admiral Chandler Installed W-M President As College Dean Turns In Resignation

Students Cheer Chief, Marshall Cites 'Insult'

THE NEWPORT NEWS DAILY PRESS

Williamsburg Oct. 11.—Tradition-bound William and Mary gained a president and lost a dean today in a rapid succession of campus happenings.

From representatives of the athletic department, Dr. Nelson Marshall, college dean and leader in unearthing the scandal, turned the whole affair, turned in his resignation.

Dean Marshall was a highly-respected figure among faculty members and students alike, but hundreds of students gathered to the Administration Building and applauded President Chandler as he emerged from his office after taking the oath.

Marshall said in a resignation that he believed the Board of Visitors was guilty of an "insult to the faculty" in the manner in which it elected the former Navy rear admiral to the presidency. The faculty yesterday had entered its protest against the board's action.

W&M Coaches McCray and Wilson Quit Amidst Disclosure Scholastic Records Of Prospective Athletes Were Altered

William and Mary's Athletic Director and Football Coach Tells Press of His Resignation
R. N. (Rube) McCray Quits Under Storm Over Alleged Altering of Students' Records

'Malpractice' in Transcripts Is Disclosed by Vandeweghe, Who Was Absolved by College

By Channery Durden
WILLIAMSBURG, Aug. 11.—R. N. (Rube) McCray, athletic director and football coach since April, 1941, and Barney Wilson, basketball coach, announced their resignations this afternoon amidst the disclosure that certain scholastic records were changed to allow prospective athletes to enter the

The resignations were announced by McCray at a press conference called at his home. Wilson was not present. Copies of the resignations, which were dated August 10, were handed newsmen

Earlier Al Vandeweghe, former W&M football and basketball star, and member of the coaching staff from 1947 through early 1951, when he was dismissed, issued a statement which disclosed the college had investigated what one official termed the "malpractice" of changing high school transcripts.

Vandeweghe stated that a year following his resignation from the coaching staff and from the physical education department he was questioned by a faculty representative "about certain high school transcripts which it had been discovered had been changed in order to allow prospective football players to gain admission to William and Mary."

As a result of the college's investigation, Vandeweghe said, he received a letter over the signature of Dr. Nelson Marshall, dean of the college, which included the following:

"You are aware also that a year following your resignation from the coaching staff and from the physical education department he was questioned by a faculty representative 'about certain high school transcripts which it had been discovered had been changed in order to allow prospective football players to gain admission to William and Mary.'"

Further investigation of the matter has been completed, Vandeweghe said, and he was absolved of any malpractice. Further investigation of the matter has been completed, Vandeweghe said, and he was absolved of any malpractice.

Rube McCray Will Definitely Remain As Head Coach at William and Mary

Pomfret Clarifies 'Reorganization' Plan at Williamsburg

Newport News, July 18.—The College of William and Mary is working on a plan to divide its physical education and athletic programs with R. N. (Rube) McCray definitely remaining as athletic director and football coach, the Daily Press said tonight.

"We are now in the process of working on a plan to divide the coaching staff from the physical education department," Dr. Nelson Marshall, dean of the college, said in a statement.

Dr. Marshall said that the plan would return the physical education department to the college and that McCray would remain in his present position as athletic director and football coach.

INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

DICK HILDICK
President of Inter-Fraternity Council

The Interfraternity Council, which meets once a month, is composed of the president and a second representative from each of the eleven fraternities on campus. Officers of the Council are elected from these second representatives for a term of one year.

The purposes of the Council are to encourage interest in scholarship, athletics, and intellectual attainment; to promote cordial relationships among the member fraternities by providing a common medium through which to act; to promote the general welfare of the College by cooperating with the faculty and administrative officers; to establish rules governing matters of general interfraternity activity; and to provide an organized means for integrating fraternity life with the general program of student life on the campus.

In the orientation week of the fall semester a general meeting sponsored by the Council is held to explain the fraternity system to all entering students to help them understand and abide by the rushing rules. This year the Council was presided over by Richard Hildick.

The Pan-Hellenic Council consists of two delegates from each of the nine sororities on campus and, as a representative body, is a forum for the discussion of questions of interest to the college and fraternity world. It cooperates with the National Pan-Hellenic Congress in maintaining high ideals of scholarship and promoting inter-sorority relations within the college.

The Council governs and regulates rushing, pledging, and initiation for the sorority women on campus. This year it introduced a quota-limit system in an attempt to equalize the size of the various sororities. The group annually presents a plaque to the sorority whose pledge class attains the highest scholastic average.

The Pan-Hellenic Scholarship awarded to a sophomore woman was a project initiated by the Pan-Hellenic Council of 1951-1952. The Council also participated in the National Pan-Hellenic convention which was held in Williamsburg in November.

The officers for 1951-1952 were Carolyn Anderson, president; Elinor Hanson, vice-president; Ann Holliday secretary; and Barbara Smith, treasurer. The faculty officers of the Council are Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts and Dean John E. Hocutt.

PHI BETA KAPPA

Phi Beta Kappa was founded at the College of William and Mary on December 5, 1776, as a society for intellectual and social intercourse. Since that time the Society has grown to include 151 chapters in the United States and has become recognized as the most eminent as well as the earliest of existing honor societies. In September 1951, the permanent national offices of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa were moved from New York to the W&M campus.

The 175th Anniversary of the founding of the Society was celebrated in the Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Building on November 30, 1951 by the members of the Phi Beta Kappa Senate and the W&M chapter. A poem, "Arethusa: The First Morning," was read by the distinguished poet, Peter Viereck, of Mount Holyoke College. The orator of the occasion was T. V. Smith, of Syracuse University, who spoke on the subject, "Discipline for Democracy."

THE MORTAR BOARD

Mortar Board, the national senior honor society for women, was founded at Syracuse University, New York, in 1912. The Alpha Club at the College of William and Mary was the forerunner of the local chapter which became a member of the national organization in 1928.

The purposes of Mortar Board are to provide for the cooperation between societies, to promote college loyalty, to advance the spirit of service and fellowship among university women, to maintain a high standard of scholarship, to recognize and encourage leadership, and to stimulate and develop a finer type of college woman.

In the spring the outstanding junior women are tapped on the basis of service, scholarship, and leadership in college life. As Mortar Board members they carry evidence of a successful, well-rounded college life.

This year Mortar Board held a second-hand furniture sale, sponsored a fashion show, gave their annual 'Smarty Party' for girls outstanding in scholarship, and presented a scholarship plaque to the sophomore woman with the highest average.

THE PRESIDENT'S AIDES

The Aides to the president of the College are a group of students who serve as personal assistants to him in receiving and entertaining guests of the College. The Aides occupy a position of prominence in the academic procession and assist in all public events.

The selection of President's Aides, begun in 1935 by John Stewart Bryan, then president of the College, has become an institution at William and Mary. In 1948 President John E. Pomfret established a precedent when he included women in his selection in order to provide a wider and more democratic representation. These students are recognized as being the most outstanding in the various phases of college life. In recognition of this honorary appointment each member receives a medal designed by President Bryan.

The students who hold the following positions are automatically appointed as Aides: President of the Student Body, Presidents of the Senior and Junior Classes, President of the Men's Honor Council, President of the Executive Council of the Women Students' Cooperative Government Association, Chairman of the Women's Honor Council, Chairman of the Judicial Council, Editor of the Flat Hat, President of Omicron Delta Kappa, and President of Mortar Board. In addition to the above, two members at large, a boy and a girl, are selected by the president of the College from a panel of four submitted by the incoming Aides.

The President's Aides for the 1951-52 session were: Fred Allen, Elizabeth Beard, John Dalton, Audrey Doll, Roberta Lamont, Claudia Richmond, Richard Sayford, Jeanne Vester, Harry Wirth, Bernard Wittkamp, Juliana Youngquist, and David Wakefield, Chief Aide.

Seated: Richmond, Beard, Youngquist, Lamont, Vester, Doll. Standing: Wirth, Allen, Sayford, Wakefield, Dalton, Wittkamp.

WILLIAM AND MARY CHOIR

DR. CARL A. FEHR

Since its beginning in 1945 under the direction of Dr. Carl A. Fehr, the choir of the College of William and Mary has continued to grow in ability and reputation. This choral group presents a program of music so broad that it has something of appeal for every member of the audience.

The choir's wide program of music was highlighted by the annual Christmas and spring concerts. The choir also gave several out-of-town performances, singing over the Columbia Broadcasting System and Mutual Broadcasting System, and published a new album of records.

Fifty carefully selected and trained voices compose the touring group of the William and Mary Choir. Selections from Brahms, contemporary composers, American and European folk melodies, present-day arrangers, and Bach are rendered with such choral virtuosity that the concerts of the choir become rich, gratifying experiences for their many listeners.

Each summer, members of the William and Mary Choir have formed the nucleus of the choir which sings in the annual production of Paul Green's symphonic drama, "The Common Glory." The exacting 18th century melodies of the play which the choir sings set the stage for the historic portrayal of the life of Jefferson. These summer performances and radio appearances have won the choir national acclaim.

WILLIAM AND MARY CHORUS

The William and Mary Chorus, under the direction of Dr. Carl A. Fehr, is composed of approximately one hundred girls. This organization plays an important role in the musical program of the college. The purpose of the chorus is to furnish the students with enjoyable experiences in musical expression. To accomplish this end a wide and varied repertoire is selected. The varied choices included in the selections sung by the chorus range from the stirring religious music of the masters and music from the classics to popular Broadway tunes.

The chorus furnishes music at times for the regular Wednesday chapel services and at Christmas time it presents the music for the special Christmas chapel services. In the spring it also presents a concert.

The students participating in this activity find it an edifying, relaxing, and satisfying project.

The William and Mary band had a most successful season in spite of being handicapped by too few members. It added to the glamour and thrill of the football games with its spectacular halftime marching and clever formations. In addition to playing at the home games, the band supported the team at the Wake Forest, N. C. State, Richmond, and Virginia games. The band played for pep rallies and at other campus activities where lively music was needed.

This year the band was led on the field by Barbara Trites, the new drum major, supported by majorettes Ruth Hasemeyer (captain), Jackie Fisher, Caroline Young, Mary Ellen McCloskey, and Marilyn Scheie, a new addition this year.

In competition with nine other bands from various parts of the state, the William and Mary band won third prize in the senior division of the Tobacco Festival Band Competition in Richmond.

SCABBARD AND BLADE

Scabbard and Blade is an honorary organization composed of the top ranking members of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps. The Club is devoted to furthering an interest in the military department of the College and to the continuing of military education. It is especially interested in the preparedness of the nation for an emergency. The organization also works for increased understanding and acts as a liaison between military and civilian groups.

"K" Company, 8th Regiment of the National Society of Scabbard and Blade was first chartered at this college nearly four years ago. Prior to this time there existed the Centurion Club, which was an organization founded by early members of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps. The present Scabbard and Blade is a combination of the ideas and aims of the National Society of Scabbard and Blade and the ideas and aims of the Centurion Club. Its membership has more than doubled since chartering to meet current needs.

Rehearsal

Something for the boys

Let's do a show!

'Way back in 1938, the Backdrop Club presented the first Varsity Show. The productions grew bigger and better each year, but the war caused the group to disband. However, in 1946, the Club was started again by a few of the old members. From this very small group an organization has grown numbering over two hundred. These students are not necessarily theatre majors. The Club includes all who have an interest in this field.

Under the able leadership of its president, Dick Hutcheson, the Backdrop Club headed toward another successful year and another show which would conform to tradition and be "the best yet." The other officers of the Club were Meade Johnson, vice-president; "Rusty" Davis, secretary; and Bob Neuville, treasurer. These four handle only the business end of the Club.

On the shoulders of the five directors falls the job of production of the Varsity Show. Bill Farley was director; Kecha Costas, choreographer; Francis Dale, costume mistress; Allan Richardson, musical director; and Gene Gurlitz, set designer and technical director. Two musicians, Giles Quarles and Phil Struthers, combined their talents to write the numbers for this year's extravaganza, "Head for the Hills." Their music was highlighted in Bill Farley's "meller-dramer," a take-off on the cowboy movies and stories so prevalent nowadays.

To the members of the Club as a whole goes the credit for a really professional production. Whether they perform before the curtain or behind it, whether their positions are large or small, all help to make the show a hit. For three nights they "pack 'em in" in Williamsburg and then take the show wherever possible to play before other large audiences. Such warm receptions have rated the Varsity Show eighth in the country among student written, directed, and produced musicals.

So, "let's do a show!"

BATTALION HEADQUARTERS

First Row: Willingham, Cowan, Baber. Second Row: Mason, Francis, Bradshaw, Pittman, Zupko.

The continuance of the hostilities in Korea and the possibility of outbreaks elsewhere in the world brought the ROTC enrollment at William and Mary up to approximately three hundred cadets, the largest number in the unit's short history here on the campus.

The basic function of the ROTC unit is to train and prepare men to take their place as commissioned officers in the Field Artillery. The instruction is divided into two phases, the basic course for freshmen and sophomores, and the advanced course for juniors and seniors. Classes are held twice a week, and on Wednesday afternoon a two-hour drill period is held. The basic course consists of a general investigation of the Army as a whole, while in the advanced course fundamentals and technical phases of Field Artillery are taught.

The corps of cadets is organized into a functioning artillery battalion, with a Battalion Staff, a Headquarters Battery, and three batteries, "A", "B", and "C". The Headquarters Battery consists of the Drum and Bugle Platoon and the Drill Platoon. Much of the credit for this year's efficient operation of the battalion goes to Cadet Lt. Colonel Joseph Cowan, who has distinguished himself in all the aspects of ROTC and received the Artillery Association medal. Cowan will receive a regular Army commission in June, a difficult feat to accomplish, since the unit only trains men primarily as reserve officers.

During the weekly drill on Wednesday afternoon, which is completely under the supervision of the cadet officers, the students learn the elements of drill, while the officers and non-commissioned officers learn the exercise of command. All of this training is necessary in the creation of good officers. Those students enrolled in the basic course who exhibit scholarship, interest, and ability are selected to continue in the advanced course at the beginning of the junior year. They are then taught the science of Field Artillery gunnery and the basic functioning of a battery of Field Artillery weapons. A thorough knowledge of gunnery is of primary importance to these future officers.

Three officers and a staff of non-commissioned officers handle instruction in the Department of Military Science and Tactics, and Lt. Colonel George L. Anderson and Captain Benjamin F. Byrd assist them. Under their guidance an 'esprit de corps' was brought out which is of great benefit to the unit.

Each summer those students in the advanced course who are entering their fourth year of ROTC must attend a six weeks summer camp. This camp is a prerequisite for a reserve commission upon graduation. Last summer the camp was held at Fort Bragg, N.C., while this summer's camp will be held at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. At the summer camp the cadets get practical instruction in the many phases of Field Artillery. This instruction includes outdoor classes, physical training, actual field operations done by the cadets themselves, and many demonstrations put on by the troops on active duty at the post. However, the most valuable training received at summer camp is living under conditions similar to the enlisted men and learning the Army way of life.

The rifle team of the unit has had several matches with such schools as Ohio Wesleyan, Pennsylvania State, Duke, Iowa University, and Temple. Its members have been very active throughout the year, and they have aroused the interest of the entire unit.

On the social side the ROTC held a formal ball in April. It is a major college event and was a great success.

The College of William and Mary is proud of the fine record that the ROTC has shown, and the part it has played in campus activities during the past year.

Whatcha doin', Hilly?

P E P C L U B

Marking its second year on the campus of William and Mary, the Pep Club, under the leadership of "Willie" Willingham, the head cheerleader, has shown many new developments and improvements.

Among its many activities and projects for this year were all pep rallies and the float for the Homecoming Queen and her court. Movies of all the away games were shown by the Club and trips to these games were arranged for all interested students. The Club's big social function was the novel Apache Dance, which was held the night preceding the University of Virginia game. All these activities are based on the Pep Club's main purpose of promoting student interest, spirit, and support of college activities.

The big project of the second semester came under the new president "Mickey" MacCoy. This was the student book exchange which enabled students to buy and sell second-hand books. The exchange brought in a net sum of fifteen dollars and will be continued next year under the sponsorship of the Club.

The Club has expanded from approximately 60 members last year to 130 members this year and hopes to add more students to its roll in the fall of 1952. Some members attended the Southern Collegiate Pep Conference held at the University of North Carolina and obtained several good ideas on management, control, and activities of Pep Clubs.

This year's officers were: "Willie" Willingham, president; Phoebe Holmes, vice-president; "Bebe" Fisher, secretary; and Dick Fowler, treasurer. Next year's officers are: "Mickey" MacCoy, president; Bart Hellmuth, vice-president; "Bebe" Fisher, secretary; and Ruth Page, treasurer.

THE VARSITY CLUB

HAL BATES
President

In the late spring of 51 the Varsity Club, under the leadership of Hal Bates, president, and Bob Boyd, activities chairman, drafted and printed a creed for the athletes at the College of William and Mary. This creed incorporates such qualities as character, leadership, scholarship, cooperation, and perseverance to aid in maintaining high standards among all athletes on campus. The Club also modified the constitution, changing the requirements for admitting new members. An athlete can no longer become a member by winning a varsity letter alone, but must also be approved by 90 per cent of the members and serve a three week pledgeship before initiation. A crest was made up and green, gold, and silver membership cards printed.

The Club was successful in completing its project to buy a public address system for the gymnasium. The members raised the necessary funds for this project by holding a "penny a vote" election for a Basketball Queen. Club members also ushered at all home basketball games.

The primary social function of the Varsity Club this year was a dance held on November 30 for all athletes on campus, whether club members or not. A picnic was also held in the spring.

Other officers of the Varsity Club are Tom Reinerth, vice-president; John Munger, secretary; and Leo Spenser, treasurer.

DEBATE COUNCIL

This year the debate aspect of the Debate Council was deemphasized. Formal debate was replaced by the more fruitful discussion method, although a debate was held against a team sent out to tour the United States by the world-famous Oxford Union. The motion was that the United States should outlaw the Communist Party. The sentiment seemed to be against the motion.

The national question, "Resolved—that the United States should adopt a system of permanent price and wage controls" was discussed several times, but whenever possible the topic, "Freedom of thought in the United States," which is more apropos to the present, was discussed. This subject is a matter of truly grave concern in these times and was considered along such topics as the vicious slanders of Senator Joseph McCarthy, legislation such as the Smith and McCarron Acts, the inquisition methods of Senator McCarron's sub-committee, the general trend of certain interest to restrict freedom of thought in higher education, the upholding by the Supreme Court of the Feinberg Law, and ideas about anti-segregation laws—in brief, the attempts to create a thought orthodoxy in the nation.

In addition highly successful discussion meetings led by members of the faculty, radio panel discussions, the judging of a high school debate tournament, and the planning of an intercollegiate congress to discuss freedom of expression in the United States comprised the program.

This year's officers were: Richard Hutcheson, president; Robert Heifetz, vice-president; Warren Windom, secretary; and Charles Monaghan, treasurer.

Chi Delta Phi, which originated at the University of Tennessee in 1919, is the national women's honorary literary sorority. Founded at William and Mary in 1934, the Theta chapter of Chi Delta Phi serves as a meeting place for the campus Jane Austins and coed Betty Mc-Donalds. Its purpose is the encouragement of literary interest, achievement, and talent, and members are elected on that basis. President for the past year was Virginia Prichard.

Seated: Miller, Wells, Prichard, Evans, Leahy. Standing: Binns, Hennig, Hale, Williams, Hardin, Wesson.

ETA SIGMA PHI

Seated: Waqener, Zimmer, Martin, Ryan. Standing: Herzog, LeHew, Roberts, Carrithers, Parazzo, Hutcheson, McDonald, Ferrell, Hoeler.

Omega Chapter of Eta Sigma Phi, the national honorary fraternity for students of Greek and Latin, proposes to foster the study of ancient classics and of Greek and Roman culture. The invaluable assistance of the faculty advisors makes possible lectures, movies, and the dramatization of some of the classical plays in the original Latin or Greek. With its motto as its goal, "We are lovers of wisdom and beauty", the group profits through and enjoys its connections with the past.

Kappa Chi Kappa centers its program around service to the community. The Club, open to all women students, takes part in the Girl Scout program of Williamsburg and helps with occupational therapy at Eastern State Hospital. Camping trips and picnics provide recreation and fellowship as well as training for leading Girl Scouts on similar excursions. The aim of Kappa Chi Kappa is to build character and to provide an opportunity to serve the college, the community, and the Girl Scouts.

TAU KAPPA ALPHA

Tau Kappa Alpha, founded May 13, 1908, is a national honorary forensic fraternity. Students who rank in the upper 35 percent scholastically, who have completed two years of college, and who have for two years participated creditably in the forensic program of the college may be admitted to membership. The purpose of this fraternity is the encouragement of ability and interest in speech activities. The society has been presided over this year by Jack Buchheit.

The Accounting Club is a student organization that attempts to encourage cooperation among students, instructors, and professional men in accountancy, and to provide a means by which those interested in accountancy may be kept in touch with current developments in this field. The Club's aim is to promote interest in the business and accounting fields among students and to encourage the ideal of service. Eligibility to join the Club is afforded by the students completing one semester of accounting.

The Arts Club has as its purpose the promotion of both interest and active participation in the various fields of art. These fields include painting, sculpture, crafts, and architecture. In addition to its regular activities, such as informal lectures, experimentation in new mediums, practice in familiar ones, and movies, the Arts Club sponsors the annual photography and art exhibits in the spring. Membership may be obtained by application to the secretary followed by the vote of the club.

A point system based on active participation in some phase of the production of the four annual plays is used by the Dramatic Club to elect its members. Meeting once a month, the Club has varied programs of theatrical interest prepared either by the members themselves or a guest speaker. To lead them this year the Club chose Anne Helms, president; Bill Farley vice-president; Janet Buckner, secretary; and Dick Thompson, treasurer. To terminate the year's activities a picnic is held with entertainment provided and shared by all.

FRENCH CLUB

Le Cercle Francais members, both experts and beginners, meet once a month for an evening of records, talks, film slides, discussions, and good times. These programs deal with the French people, including their culture, country, and language. The members discuss everything from the Riviera to improving the condition in the Paris slums. During the week the Club meets for lunch in the Topaz Room. These meetings are held mainly in French to give members an opportunity to apply their new language.

The Philosophy Club consists of philosophy majors and other interested students who meet once a month in order to discuss philosophic questions. These discussions are led by prominent speakers who present ideas of a controversial nature which permit a stimulating exchange of opinions. These gatherings, held at the home of Dr. James W. Miller, head of the philosophy department, maintain a pleasant and informal atmosphere which greatly contributes to the success of the Club.

The Pre-Medical Club is an organization designed to further the interests of those students who are engaged in pre-medicine, pre-dentistry, or allied fields. In addition to the regularly scheduled meetings, for which the Club often engages guest speakers, activities of the Pre-

Med Club include visits to nearby hospitals, medical schools, and institutions. This year the membership of the club totals approximately twenty-five members. The officers are: Marshall White, president; Bernard Wittkamp, vice-president; and Janet McGowan, secretary-treasurer.

The Psychology Club meets once a month to discuss and demonstrate various topics of interest in psychology. Topics are selected because of their public appeal as well as their interest to those majoring in the field. Some of the topics under discussion this year were:

Occupations in Psychology and Graduate Study in Psychology, Drug Therapy, Institutions of Mental Care and Feeble Minded, Mental Telepathy, and Extra Sensory Perception. The Open House was the main event of the year.

The Red Cross Unit of the College of William and Mary arranges and carries out many worthy activities during the year. Some of these are the blood programs, collecting for the Red Cross Fund Drive, sending volunteer workers to Eastern State Mental Hospital, and sponsoring water safety and life saving courses. To cheer our service men the college unit arranges programs for veterans in hospitals and also serves coffee and doughnuts to the men going overseas.

At the monthly business meetings, occasional dinners and parties Los Quijotescos enjoy various interesting and educational programs and find a chance to put their Spanish into practical use. Of special interest to the Spanish Club this year was the convention of the Virginia Chapter of the National Association of Spanish and Portuguese teachers which was held in Williamsburg. Highlighting the year was the annual Pan-American Day program which gave a festive Latin climax to the year's activities.

Every three weeks the Chemistry Club of William and Mary meets for an interesting lecture on some phase of chemistry by a guest speaker or by one of its members. Besides the valuable experience gained in preparing and presenting technical subjects, the Club endeavorors to instill in its members a professional spirit and a pride in what chemistry has given to mankind. The atoms and molecules, however, are forgotten at the annual banquet where food and laughter prevail.

The Tidewater Student-Alumni Association was established on this campus in order to create a greater unity among the College's largest single segment from one geographic area. Through intellectual and social outlets, the Association has sought to weld students and alumni into a common purpose and to assist the college, themselves, and the greater Hampton Roads Community through planned social unity. Outstanding social events of the year included the annual Christmas dance and an informal party during spring vacation.

WYTHE LAW CLUB

The Wythe Law Club, holding bi-weekly meetings, brings together the law students of the College. The Club sponsors The William and Mary Review of Virginia Law, participates in a nation-wide mock court program, and brings prominent members of the Bench and Bar to address the Club. It has recently begun sponsoring a special homecoming for alumni of the Law School at the time of its annual banquet. The most important event this year, however, was a banquet honoring Dr. Dudley W. Woodbridge, Dean of the Law School, upon the completion of twenty-five years of teaching at the College.

The Student Religious Union, composed of representatives of the campus religious groups, is the interdenominational organization of William and Mary. The purposes of the Union are to further understanding among the various religious faiths and denominations, to stimulate the student and other members of the college community, and to recognize and accept religion as an essential phase of living. In October the Student Religious Union, under the leadership of "Andy" Anderson, held Religious Emphasis Week by sponsoring renowned Christian and Jewish speakers from all over the country.

BALFOUR- HILLEL CLUB

The Balfour-Hillel Club, sponsored by National Hillel, provides a cultural and religious program for Jewish students on campus and encourages a social program whereby all Jewish students can become well acquainted with one another. Besides its three monthly meetings the Club also sponsors Friday evening services in the Wren Chapel. In observance of religious festivals and holidays at various times during the year additional services, prepared dinners, and programs are held. Social events are planned and the club has an annual picnic.

The "home away from home" for all Baptist students and those having no other church home is the Baptist Student Union. During the week the student center is open for use in personal counseling, studying, and recreation. Sunday morning services and evening supper meetings with varied programs and fellowship form a firm basis for Christian leadership and activity. The aim of B.S.U. is to support the spiritual side of the "spiritual, mental, physical" triangle of development.

With the help of Mr. Craighill, rector of Bruton Church, and Neil Zabriskie, the group director, the Canterbury Club tries to present the Episcopal student with as full and as attractive a religious program as his time allows. With the emphasis on Christian fellowship and worship the Club provides speakers, weekly dinners, and daily chapel services. It also offers extensive opportunities for lay-reading, choral singing, and sharing the administrative and committee work of the Club for all who are interested.

The Newman Club endeavors to provide for the Catholic student an organization fulfilling a three-fold purpose—spiritual, intellectual, and social. To achieve this end, the Newman Club of the College of William and Mary, under the guidance of Father Walsh, has sponsored its annual retreat, Communion breakfasts, a series of lectures conducted by the Dominican Fathers, and informal social functions. All of these activities are to help broaden the student's interest in the Catholic Church.

The Wesley Foundation is sponsored by the Methodist Church—local, state, and national—for college students. The elements of the program of the Wesley Foundation are four-fold: recreation, worship, discussion, and social work. Activities include a Sunday evening supper every week, followed by a worship service, discussion group, or an address by a prominent speaker. Outings, retreats, and seasonal parties are also held. Many members participate in church activities as Sunday school teachers, ushers, members of the choir, and participants in evening church services.

The Westminster Fellowship, the Presbyterian Supper Club, meets every Sunday evening for fellowship and the spiritual inspiration gained through devotionals, group discussions, and guest speakers. With more recreation at the various picnics and parties, and an additional spiritual stimulus from the weekly chapel services which it sponsors at Dunbar, the Supper Club supplements its extensive program. To carry out plans, the group is organized into four commissions: Social Service, Social Activities, Programs, and the Prattler, the bi-monthly newspaper.

CHEERLEADERS

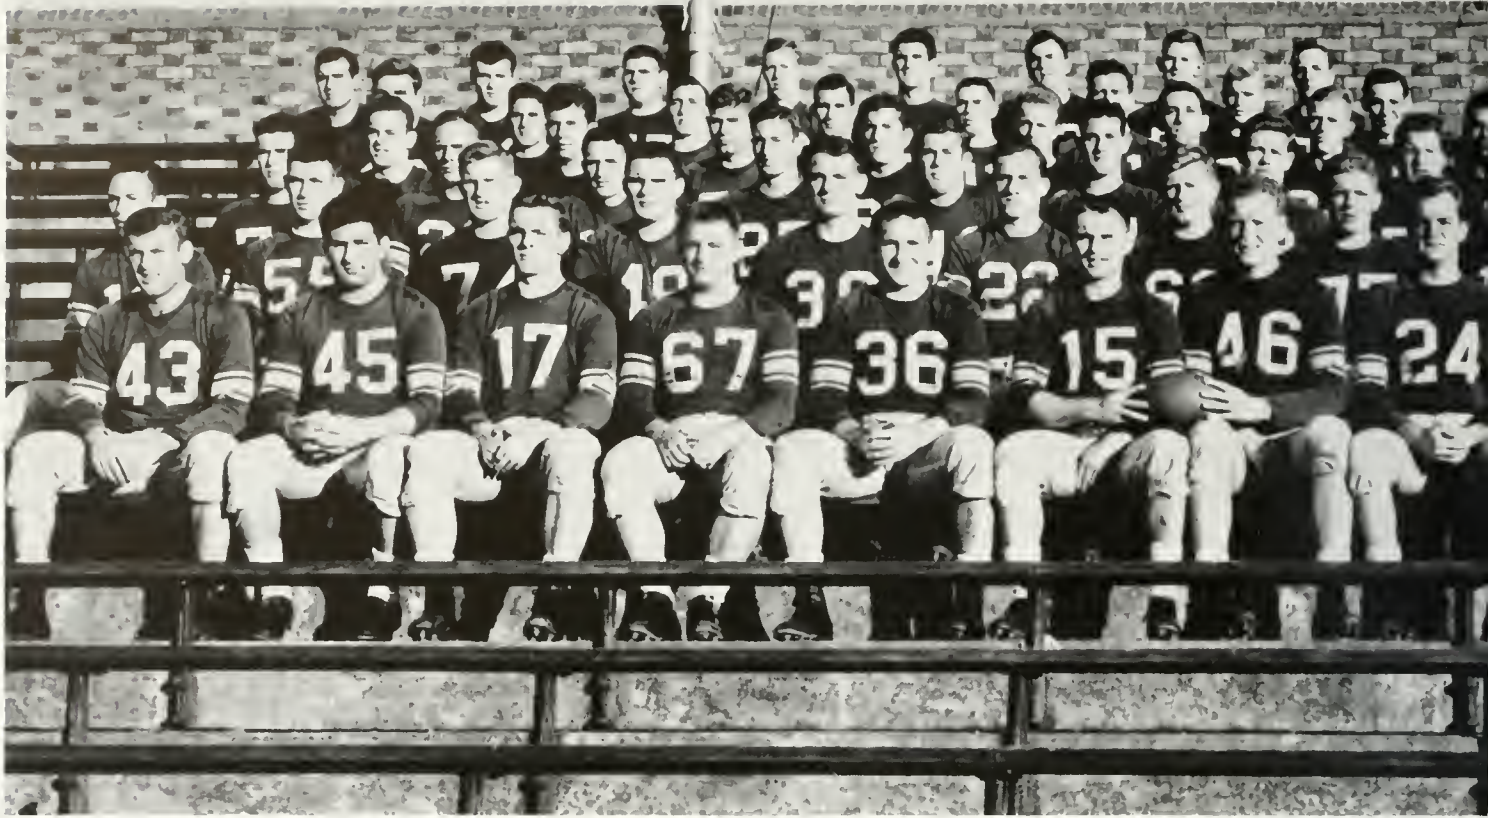

This year the cheerleading squad was composed of eight members—four boys and four girls—and a boy and girl alternate. The position of head cheerleader was held by "Willie" Willingham. The group leads the cheering section at all home football and basketball games and travels to several football contests each year to increase the spirit and morale there. Tryouts are held every spring for new members to replace vacancies on the squad.

When R. N. McCray suddenly resigned in July, likeable Marvin Bass was the unanimous choice of the students, the faculty, the alumni, and most essential, the players, to assume the duties of head football coach at the Reservation. Concluding a fabled career here as a student and athlete in 1943, Bass returned in 1944 to begin building lines for McCray. Eight years later he had arrived at the pinnacle.

Dr. George J. Oliver was named as Director of Athletics, succeeding McCray in that department.

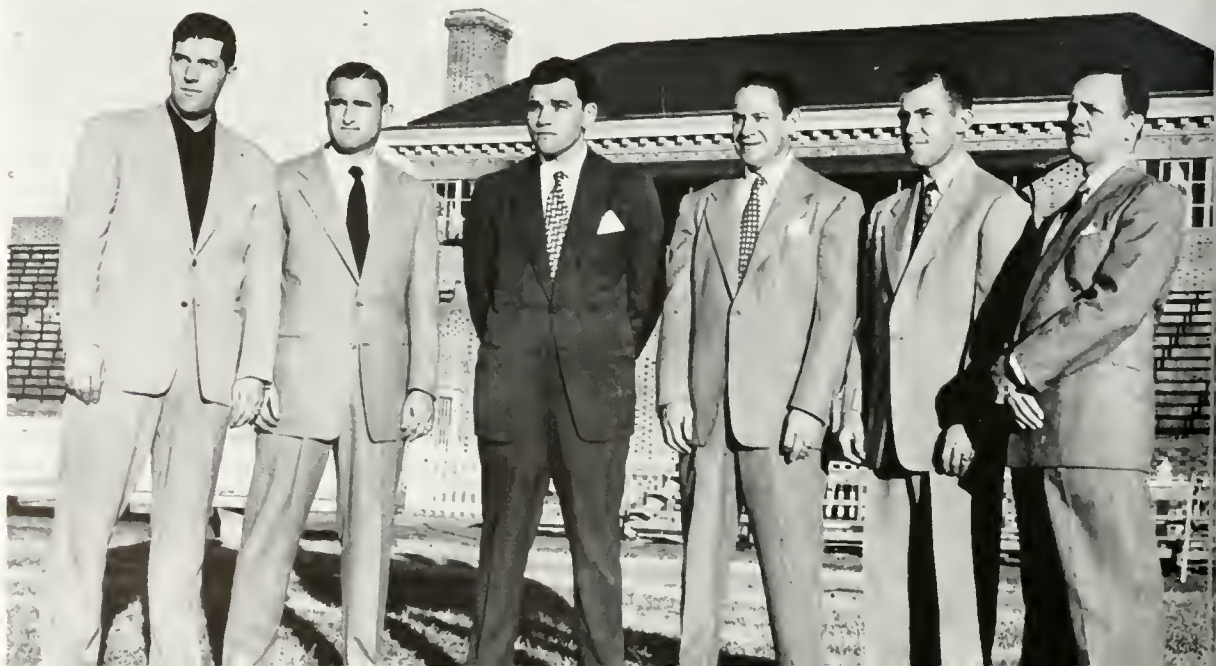

With only Eric Tipton of the coaching staff returning, Bass first faced the task of obtaining a competent staff to assist him. They were Jackie Freeman, backfield coach, Charley Ellis, chief split-T consultant, Herb Miller, line coach, Les Hooker and Ralph Floyd, Junior Varsity coaches, and Ed Motly, trainer.

With Marvin Bass as new Head Coach at the helm, the Indian Gridsters opened the season with a clean victory over Boston University. Oklahoma and V.M.I. contests followed and disappointingly resulted in bitter defeat. Little chance for a good season was accorded Bass, but he charged up his Warriors and bowled over Wake Forest, N. C. State, Richmond, Penn, V.P.I. and Duke in that order. For this splendid comeback, Bass was named the Big Six Coach of the Year and honored as runner-up to Art Tatum of Maryland for Coach of the Year in the Southern Conference. The last game of the year with mighty Virginia ended in disastrous defeat, but the seven and three record prominently stood as evidence to an exceedingly successful season.

Many players were singled out for individual honors being named to various mythical all-star teams. Dickie Lewis was picked by Colliers for its All-American offensive team. All-Southern teams were graced with the names of Sam Lupo, Ed Mioduszewski, Ted Filer, Jerry Sazio, John Kreamcheck, Steve Milkovich, and Dickie Lewis. These seven plus John Flanagan, Tom Feamster, and Jim Smith were All-Virginia State selections. Lewis, Mioduszewski, and George Parozzo were given honorable mention to the United Press All-American eleven and on six occasions William and Mary stars were named as players of the week in Virginia by the Richmond Times Dispatch.

dogs, the Tribe climaxed a colorful Tobacco Bowl festival with a brilliant display of ace-high football. The Big Green forward wall matched a famed Wake Forest defensive line and rapidly improving Dickie Lewis, with whirligig Ed Mioduszewski led the backfield in scoring three touchdowns of which two were nullified by penalties. Frank Lipski avenged his V.M.I. muff by time and again getting loose on long runs and by teaming with freshman end Tom Feamster in shining brilliantly on defense.

The Indians had to score 35 points in the second half to win this thriller. With Dickie Lewis again masterminding the attack, the Tribe rallied late in the game to snatch victory from State's grasp.

The first Indian score came on a brilliant 76-yard touchdown run by Frank Lipski early in the third period. Just to keep everyone gasping Ed Mioduszewski then raced 75 yards through the entire State team for a score and minutes later he scored again on a 19-yard jaunt. An 18-yard touchdown pass from Dickie Lewis to Ed Mioduszewski with only 44 seconds left to play enabled the Big Green to win their third in a row. Leading 14-13 with less than a minute to go, the Spiders narrowly missed upsetting the heavily favored Indians.

Lewis climaxed a 71-yard drive in the first quarter by racing 10 yards for the Tribe's first touchdown. Hines muffed what was to be an important point. Mioduszewski tallied the second Big Green score from three yards out and when Hines converted, William and Mary led 13-7.

Richmond's Homecoming Day crowd saw their team take an exciting 14-13 advantage in the third quarter which it maintained until the last minutes of the game. Always great under pressure, Lewis whipped the game-winning aerial to Mioduszewski and William and Mary earned victory by way of another thriller.

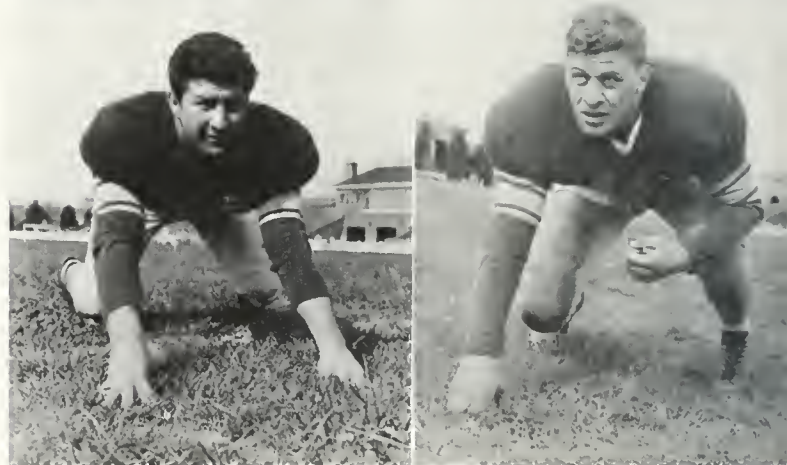

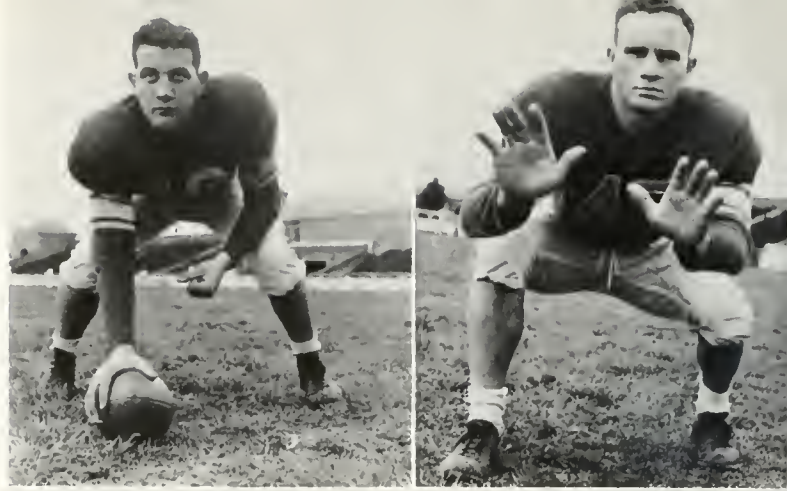

William and Mary, 20; Pennsylvania, 12

This was the big one! Dubbed as a badly outclassed outfit, the Indians turned a cold, wintry Philadelphia afternoon into the hottest of the season.

In quarterbacking the best game of his career, Dickie Lewis passed, kicked, and ran the Big Green to the decisive victory. His brilliant play-calling was the gem of the day as Philadelphia sports writers praised him as outperforming Princeton's All-American, Dick Kazmaier.

Topping a long list of dramatic moments, Charley Sumner chugged 89 yards with a kick-off for the longest touchdown run Quaker fans had seen in four years. Northerners Sazio, Kreamcheck, Parozzo, and Bednarik, were boulders in the lines as the Penn offense picked up fragments of yardage on the ground.

by faking the left side of the Quaker line off their feet and racing 13 yards for the score. Hines failed to convert and the Indians led 6-0 at the quarter. Dazzling runs by Weber, Lewis, and Mioduszewski brought the ball down to the two-yard line and Lipski crashed over for the touchdown. Hines avenged his earlier miss.

Tremendous line play by the Tribal forward wall made it impenetrable to the Penn backs and they took to the air. Alex Jaffurs whipped a 35-yard pass to Johnny Moses for the first Quaker score. Sempier missed the point and it was now that Sumner raced the kickoff back for a touchdown. A sterling fake by Paul Yewcic and vital block by Bob Lusk sprang the speedy sophomore loose and when automatic Hines added the point, the Indians led at the half 20-6.

The Ivy leaguers came back from the half only to meet the same undeniable William and Mary team. They scored on an aerial early in the final stanza but the effort was futile as the Indians again dominated the play. The final score read 20-12 and the winners victoriously returned for Homecoming and V.P.I.

William and Mary, 14; Duke, 13

The Indians scored their sixth successive triumph by downing Duke's Blue Devils in another nerve-wracking thriller. Completely dominating the first half, the Tribe enjoyed a 14-0 lead at intermission. But Duke came back strongly and narrowly missed taking the decision.

Dickie Lewis tossed a 17-yard aerial to Ed Weber in the first quarter for the Big Green's initial score of the game. Early in the second period, "Killer Koller" took a itch-out from Lewis on his own 20 and sped 80 yards for a touchdown. Bucky Hines then kicked the point that again meant victory for the Indians.

Lloyd Caudle scored twice for the Blue Devils in the second half, but Jim Green's second kick for the point was wide and the Duke rally fell short.

Jerry Sazio, John Kreamcheck, and Ted Filer played outstanding games in the line for the Tribe while Ed Meadows was a standout in the Duke forward wall.

Virginia eleven racked up 46 stunning points that amply presented them with their impressive victory.

It was a poignant ending for an otherwise successful pigskin campaign, but William and Mary's thirteen departing warriors had a gratifying season to look back upon. Dickie Lewis and George Zupko had captained Martin Bass's first team to seven thrilling triumphs. Sam Lupo was named as an All-Southern guard and Jim Smith and Hal Bates both had good seasons at their end posts. Working from their line positions, Joe Megale, Clyde Witt, and Tom Reinerth, distinguished themselves many times, and Paul Yewcic and Don Howren were superb in their backfield capacities. Ed Weber's loss will perhaps be the hardest felt though Jim Baber's and Hilly Wilson's sparkling play will also be hard to match.

Co-Captains Joe Agee and Bill Chambers with Coach Hooker

To many pre-season observers the basketball outlook at the Reservation appeared to be at a new high. However, as the 15 won and 13 loss seasonal record indicates, these predictions were probably a bit premature and the 1951-52 campaign was more a building year than one of setting new highs. Once again the Tribe dominated state play in winning 11 of 12 encounters and annexing the Big Six title for the fourth year in a row. But outside the Old Dominion things were rougher and the Indians could win only four of 16 games played with out-of-state foes.

Three new ingredients were added to the William and Mary basketball picture at the outset—a new coach, Les Hooker; a new system of play, a variation of the fast break; and a squad dominated by Sophomores. With this new look and with Co-captains Bill Chambers and Joe Agee leading the team, the Indians opened against N.Y.U. in Madison Square Garden and were defeated by an 85-70 margin. Before returning home the Tribe lost to highly-touted Seton Hall, 63-52, and then it was wins over Randolph-Macon, 61-45, and Washington and Lee by two points while Richmond, V.P.I., Morris Harvey and V.M.I. all were easy victims. Defense minded Maryland came from behind in the last seconds of play to edge the Tribe, 54-53, at College Park.

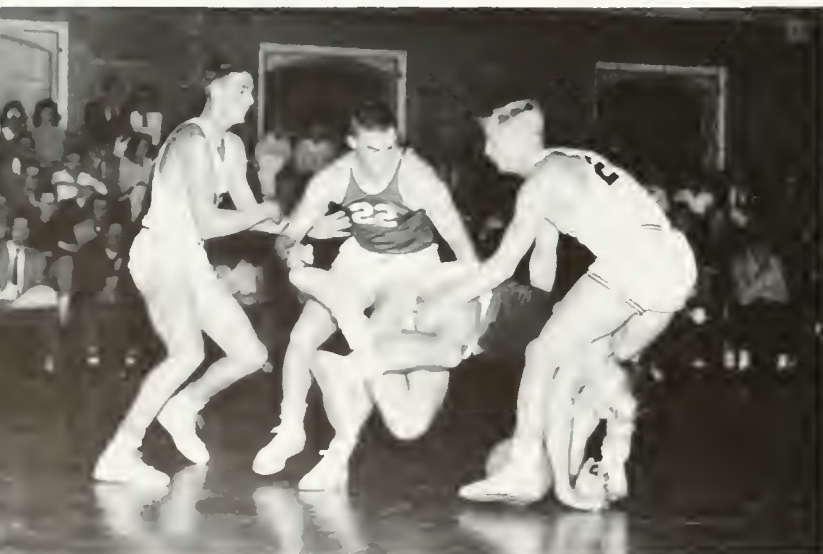

Hooker and Company departed on a three-game Christmas trip which resulted with the Indians absorbing three setbacks. They were administered by Cincinnati, West Virginia and Pittsburgh.

Then with the record all even at 6-6, the Tribe dumped Virginia 70-59. Against Wake Forest with Agee and Chambers providing the momentum by scoring 30 and 28 points respectively, the cagers set by one point a new Blow Gym scoring record by downing the Deacons, 97-75. In Raleigh N.C. State whipped the Tribe, 82-46, and against Louisville in Richmond it was a 93-65 reversal.

For the third consecutive year N.C. State found William and Mary too hot to handle in Norfolk, and the highly favored Wolfpack came out on the short end of a 70-61 count. All-American Dick Groat led Duke to a 68-62 win at Durham, and George Washington topped the Tribe, 74-68, for the lone Blow Gym defeat of the season. With the tournament pressure on, W&L, Maryland, V.P.I. and V.M.I. were all defeated before Richmond upset the Indians, 80-61. The Win over V.P.I. was the first in Blacksburg since 1942. The regulation season came to a close with W&M besting a rejuvenated Virginia quintet by two markers, 87-85, and by losing again to Cincinnati, this time by a 72-65 score.

Ten victories in sixteen encounters with Southern Conference foes placed the Indians eighth in the Conference standings and sent them on to Raleigh for the annual classic minus the services of Joe Agee who had broken a bone in his hand in the Richmond setback. Pitted against West Virginia in the first round, the Tribe lost, 77-64, as All-American Mark Workman paced the visitors with 31 points. On the following night Duke ousted West Virginia, 90-88, and then the Wolfpack defeated Duke, 77-68, for their sixth consecutive championship.

Chambers, after a slow start, finished the season with a 459 point total for a 16.4 per game average. Hooker's first team was composed of Agee and Drake at guards, Chambers at center, and Howie McCallen and Harris at the forward posts. But Hooker switched his line-up often and Dick Savage, Chick Cornell, Joe Hume and Fred Allen all saw frequent service.

Three men are lost by graduation, Agee, Allen, and Dick Forrest. With juniors Chambers, McCallen, Harris, and Markos along with sophomores Drake, Hume, Savage, Cornell, and Howie Bollerman all returning plus the material from a strong junior varsity squad, that "new high" in basketball at the Reservation may not be too far away.

In addition to fashioning the basketball destinies of the William and Mary Indians, Lester Hooker also found himself in the position of new head baseball coach. A former Indian baseball captain himself, Hooker had played with Vic Raschi here in 1942. A stint in the armed services interrupted his college career, but he returned in 1946 to finish up his stay as a student and athlete. After five years of high school coaching, he again returned, this time as a coach.

Hooker had to dig into the records to find a nucleus around which he could build a winning team. He found a not too encouraging won and lost record for the 1951 season. The Tribe had won only six out of 21. An anemic deficiency at the plate seemed to be the big reason. Six of the 15 losses were one run deficits and only one Indian batter hit over .300, he being Hank Moughamian with a .333 mark.

The pitching had been better than average for college ball with the opposition averaging six runs per game. Hi Wardwell topped the mound performances with a no-hit game against V.M.I. and winning three games out of six. Jimmie Carter hurled only two victories in six starts but had gained effectiveness over the course of the season. The 1952 captain-elect, Al Kersey, pitched the other victory and it was he who had suffered most of the one-run defeats.

There had been much line-up changing. Various infields included Bob Mitchell, Rhea Lazarus, Hank Moughamian, Paul Webb, and Joe Agee. The outfield was most manned by Hardy Cofer, top runs-batted-in man with 19, Ed Mioduszewski, and John Connors.

The six William and Mary victories in 1951 came over Hampden-Sydney, 11-4; V.P.I., 7-0; George Washington, 8-2; Virginia, 6-3; and V.M.I. twice, 29-10 and 5-3.

In early March Hooker began preparations for the coming season. As he looked over his 1952 candidates, he noticed that Wardwell had departed. Carter and Kersey were back, however, and with Bill Twomey and Warren Rutledge, two of the brightest hurling prospects in years, up from last year's frosh outfit, the pitching staff appeared to be one of the brighter elements in the outlook for '52.

Hooker's infield plans received a severe jolt when Bruce Rhea's broken ankle paired with Joe Agee's basketball injury made an entire infield of inexperienced ball players imperative. Ed Mioduszewski was brought in from the outfield to play shortstop. D. G. "Sam" Tyler appeared to have third base sewed up, and Rhea Lazarus and Bill Chambers were waging an interesting battle for first base honors. Second base was the biggest question mark with Dick Pendleton and Bob Thurston showing up to lend heated battle there.

In the outfield, Hardy Cofer was back to anchor an experienced unit. Bill Bowman was the obvious man to roam the left field pastures. He came up from the '51 yearling squad and with a Tri-County league batting championship as a recommendation. Warren Rutledge was to play right field when he wasn't pitching, alternating with Teeny Soles, a better than average fielder who was only a freshman.

The backstopping duties had two seasoned veterans vying with a talented freshman for first line duty. The veterans being Ed Aubin and Don Jeffrey and the freshman, Brown Oliver.

All in all, the outlook for Lester Hooker's initial season was the best the Reservation had seen in many a year. The pitching looked great, the infield would improve with experience, catching was dependable, and the outfield had tremendous possibilities. If the hitting developed, and this would be the deciding factor, the 1952 Indians would make history.

CAPTAIN GEORGE LARKIN

William and Mary's tennis team opened the Spring sports agenda on March 20th with a 5-4 conquest of Brown University. The Tribe netters continued in the same pattern in the next meet by downing Cornell, 5-4, but on the following day the Big Red reversed the proceedings and edged the Indians, 5-4.

These early matches provided indication that William and Mary's 1952 tennis edition was once again destined to maintain the school's outstanding tennis reputation. Coach Hal King, back at the helm for his second year as tennis tutor, had assembled a large but youthful squad which probably lacks some of the down-the-line strength of past powers at the Reservation. But in Tommy Boys, Ronnie Barnes, and Captain George Larkin, King possessed a trio probably as good as any threesome in the Southern Conference. However, behind these players, Coach King had to depend on some of his more youthful aspirants.

Tommy Boys was for the second consecutive year manning the number one position on the team. Pairing with Boys in the doubles and playing the number two singles was Ronnie Barnes, ninth ranked intercollegiate tennis player. Captain Larkin held the number three position while Terry Mahloy, Carl Spies, and Carl Gieg rounded out the singles team. Larkin and Mahloy teamed together in doubles, and Gieg and Hosey Hearn formed the number three tandem in the early matches.

After the Spring vacation the Tribe was scheduled to encounter Williams and then open up with Southern Conference play against George Washington, Washington and Lee, V.M.I., Maryland, Richmond, N. C. State, North Carolina, Virginia, Duke, and West Virginia. Then it would be on to the Southern Conference Tournament at Davidson.

The 1951 W&M tennis team won 11 of 17 matches with four of these defeats 5-4 affairs. Michigan State administered the first of these reversals in the opening encounter by topping the Tribe, 5-4. Cornell was set-back on consecutive days by 7-2 and 6-2 scores, and Davidson was downed, 5-4. North Carolina edged the Tribe, 5-4, while Hampden-Sydney, Richmond, the Country Club of Virginia, and Virginia Tech were all defeated with ease. Maryland nipped the Indians, 5-4, and Princeton's Ivy League championship team and probably one of the strongest teams in the nation blanked the touring Tribe, 9-0. Seton Hall was defeated by an 8-1 score, and Penn was turned back in a 5-4 decision. N. C. State was shut out, 8-0, while Duke bested the Tribe, 5-4. In the final matches of the regulation season, V.M.I. was soundly beaten, 9-0, while Virginia downed the Tribe, 7-2. The Indians then went to the Southern Conference Tournament at Davidson and finished second to North Carolina for the title.

Ronnie Barnes posted the top individual record for the 1951 season as he won 16 matches while losing but one, this to Chuck Devoe of Princeton, 6-4, 8-6. Boys established a 13-4 record playing number one singles. In doubles play Boys and Barnes compiled a 13-3 mark with one match being halted by rain. Playing in the number four position throughout the season, Larkin compiled a 12-5 record.

GOLF

With only Fred Allen returning from last year's talent-laden club, the 1952 edition of the William and Mary golf team looks to sophomores and juniors for their successes.

A sturdy participant in the National Junior Tournament for the past three years, Allen serves as captain and shares the number one position with sophomore Mike Cestone.

Cestone, a highly-rated linksman from New Jersey, gives a tremendous boost to the outlook for the late Spring sport. A trio composed of Bill Beard, Fred Aucamp, and Pete Freeauf competed for starting berths. Beard was the most experienced as he played in several matches last Spring. Other promising candidates were juniors Bob Mitchell and Larry Stewart, while freshmen Jim Mark, Bill Wray, and Jim Todhunter were expected to bolster the squad.

Alan C. Stewart replaced William S. "Pappy" Gooch as coach of the fairwaymen this season. They were matched with George Washington, Virginia, V.P.I., W & L, and Maryland. The Southern Conference Tournament followed, then Richmond away and the season ended with the Virginia Intercollegiate Tournament.

William and Mary's 1951-52 swimming team worked gallantly under the tutelage of new coach Dudley Jensen but again their efforts went unrewarded. Swimming the usual top notch schedule, which listed such tank powers as Duke, Virginia, Georgetown, and W & L, the Braves failed to come up with a win.

Captain Jim Stone headed a list of letter winners including Jim Hall, Scott Petrequin, John Kris, "Winkie" Wilde, Norman Risjord, and Jack Percival.

T R A C K

Just as every other athletic team at the college with the exception of tennis the 1952 track team also functioned under the guidance of new coaches. Bill Joyner, a former high-jumper from U.N.C., and Richard Drake, an Indian track star in 1948-49, looked over the prospects for the '52 season. They found only six lettermen returning in the persons of John Munger, Leo Spencer, John Berry, Tom Reinerth, Sonny Cowling, and George Southwell. Searching further, they found a mass of spirited sophomores and freshmen working feverishly for recognition. At the outset of the season, dashmen Tom Hunnicutt and Howie Cline were showing best form. The distance and middle-distancemen were being led by Munger, Spencer, and Leo Schutte. Bill Brink, Bill Patton, and Jim Stone were impressively heaving the javelin and the discus and shotput were being left to husky foot-ballers.

The 1952 schedule included the Apprentice School, Hampden Sydney, Randolph Macon, V.M.I., Richmond, V.P.I., W & L, Virginia, and the Southern Conference and Big Six meets.

Below: Southwell, Hellmuth, Spencer, Barry.

William and Mary's hard working Harriers faced a schedule of state and conference powers. Having lost five men from last year's squad, this year was considered to be a building season.

Captain Munger and Leo Spencer took turns at the number one spot as expected, and George Southwell proved to be the most improved runner on the team by pressing Bart Hellmuth for the number three position.

Freshmen Leo Schutte and Val Miller showed exceeding promise while the improvement of Larry Young, John Barry, and Don Darnton also contributed to the optimism felt for the '52 season.

The Tribe runners lost successive meets to V.M.I., Richmond, and N. C. State before running in the Big Six and the Southern Conference meets. They then ended the season with a one point defeat by Virginia.

Intramural Director Dudley Jensen with assistant Rene Henry

William and Mary's student intramural program was again the field of honor among fraternities and an athletic outlet for the independent performers. Under the direction of Dudley Jensen and student assistant Rene Henry, the program embraced a field of varied interests listing football, place-kicking, horseshoes, swimming, volleyball, bowling, basketball, track, ping pong, handball, and softball. The point system was again used and vigorous competition ensued to determine who would win the intramural trophy in 1951-52.

Sigma Nu opened the Fall games with a surprise thumping of Sigma Alpha Epsilon for the football title. SAE bounced back to annex swimming honors, and it appeared as if these two fraternities would battle it out for the remaining laurels. Sigma Nu went on to grab the blue ribbon in bowling, volleyball, and basketball, and consequently left the rest of the group well behind.

In the individual competitions, Roy Stone and Willie Clark emerged as the horseshoe kings, Pete Freeauf was tops in booting field goals and Ronnie Barnes and Tommy Boys tied for the free-throw honors.

On the Independent field, the Tyler Pirates came up victors in the football league with the Squaws placing second. The Ringers eliminated all competition for the basketball crown with the Sigma Pros ranking second there.

Don Little, Joe Campagna, Harry Carl, Don Spivey, Curtis Dozier, John Kepley, Ron Drake, and Bill Neal were named to the Independent team. In basketball Len Meyerson, Foxwell, Bruce Rhea, Barnes, Don Jeffrey, Moe Maddox, George Larkin, Jack Timmis, and Danny Hopkins composed the fraternity All-Star basketball team. George Parozzo, Charlie Sidwell, Walt Brodie, John Barry, Bob Lusk, Jerry Sazio, and Dickie Lewis rounded out the Independent All-Star cage team.

The Women's Athletic Association, governed by a Joint Committee of faculty members and students, directs all the athletic events for the women students. "Marty" Paisley was elected president for the 1951-52 season. "Bebe" Hammond was point recorder and Shirley Haabestad, secretary, while the positions of intramural representative to the Committee and chairman of the Managers' Board were filled by "Katie" Byers and Mary Alice Slauson. Responsible to this Joint Committee are the Managers' Board and the Committee of Intramural Representatives. These groups work with the faculty of the athletic department and Miss Wynne-Roberts to provide a varied and interesting program of intramural and varsity activities.

Varsity sports include hockey, basketball, fencing, tennis, swimming, and bowling. Monograms are awarded for adequate participation on both the varsity and intramural teams.

Coached by Miss Martha Barksdale and assisted by Miss Helen Conyers, the Squaw basketball team brought its 1952 season to a close with the commendable record of four wins, two ties, and one loss. Manager Anna Inge, aided by Barbara Brown and Sally Hurst, was instrumental in the big improvement over last year's team.

Claire Rankine, serving as captain for the first team, excelled as a guard. Also superior in this position were Sally Cronk and Mary Lou Riggan.

"Bebe" Fisher proved the most prolific scorer, averaging 28 points a game. Liz Sacalis and Shirley Haabestad ably contributed to netting baskets.

The complete schedule was:

Squaws attacking in tournament play

H O C K E Y

The varsity hockey team, coached by Miss Marion Reeder, completed a six-game season with a record of three wins, two losses, and one tie. The team scored victories over R.P.I., 4-0 and 7-2, and in turn Westhampton went down 2-1. The two setbacks came at the hands of the powerful Richmond Hockey Club with a score of 6-2, and Sweet Briar, who edged out the Squaws 4-3 in the hockey tournament. The match with Notre Dame of Baltimore ended in a 2-2 deadlock.

The Virginia State Hockey tournament was held at William and Mary November 2 and 3. Liz Sacalis, varsity captain, Barbara Brown, and Grace Stone were selected for the All-Virginia reserve team. These girls played with the team that represented Virginia in the Southeastern tournament held in Richmond.

Coached by Miss Donna Barrand, the junior varsity remained undefeated in two games with the Norfolk Division. These were won by 4-1 and 5-1 margins. A visit to Westhampton resulted in a 1-1 tie with their junior varsity. There were also practice matches with Matthew Whaley. Sally Dahm captained the J.V.'s while Lee Granger served as manager.

S W I M M I N G

The swimming club, supervised by Miss Donna Barrand and Miss Helen Conyers, offers an opportunity to continue swimming beyond gym classes and at the same time to promote wider interest in the sport among the students. President of the club for the 1951-52 season was Julie Holmes. "Emmy" Ketterson and Sally Cronk served as vice-president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

Several races usually form part of their activities, but the only contest this year was with Longwood College. Next year, however, a tentative program also includes meets with the Norfolk Division and Swarthmore.

Each year, in addition to the races and officiating at intramurals, the group presents an aquacade. This Spring the event was a phantasy on the theme of "Moonlight Cocktails".

One of the most prominent mermaids was Captain Julie, who excelled in the breast stroke and shared diving honors with "Andy" Anderson and "Emmy" Ketterson. Among the freshmen, backcrawler Cynthia Kimbrough and freestyler Sally Cronk show promise of adding considerable strength and speed to next year's squad.

Try-outs are held each Spring and Fall, and every member receives a letter for her participation during the year.

Under the guidance of Miss Marion D. Reeder and Sue Biederman, club president, the fencing club competed in five meets. In the first one the William and Mary first team defeated Madison College 5-4, and the second team downed Bard-Avon School 5-4, also. The Squaws lost to both the first and second teams of the Tri-Weapon Club of Baltimore in the second meet. Two meets were held with the International Y, one in Baltimore and one in Williamsburg. Also a return meet with the Tri-Weapon Club and Bard-Avon School was held in Baltimore.

The club sponsored an intramural fencing meet as part of the regular intramural program with members serving as judges and scorers. A tournament champion was chosen from among those who competed on an individual point basis.

The veteran members who were in the club last season and competed in the meets are: Sue Biederman, Lin Crandell, Lee Granger, Carolyn Estes, Janet Buckner, Nancy Ellis, and Eunice Meyers.

T E N N I S

The Tennis Club began its activities this year in late March under the direction of its president, Avery Leavitt, and its coach, Miss Martha Barksdale.

This year's team was led by veterans Shirley Haabestad, Eleanor Hanson, Beth Forester, Grace Stone, Julie Holmes, Nancy Alexander, and Avery Leavitt. Margie Watts, a freshman sensation, appeared destined to add much strength to the squad. Matches were scheduled with Sweet Briar, Manhattanville, Longwood, and Madison. The team also planned to participate in the Play Day at R.P.I. and in the Middle States Tournament being held this year at Swarthmore.

Last year the club had a fairly successful season as it won matches over R.P.I., Westhampton, and at the R.P.I. Play Day the Norfolk Division and R.P.I. were defeated. The team lost to Sweet Briar and Manhattanville while a match with Madison was rained out.

Top: Kappas with their prized intramural trophy. Bottom: Babe Ruth's counterpart while Kappa took over second place and Barrett and Brown tied for third. Barrett held an unbeaten record at the close of the hockey season. Chandler-Brown was the runner-up and Jefferson and Ludwell tied for third place. The ping pong champion of the year turned out to be Didi Harris, who outsmashed Genie Moore in the play-offs.

Kappa, Barrett and Alpha Chi took the basketball first places in their respective leagues. In the play-off with an all-star team, the strong Alpha Chi sextet became William and Mary's undisputed basketball champions. According to points the basketball intramurals were won by Kappa and Alpha Chi who tied for first place, while Pi Phi and Barrett followed up in that order.

In the telegraphic bowling meet, Liz Sacalis, Audrey Wright, Sandra Wax, and Jayne Baker took the honors by placing respectively in that order. Hetty Roos out-fenced Martha Austin and Liz Sacalis to capture the open fencing championship.

Relax, it's only a race

Don't worry, Hilda—Bebe won't miss

This year was marked by a very broad and successful year of intramural activity. The program was planned under the direction of Miss Londes Scott and "Katie" Byers, the student head of intramurals.

Last year's intramural champions, Kappa Kappa Gamma, found competition a little harder this year. Pi Phi began the year by placing first in the tennis intramurals

The Pi Phi's managed to eke out a victory in the swimming intramurals by beating Tri Delt by only one point. Chi Omega placed third in this event.

In the Spring, badminton, archery and softball intramurals were played off to determine the overall championship for the year. The award, a trophy, was given at the WAA banquet in May.

WOMEN'S INTRAMURALS

Orchesis, directed by Miss Lorna Burdsall, furthers work in modern dance on a more advanced level than is offered in the classes. It is chiefly for the stimulation of an appreciation for dance as an art. Try-outs for membership are held twice a year, in the Fall and in the Spring. All men and women who are interested in dance—modern, ballet, social, tap, folk—are invited to attend the try-outs, at which time candidates for admission perform elementary dance steps and an original dance before the members of the club. Following this the final selections are made.

Weekly meetings afford valuable practice in techniques and discussions on the different phases of dance art. The group sponsors movies during the year which highlight the skill of performers from other parts of the country. In addition to these movies, Orchesis is responsible for the personal appearances and performances of well-known dancers. During the year folk dancing and square dancing are also sponsored by the group for both members and non-members.

Most important of all the functions of the Club is the annual recital held in the Spring. This consists of original numbers composed and performed by the members. The group begins to prepare for the show early in the year by listening to different pieces of music and working together to arrange dances. Once the dance is composed practice begins. The recital usually centers around a specific theme, and the choreography is made accordingly. Great care is taken to try to provide varied entertainment in the way of many types of dances, including classical, modern, folk, tap, ballet, and jitterbug. Officers of the Club are: Betsy Booth, president; Lelia Griffith, secretary-treasurer; and Marguerite Bozarth, publicity chairman.

WITH ITS GLORIOUS HERITAGE OF TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY-NINE YEARS OF HISTORY, HOW INAPPROPRIATE IT WOULD BE TO WRITE FINIS AT THE CONCLUSION OF ANY RECORD OF WILLIAM AND MARY. RATHER MAY IT BE SAID THAT WE HAVE REACHED THE CLOSE OF THIS MONTAGE OF OUR BRIEF PERIOD OF LIFE AT OUR BELOVED COLLEGE. IT IS HOPED THAT IN YEARS TO COME THESE PAGES MAY HELP TO RECAPTURE FOND MEMORIES OF THE JOYS AND DISAPPOINTMENTS, THE ENTHUSIASMS AND THE PERPLEXITIES, THE SPIRIT AND THE AMBITIONS THAT WERE OUR RICH EXPERIENCE AT WILLIAM AND MARY.
