THE COLLEGE OF WILLIAM AND MARY

The Society of the Alumni inaugurated the Sunset Parade in 1961 in which the Queen's Guard and the Colonial Militia of Colonial Williamsburg marched in the Sunken Garden to the sound of cannon. In 1976, the ceremony evolved into a more intimate occasion in the Wren Courtyard, where the names of alumni who died during the previous year are read. The Queen's Guard still participates along with the College Choir.

THE SUNSET CEREMONY

Memorial Service Honoring Dead Alumni Goes Back as Far as 1900

At Homecoming again this year, the names of departed alumni will be read at the Sunset Ceremony, an event that has been going on under one guise or another for some 80 years at William and Mary.

Although the modern version of the Sunset Ceremony dates back to 1961, a memorial service honoring dead alumni shows up in College records as far back as 1900.

From 1930 until 1959, a version of the Sunset Ceremony was held under the sponsorship of Phi Beta Kappa at the Ewell Cemetery on campus. The occasion was part of Commencement Weekend during which alumni classes would hold reunions on campus.

The Society of the Alumni inaugurated the Sunset Parade at Homecoming in 1961 while James S. Kelly '51, who had attended many of the memorial observances at the Ewell Cemetery, was Secretary of the Society of the Alumni.

Kelly said the Queen's Guard had been established that year in conjunction with the inauguration of Dr. Davis Y. Paschall '32 as president of William and Mary. Subsequently the Society began the modern version of the Sunset Ceremony with the Queen's Guard as the center of attention marching in the Sunken Garden. Later the event grew with the addition of the Colonial Militia of Colonial Williamsburg joining the Queen's Guard in the Sunken Garden to the sound of cannon salutes. The first Sunset Parade was held on Oct. 13, 1961.

Bowing to financial pressures, Colonial Williamsburg had to withdraw the participation of the Colonial Militia after the 1975 Sunset Parade. The ceremony, scaled down somewhat, was moved to the portico at the back of the Wren Building where it has continued to flourish since 1976.

The memorial service is now an All-College event, and the Queen's Guard remains an essential part of the ceremony. A 1976 addition was the College choir under the direction of Dr. Frank Lendrim. The choir sings an appropriate musical selection and leads the singing of the Alma Mater at the conclusion.

Following a brief traditional eulogy by the Society president and a prayer, the names of all alumni who have died during the year past are read. Three volleys by the Queen's Guard are followed by taps and the tolling of the Wren bell.

Chicago: Our Kind of Alumni Chapter

Windy City Outpost Wins Society's Outstanding Chapter Award for 1980

The Chicago Alumni Chapter has been named the Outstanding Chapter for 1980. Last year's winner, Georgia, was named to an Honorable Mention along with Charlottesville/Highland, another former winner.

In naming the Chicago chapter the Board gave particular recognition to the efforts of a small chapter in a large metropolitan area to maintain a well-rounded program of chapter activities. Events of the year included a faculty speaker for the annual Barn of Barrington Brunch; a Christmas theatre program; a mid-week after work cocktail party downtown; a spring Botanical Gardens tour; a contact program for admitted students. The chapter pays the costs of mailers and postage for its chapter events, and holds meetings in different areas of the Chicago metropolitan area to attract alumni from those areas. The chapter is under the leadership of Esther Aldige '71 and Beth Stoneberg '74.

The Georgia chapter continues to show diversity and imagination in its programming, according to Gordon C. Vliet '54, executive vice-president of the Society. This past year included a reception for the Georgia Tech football game, the annual Christmas party, a faculty speaker program, an area William and Mary Fund phonathon and two college day programs. The Georgia chapter has never failed to win or receive Honorable Mention each year the Outstanding Chapter award has been given. President of the Chapter is Ruth Eye Sours '67. Charlottesville/Highland had a freshman orientation meeting, a family picnic with the Botetourt Singers, the annual Christmas Tree harvest, a University of Virginia basketball game meeting, an admitted students reception, and the James Monroe Birthday Party at Ashlawn. President the past year was Anne Angle Smith '54.

Considered in the final voting were Lynchburg, Northern Neck, Richmond, San Diego, Boston and Detroit, in addition to the award winning chapters. In making the awards the Alumni Service Committee of the Board noted the strong programming of a number of the chapters.

Golf Winners, Anyone?

Society Seeks Names of Distaff Winners of Annual Golf Tourney

The Society is looking for the names of the winners of the Women's Alumni Golf Tournament in years past. Last year a trophy was donated anonymously to be named the Marion Milne Barba '41 Trophy.

The names of the winners of the womens portion of the annual alumni golf tourney held each Homecoming are to be inscribed on the trophy.

The late Mrs. Barba was an avid golfer, and a former member of the Alumni Board. She was the wife of John Barba, '40, and their daughter Margaret Barba Johnston is a member of the class of 1971.

The Society requests any information on names of winners of the womens low net so the trophy inscriptions can be completed. Please send names and years to Barba Trophy, P. O. Box GO, Williamsburg, Va. 23185.

The winners according to Society records are:

Long, Hot, Dry Summer

New Sod on Cary Field Survives, Despite Water Shortage Caused by Drought

This was no year to start a new lawn anywhere in Williamsburg, much less install a new playing field in Cary Field Stadium and expect it to remain green for the football season.

As part of the renovation of the Stadium, the playing field was rebuilt to conform to a new drainage system and meet specifications for its use as a soccer field as well as a football gridiron. New sod, installed early in the summer, took root easily with the aid of a new underground water sprinkling system installed beneath the turf during the renovation.

But a dry spell which hit the area late in June continued to affect Williamsburg's water supply until August 15, when the city ordered all users to cease using public water to maintain lawns and landscaping. By mid-September, the city began planning additional restrictions as the drought continued with no letup in sight.

After August 15, the College's buildings and grounds department began trucking water from Matoaka Lake to Cary Field and the women's playing fields, as well as to the new law school and other newly-planted areas. More than 100,000 gallons were trucked to Cary Field alone in the first month of do-it-yourself-sprinklering.

The playing field, which was among Williamsburg's greenest lawns in mid-August, gradually browned under the hot sun even though it was being watered as regularly as staff and equipment allowed. Without the underground sprinkler system, not enough water could reach the grass to allow it to retain its lush, green appearance.

Elsewhere on campus and throughout the Williamsburg area, lawns and trees, azaleas and flowers, drooped and began showing the effects of the lack of water. Turf experts, however, advised that the sod in Cary Field Stadium--though brown this fall--is healthy and will green up again once weather allows and the sprinkler system can be supplied with clean water.

Board Extends Society Activities

Garrett Leads Directors in Busy Weekend Schedule Before Festivities of Burgesses Day

The Alumni Board of Directors took at its semi-annual meeting Sept. 12-13 several actions in support of its commitment to extend involvement in programs affecting alumni and undergraduates.

Under the direction of Jack Garrett '40, president, intensive meetings were held during the day and a half meeting by the fifteen member board. Various college administrative officials met with alumni committees.

A reception was held on Friday evening for selected alumni children undergraduates and student government leaders.

The Scholarship Committee, chaired by Stanley Hudgins '43 recommended the scholarships provided by the Alumni Scholarship Endowment Fund be awarded to upperclassmen on the basis of merit, rather than need, to underscore the interest of the Society in all around academic and extracurricular excellence.

The Board endorsed establishment of a cooperative program with the College to extend the placement and career counseling programs. The Board also authorized the development of a program with the Admissions Office to train alumni in admissions interview techniques.

The Board named a long range planning committee to codify and prioritize long range objectives and goals of the Society under the chairmanship of Dr. Henry Wilde '53. The major committees of the Board, College Relations and Alumni Service were asked to determine major objectives and areas of interest, and members of the Board were assigned responsibility for specific areas within committee assignments.

The Board authorized a series of feasibility and land use studies for expansion of the Alumni House. The Alumni House committee chaired by Dr. Marvin West '52 has projected space needs to accommodate a Faculty Club dining facility which would be available evenings and weekends for receptions, departmental and group dinners, and alumni activities. Badly needed Society office space would be included in space requirements that may house offices for placement interviews and career counseling, as well as furnish space for satellite alumni organizations.

Formal organization of the Olde Guard was discussed and encouraged. This group is composed of persons who have graduated more than 50 years ago.

The Board endorsed the appointment of Mrs. Jane Hardin Hanson '42, as alumni vice president of the Friends of the President's House. Mrs. Hanson has been a member of the Committee to Refurnish the Presidents House and has been instrumental in the establishment of the Friends organization. She is a former member of the Alumni Board.

The Board indicated its interest in admission of alumni children, feeling that many alumni children who would graduate are being denied admission. The development of a positive admissions program will encourage alumni support of the College in many areas.

Ukrop Heads AEF

Richmonder to Serve Second Term as President

James E. Ukrop '60 of Richmond was re-elected president of the William and Mary Athletic Educational Foundation at the annual meeting held in Williamsburg.

Ukrop, who guided the Foundation through the 1980 fiscal year drive that raised over $391,000, set a goal of $430,000 for the 1981 campaign.

Austin L. Roberts III '69 of Newport News was re-elected First Vice-President. Elected as Vice-Presidents for the various campaign areas were G.T. Brooks, Jr., for Williamsburg; Walter W. Stout III '64 for Richmond; L. W. "Duff" Kliewer '50 for Peninsula; Gregory A. Giordano '71 for Tidewater; Walter R. Wenk, Jr., '66 for Northern Virginia; Aubrey L. Mason, Jr., '72 for Western Virginia; Richard H. Salmon '49 for Petersburg-Hopewell; and Paul N. Massey for Middle Peninsula.

J. W. Lawler '61 of Richmond was elected secretary and Joseph W. Montgomery '74 of Williamsburg was elected treasurer, Barry G. Fratkin '64 was re-elected Executive Director.

The annual meeting and dinner are traditionally the start of the fiscal year drive which ends in May when the Foundation makes its annual contribution to the College in support of the intercollegiate athletic program.

Editor's Notebook

For more than a half-dozen years, the Alumni Gazette has published data which compared faculty salaries and compensation at William and Mary and similar colleges and universities in Virginia and throughout the nation.

Improvement of faculty compensation became a major goal of the successful Campaign for the College, as alumni and friends contributed numerous major gifts to increase unrestricted endowments and establish professorships which are eligible for State "Eminent Scholars" salary funds.

The Board of Visitors declared in 1978 that improvement of faculty salaries was the College's top priority, and this commitment attracted the attention of key members of the General Assembly and Governor Dalton. In 1979, William and Mary was moved up to a new salary authorization level by the Governor, and the General Assembly early in 1980 increased funding to help support the Governor's move.

The effects on faculty salaries of the infusion of new endowed private funds helped increase morale, and so did the 1979-80 actions by the State. Actual dollar differences for this academic session have not been calculated, but undoubtedly there is a need to find new endowments to make William and Mary salaries more competitive in Virginia and across the nation. The strides taken so far, though important and positive, are not so big as to overcome the lag of many years' standing.

Comparative measurements of salaries are tricky and can be misleading. Newly published figures for 1979-80 (the last academic session) are an example. Though William and Mary is authorized by the Commonwealth to pay its faculty the fourth highest average of all institutions (behind Virginia, VPI and Virginia Commonwealth), its actual average ranks sixth (behind Old Dominion and George Mason) for associate and assistant professors, and fifth (ahead of George Mason) for full professors.

Compensation at William and Mary is compared nationally by the American Association of University Professors. Compensation includes salaries and fringe benefits which have monetary value. Among public and private universities which are recognized by the AAUP as comparable to William and Mary, the College ranks in the bottom fifth at all ranks--a position it has held for years, and continues to hold despite the first infusion of privately endowed salary funds.

But, the AAUP reported this year, William and Mary ranks in the third (or middle) quintile when its overall average salaries (without fringes) are compared with data from similar universities. The College drops to the fourth quintile when total average compensation including fringes is compared with similar universities.

The new AAUP report is encouraging to those whose job it is to help recruit new faculty from throughout the nation, for a mid-range salary average is better than being at the bottom of the comparative well. William and Mary becomes more attractive in the academic marketplace, as a result.

William and Mary has never been an "average" college or university, and simply occupying the middle range in faculty salary comparisons is nothing to crow about.

QB Chris Garrity Keeps on Tryin'

Two VMI linemen pressure Tribe quarterback Chris Garrity, which was something they did effectively in the Keydets' 13-10 victory over William and Mary in the second game of the season. Under new coach Jimmie Laycock, the Indians opened with a 42-0 loss to North Carolina State, but improved steadily in the next two games. They lead VMI 10-0 early in the game, and against Virginia Tech the young Indians were ahead of the Hokies 3-0 until the last 38 seconds of the game when Tech, a four-touchdown favorite, scored from the one-yard line after a controversial pass interference call against William and Mary. ## A New Man In Charge of Equipment

Frank Cody Retires After 28 Years as Equipment Manager

For 28 years William and Mary's equipment manager was Frank Cody. The man from just up the road in Toano became a legend in his own time.

He outfitted two generations of William and Mary football players as sons of the fathers he had greeted arrived to play for the Tribe.

After nearly three decades Frank has retired. (Hundreds of former athletes will be honoring Frank on Friday, Oct. 3, 3:30 p.m. at a gathering at Cary Stadium.)

His successor? Countless applications for the opening came in and Dave O'Neil was selected.

The 34 year old native of Kutztown, Pa., joined the William and Mary staff in July.

O'Neil was the sports equipment manager at Kutztown State College for three years prior to his arrival in Williamsburg.

"I've always been involved in athletics and several years ago I had the opportunity to go into this profession and jumped at it. I've never regretted a minute of it," stated O'Neil.

The diminutive but powerfully built O'Neil heard about the William and Mary job through a friend of his at Lafayette College.

"I didn't know much about William and Mary except it was an excellent academic college with very competitive football and basketball programs," said O'Neil.

He submitted an application and shortly thereafter he was invited for an interview.

"I was impressed with a lot of things; the campus, the town, the renovation at the stadium. After seeing everything and meeting Coach Jimmie Laycock there was no doubt in my mind I wanted the job."

O'Neil got it. He was "the most qualified and had outstanding references," according to Laycock.

An avid outdoorsman who loves archery, O'Neil hopes to some day land an equipment manager's job in professional football.

"It's a hope I've had for a long time. No longer do I consider it a dream. It's my goal and one which I will work very hard to attain."

And work he does. From sunrise til after sunset he is handling all the equipment and locker room needs.

Helmets, shoulder pads, laundry, daily inventories, anything and everything used by or for a player is checked by O'Neil.

"It's a jack-of-all trades type job. One of the most important factors is being organized. There is so much to account for," relates O'Neil.

"He can account for every cleat, every pad," says one player. "Dave is unbelievably organized. He has a place for everything and you better not mess 'em up."

The locker room is immaculate. O'Neil the "enforcer" sees it stays that way. He is often seen picking up the smallest fragment of ankle tape from the floor and placing it into the trash or telling a player to clean up the area by his locker.

"This place is new. It's clean. It's something to take pride in and I am going to be darn certain it stays that way," warns the "enforcer."

O'Neil travels with the team. His responsibilities continue. Make sure helmets and pads fit. Equipment repair, etc.

Serious injuries can result if a player is not properly out-fitted. His equipment is crucial to his well-being.

"The single most important aspect of the job is making certain the players are in the right gear," emphasizes O'Neil.

"You just don't throw out a helmet and shoulder pads and say play ball. The players must be, what amounts to, custom fitted," says the Tribe manager who adds, "You can't be too careful when it comes to being sure the players have the best protection."

His responsibilities are vast. His work goes relatively un-noticed by many. But in the words of head coach Jimmie Laycock, "Dave O'Neil is as important a member of our staff as anyone."

New equipment manager Dave O'Neil keeps the locker room running smoothly.

Approximately 700 state officials and other guests attended the Burgesses Day luncheon in William and Mary Hall. After the lunch, they moved to Cary Stadium for the VMI-William and Mary game.

Top Officials Attend Burgesses Day

Society Entertains 700 In Day That Honors Lawmakers

The Society of the Alumni entertained more than 700 guests, including Governor John N. Dalton '53, the lieutenant governor of the state, and two former governors, at Burgesses Day at William and Mary on September 14.

Many of Virginia's top lawmakers, including more than three dozen legislators, came to Williamsburg for a reception and luncheon at William and Mary Hall followed by the football game between William and Mary and Virginia Military Institute. Among other invited guests were numerous appointed state officials and many of the judges of the Federal and state benches.

Sponsored by the Society, Burgesses Day commemorates the historic bonds between the Commonwealth and the College. In that spirit, President Graves presented Governor and Mrs. Dalton with a William and Mary blanket for the Governor's excellent "track record" over the years in finding space on his calendar for the College's important activities. The William and Mary blanket is normally reserved for outstanding Tribe athletes.

John H. Garrett Jr. '40, president of the Society of the Alumni, gave the Daltons on behalf of the Society a rare print of alumnus John Marshall, fourth chief justice of the United States, made from a 1903 woodblock engraving by Gustav Kruell. The Society purchased the original blocks in 1978. Extensive search has failed to reveal any copies of the prints in museum or private collections. Garrett made similar presentations to Robb, Godwin, and Harrison. All of the guests received green glass paper weights and colorful green and gold shakers for the game.

Remarks at the luncheon were closely tied to the new Marshall-Wythe School of Law Building which was dedicated later in the afternoon.

Garrett called the law building "yet another example of the College's continuing growing service to the nation." Governor Dalton added that "we need to remember (the building) was funded by a popular bond referendum and is a gift from the people of Virginia."

Burgesses Day commemorates the two times when the state's governing bodies, the House of Burgesses and the Colonial Council (the upper house of the General Assembly), met in the Sir Christopher Wren Building on the campus.

The Burgesses met in the Wren Building from 1699 until 1704 while the capitol building was under construction. The Council convened there again from 1747 to 1754 when the capitol, damaged by fire, was rebuilt.

President Graves presented Governor and Mrs. Dalton with a William and Mary blanket in recognition of the Governor's great "track record" as governor of Virginia in response to William and Mary's needs.

Revitalized Marshall-Wythe Dedicated at Ceremony

Three Former Governors, Hundreds of Alumni, Take Tour of New Facility

William and Mary dedicated its new law school building at the end of Burgesses Day on Sept. 13 in the presence of three former governors of Virginia and many of the state's leading jurists.

The College announced the establishment of two new professorships of law - one in honor of former president John Stewart Bryan and the other in honor of former governor Mills E. Godwin Jr. '35 who shared the podium with two other former governors, Albertis S. Harrison and J. Lindsay Almond.

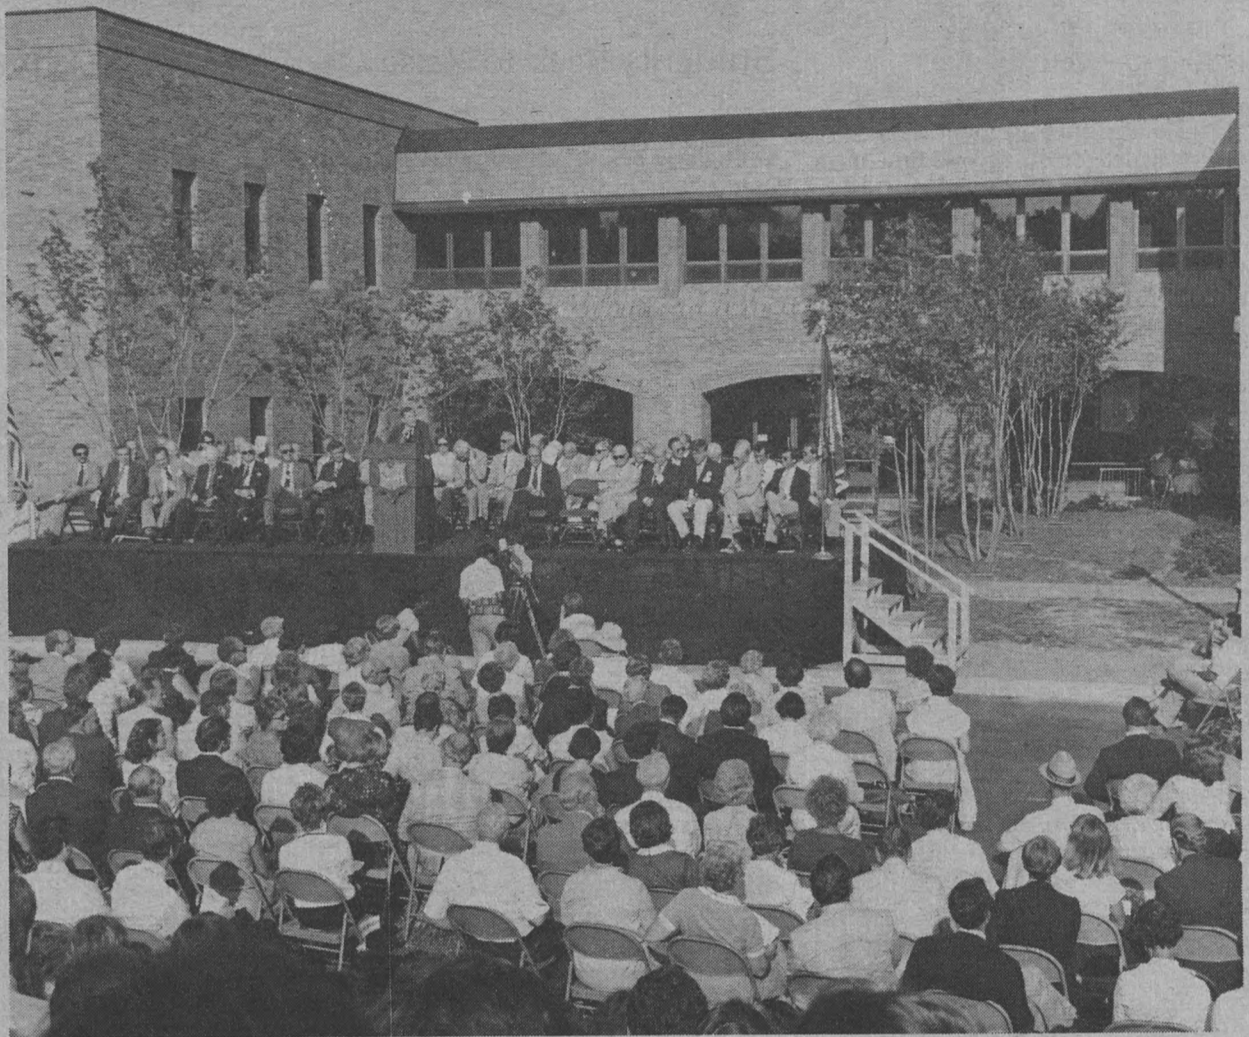

In his remarks to a crowd of more than 500 in 90-degree heat in front of the new Marshall-Wythe School of Law building located about a half mile from the main campus next to the National Center for State Courts, Dean William B. Spong Jr. called the building "a gift from the people of Virginia."

Accepting a gold key to the building, Spong said: "Today is a beginning. A higher plateau of excellence and service is reachable."

Governor Godwin occupied center stage during the ceremony as Spong announced the establishment of the Mills E. Godwin Jr. Professorship of Law endowed by a gift from Richmond financier Lawrence Lewis Jr., the Noland Co. Foundation of Newport News, and R. R. Smith, chairman of the board of Smith's Transfer Corp. of Verona, Va.

Spong paid tribute to the former two-time governor under whose administration the College received both site preparation money and support for a $125 million bond referendum which passed easily in November 1977. The $5.4 million for construction of the 88,000-square foot building, one of the most modern in the nation, was included in the bond issue.

In announcing the Godwin Professorship, College officials noted it was created "to memorialize the sterling leadership which he gave the Commonwealth of Virginia in his two terms as governor; to recognize his stance of honest, fiscally responsible and efficient government; and, in general, to salute the faithful, valuable service that he, throughout his long and distinguished public career, rendered the Commonwealth and all of its citizens."

Approximately 500 guests attended the dedication ceremonies which were held in front of the new law school building on South Henry Street adjacent to the National Center for State Courts.

Dean Spong accepted a gold key to the $5.4 million law school building which he described as one of the most modern in the nation.

The John Stewart Bryan Professorship of Jurisprudence, in honor of William and Mary's president from 1934 to 1942, was established by an endowment from members of the Bryan family, including D. Tennant Bryan, Richmond, chairman of Media General; Amanda Bryan Kane of Charlottesville, and Elizabeth G. Henry of New York City. Bryan's period at William and Mary was known as an "era of good feeling" and he was credited with increasing the size and quality of the College faculty, in addition to his many other accomplishments.

In his remarks, Spong said that "the eyes of our faculty and students are understandably to the future."

"How this building is used will determine if we are worthy of our rich heritage, worthy of the long struggle for survival and worthy of the faith of the people of the Commonwealth."

Governor John N. Dalton '53 had attended Burgesses Day festivities earlier in the day but had to leave campus for another engagement before the dedication began at 4:30 p.m. After the official ceremony, guests toured the building and attended a reception on the grounds.

President Graves (left) and Dean Spong (right) welcomed three former Virginia governors to the dedication: J. Lindsay Almond (next to Graves) Mills E. Godwin Jr. '35 and Albertis S. Harrison. Spong announced the Mills E. Godwin Jr. Professorship of Law during the ceremonies.

Choir to Visit Europe Again

Students Seek to Raise Own Money for Summer Tour

The College choir is going to Europe again, for the second time in four years.

The 55-member choir will leave on a 26-day trip from Dulles airport on May 19 to Paris, Geneva, Frankfurt, London, Canterbury and other places in England. The choir made a similar concert tour in 1978, but only one member of the choir remains from that tour of Europe. jaunt for choir members. All expenses will be covered either by donations or by the students themselves since there are no funds in the university's budget for the trip.

The choir members have already raised approximately $1500 by giving concerts to convention groups in the Williamsburg area. But their big money-raiser -- at it was in 1978 -- and other as yet undetermined sites in England before returning home June 13.

Lendrim describes the trip as "a good mix of work and play that will make the occasion a rich educational experience in European travel."

Plans are for students to stay in private homes where possible, which will prove less expensive than hotel accommodations and will also provide students with more intimate contact with the people of the various countries.

will be an effort to sell approximately 100,000 Christmas and note cards (see adjacent ad).

Frank Lendrim, choir director, said he expects the trip to cost approximately $1500 per person.

The choir and the Botetourt Singers, an ensemble group of approximately 15 members, will give concerts at the Notre Dame in Paris, at American churches in Geneva and Frankfurt, at Westminster Abbey in London, and at the Canterbury Cathedral in Canterbury, England. The choir performed in each of those cities, with the exception of Canterbury, in 1978, and Lendrim said he has received numerous invitations to return with his group. This past summer, while teaching in a William and Mary program at Cambridge, he began arrangements for the return trip.

The choir will fly directly to Paris on May 19. After a travel break, the choir will give its first concert at Notre Dame; its second in Geneva at Emmanuel Church; and the third concert of the trip in Frankfurt at Christ and King Anglican Church. The members will then take a respite with a Rhine River cruise and an evening in Cologne.

On May 31, the choir will sing at Westminster Abbey and on June 1 will give another concert in London in the Church of St. Martin's in the Fields. It will perform Canterbury

Nancy Porter: Coach of Champions

Quiet Approach Works for Field Hockey Coach

In six years as William and Mary's varsity field hockey coach, Nancy Porter's teams have won three regional championships and placed fourth, eight and fifth at the Division I Nationals to establish a 71-17-11 overall record.

With those figures in mind, one might expect to find a coach who travels extensively to scout prospective athletes, whips players into shape during grueling workouts and accepts no excuses for missing practice.

Any of those visions would be the antithesis of Nancy Porter. She inspires a quiet discipline in the team, believes that academics are the foremost priority, and knows how to enjoy a good laugh.

"I don't initiate contact with any of the students because I think they should want to come here," says Porter. "The reputation of William and Mary and the field hockey program causes students to contact me."

By students choosing to attend William and Mary Porter feels she avoids some of the problems of schools who "coerce" students to attend. "I like the attitude of the field hockey and lacrosse program - that everyone has the right to participate," she says. "We have a national contender and yet with three coaches and four teams everyone has the opportunity to play."

Porter actively advocates the College policy that academics should be the top priority for her team, an unusual group of athletes with no physical education majors and numerous fine arts and science students.

"The students are a very diversified group both academically and athletically," says Porter. "I don't mind giving way sometimes to academics because it makes both aspects (studies and sports) a healthy experience."

Senior and captain Betsy Frick says that Porter's philosophy has kept the field hockey team in a healthy perspective. "The program has grown much more competitive since my freshman year but the players have maintained a good attitude because of N.P. (Porter). We still have a lot of fun and hockey is important but it's not the most important thing."

However, don't get the idea that the team treats practice like a play day. "I've never known anyone who in a quiet way inspires personal responsibility like N.P. does," says senior Bevin Engman. "I feel like I want to play my hardest."

Engman says that much of the team's success comes from Porter's emphasis on the whole team. "She's never encouraged the singular stardom of one player and we are very much an entire company on the field." Frick adds that, "Nancy is eager to get our feedback and encourages our comments."

After growing up in Westmont, N.J., Porter attended Ursinus College (PA) where she received a B.S. in physical education. While an undergraduate her varsity hockey team only lost one game in four years and she played basketball and lacrosse as well receiving the outstanding athlete award.

Nancy Porter

She then earned an M.A. in guidance and counseling from Villanova University at night school while serving as the head lacrosse, basketball and field hockey coach at Lansdowne-Aldan High School near Philadelphia.

An avid golfer from the age of 12, Porter won the Philadelphia Amateur in 1978 and has played golf in the U.S. Open six times, finishing 30th of 150 players in 1976. Still, she prefers coaching a team sport.

"The most fulfilling thing in sports to me is to be a teacher of a team sport and kind of work on golf on my own time," she says. "I like the idea of the unit rather than the individual."

Porter joined the women's physical education staff in 1974 and the following year her team placed fourth in the first AIAW National Championship. Although the team is stronger now than it was then, that first national championship was a highlight experience.

"We always had a few really first class players but not a lot of depth," says Porter. "This year we have a few U.S. level players and many only a notch below. We have great potential but are a young team and need experience."

Porter has many reasons to be optimistic despite the loss of Collegiate All-American Pixie Hamilton, former captain Claire Campbell, sweeper Peel Hawthorne and forward Sharra Kelly.

Frick will lead the team on defense at center halfback while Engman will anchor left halfback. Seasoned senior Susan Shoaf will take over the sweeper position to help protect the goal area.

Sophomore Basia Deren returns at left inner from which she scored an awesome 26 goals and was named to the second team All-American at nationals last year. But, the biggest part of Porter's enthusiasm rests in a freshman class with "knowledge of field hockey far advanced for their years."

Karen Thorne of Medford, N.J., will join the attack at right wing. At 17 years of age, Thorne was one of the youngest players to be named to the U.S. Squad this past summer. Julie Duff, Meg Donahue, Chris Paradis, Jenny Lewis and Lisa Fuccella are also promising freshman.

While in 1979 the Indians were 18-4, outscoring their opponents 62-17, Porter says this year's edition will be faster and more threatening offensively. "We have people with both good speed and stickwork on the forward line," she says. "Our least experienced position will be the goalkeeping area, but we should have a very sound defense."

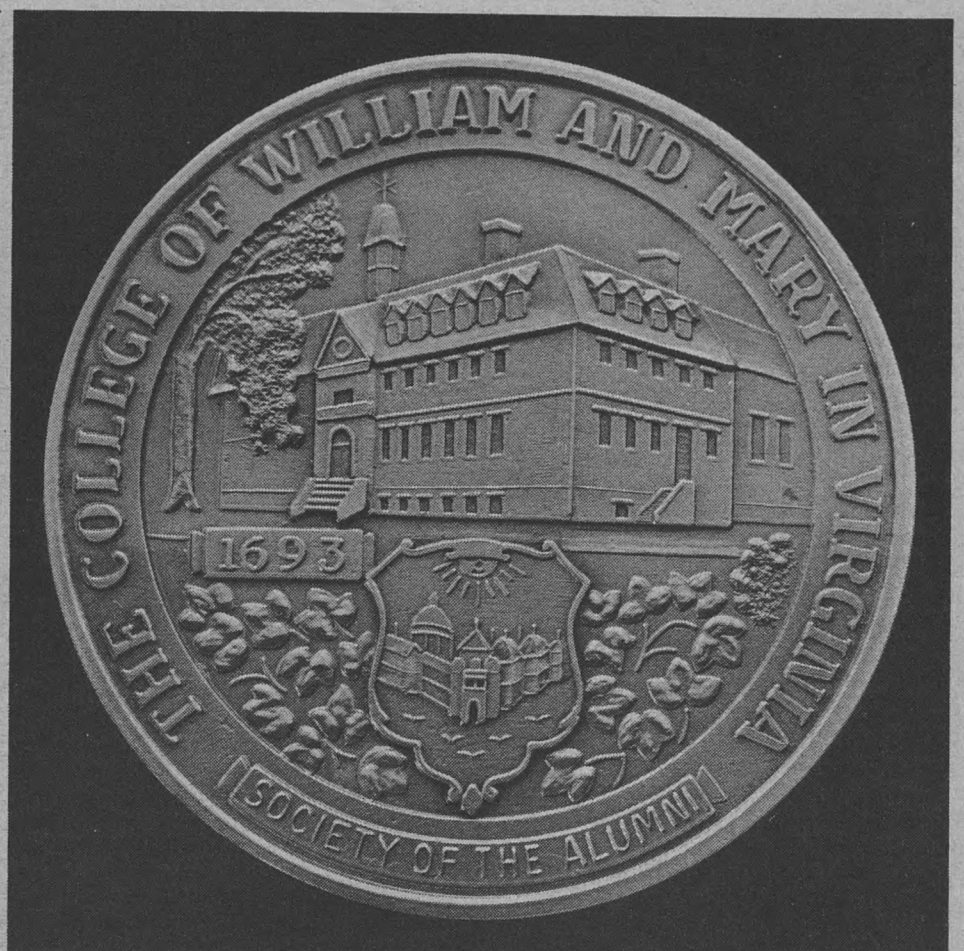

Top home games will include Ohio State, Sunday Oct. 5 at 1 p.m., Connecticut, Saturday Oct. 25 at 2 p.m., and Maryland, Tuesday Nov. 4 at 3 p.m. on Barksdale Fields off Jamestown Road.

Of coming to William and Mary Porter says that, "This has been a great experience for me. As the team gets better and better it's a real challenge for me to keep the sport on the same philosophical level. I like coaching because I relate well to people and I love sports."

Three Named To Receive Medallion

Duncan Cocke '32, John Morton '58, Richard Velz '36 Honored By Society

The Society of the Alumni will confer its coveted Alumni Medallion at Homecoming on Duncan M. Cocke '32, Williamsburg; John F. Morton Jr. '58, New Orleans, and Richard A. Velz '36, Richmond.

All three have distinguished themselves in their respective fields, and have extensive records of service to the College and to the Society.

The Alumni Medallion is given annually by the Society in recognition of service to the College and to community and nation. Only 162 Medallions have been conferred since the first Medallion was struck in 1933.

A 1937 graduate of the University of Virginia School of Law, Cocke retired as senior vice president of the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation in 1977 after a 39-year career with the organization including 30 years as vice president. Cocke served as secretary and trustee of the Williamsburg Community Hospital, as a trustee of the Williamsburg Area Memorial Center, as fund chairman for the Williamsburg James City County Community Fund, and as president of the Williamsburg Chamber of Commerce.

Cocke served on the Board of Directors of the Society from December 1955 to December 1958. He was vice president of the Society from December 1956 to December 1958. In 1960 he was co-chairman of the Williamsburg phase of the drive for funds to build a new College library. Cocke also served on the William and Mary School of Business Administration Advisory Board.

Cocke is married to Minnie Cole Savage Cocke '33. They formerly lived in the Bright House, which is now the Alumni House.

A New Orleans architect directing his own firm, Morton served on the Board of Directors of the Society from 1971 to 1977 and as vice president 1975-76. He authored the proposal for the Alumni House and served as the architect for its renovation and decoration. He organized and served three terms as president of the New Orleans Alumni Chapter, and has also been a class agent for the William and Mary Fund.

A fine arts major at William and Mary, Morton also earned a degree in architecture from Tulane University, where he was the Henry Adams Fund Scholar and the recipient of the Alpha Rho Chi Medal. He is a member of numerous historic and preservation associations and an elder in his church. Morton is married to Betty Roney Chesson Morton '59.

Velz is a former journalist, business executive and management consultant who is the executive director and treasurer of the Medical College of Virginia Foundation. He retired in 1976 as vice president and director of public affairs of the A.H. Robins Company which he had joined in 1958.

Velz is a former correspondent for both Associated Press and United Press International and a former member of the editorial staff of the Richmond News Leader. He also served as production and program director for a Richmond radio station and as director of public relations at William and Mary.

Velz is a member of more than 30 business, professional and civic organizations. He has been honored with many awards including five Freedom Foundation Awards.

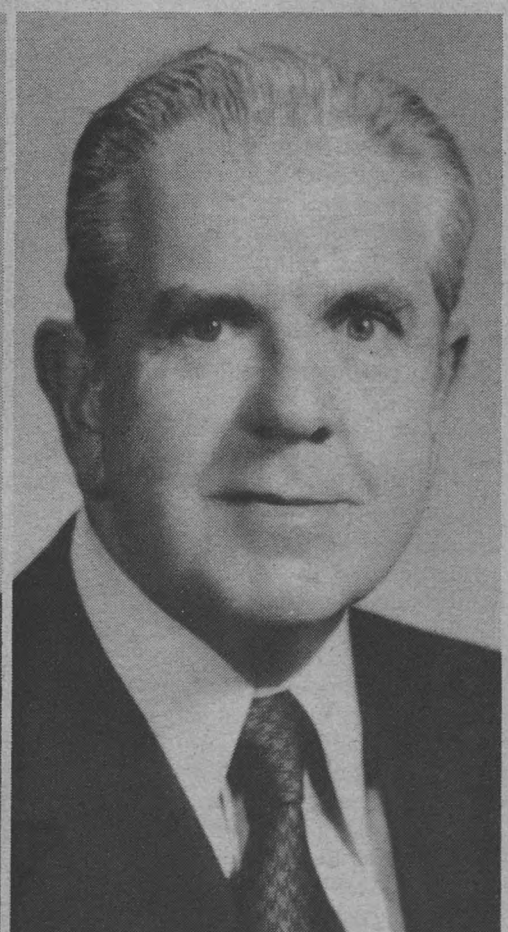

Velz served on the committee to plan the 1976 Carter-Ford Debate at William and Mary, and on the Campaign for the College public relations committee and is currently a member of the Task Force for the National Endowment for the Humanities fund drive. He is currently a member of the President's Council at the College.

Alumni Notes

Mrs. J. Stuart White
(L. Helen Smith)
140 Towne Square Drive
Newport News, Va. 23607

25 As I write today my thoughts turn to October 3, 1980, the day of a great "celebration" - our Fifty-fifth Class '25 Reunion!! We weep for those who were not so fortunate as we, but we are grateful for the years we spent with them and can now look upon them as precious years, even more precious than we realized at the time.

My next thought is - I wonder how many plan to attend our Class '25 Reunion luncheon. You have received a letter from Art Winder inviting you and your spouse to join us. He and Mary extend a warm welcome to all. At the Great Hall in the Wren Building we will be greeted by Art and Mary and share a cocktail hour followed by the luncheon.

October 3, 1980, also will mark the reaching of our Class '25 Memorial Fund goal of $10,000, which means our Class will be able now to give students financial assistance. As of June 30, our capital contributions to this fund and interest earned thereon, totalled $6,717.75. This means we were at that time $3,282.25 short of meeting our goal, BUT if each of us will give a gift of denial and love, we can meet that goal, SO, dig down deep between now and October 1, and send your pledge or check made payable to "The Class '25 Memorial Fund" c/o The Society of the Alumni, Box 60, Williamsburg, Virginia 23185. These gifts are to be made in memory of, or on behalf of our classmates as a group. In what better way could we possibly honor our deceased classmates, for by so doing they too are sharing in the education of others for eons and eons. These gifts will be tax-deductible.

A most interesting letter from Caroline Sinclair tells us that she and four others plan to attend our Class Reunion. Isn't that the "Spirit of '25." The five were together a few weeks ago at which time they planned to meet again in October for a house party and to join us on October 3.

Frances Sanders Ennis writes that last spring the Northern Neck Alumni Chapter met at Indian Creek Club and had the pleasure of hearing Dr. Mitchell A. Byrd speak on "Virginia's Endangered Birds of Prey."

Mathilda Crawford Whitehouse writes from Hingham, Mass., "I plan to pull myself together for our 55th. 'C' and I plan to arrive in Williamsburg on Thursday afternoon, quite looking forward to it. See you in October."

From Alice Clay Hall comes a cheery note of appreciation of our news which as she expressed it, "Nourishing the loving fellowship of our dear Class of '25. How wonderful it would be to attend one reunion, but at present that privilege seems more like a dream than a reality." She continued, "Our International Platform Association Convention in Washington ended last weekend without me and our International Academy of Poets Convention in Amsterdam, Holland, will end without me later this month." Alice did state that the weather had played a big part in her not attending, but she did enjoy her guests this summer and a visit to some of their grandchildren proved quite satisfying. She referred most pleasantly to her Poetry Society of Texas which was host to the annual conference this summer. She states, "The work of our older poets is really flowering in our young people." She then recalled when former Governor John Connolly personally called a meeting of several days in Austin for promoting poetry in the arts. She concluded by writing, "So glad your husband is well. Love to you both and our wonderful Class of '25. Happy Reunion!" Thank you, Alice, for your most interesting letter.

You will recall reading in the June issue that Bill Gravely wrote of having visited with Bascom Brockenbrough Young. He referred to him as "Broken," according to the printing. Bill then sent our column to him and here is the reply the Alumni Office received, "My good friend and classmate William H. Gravely, '25, just sent me a copy of part of your June 1980 issue. In it I am mentioned. My middle name is Brockenbrough, hence, I'm called by some as 'Brock Young', some called me 'Brockey', but never 'Broken', although I can remember many times when I was 'broken' financially. Please advise me when next the Class of '25 expects to have a reunion. Maybe I can just make it. Best regards, Bascom B. Young, M.D."

Thank you, Doctor, for your patience with what was a typographical error. Please accept our apology but at the same time we must confess we are glad of the error because had it not happened we might not have heard from you. You really made my day when you stated, "Maybe I can just make it."

Bill Gravely reports that he and Elisabeth are looking forward to being in their little cottage in Bethany Beach, Del., frequently after September 1st. He concludes, "We are also looking forward to Homecoming in October."

Did you ever hear of anyone whose granddaughter is also her sister? Now, that's one for the book! But Elizabeth Nicholson Richter holds that honor. In 1925 Elizabeth made Phi Beta Kappa at our Alma Mater. Her granddaughter, Carolyn, who has just graduated from the University of California at Riverside, has made Phi Beta Kappa, so in Elizabeth's words, "It means my granddaughter is also my sister - in Phi Beta Kappa - a real coincidence. We are all quite pleased." We know you are, Elizabeth, and you have every right to be, to have a granddaughter who follows in her grandmother's footsteps.

Also, Elizabeth has a grandson who has just earned his PhD with honors at the University of California in San Diego. Think of it, two grandchildren graduating at the same time. He will continue his study in Music and teach the Russian language. Last year he taught French.

Tony Everett had a delightful trip to Delaware. They toured Winterthur Gardens and the duPont Mansion, then on to "the beautiful Longwood Gardens in Pennsylvania; The Franklin Mint and the historic Brandywine Battlefield and Park." He continues, "It was a beautiful time of the year - azaleas were in full bloom." Later in May he drove to Columbia, S.C., and visited cousins, one of whom teaches at the University of South Carolina. He concludes, "I found Columbia to be a beautiful little city with the Capitol and University grounds giving much charm. Now I'm baking in the Norfolk heat." Tony plans to be with us for our Fifty-fifth.

At this writing Elizabeth Islin remains the same. She has just passed another birthday and received many lovely cards for which Eddie is most appreciative. Eddie has also just added another year to his life. At this time he is visiting his daughter, Betty, in North Carolina. Eddie plans to be with us on October 3.

Mary Gilliam Hughes tells us that her brother received a bad injury from a fall last March and has been hospitalized ever since - first in Evanston, Ill., and now in Greenville, N.C., which from now on will be his permanent home. He is her only surviving brother. We are sorry to learn of this, Mary, and hope that he will gain his strength and soon be up again. She concludes, "Will be looking forward to October and seeing all friends again. In the meantime love for all and we will keep our fingers crossed that we have a good reunion!"

Jim Somerville did not send another of his clever stories, but he did send a photo copy of a letter from Senator Harry F. Byrd, Jr. This note was in reply to a copy Jim made of his story in the June issue which referred to the late Mr. Heywood Bell who was Secretary many years to both Senator Byrd and his father. The following is the reply, "My dear Jamie, I am perfectly delighted to have the copy of the letter which you wrote to Mrs. White about our mutual dear friend, Heywood Bell. I think of him often. He was a true friend to my father and to me. To you, Jamie, I send my best wishes. Sincerely, Harry."

Vernon Nunn, who has never minded the heat, says it really got to him this summer. Yes, Vernon, it got to me too, but it always has, only more so. We are sorry you had the "shingles" in May; that is real suffering, I understand. We regret to hear that Liz has had such a bad time. We hope, with this cooler weather, that you both will feel much better and that come October 3, you both will be "right with it."

It is going to be a red-letter day when we can present our $10,000 Memorial Fund to the "High Official," whomever he is. That's a secret Art has not yet revealed - so we really do have a lot of fun and happiness in store for us.

And what about Stuart and Helen? We have thoroughly enjoyed staying home in cool comfort. My daughter, Barbara, and her husband were our guests in June during which time we celebrated her birthday and Father's Day. Next our grandson, Bob, was with us. He is now an "upcoming Junior" at James Madison University. On the heels of his visit Jack, Stuart's son, his wife, Sylvia, both of whom are William and Mary graduates, and their three children were our guests on their way up from Hilton Head. Our last family group was our niece, Jury Barner, and two of her four children from Palm Beach, Fla. She had been visiting her brother, Charles Perkinson, and his wife, Pat, and their three little daughters in Lawrenceville, Va. She left her other two children with them while she visited with us and visited Jamestown and Williamsburg. She later returned to Lawrenceville and three days later we joined them and had a great family reunion. Charles has been recently appointed Judge of the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court. Needless to say, we are very proud of this honor having been conferred upon him.

In April I was honored by being elected President of the Woman's Club of Hilton Village for a term of two years and installed in May. This is my second term as President, having served from 1934-1936. So you see, life does not always begin at 40 - it can begin many, many years later. Needless to say, this has been a busy summer, but a happy one. But for Stuart's cooperation, I could not possibly have accepted the presidency.

That's all, classmates! Meet us on October 3, at 11:00 a.m. at Alumni House. Until then - safe driving - and God Bless.

Society Presents Marshall Prints

Society of the Alumni President John H. Garrett Jr. '40 presented a rare print of alumnus John Marshall, fourth chief justice of the United States, to Governor Dalton at Burgesses Day ceremonies Sept. 13. Made from a 1903 wood block engraving by Gustav Kruehl, copies were also given Lt. Gov. Charles S. Robb and former governors Albertis S. Harrison and Mills E. Godwin Jr. '35.

Need a Job?

Placement Office Wants To Help

William and Mary's Office of Placement is happy to assist alumni in job searching. Those who file an Alumni Qualification Record will receive copies monthly of "Career Placement Notes," which includes current listings of job opportunities. Also, members of the Placement Staff will attempt to match job notes with individual interests and communicate directly with the alumnus. Robert P. Hunt, Associate Director, who is primarily responsible for working with alumni, invites individuals to contact him by phone at (804) 253-4604, or by letters addressed to:

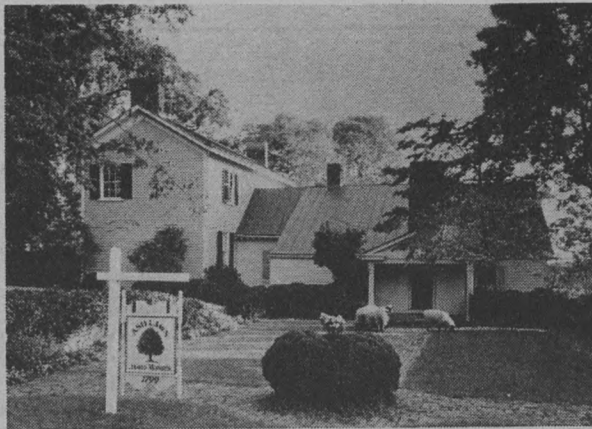

Office of Placement
College of William and Mary
Williamsburg, Virginia 23185

In order to assist current students and alumni, those who have information regarding specific job openings are encouraged to communicate this information to the Office of Placement. All alumni, when they are in the Williamsburg area, are invited to visit and use the resources of the Office of Career Planning and Placement, which are located in Morton Hall.

CUMBEE '76 NAMED POLICE DIRECTOR

Richard S. Cumbee '76 has been named to succeed Harvey Gunson as director of the campus police at William and Mary. Cumbee had served as a lieutenant on the campus police force under Gunson who resigned to head the campus police at Florida International University.

ASH LAWN RECEIVES $25,000 GRANT

Ash Lawn, the former home of James Monroe which is now owned and administered by William and Mary, has been awarded a federal grant of $25,000 by the Institute of Museum Services. The grant will be used for general operating support of Ash Lawn, which is located near Charlottesville.

27 Quick now, how many of you have had a building named after you? This was the experience of Harold W. Ramsey on June 28, when the Franklin County School Board formally designated the original East Wing of Franklin County High School at Rocky Mount as "Ramsey Hall."

A considerable assemblage of family, friends and associates was present on the school lawn when Superintendent Cy Dillon made the dedication to Dr. Ramsey, who retired July 1, 1968, after over 40 years as superintendent.

A fellow Alumnus, Dr. Woodrow Wilkerson, retired superintendent of public instruction who served with Harold on the William and Mary Board of Visitors, made the principal address, paying tribute to the honoree for his half century of service to the schools of his native county.

Harold has been teacher and principal when he became superintendent to discover an incredible system of 149 schools, most of them one and two-room buildings scattered through the mountainous county.

With quiet, persuasive determination he set out to create a modern system of strategically located schools, capped by a central consolidated high school, dedicated in 1952 by then Gov. John Battle. I was present when an oil portrait of Harold was unveiled in the new building.

In 1958, following his eight years on the Board of Visitors, Harold was named by then Gov. J. Lindsay Almond, Jr., to serve on a state commission to study the entire educational system. Later he was chosen for two terms on the State Board of Education and in 1971 helped design the first set of Standards of Quality, which received General Assembly approval.

Harold has always been frank to say that William and Mary provided his inspiration in student days to press for accomplishment of the goals he ultimately achieved in the field of education. Plaques both inside and outside the high school will pay him tribute.

Today Harold lives in retirement at his old home, 325 Main Street, S.W., in Rocky Mount, watching the world go by but never allowing his interest in education to flag.

For those of you who refuse to read the obituary column, I must sadly note the passing of three well-known men of the class--Herbert Lawrence Ganter in Williamsburg August 20, William Bernard (Billy) Doyle in McKenney, Va., March 17 and Lloyd Quinby Hines, Sr. in Suffolk April 23.

Herbert, or simply "Herb" to his friends, was one of the true "brains" of the class, who went on to get his law degree from Marshall-Wythe in 1930, but never practiced law, instead devoting his life to historical research and the care and preservation of old books.

He had been secretary to a judge in his native Galveston, Tex., after schooling in Roman Catholic institutions. Of southwest German stock, he was a very private person in his years after college. For a number of years in the 1930's and 40's he was on the research staff of the Library of Congress in Washington and also served in the armed forces in World War II.

It was in 1948 that our beloved Dr. Earl G. Swem persuaded Herb to return to his alma mater as archivist in the Library. There he seemed content among his ancient books and documents, being considered a leading authority on William and Mary history as well as Colonial and 18th Century Virginia history. He was a steady contributor to the famed William and Mary Quarterly and was certainly a rare book authority.

Quite often it was Ganter who drew the assignment of playing host to important visitors from many countries seeking historical data. His courtesy will be well remembered by many. He is survived only by several cousins, among them Bishop B. J. Ganter of Beaumont, Tex. His immediate family had passed on during his college days.

Many of us can recall Herb as a reserved yet popular man on campus, invariably dressed in sweater and plus fours, a stack of newspapers or books under arm, but with ready smile, a keen sense of humor and a true scholar. He made Phi Beta Kappa in a breeze as well as ODK, Sigma Upsilon, the Flat Hat Society and Kappa Alpha. He preceded Frank Hopkins, one of his best friends, as editor of the Literary Magazine in 1925-26.

For some reason Herb never attended a class reunion or Homecoming activities, on such occasions just disappearing. Frank managed to find him occasionally but I saw him only once or twice although he served at the Library from 1948 until retirement in 1974. A stroke, following an operation, took him away.

I got the feeling that Herb resented William and Mary's tremendous physical growth and feared that somewhere along the line it was losing some of the values he cherished from student days in a small college he loved.

The high regard in which he was held is reflected in the award of the Alumni Medallion for service and loyalty to the College in 1968. The College community held a memorial service in Wren Chapel on August 27. Burial was in his native Galveston.

I have no details about Billy Doyle's passing but the news stirred my memories of a handsome little freshman who was loved by the whole campus. We missed him when he had to drop out.

Quinby Hines, on the other hand, became something of an institution within College. He played guard for four years on the football team, was business manager of The Flat Hat and of the Monogram Minstrels and held numerous other campus jobs.

He also found time to court and win a pretty coed from Roanoke, Elizabeth Jennings '29. They had three children, all of whom attended William and Mary--Sue, Anne and Quinby Jr., the latter nicknamed "Hadacol" for his uncanny ability to kick the football to set records in field goals and PATs.

A prime mover in the Educational Foundation, "Hoss," as he was known to teammates and other friends, sent many athletes to his alma mater and created a notable record as coach at Suffolk High during the 1930's. He was a charter member and board member of the Order of the White Jacket.

Quinby retired in 1928 as president and general manager of the Ferguson Manufacturing Co. He was past president of the Rotary Club, "father" of the Peanut Bowl, an avid member of the Athletic Educational Foundation and regular attendee of College athletic events until ill health overtook him. He bore his physical infirmities with great courage.

Besides his wife and children, Quinby leaves nine grandchildren, which is a class record, so far as I can ascertain.

The Suffolk News-Herald paid him high editorial tribute when it said: "Perhaps the most significant contribution to others was his direct contact with several hundred Suffolk High School athletes during a coaching career that spanned most of the years of the 1930's. And although there was a depression going on during many of those years, there was nothing depressing about his direct and continuing influence on the young men and women who came his way--he gave of himself and of his abilities to improve the city by improving the minds, spirit and bodies of young people--Suffolk will miss him. He was loved by many and respected by all... a devoted husband, father and grandfather--he will be missed by a host of friends in many places whose lives have been enriched by knowing him."

I regret having to conclude this letter on such sad notes and will welcome communication of interesting personal news from all those of you out there who are shirking your duty to your classmates. By the time you read this Homecoming 1980 will be history. I'll try to "catch you up" on that in my next letter.

29 News has been scarce from classmates this summer and I regret to report to you that I have not received any news items at all since the last issue. News from all classmates would be most welcome at this time, so all of us can keep up with what you have been doing this summer.

Your Class Reporter, however, does have some news of special interest to report. It is with a great deal of pleasure for me to announce to you my recent marriage to Mary E. "Squee" Stearns Stewart of San Mateo, Calif. Mary and I grew up together in Richmond and were childhood sweethearts, having gone to Binford Junior High School and John Marshall High School. Mary was a member of the Class of 1930 at the College, and attended her 50th Class Reunion last May. It was my pleasure to be there with her for the occasion. We are now planning on coming back for Homecoming this October and look forward to seeing many of our classmates. We are living at Fort Vause, Shawsville, Va., where I have lived since 1948. We look forward to having many of you stop by to see us when you are in the vicinity of Roanoke.

31 OUR 50TH REUNION - May 16-17, 1981. Have you marked your calendar for the return to Williamsburg when all roads will lead to William and Mary?

Ellen Ticer King, 1931 Class Secretary-Treasurer, sends this message: "Your first priority for 1981 must be to attend our 50th Reunion! Plan now! You will never regret it! As a matter of fact you really can't afford to miss it. You will experience William and Mary at its best. Your invitation into the William and Mary 'Olde Guard' will be a special event that will remain in your memory forever. How can I speak with such authority? I have attended three 50th Reunions with my husband, Class of 1926. His reunion was in 1976; he represented that class in the 1977 and 1978 Reunions. The 'Red Carpet' treatment is more than you can imagine. The delight and love exchanged with classmates of 50 years ago is unique. We of the Class of 1931 will join the ranks of the 'Olde Guard' in May of 1981! Get your act together and be there!"

It is interesting to note that Stan and Ellen King are native Alexandrians and have always lived there. They have two children. Ellen "Bunny" King Neff '61, is employed in Higher Education Administration at Youngstown State University, Youngstown, Ohio. She will receive her Ph.D. from Bowling Green University, Ohio, this year. Their son, Angus Stanley King, Jr., received his B.A. degree at Dartmouth College, Hanover, N.H., and his Law Degree at the University of Virginia. He practices law and emceeds a TV News Show in Maine.

Liz Griffin Conkling, after accompanying her sister, Frances Griffin Waters, to Williamsburg in May, 1980, for her 50th Reunion, was so enthusiastic about how the Alumni Staff went all out in planning, organizing, and perfectly executing a weekend they will never forget that she wants to pass her enthusiasm on to all of you.

Irma Adams Gillespie and her husband, Bob, of Tazewell, Va., were among the William and Mary Alumni on the "Europe Cultural Triangle" Tour. Irma reports that the tour was exceptionally well-planned, the alumni were a happy and congenial group, and it was a delightful trip. Another alumnus of '31 on the tour was Jerome Carr of Portsmouth, Va. Irma says that the Passion Play at Oberammergau surpassed her expectations and that the little town of Oberammergau was like fairyland... the homes were so beautifully kept, flowers everywhere, characters from Anderson's Fairy Tales and Mother Goose painted very artistically on the outside of the houses, and everything absolutely spotless.

Elizabeth Erwin Higbee writes that she and Charlie have moved from Andalusia, Pa., to a retirement residence at Open Door Estates, Apartment H201, Southampton, Pa., 18966. Ruth Colville and the Higbees will be residing in condominiums in Florida from January 15 to March 15, 1981.

Katherine Kahle Adelman is President of the Retired Chemists Club in New York City. She served, previously, as Secretary and Program Chairman of the club.

I do appreciate the fine response from class members. Please keep the news coming!

33 I am sorry that there is no news of our class. It has been a very hot summer and we've been on the Potomac most of the time - trying to keep cool. Each Sunday I attend Carmel United Methodist Church in Westmoreland County. Otis Douglas and his wife, Eleanor Walker Douglas '36, are members there. So I see them each Sunday that I attend.

We took a boat trip from Smith Point, Va., over to Smith Island, Md., one day and discovered that one of the people at our table at lunch had graduated from the College in 1936, I believe. He and his wife were visiting in Virginia. They had lived in St. Louis, Mo. I cannot recall his name, I am sorry to say. He was originally from the Eastern Shore.

Where are the members of the Class of 1933?

ALUMNI HELP ACQUIRE NEW BAND UNIFORMS

Alumni contributed approximately $6000 toward the purchase of new uniforms, which the College Band unveiled at the VMI-William and Mary game at Cary Stadium on Sept. 13. Of a light weight, contemporary style, the uniforms are the first new outfits for the band in 14 years.

Director of Merchandising for Belding Lily Co., became a consultant to notions and art needlework companies. He was involved in those industries for 45 years and has been credited with many innovative merchandising ideas over that period.

This will be my last news letter. Please continue to send items to the new reporter.

37 Shale Tulin (Lt. Col. USAF, Ret.) has been elected chairman of the Norwalk, Conn. Housing Authority. He has been on the Authority for four years holding the vice-chairmanship and treasurer post. After retirement he earned his master's degree in journalism from Indiana University. Shale served in the infantry during WWII and transferred to the Air Force in 1948 and served in Vietnam and Thailand as chief of combat motion picture photography and headed the Armed Forces Radio-TV service during his last overseas tour.

We saw Harold and Jane Sunderland Brody at a party at Alumni House in early July. In mid-July Jimmy and Fay Bryant Savedge and Andy and Marian Rose Abbitt were at Spring Grove for a buffet supper. We always enjoy seeing our William and Mary friends.

Cathy, a 13-year old cousin, came to visit us for 3 weeks. Cathy had wanted to work in a zoo during her vacation as she loves animals, but had to settle for "Rex," our pointer, "Nancy," the Yorkshire terrier, and 15 assorted cats and kittens. She had a good view of wild turkeys twice as they were feeding at the edge of our woods.

HOUSE NOTES

Frances L. Robb '48 generously gave to the Alumni House two Certificates of Distinction awarded to her father in 1892. One of the "Seven Wise Men" signed each certificate. Dr. Robert G. Robb '95, a recipient of the Alumni Medallion, taught chemistry at the College from 1918 until his retirement in 1946.

Recent additions to the Paschall Library include GOLD IN VIRGINIA, by Palmer C. Sweet '67, published by the Virginia Division of Mineral Resources; and THE ANGELOS OF KAPPA DELTA, May 1929, which contains "The Restoration of Williamsburg," written by Louise Richardson White Johnson '30.

The Paschall Library still needs issues of the FLAT HAT from 1934-35 through 1942-43 and issues of 1949-50 and 1950-51. Alumni having these copies are urged to contact Frankie Martens at the Alumni House.

Long, Herman, and others - but when? Anyway, they were great and here we are in that well-known "full circle" - they're back, and so is the "preppie" look.

I will not be there to win a prize for answering two of the questions (wrong, undoubtedly) so one of you can have the tin cup done up in our class colors (what are they?).

Congratulations to John Hodges, elected to the City Council of Williamsburg in May. John retired from the Army in 1972, after serving three years as commander of an ROTC unit at the College. He also served the College as Director of Housing for two years, and was a six-year member of the City Planning Commission, serving as Chairman in his last year.

A nice write-up on our Bud Metheny in Norfolk's May 1, 1980, Ledger Star was headlined, "Metheny: An Institution With A Heart." The lead article in the Sports Section praised Bud's 32 years of coaching at Old Dominion University. In that time, Bud was Athletic Director, Basketball Coach, and the Patriarch of the Monarch Basketball Team. Now, Bud plans to retire. Said the sports writer, "He represents Old Dominion." He just as surely waves the banner of the Old School. Scholarship, honesty, self control, and something our parents used to call "character" are as important to him as winning or losing. Metheny gives credit to Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees for many of his Old School values. (Bud played under him with the Yankees, 1943-46.) In closing this account, another special tribute to Bud surfaces. The new baseball complex at ODU will open 1982. The sign at the entrance will read "Bud Metheny Field." We're proud of you, Bud.

Ned Ferguson, a Suffolk attorney, and immediate past President of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce, will serve on the Board of Directors of Fair Taxes for Virginians.

And as the sun (when we see it, as it now rains in Pittsburgh more than in Williamsburg) sets on another summer, we get ready for our annual reunion. Crazy, isn't it? No class has a reunion every year - but we do have fun.

Ray will be teaching a course in Business Management this fall at WMU. Mary Brennan Alie '66 completed 10 hours toward her Master's degree this summer at WMU. She teaches at the Junior High level in the Comstock school.

Larry and Kitty Britton Norton, with their three married children, six grandchildren, and two dogs spent a week at Sandbridge in July. We visited with them one evening and made plans to meet at Homecoming in Williamsburg, Oct. 3-4. The young people had already caught two spots when we left--and hoped to add to their catch for dinner the next day. Kitty told us that John and Hope Toulon Byrne are retired and will probably resettle in the Northern Neck area of Va.

We look forward to seeing you at Homecoming. Barbara and Austin Roberts will be in charge of the hospitality suite at the Williamsburg Motor House. See you there!

43 Greetings from the Gentle City. Joan Wallace Clement and her husband, Charles, were the subject of a great article in the Burlington County Times of Willingboro, N.J. Their new energy efficient home overlooking the Delaware River was discussed in glowing detail. The accompanying pictures showed how their several hobbies were displayed. After this record-breaking heatwave this summer, we all need to learn how to be energy efficient.

Y'all come to Homecoming.

45 Visiting in Emporia during the past few months were Jean Boyd Lacy '44 and Ben, Jean Parker Land '43 and T.I., Sunny Trumbo Williams '44 and Rolf, Jeanne Schoenewolf Preston and her daughter, Jeanne Page. Incidentally, if you were in the Virginia Beach area early August and saw gracing the cover of the Va. Beach Guide, August 7, 1980, a gorgeous blonde bathing beauty, that was Jeanne Page Preston. A "Cover Story" on Pg. 56 tells of the special interests, hobbies, and busy life of this very lovely and talented James Madison U. college sophomore!

Sunny and Rolf's Sandbridge beach house as well as that of Harrell and Jean McPherrin Morris were gathering places for William and Mary friends during the summer. Jean and Ben Lacy and Fran Loesch Brunner and Bob vacationed at Sandbridge in July. Sunny hosted a luncheon in August for our 35th reunion arrangements committee and we had a delightful "day at the beach" as well as excellent suggestions from Sunny from her experience with last year's class reunion plans. Those present besides Sunny and I were Virginia Darst Pope, Jane Welton Anderson, Jeanne Preston, and Jean Morris. In June, Ginny Pope, Martha Macklin Smith, and I met in Williamsburg for a 35th reunion meeting. Others serving on the committee are Bill Anderson, Marjorie Sease Burruss, Nancy Outland Chandler, Dinny Lee McAlinden, Fran Brunner and Martha Kight Bugg.

While enjoying a Sandbridge visit, we had a tour of the Williams' newest beach house. An article, "Vacation Homes" (they offer mountains, water, sand and peace of mind) with story and photos by Jill Popish, in the Commonwealth, The Magazine of Virginia, May 1980, continues with a special section entitled "Next to the Pounding Surf." This article is complete with pictures and a description of this outstanding and attractively decorated beach house.

Sunny and Rolf had a wonderful weekend in Charleston, S.C., attending the wedding and beautiful reception on July 12 when Mandy Griffith and Kenneth Herbert were married at Saint Philips Episcopal Chapel. Mandy's parents are Joan Kable Griffith and Max. Marjorie was her sister's maid-of-honor and her brother Ross was one of the groomsmen. Ross is associated with the Charleston Yacht Sales and Marjorie lives in Boston where she sells real estate.

Also living in Charleston is Milly Foster Lewis, who is an assistant principal and a fourth grade teacher at a private school. Being busy has been good therapy for Milly since her husband's death five years ago. Her summer travels included a tour of Canada and a trip to Va. She visited family members in Brookneal and at her youngest daughter Judy's home in Richmond. Judy's husband is a medical student at MCV. Three of Milly's four children live in the Charleston area and that includes five grandchildren!

Susie Parsons Cosgrove and Cliff's summer plans got off to a busy start in May when they attended their daughter Elizabeth's graduation from Denison U. Leaving there they vacationed at Cape Cod. Next they attended Cliff's 35th reunion at Dartmouth. Before returning to Lake Forest, Ill., they enjoyed a visit in Greenwich, N.Y., with their daughter Terri, and her family. A highlight of the trip was seeing their two grandsons!

The Gibbs family were all in N.J. in late June to attend a wedding. Wayne and Marge Retzke Gibbs '44 and Wayne III were joined there by Dave who lives in Calif. Before returning to San Diego, Dave visited at his parents' new and picturesque "retirement nest" in Sanford, N.C. Also visiting at this lovely Carolina Trace home during June were Marge's two brothers and their wives from Chicago. Wayne III received his MBA at UNC in May. He is working with IBM at Research Triangle and is the proud owner of a townhouse near Durham.

Jane Raymond Walpole who received her Phd in English in '78 from UVA lives in Charlottesville and teaches English at the Piedmont Virginia Community College. Our congratulations to Jane whose book, A Writer's Guide, was recently published by Prentice-Hall.

Fred Veader, who lives in NYC, went into the professional theatre for twelve years, which involved two shows on Broadway and one Hollywood contract, but he gave it up for a publishing career. Fred is Editorial Assistant (Research) in "General Books Division" of the Reader's Digest. He has traveled extensively throughout the U.S. and several times to Europe, Canada and Mexico.

Charlotte Webb '47 called from D. C. recently concerning plans for a 100th birthday celebration for Mrs. George Stringfellow of Wakefield, Va. This special event will take place on Sunday A.M., Oct. 5, during Homecoming '80 week-end. "Mama String" was Kappa Alpha Theta Housemother for 12 years and all Thetas (1943-55) are invited to this Theta reunion. Please check the bulletin board at Alumni House for details of this event which will take place in her honor.

My summer travels included trips to Memphis, Albuquerque, and Blacksburg several times. Our son Tom was recently appointed Director of the Alumni Annual Fund at Virginia Tech. His wife Darrel is a third-year law student at UVA. Our daughter Elizabeth, a graduate student at the U. of New Mexico, is a teaching assistant in the English Department at the University.

Next on our agenda will be two 35th-year class reunions. Late in Oct. we will go to Blacksburg for Cato's at Virginia Tech, but first William and Mary Homecoming '80 and the 35th Class Reunion. Hope to see you in Williamsburg October third and fourth!

ENROLLMENT AT COLLEGE GROWS BY 100 STUDENTS

Preliminary enrollment figures show that 6,484 students, including 4,607 undergraduates, are enrolled at William and Mary this year, an increase of about 100 students over last year. Registrar Charles Toomajian said the figures are "about what we expected." Of the graduate and professional students, 478 are in the law school, which moved into its new building this year. That is an increase of 31 over last year.

51 In this election year, how many know that Herb Bateman holds a Senate seat in Virginia's second senatorial district? This area includes most of Newport News and runs parallel to the north side of the James River for some 20 miles. A veteran of 13 legislative sessions, Herb is generally regarded as among the most conservative members of the Senate and is the only Republican representative from Newport News.

Or that George Mumford '51, president of the Mumford Co., Inc., of Newport News, was recently elected president of the Nationwide Motel Brokers, Inc. . . .

Or that a series of local Virginia papers have saluted Old Dominion's basketball coach, Paul Webb '51. Photos of Paul and accompanying articles in The Virginian-Pilot, The Ledger-Star and the Richmond Times-Dispatch tell a significant story. "ODU Coach Captures 400th Victory." "Monarchs Capture 1st NCAA Bid." "Webb has boosted the program to a level of high quality in Division I almost overnight. His 24-year record (the first 19 were at Randolph-Macon) is 418-201." It was not surprising to learn that Duke had then contacted Paul regarding its basketball coaching vacancy. However, it's reported that Paul's plans are to remain at Old Dominion University.

Bill Burnette, C.L.U. also received a tribute in the Richmond Times-Dispatch. A representative of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, his photograph appeared with 20 "National Leaders" in Eastern Va. who last year provided their clients with a total of more than one million dollars of Equitable life insurance protection.

News from Virginia continues with a welcome note from Anne Reese Carson '51 telling of a chance meeting with Sidna Chockley Rizzo '51 at the Lafayette Restaurant in Williamsburg in February. Sidna was in Williamsburg for a committee meeting at the College. Upon driving her two daughters back to school after Easter weekend, Anne and Bev took the ferry across the James River and just happened to meet Gwen Batten Perkins '51 and Perk '52 on the same ferry. They were going to see their son, John, a sophomore, who transferred in January to the College from Washington and Lee University. John had pledged Theta Delta Chi. Their daughter, Gwen Anne, graduated from the College in 1978 and is teaching in Norfolk. Anne Carson had earlier attended the initiation of both her daughters into her sorority, Alpha Chi Omega. It took place in Great Hall in the Wren Building. On her way home, Anne stopped by to see "Pappy" and Mrs. Fehr. They both looked well and are enjoying his retirement. They have a lovely home on Spring Road between Williamsburg and Jamestown.

And speaking of running into people, last week Clark and I ran into Walt Raymond, '50 and Vi '52 on campus as they were enrolling Laurie in the Class of '84. Walt will be going on a business trip to the Middle East in the fall and Vi will join him in Cairo. From there, they will travel to Paris and London. We also enjoyed a picnic on the C&O canal with Chuck Redding '51 and Bobbe '52 before they embarked on a bicycle trip in New England in July. At this writing, Evie Gardner King '51 must be back in Clearwater, Fla., after visiting her daughter, Constance, in Hershey and Jean Murphy Meili '51 in Upper St. Clair, Pa.

And speaking of Pittsburgh which is a suburb of Upper St. Clair while the family watched the Steeler-Cowboy game last evening on TV, I recalled watching a certain George Hughes playing in Cary Stadium before he joined the Steelers in the fifties. Last February, George was awarded the Man of The Year in Sports for 1979 by the Norfolk Sports Club. A former all-pro lineman with the Pittsburgh Steelers from 1950-1954 who then coached the Neptunes in the Continental and Atlantic Coast Leagues, George left football temporarily to become a Norfolk City Councilman. Now, he is back as line coach for the Ottawa Roughriders of the Canadian League. At William and Mary, he was football co-captain with Jack Cloud '49 and is in the William and Mary Hall of Fame. The Chesapeake A.C. has named a trophy in his honor which goes to the outstanding William and Mary lineman each year.

On a historic note, Hugh Haynie, the syndicated editorial cartoonist of The Louisville Courier-Journal, has spent a lot of time and energy in the past five years restoring Zachary Taylor's home in Springfield, Ky. After admiring the property for many years, Hugh purchased the home when it went on the market in Nov. 1973. The oldest part of the house has been dated to 1785. Now registered as a National Historic Landmark, Hugh stated, "My friends kidded me about spending money, time and effort on Springfield. But frankly, how many people do you know who own houses of presidents?"

As many of you may have surmised, most of the news above was gleaned from articles in Richmond and Norfolk papers collected by an anonymous friend who took pity upon me in far-away Denmark. Unfortunately, the articles arrived after we had departed so the news presented is a few months late. We ended our 3-year tour in Copenhagen a wee bit early in order to attend the graduations of our two boys from high school and university. With Chris now a freshman at William and Mary, we look forward to reestablishing ties of long ago. What better chance than at "Homecoming"? See you there!

GOVERNOR RE-APPOINTS DR. HARCUM '50 TO BOARD

E. Rae Harcum, professor of psychology, has been re-appointed by Governor Dalton to a second five-year term on the state's Psychology Board. The Board is charged with promulgating regulations for the licensing of psychologists in Virginia and with conducting the examinations of individuals applying for such licensure. Harcum completed a five-year term on the Board in August, serving as Chairman the past two years.

heating and hot water arrangement recently installed in his home.

Mary Ellen Wortman Ackerson writes from Alexandria, Va., that her son, Douglas, was graduated in May from the College. He majored in history and is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity. Her son, Norman, is studying computer science and economics at Duke University, where he is a sophomore.

Russ Redmond is now associated with a new public relations agency in Virginia Beach, Communications Management, Inc., with his sister-in-law, Jean Bruce, '49.

When Larry Phillips' wife, Lavinia Pretz Phillips, received her diploma from William and Mary in 1957, they had a small baby daughter. History is repeating itself for them—almost! That daughter, when she enters William and Mary as a freshman this August, will be the mother of a baby who will be approximately three months old.

My husband, our youngest son, Rob, and I spent a week in Washington, D.C., in June, and while there, I had lunch with Harriette Harcum Hobbs, who had just returned home from a trip to the Midwest combining vacation and taking daughter, Courtney, to camp and another trip into Virginia to take daughter, Holly, to camp. Daughter, Ann, who is a junior at Smith College, and daughter Kelly, who is 10, were at home. I had lunch with Janet Shaw Finn '57 on another day and enjoyed reminiscing with both of them. I talked with Sara Jane Blakemore Knight, but because her husband was recovering from surgery, I did not see her. She promises that she and Ernes will be at Homecoming, however, health permitting.

Also in June, my mother and I visited my brother, Paul, and his family in Sitka, Alaska, where he practices internal medicine. Sitka is a lovely small town with a year round temperature range that is less variable than that which we experience in Ohio.

I hope you had a good summer and I hope also that those of you who will not be attending Homecoming will write and tell us your news.

57 According to a cultural events calendar we received recently, "An important part of the unusual environment at William and Mary is the variety and excitement of our schedule of cultural activities." I quickly agreed with Dr. Graves after glancing through the calendar. "Those Were The Days" is its theme, and it is filled with photographs from the past. It would be nice if all of you could see it and not just those who live nearby. Among the pictures is the 1957 Delta Delta Delta Homecoming float, "Blossom Out and Skunk 'Em," featuring many of the Class of 1958.

We received and appreciated an invitation to the swearing-in ceremony of Vincent T. DeVita, Jr., M.D. as Director of the National Cancer Institute. Our best wishes to Vince and Mary Kay, also a member of our class.

Congratulations to Gil Granger who was re-elected to the City Council of Williamsburg for a second term.

Ed Jones was twice honored at graduation exercises at the College in May. He was named one of three honorary marshals for the Class of 1980. Ed was also honored when awarded the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award for service to the College by a member of the College community. He was cited for his efforts in developing a strong intramural program at the College and for construction of handball/raquetball courts in Blow Gym, accomplished mainly through his own efforts.

Ted Hill has been appointed Manager of Personnel and Industrial Relations for the Akron tire plant of General Tire and Rubber Company. He joined General in 1978 and was responsible for personnel and industrial relations at the Bryan, Ohio, plant before his promotion.

Ben Field dropped me a note last spring from Far Hills, N.J. saying that he had taken a College-sponsored trip to Egypt. He said that having school and classmates along made the trip especially nice and suggested that members of the Class of 1957 should choose a trip and make plans to go together. With a little organization, we might be able to accomplish it!

Let me hear from you this year. It's wonderful to have your letters in hand as the deadline for the Gazette approaches. All the Fitzgeralds are fine with Tom now a senior in high school, Lynn a junior, and Ann in seventh grade. Aubrey is still with the Upjohn Company and on Newport News City Council, and I am working with children with learning disabilities in public school here.

He is a Certified Purchasing Manager.

Perry S. White has been named Assistant Zone Manager-Sales in the Pontiac Motor Division Detroit office. He began his career with Pontiac in 1968 when he was assistant car distributor in Boston and later New York. In 1970 he moved to Philadelphia as the Area Service and Parts Manager and was the District Sales Manager from 1971 to 1976 when he became the Car Distributor and Office Manager in Boston.

Robert L. Butler has been named to "The Directors Circle" of Wheat, First Securities. He is one of the five leading account executives of the regional brokerage firm headquartered in Richmond. Bob was formerly with Exxon, Inc.

Sandy Dixon Bowen has been elected Democratic Party Chairman of the City of Richmond.

Don, '61, is marketing an audio tape/workbook series on "Getting the Job You Want in the Health Field." This coming year he will be speaking in various parts of the country as a member of the faculty of the American Hospital Association.

Don and Owen Knopping, '61, hosted the visit of Jim Ukrop and the football and basketball coaches as they talked to various alumni about William and Mary's sports program.

65 Homecoming, on October 3 and 4, will provide us with an opportunity to celebrate our 15th reunion. I hope to see many of you then.

Larry Thomas, Executive Director of the National Paint and Coating Association, was the subject of a good article in the Chemical Week magazine in April. The subject was the efforts of the NPCA to work with the government to find reasonable solutions to the problems of cleaning the environment and protecting the worker. He joined the NPCA in 1971 as legal counsel and became executive director in 1978.

Dr. Joe Ellis was named Dean of the Faculty at Mt. Holyoke College in South Hadley, Mass. He received his PhD from Yale in 1969 and joined the Mt. Holyoke History Department in 1972. He has authored three books and is a prolific author of articles and reviews.

Henry Mohr is a guidance counselor at Thomas Eaton Jr. High School in Hampton. He settled in Hampton after serving in the Air Force. He enrolled at the College and earned his degree in education in 2½ years. Then, while working on his Master's degree in counseling, he taught science at Eaton. Henry filed for city council elections in March after a controversy developed as to whether school employees could serve on this governing board.

Win Luther, Executive Manager of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce, has been appointed Vice Chairman of the Virginia District Export Council by U.S. Secretary of Commerce Philip Klutznick. The Virginia Export Council is organized to promote and foster expansion of exports by U.S. businesses. He serves as Conference Secretary for the Virginia Conference on World Trade.

CORRECTION: In the April 1980 issue it was reported that Sharon Spooner Gray and her husband, Chris, have returned to Virginia. This was an error - it should have read, Sharon and her daughter, Chris.

67 Don Williams is a supervisor with Badische Corporation in Williamsburg. His wife, Mary, is a guidance counselor in the York County Public Schools. Their first child, James Griffith, was born on March 30, 1980.

Russ Hatchl has relocated his office to Suite 1009, 1625 Eye Street, NW, Washington, D.C. He is with Voice & TTY. You may recognize Russ as Ruth Hatchl from a previous Gazette misprint and as the husband of Gladys Bulwinkle.

Sometimes our paths recross in unexpected ways. Last year Larry treated Nancy Bagby Abbate's father for cancer. This year we had a note from Nancy saying that she had just received her Master's degree in Special Education from George Mason University. She is teaching now in Stafford County. Her class is called Intermediate Trainable Mentally Retarded, which means that the kids range in age from 10 to 15 years and that they are moderately and severely retarded. Her husband, Marshall, is the controller for the Fairfax County schools food services division. They have two children, Joanne, 12, and David, 9.

This summer Larry and I have been taking care of wills, insurance, and all those morbid things you put off until your children force you to deal with them. In doing this you we worked with Bob Owen, and found that he has been very busy since we graduated. Bob is currently the Secretary of the Philadelphia Chapter of the American Society of Chartered Life Underwriters.

Bob began his insurance career as an agent in Hartford, Conn. and received his CLU in 1972. Bob moved to the Philadelphia area in 1976. He, Peggy, and their three children live in Berwyn. Recently, Bob has become associated with Karr-Barth Associates of Philadelphia.

Ed Flippen has resigned his position as Deputy General Counsel of the State Corporation Commission to become assistant general counsel of Duke Power Company in Charlotte, N.C. He had joined the powerful SCC in 1975 as a member of the legal staff and had moved steadily upward, being named Deputy General Counsel only last year.

We are looking forward to seeing many of you at Homecoming, October 3-4. If you get a chance to stop by Alumni House, leave a message for this column, and we'll pick it up.

69 My good intentions to catch up with many of you this summer have come to naught! I did make a few phone calls when up in Virginia visiting family in August but I am afraid I did not come back with as much news as I'd like.

I spoke with Steve Cochran who has recently become a full partner in the law firm of Gattsek and McConnell up in Northern Virginia. Steve is doing civil litigation trial work, mostly personal injury cases. He is in the midst of a divorce but seemed happy to be back dating again. Steve saw Nancy Hulse Oliver and Bruce, '68, when in Nags Head in early August. They have two children and live in the DC area.

Doug Volz has been named vp, Employee Relations at L'eggs Products, a division of the Hanes Corporation. Doug and his wife Susan live in Clemmons, NC. He has been with L'eggs since 1973, most recently as

REMSBERG '72 LANDS LEAD ROLE

Calvin Remsberg '72 has been given one of the leads in the national company production of Sweeney Todd. He will be working with Stephen Sondheim, Harold Prince and Angela Lansbury. The national company production of Sweeney Todd will be appearing at the Kennedy Center from October 24 to November 30.

Director of Personnel, Manufacturing. John Bennett has been awarded his EdD from Northern Illinois University. He has a MEd from VCU in Richmond. John is currently a physical education instructor at Northern Illinois and was nominated for an NIU Excellence in Teaching Award. Congratulations! John's dissertation was a study of the effects of body awareness training on certain test scores of kindergarten pupils.

This next news is from the Kappa Delta newsletter that Nancy Verser Brumback put together in May for our class. Sally Barner Leslie, her husband Gordon and son will be moving to Richmond this fall for a short time. I saw Sally when on vacation in the Virgin Islands in May and had a nice visit and catch up. Gordon will do a tour with the US branch of his British company, but they know it will not be permanent to live in Virginia. Sally is anxious to live in South America or at least to do some extensive traveling when the baby is young.

Jackie Mitchell Harris is another person moving this year. She, Al and their two daughters are moving to Atlanta. About two miles from me! Al is heading up an office here of a management consulting firm based in New York. They are to move in the fall as soon as the house in Texas sells. Nancy Beachley Newins is still a reference librarian at SMU in Dallas and is working on her MBA at UT at Arlington.

Carol Knight was married to John Mullen on June 28, 1980. Carol is working in Richmond after earning her PhD in Psychology. John is a communications technician for VEPCO. Kathy Jordan Jebo is nearing the end of her work on a degree in student personnel services from Radford College. Janet Marshall McGee is working now for the Montgomery County Public Libraries near Columbia, Md.

Dorothy Kilgore Bacon wrote that she is spending most of her time with their two children; and a bit of sewing, needlework, photography... and assisting her husband build an airplane from scratch!

Don and Sandy Skeen Spengeman are apparently going to stay in Franklin, Va., for a bit longer. They have two sons, ages 1 and 5. Don is on a twelve-month contract as a special education coordinator and Sandy puts in as many hours as she can in the library at Union Camp. Also working part-time because of family commitments is Nancy Verser Brumback. She started out 2 1/2 days a week after Kate was born two years ago. Now, at last letter, Nancy was up to 3 days working for Fairchild publications with some free-lance work for a Boston newspaper and other publications on the remaining days.

Mary K. Thompson Pruiett has finished her MBA at Stanford and accepted a job with IBM in financial planning for DP products (those are the big machines). She moved to New York City this summer to begin. Her husband, Ralph, will be returning to the EPA where he worked before they went to California for Mary K. to go to graduate school.

Becky Vaughan is a workaholic. She is a full-time teacher, a part-time real estate agent (except summer when it is full-time) and a part-time adult education teacher for C&P Telephone. With all that she has time to serve on the Board of Trustees of the W&M Athletic Educational Foundation.

I saw De Garber Stevenson when on vacation this summer. De is very involved in needlework, churchwork and her two-year-old son. Sue Miller Long and Bruce are still in Monterey, Calif., although Bruce has left the army and is now working for IBM. Sue had back surgery in the spring and is just now recovering. Cindy Smith Jones is still an administrative intern for the IRS in Richmond. She has taken up photography as a hobby and bought a sailboat too.

71 Like an apparition from the '60's, Rollin "Jamie" Cowles showed up recently on the doorstep of Jerry "Moses" Lawn at the University of California-Davis. Cowles was driving an Edsel convertible, and his travelling companion was rapt in a meditative chant, complete with finger cymbals. Strapped to the back was a $1600 Masi racing bike. According to Jerry, Jamie "lived for awhile in a religious commune in New Mexico, selling soap door-to-door for Jesus, before moving back to Wisconsin. Now, he's working part-time in a head shop." Jamie travels in style: his baggage included a large cooler of health foods and a case chocked full of vitamins, minerals, and seaweed extract. . . . "Every morning he has his favorite drink: a measuring cup containing a nauseating mixture of brewer's yeast and water." Jerry also writes that Roger Powell, who left the College after freshman year, is now known as one of the top Moog Synthesizer players in the rock world. After a stint backing up David Bowie, Roger is now touring with Tod Rundgren's group, Utopia. Roger was also featured on the cover of a record industry trade magazine this summer.

Former Flat Hat editor Tom McDonald writes from Paris to update us on his whereabouts. After graduating from Tulane University Law School, where he was managing editor of the Law Review, he journeyed to Oxford for graduate work. His specialty of international law brought him to the New York firm of Cleary, Gottlieb, Steen and Hamilton. He's been assigned to that firm's Paris office for the last two and a half years. "My practice consists largely of international finance and commercial transactions. I thoroughly enjoy living and working here, and will return to New York very reluctantly in about another year." Tom writes that Kathy Coles is also an associate after graduation work at the University of Chicago and Oxford.

Richard Porter was a candidate for Judge of Boone County Court in Indiana. (No word on whether he won or lost.) He was Judge of the Lebanon City Court and a practicing attorney after receiving his law degree from the University of Tennessee. Bill Elliott lost out in his bid to sing the "Miss America" song last month, but he has been named director of promotion and special events for Atlantic City. He had been administrator of the department of promotion and college development at Stockton College after a stint as a radio newsmen.

Richard Merriman and wife Patricia Monahan '70, are living in Williamsburg right across from Phi Beta Kappa Hall. Richard has just completed his doctorate in Special Education Administration and taken a job as Mental Health Program Specialist with the Hampton-Newport News Mental Health and Mental Retardation Service Board. He had previously served as Coordinator of Special Education for the Williamsburg-James City County schools. Dr. George Lucas spent the summer ensconced deep in the bowels of the Harvard University library writing an anthology entitled "Pacifism and Philosophy." He was sponsored by a grant from the Maurice Mednick Foundation. Whenever an interloper threatened his concentration, he would just break forth into a few bars of his famous "Munseyetta." George is Assistant Professor of Philosophy at Randolph-Macon College, where he received the Branch Award for excellence in teaching last year. Ben McKelway is doing a different kind of writing in--of all places--Las Vegas ("all visitors welcome"). He's a full time Action Line columnist for the Review-Journal newspaper. "I never would have guessed I'd ever live here, but it's one of those crazy twists that make life worthwhile." Kathy Kay Cullers Miller writes that she received her Master's in 1973 from the Cincinnati College Conservatory of Music, taught for a spell at Lee College, where she met her husband, Randy, and then taught music for three years in Maryland public schools. After touring for a year with a music ensemble, Kathy Kay and Randy have worked in churches in Tampa and Washington, D.C., now he is Associate Pastor of Evangel Assembly in Camp Springs, MD, and she is Director of Music (in addition to handling a large flock of private piano students). Kathy Kay puts out a call for news from Tri-Delts ("It seems as though we've been negligent in writing in.") . . . which brings us to the Where Are They Now Dept.: Wes Corson, Ivy Akers, Kathryn Becker, Robin Rosser, Lenore Uebelher, Brian Murphy, Ken Weiher, Diane Stahl, Kim Roddy, John Ranhoffer, Nancy Lundquist, Karen Hathcock, David Hoyer, Fran Jones, Matt Pagels, and WRC Munsey.

Marcia Ricketts spent six weeks last spring in residence at a refugee camp in Thailand as part of a five-person team from the American Baptist Ministries organization. Marcia is Minister of Lay Development and Communications for the Pennsylvania-based group. In previous years she journeyed to Israel with a group of Baptist editors and to Ireland to study the situation there and march with the "Peace People." Before leaving for Thailand, Marcia expressed her feelings in a newspaper article: "I think the American people are not aware enough of our complicity in the poverty around the world. For the most part it is a tacit complicity. But in maintaining the situation--and we are maintaining it--we are certainly making it worse. We are so engrossed in our own culture, we don't take a broader look at poverty and hunger around the world."

Bruce Chapman and wife Nancy are enjoying the laid-back lifestyle of Honolulu, where Bruce heads up a twelve-man software team for a Northern Virginia firm, while Nancy has just received her B.S. from the University of Hawaii. The Chapmans and their two kids must like the Aloha state: they plan to become permanent residents. (Bruce, who says this column brings on a "body-wide smile," promises to write again in 1989).

Your intrepid reporter has himself just returned from Hawaii after winning a free, first-class, round-trip on United Airlines by entering their Takeoff Game Contest about 450 times. It was a great trip. The highlights included camping on the island of Lanai, which is owned by the Dole Corporation for raising pineapples, and sampling about five exotic kinds of seafood, the names of which I can't even pronounce. I needed a vacation after free-lancing at the Republican and Democratic National Conventions for radio stations in Richmond, Roanoke, Norfolk, Washington, D.C., and Baltimore, plus a Michigan TV station. It was fun, but exhausting. That's all for now, gang. Keep those cards and letters coming.

73 Borislav Djordjevic has received his PhD from The Johns Hopkins University. He became Dr. Djordjevic on May 30. Congratulations.

Dr. Dennis Propst has been appointed assistant professor of park administration at Shepherd College, Shepherdstown, W. Va. He was formerly an assistant professor at VPI in the School of Forestry and Wildlife Resources. He received his MS from the University of Idaho and his PhD from VPI in 1979. He has been the author of numerous articles on the topic of wildland recreation management.

Barbara Diduk has been named an assistant professor of fine arts at Dickinson College in Carlisle, Pa. She had received her MFA in ceramics from the University of Minnesota in 1978.

Simon Ruebens is currently with the Metropolitan Washington Minority Purchasing Council in public relations and communications. He had previously been with Seamark Advertising in Norfolk and Arthur Pouzos Associates.

Arthur Nichols left the Army and earned his MBA from the University of Florida. Now working for Humana, Inc., in St. Petersburg, Fla., Arthur and his wife, Patricia, have a six-month old son, Ryan. Patricia, who graduated from the University of Connecticut, is an RN working for the Veterans Administration.

I received a newsy letter from Margee Walsh last spring which was too late for my last column. Hopefully most of the news is still current.

Buck and Susan Metzger McCabe continue to work actively in their church. Buck is comptroller and financial director for the Chick-Fil-A Corporation. Before the birth of their daughter, Karen, in June, Susan was a senior systems analyst for MARTA Transportation system in Atlanta.

Dave '72 and Jane Harland Bates planned to be moving this summer when Dave planned to leave active Army service and enter the seminary. Jane stays busy with two children, classes to teach, and church-related activities.

Karen Stanford is continuing her work with the Historical Society in Easton, Pa.

In D.C. with the State Department, Terry Hughes continues to advance. She is considering trying other avenues of adventure, however.

Carol Richardson Line and her husband, Al, enjoy living in Auburn, where Al is a professor of economics and Carol works part time for a social work agency. They have a little girl almost three.

Kathi Gibson and her husband, Steve McNulty, are back in Charlottesville with their two-year-old daughter. Both are itchy to return to New Zealand. John and Elaine Wack Becher are completing a tour of Alaska where John serves as a doctor for Alaskan natives. Elaine plans to enter medical school this fall and they hope to return close to the East Coast. Serving as Register of Wills in York County, Pa., Heather Dorian has entered the world of politics. She operates a law practice in York, also.

In Richmond, Donna Mae Fukumoto and John Gibney are continuing their careers. Dr. Donna is doing cancer research at MCV, while John works with a law firm specializing in environmental law. Margee says that she thinks Susan Axelson and her husband, Clair Garman, are working for Digital Equipment Corporation in Northern Virginia. Roy and Marie Bosco Morris are both continuing their legal careers in D.C. They still enjoy participating in biking marathons all over the Middle Atlantic area.

Working as chemists and hoping to return to graduate school, Judy Auping and her husband, Dan Koch, are now living in Maple Heights, Ohio, where they have brought a lovely home. Earle and Betty Thiele Martin have settled in Boston, where Doctor Betty has switched to pathology as a specialty.

Kathy Love and her husband, David Hoh, live in Philadelphia, where Kathy works as a nurse and David is a news reporter. Dave and Sanny Smith Haseman are in Silver Spring, Md., where Dave is stationed at Walter Reed Hospital. They celebrated the birth of their first child, a son, in February.

Liz Deis has nearly completed her doctoral dissertation in English. Betty Owen now lives in Palo Alto, Calif., where she edits and publishes an in-house magazine for the Navy.

Margee and her husband, Bob Ranson, celebrated the birth of their first child, a daughter, in April. Margee is continuing her job as assistant principal/director of instruction at a large high school in DeKalb County, Ga. After receiving his MBA from Emory University in June 1979, Bob worked with Honeywell as a DATANETWORK Regional Manager. Since April Bob has had his own company, Advanced Strategies, Inc., a financial planning and business management consulting firm. The prospects for its success are quite exciting.

Many thanks for so much news, Margee. She and Bob have lost touch with Mary Sammons, Frankie Crabill, Candy Brugger Hudspeth and Jenny Frazier Brickhouse. If anyone has any news about any of them, drop me a line and I shall pass it along.

In another note, Beth Bliler Kenagy wrote to say that she moved to South Bend, Ind., in 1977, after working as a reference librarian for three years at Swem Library. Her husband, Bob, is a 1977 graduate of Marshall-Wythe and is an attorney for the Energy Controls Division of Bendix Corp. He also teaches part time for Indiana University. Also in the Midwest, Kandy Kahl is living in Chicago where she works for the Chicago Board of Trade. After receiving her PhD in Economics from North Carolina State, Kandy worked for the Department of Agriculture in DC before moving to Chicago.

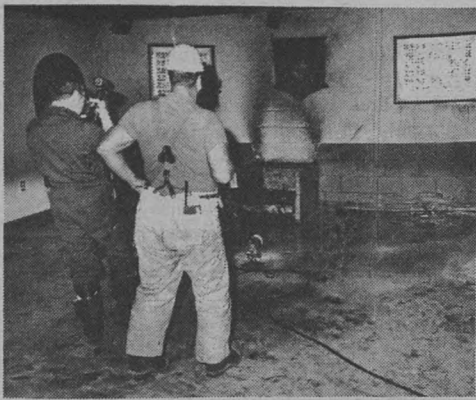

We've taken several interesting trips recently and I have seen a few '73 classmates along the way. One of the most enjoyable was a bankers' conference that I attended in June with Al. What made it interesting was that it was held at the Williamsburg Inn. We even had a chance to revisit some of the buildings in the restored area and were surprised to have Kathy Todd Wilke '74 as our hostess at the Palace. While we were in Williamsburg I visited with Lynda Butler who is returning for her second year of teaching at Marshall-Wythe. She was just about to leave for Oxford University, where she taught a course for the summer as part of an exchange program for professors from Oxford and Marshall-Wythe.

Also, I saw Anne DeGraff Spencer and her three cute little girls, who were visiting at her mother's in Hampton. Anne and Bob are now living in Spartanburg, S.C., where he has a new job.

In August we went to Richmond to attend Debbie Prillaman's wedding. She married Robert Shrader, a Marshall-Wythe graduate. Debbie is now working as an Assistant U.S. Attorney in Richmond, and Robert is with a firm there.

Hilda Crucet Flippen and her husband, Dennis, were at Debbie's wedding and Hilda told me about her career changes. After several years of teaching high school Spanish, Hilda is leaving to begin her new career with a CPA firm in Richmond. Also at the wedding were Debbie Donelson and her husband, Ron Goodman. They are new parents of a little girl, Rachel, who was born in June. On our way home from Sunset Beach, N.C., in August, we stopped at Johnnie and Debbie Lewis Bains' in Stony Creek, Va. They have built a really cute house that overlooks a little pond.

I'd better finish this up or they will never be able to fit all this in. Hopefully, this news column will encourage some of the rest of you to drop me a line.

FIRE DAMAGES FRATERNITY BUILDING

Police are still investigating 15 separate fires set last month which caused heavy damage to the living area of Sigma Pi fraternity and smoke damage in Phi Kappa Tau. Quick action by the Williamsburg Fire Department limited the damage to other floors of the fraternity building. A local youth has been charged with arson.

DUTRO NAMED TO COLLEGE POSITION

Robert S. Dutro '69 JD of Williamsburg has been named director for estate planning in the Office of University Advancement at William and Mary. Dutro succeeds Michael R. Schoenenberger '65 who resigned last year to become associate dean for placement and alumni affairs in the Marshall-Wythe School of Law. Dutro had occupied the position on a temporary part-time basis prior to his permanent appointment by Duane A. Dittman, vice president for university advancement.

Nancy Norman Hudock wrote from still further away - the country of Bahrain in the Persian Gulf. Since graduation, Nancy has spent a summer in Brittany with the Experiment in International Living, taught French and Spanish for three years in Woodbridge, Va., and toured Europe with her husband, Michael, who is a Navy lieutenant. Last winter, Nancy was evacuated to the U.S. during the Iran crisis, but she rejoined her husband in Bahrain in April. Michael finishes his tour of duty in December, but meanwhile, Nancy would welcome news from the States. Her address is: AMINSUPU, Box 66, FPO, NY 09526.

Cindy Garman Dunwoody is an attorney in Lancaster, Pa. She's provided me with lots of assistance in moving to Lancaster, where she is active in Theta alumnae activities. Since acquiring a Labrador retriever named Max, Cindy been bitten by the dog show bug - she and Max are working toward his Companion Dog obedience degree.

Pat Ferguson and Leslie Scott are living in Williamsburg, where Pat is a teacher and Leslie is a statistician at VIMS.

Marcian Carl Simpkins and her husband, Fred, have a lovely home in Severn, Md. Marcia had been a sales representative with Proctor and Gamble, but is now a registered broker with Wheat, First in Washington.

Also in the Washington area, Linda Cleek is now with the National Jogging Association. Linda is active in local women's soccer, basketball, and co-ed football teams, and recently acquired a kitten named "Jeb." That name should not surprise anyone who knew of Linda's interest in Civil War history in college!

Kathy Walker is with the Marriott Corp's conference sales department at the Twin Bridges Marriott. She shares an apartment in Arlington with Anne Baeck '76.

Charlene Pope Abel and her husband, Steve, have a home in Newport News. Their daughter, Kathryn, is almost two and Charlene is a teacher in the Williamsburg school system.

Dave Fedeles lives in Atlanta, where he is the Georgia retail industry manager for Southern Bell. He sent news of Mindy Wolff, who teaches in the Philadelphia area, and Payne and Marilyn Midyette, who live in Atlanta. Payne is with Price Waterhouse and Marilyn works for the Trust Company Bank.

Rob Lloyd and his wife, the former Lisa Anderson '76, live in Richmond and have a daughter, Mary Angela. Rob is an Army officer and is attending T.C. Williams School of Law. After law school, Rob will join the Army Judge Advocate General Corp.

Bill Smyth co-authored a book with several colleagues at Heathwood Hall in South Carolina.

Cindy Bosco has been developing baseline data on the environmental aspects of Pittsburgh Energy Technology Center facilities. PETC is the largest federal laboratory working in research and development for producing clean liquid and gaseous fuels from coal.

Joe and Kittie Linehan Dunbeck have been living in Omaha, Neb. where Joe is a clerk for the U.S. District Court. Kittie graduated from the Creighton University Law School, and also taught first grade. She's "retired" since the birth of her son, Christopher Urban.

Bill Hanlon reports that he and his wife Janet have returned from England, where Bill received a BA in jurisprudence from Oxford. He then studied law at the University of Pennsylvania, and Janet worked as a tax accountant with Price Waterhouse. Bill did a one-year clerkship in the U.S. Court of Appeals, and Janet began work toward an MBA at the Wharton School in Philadelphia.

Luci Emley studied for a Master's in piano performance at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, NY.

Debbie Rutledge Roesch and her husband, Steve, live in Glen Burnie, Md. Debbie is a systems engineer with IBM.

Well, that's all for this column - please keep writing. I'm still with the group insurance sales department of the Hartford, and am in the process of being transferred to Lancaster, Pa., as regional manager of the group and pension sales office there. I'm trying to juggle the move and a cross-country horse-back riding trip through Ireland at the same time, but plan to be at Homecoming, and hope to see many of you there. It doesn't seem like five years!

77 Summer sure flew by. In a few days we'll be seeing some familiar faces back in the 'Burg at Homecoming. It would be great if everyone could make it to Williamsburg and catch everyone up on the news in person. But, if you can't, drop me a line and let me know how you spent your summer.

Several of our classmates walked down the aisle this summer. On August 7, 1980, Sherry Poskanzer married Allen Wainger in Syracuse, N.Y. They are now settled in Alexandria, Va. Sherry is employed by the public accounting firm of Arthur Anderson in Washington, D.C.

Sue Mineo married Howard Schneider at the University of North Carolina chapel in May. They are now living in Los Angeles after a honeymoon in Copenhagen.

On May 17, 1980, Helen Price married Frank Tait, J.D. '77, at Bruton Parish Church. They now reside in Richmond where Frank is a senior contract administrator for Infilco Degremont. Helen is continuing her graduate business studies at V.C.U.

Also on May 17, Jody Roberts married Peter Graves in Old Bennington, Vt. After a honeymoon in Scandinavia, they settled in Plymouth, Minn., where they had a house built.

Susan Taylor was married August 9, 1980. She married an electrical engineer with Hughes Aircraft Company out of San Diego. Since graduation she has been teaching second grade with the Virginia Beach Public Schools.

On September 27, 1980, Sue Naeser married Buddy Emerson. She is a technical editor for the engineering consultant to the Metrorail system in Washington, D.C. Buddy, who received his M.B.A. from W&M in 1977, is a commercial loan officer at First National Bank in Baltimore. He recently got his Maryland Real Estate License and is pursuing more real estate courses at Towson State. Sue has been taking journalism courses at the University of Maryland and teaching swimming and diving classes on weekends.

Karen Yanity's wedding in Ridgefield, Conn., on May 25, 1980, proved to be a mini-class reunion. She married Doug Darch, who graduated with her from

NORFOLK-VIRGINIA BEACH NAMES OFFICERS

New officers of the Norfolk-Virginia Beach William and Mary Society of the Alumni are (l to r) Mary Beck '76, treasurer; Martha Stathis '74, vice president; Russ Redmond '55, president; and Linda Bruce '77, secretary. New Fall and Winter events are now being planned. All area alumni are invited to participate. For further information phone Martha Stathis at 625-5642 or Russ or Carolyn Redmond at 460-1067.

STROUBE NAMED ASSISTANT HEALTH COMMISSIONER

Dr. Robert B. Stroube '68 has been named Virginia's Assistant State Health Commissioner for Health Protection and Environmental Management effective Sept. 1. He has been acting in that capacity since January. He heads such programs as drinking water, sewage treatment, solid and hazardous wastes, epidemiology, and other environmental programs including occupational and radiological health.

U.N.C.'s law school early in May. After a honeymoon in the Bahamas they settled in Chicago. Attending the wedding were Diane Newsom, Sue Wright, '79, Mina Hoover Kerr, Peter Garland and Alice Burlinson.

Word has it Gerry Vessely's wedding to Kevin DiGregory the beginning of August in Miami was a "riproaring" affair complete with a serenade of an adaptation of "Wouldn't it be Lively" by her W&M classmates. It provided several '77 alumni with a chance to catch some rays and do some visiting. Among the guests were Carolyn Testa, Sue Wasilewski, Linda Palmer, Betsy Johnson, Laurie Bond, Linda Petrovich, and Sally Wanner Payne.

On the way down to the wedding some of the group visited Susan Shank in Richmond. Susan just finished her first year of law school at St. Mary's in San Antonio where she made law review. She interned at the Federal Power Commission in D.C. for the summer.

In Savannah, Ga., they found Anne Weekly Thompson and her husband Tom. Anne's Master's in physical therapy helped her find an interesting job at the local hospital.

Linda Petrovich lives with her husband, Ken Ellis, in Plant City, Fla. Lisa Bolanavich started on her M.B.A. this fall at the University of Pittsburgh.

After a move to New Hampshire, Sally Wanner Payne found a job as a prison guard at the state penitentiary. She returned to law school in the fall. Husband, Dave, is still with Busch.

European travel is on the minds of a few of our classmates. Debbie Meyer has planned a six month trip to Europe for this fall. Shelley Movroydis also has plans to go to Europe soon.

Charla Sisk Cordle has been working in the personnel office at William and Mary since April, 1979. Kathi Lentzsch was named a furniture buyer for the Atlanta based, Storehouse, Inc. She switched to the temporary home furnishings store from Macy's Inc. in New York where she was an assistant buyer of men's sportswear.

Congratulations are in order for several of our classmates. Calvin Koons received a J.D. degree from the Dickinson School of Law in June. Jo Anne Carlton and Mary Carroll have both been promoted to LTJG, U.S.N., while serving aboard the repair ship U.S.S. Vulcan, homeported in Norfolk.

Constance Ritter Shuler has been inducted into Vanderbilt University's chapter of Beta Gamma Sigma, an honor society for the field of management and business. After receiving her M.B.A. last May she joined Exxon in Houston.

Chip Mann deserves congratulations on his selection for inclusion in the 1980 edition of Outstanding Young Men of America.

After receiving his Master's degree in Anthropology from the University of Florida in June, Jim Lett began work on his Ph.D. there in September. He was fortunate enough to conduct the research for his thesis in the British Virgin Islands.

Also fortunate was Lynn Sloane. She spent the month of July taking her radiology course for Eastern Virginia Medical School at the Army hospital in Honolulu.

After graduation, Mary Addamiano took a job teaching Latin and math in Cumberland, Va. She taught there for a year. On October 6, 1978, she married Roy Redline of Slatington, Pa. Since then they have been living in Allentown, Pa. where her husband works for the Lehigh County Department of Parks and Recreation. Mary has been going to Lehigh University and working on her Master's in education. This past year she taught a beginning Latin course at Muhlenberg College.

Barbara Yanowsky married Michael

Bosworth May 21, 1977. She got her Master's at W&M in education with a specialty in learning disabilities. She taught a year in Norfolk until Mike was stationed in Philadelphia. She is now working with the Media School District and this will be her second year there. She and Mike recently bought a home in Springfield, Pa.

Liz York worked a year in Williamsburg and then was accepted to the Medical College of Virginia to study physical therapy. Brenda Ray is also at M.C.V.

Lura Rutledge Beck and John Beck were last known to be living in Springfield, Va. They had a son, Mathew, in January, 1979. Martha Powell Jusino and Armando Jusino are living in Fredericksburg, Va., where they bought a home. Martha gave up her teaching job with Spotsylvania County upon the birth of their daughter Emily Claire December 2, 1979.

Wes Wornom graduated from the University of Virginia law school and has moved to Manhattan Beach, Calif. He started work with Lawler, Felix and Hall in downtown Los Angeles.

From Beaverton, Ore., Martin and Becky delCastillo write that they are enjoying living in the Pacific Northwest. Martin is employed by General Motors Corporation as a district sales manager for Buick Motor Division. Becky works as a systems engineer for the Data Processing Division at I.B.M.

Marcia Schmidt wrote that she taught history at Walsingham Academy in Williamsburg and then moved to Marietta, Ga., where she worked at the Trust Company Bank of Georgia in Atlanta. She started on a graduate degree in history at the University of New Hampshire in Durham this fall.

Mina Hoover Kerr and her husband, Brad, have moved to Deerfield, Ill., a northern suburb of Chicago. They both continue to work for hospital associations in Chicago.

Hope to see everyone in Williamsburg for Homecoming. Keep in touch.

Meg Lewis
6126 Breezewood Drive #304
Greenbelt, Md. 20770

79 Well, summer is over and I hope everyone had a good one. It's hard to believe that it is time for Homecoming again and that we have been out of College for a year and a half. Time sure flies when you are having fun!

I have been pleasantly surprised to hear from so many people over the past few months. Linda Hill has had a busy summer. After completing a three-month naturalist training program at a national Audubon center, she worked as an outdoor educator in New York until June. She took August off to marry Paul Sundquist and then moved to Schenectady where Paul is working in the General Electric financial management program. Carol Petchul is working for Ernst & Whinney accounting firm in Allentown, Pa., and married Craig Smith in May. Craig is practicing law in association with his father in Easton, Pa. Margaret Harhan and George Martin, both working to complete Master's degree requirements in political science at the University of Virginia, were married in June.

Diane Tuthill sounds super-busy despite living in Washington, Va. She and James Wood, married in June, are currently building a solar home in Rappahannock. Diane is teaching third grade in the elementary school while he teaches high school biology. Beth McMath and John Byam '78 were also married in June and spent the summer in San Francisco. Beth spent last year teaching at an American school in Faistenau, Austria, which will be a real change from Oak Park, Ill., where they will reside when John returns to Northwestern University School of Law. Gary Plagg writes that he has found his niche in society as a computer programmer in the State Department. They have sent him to two computer training courses and he expects to attend more in the future. He also writes that Cindy Flans is in the Washington area, working in the personnel department of the D.C. National Bank.

Julie Crooks is very happily settled in Atlanta and loves her new job at Davison's where she is manager of the men's department. Paul Fletcher, also in Atlanta, has completed his Master's degree in English from Emory and hopes to find a job in publishing or journalism. Donna Lombardo is a little farther north, working in a consumer product testing lab during the week while gaining experience on weekends as a dairy farmer's assistant. Experience for what, we're not sure!

That's all the news I have for now. I hope to see many of you at Homecoming and if you cannot be there, drop me a line and let me know what you have been doing with your life.

GRADS

Mrs. E. D. Etter
(Mary R. Spitzer)
486 West Market St.
Harrisonburg, Va. 22801

Louise Forsyth, M.A. '43, Wollaston, Mass., has been honored by having the Protestant Social Service Bureau counseling center named for her. She had headed the successful fund raising effort to provide for the purchase and renovation of the property. Louise's mother was a member of the first board of directors of the agency when it was founded in 1947. It is sponsored by some 90 churches, and last year was named one of the twelve outstanding adoption agencies in the country. Louise is the president-elect of the 40,000 member American Personnel and Guidance Association.

Dr. John R. Dempsey, M.A. '73, dean of the undergraduate studies at the College of Charleston, has been named one of the 35 American Council on Education Fellows, a part of the council's Center for Leadership Development in Academic Administration.

Dr. Sherry Manning, M.S. '67, President of Colorado Women's College, has been in the news lately, promoting her philosophy on women's colleges and noting the advantages graduates of all-women college have over their co-educationally graduated peers, citing the different leadership development.

James Toner, M.A. '73, is an assistant professor of government at Norwich University in Northfield, Vt. He has been an active writer of articles and reviews in such publications as Army, Military Review, Review of Politics, International Review of History and Political Science, and the Naval War College Review.

William Toner, M.A. '70, has been named director of public relations for the Worcester, Mass., Art Museum, having served as assistant director. He joined the staff as coordinator of special events in 1978 and before that time had been director of the Wyoming Historical and Geological Society in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. He will continue to plan and direct the museum concert and film programs in addition to his public relations duties.

Dr. John C. Dann, director of the Clements Library at the University of Michigan, has published a book, The Revolution Remembered, which is an interesting collection of remembrances of the Revolutionary War as recalled by some 79 veterans. Nearly 80,000 persons applied for pensions fifty years after the war, and Dann has selected the 79 sworn statements, describing as best they could recall their military service and experiences.

Dr. David Glocker, M.S. '69, has been selected by peers and students as one of four recipients of the Eisenhart Award for Outstanding Teaching for the 1979-80 academic year at Rochester Institute of Technology.

Ann Lynn Lipton, M.A. '73, is head of the History Department at Benjamin School, North Palm Beach, Fla. During the summer she spent six weeks with a group of social studies coordinators, touring Israel. The program was funded by the Fullbright program and gave the teachers a chance to study, travel, and meet leaders of Israel in the areas of education, politics, and the arts. The group spent four weeks in Jerusalem and two weeks traveling to other parts of the nation.

The aim of the tour was to learn about the modern state of Israel and to develop curricula for American secondary schools. Ann would like William and Mary grads to look her up when they go to Florida.

Marshall-Wythe School of Law

Miss Sharon Coles
2501 Marshall Avenue
Newport News, Va. 23607

There has finally been an end to the long hot summer, and we now begin another year. Hopefully everyone has had some fun in the sun. As always, Marshall Wythe's graduates are continuing to make important contributions around the Commonwealth and the Nation.

Ronald L. Buckwalter, J.D. '72, practiced law in Lancaster, Pa., as a partner in the firm of Shirk, Reist and Buckwalter after graduation, and served for a time as District Attorney. Currently, however, he serves as Judge of the Court of Common Pleas in the Second Judicial District of Pennsylvania.

Richard Dulaney, J.D. '77, has become a partner in the Culpeper, Virginia law firm of Niles, Chapman and Dulaney. Thomas Johnson, J.D. '78, is legislative liaison for the Virginia State Legal Aid Society, which will soon change its name to the Virginia Poverty Law Center. The center's staff gives support to state legal aid societies on federal employment law, food law and training projects designed to help persons in Virginia who fit the federal definition of poverty.

Tom's job is to lobby legislators for passage of legislative priorities as set by the center's board of directors after ten (10) regional meetings around the state. Everett Shockley, J.D. '76, is one of the youngest Commonwealth's Attorneys in the Commonwealth of Virginia. He holds that post in Pulaski County. A Republican, Everett won over a 16 year incumbent. He started in private practice after law school, and took a partner in 1979, who is now his Assistant Commonwealth Attorney. Douglas J. Standard, J.D. '79, initially joined the law firm of Winston and Strawn in Chicago. In August, 1977, he joined Beatrice Foods Co. in Chicago as Assistant to the General Counsel, and since July, 1978, he has served, after being elected, as Corporate Secretary of the company. Doug, his wife, and their three sons seem to really love the Midwest, and plan to stay. Guice Strong, J.D. '76, was a candidate for the Jackson County, Illinois State's Attorney. We are not certain as to the result of the election, but certainly hope Guice was successful.

William Struckell, J.D. '78, has been pro-

SHULL JOINS RYAN IN PRO FOOTBALL

Steve Shull '79 has joined Jim Ryan '78 as the second William and Mary linebacker in two years to make a professional football team in the National Football League. Shull joined the Miami Dolphins as a free agent in the pre-season and survived all of the cuts to become a member of the Dolphins' final roster as the season began. Ryan went a similar route in making the Denver Broncos team last year and began his second season in 1980. A third William and Mary player, quarterback Tommy Rozantz '78, is playing for Saskatchewan in the Canadian Football League.

moted to senior accountant with Price, Waterhouse and Company. Congratulations, Bill.

That is all the news for the moment. I hope all of you who have not had a chance to visit the new law school at Williamsburg, will do so very soon. The building was dedicated on September 13, 1980, and although it is not exactly the Marshall-Wythe we all knew and loved, it certainly is a grand facility, of which we can all be proud.

Here's wishing you all a prosperous year.

Vital Statistics

OBITUARIES

JOSEPH CAMPBELL CHANDLER, '24 B.S., died August 27, 1980, in Norfolk, Virginia. President of his class, a member of ODK, the FHC Society, and Theta Delta Chi, and captain of baseball and track teams, he earned an M.A. from Columbia University in 1930 and returned the following year to W&M as a teacher and coach. After 10 years with W&M, he moved to the Norfolk Division where he coached baseball and basketball until 1948. He started a swimming program at the Division, and also started and coached swimming programs at Norfolk's Maury and Granby High Schools. In 1948, he became Athletic Director for the Norfolk Division, remaining in that position when the school became Old Dominion University, until 1968. In 1957, he was named Sportsman of the Year by the Norfolk Sports Club; in 1969, he was selected to the W&M Athletic Hall of Fame; in 1977, the "Joseph Scarp" Chandler Swimming Pool was dedicated at ODU; in 1979, he was inducted into the Virginia Sports Hall of Fame; and in 1980, he was selected to the ODU Sports Hall of Fame. He is survived by his wife, the former Millie McQueen, '30.

HERBERT LAWRENCE GANTER, '27 A.B., died August 20, 1980, in Williamsburg, following a brief illness. A member of PBK, ODK, the FHC Society, and Kappa Alpha, he was also editor of the Literary Magazine. He received his B.C.L. from W&M in 1930, and did graduate work at the New School of Social Research in New York City and at Georgetown University. During the 1930's and 1940's, he did much historical research for the College, providing many major contributions to the second series of the W&M Quarterly, while serving on the research staff of the Library of Congress. He handled many personal research assignments for Earl Gregg Swem, and at Swem's request, returned to the College as Archivist in 1948, holding that position until retirement in 1974. He was a recognized authority on rare books, Virginia genealogy, William and Mary history, 18th Century Virginia, and Colonial American history. He was actively involved in assisting overseas students to appreciate the historical and cultural heritage of his country, and in helping all members of the College community who enjoyed good music. In 1968, he was named a recipient of the Alumni Medallion.

LYDIA LEE DICKS (MULLOWNEY), '32 B.S., died in her sleep on August 21, 1980, at her home in Pasadena, California. A member of Kappa Alpha Theta, she earned her undergraduate degree in chemistry and then completed a course at Catherine-Gibbs School, in New York City. She worked for many years in the private New York offices of John D. Rockefeller, Sr. and John D. Rockefeller, Jr. Lydia is survived by her former husband, Richard D. Mallowney, '31, two children, and five sisters.

MELVIN DOUGLAS BLUMEHTNAL, '33 A.B., died July 28, 1980, at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, Maryland, after a long illness. A Pi Lambda Phi at William and Mary, he graduated from Harvard Law School in 1936. He maintained a private law practice in his home town of Hartford, Connecticut until 1942, when he moved to Baltimore and began working for the Social Security Administration. An Assistant General Counsel to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, he was instrumental in organizing Medicare, and in 1970 became associated with the Bureau of Health Insurance, which administered that program. In 1977, he retired as Acting Director of Program Policy. Active in religious and civic affairs, Melvin was a former member of the board and former president of the Brotherhood of the Baltimore Hebrew Congregation. He is survived by his widow, Evelyn, one son, and two daughters.

GEORGE LOUIS CARNER, '34 B.S., died June 20, 1980, in Virginia Beach, Virginia, of lung cancer. Louis was president of Theta Delta Chi, the Flight Club, 7 Society, and the 13 Club. He was manager of the baseball team, secretary and treasurer of the freshman class, and a member of the FHC Society, IFC, football team, freshman track team, YMCA, Cotillion Club, Alpha Psi, Athletic Council, International Relations Club, and the Monogram Club. He was also on the business staff for the Indian Handbook and the Literary Magazine. After a career in the construction business, Louis was a manufacturer's representative for architectural building products at the time of his death. In 1976, he gave to the College a collection of memorabilia of the W&M Flight Club circa 1930. Louis is survived by his widow, Elizabeth, and three children.

SEYMOUR SIMERMAN, '41 B.S., of Livermore, California, died of a heart attack on November 19, 1979. He received his M.D.

in 1944, from the Long Island College of Medicine, and spent his entire medical career within the Veterans Administration Hospital system. He was a member of the American College of Physicians, the American College of Chest Physicians, and the American Heart Association. He is survived by his wife, Roberta; a brother, Albert, '42; and two daughters.

THOMAS G. PAYNTER, '42 B.A., died August 21, 1980, in Weston, Connecticut, of a massive heart attack. A member of Phi Kappa Tau at William and Mary, Tom became the head buyer for Walden Books. A generous supporter of the College, Tom's most significant contribution was the Williamson Collection of Paleo-Indian artifacts, which is one of the three most outstanding such collections in the world, donated to the Anthropology Department. The Thomas G. Paynter Memorial Fund has been set up at William and Mary, and all gifts to the fund will be used to augment the Williamson Collection. Tom is survived by his widow and a daughter, Janice, '74.

THOMAS JOHN KEFALAS, '57, of Astoria, New York, died suddenly on July 20, 1980. He left William and Mary in 1955 to enlist in the Air Force. Later, he became a writer, working with Columbia Pictures, Cinerama, MGM, and other studios. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Katherine Kefalas, of Astoria

Alumni Giving Merits Coveted CASE Award

William and Mary's alumni, excited about the challenge offered by the final year of the Campaign for the College, increased their giving enough during 1978-79 to win a coveted national award for outstanding performance.

The U.S. Steel Corporation and the Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) recently named William and Mary the second Grand Award winner in the improvement category for alumni giving among all competing colleges and universities in the nation. CASE officials credited the College's success to the combined efforts of alumni volunteers, development staff and the general alumni body of the College. The College accepted the second highest award, as well as a $2000 grant, at the CASE Annual Assembly held this summer in Detroit. The grant, although unrestricted, has been assigned by President Thomas A. Graves, Jr., for faculty salaries, the current highest priority for new gifts. The College's impressive giving record outdistanced the records of all but one of the 279 institutions who were finalists in the alumni giving improvement competition. During 1978-79, the final year of the three-year Campaign for the College, 8,104 alumni contributed $631,620 to annual funds at the College, and a total of $1,004,624 to the College through all channels. In a single year, alumni participation increased by 1346 donors, and the average gift increased from $71.99 to $77.94.

Harriet Nachman Storm, former president of the Society of the Alumni, served as national chairman of the William and Mary Fund during the 1978-79 drive, and Gilbert Granger served as president of the Athletic Educational Foundation. Both funds showed tremendous improvement during the 1978-79 fiscal year, breaking all previous records for alumni fundraising.

"There's no doubt that this was a breakthrough type of year for the College," said James C. Rees, director for annual support. "The enthusiasm generated in '78-'79 has been carried through since then, and should continue to increase in the days to come."

Storm was succeeded by Bill and Jane Smith at the helm of the William and Mary Fund in 1979-80, and again the fund set a record for both money raised and number of contributors. James Ukrop, president of the AEF, led a similarly successful campaign to support the intercollegiate sports program.

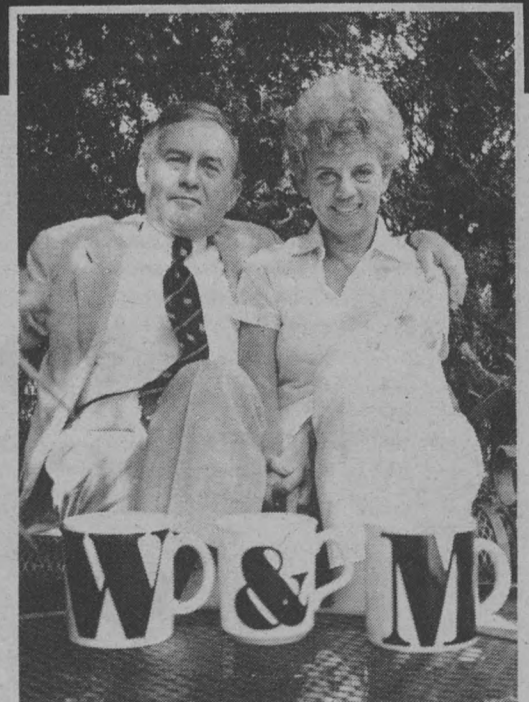

The final year of the Campaign for the College was an eventful one, with special alumni meetings nationwide. Here President Graves compares notes with National Campaign Chairman Roy R. Charles '32, 1978-79 William and Mary Fund Chairman Harriet Nachman Storm '64, and Peninsula Chairman William R. van Buren, Jr. '37.

The AEF raised record-breaking totals both in 1978-79 and 1979-80. Here current AEF President James E. Ukrop '60 presents

Class of '80 Gives $17,000 to Build Shelter

As a "farewell, we won't forget you!" pledge to the College, the graduating Class of 1980 has pledged $17,135 to build a shelter in the popular wildflower refuge located behind the old fraternity lodges on the edge of the "new campus."

In a campaign led by David Jones and a small corps of senior volunteers, 251 donors made five-year pledges to the project. If funds are raised in excess of the cost of the shelter for the wildflower refuge, funds will also support book purchases at Swem Library.

William and Mary Fund Nears Magic $400,000 Mark

Big Increase in W&M Fund Helps Alumni Support Near Million

Alumni contributed close to $1 million to the College for the second consecutive year during 1979-80, inspiring a total of $2,165,014 in gifts to William and Mary.

Although somewhat below the record pace of 1978-79, the final year of the Campaign for the College, William and Mary did see signs of enthusiastic response from the general alumni body and from parents of students.

The official total for the William and Mary Fund, after all calculations, edged ever-so-close to $400,000, finalizing at $396,000, far and away the highest total ever, and some $41,000 above the 1978-79 total. President Thomas A. Graves, Jr., noted again "the outstanding leadership of Bill and Jane Smith, two alumni we can all be extremely proud to call our own."

In addition, the 1979-80 William and Mary Fund closed with the highest number of gifts and the greatest number of contributors to any annual fund in the history of the College.

"The volunteer support of alumni during this drive inspired a new sense of enthusiasm, a new feeling of togetherness, a new optimism for the future," said Jim Rees '74, Director for Annual Support. "We have every reason to believe that as far as support from our alumni is concerned, the eighties will indeed be our best and mightiest years yet."

The total of $2,165,014 for 1979-80 consists of cash or properties in hand and includes no pledges, testamentary commitments, or government grants.

By categories, the College received $386,870 from corporations and business concerns; $70,029 from parents; $286,719 from foundations; $16,121 from other groups; and $474,180 from individual friends of the College. Contributors specified that $1,397,897 should be used for current operations, and $767,117 should be used for capital purposes, either to boost the College's endowment or for new facilities.

The figures summarized in the box headed "Private Voluntary Support for the Year Ending June 30, 1979" are compiled and reported by the Office of Development in accordance with a format established by the Council for Financial Aid to Education (CFAE) for the compilation of such data nationwide.

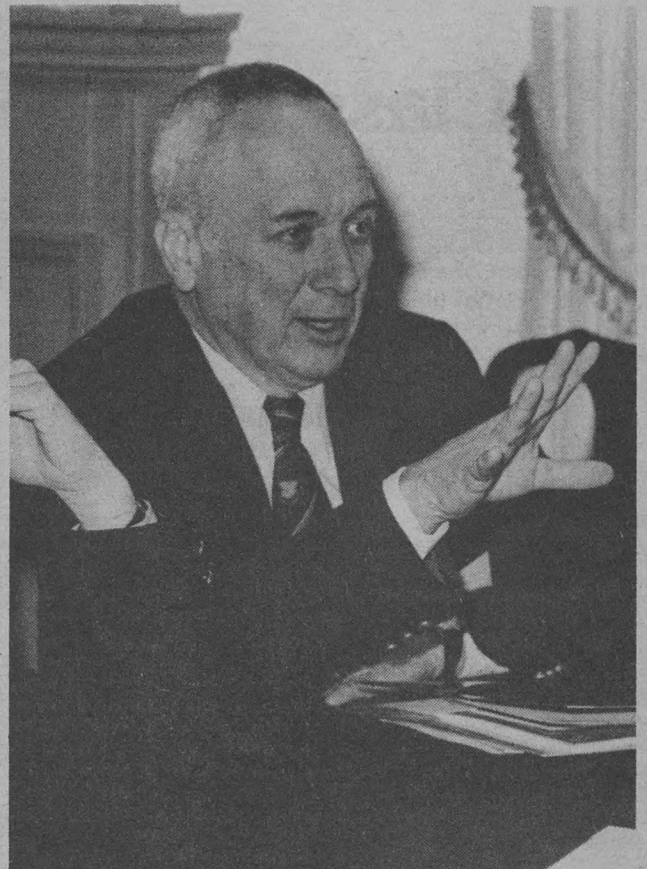

The totals include gifts of cash and property received in hand from private sources during the fiscal year; they do not include outstanding pledges and government grants.

Gifts made payable to affiliate organizations in support of the College's activities are encompassed in the CFAE summary. Organizations associated with William and Mary which routinely receive direct contributions are the Athletic Educational Foundation and the Endowment Association of the College of William and Mary. Contributions designated for support of professional schools but otherwise unrestricted are reported in the "Unrestricted or General Purposes" category.

Names of contributing organizations and individuals, including the William and Mary Fund, are found elsewhere in this report. A supplementary report will be issued in January giving the results of the funds conducted on a calendar year basis. These include the Marshall-Wythe School of Law Fund, the School of Education, the MBA Fund, and the Parents' Fund, all of which close Dec. 31.

San Diego Chapter representative Nancy Diehl Deems '65, Board member Stanley R. Hudgins '43, National William and Mary Fund Co-Chairman Willard S. "Bill" Smith '44, and Board member Marvin F. West '52 confer at the Alumni House.

Foundations Contribute $286,719 To Support College

Foundations from across the nation contributed $286,719 to the College during 1979-80, primarily to support educational programs at William and Mary. Other organizations contributed gifts amounting to $16,121.

Although many foundation by-laws restrict gifts to private universities, colleges in certain geographical areas, or institutions which possess particular programs, William and Mary is eligible for gifts from a number of important foundations.

Associate Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences David Kranbuehl works closely with faculty members to investigate principle needs of the College, possible foundation sources for needed funds, and in preparing proposals. S. Dean Olson, director of university publications, recently assumed the duties for foundation relations in the university advancement office, and will work closely with Kranbuehl in the days ahead.

The following foundations and organizations made gifts to the College during fiscal 1979-80.

Entwisles' Scented Stationary Indicates 'Sweet Smell of Success' for W&M Fund

Alumni across the nation are contributing to "the sweet smell of success" surrounding the new 1980-81 William and Mary Fund.

Responding to a unique appeal scented with "the fragrance of Williamsburg," alumni gifts have arrived in record numbers during the first weeks of the new annual alumni fund drive. Many of the gifts represent all-important "new money"--first-time or increased gifts to the fund, which are eligible for the special NEH Challenge Grant.

National chairmen John '44 and Marilyn Miller '44 Entwisle of Philadelphia are directing a multi-faceted campaign centered around the NEH Challenge, which promises to add extra support to the humanities program at the College. Placing the emphasis on increased contributions from individual alumni, the Entwisles have added a new twist to last year's highly-touted slogan created by 1979-80 chairmen Bill '44 and Jane Spencer '48 Smith. To take advantage of the NEH Challenge, the Entwisles say alumni are "Making the Eighties Our Best Years Yet by Making Our Gifts Our Best Gifts Yet!"

The principle exposure for the fund is planned for Homecoming weekend, when special t-shirts, posters and an entourage in the annual parade should draw attention to the "extra-effort year" currently in progress.

The Entwisles, Jim Rees '74, Director for Annual Support, and Jackie Crebbs '64, Assistant Director for Annual Support, met with members of the Society of the Alumni Board of Directors at the Fall semi-annual meeting to discuss ways in which the Society could provide an added boost to the fund. The Society pledged increased chapter support and board involvement in the days to come.

The Entwisles have also lined up an impressive list of reunion class and special-appeal chairmen. Joan Showalter '55, Vice President of CBS, Inc., and Dick Sikorski '68, Detroit Branch Manager of Connecticut General Life Insurance Co., have agreed to spearhead a special appeal to alumni who work for matching gift firms. Alumni serving as reunion class chairmen are:

Blake Newton, Jr. '35, Jack Garrett, Jr. '40, Nellie Deans Greaves '45, Chet Giermak '50, Bill Prince '55, Tom and Susie Farrington '60, Laurie Yingling Soleau '65, Linda Lotz Brown '70, Barbara Ramsey '75.

This year's effort will include the widest variety of approaches in the history of the fund," notes Rees. "We'll be telephoning people from chapter locations across the East, we'll have special local appeals in a number of western states, and we'll be attempting to coordinate more of our activities with those of the Society."

"This year revolves around the NEH Challenge, and there's no doubt that our alumni are already responding to this challenge in record numbers," says Rees.

CHARTERED 1693

THE COLLEGE OF WILLIAM AND MARY IN VIRGINIA
OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT
WILLIAMSBURG, VIRGINIA 23185

Dear Alumni Supporters:

This is one of the easiest and most pleasurable letters I have been fortunate enough to write since coming to the College almost 10 years ago.

Allow me to add my personal congratulations and thanks for the outstanding level of support you have demonstrated in achieving the highest total ever for the William and Mary Fund. During 1979-80, the number of alumni donors reached almost 7,000, and the volunteer leadership was unusually active and enthusiastic. In particular, our national chairmen, Bill and Jane Smith, deserve a great deal of credit for making the 1979-80 William and Mary Fund drive one of the most creative and spirited in the history of the College.

Those of us who work at the College are excited and encouraged that so many alumni across the nation, and indeed the world, are also working to "make the eighties our best years yet."

Again, let me express my personal thanks for your support. Let us all work together to make sure that the 1980-81 William and Mary Fund will attract even more loyal supporters, and surpass the impressive record set by last year's drive.

Sincerely,

Thomas A. Graves, Jr.
President

Duane Dittman Assumes Helm As Advancement Office Settles Down After Staff Changes

After over a year of extensive personnel changes, a move from one building to another, and a major re-grouping following the end of the Campaign for the College, the Office of University Advancement is settled in and moving ahead at nearly full speed.

Duane A. Dittman, a veteran development professional who formerly headed offices at St. Lawrence University and Davidson, assumed the new position of Vice President for University Advancement in July. For the first time, the Development Office and Communications Office were united under one administration.

Ross Weeks, Jr., continues to serve as Assistant to the President and Director of University Communications, supervising an experienced staff in the publications, public information and special events areas.

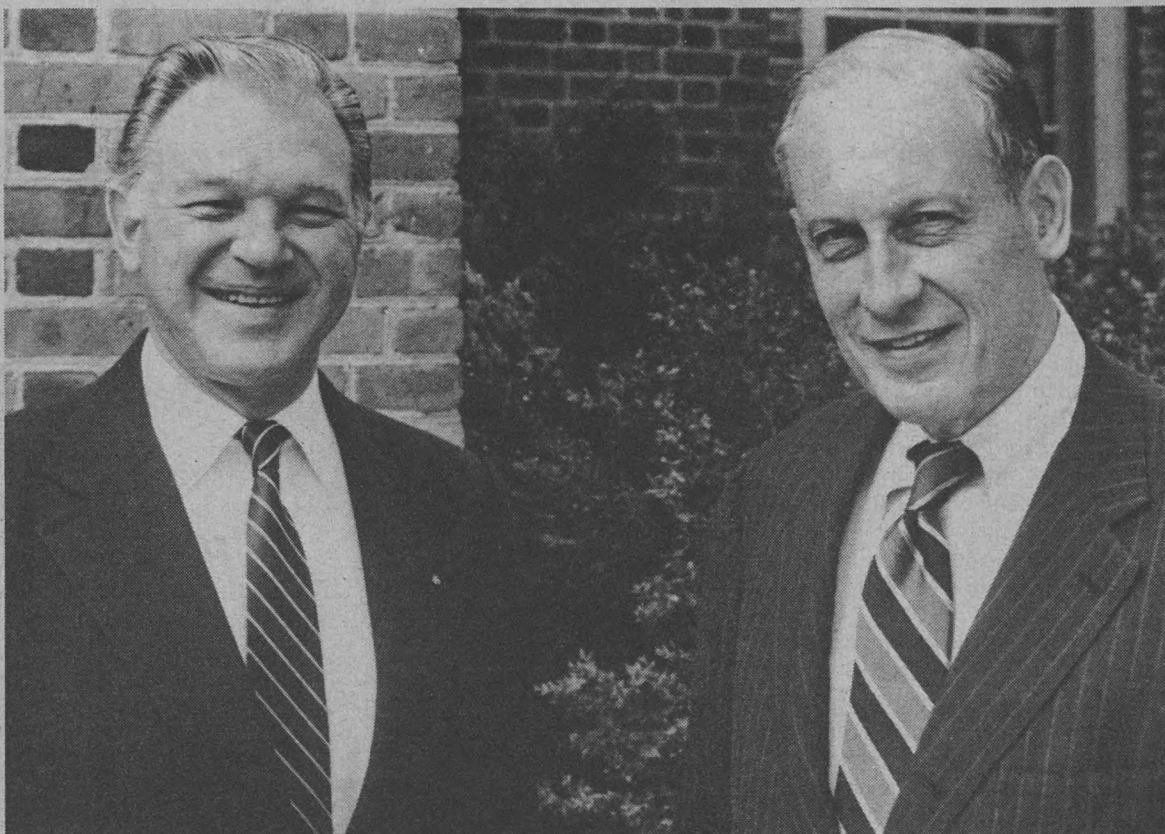

Three alumni of the College serve as directors of development areas under Dittman: Robert Duro '69 JD, director for estate planning; Jim Rees '74, director for annual support and corporate relations; and Jeffery Shy '72, director for development services. A search is still on for a fourth director in charge of capital gifts.

S. Dean Olson, director of university publications, has assumed additional duties in the area of foundation support.

The focal point of the current development activities of the College remains meeting the NEH challenge. The College must raise $1.5 million from private sources to support the humanities programs at the College in a three year period in order to "earn" $500,000 from NEH. The College got off to an impressive start during the first qualifying year, and has already earned $200,000 of the NEH Challenge.

A special NEH Task Force of dedicated alumni, friends and faculty met on the campus last spring, working to outline a "plan of attack" to meet the challenge.

The 1980-81 William and Mary Fund drive has emphasized the importance of the NEH Challenge and mail solicitations have explained that new or increased gifts can be applied toward the challenge.

Vice President for University Advancement Duane A. Dittman was greeted on campus July 1 by President Graves.

New national chairmen of the 1980-81 William and Mary Fund, John S. '44 and Marilyn Miller Entwisle '44, point out the latest news in The Flat Hat to Charles R. "Bob" Daniels of Lynchburg.

Law, Business Students Make Pledges To Support Academic Programs

Most graduating law students and MBA students had good reason to celebrate in 1980—due to increased placement activities and the improving reputations of the two schools, good jobs were a little easier to come by.

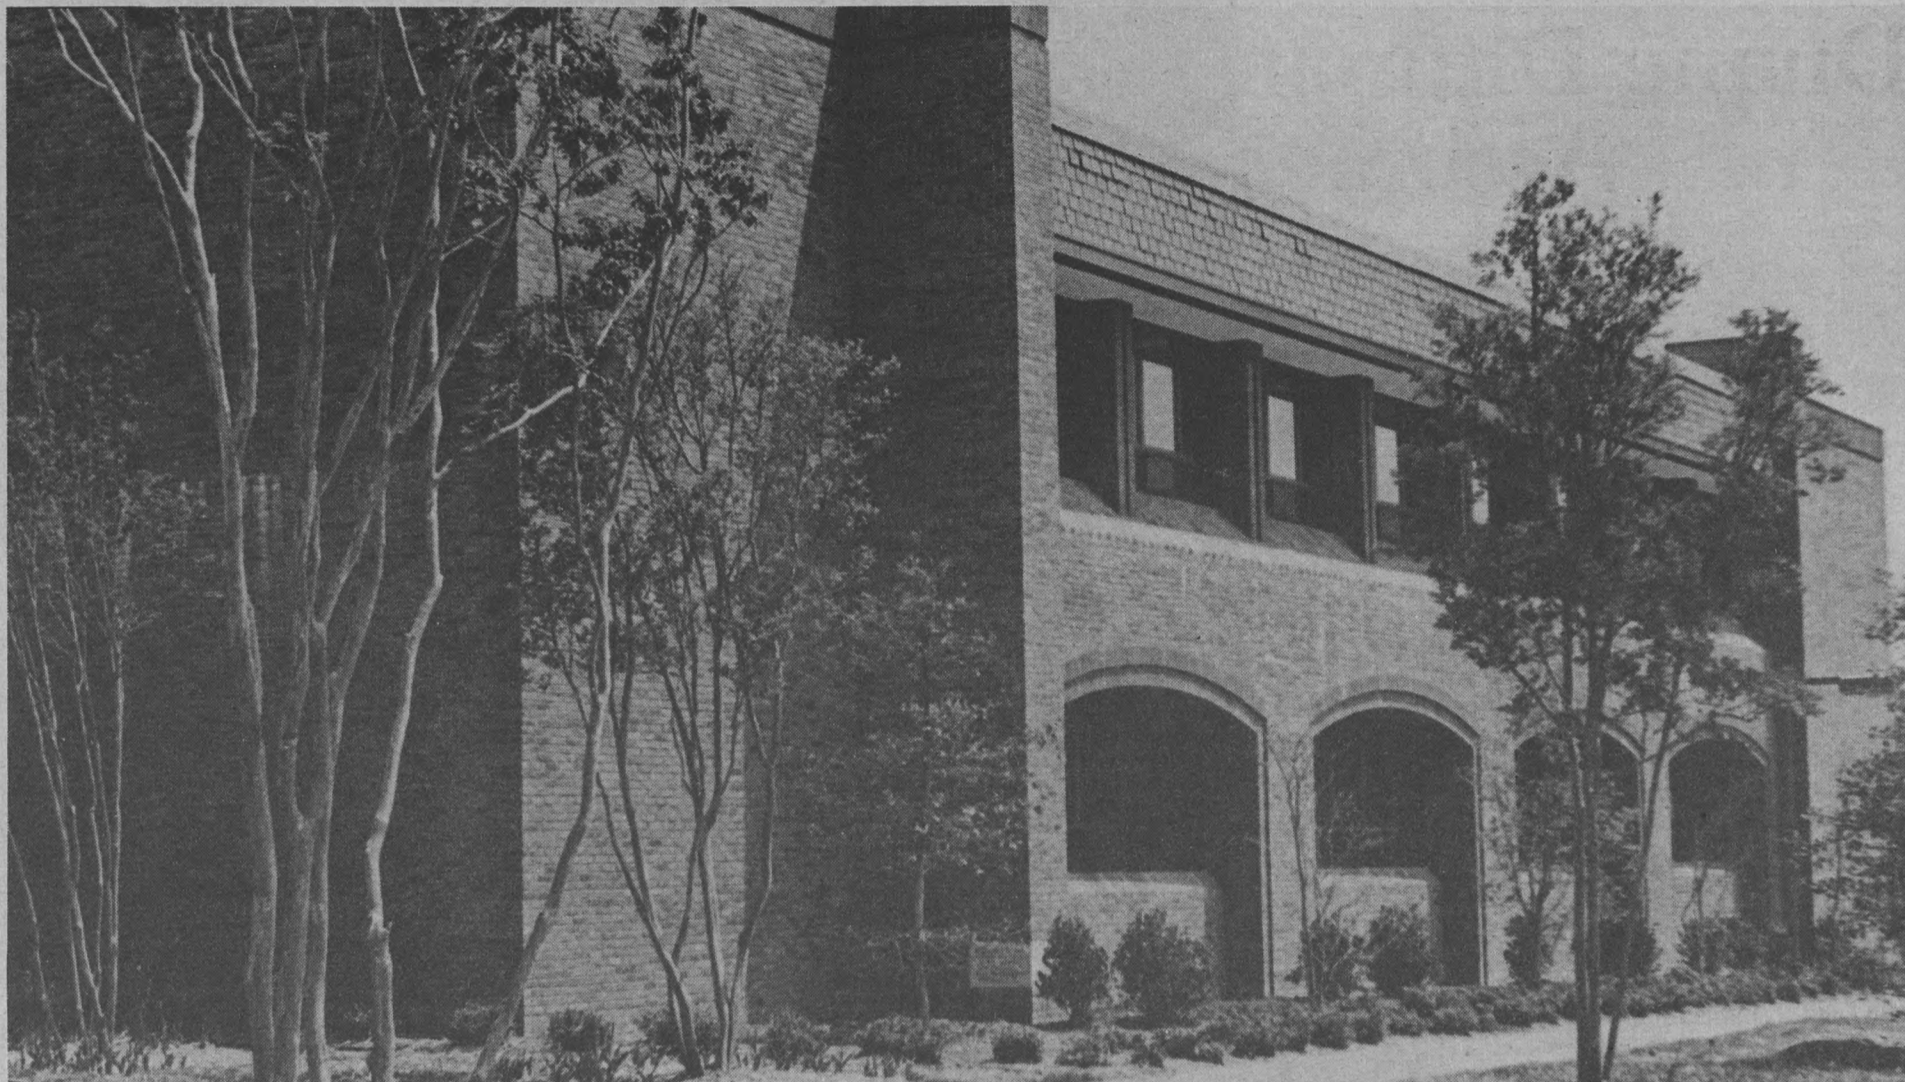

Many third-year law students and second-year MBA students responded by supporting class gifts to the College.

Those who contributed to the Class of 1980 Marshall-Wythe School of Law Fund are: Francis C. Bagbey; Colleen Boles; Nell Buckelew; Martha D.

Burgess; Thelma Young Carroll; Patricia S. Channon; Linda Weston Coppinger; Mark T. Daly, Jr.; Kathy Ellen Davidson; Judith Dockery; Allen P. Fancher; David M. Griffith; Fred A. Holland; Ann K. Kiley; Christine M. Kopocis; Kenneth J. Kopocis; Joseph F. Lagrotteria; Ross Locklear; R. Douglas MacPherson; Toni Marie Massaro; Dorothy Martin McCorkle; Kevin D. Norwood; Barbara T. O'Brien; Louis G. Paulson; Joseph Rosenthal; Donna J. Salhany; W. Laird Stabler; Mark Strättner; Michael Reid Webb; Walter

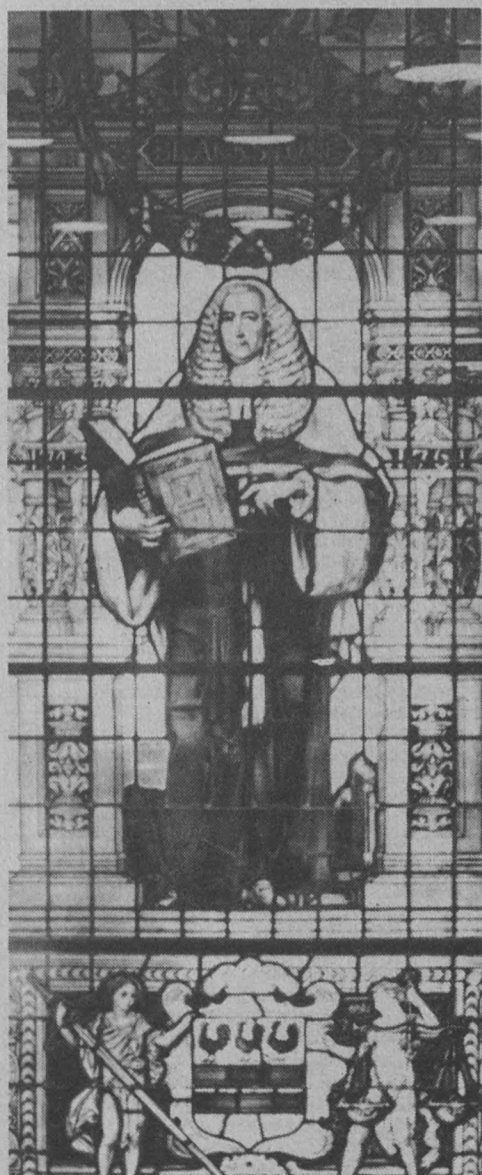

L. Williams; Richard E. Wolff.

Graduating business students who supported the Class of '80 MBA Fund are: Justin J. Adinolfi; Margaret A. Bowen; Edward N. Brewer; Joseph C. Carlin; Joseph P. Coccoma; Loreen T. Cornette; Scott R. Cousino; David F. Dobel; J. R. Doman; Jeffrey R. Gould; Dave Hamilton; J. R. Hutcheson, III; Bruce Lindsay; Ann E. Lippard; Edward F. Maslin; Steve Mendelsohn; Michael A. Mitchell; Joseph R. Rutherford; Frank Talbott, IV; Craig P. Treanor.

The front of the new Marshall-Wythe School of Law building is an impressive sight.

Law School Thanks Donors at Ceremony to Dedicate New Building

One of two stained glass windows, gifts of Oxford University.

At the official dedication of the new Marshall-Wythe School of Law building recently, the program paid tribute to a number of contributors who made gifts as part of the bicentennial celebration of the establishment of the first chair of law in America and the opening of the new facility.

Noting the beginning of a new era for the Law School, Dean William B. Spong, Jr., expressed appreciation for the dedicated support of alumni and friends. Among those who gave substantial gifts were:

- Warden F. P. Neill, Q.C., the faculty and fellows of All Souls College, Oxford University, for the Blackstone and Wythe stained glass windows at the north end of the foyer.
- Robert Friend Boyd, Class of 1952, and Sara Miller Boyd, Class of 1955, for the David Silvette portrait of George Wythe, now hanging in the north part of the foyer.
- Judge Robert T. Armistead, Class of 1937, and Laetitia Armistead Hanson, Class of 1938, for the collection of books to be designated as the Armistead Collection and displayed in memory of Robert Henry Armistead, Class of 1832.
- Lena Stratton Baran, Class of 1936, and Daniel W. Baran of San Mateo, Ca., for a contribution that enables the law school to replicate the law library of Thomas Jefferson. This donation was made in honor of Mrs. Baran's sons, Ralph Alexander Elmore, III, Class of 1970, and Donald Stratton Elmore, Class of 1976.
- To the Cabell Foundation of Richmond, the Kresge Foundation and the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, for contributions and grants that have made it possible to enlarge and equip the Moot Courtroom and adjacent court facilities.
- To the Trustees of the Jessie Ball duPont Religious, Charitable and Educational Fund of Jacksonville, Fla., for a gift establishing the Ball Professor of Law in Taxation.
- To David Tennant Bryan of Richmond, Amanda Bryan Kane of Charlottesville, and Elizabeth G. Henry of New York City, for contributions enabling the College of William and Mary to establish the John Stewart Bryan Professorship of Jurisprudence in honor of the twentieth President of the College of William and Mary.
- To Lloyd U. Noland, Jr., of Newport News, R. R. Smith of Staunton, and Lawrence Lewis, Jr., of Richmond, for contributions enabling the College of William and Mary to establish the Mills E. Godwin, Jr., Professorship of Law in honor of the distinguished former Governor of Virginia.
- To the Virginia Lawyers Wives, for contributions to purchase the judge's bench in the Moot Courtroom.
- Mr. Jules Horlick of Coral Gables, Fla., for the painting of the John Marshall Court by Betty Wells of Baltimore, now hanging in the corridor of the administrative offices.
- Louis Ellenson, Class of 1950, and Goldye Ellenson, for their gift of early American legal documents on display in the conference room.
- Dr. William F. Swindler, John Marshall Professor of Law, Emeritus, for the print of Thomas Jefferson, hanging in the Rare Book Room.
- Mrs. Hilda D. Gantt of Towson, Maryland, and the estate of Paul H. Gantt, for contributions for the purchase of books for the library of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law, in memory of the late Paul H. Gantt, Class of 1942.
- Mr. and Mrs. Steve Sacalis of Williamsburg, for contributions to purchase books for the library of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law.
- The William and Mary Law School Association, the Marshall-Wythe faculty and Fieldcrest Mills, Eden, N.C., for the rugs in the foyer of the law building.
- Richard C. Marshall, Jr., of Norfolk, and members of the Marshall Family for loan of the John Wesley Jarvis portrait of John Marshall, hanging in the Rare Book Room.

Class of '44 To Receive Board Trophy for Outstanding Fundraising

The Classes of 1944, 1929, and 1964 showed dramatic improvement and outstanding fundraising performances during the 1979-80 William and Mary Fund campaign, winning the first competitive giving awards ever presented by the Society of Alumni.

All three classes were celebrating a reunion year in 1979.

The Class of 1944 is the first recipient of the Board of Directors Award for all-round improved performance. It increased participation from 98 to 109 of its 280 members, moving to just under 39 percent participation, one of the highest rates among all classes. Last year's reunion drive had heavy-hitter leadership: John and Marily Miller Entwisle served as reunion drive chairman for the Fund, and Bill Smith was national co-chairman of the drive. In addition, Nancy Foster and Sunny Williams headed a drive to build a patio behind the Alumni House.

The Class of '29 experienced the largest percentage of increase in class participation, jumping from 28 to 33 percent, to receive the Class of '54 Trophy for spiritual alumni participation.

The Class of 1964 experienced a whopping increase in dollars given, moving from $4,854 to $7,038 in a single year, to win the Class of '25 award for percentage increase in giving. Participation also increased from 24 to 27.5 percent, and the average gift rose from $29.72 to $37.84. The special mail campaign for 1964 was chaired by Jackie Crebbs of Williamsburg.

The competition for the first alumni giving awards was extremely stiff, reports Jim Rees '74, director for annual support. During a year when overall giving and alumni participations improved so greatly, it's apparent that the increases were spread through a large number of classes. This shows that our network of volunteers is coming on strong, and that we can expect still greater improvement in the future."

Other classes which turned in outstanding performances in at least one category were 1926, 1935, 1940, 1945, 1949, 1953, 1969 and 1970.

Bill '44 and Jane Spencer '48 Smith display two of the three new awards for outstanding fundraising improvement.

Endowment Association Manages Complex Investment Policy, Approves New Endowment Funds

The College continued to attract substantial funds for its endowment in 1979-80, and during its two annual meetings on campus, the Board of Trustees approved a number of resolutions accepting gifts and creating special endowment funds.

During its meeting last October, the Board:

- Established the Louise Goldsborough Thomas Cooley Professorships Endowment, to fund eminent scholars in the Department of English Language and Literature.
  - Created the Anna Herrick Scholarship Endowment Fund, supported by an anonymous gift.
  - Established the Leslie Cheek, Jr., Endowment Fund, with the income to be used for the most pressing needs of the department of fine arts.
  - Established the Mildred and J. B. Hickman Endowment Fund, with the income to be used to supplement faculty salaries.
  - Created the Richard J. and Martha W. Davis Scholarship Endowment Fund, to provide financial assistance to deserving residents of Portsmouth who wish to attend the College.
- At their meeting in February, the Trustees:
- Established the Marcia Childress Memorial Endowment Fund, with the income to be used to purchase additions to the Library in American Literature.
  - Established the Dr. R. R. Doss Memorial Endowment Fund, to support faculty salaries.

- Created the David and Martha Prosser Endowment Fund, to support Swem Library.

- Established the James E. Ukrop School of Business Endowment Fund, to support the Business School; and the James E. Ukrop Humanities Endowment Fund, to support faculty development in the humanities.

- Established the Dean Birdena E. Donaldson Memorial Scholarship Endowment Fund, to support scholarships to deserving women students.

- Created the Anna Belle Koenig Nimmo Foreign Service Endowment Fund, to support outstanding students considering seriously a U.S. foreign service career.

- Established the T. C. Clarke Special Endowment Fund.

- Created the John Stewart Bryan Professorship of Jurisprudence Endowment Fund, to attract eminent scholars to the Marshall-Wythe School of Law.

- Established the J. Edward Zollinger Memorial Endowment Fund, to support the School of Business Administration.

- Established the Floyd Dewey Gottwald Professorship Endowment Fund, to support a professorship in the School of Business Administration.

- Created the Promotion of Learning Endowment Fund, with a gift from Dr. Bruce T. McCully, to purchase materials of special distinction for Swem Library.

President Thomas A. Graves, Jr., also serves as president of the Endowment Association. Other members represent a wide variety of businesses, geographical locations and personal backgrounds.

Variety of Firms Show Strong Support

Corporations of all sizes, types and from a wide range of locations contributed some $387,000 to the College during fiscal 1979-80.

Many of the gifts were for the college's number one priority need -- the enhancement of faculty support.

On a national basis, corporate financial support of higher education is growing more rapidly in magnitude and importance than any other source of philanthropy, according to Clifton C.

Garvin, Jr., chairman of the Council for Financial Aid to Education (CFAE). William and Mary President Thomas A. Graves, Jr., recently joined the prestigious CFAE Board of Directors, and now serves with a small, influen-cial group of corporate and educational leaders who work closely together to further support for higher education.

The following firms made contributions to the College during fiscal 1979-80.

Corporations Match Gifts To Encourage Support

Hundreds of alumni annually take advantage of their firms' matching gift policies, which specify that an employer will contribute an equal, or often greater amount, to the employee's alma mater.

Lowe Lunsford III '56 of Charleston,

West Va., directed a special mini-campaign last fall to increase gifts to the William and Mary Fund from alumni working for matching gift firms. The contributions from hundreds of firms, which make payments in a variety of schedules, are still coming in.

During the new 1980-81 campaign for the William and Mary Fund, Joan Showalter '58 of CBS Inc. and Dick Sikorski '65 of Connecticut General Life Insurance Co. will lead a similar drive, enhanced even more by the matching challenge grant offered by the National Endowment for the Humanities.

The following list includes firms which matched alumni gifts to the William and Mary Fund during fiscal 1979-80.

The William and Mary Fund

Donor List, 1979-80

The following list of donors includes individuals who made personal gifts to the William and Mary Fund during the 1979-80 fiscal year. It was generated by the College's computerized record system for the purpose of publishing a donor list in this publication. Gifts to endowment, special projects, professional schools, or the Athletic Educational Foundation are not credited to the William and Mary Fund. Matching corporate gifts, though greatly appreciated, are not applied toward individual personal gifts. Firms that contributed matching gifts are listed elsewhere in this report.

Those individuals listed in the Thousand Dollar Club made contributions of $1,000 or more to the William and Mary Fund. Members of the President's Council, which includes all alumni and friends of the College who give $1,000 or more to one of several of the College's various funds, will be listed during early 1981. The President's Council is organized on a calendar year basis, and those who contribute before December 31 will be members for 1981.

The number of gifts to this year's

William and Mary Fund was the greatest ever recorded in the history of the annual fund. The following list has been checked and re-checked for accuracy, but errors may still exist. If you made a contribution to this fund between July 1, 1979, and June 30, 1980, and your name is not listed, please contact the Annual Support Office so that we may accurately update our files.

Breakdown of Funds to Support the College

A number of annual giving programs are conducted each year with the voluntary assistance of various constituent organizations. All help William and Mary, though each fund has its own objectives.

Alumni and other friends and certain organizations which are involved with the College in several ways probably will receive several appeals in the course of the year. As an example, an alumnus with both undergraduate and law degrees from the College who has supported the athletic program and who has a son attending

William and Mary will routinely receive literature on the William and Mary Fund, the Marshall-Wythe School of Law Fund, the Athletic Educational Foundation Fund and the Parents Fund.

The following summary is provided to help those individuals receiving more than one appeal to understand better how they fit into the total annual giving program and decide to what degree each merits his or her support.

FUND	CONSTITUENT ORGANIZATION	PARTICIPATION	PROGRAMS SUPPORTED	CAMPAIGN ACCOUNTING PERIOD

Friends Remain Important Part of 'William and Mary Family'

The William and Mary Family of loyal supporters is certainly not exclusive to alumni and parents of students -- another important group of individual supporters are designated as Friends of the College.

Representative of a wide variety of constituencies and hailing from almost every state in the union, individual Friends give to the college for a variety of reasons. Some are Williamsburg residents who feel a strong attachment to the college, its students, faculty and staff.

Others may be supporters enlisted by enthusiastic alumni who "can't seem to stop talking about the nation's second-oldest college," still others may have come to Williamsburg as tourists, only to find their most pleasurable experiences on the William and Mary campus.

The Friends group is constantly expanding. The following list includes individual Friends; local businesses and professionals who also support the college as Friends are listed under corporate supporters.
