ALUMNI GAZETIE

Homecoming '75 October 10-11

of the Clege of William and Mary

Will (Grade) Inflation Victimize W&M?

By Jim Rees '74

showing increased concern that the er Education that "a cynical account 700 on the verbal Scholastic Aptitute becoming obsolete, the victim of a scribe the "C" as an indication of level in 1967, leading some experts to new brand of inflation particular to the world of academia.

receive an "A" for less than excellent ed to the 'C'?'

The answer--the "C" is alive and well, holding its own at William and Mary. So says James Livingston, dean of the undergraduate program, and several other administrators who claim that the College has no plans to let the "C" slip into oblivion.

"The College has not succumbed to the grade inflation that now makes academic evaluation almost meaningat some colleges," Livingston. "Rather, at William and Mary a "B" grade still signifies very good work and a "C", which today represents about 26 percent of all grades, is considered by the faculty as representing satisfactory work."

Livingston's suggestion that the grade inflation virus has not struck William and Mary is in direct contrast 1.5 by 1970, and today it's moving to the fears of other educators, in- closer and closer to 2.0. cluding several at the College.

Edward M. White, an English pro- one can claim that today's students grade inflation. He suggested that Educators across the country are cently said in The Chronicle of High- of high school students scoring above. various graduate schools to see just "C" grade may be on the verge of of grading practice today would deattendance, the "B" as attendance with work done, and the "A" grade as As more students than ever before attendance with work done on time."

Although grade point averages work and the grade "B" assumes the have risen in recent years at William unofficial role of "average," more and Mary, statistics appear to back up and more university faculty are ask- Livingston's claim that the College ing the question, "Whatever happen- grading system is still a meaningful evaluation of a student's ability and effort. Only about 23 percent of undergraduates receive an "A" grade any given semester, and the typical grade point average at the College is 1.8 on a 3.0 scale. Only about 35 percent of the undergraduate population have a 2.0 ("B") or better average. In addition, William and Mary students usually take five courses each semester, a heavier load than is demanded at some of the prestigious Ivy League universities.

> Despite favorable comparisons with national grade inflation norms, it can't be denied that grades at the College have improved slowly but steadily over the last decade. In 1960, the undergraduate GPA was slightly shy of 1.3. It had increased to about

> Several professors at the College, including Ludwell H. Johnson III, chairman of the history department, insist that grade inflation may be a very real danger at William and Mary, threatening to cause a "deterioration of academic standards."

> "The disease may still be in the 'mild' stage at William and Mary, but that is no cause for complacency. It should be cured before it gets worse" said Johnson.

What bothers Johnson, as well as education authorities throughout the nation, is that despite the fact that students are earning fessor at California State College, re- are smarter. Nationally, the number Test dropped in 1974 to one-half its the conclusion that entering freshmen are more illiterate than they were in the 1960's.

So why are students receiving higher grades? One answer generally agreed on is that today's students are possessed with what has been termed as "preprofessional paranoia." Regraduate alizing that professional schools require high grade point averages for admission, students are under intense pressure to get better grades than their class-

At some schools, the cutthroat competition to get the best grades has led to widespread "grade-grubbing," the practice of choosing only those professors which give the best grades to the highest number of students. Professors, in turn, feel pressure to give better grades in order to receive high marks themselves on students evaluation surveys, which are used at some colleges to determine faculty

David E. Kranbuehl, associate dean of the faculty of arts and sciences, says the pressure exerted by graduate school admission policies even extends to the institution itself. If other schools are inflating grades in order to give their graduates an edge in applying to professional and graduate schools, how can William and Mary students with un-inflated grades compete?

Some say they can't, although statistics show that about 40 percent of William and Mary graduates do go directly to graduate schools in both this country and abroad. Still, Kranbuehl worries that graduate schools do not discern to the degree they should between a "B" at William and Mary and a "B" at a school which more "A" grades than ever before, no has yielded to the temptations of the College send faculty members to how many qualified William and Mary students are being turned down.

Dean of Students W. Samuel Sadler agrees that in the case of some professional schools, particularly medical and law schools, William and Mary students are sometimes at a disadvantage.

"There's little we can do to offset grade inflation when dealing with schools that use completely objective admissions criteria," he said. "But in the case of most graduate schools, I think the situation is somewhat different. There they get to talk to our students, and they learn to know what a student with a 2.1 average from William and Mary can really

Despite the fact that the College has a reputation of being a difficult school at which to make exceptionally high grades, it has yet to face any noticeable decrease in applications during a time when many liberal arts colleges are on the verge of collapse due to substantial drops in enrollment. The College still only accepts about 1,000 of 5,000 applicants, ranking it among the top three percent in the country for selectivity in

cont. on p. 5

Dr. Johnson

Dean Sadler

Dr. Livingston

Dedications at Homecoming

The College community will dedicate two buildings and an athletic field during homecoming events this year.

William and Mary's new chemistry building will be named William Barton Rogers Hall after an early professor at the College, who later founded famed Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Most Alumni know all too well that the College already has a Rogers Hall.

However, the Board of Visitors felt that the name was so synonymous with chemistry at the school that it should be transfered to the new building which will house chemistry and the department of philosophy. Old Rogers Hall will receive a new name at a later

The dedication of Rogers will coincide with the naming of the old women's athletic fields beside Phi Beta Kappa hall for the late Miss Martha Barksdale, '22, who for many years was a member of the William and Mary women's physical education department faculty and who was also a member of the first class in which women received baccalaureate degrees from the school.

Probably most important to the majority of alumni will be the formal dedication of Alumni House-the old Bright House--situated on a knoll directly opposite Cary Field.

For many years William and Mary alumni had encouraged College officials to allow them to maintain a permanent headquarters on the campus in a particular building, rather than merely having office space in administration buildings.

Alumni will recall the days when headquarters were in The Brafferton, on the colonial campus. The College grew rapidly, however, in the 1960s and that space was absorbed by administrative offices.

In 1971 the College sought and received approval from the Board of Visitors for the Society of the Alumni to gradually occupy all three floors of Bright House, which had been converted into six apartments for staff and faculty.

In 1972 it formally became Alumni House and a major drive was conducted by the Society of the Alumni to raise funds for the renovation of the facility into modern office space, meeting rooms and spacious accommodations for group activities.

The building has been used in many ways in nearly three years of operation as receptions for alumni weddings in the Wren Chapel, as meeting space for various College clubs and organizations, as headquarters for the Board of Directors of the Alumni Society when meeting in Williamsburg, and for faculty teas and receptions.

As a permanent facility, Alumni House offers a special and important opportunity for alumni, old and new, to call their own. It is here that major activities, chapter organization and Homecoming events are planned, organized and staged, under the direction of Gordon Vliet, executive vice president.

During Homecoming the building will be formally dedicated that those scores of persons who made significant financial contributions to the structure will be recognized, according to Vliet.

Eleven rooms and hallways in the building will be dedicated to alumni and persons who played an important role in the development of the College over the past 75 years in this century.

4 to Receive Alumni Medallions

The first husband-wife team ever Campbell also took time to help his Mary in 1942. From 1942-43 he department at Miami University, an internationally known lawyer and a well-known college professor as the 1975 honorees.

Dorothy Baynham Wilkinson Campbell and James Campbell, Jr., 50th anniversary class of 1925, better known to their friends and classmates as "Dot" and "Red" from Aiken, S.C., will receive medallions along with Charles Eugene Stousland, Jr., class of 1941, and Paul Hawkins Gantt, law school class of 1942.

Red Campbell retired in 1965 after serving for 13 years as manager, military technical publications, Western Electric Company in 1946-1952 as supervisor of Bell Telephone Laboratories Publications and Public Relations in New York

City. From 1930-42 he was senior engineer for Bell and during that time was awarded a patent for a special electric circuit used in the telephone system. During World War RADAR for the Bell laboratories war

Actively involved in community Austria bar in 1935. and public service work in every

the Philadelphia Alumni Chapter.

Dot Campbell has been active in church and civic work along side her husband and active for nearly 15 years with Girl Scout activities. She was a board member of the Society of the Alumni for seven years (1956-65) and served as secretary-treasurer of the Society, 1963-64.

Her father, the late Thomas Albert Wilkinson, was a member of the class of 1893 of William and Mary and Campbell Ellson, is a member of the class of 1955.

According to existing college Winston-Salem, N.C. He served from records Dot and Red Campbell were and is a member of nearly a dozen the first couple in the same class to other marry after William and Mary became coeducational.

Springs, Md., until his retirement last and was president of the year, served for 10 years as chairman of the Board of Contract Appeals, United States Atomic Energy Commission. Born in Vienna II he served as senior instructor Austria, Gantt received a J.U.D. degree in 1931 from the University of Vienna and was admitted to the known to college friends as "Mike," to be recognized by the Society of the Alumni as Alumni Medallion through the years and helped his distinguished career in present post since 1952.

recipients will be joined this year by organize and was first president of government service in 1944. He Prior to coming to Miami, he was National Housing Agency, an attorney with the Federal Bureau of Mines, was trial attorney, Chief Counsel War Crimes in Nuernberg, Germany, was attorney-advisor for the Bureau of Reclamation and from 1959 until 1964 was with the U.S. Department of Interior as Assistant Solicitor, Claims and Contracts.

He served as president of the Federal Bar Association (1966-67) their daughter, Dorothy Baynham and was treasurer of the association (1968-71). He is currently president has contributed significant amounts of the United States section of the of time and finances to the Society of United Nations League of Lawyers legal and fraternal organizations.

Gantt has always maintained Paul Hawkins Gantt, of Silver strong ties with William and Mary Marshall-Wythe School of Law Alumni Association, 1966-67, and Drive.

Charles Eugene Stousland, Jr.,

served as an attorney with the assistant professor of architecture at the University of Arkansas, 1949-1952, and served for a one year stint, 1947-48, at Miami as a teacher of architectural design and history.

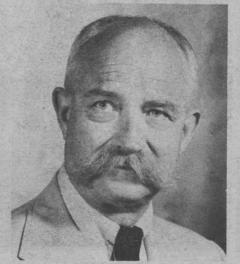

Registered in Ohio and Connecticut, he currently has a private architecture practice and also enjoys the unusual hobby of silversmithing. He has his own design studio and creates small sculpture and jewelry in silver.

Through the past several years he the Alumni by his gifts of William and Mary cipher jewelry which is sold with all proceeds going to the Society.

He has exhibited sculpture and prints at numerous museums and printmakers throughout the nation including the Cincinnati Art Museum and Butler Art Institute.

An active member of the Cincinserved for many years as class agent nati Alumni Chapter, he is a member for the William and Mary Fund of several important architectural associations.

Elizabeth His wife, Eddy Craighead (Stousland) is a member has made a national reputation in the of the class of 1942 and a son, and public service work in every He came to the U.S. and received field of architecture as Professor of Michael C. Stousland will graduate community in which he lived, his J.D. degree from William and Architecture and chairman of the from William and Mary next June.

Mike Stousland

Mr. Campbell

Mrs. Campbell

Paul Gantt

Child's World of Fantasy

cont. from cover

will be the costumed Hanna-Barbara Richmond.

honorary

The featured outside unit this year will be announced at a later date. (the new chemistry building on the cartoon characters of Yogi Bear, alumni the Homecoming will begin Barksdale Field, for the late Miss Scooby Doo and others from King's Thursday night, Oct. 9, with the Martha Barksdale, '22 long-time Dominion theme park outside fourth annual meeting of the Order member of the women's physical of the White Jacket (OWJ). The education department at the College Continuing a new tradition begun order, founded in 1972, recognizes and one of the William and Mary's last year the parade will also have those William and Mary students who first female graduates. parade marshals, worked as regular (or substitute) distinguished Alumni whose name waiters or headwaiters in the College the Queen's Guard and Colonial dining hall. More than 200 men are Williamsburg Militia will be held at 5 current members of the OWJ. M. p.m. Friday in the Sunken Garden.

> voted to allow women to become last Homecoming weekend. members since the waiter corps of recent years included a number of designed to allow members of the women in its ranks. The organization reunion classes an opportunity to also has had inquiries in the past year renew acquaintances; and see old and it is possible--like Phi Beta Kappa headquartered at the Williamsburg national another organization.

> event will be Virginia Gov. Mills E. Alumni are welcome as always. Godwin, Jr., who, while a student at Class cocktail parties are scheduled campus center.

will be presented to the winners of school's overall academic pursuits. this year's men's and men's low gross and low net.

re-orientation program.

the formal dedication of Rogers Hall new members of the board of direc-

For a special group of returning new campus) and the naming of the

The traditional Sunset Parade with Carl Andrews, '27 is the group's The very colorful memorial service will remember those alumni of the At last year's meeting the group College who have passed away since

Friday night's festivities are from other schools interested in friends. The 50th anniversary forming their own chapters of OWJ reunion class of 1925 will be in the early years of the nation-that Lodge, along with the 25th reunion William and Mary will nurture class-the class of 1950. Other classes fraternal meeting for organized reunions are 1930, 1935, 1940, 1945, 1955, 1960, This year's speaker for the OWJ 1965 and 1970 meeting for its 5th. All the College, also worked in the to begin at the Williamsburg Lodge at dining hall and is an OWJ member. 6:15 p.m. Friday with the annual The OWJ recpetion is scheduled for alumni banquet beginning at 7:30 6 p.m. with banquet at 8 p.m. in the p.m. Dr. Thomas A. Graves Jr., William and Mary President, will Early arriving alumni may register speak to alumni at the annual Friday at Alumni House until 5 p.m. meeting, beginning at 9:15 p.m. Dr. There will also be the annual golf Graves plans to discuss the state of tournament to be played at the the College, amid the current Colonial Williamsburg Golden economic situation and will speak on Horseshoe Golf Course and awards the quest for excellence in the

This year's recipients of the Alumni Medallion--Dorothy Baynham There will also be an opportunity Wilkinson Campbell and James Friday afternoon for returning grads Campbell Jr., '25 of Aiken, S.C., to tour the still-expanding college Charles Eugene Stousland Jr., '41 of campus by bus and receive a Oxford, Ohio, and Paul Hawkins Gantt, law school class of 1952 of A major college--wide program has Silver Springs, Md., will be honored been planned for 2 p.m. Friday with during the annual meeting, when the tors will be announced.

An action-packed day has been planned for Saturday, beginning at 8 a.m. with a pre-parade reception and continental breakfast for alumni, family and friends at the President's House. President and Mrs. Graves will host the affair.

Registration at Alumni House will continue Saturday from 9 a.m. - 2 p.m. with law school registration at Marshall-Wythe School of Law from 9-11:30 a.m.

The Homecoming Parade is set for 10 a.m. to be followed immediately at 11:45 a.m. with the dedication of Alumni House. Luncheon on the Lawn of Alumni House will follow the dedication activities and continue until kickoff time.

The William and Mary "Big Green" will face the Bobcats of Ohio University on the Cary Field gridiron at 2 p.m., renewing a rivalry which began in 1966. William and Mary won the first game on Homecoming here 25-22, and lost the second encounter 41-0.

The annual Alumni Dinner Dance at the Virginia Room of the Williamsburg Conference Center will formally conclude this year's Homecoming weekend.

Wilford Kale '66, Homecoming Parade Director, wrote the section on Homecoming.

Cartoon Characters Set for Parade

strong-support of campus student Hollywood. groups, sororities and fraternities, a Last year the famed Budweiser

This year, in keeping with the parade theme--"A Child's World of Fantasy," - the costumed Hanna-Barbera characters from King's Dominion theme Park outside Richmond, will appear.

The nearly dozen characters will include the popular Yogi Bear, Scooby Doo of television fame and Fred Flintstone and Barney Rubble from the Flintstone series. Also expected to delight children of all ages will be characters from the E.B. White classics, "Charlotte's Web," a full-length cartoon motion picture produced by Hanna-Barbera.

The costumed characters appear daily at the other theme parks of Kings Island in Cincinnati and heart for decades.

For the second straight year the Carowinds near Charlotte, N.C., and William and Mary Homecoming also make guest appearances from Parade has invited, with the the Hanna-Barbera studios in well-known outside unit to Clydesdale of Anheuser-Busch participate in the annual parade. delighted nearly 25,000 persons who lined historic Duke of Gloucester Street to see one of the biggest fanciest homecoming parades in the school's history. The reception by parade viewers and student participants was so strong regarding the outside organization that the Alumni Board of Directors agreed this year to invite another group.

> Another 40 units--including bands floats--are expected participate in the parade, scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. According to the sorority and fraternity chairman, the various float themes will include mother goose fairy-tales and Walt Disney depictions--those characters from the world of fantasy which have delighted the young in

'75 Graduate Serves as Magazine Editor

by Barbara Ball

Sylvia Chappell '75, of Dinwiddie, Va., is back in Virginia after a month in New York this summer with a new hair do, a by-line credit in the August issue of MADEMOISELLE, and an appreciation of the art and talent involved in magazine

As one of the 14 guest editors (GEs) chosen yearly by the magazine, Sylvia spent four weeks learning about the publishing business. Part of the deal was that each guest editor would agree to submit to a beauty consultation and hair styling and pose for "before and after" photos. Sylvia left for New York with long flowing blonde hair. She now has a cute short curly bog which is also very becoming. The new hairdo, however, is the least important benefit she derived from her summer job, although she says she knows it will probably be a long time before she gets another Fifth Avenue haircut.

At the urging of a friend, Karen Moran of Washington, D.C., Sylvia entered the Mademoiselle contest and won a place on the College Board from which guest editors are selected. After her summer, Sylvia says, she wishes anyone interested in the publishing field would apply - the experience was great.

An initial planning session was held for the new guest editors soon after they arrived in New York. GEs were asked to submit the names of luminaries they would like to interview and give their preference for modelling, layout, writing or photographic assignments.

As a former feature writer for the Flat Hat her senior year, Sylvia chose the field of writing. The magazine set up interviews for the GEs with tennis player Billie Jean King, movie actor Dustin Hoffman, and writers Erica Jung and Brendel Gil.

Sylvia said that as an English major her natural tendency was to lean toward the literary - be content to read what the other people wrote about the rest. There was a slight hint of regret in her voice as she told about the three-hour interview and shopping trip to Georgetown several GEs enjoyed with Dustin Hoffman who was filming in Washington.

Posing outside Tiffany's at 5 a.m. on Memorial Day in winter clothes convinced Sylvia that she would never envy the life of a Broadway shows, special film screenings, breakfast at the Waldorf Astoria, a picnic in Central Park, dinners in fashionable restaurants, champagne receptions, a ballet, "Romeo and Juliet" at the Metropolitan Opera and lots more were all squeezed in around the working schedule of the GEs.

"The GEs were a very talented group, everyone cooperated very well, we worked together - you need something like that to give a boost to your confidence," said Sylvia who feels her summer job gave her the advantage of a very pleasurable and unusual introduction to New York without a big bank account.

"It would be very excruciating to start life there if you had not had any exposure to it," she added. Sylvia would like to stay in journalism or publishing and is confident that the introduction she had this summer will enable her to move back to New York without the butterflies many working gals experience on their first job there.

All of the GEs had heard of William and Mary during the opening round of introductions, said Sylvia, although some knew little about the kind of program it

Sylvia Chappell

Looking back, Sylvia said she wished she had had more opportunities to do different kinds of writing in College. She explained that she would like to see students have another outlet for their talents beyond the Flat Hat and the Review.

Formerly a casual reader of magazines, Sylvia says she now is more aware of the time and talent that went into their makeup.

"Now I find myself looking for photographic credits, appraising the layout and even reading the fashion copy - hardly anyone ever reads the fashion copy."

All in all it was a great experience said Sylvia, one she heartily recommends to other students.

One of the many enjoyable interludes between work sessions was a chance to chat with alum Cathy Calvert '69, an associate College and Career Editor Mademoiselle.

Salmagundi

4200 Order History on William and Mary

More than 4,200 alumni, parents and friends have ordered first edition copies of "Their Majesties' Royall Colledge," the story of William and Mary's first 100 years which has been written by Dr. J. E. Morpurgo

The book, to be issued in February, 1976 by the Endowment Association, is in the early stages of production at Hennage Creative Printers Inc. of Washington.

The deadline for accepting orders for the $15 book expired August 1, following a one-month extension and a mailed follow-up reminder of the once-only opportunity. A trade version of the book, available through commercial channels, will

Publication of "Their Majesties' Royall Colledge" is already attracting national attention. The Bicentennial Times, published by the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration, cites the project as one of the more creative activities to be carried out among colleges and universities during the Bicentennial observance.

Last winter, 300 of the collector's dered based on subscriptions. The published in America that year and a 1928.

costly leather-bound version, with a number of expensive features, is expected to grow in value over the years and is no longer available for sub-

Publication of the long-planned history of William and Mary's earliest years--spanning the Revolution and Jefferson's reorganization--follows several years of research and preparation which was funded by the gift of an alumnus and contributions by the Society of the Alumni. Arthur B. Hanson '40, as chairman of the Endowment Association's Development Committee, is directing the project through completion next February.

Alumnus Dedicates Book To College

The author of a special Bicentennial-related book to be published next year has dedicated it to William and Mary, his alma mater.

Merritt Ierley, Jr. '58, of Teaneck, William and Mary, whose earlier sons 1943. made much of this news."

Year that Tried Men's Souls," to be ume IX, Scribner's Monthly, publishpublished by the A. S. Barnes and ed in 1874-75. Co., in New York and London. It is a limited edition of the book were or- included a review of every newspaper the regular and summer sessions of number from Europe.

The project has already been noted in American Heritage and other me-

Ierley, a former editorial staff member of the Virginia Gazette, worked for a number of years in government and politics, most recently as legislative assistant to Sen. Fairleigh Dickinson, Jr., in the New Jersey Senate. A composer with several published works, and the creator of a special musical piece used to mark the retirement of Dr. Carl A. Fehr as William and Mary Choir Director, Ierley is also working on a documentary history of music to be published later.

Gifts to Society

Wayne F. Gibbs, Jr., Class of 1944, has given to the Society a framed photograph of Kappa Alpha House, taken about 1942, as well as the original auction handbill of June 1943 advertising the sale of the furnishings of KA House. One and all were invited to the "event of the season": the sale of "Entire Household Furnishings, Including Articles Unobtainable on the Present Day N.J., has written in the dedication Market". The Auctioneer was "Rub-"To my alma mater, the College of ber Dog" Bob Matthews, Class of Marion B. Reynolds, Class of 1925, The book is tentatively titled "The has given the Paschall Library Vol-

The Paschall Library has received journalistic reconstruction of the from Stanley A. Fein, Class of 1928, world of 1776, based on research that the Commencement Programs for

Acting Dean

Emeric Fischer, long-time professor of law at William and Mary, has been appointed Acting Dean of the Law School. He will serve until a permanent Dean is named to succeed James P. Whyte who resigned to resume full-time teaching

Who Says The 19th Century Didn't Exist?

By Janet McMahon '71

Lee; gingerbread and lightning rods; you suggest, of course, it would be coonskin caps and Conestoga wag- inappropriate to list it if it did not ons; derbies and shoebutton hooks; exist; but on the other hand, it may Freud and Darwin; the iron horse well not exist unless it is listed." The and riverboats; white suits and wicker society does not appear on the Vicfurniture; Emerson and Thoreau.

What these have in common is Williamsburg.

Century Antiquities is a loose fraternity of in 1965 to make a small fuss over the it, for example. forgotten 19th century.

ident.

The society's current president, William F. Davis, also on the English faculty, admits that the society has accomplished little in 10 years. "Charles thought we ought to have meetings and do things. Actually, his chief preoccupation was planning a tea party to which he would invite Carlisle Humelsine (president of Colonial Williamsburg).

stationery bearing a steel engraving of the Wren Building as it appeared in the 19th century.

can say without qualification that the theme."

society delights in being listed, that being listed is perhaps the mode of Abraham Lincoln and Robert E. existence which it most relishes. As torian Society's list.

"The society believes," Davis said, their place in the 19th century, 10 "that admiration of the 18th century decades in our history that some is now rather passe. The dream of think are grossly underrated in reason and order is dead." But the society actually exists, he said, "to The Society for the Preservation of keep Colonial Williamsburg from Williamsburg taking itself too seriously." The society poses no threat, though; CW's reluctant nostalgists who organized press bureau has never even heard of

Charles Nickerson, a former fac- "Romanticism, gingerbread-y Ameriulty member in the English Depart- can houses, imagination and fancy, all the front porches off these ment at the College of William and and the individualism that we like to houses? It took the whole 18th cen-Mary, was its founder and first pres- think of as characteristic of our age." member, Another Maccubbin, said, "Williamsburg must be the only town in the country in which the 18th century follows the 19th."

One of the original members, David Jenkins, was asked to comment on the society's donothing attitude. "The society's main purpose is not to do anything, but just to exist," he said. "Don't you see, you can't bring However, the society does exist, back the 19th century. They tried insofar as it has its own letterhead that with the 18th century and it didn't work.'

But, Jenkins said of Williamsburg, The town's got a past that doesn't The society came close to being just jump over the 19th century. I listed with the Victorian Society of think the 19th century is rather nice. Virginia. Davis told a Victorian Soci- We've just used the 18th century beety member in a letter last year, "I cause it made for a town with a

Members of the society: kneeling: Nathaniel Elliott and David Jenkins. Standing, from left: Scott Donaldson, William Davis, Robert Maccubbin and Terry Meyers.

Jenkins added, "I think we should The 19th century to Davis means be a little more curatorial and a little less themey. Why go around and take accomplishment of the society; tury to arrive at those porches."

burg-and perhaps the South in general - is uneasy about the Civil War.

"The embarrassing point for us when we entertain visitors from New York and Boston is the question of the late disturbance." But Jenkins pointed out that the Battle of Williamsburg was a reality. "We try to ation of Williamsburg Antiquities act as though this is the seat of revolives on, as Davis says, "as it always act as though this is the seat of revolution, but Williamsburg was a seat of has, only on Charles Nickerson's staarchconservatism as well.

"By the way, I'll concede that the Wren Building is much nicer now relic, an irretrievable gap between than it was in the 19th century, even the Battle of Yorktown and the first if it does have steel walls."

Jenkins mentioned one more near-Nickerson wrote to the editor of the Oxford English Dictionary asking that the verb "to Williamsburg" be Jenkins suggested that Williams- entered. "The verb was used in a participal form in Boston newspapers; they were referring to "the Williamsburging of Faneuil Hall' when it was to be restored," Jenkins said. There is no such entry in the Oxford English Dictionary, however.

> And so the Society for the Preservtionery.

The 19th century, it seems, is but a brick in the restoration.

Is Grade Inflation A Problem?

cont. from p. 1

look less than impressive when comcompeting institutions.

A majority of the students entering William and Mary this fall in the class something they had little contact with ional?"

in high school--the grade "C". Aladmissions. Many insist that the pres- though a few more students will retige of graduating from William and ceive "A" and "B" grades than they Mary still offsets grades that may did a decade ago, no one entering William and Mary can rest assured pared with inflated marks received at that they'll avoid being termed "average" in at least a handful of classes. But then as one professor phrased it, "if no one can be termed 'average' of 1979 are likely to be introduced to then how do we discern who's except-

ALUMNI GIZETTE of the Clege of William and Mary

September 1975: Volume 43, No. 3

Editor, Ross L. Weeks, Jr. Associate Editor, S. Dean Olson Art Director, George A. Crawford, Jr. Class News, Trudi S. Neese Vital Statistics, Mary T. Branch Typesetting, Sylvia B. Holmes

Established June 10, 1933, by the Society of the Alumni of the College of William and Mary, Box GO, Williamsburg, Va., 23185; published ten times a year. Second-class postage paid at Williamsburg. Subscription rate $5.00 a year. Officers of the Society are: President, Colin R. Davis, '50; Vice President, John F. Morton, Jr., '58; Secretary-Treasurer, Jean Canoles Bruce, '49; Executive Vice President, Gordon Vliet, '54. Board of Directors: To December 1977: Glen E. McCaskey, '63, Hilton Head Island, South Carolina; Norman Moomjian, '55, New York, New York; John F. Morton, Jr., '58, New Orleans, Louisiana; William L. Person, '24, Williamsburg, Virginia; Patricia King Sell, '58, La Jolla, California. To December 1976: Harold M. Bates, '52, Roanoke, Virginia; Marjorie Retzke Gibbs, '44, Bay Village, Ohio; Elaine Elias Kappel, '55, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; Raymond T. Waller, '40, Richmond, Virginia Hill. Virginia; Hillsman V. Wilson, '51, Lutherville-Timonium, Maryland. To December 1975: Jean Canoles Bruce, '49, Norfolk, Virginia; Colin R. Davis, '50, Suffolk, Virginia; Fred L. Frechette, '46, Richmond, Virginia; J.W. Hornsby, Jr., '50, Newport News, Virginia; Harriet Nachman Storm, '64, Hampton, Virginia.

Grad Assumes Chapter Duties

the responsibilities of Director of the Alumni Chapter Program for the Society of the Alumni on September 1, replacing Lee Wadkins Vliet, '68, who had held the position since July, 1974, and who entered medical school this fall. In addition to the work with chapters, Miss Harrigan will also be responsible for class reunion activities, including the spring 50th Reunion celebration.

Miss Harrigan, a native of Wykoff, New Jersey, will continue organized newly chapter program, and will seek additional alumni, and to foster continued involvement with the life of the Col-

President of the Debate Council for two years and commissary chairman for Kappa Alpha Theta while an undergraduate, Joan has developed several innovative programs for chapter functions.

"I think it is important," she said, "for the alumni to have contact with both faculty and students, as well as with the administrative personnel of the College. I have a number of ideas for student-presented programs, and one of my goals will be to pursue these further with the various chapters."

Chapter reorganization and revitalization began last summer when Mrs. Vliet assumed these responsibilities. One of her most visible accomplishments, in addition to the increased number and variety of Chapter Handbook, which was mail- ter Programs.

Joan M. Harrigan, '75, assumed ed to Chapter Presidents and Interest Group Leaders in June.

With the publication of the Chapter Handbook this spring, the chapter officers now have detailed guidelines for planning alumni meetings, for organizing new chapters, for programs, and for service projects with the College and Society, as well as within the individual chapter. Each president will pass the Handbook along to succeeding officers, along with notes based on past experience. The book is designed to be easily updated and added to, since the sections are color coded and each page is ways to bring William and Mary to dated and numbered within that section only.

> The Chapter Handbook also details the criteria for the Outstanding Chapter Award, the first of which will be awarded at Homecoming 1976. Each year the judging period will be from September 1 until August 30 of the following year, with the award based on such items as diversity of programs, number of meetings, service to the College and Society, etc.

A copy of the Handbook was provided each chapter free of charge. Additional copies, for those chapters wishing them, are available through the Alumni Office at a nominal charge. In addition, persons desiring to organize an alumni chapter in their area may write for a copy of the Handbook to serve as a guide in the organizational process. Direct inquiries to: Society of the Alumni, chapter meetings around the coun- P.O. Box GO, Williamsburg, Virginia try, was the completion of the new 23185, Attn: Director, Alumni Chap-

HOMECOMING 77

"A CHILD'S WORLD OF FANTASY"

Other	(Specify) There will bepersons in my party
Arrival date	Departure datens will be mailed direct.
Reservations confirmation	ns will be mailed direct.
	places at Friday Alumni Banquet @ $13.00 (Free 25th Reunion Dinner, ty, for class member only)
01	places at Saturday Dinner Dance @ $14.50
Reservations will be clos House during registration	d on October 4, 1975. Tickets for these dinners may be picked up at the Alumn
Reservations will be clos House during registration	d on October 4, 1975. Tickets for these dinners may be picked up at the Alumn. Class
Reservations will be clos House during registration	d on October 4, 1975. Tickets for these dinners may be picked up at the Alumn. Class
Reservations will be closs House during registration NAME	d on October 4, 1975. Tickets for these dinners may be picked up at the Alumn. Class

MAIL TO: ALUMNI OFFICE, P.O. BOX GO, WILLIAMSBURG, VA. 23185

HOMECOMING 1975 - OCTOBER 10-11

RESERVATIONS

Because demand for Alumni Banquet and Alumni Dinner Dance accommodations has been exceeding space availability, it will be necessary again this year to accept ONLY PREPAID RESERVATIONS for those two occasions, in order of receipt.

Please pick up tickets at the Alumni House upon registration.

There will be space available at the Banquet and the Dinner Dance for those who wish to attend the program only, at the conclusion of dining.

Classes will be seated together as much as possible. If special tables are desired, please notify the Alumni Office with full listing of the ten persons involved.

The Alumni Office will forward your name and address for room reservations to the motel and they will confirm directly to you.

directly to you.

MAKE CHECKS PAYABLE TO: SOCIETY OF THE ALUMNI ENCLOSE WITH YOUR RESERVATIONS

HOMECOMING HEADQUARTERS AT ALUMNI HOUSE

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1975

Order of the White Jacket Reception Order of the White Jacket Banquet

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 10

Registration and Ticket pickup until 5:00. Coffee and doughnuts

Golf Tournament for Alumni and Spouses
Campus Re-Orientation; Brief Campus Bus Tour to follow
Dedication of Chemistry Building & Barksdale Field
Sunset Parade with Queens Guard and Colonial Militia

Class Cocktail Parties, Cash Bar Alumni Annual Banquet Annual Meeting of the Society Presentation of Alumni Medallions Address by President Graves

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 11

President's Reception and Continental Breakfast
Registration and Ticket Pickup until 2:00
Law School Alumni registration until 11:30
Homecoming Parade - Another Biggie this year
Alumni Band Practice
Dedication of Alumni House
Luncheon on the Lawn until Kick-off
Reunion Class Photographs
Law School Association Luncheon
Football – William and Mary vs. Ohio University
"Fifth Quarter" Social Hour
Alumni Dinner
Alumni Dance – BYOL

After arrival, alumni should contact fraternity and sorority houses for their open house and reception times. Seating will be available to those who wish to attend the Friday night Annual Meeting, and Saturday night dance, but who do not attend the dinners prior to them.

REUNION REST AND RECOVERY AREAS

Mt. Vernon Motor Lodge
Williamsburg Lodge
Motor House
Patrick Henry Inn
Motor House
Brickhouse Tavern
Williamsburg Lodge
Bonhomme Richard Inn
Mount Vernon Motor Lodge
Colony Motel
Lord Paget Motor Inn

FOOTBALL TICKETS

FOOTBALL TICKETS MUST BE ORDERED DIRECTLY FROM:

Price: $7.00 per ticket plus 50 cents pstg. and ins. The Athletic Ticket Office phone number: 229-3396

> THE ATHLETIC OFFICE BOX 399 WILLIAMSBURG, VA. 23185

W&M ALUMNI ANNUAL GOLF TOURNEY 1975

The Williamsburg Inn's Golden Horseshoe Course is again the site, and alumni and spouses are invited. Prizes for low gross and net will be awarded to both men and women. Please confirm your interest by October 7, and indicate preferred starting time, between 8 and 11 am, partners etc. Green Fees are $8.00 and carts are optional.

1. Players

2. Tee Time Preference

3. Name of Registrant

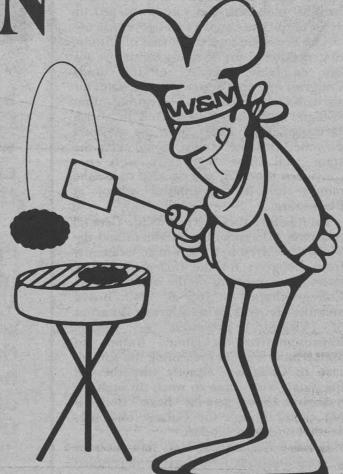

Return to Alumni Office, P.O. Box GO Williamsburg, Va. 23185, before Sept. 29, 1975.

LUNCHEON ON THE LAWN

AT THE ALUMNI HOUSE
11:30 AM TO KICKOFF
(weather permitting)

ALL HOME GAMES

ALL ALUMNI AND BIG GREEN FANS ARE WELCOME

Park your car early, beat the rush, have lunch, meet your friends, walk across the street to the game.

The Great Development Campaign of 1870-93

- The Story of Benjamin Ewell's Battle to Save The College of William and Mary

by Helen Cam Walker '64 Assistant Professor of History

As the College prepares to plunge into Bicentennial celebration with everything from bumperstickers to historical publications and scholarly conferences, a backward glance at William and Mary's observance of the nation's Centennial provides a striking and sobering contrast. Now there are ambitious plans for a major fund drive to strengthen an already flourishing institution; then there was a campaign to save the school. An account of that campaign--waged by an unlikely mixture of southern fire-eaters, Radicals, and carpetbaggers--is a fascinating story. It has a happy ending, but in 1893 rather than in

One hundred years ago William and Mary had little to celebrate. Although President Bejamin S. Ewell had persuaded the Board of Visitors to reopen the College immediately after the Civil War, by the mid-1870's the school still teetered precariously on the brink of financial collapse. It had only a few dozen students, six or seven faculty members, and a library that was open for two hours a week. Contributions in 1866 and 1867 from the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Earl of Derby, and such wealthy American businessmen as A.T. Stewart, William E. Dodge, and August Belmont of New York, and A. E. Borie and A. J. Drexel of Philadelphia, plus donations from a number of the major publishing houses, had enabled Ewell to begin the reconstruction of the College. But he soon realized that the school needed a great deal more money if it were to recover fully from the wartime destruction of its buildings and equipment. After unsuccessful appeals to the Peabody Education Fund and other private philanthropies, Ewell turned in 1870 to the state and federal governments.

The President and the Board of Visitors first petitioned the Virginia legislature for "an equitable portion" of the funds Congress had appropriated to the states for agricultural education. Arguing that William and Mary was located in a rich farming area, Ewell and the Visitors promised that the College would serve the state well. The legislators were not convinced however, and decided to use the money for an agricultural school at Blacksburg.

Even before they learned of the General Assembly's decision, the President and the Visitors resolved to try to win an indemnity from Congress for the College's wartime losses. At a meeting of the alumni in the College chapel on July 6, 1870, Board member Henry A. Wise, a former governor of Virginia, promised to contact Representative Benjamin Butler of Massachusetts about presenting the school's case to Congress. Exactly why the old fire-eater Wise chose to work through the notorious Union general "Beast" Butler is not clear, though the College obviously needed northern support.

Because William and Mary had not been a "loyal" institution, the Visitors never filed an official war claim. Intead they emphasized the accidental and unnecessary character of the fire which destroyed the College buildings in September, 1862--the blaze was probably set by stragglers from a Pennsylvania regiment--and urged that an appropriation would aid in the reconstruction of Virginia and in the reconciliation of North and South. President Ewell had already collected letters

"Many Senators still believed the College had done as much destroy the nation as to found it."

"By 1879 the school was in such sad shape President Ewell fight had to off proposals to remove it to Alexandria or Sewanee, Tennessee."

President Ewell

". . . the friends of this bill press it from one Congress to another with a pertinacity that challenges the imagination."

"One of the most prominent Republicans in Virginia declares he sends his son here in the confident belief that he will not be insulted on account of his politics."

"They considered the destruction of the College was simply part of the price the South had to pay for its failed refrom several Union generals who agreed that the burning of the College had been a deplorable accident of war. Generals Grant, Sherman, McClellan, Schofield, and Burnside sympathized with Ewell's determination to rebuild the school. General Meade, the hero of Gettysburg, wrote that "its reconstruction, under the direction and superintendence of Professor Benj. S. Ewell, will tend to cement and strengthen the bonds of Union, and to give encouragement to the growth and spreading of Union principles. . . ." By late July, 1870, Ben Butler had agreed to help. That winter he introduced the College's petition for relief in the House of Representatives, where it was promptly referred to the Committee on Education and Labor. Testifying before the committee, President Ewell carefully noted that the College made no legal claim against the government. He simply recounted the early history of the College and argued that an institution which had contributed so much to the nation should not be allowed to perish. Surely the $69,000 that the College was requesting was a small price for the reconstruction of the alma mater of Jefferson, Marshall, Randolph, and Monroe. Ewell also produced the letters of support from the Union generals and stressed the importance of the College to the people of Virginia. Finally, he denied that an indemnity to William and Mary would open the floodgates for thousands of unwarrented war claims. William and Mary was unique in its history; no other southern school could make such an appeal to the Congress and the nation. Ewell won over the committee. Chairman Samuel Arnell, a Radical from Tennessee, presented a favorable report to the House on March 3, 1871. But the session ended before the House could act.

The bill was revived in the next Congress, and in January, 1872, President Ewell made his second of four appearances on Capitol Hill. His testimony was almost identical to that he had given a year earlier, but this time he acquired two important allies. The new chairman of the Committee on Education and Labor, Legrand W. Perce, a carpetbagger from Mississippi, fought hard for the bill, as did George F. Hoar of Massachusetts who would prove a devoted friend of the College for the next twenty years. Although both men were Radical Republicans, they shared a deep interest in federal aid to education, especially in the wartorn South. Under Perce's leadership, the committee once again reported favorably on the William and Mary bill. The New York Times gave editorial support to the measure "because the claim is just, and because it is made for the interest of education in a Southern state where education has been sadly interfered with.'

Debate began in the House in early February. Several northerners in addition to Perce and Hoar spoke in favor of the bill. Representative Storm of Pennsylvania noted that William and Mary was the "alma mater of our greatest statesmen, jurors, and soldiers." "It has been very truly remarked that the history of William and Mary is in a measure the history of this country," added Representative Parker of New Hampshire. But many congressmen opposed the measure; they could see no reason why federal funds should go to a rebel school. They considered that the destruction of the College was simply part of the price the South had to pay for its failed rebellion. As George Hoar observed in his autobiography, "The William and Mary College bill was reported at the time when the passions excited by the War were still burning in the breasts of many Republican statesmen."

President Ewell, who had been a Unionist up until 1861, countered these "bloody shirt" arguments as best he could. He wrote to Representative Perce in late February that the secession flag had never been raised on the College buildings, and since the War the College had educated all who had applied, regardless of political preference or regional background. "One of the most prominent Republicans in Virginia declares that he sends his son [here] in the confident belief that he will not be insulted on account of his politics," Ewell reported. He went on to point out that since 1865 the school had awarded honorary degrees to prominent northerners, and for two years the faculty "gave preaching accomodations in the college premises to the northern Methodists who could not get them elsewhere in Williamsburg." Ewell also enlisted the aid of Dr. D. R. Brower, the superintendent of Eastern Lunatic Asylum. Brower, a union veteran from Pennsylvania urged Representative Kelley of Pennsylvania to support the William and Mary bill and assured him of the loyalty of the College faculty. Finally, in May, 1872, Ewell took the dramatic step of publicly endorsing President Grant for a second term and admitting that he had also favored the general in 1868.

Ewell's exertions may have had some effect. Although the House rejected the bill in December, 1872, it reversed itself and passed a similar measure by a small margin in February, 1873. The College promptly rewarded its friends Pearce and Hoar with honorary degrees. Each received an LL.D. on February 22, 1873. Unfortunately, the Senate never considered the bill, and another Congress ended without any relief

Ewell was not discouraged. Although Legran Perce lost his House seat, George Hoar remained a staunch advocate in the Congress. Moreover, the approaching Centennial seemed an auspicious time for the College to assert its historical importance. In the spring of 1874 Ewell testified for the third time before the House Committee on Education and Labor, but opponents of the bill blocked consideration.

for William and Mary.

Undaunted, friends of the College continued the campaignoutside of Congress. A widely circulated History of the College of William and Mary from its Foundation, 1660, to 1874 emphasized the number of great men who had studied there during the eighteenth century. In 1875 the Virginia novelist and biographer John Esten Cooke contributed a laudatory short history of the College to Scribner's Monthly, a magazine known for its espousal of reconciliation between North and South. George Hoar had also emphasized the theme of reconciliation in a letter to the Boston Advertiser in March, 1875. Urging the people of Massachusetts and especially the sons of Harvard to contribute to the rebuilding of William and Mary, Hoar argued that such aid would be a fitting gesture for the Centennial year. U.S. Commissioner of Education John Eaton, another former carpetbagger and advocate of federal aid to education, was so impressed with Hoar's suggestion that he reprinted the letter in his annual report. Eaton felt that the movement to aid William and Mary, whether with congressional or private funds, would promote both learning and goodwill. He also hoped that it would help interest the South in the Centennial celebration.

Although this barrage of propaganda had little practical impact--William and Mary was still in desperate straits--it did serve to keep the plight of the College before the country. Early in 1876 Ewell and his supporters turned again to Congress. Representative Gilbert C. Walker, former Conservative governor of Virginia, told Ewell on January 7 that he doubted anything could be accomplished during the current session but assured the President that he stood ready to help in any way he could. Ewell perserved. He finally persuaded Representative John Goode of Norfolk, who was a member of the Board of Visitors of the College, to introduce the bill. As usual it was referred to the Committee on Education and Labor. Again Ewell journeyed to Washington to present his case, and again the committee responded favorably. George Hoar brought the slightly modified bill to the floor of the House, where he once more argued eloquently for its adoption. Moved perhaps by the Centennial spirit, the House passed the measure on April 7, 1876. Any joy at this victory was short lived, the spirit of '76 did not extend to the upper house. Many Senators still believed that the College had done as much to destroy the nation as to found it. Thus the Centennial year proved no lucklier than any other for William and Representative Goode became chairman of the Committee on Education and Labor in the Forty-Fifth Congress and made one last attempt to pass the bill during the 1878-79 session. Opponents were amazed at such dogged persistence. Representative Keifer of Ohio observed that "the friends of this bill press it from one Congress to another with a pertinacity that challenges admiration. The many speeches made in this and former Congresses in favor of the payment of the claim of William and Mary College would make a large volume."

"It has been truly remarked that the history of William and Mary is in a measure a history of this country."

Representative Conger of Michigan thought it strange that so many northern men favored the bill and added that he could not remember another issue that "had brought to its aid so much eloquence, so much rhetoric, so many appeals to the higher sentiments of our nature." The opponents indulged in some hot rhetoric themselves. Thomas Reed of Maine and Martin Townsend of New York answered George Hoar's now-familiar defense of the bill with a vigorous "waving of the bloody shirt." Reed raised the specter of an enormous southern raid on the U.S. Treasury, and Townsend ridiculed Hoar's constant references to William and Mary's distinguished graduates.

It is because this College forgot her great menthat she comes here to-day suppliant, cringing, begging for money at the hands of those whose sons she has caused to lie down in bloody graves by the side of her own sons that she hounded on to death and destruction.

Townsend also punctured the reconciliation argument by pointing out that only one of the representatives from Virginia had voted for the Centennial appropriations in the last Congress--and he was a despied carpetbagger. Even in the 1870's the old sectional feelings ran high; the bill was defeated 87 to 127, with 75 not voting.

The defeat was nearly fatal to William and Mary. By 1879 the school was in such sad shape that President Ewell had to fight off proposals to remove it to Alexandria or Sewanee, Tennessee. Two years later he had to close the College. Though he insisted that this was merely a temporary setback and faithfully rang the bell each October to mark the new academic year, Ewell must have despaired of ever putting the College back on its feet. In 1883 he came up with a plan to make William and Mary the state normal school and even got the Peabody Fund to promise a contribution of $8,000 a year. But the Board of Visitors balked at surrendering the College character and property to the state.

While the College languished during the 1880's, a few of her old supporters kept faith. George Hoar renewed his plea for contributions to William and Mary in a speech at Harvard's 250th anniversary celebration in 1886. He still believed that Harvard men had a special obligation to help save the old Virginia institution. A few months earlier another Massachusetts man, Edwin D. Meade, had made a similar appeal on behalf of William and Mary during a talk in Boston. In 1887 the U.S. Bureau of Education published a history of the College by the distinguished historian Herbert Baxter Adams, as one of its Circulars of Information. Although Commissioner of Education N.H.R. Dawson denied that the pamphlet was "a special plea for the College of William and Mary," it certainly had that appearance. Adams waxed indignant that the Congress had refused to honor William and Mary's claim, especially when the Treasury bulged with surplus funds. "An institution which was once a beacon of learning and of political intelligence, not alone for Virginia but for the whole South and for the country at large, has been suffered to decline by a nation which owes it an actual although paltry debt of $70,000."

Help came at last in 1888--but from the state rather than from the federal government. The Virginia General Assembly agreed to appropriate $10,000 annually for William and Mary; in return the College undertook to train young men to teach in the public schools, though it did not immediately become a state institution. With the survival of the College assured, Benjamin Ewell retired from the presidency. To his successor, Lyon G. Tyler, would fall the task of guiding the school into the modern age and also the pleasure of witnessing the long awaited victory in Congress.

By 1892 wartime hostilities had begun to fade. When George Hoar, now a Senator, and several northern representatives brought up the proposal to indemnify William and Mary, they encountered little of the old bitterness. The bill, which provided for the payment of $64,000 to the College, passed both houses near the end of the session in February, 1893. The one remaining concern was whether President Benjamin Harrison would sign it. Tyler and other College officials went to Washington to try to arrange a meeting with the President. To the end George Hoar proved helpful. He accompanied them to the White House, repeated all of the arguments in the College's favor, and reminded Harrison that his own ancestor had attended William and Mary. As Hoar recalled the scene in his autobiography:

The President listened with a rather disgusted look, until I got through, and just as I rose to take my leave, said: "Mr. Hoar, have you got any reasons except sentimental ones?" I said I had no others, except those I had stated. The gentlemen went out very down-hearted, and said when they got out that of course he would veto the bill. I said: "I think I know the man pretty well, and I think there is more than an even chance that he will sign it," and he did.

In 1894 historian Marcus J. Wright presented a portrait of George F. Hoar to William and Mary. "Knowing the earnest and valuable assistance which Judge Hoar had rendered to the college, I doubt not you will be able to place this picture in the College Library," Wright wrote to President Tyler. If the picture ever hung there, it has long since disappeared. Nothing on the campus gives any indication of Hoar's important role in the history of the College. Were the Massachusetts Radical alive today, however, he would be pleased to see the prosperity of the old school, and he would most certainly approve of the Bicentennial motto, "Alma Mater of the Nation."

11 Rugged Opponents Portend Trouble

by Bob Sheeran

Football practice opened for from the looks of the season's schedule, Coach Jim Root and his staff will Tribe's

North Carolina, Sept. 6, at Chapel Hill. Last season the Tar Heels went 7-4-0 and went to the Sun Bowl. The offense has been hard hit by graduation; however, they have one of the backs in the history of the NCAA. Jim "Boom-Boom" Betterson and Mike Voight each rushed for over 1,000 yards, and if head coach Vince Dooley can assemble a new offensive line the Big Blue could be awesome. Defensively, Carolina looks solid, with six starters and several letter-

East Carolina, Sept. 20, at Green-

Defensive lineman Ken Brown will play an important role in Jim Root's efforts to fend off the offense of the Tribe's 11 opponents this fall.

ville. ECU also went 7-4-0 last year and the outlook appears to be about Williamsburg (Homecoming). The Sharpe will have an incredible 45 the same for 1975. Coach Pat Dye William and Mary on Aug. 17, and intends to install a more productive passing game to balance a strong running attack. Thirty lettermen will be need every minute at their disposal to returning, including the entire offensive line. The backbone of ECU's opponents. A look at the opposition: success has been defense, but graduation has depleted the "Wild Dog" bunch, notably the entire linebacking corps and two of the front four. The secondary should be tough with the return of all four starters. The Pimost potent 1-2 punches at running rates are picked by many to take the aerial attack. conference title.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 27, at Pittsburgh. Tony Dorsett has rushed for 2,690 yards in his first two seasons with the Panthers and is expected to lead his team to a top 20 ranking this year. Pitt must find a new quarterback, and whoever wins the job will have a talented group of receivers to throw to. Newcomers will be counted on attribute last season's success, will throughout the offensive line. Defenagain be strong. The Scarlet Knights sively, six starters are back and the figure to be tough to run against, and group. If Pitt can establish a decent passing game to combine with one of the finest runners in the country, team. Eight starters on offense are back, led by conference Player-ofhold down the quarterback berth. Obviously, a mighty optmistic picture is coming out of Charleston and Coach Ross is looking for the conferrence title.

Bobcats visit Williamsburg for the returning lettermen to work with. Indians' home opener and Homecoming. Last year Ohio recorded a stronger this year, with the heart of 6-5 ledger and is expected to improve on that mark slightly. In all, 31 lettermen return (13 starters), mostly of- alignment lost four starters along the fensive and defensive linemen. They will be working with a new quarterback and two backfield positions are three of the four starters returning. up for grabs. The defensive secondary will also have several new faces and could be suspect against the Rutgers, Oct. 18, at New Brunswick. Some are calling it the best Rutgers team in ages, and on paper that may well be the case. Most of last year's standouts on defense and offense return, so improving the 7-3-1 record is almost taken for granted. The offensive backfield is intact and the defensive unit, to which most front four are a rugged, experienced if some newcomers come through on offense the overall showing of Rutgers could be most impressive.

Furman, Oct. 25, in Williamsburg. The Paladins had a disappointing The Citadel, Oct. 4, at Charleston. 5-6-0 record last season but most ob-Head coach Bobby Ross feels "this is servers expect them to bounce back the year" for his squad. Last season and challenge for the conference tithe Bulldogs went 4-7-0 and were a tle. Coach Art Baker has 40 letter predominantly sophomore - laden men returning, among them eight starters on both offense and defense. Furman had the 13th best defense in the-Year Andrew Johnson, who the nation last year and it looks like rushed for 1,373 yards in 1974. The they are all back. Injuries plagued the offensive line is intact and that spells offense and if Furman's troops can trouble in trying to stop the ground stay healthy, there is little question attack. Gene Dotson is returning to they will improve greatly on last season's record. If a solid passing attack Defensively, Brian Ruff (LB) spear- can balance the effective running heads the return of nine starters. game the Paladins title hopes could become reality.

> Virginia Tech. Nov. 1, at Norfolk. The Hokies went 4-7-0 last year, but everyone feels things can be turned Ohio University, Oct. 11, in around in 1975. Coach Jimmy E. The wishbone attack should be the offense coming back. While the offense seems set, the defensive front and Sharpe must come up with replacements. The secondary has So while there might be some weakness against the rush, a speedy outfit awaits the opposition's passing game.

VMI, Nov. 8, at Lexington. What can be said about the miracle team of '74 that has not already been said? The Keydets got it all together last year, in winning the championship (7-4-0). Coach Bob Thalman will have 41 lettermen back, including 10 starters on defense, an obvious strength for the upcoming season. A new quarterback must be found and the loss of All-American Andy Dearman (OG) makes the offensive picture somewhat cloudy.

Colgate, Nov. 15, in Williamsburg. Last year Colgate posted a 4-6-0 record, primarily because of a strong running game but a weak defense. 28 lettermen return, mostly on defense which should help improve that situation. They are looking for a winning season and if coach Neil Wheelwright can establish a better passing attack and strengthen the depth on defense, last year's record can be turned around.

Richmond, Nov. 22, in Williamsburg. The Spiders started off the 1974 season like gangbusters but iniuries slowed them considerably and they finished with a 5-6-0 record. 25 lettermen return in this, a rebuilding year. Who can forget the 54-12 thrashing W&M handed them in the season finale? Richmond won't, that's for sure. A new offensive backfield and a stronger defense should be on

HOW TO ORDER YOUR 1975 WILLIAM & MARY FOOTBALL SEASON TICKETS

Season ticket orders will be filled first. Last year's season ticket holders will receive same seat

Individual game tickets ordered in addition to season tickets will not necessarily be adjacent to

All orders must be accompanied by check, money order, or charge card number.

Sideline tickets are $28.00 each and end zone tickets are $16.00 each. There is no reduction for early applications.

To order season tickets, fill in the enclosed form with your check, money order or charge card number and mail to: W&M FOOTBALL TICKETS, BOX 399, WILLIAMSBURG, VIRGINIA 23185.

Date	Opponent	Place	Time	Tickets
Sept. 6	North Carolina	Chapel Hill, N. C.	1:30 p.m.	$8.00
Sept. 20	East Carolina	Greenville, N. C.	7:00 p.m.	7.00
Sept. 27	Pittsburgh	Pittsburgh, Pa.	1:30 p.m.	7.00
Oct. 4	The Citadel	Charleston, S. C.	7:30 p.m.	6.00
Oct. 11	OHIO U.	HOMECOMING	2:00 p.m.	7.00
Oct. 18	Rutgers	New Brunswick, N. J.	1:30 p.m.	6.00
Oct. 25	FURMAN	PARENT'S WEEKEND	1:30 p.m.	7.00
Nov. 1	Virginia Tech	Norfolk, Va.	2:00 p.m.	7.00
Nov. 8	V. M. I.	Lexington, Va.	1:30 p.m.	6.00
Nov. 15	COLGATE	BAND DAY	1:30 p.m.	7.00
Nov. 22	RICHMOND	WILLIAMSBURG, VA.	1:30 p.m.	7.00

For ticket information write: W&M TICKET OFFICE, Box 399, Williamsburg, Virginia 23185

1975 WILLIAM AND MARY FOOTBALL TICKET ORDER FORM

ORDER ALL TICKETS ON THIS BLANK		NO.	PRICE	тот	AL
SEASON TICKETS	SIDELINE		$28.00
	END ZONE		$16.00	R ADDRESS
ADDITIONAL OR INDIVIDUAL GAMES
HOME GAN Four Games at Cary I		NO. Sideli	PRICE	NO.	PRICE nd Zone	TOTAL	TIME
Oct. 11 OHIO U. (Homecoming)			$7.00		$4.00	William Committee	2:00
Oct. 25 FURMAN (Parent's Weeken	d)		7.00		4.00		1:30
Nov. 15 COLGATE (Band Day)		THE PERSON	7.00		4.00		1:30
Nov. 22 RICHMOND			7.00	20 (20)	4.00	territ tunion	1:30
AWAY GAMES			NO.	PRICE	TOTAL	TIME
ept. 6 North Carolina Chapel Hill, N. C.		2 5 15 5 5	$8.00	44.4	1:30
ot. 20 East Carolina Greenville, N. C.			7.00	CONTROL OF THE PARTY OF THE PAR	7:00
Sept. 27 Pittsburgh Pittsburg	t. 27 Pittsburgh Pittsburgh, Pa.			7.00		1:30
Oct. 4 The Citadel Charlesto	4 The Citadel Charleston, S. C.			6.00	ELECTRONIC STATE	7:30
Oct. 18 Rutgers New Bru	. 18 Rutgers New Brunswick, N. J.			1 566	6.00	STATE OF THE STATE OF	1:30
Nov. 1 Virginia Tech (Oyster E	1 Virginia Tech (Oyster Bowl) Norfolk		N STORAGE	7.00	Washing to the	2:00
Nov. 8 V. M. I. Lexington	Lexington, Va.		A TOPE OF	6.00	THE PARTY AND	1:30
1975 W&M Football Brochure*	Egaloge District				1.50		THE WAS
INSURAN	CE, POSTAGE, HANDLIN	G		9000		.50
		TOT	AL		The state of the s

NAME
ADDRESS
CITY	STATE
ZIPBUS	INESS PHONE
Charge to my	y check for my tickets. y BankAmericard or Master- #
Expiration dat	'e

MAKE CHECKS FOR TICKETS PAYABLE TO WMAA.

^{*}Free copy for Tomahawk Club Members

Alumni Presidents and Group Leaders

VIRGINIA:

Charlottesville: John C. Seidler, '63 (Chapter) President) 1608 Greenleaf Lane, Charlottesville, 22903.

Lower Peninsula: Aubrey H. Fitzgerald, '56 (Chapter President) 5 Poindexter Place, Newport News, 23606.

Lynchburg: No active officers at present. Norfolk-Virginia Beach: Jack Bruce, '49 (Chapter President) 1748 Skyline Drive, Norfolk, 23518.

Portsmouth: Dr. John R. St. George, '25 (Chapter President) 307 Park Road, Glensheallah, Portsmouth, 23707.

Richmond: Walter W. Stout (Pete), '64, (Chapter President) 904 Orchard Road, Richmond, 23226.

Roanoke: Nancy Spigle (Mrs. William), '55 (Chapter President) 2304 Cantle Lane, SW, Roanoke, 24018.

CALIFORNIA:

San Diego: The following three individuals are the chapter coordinators: Carol Prewitt (Mrs. Thomas C.), '69, 3851 G Miramar St., La Jolla, 92037. Carol Blomstrom (Mrs. Keith B.), '63, 4825 Canterbury Dr., San Diego, 92116. Robert W. Reighley, '63, 4699 Betty Street, San Diego, 92109.

OR CONTACT: Mrs. Stewart Sell (Pat), '58 (Also member of Society Board of Directors) 8440 Cliffridge Lane, La Jolla, 92037.

San Francisco: Margaret Bangs (Mrs. William), '70 (Interest Group Contact) 330 South El Monto Ave., Los Altos, 94022.

Los Angeles: Rene A. Henry, '54 (Interest Group Contact) Suite 312, 9301 Wilshire Blvd., Beverly Hills, 90210.

CONNECTICUT:

Hartford-Springfield: No active officers at present.

DELAWARE:

Wilmington: John J. Crum, '45 (Interest Group Contact) 1231 Crestover Road, Wilmington, 19803.

FLORIDA:

Miami: Iver Brook, '44 (Interest Group Contact) 111 Sunrise Avenue, Coral Gables, 33133.

GEORGIA

Atlanta: Mark O. Shriver, IV, '71

(Chapter President) 1260 Oak Grove Drive, Decatur 30033.

ILLINOIS:

Chicago: Ms. Esther A. Aldige, '71 (Chapter President) 3930 North Pine Grove, #1915, Chicago, 60613.

KENTUCKY:

Louisville: Robert Doll, '49 (Interest Group Contact) 5001 Avish Lane, Harrods Creek, Kentucky, 40027.

LOUISIANA:

New Orleans: Mary Ward Frohn (Mrs. David), '67 (Chapter President) 4912 Kennedy Street, Metairie, 70002.

OR John F. Morton, '59 (Also member, Society Board of Directors) 336 N. Jefferson Davis Pkwy., Suite 204, New Orleans, 70119.

MARYLAND:

Baltimore: Thomas D. Jasper, '71 (Chapter President) 1035 Kenilworth Drive, Towson, 21204.

MASSACHUSETTS:

Boston: William C. Allison, '53 (Interest Group Contact) 33 Whiting Road, Wellesley Hills 02181.

MICHIGAN:

Detroit: Harvey Shuler, '39 (Interest Group Contact) 1235 North Glenhurst Drive, Birmingham 48009.

MISSOURI:

Kansas City: Michael Zuk, Law '72 (Chapter President) Mercantile Bank and Trust Co., 1101 Walnut, K.C., Mo. 64106. St. Louis: Ken S. Kranzberg, '59 (Interest Group Contact) 135 North Forsyth Blvd., St. Louis 63105.

NEW JERSEY:

Central N.J.: Betsy Asher (Mrs. Garland) '67 (Interest Group Contact) 17 Sherbrook Drive, Princeton Junction, 08550.

NEW YORK:

New York City: Robert S. Andrialis, '65

(Interest Group Contact) Standard & Poor's, 345 Hudson St., N.Y.C. 10014.

OR: Norman Moomjian, '55 (Also a member Society Board of Directors) Copain Restaurant, 1st Ave. at 50th St., N.Y.C. 10022.

OHIO:

Cincinnati: Bernie Nolan, '51 (Chapter President) 1437 Herschel Avenue, Cincinnati 45208.

Northern Ohio: Daniel J. Giffen, '60 (Chapter President) 2732 Fairmount Blvd., Cleveland Heights 44106.

OREGON:

Portland: Ms. Lorraine Burgio, '71 (Interest Group Contact) Route 2, Box 445, Troutdale, 97060.

PENNSYLVANIA:

Philadelphia: Owen Knopping, '61 (Chapter President) 632 Greythorne Road, Wynnewood, 19096.

Pittsburgh: G. Ashley Woolridge '64 (Chapter President) 1612 Frick Building, Pittsburgh 15219.

RHODE ISLAND:

Providence: Susan Allen (Mrs. Jeffrey) '65 (Interest Group Contact) 4 Ellis Street, Barrington 02806.

TEXAS:

Dallas-Ft. Worth: Thomas A. Cochran, Jr. '58 (Chapter President) 3318 Princeton, Dallas 75205.

Houston: P. Scott Stone, '55 (Chapter President) 2206 Fenwood, Pasadena,

San Antonio: Dee Dee Harvey (Mrs. Hudnall), '40 (Interest Group Contact) 265 East Elmview Place, San Antonio, 78209.

WASHINGTON (state):

Seattle: H. Mason Sizemore, '63 (Interest Group Contact) 10008 35th Avenue, NE, Seattle, 98125.

OR: Susan Vukich (Mrs. Robert), '46 8615 187th Place, Edmonds 98020.

ENGLAND:

London: Jack E. Morpurgo, '38 (Chapter President) Cliff Cottage, 51 Cliff Road, Leeds, LS 6.

LUMNI CHAPTER ACTIVIT

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VIRGIN- or send your reservation to Henry or you may partake of that provided IA: The chapter is sponsoring a bus George, 4409 Bromley Lane, Rich- for $0.50 per drink. to the William and Mary-North Caro- mond, 23221. Home Phone: (804) lina football game on September 6. For 358-9529, Office Phone: (804) details on cost, time of departure, etc. 771-7477. contact: John C. Seidler, '63, 1608 Greenleaf Lane, Charlottesville, 22903. Home Phone: (804) 296-8010, Office Phone: (804) 293-9141.

VIRGINIA: The RICHMOND, Chapter is sponsoring a bus to the William and Mary-North Carolina football game in Chapel Hill, N.C. on September 6. The bus will leave from the parking lot behind the Crossroads Holiday Inn at 2000 Staples Mill Road (just past Broad Street) at 8:45 A.M., and will return after the game, with a stop at the post-game party for a short while. The cost will be $15.00 per person, which includes bus fare, game ticket, and set-ups on

CHAPEL HILL, a first-come-first-served basis, so call may "brown-bag" your own supply, sible.

IA: When William and Mary invades Education Department at Oak Grove Pitt's territory on September 27, an NORTH enthusiastic group of alumni and CAROLINA: The scene of the friends will be there to cheer the William and Mary-North Carolina Indians on. The pre-game celebragame will experience an influx of tion will be held at the University cheering Indians on September 6. Fol- Club in Oakland, which is within walklowing the football game, there will ing distance of the Pitt stadium. Bebe a victory celebration (even if we ginning at 11:00 A.M., there will be a should lose!) at the Holiday Inn in cash bar and a hardy bunch buffet. Chapel Hill. The Inn is located on The brunch buffet will be $4.50 per the US 15-501 Bypass at Eastgate, person. If you would like game tickand is three miles from the UNC ets with the group, please so indicate, campus. Visiting Virginia alumni will with the number, and enclose $7.00 join with the Carolina William and per ticket. Brunch reservations and Mary alumni and fans for this oc- tickets requests, with checks for the casion. A cover charge of $2.00 per total amount, should be sent to G. person will be necessary to take care Ashley Woolridge, 1612 Frick Buildthe bus (BYOL). Bus spaces will be on of the room rental and set-ups. You ing, Pittsburgh, 15219, as soon as pos-

Freshest Advice

H. Page Williams of Raleigh, N.C., writes that PITTSBURGH, PENNSYLVAN- his daughter, Mary Page, spent the summer with them. She is Head of the Physical Tampa, Fla. She was a great help to her mother who has been blind for five years. 'Red" is still enjoying golf. He shoots in the low forties! Their two married sons live in Raleigh one is an industrial engineer at Westinghouse, the other is head basketball coach at Martin Junior High (his teams have won the Raleigh championships two years in a row). "Red" and his wife have seven grandchildren - six boys and a darling little girl, one and a half.

> Jesse Choate Phillips 4213 Orchard Hill Road Harrisburg, Pa. 17110

Carter Harrison, our peripatetic parson, spent most of this past winter doing the back of beyond places of Central and South America. The food and accommodations were hardly up to "third class hardship" but he came out with nothing worst than a messy crop of whiskers. The object and highlight of the adventure was visit to Manchu Picha, the recently discovered talked with Alberta Parker Warren. Her lost city of the Incas, and the pre-Inca ruins near Cusco. Seeing them is an unbelievable, undescribable experience. Being accomplished linguist, he became friends with some of the natives and was invited to their houses for food and drink, thanks to his knowledge of Spanish.

Meanwhile his wife, Margo, was spending the winter in Saudi Arabia with their son and his wife at Taif. He teaches English to the Saudi airforce mechanics so they can read the repair manuals for their American planes while his wife helps in the clinic for the American settlement. Margo's description of the country and her experiences as a woman travelling alone, contrary to all the customs of the mid-East, is really fascinating. The Harrisons are a hardy pair to whom 50th reunions are just another day.

Carolyn Sinclair, our most prolific writer, has another book to her credit: Stories of Old Glauster, published in April by McClure Press. To add to her many honors, Madison College recently awarded her the title of Professor Emeritus. We were pleased to see Carolyn at the reunion and extend congratulations.

Saw Trixie Johnson at the reunion so was surprised and saddened to learn of her recent death.

Elizabeth DeShazo Whitlock, our nationally Registered Professional Parlimentarian, not only serves ten State and three national organizations, but conducts classes and workshops in her specialty from high school through univesity professor levels. Besides being active in the DAR and Federation of Women's Clubs, she is on the Board of Trustes of Ferrum College and recently served as Chairman of the Adm. Bd. of Ginter Park United Methodist Church, the first woman to be so honored. She is a real activist in the best sense of that term. Congratulations, Elizabeth.

Why not drop your reporter a note if only to say you're still getting up in the morning.

Elizabeth and Johnson C. Moss 1007 Malvern Avenue Richmond, Va. 23221

We have waited almost to the deadline to send in this note, hoping to hear from more members of 1926.

Have enjoyed each note received and each contact made with those who live in Richmond. However, we have heard from more in the Classes of 1927 and 1928 than from our own class members. We even received a note from one who was a freshman our Senior year and he sent us a picture he had taken of us in our graduation gowns.

Just a reminder that next June we will be celebrating the Fiftieth Anniversary of our graduation and this should be a very special time for all of us.

Let the Class of 1926, in the Spirit of 1776, join for a great reunion in 1976. Let us hear from you soon.

Leonard Born 990 Chestnut San Francisco, Calif. 94109

Zelda Swartz Vittal of Long Beach, Calif., writes that she is enjoying retirement by remaining active and interested in educational institutions and travel. Frequently she has nostalgic feelings for the College, but not having been back since 1928, she is sure she would not recognize the area, but hopes to see all of us for our 50th reunion. She does not realize her classmates too may no longer be recognizable as she would be black-haired and agile. I hope we meet in

Frank and Sewell Hopkins, the knowledgeable extroverts, are still functioning; Frank active as a "Futurist" in on panels, boards and such to assure us there is a future and we may be able to help shape it if we contact him and cooperate. nv Fl following details of her decendants. She worked in a biological lab. in the United States Dept. of Agriculture for six years and later taught school for 16 years. In 1930, she married Dr. Charles Drechsler, a plant pathologist. Now they both are retired. Their oldest son is with United Airlines, their daughter is a librarian in an Illinois library, and the youngest son received a degree from University of Maryland. They hope that some of the six grandchildren will attend the College.

I am your old-new secretary. I was able to assist Warren Heemann, Vice President of W&M's Development Office, locally in meeting 25 alumni for lunches, etc., plus a helicopter over San Francisco and yellow rowboat ride on Belveder Lagoon.

Mrs. Joseph N. James (Eleanor C. Williamson) Millwood, Va. 22646 It was moving day in Harrisonburg when I daughter and her family were coming to live with Alberta and she looked forward to hearing the rafters ring with young voices. An older grandson is a student at Madison College so the household now numbers seven. In spite of some delicate and difficult heart surgery she has recovered sufficiently to look happily upon the next phase of her life.

Dr. Tom B. Pope and his wife celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary in May and at the same time attended his 40th class reunion at M.C.V. He is still in active practice in Petersburg, Va., but finds time to hunt, fish, and play golf. It will be a happy day to see them at our 45th reunion in October.

Truman C. Welling's son, Peter, is a student at Marshall-Wythe Law School, after completing undergraduate work at the College. The piscopal Church Women of Cunningham Chapel Parish, of which I am president, is having a house tour of the beautiful and historic old homes of Millwood and a craft show and sale at the Burwell-Morgan Mill October 4 from 10-4. I hope many of you will enjoy that day with us, as well as homecoming the next weekend. If you aren't coming send me a picture for the "now" album.

Edward Trice vouches for the fun we had in 1970 and joins me and Sarah Everett Woolford, our 1930 Vice President and chairman of our Homecoming Committee, in saying BE IN WILLIAMSBURG October 10th and 11th.

Mrs. Thomas C. Bradshaw (Josephine M. Habel) 131 North Main Street Blackstone, Va. 23824

John W. Tuthill is retiring as Director General of Atlantic Institute for International Affairs and is planning to teach or take a consulting job either in the USA or in Europe. We hope it will be in the USA. His address is 120 rue de Longchamp, Paris 75116 France.

A letter from Elizabeth Vernon Hope Urban in Edenburgh, Scotland, says she is settling down to do some writing. We wish her good luck in her ancestors land

"Speedy" Britton (Mack G. Britton) is living in Orlando, Fla. since retirement from military service and area communication for Civil Defense. He is doing a lot of travelling. Has been to Alaska, South America and other points on the globe. It is good to get news from the Class of '32.

Bernard B. Brugh 6130 Osborne Road Landover, Md. 20783

A good letter from Norman MacLeod brings us up to date on his interesting career. While he has just retired as Assistant Treasurer for The Ford Foundation, he remains with the Foundation as a consultant. In addition, he has been, and still remains, the Financial Advisor for the International Maize and Wheat Improvement Center located in Mexico and the International Crops Research Institute For The Semi-Arid Tropics located in Hyderabad, India. Because of these two positions, he must visit, about once a year, many of the interesting and exotic places in Europe, Asia and Mexico. Also, so that life will not become dull, he is a director of the Andrews-Hart Corporation in New York City where he maintains an all-year office.

Norm and his wife, Edith, have two children; a married daughter who has been living in England for the past 61/2 years but who will return to the United States soon, and son who attended Hargrove Military Academy and Culver Stockton College. Edith, at present, is visiting with their daughter in England and Norm plans to join them there

Virginia Drown Smith very graciously sent us a copy of a letter previously written to Randy Davis, President of the Society, in which, among many other things, she says that of the numerous Homecomngs she has attended, the most recent (our 40th reunion) was one of the best, if not the best, of all she has attended. To this, we add a very hearty "Amen".

Although Virginia is a very active businesswoman as President of the Erie Laundry Company, Erie, Penn., she somehow finds a way to devote time to the College as is evidenced not only by her letter, but by the fact that she served two terms as the first, and only, woman director for the Educational Foundation. Makes the rest of us feel a little ashamed of ourselves, doesn't it.

Nathaniel Kates writes that he and his family spend a nostalgic two days in Williamsburg and the College this past November en route from Wellesley, Mass., to their winter home in Palm Beach, Fla. We always knew Nat would reach that winter-in-Florida status. Our first expenditure upon entering W&M in the fall of 1930 was to Nat and his cohorts for bringing our trunk from the C&O station to Monroe Hall. On such hustle and initiative is success built.

It was good to hear from Lillian Carmine had such a successful vacation touring the Carolinas and Georgia. As so many others have done, she speaks very highly of our 40th Class Reunion at Homecoming last October. This makes us think - shouldn't our 41st Reunion this fall be just as enjoyable? Think about it.

Frances Spindle Harris tells us she is enjoying her retirement and taking short trips in Virginia, frequently to Williamsburg to APVA, DAR and UDC meetings. She is looking forward to Homecoming this fall, seeing once again her schoolmates and visiting relatives. She mentions especially the Class Directory sent her by the Alumni Society and what a help it has been to her in getting in touch with

When one of our classmates writes that she has not received any mail from alumni in the past forty years, we believe something should be done about it - and so it shall. Such is the plight of Mary Lucille Ogg whose address is now Trevilians, Va. 23170. Come on, gang. Keep in

We wish to add that letters such as these tend to confirm our long-time suspicion that the Class of '34 was, and is, something special. Let us hear from more and more of you so that we can let others know just how special we are!

If it is permitted, we should like to add a personal note. On the morning of May 23rd this year, we visited Alumni House where we were most graciously received. While there, we mentioned to Gordon Vliet that we had lost touch with Eddie Plummer, '33, who had been our roommate in Monroe Hall for two years. A search of Society records revealed the last contact they had with Eddie was in 1948. From which resulted in locating Eddie via telephone and we were able to talk with him for a while for the first time in about 36 years. There is no way we can express adequately our appreciation to Gordon, Trudi Neese and others at Alumni House for the many courtesies extended us except to urge all of you - get involved with your Alumni Society!

Jasper L. Kranke 3100 S. E. 41st Avenue Ocala, Fla. 32670

Irwin A. Jaslow, M. D. has succeeded James Radcliffe, M. D. '34, as Chief of Staff at St. Lukes Hospital, New Bedford, Mass. Jim had held the post for four years. "Jazz", as we knew Irwin, and his very lovely wife, Emma, have two daughters and a son. The latter is a physician and is emulating his dad by taking a four-year residency in orthopaedic surgery

Dr. Norman J. M. Murray is now Manager of Curriculum and Program Development for the Institute for Personal and Career Development at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant, Mich. The Institute has external degree programs all over the world. Norm is also an instructional and curriculum consultant to the four colleges of medicine, dentistry and the graduate school of biological sciences of the State of New Jersey for their project in computer-assisted instruction. He is retired U.S. Coast Guard Lieutenant Commander, a private airplane pilot, an enthusiastic beekeeper, and a sport fisherman. Norm and his wife recently purchased the Flogel farm in the Cambridge area in the Neck District at Bar Neck.

Jean Wilson Clark says that her life style has changed quite a lot and is now "divided up into several part: part-time mother (youngest is away at school), part-time farmer's wife, part-time dabbler in real estate but all-the-time interested in William and Mary"

It was good to talk with Kenneth "Preacher" Franklin recently. He told me that his son, Jud, (named for Judson Sherrill) received his Ph.D. in English from Vanderbilt University, while his younger son, Alex, graduated from Hampden-Sydney with a B.S. in Economics both this year. In addition to these happy events, a granddaughter arrived - Susannah (Miss America 1995!). "Preacher" said that "life is good and we are enjoying our home, friends and family". He also gave me some information concerning some of our friends who attended the College with us:

Judson "Jud" Sherill is still living in Carmel,

Frank "Squinty" Rennolds is living in Hollywood, Fla. Mildred "Bunnie" Refo Carr is a neighbor.

Fenton Gravely is still in Danville, Va. "Preacher" and his wife, Elise, are ready for the 40th reunion of our class. Let us all join them and make number forty the greatest. Our 35th was not very well attended, in spite of the hard work and efforts of our Class President, Eugene S. Barclay, II, and his wife,

The Reverend Herbert G. Councill, Jr., minister of the United Church of Warsaw, N.Y., has retired after a 34-year career in active professional ministry. Before coming to Warsaw, some sixteen years ago, Herbert has served churches in Canterbury, Conn., Portsmouth, Va., Ticonderoga, N.Y., Norfolk, Va., and Elizabethtown, N.Y. He is the father Sterling and to know that she and her family of five children, two girls and three boys, from his first marriage. He has five grandchildren, as of this date. Herbert married Mary Margaret Carmichael on October 2, 1972 Mary is President of the Carmichael Monument Company of Warsaw and she is very active in the operation of the business. About his second marriage, he said that "I count myself the luckiest man in the world. To put it another way - the MAN upstairs has indeed looked after me in a most excellent manner, and I am truly thankful".

> Mrs. Franklin D. Henderson (Barbara Clawson) Box 17, Irvington, Va. 22480

It's great to have some nice news to pass along to you for this last newsletter. The Alumni Society is replacing class reporters every reuioning year, so let me take this opportunity to thank you all for your wonderful cooperation for the eighteen years that I have been sending in your news. I think that over the years there has been only once that I didn't have anything to report. It has been great hearing from you.

Milton Kaplan, who lives at 843 Cox Avenue, Chillum Terrace, Md., retired last December 31 from the Library of Congress as Curator of Historical Prints, Prints and Photographs Division after nearly 34 years of service at Library of Congress. A slightly revised and enlarged edition of his book "The Story of the Declaration of Independence" republished by Oxford University Press this spring. The Macmillan Company will publish an updated edition of another book which he this point, Gordon did some expert sleuthing co-authored, "The Ungentlemenly Act". He will stay in the field of pictorial documentation, doing freelance research and consulting work.

Winston Menzel of Tallahassee, Fla., is Professor and Associate Chairman, Department of Oceanography at Florida State University. He is President, Gulf Estuarine Research Society and Past President of National Shellfisheries Association. His two sons are in college, one in University of Texas and one in Rice University, and his daughter is in Junior High School.

Edith Harris Nolder is retiring from her job as production editor of the publication, Social asework, and moving with her husband, Percy Nolder, to England which is his home country, to live in a very small village in the Cotswolds. The Thatch, 48 Her address will be Todenham, Moreton-in-Marsh, Gloucestershire, England. What a lovely part of England!

Works by Ruth Doerschuk Dicker of Santa Rosa, Calif., were included in a group show at Foothill Junior College, Los Altos. The show was assembled by the Sempervirens Fund each year sponsoring a show in which recognized California artists devoted to portraying natural California landscapes are invited to show their works. Ruth is known for her interest in and paintings of the woods, and she has had shows in New York, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Stanford University and Oakland Museum. For several years she has done large commissions for various firms including Industrial Indemnity and Parron Hall, San Diego; Fiberboard Corp., Crown Zellerbach and Golden Gateway Corp., all of San Francisco; Wells Fargo Bank, Yosemite; The Nut Tree Restaurant, Vacaville; and Bank of Sonama County and Ecodyne Corp., Santa Rosa. Great to hear what you are doing after all these years, Ruth.

Doris Locke Grady is the Cape May County librarian in Cape May Courthouse, N.J. In recent years the concepts of library service have expanded to cover a much wider community service and Doris not only makes final decisions on books to buy but also tapes, records, films and art works, talking books for the blind and large print editions and works in braile, besides many programs and exhibits all making the library the focal point of the cultural community.

This summer we have been lucky in seeing some old friends. We had luncheon and a little visit with Ned and Helen Gudebrod LeGrande at their lovely farm near Pottstown, Pennsylvania, en route from Plainfield. In July Ed and Judy Birdseye May were in our area with friends and came to see me and it was a wonderful surprise after thirty-five years! Luther and Yvonne Johnson Jenkins spent ten days in Irvington looking at property and so there were several gatherings with area alums.

Merritt Foster and Mary have been at their summer home and ditto for Bill Edwards and his family.

I trust you have received Jack Garrett's letter and I hope we will be seeing many of you at our thirty-fifth at Homecoming. It promises to be a big weekend so do hurry and make plans to be there. It's sooner than you think!

Dr. Paul H. Gantt 4450 South Park Avenue Chevy Chase, Md. 20015

As the "new" reporter, I feel that I should tell a little bit about myself. I retired after 30 years of service with the U.S. Government, My last position was as Chairman of the U.S Atomic Energy Board of Contract Appeals. Shortly after I left the AEC it was split into two agencies, the ERDA and the Nuclear Regulatory Agency. I went into private practice with the law firm of Robert Sheriffs (yes, Sheriffs. this is no typo) Moss of Washington, D.C. Or as the Germans say, "die Katze laesst da Mausen nicht". Since I do not believe that any of my German students at William and Mary can translate this slightly slangy bonmot, here it is: The Cat can't stay away from the mice.

Terry (really Ethel) Teal Crutchfield of Richmond, Virginia writes that she and Jack are living "part-time" in Sarasota, Florida on Longboat Key. Three of their children are in College so the Crutchfield travel time is limited.

Dr. Samuel P. Bessman of Los Angeles, Calif., (he is Chairman of the Department of Pharmacology and Professor of Pharmacology and Pediatrics at the University of Southern California Medical School) has been invited to participate in two panel discussions at the Beilinson Symposium Medical Center at Petah Tiqwa, Israel. He also will participate at symposium in Valencia, Spain honoring Sir Hans Krebs at his 75th birthday. The symposium is on urea, whatever that is. If you want to know the title of panel discussions, drop me a line.

Also in Los Angeles, Mary Willoughby presented a color picture movie "American Masterpieces" with live narration at the Women's Twentieth Century Club of Eagle Rock

Thomas F. Crane of Jersey City, N.J., better known to all of us, as Tommy Crane attended the 1974 Homecoming together with Bill West, Mel Bunch, Bob Taylor and Bill Chapin. He'll be at the '75 Homecoming with Frank Yeager.

I have to close on a somber note. Two of our classmates died. Patricia Casey Clay, the viviacious and beautiful Pat Casey, died suddenly. I met Pat in 1946 at the Nuernberg War Crimes trial and spent some lovely days with her and her husband, Major (now Brigadier General) Frank Clay in Frankfort. Another unexpected casualty, is Colonel Benjamin "Ben" Read, who I saw last in Washington profesionally, when he was working for the Small Business Administration in a leading position. He was married to Dr. Pelzer Wagener's daughter.

Keep me informed what you are doing, and there will be more about you in the next columns than about Paul Gantt.

Mrs. David E. Edmunds (Dorothy Agurk) 709 Harbor Island, Clearwater, Fla. 33515

Hope you all had a wonderful summer and that you are making plans to attend "Homecoming '75" the weekend of October 11th

Everyone seems to have been too busy doing "their thing" to write during the past summer, so news is a little short . . . Bless all of you who take time to write "News for the Alumni Gazette" when you send contributions to the Alumni Fund. Heard from by that method was Harriett Holland Barrett who lives on a ranch outside of Cheyenne, Wyo., with her surgeon-husband, Francis. Wonder how many of you can equal their record of eight children and five grandchildren, to date? Susan Whitehear Byars of Dunedin, Fla., wrote that her donation was given "in memory of the class of 1891-94, and the friendly Homecomings of the 1930's, featuring Brunswick stew and roasted oysters." Makes me hungry just to write about it.

Mary Gray Smith, '46, now living in Beirut, was to be back in St. Petersburg, Fla., in August for her daughter's wedding. Mary's husband, Bruce, is an architect for the U.S. State Department, traveling about the world to supervise the construction of embassies. They spent several years in Nigere previous to their current post.

Annis McLean Fluharty, '45, also of St. Petersburg, has had son Steve in Korea for the past year . . . ever since his graduation from Washington and Lee. By the time you read this he should be home for good with his happy parents. Another son, Scott, will be a Junior at W&L this Fall. Margaret Carey McQuillen, '45, ditto St. Pete, has two sons living and working in Atlanta; another, Nin and wife, are moving back to the Sunshine City from Boston. No. 4 son, John, who just graduated from the University of Florida, is writing a novel. More later on that.

Matilda Gentile Lewis, of Wilmington, Del., writes that son Peyton C. Lewis, '72 is associated with the Historical Society of Delaware.

Had a nice visit over the phone with Dee Hampton Simpson when she was in Clearwater with her husband the latter part of April. She is still teaching 3rd grade but is looking forward to early retirement to the Clearwater area. She heard recently from Sis Jerry Welch, '43 who lives in Columbus, Ga., with her "new" (two years!) husband, Bill, a retired Colonel.

Sunny Trumbo Williams and Rolf, have been having a royal time! As most of you probably know, Rolf is a Norwegian Consul, and in the early part of the summer, all of the Norwegian Consuls and wives were invited to spend a week in Norway as guests of the government to "meet the king"--so pardon my pun!. It must have been a wonderful experience--and just before that Sunny had a ten-day trip to Mexico, and a visit, en route, with Jean and Langdon Quinn in Atlanta. Daughter, Lesne Williams, has taken on a new career as a real estate agent in Norfolk, associated with Nancy Chandler (sister of Jean Outland Chrysler, '42.) Son Rolf is a rising Senior at William and Mary.

Jean Boyd McIntyre who went to the Virginia Bar Meeting in Washington D.C., in early summer reported lots of excited talk about the Law School Building-to-be Williamsburg.

My family is spread far apart this year with daughter Susan, a senior architecture student at the University of Florida, currently spending six months studying in Florence, Italy, and traveling as much as she can. Daughter Linda, and her husband, have move to Washington D.C., where Jack is beginning Law School, after three years in real estate. David and I are just about to leave for a 'flying" (literally) trip to the Rockies, and Denver, to meet his brother and family for a camping trip, and the middle of Septmber we plan to go to Europe for a month, visiting Susan part of the time, so we won't be at Homecoming this year. Have fun, and think of days gone by--and the friends who are as close to you as a postal stamp.

Mrs. George R. Holladay (Catharine Mitchell) 350 South Market St Selinsgrove, Pa. 17870

Have lots of goodies for you this time, so read on, and maybe you'll find a tidbit about some of your favorite '46ers.

Living in Lititz, Pa., with her husband Addison, who is in the brick manufacturing business, Gunesh Guran Gery would be busy if all she did was keep track of her seven children, their colleges and activities. Her oldest, Guner, graduated from William and Mary, Class of '70; Michael attended William and Mary and transferred to the U. of Mass., Class of '74 and is now a newspaperman in Greenfield, Mass; Madeleine, Drew University, Class of '73; John, Princeton, Class of '75; Nina, U. of New Hampshire, Class of '78; Aline is in Mercersburg and Elise, 12 is at home. Madeleine was lent a helping hand in a job for a firm company in Richmond, Va., by professional firm maker, Fred Frechette, who lives there with his family. Gunesh teaches French and German, on a part-time basis, in a private school in Reading, Pa. She sees, occasionally, Shirley Lanham McCrary, of Birmington, Ala., Carnelia Westermann Wolf, of Mt. Wolf, Pa., and Betty Willcox and husband of Cranbury, N.J. Gunesh is about to become a grandmother, via daughter, Guner.

Elaine Hall Rankin has already attained the grandmother status by way of Katie, who attended William and Mary, and is now living in the state of Washington.

Let's go now to Edmonds, Wash., where we find Sue Claypool Vukich, who is Director of Volunteer Services at the Northwest Hospital in Seattle. She has built a corps of 200 volunteers, and also, serves as the hospital social director, coordinating functions during the year for the employees, medical staff and board of trustees. Besides all this, Sue helped charter a new AAUW branch in Edmonds, and is serving as its treasurer. She supports the local chi Omega group, and hopes to get a formal William and Mary alumni group started in her area, too. Last year Sue and husband Bob had a glorious and leisurely trip through Europe, highlighted by Sue's daughter, Suellen, joining them in Paris, and traveling with them for a month. The real reason for the trip, Sue said, besides being a vacation, was to visit Yugoslavia and Bob's parents' country. Bob has purchased a restaurant, a dream of many years and we wish him great success.

Taking a giant, cross-country leap, we are back East now in Westfield, N.J., with Edie Harwood Smith. Edie, her daughter, Wendy and son, "Woody", who is a Chem. Eng. student at Princeton, flew down to Florida to visit her mother this past Spring, and while there had a real reunion with Jerrie Healy Clay. Jerrie lives in Tampa with husband Allen, who is an executive with General Electric; and son, Jeff, who attends college in Florida. Their daughter Cary, lives in Cincinnati. Edie and Jerrie had a great day at the beach, having lunch and catching up on old times. Edie and husband Kent, on a jaunt down to Maryland, visited with Mary Sue Ebeling in her beautiful Arlington, Va. apartment, which overlooks some of Washington's most famous landmarks. Mary Sue is retired from the Navy as a Lt. Commander, and is busier than ever with projects, classes, friends and trips. She and Edie, who had been freshmen roommates, talked 'til 2 AM!

After seeing Mary Sue, and on their way home, the next day Edie and Kent stopped in Bethesda, Md., to say hello to Nancy Grube Williams. To their mutual surprise, Edie and Grubie discovered they both have sons at Princeton! Grubie has two other sons in prep school and a daughter in the 8th grade. Grubie, vivacious as ever, was arranging for all the feeding, housing and everything else for 70 Princeton Glee Club members, who were to perform at the Kennedy Center the following eekend. Speaking of performing, Edie's daughter, Wendy, is a professional dancer, doing a dinner theatre show in New Orleans and Shreveport, La.; auditioning for other shows in NYC, and taking ballet, gymnastics and voice lessons in between times. Edie does volunteer hospital work and is active in the Chi Omega group in her area.

Zipping Westward to California, we find anet Hilton Antolick in Palo Alto. Janet is Admissions Assistant for International Students at the Graduate School of Business at Stanford University. She is responsible for evaluating academic records of applicants from all over the world. When foreign students seek admission advice, Janet is the one they seek

Pausng in California for a while, but now in Rancho Palos Verdes, we find Ann Johnson omkinson. Ann has been librarian for six years at the Rolling Hills School, Palos Verdes Peninsula. Ann's oldest daughter, Peggy, graduated from U.C., Irvine Campus, Class of 1, and is living in Germany with husband Mark and baby son. Ann's daughter, Edie, 19, is on her own in Hermosa Beach, and her son, Jack, is a senior in Ann's high school. Ann invites us to call or write her, if we're ever out

Janet Ginsburg Waisbrot and doctor husband live in Pittsburgh, Pa., in a new home, with daughters Ellen, who goes to Boston U. and Susan. Janet is going back to school in the Health Education field.

Are you still with me? If so, we're in my living room, having iced tea with Doris Brandt Bauer and her son, Jonathan. Doris and Jonathan had driven up from Baltimore, Md., to visit the Susquehanna University campus, and Doris gave me a call. It was a wonderful way to spend a hot, summer afternoon. Doris is supervisor of art teachers for elementary schools in Baltimore, where she lives with husband George; son, Andy of Duke University; daughter, Holly of Indiana U. of 'a.; and sons Jonathan and David in high school. Doris had a call and good chat from 'Nicky" Nycum Moore recently when "Nicky" was up from Waverly, Va., on a little visit in the Virginia Stephens Daniel's son, Paul, is a student at William and Mary now. Virginia ves in Bethesda, Md.

Richard MacCracken's son, Bill, graduated from the Belmont Hill School in Belmont, fass., in June. Richard lives in Acton, Mass. Mary Devol Wood and husband, "Red", are living in Atlanta, Ga., where "Red" is a minister.

Louis B. Lloyd, of Fairfax, Va, is quite active with her church and works the night shift in the Labor and Delivery Dept. of Fairfax

If any of you want addresses of our classmates, I have the roster, and would be glad to supply you with the information. The names are all there, from "A" to "Z"--or to us, AP to ZEPHT!

Mrs. Robert R. Morrison (Phyllis U. Reardon) 912 Jamaica Way Bakersfield, Calif. 93309

As usual in the summer nobody has time to write but I am in hopes that it is because you are all planning to come to the 25th. Had a post card from Ruth Barnes Chalmers who was in Bermuda with Dave on business. What a neat place to have a second office.

John Shields has been promoted to assistant vice president and officer in charge of the account reference center at First Virginia Bank of the Peninsula in Hampton, V

Edmond Boxley has been elected to the board of directors of United Virginia Bank-Peoples of Gretna. Edmond has been a member of the Pittsylvania County School Board since 1971. George Conwell has received his Master of last summer touring Europe. Janice lives in choir for her church. Haddon Heights, New Jersey.

Virginia Commonwealth University. John Dayton is still in the U.S. with the Foreign Service. He is living in McLean.

Hardwick's daughter's wedding in London. How I would love to attend. When I saw networks. Shirley last fall she told me that she was expecting to make the announcement.

Sorry this is so short but that is all I have for this issue.

Mrs. Harvey D. Sanford (Janet Dickerson) 529 Franklin Avenue Indialantic, Fla. 32903

Now that my English teachers have retired, I'm going to write the Class news! Seriously, it is a pleasure to be your new class reporter and count on all of you to be my eyes and ears. There are many years to catch up on, and with our 25th reunion around the corner, it is with more than idle curiosity that we want to know about you. There are 375 located members in our Class. My goal is to inform you about all of them in the issues to come. A good starting point would be with an old roommate, Edie Moser Buzzell. The Buzzells live in Wellesley, Mass., where Bob is on the faculty at Harvard Business School. He is consultant to several large corporations and teaches management seminars all over the world. The family has become truly international as they travel whenever they can with him. Sue is a freshman at Centenary College in N.J., Bob, 16, is on the high school soccer team, and Barbara and Bill complete the family. They have a lakeside cottage at Sunapee, N.H., where they spend their leisure time during the year. Wray and Hilda Beckh Sherman live in Newport News where he has his dental practice. Wray, Jr. is a freshman at Kings College in Bristol, Tenn. Will, 16, is following in Dad's footsteps on the high school basketball team. Hilda stays active on an indoor women's tennis team. Their summers find them at their cottage near Virginia Beach.

George Belk has been named vice president of McKinney/Public Relations, Inc. This is a new subsidiary of Harris D. McKinney ad agency in Philadelphia. George has been a member of the public relations department of Gray & Rogers, Inc., an editor for the Philadelphia Inquirer and the Dallas (Texas) Times Herald, and was a news director for Radio Station KGBC in Galveston, Texas. He lives in Springfield, Pa. Tommy Boys and family live in laples, Fla., where he is the tennis pro at the City Courts. With tennis the big thing in Florida these days, this has got to make him one of the most sought after talents in town! Also in Naples is Bob Tiffany and his family. Bob heads up Naples Floor Coverings. Chuck and Bobbe Lamont Redding find life in Falls Church revolves around Chuck's work at the Telephone Company and Steve, 17, who just graduated from high school. Steve belongs to an outstanding group of madrigal singers who perform around the D.C. area. They have appeared at the National Cathedral and Kennedy Center to mention a few. The College or U. Va. will claim him this fall.

Linwood Perkins and Gwen have a daughter who has just finished her first year at the College. Like mother, like daughter, both are proud Alpha Chi's! Nancy Bradley McCready lives in Newington, where Tom retired from the Army last year. He is involved with flight training for the Government. Nancy returned to school last September to continue work on her degree at George Mason University, while daughter Nan is a junior at the College. Tom, Jr., is in the Marine Corps and Melissa is an eighth grader. Jim and June Compton Merkle are living in Sarasota, Fla., where Jim is associated with a bank there. Ernestine Cox Peak spent three years in Westchester County, N.Y., and has returned to San Diego. John is associated with Atomic General and they have two sons, 13 and 15.

As for the Sanford family, Dennis is in charge of the Trust Department for the Landmark Bank of Melbourne. Lindsey, 16, recently placed 4th in Florida State Gymnastics competition. Lee, 14, enjoys a natural knack for sports, not inherited from me, and keeps us sitting on bleachers most of the year. Indialantic is a tiny spot on the map, but if you ever find it, the door is always open!

Mrs. J. Mitchell Brown (Marguerite Huff) 6720 Deland Drive

Greetings, everybody!

Peggy (Ives) Emerson has been appointed Director of Programming, WGTE-TV, Channel 30 in Toledo, Ohio. From 1966 to 1969, she was program developer and administrative assistant for the Toledo Office of Economic Opportunity. Before that, she taught English, History, and Government for four years in junior and senior high schools.

Gerald Gordon has just retired as lieutenant Science degree from the School of Business at colonel in the army, after 21 years, much of it spent overseas.

Molly (Parr) Earl hasn't been teaching this year, but is enjoying, instead, doing volunteer Janice Nairn Wetmore and her daughter spent things; one of them is directing the junior

Gil Prmele is presently writing and producing I just received an invitation to Shirley Lyons sports for ABC Radio on a free-lance basis, also hosting a Sportscall for the four radio

John Martin Diggs retired July 1, 1975 as Coordinator Federal Programs and Assistant Superintendent of Schools in the Matthews County School System.

Bob Wilkinson and his wife, Mary, stopped by the Alumni House during the spring passing through Williamsburg. Bob is doing nuclear medicine research at Duke.

Dr. Robert D. Gibbons 1008 Fourth Avenue Farmville, Va. 23901

Many thanks to Eloise Gideon Collins for bringing us the class news since 1956--it has been a long time, hasn't it. Eloise?

This reporter volunteered to help bring the news of the class of '56 to you--please let me know where you are, what you've been doing, etc. I am teaching at Longwood College in Farmville, Va. I try to teach teachers how to teach and administrators how to administrate. My wife is Norma, a Longwood graduate, who teaches, too. No kids, but we do have a poodle. If you're in the area, do come by to see us. We're approximately 70 miles southwest of Richmond. Farmville is a small, rural agricultural town (lots of tobacco is raised in the area) and is a great place to live.

Had an opportunity to talk to my 'old' roommate, Ed Hill recently. He's still working for MONY, (Mutual of New York), and heading up the mutual funds department. Ed's located right in the middle of Manhattan--do go by to see him if you're in the city. Also, while wandering on 7th Ave., in NYC recently, I ran into Peter Neufeld, '58. Pete is general manager and producer for Gatchell and Neufeld, Ltd, at 303 W. 42nd St. If you need help in deciding which of the many Broadway or off-Broadway plays you'd like to see, give him a call. Peter looks great and is still a most eligible bachelor!

Wilson F. Sweeney has recently been appointed executive vice president and treasurer of Thompson and Peck, Inc. in New Haven, Ct. Robert G. Clark of Schley, Va., has been appointed to a four-year term on the Board of Trustees of the Alumni Endowment Association of William and Mary. The new vice president of Hornblower and Weeks, Hemphill, Noyes, Inc., in Santa Monica, Ca., is H. Alexander Harper, Jr. Elizabeth Saunders Campbell reports she and her family have moved to Northridge, Ca., where her husband, Douglas, took over the southern California office of the Energy Research Development Administration. New residents of Burnsville, Minn. (near Minneapolis) are Joan Marsh Myers and her husband Walt. Clarence (Bud) Leeds has been appointed dean of institutional resources at Simon's Rock Early College, Gt. Barrington, Mass. Bud claims Simon's Rock is "America's First Early College." Be careful, Bud, Harvard and William and Mary may get their feeling hurt! Patty Weatherly Cooper reports she is a creative arts teacher in Norton, Va. Her husband is the economic director of the Community Development Corporation and is also a distributor of Mobile Oil Products in St. Augustine, Fla. Any free oil for me, Patty? Nancy (Bette) Bloxsom Witherington and family have moved to Louisville, Keny. Her husband Aubrey is division counsel for General Electric Co. Their son is enrolled in Yale and their daughter will be in the 8th grade this year. If you're in the Louisville area, Bette says to come and see her. James I. White has become manager of laboratory operations at Chi Vit Research and Development Laboratories in Chicago. Donald Franklin Moore recently attended Harvard for the 67th Advertising Management course in preparation for his new job as corporation director of services, engineering, office service and purchasing for Sandoy, Inc., in Hanover, N.J.

Looking for a Bicentennial Celebration trip?? Come to Billsburg for our 20th Reunion (remember 1956-76?). Put on your calendar the dates Oct. 8,9, and 10, 1976 for Homecoming (and Delaware v. the College). What better place to come for the Bicentennial than Williamsburg. For 1975, its Oct. 10, 11, and 12. See you in '75 and '76--bring your news with you!

Decided to make a tally of where all of us live--we're living in 39 states and 3 foreign countries! The 3 countries Australia, South Africa, and Greece. For your quiz for next time, which state has the most '56ers? (That one's easy). And, which states have the fewest? If you've read this far, read this again in the next issue to find the answers. If you've lost track of a classmate, drop me a line and I'll see if I can find an address for you.

Maurice Chavalier (no, he wasn't in our class) once said, "At 20, your face is what God made it. At 40, it is what you made it. At 60, it's the face you deserve." Remember, we're all sitting on 40!

Mrs. N. Davis Wrinkle, Jr. (Polly Stadel) 223 Conte Drive Midlothian, Va. 23113

Come on class of '58 . . . Ann Landers has increased her credibility gap this summer and she still gets more letters than I do for those who did write- thank you.

E. Carter Nettles, Jr. of Wakefield has been just part-time work.

elected chairman of the Crater Planning District Commission. Ed is married to the former Kitty Chappell '61 and they have three children, Bryar, Kathryn and Carter. He is seeking re-election for his fourth term as Commonwealth's Attorney of Sussex County.

Carole Chase was awarded a Ph.D. in Christian Ethics by Duke University, in 1973. She is now assistant Dean of the Virginia Commonwealth University Evening College & Summer Sessions. Carol wrote an interesting letter about her experiences as a Campus Christian Life Worker at Mary Washington College. Carol has been away from the College and would like to be in touch with former classmates. She resides at 3505 Chamberlayne Avenue, Apt. D-103, Richmond, 23227.

Sid Mook of 110 Pine Road, Hamden Ct. 06519 is working on his Ph.D. in Urban Planning at Michigan State University in Lansing. (Are we going to have address everybody as Dr. at our next reunion???) Sid is working part time for the Michigan State Police in diaster work.

Diane Montague Belford write "Bob and I are established outside of Columbus, Ohio-11800 Overbrook Lane- Galena, Ohio 43201.- with two children, Jill, 13, Scott, 15, four horses, cats and dogs." (some of us are still adding to our families!) Bob is the Senior Army Advisor to the Ohio National Guard.

Bob Cromwell (also BCL from the College in 1961) is Mayor of Virginia Beach. A belated congratulations!

Peggy Brooks married Bill Kelsey in 1969. She received her master's degree in Rehabilitation Counseling from the University of Georgia and is now Administrative Director of Employee Assistance Service of Texas, a referral and counseling center for "troubled" employees. Peggy and Bill who is in Technical Services with NCR, live at 2302 Evalon Beaumont, Tex., 77702.

Liz Mutchell Day wrote a great letter. She is another busy "teacher-Mom" teaching fourth grade at Wheeling Country Day School where her Jeff and Ann attend. As if she isn't kept busy enough, she has found time to be corresponding secretary for the Board of the Wheeling Junior League and is active with the kappa alums. She and Phi live at 6 Kenwood Place, Wheeling, W. Va.

Alright, fifty-eighters . . . not a lot of news for an over-anxious, enthusiastic and certainly under-worked reporter. We can do much better- do write- I answer personal notes and am most discriminating about what I disclose concerning this newsworthy class!.

Mrs. Robert W. Squatriglia (Betty Lee Powell) 120 Poplar Drive Delmar, N. Y. 12054

Greetings from Delmar, N.Y. I am excited about writing our class news, but can only do it with your help. Hope many of you will be able to attend our 15th reunion this fall and pass along some interesting news and information

Warren Joblin and Nancy Taylor '62 are living in Weston, Conn. Warren is Lt. Governor of Division I of the New England District of Kiwanis International. Nancy is serving as secretary of the Weston Young Women's Club which she helped found.

Virginia Joyce Conger and George '58 who live in Springfield, Va., are both busily pursuing exciting careers. Virginia is an accountant with a certified public accountant firm. George is a Government sales manager with Pfizer Laboratory. They have two sons.

Bob (Ham) Harrel is executive Vice President and general manager of Joel E. Harrel and sons in Suffolk, Va. He was named chairman of the Nansemond Democratic Committee from 1972-74. He is also active in the Ruritan and Cotillion clubs.

Ann Fenigsohn Losin is living in Owings Mills, Md., with husband Ted who is an attorney and children Eric 11, and Amy 8.

Tom Farrington and Susie Ragland '61 reside Upper Marlboro, Md., a suburb of Washington, D.C. Tom is a partner in a law firm there and is Democratic National Chairman for the State of Maryland. Susie is working with the C&P Telephone Co. They have a son, Tad 11 and a daughter Kyle 9.

Rosemary Hartman Wayman sends greeting from New Orleans, La. She and husband and three children enjoy the good restaurants and fishing in the area lanet Caldwell Elling, husband and four children have returned to the states after spending several years in the Far East. They presently live in Upper Saddle River, N.J.

Gary and Kathy (McCurdy) Sterner are living in Farmington, Conn. They just had their first baby, but are planning to attend the fall reunion.

A bit of news from the Squatriglias- Bob is Associate Dean for Student Affairs at The State University of New York at Albany. I am very busy with our four children- two boys and two girls, but I've recently gotten my Real Estate License and just sold my first house. It's

This spring we stopped in Glenside, Pa., to visit Charlie and Nancy (Branham) Nahill. Charlie is Treasurer of the Cheltingham Township and Nancy is busy with daughters Julia 9, and Kristen 7 and recently added a baby boy to the family. While visiting there we enjoyed seeing Peggy Clements Haines and husband Barry. Peg is teaching fifth grade and she and Barry have been enjoying the experience of having a foster son living with them.

Hope you have all had a fun-filled, relaxing summer.

Mrs. Paul S. Murphy (Joanne Arnet) 8 Beech Tree Lane Bronxville, N. Y. 10708

Madeline Abramson Simon Mitchell received a Doctorate of Medicine from the Medical College of Pennsylvania in May.

Richard Cyros Goodwin received the Juris Doctor degree in May from the Salmon P. Chase College of Law, Northern Kentucky State College, Covington, Ky. In 1971 he earned a Master's in Business Administration from Xavier University, Cincinnatti. He is a member of law review, Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities and Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity. He is presently employed as an economist with the Bureau of Labor Statistics, U.S. Department of Labor. Richard and his wife, Polly Woeste, live in Cincinnatti with their two year old son, Richard Andrew.

Marsha Maxwell Cornick received a Master of Education degree from the College of William and Mary this June.

Blake Tyler Newton, III has joined the law firm of Hall, McNicol, Mavett and Hamilton located on Madison Avenue in New York City as of Robert Mullis has joined the faculty of Sullins College, Bristol, Va., as an instructor in ballet and character dance. Bob has performed in the Theater Under Stars in Atlanta and the Charlotte Summer Theater and for the past three years has been a soloist with the Radio City Music Hall in New York City.

Pat McHenry is living with friends in northwest Washington, D.C. Pat is a counselor at the Community of the Whole Person, working with bioenergetics, Gestalt movement and creative ritual. She invites W&M friends to come and visit.

Greg Presnell was elected President of the Orange County, Fla., Bar Association in June, 1973 and is also president of the Orange County Legal Aid Society. Greg resides in Orlando, Fla

Fredrica Dudley Burgess was married on December 22, 1974 to J. Steven Rice. Fredrica is living in Seattle, Wash., and teaching grammar and literature at The Lakeside

Bart Barbee '63 was recently promoted to Vice-President and General Manager of the Maryland Division of the Victory Van Corporation. Emily Vawter Barbee '64 was re-elected as secretary of Keep Loudoun Beautiful. The Barbees still run their angus beef farm, Plum Grove, in Purcellville, Va., and have a 21/2 year old son, Randy. They are in the process of farming an Historical Preservation District for their area in Loudoun County and Emily is acting chairman of the project.

Kenneth Olshansky is presently completing his Chief Residency in Plastic Surgery at Albert Einstein Hospital in New York. He will probably be practicing in Richmond, Va. Ken and his wife Karen have two sons, Joshua and Jordan, and reside in New Rochelle, N.Y.

Sandra Dail and Milton Reigelman have their first son, third child, Jon Milton, born Feb. 4, 1974. The Reigelmans live in Danville, Ky.

Nancy Ratz Viets and Mark have a baby daughter, Alexa, who arrived Dec. 20, 1974. Alexa joins brother Aaron. The Viets still reside in Shawnee Mission, Kan.

John Edgar Molnar has completed a massive, three volume 3,246 page library reference edition, Author - Title Index to Joseph Sabin's Dictionary of Books Relating to America. The work is now available to libraries throughout the nation. At present he is a candidate for the Ph.D. degree in library science at the University of Michigan and is librarian at Cleary College, Ypsilanti, Mich.

Gretchen Scherer Israel's husband, Fielder (Skip) was ordained an Episcopal Minister in June at Washington Cathedral. Gretchen and Skip are moving to Bethesda, Md., where he will be an assistant minister.

Bobbie Mulcahey Frazier and Bill are moving to Lakevale Estates in Vienna, Va. Bobbie will resume her French teaching career at Madison High School in Vienna in the fall.

Finally, two "out of class" notes: Pril Nash Brown '62 and Seab and son Evan moved in July from Wilton, Conn., to Bogota, Columbia; and Fred and Judy Hawkins Codding ('61 and '63) have a third daughter, Clare, fourth child, born June 7. Fred has purchased a former church in Fairfax, Va., which is being converted to an office building for his law

Mrs. Timothy J. Sullivan (Anne D. Klare) 110 Duer Drive Williamsburg, Va. 23185

Joe Pace, now Dr. after receiving his Ph.D. from University of Michigan, has published an article, "The Poor, the Elderly, and the Rising Cost of Energy" in the June issue of the PUBLIC UTILITIES FORTNIGHTLY, published in Washington. After receiving his degree, Joe taught at U. of Michigan for a while. He is now Vice President of the National Economic Research Association, and living in Piscataway, N.J.

Thomas Ford is Director of Merchandise

Information for the Allied Stores Corporate Office in New York City after working 2 1/2 years for the Jordan Marsh Company in Boston. He and his wife, Mary Ann, are residing in Westport, Ct.

Bruce Caine is in graduate school in social psychology at the University of Florida. He and his wife, Pam, have a son, Scott, and daughter, Alyssa. Bruce will be assigned to the Military Academy at West Point in 1976.

Jim Smart is associated with a law firm in Kansas City, Mo., and engaged in the general practice of law. He and his wife, Talaine, have one daughter, Lori Anne.

Bob and Lalie Forman Eskay are living in Irving, Tex. Bob received his Ph.D. in Physiology in August 1974, from the University of Texas Health Science Center at Dallas.

Karen Williams Hopper is living north of San Diego, where her husband, Dan, is President of Shelter Security Corporation. The Hoppers have two children, Daniel and Laurel.

Paulette Johnstone Gardhoff is working as a senior copy editor with the American Geophysical Union. Paulette and her husband boughta house in Alexandria from Walter Wenk's father, who reports that Walter is doing

Matt Schon has joined Reynolds Securities in Richmond. Also working in Richmond is Gary Williams, who is a legal assistant for the firm of Mays, Valentine, Davenport and Moore. He commutes to Richmond from Sussex, where he is active in plans for the local Bicentennial observance, and is also renovating an old

James Dryden completed his general practice residency in Seattle, Wash., and moved to Annandale, Va. He is a full-time instructor at the Georgetown University School of Dentistry, and is also beginning a private Larry Dosier received a Ph.D. degree from the University of Virginia in August.

Betty Jo Moyer Boggs is living in Newport News where her husband, Chuck, is Foreman-Supervisor in charge f construction for C & P Telephone Company. The Boggs have two children.

After spending four years in the Army, Judge Advocate General Corps, Tony Brodie oined the law firm of Carr, Bonner, O'Connell, Kaplan & Thompson in the Washington, D.C. area, where he is an associate doing trial work.

Robert Sigafoes is in his final year of a dermatology residency at the Naval Hospital at San Diego. Cathy Thompson is in residency in orthopedic surgery at the University of California at San Diego. Richard and Bonnie Newton are living in Arlington. Richard is a registered architect with his own firm in Georgetown. Bonnie has completed work for her Master's Degree in Sociology at Georgetown University, and was recently a contributing author to a new book, Population Policies and Economic Development (1974, Johns Hopkins University Press).

Dennis Haglan was voted Carolina's Conference Coach of the Year by the Greensboro Daily News for his successful coaching of the Guilford College football team. Jamie Gronning has been elected an assistant vice president of the First Virginia Bank.

Margaret Potts received the Doctor of Jurisprudence Degree from Marshall-Wythe School of Law last June. At those same commencement exercises, Mary Frances Briley received a Master of Education

Mrs. Michael Hager (Kerry Sawick) 73 Robin Hill Road Newton, Mass. 02167

Peter A. Perillo of Perth Amboy, N.J. in June was named assistant treasurer of the Community Stte Bank and Trust Company.

Mrs. T. Thomas Van Dam (Randy Lee Pearson) 474 Ottawa Avenue, No.23C Hasbrouck Heights, N.J. 07604

Please note my new address!!!! Saturday. September 6th was the big day. We were married in the Wren Chapel. Tom is Marshall-Wythe School of Law, '73. He is an attorney with Winne and Banta in Hackensack, N.J., and I will continue to fly for Pan American out of Kennedy Airport. Planning the wedding was fun especially since Janice Savage Gardner and George Devilbiss Gowan were two of my bridesmaids, and I was able to visit with them often the past few months.

Betsy Ewing Lang lives in Springfield, Va., teaching art history at Northern Community College. Methinks Betsy is giving Kenneth Clark some competition, as she is associate producer director of an educational television series on the History of American Art.

Edward "Buddy" D. Gardner, DDS announced August 1, the opening of his office for the practice of general dentistry in the Hugunot Medical Building in Richmond.

July 1, William C. Baskett and John M. Peterson announced the formation of a partnership for the continuation of their law practice under the name, Baskett and Peterson in Norfolk, Va.

Wanda Jenkins and Harold (Marshall-Wythe School of Law, '69) Poe live in Cincinnati where Harold is a partner in the firm, Uible and Poe. Wanda earned a Master's Degree in Microbiology in June '74, at the University of Cincinnati Medical School. In April, Wanda was completing research in the area of immunology for a doctorate. This fall she begins the completion of medical school classes for an MD degree. Her ultimate goal being work in the area of clinical immunology. Wanda would like to know the whereabouts of Cathy Casey. Their address in Cincinnati is 621 Orchard Lane.

Last spring, Sheila Nelson of Pulaski was promoted to Control Officer of Bank of 'irginia-Pulaski. Sheila was also elected Chairman of the Pulaski County Democratic Committee earlier this year.

"Colt" Freiberger and Bob Lewis are in the Boston suburbs--Colt is in law school and 'Lewis" is with Texaco.

While husband, David, attended law school in Richmond, Nell (Wrather) Mercer taught Spanish in Henrico County for three years. Now, David practices law in Alexandria where they are living. Their daughter, Kelly Woods, was born March 8

Bart and Jule (Davis '69) Garvey and year-old son, Ryan Connell, are living in Iowa City, Iowa. Bart is earning a Ph.D. in English at University of Iowa. Julie works part time as a secretary at the University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics

In May, I ran into Cheryl Scott in Manhattan. Cheryl is an attorney for Davidson, Dawson and Clark on Park Avenue.

Riding into Manhattan on the airport bus in July, I happened to sit next to Doug Franks! Doug works for an interior designer in New York City and takes classes at the New York School of Design.

On the West Coast, Mike Millard was admitted to the California Bar at the end of last year. He and his wife Elaine are living in Carolyn Davis earned a Master's in Library Science at the University of North Carolina in August, '74. Since September last year, she has been an intern at the National Library of Medicine in Bethesda, Md., in a post masters program in biomedical communications.

Associated with Bradford, Williams, McKay, Kimbrell, Hamann and Jennings, Bruce Stanley is in Miami, Fla. His wife Kathy teaches math in Spanish, Spanish as a native language, and Spanish to English speaking students at Dade County Jr. High School.

Having completed an MBA in Marketing at Georgia State University in March, '74, Betty Bass moved to Philadelphia in April, '74, where she is a marketing representative for the Service Bureau Company

Living in Williamsburg, Sandy and Jo (Raflo) Fagan wrote that they were planning a cross-country journey this fall. Jo is acting supervisor of Family and Children's Services at York County Social Service Bureau in Yorktown. Sandy is a clinical supervisor at Bacon Street, Inc., a local drug prevention program in Williamsburg.

Married in September, '70, Bill ('69) and Mary Lee (Alderson) Henderson are living in Houston, Tex. Mary Lee received her Ph.D. in biology from University of Houston early this year and is working in the Department of Virology and Epidemiology at Baylor. In 1973, Bill graduated from Baylor College of Medicine and is presently a resident in Family Practice at Baylor.

In March, Reid Williamson, joined the U.S. Army Material Command in a program analyst training program at the Natick Development Center, Natick, Mass. He lives in Framingham, Mass. Also in the program is Ellis Johnson, '71.

The Class of '70 was well represented in the June Commencement Exercises at William and . . Daralyn Gordon, Max Dale, Anthony Frederick Cole and Stanley Majors earned Doctor Jurisprudence degrees from the Marshall-Wythe School of Law. Lewis Edward Deaton earned a Master's of Arts degree, and Jim Batterson earned an M.S.

In June Harold Cothern earned a Master of Supervision from the School of Education at Va. Commonwealth University. He's been teaching English and Speech in Colonial Hts. This year, he was chosen Speech Teacher of the Year for Virginia by the Virginia Speech and Drama Association.

From Medical College of Va. Diana Carr a Doctorate in Medicine. Congratulations are in order to A. Willem Kymmell, who not only received a master's in architecture from Carnegie Mellon University, but also in one of fifteen young Americans selected to participate in the Henry Luce Scholars Program 1975-76. The select group, whose specialties are unrelated to Asia, will have a year's experience in Asia, working on assignments tailored to their individual

Luci Gibson works at Nasa/Langley AFB as a simulation analyst for a contractor, i.e. computer programming for aircraft and space studies. Mary Shorter works across the hall from Formerly with Pan American Health Organization, Yvonne Crosier, "retired" and spent 1974 traveling through Europe. When the "funds get low", she worked in Geneva on a temporary basis for the World Health Organization headquarters.

Another Chi Omega Newsletter arrived in . Carl ('69) and Leslie (Wild) Frankovitch expected their second child in July. Leslie substitute teaches English two days a week--her dog, cat, house, twelve cows, and daughter keep her quite busy.

In Charleston, W. Va., Bill and Perry Harschutz Field have two children, Davin, four; and Ryan, one year. Bill served a year in the West Virginia Legislature and now is practicing law.

Mrs. Kenneth E. Kontos (Elaine L. May) 5703 Dunster Court No.170 Alexandria, Va. 22311

A number of our fellow '72 alumni received advanced degrees from William and Mary this spring. Among those receiving a Doctor of Jurisprudence degree are: Alan Clarke, Louis Campbell, Imogene Synon, Laura Quigley, John Fletcher, and Susan Knapp. Recipients of MBA's included: Charles Kinnamon, Dave Hinder, Steve McGinnis, Larry Deas, Brad Smallwood, and Charles Rawley. Kenneth Bullock, James Weidman, John Rothgeb, George Lock, and Barbara Keller earned Master of Arts degrees and Charles Sullivan received his Master of Education. James Robinson and John Ramler both earned their Doctorate of Medicine from MCV this spring. Graduating with Master's Degrees from VCU were Grace Marvin (Sociology) and Norman Lemieux (School of Social Work). Jim Leftwich finished his Master's in Biology this summer at the University of New Orleans. Last summer, George Labanick finished his M.A. and is now at Southern Illinois University working on a Ph.D. in Zoology.

For the past year Kathy Graf has been working for R. J. Reynolds Industries in Miami, Fla. Bill Housel is now the Management Analyst at the Naval Hospital in Portsmouth. His wife, Lark Janes Housel ('73) is returning to school to take courses in preparation for the C.P.A. exam. Elaine Blyth Bixiones is currently teaching Drama, Speech, and American Lit for the Dependents' Schools in Camp Lejeune, N.C. Peggy Oatman Cross is teaching junior high school math in Mechanicsville.

Mike Scearce was commissioned as an officer in the U.S. Air Force in 1973. He had Navigator and Bombadier training at Mather AFB and Castle AFB, both in California. He and his wife, Donna, now reside at Robins AFB in Georgia where he serves with the 19th Bomb Wing as a Radar/Navigator Bombadier in B-52 Aircraft.

Donna Kidd Kingsolver is living in Alexandria and works for U.S. News and World Report in Second child, second daughter. their accounting department in Washington.

Susan Hillard Chase is working for the daughter, Laurel Ashlin, January 8, 1974. Federated Arts Council of Richmond, Inc., as executive secretary and the first official staff member. After graduation Susan worked as a radio station account executive in Norfolk and then as coordinator of a pilot fine arts program in Chesapeake where she founded a little theater, taught dancing, recruited instructors for music, art, dance, and drama workshops, did public speaking for civic and private groups to encourage their art interests, and worked with program budgeting.

Bob Kemp, living in Rockville, Md., has been elected a residential branch manager for United Virginia Mortgage Corporation. He started with UVMC in January of 1973 as a loan solicitor.

Earle A. MacKenzie 5850 Cameron Run Terrace, No. 1507 Alexandria, Va. 22303

Jane Pulliam sent me some news about a few Education degree in Administration and of our fellow '74 grads for which I thank her. Jane is sharing an apartment with Denise Love, Linda Ross and Anne Totty in Alexandria. Denise is working for the Senate Agriculture Committee and really enjoys working on Capitol Hill. Jane has recently returned from Chicago where she completed a three-month training period for IBM. Linda is working for the National Institute of Mental Health. Anne went to paralegal school late last summer and is now working for Sargent Shriver's law firm in the Watergate Complex.

William and Mary graduated several accountants who are working in the Washington D.C. area. Tom Walkins and Paul Dayer are working for Arthur Andersen. Chip Yancy and Marsha Montgomery are staff accountants for Price Waterhouse and Chris Tolk is working for the firm of Stanton, Minter and Bruner. Susan King is working for Touche Ross and recently was transferred to Richmond.

Linda Musser Blanken got married in January to Rick Blanken. They are living in Gaithersburg, Md., where Linda is teaching composition on the high school leve.

Scottye Hedstrom is attending the University of Missouri Journalism School and is planning a three-month internship in Washington.

Here are some shorts about other 1974

Brenda Carter is living in Fairfax and studying to be a medical technologist and will start work this fall. Martha Savage spent the winter skiing in Aspen, Colo., made a short trip to Mexico and is now looking for a job in the DC area.

I received a card from Debby Dodge who is currently living in Frankfurt, West Germany. She is working as a stewardess for Lufthansa Airlines, flying routes that include the US, South Africa, the Middle East and Europe.

Tom Eppes is in Medical School at UVa. Larry Pully is also in Charlottesville attending grad school.

Terry Rutherford is living in Williamsburg getting a Master's in Education and working at Ginny Baker worked for a while as an Alpha Chi field secretary before becomming engaged to a W&M man. She is now planning a January wedding.

Two more residents of Charlottesville, Mike Hudson and Sarah Beeler have recently announced their engagement.

Charlie Goodman is living in Richmond and working in Amelia with International

Marion Sayre is working in the Watergate Complex as a research assistant for a government economist

Tom Monday is teaching History and coaching wrestling and track at York High School.

Lin Kroeger and Jay Gsell are in the process of moving to New Jersey. Jay has just gotten a Master's in History, and Lin is teaching English in high school.

Tom Duncan is working for the Congressional Liaison Office of the Treasury Dept., and is planning on law school this fall. Reed Bohne and Janet Jurista are working for the U.S. Patent Office.

Dave Durden is living in Alexandria and has a position selling accounting systems.

While in Williamsburg this summer, I had the opportunity to see the "Common Glory" whose musical director was Robert Moncrief, a Phi Beta Kappa music major from the class of 1974. Bob is a candidate for a master's music degree in organ and sacred music at the Yale University School of Music.

Cary Hoagland, after a vacation to South America this summer, is returning to the University of Virginia for a second year as a graduate instructor in the German Department.

Gary Keane, studying law and Dick Orrock, working towards an M.B.A., are attending Southern Methodist University in Dallas.

Catherine Robertson received her Master's of Education Degree from William and Mary in Judy Friel Balser has moved to Route 1, Box 265-B, Covington, Va. 24426 and will be teaching 4th grade in Alleghany County.

After hiking part of the Appalachian Trail with another W&M alumna, Beth Stoneberg, Martiscia Stouffer has moved to New England and is enrolled in a Ph.D. program in the biology department of Dartmouth College, Hanover, N.H.

In other class notes:

Ianis L. Clark is doing library study at Case Western Reserve University.

Paul Paulik, Jr. is active with the Common Cause and Ralph Nader organizations. James Theobold is attending law school at Cleveland Marshall. Cabot Wade has been touring Canada with the Smith-Wade Group. As the summer comes to a close, I am sure that everyone has some news to share with the rest of the class. Drop me a line so I can spread

tal Statistic

To: Walter Fred Milkey, '51, a daughter, Jane Ellen, April 8, 1974. Fourth child, second daughter.

To: Gerhard William John Otten, '56, a daughter, Kristen, January 31. Third child. To: Arthur King Fisher, '57, a daughter, Susanna Currie, July 30. First child.

To: Carol Lucas Blum (Anderson) '59, a daughter, Margaret Anne, September 28,

To: Florence Bama McNeill (Steinman), '61, a daughter, Heather McNeill, April 17, 1974. Second child, second daughter.

To: Douglas Nelson Morton, '62, a son, Dudley Walker, June 11, 1973. Third child,

To: Alan Richard Scott, '63, a son, Michael Alan, February 17, 1974. First child.

To: Sandra Elizabeth Dail (Reigelman), '64, and Milton Monroe Reigelman, '64, a son, Jon Milton, February 4, 1974. Third child, first

To: Stephen Scott Mansfield, '64, daughter, Kathryn Diane, March 28, 1974.

To: Eugene Rosser Thurston, Jr., '66, a To: Bonnie Jean Hamlet (White), '67, and Robert Lawrence White, '67, a son, Robert Adams, April 1. Second child, second son. To: Palmer Cowles Sweet, '67, a son, Palmer Cowles, II, March 25, 1973. First child.

To: Clara Reid Abercrombie (Pratt), '68, and Michael Blane Pratt, '65, a son, Marshall Scott, October 7, 1974.

To: Ann Barringer Simonson Brooks (Gavin), '68, a son, Michael Andrew, July 8, 1974. First child. Three other sons and one daughter by adoption.

To: Pamela Sue Goodrich (Palmore), ,68, and Fred Wharton Palmore, III, '67, a son Michael Goodrich, December 25, 1974. First

To: Mary Jean Vogel (Feldman), '68, a son, Michael John, August 13, 1974. Second child, second son. To: Barbara Jean Crissey (Eberhardt), '69, and Michael Charles Eberhardt, '69, a daughter, Caroline Margaret, June 28. First

To: Louis Owen Tonelson, '69, a daughter, Erin Leigh, November 18, 1974. First child.

To: Mary Ellen Allen (Turville), '70, and William Charles Turville, Jr., '69, a daughter, Elaine Kathryn, December 20, 1974. First child.

To: Neil Stark Wrather (Mercer), '70, daughter, Kelly Woods, March 8. First child.

To: Christina Alpha Jones (Johnson), '72, a and William Thomas Johnson, '72, a son, Gregory Thomas, December 28, 1974. First

To: Robert Ronald Kunz, Grad., a son, Robert Carter, October 29, 1974.

MARRIAGES

Sylvia Anita Margolius (Ganz), '32, and Rabbi Morris D. Margolis, March 30, 1974. Janet Ruth Rosenson (Schloss), '40, and Sedgwick Ashton Clark, Jr., July 12. Elizabeth Bryant Graves (Hornsby), '51, and Richard F. Barthlow, December 31, 1973. Fredrica Lucinda Dudley (Burgess), '64, and Steven Rice, December 22, 1974.

Carol Ann Bagley, '68, and Thomas G. Amon, November 3, 1973. Linda D. Rucker, '71, and Van Saxton

Hubbard, May 21, 1974. Kathleen Ann Price, '73, and William George McCarthy, '73, January 19, 1974.

Elizabeth Claire Alderman, '74, and Roger Sherwood Pratt, '74, June 28.

DEATHS

Earl Norfleet Phillips, '18, May 6, in High Point, North Carolina. Quinton Gore Nottingham, '19, June 22, in Eastville, Virginia. Joseph H. Binder, '25, July 6, in Dania,

Irving Sears Driscoll, '30, B.S., June 22, in

Buckungham, Virginia. John Ellis Langton, '49 B.A., July 25, in Williamsburg, Virginia. Ernest Floyd Muller, '50 B.A., December 8, 1974, in Newport News, Virginia.

Anne Sater Clay (Ryder), '51 B.A., June 17, in Indianapolis, Indiana. Steve Tyree Seward, '73 B.A., June 28, in Johnson City, Tennessee. Mrs. Selma S. Jones, Grad., December 5, 1974, in Newport News, Virginia.

The Order of the White Jacket (OWJ) was founded in 1972 by former W&M waiters. Its fourth Homecoming Dinner meeting will be held Thursday, Oct. 9, in the Campus Center Ballroom. So far, 287 individuals who worked as regular (or regular substitute) waiters, or headwaiters, in College dinning halls have enrolled to help emphasize the value and dignity of working through College, to establish fraternal ties, and to initiate service programs for W&M. The form below should be completed to obtain further information on the OWJ, headed by M. Carl Andrews '27 of Roanoke.

'WAITER' SERVICE REGISTRATION FORM (For eligible former students not now members of OWJ.)

You are hereby advised that the undersigned, a former W&M student, performed services as a regular waiter, head waiter, etc., (or regular substitute waiter etc.) in the College Dining Hall or Cafeteria or in private and commercial eating places during the year(s)

() I am interested in information regarding OWJ.

Send to: Dwight C. Brown, Sec.-Treas., 5712 N. 20th St., Arlington, Va. 22205

ALUMNI GAZETTE of the Clege of William and Mary

VOL. 43 NO. 3

WILLIAMSBURG, VA. 23185

SEPTEMBER 1975

Homecoming 1975

Homecoming 1975 has strong prospects of bringing together more William and Mary alumni than any other such gathering in many, many years. The fun and fellowship of old friends and familiar places will once again lure thousands of alumni to the campus for three days of packed activity.

A special feature of this year's weekend will be the renewed development of the "old guard" concept, according to Gordon Vliet, '54, executive vice president of the Alumni Society. Many years ago the title old guard was used only to refer to those persons who attended the College prior to 1900 or who attended the academy.

As the years go by, however, the College grew and now the old guard has grown to include all those alumni who have celebrated their 50th graduation anniversary. Led by the 50th anniversary class of this year--1925--the Old Guard is being developed to take a more active role in the life of the society.

As part of this step, members of the class of 1925, the newest members of the Old Guard, were honored guests at graduation ceremonies in June and again will play important parts in October at Homecoming. This year arrangements have been made for seats in Cary Field at the football game to be in a lower section to allow for group seating of the Old Guard and to reduce the number of steps which must be climbed, Vliet explained.

Again this year, the Homecoming parade will play a major role in the weekend activities. The theme is "A Child's World of Fantasy," and more than 40 units including 20 floats are expected to march along Duke of Gloucester Street beginning at 10 a.m.

cont. on p. 3