College Celebrates Successful 1982 Homecoming

Thousands Of Alumni Return To Campus For Traditional Four-Day Event

Mark Homecoming 1982 down as a resounding success.

Thousands of alumni came home to Williamsburg to enjoy more than 30 special events over a three-day period, including the Homecoming Parade that attracted 25,000 people to the Duke of Gloucester Street to observe 54 units, the largest numbers since the mid-'50s.

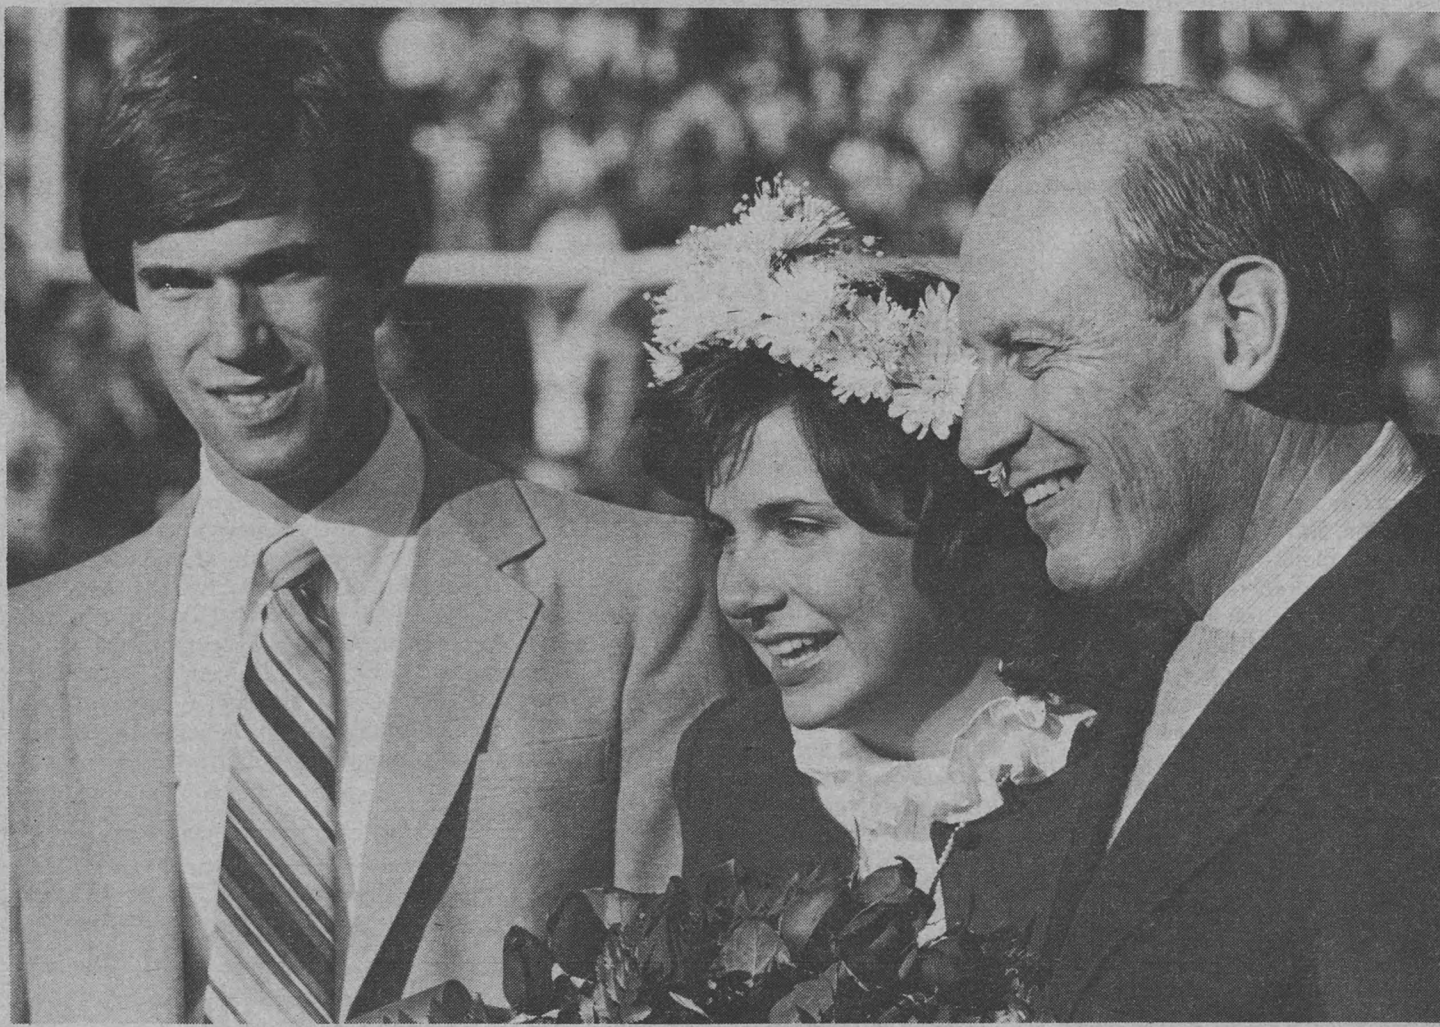

More than 1,000 alumni and their guests enjoyed the traditional Luncheon on the Lawn following the Parade, and after the football game between Brown and William and Mary, 2,000 members of the Young Guard, from the classes of 1975 to 1982, enjoyed a Keg Party at the Alumni House, by far the largest number yet to participate in that event.

Admittedly, William and Mary lost for the fifth straight year in the Homecoming football game, this time to Brown by the slim margin of 23-22, but even that last minute loss could not tarnish one of the most successful Homecomings in years. Based on reservations and overall participation in the various festivities, the 1982 Homecoming represented one of the largest turnouts the Society of the Alumni-sponsored weekend has ever had.

The 54 units which participated in the Homecoming Parade included 19 in the Open Division, up from only four last year. Every sorority on campus and a majority of the fraternities entered floats in the Parade, which also included units from the Order of the White Jacket, which celebrated its 10th anniversary, and the Class of 1957, celebrating its 25th reunion. Dr. Davis Y. Paschall '32, 23rd president of the College, served as honorary grand marshal, riding with his wife, Agnes Winn Paschall '31.

A float by KAI Independent Social Organization won first place in the Open Division as well as the Lambert Cup for the best overall float. KAI is an organization established by two seniors at William and Mary, Kim Wood and Ida Cowgill, during their sophomore year. They decided that non-Greeks could have as much fun as Greeks, and KAI now has five members, all of whom helped construct the Homecoming float.

Thousands of alumni returned to the College for the 4-day event, which was one of the most successful Homecomings in recent years.*

The success of the 1982 Homecoming Parade resulted from a year of intense effort on the part of the Society of the Alumni, in cooperation with its Alumni-Student Liaison Committee, to involve students in the 1982 Homecoming. Students and members of the Society staff met individually with organizations on campus and encouraged students to participate not only in the Homecoming Parade but in Homecoming activities as well. As a result, students sponsored almost twice the number of undergraduate activities during Homecoming Weekend as last year. Among these events were several which alumni were invited to attend including a Happy Hour at the Campus Center

Pub on Friday afternoon. In addition, students put on displays for alumni to tell them about activities at William and Mary and participated enthusiastically in such events as the Alumni-Student Soccer game (won by the Alumni 3-2) and the Alumni Invitational Relay Swim meet, held for the first time this year.

The weekend of events began on Thursday with the Order of the White Jacket annual meeting and dinner, at which CIA official John N. McMahon spoke and Colin R. Davis '50 of Suffolk was elected president for the upcoming year. On Friday, returning alumni were welcomed at hospitality suites at various locations around Williamsburg sponsored by each of the reunion classes. The suites, which remained open through Sunday, created a focal point for returning alumni within the overall spectrum of Homecoming, highlighting and focusing alumni within their classes, but allowing them to be involved in the general activities of the weekend.

After the traditional Sunset Ceremony on Friday evening, alumni attended class reunion cocktail parties and then joined together for the annual Alumni banquet and business meeting at which Alumni Medallions and other prizes and awards were conferred.

On Saturday, alumni began their day with the President's Continental

CAMPUS PERSPECTIVES

The Humanities Thrive At William and Mary

By Zeddie Bowen, Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences

All the instruments agree--it's a cold day for the humanities all across the nation. And that would seem to be so at William and Mary too. With economic anxiety uppermost these days, students are looking for career and financial security after graduation, and, to judge from numbers of concentrators, the two most popular areas of study are business and economics, with biology a close third.

But wait.

The fourth highest major doesn't seem to be very career-oriented. It's English, of all things. And Philosophy too is among the top ten, not in the 17th or 22nd place the times would seem to dictate.

In fact, there's a good deal of evidence to suggest that at William and Mary the humanities are more than holding their own, they are flourishing. Students seem to be looking not just to their pocket books, but to the aesthetic and intellectual treasure they can build up in their four years here to draw on for a richer life over the next five or six decades of their lives.

This conclusion comes from several measures--enrollment patterns as well as the accomplishments of the Humanities departments themselves.

Numbers tell part of the story. Introductory literature courses in English in a typical fall semester have 470 students, almost half a freshman class. Philosophy 101 this fall is offered in ten sections to a total of over 350 students. The introductory course in Fine Arts has 139 students this semester, and Religion 201 is over-subscribed with 126. Even Classical Studies has flourished. Ten years ago it had 11 concentrators; last year it had 22.

And enrollment is not just in the freshman and sophomore years. The American Council on Education recently concluded a study of credit hours at William and Mary and thirteen other comparable southern universities. Not only do our students take 20% more humanities credits in the lower division courses than do students at other institutions, but they take almost 100% more in upper division courses.

Other measures similarly point to the liveliness of the humanities at the College. The National Endowment for the Humanities awarded the College a Challenge Grant in part because of the existing strength of the humanities at William and Mary. It has also funded in part the pilot year of the new Honors Program, Honors 201-202, which is based on artistic and intellectual works central to Western culture. And the NEH has recognized the excellence of the Faculty and encouraged the full realization of their potential with NEH Fellowships to support a full year of scholarly research. This year Peter D. Wiggins, of the English Department, and Howard Fraser, of the Department of Modern Languages and Literatures, have NEH Fellowships. For next year NEH has awarded grants to Miles Chappell, Professor of Fine Arts, and John Willis and Elsa Nettles, both Professors of English.

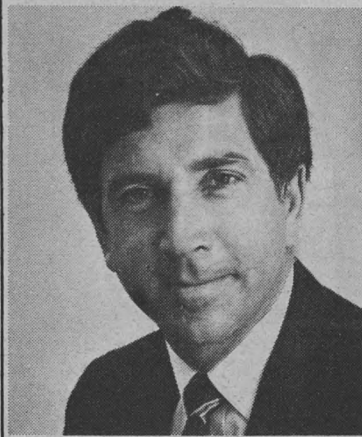

Consider too these recent developments:

- the establishment of the Muscarelle Museum
- the establishment of the Kenan Professorship in the Humanities, this year held by the distinguished teacher and scholar William Fleming
- the creation this year of the Creative Arts House, supplementing the already lively activities of the language and special interest houses
- the continuing and growing success of the Virginia Shakespeare Festival
- the enrollment of the first Masters candidates in the new American Studies Program
- the recent location at William and Mary of the journal Eighteenth Century Life
- the establishment of the new Honors Program, also funded by the State Council of Higher Education, through its program of Funds for Excellence
- the spectacular, and spectacularly received, production of Tartuffe, which will be the College's entry in the American College Theatre contest

All of these have come into being to enrich the already rich life of the

INSIDE ADMISSIONS

The Value Of A High School Guidance Counselor

by G. Gary Ripple
Dean of Undergraduate Admissions

The typical high school counselor is an experienced educator who must possess a variety of analytical and interpersonal skills. He or she works in an office which, because of its central location, serves as the hub of a modern secondary school. Each day, administrators, teachers, students, parents, and other community members pass through its doors with a myriad of problems covering the total range of human concerns.

The high school counselor is responsible for college counseling and financial aid assistance, career planning, testing, and identifying potential emotional problems which may require referrals for professional assistance. The counselor acts as student advocate with college admissions offices and with teachers within the school mediating personality conflicts and misunderstandings before they reach major proportions. The counselor serves as an effective sounding board facilitating communication between a community and its high school. Parents call to discuss the behavior of their children and administrators ask for feedback regarding the comments received from parents and other members of the community.

No person in a school is better suited to objectively measure the development of a child. The data gathered from administrators, teachers, and other students enable the school counselor to know your son or daughter far better than any other single person can as he or she relates to an educational environment. A full range of teacher reactions and reflections can be brought together into one college recommendation so that the student is effectively described from a variety of human perspectives.

The counseling office is a repository of valuable information--college catalogues, career opportunities, and other post-secondary alternatives. Parents are always welcome at school counseling offices for conferences with counselors or just to use the many resources available to them.

Recently, my travel to secondary schools has uncovered an alarming trend. As economic pressures have tightened school budgets, the counseling office and its professional staff have been asked to take a lion's share of cutbacks necessitated by dwindling resources. I am finding more offices without effective clerical support and with even greater case loads on counselors (some over 400 to 1), a situation that precludes effective personal involvement with individual students. The discontinuance of "homeroom activities" has shifted further burdens on the counseling office. Attendance duties and the distribution and collection of important messages to home are but two examples. Ironically, these additional burdens come at a time when I see a need to allow and encourage greater involvement for counselors in professional development which would include released time and financial support for attendance at local and national professional meetings. Finally, there is a need for a greater awareness on the part of many communities regarding the important place that a guidance counselor and a counseling office occupy in the overall operation of a high school.

EXECUTIVE VICE-PRESIDENT

The Society of the Alumni of the College of William and Mary invites applications for the position of Executive Vice-President. This person reports to the Board of Directors of the Society of the Alumni, an independent organization, and is responsible for directing the planning and administration of a comprehensive alumni affairs program including alumni publications, chapter programs, student career exploration, travel and merchandizing, and other activities. He/She serves as editor of the ALUMNI GAZETTE, a newspaper published 8 times annually and read by approximately 40,000 alumni.

A Bachelor's Degree is required. Applicants must have demonstrated capabilities and interests in alumni affairs or related areas, and possess strong management, organizational and interpersonal skills. Initiative, creativity, and the ability to communicate effectively with diverse constituencies including the business community, government, faculty, and college administration, and to organize and work with volunteers are also desirable traits for the position.

The salary is competitive and commensurate with experience and ability.

Closing date: January 15, 1983.

Effective date: As soon as possible, however no later than July 1, 1983.

Four Distinguished Board Members Retire

Garrett, Grant, Smith, And Wilde Complete Six Year Tenure

Four individuals with outstanding six-year terms retire from the Society Board of Directors this February: John H. Garrett Jr. '40, Denys Grant '58, Jane Spencer Smith '48, and Dr. Henry D. Wilde Jr. '53.

"All four have excelled in their professional and civic careers as well as in their exemplary service to both the Society and the College," said Dr. Marvin F. West '52, president of the Society.

John Garrett, better known as Jack, retired from a distinguished naval career in 1970, became an investment broker in Kilmarnock, and is currently Senior Vice President and Trust Officer of the Bank of Lancaster. Garrett's active association with William and Mary alumni reaches back through the years. He and his wife Ann '40 have been involved in organizing class reunions, in serving as Class Agents for the William and Mary Fund, and in helping to establish the Northern Neck Alumni Chapter. Three of their five children are also alumni.

Garrett's term on the Board began in 1976, as did that of the other three retiring members. He served as chairman of the College Relations Committee and as president of the Society from February, 1980 to February, 1982. During his term he was especially committed to the goal of extending the image of the Society outward. He dedicated his efforts to broadening the Society's relationships with students and faculty on campus and the alumni body at large.

Together with Denys Grant, he served as the Society's representative on a number of the College search committees. Garrett and Grant also worked on the automation of Society records. Their enthusiasm, their ability to research, and their professional backgrounds provided for the Society a level of expertise that would have been unaffordable from outside sources.

Denys Grant, currently the Director of Personnel Services for VEPCO in Richmond, has served as a member and now as chairman of the Henrico County School Board. In addition to his Society leadership as treasurer and president, Grant is past president of the Richmond Alumni Chapter and past president of the Richmond Athletic Foundation. His son Bruce is a member of the class of '84.

In serving as treasurer of the Society, Grant implemented a new fiscal reporting structure which responded to the new standards of accountability within the Society organization in general.

Jane Spencer Smith '48, formerly of Grosse Pointe Shores, Mich., who is now living in Richmond, has worked as a partner and store manager of "Mr. Tennis," a retail and mail order business for tennis buffs. Among her many community activities, her volunteer services for the Detroit Rehabilitation Institute distinguished her in 1976 as the top woman volunteer over a ten year period.

She and her husband Bill '44 spearheaded the 1979-80 William and Mary Fund drive ("Making the Eighties the Best Years Yet"), which culminated in a 40 percent increase in giving from the previous year's total. The two have teamed together a number of times to serve the College and the Society. They helped to found the Michigan/Northern Ohio Alumni Chapter and to establish the "Old Dominion Day" program in Detroit. They began and have since run the popular annual Tennis Tournament played Homecoming weekend. Three of their four children are William and Mary alumni also.

Henry Wilde, Jr. '53 of Houston, Tex., is an orthopedic surgeon of international reputation. He has served on the American Board of Orthopedic Surgeons and is a member of the teaching faculties at Baylor University School of Medicine and the University of Texas School of Medicine at Houston.

Wilde was a founding member of the Houston Alumni Chapter in 1972 and president for several years. In addition he helped to initiate the Old Dominion Day program in Houston (a program that gathers alumni from all Virginia schools for joint functions). Wilde served as vice-president of the Society in 1980. During his term on the Board he directed the extensive self-study of the Society. The purpose of the self-study was to project horizons for the future of the Society, to set new goals and guidelines, and to review existing Society practices in order to extend or revise them for continued validity.

"These individuals' extraordinary level of dedication and commitment to their responsibilities can scarcely be adequately recorded," said Dr. West. "The Society, indeed all William and Mary alumni, are in their debt for their loyalty and exemplary service."

Board Members Elected By Society

Bottoms, Cunningham, Nolan, Robinson, Join Board; Gamage Re-elected

The election of four new members to the Board of Directors of the Society of the Alumni and the reelection of one member were announced at Homecoming Weekend. Elected for the first time to the Board were Lesley Ward Bottoms '63 of Bronxville, N.Y.; H. Wescott Cunningham '43 of Gloucester Va.; Bernard J. Nolan '51 of Cincinnati, and S. Warne Robinson '37 of Williamsburg. Stewart H. Gamage '72 of Alexandria, Va., was elected to a second three-year term.

A counseling psychologist, Dr. Bottoms received her M. Ed. in counseling and her Ph.D. in counseling psychology from Georgia State University and is currently doing research in adult development while serving as an adjunct professor of psychology at Mercy College. She is also an adult development and career counseling consultant with the Foundation of Religion and Mental Health in Westchester County. Dr. Bottoms served as president of the Georgia Alumni Chapter for four years as well as a board member for four years, and has been active in the Alumni Admissions Network and in the William and Mary Fund as a class agent.

Cunningham retired recently as president of Pingry School in New Jersey where he had served for 10 years as headmaster while guiding a $13,500,000 fund-raising program. Prior to joining the Pingry School, Cunningham had been president of Christopher Newport College where he founded, built, staffed and brought the college to four-year accreditation. A former dean of admissions at William and Mary from 1953-60, he received the Alumni Medallion in 1973 and an honorary doctor of laws degree from Christopher Newport College in 1982.

Nolan has been associated with Procter & Gamble for 28 years and is currently a vice president, administering one of the major contribution programs in the nation. A founding member and only president of the Cincinnati Alumni Chapter, he has been involved in many national activities including service as chairman of the Contributions Council of the Conference Board, chairman of the Corporate Advisory Committee of United Way of America, and chairman of the corporate advisory committee of the United Negro Fund.

Robinson retired in 1980 as chairman of the board and chief executive officer of G. C. Murphy Company with which he had served since joining the company a statistical analysis specialist upon graduation. Murphy was elected treasurer in 1968 and chairman of the board in 1974. He continues as president of the G.C. Murphy Company Foundation and holds directorships with the company and foundation, as well as with a number of firms. He also serves on the Endowment Association of the College of William and Mary and is vice chairman of the Board of Sponsors of the School of Business Administration. He received the Alumni Medallion in 1979.

Gamage was appointed director of the Washington Liaison Office for the Commonwealth of Virginia in 1982 by Governor Charles S. Robb. Previously she had worked at the White House as deputy to the President's Advisor on Inflation, and served as a staff member of the Select Committee on Ethics on the U.S. House of Representatives, as well as an assistant to the Chairman of the House Committee on Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs. Gamage is currently a member of the College Relations Committee on the Board of Directors.

Mark H. McCormack: Promotional Genius

'51 Alumnus Handles The World's Superstars and Superearners

His name may not be a household word, as is the case with the superstars he represents, but Mark Hume McCormack '51 doesn't mind: that's his business, to manage other people's careers and keep them in the limelight.

McCormack does it so well that his Cleveland-based International Management Group now has 15 offices worldwide to handle the financial planning for some 400 clients, from Bjorn Borg to AT&T to the Vatican. IMG's blue ribbon corporate clientele includes Sears, Kodak Xerox and a host of others. IMG also owns the television rights to most of the world's biggest sports events, leading Sports Illustrated to call McCormack "the most powerful man in pro sport."

Although his interests are diverse, sports have been a consistent part of Mark McCormack's life—from playing on the College's golf team himself to representing many of the best athletes in the world. In fact, his career actually began on a golf course, when McCormack of William and Mary and later Yale Law School met competitor Arnold Palmer of Wake Forest.

IMG was born in 1959, when circumstances brought McCormack and Palmer together again. Palmer asked his lawyer friend to check some sporting-goods contracts he was about to sign, the beginning of an association that continues to this day.

As McCormack's reputation for insuring the fair treatment of his clients spread, more and more athletes asked him to intercede on their behalf. Top models, executives and authors are among the super-earners who have jumped on the McCormack bandwagon because of his skill as a financial planner and promotional genius.

But although his corporation produces the annual Nobel awards telecast, the "Challenge of the Sexes" for network TV, and even arranged Pope John Paul II's historic visit to Great Britain last spring, one project of McCormack's is a lot closer to his heart. Over the past five years, his contribution and encouragement to men's golf and women's tennis at the College have enabled both programs to make dramatic strides.

The statistics speak for themselves: William and Mary's men's golf team won the Virginia State Championship this year, and the women's tennis team, already tops in the state, placed second in the nation last season.

The soft spot he feels for the College brought him back at Homecoming, during which he received The Alumni Medallion, and brought back memories of favorite professors — Marcel Reboussin and the late Douglas Adair — and campus activities as varied as Backdrop Club, the International Relations Club, the Flat Hat and, significantly, working as sports editor of the Colonial Echo. But it was competitive golf on the college level that linked McCormack to his future: in one match, the William and Mary golfer met one from Wake Forest — his name was Arnold Palmer.

"I watched him hit a few golf balls, and it was pretty impressive," says McCormack of the young golfer he saw that day. "But I didn't know him well until some years later." It was in 1959, after McCormack had attended Yale Law School, that Palmer asked his lawyer friend to look over some contracts he was about to sign. That led to the one-man agency which would become IMG.

Some people argue that McCormack is the best at what he does, and a very powerful individual. While McCormack dismisses "powerful" as a "funny sort of adjective that has connotations to it that aren't necessarily positive," he does admit that the scope his conglomerate operates in in sports can probably cast a greater influence on sports than any other group could.

"I think we're certainly the biggest in the world by a long way in terms of sports television, in the sense that we sell the television rights to an awful lot of events: the NFL overseas rights, NCAA Basketball, all television rights around the world for Wimbledon and U.S. Open Tennis, for U.S. Open golf, and the British Open golf tournament, among others."

IMG's hold on producing sports television events, on sports management and corporate marketing and consulting (for companies interested in using sports to sell their products) is enormous. His experiences have given Mark McCormack an insight into selecting the right sports personality for the right offer.

"You can't make that determination, so you guess and try," McCormack says. "But you know, we represent John Madden, and we've just done a major deal with him for Atari — and of course, he's done the Miller commercials and things like that, and he's a very fine television commentator."

"But if somebody had told me a long time ago that he would be the ideal spokesman for these kinds of things, I wouldn't have guessed that. But it just sort of evolves. Some clients we have, Jackie Stewart, Jean-Claude Killy or people like that, deal so well with people that you want to get them involved with customer entertainment and things like that. There are other clients who have a great amount of talent at their profession who wouldn't do too well spending an afternoon with a lot of Ford dealers."

As much as he loves sports, McCormack is also justifiably proud of having the best model agency in London and a new one in New York that has already risen to fifth place among N.Y. agencies. He sees some parallels between the two, and says so.

"Models are as tough to deal with as athletes, because they also have a very temporal life in terms of short span at the top," he says. "And they're also dealing in subjective areas as well as objective, which is even tougher, trying to convince themselves that they are the best as opposed to saying 'I am the best, I won that, I won this.'"

There's also another similarity. "We decided to go in the New York agency with the same approach as William and Mary golf and tennis," McCormack says. "Rather than trying to bring in proven stars who were 25 or 26 years old and toward the end of their careers, we started with people who are going up — it's going to take longer, but it's starting to bear fruit!"

That sentiment is echoed by President Thomas Graves Jr. concerning women's tennis and men's golf at the College.

"The support he's given over the last five years has just lifted both programs up enormously in terms of our ability to compete, to attract outstanding individuals and generate pride, commitment and enthusiasm — to me, it's almost remarkable what has happened in the last five years due to the specific gift of this one individual," says Dr. Graves.

Men's golf coach Joseph S. Agee '52 is even more emphatic. "Mark McCormack's involvement has made the difference between day and night in what we can attain in golf." Mildred (Millie) B. West, director of women's athletics, adds this about the boost women's tennis received financially: "It came at a time when we were starting to give women's scholarships, the second year of the program. His gift gave us the basis from which to work and to attain some national stature in tennis."

Characteristically, McCormack speaks about the future, not about the past. "You've got to get people to upgrade the program, then you can get better people to go a little further, and pretty soon you can get the best people. He has asked several IMG associates to stay on the alert for promising young tennis and golf players who can also cut the academic mustard at the College.

"The advantage to William and Mary is that it is so good educationally that every now and then you find a good athlete who really wants to get a good education," Mark McCormack notes. "And if you can find one of those who also wants to live in a really enjoyable college environment, then I think you've really got it."

Lisa L. Heuvel '74

Mark H. McCormack '51, who was at William and Mary for Homecoming, took time from his busy schedule to visit with the women's tennis team and the men's golf team. With McCormack (center) are Tribe golfer Billy Musto, golf coach Joe Agee '52, All-American tennis player Marion Gengler, tennis coach Elizabeth Sharp, and women's athletic director Millie West. McCormack received The Alumni Medallion at Homecoming.

Peter Neufeld '58: Broadway's Hottest Producer

Alumnus Produces A Remarkable String Of Broadway Successes

Ask Peter Neufeld '58 how the theatre season's doing in New York and he'll tell you -- FINE, JUST FINE!

Ask how Peter Neufeld is doing and he'll tell you he's a happy man, a man happy with his lot -- and why not.

Neufeld is one of the executive producers of the hottest show in New York, "CATS," at the Winter Garden Theatre, and right across the street is the successful "Evita," which also lists his company of Gatchell & Neufeld, Ltd., as executive producer.

The New York Times is carrying an advertisement for "Upstairs," at O'Neal's on 43rd Street, a cabaret-style show written by Martin Charnin of "Annie" and produced by Peter Neufeld. Times reviewer John S. Wilson says the show has "vitality, individuality, and an energetic flow that keeps it bubbling brightly along."

Neufeld relishes his successes with great joy. He is someone possessed of a passionate love for his work and a keen awareness of its demands. The combination is bundled inside a restless, athletic frame. The unruly broad grin cannot be contained. He talks energetically. He's not watching the clock but there is an anticipation in the cadence of the conversation. He walks with a determined stride.

Henry Woolf, Exeter Exchange student at the College, 1955-56, writing in Althea Hunt's book "A Chronicle: The William and Mary Theatre," describes Neufeld as "bubbling with theatrical enthusiasm." His 1958 crew-cut has faded a bit but Neufeld hasn't changed much since he left Williamsburg. "I'm grateful for successful shows," he says. "They don't come along that often. I am happy with the credits. I cherish them; they are hard to come by."

"I think I have found a place in the theatre, working between the administrative and creative people. I get a great deal of satisfaction out of getting a show on the stage. I am very happy with my lot."

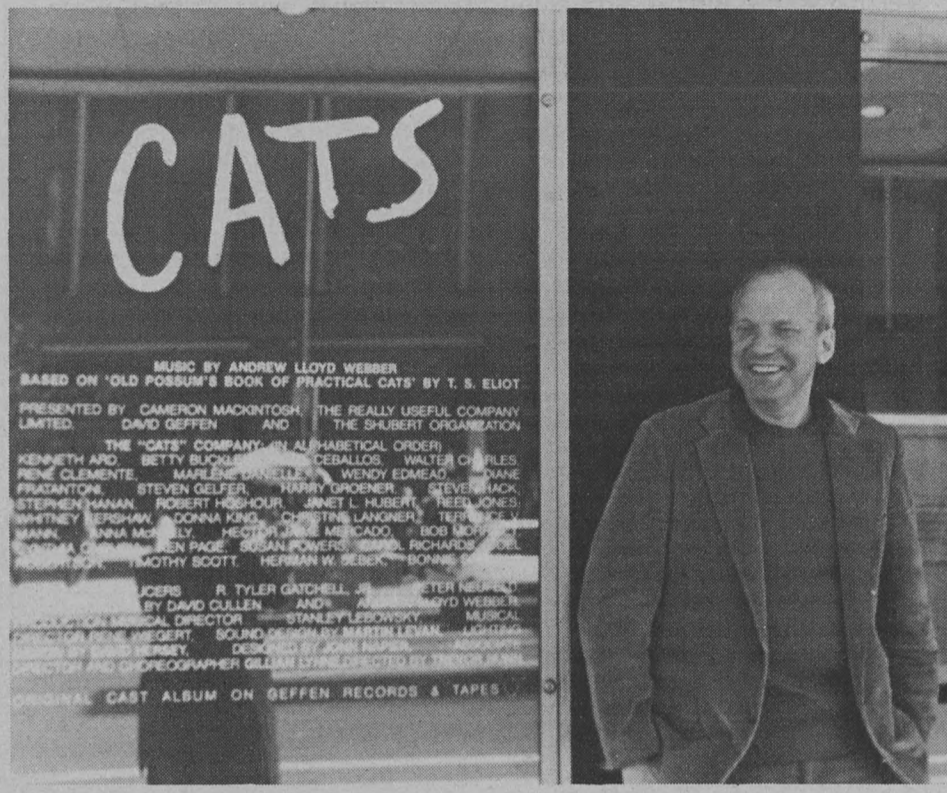

Neufeld likes being involved with several shows at the same time. He likens himself to the career soldier who is happy only when there's plenty of action.

"When I was in college I knew I was vulnerable to the particular attitude that people in the theatre are terribly special and privileged and there is something unique about them. I know now you need the constitution of a truck driver to be in theatre because it is a very demanding way of life. You have to be very resilient and I like to think I am."

As a general manager or executive producer (the titles don't mean much, he says; it's all the same job) Neufeld can be involved with a show for six months or even two years prior to going into rehearsal. He may be called in soon after the rights for a show have been bought, or, as has happened, during rehearsals, to give his effective brand of administration to the show.

His degree of involvement in the creative mode of the show differs with the staff.

"With a Hal Prince or Steven Sondheim, people with a long track record, you tread very lightly when you offer an opinion on a creative point," he explains. "With a producer or director who has less experience, you may find he is actually depending upon you to give him some advice . . . You end up their right hand man and you contribute what is needed, which can include anything from what to charge for the tickets to advise on which actor to engage for a role."

Broadway producer Peter Neufeld '58 stands by a billboard reflecting his latest success, CATS, which is one of the hottest shows to hit New York in years.

"When people want more input you give it and hopefully shut up when it is not needed. I pride myself in being very professional but there is always the temptation to say something more. I have to be careful."

"Sometimes when the urge is there I know it is time to gather some friends and go to some place like Joe Allen's on 46th street, get a little drunk and yell to the wall and be properly sober the next day to do what you are supposed to do."

Neufeld had been working in the theatre in an assistant management capacity for a number of Broadway shows when he and Tyler Gatchell formed a producing company in 1969.

"We were convinced no one would hire us," chuckles Neufeld. There are about eight or ten companies in New York City doing what Gatchell and Neufeld do, none with a more enviable track record.

Neufeld took over the management of "No No Nanette," which had had three managements in rehearsal, and to the surprise of everyone it became a big hit. In 1970 he was associate producer for "Jesus Christ Superstar."

After those, Neufeld spent the next five years doing about 24 different shows, none of which ran more than a few weeks.

"I produced a play entitled "Murder Among Friends" with Janet Leigh and Jack Cassidy. It ran three weeks and closed. Then nothing happened. I got an offer to manage the Los Angeles production of "A Chorus Line," and I did it while my partner stayed in New York and kept the office open. Over the five or six years he managed four national companies of "Annie" and was general manager of the New York production. He also worked Sonheim's "Sweeney Todd," with Angela Lansbury.

William and Mary cannot claim credit for Neufeld's attraction to the theatre although it was certainly nurtured at the College for four years. The love of theatre, he says "came out of left field."

When he was about eight years old, Neufeld went to a diction class for a speech impediment. The class was part of the dramatics department at the school. He liked what he saw.

"I was rotten at athletics and when you grow up in Brooklyn and you are not a good athlete you have to find some place to put your energy. I was very caught up in the theatre. . . I joined the Boy Scouts but quit because Boy Scouts go on hikes on Saturday afternoons and I wanted to go to the matinees."

His first acting part in a play came in summer stock when he was 14. He was a 75-year old butler in "The Philadelphia Story." The audience laughed when he appeared, said Neufeld. "I asked the director why people laughed at me and he said, "I'll explain it to you in about two years."

Neufeld didn't do much with dramatics in high school other than work in summer stock every summer but when he got to college he knew he wanted to major in theatre: "But I didn't realize how caught up I was going to be in it. I got another small part as a butler (this time the audience didn't laugh) and was not on stage for many minutes but you couldn't have dragged me away from rehearsals; I was there every night. I realized later, after the fact, that I missed a lot of value in my college experience but I was drawn like a magnet to the theatre and I didn't want to go away."

He had a small part in "Antigone" in 1955 but admits he did not have much success as an actor. "I'm glad I decided not to be one," he says "There aren't many parts for aging juveniles and that's what I would have been. I'm glad I don't have to rely on acting for an income."

As president of the Backdrop Club, 1957-57, Neufeld wasn't sure he was going to have a play to produce so he wrote his own, "Theatre Is No Lady," starring Linda Lavin, '59, of TV's "Alice." "Since they can't take my diploma back after all this time, I'll confess that while it was an original play, I drew on a lot of different plots and from various films and shows to come up with the play."

After graduation Neufeld worked summer stock in Stockbridge, Mass. When the summer was over he came back to New York and wondered what he was going to do with his life. He admits he pushed the panic button. He got a job that paid him $12 a week to lock up a theatre. Two weeks of that and he found a better job around the corner at another theatre which paid him $35 a week building sets for a production of "The Time of the Cuckoo." He stayed six months there and helped with three shows, ran the box office during the day, worked props at night and somewhere between midnight and five a.m. found time to sleep.

His first Broadway experience was as assistant manager for "A Time for Singing," which opened in Boston and closed in New York after five weeks. Then he was assistant manager for "Annie Get Your Gun," with Ethel Merman.

"I fell into the business end of theatre and I got lucky," says Neufeld.

His list of theatre credits is impressive. He worked on "The Investigation," "I Never Sang for My Father," "Here's Where I Belong," based on Steinbeck's "East of Eden," and "You Know I Can't Hear When the Water's Running," with Eddie Bracken.

Would he like to work in films? He has no desire, he says but quickly adds, "But no one has asked me."

"I like the give and take and the immediacy of the theatre. I think I would be very removed from the creative process in films, off in some building somewhere. Some people in the profession might challenge this opinion, but there is an openness in the theatre that I question exists in other professions. A young 17-year-old dancer in a Broadway show with a Michael Bennett or a Bob Fosse, can make a suggestion or comment, within bounds of course, without having to worry about losing her job because of a contrary opinion. I'm not sure that is true in films."

Going to the theatre, being with good friends and good books are the things Neufeld likes to do to relax. He keeps in touch with his Alma Mater as a resource person for the Placement Office's Alumni network.

He's looking forward to coming back for his 25th class reunion next year. He recalls a girlfriend once told him "you should only go back to a reunion if your life is in great shape and if you look great - otherwise you are too vulnerable." If 1983 is as good to Neufeld as 1982 has been, he'll be back.

New Recruiting Procedure Benefits Tribe Basketball

Earlier Letter Of Intent Helps William and Mary Grab Three Big Men

Basketball recruiting took on a new format this year, and it has been most beneficial to William and Mary.

The National Letter of Intent, the instrument that commits a recruit to a university, this season featured an early decision date, the week of Nov. 10-17, so the scholastic student-athletes could make up their minds, select a College and sign the letter of intent. Previously, the procedure took place in late winter.

Thus, with the turmoil and hassle of recruiting over early in the season, the high school player could concentrate in his senior year on basketball and studies. If no early decision was made in November, then the recruiting continued and the decision date would follow at the end of the season.

William and Mary's basketball staff was optimistic about the new time frame. "I wasn't certain of anything but I felt the early date would help us because we don't have the ability to stay with a recruit throughout his senior year," said coach Bruce Parkhill. Our ways and means prohibit it."

"On the other hand, our campus, the area, our players and our program are impressive. By recruiting on the merits of our situation here, the concept presented to a recruit is very real and very open," he added.

Because of that, Parkhill looked for the early date to be a plus.

And positive results have taken place for the William and Mary program.

The staff's top three recruits have all made an early decision to come to William and Mary and signed the early national letter of intent. They are 6'-10" Mark Boddy of Cleveland, Ohio; 6'-9" Bobby Dail of Alexandria, Va.; and 6'-7" David Bond of Richmond, Va.

"We have three outstanding recruits signed before the session begins," said Parkhill.

"Now, we can focus more on our own season and look towards next year's recruiting. It just frees us up to do so many other things."

A powerful and skilled athlete, Dail is described by his present coach Win Palmer at St. Stephens High School in Alexandria as "a super young man who is unquestionably the most highly recruited student-athlete we've ever had here."

Able to play either center or forward, Dail averaged 10 points and 10 rebounds a game his junior year and boosted his scoring average to 15 in a summer league.

"We are absolutely elated to have Bobby join us. He is a top prospect and to get him early gives us a tremendous start in our recruiting year," said Parkhill.

"He not only has good size, he has excellent athletic ability. He is mobile, has a fine shot, and knows the game," concluded Parkhill.

An agile 6-10, Boddy averaged well into the double figures in both scoring and rebounding and was his team's leading free throw shooter hitting over 75 percent from the line. He also averaged three blocked shots a game as a junior for his Orange High School team in Cleveland.

"Mark is an outstanding college prospect. His court sense, stamina and timing are his strengths," said his scholastic coach Bob Krainz.

The third recruit, David Bond, is presently at Fork Union Military Academy playing for Coach Fletcher Arritt's outstanding prep program.

A swing man, Bond had an illustrious scholastic career at J.R. Tucker where he averaged 23 points, 10 rebounds and five assists a game.

The highly-touted 18-year-old was selected to the All-Colonial District and All Central Region first teams last year. He was also named his district's Outstanding Player.

"David is considered one of the best players in Virginia," said Parkhill. "He is agile, smart and has tremendous desire."

"Excellent Shooting And Defense"

That's The Hope For William and Mary Women's Basketball Team

E.S.A.D.

No, those aren't the call-letters for some new cable television featuring women's sports; nor are they the acronym for some new women's athletic conference.

These letters formed the Tribe basketball team's pre-scrimmage cheer. They stand for "Excellent Shooting And Defense," two factors which the Indians hope to display throughout 1982-83.

Fifth-year head coach Barbara Wetters has some excellent shooters, particularly from the perimeter, among her ten returnees. In terms of defense, she is looking for improvement from everyone, including her three newcomers, in order to better last year's 11-17 finish and, hopefully, land William and Mary its first NCAA post-season berth.

When Wetters says everyone, she means the total roster. "We want full intensity for forty minutes from every person," she says. "We will depend upon consistency from the bench to maintain our intensity."

"It's one of the hardest spots (for a player) to be in," Wetters acknowledges, "but it's one of the most important."

As the team prepared for the November 19th-20th Tip-Off Tournament at Mount Saint Mary's (MD), a list of starters had emerged from the baker's dozen. Receiving the nod for the season-opener were veterans Vicki Lutz, Cheryl Yarbrough, Sandy DeSilvio, Janet Hanrahan and Betsy Becker.

Lutz and Yarbrough will fill the guard slots, with the 5-3 Lutz at the point position. The feisty junior, who averaged 5.0 points per game last year, starting 18 of 28 outings, has demonstrated aggressiveness both offensively and defensively during the preparatory period.

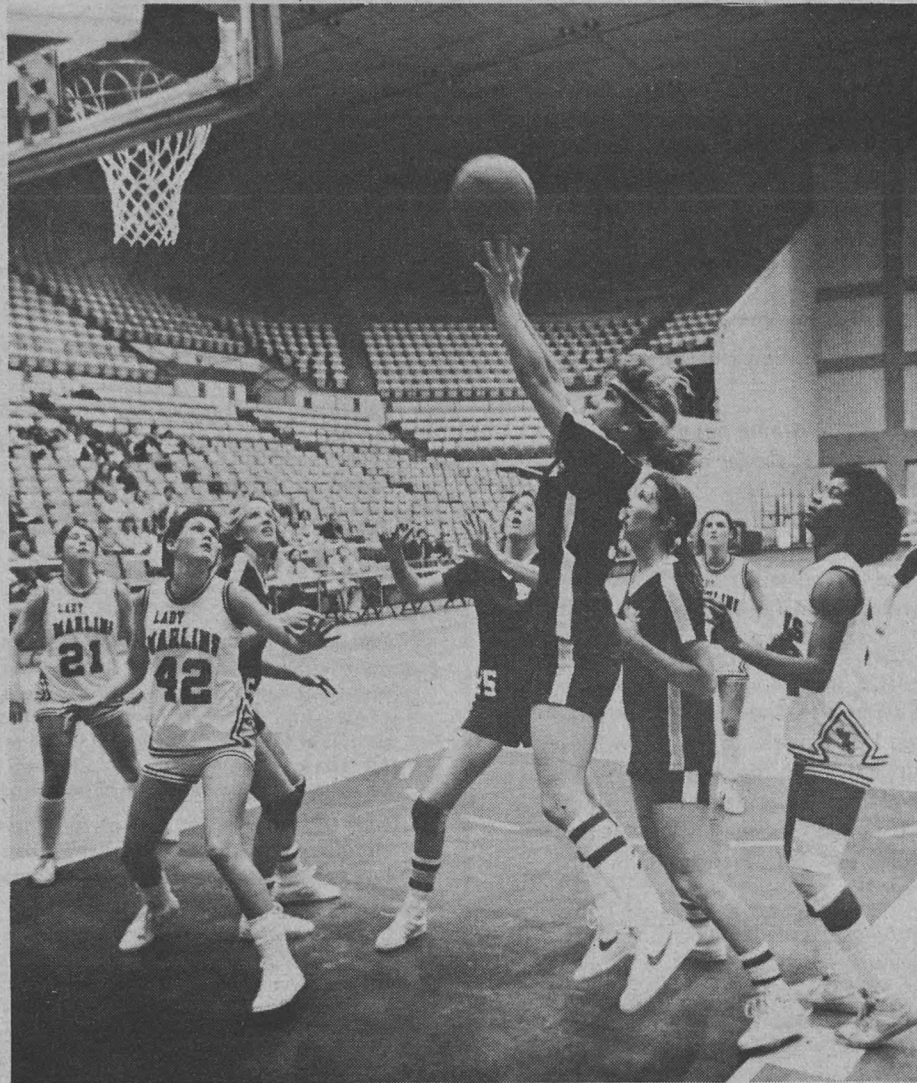

The 5-10 Yarbrough, now a senior and once again an All-Star candidate, will provide scoring punch. Last year, she averaged a team-high 11.8 points per game and led the squad in steals, while chalking up the second-highest rebounding mark with 5.6 per game.

Becker will bolster William and Mary's inside game from the center position. The 6-2 junior, who started only two times last season, has considerably improved her concentration and confidence, boosting her into the top five.

Hanrahan and DeSilvio, both juniors, will play forward, with the 5-9 DeSilvio at the wing. She shot consistently well during preseason. Hanrahan, at 5-11, is picking up where she left off last season. Third in rebounding in '81-82, with 129 total and 5.0 per game, she has the potential to lead the squad in that category this winter.

The Tribe will have considerable depth along the sideline to relieve the starting quintet. Support at guard will come from Karen Thorne, Bridget Kealey and Debbie Taylor. Thorne, a junior, is back for the second time and again from a successful hockey season; she and teammate Basia Deren were both named to the Mitchell and Ness Regional (South) All-Star team.

Thorne, at 5-7, is a "pure shooter," according to Wetters. As a late-season starter last year, she averaged 15.0 points per game and finished up with a 10.7 final mark. She led the con-

The Tribe's Karen Thorne scores with an outside shot against Virginia Wesleyan in William and Mary's first basketball game of the season. ference in free throw shooting percentage with 86.8 and was third in field goal percentage with 52.1.

Kealey, a 5-9 sophomore, is expected to contribute more with a year of college experience behind her. She averaged 3.0 points per game as a substitute in her rookie season. Taylor, a 5-6 freshman, comes to William and Mary from Massapequa (NY) High School, where her shooting and ball-handling skills were exhibited in 17.1 and 7.0 scoring and assist averages, respectively.

Alternating in the center spot will be Karen Klvac and Chris Turner. Turner is a 6-0 junior, while Klvac at 6-2 joins the team from West Morris Central High School in Hackettstown, NJ.

The Tribe will play a tough schedule this winter. The challenge begins immediately at the Mount Saint Mary's Tourney with William and Mary pitted against 1982 Division II state champion Richmond. The hosting Mountaineers were among the top three teams in NCAA Division II last year. The Indians were also slated for the Harvard Invitational (over Thanksgiving) and the Foxy Lady Tournament, one of the nation's premiere Division II events. Following the VAAW Championship March 4th-5th, the team hopes to enter its first NCAA playoffs.

"There are a lot of possibilities for us this year," says Wetters. "We are basically an independent team and that puts a little added pressure on each game."

Tribe Harriers Pace Fall Sports

Cross Country Team Paces 5th In East

The Tribe harriers completed the season with an impressive fifth-place finish (out of 11 division I teams) at the ECAC/EAAIAW Cross Country Championships, which were held at Holy Cross College in Worcester, Mass. Sophomore Val Roeder led the Indians, as she had all season, with an eighth-place time of 18:55.1, a personal best. With Alison Hawley, Maureen Hinnebusch, Margret Harned and Courtney French, the team's other top-scorers in '82, all expected to return, William and Mary should better their 3-5 record and fifth-place VIL finish.

FIELD HOCKEY

The improved Tribe stickers played to an even 9-9 ledger, placing second in the VIL at the season's end. Altogether, the competitive squad posted seven 2-1 decisions, which included wins over Ohio State and Purdue and losses to nationally-respected Ursinus (OT), Maryland, Virginia and James Madison. Senior Basia Deren, who set the William and Mary records for all-time scoring and most goals by a senior with 69 and 17, respectively, and Karen Thorne, who tied the William and Mary mark for most assists in a season, were both named to the Mitchell and Ness Regional All-Star Team. Although Deren and captain Sue Aldworth will be missed next season, the Tribe should return bright prospects with its solid experience.

GOLF

The Tribe golfers had what coach Ann T. Lambert described as a mediocre fall season, one which they definitely hope to improve on this spring. The team's highest finish was second (of five) at the James Madison Invitational in October. Sophomore Anne Bierman, a 1982 Division II All-American, was low-scorer for William and Mary in five of its six events. Her best round came on the second day of the last autumn tournament, the N.C. State Invitational, when she shot a one-under-par 72, which led the field. Back with Bierman at Troy State, the spring's first outing, February 25th-27th, will be seniors Mary Ellen Fedor and Wendy Rilling, sophomore Kathy Erdahl and freshmen Terri Carneal and Alison Seyler.

SOCCER

The Tribe booters had an excellent second season, racking up an 8-5-3 overall record and a third-place finish in the VIWSA state tournament. Senior captain Mary Swanson led the team in scoring with six goals and four assists, followed by freshman Betsy Burr with 5 goals and 2 assists. Starting goalkeeper, junior Mary Danz, posted an impressive 78.5 save percentage. Junior back Erin Sheehy was named to the All-State team, while junior sweeper Cindy Dantzscher made the All-Tournament team; Burr and Swanson, both strikers, received All-

Tourney Honorable Mention; and sophomore back Cathy Walsh made the All-East Conference squad.

TENNIS

The Tribe netters swept aside all state competition, losing only to the Ivy trio of Yale, Harvard and Princeton at the season's end, to wind up the fall with a winning 5-3 ledger. Junior Marion Gengler (11-9 singles overall) led the Tribe at first singles until the return of 1982 national champion Cherie Dow, who was injured at the season's start, senior Lisa Milligan, junior Karen Dudley, senior Chrissy Wells and freshman Mimi Roche completed the top six. Doubles duo Tracy Ruoff and Sarah Dobbin were 11-6 at Flight 2. The team will make its spring debut at the Virginia Classic, February 25th-27th.

VOLLEYBALL

The Tribe spikers tied up their '82 season sharing third-place with James Madison at the VIL Tournament. William and Mary was the only team to place two of its members on the All-Tournament roster; junior Elaine Carlson and freshman Jane Fanestil made the list. The Indians, who are losing co-captain Sandy Craig and Donna Hajost to graduation, posted a 21-25 record. After an 0-7 start, William and Mary polished off the regular schedule with a 6-match win streak.

NORTHERN ITALY, THE LAND OF PALLADIO

OCTOBER 6 to 15, 1983

NORTHERN ITALY, LAND OF PALLADIO Oct. 6-15, 1983
OPTIONAL EXTENSION, FLORENCE and MILAN Oct. 15-19, 1983
 Lake Como, Venice and Verona are included on this Palladian adventure into art, architecture, wine and cuisine Italian style. Florence and Milan are offered as an optional extension.

Private palazzos, Palladian villas and the lavish resort, Villa D'Este on Lake Como are combined with Renaissance Florence and sophisticated Milan as the tour travels by air, train and boat through Tuscany, Lombardy and the Veneto. Bienvenuto!

ITINERARY

Thursday, October 6 - Depart from JFK Airport, New York this evening via ALITALIA for Milan.

Friday, October 7 - Arrive Milan this morning. Enroute to Lake Como, a brief tour of Milan, the capital of Lombardy. Stop to see the majestic gothic Milan Cathedral with ornate, graceful spires. Visit Da Vinci's masterpiece, The Last Supper, in the refectory of the S. Maria della Grazie Church. Continue to Lake Como and the elegant VILLA D'ESTE HOTEL, a converted nobleman's villa. Balance of the day at leisure until cocktails tonight on the lakeside terrace and dinner following in the opulent Napoleon Suite in the hotel.

Saturday, October 8 - Morning departure by motorcoach for Lugano, a delightful resort which straddles both Switzerland and Italy. Visit Villa Favorita, the residence of Baron Thyssen-Bornemisza, to see his world-famous collection of paintings. Time to stroll through the small streets and browse the shops of Lugano before lunch at a lovely restaurant. Return to Lake Como to visit a private villa, where the gracious owner will show her exquisite family collection of fine decorative arts before cocktails in this beautiful setting. Evening at leisure.

Sunday, October 9 - Full day on the lake by chartered launch, visiting the privately owned neo-classic Villa Melzi, surrounded by acres of formal gardens. Lunch at a colorful inn on Comacina Island before visiting Villa Balbianello, an estate beautifully situated on the lake. Evening at leisure.

Monday, October 10 - Morning departure by deluxe motorcoach for Venice, driving along the excellent autostrada. Enroute, visit Vicenza, Palladio's town. Lunch at a private villa, with frescoes by Tiepolo. Afternoon, visit several examples of Palladio's work, including the outstanding Teatro Olimpico, a 15th century theater which is still in use. By special permission, visit La Rotonda (Villa Capra), Palladio's most famous villa and the prototype of Jefferson's Monticello. Late afternoon arrival in Venice. Transfer by private motorlaunch to the first-class HOTEL EUROPA AND REGINA. Dinner at the hotel.

Tuesday, October 11 - Morning visit to Ca Rezzonico, a dazzling 18th century palazzo on the Grand Canal. The interior is furnished in the period and our lecturer will provide details of the lifestyle of the Venetians of the 18th century. Continue to Torcello, a lagoon island. Visit the 11th century church of Santa Fosca. Lunch in the garden of the picturesque Locanda Cipriani. Return to Venice via the Grand Canal. Balance of the day at leisure with dinner included at the hotel.

Wednesday, October 12 - Morning departure for the Veneto to visit Villa Emo and Villa Barbaro, two of Palladio's more brilliant works. The villas are privately owned and have outstanding frescoes by Veronese and other Italian masters. Lunch today in the charming artists' village of Asolo where Eleanora Duse, Robert and Elizabeth Browning, and other artistic and literary personages lived. Return to Venice late afternoon. A special evening in an 18th century palazzo, where the owners will entertain for cocktails and dinner.

Thursday, October 13 - Morning visit to the Frari Church, noted for exquisite carvings and the altarpiece by Titian. Visit the Accademia and return to the hotel for lunch. Afternoon at leisure for shopping and browsing. This evening cocktails at the residence of the late Peggy Guggenheim, Palazzo Venier dei Leoni, to see her private collection of contemporary paintings and sculpture. Continue to the Teatro Fenice, the beautiful baroque opera house, for a performance.

Friday, October 14 - Depart Venice this morning for Verona, arriving midday at the HOTEL DUE TORRI in the center of Verona, within walking distance of the well-known Piazza del Erbe with its open-air market and shops. Afternoon visit the splendidly preserved Roman Arena, the gothic church of St. Anastasia, and the Castelo, a remarkable example of restoration which combines the architecture of an ancient fortress into a fine art museum. This evening, a very special invitation has been extended for cocktails and dinner at a 400 year old private villa furnished with fine antiques.

Saturday, October 15 - Morning departure from Verona for Malpensa Airport, Milan and return flight to New York via Alitalia.

Dear Fellow Classmates: What a glorious Homecoming was this our Fifty-seventh (57th) Class Reunion! Stuart and I arrived on schedule--dashed over to the "Big Tent" to register and to much of my delight--before we even could register--came a big "Helen"! Dot Campbell had spied us and there she stood open arms and her nice warm welcome. Not far behind came Red with his broad smile and warm welcome. What a special thrill it was to hear their voices and know they had made it! As you will recall they could not be with us last year, and as a result nothing seemed quite right without them.

Yes, I am confident you are all anxious to hear the names of those in attendance. They are as follows: Art and Mary Winder, Dot and Red Campbell, Pop and Nan Fuller, Vernon and Liz Nunn, Ed Islin, Tony Everett, William and Elizabeth Gravelly, Charlie and Betty Pollard, John and Louise St. George, and Helen and Stuart White.

This is the smallest attendance we have had in years, or maybe ever had. I do hope that "Olde Guard Day," which will be held on April 14, 1983, will find all of you there. Please mark your desk calendar now, and begin planning immediately. We missed those of you who could not be with us, and were happy to see those who could.

Back to Dot and Red. They both looked great and are going "strong." They left for Florida at the close of Homecoming. The reports on their family sounded healthy and happy.

Pop and Nan Fuller had just returned from a delightful trip to Charles Town, Greenbriar, Gatlinburg, Knoxville, and Charlotte.

Tony Everett writes, "Parties in Richmond, Norfolk, and Virginia Beach, and a long weekend at Nag's Head. . . all helped pass the long hot summer." He also shared his trip to Surry with friends, a trip he had never taken but always dreamed of, so his dream became a full realization, especially when he stopped at the quaint Surry House and there had a delicious lunch. His description really whet my appetite! Peanut soup, ham biscuits, and apple fritters, to mention a few of the items. I agree with you, Tony, luncheon at the Surry House is a real treat and hard to beat. After lunch he took the ferry across the beautiful old James River to Williamsburg and drove on to Yorktown, ending at his home in Norfolk. In his words, "It was a beautiful sunny day and the drive along Colonial Parkway made me realize how much beauty our Virginia has to offer. Even though we travel to the four corners of the earth, it's nice to be in Virginia." Yes, I quite agree, Tony. We are thrice blest to be able to say, "My Virginia, My Native State." In my book to travel between two such beautiful rivers, the James and the York, is a privilege. To view the gorgeous sunrises and the even more gorgeous sunsets is a breathtaking experience.

Tony closed with, "I am looking forward to our 57th reunion. It is always nice to see old friends and classmates."

It certainly is, Tony, and all of us were happy indeed to see you, and my thanks for this nice letter.

The Humanities

humanities on campus regularly encouraged and sustained by the Writer's Festival in the spring, the on-going productions of the William and Mary Theatre and such student productions as the Director's Workshop, the many faculty and student exhibitions, concerts, and recitals offered by the Fine Arts Department and the Music Department, the Concert Series, the many speakers sponsored by departments in the humanities, and the like.

It doesn't take long on campus to see how healthy the humanities are. Whatever the pressures for job and career oriented programs, there seems little chance our students will pass up the rich opportunities to study and experience the humanities at William and Mary.

House Notes

The Paschall Library has recently received from Leah James '26 copies of yearbooks, LITERARY MAGAZINES, and other memorabilia of the 1920's. Betty Craighead Stousland '42 forwarded copies of the ROYALIST dating from 1937 to 1942. Robert J. Kern '41 visited the Alumni House during Homecoming and donated a photograph of the 1941 William and Mary Symphony Band.

LOST AND FOUND during Homecoming weekend: a nylon parka, a wrist watch, a cosmetic bag, and a bracelet. These items are being held at the Alumni House.

Ed Islin and Betty and Charles Pollard shared a delightful cruise in the fall with other William and Mary alumni, as well as alumni from other colleges. I have not received a detailed account but what I heard the trip was a most pleasurable one which almost made me envious.

I have had no recent news from Frances Sanders Ennis, but the last report was that she was better and had been to a luncheon. Keep that pretty chin up, Honey, we are all pulling for you and we surely did miss you. Many inquired about you and we look forward to having you with us on April 14, 1983 to celebrate "Olde Guard Day."

Matthilda Crawford Whitehouse and Elizabeth Walmsley had planned to be with us, but Elizabeth was unable to make the trip. Needles to say we missed you both and many asked for you.

Vernon and Liz Nunn were in excellent spirits and, as always, I enjoyed seeing them. Vernon gave me the last count on our Class of '25 Memorial Fund, which had reached $17,537.88. A few minutes later he was handed a check for $100, bringing our total up to $17,637.88. Any of you wishing to add to our fund will find a warm "thank you" from Vernon.

Art and Mary Winder looked fine despite the fact that Art has been hospitalized recently.

John and Louise St. George look younger each year and as always were full of vim, vigor, and vitality. They are planning to be with us on April 14th and we are happy to know this.

Bill and Elizabeth Gravely chatted with most of us but like all of us it was hard to spend as much time with each other as we would have liked due to the large group of "Olde Guard."

Dr. Graves was very complimentary of "The Olde Guard" as he welcomed us and extended a most hospitable invitation to be his and Mrs. Graves' guests for breakfast on Saturday morning.

Marvin West, President of the Alumni Society, expressed his appreciation of our attendance and urged that we not fail to attend "Olde Guard Day."

Caroline Finocchio, president of the Senior Class, extended a very cordial welcome and gave a few chosen remarks.

"Volume II, Number 7" NEWS brought word that Zaide Eudora Green, '24, had honored one of our deceased classmates, Dr. A. Wigfall Green, her brother. She is establishing two $62,500 endowments to be known as "A. Wigfall Green Memorial Fund." One is restricted to the teaching of foreign languages, both modern and classical, and the other for the support of athletics.

I trust the Class of '24 will forgive me for stealing some of their thunder, but since the banquet did concern a deceased member of the Class of '25, I felt you would be happy to share it. Thanks.

As for Stuart and Helen, we are growing more and more in love with Amelia County. It is so beautiful, quiet and restful, and yet much goes on. Never a dull moment. Each day we make more new friends, all of whom have made us feel a part of the county. Needless to say, we still miss our Peninsula friends, and shall never cease to do so.

We have just returned from a lovely twelve day visit with a girlhood friend in Newport News. She really rolled out the "red carpet," and in like manner many friends entertained us, morning, noon, and night. The only problem was we needed more than twenty-four hours in the day. It was a real treat visiting our Hilton Christian Church (Church of Disciples), and being able to spend some time with the members of whom we are so very fond.

We attended the annual First Thanksgiving Festival which is held at Berkeley. The entire program was excellent. If you have never attended plan to do so next year. You will not want to miss it.

We have received an invitation to attend the dedication of Bell Hall at James Madison University on Saturday, November 13th, at which time Mr. Francis Bell, who served on the Board of Visitors at Madison at the same time as did I, will be honored. A reception will follow the dedication. We anticipate with pleasure sharing this memorable event with the Bells and the President of the University, Dr. Ronald E. Carrier.

Stuart and I attended the VMI-W&M game in September. My daughter sat with Stuart on the VMI side while her husband and I cheered lustily on our W&M side.

That's all, classmates, for this time, except to wish you a Thanksgiving Day filled with love and appreciation of all of your many blessings, and may Christmas bring Joy and Peace to your hearts. God Bless each of you and your families.

Roanoke, VA 24014

It seems something of a dream now as I write, but our 55th anniversary of graduation has come and gone, leaving happy memories of an occasion all too brief.

Sincerely, we missed those of you who could not make it. A common question was "Have you seen..." or "Why didn't...make it this year?"

I counted 13 names registered on the Olde Guard chart in the big tent and there may have been others who forgot to sign in. Definitely there were Anna Withers Rollings, Margaret Holman McCoy, Eleanor Calkins, Eulah Masey, "Spike" Smith, "Buzzy" Stewart, Lee Todd, Curtis Jenkins, Frank Hopkins, Fairfax Berkeley, "Joe Muscarelle, and Sarah Rhodes Warburton.

The Alumni Dinner on Friday night was notable for us because Joe Muscarelle, accompanied by wife, Margaret, became the sixth member of the class to receive the Alumni Medallion, a well-deserved honor, considering not only what they have done for our College but for numerous other institutions--colleges, hospitals, etc.

Personally, I was moved by Joe's gracious response when he gave all credit to God for his success and deemed it a privilege to return a portion to the service of mankind a most modest acceptance.

Together with Macon Sammons ('27 and '29) who accompanied me, I visited the Muscarelle Museum, now well under construction near Phi Beta Kappa Hall. Modernistic in conception, it is going to be a tremendous credit to the College. When it is dedicated later this year, I hope all of us can be there to reflect in Joe's pride.

Buzzy Stewart was a big help to me in assembling some of this information. He has written or called numerous classmates and together we received regrets from at least a dozen who had planned to come and then were prevented from doing so for one reason or another. Two, Ray Simmons and Cotton Rawls, were vacationing in the South. (more below).

Bill Morrow, who has helped run Mount Hermon School in Northfield, Mass. for over 50 years, wrote that he was "sorry, disappointed and mortified" that he couldn't get to Williamsburg because of unexpected school business. "My heart will be in Williamsburg," he wrote, "but my mind will be coping with guests here at school." He asked to be remembered to classmates and Buzzy delivered the greetings. Bill mentioned that he lives but a short distance from Cotton Rawls, whom he has not seen since graduation, but hinted that he hopes to remedy that.

Tom Yates, who almost never misses a reunion, was prevented this time by the untimely death of a sister in Suffolk. After getting down from Hagerstown, Md. to her funeral, he and Kitty, who had a heart attack several months back, were not up to driving back down College-way. Sorry, Tom, we missed your youthful presence and warm smile.

The most nostalgic response came from Isla Chambliss Elmore, who is confined to a wheelchair by a slowly healing broken ankle and severe arthritis at her home in Alberta, Va. She wrote: "I shall always treasure that 50th reunion. There are many happy memories of old Williamsburg. I went back from time to time to marvel at the restoration. I was there when John D. Rockefeller, Jr. paid his first visit. I was there when the first shovel of dirt was lifted. I walked around the foundations of the Governor's Palace. I remember when Jack Chalkley hit a home-run and his little dog barked himself to death. I was there when Miss Bessie Porter Taylor gave us a hard time before the West Point cadets from Fort Eustis could take us out on a date. I pray I'll be able to attend another Olde Guard meeting and we can recall those 'good old days.'" She was, she concluded, with us in spirit if not in body" at Homecoming. Thanks, Isla.

Others who sent regrets either to Buzzy or me included Art Matsu, Roy Powell (Joe Muscarelle's roommate) Dave Hillegas, Bob Corstaphney, F. O. and Patty Hunter, Bobby Meyer Lindsay, Eugenia Portlock Joyce, Fairfax Griffith Bahr and Maxwell Brockenbrough Houghland.

Fax and Max live in Williamsburg now and illness prevented both from being with us but I had the joy of talking with both on the telephone. Fax only recently left the hospital. Max has health problems in her family. Better luck next year, girls -- maybe in the spring at Olde Guard time!

You should have witnessed the Homecoming parade! You would have seen two of us quite easily. As past presidents of the wonderful Order of the White Jacket, observing its 10th anniversary, Lee Todd and I, together with Walter Zable, '37 and incumbent president, Howard Smith, '43, rode the OWJ float, which featured two cute coed waitresses, serving roasted bear, (the Brown U) mascot, at a "festive banquet." Judging by the applause along the way, the float, if not the riders, was quite popular. I should mention that John Davenport '50, and Howard Smith did all the work on the float.

There are so many events scheduled at Homecoming that it is difficult to get to all. One I especially regret missing this year was the Sunset Ceremony behind old Wren in honor of departed classmates. This was especially poignant because, as you noted in the November Gazette, Lillian Easley Dowler, '27, died in Atlanta on September 24. Lil was a great gal, a wonderful dancer and beautiful to look at.

The Olde Guard Hospitality Suite was an added (and needed) gesture this year, a bit out of the way, but well attended.

Sat to relate, Lee Todd and I, last of the '27b golfers, finally had to give up the alumni tournament. Our tennis buffs quit long ago. When we pass 39, things start happening to our physical attributes! Lee's wife, Daisy, drove him down from Quinwood, W.Va., and as two old Newport News boys, we managed to pal around to most functions. Their daughter, Jane, and family were on hand as usual.

By the way, Lee still needs a young physician to come in and share his practice in that rural area not too far from Greenbrier. There's a clinic and everything needed but help. Fortunately, Lee is coming back well from his stroke and his sense of humor remains unparalleled.

Frank B. Snyder, now a retired C.P.A. (Towne House Apts. No. 1418, Harrisburg, Pa. 17102) writes that the news is mostly about his children. Son E. Charles, a CPA graduate of Penn State, works in London for Occidental Petroleum. Son Robert A. also a CPA and Penn State graduate, works for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Daughter Joanne S. Adler, '57, has her own real estate business in Philadelphia. Good going, Frank!

Lenoard Born, our chief get-abouter, was over in the real Vienna in September, then reached home in San Francisco in time for the meeting of Harvard Business School alumni. Before that, in Mexico again. That green you see is not from the College colors but pure envy!

E. Cotton Rawls, our partially retired surgeon from Stamford, Conn., moved his vacationing with wife, Jean, from New Hampshire to Blowing Rock, N.C., in October.

Ray Simmons again prefers Florida to his Baltimore for the colder months. More shades of green!

Fairfax Griffith Bahr, sadly records the passing earlier this year of Lewellyn Baker Bros, a fellow Theta, as well as the terrible loss by drowning in Hawaii of Virginia Floyd Bierne '28 two girls greatly beloved by us all.

Near the end of June came one of the most welcome letters received in a long time, from Ed Wilshin (151 Versailles Circle, Baltimore, MD. 21204) celebrating the fact that he was alive after an emergency (ruptured appendix) operation followed by pneumonia. He had just returned home from the spring Olde Guard gathering and had it tough-and-go for a while. His and Blanche's son David, with family, visited at the Irvington home in July right after son Dan came for Father's Day. Glad you made it, Ed! We'll all try to join you in making the "octogenarian list" three or four years hence.

Well, dear classmates, that's all until along about February and if you want to read more please sit down and write NOW. Don't wait until after the holidays--you'll be too full of turkey.

A Blessed and Merry Christmas to you, followed by another Happy New Year!

Following is a list of those classmates of 1929 who registered for the 1982 Homecoming and, of course, there were others present who failed to register and took part in all of the events held: Dot Lamberth, Elizabeth J. Hines, Polly Hines Brown, E. Raymond Lewis and Lelia, Mary Catherine Bridges, E. Armstrong Smith, Richard and Katherine Mann, Joseph N. James, Ernestine Renn Boyce, Agnes Brittingham Willard, Gordon Campbell, and Macon Sammons.

This Homecoming was probably the largest ever held, it seems to get larger every year. There were many events held and thanks to those in charge everything went off on schedule. It was my pleasure to take part in the 5th annual Sandy Kelly Alumni Tennis Tournament for alumni and spouses and it was enjoyed to the fullest. This event took place at 10:00 a.m. Friday, November 5th. The next event we took part in was the 5th annual Olde Guard luncheon--class picture at 12:00 noon in the Campus Center Ballroom. This was a gala occasion and was very much enjoyed. The big affair of our Homecoming was the Alumni Banquet at 7:45 p.m. Friday in the William and Mary Hall where the following events took place: Presentation of the Alumni Medallions, Breakfast and, for the more energetic, the Alumni Jog down the Duke of Gloucester Street. Following the Homecoming Parade and Luncheon on the Lawn, they attended the football game, which the Tribe dominated before a sellout crowd until the final 59 seconds of play when Brown pushed over the winning touchdown.

At halftime, President Graves and Dr. Marvin F. West '52, president of the Society of the Alumni, crowned Mary Lloyd Sinnott, a senior from

Postgame parties and various reunion dinners and a dance in Blow Gym on Saturday afternoon and evening took much of the bite out of the Brown loss, and on Sunday morning alumni concluded their activities with class reunion continental breakfasts.

The Society of the Alumni joined with the men's varsity swim team in sponsoring the first annual Green and Gold Swim meet for returning alumni members of the swim team.

The Class of '57, celebrating its 25th reunion, won third place in the Open Division of the Homecoming Parade. Leading the float were members of the 1957 cheerleading squad: William Armbruster, Fay Jones Burke, Alice Mathews Erickson, and Jane Hutton Hurst.

Leading the Homecoming Parade along the Duke of Gloucester Street was a banner "bearing" the Parade theme "Bear Season."

The Tri Delt float depicted the "Bear Necessities" with freshman Debbie Perry and friend.

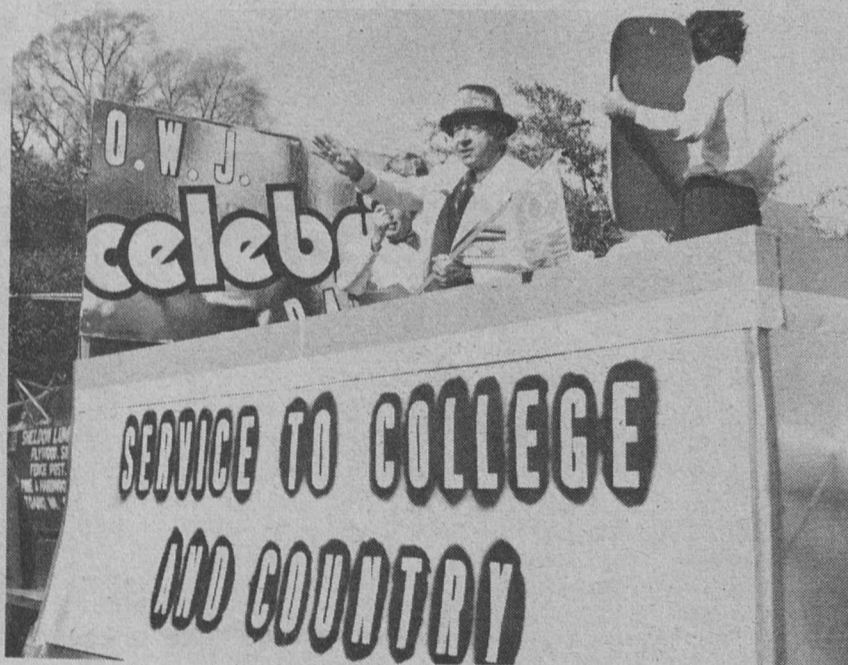

Kappa Sigma entered the winning float in the Fraternity Division with the theme "Mow Down the Bears."

KAI Independent Social organization won first place in the Open Division and the Lambert Cup for the best overall entry in the parade.

Although the Tribe led for most of the football game (above), Brown scored the winning touchdown in the final minute of play to win 23-22. At right, Dr. Carl "Pappy" Fehr, retired director of the William and Mary Choir, led the singing of the Alma Mater at the Homecoming Banquet. Below, the Alumni-Student Liaison Committee, including Brad Duncan '83 and O.T. Trumbo '85, host a luncheon for members of the Olde Guardie on Friday afternoon in the Campus Center.

Howard Smith '43, president of the Order of the White Jacket, rode atop the OWJ float, one of 19 in the Open Division and the first float that OWJ has entered in a Homecoming Parade.

The winning float in the Sorority Division was entered by Phi Mu with the theme "Smokey the Bear says: Stomp their butts, and kick their ashes."

On behalf of the Board of Directors, Dr. West with President Graves welcomed Carl Roseberg, professor emeritus of fine arts, into the Society of the Alumni as an associate member.

Dr. West (left) and President Graves joined for a group photo at the Homecoming banquet with Alumni Medallion recipients Dr. Edward E. Brickell '50, Dr. George D. Sands '39, Jeanne Sheridan Kinnamon '39, Chester F. Giermak '50, Joseph L. Muscarelle '27, and Mark H. McCormack '51.

Over 2000 members of the classes of 1977 through 1982 attended the Young Guardie Keg Party hosted by the Society of the Alumni following the football game.

annual business meeting, announcement of Outstanding Chapter, announcement of Alumni Faculty Fellowships, announcement of Alumni Board elections, and remarks by President Graves.

On Saturday everyone enjoyed the Homecoming Parade at 10:00 a.m. on Duke of Gloucester Street. For the first time the parade was reversed, forming at the Capitol and marching toward the College where it disbanded. At 11:00 a.m. we had our wonderful Luncheon-on-the-Lawn at the Alumni House. Many class pictures were taken after this event. Next in order at 1:30 p.m. was the football game--William and Mary vs. Brown University, an Ivy League school of Providence, R.I. It was a fine game with the stadium full, but as hard as William and Mary played we were defeated just before the end of the game by a score of 23 to 22. After attending a wonderful Homecoming at William and Mary, we left for our homes Sunday morning.

From Eva (Mrs. William A.) Trombly, of 200 East End Avenue, New York, NY, 10028, we received a long letter about many events. She is now matriculated in the doctorate program at Columbia University. She earned her master's in 1981 and is an Adjunct Professor at several colleges in this area. For over 20 years she attended the couture showings in Rome, Paris, and London, while her husband, Bill, contacted his international accounts for insurance companies he represented. He passed away due to a sudden heart attack in 1974. Since then she has made European trips to these and the Pret-a-Porter (ready-to-wear) showings alone, vacationing in the Greek Isles, China, and Japan in other years. Before retiring from her school, she was awarded membership in the Academy of Women Achievers for "outstanding accomplishment... and the example she sets for women of the future." She is active on the New York Panhellenic Board of Governors and is a past president ("We grant two scholarships to women in this area who are doing graduate work.") Her other activities include membership on the executive committee of Kappa Kappa Gamma's alumni chapter there. They have many Kappas who would like to be active in the William and Mary alumni group in New York, but all complain they receive no notice of meetings there on any regular basis. Other interests are The Fashion Group and Advertising Women of New York; St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church (now in the midst of the "Holy War on Park Avenue" that is waged to sell its air rights for an office building that would incorporate the Community Building accommodations on part of church land--a group of members are against this move).

She recruited for her school at William and Mary for many years and wishes Dr. Quittmeyer the best at his retirement as Chairman of the School of Business Administration. He was of great help to her and is highly respected by personnel executives of New York retailers and other business and education leaders.

From Julia Gladys Prause Strickler, of 5205 Court House Road, Fredericksburg, VA 22401, the following note: "My 3rd daughter and I joined my oldest daughter and family vacationing on island of Thera (Santorini), Greece. They were enroute from home in Tokyo to home at Lake Jackson, Texas, since her husband's work for Dow Chemical in Japan was complete. Thera had been the site of world's worst volcanic eruption about 1200 B.C. and also several earthquakes since."

From Edith H. Clarke Shackman, P. O. Box 1047, Lake Wales, Florida, 33853: Lake Wales Citizen of the Year 1982, Mgr. Episcopal Church Thrift Shop, Director Volunteer Service at Lake Wales Hospital, 17,000 hours since 1964.

On my last business trip to Richmond in September, I had the pleasure of talking to our class president, Ed Justis, who has not been well of late and his wife, Bea, has not been well a period of several years. We hope both of them will show great improvement in the immediate future.

Our next class deadline is February 24, 1983, for the April issue of the ALUMNI GAZETTE. Please let those letters "roll in" and tell us what you are doing. All of our classmates want to hear from you.

P. S. I am very pleased to report that I have not missed a single Homecoming at William and Mary since my graduation in 1929, except for the war years when I served in the U.S. Navy Armed Guard, aboard supply ships in Atlantic and Mediterranean waters and later with the Navy Port Director in the 5th Naval District, Norfolk.

Another wonderful Homecoming has passed, and we missed seeing many of you there. Those of us who enjoyed it were: Bart Burgwyn, Margaret Diggs Bunting, Liz Griffin Conkling, Loula Connelly, Ken Graham, Elizabeth Erwin Higbee, Ellen Ticer King, Agnes Winn Paschall, Dot Reese Smith, Leigh Trotter, and myself.

Ken Graham is president of the Thomas Nelson Junior Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution in Newport News. He has spent 3 years working on a Valley Forge monument in memory of the ones who spent the winter of 1777-78 with Washington at Valley Forge.

Ellen Ticer King was chairman of arrangements for the Olde Guard Hospitality Suite at Homecoming. Forty-four people subscribed to it. Ellen is to be congratulated on making this a success.

Tunis Pettus Carter sends word that he was in Georgetown University Hospital for 6 weeks undergoing Radiation Treatments for lung cancer, now in remission. He is at home at 1407 Allison Street, N.W., Washington, D.C., 20011, and is feeling much better.

Herbert G. Stewart has written his eighth cantata, "Man-kind are the Children of God," to be presented on December 12 at 11 a.m. at West End United Methodist Church, Portsmouth, Va. Herbie is a writing member of the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers (ASCAP) and is minister of music of the church.

The Order of the White Jacket, Inc. enjoyed its annual banquet November 4 when it celebrated its 10th birthday. Members of OWJ from the Class of 1931 are: Edward G. Ballard, Joseph B. Bennett, Jr., Col. Everett L. Butler, Calvin Johnson Charnock, Emerson Gillenwater, J. Kenneth Graham, Mitchell Mozeleski, Harry C. Paxson, Jr., Elliott G. Ricketson, Edwin C. Thomas, and Leigh R. Trotter.

Elizabeth and Charlie Higbee and I left Williamsburg on Sunday, November 7, and returned by way of White Stone, Irvington, and Kilmarnock on Route 3 to U.S. 301, which was new territory for us. We hope to spend more time in that area. We arrived in Dover Monday afternoon and the Higbees continued to Philadelphia.

Please send class news to me for the April issue before February 20, 1983.

Merry Christmas to the Class of 1933!

Have all of you gotten your second letter sent out from Carlton Casey in October about our 50th class reunion on May 14th and 15th, 1983? I hope that you have read it very carefully. Did you notice the sketch at the bottom of the page? The building at the left is the architect's drawing of the proposed Alumni House Conference Facility. Let's all have a part in seeing that this sorely needed structure may soon be a reality. Our class gifts, great or small, are gratefully accepted. Send in yours outright or as a memorial.

Your Colonial Re-Echo biographical forms are needed, too, if you haven't sent yours in. As Carlton said, they must be tabulated, so send them to the Alumni Office.

Are you contacting former college classmates to encourage them to come and join you in Williamsburg in May? Send them a card, phone or visit them. I'm sending cards to many I want to see again, too.

We are sorry to hear that Jeanne Rose of Arlington, VA, lost her mother in August, who had lived with her, and was 103 years old. But I'm glad that Jeanne was able to visit her cousin, who lives in Zurich, Switzerland, in October. Jeanne is an active person, and a dedicated alumna of the College.

By the grapevine, through Ann Weaver Naylor '36, of Southern Pines, NC, who sent me Janet Simes Tribble's letter to her, I learned that Janet keeps busy with her tennis and golf, plus helping her deceased sister's family. Janet lives in Long Island and I do hope she will get to Williamsburg in May.

Colin Vince, of Newport News, says that now that he has retired he seems to have little time for taking long trips as his yard keeps him busy, but he hopes to see old friends at our 50th reunion.

Many thanks to Mary Simon Blevins '45, of Pulaski, VA, for taking time to write about a "missing" or I should say unlocated alumna, Ella Ruth Cunningham, of Athens, WVA, who attended the College of William and Mary a very short time and went to another college. No matter how long you were a student at William and Mary, you are welcome to attend the 50th class reunion. Do come back.

I had a note from Howard Smith '43, of Williamsburg, who is president of the Order of the White Jacket, Inc., thanking me for putting in news of the group. Truly, this organization's work has greatly impressed me. Those of you who are eligible should join if you are not already a member.

I'm sure all of you join me in saying that we will miss Gordon Vliet, Executive Vice President of the Alumni Association, who is resigning. Under his years of service to the organization, with his guidance, many new services and programs have been innovated. Good luck to Gordon!

For those who are beginning to plan for May of 1983, the Alumni Office will furnish a shuttle bus from the motel to all events, including visits to the Alumni House. This will be a boon to all, as parking is always a problem.

Let me hear from you so that I may share your news with our classmates in the April issue of the Alumni Gazette.

We have obtained information on 66 previously unlocated class members. Alas, 176 still remain unlocated! Have you failed to send or withheld any information concerning those listed in previous class notes? We await word from you concerning them and any of the following, whose last known location is given. This is the last list of the unlocated for our class notes.

In Connecticut were Harold Bernstein (New London), John F. Greene (Norwich) and Irving L. Margolis (Hartford). In Massachusetts were Geraldine Andrews,

Frederick Brodney and John T. Brookhouse (Brookline), Harry Babian (Lynn), Bernard W. Greenblatt (Chelsea), Eunice R. Hall (Lowell), William P. Holden (Malden), Morris Newman (Boston), Martha F. Smith (Dorchester), Gilbert Soule (Reading) and Russell P. Towend (Fitchburg).

New York state listings included: Catherine F. Cole, Rose Levinson, Louis Wintner and Theodora E. Zeigler (New York City); Robert E. Goetting, Simon Josephson, Henry N. Minskoff, and Patricia O'Connor (Brooklyn); A. Francis Lambe (Albany), Stanley E. Nolan (Yonkers), Norman A. Turnbull (Elmira) and Helen Xanthaky Van Thalen (Long Beach). New Jersey residents were: William J. Ash (Weehawken), Joseph A. Bukovics (Trenton), Joseph Burns and Ruth Griffin (West Orange); Leo Dorison and Raphael Grossman (Jersey City), Ralph Feldman and Francis Troy (Newark), Elizabeth Lucas (Boonton) and William Moffett (Camden). Four had Pennsylvania addresses: Eugene Fred Berkman (Monaco), Forte Dick Cleaves (Oil City), Ruth Skelley (Media) and Margaret Unger Cundey (Fort Washington). Leon W. Syfrit, Jr. was in Wilmington, Delaware and Jane Bogeley in Friendship Heights, Maryland.

Living in Ohio were Mabel C. Gillmett (Cleveland) and Glenn F. Osborne (Warren); in Indiana, Jane M. Stotsenburg (New Albany); in Illinois, Julia Ann Fippen Berlet and Kenneth C. McKeown (Hubbard Woods); in Michigan, Margaret Otis (Detroit) and George G. Williams (Birmingham); and in Oklahoma, Quida Jackson (Ringland). George B. Gold was listed in Quebec, and Virginia Holland Buck in the Philippines.

Editor's Note: Members of the Class of '33 who registered at Homecoming '82 were: Lota Spence Reid, Johnny Reid, Carlton J. Casey, Lefty Carter White, Osborne Christensen, Betty Chambers George, and Louise Adams Walls.

Nostalgia Plus! Did you in your memory bow to Lord Botetourt? The September Gazette had a long article about the tradition. Remember along with me those hateful upperclassmen who lurked in many places to catch the green freshmen breaking a rule. Those brick walks in front of Wren Building were a must so that we had to pass Sir Botetourt. His honor now is inside on the ground floor of the library. Go by and see him, your conscience will hurt if you don't curtsy or salute! The 1935 girl's hat in the picture on page 3 was none other than Betty Johnson Mathers'.

Remembering is one of the fun assets of the job of reporting. The Alumni House sent an article about Amelia Earhart. Do you recall her speaking to the student body in the old Phi Beta Kappa Hall? She was tall, auburn-haired, slim, and wore a white crepe dress made shirtwaiste style. The skirt was pleated and the outfit topped off with a wide gold belt. Again, the Home Ec girls made the refreshments and I was lucky enough to serve her plate. No nobility could have impressed me more.

Thank you wonderful classmates who have written and especially those who have, as requested, sent name and address corrections. Louise Morris Swartz loaned me the 1935 annual and I have been looking and remembering ever since.

Julia Cuthbert Pollard has been deceased for some years now, but she certainly made a name for herself as a teacher and historian. Strange as it may seem, Virginia teachers, until Julia wrote an accepted text, had no Virginia History per se.

It is with a sad note that we must add Gregory Lagakos, Charles E. Hatch, Jr., and Frank Manning to our list of deceased classmates.

Betty Johnson Mathers and I had a great afternoon together and have come up with a list of marriages in our class, either to a '35er or later: Barry Roberts - Midge Parmalee; Ann Renforth - Charlie Shade; Hazel Johnson - Mason Sizemore; Marguerite Stribling - Tom Vermillion; Mary Painter (deceased) - Mike Ciffelli; Pauline Stanley - Cameron Ogden; June Smith - John Hillier; Betty Johnson - James A. L. Mathers; Eleanor Hooker '36 - Ed Boisseau; Ann Nenzel - J. Wilfred Lambert; Marianne Norris - Merrill W. Brown '36 BCL; Dorothy Prince - Barney Olfield '36. I feel sure there are more, remind me!

In September I was invited to the dedication of the Smithfield Home in Smithfield, Virginia. Our former governor, Mills E. Godwin '35, was the keynote speaker and William and Mary alumni were well represented. Though it had been years since I saw some of them, it was a wonderful afternoon. Kenneth M. Ogren '75, administrator for Patrick Henry Hospital in Newport News, and his wife Pat Thomas '63, were present to direct the plans for the afternoon.

I should have become proficient in typing for a long letter came typed from Leona Yoder Sangster. Yes, bless her heart, she had answered the clarion call for help in finding our classmates "in hiding." She wrote that Phyllis Opper Bentley graduated from Wellesley in 1935 after attending our college one year. I am sending Leona's summer address (Vermont) and winter one (Sun City, Florida) to the Alumni Office for correction. Leona with her husband George are guides for Presley Tours, Inc., and have been tour escorts for seventeen seasons. They celebrated their forty-fifth wedding anniversary this year by taking a Caribbean cruise on the Song of Norway. They have three offspring (one son a doctor in Flagstaff, AZ), and nine grandchildren.

"Pappy" Pappendreau wrote he is out "traipsing" about. I am wondering if he has left any place to visit now. Wonder why he found the Scandinavian girls "gorgeous blondes with ice-blue eyes" . . . if anyone hears why, let me know!

Pauline Stanley Ogden and Cameron will be among those at Homecoming. Pauline writes that she and Loona Yoder Sangster were "roomies" and their suitemates were Kitty Ferguson Dichover (deceased) and Doris Van Dien Davis '36. The four of us had glorious years and I am happy to send Pauline their addresses. See! what appealing for classmates to write will do?

Cam Ogden had better luck in keeping in touch with his rommates. In the Phi Tau House he roomed with Jack Hillier and Charles Fuller. He writes, "We have kept in touch through the years and enjoy infrequent visits."

A long lost Home Ec friend, Agnes De Buck Ingrams, wrote from her home in Mt. Gilead, NC. How happy I was to hear from her. Our classmates never seem to amaze me at their avocations. Agnes wrote she does oil paintings (with ribbons, no less), as well as china painting. To think they closed the Home Ec department with so much talent! Agnes and her husband are collectors and go hither and yon not only collecting, but visiting their three children and five grandchildren. Their children are married, two are Lt. Colonels in the Army, so this past summer was the first time in ten years they were all together. I am sure her Home Ec training was put to good use.

Louise Morris Swartz and I went to Williamsburg in mid-October to have lunch with our Professor Alma Wilkin. She never changes and was going to Europe for several weeks. She has the keenest sense of humor, which we failed to appreciate when we lived in the Practice House. I can tell this for it wasn't I who was asked to get up (late at night) and come down to dust as they had been assigned. Miss Wilkin told us about the closing of the department, and if you wish to know, write me.

Bless Elise Barnes Hardy for taking the time to check lost classmates in the Alexandria area. These people are such a help, not because we are being nosey about classmates, but I can't imagine anything more degrading than to receive mail from the Alumni Association without the correct address.

Margaret Edgar Knight wrote from Chesapeake, Virginia, that she enjoys the news of the Class of '35.

Parker Buck, Tenafly, NJ, retired in 1978, and is now Master of Tanakill Lodge No. 266. He and his wife have five grandchildren. For the 75th reunion, we should have a family-in-gathering, for we could fill all the hotels in Williamsburg!

Frances Cosby Nettles says she is enjoying retirement and still has her duc cap. Remember we want you to send to me or the Alumni House memorabilia so that our 50th scrapbook will be full to overflowing.

Mary Allen Moser moved from Southern California in March '82 to the Seattle area, Bathell, WA. Mary didn't write why she moved, but writes "plays lots of golf!"

Andrew (Andy) Amatrua wrote such an interesting profile of himself. He is semi-retired, "getting older, wiser, and less talkative." You men who knew Andy will remember that this is a true confession. His two children are a son, an Associate Professor of Medicine at Rochester, and a daughter, who is married to a cardiologist. With grandchildren (two boys and two girls), I am wondering if this is a reason he can't get a word in sideways!

Hudson Lankford and his wife Lucille had an early fall trip to Europe. Our class may have been contained into a small area, but it is so rewarding to hear from classmates who have seen the world, and let us enjoy it with them through their letters.

Mary Cocke Whitehead and her husband Cam (V.P.I.) are using retirement days having fun gardening, golfing, and traveling. Those of you who knew V.P.I. would not recognize the school now. It has dormitories for 3000!

Ann Northington Westlow plans to be at Homecoming '82. The past two years have been busy with serving as president of the Women's Work at River Road Methodist Church here in Richmond.

Yette Winslow Bryant, Betty Johnson Mathers, Jane Dumont Sands, Jane Whitaker Crittenden, were honored in late September, the occasion being their 50th year in Chi Omega. Yette was especially honored as the national president came for the dinner. Yette has been "Rush Chairman" for many years.

Let me know when you receive honors as it makes for great memories of years we all spent together.

It will be 1983 when the '35 column appears again. Have a great family time until then, but remember 1983 means only two years to the big '85. Please keep in touch!

Editor's Note: Registering at Homecoming '82 were: Bernard Meyer, Dave Agnews, J. Nelson Jester, E. W. Goodrich, Joe May, Anne Nenzel Lambert, John A. Mapp, H. Mason Sizemore, Hazel Johnson Sizemore, Maxey Kremen, George Weinbaum, Dick (and Fontaine '36) Velz.

The Class of 1937 had a GRAND reunion. Having a hospitality suite made all of the difference -- a place to meet and become reacquainted. We met before the alumni banquet on Friday afternoon and Saturday morning for a continental breakfast. After the football game we gathered for food and drinks before going to the Cascades for a gala dinner and then to Blow Gymnasium for dancing. A continental breakfast Sunday morning gave us a time to be with each other for an hour or two and bid farewell to a happy weekend. We wish that more of you could have been with us -- and we're looking forward to seeing a goodly turnout at the 50th reunion "Old Grad" celebration in 1987. Classmates attended who lived as far away as California, Connecticut, Florida, and Texas. Among those present (and I apologize if I have missed anyone) were: Gilmore Beazley, Robert Whitehead, Jr., Dorothy Pierce Ladd, Doris Campbell Desmond, John Truehart, Ann Reynolds Wood, Carolyn Richardson McMurrin, Pete Hansen, Linwood "Blackie" James, Sally Elmore Palmer, Mary Shackleton Gee, Fay Bryant Savedge, Elliott Bloxom, Oscar Ward, Jr., Elliot Cohen, Robert Coakley, Gibbons Wall, Enoch Haley, Jane Sunderland Broudy, Ellen Latane Gouldman, Harold Gouldman, Nathan Jones, Francis "Squinty" Rennolds, Mary Frances Parsons, Ava Burke Russell, Frances Maddrey Healey, and Connie Land Hardenbergh. Members of the class who lived nearby gave untold assistance with the "nitty gritty" of assembling everything necessary to provide food and refreshment. For all their generous help I want to thank Harold Gouldman, Warne Robinson, Doris Campbell Desmond, Ellen Latane, Jane Sunderland Broudy, Marion Rose Abbott, Carolyn Richardson McMurrin, and Fay Bryant Savedge. Fay Savedge, Mary Gee, Gibbons Wall, John Trueheart, and Elliot Cohen wrote to classmates to urge them to attend and a special thanks goes to them. I saw Anna Dickerson and Ralph Baker came for the weekend and am sorry we missed seeing them at the hospitality suite. Better luck next time! Warne Robinson has just been elected to serve on the Alumni Board. His election was announced at the Alumni Banquet. Congratulations, Warne!

Elmo Benedetto and Carmeline planned to attend Homecoming but did not make it.

HOMECOMING REUNION PICTURES

(Olde Guarde, OWJ, 1937, 1942, 1947, 1952, 1957, 1962, 1967)

Because of an equipment malfunction, there are no class pictures for the classes of 1972 and 1977. If any alumnus took photos of these classes, please contact the Alumni House so that efforts may be made to share them with other class members.

Persons wishing to purchase copies of class photographs taken at the luncheon-on-the-lawn should complete the form at right. The form should be returned to Mr. Thomas L. Williams, 119 Matoaka Court, Williamsburg, Virginia 23185 along with a check made payable to Thomas L. Williams. The cost of each photograph is $5.00 which includes postage and handling. Please be sure to specify the number of photographs and which photograph is desired.

Elmo has retired from coaching in Lynn, Massachusetts. He will continue to administer the Agganis All Star Football Classic in Massachusetts - one of the most prestigious high school charity football games in the U.S. Over the past 21 years Elmo has raised more than $300,000 in high school scholarships for this foundation. Congratulations, Elmo, for a wonderfully rewarding career. The Benedettos spent busy weekends for many years with son, Richie, playing football at Bowdoin and son, Bobby, a member of the Yale football squad.

It was fund meeting the spouses of our classmates and hearing of "life after William and Mary." Enoch and Nancy Haley lived in Rhodesia for many years and Frances Mad-drey Healey and family were in South Africa for several years. I could not begin to tell you all of the news of the rest of the classmates as space does not permit. 1982 was a special homecoming for the class, and as the wife of a classmate wrote, "it was not just a sea of faces."

Editor's Note: Other '37ers who registered at Homecoming '82 were: Aileen Barclay Renn, Dan Velsor, Louise Acree Hall, Betty Thompson, Ben Kincannon, and Thomas Crist.

(Peggy Pickett Miller is substituting for Fran Grodecoeur this month.)

"There's nothing finer than a thirtyniner!" and the time to test that hypothesis is at Homecoming . . . any year! Homecoming 1982 was held in perfect Williamsburg autumn weather. It was crisp and cold enough for coats and football, but sunny and clear. Delightful! We gathered, over 60 strong, with guests and adoptees from other classes filling the rooms in the Hospitality Suite at the Motor House with well over a hundred merry-makers and nostalgia buffs. Recorded as having attended (if I miss any of you, please forgive), were Bill Altenburg, Dan Blocker, Deedee and George Bunch, Wyatt and Kacey Carneal, Carl and Evelyn Casella with Carl's sister, Frances Markey, Dick and Adele Crane, Dale and Maxey Davis, Dot and Don Druckemiller, Ray and Jackie Dudley, Bill and Rene Dulin, Bob and Frances Fricke, Martin and Marian Gracey, Harry and Tina Gravely, Lucy Greene with guests Don and Jackie Taylor, Lucille Eldridge Harkless, Barbara Heimerl, Tom and Jan Kennedy, Gilbert and Jeanne Kinnamon, Margaret and Herb Krueger, Bud and Fran Metheny, Miley and Peggy Miller, Louise and Brad Pulley, Sam and Althea Schlapfer, Bob and Bertha Sheeran, Lee and Esther Shimberg, Harvey Shuler, Bert Slaughter, Bud and Peggy Smeltzer, Don Stetson, George and Hanne Sweetnam, Ed and Tina Ware, Powell and Bea Wartel with guests, Freda and Jeffrey Nogee, John and Peggy Winston, June and Fred Brown, Margie and Red Bloxom.

The Homecoming activities were packed into a busy weekend. We were joined at the class dinner at the Cascades on Friday evening by the classes of '40, '41, and '42. The program consisted of prizes for various categories (Who came the farthest? etc.), and a sing-a-long of "oldies but goodies." Saturday included all the Society planned activities plus our famous '39 cocktail feast at the Motor House following the game. The focal point of this annual reunion of ours is the Hospitality Suite, kept open from mid-Friday to mid-Sunday, enjoyed by all of us as a place to meet, reminisce and be together. The reunion committee, ably supported by spouses, and assisted by classmates and guests, "did it again"! Herb Krueger, who has given his capable leadership to the committee for several years, has now stepped down. Peggy Prickett Miller has been asked to assume the chairmanship. The other members of the committee are Maxey Davis, Martin Gracey, Jan Kennedy, Fran Matheny, Brad Pulley, and Bert Slaughter.

Notes and comments picked up hither and thither: Brad Pulley was honored by his community of Virginia Beach by being selected to reign as King Neptune over the Neptune Festival September 18-October 3 of this year. Brad was honored for all the years of wide services to his community. In his flowing robes and curly wig and crown, he said, "This is no uncharacteristic of me, they must have caught me in a weak moment." He was a great hit, entering into all the festivities with enthusiasm. Jan and Tom Kennedy are to be grandparents for the FIRST TIME in January when son Tommy and his wife Carolyn become parents. Jan and Tom took a tour of the Orient in September-October to Hong Kong, Japan, Taipei, Bangkok, China, Indonesia, and Bali. Tom liked Bali best . . . who wouldn't? Bill Dulin went to Egypt with the William and Mary tour in November of last year. Martin Gracey visited Greece and Egypt this past October. He says the high point of the trip was a topless beach at Rhodes where Scandinavian girls were present in quality and quantity. Dick and Adele Crane have just moved to a new townhouse. New address: 2122 Bryn Mawr Place, Ardmore, PA, 19003, phone 215-642-2822. They invite classmates coming to Philly to call. All is well with them and their children and Dick is happy in retirement. Art and Anetha Gordon have just returned from a month-long trip to England and France. They expect new grandchildren in February and again in March. Bea and Powell Wartel will have a grandchild in May. Also in the grandparent business is Lucy Greene when her son Bill and his wife Melinda have their baby in January. After Don Druckemiller's year with a broken leg, diabetes, and very recent heart surgery, Dot says the only way to go is up. Dottie, now retired, has a busy agenda for them, but she thinks Don will recover faster if he doesn't know the details. Don (Bucknell '38) especially enjoyed his homecoming because he met Kay Cotterman Hoskins, W&M '42, and sister of our Stuart Cotterman, for the first time since Santo Tomas prison camp in the Philippines in 1945. Esther Shimberg successfully defended her club golf championship, demonstrating, perhaps, that aging is good for golf as well as wine (Lee's word's, not mine). Lee celebrated his tenth year of "retirement" by adding a third course to those he teaches by corresponding through the Department of Agriculture Graduate School. Hanne and George Sweetnam, both Doctors of Dentistry, have increased the number of operatories in their office to eight and now have nearly every dental specialty under their roof. Their hobby is auctioning gourmet dinners aboard their boat, Hanne III, for charity, with signal success. They also used the Hanne III to entertain the W&M Chicago Alumni Chapter recently.

George Bunch was awarded Hall of Fame honors in ceremonies in January 1982 for his achievements in swimming, basketball, and football. Bud Metheny is being honored at Old Dominion University. A new baseball complex being built there is to be named for him. Bud and Fran have two new grandchildren: Jean Davis born to daughter Eileen Carlton, and John Beauregard to son John. Both families live in Northern Virginia. Fran Grodecoeur is spending two weeks in Florida on business for Carnegie-Mellon University. She will visit Betty Roberts Osborn in Fort Lauderdale and plans to spend Christmas week in northern Virginia with Peggy Pickett and Miley Miller.

CAREER SPEAKER SERIES

Among the ten alumni who spoke to students at William and Mary this fall under the Career Speakers Series were Dennis Dix '57 (left), executive director of the Outdoor Power Institute in Washington, D.C., and Edward Fales '30, Falls Village, Conn., (right), special assignment writer for numerous popular programs and author of several books. The program, which brings accomplished alumni to the College to share their experience with students, is sponsored by the Office of Career Planning.

reports they are enjoying senior citizen's privileges in retirement in Valhalla, New York, and attending the local community college. They will visit Helene Stein Vogt in Florida at New Year's and see Marie Rapp Peterson and Louise Merkle Fritsch. What a great idea to greet the reuniting classmates with a mailgram if you can't attend!

Some words, in memoriam, have been forwarded to this column to express the love and sympathy we feel for the families of three of our recently deceased classmates. How lucky we feel to have had them actively among us for so many years! Dick Crane wrote, "We all note with keen sadness the passing of Moe Brill. He was sorely missed at this Homecoming and will continue to be missed at all our future ones. Each of us of the class extend to Anita our heartfelt condolences. Moe was a feeling and sensitive man, with obvious leadership ability. He was liked by all as a straight-forward individual. We shall miss him." Deedee Allen Bunch wrote of Jean George Sykes, "Jean passed away last November just after Homecoming. She was missed at our hospitality room this year where the Sykes and Bunches always were participants. Mac and Jean came to Homecoming for 20 years and, in every way, were supporters of the College." We have also lost Lucille Spivey Altenburg recently. She and Bill have been faithful members of the annual Homecoming reunion for years. She joined us last year, although she was ill, even then. What a great gal she was and sadly missed at our gathering this year. Everyone was so happy that Bill was moved to join us as usual, so we could express our sense of loss to him in person. He and Lucille have two sons.

Please support the College and Fran Grodecœur's strong personal effort on behalf of the class, by contributing to the William and Mary Fund.

John H. Prince, Chronicler
2063 West Cheadle Loop
Yorktown, VA 23692

What a Homecoming! Not too many of our class came, but those who did had a great time. Just because some of you didn't come said you had more fun picnicking at the cemetery doesn't bother us at all. And some of you who did come will be relieved to hear that I can't find my little brown note book in which I took copious notes. I also recall having entered some extremely witty and pithy observations. Maybe I'll find it and satisfy your mounting curiosity. At the end of this report you'll find a list of those who did attend. Anyway let's have at what I do have.

The executive council of the "League of Late Achievers" met in extraordinary session the other day but one. Good old Horace Coward and I are admired members of both the council and the League because we exemplify the goals which every member strives to attain. Either our achievements are so far in the past that no one remembers them, or so far in the future that no one can foresee them. Although both Horace and I thought we were working diligently to preserve our positions in the forefront of the rear, it was suddenly and unexpectedly made clear to us that we had been resting on our oars, to coin a phrase. To my desk one day came an envelope. It was a plain, buff envelope with a 20-cent stamp. Inoffensive. Mundane. Had you seen it, my friends, you would have been no more impressed than was my staff of cullers. There was not the slightest indication, not the meagerest hint, that inside that envelope was a missive that was to shake us, all of us smug non-achievers, out of our complacency. For inside, written carelessly and con-temptuously on the flap of an old envelope, was a communication from good old David B. Camp. If Horace and I don't yield to him we must at least move over. Keep in mind, gentle readers, that the chronicler, whoever it may be, of your class notes is constantly starving for news from anybody. I quote, "My news is that I have been sending you news for many years; to the best of my knowledge nothing that I wrote you has been unpublished. It is just as well; nothing much happens to me. I am now Professor of Chemistry, Emeritus, and devoting my time to gardening and to radical organizations. So, if ACLU, FAS, World Federalist Ass'n mean anything to you-----" Beside the obvious that David likes semicolons what else can one glean from this note? Don't you think the "-----" rather significant? Don't you think it might be a rather vulgar suggestion as to what we can spend a few minutes doing? And don't you feel a bit guilty? Perhaps if his previous letters had been published, instead of being involved with those initials he might have been a Rotarian. David, it is with some chagrin that the committee recognizes you as Personna Insignificata Mensii.

Good old Beverly Boone Jones, among other things, went to an antique car meet. I understand their entry didn't do well, but their family car got an honorable mention. They had so many guests this past spring and summer that their guest book is bulging. A pregnant observation. (Too subtle?) (Or not subtle enough?)

Here are some more of those little notes with the blanks filled in sent to us by someone who spends his time doing that sort of thing. Not only did Dr. Josephine W. Hubbell represent the College (Big "C" again) of President Benjamin Alexander (whatever happened to Reagan?) at the University of the District of Columbia on October 4, 1982, but then she dashed across town and did the same thing on October 9, 1982 at the Case National Convention (for National Higher Education Week) in Washington, D.C. The Jefferson Medal was presented to Dr. Ted Hesburgh of Notre Dame. May he wear it in good health.

Good old Dick Kaufman and Riffi, where were you?

Geneva Archibald Bull has moved to Durham, N.H., to be near daughter, Dianne, and two grandsons, Michael and David. Geneva and her husband had lived in New Jersey for 36 years prior to the New Hampshire move.

Margaret Langfitt Harris spent the summer traveling and visiting with Sheila Keane Gibbons and Pete in Los Angeles, and Janet Schilling Beck and Charlie in Ft. Lauderdale. That's really touring the States.

Betsey Douglas Munves was able to visit the Peoples Republic of China and the U.S.S.R. in connection with her faculty position teaching nutrition. She's looking forward to '83 Homecoming.

Had a neat note from Hilda Lynn Ketcham. She and husband, Edward, have lived on Maui for 5½ years. She has been doing exciting volunteer work for Maui Memorial Hospital and the Court Watch Program. The purpose of the program is to assist victims of violent crime and see that poor game, but W&M did win! Waddy is VMI '43, so either way we had to be winners.

Sunny Murray Connor writes, "Bob and I visited Arizona in May--even rode the mules down the Grand Canyon! Also spent a week with my son, Ken Murray, and his family in Biddeford, Maine."

"Dinny" Lee McAlinden says she had a mini-reunion with Marion Lang Van Dam and Mary Reney Begor at the Van Dam's shore place in Lavalette, N.S. Spent three weeks in August traveling in Switzerland, two weeks of which were in an apartment belonging to Suzy Eppes Felchlin '43 and husband Max in Schwyz.

We've just taken a lovely fall trip through the North Carolina and Virginia mountains. Stopped by Wake Forest, U. N. C., and Duke just to refresh our old memories. Each is nice in its own way--the Duke Chapel is magnificent--but there is still something about W&M and the Wren Building, etc., that you can't beat. Guess I'm a bit prejudiced!

A last minute note from Fred Yeader says he spent Labor Day weekend in Annapolis. He "stayed at a 200-year old house right next to the Naval Academy (Gibson's Lodgings) and fifty yards from the water's edge. The house is filled with pure antiques and with a

CORNELL CHRISTIANSON '74 PRODUCES "PAPER CHASE"

Cornell Christianson '74, Santa Barbara, Calif., is one of the principals in a company that is producing seven new segments of the television series "The Paper Chase" for cable TV. Christianson and Remi Aubuchon are partners in the firm of Aubuchon-Christianson & Associates which is behind the revival of "The Paper Chase," starring John Houseman and other lead actors who are reprising their roles from the series which gained a dedicated audience on CBS-TV before it was canceled in 1979. According to an article in "Electric Media," Aubuchon-Christianson was "one of the largest ad agencies in Santa Barbara," and "their experience producing low-budget to commercials and industrial films proved to be their ticket to Hollywood." The new "Paper Chase" will premiere on Showtime in March.

WRITER-IN-RESIDENCE

Diane Ackerman, on leave as assistant professor of English at the University of Pittsburgh, is this year's writer-in-residence at the College. In addition to two collections of poetry, Miss Ackerman has written a prose memoir about her experience as a cowhand on a range in New Mexico. She has won several prizes for her poetry which appears regularly in "The New York Times," "The Kenyon Review," "Paris Review," and other prominent publications.

continental breakfast, only $33.00 nightly. Annapolis' brick-paved streets and walks, houses, etc., so reminded me of Williamsburg. Next May I plan 'doing' Fredericksburg, Virginia. Former roomie Elmer Rudolph Norris, Jr. will give me a guided tour!" Fred, you'll love Kenmore--maybe my favorite home in all of Virginia. I do like Annapolis, too.

Editor's Note: Signing in at Homecoming '82 were: Shirley Rose, Fran Loesch Brunner, Mary Jane Chamberlain Howard, and Ruth Kleimer Tillar and Cato.

Homecoming 1982 was a glorious weekend in Williamsburg - the weather was perfect and the autumn foliage was still very colorful.

I attended the parade in the morning with Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Armstrong (Dr. Armstrong, Class '31 and chemistry professor retired), yet active publishing lab manuals and assisting in the summer programs as a professor at the College. Dr. Armstrong's wife, Martha, is involved in horticultural and flower-arranging pursuits that take her to many conventions in the United States.

I took filing cards to the pre-game football luncheon on the lawn of the Alumni Society building. This was a bonanza for gathering information of members of our class who took time to pose for a picture to appear later in Alumni Gazette.

Sidney Aron, '47, wife Freda and son Marcus J. Aron '82 were under the 1947 class luncheon tent. Sidney is a Pharmaceutical Supervisor at Central State Hospital, Southside, Va., Treatment Center and Hiram Davis' Medical Center in Petersburg.

Sidney's wife is director of the x-ray department of the same facility and son, Marcus, is an accountant in Bethesda, Md.

Frances McCreight Clarke, '47, and husband were here from Stony Creek, Va. Clarke retired from International Harvester after 33 years on April 1, 1982 and now is Sales Manager for I-H in Emporia, Va. Frances enjoys managing her antique shop.

Peggy Walker Marlott, '47, reports she has two gorgeous grandchildren in Portsmouth, N.H. The Marlott's son is getting his masters in architecture at Ga. Tech. in Dec.

Pat Dancy Cooper, '47, missed Homecoming - went to Florida instead - still in Durham, N.C.

Bonnie Wolfgram Ware and Frank, '47, are still living in Devon, Pa. They have two married daughters and two grandsons. Bonnie is past president of the Kappa Alpha Theta Philadelphia Alumnae Chapter and active in the Scholarship Program. William and Mary Thetas have won twice!

Joy Wrigley Otis, '47, came from Norwalk, Ct. on Amtrak and met Nancy Seal Haus, '47, (widowed) in Baltimore. They drove together to Williamsburg. Nancy is teaching pre-first grade children and Joy is in Consumer Research.

Gloria Beale Sexton, '47, and her husband, Charles, '51, met me for dinner and the dance in Blow Gym, with '40's music the feature. Their daughter, Ann, is a talented newspaper writer, married and living in Denbigh.

Daniel S. Goldenberg, '47, and attractive wife, Irma, were with us for dinner at the Cascades Restaurant. They have three children - Bess, 29; Barton, 27; and Lisa, 26. Their son is representing Montsanto in Brussels, Belgium. Thus, Dan and Irma have enjoyed some visits to many parts of Europe to share their travels with Barton.

Dan and his wife own a manufacturer's representative business in New England.

Jane Waddington Hopf, '47, called me a week prior to Homecoming to tell me she and her husband could not join us but would be here "in spirit" and to send all of you their love.

Please send news to me - you are all very special people contributing your William and Mary background to those whose lives you touch!

News reached me prior to Homecoming from the Society of the Alumni.

Ruth Paul Katherman, '47, reports her four grown-up children are established in their professions: Walter - clinical psychologist, Robert - attorney, Elliot - attorney, and Margaret - special education teacher.

I think the exciting part of all this news is that our progeny are very intelligent, productive and caring young men and women who are carrying on the traditions fostered at colleges and universities begun in the early stages of our becoming an independent nation.

Jane Heller Frieden, '47, is leading an exciting life. Her note to us said last June, her husband Joe and she went to Kenya on a Photographic Safari. While there she was able to fly a Cessna 150 with a Rolls Royce engine with a fellow '99 - '99's an international organization of women pilots.

Sally Justis, '46, and Howard Hanson, '47, have four grandchildren, three girls, two of which are twins, and one boy. I saw Sally and Howard briefly a year ago at the Homecoming Parade. They are an attractive and happy couple.

Dorothy Baitstill O'Connor is an Assistant Professor at Miami Dade Community College and enrolled in a Florida State University doctoral program in Adult Education.

She lives in Miami and is rightfully proud of her daughter, Carol, fourth year medical school student at the University of Miami Medical School, son Bob working for Procter and Gamble in Memphis, Tn., and daughter Joan, a junior at Northfield/Mt. Hermon School in Northfield, Ma.

May your Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays be blessed and comforting in every way.

Love to all my classmates and their families, Ellie Westbrook Heider, '47, Brook, Beth and Rascal (our dog).

Alumni registered at Homecoming 1982: Norma (Nonnie) Fehse Zettler, Dan Goldenberg (Mr. & Mrs.), Marilyn Woodberry McCarver, Mel Wright, Peggy Marlatt Walker, Tina Jones Carr, Jean McCreight Clarke, Helen Young Langton, Ellie Westbrook Heider, Bill Lucas (& Ann '51), Nancy Seal Haus, Joy Wrigley Otis, Janet Campbell Alley, Ruth Sinclair Veasey, Phil R. Salasky, Sidney Aron, Aubrey L. Mason, Marjory Bowman Allen, Dorothea Shinn Francescon, Isabelle Clarke Borland, Edith M. PURDY JOINS NBC MAGAZINE

Andy Purdy '73 will leave his position as staff counsel to the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct in the House of Representatives in November to join NBC Magazine as a consultant. Purdy will work on investigative stories, interviewing people in the field for NBC Magazine which will go back on the air in February.

Recipients of the 1982 Alumni Faculty Fellowships were presented with a certificate and cash prize at the Society of the Alumni's Annual Banquet, on Friday evening, November 5th. Picture left to right are: President Thomas Graves, Dr. William E. Rice, business school; Dr. Henry Krakauer, physics; Ms. Marlene Jack, fine arts; Dr. Gary DeFotis, chemistry; Dr. David P. Aday, sociology, and Marvin West, '52, president of the Society of the Alumni.

Elizabeth Pratt Hayes was the featured artist in an exhibition at the Ethel Putterman Gallery in Orleans, Mass. this fall. In addition, one of her watercolors was selected to hang in the New England Watercolor Society Show at the Fitchburg Art Museum of Cape Cod. Elizabeth, who now lives in Eastham, Cape Cod where she has been instructing painting classes for several years, has had a number of gallery shows in addition to works in public and private collections.

Tommy Thompson lives in Summit, N.J. and is now Manager and First Vice President of Shearson American Express in Red Bank, N.J. George Young is Superintendent of Schools in Northampton County, Virginia. He lives in Exmore with his wife and one of their three daughters. Harry Caughron has been Head Football Coach and Athletic Director at Woodberry Forest for over 25 years.

The Creative Copycat is the title of a book written and designed by Marianne Lewis-Jones Canoles and published this past summer. The book is a collection of ideas and illustrations for bulletin board displays for the classroom or school library, demonstrating that many creative displays can be adapted from professional advertising techniques using readily obtainable materials. Marianne lives in Norfolk, where she had previously been a high school librarian.

Editor's Note: Registering at Homecoming '82 were: Thomas J. East, Brock McCaskey, Myers Fisher, Jean and Dennis Cogle, Lou Bailey (and Jeannette '50), Dabney Carr, Max Staszkesky, Mary Louise Hostetter Winder, W. Calvin Coghill, Earle Copp, Will Coward, Charlie Bryant, George M. Gibbs, Fran (and Stan '43) Hudgins, Fred Kovaleski.

My good Virginia Correspondent sent a Times-Dispatch piece on Joe Benedetti--I mentioned his announcing for the 68th District as Republican candidate in my last letter. This clipping included a photo of Joe and his wife, Peggy, and both look as if campaigning agrees with them. Joe is currently chairman of the state Board of Corrections. The district he wants to represent in the statehouse is in Richmond, and includes the West End, much of the Fan and a small area south of the James River.

From the Order of the White Jacket Newsletter: Colonel Harry S. Hilling, Jr. retired from U.S. Army in November '76 after 20 years plus. Harry is now a juvenile probation officer for the Virginia Department of Corrections.

Word from Phoenix has it that Lloyd L. Adams will be retiring this year and he and Frances plan to buy a camper and visit back East. Lloyd and (my cousin) Frances Styron were already married when they came to Williamsburg from Portsmouth for Lloyd's junior and senior years at the College and how I loved visiting them off-campus. Lloyd went with GE after graduation and they lived in Schenectady and Roanoke before the move to Phoenix. They have four children: one son, three daughters; Pat, their eldest daughter, is with IBM, all are in Arizona and three are married. Frances, a RN, with two teacher friends, gave up public school jobs about three years ago and opened a restaurant in downtown Phoenix, the 1895 House, which has been quite successful, lots of fun and much hard work.

When I don't hear from you, you have to read about the Niensens. One point I might mention is that Eastham, MA is on Cape Cod--a long sandy arm that juts east and then north into the Atlantic off the Massachusetts coast. Eastham, population 3,000, expands to accommodate 13,000 during the short summer season. The Pilgrims came here from Plymouth seeking farmland; today we have a population mix of native Cape Codders, Yankee and Portuguese, lots of retirees, fishermen, artisans and artists. Our winters are supposedly milder than the mainland, but the two since we've lived here have been anything but. The wind howls from October til May.

If there's time before Christmas, put me on your card list and send your news to share with our class. Remember, we didn't go to Homecoming, and neither did my faithful Virginia Correspondent, so let us know who was there.

Season's greetings to each of you and many blessings for all in the new year.

Editor's Note: Registering for Homecoming '82 were: Tommy Brummer, Marion "Huff" Gibbs, Martha Ann Lex and Buddy '50, Marge Brown Neal, Ann Lucas and Bill '47, Ebbie Shelton Rice.

I hope that those of you who were able to attend Homecoming this year returned home refreshed by joyous reunions with old friends, and were touched, once again, by the beauty of the College, and of Williamsburg.

There are those who actually do "take a moment to send us your news for the Alumni Gazette" on the flaps of Alumni Fund envelopes. Bunny Scheie Belford writes that she has been working as a Cost Accountant for Dynamac Corporation in Rockville, Maryland, for over three years. Her son is in the Marine Corps, and he and his wife are stationed in Yuma, Arizona. They have two sons, and are expecting another child early in 1983. Bunny has been very active in Parents Without Partners. She has served on the Board of Directors of Chapter 60 for the past two years, first as Vice President for Membership, and currently is Vice President for Area Liaison.

Ann Zimmerman Kulp is working as Church Educator at Kirkwood Presbyterian Church in Springfield for the second year, in addition to having worked at the Congregational Christian Church in Annandale for seven years. Her daughter, Karen, is a freshman at Dickinson College, Carlisle, PA, and her son, David, is in the eighth grade in Fairfax County.

Betty Lowe Eaton is currently living in Chesapeake, and is teaching English at Western Branch Junior High School.

Jerry, '53, and June Shearer Simpson's son, Tom, is a freshman at the College.

Bill Humbert received an M.S. in Public Administration in December, 1979, from Florida State University. His daughters, Claire Gibbon and Theresa Lynne, are attending Florida State. Bill adds that he misses flying airplanes for the Marine Corps!

Pete Freeauf is now Vice President of Storer Cable Communications, Inc., and will be moving to Dallas.

Bruce and Carolyn Norfleet, '57, Rumage write that they have been living very happily in Fountain Valley, CA for the past ten years. One of their daughters is married, and the other is in her final year of school.

Running, and his three young children, Rachel, Sylvia, and one year old Evelyn, keep Fred La Croix busy. Fred runs in 10, 15, and 20 kilometer races, and finishes in the middle of the pack. While on a side trip to West Virginia from a family reunion in Pennsylvania this summer, Fred saw Vel Miller, who lives near Shepherdstown with his wife, Alta, and son, George, who is finishing high school. Vel is on the staff of the Rolling Ridge Wilderness Retreat Center near Harpers Ferry, which is a non-denominational camp with religious and environmental emphasis, and works as a part-time carpenter as well.

My son Colin and I took a wonderful trip around the West this summer, beginning in Santa Barbara, where Colin attended a football camp held at the University of California at Santa Barbara. This enabled me to have an evening's reunion with Lou Biggs Chambliss, who has had a home in Santa Barbara for sixteen years, although she has traveled the world with her ex-husband, Bill, a professor of Sociology and Cultural Anthropology at the University of Delaware. Lou's daughter, Lauren, graduated from the University of California at Berkeley in June; her sons, Jeff and Kent, attended the University of Delaware, one of them being a recent graduate, and preparing to take his LSATs. Lou is a licensed marriage and family counselor, and uses her gift for modern dance to teach therapy through creativity and movement. Lou is also invited to speak at various churches in the Santa Barbara area on the healing qualities of creativity.

Colin and I left the ocean with pangs of regret, to cross the burning desert to Las Vegas en route to Zion and Bryce National Parks. We returned home through Yosemite National Park, and, as I began to rhapsodize about its splendour, beauty, etc., Colin stated that he never wanted to view another rock, and began calmly but stolidly, to peruse the L.A. Times. He was a good sport!

In closing, I would like to wish all of you the warmest, happiest, and merriest of holidays.

Editors Note: Registering at Homecoming '82 were: R. Pete Freeauf, Elaine Elias Kappel, Larry Phillips, Larry Young, Bill Gatling, Read Morton, Darrell High Wittkamp, Gail Wannan Mosher, and Don Spivey.

Terrific! That sums up the Class Reunion in November. If you missed it, there is almost nothing I can say to describe adequately what a well-planned, wonderful and heart-warming event took place during Homecoming week-end. But I'll try . . . of course!

Picture . . . in the basement of the Hospitality House Friday night an energetic, enthusiastic crew constructing the now-famous Class of 1957 float -- a third-place winner, no less. Some of those struggling with a chicken-wire bear were Gil Granger, Doug and Barbara Pharo Henley, Harry and Barbara Harding Hager, Ed and Anne Callis Jones, Dee Dee Daniels Mahoney, Wayne Adams, Bill Armbruster, Mary Jo Milam Rink, Faye Jones Burke, Sue Journee Lunsford, Janie Hutton Hurst, and Elaine Abbott Fuqua. Cheering them on were Letty Sheild Best, Betty Sheild Scates, Lenore Boss Quandt, Alice Matthews Erickson, Gini Anding LaCharite, Jan Charbonnet Crocker and many spouses (or is that spice?). Many others stopped by to "Ooh" and "Aah." The lodgers in the hotel "Oohed" and "Aahed" later as fumes from the spray paint (to change the bear from polar to brown) somehow went up through the vents and routed some from their rooms! We were off to a good start.

Picture . . . the float on Saturday with "our" cheerleaders bounding alongside

ALUMNUS NAMED TOP VIRGINIA TEACHER

Paul G. Lankford '69, an English teacher at Green Run High School in Virginia Beach, has been named the state English Teacher of the Year by the Virginia Association of Teachers of English. To be nominated for the prestigious state honor, Lankford earlier had been selected Virginia Beach English Teacher of the Year by members of the Virginia Beach Association of Teachers of English. Lankford is chairman of his school's 25-person English department, the largest department of any school in Virginia Beach.

down Duke of Gloucester Street, and picture those cheerleaders actually leading cheers at the game. Janie Hurst, Alice Erickson, Bill Armbruster, and Faye Burke cheered as Jan Crocker and Dee Dee Mahoney rode proudly on the float driven by Doug Henley and Eddie Jones. That was just part of the fun.

Picture-taking time was exciting and a chance to see Jack and Sylvia White, Bart Bartholomew, and Zona Fairbanks Hostetler. There was a very special presentation by John Bain honoring Ron Clark. No details available -- you had to be there! Somewhere along the line we also saw John Ottaway, Phil Colclough, Tom and Erma Sydner, and Fritz Trinler for a quick visit.

Kathy Christian Young coordinated events in the lively hospitality room. Some of those renewing friendships there were Ann Wilson, Jo Ann Abbott Gordon, Carl Anderson, Larry Babcock, Nancy Beery Thomas, Dick Bell, Bill Bickler, Tom and Susan Eley, Doug Brockman, Vince and Mary Kay Bush DeVita, Carolyn Canoles Redmond, Pam Cartin Johnson, Sally Dallas Messick, Bruce and Betsey Hathaway, Rod Elliott (whom I only saw through the crowd -- hi, Rod), Ben Field, Jan Fisher Dunkle, Di Oakerson Fleming, Kathy Hamilton Steinwedell, Lee Hammer Scott, Anne Hannegan Prince, Donald Harris, Jim Kaplan, Bert Levy, Nan Lingenfelter, Boo Luck Bane, Virg McKenna, Margie Miller Smith, Nancy Ramsey Thompson, Shirley Ross Wood, June Rickard Brown, Mary Ripley Barry, Jo Ann Shipp Buschman, Terry Slaughter, Mary Talmage Kaylor, Jo Ann Thompson Walberg and Bobbie Shaw Thomas. Recognition of all was almost instantaneous -- that is if you could look quickly enough at the '57 nametags, complete with pictures, provided by Elaine Abbott Fuqua. Crew cuts have been replaced by more hair -- in most cases!

An especially nice innovation (Pam Cartin Johnson gets the credit) was inviting "our" professors. I talked with two, Dr. Cecil McCulley and Dr. William Abbott, who is now at the University of Virginia and has a son, a junior at The College. I still remember the "Green Mountain Boys" lecture! It was a real treat to see Dr. Moore and Dr. Kallos, and there were probably others whom I missed.

Capping the week-end was the lovely banquet in the Great Hall of the Wren Building, best remembered by some as the place we took modern dance our freshman year. The banquet closed with a rendition of "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You" by our own Lavinia Pretz Phillips which left not a dry eye in the audience. She received an ovation. Among those I saw there were Anne Lee Bruen, Carolyn Meachum Hawxhurst, Dan Mottola, Suzanne Tully McCarthy, and Margie Helter Melnick (who looks younger than she did in 1957).

What else can I say except a tremendous "thank-you" to all who worked so hard to bring us a splendid week-end. Those who live in Williamsburg handled much of the responsibility and should have our sincere appreciation. If you are among those I have somehow left out, please realize that this particular column taxes my ability to put words together in a coherent fashion, not to mention my memory! Even though it was due November 10th, things were already becoming hazy! Which reminds me . . . this is supposed to be a five-year position, so someone else should be signing on soon. It's been fun!

Editors Note: More '57ers who registered at Homecoming '82 were: Dan Zipperer, Gerry Angermann, Sara Gallamore Marthinson, John Scozzari, Sandra Diggs Johnson, Hugh Cole, Charles (Ray) Daniel, Artie Fisher and Rachel, Aggie Vassos, Jack McElligott, Fred (Dorf) and Ilene Shaffer, and Bobbie Hobbie Aucamp.

News keeps coming in - however it is slowing down. I hope more people will become inspired and take pen in hand, or phone in fist, whichever is easier!!!

Jeff Stafford, who is a partner in the law firm of Dillon and Stafford in Pearisburg, Va., is serving his sixth term in the House of Delegates. My news is from an old newspaper clipping - Jeff, let us know the results of the Ninth District Republican Committee chairmanship!

Congratulations to Charlie White who was promoted to full Colonel in June 1981. His wife, Tricia, '63, has finished her M. S. in Business Administration at the University of Boston.

News from Kay Barchey Oglie - she has a son, Fred, who is attending the College.

MISSOURI ALUMNI MEET

rival; she's a freshman at James Madison University, and won't let us forget J. M. U.'s homecoming games with William and Mary!!

I was pleased to hear from Mary Fuller Osborne. Her husband, Ed, has just retired from the Air Force and they're hoping to stay in Colorado Springs. Mary is a partner in a local CPA firm and was appointed by the Governor to serve a four year term on the Colorado State Board of Accountancy. That has now ended and she is presently on the Colorado Society of CPAs Board of Directors.

A letter from Ron Monark just made it under the wire. Ron is currently the President and Chief Operating Officer of ATE Management and Service Co., Inc. in Cincinnati, Ohio. The company manages 51 bus systems in 30 states as well as the transit system in Saudi Arabia. Extensive traveling is part of the job as Ron heads around the world for the fourth time this year. Ron's wife, Dot, is currently in graduate school at the University of Cincinnati. Their son, Ronnie, is a high school junior, and they all enjoy yearly ski trips in the West!

Since this column is so short this month, I'll bore you with my latest activities! (Now maybe you'll write.) The Howard B. Owens Science Center, part of Prince George County Schools, where I work as a science instructor and planetarium person, brought in a laser show this past summer. My son, Steve, 16, and I both worked the shows. What fun!! Mother and son, going off to work together to do rock and roll laser light shows; I, as a console operator and Steve as an usher. What a wonderful way to appreciate each other!!

Keep the letters coming - I love hearing from all of you.

Editor's Note: Signing in at Homecoming '82 were: Mike McCall, Vienna, Va., and Pris Edwards Howard, Emmaus, Pa.

It was lovely getting down to Williamsburg for Homecoming! This year Don, '61, and I brought all three of our children with us: Pam, 16, Sharon, 15, and Jimmy, 5. We met Pat (Thomas) Ogren and Ken, '72, and their two children, Ginger and Tommy.

Pat had seen Margie Cushman Teagle who lives with her family in Gloucester. Margie's children go to the same schools as Pat's.

Pat continues to teach English at Matthews High School. Right now she is up to her ears with the accreditation process the school must go through every ten years. She is also President of The Women of the Church which Pat says is "Westfell on a grown up level." Pat is also involved with the League of Women's Voters.

We also saw Dale Harris Cohen and Dick '61 in the Information Center cafeteria. They had been down to Hilton Head with friends and detoured through Williamsburg.

Norman Beasley, also known as Dick Lamb by listeners of Tidewater radio and television, has recently signed off the air as a broadcaster to devote his time to the administration of his four radio stations. Norman/Dick attended William and Mary by day while working at WGH in the evening. He went into Dayton to do radio and sports broadcasts changing his name to Dick Lamb. He hosted a teen dance show and a talk show, worked as a nighttime DJ for WGH-AM. Later he hosted "The Dick Lamb Show," a talk show on WTAR-TV. He has acquired four radio stations and now they will see a different side of him.

Dr. Jay Nickel, DDS, is an oral surgeon practicing in Fair Haven, New Jersey. Jay lives in Rumson, New Jersey with his wife Carol and their daughter Traci. He is Chief of the Dental Services of the Marlboro Hospital. He directs a fifty man barbershop chorus and sings in a barbershop quartet. He also is a helicopter pilot with a local charter service.

Joe Weston and Gail Potter Weston live in Davenport, Iowa. Joe is Deputy Chief of Security at HQ ARRCOM, Rock Island Arsenal. Gail is with the Davenport Board of Education. They have two children, Alex, 17, and Jennifer, 13. They are interested in locating Mike Leeper, '64 and Kathy Jones Leeper, '64. The Leepers live in Reston, Virginia.

Max Tongier and Gene Birdsong Tongier live in Newport News. Gene is a kindergarten teacher in the Newport News public schools. Max is in medical research at the VA Hospital in Hampton. Their daughter, Elizabeth, is 14 and into playing the piano, chorus, and sailing. Michael, 9, and Keith, 11, are into soccer, basketball and fishing with Dad.

William Harris recently moved back to Richmond with United Virginia Bank. Presently he is Executive Vice President responsible for the National Division.

CHAPTERS HONORED AT HOMECOMING

Two alumni chapters received recognition at Homecoming for their superior level of activity in 1981-82. At left Society President Dr. Marvin West '52 presents to Baltimore/Annapolis chapter officers Bill Lindlaw '75 and Cheryl Menke '72 the banner for the Outstanding Chapter. Baltimore has won the award two successive years and will have the chapter name engraved on the Society's silver punch bowl. At right Director of Alumni Affairs John Phillips '78 presents the honorable mention plaque to Northern Virginia Chapter President Charlie Bish '74 and former president Marge Brown '54.

ALUMNA NAMED HOSPITAL TRUSTEE

Dorothy W. Hammer '46 of Jenkintown, Pa., has become the first woman ever to be elected to the Board of Trustees of the Abingdon Memorial Hospital. She is owner-president of Plywood Specialties Co. and has served as vice president of the Women's Board of the hospital in the past.

Editor's Note: Registering at Homecoming '82 were: Max Tongier, David Adams, Judy Giles Compton, Judy Vilbrandt Diederich, Pat Thomas Ogren, Terrell C. Lady, and Mary Frances Bonner Koltes.

I know plans to attend Homecoming fell through at the last minute for some of you (myself included), so I am hoping to receive voluminous notes from those of you fortunate enough to have made it there for the weekend. Let me know who you saw and what they are doing so that the next column will have some long-awaited news of many of our classmates.

Jane Scott Bigger (Chapin) writes from Richmond that her son, Scott, is a freshman at The College, majoring in chemistry and interested in choir, piano, track and soccer.

Margaret DeBoe was written-up in the "Profile" section of the summer issue of "Executive Female." She was one of the first two women partners in Fox & Company, the nation's eleventh largest accounting firm, and is the training coordinator for the Washington, D.C. office. In addition, she is Director of auditing for the Washington office of The Network - a group of area executive women - on the Board of Governors of the D.C. Institute of CPAs.

Julia Ann Dickinson (Greenwood) has become Headmaster (mistress?) of the New Community School in Richmond, a college preparatory high school for students with learning disabilities. Julia Ann and Mike have one daughter, Ann, who is 13.

Pat Bailey (Jensen) remains in Charlottesville with husband, Doug, and their three sons. She remains busy managing her NAPA automotive parts business, taking some fantastic business-related trips with her family and involved with the Tri Delt Chapter recently installed at the University of Virginia.

Janey Cooke (Bembenista) and Wally, '66, are still in Brooklyn, having renovated a brownstone rowhouse there. Wally is a tax attorney for Esquire and Janey was recently involved with coordinating hospital development programs between Cornell and NYU.

Tom Trautman and Betsy, '68, are in northern Virginia, where Tom is involved in real estate.

Tron Brekke came to Homecoming from California. He is still single, still dashing, and remains with the FBI.

Nancy Thomas is living in Memphis with her two children, 8 and 11. She is with Federal Express and for those of you who visited the World's Fair, Nancy was responsible for developing the entire Federal Express Pavilion there.

Ben Pomeroy and Debbie, '66, have moved to Columbia, S.C.

Ann Winfree (King) is in Tennessee.

I just wish I had more to include! Betty Bishop (Griffin) was kind enough to fill me in on much of the above!

I think the great majority of us opens the Gazette to '67 as soon as it arrives, so please take a moment to drop me a card letting me know what you are doing and where you are! If you have a WATS line, fill me in via phone. . . (212/543-8770).

Mrs. Harold E. Williams, Jr. (Mary Chris Schmitz) 40 Cameron Glen Drive Atlanta, GA 30328

It seems strange to be wishing everyone a Happy Holiday as I write this column in late October but that is the way it is with deadlines. Hope many of you were at Homecoming so the news for the next issue will be a little fuller!

Mark Wurzbacher sent a note to the Alumni Office to tell us about his starting his own business as a human service consultant in the Beltsville, Maryland area a little over a year ago. Mark works primarily with agencies serving persons who are handicapped doing program, staff and financial development. He has also had jobs with adult education programs and reports there is "no Mrs. W. anymore."

Thanks again to Wynne Whitehurst for some Chi O news done fancily (if there is such a word!) on word processing on her Xerox 820 computer. Wynne attached a current name/address list so if anyone has lost a Chi O friend let me know and I will forward the address on to you. Congratulations to Kaye Pitts and Langdon Long on their marriage in June in Northern Virginia. Kaye is a full-time teacher and part-time political campaigner. Her husband is in the trucking business.

Linda Freeman Holmes has just begun her last year in law school at the University of Toledo. She and Bob have two children. Linda is soon to be a licensed pilot, Wynne reports, as her husband already is. Those two must really stay busy! Anne Bradstreet Smith and Les ('70) are still in Newport News where Les is practicing law with two of his friends. Anne has been the Housing Administrator for York County for the last three years doing housing rehab, new construction, sewer projects, etc. They have three children.

Ginger Graef Smith has retired from teaching to be home with her two daughters. Wynne saved her news for last. She and Milt are travelling this fall around the South selling their carved ducks at art shows. They will move to the Wilmington, NC, area the first of the year to set up a shop and start selling and teaching carving.

Nora Butler wrote that she is still plugging away as an emergency room counselor at the mental health center in Suffolk doing crisis counseling, pre-screening for hospitalization, and short-term counseling with individuals and families. Nora says she is "feeling somewhat isolated in Suffolk and would like to network with alumni working on the issue of violence against women." Nora is also looking for Nancy Laing Elmore . . . anybody heard from her lately?

Rick Spurling wrote the Alumni Office reporting that he and his wife Jane Youngblood, and their three children, are still living in Hamilton, Bermuda. Rick is an attorney and partner in a law firm specializing in corporate and commercial law. To update you on who is a member of the Order of the White Jacket (OWJ) at the College, besides Lou Tonelson who just joined, the organization sent me a list. If you worked as an undergraduate in food services you can join Al Albert, Martin Fuller, and Bob Todd in this worthwhile organization.

George Watson has started sportswriting again, this time for the Virginia Gazette. While still working in Williamsburg at the brewery, George began a weekly column the end of September on any sports topic he wishes (but mainly William and Mary sports!). Congratulations to Austin Roberts and Becky Vaughan for their leadership in the recently completed fund drive for the William and Mary Athletic Educational Foundation. Austin is AEF president and Becky was area chairman for Petersburg-Hopewell.

I am happy to report that our second daughter, Ellen Virginia, arrived on October 10. I am on "disability leave" from The Wine Spectrum until after the first of the year. I hope to return part-time; otherwise, I will go into consulting so I can continue my career and still enjoy our two girls.

You each have until the end of February to gather your pen in hand and send me your news. Our next column won't be until April. Springtime news anyone?

Note from the editor: Signing in at Homecoming '82 were: Lynn (and Sallie Moore '66) Dievendorf, Newport News, VA; Frances Herring Reynolds (and Melvin), Richmond, VA; George Goode, Arlington, VA; and Pat Rayne Kerns, Newport News, VA.

How's this for the idyllic life? When Frank Hoose is not running his computer business from his house in Vermont, he, Darnell, and the four kids "chop wood for the stove, shovel snow, tend flower and vegetable gardens, and put up food for the winter. We are very happy." Darnell's old roommate, Joyce Meador, Foster, visited recently with her family. Frank and Darnell spend a lot of time working with the Dartmouth Area Christian Fellowship.

Lots of '71'ers are into home restoration: Linda Zuber Mitchell and husband Steve have completely redone their home in Catonsville, Md. Becky Beach Smith has been restoring her home in the Tidewater area. Becky and her husband, John are both attorneys. She's a member of the Junior League and involved in other civic groups. Grayson Pannill and Peter Siersma designed and built their passive solar home in Williamsburg, Mass. Grayson is a nurse-midwife. Steve and Ellen Raup live in a spruced-up farm house in Franklin, Tenn. Steve practices law in Nashville.

Regina Comeau Drifmeyer is moving to San Antonio, where husband, Jeff, will attend law school. Virginia Smith Chambliss and spouse have moved to Marianna, Florida. Sharon Seymour has pitched her tent at Norton Air Force Base in San Bernardino, CA, where she is a personnel inspector on the Air Force Inspector General team.

TAILGATE PARTY

Several alumni including (left to right) Kathy Joslyn '74, Cleveland; Dave Scofield '73, Philadelphia; Teresa Sulich '76, Raleigh, and Jeff Hackett '73, Philadelphia, gathered for a tailgate party at the William and Mary-Delaware game in October. The party proved to be more fun than the game, which the Tribe lost 52-21. Later at a reception following the game, Sue Manix, president of the Philadelphia Alumni Chapter, visited with Mr. and Mrs. John Crum '45 of Wilmington.

Steve Lohr and Waverly Evans have been promoted to partnerships in the accounting firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell. Steve works in Richmond; Waverly, in the Greensboro office. Dr. Geraldine McCall-Kaufman is on the staff of the School of Veterinary Medicine at Purdue. She recently passed her Board Certification in Animal Internal Medicine. John Brinkley is now Secretary of the Boyd-Bluford Corporation in Norfolk. Want help with your cash flow? Call Catherine Schumaker Tyler. She's software specialist with the Federal Reserve Bank in Richmond. Catherine has two daughters. Husband Tim manages a motorcycle race shop. "Grantsmanship" is the way James Baldwin describes his expertise with the Cumberland Plateau Planning District Commission. Wife Kathy works at a school for learning disabled children in Abington.

Bob and Toni Webster Stallworth are revelling in the excitement of their first child, Alexandra. "Life has become a brand new adventure!" Bob is in theatre. Toni is an international banker with Morgan Guaranty Trust. Hada De Varona is working for a law firm in Winston-Salem after graduating from UNC Law School.

Gene Schultz is manager of the Virginia Employment Commission office in Winchester. Wife Karen Kennedy is on the faculty of Shenandoah College teaching in the Allied Health Department. Debbie Smith and her "Man of Steel," Dick '68, have put down roots in Milwaukee, where Dick is marketing Vice President for Safeway Steel Products. Who says spring vacations are a relic of our College days? Linda Beard Davidson and Bill take off for a quick junket to Europe or Bermuda with a group of Linda's French students every spring. Linda is also a sponsor of the SCA at Meadowbrook High in Chesterfield.

Have a fine, warm holiday season, and take time out to write!

Editor's note:

Signing in at Homecoming '82 were: Linda K. Hawkins, Newport News, VA; Michael Horrom, Baltimore, MD; Janet McMahon, Arlington, VA; Jerry (and Nancy Richards '72) West, Chincoteague, VA; Bob (and Ann Owen '72) North, Woodbridge, VA; and Lytle Buckingham, Ivor, VA.

Hola! For those of you who have not taken up Spanish in your newly found spare time on Sundays and Monday nights, courtesy of the football strike, that's hello! Ater the stellar write-up in a recent Gazette on Andrew Purdy the rest of us are going to have to go some to top the kudos. Well anyway, let's give it the old College try.

Linda Dill is currently working and residing in Columbia, Missouri, as a Research Specialist at the College of Veterinary Medicine, where her husband is in his second year of "Vet" school. Their three year old also hangs his hat Rt. 7, Box 349 A, Columbia, Mo. 65201. Evy Dubois writes from Holmdel, N.J. (74 Crawford Corner Rd. 07333) to be exact) where she is on the staff at Bell Labs. She informed me that Mona Pederson (Law) recently received her M.S. in Genetics from George Washington Univ. and with husband Paul, a systems programmer at Montgomery County College, lives in Gaithersburg, Md. Mona is putting her new degree to work at the National Institute of Health. Evy and Mona would like to hear from Karen Trimmer '75, Cindy Moore, '74, and Lois Yates, '75. Another 1973 vintage alumni, Richard Lee Smithurst has recently been named principal at Williamsburg Christian Academy.

Bernie Herman, one of the King Dorn Crusaders, writes from Newark, Del. that he and wife, Becky add Lania Rebecca to their household this past March. Bernie is teaching American Studies at the University of Delaware and writing a book. According to the Red Baron, Dave Shields is teaching at Vassar and Alice Goerrant is Delaware's State Historic Archaeologist-what else from a William and Mary graduate!? Bernie beseeches Alan Waites and Tom Gibney to identify their whereabouts.

Patricia Rousch (Barry) sends greetings from Terre Haute, Indiana, where since 1981 she has been a research scientist at International Minerals and Chemical Corp. Preparation for her current position came in the form of a PhD in Chemistry from U Cal - Davis and the Western Electric Research Center in the Ivy League environs of Princeton, N.J. David A. Ridgely is in his second year of law school at American University. In his spare time, if that's what legal scholars call coffee breaks, he has formed TRISKELION Corp., a literary agency and production company with offices in New York and Alexandria, Va. (or was that Egypt?). Wife Victoria, a graduate of Va. Theological Seminary, is preparing for ordination this year.

Robert K. Abercrombie, now in Knoxville, TN., where he earned his PhD at the University of Tenn. after an M.S. in computer science from the University of Missouri, was recently named section head in a subdivision of Union Carbide Nuclear Division. Robert, his wife Amy and son Scott Reid (8/28/81) live at 11052 Hughlin Dr., Knoxville, Tn. 37922. Susan K. Vanderlinde represented the College earlier this month at the inauguration of Dr. Douglas Cater as President of Washington College, Chestertown, Md. Mary E. Betsy Burton (Jeter), one of our Phi Beta Kappas, has been named President and Chief Executive Officer of Bee Discount Stores, Hillsdale, Ill. Obviously her MBA from the University of Chicago and work within the Jewel chain also aided in her new position. Mary's address is 6186 Hickory Dr., Lisle, Ill. 60532. Rheta Allen (Daniel), armed with her BA and Marshall Wythe J.D., was hired in September as Assistant Bar Counsel of the Virginia State Bar, specializing in disciplinary actions. She served in the trenches for Henrico County and in private practice in Richmond, Va. from 1977-81. Her son, Larry Russell Daniel, is a William and Mary freshman and daughter, Wendy W. Daniel, is a high school junior. Husband, Ashley B. Allen is a Richmond attorney; their address is 6109 St. Andrews Ln., Richmond, Va. 23226. Dede Nelson, now in Grosse Point Woods, Mi., writes that her second child is due this month (what did you have, Dede?) and that she still occasionally commutes back to Maryland to complete some work for her old firm with her two and a half year old son along for the ride. Carol Mathews has provided me with an update on a number of "Burg" area 1973 graduates.

Carol recently worked at Eastern State as an activity Therapist while her husband, Bob, manages the Bonanza franchise in town. October, 1981 saw the birth of Melody Lee and now Carol is a homemaker and sings with the Sweet Adelines. Her address is 194 Skimono Rd., Williamsburg 23185. Lou Powers is tearing up the backgammon boards, while doing research for Colonial Williamsburg. She recently married Colin MacIntosh '66. Karen Vanderverff Dergon is living in Newport News, teaching elementary school and has a young addition to the family to care for these days. Adrienne Weinberger Schuette, where are you? Wendy Meadors Geiger '72 is looking for you. Karen Roinstat Nester, husband Reid and three year old son Reid are living in Winchester, Va. Patricia Weaver Kline and husband Marty '71 have Stacy - 4 and Brian-2 to guide around the Burg, when Pat is not working at the Williamsburg Public Library.

That about does it for this edition of "Newsbreak." Some of our M. I. A. 's should start communicating again and letting us know what they have been up to: So George Chalmers, Ronald Chance, Rena Childress, Charles Clements, Jean Greiser Kline, Keith Cooper, David Coppinger, David Corn, Vernon Craig, Keith Curry, Christopher Darton, Susan Elsa Diduk, Annabel Davis Edwards, and Michael C. Ellis, where are you folks?

Have a Happy and Safe holiday season, watch our for the elves and bags of coal marked "Extra Strength."

Editor's Note:

Signing in at Homecoming '82 were: Mike Smith, Michael E. Pollock, Marina Massaro Plecker, Rick Conway, and Laura Leigh Adams Venable.

Greetings everyone. I'm sorry I don't have any news from Homecoming this year. Dave and I were unable to go. But with a little luck, those of you who did go will write to let the rest of us know what we missed.

Happy Copley wrote to bring us up to date on herself and several classmates. For the last two years she has been working for Hapco, Inc., her own corporation. She provides a variety of information and data processing services which include freelance library work, word processing, and mailing list services. Happy agrees that this is a heck of a time to start a business, but "if you don't get going during a recession, you're not ready for the recovery!" She and Ernie are still living in Alexandria where Ernie works for E.F. Hutton.

Carol Kendrick Yost has finished her masters in marine biology at George Washington University. She is currently working with the chief lobbyist at the National Wildlife Federation. She and her husband, Fred, bought a house on four acres of woodland in Calvert County, Maryland. They say that living in the country makes up for the three hour round trip commute to D.C. Gasp! Janis Manning has graduated from George Mason Law School. She did it the tough way, by going for four years while working full time as a paralegal. She is now working with a patent trademark law firm in Crystal City, Virginia.

Linn Donat Glisson is working as a computer programmer at Computer Sciences Corporation on a part-time basis. The rest of her time is spent chasing 20-month old John. Linn and her husband, Andrew, live in Manassas where he works for IBM.

Bruce Pflaum is reportedly trading sterling for First National of Chicagol. He was in London for a month during the Falkland crisis and no doubt has stories to tell. Maybe his yearly Christmas card will enlighten us. That's a hint, Bruce. Thanks, Happy, for the scoops.

Barbara McCulloh will be performing in Dickens' A Christmas Carol at Ford's Theatre in Washington, D.C., over the holidays. She invites you to look for her backstage if you catch the show. Barbara is living in Alexandria and works as an actress in the Washington area. Apart from stage work, she does commercials, films, radio shows, and choreography.

Chris McKechnie Altier and her husband, Mike, recently bought a home in Arlington and would love to have visitors. Chris still works for R. J. Reynolds representing their steamship company, Sea Land. The Altiers ran into many old friends at the recent wedding of Wanda Dove in Danville. She married Col. Fred Green and is now the base commander's wife at Ft. Knox, Kentucky.

Connie Warren Desaulniers is in her second year as Publicity Manager for The Old Country, Busch Gardens. Her husband, Marcel, is the chef and partner of Williamsburg's newest and finest restaurant, The Trellis. No brag, just fact! Connie also sends news that Mary Beth Barney and Dan Hull were married on August 14th in Washington.

Karen Moran is living in Alexandria, employed at Ft. Belvoir, and working on a masters degree at night. She's very interested in forming a Bellevue alumni sub-chapter and would like any interested residents from all classes to call her.

Joan Harrigan is still in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, as a group sales manager with Hartford Insurance. She started skiing last winter and survived. She was not as fortunate with her lifelong ambition of owning a horse. She had one for a year, but unfortunately he developed an incredibly rare fungal disease transmittable to humans! After nursing him through two operations, she sold him and bought a Corgi puppy. She named her "Sneakers," no doubt influenced by Dr. Jenkins' Corgi of the same name. Joan assures us that she's much less expense and trouble than the horse.

Linda Debolt DuBose has been teaching English and Journalism at Poquoson High School for the last seven years. She is working on a masters in education at ODU. She and her husband, Clyde, are expecting their second child in March.

Scott Barnhill was married to Laurel Ennis in a candlelight service at the Wren Chapel on September 18th. They are living in Virginia Beach where Scott works for an engineering firm.

Douglas Wyatt Bethel was married in Fairfax on October 2nd to Patricia West, a 1979 graduate of Longwood College.

David Restuccia is working in Minneapolis as a freelance multi-image producer. His wife, Nancy Fuchs '76 is Membership Director at the Minneapolis Society of Fine Arts.

Dottie Mills Harrell is in Lincoln, Nebraska. Her husband, Mark, received his PhD in 1980 and is in the Forestry Department at University of Nebraska. As of last Christmas Dottie was a "water scientist" at the University Conservation and Survey Division.

Linda Eisenhart and her husband, Earl, had their first baby on July 26, Matthew Earl Eisenhart.

And finally, Doug Pilley, who is becoming my most frequent contributor to the '75 newsletter, was encouraged by fellow alumni to send futher news of his success in finding an audience for his poetry. Doug has had two well-attended poetry readings at the Portsmouth Community Arts Center with a third planned December 12th. Doug says he writes for the ear and has utilized taped sounds and music with the poetry, has shown slides during the poetry, and has performed a piece with two simultaneous voices. He claims he is not rich and is only practicing the art of survival in this world, but is pleased with his results.

Doug wonders how many classmates remember seeing Allen Ginsberg ('72 or '73) in the Sunken Garden by day and Blow Gym by night. He was lucky enough to meet him at a reception recently, and it also jogged memories of also seeing Buckminster Fuller, William F. Buckley, Dick Gregory, Ramsey Clark, and even the Red Chinese Ping Pong Team. He observed, and I'm sure we all agree, that he was grateful for the opportunity to experience these people at William and Mary.

QUILT RAFFLE WINNER

Mrs. Mary Brown, spouse of Dwight Brown '32 of Arlington, Va., has won the quilt raffle, which was sponsored by the Society of the Alumni for the Class of 1932. The quilt, handmade by Janie Gilliam '32 (right), was awarded at a drawing held at the Alumni Dance on Saturday evening, November 6th.

BROWN NAMED ALLEGHENY VICE PRESIDENT

Allegheny International '69 has announced the appointment of Alan K. Brown to Staff Vice President and Director, Compensation and Benefits. Brown joined Allegheny International in April, 1975, as Manager, Pensions and Benefits Compliance. In 1978, he was promoted to Director, Employee Benefits, and to Director, Compensation and Benefits in 1979.

In closing, Dave and I wish all of you a wonderful Holiday Season and a bright start to the New Year. Our next newsletter will be printed in April, but the deadline is February 24th. I'm sure everyone would love to hear about Homecoming, so c'mon... send it in!

Editor's Note: Registering at Homecoming '82 were: Sarah William Dixon, John S. Rhodes, Noah H. Palmer, IV, Ted Miller, Dave Mac Peek, Diane Hagemann, and Frank Ferguson.

As I recuperate from our fifth reunion yesterday I am trying to recall the bits and pieces of news I picked up. It was great to see so many of you as was evident by the number of people in our class picture. The cocktail party provided us with additional time to catch up on each other's news.

For those of you who missed all the fun, I will fill you in. Sherry Poskanzer Wainger is now with CSX in their internal audit department in Baltimore, MD. Mark Palmer has joined the Marriott Corporation at their headquarters outside of Washington, D.C. Gary and April Wells LeClare are living in Hickory, N.C. where Gary is a clerk for a judge and April manages a Limited store.

Rich Sisisky is general counsel for the Pepsi Cola Bottling Co. of Petersburg. Congratulations to Rich's father, Norman Sisisky, who was recently elected to Congress.

Congratulations to Ginny Youngblood who has received her Ph.D. in Chemistry from Yale and is now employed by DuPont in Wilmington, Del. She married Tom Yoke on January 2, 1982. Carrine Klingman Reilly works in the tax department of Arthur Anderson in Baltimore, Md.

Mo Lawlor is doing her residency in Bryn Mawr, Pa. In Arlington, Va. Annie Tisdale is teaching special education. Cathy Wilson LaMon has moved to Princeton, N. J. where she is still with IBM.

Terri Shelton Anastopoulos was married to Mark in May, 1980. They are both finishing up their Ph.D.'s in clinical psychology at Purdue. They met at Wake Forest where Terri received her master's in psychology. She plans to do a pediatric internship at the Oklahoma Health Sciences Center.

Congratulations to Don Thomson on the birth of a son, James Doniphan, on August 10, 1982. Neil Hammerstrom, who works for Edwin Meese in D.C., arranged to have President Reagan send a congratulatory note from the Oval Office. Don is still a salesman for Old Dominion Box Co. in Greenville, S.C.

Anne Weekly Thompson and husband, Tom, have moved back to Savannah, Ga. after 1 1/2 years in Roanoke, Va. Tom is supervisor of accounting/data processing with the Housing Authority and Anne is on senior staff of the physical therapy department of the county medical center.

After graduating from the medical college of Virginia School of Dentistry, David Forrest began his residency in the specialty in orthodontics at Columbia University. Ellen Burkhardt will receive her master of public health degree shortly from the University of Michigan - Ann Arbor with a concentration in nutrition and health planning/administration. She worked this summer as a WIC nutritionist with migrant farmworkers on the eastern shore of Maryland.

Best wishes to Diane Hull who married Robert Gansauer on August 28, 1982 in Pittsburgh, Pa. Also married this summer was Susan Stewart to David Bowles on July 17, 1982. They are living in Richmond, Va., where Susan teaches first grade.

Susan Cleghorn is back in the Tidewater area after living in Texas for a few years. Greg Strohkorb is now working for the Arabian American Oil Co. in Dhahran, Saudi Arabia. He and Sylvia Lundquist plan a summer wedding in Williamsburg next year.

From Wyoming, Carol Sorelle writes that she is married to Jim Pederson, physician associate, who does emergency medicine and runs a clinic. Carol received her master's in special education for gifted and talented children and coordinates the gifted and talented program for their district.

That is all the news this month. Keep those letters coming. We all want to hear from you. Alumni registered at Homecoming 1982, Class of 1977:

It's very hard to believe that our fourth homecoming has come and gone and that we are approaching the end of another year. Where does the time go? And given the letters I've received, we all seem to have made a lot of changes in our lives since graduation.

Holly Trester Sager was married in October following graduation and now she and her husband, Alan, reside in Waynesboro. Holly is working with the University of Virginia as a laboratory specialist in cancer research. She has been in contact with Leslie Berry, who graduated from the M.C.V. School of Nursing in May 1981. Leslie is now with the Surgical Intensive Care Unit at M.C.V.

Mary Ann Heyser Wright is now in her fourth year of teaching sixth grade and this summer began work on her masters in administration and supervision. Margaret Nelson has moved to San Francisco and a new job. Sherry Jennings is still working on the Hill and enjoying life in Washington. Sherry and Mary Ann were in Patti Pritchard Willis's wedding in August. Patti married a fellow Marshall-Wythe law student. Anna Barron was also in the wedding. Anna is still in Norfolk working for the Ledger-Star paper. Jane Clemmer Bromfeld now resides in Chattanooga and Christy Trotman Murray had a baby in June. Karen Quigg and Robin Hunter are teaching at the same high school in Richmond. Linda Layne Mallory and her husband have recently bought a house in the Lynchburg area and Susie Buchwalter O'Dell and her husband are in Charlottesville taking advantage of the schools in the area.

Mary Ann Wright was married to an IBM engineer, Mark Dodge, in September. Mary Ann spent her summer with wedding plans and working a lot of overtime at IBM. Linda Ciavarelli was one of Mary Ann's bridesmaids. Linda has become an emergency medical technician as well as a volunteer for the local rescue squad in her spare time. She recently started a new job in analytical chemistry at Novo Laboratories.

Bob Brown is still working for Data Resources, Inc., here in Washington as a senior economist. He has also started back to school this fall at George Washington University to work on his masters in economics. Mark Watson has come back to D.C. to work as a research economist at the Office of Management Budget. Bobby Morrow finished law school at U.Va. and is now working for White and Case in New York. Dave Mushinski is in his final year of law school at U.Va. and spent his summer in Carson City as a clerk for a Nevada Supreme Court Justice. Terry Coe is in his second year of business school at U.N.C.

Libba Galloway is living in Louisville, where she practices law. Karen Buckley has moved to Arkansas with her husband and one-year old son. Karen teaches college algebra at the University of Arkansas and consults in micro-computer programming. Page Taylor has been promoted to assistant vice president of Wheat Investment Advisors, Inc., in Richmond.

In October I attended the wedding of Debbie Dahl and Doug Caldwell '81 in Staunton. Debbie owns and runs Wicker and Wood in Staunton. Also at the wedding were Ellen Cassanos, who is a city planner in Fort Lauderdale; Emmy Allen Parrino, who is working on her masters in accounting at U.Va.; Sharon Dodson, who works with social services in Staunton and is getting her masters degree from James Madison University; Kathy Baker Seidel, who resides with her husband, Ed, in Philadelphia; Mary Keen, who has recently moved to Reisterstown, Maryland, as an assistant manager of a new Murphy's Mart; and Ann Birch Pierce, who lives in Fredericksburg with her husband, Dave '78, and is expecting a baby in February. It was really good to see some William and Mary folks; graduate school seems to get in the way of such things as Homecoming. I hope all of you who made it to Homecoming had a good time and will write with all the news of our fellow classmates as well as with the news of what you've been doing since graduation.

Editor's Note: Signing in at Homecoming '82 were: Andrew Lark, Pete Evanow, Anne Howard, Diane Oakes Pierce, Jim Carter and Nancy '80, Jeff Martorana, and Katherine Vlannes.

As the holiday season sneaks up on all of us, I think the William and Mary Class of '81 should ask ol' S. Claus for a 48 hr. day. Everyone sounds so busy and energetic with his post William and Mary life.

As recent news reveals, the '81 workforce is continuing to tear up the business world-both nationally and internationally. Riley Bates has recently been relocated to the other side of the world. After spending last winter and spring in Denver, Co., working for Exlog Corp., a division of Baker International, Riley is now in Singapore and working within a 1000 mile radius of Singapore for Exlog. No doubt Riley would be happy to see a familiar face if any of you happen to be out that way.

Back in the Old Dominion, '81 grads are continuing to bring laud to their alma mater as they strike out on new projects and with new promotions. Mark Lanier is working in Richmond for VEPCO on a project he's really excited about - and no doubt Virginia residents will be, too. The project is called C. P. T. S. - Cost Planning and Tracking. And one of the benefits of the project? Lower utility bills! Sounds pretty good! And, the latest rumor has it that Jimmy Hall is also working for VEPCO in Richmond, though I don't know exactly what he's doing.

As usual, the William and Mary grads are continuing to make their presence known in the Northern Virginia/D.C. area. After gathering experience and knowledge in an internship as press assistant with the Public Relations Dept. at Wolf Trap Farm Park for the performing Arts, Michael Clem has taken the position of Assistant Director of Marketing and Exhibit Services for a computer registration and data analysis firm operating nationwide from its main offices in Frederick, Md. And, in the White House, Debra Williams has accepted a position on the staff as the receptionist to the presidential science advisor, Dr. George A. Keyworth. Jeff and Debbie (Watson) Campana have recently moved from Pittsburgh to Alexandria where Jeff has been transferred to the Old Town Alexandria office of the Hartford Insurance Group. Debbie is currently looking for a job in the area in telecommunications (network planning and building). And Stephanie Buchanan is busy juggling her new promotion with C&P and her recent marriage. Stephanie is now an Account Executive - Industry Consultant with C&P telephone and will be moving to the new AT&T subsidiary offices of American Bell in Washington, D.C. the first of the new year. On October 9, Stephanie and Jeffrey Berkin ('78) were married and are now busy fixing up their new house in the "spare" time.

But not only in Virginia are the '81 William and Mary grads making their presence know. Susan Amati has recently moved from Killeen, Texas to Chicago, Ill. as the result of her recent promotion to Asst. Staff Mgr. in Rate Planning for the Centel Corporation. Tom Peterson, after earning his masters degree in Environmental Management from Duke University, is now the assistant director of the Arkansas Conservancy, a private, non-profit organization which identifies, protects and manages unique natural areas.

MUSCARELLE MUSEUM TOUR

Museum Director Glenn D. Lowry (left) led a tour during Homecoming Weekend of the Muscarelle Museum of Art which will officially open on October 22, 1983. The museum's inaugural exhibition which will be on display from October 22 to the end of December will be entitled William and Mary Collects: Works of Art from the Alumni and Friends of the College. If any alumni have a significant work of art that they would consider lending to this exhibition, please contact Glenn D. Lowry, Director, Muscarelle Museum of Art, College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Va. 23186. Tel. (804) 253-4650.

LAW PROFESSOR PUBLISHES BOOK

Frederick Schauer, Cutler Professor of Law at the Marshall-Wythe School of Law, is the author of a new book "Free Speech: A Philosophical Enquiry," published by Cambridge University Press. According to the author, the book is a philosophical treatment of what it means to have a principle of freedom of speech which is not premised on any political framework.

Special Events Division of ABC news after having spent a "very decadent year in San Francisco." Laura Sanderson is also in New York working for People magazine. Laura's first article for People was published in the Sept. 13, 1982 issue of the magazine. Congratulations Laura! And Nancy Jean Nowicki has recently been hired by the Philadelphia Inquirer as a member of the paper's sports staff. Though Nancy's job doesn't include any writing yet, she too is hoping to "break into print."

Kevin Perlowski and Janet Gaudlitz were married July 4 in Richmond and are now working in Rochester, NY where both are auditors for "Big 8" accounting firms - Kevin is working for Arthur Anderson & Co. and Janet is working for Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co. Len Brooks is a banker, covering the financial happenings on Wall Street and Jeff Anderson is keeping track of the food market for General Foods in Delaware. Jim Coogin is currently in Denver working for Sohio as a geologist.

On the military front, Gail Halstead has been commissioned as a Regular Army officer in the Corps of Engineers. She is presently stationed at Ft. Belvoir, Va. Watching out for U.S. interests abroad, 2nd Lt. Karen Layden is working in the U.S. Army Regional Personnel Center, Bad Kreuznach, West Germany.

Mil Narman is also living in West Germany, though on a more "established" basis than Karen. In June, Mil was married to Volkmar Rolf Risch in Bremen, West Germany. Mil and Volkmar have established "home" in a large farmhouse in Nordenham, West Germany and Mil is teaching English at a nearby college.

Back to "stateside" affairs, recent notes have revealed that quite a few '81 grads have established themselves in the educational field. Lisa Henning is currently working for Rutgers University as the Asst. Coordinator for off campus Student Affairs. Lisa served as the M.C. for this year's Freshman Orientation at Rutgers. Incidentally, while Lisa is coordinating programs and services for off-campus students, she is also pursuing her MSW in Administration from Rutgers. Tom Goff is teaching a "wonderful six grade class" on the western side of Virginia and apparently really enjoys it. In June, Caroline Bolte became Asst. Curator of Education at the Valentine Museum in Richmond. Caroline works with the programs offered to children through the museum's Junior Center. She loves the job and finds it interesting and challenging. And Mary Sue Busser is living in Arlington, Va. working for the Close Up Foundation (not toothpaste!) The Close Up Foundation is a non-profit organization which runs a government studies program for high school students and teachers throughout the country. Mary Sue finds the work interesting and exciting and is really psyched about her recent promotion with the Foundation. She is now a community coordinator for 4 areas (Dallas/Ft. Worth, Mississippi, Kentucky and parts of W. Virginia and Ohio) and handles all the promotion of the program within those areas. On the research side of education, Sandy Seidel is in Palo Alto, Ca. working for the Stanford University Sleep Disorders Clinic as a Polysomnographic Technician - more familiarly known as a sleep technician. Sandy says if any of you have complaints about your sleep, Stanford University is the place to go to solve your sleep problems.

As usual, there are quite a few members of the Class of '81 who are still in school working on graduate degrees. Their educational pursuits are as diverse as those of our classmates already pursuing careers.

Ann Smith is working on her Ph.D. in Anthropology at Tulane University in New Orleans. Ann is currently working on her dissertation project in Historic Archaeology.

Steve Mittweide is pursuing his M.Sc. in geology at the University of South Carolina while also working in Columbia for the S.C. Geological Survey. Also in the Carolinas, Joyce Jones is at U. N. C. -Chapel Hill working on her masters in Journalism. At the University of Kentucky in Lexington, Lynn Norenberg is pursuing a masters degree in Athletic Administration. In her spare time, Lynn is the graduate assistant coach of the Lady Kat basketball team at the University. Lynn also travelled with the team on its summer tour of Japan - during which it won 5 of the 6 exhibition games it played against the Japanese National team. Cathy Wilkinson is at the University of Iowa, School of Music working "feverishly" on an advanced music degree in Performance and Pedagogy. John Pirri, after working as a legal assistant for National Patent Development Corporation on Park Avenue in New York City, is now enrolled in a joint J.D. and M.B.A. program at the University of Toledo, Ohio. Returning to the studies after working for a Richmond advertising agency, Anne Merle Bryant is at Carnegie-Mellon University studying art and design.

Studying the legal system and its intricate workings, our law-bound classmates are hard at work: John Fessenden and Chris Hockett are both at U.Va. Law School, Mike Garrett is at W&M's Marshall Wythe, Hal Hicks is studying at the University of Richmond and Amanda Howe says she was "crazy enough" to return to her second year of law school at the University of Michigan.

And on the "home front," Joanne Sheppard Perkinson is living with her husband Michael in Matoaka, Va., and is extremely busy taking care of her new son (as of Sept. 20, 1982) Michael Joshua. Apparently, the "all-nighters" of the William and Mary days are now coming in handy!

Bob Wagner and I are busy out here in Southern California planning for our March wedding and moving forward in our jobs. Bob is really enjoying his job with the Campbell's Sales Co. and is learning a lot about the Campbell's Soup Co and the consumer market place! And I'm feverishly working on promoting Fluid Components, Inc. and its unique thermal dispersion flow, liquid level, interface and temperature sensors (needless to say, I'm still "feverishly" learning about the Control & Instrumentation marketplaces too!). And, in my few hours of spare time each week, I'm trying to plan a March wedding which is quickly sneaking up on me.

Thanks to everyone who gave me news for this writing of the Class of '81 Notes. As the winter falls upon us and you're all sitting leisurely in front of your fireplaces, take a minute and jot me a note about what you and other classmates are doing.

Have a wonderful holiday season!

Once again, this Fall's homecoming festivities proved an unbridled success both in the quality of the social activities and in the record number of Marshall-Wythe alumni in attendance. The festivities began with a well-attended pre-game luncheon, and following an exciting gridiron showdown a cocktail party and reception was held at the campus center. The 500+ graduates and friends of the law school were offered a wide variety of refreshments on which to sip and an assortment of hors d'oeuvres, including smoked shrimp, crab-legs, and Pierce's barbeque, on which to sup. Much of the events' success must be attributed to Dean Mike Schoenberger, George Campbell, President of the Law School Association, and the social committee of the Student Bar Association. I am certain all who attended extend their appreciation and gratitude to these individuals for the time and effort expended on our behalf.

Richard Stern, JD '80, is pleased to announce the birth of his second child, Robert, last August 8. Richard is employed as a tax specialist with the I. R. S. Kenneth A. Krantz, J.D. '77 writes from shipside in the Western Pacific where he is stationed on the aircraft carrier Constellation. He presently holds the rank of Lieutenant Commander and states that he is enjoying the novelty of holding one of the few seagoing assignments in the Navy JAGC Corps. John Renfrow, J.D. '76 has settled down to practice law in Hobbs, New Mexico, after a 13 year stint with the Army. His firm, Maddox and Renfrow, works primarily in the areas of public utilities, corporation, and oil and gas law. Mary E. Holmstrup, J.D. '82, has recently been appointed Hampton, Virginia's, first woman Commonwealth attorney. William Scott Cooper, J.D. '77, writes that he has left his position as Special Counsel with the S.E.C. to become associated with Berry, Hogewood, Edwards and Freeman, in Charlotte, North Carolina. Dianne E. O'Donnell, J.D. '76, has also departed the S. E. C. She is now associated with the firm of Goodwin, Procter and Hoar in Boston, Massachusetts. Mel Windle, J.D. '53 assumed responsibility for management of the Eastern zone of Trans-America, Inc., Co., headquartered in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Thomas Hart Robinson, J.D. '73, was elected President of the Henrico County Bar Association. Alan C. Brownfeld, J.D. '64, writes a syndicated column which appears twice weekly in papers throughout the U.S. as well as abroad. He served as co-director of the Reagan Administration transition team at the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and presently lectures at Freedoms Foundation in Valley Forge, Pennsylvania. William M. Flyan, J.D. '77, is now living and working in Raleigh, North Carolina, where he is associated with the firm of Hemton and Williams. R. H. Kraftson, J.D. '67, is Vice President and General Counsel to Safeguard Scientifics, Inc. He was elected a Director of Safeguard in 1981. In the political arena, Helene S. Ward, J.D. '76, was elected Clerk of Circuit Court for Williamsburg and James City County and assumed office January 1 of this year. H. Vincent Conway, Jr., J.D. '73, was elected to his 2nd term as chairman of the Planning Commission for the City of Newport News, Virginia, this past January. Gary E. Legner, J.D. '69, is managing editor of the Michie Company, Michie/Bobbs-Merrill Law Publishers in Charlottesville, Virginia. Reverend Benjamin R. Bruner, J.D. '33, represented William and Mary at the inauguration of the president of Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Kentucky, last April. William W. Jones, J.D. '43, is currently serving as Chief General District Court Judge for the 5th Judicial Circuit of Virginia. Stephen M. Griffith, Jr., J.D. '81, writes that he is on leave of absence from Taft, Stettinius and Hollister in Cincinnati, Ohio, for a tour of duty with the Army in Germany. Steve reports that he is working in the same office as John Nolan, J.D. '78. James F. Booker, J.D. '77, sent along a nice letter in which he states that "since my last communication with the alumni association, I have become the father of a boy born in June of 1981, George William Booker." Jim also said that he and Michael I. Ashe, J.D. '70, are partners in the Norfolk, Virginia firm of Ashe and Booker, and have taken on Jeffrey Monroe Hallock, J.D. '80 as a hard working associate. Robert E. Scott, J.D. '68 was recently elected the Lewis F. Powell, Jr., Professor of Law at U.V.A., where he will teach commercial law and law and economics. Sheldon M. Franck, J.D. '75, M.L.T. '78, has recently become a partner in my firm here in Williamsburg, now to be known as Anderson, Emmett & Franck.

There are a few more bits of information to pass along, but it will have to wait until the next publication as I've just received a phone call from my wife. It seems she's about to give birth to our second child. I'll fill you in on the details next issue. . .

DEATHS

EDGAR M. TENNIS, '19, of Stuyvesant, New York, died July 30, 1980. A member of Kappa Alpha at William and Mary, he was a retired physician at the time of his death. Survivors include a daughter and a brother, LeGrand Tennis, '23.

JOSEPHINE ALEXANDER BENSCHOTEN (LE SUEUR), '22 A.B., originally of Buckner, Virginia, died May 10, 1981. A transfer from Randolph-Macon, she attended William and Mary on a scholarship. Following her graduation, she taught school in Virginia for two years, as required by the terms of her scholarship, and then became an editor in New York City. After her marriage to the late Robert Le Sueur, she served as a publicist for Columbia Broadcasting Company and later for Corn Products. She retired in July, 1974. Survivors include her sister, Winifred Benschoten Young, '24, and two nieces, Deborah Young Caufield, '55, and Caroline Young Petrequin, '53.

THOMAS PENDLETON PEYTON, JR., '22, of Crozet, Virginia, died January 30, 1982, of heart failure and lung cancer. A member of Kappa Alpha, he also attended the University of Virginia. At the time of his death, he was a retired salesman. Survivors include his wife Elizabeth, a daughter, and two sons.

EUGENE FIELD McDANIEL, '26, of Oakland, California, died January 23, 1977. He graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy in 1927, and at the time of his death was a retired Rear Admiral. Survivors include his wife Laura.

MARTHA VIRGINIA BUCK (WOODWARD), '27 B.S. of Hampton, Virginia, died December 12, 1980. The widow of Charles L. Woodward, she was a retired teacher. Her survivors include a daughter and a son.

DAVID STANLEY WEBER, '28, died September 3, 1982, in Warner Robins, Georgia. At William and Mary, he was a member of Kappa Sigma and the football team. Survivors include his wife Alice Chewing Weber, '28.

JANE COLEY (KITTEDGE), '29 A.B., died September 25, 1982, at her home in Princeton, New Jersey. A native of Philadelphia, she moved to Princeton in 1946. Survivors include her husband Clifford, one daughter, one son, a sister, Lenore C. Thomson, '31, and a brother.

MARJORIE HARDY (ELMORE), '32 B.A., of McKenney, Virginia, died August 30, 1982. A member of Kappa Delta Pi and Delta Kappa Gamma, she attended both the Dinwiddie and Petersburg extensions. She attended William and Mary from 1929 until 1930, when she began teaching at Darvills School in Dinwiddie County; she taught 6th and 7th grades there until 1933. She resumed teaching in 1946 at Sunnyside-McKenney High School, which later became Sunnyside Elementary School. She taught 5th grade until 1970, when she became principal. During that time, she continued to take courses at William and Mary earning her B.A. in August, 1957. She retired in 1972. The widow of Thornton Hurt Elmore, she was a member of Asbury United Methodist Church. Her survivors include two sons, a brother, and two sisters.

HUGH LAWRENCE BLANTON, '35 BS., of Blackstone, Virginia, died October 10, 1982. A transfer from Hampden-Sydney College, he began teaching and coaching in the Lunenburg Schools in 1935. In 1943, he became principal of Victoria High School, a position which he held until 1957. At that time he took over as Superintendent of the Nottoway County public schools, retiring in 1969. Survivors include his wife, Virginia Waddill Blanton, '27.

JOSEPH ROBERT DIETRICH, '35 B.S., died November 4, 1982 in Newport News, Virginia. A member of Phi Beta Kappa, Omicron Delta Kappa, and the track team at William and Mary, he earned his Ph.D. in physics from the University of Virginia in 1939. An international nuclear physicist, lecturer, and consultant, he was employed by NACA (NASA's predecessor) from 1940 through 1946, both at Langley and in Cleveland, where he served as head of the rocket section in the Lewis Laboratory. A past president of the American Nuclear Society and a member of the National Academy of Engineers, he served as Chief Scientist for Combustion Engineering in Windsor, Connecticut, retiring in 1980. He was instrumental in designing the engine used in the first atomic powered submarine, the "Nautilus."

RAY S. TRANSOU, '35, originally of Toano, Virginia, died March 18, 1972. At the time of his death, he was a supervisor with Briggs and Stratton. He is survived by his wife Hertha, a daughter, and a sister, Lucille T. Bach, '32.

MARIE LOYALL GRATZ (BOWLES), '39 B.S., of Montpelier, Virginia, died January 3, 1982, of a heart attack. A retired teacher, she taught at the same school for 32 years. She is survived by her husband Carl, and one son.

ELLIOTT PHILLIPS PAYNE, '40, of San Diego, California, died October 17, 1974. A member of Theta Delta Chi at William and Mary, he is survived by his wife Martha.

VICTOR A. BELL, '42, of Smithfield, Virginia, died April 16, 1979, of cancer. Survivors include his wife Caroline and two sisters, Sarah Bell Wainwright, '40, and Evelyn Bell Andrews, '45.

RHODA FLORINE HOLLANDER (SICHEL), '43 B.A., of Livingston, New Jersey, died November 16, 1981, of lung cancer. At William and Mary, she was editor of the Royalist, editorial assistant for the Flat Hat, treasurer of Chi Delta Phi and Chandler Hall, and a member of the Balfour Club, Wythe Law Club, Backdrop Club, Pan-American Club, the Freshman Basketball Team, and the J. Leslie Hall Society. An attorney for many years, she earned her LL. B. from New York University, where she was a member of the faculty and library staff. In 1972, she joined the staff of Walter Bystrak, Realtor, as a sales representative. She was married to Burton Sichel. Her survivors include two sons.

WILLIAM CARYLYLE GILL, JR., '44, of Richmond, Virginia, died of a massive heart attack July 9, 1982, while vacationing in Wyoming. At William and Mary, he was a member of Phi Kappa Tau, the cheerleaders, the track and cross-county teams, and the Flat Hat staff. He withdrew from the College in 1943 to enlist in the Navy, where he served as a pharmacist's mate with the Fleet Marine Force. Following World War II, he attended the University of Richmond, earning his B.A. in 1947. He earned his M.D. from the Medical College of Virginia in 1952 and began a family practice in Richmond in 1953, which he had maintained ever since. At the time of his death, he was president and a charter member of Richmond Memorial Hospital's medical staff; an assistant professor of family practice at M. C. V.; and an instructor for J. Sargeant Reynolds' Community College in office technique for medical office technicians. Active in numerous professional organizations, he was a past president and board chairman of both the Richmond Academy of Medicine and the Richmond Academy of Family Practice. He was also active in boating organizations and was a past flotilla commander in the U. S. Coast Guard auxiliary. He was a member and vestryman of St. Thomas Episcopal Church. Survivors include his wife Mildred, three sons, his mother, and a brother, George T. Gill, '45.

EVELYN COLONNA BERKLEY (HARRISON), '47, died November 2, 1982, at her home in Haverford, Pennsylvania. A native of Norfolk, Virginia, she moved to the Philadelphia area in 1950 and became involved in numerous civic and charitable activities. She was a past president of Associated Day Care of Philadelphia and a past board member of the World Affairs Council. Survivors include her husband Robert, her mother, and four daughters.

ROBERT EDWARD BARRITT, '48 B.A., of Kitty Hawk, North Carolina, died of a heart attack on May 20, 1982. He attended William and Mary from 1941 until 1943 on a football scholarship, leaving to serve in World War II as an Army Air Force pilot. Following the War, he returned to William and Mary, earning his degree in 1948. He spent the next 27 years as a special agent with the FBI, retiring in 1975. After his retirement, he and his family moved to Kitty Hawk, where he worked as a salesman for Southern Shores Realty. Active in a number of civic and professional organizations, he was a member of the Order of the White Jacket and St. Andrews by the Sea Episcopal Church. Survivors include his wife Shirley, a daughter, and two sons.

MARGARET MILLER ESHELMAN, JD '77, of Newport News, Virginia, died March 25, 1982. She earned her A.B. in 1961 from West Virginia University. Survivors include her husband Roger.

The Official
Oxford Buttondown

The Society of the Alumni is proud to announce that it has commissioned the Aetna Shirt Corporation of Baltimore, Maryland to design the Official William and Mary Oxford Buttondown Shirt. In business since 1916, Aetna is the exclusive licensee for such world famous designers as Adolfo, Givenchy, and Carol Horn, and has designed quality shirts for hundreds of outstanding stores, including Saks Fifth Avenue, Joseph Bank, and Lord and Taylor.

Men's shirts are available in 100% cotton and permanent press. When ordering, please specify regular or tapered cut, your neck and sleeve sizes, and the color(s) desired -- blue, white, yellow, pink, ecru, or lilac. Ladies shirts are available in all of these colors in sizes 4-16, perma-press only. Each shirt will be distinctively monogrammed with the Royal Cipher in navy on the cuff.

For a limited time only, the Alumni Association is able to offer you a quantity purchase discount. Regularly priced at $30.00 each you may purchase three shirts for $85.00, six for $165.00, or one dozen for $324.00. You may choose any assortment of colors and sizes to qualify for this discount. As your Official William and Mary Oxford Buttondown will be tailored to your requirements, please allow 4 to 6 weeks for delivery. To insure Christmas delivery please order by November 15, 1982.
