

Alumni Gazette

The College of William and Mary

December 1990 • Vol. 58, No. 4

Zables Donate $10 Million to William and Mary

Adding even more joy to an already-perfect Homecoming on Nov. 1-4, Walter J. and Betty Carter Zable of Rancho Santa Fe, Calif., members of the classes of 1937 and 1940 respectively, announced a commitment of $10 million to the College's Campaign for the Fourth Century.

Of the total commitment, $5 million will be used to endow scholarships for William and Mary student athletes. Another $2.5 million will be used to endow graduate student aid, with the remaining $2.5 million to meet the needs of various university programs in the future. The gift brings the total raised under the $150 million campaign to more than $92 million.

In honor of the Zables' commitment, the College dedicated the football stadium at Cary Field as the Walter J. Zable Stadium on Nov. 3, just prior to the kickoff of William and Mary vs. Furman University.

President Verkuil said the gift was "truly one of the most significant gifts in William and Mary's history, and it couldn't have come at a more appropriate time."

"By achieving a balance between academics and athletics," said Verkuil, "this gift reflects a hallmark of the William and Mary experience. As a fellow alumnus, I am proud to be associated with Walt and Betty Zable, two of our finest, and I am pleased to express the gratitude of the College's students and faculty."

Hays T. Watkins, rector of the College, said the naming of the stadium in recognition of the Zables is the ideal culmination of years of leadership on their part. "In the same way that they have left a permanent mark on this College, the Board of Visitors is pleased to extend an honor that will reflect their commitment to generations to come," Watkins said.

Zable is chairman and president of Cubic Corporation headquartered in San Diego, a highly diversified electronics company that has been recognized internationally in the field of electronics development. Zable founded the company in 1951 with a $5,000 initial investment, which has grown to an organization with total sales of $350 million and 3,800 employees.

In 1987, the NCAA acknowledged Zable's contributions to athletics by naming him winner of the Theodore Roosevelt Award, its most prestigious honor. Other recipients have included presidents George Bush, Gerald Ford and Dwight Eisenhower. "I have to thank sports immensely for my success," said Zable upon receiving the award. "Without sports I would not have an education, and without an education, God knows what would have happened to my career."

Although informally called "Cary Field," William and Mary's neo-Georgian style football stadium has remained without an official name since its construction in 1935. It was built on land adjacent to Cary Field, named for John B. Cary, whose family donated funds for upgrading athletic fields. The stadium, designed by J. Binford Walford, was intended to harmonize with the other Georgian-style buildings nearby. Part of the original $170,000 stadium construction cost came from the Depression-era Public Works Administration.

Walter J. Zable '37 enjoyed a moment with William and Mary students prior to the Homecoming football game Nov. 3 at which the stadium was named in honor of the former football and track All-American who, with his wife Betty '40, announced a $10 million commitment to the College.

President Verkuil, Betty Zable, Hays T. Watkins, rector of the College, and Walt Zable display the sign that now appears in front of the newly named Walter J. Zable Stadium at the College.

Walter and Betty Zable have provided extraordinary leadership to William and Mary in a variety of ways over the years. In 1976-1977, they served as co-chairs of the William and Mary annual fund. Zable has served on the boards of the Endowment Association, the Society of the Alumni and the School of Business Administration Sponsors, Inc. He received the Alumni Medallion from the Society of the Alumni in 1971, and in 1978 was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree. Zable currently serves as a member of the national steering committee for the Campaign for the Fourth Century.

As the Richmond Times-Dispatch noted in announcing the gift, Zable could be regarded as the epitome of a William and Mary student-athlete. He came to the College in 1933—amid the Great Depression—with athletic ability that gave him the opportunity to attend college. Like his classmates, he had little money but lots of drive and determination. He also had the mind for academics, majoring in physics and minoring in chemistry.

After receiving a bachelor of science degree from William and Mary in 1937, Zable continued graduate work at W&M and the University of Florida, receiving his master's degree in physics and mathematics.

Excelling in sports while in college, Zable was the Southern Conference low-hurdle champion, an honorable mention All-America football player and first team All-South Atlantic football player. He went on to play professional football for the Richmond Arrows and the New York Giants.

His sports honors have also included the 1962 Sports Illustrated Silver Anniversary All-America Team and induction into William and Mary's Hall of Fame in 1969. In 1979, Zable was the first recipient of the Distinguished American Award from the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame's San Diego Chapter. The foundation's highest recognition for athletic and humanitarian excellence, the Gold Medal Award, was presented to him in 1980. In 1981, Zable was inducted into the King's Island, Ohio, College Football Hall of Fame.

Prior to forming Cubic, Zable was project supervisor in charge of microwave and antenna development sections at General Dynamics Convair. His background includes engineering and management posts with Sperry Gyroscope Company, and key technical, scientific and administrative positions with Federal Telecommunications Laboratories of ITT, Flight Research Company, and Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company.

Although he was born in California, Zable was raised in Boston, and he had originally planned to attend Harvard, but came to William and Mary because two older football players from his high school had come to Williamsburg.

"I was going to leave after my freshman year," Zable said, "but it was so nice down here that I came back."

Betty Zable described William and Mary as "a place you fall in love with." She noted that in their home state of California, "our friends ... say 'There must be something special about William and Mary because the Zables are always returning for Homecoming.'" Zable added simply: "It's a place you fall in love with."

When he came to William and Mary, Zable was so strapped for money that he couldn't buy textbooks so he borrowed books "or read somebody's book." One year, in fact, he didn't even have $5 to pay for his photograph in the school yearbook.

Zable remembered that he came to William and Mary on a full scholarship, which included $35 per month for his room and board—"as long as I worked as a waiter in the dining room." In retrospect, he credits "sports immensely for my success."

Active in community, education and government affairs, Zable is a member of the Governor's California Economic Development Board and holds directorships on the First National Bank, National Football Foundation Hall of Fame, San Diego County Junior Golf Association, YMCA Corporate Planning Board and the advisory board of the San Diego Hall of Champions. He also serves as a member of the board of trustees for University of San Diego (USD) and is a past president of the Chancellor's Associates at the University of California, San Diego (UCSD).

Alumni Gazette

The College of William and Mary

December 1990

Vol. 58, No. 4

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- 1 Zables Commit $10 Million to W&M
College names stadium in honor of 1937 graduate.
- 2 Society Elects Five to Board of Directors
Acuff, Anderson, Ashworth, DeVita and Murphy named to board.
- 3-6 Alumni Enjoy Perfect Homecoming
Thousands return to renew ties with William and Mary.
- 7 Tribe Basketball Boasts Experience
Coach hopes team has come of age.
- 7 Football Enjoys Best Season
Offense sets records as Tribe runs up record number of victories.
- 7 Fans Pick All-Time Greats
Poll chooses Tribe football greats.
- 8 Muscarelle Honors Tradition
Muscarelle Museum of Art carries on longtime commitment to fine arts.
- 9 Triangle Chapter Voted Outstanding
Society honors its best.
- 10 Five Faculty Named Alumni Fellows
Dessler, Kincaid, Rice, Strong and Tracy recognized.
- 12-23 Class Photos Bring Back Memories
Homecoming reunion photos available to alumni.

The Alumni Gazette and William and Mary Magazine are published eight times a year by the Society of the Alumni of the College of William and Mary. Address correspondence, Class Notes and Vital Statistics (Births and Marriages) to Alumni Gazette, P.O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100 (804) 221-1842.

Executive Publisher: W. Barry Adams
 Editor: S. Dean Olson
 Associate Editor: Virginia C. Collins '77
 Design: June Skalak
 Photography: C. James Gleason
 Composition: Sylvia B. Colston
 Director of Administration and Records: Ben F. Kellam III '78
 Assistant Director (Society Services): Charles L. Kendrick '82
 Director of Alumni Affairs: Lee Johnston Foster
 Assistant Director (Reunions and Campus Activities): Elizabeth S. Littlefield '86
 Assistant Director (Chapters): Keith Reagan '88
 Assistant Director (Law School and OWJ): Suzanne Tucker

BOARD OF DIRECTORS
Society of the Alumni
 A. Marshall Acuff, Jr. '62, President: Riverside, Conn.
 John S. Entwistle '44, Vice President: Williamsburg, Va.
 Joseph W. Montgomery '74, Secretary: Williamsburg, Va.
 Carolyn Todd Schaubach '59, Treasurer: Virginia Beach, Va.
 Joanna L. Ashworth '84: Charlotte, N.C.
 Sarah Kemp Brady '64: Arlington, Va.
 Vincent T. DeVita, Jr. '57: New York, N.Y.
 Jane Ottaway Dow '55: Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich.
 Joseph J. Ellis '65: Holyoke, Mass.
 Anne Nenzel Lambert '35: Williamsburg, Va.
 Lucy Jones Murphy '48: Merry Point, Va.
 Ann-Meade Baskerville Simpson '65: Virginia Beach, Va.
 H. Mason Sizemore Jr. '63: Seattle, Wash.
 Rebecca Beach Smith '71, '79 J.D.: Norfolk, Va.
 Henry T. Tucker Jr. '72: Richmond, Va.

RINGING FAR AND NEAR

'As Often as Their Convenience and Avocations Will Admit'

By Barry Adams

The Society of the Alumni is only a little more than a year away from observing its 150th anniversary. Since the College of William and Mary will be conducting a grand celebration in 1993 it is difficult to determine, at this time, in what ways the Society's birthday will be illuminated. Certainly it will not go unheralded. After all, the Society, established in 1842, is the sixth oldest alumni association in the United States. (The first was formed at Williams College in 1821.)

Why venerate the anniversary of an alumni organization? The answer, quite simply, is that higher education in the United States today would carry a different countenance if alumni of institutions had never sought lifelong repatriations through interaction and advocacy.

To be accurate, alumni associations have not always been hailed as integral spokes of academe. Sometimes they were considered as merely social clubs having destinies which placed them in opposition to change or progressive administration. In 1870 President Porter of Yale had experienced a number of encounters with alumni when he said "alumni retain and somewhat liberally exercise the traditional privileges of all children, freely to criticize the ways of the household."

Despite experiencing some rough patches here and there among the nation's colleges and universities, alumni associations have been instrumental in the advancement of higher education. There are numerous historical accounts where alumni were critical to the continuance of institutions. There is even one unsubstantiated claim that alumni of a midwestern college prevented the local citizenry from "running the president out of town," but whether that effort further endangered the institution or salvaged its future remains in question.

The Alumni Society has a historical documentary similar to all other alumni associations. In most instances organized alumni efforts have ushered in the antecedents for what some administra-professors to the faculty."

For instance, Yale alumni were organized into classes as early as 1792 and information about their achievements were "published in a series of newsletters." By 1832 Princeton alumni who had organized its classes similar to both Yale and Harvard, began the first alumni-based fund-raising campaign — an effort to raise an astronomical sum of $100,000. They did manage to reach half that amount and the funds "were used to build a new telescope and add three

As the 20th century approached, the role of alumni efforts became more defined. The keeping of alumni records, the publishing of college magazines, the sponsorship of commencement and campus speakers, the recruitment of students, legislative assistance and career assistance often emerged from these early organizations. Most alumni associations today retain elements of those early initiatives.

When the Society's first president, Thomas Roderick Dew, a graduate of the class of 1820 and also the president of the College, drafted a resolution in 1842 calling for alumni meetings "as often as their convenience and avocations will admit," he, no doubt, already believed in an organized alumni movement. Across the country associations were formally established in the spirit which prevailed from much of the early 19th century. It had begun with a commencement call at Williams College in 1821 which simply cited that "the influence and patronage of those it has educated may be united in its support, protection and improvement."

Your ideas on ways to distinguish the 1992 anniversary of the Society of the Alumni would be most appreciated.

Five Alumni Fill Slots on Society's Board of Directors

Four alumni will continue to serve on the Board of Directors of the Society of the Alumni, and Alvin P. Anderson '70, '72 J.D. of Williamsburg has been elected to his first term. The election results were announced by Joseph W. Montgomery '74, secretary of the board, at the Society's Annual Meeting held Nov. 2 during Homecoming weekend.

Re-elected to their second three-year terms are A. Marshall Acuff '62 of Riverside, Conn.; Vincent T. DeVita Jr. '57 of New York; and Lucy Jones Murphy '48 of Merry Point, Va. Joanna L. Ashworth '84 of Charlotte, N.C., will begin her first full term after being appointed earlier this year to fill the unexpired term of J. Edward Grimsley following his appointment to the Board of Visitors.

Currently serving as president of the Society of the Alumni, Acuff is senior vice president and managing director at Smith Barney, Harris Upham & Co. in New York. Involved in numerous activities at the College, he serves as a member of William and Mary's Tercentenary Commission, trustee emeritus of the Endowment Association, and is a board member of the School of Business Administration Sponsors Inc. and the Order of the White Jacket.

Ashworth

In addition to other activities, he is chairing the New York Regional Campaign for William and Mary's Campaign for the Fourth Century.

The first member of a class from the '80s to serve on the board, Ms. Ashworth is assistant vice president and special events manager for First Union National Bank of North Carolina in Charlotte. Involved as both a student and alumni leader, she served as vice president of her senior class and was president of the Greater Metropolitan Washington, D.C. Chapter when it was named Outstanding Chapter in 1988.

DeVita, physician-in-chief of the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York, has been the recipient of both national and international awards for his work in cancer research and treatment. In 1976 he was honored with the Alumni Medallion, the Society's highest award. As a member of the board, he serves on the following committees: executive, finance and operations, bylaws, and Fourth Century.

Retired after a 35-year career as a teacher and high school librarian, Mrs. Murphy is involved in her community and various alumni activities. She serves as the 1948 class reporter for the Alumni Gazette and is active in the newly organized Lower Northern Neck Alumni Chapter, which she was instrumental in reviving. She is married to a classmate, William R. Murphy.

As a newly elected member, Alvin Anderson will begin his three-year term at the close of the board's semiannual meeting April 13 in Williamsburg. Anderson is an attorney with Anderson & Franck, P.C. in Williamsburg. He also serves as Commissioner in Chancery for the Circuit Court, city of Williamsburg and James City County. In addition to his involvement in numerous community organizations, he has participated in the College's Life After D.O.G. Street program, Order of the White Jacket, Athletic Educational Foundation, and has served as a class agent for the Marshall-Wythe School of Law. In addition, he has served as alumni adviser to Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. He and his wife, Betsy Calvo Anderson '70, have two daughters.

In reviewing the election results at the Annual Meeting, Montgomery reported that 3,118 ballots were cast from an eligible active member list of approximately 11,000 alumni. Of the total vote, 51 percent came from outside Virginia. The decade for 1980-89 had the largest voting turnout with 22 percent of the total vote cast by members of classes from those 10 years. This was followed by 1970-79 with 20 percent, 1960-69 with 17 percent, 1950-59 with 15 percent, 1940-49 with 15 percent and 11 percent from all classes prior to 1940.

Members of this year's nominating committee were Elizabeth W. Paschall '64, John A. Mapp '35, Cynthia Bennett Satterwhite '77, all of Richmond; and C. Lacey Compton Jr. '62 of Woodbridge, Va.

Murphy

Acuff

DeVita

Anderson

Nominations Invited for 1991 Alumni Board Election

All alumni are encouraged to submit names in consideration for next year's election for the Board of Directors of the Society of the Alumni. Information and supporting materials regarding each nominee should be submitted on a nomination form, available by writing Alumni Board of Directors, P. O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100, or by calling 804/221-1165. Nominations must be received by April 1, 1991.

Suggested nominees will be reviewed by the Nominating Committee, whose members will be appointed after the beginning of the new year.

The committee will nominate two individuals for each of the five board vacancies that will occur in 1992. The slate will be published in the June issue of the Alumni Gazette, and the election will be held next fall. All alumni who contribute to a recognized fund of the College will be eligible to vote.

Alumni and Friends Celebrate Homecoming 'Classic'

By Virginia Collins '77

In William and Mary Homecoming history, 1990 will go down as a classic. Bright blue, sunny skies, combined with near record-breaking temperatures in the 80s, matched the exuberant mood of alumni celebrating with friends and classmates. Around campus, on street corners, in local restaurants, almost everywhere in town, "William and Mary Magic" filled the air the weekend of Nov. 1-4.

The magic wand of Walt '37 and Betty Carter Zable '40 added a crowning touch to the weekend with the announcement of their $10 million commitment to the College. Magic was also at work in Zable Stadium at Saturday afternoon's football game. After the traditional Homecoming halftime show, the Tribe took the lead to make the Furman Paladins a disappearing act with a final score of 38-28.

And along with the team's magic touch, Frank Robert '82, '84 M.Ed. added a magical moment of romance. To the surprise of onlooking family members, not to mention the standing-room-only crowd in Zable Stadium, Robert proposed to Beth Austin via an airplane message that circled the stadium during the third quarter. Ms. Austin's answer? A definite yes! After Robert's public proposal, he whisked his new fiancée away to Crim Dell where he presented her with a diamond.

The magical weekend was traditionally launched on Thursday evening with the Order of the White Jacket's annual banquet in Trinkle Hall. Guests of honor included 10 students who each received $1,500 scholarships from OWJ. Jim Moyler, food and beverage manager for the Holiday Inn-Downtown in Williamsburg, was named Patron of the Year for his leadership as president of Patrons OWJ, a group of local restaurant managers who support the mission of OWJ and Students OWJ. Allen Tanner '46 was presented with a meritorious award for his ongoing dedication to OWJ.

Also receiving special recognition were three individuals who were named honorary members of OWJ: Barry Adams, executive vice president of the Society of the Alumni, Edward Coco, "fund raiser extraordinaire" for the Moomjian Scholarship Fund, and Edward Irish, William and Mary's director of financial aid. Last but not least, outgoing president Maxey B. Davis '39 received a round of applause and was presented with a resolution honoring his service by immediate past president Jim Anthony '52.

Winners of the golf tournament held Friday at the Golden Horseshoe Golf Course included the foursome of Gene Griffin '66, Mike Greenwood '66, Gray Coughlan and Ralph Johnston '73 with a final team score of 63. Winning nearest to pin were Barbara Borst '50 and Henry Clark '62, and recognized for longest drive were Elly Flagg '50 and Brian Bates '83.

Tennis enthusiasts competed in the 13th Annual Sandy Kelly '77 Tennis Tournament at William and Mary Hall courts. Winners were Jerry Pugh '68, Penny Simpson '63, Donald Beck '64 and Carol Achenbach Wright '49.

Alumni from 1924 to 1989 crowded the dance floor at the annual Awards Dinner/Dance sponsored by the Society of the Alumni Friday evening at the Williamsburg Lodge. Following dinner, awards were presented, including the Society's highest award, the Alumni Medallion, to Stewart H. Gamage '72, John A. Mapp '35 and President Paul R. Verkuil '61.

Commenting on William and Mary's demanding academic standards, Ms. Gamage said, "It's not so much that we got into William and Mary but what we got out of it—the lasting friends and associations."

Stating that being president of William and Mary had given him "a rare opportunity to relive my life here," Verkuil went on to say "This is the best possible spot to be if you want to learn, grow, improve and live up to your potential."

Also honored at the annual dinner were this year's Alumni Fellows: David Dessler, associate professor of government; Rex Kincaid, associate professor of mathematics; Gary Rice, associate professor of chemistry; John Strong, assistant professor of business administration; and Eugene Tracy, associate professor of physics.

The Outstanding Chapter Award for 1990 went to the Triangle (North Carolina) Alumni Chapter, and an honorable mention award was presented to the Greater Metropolitan Washington, D. C. Chapter.

Four Annual Giving Awards were presented. The Class of 1925 Trophy for the most outstanding increase in giving was awarded to the Class of 1936. The Class of 1942 received the Class of 1954 Trophy for best class percentage participation in the Annual Fund. The Baltimore/Annapolis Trophy, awarded to an outstanding individual with efforts or money for the Annual Fund, went to Donna and Fred E. Wilson Jr. '55. The Board of Directors' Cup for best all-around in support of the Annual Fund was awarded to J. Andrew Lark '79.

On Saturday morning, alumni, students and friends stood along Duke of Gloucester Street and Richmond Road to cheer the Homecoming Parade led by Grand Marshal W. Brooks George '32. A total of 58 units, one of the largest turnouts in recent years, participated.

Bruce Stewart '27 and Mary Thompson enjoy seeing each other at the Olde Guard luncheon on Friday. Approximately 120 graduates from 1916 to 1940 met at the Wyndham Hotel for cocktails, lunch and a performance by the Botetourt Singers.

This year's Alumni Medallion winners, Paul Verkuil '61, Stewart Gamage '72 and John Mapp '35, were honored at Friday evening's Society of the Alumni Awards Dinner and Dance.

Winning first place in the float category were Delta Gamma sorority and Sigma Pi fraternity with their entry, "Mystify the Furman Knights with Tribe Magic." They received a $500 cash prize and will be permanently recognized with an inscription on the J. Wilfred Lambert Cup. Named winner of second place and a $350 cash prize were Psi Upsilon fraternity and Phi Mu sorority. Alpha Chi Omega sorority received third place and a $250 prize.

Winners in the band competition were Menchville High School of Newport News, first place; Salem Junior High School of Virginia Beach, second place; and Manor High School of Portsmouth, third place.

For the first time, area businesses lent support to the parade by serving as corporate sponsors. They included: AM 740-WMBG, Campus Resources Inc., Colonel Waller Motel, Colonial Rent-a-Car, Go-Karts Plus, Radio Shack-Dealer/Franchise, RJK Corporation McDonald's, Stadium Inc., The Daily Press Inc. and the Woods of Williamsburg.

A record crowd of more than 1,100 turned out for Luncheon-on-the-Lawn Saturday at the Alumni House. Classmates met and mingled over a Brunswick stew luncheon served by the Surrey House. The lawn was also a festive gathering spot for the nine reunion classes as they lined up for class photos.

Members of the Young Guard celebrated at a post-game party on the Alumni House lawn. Kristin Nahill '90 (center) went home with one of the door prizes, a William and Mary wool blanket, presented by Young Guard Council members Jay Austin '89 and Sharon Wible '90.

At the Young Guard party after the game, graduates from the Classes of 1986-1990 consumed nearly 600 hotdogs washed down with beer and soft drinks.

The Class of 1965 celebrated its 25th reunion in grand style with a variety of activities, including a weekend hospitality suite that opened Thursday evening and a Friday afternoon seminar featuring student panelists and professors John Thelin and Larry Wiseman. At the class dinner Saturday evening, gift committee chair Rich Kraemer of Tempe, Ariz., presented the College with a commitment of $275,000. With 144 class members contributing toward the gift, this represented the largest-ever 25th reunion gift since the program first began with the Class of 1961.

The Classes of 1945, 1950, 1955, 1960, 1970, 1975, 1980 and 1985 also celebrated five-year reunions with special dinners and parties throughout the weekend. As summed up by 1950 Class President Dick Scofield, "To say the Class of 1950 had a ball at 1990's Homecoming is the understatement of the history of recorded civilization. Hugging, kissing, vigorous hand shaking and other forms of greeting were a sight to behold!"

Everywhere during this sunny November weekend, "William and Mary Magic" went into overtime for Homecoming 1990.

Grand Marshal Brooks George '32 and his wife Elizabeth greet crowds along the parade route.

HOMECOMING 1990

Enjoying themselves at the Annual Awards Dinner were Joe Montgomery '74, Betsy Calvo Anderson '70, Linda Montgomery and Alvin Anderson '70, '72 J.D. (above); Betsy Nagelson and Mark McCormack '51 (left); Nikki Nicholau, Henry Tucker '72 and Robert Harris '61; and President Verkuil, who shared a dance with his mother, Elsie Verkuil, of Staten Island, N.Y.

Returning for his 67th consecutive Homecoming was Rolfe Kennard '24 (right). Shown with him at the Annual Dinner are his son, Shelby '57, and daughter-in-law, Laura Lee.

Alpha Chi Omega won third place in the Homecoming Parade for its float.

Maxey Davis presents Barry Adams, executive vice president of the Society of the Alumni, with a certificate recognizing him as an honorary member of OWJ.

Maxey Davis '39 (left), president of the Order of the White Jacket for 1989-90, poses with newly installed officers Jack Garrett '40, president; Allen Tanner '46, secretary/treasurer; and Denys Grant '58, second vice president. Not pictured are John Hodges '39, first vice president; and Chris Honenberger '74, '77 J.D., third vice president.

Timothy Harris '91, who received the H. Mason Sizemore Sr. OWJ scholarship, had an opportunity to personally meet and thank his benefactors, Hazel and Mason Sizemore, both members of the Class of 1935.

Immediate past president Jim Anthony '52 paid tribute to Maxey Davis for his year of service as president of OWJ.

Reminiscing before the OWJ dinner were (from left) Jack Martin '53, Carl Andrews '27 and Ed Wisbauer '52.

Ten seniors were each presented with $1,500 scholarships from OWJ. From left are Timothy Harris, Williamsburg; Reuben Merkman, The Netherlands; Douglas Glick, Williamsburg; Steffanie Garrett, Meqon, Wis.; Holli Weymouth, Richmond; David Meyrowitz, Melville, N.Y.; Nancy Bedel, Dayton, Ohio; Kristen Leavenworth, Fitchburg, Mass.; Kirsten Quitno, Suffield, Conn.; Alicia Foltz (president of Students OWJ), Chesterfield, Va.; and Arthur "Bud" Metheny '40, who presented the awards.

HOMEcoming 1990

Winners of Friday's tennis tournament held each year in memory of Sandy Kelly '77 were Penny Simpson '63 (left), Donald Beck '64, Carol Achenbach Wright '49 and Jerry Pugh '68 (not pictured).

The M.B.A. Class of 1980 celebrated its 10th reunion at a dinner Friday evening.

Claiming victory in Friday's golf tournament was the team of (from left) Gene Griffin '66, Ralph Johnston '73, Mike Greenwood '66 and Gray Coughlan.

As twilight fell in the Wren Courtyard, alumni and friends paused to remember deceased alumni during Friday's annual Sunset Ceremony. The Rev. Jere Bunting '50 offered remarks while Ann-Meade Baskerville Simpson '65 (left) and Marshall Acuff '62 read the memorial roster. Also participating were the William and Mary Choir, Queen's Guard and student trumpeters.

Rick Rowland '78, '83 M.B.A. (far right), marketing manager for Tarmac Virginia, was one of several alumni who spoke to M.B.A. students Friday afternoon as part of Placement Day. The program offers students an opportunity to talk informally with alumni about career options.

What's involved in today's college admission process? Jean Scott, William and Mary's dean of admission, answered that question and more for parents, grandparents and others at a Friday afternoon seminar during Homecoming weekend.

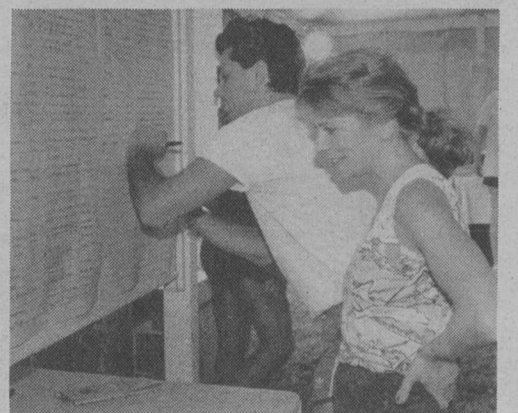

The registration tent on the front lawn of the Alumni House served as a fun spot to see friends, sign-in on class rosters and find out who else had registered for the weekend.

Reminiscing with a photo album were Carol Rodenbaugh Allen (left), Grace Roselli and Mary Quinn Sale, all members of the Class of 1970.

Marshall-Wythe School of Law alumni enjoyed a full day of activities on Saturday, including a post-game victory barbecue at the law school. Tim Sullivan '66, law school dean, visits with Chris Mellott '80 J.D., chair of the law school annual fund, Linda Kaplan '69 and the newest addition to her family.

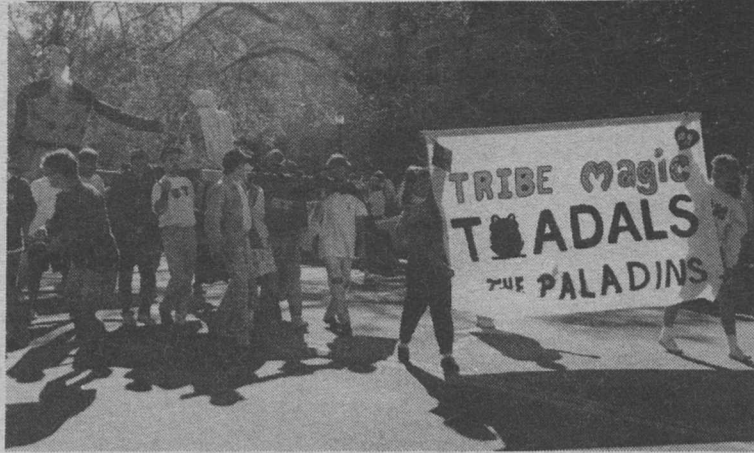

Catching up with classmates and friends were Al Gross '54 at the post-game tailgater (left photo) and Cato Tillar and David Edmunds at Luncheon-on-the-Lawn.

HOMECOMING 1990

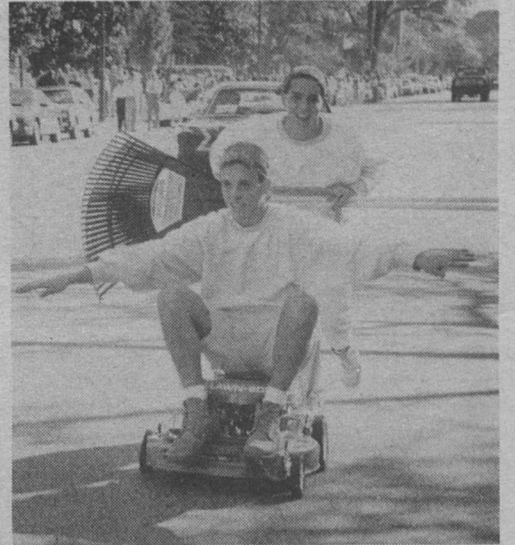

A dragon was the centerpiece of Delta Gamma and Sigma Pi's first-place Homecoming parade float, entitled "Mystify the Furman Knights with Tribe Magic."

Merlin the magician transformed a Furman Paladin into a frog in Phi Mu and Psi Upsilon's second-place winning float, "Tribe Magic TOADALS the Paladins."

Kappa Sigma fraternity members delighted parade-watchers with their annual lawn mower brigade and landscaping formations.

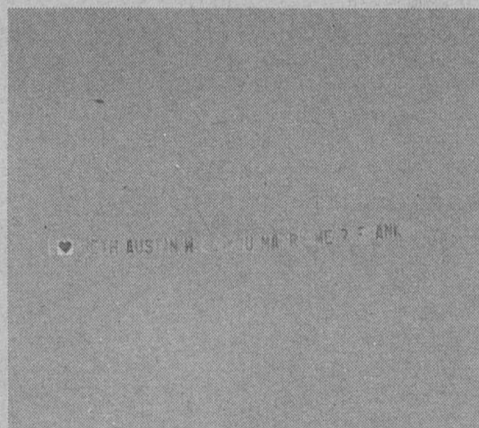

The Strath James Pipe Band provided a special addition to this year's parade.

Senior class Homecoming representatives Dave Snowden of Alexandria and Julie McEvoy of Flint Hill, Va.

Bill Prince and Elaine Elias Kappel represented the Class of 1955, which celebrated its 35th reunion this year.

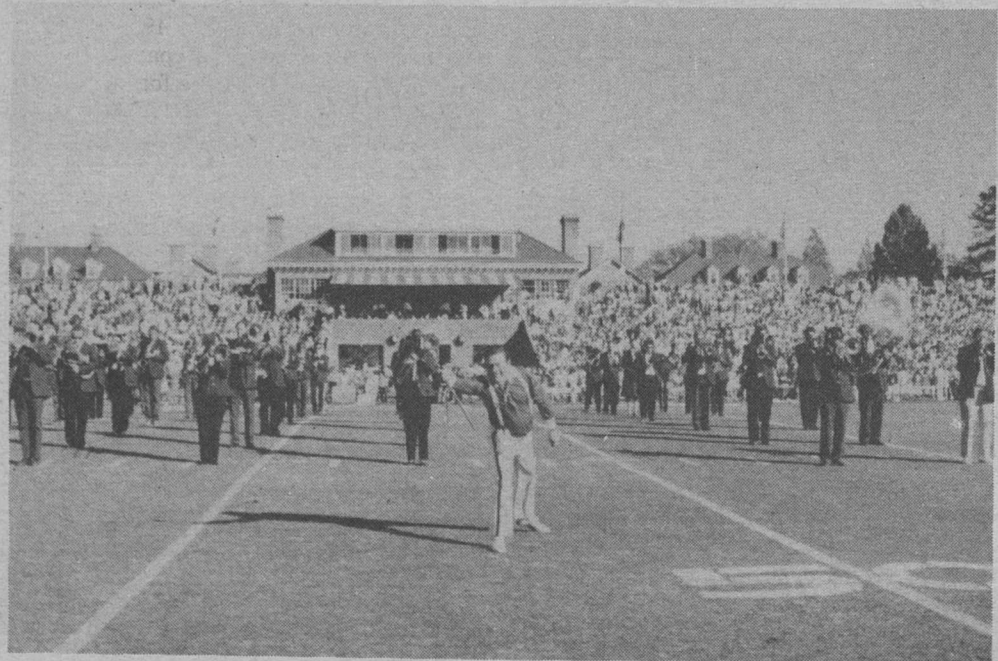

Adding even more excitement to an already exciting game was Frank Robert's airborne marriage proposal to Beth Austin. The answer was yes!

Junior class Homecoming representatives Terence Mandable of Melville, N.Y., and Deb Colavito of McLean, Va.

Sophomore class Homecoming representatives Jimmy Wildman of Atlanta and Karen McNeish of Vienna, Va.

Drum Major Jim Anthony '52 directed the Alumni Band in its annual halftime performance, while Charles Varner, professor emeritus of music, led the combined Alumni Band and William and Mary Marching Band in playing the Alma Mater.

Freshman class Homecoming representatives William Whitmore of Plano, Texas, and Christina Tottossy of Virginia Beach.

Tribe Basketball—More Experience, Faster Pace

By Bob Jeffrey '74

Chuck Swenson is waiting for the light to come on. That light will signal that his group of young basketball players have become a team that realizes it can win.

"You never know when a team is going to turn the corner. It doesn't have to be a dramatic win, it could just be some moment in a game when suddenly everything starts clicking out on the court, and the guys say, 'Hey, we could be pretty good,'" said Swenson.

Over the past two seasons William and Mary has struggled, winning only 11 of 45 games. But Swenson has stayed the course with some talented young recruits whom, he hopes, are now ready to step into the spotlight.

The Tribe started off on the right foot with a 89-83 victory against Division III Hampden-Sydney and followed that with a one point win over Davidson. They weren't always pretty, but they were wins.

The other lights Swenson expects to see are those flashing on the scoreboard as the Tribe shifts to a more uptempo, fast-break offense. "We have more offensive potential this year. I think we have a better chance of beating teams with our offense," said Swenson.

The Hampden-Sydney game was a case in point. After trailing by from three to nine points, W&M suddenly turned on a 15-3 spurt late in the second half, sparked by the athleticism of sophomore Thomas Roberts. The Tribe's 89 points were more than the team scored in any single game last season. Sophomore forward Todd Cauthorn led the way with 20. Roberts contributed 19, five in the second half. Sophomore point guard Brendan Connor hit for 15, along with six assists, and junior center Scott Smith added 15 before being sidelined with an ankle sprain.

This controlled run and gun mode is really constructed around the talents of the maturing players. "The way we're playing, pushing the ball up the floor, is an exciting style of play," Swenson said. "But we're not doing it for the fans, but for the players. They enjoy the aggressive play."

The team seems to be picking up from the last week of the previous season, when that light of respectability was visibly flickering. The Tribe won close contests against East Carolina at home, 74-71, and at UNC-Wilmington, 65-64.

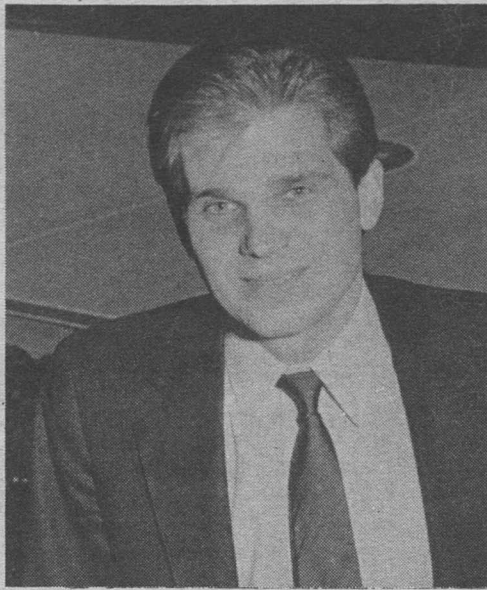

W&M also gave solid efforts in a losing cause against CAA elite George Mason and James Madison. Smith averaged over 20 points a game in the final five games, including a 39 point performance at GMU. Voted the team MVP, Smith was the leading scorer and rebounder (14.6, 5.6). Thomas Roberts, a 6'6" forward, shone all season long (14.0, 4.6) and was named CAA Rookie of the Year.

Both Smith and Roberts are back and much improved, according to Swenson. "Over the summer both Scott and Thomas got a chance to play with the CAA All-Stars on a 10 day tour in Yugoslavia. Not only was the competition top-flight, but the camaraderie and conditions enforced closeness.

As co-head coach of the CAA team, Swenson found time to concentrate on his two stars. "I got a chance to get to know them better, and I hope, to help their game a little bit," he said. Roberts also played on the East team in the U.S. Olympic Festival games in Minneapolis. Averaging 11.2 per contest in the Festival, Roberts led the team in minutes played and learned from master tactician and Princeton coach Pete Carrill.

Smith and Roberts, along with senior center John Leone, were voted tri-captains by their teammates. "I don't necessarily like to make underclassman team captains," said Swenson, "but these guys have been cast in leadership roles since they've been here."

Swenson mentions sophomore point guard Brendan Connor as another player who has returned this fall at a higher level. "He spent a lot of time working on his ballhandling, which was already pretty good," Swenson said. "His improvement opens up opportunities not only for himself as a scorer, but for our team in fast break situations."

Coach Swenson

Jimmy Apple, a 6'2" senior guard, returns to break up defenses with his outside shooting. Apple has averaged over 10 points a game in each of his past three seasons and has already joined the exclusive 1,000 career point club. Junior Ben Blocker, 6'6", 215 lbs., will alternate with Cauthorn at the other forward slot. Both have the ability to score on the inside and to bang the boards hard.

Blocker was playing some of his best ball ever last season before a deep thigh bruise put him on the sidelines. For the season he led the team in field goal percentage, hitting just over 60 percent and averaged 7.4 points and 5.2 rebounds a game. At 6'7", 215 lbs., Cauthorn shows signs of developing into scoring dynamo. As a freshman he tallied the last six points in the Tribe's one-point win over University of North Carolina-Wilmington, including both ends of a one-and-one with three seconds remaining.

Seniors Leone and 6'5" forward Casey Potts will see plenty of backup action, as will exciting sophomore guard Derrick Peters, one of the team's defensive stoppers. Freshman recruits Chris Jensen, Sean Duff, and Chris Ciaccio can all address one of the Tribe's sore spots last season—three-point shooting.

"Last year we were last in the league in shooting the three-pointer," said Swenson. "We need to be able to keep the defense honest and take the pressure off our inside game. Those three freshmen can all hit it."

When Swenson arrived from Duke University, he espoused the gospel according to his mentors Mike Kryzewski and Bobby Knight, relentless full-court man-to-man pressure, utilizing as many as ten players. For his first three years, the nature of his personnel prevented instituting that style. Now as he assembles his team, Swenson finds that his ideal might have altered slightly.

"I still feel a commitment to that style, but this is the first year we've had enough depth to play that intensely. We will go 10 players deep, keeping people fresh and at a highly competitive level by limiting playing time," Swenson said. The big difference in the equation is the ability of the players to light it up. "It seems we've experienced a turnaround in that we've been able to recruit good shooters and good scorers. If we continue to improve, it may be that our offense will be the focus," he said.

If that is the case, don't be surprised to see some upsets pulled by the Tribe. "We'd like to win some games people don't expect us to," Swenson said.

"There's much more parity in spots three through eight (in the league standings) than there has been for some time," said Swenson. "We want to be the most improved team in the Conference," he said.

It all comes back to that little light of self-confidence that Swenson feels is just about to blaze forth. "I'm just excited about the challenges of the season with these players who have shown such promise."

In Swenson's words, "When that lightbulb comes on in a player's head, telling him he's got a good team, that's when you can start playing at another level."

Tribe hoop fans wouldn't be at all averse to seeing that light shine.

Gridiron Season Recalls Good Old Days

By Bob Jeffrey '74

For William and Mary football fans, these are the good old days. The Jimmie Laycock era, from 1980 to the present, will someday be remembered as a period that provided some of the greatest football since the "Golden Age" of the 1940s.

The 1990 edition of the Tribe may prove to be the best yet of Laycock's illustrious squads. Certainly this year's model set new standards of excellence.

The Tribe broke new ground over the Thanksgiving weekend by winning its 10th game of the season, demolishing the ninth-ranked University of Massachusetts, 38-0, at Zable Stadium, and advancing into the second round of the Division I-AA football playoffs against the University of Central Florida. On Dec. 1, the Tribe's sensational season came to an end with a 52-38 loss to UCF in Orlando's Citrus Bowl.

Gaining the 10th win was a first in the long history of W&M football, going all the way back to 1893. The teams of 1942, 1947 and 1986 each notched nine victories.

"It's a tremendous achievement," said Laycock. "I'm extremely proud of the fact that we were the winningest team in the history of the school."

"We talk to our players a good deal about the traditions involved in William and Mary, not just athletically, but also academically. To be a part of that history and that tradition is something that our players take a great deal of pride in," said Laycock.

The epochal campaign further cements Laycock's reputation as one of the outstanding coaching minds in country and extends his record as the winningest coach in W&M history (70-56-2).

Such success is not taken for granted, but it has come to be a habit with Laycock. This was the fourth time in five years the Tribe had played in post-season, but this team was the first to make the second round of playoffs. Last year W&M fell to Furman, 24-10, and in 1986, to Delaware, 51-17, in the first round.

"It's an exciting feeling," said Laycock of the victory. "All season long we've taken the approach that we're taking one game at a time. Our players have stayed focused on that."

"We were a little concerned after losing our first game. But it's a credit to our seniors and the leadership they've provided that we've been able to maintain our focus after losing two games in September," said Laycock.

Through the rest of the season, W&M was on a roll, winning eight consecutive contests. Traditional I-AA powers Furman and Delaware fell, along with state rivals Richmond, VMI, James Madison, and tough teams from Lehigh and Bucknell.

For its performance, the Tribe was awarded the Lambert/Meadowlands trophy, symbolizing supremacy in Eastern football at the I-AA level. For the third consecutive year, William and Mary did not lose a game at home. The Tribe's unbeaten streak stands at 19 and extends back to a mid-1987 loss to James Madison.

Over the past decade Laycock's vaunted offenses have always been prolific, but never has a W&M offense scored so often, or gained as much real estate. For the last six weeks of the regular season, the Tribe ranked first in I-AA in total offense, averaging nearly 500 yards per game.

Making the offense even harder to defend was the emergence of a bruising ground game to supplement the always potent passing attack. Both junior tailback Robert Green and senior fullback Tyrone Shelton gained over 1,000 yards rushing this fall and were ranked first and second in career running yardage.

For the first time in Laycock's tenure, the rushing game received equal billing with the passing attack. Senior quarterback Chris Hakel joined a cadre of outstanding signal-callers who have flourished under Laycock's tutelage, including Chris Garrity '81, Stan Yagiello '85 and Kenny Lambiotte '86. With the benefit of the playoff games, Hakel became the first Tribe quarterback to throw for more than 3,000 yards in a season. His 3,414 yards passing eclipsed Yagiello's 2,962 yards in 1985. Overall, the offense set season records for the most points (467), most first downs (324) and most total yards (6,438). Green ended the season with a record 1,408 yards rushing and finished the year as the Tribe's all-time leading rusher with 2,668 yards. Wide receiver Mark Compher set a Tribe season record, too, with 1,182 yards rushing.

The unsung heroes amidst all the offensive fireworks was the offensive line. Center Greg Kalinyak, guards Reggie White and Tom Walters and tackles Peter Reid and Mac Partlow manhandled opponents in the trenches. With size (an average of 6'3", 272 lbs. per player) and skill, the line was the key to William and Mary's offensive productivity.

After the UCF game, Laycock still saw the season in a positive light.

"That's what happens in the playoffs. You have 16 really good teams starting, but only one of those teams will not end the season with a losing note. This does not in any way diminish what we've accomplished this season."

Fans Pick Top Team

Picture a pass from Stan Yagiello '86 to Walt Zable '37, with blocks by Buster Ramsey '43 and Bob Soleau '64 to clear the path. Would William and Mary ever lose if the all-time greats at each position could somehow be assembled?

Tribe fans got a chance to indulge in some "Back to the Future" fantasy this fall by selecting an all-time William and Mary football team, in conjunction with the 100th meeting of William and Mary and the University of Richmond.

The balloting was split between the generations, with players from Zable in the '30s to Steve Christie '90 being represented. A concentration of players from the '40s and early '50s teams of Carl Voyles and Rube McCray dominated the lineup. Quarterback Buddy Lex '50, running backs Jack Cloud '50 and Tom Korczowski '50, receiver Vito Ragazzo '51, linemen Marvin Bass '43, Lou Creekmur '50, George Hughes '50, Buster and Knox Ramsey '48, Ralph Sazio '47, and Tommy Thompson '49, and defensive back Jack Bruce '49 all participated in the glory years of big-time football at the College.

Garnering almost as many spots were standouts of the '80. Quarterback Yagiello, running back Michael Clemons '87, receiver Harry Mehre '89, linemen John Cannon '82, Joe Monaco '88 and Bob Sold-eritch '86, linebacker Dave Pocta '87, defensive back Mark Kelso '85 and kicker-punter Steve Christie have all contributed to the excellence of the Jimmie Laycock years. Also was also named as specialist for punt returns and Clemons for kickoffs.

Other honorees were running back Phil Mosser '72, receivers Zable and David Knight '73, linemen Joe Montgomery '73 and Soleau, linebackers Bob Gaskowski '66, Jim Ryan '79 and Steve Shull '80, and defensive backs Paul Scolaro '73 and Charlie Sumner '55. While many worthies did not make the final list, the exercise served as a reminder of the rich tradition on the gridiron that William and Mary possesses.

Museum Honors Long Arts Tradition

By Melissa Gill '82

It took William and Mary almost 300 years. The College's association with the fine arts goes back to the 17th century, when William and Mary began collecting works of art. In 1779, the College expanded its artistic affiliations by becoming the first institution in America to include a course in fine arts in its curriculum. Despite this venerable history, William and Mary did not have a space dedicated to the display and conservation of its collections until 1983, when the Joseph and Margaret Muscarelle Museum of Art was officially dedicated.

The museum serves not only as a reminder of the College's tradition of the study and appreciation of fine art, it also serves as a reminder of the generosity and loyalty of William and Mary alumni and friends. The Muscarelle Museum of Art is the only building on campus constructed solely through private support. Named for Joseph and Margaret Muscarelle, who contributed more than $1 million toward the construction costs, the museum continues to benefit from private support.

According to Mark M. Johnson, director of the museum, almost every activity undertaken by the Muscarelle Museum of Art depends upon private contributions. "We are fortunate to have several endowment funds which provide funds for acquisitions, exhibitions, and the conservation of our collections," says Johnson. "The museum also has benefited greatly from in-kind donations."

As befits a teaching museum, the Muscarelle Museum provides a broad overview of the arts. The permanent collection includes more than 2,500 original paintings, sculptures, decorative arts objects, prints, drawings and photographs. As the official art collection at William and Mary, the museum houses and preserves most of the university's historical art works, which date back to the College's early years. The permanent collection includes notable portraits by such artists as Sir Peter Lely, John Wollaston, Rembrandt Peale and Charles Bridges. Other significant works include a monumental Flemish Baroque altarpiece by Gerard de Lairesse, Georgia O'Keeffe's White Flower from 1932, and a 72-foot Trombe wall entitled Sun Sonata, 1983, by Gene Davis.

Most recently, the museum's collection of sculptures has been enhanced by the addition of Curled Up C by Lila Katzen. Acquired with funds from the Jean Outland Chrysler Memorial Endowment Fund and the Joseph and Margaret Muscarelle Art Endowment Fund, the monumental abstract sculpture was created in 1979 by Lila Katzen, an American artist known for her large-scale, site-specific sculptures. Her works have been exhibited at some of the nation's foremost museums and, in 1981, a duplicate of Curled Up C was installed in the courtyard of the National Museum of American Art in Washington, D.C. The sculpture has been on loan to the Muscarelle Museum of Art since 1983, when it was placed near the museum entrance at Katzen's instructions.

The Muscarelle Museum of Art also recently received a mid-19th-century argillite panel pipe made by the Haida, a people native to the Northwest coast of Canada. The pipe is a gift from alumni Frederick and Lucy S. Herman. The Hermans, long-time benefactors of the museum, announced last year that they will donate their collection of Native American art, which consists primarily of Inuit drawings, but also includes drawings by Aleuts (American Eskimos), Inuit carvings, Northwest Coast Indian drawings and carvings, American Indian drawings and carvings, and material from Central America.

The collection is eminently suited to the museum's mission, which is intended to supplement classes in history and humanistic disciplines as well as art. In a letter to Johnson, Mr. Herman noted: "We feel very strongly that this collection is not only of interest from an aesthetic viewpoint but that Inuit drawings, which evolved over the last 40 years, will give the College students and other museum visitors a chance to see a nomadic society evolve to a settlement society as shown in their art."

In addition to the newly created Frederick and Lucy S. Herman Collection of Native American Art, the Hermans founded the Maria Herman Lania Collection at the museum, which has grown to include approximately 75 contemporary German prints. The Herman Foundation also has committed to the future placement of a distinguished and large Old Master drawing collection at the Muscarelle Museum.

Within three years of its dedication, the Muscarelle Museum of Art had outgrown its allotted space. A 1987 addition more than doubled the size of the facility. The museum now boasts six exhibition galleries, three art storage rooms, preparator and shop areas, and office space to accommodate the eight full-time staff members.

As Johnson points out, there is much more to a museum than the objects it holds. Proper care and conservation of the collections is integral to the museum's mission, and this too depends upon private support. During three of the previous four years, the Muscarelle Museum of Art has received federal grants to preserve key works. Sixty-three objects have been professionally conserved and hundreds of other items have received in-house treatment.

Exhibitions are frequently the subject of coordinated symposia, lectures, demonstrations, film series and gallery talks. The "Music at the Muscarelle" concert series features chamber music performed by both professional and advanced student musicians.

One measure of a museum's effectiveness is its ability to attract a growing number of constituents. In its first year, approximately 8,000 people visited the Muscarelle Museum of Art. Since 1988, the museum has attracted more than 50,000 visitors annually. This represents an increase of 600 percent over the six-year period since the museum's opening. College students and faculty, area residents, special interest groups and children's classes add to the thousands of Williamsburg-area visitors who visit the museum and enjoy its programs.

Rich Kraemer '65 (right) presents the 25th reunion gift of $275,000 to President and Mrs. Verkuil.

1965 Class Gift Sets Record

Members of the class of 1965 have committed a record-setting $275,000 to the College in recognition of their 25th reunion. Richard C. Kraemer of Tempe, Ariz., chair of the class gift committee, presented the gift to President Paul R. Verkuil at the class dinner Nov. 3 during homecoming weekend.

Of the total commitment, most will be used to endow a Class of 1965 Merit Scholarship. Income from the endowment will provide tuition, room, board and fees for all four years to a top scholar athlete. The recipient will be selected based on an excellent academic record, strong leadership ability and participation in intercollegiate athletics.

In addition, $50,000 of the gift has been dedicated to the planned expansion of the College's Alumni House, for which $3 million in private funds is being sought as part of William and Mary's Campaign for the Fourth Century. In recognition of the class's generosity, a proposal will be made to the Board of Visitors and the Society's board to name a primary meeting room in the new Alumni Center in honor of the Class of 1965.

"This gift marks a milestone in terms of alumni support for the new Alumni Center," said Marshall Acuff, president of the Society of the Alumni. "We are most grateful to the Class of 1965 for showing its spirit and commitment not just for the structural facility, but for what the bricks and mortar represent in our overall efforts to serve alumni."

The class of 1965 gift topped three previous records for 25th reunion gifts to William and Mary. It represents not only the largest-ever 25th reunion gift, but also the largest in numbers of donors and percentage of class members contributing. The commitment brings to more than $1 million the amount raised comprehensively by William and Mary's 25th reunion classes since the program first began with the Class of 1961.

"The level of support and generosity shown by members of the class of 1965 represents a tremendous source of pride for William and Mary," said Verkuil. "With dual support for scholar athletes and the Alumni House, their gift will benefit some of William and Mary's most outstanding students as well as the thousands of alumni who will visit and use the Alumni Center in years to come."

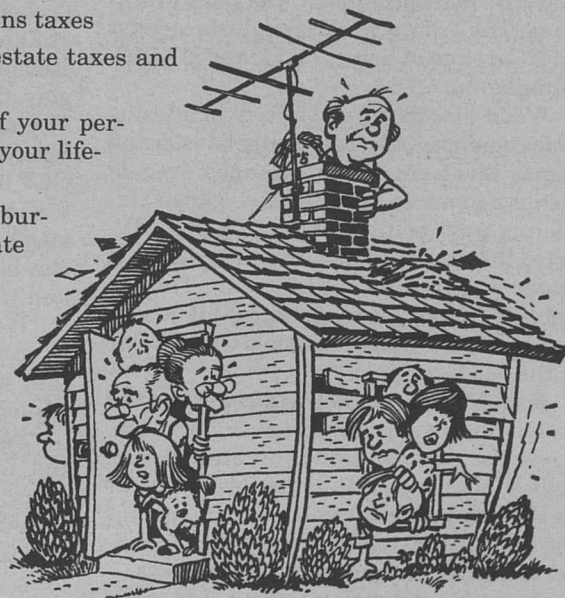

Are You Getting Real Benefits From Your Real Estate?

A gift of your home, vacation property or other real estate to William and Mary can provide important benefits to you. Depending on the option you choose, such benefits may include:

- increased income for life for you or a loved one
- immediate income tax savings
- avoidance of capital gains taxes
- probable reduction in estate taxes and probate fees
- continued enjoyment of your personal residence during your lifetime
- freedom from the many burdens of owning real estate

Best of all, you'll have the satisfaction of making a significant gift to William and Mary while meeting your personal and family financial needs.

For further information, write or call. There is no obligation.

WILLIAM & MARY
The Campaign For The Fourth Century

Robert S. Dutro, Esq.
Director for Estate Planning
College of William and Mary Development Office
Williamsburg, VA 23185

Please send more information on the many ways and benefits of giving real estate to William and Mary

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ State _____ Zip _____
Date of Birth _____
Month Day Year

Triangle Chapter Voted Outstanding for 1990

Tribe pride is alive in North Carolina's Triangle Alumni Chapter! Based on accomplishments of the past fiscal year, the group has been named Outstanding Chapter of the Year for 1990 by the Board of Directors of the Society of the Alumni. The Greater Metropolitan Washington, D.C. Chapter has been recognized with an honorable mention award.

Representing approximately 400 alumni in the Raleigh-Durham-Chapel Hill area, the Triangle Chapter has taken the lead in a number of activities this year. One new community service project is the North Carolina Adopt-a-Highway program. The chapter is responsible for picking up trash and otherwise beautifying a stretch of highway in the Research Triangle Park area. A sign recognizes the chapter's efforts.

In service to William and Mary, the chapter provided an undergraduate scholarship for the fifth year in a row, and several members participated in the College's annual Career Exploration Day.

Joining in a recent Saturday morning highway clean-up for the Triangle Chapter were (from left) Larry Kunz '78, Lisa Grable-Wallace '75, Terri '86 and Rob '85 Woods, Lynn Smith Swanson '75, Thom Mistele '85, Carol Binzer '81, Chris Harms Dulaski '61 and Lorrie Cone Pocher '76.

During the past year the chapter's eight-member board planned a range of social events, some of which resulted from suggestions members offered on biannual questionnaires asking for their feedback.

Incoming freshmen and their parents received a warm welcome to William and Mary at the chapter's family picnic. The annual dinner meeting was well attended with graduates from the '40s to the '80s turning out to meet guest speaker Ed Rhyne, professor of sociology at William and Mary. Yet another event, a dessert party, included voting on favorite desserts followed up with recipes in the chapter's regularly published newsletter.

The chapter also has been successful in expanding its membership by inviting new alumni in the area to an annual Mexican Fiesta/Newcomers Party. Changing this event from the spring to fall and targeting graduate students resulted in a 50 percent increase in attendance.

The transient nature of the Triangle area, with alumni often living there short periods while obtaining graduate degrees, presents special programming challenges.

"Despite these factors, our board and entire membership have worked hard to provide good programs and continuous leadership," said Carol Binzer '81, chapter president. "We are excited and proud to receive this honor."

Also serving as officers of the Triangle Chapter are Lorrie Cone Pocher '76, vice president; Lisa Grable-Wallace, secretary; and Alison Naylor Cleary '76, treasurer.

This is the second time in five years the

Lynn Smith Swanson (left), immediate past president of the Triangle Chapter, and Carol Binzer, current president, accepted the Outstanding Chapter banner from Society secretary Joe Montgomery (background) at the Annual Awards Dinner during Homecoming weekend.

Triangle Chapter has been recognized with the outstanding award. The first time was in 1986.

With approximately 8,000 members, the Greater Metropolitan Washington, D. C. Chapter represents William and Mary's largest alumni chapter. Receiving an honorable mention award this year and previously named outstanding chapter in 1988, the chapter continues to provide a range of programming for its diverse membership.

One of the chapter's most successful events this year was the annual spring banquet held in the rotunda of the British embassy. Sir Anthony Acland, British ambassador to the United States, brought greetings on behalf of the embassy, and President Verkuil was joined by other College representatives in presenting an update from William and Mary. A further highlight of the evening was the presentation of three $500 student scholarships, a project the chapter has supported for several years.

Officers of the Washington, D. C. Chapter are Cyndy Huddleston '83, '86 M.Ed. president; Jeff Kelly '89, vice president; Marnie Mitchell '89, secretary; and Ray Warner '63, treasurer.

Alumni Active in New York Chapter

Drawing upon the enthusiastic response the New York Auction Weekend received, the New York Alumni Chapter began the fall season by hosting two highly successful alumni events. On Oct. 14, a dozen current students, faculty and their guests traveled from Williamsburg to talk with nearly 30 alumni from the theatre department about launching an acting career in New York. The gathering was held at Sam's Restaurant in New York's theatre district.

An even larger group turned up the following weekend at Sports on Broadway to watch (via cable and a large screen) the William and Mary Tribe trounce Lehigh 38 to 17. During the Oct. 27 event, the nearly 30 alumni in attendance elected the following new slate of officers and committee chairpersons: Scotti Harwood '85, president; Bill Schermerhorn '82, vice president; Paul Caan '86, secretary; Todd Richter '79, treasurer; Kay Rouse '76 and Gary Cowling '84, program committee chairpersons; Elizabeth Johnson '89, Young Guard committee; Mich Slodowitz '85, membership committee; and Ann Leslie Tuttle '85, publicity committee.

With the new officers in place, plans are now under way to hold at least one alumni event per month, the first being "Tribe Thursdays." These informal reunions will occur once a month (usually on the third Thursday from 6-8:30 p.m.) at different bars throughout New York City. The first was held Nov. 15 at the Rodeo Bar and the second will be held at the Peculiar Pub Dec. 15.

While all alumni living in New York City are members of this chapter, alumni interested in becoming more active may send a dues check for $15 ($10 for Young Guard members, i.e. 1986-90 graduates) to Andy Lark, 60 Sutton Place South No. 4-MN, New York, NY 10022. Dues-paying members will receive first class mailings announcing upcoming events and reduced admission to New York-sponsored events.

UPCOMING CHAPTER EVENTS

RICHMOND CHRISTMAS PARTY

Tuesday, December 4
Annual Christmas Party at the home of Denys Grant. 7 p.m. $8 per person. A very special holiday event featuring the Botetourt Chamber Singers from the College. Space is limited, so call now. For more information contact Joyce Winters at 804/740-7562.

NORTHERN NEW JERSEY HOLIDAY RECEPTION

Wednesday, December 5
A Holiday Wine and Cheese Reception at the Parrot Mill Inn, 47 Main St., Chatham, N.J. 7-9 p.m. $6 per person. For more information contact Pat Millea 201/481-3392.

NORFOLK/VIRGINIA BEACH HOLIDAY CONCERT

Thursday, December 6
A Holiday Concert at Christ and St. Luke's Church featuring the Botetourt Chamber Singers from the College. 7:30 p.m. $5 dues-paying members/ $7 all others. The concert will be followed by a wine and cheese reception. For more information contact Andria Forte Turner at 804/855-2385.

CHARLOTTESVILLE/HIGHLAND HOLIDAY WINE AND CHEESE RECEPTION

Saturday, December 8
A Wine and Cheese Reception in the basement conference room at Ashlawn/Highland. 6 p.m. Immediately following at 7 p.m. will be Ashlawn's "Christmas Through the Years." There is no charge for the reception; cost for the program is $7 per person. For more information contact Renee Snyder at 703/937-5491.

TRIANGLE HOLIDAY WINE AND CHEESE RECEPTION

Saturday, December 8
A Wine and Cheese Reception at the home of Ann Brower Turner. 7 p.m. $5 dues-paying members/$7 all others. Price includes wine-tasting, assortment of cheeses and other beverages. For more information contact Lisa Grable-Wallace at 919/781-0554.

LOS ANGELES HOLIDAY PARTY

Sunday, December 9
All Alumni Holiday Celebration at Wilford Tree Clubhouse. 5 p.m. $12 dues-paying members/$15 all others. Price includes admission, heavy hors d'oeuvres and beverages. For more information contact JoAnn Rodda at 213/379-9370.

NEW YORK TRIBE THURSDAY

Thursday, December 13
"Tribe Thursday" Happy Hour at the Peculiar Club, 145 Bleeker Street. 6-8:30 p.m. Join fellow alumni to socialize and catch up on College news.

TOP OF VIRGINIA CHRISTMAS HOMES TOUR AND RECEPTION

Sunday, December 16
Come take part in the Preservation of Historic Winchester Christmas Tour. Tours run from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. A special discount price of $8 has been arranged for W&M alumni. $5.50 covers the wine and cheese reception afterward at the home of Karen Schultz, 501 Seldon Drive, whose home is on the tour. For more information contact Karen Schultz at 703/662-5333.

GREATER METROPOLITAN WASHINGTON, D.C. CAREER EXPLORATION RECEPTION

Thursday, January 3
An excellent opportunity for students to meet with alumni from the Washington area on an informal basis to explore career opportunities. All students who are interested in participating should sign up with Barbara McGrann in Morton 140 by Friday, December 7.

METROLINA TWELFTH NIGHT PARTY

Saturday, January 5
Annual Twelfth Night Party at the home of David and Margaret Marrash, 1128

Queens Road, Charlotte. Time TBA. There is no charge for this event. For more information contact Hope Solomon at 704/332-8433 (w) or 704/535-1525 (h).

BOSTON CAREER EXPLORATION PROGRAM

Monday, January 7
An excellent opportunity for students to meet with alumni from the Boston area on an informal basis to explore career opportunities. All students who are interested in participating should sign up with Barbara McGrann in Morton 140 by Friday, December 7. For more information contact Andy Evans at 617/729-9141. Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy of Tufts University in Medford. 7:30 p.m.

BOSTON RECEPTION AND OMNI THEATER

Thursday, January 24
A Reception and Omni Theater at the Museum of Science. 7 p.m. $9 chapter members/$12 all others. A private viewing of "The Blue Planet" filmed by the crew of the shuttle Discovery has been arranged. For more information contact Lisa Trimboli at 617/254-7921.

RICHMOND PRE/POST-GAME PARTY

Saturday, January 26
A Pre/Post-Game Party in conjunction with the W&M vs. University of Richmond basketball game. Location and time TBA. For more information contact Mary and Alan Jones at 804/747-3506.

BOSTON ANNUAL MEETING

Wednesday, February 27
Annual Meeting with special guests Anne Pratt '70, '84 Ed.D., director of advancement programs for the College, and Henry Rosovsky '49, professor of economics at Harvard University and chair of W&M's Tercentenary Observances Commission. Needham Sheraton, 6:30-8:30 p.m. For more information contact Hugh Cole at 508/651-1404.

New Yorkers watching the W&M victory over Lehigh at Sports on Broadway included (from left to right) Scotti Harwood '85, Bill Schermerhorn '82, Kay Rouse '76, Beth Johnson '89, Andy Lark '79, Todd Richter '79 and Gary Cowling '84.

Among New York alumni at the gathering for theater majors and careerists were Linda Vorhis James '77, Kay Rouse '76, Michael Krass '77 and Laurie Grey Smith '78 in photo above, and below, Peter Neufeld '58, David Little '59, Howard Scammon '34 and Susan Einhorn.

Faculty Members Named Alumni Fellows by Society

Five faculty members at the College of William and Mary have been named Alumni Fellows for 1990 by the Society of the Alumni. The awards were presented at the annual Awards Dinner/Dance Nov. 2 during Homecoming weekend.

Each year the Society presents the $500 award "to recognize outstanding young members of the faculty who are particularly outstanding as 'teachers' and who ensure that the high academic standards of the university are retained." This year's recipients are David Dessler, associate professor of government; Rex K. Kincaid, associate professor of mathematics; Gary Rice, associate professor of chemistry; John S. Strong, assistant professor of business administration; and Eugene R. Tracy, associate professor of physics.

A member of the government faculty since 1984, Dessler earned both his Ph.D. and master's from the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies. He also holds bachelor's degrees in physics and history from the University of Oklahoma. Among his fields of specialization are international relations, conflict, political economy and environmental politics. He is a frequent participant in faculty panel presentations and has been involved in curriculum development for the Reves Center for International Studies.

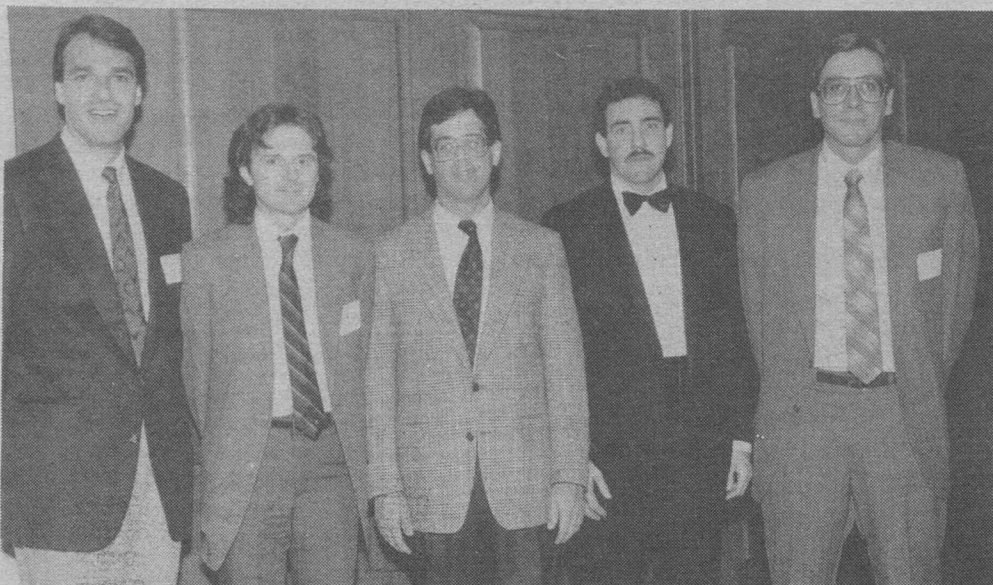

Kincaid, who joined the William and Mary faculty in 1984, holds a Ph.D. and master's from Purdue University and a bachelor's degree from DePauw University. He teaches both graduate and undergraduate courses in the mathematics department. During 1989 and 1990 he was honored as a NASA-ASEE Summer Fellow. He currently serves as a mathematics concentrator adviser, freshman adviser, a member of his department's graduate studies committee and chair of the course evaluation committee.

A member of the chemistry department since 1984, Rice earned a Ph.D. from Iowa State University after graduating with a bachelor's degree from James Madison University. Since 1985 he has served as adviser to the Chemistry Club, which has initiated projects ranging from career planning seminars each fall to an annual chemistry magic show each spring. In addition to completing numerous scholarly articles and papers, Rice and several of his colleagues have been awarded two patents.

Strong, who joined the School of Business Administration faculty in 1985, teaches corporate finance and applied economics in the MBA and executive MBA programs. A three-time winner of the MBA Teaching Award at William and Mary, Strong holds a Ph.D. from Harvard University, a master's from Harvard's Kennedy School of Government and a bachelor's from Washington and Lee University. With research interests in corporate finance and transportation, Strong is the co-author of two books on airline deregulation and recently completed a book on airline safety.

A member of the physics department since 1984, Tracy earned a Ph.D. from the University of Maryland and a bachelor's from Johns Hopkins University. His extensive research includes the development, with a professor from the University of Maryland, of the first complete and practical method for solving the nonlinear Schrodinger equation. The equation is of central importance in the theory of nonlinear wave propagation and has applications in plasma physics, physical oceanography and nonlinear optics.

Alumni Fellows (from l.): David Dessler, Eugene Tracy, Rex Kincaid, John Strong and Gary Rice.

Board Adopts Three Resolutions at Semiannual Meeting

The Board of Directors of the Society of the Alumni held its semi-annual meeting Oct. 4-6 in Williamsburg. Among other business, the board adopted three resolutions, one expressing gratitude for a gift made in memory of Frances Sanders Ennis '25, and the other two recognizing the contributions of retiring deans at the College.

The Ennis resolution conveyed the Society's thanks to John E. Ennis for establishing a $25,000 life charitable gift annuity in memory of his late wife, Frances. Income from the Frances Sanders Ennis Memorial Endowment will provide assistance to the Society in its development of programs and services to alumni.

John C. Jamison, dean of the School of Business Administration at the College from July 1983 until June 1990, was thanked for his leadership and contributions to the reputation and advancement of the School of Business. Also honored for his academic and administrative leadership was Frank O. Perkins, who will step down next July after serving 10 years as dean and director of the School of Marine Science and Virginia Institute of Marine Science.

President Paul R. Verkuil opened Friday morning's portion of the board meeting by congratulating board members on the three national awards the Society won earlier this year through a competition sponsored by the Council for Advancement and Support of Education. The Society was the exclusive recipient of a gold award for being the most improved alumni association in the United States. The award was based on a comparison of budgets, resources, administration and effectiveness of the Society over the past three years. In addition to the gold award, the Society received two silver awards for its total programming efforts and the Alumni College program.

After presenting the awards to Society President Marshall Acuff, Verkuil gave the board an update on College activities and issues, particularly how the state budget deficit is affecting the College and Society.

The board also devoted attention and discussion to the Society's newly proposed bylaws, which were subsequently passed by a vote of 126-33 by active alumni who attended a special meeting on Saturday morning, Oct. 6.

In addition to committee meetings and business sessions, the board attended Thursday's Town and Gown Luncheon, a weekly gathering during the academic year of individuals from the College and community. Addressing a near-capacity crowd in Trinkle Hall, board member Sarah Kemp Brady '64 spoke on the need for handgun control to prevent accidents similar to the one that injured her husband, Jim, former presidential press secretary for Ronald Reagan.

On Friday the board had the opportunity to tour newly renovated Blow Memorial Hall, which will serve as a new home for graduate business programs, Admissions and a variety of other administrative offices.

Society board officers (from l.) Joe Montgomery, Marshall Acuff and John Entwisle (r) accept President Verkuil's congratulations on the Society's national award naming it the most improved alumni association in the country.

Alumni Medallion Nominations Invited

Alumni and friends are invited to submit nominations by Feb. 15, 1991, for individuals to be considered as recipients of the Alumni Medallion, the highest award given by the Society of the Alumni. The Society's Board of Directors will review nominations and select medallion winners at its spring meeting in April. Recipients will be honored during Homecoming 1991.

Presented annually to as many as five individuals, the Alumni Medallion recognizes outstanding alumni for exemplary accomplishments in their professional lives, service to the community, state or nation, and loyalty and commitment to the College of William and Mary. The award reflects the honor and credit that recipients bring to the university through their actions and contributions.

Qualified nominees must be members of a class that graduated at least 10 years prior to the awarding.

Information regarding each nominee and supporting statements must be submitted on a nomination form, which is available by writing Alumni Medallion Nominations, Society of the Alumni, P. O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100, or by calling 804/221-1165.

Remember, deadline for nominations is Feb. 15!

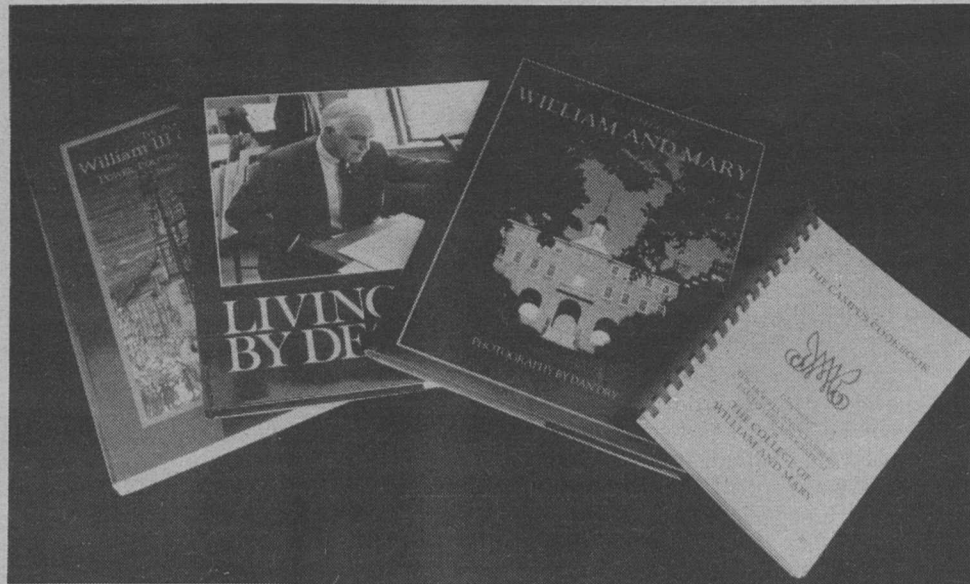

Young Guard Inducts Honorary Members

At a ceremony held Nov. 3 during Homecoming weekend, Young Guard Council leaders recognized four alumni for their exemplary professional achievements and contributions to William and Mary, particularly in support of the Young Guard, which represents graduates of the past five years. Inducted as honorary members of the Young Guard were Marshall Acuff '62 (center), Jim Ukrop '60, Andy Lark '79 and Joanna Ashworth '84 (not pictured). Ted Zoller '87, chair of the Young Guard, and Maggie Margiotta '88, vice chair, presented the new honorary members with certificates and proclamations highlighting their achievements.

The Gift Shop

Classic Additions to Your Library

The Age of William III and Mary II

A richly detailed account of the world of our sovereign patrons at the time of their ascension to the throne. This book serves as both an interesting portrayal of history and a valuable reference source. Call The Gift Shop (804/221-1170) for ordering details.

Living By Design

Parke Rouse Jr. presents this photobiography detailing the life and achievements of Leslie Cheek, who significantly influenced the recognition of fine arts at the College and in Virginia.

A1 Living By Design.....$30.00

A Portrait of William and Mary

Award-winning photographer Dan Dry captures the beauty of the College campus and its life in more than 100 color photographs. Wilford Kale '66 provides an introduction to the work.

A2 William and Mary, A Portrait$37.50

A3 William and Mary, A Portrait (leather-bound, quantity limited)$135.00

The Campus Cookbook

This collection of culinary delights compiled by campus employees will add some spice to ordinary menus. Includes a special section from the President's House and recipes for everything from chicken tetrazzini to granola!

A4 The Campus Cookbook.....$10.00

Hark Upon the Gale

If you missed the first printing of Hark Upon the Gale, rejoice! Now, the top-selling illustrated history of William and Mary is offered again. Beautifully bound with timeless illustrations, this book is a perfect addition to your library, study or coffee table. Get yours now and see what you've been missing.

A5 Hark Upon the Gale.....$30.00

The Crisis Years

Through detailed research and analysis of the administration of Presidents James Madison, John Bracken, John A. Smith and William H. Wilmer, Ruby O. Osborne '81 Ed.D. reveals the events that identify 1800-1827 as "the crisis years" at William and Mary. Discover the role and influence of the students, citizens of Williamsburg, and the alumni during this critical time as you explore the history of the College through the eyes of a dedicated alumna.

A6 The Crisis Years $65.00

Brass Key Chain

This solid brass key chain is available in a choice of finishes: brightly polished clear-coated brass or 24K gold. This durable key chain will give you years of enjoyment.

A7 Clear-coated brass$4.25

A8 24K gold finish.....$6.95

William and Mary Jewelry

Jewelry from Jardine provides the perfect opportunity to support the College in a tasteful way. Pieces are goldtone with a slate blue background which makes them the perfect complement to a variety of outfits. Blazer buttons available in solid goldtone only.

A9 Blazer buttons$43.00

A10 Cuff links$17.00

A11 Earrings (clip-on).....$25.00

A12 Lapel pin$11.00

A13 Necklace (not pictured).....$25.00

A14 Stickpin$11.00

Colonial Williamsburg Jewelry

These beautiful sterling silver pieces are crafted in Colonial Williamsburg by skilled artisans. They feature the William and Mary cipher fashioned as a necklace, stickpin, earrings and tie tack.

A15 Pendant on 18" chain.....$27.00

A16 Charm on 18" chain.....$21.50

A17 Charm only$12.50

A18 Stickpin$14.00

A19 Earrings (pierced)$20.00

A20 Tie Tack$13.50

Remember that special someone on Valentine's Day with the gift of fine jewelry!

Mail to: Society of the Alumni Phone: (804) 221-1170 DEC/90
The Gift Shop
P.O. Box 2100
Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100

Quantity	Item No. and Description	Size	Price	Total
Virginia Residents, add 4.5% sales tax
Add $1.50 for each item shipped west of the Mississippi
Total Amount Enclosed

MAKE CHECKS PAYABLE TO "SOCIETY OF THE ALUMNI"
Most orders shipped within 7 days of receipt.

Check here if you would like information on the following:
 William and Mary MasterCard
 Alumni Insurance Programs

For further information, call (804) 221-1170 or (804) 221- 1842 Monday-Friday 8 a.m.-5 p.m. (EST).

Your Name _____ Class _____

Street Address _____

City, State, Zip _____

Daytime Phone No. () _____

Please charge to my MasterCard VISA

Card No. _____

Interbank No. _____ Exp. Date _____

(MC only)

Signature _____

These items are gifts and should have gift card enclosed and be shipped to person indicated in order blank.

If different from above address:

Ship To _____

Address _____

City, State, Zip _____

CLASS NOTES

28 Mary Land Gill 1658 Berkeley Ave. Petersburg, VA 23805

Since I received no responses to the cards sent requesting information, the following news of our classmates and other William and Mary alumni was gleaned via the telephone.

Lucy Smith McCann has been living in Petersburg for a number of years. Because of a severe sacroiliac condition she is now confined to the bed most of the time. However, she is well cared for by her husband, a retired Army colonel and former employee of the Virginia Department of Education. She and her family have had many interesting experiences living in 17 states and two foreign countries. After Lucy's husband learned the Persian language, he was assigned to duty in Iran where they lived for two years. Following that, they spent two years in Germany. They have a daughter, a graduate of V.P.I. and S.U., her father's alma mater, who now lives in Fairfax, Va., and works for the I.R.S.

I continue to see Hayden and Annetta Gwaltney '27 occasionally. Hayden spent most of the summer out of town enjoying babysitting her great-nieces and nephews. She and Annetta stay busy as volunteers at the local hospital and working in their church. Recently they visited Page Drinker Hogan and her husband, both of whom remain active in the work of their church. He continues to operate his business and enjoys organic gardening. Page enjoys company and would appreciate a visit from any of us anytime.

Waverly Gwaltney Goodman '26 and her husband are in a nursing home, Thornton Hall, 827 Norview Ave., Norfolk, Va. Their daughter, Jackie Goodman Bayer and husband Richard, both W&M graduates, have recently opened the Seward House Inn, a bed and breakfast establishment in Surry.

Sorry to learn that Frances Gordon, John Branch (Dauba) Green and his wife Betsy '29 are not well. Those of us who are well and healthy should appreciate our good fortune.

The Olde Guard luncheon will be history before you read this. Hope I will see many of you there.

Please send in some news!

30 Betty W. Lanier 17 Corling St. Petersburg, VA 23803

Edward Trice Box 64 Drewryville, VA 23844

Dear Classmates of 1930: Where are you? What are your activities these days? What about your family? What about your travels? Please write and tell us all... even if it is that you are still in the land of the living. We would like to know that especially.

Thank you, Tom Hart, for saving us from the ignominy of a blank space in the Gazette for the Class of 1930.

Tom writes a bit of nostalgia. He says his first car was an old Model T Ford given to him by Emma Waring Waldbridge '28 when she graduated. Tom says he wore it out driving it the next two years. Once, as the result of a bet, he scaled the steps up to the library door and back down again.

Tom and Dorothy spend part of each year on the beautiful Oregon coast. Their travels these days are limited to about 300 miles north or south of their home in Seattle.

Petersburg was delighted to have the William and Mary Choir again as our guests in November to participate in "The Music and Arts" program of St. Paul's Church. This is a cultural outreach program sponsored by the church for the city. The choir won the hearts of everyone last year.

Dear classmates, I'll be looking for some news before the next deadline.

34 Cecil C. Harper Westminster- Canterbury 1600 West Brook Ave. Apt. 220 ILU Richmond, VA 23227

Our football team has had a great season. So many alumni and friends are proud of them.

Dorothy and I sold our home in June and moved to Westminster-Canterbury in August. After living in our home for 41 years, it took four months to move. We love our new residence. Many alumni are here.

Lillian Carmine Sterling wrote: "Enjoying visiting daughter Carolyn Sterling Riles '67 and her family in Albuquerque, N.M." They toured Denver, Santa Fe, San Domingo Indian Reservation, Old Town Albuquerque and other points of interest in the Southwest.

Small world because at Christmas Dorothy and I will fly to Albuquerque to visit our daughter, Gayle Harper Davis '67, who lives in Farmington, N.M.

Please write me at my new address (see above)!

36 Eleanor Hooker Boisseau 8904 Wishart Road Richmond, VA 23229

Hi, Class of '36! I am Eleanor Hooker Boisseau and I am going to be your new class reporter. Please help by sending me information about yourself and your family. We are all interested. My address is above. My phone number is 804-741-1452.

I am married to Ed Boisseau '35 and have three children, two sons who graduated from W&M and a daughter who did not go there. We have eight grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Ed is retired but stays busy with sports and serving as a member of the Henrico Electoral Board. I am involved with club work and church, and love babysitting.

Ralph E. and Adele Stephenson Burgess of Hendersonville, N.C., celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Oct. 5-7 in Williamsburg, where they were married in Bruton Parish Church Oct. 5, 1940.

Adele is a retired business executive.

Her husband is an alumnus of Williams College in Williamstown, Mass., and was formerly vice president and chief economist for the American Cyanamid Co. They have two children and four grandchildren.

Ann Pohlig Poage stays busy traveling and playing bridge. I see Mildred Mitchell Taylor at the Tuckahoe Women's Club and she wants to hear from her classmates.

Dora Terrell Williams and her husband, "Judge," celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Nov. 3. Their daughter received her B.A. and her law degree from W&M and their son his M.B.A. Congratulations to them!

Dallas Dalton West is busy playing golf and bridge and visiting her four grandchildren. One is in Texas, another in California and two in Virginia.

I see Bill Rhodes at church and all football games. He is a member of the President's Council and has just come home from attending "Jack Cloud Day" Oct. 19 at the College.

W. C. Henderson, a retired dentist who is also a member of the President's Council, is at all the football games and "Olde Guard Day."

I am counting on you to write me. I need your help!

38 Jane Speakman Hauge 211 Willow Valley Square— D105 Lancaster, PA 17602-4891

We were delighted to hear from "our" professor, Dr. George Grayson, who holds the Class of 1938 Professorship in the government department. In a letter to each class member who contributed to our 50th reunion class gift, he brought us up to date on his academic, professional and personal activities. A specialist in Latin American studies, he has written or edited three books and one monograph during the last two years, and his articles have appeared in numerous national newspapers.

"My number one interest remains teaching," he says. "William and Mary takes great pride in its insistence that full-time faculty, not graduate students, conduct all courses." He concludes his letter by saying, "Again, I want you to know how much I appreciate holding the Class of 1938 Professorship."

And now two letters which arrived too late for the September issue:

Horace Dyer writes: "We have a fairly set routine that we have established, which is to spend the summers in the North Carolina mountains, the winters in Florida, interspersed with a trip to Jeanne's home in September, February and June. We stay in Martinsville whenever it suits our schedule, particularly in April when the dogwood and azaleas are in bloom. Martinsville is really a pretty place at that time. We no longer have the responsibility of a house and grounds in Martinsville, but have an apartment which we use when we are there... We think from time to time that we will do a bit of traveling, but when it comes right down to making plans we don't travel much

Order Form — Reunion Photographs

Class reunion photographs taken during Homecoming weekend are reprinted on the following pages. Photos are 8" x 12", color. Cost: $12.00 each, including postage and handling. Although the 1985 class photo is not shown, it is available.

If you have already placed your order, you will receive your photo before the end of this year. Orders placed on this form will be filled in February 1991.

Name _____ Class Year _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Check photo(s) ordered:

Olde Guard _____ 1945 _____ 1950 _____ 1955 _____

1960 _____ 1965 _____ 1970 _____ 1975 _____

1980 _____ 1985 _____

No. Copies _____ x $12.00 each = _____ Total

Enclosed is a check for $ _____ made payable to Society of the Alumni. Mail to: Reunion Photographs, Society of the Alumni, P. O. Box 2100, Williamsburg VA 23187-2100

Order Deadline: January 31, 1991

LAW SCHOOL RECEIVES $100,000 ANONYMOUS GIFT

An alumnus of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law has made a gift of $100,000 to the law school to establish an endowment, the income from which may be used at the dean's discretion. As part of the $150 million Campaign for the Fourth Century, the College is seeking a total of $5 million in unrestricted endowment funds that can be used to meet unforeseen needs and exploit unexpected opportunities as they arise. The donor wished to remain anonymous.

more than is necessary to carry out our regular routine.

"In August of '89 we went to Seattle — my first visit there since I left my ship at the end of World War II to be discharged. In July we drove to Memphis for a reunion of the ship's company of the ship on which I served during the war. Our group now includes the members of the crew of a new submarine which bears the name of our old battleship. In August we had a tour of Lake Louise and the Canadian Rockies. Other than that we are very relaxed."

Dick Harvell writes: "Jean and I migrate from Maine to Florida and back in May and October each year. We are Florida residents and built our second house in Naples in '87. We're near the beach, which we both love, especially Jean. We designed the house to suit us, and it does. In spite of major surgery in '84 and '86 I'm healthy and in good shape. Jean is well also, and we both play tennis. ... We arrived this year in late May on the beautiful Maine coast. My family on both sides were pioneers here and it's in my blood — fog, rain, cold and all. We look out on beautiful Pigeon Hill Bay: ducks, seals, gulls, terns, eagles, herons, lobsters and fishing boats — always something doing. Our house here is a modest little Cape Cod building, 30 feet from high tide. It's small but adequate and comfortable, one-quarter mile from the paved road. ... We drive back and forth and along the way visit a daughter in Augusta, Maine, friends in New Hampshire, a daughter, her husband and two fine grandchildren in Wellington, Conn., and Jean's family in Portsmouth, Va., so it takes us two weeks to do the 1,850 miles.

"Last fall we spent five weeks in Colorado, Utah, New Mexico and Arizona, saw many of the parks and took in an Elderhostel in St. George, Utah. We are not great travelers and hate to leave each of our houses once we arrive. We have many dear friends in both places. Jean sews well, and I mess around with acrylics and watercolors when the spirit moves. Jack and Ann Garrett '40 visited us in September. They celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary this year, and ours was in September."

Here is a recent press release about Jack Morpurgo:

Readers of Jack Morpurgo's recent autobiography, Master of None, will know that Margery Allingham, British writer of detective fiction, and her husband were for many years close friends of Jack and his wife. Jack has gathered together a number of Margery Allingham's hitherto uncollected short stories as The Return of Mr. Champion. The book has been widely and enthusiastically received in both Britain and the U.S. Many reviewers paid special tribute to Jack's introduction and notes."

40 Mrs. Franklin D.
Henderson
(Barbara Clawson)
Box 186
Irvington, VA 22480

Frank and I had a wonderful trip early this fall. We and our next door neighbors joined a small tour in Munich and went to Oberammergau and the Passion Play, a truly unforgettable experience. In the hall holding 4,600 people we were in luck and got fourth-row center seats! The tour continued to Salzburg before returning to Munich where the four of us flew to London for a week. On Sept. 10 we attended a service at Lambeth Palace, the London home of the archbishops of Canterbury. This was the 200th anniversary of the consecration of the first bishop of Virginia, James Madison, whom we learned was also president of the College of William and Mary! This service was conducted by the Archbishop of Canterbury in the Chapel, followed by a reception and delicious luncheon in the Guard Room, a memorable occasion indeed. Frank and I visited friends in Holland and back in England before coming home

CLASS OF 1941 PLANS 50TH REUNION

Members of the Class of 1941 are reminded of a special weekend—their 50th reunion celebration—being planned for May 17-19, 1991. The weekend promises to be a perfect time to remember the past and enjoy the present. Highlights include a welcome cocktail party, special campus tours, presentation of the class gift, a candlelight dinner/dance, induction into the Olde Guard and attending commencement exercises as a group, along with plenty of time throughout the weekend to visit with friends. Class members will receive further details from the class reunion committee after the first of the year.

the end of September.

On our return we were stunned and saddened to learn of Al Alley's death Sept. 3. I had written Al sometime after our 50th reunion to ask him for a copy of the homily he gave at the Memorial Service and to tell him how grateful we were for all the contributions he made during the weekend. Just before leaving for our trip I received such a fine letter from Al, a copy of the homily and also a new recipe he was entering in a cook-off contest. He has indeed been a faithful correspondent and class member and will be sorely missed by us all. Gervais Brekke represented our class at the graveside service at Arlington National Cemetery Sept. 7, for which we are appreciative.

A letter to Ann and Jack Garrett from Florence Mode Smith said that her Willard, who has been at Burk Rehabilitation for six months and is still paralyzed on his left side, was coming home the first week of October. She could not make Homecoming this year, but hopes to make it before another five years.

Also received a great letter from Jane Wild. She had a very busy summer — she made seven separate visits in July by car and then flew to Denver and Estes Park and wound up in Seattle to see her oldest son at Camano Island in Puget Sound.

Nils and Gervais Brekke were staying a few days at the home of Kay '41 and Bob Dew '38 while the Dews were on a cruise from San Francisco and on down through the Panama Canal. The Brekkes and Gervais's mother, Mrs. Wallace, were here with us for dinner one evening and we enjoyed so much their visit with us.

I do hope you all will not forget that I need news for these columns. You don't want to just hear what Frank and I have been doing—and you don't want me dreaming up stuff about you!

42 Betty Craighead
Stousland
107 E. Central Ave.
Oxford, Ohio 45056

Dear Classmates: As you consider resolutions for the New Year please include writing to your class secretary. Yes, we do want to hear from you and about your activities!

Emalee Ewing Durbin is very loyal about sending in news of family travels which included Texas, Arizona, New Mexico and California last summer. In Sacramento she had a pleasant visit with Kay Cotterman Hoskins and her grandchildren.

Emalee would like us to know about source taxes and to beware of them. These taxes are state income taxes from non-residents whose income is derived from other states, thus resulting in double taxation. The American Association of Retired Persons has more information about these taxes.

My next deadline for news will be March 1. Please write before then!

44 John Paul Carter
Rt. 1, Box 209
Sewanee, TN 37375

Following my very successfully-responded-to appeal for news included in my last letter, several classmates replied after I had sent off my typescript.

Bob Weinberg wrote interestingly about his long and constructive career in establishing one of the major law firms in Baltimore. While he still maintains an office and functions at the policy-making level, he has expanded significantly his involvement in charity work and related concerns that reflect his strong Jewish faith: Jewish Federation of Charities, Jewish Historical Society of Maryland and the development of the Jewish Heritage Center in Baltimore. He also serves with the Maryland Humanities Council and has been appointed by the governor to the State Board of Community Colleges.

Bob's wife, Jan, is a practicing psychotherapist. He has three children, now grown. His wife's daughter is heavily involved in political work in El Salvador. He has not been back to Williamsburg since the 29th reunion in 1964. Like so many of us, his education was disrupted by the war. When W&M would not allow him to transfer credits from Johns Hopkins to complete his requirements, he transferred altogether to Hopkins and actually graduated from there and then from the University of Maryland Law School.

Bob also reports that Jack Merriman, who matriculated in the Class of 1945, and his wife Marge Talle of our class, are both well and similarly engaged in cultural and charitable works in Baltimore. They take particular interest in arts-related efforts. Jack was also a partner in Weinberg & Green and retains a connection with the firm, which recently honored both of them.

Marilyn Miller Entwisle, Williamsburg, reports that she and John spent the late spring in England and Scotland, and then went for the summer to their second home in Blue Bell, Pa., to see children and grandchildren. She also reports that Lois Spratley Donald and Doug (the best non-W&M husband-booster the College has!) have had an Alaska vacation.

BRAY HONORED WITH BUILDER AWARD

The Hampton Roads (Va.) Foreign Commerce Club has chosen J. Robert Bray '65 J.D., executive director of the Virginia Port Authority, as the recipient of its 1990 Commerce Builder Award. The international award is given each year to an individual or organization for outstanding contributions to the development of world trade through the ports of Hampton Roads. Growth at the state-owned general cargo terminals in the Hampton Roads area ports of Norfolk, Portsmouth and Newport News has increased nearly 200 percent since 1984. Bray has headed the port authority since 1978.

Dave McNamara and Geri, Averill Park, N.Y., went off on a cruise to Bermuda in August for a reunion of the extended Tucker family (remember the St. George Tucker House in Williamsburg?). 120 descendants plus spouses went on the trip. Dave spent many years as a Roman Catholic priest in the Order of St. Joseph, which was established to minister to blacks, particularly in the South. Afterward he left the order, married Geri and followed a college teaching career in math and physics.

Fran Pendleton Elliott writes from Winchester, Mass., that during the last year her husband John, professor of metallurgy at MIT, has been honored for his many years of work both in the United States and in Japan, by their steel industry trade associations. There were celebrations in his honor in both countries, and he and Fran had interesting trips in connection with these events. Additionally, they have been able to make shorter trips to see their two children from time to time.

We need to be thinking about a suitable gift to the College for our 50th anniversary. As the time advances, we can find a way to communicate about it without burdening this public newsletter, but I do want to encourage you to ponder this carefully and let me have your suggestions.

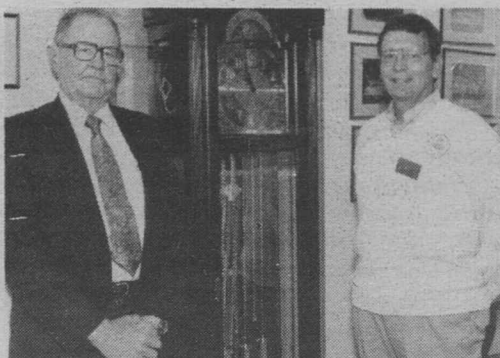

Joan and I are just back from Barbados where we had a wonderful and restful time — the swimming was superb! I also did research in the National Archives on documents relating to the establishment of Codrington College in 1745. One of the men greatly involved was Dudley Woodbridge, surely an ancestor of the professor we all knew! We saw a memorial plaque to him in one of the old churches there, St. James, in Hometown, I will try to learn more about this.

Please keep writing to me. I am grateful for your news.

46 Barbara Nycum Moore
Rt. 2, Box 161
Waverly, VA 23890

My sincere apologies for missing my last deadline for this column — my intention has always been to write something, if only an earnest plea for news. I promise to do better in the future. I would like to thank each of you who wrote me following Allison's death with your thoughtful words of sympathy, and most especially to Grubie Wil-

CLOCK AND WATER COOLER GIVEN TO ALUMNI HOUSE

Through the generosity of one alumna and the husband of another, the Society of the Alumni has received two much appreciated gifts in recent months. L. Roger DeMontier of Onancock, Va., the widower of Ruth Duer Kilmon DeMontier '35, has donated a William and Mary grandfather clock in memory of his wife. Posing beside the clock in the Alumni House is DeMontier (left) with Barry Adams, executive vice president of the Society. The second gift, a drinking water cooler, has been donated by Cornelia Land Hardenbergh '37 of Spring Grove, Va., in memory of her brother, Robert Hunt Land '34. The cooler is designed for use with Spring Grove water bottled in Mrs. Hardenbergh's hometown across the James River.

ALUMNA NAMED TO BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Kathleen Conley '74 M.B.A., a business consultant in Anchorage, Alaska, has been named by Governor L. Douglas Wilder to the Board of Trustees of Emory & Henry College in Emory, Va. Conley, who is the first woman graduate of Emory & Henry to be appointed to its board, taught school and was a management analyst for the U.S. Navy before joining Dow Chemical in a management capacity. After leaving Dow, she moved to Alaska with her husband, where both serve as consultants to Oil Well Services.

liams for the beautiful tribute paid him. Each kindness was deeply appreciated.

A nice letter from Harrie Phillips Mittelman in Richmond brought news about a few of our number: Beth Long Beals, who for some time was listed on the alumni "lost list," is now living in a retirement community in Indianapolis. She moved there from North Carolina following the death of her husband. Beth has four children, with one enrolled at the College.

Joel Sutherland Rhodes and Dusty retired and moved to Texas to live on her grandmother's ranch. However, they missed the D.C. area and have since returned to Fairfax. Byron Cooper was a member of the ASTP unit on campus and a long time friend of Harrie's. She has made the suggestion that the unit be invited to our next class reunion — something to think about as they were very much a part of our lives then. Thank you, Harrie, for including me in your letter-writing efforts. Please do it again.

Elise Leidheiser Gibbs Maclay kindly answered my plea, proving she reads the Gazette! Lee retired two years ago after 17 years as communications director of the New York Community Trust, the country's largest community foundation with assets of $400 million and quite a large publications program. She is now a staff writer for Connecticut Magazine, as a food-and-wine critic and free-lance writer. Upon her return from a walking trip in Greece this spring, she found the New York Times had printed an article she had written on a similar trip the previous year. In May, Henry Holt brought out a new edition of a book she wrote almost 10 years ago, Green Winter, Celebrations of Later Life, which she reports brought her much joy inasmuch as she corresponds with its readers, most of whom are over 80 and have worthwhile observations to share. Sounds as though Lee is keeping busy, including a visit to Virginia Beach for a reunion of her husband's destroyer crew during the war. Thanks to you, too, Lee — always glad to hear from you.

According to Susan Claypool Vukich, the alumni group in the Seattle area is "going great guns." They get together twice a year and there is a nucleus that supports all the events, including a big alumni social last spring that involved all the Virginia colleges. Sue and Bob have sold their home and are currently living in a townhouse with a gorgeous view of Puget Sound. Now they are contemplating their next move as they anticipate retirement. They will spend their usual Christmas in Hawaii after which she had plans for a two-week trip to the Holy Land and Egypt, but she remarks "I don't dare count my chickens prematurely." You are a faithful contributor, Sue, and I do trust you will continue your efforts.

A Williamsburg grapevine source has revealed that Phyllis Laskey Renick has relocated to sunny Florida. Her new address is 660 N.W. 19th St. #405, Fort Lauderdale, FL 33311. We wish you happiness in your new home.

Before Labor Day, Virginia Ratcliffe and I took a delightful journey to New England and visited Alice White Tomlinson and Whit in their beautiful home in Boothbay Harbor. Our hosts, the weather, and the area scenery were all ideal. Besides Maine, our agenda included many stops along the way and a few days on Cape Cod to attend an art show of one of my relatives. All in all, a memorable occasion.

A publication from the Society of the Alumni outlines the proposal to expand the Alumni House in order to increase its programs and services not only to us but also current students. This ambitious undertaking cannot be achieved without our support. This activity is a part of the Campaign for the Fourth Century and one in which each of us should become involved.

I now look forward to a deluge of letters with news about you.

48 Lucy Jones Murphy P.O. Box 58 Merry Point, VA 22513

This on-the-scene letter is being written from the Wyndham Hotel in Williamsburg where Jack Cloud '50 is being honored by his team, many of whom are from our class, on the occasion of his induction into the National Football Foundation College Football Hall of Fame. He is only the second individual in the history of the College to achieve this outstanding honor. (The first was Gerrard "Buster" Ramsey '43.) This is Jack Cloud's weekend!

All of you members of our class would see many familiar faces here, and you would be impressed by the kind, thoughtful, successful men — and their wives — behind these faces.

Dickie Lewis '51, emcee, welcomed us when we arrived at the Wyndham's Empire Room for dinner after the cocktail party at William and Mary's Person room. Bill Murphy gave the invocation, and after dinner, Tom Mikula led off the "roasting" of Jack (D.J. — Daddy Jack) Cloud. We all had a lot of laughs listening to Tom, Henry Blanc '50, George Hughes '49, Lou Hoitsma '48 and Buddy Lex '50. Of course, Jack had the last word when he responded to the charges.

Tomorrow everyone is invited to Tom and Elva Mikula's lovely country home near Lake Powell for brunch, and afterward we'll attend the William and Mary-Bucknell football game.

It's a perfect fall weekend, and we all feel a tremendous sense of pride in the many accomplishments of "Flying Jack" Cloud, as do many of his family members here for the weekend. Jack's lovely wife Charlotte is with us, of course, as well as his brother Charles '57, a judge in Norfolk, his wife Jan, and other relatives, including a beautiful blonde granddaughter, who hopes to come to William and Mary.

It is impossible for me to mention all the football greats who are here this weekend. Some of them, in addition to those already mentioned, are Knox Ramsey, Jim Baber '52, Eric Tipton, Bob Steckroth, Jack Bruce, Jim Rhoads, Hilly Wilson '51, Howard Smith '43, Mel Wright '47, Johnny Brown, George Heflin '50 and many more. We are all saddened by the absence of Tommy Thompson '49, an outstanding team member, who passed away early this fall, and was buried in Richmond.

Additional news comes from dear old friends Billy '44 and Jane Spencer Smith, who are in Florida where Jane is recuperating from a bad fall and a broken leg. Jane, rushing up the steps of Richmond's public library early in the summer, fell and broke her leg in several places necessitating a cast from waist to toe in which she was encased for several months. Jane says that Smitty was a perfect nurse, cook, housekeeper and secretary. Now they are both in Florida convalescing, and Jane is striving to regain the use of her leg.

A letter dated July 12 arrived from Ben Bray just 10 days after my last newsletter deadline. Ben took early retirement and is now living happily in his new home on the edge of Williamsburg. He is busy with many worthwhile activities and has lunch almost every day with Howard Scammon '34. He sees Ann Buckles Orteig '51 often, too. Back in the '70s when Ben was professor of English and chairman of the drama department at Coker College in Hartsville, S.C., he was a special friend and mentor of our daughter Peggy (or Barry), an alumna of Coker.

50 Winston Jones Lata 930 Wellington Road Lawrence, KS 66049

The Class of 1950 demonstrated to the world that it was alive, well and full of fun at 1990's Homecoming. Some 120 alums and spouses flooded John Dayton's home, "Marshview," Friday evening. His beautiful home, mostly hand-constructed, was filled with hugging, handshaking and spirited voices.

Saturday, of course, we lined the Duke of Gloucester Street for the parade and took in the football game. After freshening up, we joined together for a delightful reception and dinner at the Cascades, which served as our class headquarters.

Class President Dick Scofield welcomed the 90 persons at the dinner:

Recognized was the Class of 1950's renaissance committee made up of John Dayton, Bill and Betsy Burnette, Randy and Sue Davis, Herb and Cindy Chandler, Jim and Marcia Kirkpatrick and Dick's bride, Joanne. He noted that this small group had written almost 300 personal letters to classmates encouraging a return to the reservation. The effort obviously paid off.

John Dayton was enthusiastically applauded for his hospitality Friday evening, and Mary Kay Zimmerman '53 was also applauded for her assistance in the Friday evening affair.

Peggy Stout was awarded 1950's furthest journey award, a bottle of champagne. Peggy lives in Anchorage, Alaska. By the way, her daughter is a top contender in the famous 1,200-mile dogsled race that catches our attention each year.

And Herb Chandler received 1950's "wounded scribe" award for his brief but illustrious career as our class reporter a few years back.

Having the podium in his grasp and refusing to let go, Herb then delivered an impassioned history of his four-year passage through the College. It was a hilarious rendering. At our 45th reunion, he has indicated he'd be willing to share with us the story of his entire life. Don't miss it!

Mary-Winston Jones Lata was recognized as our class reporter who has too long been unsupported with news. A vow was pledged to give Winston more material in the future.

Dick Scofield and John Dayton introduced a game plan for a scholarship fund to be generated over the next decade and then to be transferred to the College at our 50th reunion in the year 2000. My, my — how time flies when you're having so much fun!

52 Taffy Lay Davis 138 Junefield Drive Cincinnati, OH 45218

54 Peggy Morgan Johnson 2315 Danbury Road Greensboro, NC 27408

Carol DeSamper has agreed to become the 1954 class reporter. She will write our next column which has a Jan. 14 deadline for an early March publication. Please put her on your Christmas letter list and pass on notes of interest from fellow classmates with whom you correspond. Carol's address is: 103 Cedar Crest, Williamsburg, VA 23185.

From a reunion survey form I note that Rene Henry (who attended our class reunion) has since 1970 been self-employed in firms involved with public relations/public affairs, sports marketing, television/entertainment/broadcasting and management consulting. Between 1986 and 1988 he served as president and CEO of the National Institute of Building Sciences, Washington, and acted as campaign director of athletes and entertainers for the Bush campaign. Rene lives in Washington, has two grown children, Deborah Marie and Bruce Rexford, and enjoys tennis, skiing and sailing.

Alan Canfield lives in Portland, Ore., where he is employed by Standard Insurance Co. as director of field training. He and wife Jeanne live on a small farm 30 minutes from Portland and raise sheep and goats as

JACK CLOUD '50 RECEIVES HONOR

President Verkuil and Jack Cloud '50 display a citation emblematic of Cloud's induction into the National Foundation College Hall of Fame during a halftime ceremony at the William and Mary-Bucknell football game this fall. Cloud, an All-American running back during the College's "Golden Days" of big-time football, was honored at Jack Cloud Day in recognition of his induction into the Hall of Fame. Also shown in the accompanying photo is John Randolph '64 (center), athletic director at the College. Cloud still holds William and Mary records for most touchdowns in a season, most touchdowns in a career and most points in a season, some 40 years after he played.

HEALY HEADS INSTITUTE

Dr. George R. Healy, former provost at William and Mary and an 18th-century historian, has been named acting director of the Institute of Early American History and Culture, which is sponsored jointly by the College and Colonial Williamsburg. Healy succeeds Jean Butenhoff Lee who will assume the position of senior research fellow at William and Mary beginning Jan. 1, 1991. Dr. Healy will continue as acting director of the institute until a national search is completed to select a new director.

a hobby. They have two grown children, Douglas and C.J.

A newspaper clipping from the Alumni Office reports that Bill Bowman has been an attorney in private practice in Greene County, Tenn., since 1959, except for two years when he served as assistant U.S. attorney for the Eastern District, Tennessee. Bill served two years in the Army and played football for the Detroit Lions, San Francisco '49ers and Pittsburgh Steelers. He received his law degrees from the University of Tennessee at Knoxville. Bill is currently seeking a judgeship as an independent candidate.

Thanks to all of you who have helped me keep this space filled, and our classmates informed, for the past six years. Let's all support Carol with notes, cards and clippings!

56 Mary W. Warren
R.D. 1, Box 4155
White Stone, VA 22578

First of all, please note the new box number at the top of these class notes. The area is growing much too fast for one of my simple tastes.

Pat Best Rainey completed her two-year tenure as president of her local branch of the American Association of University Women and celebrated by sailing around the Bahamas with Russ. David, their older son, was married in June, so now the Raineyes are enjoying the good life on Marco Island in Florida.

Lance and Jan Mason Trusty are as busy as any two people could possibly be. He is still at Purdue. A second edition of his Hammond: A Centennial Portrait (Norfolk: The Donning Co.) appeared earlier this year. He is plugging along on a general history of northwest Indiana for the Indiana Historical Society, as well as a variety of other unfinished writing projects. He was pleased to "grab and run" with the Alumni Association's Distinguished Service Award for 1990 (hurray!). Jan is active with the AAUW, working on fund raising and membership for the local PBS station. She also helps keep the Purdue University Women's Club solvent. On top of all that, she hopes to publish a second edition of her regional guide.

Nancy Beery Thomas '57, who now calls Chesapeake, Va., home, dropped in at the Tides Inn this summer for lunch with her mother. Nancy recently visited Africa where Julie is serving in the Peace Corps in Botswana and Mark is a computer consultant in Johannesburg. Her "sensible" daughter, Karen, lives in Durham, N.C.

58 Peter Neufeld
410 West 53rd St.
Apt. 132
New York, NY 10019

As you can see by the direct words from Ralph Northrop quoted immediately below, I am starting to elicit some controversy. I'm so proud.

"Dear Pete, I was dismayed by your recent suggestion that people write about something other than their children. Some of us are late bloomers as parents and we must insist on reserving our bragging rights. You're probably thinking this does not sound like a disinterested assertion of principle—and you are right!"

Ralph goes on to say that he and wife Fifa have two daughters: Patricia, who entered W&M as a James Monroe scholar this fall, and Caroline, who is 9. Which gives me a thought. Who in our class have even younger children than that? Any comments you'd like to make about the difference between having kids in your 20s as opposed to your (arrgh!) 50s?

More from Ralph. On occasion he runs into Anne Alderman Barton '59 at the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency where he works. Also saw Bob Bailey '59 who is with Dow Chemical. He recently saw Suzie Mann '59, who is newly married and living near Leesburg, Va. He has been in Williamsburg a couple of times recently and visited with his former roommate Dick Prosl '59, who is head of W&M's computer science department and lives in Williamsburg with wife Carol and two daughters.

I was in Williamsburg for the President's Council Weekend in October to talk to visiting alumni about show business. Got off a few jokes about Ethel Merman, Claudette Colbert and Rod Elliott. Sat with Nan Mauer Rosenbaum and Jim at the black tie dinner. Nan complained that I never talk about them in the column. Which surprised me. I'm very aware of the 11 couples from school who figure prominently in my life and I thought all I did was talk about them. OK here goes. Nan (in commenting on my tux) stated, "I guess the jeans-and-sweatshirt look is harder to pull off when you get older." Jim finally, if the sun approaches him from the right angle, has some gray hairs. Nan doesn't.

Also ran into Pete Clements '61 and his wife at the President's House. This is Pete's first return since graduation and he regrets having waited so long. He plans on being at his 30th next year. I now go back every year. I realized, by applying a complicated mathematical formula, that every year one class I know is having a five-year reunion. But it doesn't matter if any of you showed up this year or not. I'll write about you anyhow.

60 Mary Ellen Carlson Coffey
14101 Manorvale Road
Rockville, MD 20853

Just got back from a fabulous Homecoming! It was topped off by the football team's great win over Furman. I was back rooming with my senior roommate, Janet Caldwell Elling. We stayed at the Market Square Tavern with Judi Urian Lownes and Ken, Peggy Clement Haines and Barry, and Jerry '59 and Carole Waller Welborn. Down the street were Gary and Kathy McCurdy Sterner.

On Friday at the Sunset Ceremony I saw Bob and Betty Squatriglia and Dave and Lynn Carr Ladd. One of those remembered was Ben Johnson, whose wife sent me a very nice letter. At the time of his death, Ben consulted and sold art from his home through his business called Artcare Inc. He had been an adviser to such prominent collectors as Armand Hammer and Norton Simon. He was the pioneer art conservator, who established the Conservation Center at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art.

One of the companies to watch featured in the Sept. 24, 1990, issue of Fortune is Oakwood Homes, whose CEO is Nicholas St. George.

A few others at Homecoming were Bill Harrison, Jim Ukrop, Maureen and Mike Colleton, Ken and Kay Elmore Rice, and George '58 and Gin-Anne Joyce Conger. I know that I have forgotten many, but I hope that will inspire you to write!

62 Mrs. James R. Henry
(Nancy A. Sinclair)
1096 Meadowbrook Drive
Bedford, VA 24523

Bill Pineo took pity on my constant begging and wrote a terrific letter. Bill earned his Ph.D. in physics from Duke in 1970. In 1974 he graduated from the University of North Carolina Law School. He has been practicing law ever since in Meadville, Pa. Bill met his wife, Pat, while at Duke. Pat teaches computer science at Allegheny College and is working on her Ph.D. thesis at the University of Pittsburgh. Bill and Pat have four sons ranging from a junior at Dickinson College to a first-grader.

We are doing fine in Bedford. Ryan is a junior in high school and has just become an Eagle Scout. He is very active in the local theater and is leaning toward this as a career. I am doing workshops on cooperative learning when I'm not teaching creative writing and language to seventh-graders.

Please drop me a Christmas card with a note or a postcard if you can't write a letter. Does this sound like I'm begging again? Well, you are right, I am!

64 Ginnie Peirce Volkman
2400 Daphne Lane
Alexandria, VA 22306

Hello again. I've just come from a college fair and am reminded for the umpty-umpty

Heading Elsewhere for the Winter?

If you're moving to a different location for the winter, the Society of the Alumni will be happy to forward the Alumni Gazette and other mail to your temporary address. By providing us with the beginning and ending dates of your seasonal sojourn, the Society's computer system can automatically change your address each year. To take advantage of this service, please fill out the form below and mail it to the Society of the Alumni.

Seasonal Address Change

Name _____ Class Year _____

Spouse's Name _____ Class Year _____

Seasonal Address _____

City, State, Zip _____

This address is effective from _____ to _____ month day year month day year

Check One:

_____ Until further notification, please make this change each year.
_____ Please make this change only for 1990-91.

Permanent Address _____

City, State, Zip _____

Mail to: Administration and Records Office, Society of the Alumni,
P. O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100

BURCHELLS RECEIVE COMMUNITY AWARD

Joan Thompson Burchell '64 and husband Don Burchell '63 have received the Annual George Washington Leadership Medal Award from the city of Alexandria, Va., Chamber of Commerce. They were cited for their significant contributions and outstanding efforts over the years to make Alexandria a better place to work and live. This community service award, usually honoring an individual, was presented jointly for the first time to both Joan and Don. Don is vice president of First American Bank in Alexandria. Joan is a manpower development specialist with the U.S. Department of Labor, helping dislocated workers get back into the work force. Much of their leisure time is spent in volunteer community service, especially for the Carpenter Shelter.

time that the college admission process is a whole different ball game than it was 30-some years ago when we were applying. Many of you have been through this already, but we are late bloomers and daughter Kate is up to her ears in applications and essays for the first time in all of our lives. If any of you have any expertise to share, now's the time. Call her, not me. I'm going into hibernation until it's over. Wake me when the first acceptance letter arrives. Between you and me I hope it's from "you know who."

Speaking of colleges, news has come of the Sadler family. Sam, as you know, is vice president for student affairs at William and Mary. When Kate and I visited the College at the beginning of this school year, we missed seeing Sam because he and Mary Liz were off taking their daughter, Erin, to enroll at Brown University. Erin was the co-valedictorian of her graduating class and is now a University Scholar at Brown. She's planning a career in journalism. Congratulations to the Sadlers.

Recently I've had the opportunity to talk with several classmates who live in the Washington, D.C., area. Stan Pencunas lives in Reston; he has been a guidance counselor for 21 years in several of the Fairfax County Public Schools and is now at Kilmer Intermediate. His wife, Celeste Holmes '65, is the county school's Area IV math coordinator. Stan has seen John Slifka, a fellow county guidance counselor at Langley High School. This is a new career for John, who retired from the Army after 22 years as a logistician.

Also with Fairfax County Schools, Charlotte Edmonds has been teaching the humanities for many years. She is now in her fifth year at Falls Church High teaching senior English. With her background in theater she emphasizes even Beowulf as a performing work. Last summer was spent in Europe mostly around Lake Como. She said her major accomplishment was climbing the Eiger and overcoming her lifelong acrophobia. Charlotte is active in running and aerobics and lives in the Old Town section of Alexandria.

Another Alexandria resident is Carol Forsythe Sperry. Carol is a division director for the U.S. Department of Education. She manages eligibility and certification standards and requirements for institutions of higher learning guaranteed student loans and grants. Of her three stepchildren, the youngest is in her last year at the University of Vermont. Carol and her husband, Roger, just returned from a biking tour of the Loire Valley in France. There and in Paris they were fortunate to get expert logistical advice from Lucy Hummer Richards and her husband, Warren. Both are with the Department of State; Lucy is the U.S. spokesperson on communications policy for the Paris-based Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development.

Also with the federal government is Gretchen Ernst, who lives in Oakton and works for Naval Sea Systems Command where she investigates procurement fraud. She calls herself one of the "beltway bandits." She travels a lot, her favorite overseas spots being Turkey and Greece.

Cathy Carr Cloud lives in Annandale. She is a psychotherapist with her own private practice. She has two daughters, one a graduate of the University of Delaware and the other a junior at U.Va. She said she had a ball at our 25th reunion last year, visiting with all of her sorority sisters again.

Nearby in Alexandria are Joan Thompson Burchell and husband Don '63. Don is vice president of First American Bank and Joan is a manpower development specialist with the U.S. Department of Labor. Her specialty is helping dislocated workers (such as those from the San Francisco earthquake) get back into the work force. They have a son who is a junior at Georgetown Prep School. Don and Joan have always spent much of their free time doing community volunteer work. This year the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce awarded them jointly the 1990 Community Service Award, especially for their hours and work for the Carpenter Shelter.

MOIRA MONK '81 NAMED PARTNER IN ACCOUNTING FIRM

Moira H. Monk '81 has become a shareholder in Aronson, Petridge, Weigle & Stern, a Rockville, Md., public accounting firm. Employed with the firm since graduation, she specializes in the areas of real estate development and the construction industry. A certified public accountant, she is a member of several building and construction associations as well as the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Maryland Association of Certified Public Accountants.

Another community recognition has gone to Annapolis attorney Dick Goodwin. Dick was named "The Capital's Volunteer of the Week" specifically for his work as chairman of the March of Dimes Walk-a-thon, his third year running. Other community work includes Boy Scout Troop Scoutmaster, past president and now district area coordinator of the Parole Rotary Club, chairman of the continuing legal education committee and the fee dispute committee for the Anne Arundel County Bar Association. Recently Dick was promoted to lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserves and is staff judge advocate of the Fort Meade ASC, 416th ENCOM.

Dick has also volunteered along with Phil Van Kirk and Roger Hardy to begin organization for our class's 30th Reunion in 1994. If you would like to help out with the dinner dance, hospitality suite, or in any other capacity, please contact one of them. Our 25th was such a success. We can all look forward to more camaraderie, reminiscing and a continued partnership with the College.

Barbara Frazier lives in Leesburg, Va., with husband Bill, who is with IBM, and son Kip, a junior in high school. Bobbie, who has been a French teacher in Fairfax County since 1964, has been named the "Distinguished Foreign Language Educator of 1990" by the Greater Washington Area Teachers of Foreign Language.

Keep the cards, letters and calls coming. The Class of '64 is great. Have a happy and healthy holiday season.

66 Nancy Rhodenhizer Henderson
13 Flax Mill Road
Newport News, VA 23602

This article is short, for I am short of news. I hope to have more news for the next issue since, as I write this, Homecoming 1990 is only two weeks away. I plan to stay in Williamsburg for Homecoming this year, as this is Arthur's 25th reunion celebration. Next year is our turn to celebrate and I hope you will all plan to attend.

68 Sandra Abicht Simmermon
1145 Rockbridge Ave.
Norfolk, VA 23508

Glenn Thomas Millican Jr. represents Mechanicsville, Va., on the Hanover County School Board. He and his wife Ann have two children. Carter, a sixth-grader, and Tripp, a ninth-grader. Glenn purchased Car Quest Parts Supply in 1982 because he wanted to do something he could control. He viewed his operation of the business as moving from employment as a job to something he liked. Prior to this Glenn received a master's degree in commerce from the University of Richmond, worked as a county planner, director of planning in New Kent and Hanover, and as a real estate agent for Joyner and Co. His community activities include the Ruritan Club, PTA and the

MARSHALL PAPERS VOLUME PUBLISHED

Volume six of The Papers of John Marshall, edited by Charles F. Hobson and Fredrika J. Teute, has been published recently by the University of North Carolina Press. The volume presents Marshall's correspondence, papers and selected judicial opinions from Oct. 1800 to March 1807, embracing his first six years as chief justice of the United States. The project is co-sponsored by William and Mary and the Institute of Early American History and Culture. Additional financial support comes from the National Endowment for the Humanities, the National Historical Publications and Records Commission and private foundations. President Verkuil and editor Hobson presented the first copy of volume six to Chief Justice Rehnquist during his visit to William and Mary this fall. (Photo at right)

Mechanicsville Presbyterian Church. In his spare time Glenn enjoys hunting, fishing and archery.

Beatrice Pecca Monahan, senior staff attorney for the Southeastern Regional Office, National Center for State Courts in Williamsburg, was admitted as a fellow of the Institute for Court Management of the National Center for State Courts.

Kari Piczak Paseur is director of the public affairs office at the contract management division, Air Force Systems Command, Kirtland AFB, New Mexico. She received an award as civilian of the quarter.

Duncan Garnett, a partner in the law office of Garnett and Garnett, is president of the Piedmont Bar Association. The Piedmont area encompasses the Virginia counties of Goochland, Louisa, Fluvanna, Orange, Madison, Greene and Culpeper. Duncan began his career as a trial lawyer in Newport News and moved to Louisa to join his brother Jeff in 1978. He is a member of the Central Virginia Regional Jail Board. He also serves as member of the Constitution and Canons Committee for the Diocese of Virginia. He is a member of numerous legal associations. Duncan has two children: Duncan III is a freshman at Virginia Commonwealth University, and Caroline a first-grader.

70 Randy Pearson Van Dam
(Mrs. T. Thomas Van Dam)
215 Myrtle St.
Haworth, NJ 07641

Fall colors were ablaze, weather was "Williamsburg warm" and the Tribe beat Furman! Our 20th Reunion was a great success thanks to Martha Hollis Robinson's planning! About 80 of us gathered for the Reunion Starter at Martha and Neil's Kingsmill home on Friday night.

At least 150 of us came together again for Saturday night's buffet... Sandy Fagan emceed the awards, etc., and a good laugh and a good time were had by all! Martha asked me to express her thanks for everyone's support and enthusiasm.

Jim Supplee (Downtown Short Stop Deli-Restaurant) did a great job catering the Reunion Starter. Anne Moore Pratt lent a hand throughout all the planning. I think we all left reluctantly, but with a wonderful feeling of renewed friendships!

Congratulations to Alvin Anderson upon his election to the Alumni Society Board of Directors! Alvin's law firm is Anderson and Franck in Williamsburg.

An administrative officer with the U.S. Forest Service at Gifford Pinchot National Forest in Vancouver, Wash., Susan Auerbach Triplett is also an avid polo player on her horse, Goblin. She lives in Lake Oswego, Ore.

Paula Howland Brosch heads clinical psychology programs in several hospitals in the University Park/Washington, D.C., area. Kevin, an attorney with the Undersecretary of Agriculture in Washington, is working on an agricultural round table with Uruguay.

Joyce Stroop Winters, senior GMP analyst at A.H. Robins, Richmond, is a national officer for Kappa Delta at Children's Hospital (KD's national philanthropy) in Richmond. Joyce and husband Al have a son, Kris, 11.

For many years, Bill Gillespie was a chemist with the federal government studying the chemical side of counterfeiting methods. More recently, he has been doing computer management work for Perpetual Savings in Washington.

Also with Perpetual Savings in Washington is Jim Husband (MBA, University of Maryland). Jim and wife Kristie have a daughter, Katie, 7 1/2.

Rhonda Curry, formerly an attorney with a 60-member firm, is now an attorney with the Social Security Administration, Louisville, Ky.

Living in Los Gatos, Calif., Berie Gomez

Grobe is head of personnel/employer/employee relations for a San Jose high school district.

Having moved 17 times in the past 20 years, U.S. Army Capt. Chip Boyd may soon be headed to the Gulf region.

Cathy Casey is a pediatrician in Arlington, Va.

Threatening to retire after this year, Gayle Crawley Foster teaches high school biology and earth science in Burlington, N.C.

Jimmye Laycock led the Tribe to a 38-28 victory over Furman! He and wife Deidre have a new son, Michael, born Sept. 18.

With Crestar Bank, Richmond, Gina Garrett McKinnon is a C.P.A. She has three children, 17, 15 and 10.

Attorney Larry Slipow, married and expecting his first child, has a firm, Slipow and Robusto, in Virginia Beach.

In Charlotte, N.C., for 17 years, Charlene Kramer Preston and husband (who owns an insurance agency) have a daughter, 15, and a son, 11.

In a new home in Powhatan, Va., Karen Clark Norsworthy is on the ACC Board for Pi Beta Phi at the University of Richmond. Their daughter Molly is 8 1/2.

Jane Neff Thompson teaches first grade and Dave is an attorney in Easton, Md. Daughter Jenny, a junior at University of Richmond, is a Pi Beta Phi. Son Ben, 7th grade, plays soccer year-round. Dave coaches and manages the traveling soccer teams.

Attorney Lehn Abrams is partner in the firm, Arnold, Matheny & Eagan in Orlando, Fla. Pam Funck Abrams '72 is an itinerant school psychologist at three elementary schools in Orlando and teaches school psychology at University of Central Florida.

Alice Hern Byers teaches in Williamsburg.

Chuck and Linda Reese Pollow are in Great Falls, Va. Chuck is a banker in Washington.

Leslie Wild, development director for a private non-profit social service agency with residential treatment and alternative education programs for high risk children, has three teenagers and lives in Pittsburgh.

A dentist near East Lansing, Mich., John Kalbfell and family live in Okemos, Mich.

A businessman in Northern Virginia, Robert Johnston and wife Marie '78 have three children, Rob, 10; Elizabeth, 8, and "T.J.," 2.

With the Daily Press, Diana Shimler Young lives in Windsor, Va.

Donnie Wilson and family have returned to Richmond from New Orleans. He is agency manager for the Equitable.

Pam Allison Barger teaches English to 7th-graders in San Diego, Calif.

For Alcoa in Pittsburgh, Linda Beerbower Burke is tax counsel. Husband Tim, also an attorney, is partner in charge of estates at a large Pittsburgh firm.

John Moses has a car dealership in Mobile, Ala.

In Columbus, Ohio, Dale Brubeck is executive director of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Kathie Asplund Munson returned to school for teacher certification. Husband Mike is still in the Army and they have two children, Kristie, 15, and Mikey, 4.

In Staunton, Va., Ron Cartwright, an elementary school principal, has a son and a daughter.

Cheryl Elrod Fauerbach teaches fifth grade. Husband Ric teaches special education near Staunton.

In Alexandria, Yvonne Crosier manages a temporary help agency.

With AT&T Informations Systems, International Department, in Morristown, N.J., Michele Cayot enjoyed a business trip to Geneva, Switzerland, this year. Michelle, husband Dan, and sons, Joshua, 10, and Mark, 5, live in Millington, N.J.

Gary Newman owns a courier company in Vienna, Va.

Donna Urquhart is living with her 16-year-old son in Alexandria, Va., and works for the Labor Department in Washington.

Living in San Carlos, Eddie Peverell is with Tandem Corp. in Cupertino, Calif. Wife Patty is a San Francisco-based flight attendant with United Airlines.

Buddy and Janice Savage Gardner are still in Richmond, where Buddy practices dentistry. Their children are now 14, 12, 10 and 7.

Steve Isaacs established his own law office recently in Richmond. The Isaacs have a daughter, 6, and a son, Kevin, born last March.

Mary Shorter Saylor has begun a "renters' computerized investigative service" to help screen renters for landlords. Her husband, retired from the Navy, is in real estate in Hampton, Va.

Linda Thacker Cannady, living in Midlothian with her husband and two boys, 16 and 11, teaches at John Tyler Community College as a Biology 101 instructor.

In Washington, Tom Doughty is vice president of Barnes, Morris & Pardoe Inc., a commercial real estate services firm.

Chris and Alice Derr Peters have a beautiful 10-month-old, Susannah. Alice works part time as a school psychologist in Clemson, S.C.

A commercial real estate developer, Bob Pope is in Raleigh, N.C.

Sandie Stemple Dashiell teaches math at Thomas Nelson Community College. Husband Earl owns Dashiell Architectural Models Inc. in Poquoson, Va.

Mary Anne Darragh is a hospital administrator in Pittsburgh. Her two nieces (children of brother Dan '67) are attending William and Mary.

In Chicago, Butchie Good Kloster manages a book, videotape and magazine distributing company.

In Dallas, Drew Hogwood is doing bank work.

John Holdren, remarried this summer, has a son and two new stepchildren (son and daughter). John is director of James City County Social Services.

In Richmond, Fred Hinton is an attorney with Smith, Moncure, Blank and Hinton.

Ragan Pulley has an insurance agency in Virginia Beach.

Grace Roselli is a computer systems consultant in Plainsboro, N.J.

With Governor's Camp on Two Rivers, real estate developer Jim Parker, wife Paulette and three children (17 1/2, 16 and 14) live in Williamsburg.

Back in the U.S. after three years in Japan, Nancy Holland Polatty has a son at the U.S. Naval Academy, class of '92, and a 7th-grade son. Husband Dave is deputy commander of the airwing on USS America and will be headed to the Gulf soon.

Living in Springfield, Reid Williamson is a civilian facilitator doing logistics work for the Army in northern Virginia.

Mary Ellen Allen Turville has returned to Virginia from Florida with daughters Elaine and Betsy (15 and 14). Bill '69 is in Newport, R.I., and soon will be off to the Gulf for seven months.

Ted and Cathy Coleman Zychowski (MBA Rutgers, Aug. '90) are in Norfolk, where Ted is based with the Navy. Their two children, 21 and 18, are in college.

A facility administrator for drug and alcohol abuse centers, Bill Semones is presently in Lynchburg, Va.

Ginny Nittoli Matish teaches at Great Bridge Jr. High School, Chesapeake, Va. She and John '69 have three daughters (16, 15 and 13).

In Annandale, Linda Drake Cummings and Casey (U.Va. '70) have two children. Linda is active with their swimming and school activities and her church board. Casey is with Winthrop Securities.

Tom and Joyce Thompson Bright are in Shippensburg, Pa. Joyce is a medical technician at Shippensburg Health Center. They have a son, 14, and daughter, 13.

Linda Albright Clickner and husband have four children and live in Fairfax.

EDUCATOR HONORED BY STUDENTS

Joan Elizabeth Mills '73 M.Ed. was named a Governor's School Outstanding Educator at a dinner in July on the University of Richmond campus. Each student participant was asked to nominate the teacher who has had the most significant impact on his or her educational development. A member of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society International, an honor society in education, Mills teaches 11th-grade advanced British literature and composition at Bruton High School in the York County public schools system and is listed in Who's Who in American Education.

Alyne Clark Pilch is program director for a preschool. She and Joe have a 17-year-old high school senior daughter and 13-year-old 8th-grade son.

In Plano, Texas, Don Gates is a plant manager with Texas Instruments.

Patty Wendell Fryer flew all the way from Honolulu for the reunion. She is with the Hawaii Institute of Geophysics. Sister-in-law Barbara Smock Wendell flew in from California.

John Harbert travels extensively with his florist business.

Walt '71 and Linda Collins Boulden have two children and are in Marietta, Ga. Walt is a captain with Northwest Airlines.

Marti Cook Smith teaches in Williamsburg.

Kay Tucker McGraw is deputy managing editor of the Ledger-Star in Norfolk.

Bill '73 and Condit Cooper Lotz have been traveling the world. They live in Atlanta, where Bill is in the travel business.

More to come on other classmates who celebrated with us . . . Max Dale, Torsten Peterson, Barbara Pate Glacel, Sherry Kardis Cotman, Carol Rodenbaugh Allen, Virginia Kerns, Chuck Hood, Joe Mayes, Dave Watson, Perry Harshutz Field, Russ Bailey, Larry Goldsmith, Linda Britt Blair, Linda Albright Clickner, Bobby Walker, Susan Burgess Johnson, Connie Scott Shepard, Stan Bryde, Carol Crute Raper, Jean Kossoff. . . .

My next deadline is March 1 for the May issue. Have a happy holiday season!

72 Peggy Corso Gould
13906 Edgecomb Court
Centreville, VA 22020

74 Mary Miley Theobald
5 Countryside Court
Richmond, VA 23229

Christmas is fast approaching and so is the next deadline for our class news. Do your classmates a favor this year: add me to your Christmas card list and scribble some news inside (your own or a friend's) for all of us to read in the spring issue. I'm afraid the news I gathered at Homecoming was sparse. There was a minimal turnout of 1974 grads this year, our 16th reunion. So I will need your news to fill the next column!

Dennis Gibbs and his wife Deborah live in Barrington, Ill., near Chicago where he works for Crum & Forster Managers Group. Due to a recent promotion from chief financial officer to executive vice president, Dennis has responsibility for overall corporate finance and operational analysis for the group, which consists of four companies located from California to New York.

Sara Thomas Hunt has started a new business called Retirements to Remember. In lieu of the traditional watch, Sara proposes several personalized gifts for retiring employees, such as a keepsake scrapbook, that she can produce. Her clients include Virginia's Signet Bank. Sara lives in Richmond with her husband and two children, ages 8 and 5.

Nat '75 and Nancy Sloan Hamner are the proud parents of their first child, Catherine Carlisle, born this past July. After a few months off, Nancy returned to work at Continental Cablevision where she is the customer service manager.

I was prepared to suffer in silence through Jim's 20th high school reunion in Ravenna, Ohio, this past summer, since I know virtually no one from his old haunting grounds, when, lo and behold, I met another bored spouse who knew no one there, and she was a '74 W&M classmate!

Mary Hutchison Wilson's husband Greg was a high school friend of Jim's, and together we killed a couple hours talking about our mutual friends from W&M. The Wilsons live in Vienna, Va., with their two children, Sarah, 6, and Christopher, 2. Mary worked as a special assistant for Sen. Bill

Bradley for 10 years before retiring two years ago when their son was born. (We agreed that it was a lot easier working full time when you had one child than with two.)

During the Wilsons' beach vacation in July they saw Linden Mathews-Boone, who is living in Wilmington, N.C., with her husband Jim and their children Scott, 5, and Peggy, 2. Linden recently left her job as supervisor for community education and public relations, which she held for 10 years.

Mary also got together this summer with Barb Foos Rehberg in Somerset, Pa. Barb and her husband Doug, a Presbyterian minister, have two daughters, Katie, 3, and new baby Maggie. Barb has been practicing speech pathology part time. They will be moving to Pittsburgh early in 1991 where Doug will be taking over as minister at another church.

Thanks for the news, Mary — see you at the 25th high school reunion!

I was sorry to learn of the death of Bob Barnett last June. Bob had worked for many years since graduation in the broadcast industry but devoted his last six years to AIDS activism, where he was noted for his advocacy of the rights of people with HIV infection.

76 Robert S. Cavaliere
3807 Keith Ave.
Fairfax, VA 22030

Holiday greetings, classmates. If you're like me, you're scrambling to complete your holiday preparations. Oh, all right, you're like me — you haven't even begun your holiday preparations. The stores count on guys like me to boost their otherwise lackluster sales.

This column represents a first for me — all the news contained herein (with one small exception) came to me directly via letters or telephone calls (yes, that's an acceptable format, but don't call collect because I'll say I don't know you) from classmates. Thank you all for responding and don't hesitate to write or call again soon. Don't forget to put me on the mailing list for your Christmas newsletter. My next deadline is coming up soon.

Susan Noyes Hollifield was the first to write. She has an M.S. in horticulture from Clemson and is in her fifth year as the science department at Westgate Christian School in Spartanburg, S.C. After getting her master's, Susan worked for several years as a horticulture therapist for the South Carolina Department of Mental Retardation, then spent several years out of the paid work force (one must be careful how one phrases these things) to be with her children, who are ages 10 and 7. Her husband Rick is a horticulturist as well. Susan reports that her W&M roommate Janice Marshall now lives in Djarkata, Indonesia, with her husband Jimmy Quizon and their two young sons.

GIFTED EDUCATION RECEIVES $350,000

The Center for Gifted Education at William and Mary has been awarded a $350,000 federal contract to develop a curriculum for teaching science to gifted children from kindergarten to eighth grade. The science curriculum project, one of four funded by the Department of Education, should have an impact on the way science is taught to students of high abilities across the nation, according to Joyce VanTassel-Baska, the center's director. As part of the grant, the center will also establish pilot programs in selected classrooms in Maryland, North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia, and a host of summer institutes for teachers from these locations.

Mike Johnson, a graduate of Yates 3rd North, was prompted to call after reading the last column. Mike, after doing graduate work in biology at W&M and working part time at UVB (now Crestar Bank), sort of ended up full time in banking despite himself and is now a vice president at Crestar in Williamsburg.

Mike brought me up to date on several others from our freshman hall, most of whom I'm quite sure will be surprised to find their names in print. John Liven-good is a physician with the Center for Disease Control, but is presently on a teaching sabbatical at Cornell University medical school in NYC.

At his last sighting, Tom Phillips was practicing law with the family firm in Rustburg, but the trail seems to have gone cold. Several people have inquired about him.

Charlie Brown's reserve unit was apparently called to active status in response to the Iraq situation.

Aubrey Davenport holds an endowed chair at the King's Arms.

I had a chance encounter in D.C. with Glenn Gundersen, an honorary member of Yates 3rd North, back in early October and he said he would have some news for the Gazette soon. Glenn, now the whole class is awaiting your news. Well, maybe not the whole class.

Back in August an article in the Washington Post weekly business section pictured and quoted Bo Poats. How many of you know his first name is actually Rutherford? I of course did know that, having been the secretary of Lambda Chi. Anyway, Bo is director of research at Energy Futures Group in Bethesda, Md., and was quoted extensively in an article dealing with providing oil supply-related information to the press.

Barb Wei Bell wrote that she is an "internist and fellowship-trained" geriatrician at a hospital just north of Philadelphia and has three children, with No. 4 expected in January. Her husband Lou is an academic pediatrician at Children's Hospital in Philly and they met and married while in medical school.

Barb sent brief news of Alice Jackson Curtis (three sons, living outside D.C.), Deb Reynolds Taggart (two boys, twin girls, living in Texas), Debbie Monfort Firebaugh (twin daughters, living in Richmond) and Pam Daniels Hobson (two children, living in Florida). I think the Kappas win the prize for most progeny.

Barb hopes other Kappas are prompted to write in. I do, too.

Got a great letter from Chris Stousland, whose mother (class reporter for 1942) finally convinced him to write (thanks, Mom). After W&M, Chris went to the University of New Mexico for an M.A. in 1978 and the University of Arizona for an M.F.A. in 1980, both in painting. He lived in Albuquerque from '80 to '86 and now lives in L.A.

Chris set out to be a teacher but ended up being a full-time painter/artist instead, although he claims he survives by catering and waitering. This past summer Chris got a real break and gained some exposure for his work. A friend from the Burg, Bruce Hornsby, commissioned Chris to paint a series of interpretations of songs from Bruce's latest album, "ANight on the Town." Those paintings, and some of Chris's older works, were photographed and are projected at the concerts on Bruce's fall tour. Another painting was used for the cover of Bruce's new single, "Lost Soul." Chris also has displays (is that the right word?) on occasion at a gallery in Albuquerque. We wish you continued success, Chris.

A letter from Judy Reynolds Jones arrived just before the deadline. Judy and her husband Sam '75 had twin boys in July to complement their 2-year-old son. Judy "retired" two years ago after nine years as an elementary music teacher in Chesterfield County near Richmond. Sam is director of planning and budget at the College and makes the daily trek from Richmond to Williamsburg.

Well, that wraps up this edition. Thanks to all who supplied info this time around. I'm glad there are a few folks who read these musings regularly. Have a great holiday season and start gearing up for our 15th reunion coming up next fall. Take care.

78 Margaret Bowen
8713 Rolando Drive
Richmond, VA 23229

80 Pamela M. Lunny
749 Boston Ave.
Bridgeport, CT 06610

82 Nancy Conlon Herzog
22 Fox Drive
Ridgefield, CT 06877

Hello, everyone. I hope you're all enjoying the holiday season.

I heard from Ellie Ferguson, who has relocated to Glenside, Pa., and is working on a master's of physical therapy at Beaver College. She is scheduled to receive her

RUSSELL JOINS ERNST & YOUNG'S VALUATION SERVICES

Lee Russell '81 M.B.A. (pictured at right) has joined the Philadelphia office of Ernst & Young as East Region director, Valuation Services Group, which provides valuation consulting services in the areas of valuation of closely-held businesses and securities, intangible assets and real estate, machinery and equipment. He will coordinate regional services between Baltimore, Philadelphia and Boston, with major concentration on the Philadelphia market. Russell holds an undergraduate degree from the Pennsylvania State University. He is a certified public accountant, a certified management accountant and a senior member of the American Society of Appraisers. Prior to joining Ernst & Young, Russell spent eight years with the American Appraisal Associates in Princeton, N.J.

MOORE ADMITTED AS PARTNER IN ARTHUR ANDERSEN & CO.

Brian T. Moore '79 has been admitted as a partner in Arthur Andersen & Co., a provider of professional business services to companies around the world. His appointment also includes nomination to the partnership of Arthur Andersen & Co., S.C., the coordinating entity that includes the business units of Arthur Andersen and Andersen Consulting. Moore specializes in litigation consulting, bankruptcy and reorganization. He is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants, the Association of Insolvency Accountants and the American Bankruptcy Institute. He and his wife, Elizabeth, and two children reside in Randolph, N.J. degree in 1992 after completing classwork, a research project and clinical affiliations.

Ellie also wrote that Tami Olenich Savage and husband Bill are still in Alexandria, where Tom is an attorney. Tami, in addition to working for NASA, has taken up illustrating as a sideline.

I've learned that Kelly Shea received a master's of education from Harvard University in May. Kelly has since been appointed director of residence life at Centenary College in Hackettstown, N.J., where she is responsible for all program and living activities at the school's six residence halls. Kelly and husband Bernard Neuner, an attorney, moved to Hackettstown over the summer.

Two classmates based in Louisville, Ky., have recently received professional recognition. Gus Griffith, also '87 M.B.A., was promoted by Brown-Forman Beverage Co. to associate brand manager for Old Forester Kentucky Straight Bourbon Whisky. Meanwhile, Virginia Robertson Gunther has earned the Certified Financial Planner designation, the most widely recognized mark in the financial planning profession.

Last summer I attended a baby shower for Carol Doub Kelly '83, whose son Brian was born in July. Alumnae Betsy Barefoot '83, Kim Eckert Failon '83 and Nancy Krafft '83 were also there. Carol and her husband, Brent Kelly '83, lived in Ridgefield for several years, but have recently moved to Columbia, S.C.

There are some of you out there we haven't heard from in a while. So occasionally I'm going to list the names of a few "missing classmates." Please get in touch, or if anyone else knows where these folks are, maybe you can let me know. This month we're looking for Christian Robert Benjamin, Marie Eleanor Buchwalter, Laurie Howe Karlson, Carrie Lee Solomon and Douglas Kent Yarrington.

Well, a new year is almost upon us. Why not drop me a line and tell me how you're doing? Till then, take care.

84 Joanna Lee Ashworth
3015 Hampton Ave.
Charlotte, NC 28207

For once, I am going to make my column short and sweet... this is a special wedding bulletin! My William and Mary sweatshirt sure came in handy on our honeymoon, with the cool temperatures in Sidney and Auckland, but I've never been mistaken for Mary so many times in my life. My new husband, David, is tired of being called William! I guess William and Mary isn't as well-known Down Under!

I had a very exciting weekend Oct. 19-20 — David Walls and I became husband and wife! We had so much fun visiting with friends and family, which of course, included many William and Mary alumni! Most important, Tex Ashworth '41, my dad, escorted me down the aisle! My sister, Cori Ashworth '72, and her husband, Charles Correll '73, helped with the wedding activities, and their daughter, Maureen (W&M class of 2002) served as a junior bridesmaid.

My William and Mary roommates, Anne St. Clair and Kim Staples Hundley served as bridesmaids. Kim and Greg Hundley traveled from Dallas. Annie and Scott have one son, Hunter, and live in Bear, Del. Annie's parents, Walt '51 and Liz '51 St. Clair came to join in the fun, too. Jill Bobbin '85, Sue Hammerland DeSmith '82, and Ann Golwen Brand served as readers at the ceremony. Jill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Larry '56 Bobbin came and had a great time snapping fun photos!

David Brand, Brad Angevine, Henry Plaster '85 and his girlfriend Christy, Dan and JJ Head, and Bobby Harris and his wife, Judy, all represented the William and Mary PIKA contingent! Jennifer Lear '88 took time out of her second year of law school at George Washington to come and serve as a greeter. Alison Horrocks Miller kept everything in line and served as mistress of ceremonies. She and her husband, Greg, are expecting their first child in early 1991.

Leslie Barry '87 traveled from California and Debbie Edwards '72 came from Pittsburgh. Karen Kolecki Browning '83 and her husband, Bill, enjoyed the Bellinis (peach schnapps and champagne) and Lisa Krizan '85 and her husband, Scott Anderegg, tasted some of the specialty coffees. Dana Hearn '82 made the trip from Charlotte, but her husband, Tom, was unable to come because he was traveling to China on business.

Jeff Bishop and his wife, Betsey, were the Dance King and Queen and Jeff was lookin' pretty snappy in his tuxedo. Thetas included Liz Lynn Perraud '81 and her husband Art, Tracy Brownlee '85, Lawson Cox '83, Beth Dodge Weaver '83 and her husband Thad, who all joined in the festivities.

The black-tie reception was held in an old Scottish manor. Alison Hawley and her fiance, Keith Tomlinson '81, were taking notes for their June 1991 wedding!

The Big Apple sent Diane Hawley, Noah Levine and his wife, Jackie. From riding in a horse and carriage to pulling ribbons from the wedding cake, it was a fun-filled day.

It was a crisp, fall weekend in historic Bucks County and Lambertville, N.J., that I will long remember. Everything was just the way we wished it to be — and I feel lucky to have had such a special day and honeymoon.

Please send in lots of special news from Down Under or wherever you might be for the next issue — I'll be waiting!

The Young Guard 1986-1990

86 Kristen White
3492 Martha Custis Drive
Alexandria, VA 22302

Hello once again to all of you who read my column! It was wonderful to see so many of you at Homecoming and catch up on what you are doing. As always, there is quite a bit of news to report:

Congratulations are in order for Julie Anderson '87 and Paul Calamita '86 who tied the knot this past October in Manassas, Va. It goes without saying that the bride was beautiful and the ceremony lovely. The bridal party included Elizabeth Flamm Grissom (who is finishing up her master's in gifted and talented education at U.Va.), Steve Furman, Dave Anderson (he and wife Ann are expecting a baby soon!), and Jimmy Skapars '87. Jen Gimler '87, a Dickinson Law School grad (congrats on passing the bar) and now a practicing attorney in Wilmington, Del., did one of the readings, while Christine Ferguson (who by the time you receive this will be Mrs. Thomas Myers) and I provided the vocal music.

There were many W&Mers in attendance, including Clay Dye '87 (working in public relations in Richmond), Nancy Pageau '88, Grace Boland Doyle (who is now the mother of two little boys — the youngest is 4 months — and looks great!), Paulette Bryant '89, Ed Grissom (handling his first murder case as an attorney in Chesapeake), Dave Maxwell (currently enjoying his second year at Duke Law School and interviewing for summer clerkships), Amy Furman '85 and Rusty and Julie Andrews '87. The bride and groom enjoyed an abbreviated honeymoon at The Homestead before getting back to Charlottesville where Paul is in the middle of classes as a second-year law student at U.Va. Best wishes for a lifetime of joy and happiness!

I went to the W&M-Delaware game back in October with Ellen and Doug Brinkley and Sara Shea and saw quite a few alums, including my freshman hallmate (Yates 3rd) Paul Caan, who is enjoying his work as a financial consultant at New York's Merrill Lynch. Mike and Jennifer Bracken were there to see W&M win, as was Bob Simons '87, who has graduated from law school at Rutgers and is currently job hunting. Good luck.

Jim Hyland is living and working in Baltimore, while Rod Lawrence is living and working here in our nation's capital. Karen Griffith '87 is working hard in the field of computers and is doing well. Mark Sweet '88 works at the Patent Office here in D.C., while Christie Checkel '88 continues to work at the Smithsonian.

Terry Rosenbaum Andrews and husband Corky '85 are living in New Jersey and house hunting. Terry tells me that she caught up with Rhanna Kidwell (a first-year at Darden) and Susan Doyle at the W&M-U.Va. game earlier this year and that both are doing well.

Congrats are in order for Gregg Saldutti and Steve Lewis, both of whom have earned degrees in medicine from the Hahnemann University School of Medicine in Philadelphia. Gregg will remain in Philly to do his residency in anesthesiology, while Steve is headed for Chicago and Northwestern University's McGaw Med Center. Good luck to both of you!

Rick Overy '88 wrote to say that Tarek Amyuni has landed a job as a stockbroker in Merrill Lynch's Nice, France, office and has bought a house on the Mediterranean. Rough life, Tarek! Rick also reports that Tom Weidner is now an attorney in Richmond, while Leigh Lawson is living in Orange County, Calif., where she is starting an alumni chapter. W&Mers in California, take note!

Kathryn Webb Sorenson is now happily married and living in Oklahoma with husband David. The couple met when both were stationed in Korea and have since added a baby boy to their family. Congrats!

Congrats to Nancy Gasper, Doug Walter and Debra Creasy. All three have recently earned J.D. degrees. Nancy and Doug graduated from Dickinson School of Law in Pennsylvania this past year, while Debra earned her degree at the Mississippi College School of Law in 1989, and then went on to earn a master of law in taxation from the University of Denver this past

GREER ELECTED TO FURNITURE ASSOCIATION BOARD

George W. "Punch" Greer III '70, president of Virginia House Furniture Corp. in Atkins, Va., has been elected to a three-year term on the American Furniture Manufacturers Association's board of directors. In addition to his B.A. from William and Mary, Greer holds a B.S. from the U.S. Naval Academy and an M.B.A. from Harvard. AFMA is the largest trade association for furniture manufacturers in the United States.

GERDELMAN PROMOTED AT PTI

John Gerdelman '75 has been promoted to executive vice president and chief operating officer of Pioneer Teletechnologies in Sergeant Bluff, Iowa. He will be responsible for all operational areas of the company. Before his promotion, Gerdelman was senior vice president of operations at PTI. He previously served as director of sales operations for MCI in Washington, D.C., and was responsible for developing the first billing system with U.S. West. A graduate of the Navy's flight training school, Gerdelman is currently a lieutenant commander in the Naval Reserve. He resides in Sergeant Bluff with his wife, Sue, and their two children.

August. Debra is now practicing in the Mile-High City.

Sounds as if Sara Trexler is achieving success in her field in Virginia Beach, where she has recently been hired away from radio station WOFM and is the new co-host (along with the mayor of Virginia Beach) of WNIS's all news/talk radio station. (Guess all that work at the campus radio station really paid off.) The station's owner has nothing but rave reviews for Sara, so listen for her in the 3 to 6 p.m. time slot daily if you are in the Tidewater area.

Thanks to Betsy Fulcher for a newsy letter from the Big Apple. Betsy has "retired" from her position as an au pair and is devoting her energies to earning a master's in music (or is it voice?) at the Manhattan School. Betsy is loving New York and has seen quite a few operas at Lincoln Center but admits to yearning for the Midwest every once in a while! She's seen Jim Brubaker and tells me that he continues to do well in advertising at J. Walter Thompson.

Kathy Suchenski is earning a master's in French at the University of Wisconsin, Adriana Ercolano is completing her law school studies and is soon to be married, and Bill Joyner '84 is finishing up his master's in voice at Juilliard. Thanks for the letter, Betsy. It was such a treat to hear from you!

Michael Moravitz dropped me a line to say that he is living in Falls Church, Va., and working as a writer for the Voice of America. He reports that his job focuses on Latin American coverage; he now wishes he'd paid more attention during Spanish class! Michael's job finds him busy having interviews and writing extensively. Thanks for the letter, Michael!

Seems as if my "where are you now?" paragraph has been successful. Chris Hagin wrote recently to fill me in on the Pi Lam scoop. Chris is living in Edison, N.J., where he just bought a home and is working in sales for the Multiplex Corp., which designs and sells advertising display systems. When not traveling, Chris coaches a local swim team and reports that he is having fun.

Chris tells me that John Kumnick is currently working in sales for the Safe Stride Corp. and living in Baltimore with fellow W&Mers Greg Hurlbrink '84 and Tim Carroll '87.

It seems that congrats are in order for Glen Tofil, who was recently married in Vermont and is now probably freezing in the Windy City of Chicago, where he has opened a branch office of Harland Brown. Glenn Moore recently celebrated his first wedding anniversary and has taken up residence in Richmond.

Virginia Beach is home to Brock Beasley and Jim McCarthy; Brock is working as a commercial loan officer for Sovran, while roommate Jim is in sales for IBM. Tony Waldron has moved home to Aruba where he is running the family restaurant, so if you visit Aruba, be sure to stop at the Windmill Restaurant! Thanks for the Pi Lam update, Chris; it was great to hear how everyone is doing!

Beth Loudy sent me lots of news about various classmates. (Where are my letters from all the rest of you who lived in a lodge our senior year?) Beth is working here in D.C. doing lobbying and legislative research for an association management firm. She lives in Northern Virginia with Amy Parker (who now works in marketing for the National Trust for Historic Preservation in D.C.) and Susan Umscheid (who works in AT&T's systems engineering division while getting her MBA at GWU here in D.C.).

Beth wrote that Merry Whearty Thomas and husband Jon are happily married and living in Mt. Kisco, N.Y. Merry is busy teaching elementary school, coaching the high school drill team, and directing and choreographing the high school theater productions. Whew! Jon is recruiting for Pace University and is working on his master's degree there.

Lori Pepple is also working on her master's while working as an account manager here in Northern Virginia and coaching gymnastics. Lori is sharing an apartment in Falls Church with Kathy Patten, who is working in marketing in Alexandria.

Lianne Radell is moving up in the ranks with Ernst & Young, while Laura Martin works for Minolta in Raleigh, N.C. Congrats to Kathy DuVall who has tied the knot and is living in Richmond where she works for the Virginia Theological Seminary.

Debbie Schwager is a law clerk with Dickstein, Shapiro and Morin and a second-year student at Catholic University's law school.

Debbie Bush Vasco and husband Mark are living in Williamsburg. Debbie teaches 8th-grade science in New Kent County.

Wedding plans are on the agenda for John Byrum, who is planning to tie the knot next August and is currently working here at the law firm of Skadden, Arps.

Eleanor Ketchum earned a master's degree from Johns Hopkins and is now employed at NASA.

Ward Thomas has a mortarboard from U.Va.'s law school and is putting his legal skills to work here in D.C. Larry and Pam Tolbert Hanbeck are in the area as well. Pam is in law school at George Mason while Larry works at AT&T. Thanks for writing, Beth.

Best wishes to Dave Han and his new wife, Joanne, who took the plunge here in Maryland this past September. Dan Weber and Steve Richards flew from Chicago to witness the ceremony. Dave and Joanne enjoyed a Caribbean honeymoon before settling into their new townhouse outside Chicago where they both work. All the best to both of you!

Kevin Ward was back in the States recently for a brief visit. Kevin is with the State Department and is currently stationed at the American Embassy in Guinea (that's in Northwest Africa, for those of you who need to brush up on your geography). The job sounds like a challenging one and Kevin had many stories to tell.

Ansley Calhoun (working at Kirkland & Ellis), Sara Shea (still in the insurance business and doing well), Ellen and Doug Brinkley, Chris and Joan Hopkins Jones (now the proud parents of a little baby! Congratulations!) and I were among those who went out with Kevin one night so that he could enjoy some authentic American food. Guess they don't have spaghetti in Guinea!

Congratulations to Kevin '81 and Elizabeth Beal Murphy '84, who had a baby boy in October. Brian Murphy is doing well, and Kevin and Elizabeth are tired!

Enjoyed brunch one Sunday this past September with a group that included Andi Owen. Andi has been extremely busy working in management at Bloomingdale's but managed to take a weekend off recently to be a bridesmaid in Heidi Van's November wedding. Heidi graduated from Boston University's School of Law and is now practicing as an attorney here in Washington, as is her husband. Congratulations!

Congrats to Rob and Debbie Zanfagna Bass who were married in October. I hear it was a beautiful wedding and attended by many W&Mers. Rob and Debbie honeymooned in Bermuda and are now settled in Atlanta where both work.

Karen Hansen '87 and Mary Barrett Shearin threw a lovely bridal shower for Liese Cochran '87 in October. Jane Butler (who tells me that Kathy Welch is engaged — best wishes!), Kathy Redmond Schaum '87, Christine Checkel '88, Ann-Darby Simpson '87 (working as a legal assistant at Fulbright and Jaworski), Kim Norris Chappell '87 (getting her master's degree at W&M while husband Jim '85 works toward his medical degree) and I were on hand to enjoy an afternoon of good company and delicious food! Liese and Jeff Mosher will be taking their vows in December here in Alexandria.

Best wishes to Alex Cochran who is also engaged! He and his lovely fiancée, Irene, whom he met while stationed in Germany, are planning to tie the knot next fall. Alex is still at Arizona's Fort Wuchuca where he is in the Army.

Tom and Julie Dunn are both busy in Durham, N.C. Tom is a second-year law student at Duke and is busy with the interviewing process. Julie is studying harder than ever in UNC's MBA program and reports that she is swamped with work! Julie tells me she has heard from Mary Kosko Oates, who, along with husband Dave, is working harder than ever as a medical intern in California. Mary loves what she is doing but says the hours are tough!

Billy and Lynn Hale Riggs are now proud homeowners in Richmond and are busy putting the finishing touches on their new house. Both are doing well and achieving success in their careers! Lynn was honored this past October at a reception at Catholic University where she received the award for Outstanding Graduate of 1989-1990. Lynn is loving her job as a reference librarian in Henrico County, and tells me that Lucinda Snyder Whitehurst enjoys her job as a children's librarian there as well.

Sutton Stephens has just returned to the States from Tunisia, where she recently completed her Peace Corps commitment. Sutton says the experience was an excellent one. She is now job hunting here in Washington.

Ran into Susie Witmer recently. She sounds happy working for FU Associates in Arlington as a programmer and analyst.

Spoke to Tom Noble this fall. He continues to enjoy his advertising job at Weiden & Kennedy in Portland, Ore., and says that his only complaint lies with the rainy weather. He's keeping up with his running and has participated in a number of races. Hope to see you at home over Christmas, Tom!

As for my "where-are-you-now" paragraph (thanks to all of you who have responded thus far), Yates 1st and 2nd Center '82-'83, Jim Wright, Donna Korff Gilbert and Bob Pontz, what are you up to these days? Please write!

As for me, I am happy to report that all is well here in Alexandria. I am still here at Akin, Gump (having decided, once and for all, not to go to law school), working mainly on assorted interesting matters for Major League baseball. I recently started volunteering my time at a local hospital and find it incredibly rewarding. All in all, I am enjoying myself and life is treating me well.

By the time this reaches your mailbox you will most likely be heading home to celebrate the holidays with family and friends. Hope 1990 was good to all of you, and may the New Year find you in good health and enjoying much happiness. Happy holidays to all! Take care and keep in touch!

88 Suzy Hoube
1108 E. Genesee St., Apt.
308
Syracuse, NY 13210

Hello to everyone! I hope all is going well with you and that you all enjoyed a safe and terrific Homecoming!

I received a letter from Becky Architzel, who moved to Alaska last January, letting the folks in the "lower 48" know what she's doing. She is working as a geologist for a nationwide environmental consulting firm, Ecology and Environment, doing investigations in locations ranging from the Arctic to the interior. Becky does lots of mountain-climbing, hiking, ice-climbing and skiing up there and loves it!

Susan Lin is finishing her thesis for her master of science degree in occupational therapy at MCV. She is also starting a job at MCV Hospital as a pediatric occupational therapist. Susan spent a week at the Jersey Shore courtesy of Donna Lotz. Susan Wilson was there as well. Donna is busy auditing clients in Alexandria and Sue is teaching first grade. Susan says she'd love to hear from Yates 2nd floor friends.

Lori Crawford writes that she is engaged to Jeff Widmeyer, a graduate of U.Va. and a student at MCV. The wedding is set for June 8, 1991. Lori is working for MCI in Richmond right now.

A postcard from Anson Christian '89 reports that he is a first-year law student at Southern Methodist University in Texas.

Julie Frakes plans to marry in August 1991. Her fiancé, George Buckley '87, works for Commeysbank in Manhattan. Julie is working for Merrill Lynch in Garden City, N.Y., and loves it! She and George will remain on Long Island after their marriage.

Julie's brother, Patrick Frakes '86, is one of our many friends serving in Saudi Arabia. He and his wife, Kathy Hecker Frakes '86, had just moved into their new home in Hinesville, Ga., with their "adorable" son Paul when Patrick was called to duty. Patrick is a first lieutenant at Ft. Stewart, Ga. Patrick and Kathy are expecting their second child in May.

Congratulations to Birgit Starmanns who has graduated from William and Mary with an MBA. She is working for Price Waterhouse Management Consulting Services, and enjoys every minute of it. Birgit is making the big move to Northern Virginia soon.

My apologies to Melody Pitts Scofield, who apparently was overlooked in the last issue. Melody married Jim Scofield last November with dozens of W&M grads in attendance. Melody and Jim recently moved to Virginia Beach where Jim is teaching learning disabled students in a local junior high school. Melody is commuting part-time to W&M in pursuit of her M.A.Ed. in secondary English.

Melody says that she and Jim are "happy as clams" at the beach and stay in close contact with a lot of W&M buddies. Jim and Melody keep busy singing with the Virginia Symphony Chorus and are learning to sail. They also hook up often with Brett Charbeneau, fellow bandmate of the Royal Charter for occasional acoustic "gigs" in the area. The Scofields had their annual Labor Day bash with guests including Ryan Vaughan, Cindy Little, Lelane Schmit, Lydia Bayfield (and beau Jim Bates), as well as Ed Holt '86, Andy Hunt '87, Martha Giffen and Anne Abbruzese '89.

Melody included some grapevine news in her letter: John House is alive and well in Fairfax, managing his own shoe store.

Wanda Graybeal Melchers and husband Gari are still in Vinton, Va., and Gari has just passed his CPA exam. Congratulations!

Mary-Jane Lombardo is pursuing her doctorate in Urbana, Ill., and is reportedly very busy, but happy.

Marnie Crannis and Rob Garner finally tied the knot Oct. 6 in Midlothian, Va. Jim Scofield and Barbara Walters Toth sang at the wedding.

Keith Reagan is now a member of the Alumni Society staff. His title is assistant director of alumni affairs and he will be working with the Society's alumni chapters across the country. Keith is married to the former Lisa Stone, and worked for the Pepsico Corp. before joining W&M.

Tegan May Holtzman and Patrick Parodi '89 are among this year's entering class for Thunderbird American Graduate School of International Management.

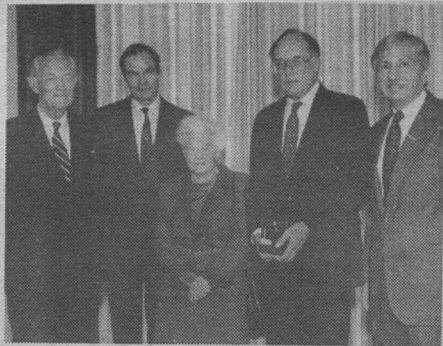

Paula Coates has transferred from the Old Hampton office of Sovran Bank to the Jamestown Road office. Paula is the service manager.

Juliana Meermans married Brian Exton at St. Bede's in Williamsburg in August. Congratulations! The two are attending W&M graduate school and living in Williamsburg.

Timothy Denby was recently commissioned as a Coast Guard ensign after his

1990 COLONIAL ECHO AVAILABLE

This year's Colonial Echo has arrived from the printer, and copies are reported to be going fast! Any 1990 graduates who would like to receive their copies by mail should send a check for $5.00 to cover postage and handling to Colonial Echo, Campus Center Basement, College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, VA 23186. Graduates also may pick up their copies in person at the Colonial Echo office.

REHNQUIST RECEIVES LOWANCE MEDAL

William Rehnquist, chief justice of the United States, has received the first Carter O. Lowance Fellowship in Law and Public Service at the Marshall-Wythe School of Law. The Lowance Fellowship is supported by an endowment established by friends who wished to honor the career of Lowance, who served as executive assistant to six Virginia governors as well as executive vice president at the College. Rehnquist spent several days at the College this fall meeting with students and faculty at the law school. He also received a handsome medallion consisting of a profile in bronze of Lowance, which was created by Carl Roseberg, professor of fine arts emeritus. Shown in the accompanying photo (l. to r.) are former Governor Mills E. Godwin '36, President Verkuil, Mrs. Lowance, Rehnquist and Timothy J. Sullivan '66, dean of the law school. Governor Godwin described Lowance as the "premier public servant of his time."

graduation from Officer Candidate School. Timothy joined the Coast Guard Reserves in January 1990.

Kaky Spruill has been elected marketing manager of the Dickinson Law Review 1990-91. Congrats!

Bethany Parker '89 is living in Richmond and works at the state capitol, where she is an economist for the House of Delegates Finance Committee. She is also in the graduate program in economics at VCU, where she takes classes at night. She hopes to finish her master's in 1992. Paula Bryant '89 is also getting her master's at VCU in social work and lives with Alison Doland.

Bethany also writes that Wendy Cutting is alive and well and living in D.C. She is in the management training program at First American Bank and really likes it. Wendy is still dating her Lambda Chi boyfriend, Van. Sara Hammel '89 also works with Wendy at the bank and lives in Falls Church, Va., with Megan Muldoon.

From the class of '89, Sarah Pulley, Lee Ann Hanilla and Tracey Brown all live in Richmond and are schoolteachers. Tracie MacMillion lives with them and works for the James River Financial Co. Kristie Jamison lives in Philadelphia, where she is working on her master's in education. She and Jon Tuttle are still dating.

Bethany's sister, Susan Parker '87 finished her master's in education from UNC-Chapel Hill and now teaches kindergarten in Warrenton, Va. She loves it.

Alicia Meckstroth '89 and John Bradford '89 are both economists for the IRS in Washington.

Last month I spoke to some of our fellow W&Mers who are living abroad. Leslie McCormack sounded very happy. She's still living in Paris, is constantly on the move, and loves it!

And Amy Hoyt called me from Great Falls, Va., last month. She was in the States for a week and a half during her three-week vacation from Trans-World International. Amy is still living in London and is now waiting for the British government to okay an extension of her stay. She survived her visit to Finland (remember the 300-pound men pulling trucks?) and actually had a great time. It was great talking to both of them!

I spent a week at the beach in North Carolina this summer with some W&M chums. We stayed at a beautiful house at the Currituck Sound, about a block from the beach. Thanks for a terrific vacation guys! News from the gang:

Dori Koser '90 and Karen Duncan '90 are living in Annandale with fellow '90 classmates Stefanie Groot, Erica Heine-mann and Heidi Hendrix.

Anne Bowling is in her third year of law school at William and Mary. Anne worked in the legal department of the U.S. Postal Service this summer. Anne is living in the Burg with Monica Taylor who is also a third-year law student. Last summer Monica was a summer associate with a law firm in D.C. that specializes in civil litigation. Monica reported that fellow law student Anne-Marie Shaia is engaged to law student Andy Conclin.

Anne Jansen is working for Marshall High School in Northern Virginia. She lives with Marion McCorkle '89 in a beautiful house in Arlington.

Monica had a party in July. Among those who attended were: Catherine Policastro Freiling, Cathy Ireland and her boyfriend, Jeff, Robyn Yustein and fiancé Steve, Teri Dale, Jenny Whitaker and Jim McCreedy, Lynn Kerr, Anne Jansen, Donna Lotz and Susan Wilson.

Nancy Hill '89 had a great time fighting lions, tigers and bears in Central America but had a little difficulty with a van upon re-entering the USA.

Lynn Kerr successfully completed a summer clerkship with the law firm of Schmelzter, Aptaker and Shepard in Washington, where she learned a lot about maritime and labor law. She is eager to complete her third year of law school at Indiana University. Get ready for a terrific party in May '91!

Jim McCreedy spent the summer driving between his home in Colts Neck, N.J., and his job as a diligent and impressive summer associate in Roseland, N.J., with the law firm Connell, Foley and Geiser. Jim will be completing his third year of law school in May '91 at the Dickinson School of Law in Carlisle, Pa.

Jenny Whitaker has finally entered the real world as fitness director for City Sports Squash and Fitness Club in Washington. She is living in Alexandria with Julie Hill '89 and another friend from Texas. Jenny is finding life in the big city quite exciting, and has mastered the Metro, but is still a little wary of the traffic patterns.

As for me, I am still in Syracuse trying my best to finish up my thesis before the deadline (I don't think one of my famous all-nighters will work with this paper!) and trying to pull my resume together so that I can start paying off this wonderful student loan debt that I have accumulated in my pursuit of knowledge.

And now for the infamous "Where in the World Are They?" section: Has anyone heard anything about Jennifer Whiting, Cheryl Toth, Melanie Newfield, Diana Bulman, Holly Maslanka or Seth Miller? Write and let me know what they (or you) are up to. We want to know!

Keep those letters coming. Have a safe and wonderful holiday season!

90 Stephanie Goila Padgett
6433 Clough Pike #4
Cincinnati, OH 45244

Well, it's less than a year since graduation and the wedding bells haven't stopped ringing. Tim Padgett and I were married Sept. 8 in Cincinnati. Classmates Jennifer-Ashley Lane, Kristin Palm, Doug Hillman and Ed Szuszcwicz were all in the ceremony. Kristi Graber, my Kappa Delta little sis, sang beautifully. Michelle Furman '89 and Alan Veek '91 made the trip from New York and Williamsburg, respectively. After 10 days in Hawaii we came to face the reality of work and home life.

In August we attended the wedding of JoAnn Adrales '89 and Colin Ruh '89. Many W&M graduates attended the ceremony in Covington, Va. Maggie Jordan '89, Kristin Palm, Meg Madoc-Jones, Diana Shelles '91, Beth O'Doherty, Gina Adrales '92, and Brian Camillo '89 were all in the wedding. The couple spent two weeks in California before settling in Culpeper, Va. Colin still works in D.C. and JoAnn works in Charlottesville for Central Fidelity.

Caroline Tolley married Martin Noff-singer in August. Darlene Swaffin served as maid-of-honor. Caroline teaches in Newport News. The couple honeymooned in Sanibel Island, Fla.

Going back to May, Nicky Pooley married Darren Rousseau '89 in Winchester, Va. Lisa Melikian served as maid-of-honor. Nicky and Darren are in Chapel Hill, N.C., where she works for Ernst and Young and he studies urban planning at U.N.C. They enjoyed three weeks in England.

On a less joyous note, Kim Carauthers and Jesse '89 had to move up their wedding date because of Jesse's departure for the Middle East. I'm sure that Jesse is one of several W&M grads in the desert — please keep them in your thoughts and let me know names and addresses of any classmates who are serving our country. As far as I know, Kim is back in D.C. with her parents while Jesse is away. Please drop her a line — I know I'd hate being away from my husband!

Now for those who just decided to get married: Kim Belshee wrote to announce her engagement to Tim Rice. They live together in Richmond. Tim works as an assistant manager for Blockbuster Videos, and Kim is working toward her teaching certificate. They plan to marry in May 1991. Lisa Malinsky '91 and Brian Mathis have made the big promise. They plan to finalize things next summer. Meanwhile Brian is in Florida training for work with insurance.

Jennifer-Ashley Lane and Doug Hillman were so inspired by our ceremony, they decided to tie the knot this July! They are living in Florida (separate residences). Doug is keeping up his golf game and waiting tables at a West Palm Beach Ruby Tuesday's. JA is working for an insurance agency and plans to attend grad school at Florida Atlantic University in the spring.

By next July, all of Tim's roommates will be married, as Ed Szuszcwicz is planning a May wedding to Nicki Schwaller in Washington. Well, Nicki plans and Ed studies at MCV.

If you lived in Nicholson freshman year, look out — you could be next! Six of the above marriages/engagements involved at least one former Nicholson resident.

Now news for those who still gag at the mention of marriage:

Nan Brunson writes from Lynchburg where she is toiling as a social worker for the public schools. Nan has been seeing a guy since Easter and admits it "might be getting serious."

Other names she mentioned . . . Jill Wagner is at Eastern Virginia med school. Richard "Dickie" McMillan '88 is living in Newport News and working for Sovran Bank. Brendon Bunn '87 is finishing up law school at George Mason.

Ed Mitchell was spotted at a Richmond bar and is doing "something financial," according to Nan. I'm not sure if she meant more than running up a bar tab, though.

Lisa Melikian wrote that she is at Boston University studying for a master's degree in mass communications. She's also working as a career counselor in the school and enjoying Boston life.

Larisa Lomack wrote to say she's employed! She's the lone writer for the Montgomery County Business Record. We hope John Franklin has found employment or happiness in 1-900 lines. At last count the two were still hanging out together and going to some great concerts in the D.C. area.

They ran into Dan Kulpinski '89 at a Billy Bragg concert (surprise!). Dan's still working at Time-Life Books as a researcher and caption editor.

Rob Kreiling called from sunny Florida to give me a new address. He's heard from Annette Shaw, who is teaching English in Japan for the year. Roommates John Campbell and Scott McCloud are still in school. John is an Arkansas razor-back studying law, and Scott is a W&M head resident earning his master's in education.

News from the University of Pennsylvania campus is that classmates Ellen Ramos and Pete Cocolis are enjoying learning about teeth.

Michelle Lovelady is now Allegheny College's assistant director of annual giving. Guess the phone calls in marketing research paid off — one of Michelle's duties is managing campus telemarketing! She is living in Meadville, Pa.

Julie Farmer was selected as a US-2 short-term missionary of the United Methodist Church. She trained in Atlanta, then served two 18-month assignments — one in the U.S., one abroad. Hey, what are you other Kappas up to?

Marcia Chamberlain is also serving the United Methodist Church. She is one of 18 young adults serving as missionaries for the Methodist Board of Global Ministries. She will be in Buenos Aires for 18 months.

Meg Madoc-Jones is also abroad. She's living in a small efficiency in Spain and teaching English at a nearby academy. She may be home by Christmas, but wasn't sure as of October. Meg said she's learning a lot, but misses her W&M friends.

In the department of mystery alumni and you never know where you'll run into W&M people, Brad Anger '93 sent the Alumni Office the photo below taken at the Berlin Wall this spring. His W&M sweat-shirt attracted the attention of two recent graduates. Can anyone provide their names?

I hope all had a good time at Homecoming! Drop me a line with the latest stories. Two reminders before I close. If you move out and hate getting nothing but bills and worthless coupons, drop the Alumni House a postcard with your new address. They'll keep your mailbox full of W&M news. The address is Society of the Alumni, P.O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100.

And finally, with all these wedding announcements, please remember that RSVP means respond whether you plan to attend or not! And reply before the date indicated! You'll appreciate it when you're the bride or groom!

Take care and drop me a line!

VITAL STATISTICS

Marriages

Thomas James Bradshaw '77 and Letitia Farnum Wilbur '81, Sept. 1, 1990.
Mimi Pfeifer '77 and L. Keith Burkhardt, May 20, 1990.
Robert Scarritt Jones '79 M.B.A. and Pamela Ann Shepherd, Aug. 25, 1990.
Carol Hoehner '80 and David Z. Gray, Sept. 1, 1990.
Patrick Lynn Carnahan '80 and Carolyne Mary Handrigan, July 15, 1990.

William Jefferson Gillespie Barnes '81, '86 J.D. and Tamera Lynn Counts, Sept. 1, 1990.
Donna Lorraine Haynie '82 and Jeffrey Bussells Clark, April 22, 1989.
Melinda Lou Bowles '83 and Robert William LaPrade, Sept. 22, 1990.
Catherine Dehoney '83 and Eric L. Robinson, Aug. 19, 1989.
Helen A. Long '83 and William Parker McGinnies, Sept. 1, 1990.
Joanna Lee Ashworth '84 and David Stanley Walls, Oct. 20, 1990.

COLLEGE NAMES NEW POLICE CHIEF

Richard W. McGrew, director of safety and security at the College of St. Thomas in St. Paul, Minn., has been named director of campus police at William and Mary, effective Dec. 1. McGrew has a 17-year career in police and security service as an administrator, supervisor, detective and crime prevention specialist. As director of safety and security at St. Thomas since 1988, he initiated the development of the department from a security operation to a safety and security department. The school has about 9,000 students. McGrew succeeded Richard Cumbee '76 who departed in June to accept a position as associate vice president for business services at the University of Southern Colorado.

Robert Jones Hartsoe '84 and Kimberly Ann Barcoft, Sept. 23, 1989.

Virginia Benton Bailey '85 and Darryl Everett Gugig '86, Sept. 2, 1990.

W. Robert Lee '85 and Colleen Ann Wylie, Sept. 1, 1990.

Leonard J. Jones Jr. '86 M.B.A. and Delbra C. Harper, Sept. 8, 1990.

Diane Dobbins '87 and Craig Allen Hooten, Sept. 29, 1990.

Andrew Winston Horrocks '87 and Amy Elizabeth Will, July 22, 1990.

Karen Lynn Magiera '87 and Robert T. Sedivy '87, Sept. 22, 1990.

Sharon Ann Meyers '87 and Kenneth Evan Levine, Aug. 25, 1990.

Ginger Stair '87 and Bill Garvey, Feb. 14, 1988.

Michelle Crown '88 and Charles Miller Bias, Sept. 29, 1990.

Brian John Exton '88 and Juliana Michelle Meermans, Aug. 10, 1990.

Roberta Hunter '88 and Paul Donahue, Sept. 25, 1990.

Clarice Ann Nesbitt '88 and Robert L. Jenkins, Sept. 15, 1990.

Lisa M. Price '88 and Geoffrey Gunter, Aug. 18, 1990.

Amie Lynn Schaufler '88 and Kurt MacLeod Hellauer '88, Aug. 4, 1990.

Lara Caroline Williams '88 and Stephen Francis Blanchard, Aug. 18, 1990.

John Cleeland Willis '88 M.B.A. and Elizabeth Ashley Ryland, Sept. 15, 1990.

Kevin William Grierson '89 M.A. and Judith Gail Williams '86, Aug. 5, 1990.

Nicole Corrine Nielsen '89 and Donald Charles Winter II, June 23, 1990.

Rana C. Hershkowitz '90 and James H. Morris III, May 27, 1990.

Tammy L. Thompson '90 and Donald R. Hall Jr., June 16, 1990.

Births

To: Mary Hutchison (Wilson) '74, second child, a son, Christopher John, Nov. 18, 1988.

To: Nancy Sloan (Hamner) '74 and Nathan Carlisle Hamner '75, first child, a daughter, Catherine Carlisle, July 29, 1990.

To: Linda Kite (Cutler) '75, first child, a son, Alexander Yancey, Aug. 18, 1989.

To: Jane L. Pusch (Franks) '75, second child, first daughter, Laura Jane, Aug. 28, 1989.

To: Julie Chappell (Hennessy) '78 and Michael P. Hennessy, first child, a daughter, Grace Maureen, Feb. 15, 1990.

To: Hillary Hamilton '78, a daughter, Marissa Jeanne Smit, May 14, 1990.

To: Lawrence E. Kochard '78, first child, a son, Christopher Lawrence, July 30, 1990.

To: Sherri McCandless (Schalk) '79 and Mark Howard Schalk '80, second child, first daughter, Brooke Elizabeth, June 13, 1990.

To: Victoria Arato (Hull) '80 and Wayne Hull '80, first child, a son, Geoffrey Stuart, Nov. 28, 1989.

To: Anita Bolick (Tarbox) '80, second child, first son, Andrew Paul, Sept. 16, 1990.

To: Sheryl Holtzclaw (Gusman) '80, second son, Jonathan Alexander, March 11, 1990.

To: Lynn Nichols (Shippee) '80, first child, a son, David Brandon, July 16, 1990.

To: Naomi Okinaka (Heck) '80 and Albert William Heck '80, first child, a daughter, Allison Mari, Feb. 12, 1990.

To: Lisa Best (Morton) '81, second child, first daughter, Hayley Alexa, Sept. 3, 1990.

To: Diane Frey (Solari) '81, first child, a son, Kevin Charles, July 30, 1990.

To: Helen Greifer (Grimm) '81, first child, a daughter, Rebecca Dahl, Jan. 31, 1990.

To: Pamela Smith (Schubert) '81, first child, a daughter, Helen Elizabeth, May 13, 1981, and second child, second daughter, Karen Teresa, Jan. 22, 1983.

To: Ellen H. P. Lekman (Geithman) '82 and James P. Geithman '82, first child, a daughter, Katherine Ellen, March 9, 1990.

To: Jacqueline LeTendre (Doyle) '82 and Kevin Doyle '82, first child, a son, Connor Saunders, May 29, 1990.

To: Donna Haynie-Clark '82, first child, a son, Isaac Haynie Clark, Aug. 15, 1990.

To: Paula Miente (Tarrant) '82, first child, a daughter, Morgan Elizabeth, July 31, 1990.

To: Colleen Kearney (Moore) '83, first child, a son, Ryan Kearney Moore, May 26, 1990.

To: John Robert Newman Jr. '83, first child, a son, John Robert III, Aug. 20, 1990.

To: David Clark Aiken Jr. '84, first child, a son, Sean Alexander, May 3, 1990.

To: Lori Virga (Cinque) '84, first child, a son, Francis Scott, July 8, 1990.

To: Hunter Milligan (Lockett) '85, first child, a son, Michael Sullivan, July 20, 1990.

To: Ginger Stair (Garvey) '87, first daughter, Kristina Nicole, May 24, 1990.

To: Denise Williams (Koch) '88 M.B.A., a son, Andrew Nathaniel, June 13, 1990.

Obituaries

WILLIAM HENRY GRAVELY '25 of College Park, Md., died Sept. 18, 1990. He was professor emeritus of American literature at the University of Maryland, where he taught for 36 years. He received master's and doctoral degrees in American literature from the University of Virginia. He had published articles in PLMA Modern Language Notes, Poe Studies and the Princeton University Library Chronicle. He is listed in Who's Who in Maryland, Personalities of the South, and the Directory of American Scholars. As a student he was a member of the Phoenix Literary Society and Kappa Alpha fraternity. Survivors include his wife, Elizabeth; a daughter; two sons, including John '63; a sister; and six grandchildren.

PAUL REA THOMAS '25 of Gloucester, Va., died April 10, 1990. He was a retired schoolteacher who had taught in York and Gloucester counties and abroad. He also had worked for NASA. He is survived by his sister, Esther Thomas Kurani '26; and six nieces and nephews.

IMOGENE BLACK BELL '26 of Williamsburg, Va., died Sept. 17, 1990. She was an occupational therapist at Eastern State Hospital, and a dietician at Bell Hospital, which was founded by her late husband Baxter I. Bell Sr. She was a member of the Williamsburg Garden Club and was active in the King's Daughters and the College Women's Club. She is survived by two daughters, Carolyn Bell Hall '53 and Virginia Bell Mulford '53; a son, Baxter Jr. '48; three sisters, including Estelle Hughes Whitacre '29; a brother; 10 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

ELDON WASHINGTON CHRISTOPHER '26 of Tappahannock, Va., died Sept. 19, 1990. He was a retired superintendent of public schools in Essex and Middlesex counties. He received a master's degree in education from George Washington University. For many years, he represented Essex County on the board of Rappahannock Community College. He was awarded the honor of being selected as a Paul Harris Fellow through the Tappahannock Rotary Club. In 1969, the Northern Neck Bar Association presented him with the Liberty Bell Award. He was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity at W&M. He is survived by his wife, Gene; two daughters, including Sally Christopher Acree '61; a son, John '67; and a brother.

JAMES THOMAS HELM JR. of Arlington, Va., '29 died Aug. 25, 1989. He was a retired supervisor of social studies in the Washington, D.C., public school system. He attended W&M, graduated from Mary

SHAY NAMED EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF CHROME

Judith Shay '68 of Virginia Beach has been appointed executive director of the Cooperating Hampton Roads Organization for Minorities in Engineering. Shay holds a master's of science degree from Johns Hopkins University. Previously, she was a consultant and faculty member of Loyola College in Baltimore, Md. CHROME is a partnership of school systems, higher education institutions, government agencies and business and industry with a mission to increase the number of minorities and females entering advanced technology fields.

Washington College, then went on to receive a master's degree in history and education from Duke University. He was a member of the D.C. Congress of Parents and Teachers, the D.C. Retired Teachers Association and Clarendon United Methodist Church. In 1961, he was honored with an Agnes Meyer Fellowship for his work as a teacher. He is survived by his wife, Margaret, a son, daughter, two sisters; a brother; and five grandchildren.

JOSEPH THOMAS MAPP JR. '32 of Eastville, Va., died Sept. 11, 1990. He was a farmer and a retired agent with the Virginia Farm Bureau Insurance Co. where he worked for 25 years. He served as past president and on the board of directors of the Northampton County Farm Bureau, and as past chairman of the board of Social Services of Northampton County. He was a member and chairman of the board of trustees of Johnsons United Methodist Church and chairman and treasurer of Johnsons Cemetery. Survivors include his wife, Barbara, a daughter, son, stepdaughter, two stepsons, five grandchildren, including Ben F. Kellam III '78, and one great-grandchild.

WILLIAM HOWARD SIZEMORE '32 of Clarksville, Va., died Oct. 9, 1990. He was retired editor and co-publisher of the Clarksville Times Newspaper. A veteran of World War II, he served in the U.S. Army Air Corps. He was a charter member of the Clarksville Lions Club and a member of Clarksville Baptist Church, where he served as church clerk, deacon and Sunday School teacher for many years. He is survived by his wife, Genevieve; two sons, including William '71; four brothers, including Julian '43; and five grandchildren.

HAROLD EDWARD SISSON '34 of Warsaw, Va., died Oct. 7, 1990. He was a general practitioner in Warsaw for 25 years. In 1938, he received his M.D. from the George Washington University School of Medicine. He served in the Army Medical Corps from 1940-46, leaving with the rank of lieutenant colonel. He received several awards, including the Rotary International Service Award for "service above self" in Warsaw and the Northern Neck. He was former president of the Northern Neck Medical Association and a member of the George Washington University Medical Association, the Virginia State Medical Society and the American Medical Association. He is survived by two sisters.

FRANCIS SEYMOUR COOPER '41 of Atlanta died June 22, 1990. She was a teacher in the Atlanta public school system.

She was a member of Covenant Presbyterian Church and volunteered for the North Atlanta Senior Service. While at William and Mary, she was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Surviving are two daughters, including Condit Cooper Lotz '70; one son; and four grandchildren.

ALICE LAUBACH UHL '41 of Atlanta died July 20, 1990. She founded Sunlighting Lamp and Shade Center in Atlanta in 1978. As a student she was a member of the women's basketball team and Pi Beta Phi sorority. She is survived by her husband, Robert, two daughters and two sons.

PATRICIA ANNE MECKES '44 of Lakewood, Ohio, died Oct. 27, 1988. She was a retired X-ray technician. She is survived by a brother.

HARRIET GRACE HOCHSTRASSER '47 of Homestead, Fla., died April 29, 1990. She was a retired physical education teacher who taught in both Virginia and Florida. After her retirement, she worked for DeKalb Research Center in Homestead and was active in the Ranger Aide, Troop 5, of Everglades National Park. She was a class agent and fund agent at W&M. As a student she was a member of the Flat Hat staff, Kappa Delta Pi education honorary and Chi Omega sorority. She is survived by a sister.

JAMES SELWYN SKIPWITH '48 of Mount Dora, Fla., died Aug. 19, 1989. An insurance executive, he owned his own firm in Pittsburgh before retiring and prior to that was a vice president in two insurance companies. During World War II, he served in the Army Air Force, earning the rank of first lieutenant. He received the Distinguished Flying Cross and other medals. He was a member of Port Norfolk Baptist Church and Tavares, Lodge No. 234, F&AM, Orlando Scottish Rite Bodies. As a student, he was a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity and the Anthropology Club. He is survived by his wife, Elaine Wilsey Skipwith '48, a son, two daughters, two brothers, three sisters and eight grandchildren.

SUNG YEN FENG '58 M.A. of Noank, Conn., died Dec. 12, 1989. He was professor emeritus and chairman of the Marine Sciences Department at the University of Connecticut at Avery Point. After serving as an interpreter for the U.S. Army in his native China from 1952-53, he received an undergraduate degree from the National Taiwan University in 1953. At William and Mary he earned his master's degree in marine science and served as research assistant at the Virginia Institute of Marine Science. In 1962 he earned a doctorate

Greetings from the Middle East

The Alumni Gazette office has heard from one of the many William and Mary alumni serving in the Middle East. Captain Greg Wagner, a member of the Class of 1984, welcomes mail and news of other alumni who are spending the holidays away from loved ones.

15 OCT 90

11:45 p.m.

Dear Alumni:

Just a short note from the desert. Hear the Tribe has done OK this year. TOO BAD about the Citadel, that cost me out here.

The purpose of this note is to attempt to contact other alumni here on Operation Desert Shield. Pass along to anyone who would like to know, conditions here are tough but not impossible. Creature comforts have increased but our edge in discipline and training has not diminished. We are ready for any contingency.

We get and long for mail of any type. Morale is high but the stay looks long. Whatever it takes we are ready.

Again, let others who may be here know of my whereabouts. Thank you.

CPT Greg Wagner
228-11-8324
HHB 1/41FA, 24th ID (M)
Desert Shield
APO New York, NY 09315

WILSONS' GIFT SUPPORTS SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Wilson Jr. of Alexandria, Va., have made a gift of life insurance with a face value of $600,000 to William and Mary to provide annual support for the College's Wilson Cross-Disciplinary Scholarship program. At maturity, the policy will permanently endow the program, which the Wilsons have funded on an annual basis since 1989. Wilson, former owner and president of Wilson Mortgage Company, is a member of the class of 1955, while Mrs. Wilson is an antique dealer with special expertise in Black Americana. The Wilson Cross-Disciplinary Scholarships give students the chance to develop their own research in areas outside their majors as they work one-on-one with a faculty member of their choice.

ROB BROWN NAMED MEISTERGRAM NATIONAL SALES MANAGER

Rob Brown '68, '72 M.B.A., has been named national sales manager of Meistergram in Greensboro, N.C. Brown will direct and supervise the U.S. and Canadian branch offices and distributors of the company, which markets personalization systems including monogram/embroidery and glass etching equipment. He will also be responsible for developing sales and marketing strategies and programs and introducing new product lines. A former professor of business administration with the Virginia Community College System, Brown most recently was president of 3M Energy Management Products in Fredericksburg, Va., and sales manager for Martin Processing in Fieldale, Va.

in marine science from Rutgers University. A nationally recognized authority on shellfish and shellfish diseases, Feng was a member of the American Society of Parasitologists, Society of Protozoologists, Sigma Xi and former secretary-treasurer of the New England Estuarine Research Foundation. A member of the National Shellfisheries Association, he served as member-at-large of its executive committee. He was also a member of the Society of Invertebrate Pathology and served on its editorial board. He was a member of the American Society of Zoologists and Phi Kappa Phi fraternity. Feng published significant works in his field, including 12 technical reports. He is survived by his wife, Jean, a daughter, sister and brother.

BENJAMIN BISHOP JOHNSON '60 of Santa Monica, Calif., died Sept. 3, 1990. He was the head conservator of the Los Angeles County Museum of Art, where he established the Conservation Center in 1967. Johnson was among the first group of students to enroll in the Conservation Center of the New York University Institute of Fine Arts, and furthered his education in Brussels, Belgium, and at the Uffizi Gallery in Florence. He began his career as conservator of U.S. paintings at the Freer Gallery of Art in Washington, D. C. He lectured at numerous universities and was an adviser to art collectors across the country. In 1989, he completed "The Divine Mind," a film about Leonardo da Vinci's drawings. He established Artcare Inc., a private corporation. As a student he participated in sports and was a member of Sigma Nu fraternity. Survivors include his wife, Christine, a son, daughter, his parents, a sister and brother.

THOMAS NELSON HOWARD '65 of Virginia Beach died May 2, 1984. He was an electrical contract estimator for Dorsey Electric Co. of Virginia Beach. Survivors include his wife, Mai, and a brother.

UPSHUR O'BRIEN JOYNER '65 of Poquoson, Va., died Jan. 1, 1990. He was a design engineer with Newport News Cablevision. He held degrees from Ottawa University in Kansas and Old Dominion University. Active in amateur radio, he was a member and past president of the Southern Peninsula Amateur Radio Club. He was also a member of the Institute of Electric and Electronic Engineers. He is survived by his mother and father, Upshur T. Joyner '31, and a sister.

RICHARD FRANCIS BARRY JR. '66 M.A. of Norfolk, Va., died Sept. 25, 1990. He was a retired Navy captain and retired professor of mathematics at Old Dominion University. After graduating from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1939, he served in World War II in both the Atlantic and Pacific. He was navigator of the battleship Arkansas, participating in the Normandy invasion as well as the assaults on Iwo Jima and Okinawa. He was awarded the Bronze Star for his efforts. He was a member and former president of the Ryan Club. He was a lecturer at Blessed Sacrament Catholic Church. He is survived by three daughters, one son and five grandchildren.

EDNA COBB CHAPPELL '68 M.Ed., '71 C.A.S.E. of Newport News, Va., died July 2, 1990. She was a registered nurse and graduate of the Louise B. Obici Hospital School of Nursing. For the past 23 years she had been an elementary schoolteacher in Newport News. She held a bachelor's degree from the University of North Carolina at Charlotte. Survivors include her husband, Tilson, a daughter, son, her mother, two sisters and a brother.

INDIA SHOTWELL SHANIKA '69 of St. Louis, Mo., died May 16, 1990. She was an artist and owner of Shanika Art Gallery. She is survived by her husband, Leo; two sons, including Kirk Kirssin '90; and her mother.

FACULTY

SUE FRANCES AYRES, a retired education administrator and former lecturer in children's literature, died Oct. 30 in Williamsburg. Active in educational and community organizations, she organized the Williamsburg-James City County Retired Teachers Association and served as vice president of the Virginia Retired Teachers Association for four years.

MARVIN LEROY WASS, professor of marine science for 22 years and the Virginia Institute of Marine Science's first professor emeritus, died Sept. 5, 1990, in Williamsburg. A graduate of Winona State University, he received a master's degree from Florida State University and a Ph.D. from the University of Florida. He was a benthic ecologist and an invertebrate scientist. He discovered a number of new species of invertebrates that are named for him. He pioneered research that led to wetlands regulations.

CORRECTION: An obituary for Rita May Province Huber '68, who died Feb. 15, 1990, incorrectly listed her middle name as Kay. In addition to her husband, son and sister, she is survived by a daughter. The Gazette regrets the errors.

Attention, Parents of High School Children...

The Student Alumni Liaison Council of the Society of the Alumni is hosting the third annual Student Host Program for children of alumni on March 21-22, 1991. If your son or daughter is a high school junior or senior interested in attending William and Mary, the program is a great opportunity to gain an "insider's view" of the College and campus life. Participants will have the opportunity to spend one day and one night at the College during spring semester, going to classes, taking tours and otherwise experiencing college life with members of the Student Alumni Liaison Council. If you are interested in this program and would like more information, please return the form below. Participants will be selected on a first-come, first-served basis.

Student Host Program, March 21-22, 1991

Parent's Name _____ Class Year _____
 Student's Name _____ Year in High School _____
 Home Address _____
 City, State, ZIP _____
 Telephone: Home (_____) _____ Work (_____) _____

Mail to:
 Student Host Program, c/o Student Alumni Liaison Council, Society of the Alumni,
 P. O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100

"Davis Y. Paschall: A Study in Leadership"

"A chronicle of leadership in crisis, a study of one exceptional man set against a backdrop of turbulent and challenging times in the state he served."

Available for Immediate Delivery

Journalist Wilford Kale '66 and public affairs specialist Harry L. Smith have written an intriguing 224-page book covering 15 years in the public life of Davis Y. Paschall, 23rd president of the College of William and Mary and former State Superintendent of Public Instruction. The book describes how Paschall, a member of the class of 1932, dealt with a number of historic issues, including the desegregation of the public schools and a crisis of identity at the College of William and Mary. Here is a behind the scenes look at the workings of public and higher education and here is a leadership study of unusual dimension.

Cost: $19, plus $3 for postage and handling, including tax.

The net proceeds from this book will go to the Davis Y. Paschall Scholarship Fund at the Marshall-Wythe School of Law at the College of William and Mary.

Send orders to:
Paschall Book Project
 P. O. Box 2769
 Williamsburg, Virginia 23187

Davis Y. Paschall:

A Study in Leadership

Wilford Kale and Harry L. Smith
 With a Foreword by S. Dean Olson

Name _____
 Address _____
 City _____ State _____ Zip _____
 Please send _____ copy(s) of Davis Y. Paschall: A Study in Leadership.

Enclosed is a check or money order for $ _____ made payable to Paschall Book Project.

Save with USAir

When You Attend William & Mary Events!

Alumni, parents, family members and friends coming to campus for scheduled events and meetings now may take advantage of reduced airfares offered by USAir through a special arrangement with the Society of the Alumni.

- 40 percent off regular coach, 5 percent off discounted coach.
- Good for College and Society-sponsored events that have been registered with USAir. During second semester, included are such events as Charter Day, Commencement and 50th Reunion Weekend, Olde Guard Day, the National Black Student Leadership Conference and Career Exploration Day.
- Effective for domestic flights into Richmond, Newport News and Norfolk.
- For more information, call USAir at 1-800/428-4322 and tell the agent you are eligible for W&M discounts outlined in Gold File No. 693639.

USAir
America's Most Frequent FlyerSM

Society of the Alumni
P.O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100

ADDRESS CORRECTION REQUESTED

Non-Profit Organization
U.S. Postage Paid
Permit No. 1390
Richmond, VA

Alumni Gazette

THE ALUMNI GAZETTE

THE COLLEGE OF WILLIAM AND MARY

DECEMBER 1990

VOLUME 58, NO. 4

A HOMECOMING CLASSIC
See pages 3-6