

Alumni Gazette

The College of William and Mary

March 1992 • Vol. 59, No. 6

President Bids Farewell to College at Charter Day

President Bush's assistant for science and technology brought some good news for America to William and Mary's annual Charter Day celebration on Feb. 8, while President Verkuil bid farewell to the university he has served for the past seven years.

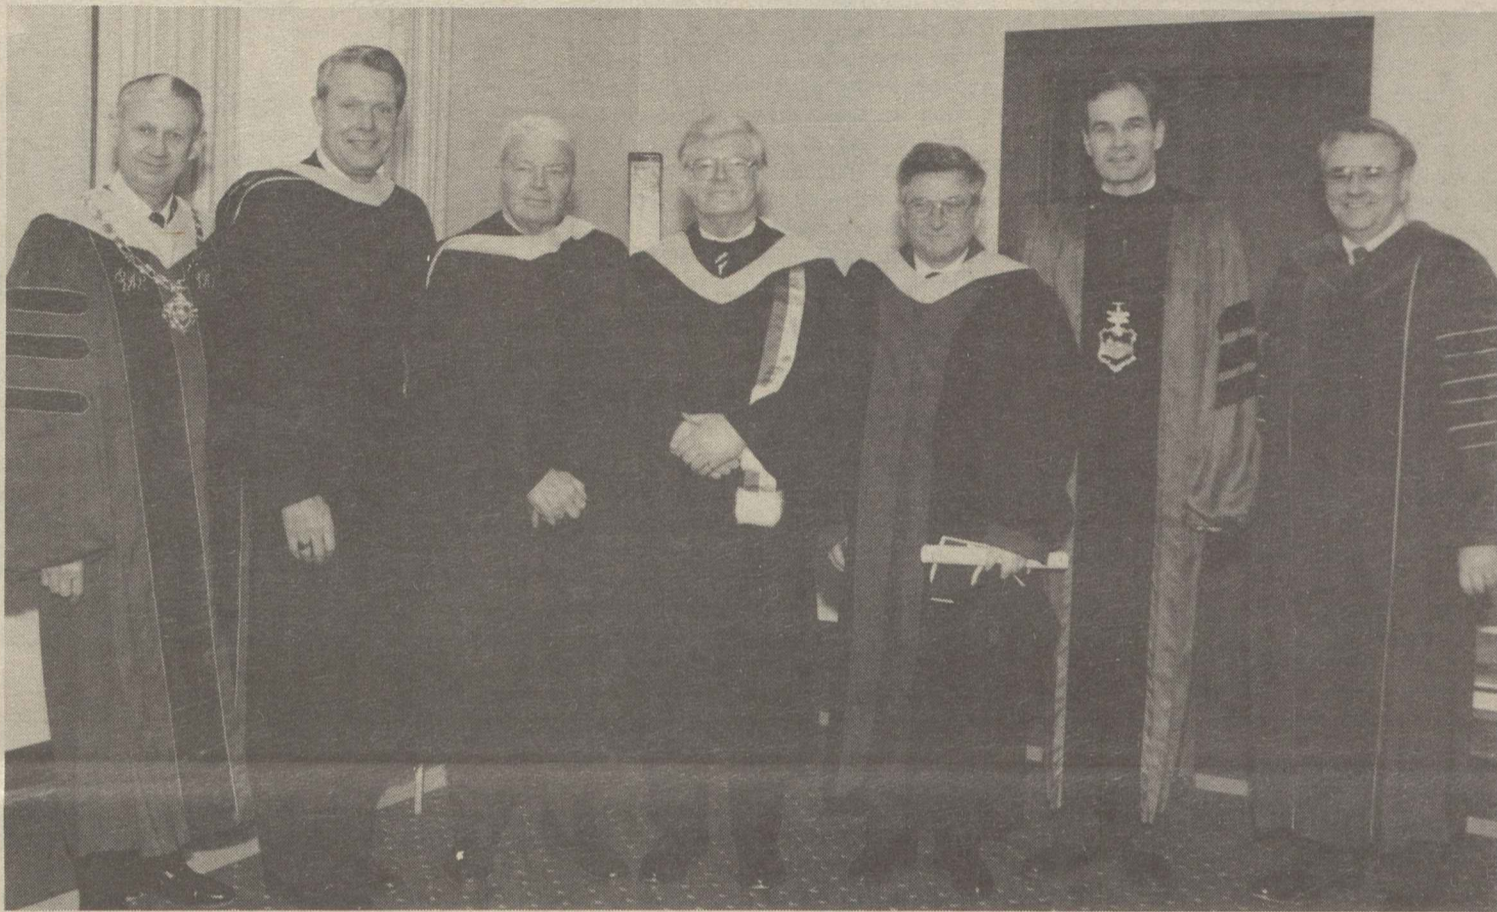

D. Allan Bromley, who received an honorary degree along with three others at the ceremony celebrating the College's 299th birthday, said that science and technology in America "carry within them the promise of the future." He said the United States continues "to have the strongest science and technology enterprise that the world has ever known" and noted that President Bush has a strong commitment to science, devoting "more attention to science and technology than has any President in recent history." Federal support for non-defense research and development has gone up by a third since Bush became president and basic research funding has gone up by a quarter, he said, and these trends continue in the President's most recent budget.

Besides Bromley, three other eminent scientists received honorary degrees: Richard Herman Peterson, former director of the NASA Langley Research Center and currently associate administrator for NASA's Office of Aeronautics and Space Technology; Hermann August Grunder, director of the Continuous Electron Beam Accelerator Facility in Newport News; and Sir Cyril Ashley Clarke, emeritus professor of medicine and Honorary Nuffield Research Fellow at the University of Liverpool who was knighted by Queen Elizabeth II for his research that led to the discovery of the preventive therapy for Rh hemolytic disease in newborn babies.

The College also honored two of its own with Thomas Jefferson Awards. To sustained applause, Edward P. Crapol, professor of history, received the Thomas Jefferson Award for emulating the qualities Jefferson would have conceived as essential to the intellectual, social and political advancement of humanity, while Susan V. Donaldson, assistant professor of English, received the Thomas Jefferson Teaching Award, given to a younger member of the faculty for excellence in teaching.

In a brief address in Phi Beta Kappa Hall during which his voice broke with emotion, President Verkuil described Feb. 8, 1992, his last official day as president, as "a bittersweet moment." Reciting names of friends he had made at the College and the colleagues who had helped make his administration a success, the president said "there are many accomplishments which we have shared that bring me deep satisfaction.

"We have significantly enriched and broadened our academic programs at the undergraduate and graduate levels," said Verkuil. "New programs in American studies, applied sciences, computer science, public policy and international studies will permanently benefit our students in this state and nation. We have dramatically increased our resources from state and private sources. I am proud of the $56 million investment in public funds in our physical plant which will soon put our campus facilities in the best shape they have ever been in. And I am confident that our precedentshattering $150 million Campaign for the Fourth Century—which stands at more than $116 million today—will meet and surpass its goal."

Rector Watkins (left) and President Verkuil and Provost Melvyn D. Schiavelli (right) pose with honorary degree recipients Peterson, Clarke, Bromley and Grunder at Charter Day ceremonies on Feb. 8.

In addition, Verkuil expressed pride that the College's enrollment had remained "under control and yet, my name is on more than 11,000 diplomas. Those students and I are forever linked."

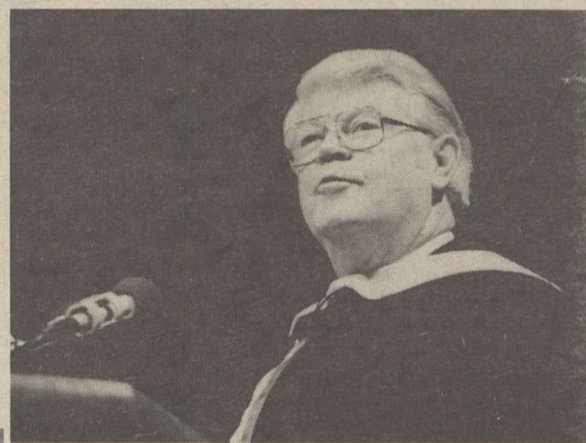

While remembering the past, Verkuil reminded his audience that it "is more important than ever to look to the future," noting that "as good as William and Mary is, it can be improved and refined, and it must be. Each of you has a stake in that future and a responsibility to see that our mission is fulfilled."

In his Charter Day address, Bromley said, "The rapidly increasing convergence between fundamental science and technological applications is one of the reasons why I am so optimistic about the future of this country. For over half a century, we have led the world in science, and we continue to have the strongest science and technology enterprise that the world has ever known. ...

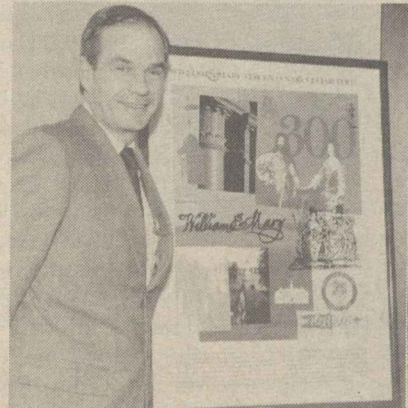

"Recently there has been much talk about American weaknesses and liabilities, and a mood of national pessimism has shaken our traditional American confidence. But we should keep several facts in mind as we confront this drumbeat of criticism. The United States has the largest per capita income of any major country. Our absolute productivity overall remains the highest in the world. ... We have maintained about the same share of world economic output for the last 30 years. Even the share of manufacturing in our gross national product, popularly thought to be declining, is now above the average for the last 50 years."

Despite his optimism, Bromley said

America still faces many "real challenges," including an educational system that—particularly at the precollege level—must be improved, federal deficits that have "the potential to depress investment in productive assets," and a small but worrisome widening in the distribution of income. But he added that "we must not let a sense of pessimism defeat us. After all, the current pessimism is nothing new in man's long history."

President Bush's key scientific adviser D. Allan Bromley gave a generally optimistic outlook on the state of science and technology in America.

President Verkuil displays the first copy of the official Tercentenary poster that celebrates the 300th birthday of the College (above), while at right he presents a certificate to Sarah Ives Gore at the dedication of the new William and Mary child care center which is named for the 1956 alumna. In addition to the child care center, the College dedicated a new arts studio and broke ground for a new university center during Charter Day weekend—all part of a $56 million building program underway during the Verkuil administration.

Alumni Gazette

The College of William and Mary

March 1992 Vol. 59, No. 6

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- 1 Charter Day 1992 Spotlights Science
Paul Verkuil recalls highlights of his administration.
- 2 Five Named Finalists in Presidential Search
Field includes two current W&M administrators.
- 3 Alumni College Stresses Discovery
"Explorers and Their Frontiers" is subject of scanner program.
- 4 NEH Challenge Grant Encourages Inquiry
Freshman seminar challenges students to find the right answers.
- 4 Injuries Plague 10-19 Season
Tribe loses 13 of last 15 games.
- 5 Four Named to Hall of Fame
Kruis, Darragh, Besnier and Norenberg join select group.
- 5 Phonathon Sets College Record
Student calls bring pledges of $60,846 for annual fund.
- 6 Washington, D.C., Starlight Cruise
All alumni invited to exciting starlight cruise/casino night on May 30.

The Alumni Gazette and William and Mary Magazine are published eight times a year by the Society of the Alumni of the College of William and Mary. Address correspondence, Class Notes and Vital Statistics (Births and Marriages) to Alumni Gazette, P.O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100; Telephone (804) 221-1842.

Executive Publisher	W. Barry Adams
Editor	S. Dean Olson
Associate Editor	Virginia C. Collins '77
Design	June Skalak
Photography	C. James Gleason
Composition	Sylvia B. Colston
Director of Administration and Records	Ben F. Kellam III '78
Assistant Director of Alumni Records	Jessica Frank
Director of Society Services	Charles L. Kendrick '82
Director of Alumni Affairs	Lee Johnston Foster
Assistant Director (Reunions and Campus Activities)	Sherril Givens Holland '86
Assistant Director (Chapters)	Keith Reagan '88
Assistant Director (OWJ-1775)	Kristi Thornton
Assistant Director (Special Events)	Jon Lever '91

BOARD OF DIRECTORS Society of the Alumni

John S. Entwistle '44, President Williamsburg, Va.
Rebecca Beach Smith '71, '79 J.D., Vice President Norfolk, Va.

Ann-Meade Baskerville Simpson '65, Secretary Virginia Beach, Va.
Joseph W. Montgomery '74, Treasurer Williamsburg, Va.
Alvin P. Anderson '70, '72 J.D. Williamsburg, Va.
Robert S. Andrialis '65 New York, N.Y.
Joanna L. Ashworth '84 Charlotte, N.C.
Vincent T. DeVita, Jr. '57 New York, N.Y.
Joseph J. Ellis '65 Holyoke, Mass.
Donald C. Fergusson '75 Mundelein, Ill.
Anne Nenzel Lambert '35 Williamsburg, Va.
Lucy Jones Murphy '48 Merry Point, Va.
Carolyn Todd Schaubach '59 Virginia Beach, Va.
H. Mason Sizemore Jr. '63 Seattle, Wash.
Henry T. Tucker Jr. '72 Richmond, Va.

RINGING FAR AND NEAR

New Alumni Service Could Help Manage Career Opportunities

By Barry Adams

No doubt you have heard the saying that when the word for crisis is written in Chinese it is composed of two characters. One character represents danger. The other depicts opportunity.

To an incoming freshman who has already established a proclivity for academic success, future career opportunities are bound only by imagination or an unwillingness to look beyond his or her 8 a.m. English class.

To the graduating senior who has nearly acquired alumni status those opportunities may be more focused but also less abundant. It can become an early life crisis if the student has elected to wait for the diploma-in-hand, knock-on-every-door approach to the job search. Fortunately those crises often can be avoided by college students today. Institutions have long since accepted a basic responsibility to assist in their students' exploration of careers and position searches. It has become an important and vital component of student life, often having secondary impact on other aspects of higher education institutions — including application rates, corporate support and alumni giving.

William and Mary's Office of Career Services does a remarkable job of preparing students for the job market and investigating career opportunities. For most students attending William and Mary the job/career search crises can be managed effectively by seeking assistance, support and involvement early in their college experience from Career Services.

For alumni who have been out of the classroom for a few years, identifying new career opportunities represents a bit of a gambit. Alumni associations have long cited the need to expand career opportunities and networks for their members but lacked the resources to develop an adequate and responsive system.

To offer William and Mary alumni an additional avenue to manage their career opportunities, the Society of the Alumni will announce, within the next few months, a new program with other selected alumni organizations that offers alumni an additional vehicle for career and position search/change.

Called SkillSearch, the Society will offer graduates who have been out of the College for a defined period of time an opportunity to participate (a modest fee will be required) in a nationwide data base which links corporations seeking to fill specific position vacancies with those interested in new job and career opportunities. During the initial period of testing this nationwide network the results have proven to be very encouraging. The Society felt it could be a valuable and useful service to a substantial portion of our alumni body.

An invitational mailing will be sent to a large number of William and Mary alumni in April. We hope if you are contemplating a position change that you give SkillSearch consideration as one of the many ways you may begin.

(Illustration reprinted with permission from Max-Karl Winkler and the Chronicle of Higher Education.)

Finalists Named in Presidential Search

Five finalists for the presidency of William and Mary, including two internal candidates, underwent an extensive series of interviews with faculty, students and administrators in March.

The candidates, who met with the College community during the weeks of March 16-27, are Michael K. Hooker, president, University of Maryland Baltimore County, Baltimore, Md.; Katharine C. Lyall, acting president, University of Wisconsin System, Madison, Wis.; George R. Packard, dean, The Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies at The Johns Hopkins University, Washington, D. C.; Melvyn D. Schiavelli, acting president and provost of William and Mary; and Timothy J. Sullivan '66, dean of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law.

Schiavelli

The Board of Visitors is expected to name a new president at its April meeting from a list of three candidates submitted by the Presidential Search Committee, which is chaired by James W. Brinkley '59, vice rector of the Board of Visitors.

Hooker received his undergraduate degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 1969, his M.A. from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst in 1972 and his Ph.D. from UM/Amherst in 1973. All of his degrees are in philosophy. He became president of the University of Maryland Baltimore County in 1986 after serving for four years as president of Bennington College in Vermont from 1982-86. From 1973 to 1982, he was associated with The Johns Hopkins University as assistant dean, associate dean and dean of Undergraduate and Graduate Studies. From 1973 to 1975 he was assistant professor at Harvard University.

Lyall, who has served as acting president of the University of Wisconsin System since 1991, received her undergraduate degree in 1963 from Cornell University in economics, her M.B.A. in economics from New York University in 1965 and her Ph.D. degree from Cornell in economics in 1969. She has been at the University of Wisconsin in a variety of positions since 1979 including executive vice president, acting president, vice president for academic affairs and professor of economics. Before joining the Wisconsin system, she was associated with the Johns Hopkins University, the Department of Housing and Urban Development, the Russell Sage Foundation, the Maxwell School at Syracuse University, Cornell University, and Chase Manhattan Bank.

Packard is a 1954 magna cum laude graduate of Princeton University who holds masters and Ph.D. degrees from The Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy. He became dean of The Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies in 1979 after serving for three years as deputy director of The Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars, Smithsonian Institution. Other positions he has held include television anchorman in Philadelphia, editor of the Philadelphia Evening and Sunday Bulletin, White House Correspondent for the Bulletin, chief diplomatic correspondent for Newsweek and special assistant to Edwin Reischauer, ambassador to Japan. Packard was a candidate for the U.S. Senate from Pennsylvania in 1975-76.

Sullivan

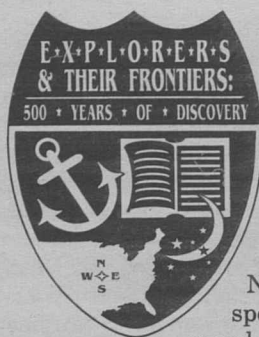

A member of the College community since 1968 when he joined the faculty as an assistant professor of chemistry, Schiavelli has served as chairman of the Department of Chemistry, dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences, and provost of the College. He received his undergraduate degree in chemistry from DePaul University in Chicago in 1964 and his Ph. D. degree in organic chemistry from the University of California, Berkeley, in 1967. Before joining the College, Schiavelli was a research associate in the Department of Chemistry at Michigan State University. He was named acting president of the College in February after Paul Verkuil left to join the American Automobile Association. Schiavelli has been provost since 1986.

Dean Sullivan received his juris doctor degree from Harvard Law School in 1969 and joined the faculty of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law in 1972, rising to the rank of full professor in 1977. Sullivan took a leave of absence to serve as Executive Assistant for Policy in the administration of then-Gov. Charles S. Robb in 1982-84 and as visiting professor of law at the University of Virginia from 1981-82. From 1982 to 1985, he was also executive director of the Governor's Commission on Virginia's future.

In addition to his position as dean of the law school at William and Mary, Sullivan is the John Stewart Bryan Professor of Jurisprudence and executive director of the Institute of Bill of Rights Law. A Phi Beta Kappa graduate, Sullivan was a member of Omicron Delta Kappa and the Order of the Coif at William and Mary. He is a member of the American Bar Association and the Virginia and Ohio state bar associations.

500 Years of Discovery

Alumni College Highlights Land, Sea and Air Exploration

"Explorers and Their Frontiers: 500 Years of Discovery," this year's Alumni College program scheduled for June 18-21, promises to be one of the best ever. Nationally recognized speakers and eminent members of the William and Mary faculty will share their energy and expertise throughout the four-day program sponsored by the Society of the Alumni. Adding further excitement will be field trips, special meals and receptions, including a Saturday evening dinner cruise around the Hampton Roads harbor. And for the first time this year, families who wish to bring their children may enroll them in a separate program especially designed for ages 6-12.

Program Highlights

With Columbus as a starting point, Alumni College 1992 will look at how explorers have opened new vistas and forever changed the world at their time and place in history. Focusing on people and events of the past five centuries and projecting future paths of exploration, speakers will create a sense of discovery surrounding the frontiers of sea, land and air.

The program opens on Thursday afternoon, June 18, with a tour of Jamestown Settlement introduced by Tom Davidson, curator of the "Discovering America" exhibit, which opens earlier in the week.

James Axtell, Kenan Professor of Humanities, will present a Thursday evening lecture on "Columbus Before America," in which he will discuss Columbus' maritime experience in the Mediterranean and the eastern Atlantic before he "discovered" America en route to Asia.

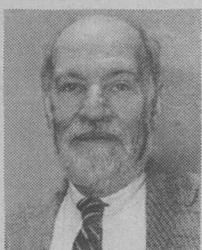

Axtell

Friday begins with a talk on "Mapping European Overseas Discoveries: Christopher Columbus to John Smith" by Kenneth Nebenzahl, an accomplished map scholar and the recipient of an honorary degree from the College in 1983.

Nebenzahl

Thad Tate, Murden Professor of Humanities, will follow with a lecture on "Captain John Smith: Dreamer, Adventurer, Explorer." Professor Tate, who has taught courses on colonial Virginia at the College for the past 30 years, will discuss Smith as a person and how he carried out the first full-scale exploration of the Chesapeake Bay and its adjacent lands, prepared the first good map of the region, and very likely saved the struggling, undisciplined colony from extinction.

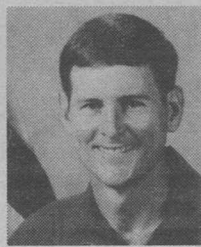

Tate

Chandos Brown, assistant professor of history at the College since 1988, will focus on two key explorers of the American frontier in his lecture, "An Imagined Continent: The Journey of Lewis and Clark."

Brown

Friday afternoon's program continues at the Mariners Museum in Newport News. William J. Hargis, professor emeritus of marine science, will lead a tour through this vast collection chronicling maritime history and sea exploration. The tour will include the museum's newest gallery, "Age of Discovery."

Reightler

From the sea the program moves to space exploration. Astronaut Kenneth Reightler, who piloted the September 1991 mission of the space shuttle Discovery, will present a Friday evening talk on "The Life of an Astronaut." Cmdr. Reightler, a native of Virginia Beach who has been part of the NASA team since 1987, and his wife, Maureen McHenry Reightler '73, are looking forward to participating in the entire Alumni College program.

On Saturday, Cmdr. Reightler will discuss "Geography from Space." Sharing slides and photographs from his recent five-day mission, he will demonstrate the power of space exploration to reveal mysteries about land formations and other features of our planet.

Professor Hargis will play a prominent role in Saturday's program by beginning with a lecture on "Explorers of the Seas." Drawing relationships with space exploration, he will highlight the explorations leading to European peopling of the Americas and introduce the current epoch of modern exploration of the seas and oceanography from space.

Hargis

Saturday also features a trip to the newly opened Virginia Air and Space Center located alongside the beautifully restored waterfront in Hampton, Va. Here participants can view some of NASA's most outstanding exhibits and see the film, "The Dream is Alive," NASA's tribute to the Challenger crew, in the center's 300-seat IMAX theatre.

From there everyone will board the topsail schooner American Rover for a beautiful three-hour sunset dinner cruise around the Hampton Roads harbor. Professor Hargis will be on hand to provide special commentary on "John Smith's Chesapeake Bay Exploration."

On Sunday, the program concludes with brunch and a slide-illustrated lecture, "Where Next, Columbus?" presented by Dr. Valerie Neal and Ann Monroe Swaim Jacobs '76 of the Smithsonian's National Air and Space Museum in Washington, D.C. Opening in the fall of 1992 to recognize the 500th anniversary of Columbus' voyages of exploration, the "Where Next, Columbus?" exhibition examines prospects for exploring new worlds in space. Dr. Neal is curator of the exhibition, and Ms. Jacobs is responsible for picture research.

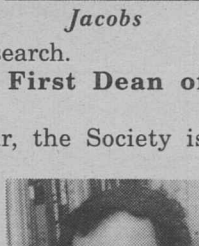

Valerie Neal and Ann Monroe Swaim Jacobs '76 of the Smithsonian's National Air and Space Museum in Washington, D.C. Opening in the fall of 1992 to recognize the 500th anniversary of Columbus' voyages of exploration, the "Where Next, Columbus?" exhibition examines prospects for exploring new worlds in space. Dr. Neal is curator of the exhibition, and Ms. Jacobs is responsible for picture research.

Announcing the First Dean of Alumni College

Beginning this year, the Society is pleased to announce the participation of James McCord Jr., associate professor of history at the College, as Dean of Alumni College. McCord has served on the faculty since 1965 and was a member of the 1988 Alumni College faculty.

Neal

Jacobs

McCord

New this Year! Separate Children's Program

For alumni who wish to share the Alumni College experience with their entire family, a special program with separate activities will be offered for children ages 6-12. The children's program will parallel their par-enters' program with a combination of educational and recreational activities. Adult supervision will be provided throughout the children's program, which begins after breakfast and concludes after the end of the adult schedule each day.

Costs

For participants choosing to stay on campus, the cost is $350 per adult and $250 per child (when staying in parent's room). Included are all meals, lodging in Jefferson Hall, tuition, fees, all activities and a souvenir tote bag. For individuals who do not stay on campus, the cost is $275 per adult and $200 per child. Accepted forms of payment are check, VISA or MasterCard. Payment in full or a deposit of $50 per person is required with the registration form. Full payment is due by May 29, 1992, to guarantee your reservation. Early enrollment is encouraged due to space limitations!

Special Thanks

This year's Alumni College informational brochure is being printed courtesy of:

THE GOVERNOR'S LAND
At Two Rivers
WILLIAMSBURG, VIRGINIA

SCHEDULE

Thursday, June 18
11 a.m. - 1 p.m.	Registration and Check-in, Alumni House
2 - 4:30 p.m.	Jamestown Settlement Tour — Introduced by Tom Davidson, curator of "Discovering America" exhibit
6 p.m.	Social Hour at the Alumni House
7 p.m.	Summer Picnic at the Alumni House
8 - 9:30 p.m.	Columbus Before America — James Axtell, Kenan Professor of Humanities
Friday, June 19
8 a.m.	Breakfast
9 - 10:15 a.m.	Mapping European Overseas Discoveries: Christopher Columbus to John Smith —Kenneth Nebenzahl, map scholar and 1983 honorary degree recipient
10:30 - 11:45 a.m.	Captain John Smith: Dreamer, Adventurer, Explorer —Thad Tate, Murden Professor of Humanities
11:45 a.m. - 12:45 p.m.	Lunch
1 - 2:15 p.m.	An Imagined Continent: The Journey of Lewis and Clark — Chandos Brown, Assistant Professor of History
3 - 5 p.m.	Mariners Museum Tour — Led by William Hargis, Professor Emeritus of Marine Science
6:15 p.m.	Dinner
7:30 p.m.	The Life of an Astronaut — Cmdr. Kenneth Reightler, NASA Space Shuttle Pilot
9 p.m.	Wine and Dessert Reception with Kenneth Reightler
Saturday, June 20
8 a.m.	Breakfast
9 - 10:30 a.m.	Ocean Exploration — William Hargis
10:45 a.m. - 12:15 p.m.	Geography from Space — Kenneth Reightler
12:30 - 1:30 p.m.	Lunch
4 - 6:30 p.m.	Virginia Air and Space Center Tour, Hampton, Va.
6:45 - 10 p.m.	American Rover Topsail Schooner dinner cruise. Special commentary by William Hargis on "John Smith's Chesapeake Bay Exploration."
Sunday, June 21
9 a.m.	Brunch and Graduation on campus
10 a.m.	Where Next, Columbus? — Valerie Neal, curator, and Ann Monroe Swaim Jacobs '76, picture researcher, of exhibition at the Smithsonian's National Air and Space Museum.

*Schedule is tentative and may be subject to slight modifications.

For More Information

Please send me a brochure with registration information for Alumni College 1992:

Name _____ Class Year _____
Address _____
City, State, Zip _____

I cannot attend this year, but please add me to the mailing list to receive information about future Alumni College programs.

Mail to: Alumni College 1992, Society of the Alumni, P. O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100. Telephone 804/221-1174.

'Is That the Right Answer?'

Freshman seminars, supported by the NEH challenge grant and faculty endowment funds, will encourage young students to seek their own answers to difficult questions.

By Sara Piccini

Does true altruism exist among human beings? How do you choose between two morally equal claims? Is a republican form of government necessarily virtuous?

This morning, 14 William and Mary freshmen are grappling with those questions in a seminar course on political philosophy entitled "The Individual and Society." Under discussion is that most ambiguous of texts, The Prince, by Niccolò Machiavelli. It's clear that there are no right answers. Or wrong answers. That's the beauty of the freshman seminar.

"The freshman seminar challenges students who may be more comfortable with passive learning to develop their own critical capacities. It offers a more mature approach to learning early on in a student's career," says Joel Schwartz, director of the Roy R. Charles Center for Honors and Interdisciplinary Studies, who team-teaches the political philosophy seminar with Lawrence Becker, William R. Kenan Jr. Professor of Humanities.

The seminar experience also helps prepare students to be leaders, Schwartz says. "It's characteristic of a person in a leadership role that he or she has to deal with ambiguous questions. The seminars teach students how to sift through conflicting information in order to make decisions."

This morning's seminar looks nothing like a typical freshman lecture class. Instead of staring out on a sea of not-always-alert faces, Professor Schwartz sits among his 14 students, all of whom he knows by name. Instead of being lined up in rows of desks, students arrange themselves on comfortable couches and armchairs in a seminar room in the basement of Tucker Hall. The format seems different as well: unlike most lecture classes, there's no midterm or final exam.

But don't think the course is easy. Students are expected to participate actively in two 90-minute discussion sections a week, plus attend a related lecture or film every Wednesday night. This week the class has just seen Francis Ford Coppola's The Conversation. Students write a three-page reaction paper each week, which is read via computer by all other students in the class, as well as a 10-page final paper. In Schwartz's seminar, students turn in their reaction papers on Monday, the day before the class meets to discuss the text, which ensures that the students' own ideas go into the paper. Very difficult primary texts are assigned, including the Oresteia of Aeschylus and Two Treatises of Government by John Locke.

Freshman seminars are currently offered at William and Mary in such disparate disciplines as geology, biology and fine arts. Over the coming years, the College plans to greatly expand its seminar offerings, in keeping with its overall mission of promoting active learning throughout a student's career. William and Mary already is distinctive in the number and variety of opportunities it offers undergraduates to participate actively in the learning process: in addition to the freshman seminars, these opportunities include one-on-one research projects with faculty members and grants for independent summer research outside a student's major field of study.

The College's ability to increase the number of freshman seminar offerings depends, however, on its ability to hire additional faculty. As David Lutzer, dean of the faculty of arts and sciences, explains, "If a professor who teaches a class of 40 freshmen were assigned to a 15-student seminar, what happens to the other 25 students? You cannot get this plan to work with existing resources."

A significant step in the effort to expand freshman seminar offerings is the challenge grant awarded to the College by the National Endowment for the Humanities. The NEH grant, the product of a yearlong process of faculty planning led by Professor Schwartz, could result in the College's receiving $2.5 million to endow at least four new senior faculty positions in the humanities. For every senior faculty position created, four new freshman seminar courses could be added to the curriculum.

To receive the $500,000 challenge grant from NEH, the College must raise $2 million in private funds by the end of June 1993 under NEH's four-to-one matching provision. To date, William and Mary has raised approximately $1.3 million toward that goal, according to development director Dennis Slon.

Slon views the NEH grant as the kickoff to an ongoing effort by the College, which will continue well beyond the close of the Campaign for the Fourth Century, to raise funds for faculty endowments. Those funds will help to support and nurture active learning at William and Mary, from freshman seminar to senior research project.

By all counts, the freshman seminars seem to work—especially in the eyes of the students themselves. Chrissie Eibner from Philadelphia, a member of Professor Schwartz's seminar, admits that "you have to be dedicated" but says that she really enjoys the class because of the discussion format. Sherlene Berkel from the Dutch West Indies agrees, saying, "You learn a lot more in these small groups. You can hear other people's opinions, and if you have a question, you can ask Professor Schwartz directly." When asked if she minds the workload, Berkel replies, "It doesn't seem like more work, because the class is so interesting." In a class where answers to questions are seldom obvious, this student has clearly found the right answer.

Professor Joel Schwartz teaches a political philosophy seminar in the Roy R. Charles Center for Honors and Interdisciplinary Studies.

Phonathon Rings Up a College Record

Charter Day 1992 brought a new entry for the history books: the close of a record-breaking week for the College's phonathon. Alumni and parents contacted during the week by student callers pledged a total of $60,846 for the William and Mary Annual Fund.

"That's easily double anything we've done in the past three years, and by far the biggest single-week total we've had since starting the program," says Karen Coltrane '87, director of the Annual Fund. More than 40 percent of those who pledged increased their pledge amount from previous years, Coltrane adds. Donors also set a record for a single night: $19,634.

According to Chris Bracken, who began work as associate director of the Annual Fund on Jan. 16, the phonathon program works so well because of the personal contact made between student callers and alumni. In fact, the success of the yearlong phonathon has led the Annual Fund staff to decrease the number of mailings it sends.

Student callers are on the phone for two hours a night, Sunday through Thursday.

"Students are quickly finding out this is the best job on campus," Bracken says. "There's now a waiting list of applicants."

This year for the first time two students, seniors Danielle Riley and Lori Stevens, are managing the callers each night. Stevens says the students always find something interesting to talk about with alumni; she recalls one night last year when she'd spoken to an alumna who had lived in her room in 1943. Stevens adds that her experience has given her a real appreciation of the importance of alumni support through the phonathon. "I'm proud to help raise money for education, especially for William and Mary, and I'm glad the phonathon has gotten big enough to really make a difference."

The 1991-92 phonathon will continue through the end of the spring semester. All pledges will go toward the College's Annual Fund, which aims to raise $1.35 million in unrestricted funds this fiscal year. Thus far, $838,000 has been raised. "Our record-breaking week shows that every pledge counts," Coltrane says. "Thanks to everyone who made it happen!"

New Information Available

Financial Strategies for the Family Business

You've worked hard to build a successful business. Now you've reached a stage in life where other goals are becoming more important. Your present goals may include:

- Preparing for an eventual sale of the business
- Increasing retirement income
- Reducing estate taxes
- Saving income taxes
- Avoiding capital gains taxes
- Transferring ownership in the business to children or others
- Avoiding a sale of the business by family to pay estate taxes
- Remembering charitable organizations that have been important in your life

With proper planning, you may be able to achieve your charitable and financial goals while preserving more of your estate for your family or other heirs. Write for more information. There is no obligation.

1693-1993
WILLIAM & MARY
The Campaign For The Fourth Century

Robert S. Dutro, Esq.
 Director for Estate Planning
 College of William and Mary
 Development Office
 P.O. Box 8795
 Williamsburg, VA 23187-8795

Please send more information on financial strategies for the family business.

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

AG0392

Flanked by Athletic Director John Randolph '64 (left) and Acting President Melvyn D. Schiavelli, the 1992 Hall of Fame inductees are football greats Jim Kruis '78 and Dan Darragh '68, former wrestling coach Dick Besnier and Lynn Norenberg Barry '81, the most prolific scorer in women's Tribe basketball history.

Four Named to Hall of Fame

By Bob Jeffrey '74

Family, remembrance and appreciation of the unique nature of the William and Mary experience were the themes at the 1992 Athletic Hall of Fame inductions as six Tribe immortals were awarded the highest honor the athletic department can bestow.

The annual awards dinner has become a time when memories are shared, ties renewed, and thanks expressed for experiences both on and off the playing field. Acting President Melvyn Schiavelli said, "It's a time to celebrate that William and Mary does something very right with its athletic programs."

Lynn Norenberg Barry '81 was the most prolific scorer in the history of women's basketball at W&M. She won almost every award, both academically and athletically, during her school days.

A two-time Academic All-American, Norenberg earned Phi Beta Kappa honors, was a W&M Ranking Scholar and the recipient of the Martha Barksdale Outstanding Scholar Athlete Award, the James Frederick Carr Memorial Cup and Graves Scholarship.

On the hardwood she was selected All-Region in 1981 and All-State for three straight years. Norenberg still holds 11 school records, including most points in a game (39), points in a season (484) and career (1,504), scoring average for a season (20.3 in '78-79) and career (18.3), and highest field goal and free throw percentages (56.2% and 77.5%).

Norenberg won the state discus championship in 1978 and finished second the following year. She was also voted the Homecoming Queen.

Along with her many accomplishments, Norenberg maintains a lively sense of humor. She joked with her fellow inductees, "I hope I'm not here just to ensure Title 9 compliance."

In her remarks, Norenberg recalled that her best memories were not merely sports-related. "I don't remember the games so much, but the people, the fun and the education. ...

"At William and Mary the academics and the athletics go hand in hand. I think of taking flashlights in the van so we could study on the way to road games. We were proud that William and Mary was that way," said Norenberg.

Since graduation, Norenberg earned a master's in athletic administration while serving as assistant basketball coach at the University of Kentucky. She worked with the NCAA as an enforcement representative before joining USA Basketball as assistant executive director.

Norenberg married NBA immortal Rick Barry last August and resides in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Dick Besnier was known to a generation of Tribe wrestlers as "the coach." From 1963 to 1975 he directed a program that compiled a 79-19 record and won four Southern Conference team championships. Besnier's grapplers won 32 individual SC titles, four Conference Outstanding Wrestler awards and 16 qualified for the NCAA's.

A 1960 graduate of the University of Maryland, Besnier remembered how nervous he was at the beginning of his tenure. "I was 27 years old, and the first guy I recruited was 25. ...

"I learned three things that always stood me in good stead: 'Be nice to all the secretaries, they run the place; get to know your admission people; and learn to recruit,'" he said.

Besnier did so well that his proudest achievement was that every wrestler he recruited in 12 years received his degree.

Along with the four SC titles, Besnier fondly recalled the rivalries with East Carolina and Old Dominion and a come-from-behind victory over Virginia Tech in front of a packed house in Blow Gym.

Besnier lauded former assistant Ed Stiers and the many former wrestlers who were in attendance. "Twenty years later, their friendship means more to me than anything else," he said.

Besnier coached wrestling at James Madison from 1978 until 1986, winning two NCAA Regional Tournaments. He served as athletic director at Clarion University, associate athletic director for development at W&M, and is now associate athletic director at American University.

He has two sons (Jeffrey, 30, and Gary, 26) and resides in McLean, Va.

Dan Darragh's name will be forever linked to one of the greatest athletic victories in W&M football history, the 27-16 upset of a highly ranked Navy team in 1967.

Rallying from a 16-0 deficit at the end of the third period, Darragh completed 12 of 13 passes for two touchdowns and rushed for a third to lead the Tribe to an unforgettable win. Legend has it that Darragh told head coach Marv Levy to take care of the defense while he took over the offense.

Darragh '68 was one of the outstanding passing quarterbacks of his era, completing 268 of 535 attempts for 3,361 yards and 30 touchdowns, all school records at the time. More importantly, he led the Tribe to winning seasons in all three years as starting quarterback and punter.

Darragh mentioned the special nature of the relationship between athletics and academics at the College. "This is a unique institution, and those who are part of the William and Mary family know what I mean. What other school would allow the starting quarterback and fullback to be in chemistry lab until 4 in the afternoon every day in the fall. We missed the first hour of practice, and yet there were no problems with the coaching staff or teammates. I thank William and Mary for that," Darragh said.

Following graduation, Darragh played pro football for three years with the Buffalo Bills. After injuries shortened his career, he earned a J.D. from Duquesne University. Darragh is a leader in the field of environmental law, is head of the Environmental Practice Group and is a partner in the firm of Ecker Seamans Cherin & Mellott.

Darragh and his wife, Ruth, have three children (Colleen, 22; Katie, 21; and Heather, 19) and reside in Pittsburgh. Colleen and Katie are currently students at the College.

For Jim Kruis '78, the Hall of Fame induction was upstaged by the birth of his first child earlier in the week. "I'm going to enjoy my last two nights of restfulness for a while," he said.

Kruis was rarely at rest during his stint as the Tribe tailback from 1975 to 1977. His career record for rushing yardage (2,404) stood until 1990.

The leading ground gainer for coach Jim Root's finest teams of the '70s, Kruis was named honorable mention All-American twice. In 1976 he received first team All-ECAC and Southern Conference honors as the Tribe went 7-4, beating Virginia, 14-0; Virginia Tech, 27-15; and Navy, 21-13.

Though he joked that "Football has been very, very good to me," Kruis sounded a note similar to other inductees. "My athletic memories at William and Mary are great, but that was really a small part of my time here. This place has made such a difference in my life because of the overall positive experience I had here. My brother Paul ('73, also a Tribe gridder) told me to go to a school where if football doesn't work out, the academic experience would still mean something special," Kruis said.

A member of Kappa Delta Pi Honor Society, Kruis majored in health and physical education. He teaches and coaches football at Garden Spot High School in New Holland, Pa.

Kruis, his wife, Dawn, and their newest arrival reside in Leola, Pa.

Pole vaulter Dave Lipinski '78 was the mystery man of the Hall of Fame ceremonies. Attempts to locate Lipinski were not successful, though former track coach and current Tribe Athletic Director John Randolph and others sang Lipinski's praises.

Injuries Plague 10-19 Tribe Season

By Bob Jeffrey '74

After a promising start, the William and Mary men's basketball team's chances for a successful season headed south for the winter. The hoopsters burst out to an 8-6 mark (2-0 in the Colonial Athletic Association), then dropped 13 of the next 15 to finish the season at 10-19.

An injury to point guard and three-point shooting ace Brendan Connor coincided with the team's downward turn. When he was sidelined with a knee injury in mid-January, Connor was averaging more than 10 points a game, including 56 percent from three-point range (fifth in the nation at the time). He was also among the CAA's assist leaders.

"It was similar to a football team losing its quarterback," said head coach Chuck Swenson. "Connor was having an outstanding season. He made about 75 percent of the decisions out on the floor as far as distributing the ball. Without him, we weren't as effective offensively, and we were easier to defend."

Connor tried to return a month after the initial injury, but aggravated his knee against VMI and did not dress to play for the last four games. On March 2, he underwent arthroscopic surgery.

Hopes were high for the Tribe at the outset with all five starters returning from last year's "Most Improved" team in the CAA. With senior big men Scott Smith and Ben Blocker and CAA second teamer Thomas Roberts back alongside Connor, pre-season prognosticators ranked W&M among the league's three or four top teams.

The season began with a flourish, with W&M winning four of its first six contests, including a 66-60 decision over state rival Virginia Tech and a 70-69 thriller against Davidson. Though a tough Christmas road trip against tough opponents like Duke, UNC-Charlotte, Portland and SMU produced a four-game losing streak, the team was still playing well.

In early January W&M went on a four game tear, beating Lehigh, Army and CAA rivals American and George Mason. Sit-

"This was an extraordinary young man," said Randolph. Lipinski vaulted 16' 8-1/2" to win the IC4A title in 1977. While training for the NCAA championships the next week, he fell and crushed his right arm, breaking it in several places. The surgery that followed left his right arm 1 inch shorter than the left, and prompted doctors to say that he would never compete again.

"They didn't know David Lipinski," said former track coach Roy Chernock. "He is one of the most dedicated and hardest working guys I've ever met."

Though sporting what Chernock called "a string bean arm" Lipinski altered his grip and successfully defended his IC4A title, winning both indoor and outdoor pole vaulting championships as a senior.

In 1980, after graduation, Lipinski continued competing and qualified for the Olympic team with a vault of more than 17 feet.

Jackson Neall Jr. '73 helped Lou Holtz look like a genius. Despite his slight build (5'11", 210 lbs.), Neall won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy and earned AP All-East and honorable mention All-American honors for his ferocious play on the line.

According to former W&M Sports Information Director Bob Sheeran, Holtz was so confident of his star blocker's abilities that he even told East Carolina Coach Sonny Randall, "When it comes to short yardage, I'm running behind Jackson Neall and you can't stop us."

Neall opened holes for running back Phil Mosser during the 1970 campaign when the Tribe won the Southern Conference championship and went to the Tangerine Bowl. The Bowl experience was one of Neall's favorite memories. "Though we were beaten soundly (40-12, by the University of Toledo), it was unforgettable."

Neall is the senior vice-president of H.D. Wood Advertising. He and his wife, Maribeth, have four children, Leslie, 22; Pamela, 19; Courtney, 17; and Jackson III, 13, and live in Ocean City, N.J.

ting atop the conference with a 2-0 mark, the Tribe seemed ready to fulfill all the preseason fantasies. Instead Connor suffered his knee injury and the Tribe nosedived.

Junior forward Sean Duff, who had emerged as another legitimate three-point threat, was felled by an ankle injury at the same time, further limiting the Tribe's offensive diversity.

"We went from third in the conference in scoring to eighth without Connor and Duff," said Swenson.

W&M's stretch of tough games was not without some bright spots. Roberts was named CAA Player of the Week for his career high 31 point effort in a losing cause at East Carolina. Freshmen guards Kurt Small and David Cox gained valuable experience after being thrust into starting roles.

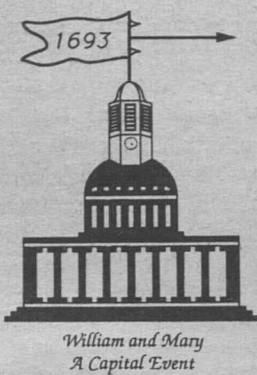

Ben Blocker, a senior forward, was an island of consistency, averaging in double figures in scoring and leading the squad with 7.1 rebounds per contest. His 61 percent field goal percentage was second in the CAA.

Overall the team did not achieve its potential. "Obviously we didn't have the kind of season we hoped for," Swenson said. "But to be honest, with the personnel we had, we just weren't able to finish strongly." Although Smith, Blocker and Eric Wakefield graduate, the prognosis for next year is positive. Connor should be back and healthy, with Peters, Cox and Small contributing depth for the perimeter game. Roberts, Duff and Todd Cauthorn will provide experience and scoring punch at forward and center.

"Most of the questions will hinge on our inside game," said Swenson. "Todd Cauthorn will need to put in 30 minutes a game, and we'll be looking for help from Steve Papura (a 6'9" freshman) and perhaps from our group of incoming recruits."

There is anticipation about the three announced recruits. All are big men with excellent potential. Hiram Finney, from Kansas, is 6'10" and David Culley and Jeremy Dean, both from Northern Virginia, are both 6'8."

Hope springs eternal. "I believe we're capable of having a good season next year," said Swenson.

Washington, D.C., Alumni Chapter Hosts Starlight Cruise

Career Receptions Held in 7 Cities

The year-end holiday break gave students and alumni in seven major metropolitan areas the opportunity to meet and discuss careers. In addition to the annual Career Exploration Day program on campus, career receptions sponsored by the Office of Career Services and the Society of the Alumni offered students another chance to learn from alumni about career openings and opportunities.

Originally begun by the Washington, D.C., and Boston alumni chapters, the program was expanded this year to include Atlanta, New York, Philadelphia, Richmond and Virginia's South Hampton Roads areas.

Held for the third straight year, the Metropolitan Washington Career Reception took place Jan. 9 in the offices of American Management Systems in Arlington. Sponsored by the Greater Metropolitan Washington, D.C., Alumni Chapter and

Alumni Offer Career Advice to Students

How to get jobs and launch careers, even in the midst of an uncertain job market, was on the minds of more than 500 students who attended the annual Career Exploration Day program on Jan. 25.

Alumni panelists from across the country offered advice and shared their own personal experiences in 20 different fields. "Although the recession was a point of discussion, most of the panelists addressed students' questions about developing skills and marketing themselves," said Bob Hunt '60 M.Ed., associate director of the Office of Career Services, which jointly sponsors the program with the Society of the Alumni. Hunt also noted an increased interest among students in the field of education this year. "That session moved to a larger room to accommodate everyone who wanted to attend."

Alumni who participated included: accounting and financial management — H. Michael McGahey '74, Cathy L. Canton '80; advertising and public relations — Beth E. Barnes '80, Mark A. Kotzer '88; applied mathematics and sciences — Marie Elizabeth Buck '81, Melvin J. Ferebee Jr. '85, Harris Hoke '91; arts — Gloria J. Coker '74 M.Ed., Barbara Savage Breit '77, Peter B. Trippi '87; banking and investments — Susan Hume McIntosh '72, Barry P. Almond '83, Alan D. Hilliker '80; business management and consulting — Robert H. Trice '68, Cynthia L. Irving '81, Sharon McGinty '85; communications — Craig Windham '71, Steve Thode '79, Anne W. Ward '77; computer science and information systems — Stephen R. Mapp '75, Michelle Taylor Ferebee '83, David Smithgall '89; counseling and psychology — Lynn Gillikin '67, Elizabeth Wood Delk '71, Lila M. Herndon '90.

Also, education — William P. Still '70 M.Ed., Jane Banks '76, Kimberly Gregg Hall '85; government and public policy — Sharon E. Pandak '75, '78 J.D., R. Andrew Stross '90, Shannon L. Watson '89; health sciences — Janet Hawkins Watts '73, Patricia A. Cooper '75, Thomas W. Eppes Jr. '74; human resources and personnel —

As the evening of May 30 draws closer, excitement is building among D.C.-area planners for "A Capital Event," one of the largest and most festive chapter events of the year. All alumni who live in the area or who may be visiting are invited to join in the gala springtime evening aboard the newly christened Potomac Spirit luxury liner.

Hosted by the Greater Metropolitan Washington, D.C., Alumni Chapter, the four-hour starlight cruise around the nation's capital begins with a dockside reception. Once on board there will be Cajun cuisine, dancing to the brassy sounds of the Uptown Rhythm Kings, a casino and a fun-filled auction nightcap where casino earnings can be used to bid on an array of items the Young Guard, the event represented the largest of this year's seven receptions, involving a record 60 students and 40 alumni.

Five panelists and a speaker, former ambassador Jack Tuthill '32, began the program by offering advice on finding jobs in their respective fields. Ambassador Tuthill talked about international careers; Randolph Beales '82 about government and law; Stewart Gamage '72 about government affairs; Bill Binns '67 about banking; and Fran Engoron '71 about consulting.

The reception was organized by Young Guard Council members Ted Zoller '87, Karen Rodgers Calpin '87, Jeanie DeBolt '90 and Jay Austin '89. Chapter board members who were present included Charles Gobrecht '62, Frances Newton Harwood '63, Cyndy Nash Huddleston '83, '86 M.Ed., Jeff Kelly '89, Alexandra Mallus '70, Maggie Margiotta '88, Ed McGuire '73 J.D., Jim Rees '74 and Ted Zoller '87.

Sharon E. Pandak '75, '78 J.D. (center), county attorney for Prince William County, Va., spoke to students interested in government and public policy careers along with fellow panelists Andy Stross '90 and Shannon Watson '89. Stross works for the state of Virginia as special assistant in the office of the secretary of transportation, and Watson is legislative correspondent in the office of Sen. John Glenn.

Harry C. Redd III '64, Elizabeth Lee Lanz '74, Cynthia Turner '80; insurance — Betty Gillette '77, Samuel Barham '82; international — Leon Rosen '49, Ellen H. Allen '81, Mary Thomasson Yuhas '86; law — Birdie Hairston Jamison '79, '82 J.D., David M. Grimes '83, David A. Price '83; life and physical sciences — Dee Woodhull '74, David L. Davis '89, Walter F. Kramer '79; marketing and sales — Thomas J. Kirkup '65, Paul Caan '86, Alison P. Hawley '84; museums and historic preservation — Sally Sims Stokes '72, Joseph M. Judge '79, Francis D. Roche '72; social services and community agencies — Roy Chinman '62, Brenda Allen '73, Tonya R. Mitchell '89.

A
CLASS ACT
W&M HOMECOMING '92
OCTOBER 15-18

It will be "A Class Act" weekend this fall when Homecoming takes place Oct. 15-18. Headlining the weekend are all the traditional activities such as the Sunset Ceremony, Homecoming Parade, football game, post-game tailgater and Young Guard party. Reunion celebrations will be observed by the Classes of 1947, 1952, 1957, 1962, 1967, 1972, 1977, 1982 and 1987.

Also as part of this special weekend, the Society of the Alumni will celebrate its 150th year with a special anniversary version of the Annual Awards Dinner and Dance.

Watch your Alumni Gazette for further information. The September issue will carry complete details and a registration form for all Homecoming events.

donated by alumni and Washington notables.

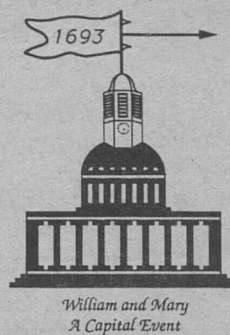

Proceeds from the event will benefit the chapter's gift to the Campaign for the Fourth Century, which will culminate during the College's 300th anniversary in 1993. The chapter has established two endowment funds, one providing for a scholarship for students from the area and another supporting the Society of the Alumni in its chapter programming needs.

"Everything about this event is first-class," says Eric Fedewa '87, co-chair of the event with his brother, John '89. "The Washington chapter is William and Mary's largest and we want to make this a real class act that is fun for everyone who attends and successful in terms of the support we want to show for the College."

Serving with the Fedewas on the planning committee are Ray '63 and Sue Roach Warner '64, Patricia Graves Ballard '62, Pamela Bitto '86, Dan and Stuart Richardson Dopp '62, Bill '61 and Ann Fox Harrison '62, Mark Kotzer '88, Sharon Hall McBay '64, Shannon Watson '89, Tricia Davis White '63 and Laurie White Wrigley '86.

Tickets for "A Capital Evening" are $75 or $60 for members of the Young Guard (the Classes of 1987-1992). Reservations are due by April 30. Special seating may be reserved for groups of eight for $800 per table. Please contact Ray or Sue Warner at 703/620-2097, or Eric or John Fedewa at 703/931-3799 for more information.

Don't delay — save the date, reserve your spot and don't miss the boat!

Join Us For A CAPITAL EVENT!

Announcing the First Greater Metropolitan Washington, D.C. Chapter

STARLIGHT CRUISE

Saturday, May 30, 1992 / 5:30 - 11 p.m.

PREPARE to power past the starlit monuments of the federal city aboard the Potomac Spirit liner. Stomp and dance with the College's largest alumni chapter and the brassy Dixie-jump blues sound of the Uptown Rhythm Kings. Thrill your palate with fine Cajun cuisine and a four-hour open bar. Spin the wheel of fortune! Challenge the house in blackjack or roulette — and use your chips to win prizes in our cruise-end auction.

GREAT FUN FOR ALL!

The evening includes:

- 4 hours aboard the Potomac Spirit (3-hour cruise)
- Cajun cuisine dinner buffet
- 4-hour open beer/wine bar (cash bar for liquor)
- Live dance music by the Uptown Rhythm Kings
- Chips to start your evening at the casino tables
- Cruise-end auction with fabulous prizes

All this plus the fellowship of William and Mary alumni and friends for only:

- $60 per person - Young Guard
- $75 per person - all others
- $800 per reserved table of eight

Get your group together now and plan to attend this spectacular event. For more information please call Ray Warner '63 or Sue Warner '64 at 703/620-2097, or Eric Fedewa '87 or John Fedewa '89 at 703/931-3799.

Proceeds to benefit the Campaign for the Fourth Century and the Greater Metropolitan Washington, D.C. Chapter gift to the Society of the Alumni and the College.

Honorary Committee

Mr. & Mrs. James W. Brinkley
The Honorable James H. Dillard & Mrs. Dillard
Mrs. Nancy Falck & Mr. George Falck
The Honorable Linwood Holton & Mrs. Holton
Mr. & Mrs. Joe Koons
The Honorable Alan B. Mollohan & Mrs. Mollohan
The Honorable Toddy Puller & Mr. Lewis Puller
The Honorable Charles S. Robb & Mrs. Robb
The Honorable William B. Spong, Jr. & Mrs. Spong
Mr. & Mrs. James E. Ukrop

GEORGIA PARTY — The Georgia Alumni Chapter gathered in Atlanta on Jan. 15 to watch the televised William and Mary vs. George Mason basketball game. Among the alumni and friends present were Russel Eastman, Susan Cass '86 and Martin Morris '65.

UPCOMING CHAPTER EVENTS

VIRGINIA

CHARLOTTESVILLE-HIGHLAND - CAMPAIGN FOR THE FOURTH CENTURY CELEBRATION

Thursday, April 30

A very special program to celebrate the College's Campaign for the Fourth Century hosted by Bruce and Jim Murray, Jr. '74 J.D. at Ash Lawn-Highland. Hors d'oeuvres and open bar provided. 7 - 9 p.m. A raffle for W&M gifts will be held. All alumni in the Charlottesville-Highland Chapter and the Shenandoah Valley Club are invited. Contact Jon Lever '91 at the Society of the Alumni, 804/221-1208.

RICHMOND - STRAWBERRY HILL RACES

Saturday, April 11

This outstanding steeplechase event has become an annual spring outing and social gathering. It should be even more fun this year with the addition of the first "University Row" at the Races! Join our tent-gate party sponsored by the Richmond chapter and be alongside other schools such as UR, JMU, VCU, VPI, Ferrum, Longwood, Hampden-Sydney and WVU. Gates open at 9 a.m., opening ceremonies at noon and races begin at 1:30 p.m. Call Cathy Walker Green '82, event coordinator, 804/231-2481.

RICHMOND—CAMPAIGN FOR THE FOURTH CENTURY CELEBRATION

Thursday, May 14

A very special program to celebrate the College's Campaign for the Fourth Century hosted by Jim '60 and Bobbie '61 Ukrop at the Virginia Historical Society. Hors d'oeuvres and open bar provided. Time TBA. Contact Jon Lever '91 at the Society of the Alumni, 804/221-1208.

SOUTH HAMPTON ROADS—ANNUAL MEETING AND BEACH PARTY

Saturday, May 30

Join area alumni for a barbecue dinner, disc jockey and dancing at their annual Beach Party. 3:30-8:30 p.m., 67th Street Beach Club at Virginia Beach oceanfront. $12.50 adults, $7.00 children. Contact Andria Forte-Turner '77, chapter president, 804/855-2385.

WILLIAMSBURG—ADMISSION OPEN HOUSE

Saturday, April 11

Come by and show your support as we host a lemonade stand near Blow Memorial Hall during the Admission Office's Open House Day. This will be great fun as well as a chance to meet admitted students to the College and convince them not to go to U.Va. We need you to help us show our Tribe Pride! For more information about volunteering your time at the lemonade stand, contact Rick Overy '88, event coordinator, 804/221-1061.

WILLIAMSBURG—MARCH OF DIMES TRIBE TEAM WALK-A-THON

Sunday, April 26

The Williamsburg Alumni Team will participate in the March of Dimes Team Walk. Our walk begins at W&M Hall at 9 a.m. and ends at W&M Hall around 12:30 p.m. Contact Keith Reagan '88, 804/221-1183.

WILLIAMSBURG—ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING AND RECEPTION

Wednesday, April 29

Join us at our annual business meeting and reception with our special guest, W&M Football Coach Jimmie Laycock. Location, time and cost TBA. Call Jeanne Hopke '80, chapter president, 804/229-1100.

CALIFORNIA

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA—W&M BOTETOURT CHAMBER SINGERS

Tuesday, May 12 - Wednesday, May 13

The Botetourts will be performing in Monterey. Call Ed Lull '84, chapter president, 510/769-6513. Reception and performances TBA.

LOS ANGELES—W&M BOTETOURT CHAMBER SINGERS

Thursday, May 14 - Friday, May 15

Homes are needed for 15 students and Dr. Frank Lendrim, choir director. Call Sherrill Sell Phillips '83, chapter president, 213/821-7876. Reception and performances TBA.

SAN DIEGO—W&M BOTETOURT CHAMBER SINGERS

Saturday, May 16 - Tuesday, May 19

Homes are needed for 15 students and Dr. Frank Lendrim, choir director. Call Pat Sell '58, chapter president, 619/453-7839. Reception and performances TBA.

DELAWARE

WILMINGTON—CAMPAIGN FOR THE FOURTH CENTURY CELEBRATION

Tuesday, May 12

A very special program to celebrate the College's Campaign for the Fourth Century hosted by David '52 and Lee Bradley Wakefield '53 and Dr. Robert and Sarah Ives Gore '56. Mark H. McCormack '51 presiding. Dr. Melvyn Schiavelli, acting president of the College, will also be in attendance. The Wilmington Country Club, time TBA. Hors d'oeuvres and open bar provided. Contact Jon Lever '91 at the Society of the Alumni, 804/221-1208.

FLORIDA

JACKSONVILLE/NORTH FLORIDA—CAMPAIGN FOR THE FOURTH CENTURY CELEBRATION

Tuesday, April 7

A very special program to celebrate the College's Campaign for the Fourth Century hosted by Jody and Layton Smith at the Epping Forest Yacht Club, 6-8 p.m. Dr. Melvyn Schiavelli, acting president of the College, will also be in attendance. Hors d'oeuvres and open bar provided. A raffle will be held for a signed and framed folk-art print of the Wren Building. Contact Jon Lever '91 at the Society of the Alumni, 804/221-1208.

GEORGIA

GEORGIA—OLD DOMINION DAY

Saturday, April 25

Location and time TBA. For further information on how you can enjoy this fun-filled day of socializing with alumni from other Virginia schools, contact Jane Alcock '83, chapter president, 404/458-5694.

ILLINOIS

CHICAGO—PROSPECTIVE STUDENTS RECEPTION

Wednesday, May 27

A reception for prospective students to the College to be held at the Newberry Library. We must show our Tribe Pride and convince these students to enroll! Time and cost TBA. Call Pam Waymack '77, chapter president, 708/869-4528.

CHICAGO—RECEPTION WITH GUEST SPEAKER

Thursday, May 28

A reception for all area alumni will be held at the Chicago Yacht Club. Our special guest, W. Barry Adams, executive vice president of the Society of the Alumni, will update us on the latest news from the College. Call Pam Waymack '77, chapter president, 708/869-4528.

LOUISIANA

NEW ORLEANS CLUB—SPRING DINNER WITH GUEST SPEAKER

Monday, April 27

Charles Kendrick '82, director of alumni society services, will be our guest speaker at our spring dinner. Location, time and cost TBA. Contact Roney Chesson Morton '59, chapter president, 504/834-3631.

MASSACHUSETTS

BOSTON—TOUR OF BOSTON MUSEUM OF FINE ARTS

Wednesday, May 6

Time and cost TBA. Tour the Boston Museum of Fine Arts with area alumni. Call Lisa Trimboli '86, event coordinator, 617/849-1800 ext. 849.

NEW YORK

NEW YORK—TRIBE HAPPY HOUR

Thursday, April 9

The monthly Tribe Happy Hour will be at EXTRA! EXTRA! at 42nd St. and 2nd Ave. at 6:30 p.m. Call the chapter's Hotline, 212/969-8200.

NEW YORK—W&M TRIBE TEAM FOR THE '92 AIDS WALK-A-THON

Sunday, May 17

On a beautiful Sunday in mid-May join W&M New York alumni as we walk around the city to benefit AIDS research. Call the Hotline, 212/969-8200, for more information.

NORTH CAROLINA

TRIANGLE—ANNUAL DINNER MEETING

Saturday, April 11

Details will follow in a flyer or the next newsletter, but please mark your calendars and plan to attend. There will be a brief business meeting to elect board members, and a speaker from the College to bring us news from the Burg. Call Carol Binzer '81, chapter president, 919/490-6488.

UNITED KINGDOM

UNITED KINGDOM—ALUMNI RECEPTION WITH GUEST SPEAKER

Wednesday, April 22

Join other W&M alumni from the United Kingdom as we welcome Lee Foster, director of alumni affairs for the Society of the Alumni. From 6:30 - 8:00 p.m. at Southbank International School in London. Contact Lee Foster, 804/221-1182, or Joan Lee '63, chapter president, 011/44/071/228-5862 in the United Kingdom.

Alumni Sweethearts

Forty-one alumni couples celebrated Valentine's Day this year by coming to Williamsburg for the first Sweethearts Weekend sponsored by the Society of the Alumni in coordination with Colonial Williamsburg. At a reception Saturday evening at the Alumni House, those couples married the longest, the shortest and coming the greatest distance were recognized with gifts. Keith '88 J.D. and Mary-Lynn Lawrocki Krusz '90 J.D. (center) won on two counts — married since last October, the newlyweds traveled from Bristol, Conn., for the long weekend. Harold and Evelyn Crosby King of Williamsburg (right), both members of the Class of 1943, were applauded for their 48-year marriage. At left are Society President John Entwisle and his wife, Marilyn, both members of the Class of 1944.

HAWAII ALUMNI EVENT — William and Mary alumni from around the islands gathered in Honolulu on Dec. 23 after the Tribe played at Kauai in the Chaminade Basketball Tournament. John Randolph '64, W&M athletic director, and Bobby Dwyer, assistant athletic director, (both pictured on the back row) brought greetings from the College.

President's Corner

By John Entwisle '44

The following quote is from a letter written by a distinguished alumnus to the College administration at budget time: "Our school is indeed blessed with a loyal and active alumni body. We need to continue to provide funds that will allow it to reach its full potential. I hear many times that funds spent in development return dollars in a seven to one ratio. I believe that we have the leadership in place in our Alumni Society to return to us an even greater return on our investment if we can give them the proper resources to do their job."

"I personally know of no other volunteer body and professional staff on campus that put in as many hours on and off campus in support of our institution. We owe them our full support."

An expanded Alumni House would be of tremendous help in allowing your Society to reach that "full potential" referred to. In addition to the various organizations highlighted in my previous letters, your Society sponsors the venerable Olde Guard. This group represents classes that graduated 50 or more years ago. It meets twice a year — at Homecoming and in the spring, maintaining close ties with the College in a number of ways. One example is its financial support toward the European tour of the William and Mary Choir.

At the other end of the age scale is the Young Guard. Recent graduates are entitled to membership until they celebrate their fifth reunion. Their 50-member Young Guard Council meets four times a year to plan special events for Homecoming, develop programs and identify ways to support alumni efforts, such as participation in Career Exploration Day.

The Society depends on its professional alumni records staff and in-house computer system to keep track of its more than 50,000 members. Every effort is made to ensure that alumni records are current. A new alumni directory is "at press" and soon will be available to those who placed advanced orders. You can help keep the alumni records system up to date by advising the Society of any changes in your situation, such as new addresses, new jobs, marriages and births. Write or call the Society of the Alumni, P.O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100, 804/221-1163.

Established by the Society and administered by the Office of Admission, the Alumni Admission Network consists of alumni volunteers who are trained to perform applicant interviews in their various localities. More than 300 alumni participants serve on 31 network committees.

As much as parents may hope, not every alumni child is academically qualified to be admitted to the College. However, every alumni child is given special consideration and his or her admission status is closely monitored as it passes through the system. Fifty-five to 60 percent of alumni children are admitted as compared to 35 to 39 percent of all others.

In closing, I am happy to report that your presidential search committee is hard at work. We have many highly qualified applicants to interview in the next few weeks.

Cheers!

THE ALUMNI GIFT SHOP

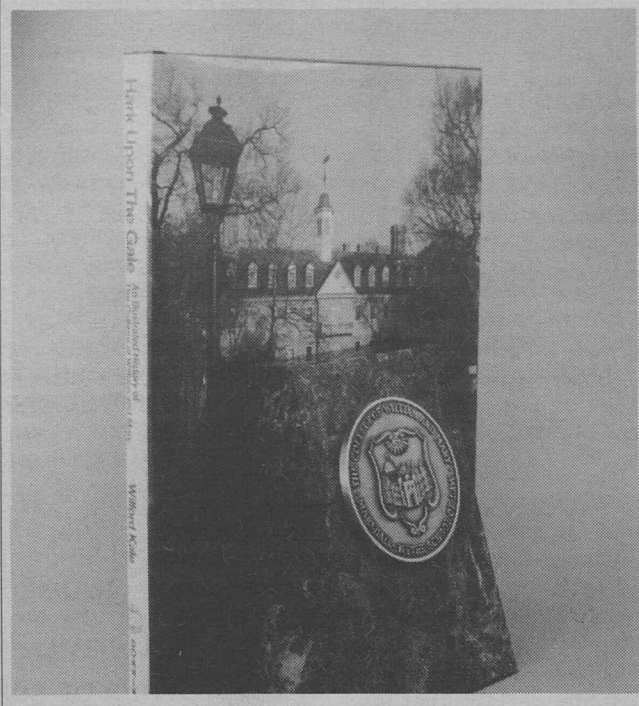

Great Gift Ideas for Graduation or Mother's Day!

William and Mary Watches

These elegant Seiko watches feature the College seal finished in 14K gold. The quartz movements are extremely accurate and never need winding. Attractive enough to become a family heirloom yet practical enough for daily wear, these timepieces make wonderful graduation gifts.

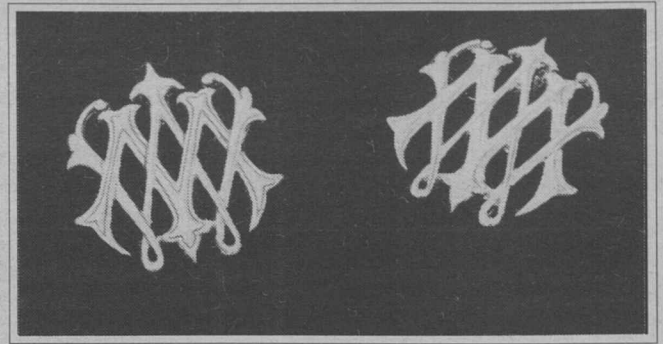

- A1 Ladies' Wrist Watch with leather strap$210.00
- A2 Ladies' Wrist Watch with two-tone bracelet$275.00
- A3 Men's Wrist Watch with leather strap$210.00
- A4 Men's Wrist Watch with two-tone bracelet$275.00

Classic Bookends

Complement your literary collection with a tasteful touch of sophistication. These elegant green marble bookends, featuring a bronze medallion with your choice of the College seal or the Marshall-Wythe School of Law seal, serve as distinctive accessories with a practical function.

- Also pictured ... Hark Upon the Gale, an illustrated history of the College by Wilford Kale '66.
- A5 Marble Bookends$99.95
 - A6 Hark Upon the Gale$30.00

William and Mary Cipher Pin or Pendant

These pins were created especially for the Society of the Alumni by the skilled artisans and craftspeople of Hand and Hammer. Available in sterling silver or 24K gold plated onto sterling silver, the piece can be worn as a pin or with your chain as a pendant.

- A7 Cipher Pin/Pendant in silver$25.00
- A8 Cipher Pin/Pendant in gold plate$32.50

William and Mary Beach Towel

This colorful, thick and absorbent cotton terry cloth towel is perfect for Spring Break or summer beach trips. Get yours now and be ready! 35" x 57".

- A9 W&M Beach Towel$25.00

Chairs and Rockers

From Nichols and Stone, these handsome chairs and rockers offer a unique way to express your affiliation with the College. Both styles feature a black lacquer finish enhanced with hand-painted gold trim. The captain's chair includes cherry wood arms. The headers feature your choice of the College seal or the Marshall-Wythe School of Law bronze medallion flush-mounted into the header (see photo). The College seal is also available in a gold silkscreen application. Chairs may be personalized with a brass nameplate mounted on the back of the header for an additional charge. Please clearly state specifications on order form.

Shipping fees for captain's chairs are $15 per chair. Rockers are shipped freight collect, which averages $70. Please allow 10-12 weeks for delivery.

- A10 Captain's Chair with silk-screen application$200.00
- A11 Captain's Chair with bronze medallion$250.00
- A12 Rocker with bronze medallion$200.00

William and Mary Cipher Trivet

Perfect for Mother's Day or as a wedding present, this solid brass trivet is made by Virginia Metalcrafters of Waynesboro, Va. As functional as it is beautiful, this accessory brightens any William and Mary home.

- A13 William and Mary Trivet$30.00

Mail to: Society of the Alumni
The Alumni Gift Shop
P.O. Box 2100
Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100

Phone: (804)221-1170 MARCH/92
Fax: (804)221-1186

Qty.	Item No. and Description	Size	Price	Total

Virginia Residents, add 4.5% sales tax

Shipping: $3.50 per address; chairs $15. Orders shipped outside the continental U.S. will require additional fees. Call for details.

Total Amount Enclosed

Make Checks Payable to "SOCIETY OF THE ALUMNI"
Most orders shipped within 7 days of receipt

- Check here if you would like information on the following services for alumni:
- William and Mary MasterCard
 - Renting the Alumni House
 - Alumni Insurance Programs
 - MCI Long Distance Discounts

Your Name _____ Class _____

Street Address _____

City, State, Zip _____

Daytime Phone No. (____) _____

Please charge to my MasterCard VISA

Card No. _____ Exp. Date _____

Signature _____

These items are gifts and should have gift card enclosed and be shipped to person indicated in order blank.

Ship to (if different from above address):

Name _____

Address _____

City, State, Zip _____

For further information, call (804)221-1170 Monday-Friday 8 a.m.—5 p.m. (EST).

CLASS NOTES

27

M. Carl Andrews
2814 Crystal Spring Ave.,
SW
Roanoke, VA 24014

News of '27 and all prior years

News this time comes from some unusual sources that may awaken fond memories for some of you. Let's begin with Carroll R. Shuler '27 who lives in Stanley, Va.

Carroll's connection with William and Mary was quite brief. He had spent his freshman year (1922-23) at Virginia Polytechnic Institute when a friend, Melvin Kite '27, persuaded him to come to W&M and be his roommate in brand-new Monroe Hall. He recalls few classmates other than Oscar Brumback '27, who lived at the Bozarth home across Richmond Road.

He soon realized that engineering was his destiny and transferred back to Tech, after finishing pre-engineering courses at W&M, where he earned a 99 in descriptive geometry. Enclosed with his letter to me are pictures of the Class of '27 and the Shenandoah Valley Club of 17 members. A surveying course "took us all over the campus," he records.

Carroll graduated from V.P.I. in 1927 as an officer in Company F of the Cadet Corps. Shortly thereafter he landed a position with the U.S. Naval Research Laboratory, remaining until retirement in April 1961.

The remainder of his lengthy letter was devoted to personal and family reminiscences. He is the only one left of six officers in his Tech company, leading him to wonder if survivors of W&M '27 remember him.

Buzzy Stewart and I were the only ones from '27 to register at Homecoming, but there definitely were others who didn't take time to sign up.

That reminds me: Mary Land Gill '28 was a star at the Homecoming banquet, her good-humored acceptance of the Alumni Medallion bringing a standing ovation.

I.M. Boyd, a clever columnist for the San Francisco Chronicle, is quite a researcher. Where he found the following, I cannot determine:

"Sarah Harrison married Dr. James Blair, founder of William and Mary. In the traditional wedding promises, when the minister got to the 'obey' part, she said, 'No obey.' The minister blinked and repeated. Again, she said 'No obey'. The minister gulped and completed the ceremony. Some lady."

I gulped at the following: "Is it against the law to advertise on tombstones? Answer: In some places. Roanoke, Va., for one." Leonard Born '27 got a kick out of sending me that one.

The widow of R. Brantly Cox '27 wrote to tell me of his death (see obituaries) in Columbia, S.C., last June 16 and to recall how much they enjoyed one of our reunions.

Brantly often wrote of boyhood experience in Virginia and it was fitting that a beloved musical group, The Palmetto Mastersingers sang "Shenandoah" at his funeral. "He always loved having gone to William and Mary," Mrs. Cox concluded.

I also received a gracious letter from Blanche Wilshin, widow of Ed Wilshin, providing details of his passing in August. She informs me that Dick Triple, '27 is in serious condition from numerous physical problems.

A much-appreciated card from Jean Bahr Waltrip, '79 M.Ed.: "The news from William and Mary means a lot to me because of my mother, Mary Fairfax Griffith Bahr, '27 who was a Kappa Alpha Theta, May Queen in 1927 and who died last year." Jean's son-in-law and stepdaughter, Ben and Deborah Snead, are also W&M graduates, he being an attorney in Roanoke. Employed by Easter Seals in Roanoke, Jean lives in nearby Rocky Mount.

Frank S. Hopkins '27, of Bethesda, Md., continues steady recovery from thyroid cancer. He and Louise enjoyed a Caribbean cruise on the great Queen Elizabeth II in November. Mention of his problem in my previous column brought encouraging notes from numerous W&M friends, including his college roommate, Bill Morrow.

Morrow, in his annual Christmas letter, rendered a lengthy account of 1991 doings, including time in a medical center, a trip to a granddaughter's wedding, a country fair, concerts and a trip to Kennebunkport without seeing George and Barbara.

Chief pleasure for Bill was escorting the granddaughter, Maria, down the aisle to her groom, Joseph Headwick, "a real Southern boy, 6' 6" and a graduate of the University of Tennessee." In good humor, Bill reports wearing a Confederate gray tuxedo while humming "Yankee Doodle."

Bill celebrated Ash Wednesday in the hospital with a bleeding ulcer caused by "too much aspirin to cure a sprain which cost three days in bed and four pints of blood." Trust him always to see the bright side of things.

If most of the foregoing concerns Class of '27, it's your own fault, you pre-27ers. Take pen in hand or typewriter in lap and write me some news. My deadline for copy in the June Gazette is April 10.

29

Joseph N. James
University Park
2420 Pemberton Road
Richmond, VA 23229

31

Milton Salasky, M.D.
1820 N. Congress Ave., No. 102
West Palm Beach, FL 33401

I suppose that when you've been out of college 60 years, the memories don't fade but the art of expression diminishes so that items of news rarely come, making it difficult to fill this column with what goes on among our classmates.

There were a few of us at Homecoming. Maybe the uninviting weather of recent Homecomings was a deterrent, but this year it was beautiful and for those who missed it the festivities were high. Perhaps 1992 will be presaged by the warmth of 1991. We hope so, for even a year will bring new physical changes to a never-changing spirit.

As I winter here in Florida, I think I'd like to continue to be class representative, but please give me something to represent. No communication to me will be unacknowledged. Let's get excited about the College's Tercentenary in 1993, a good time to be responsive.

33

Lota Spence Reid
Apt. 15A
5701 Williamsburg
Landing Drive
Williamsburg, VA 23185-8003

Greetings! After mailing 40 cards to class members who I hoped would remember me and would answer with news to share with you, I have received only two responses. One was from Kitty Cubberly Beamon who wrote to comment on the delightful time, delicious lunch and interesting program which she had enjoyed on Olde Guard Day. The campus was at its prettiest, she said, and she was glad to hear about William and Mary's latest programs and plans.

The other was from Dorothy Trent Smither. Guess what she has been doing this summer! Her latest note places her at Goethe Institut in Germany where she has been studying the language in classes with students from Japan, Columbia, Mexico, Russia, Lithuania and the Ukraine. She called it a "most edifying experience," especially since her classmates' educational status ranges from undergraduate to Ph.D.

Frances Booth, a recent patient of cataract surgery, reports that she received such excellent post-operative care that she is "hopefully planning to play golf again soon." She asked to be remembered to her classmates. Maybe we should sign her up for the next Homecoming golf tournament as a representative of '33.

A recent issue of the "Friends of the Library Newsletter" reports that the library has received some interesting pieces for the University Archives from friends and alumni of the College and that former classmates of ours were named as contributors. Duncan Cocke '32, for instance, has donated the flight suit worn by his wife, Minnie Cole Savage Cocke, when she was a Flight School student at W&M.

She was, you will recall, the first woman to become a licensed pilot through her training there.

Dr. Carlton Casey has turned over his collection of clippings about the Flight School, as well as photographs of Minnie Cole. Barton Traver Hulse has donated his own wings earned at W&M and also a 1929-30 "Indian Handbook," while Nina Pruett Edmunds contributed a picture of the Wren Building.

Everybody is busy here in Williamsburg these days. The whole town — especially the campus personnel — is buzzing about the carefully laid plans for one year hence. Don't forget 1993 is William and Mary's 300th birthday and the 60th anniversary of our graduation. Please plan to come. Where else can you go to celebrate a 300th birthday and a 60th anniversary at the same time?

Let me hear from you soon.

35

Ann Northington Westlow
1594 Heritage Hills Drive
Richmond, VA 23233

37

Carolyn Richardson
McMurrin
209 Burns Lane
Williamsburg, VA 23185

Unfortunately, the past month has not been conducive to gathering news of the Class of 1937, and just before the deadline my husband landed in the hospital following an accident.

Cary and I were unable to attend any functions of Homecoming but did get over to the Heritage Inn Saturday afternoon for a very happy hour. Those who registered were the following: Anna Dickerson Baker, Ralph Terrill Baker, Doris Campbell Desmond, Ellen Latane Gouldman, Harold M. Gouldman, Marion Hinman Gracey, Cornelia Land Hardenbergh, Aileen Barclay Renn, S. Warne Robinson, Fay Bryant Savedge and Anne Reynolds Wood.

Connie Hardenbergh had the additional pleasure of seeing her sister, Mary Gill '28, receive the Alumni Medallion at ceremonies Friday evening during the Alumni Society's Annual Awards Dinner and Dance.

Sorry not to have more news, but we'll try to do better next time.

39

Frances L. Grodecoeur
810 Howard Street
Monongahela, PA 15063

Greetings in the new year and best wishes to you and yours for a good 1992!

1991 had its ups and downs, no surprise to anyone. But did you ever think about the volume of junk mail you receive in one year? Try two tons! That's one figure received from a class member who shall remain nameless. Other interesting items noted along the way are 250 wrong number calls on the telephone, 927 names forgotten, seven hours spent looking for lost items (I can top that) and 12 times the checkbook didn't balance. (Call it gamesmanship, but I can top that one, too.) Care to add to the list?

Peggy Prickett Miller and Miley have lots of travel miles (if they keep track) they could add to this statistical study. Not only are they cavorting all over the country on their Continental Senior Citizens Pass, but in July and August took a self-guided jaunt to Australia which covered miles. Peggy writes, "We landed in Cairns and were whisked to the glorious and awesome Great Barrier Reef by catamaran, to the tangled rain forest by Army Duck and to the aboriginal village of Karanga by antique mining railroad." Next they traveled by train, stopping in Brisbane, Sydney and Canberra and on to bitter, windy Melbourne (their winter).

Elaine Woody Walker continues her busy pace, having added to her full schedule of volunteer activities. She's now a trustee of her church and is serving on the Country Historical Trust. Along with being involved in the Garden Club and Colonial Dames she's spending a great deal of time in her most interesting and time-consuming activity, restoration of the old one-room, Port Tobacco schoolhouse, a project of retired teachers.

Barbara Wastcoat Carter and Chuck are looking forward to their annual March stay in Florida — to wait for spring (their winter in the Buffalo area started with a bang — in Pittsburgh, at their mid-January writing, "we're still waiting for the other shoe to fall"). The Carters and son David spent Christmas in Connecticut with Barbara's brother and family.

Gwen Evans Wood and Bill have moved to Carlisle, Pa., where their address is 13 Hendel Loop, 17013.

My latest trip was in October when I could not resist British Air advertisements, particularly the bargain rates. By the time I reached London, that British weather we hear so much about had arrived — cold, damp, windy. However, I did see some good theater (Derek Jacobi in Becket) and other galleries, and went to All Hallows Church where I sat in a pew occupied by a woman and her dog, Rupert, a handsome whippet, who yawned audibly during the singing and rested his head in my lap. The church is near the Tower and even has a special day for pets, although they are always welcome.

Now, please, let's hear from you. I'm not allowed to "make up" news.

41

Following the death of David Jones last fall, our class is without a class reporter and needs someone to write this column three times a year for the Alumni Gazette. It's a rewarding way to stay in touch with classmates and report on their activities. If you are interested, please contact Virginia Collins, Director of Alumni Communications, Society of the Alumni, P.O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100, telephone 804/221-1167.

David's daughter recently wrote the Alumni Office and expressed how much her father enjoyed serving as the Class of '41 reporter: "I remember when he was too weak to sit up in a chair without lying down for two hours afterwards, and he was still happily writing and phoning his class members as he took joy in hearing their voices and hearing their news and keeping in touch. He really loved people and this school."

The Greensboro News & Record carried an interesting feature on Carter Holbrook. After retiring from Carolina Container Co. in 1989, he started doing volunteer fund-raising for High Point University in North Carolina. He currently is raising money for the university's $5.5 million athletic and convocation center. In his spare time, the article mentioned that he also "toils in a sawdust-covered workshop behind his home, making crafts and furniture and, as he says, staying out of his wife's way. Or he draws pen-and-ink sketches from photographs."

43

Virginia Curtis Patterson
109 Northpoint Drive
Williamsburg, VA 23185

Greetings from the Gentle City. A written "voice" from the past arrived shortly after I had turned in the previous class news. Virginia Till Lemmon was our only female classmate to graduate from Marshall-Wythe. The year was 1947. She served as Marshall-Wythe's first law librarian from the fall of 1947 until 1949. From there Virginia went to Columbia University to take an intensive course in law library administration. This led to work at the U.S. Supreme Court Library for a period of two and a half years.

During this time Virginia met and married Bill Lemmon, a tax attorney for the Treasury Department. They now have four grown children, so she decided to go back to Columbia, where she studied and earned her M.L.S. Virginia then went to Rutgers Law Library in Newark, N.J. Finally, she decided to retire and has made several interesting trips, including a safari in Kenya. She attended an institute for law librarians at Oxford University, which included a tour of the Bodeleian Library. We look forward to seeing Ginny and Bill on one of their trips back to campus.

Howard Smith is recovering from bypass surgery. I think the doctor and his staff had to wear rollerblades to catch Howard and get him to stay in bed or on a

CLASS OF 1942 PLANS 50TH REUNION

Members of the Class of 1942 are reminded of a special weekend—their 50th reunion celebration—being planned for May 8-10, 1992. The weekend promises to be a perfect time to remember the past and enjoy the present. Highlights include a welcome cocktail party, special campus tours, presentation of the class gift, a candlelight dinner/dance, induction into the Olde Guard and attending commencement exercises as a group, along with plenty of time throughout the weekend to visit with friends. Class members will receive invitations with reservation forms during March.

UNIQUE BIRTHDAY PARTY NETS LIBRARY FUNDS

A William and Mary history professor recently celebrated his 50th birthday by throwing a party to benefit the Earl Gregg Swem Library at William and Mary. The invitation to celebrate the birthday of James L. Axtell, Kenan Professor of History and Humanities, read: "Jim's mother has been saying for almost his whole half century that he has enough books, but the College library sorely needs more as it continues to operate with reduced funding. Friends and family are putting together a donation to the library to honor the birthday geezer. If you would like to join us in this celebratory furnishing of Jim's home-away-from-home, contributions may be sent to..." The unusual approach netted $1,650 for the purchase of new books for Swem.

NICOLAUS COPERNICUS UNIVERSITY HONORS WILLIAM MORRIS

William O. Morris Jr. '44, professor of law at the University of West Virginia Law Center in Morgantown, W.Va., is the recipient of an honorary degree from Nicolaus Copernicus University in Torun, Poland. The first American to be presented with this honor, Morris also received the Polish Medal of Merit and delivered the school's University Day address in February. Previously, Morris presented a series of lectures at the university and over the years has provided numerous books on the American legal system. Morris received his law degree from the University of Illinois in 1946.

gurney long enough for treatment. Relax, Howard, and get well real soon.

Y'all take care and send a note to send on to classmates.

45

Virginia Lee McAlinden
P.O. Box 6
Hopewell, NJ 08525

Once again, greetings from Central New Jersey! This letter is being written early in January, and my news is primarily from your Christmas messages for which I thank you.

I will start off on a somber note by offering the sympathy of all class members to Jeanie Boyle Herbert on the loss of her husband, Tom. We know it has been difficult, and we wish you well.

Ruth Weimer Tillar reports that she and Fran Loesch Brunner accepted the Annual Giving Award for Best Class Percentage Participation on behalf of our class at the Friday night Alumni Dinner Dance during last fall's Homecoming. The Tillars and Brunners shared a table with newly elected Alumni Society board member Sunny Trumbo Williams '44 and Rolf Ruth and Cato spent Saturday evening with Jeanne Schoenewolf Preston and Page, Joan Parker Flint and John, also Jean Boyd Lacy '44 and Ben, and Lois Spratley Donald '44 and Doug at a beautiful party at the Donalds' lovely Williamsburg home.

Later in October Ruth met Jeanne and Audrey Hudgins Thompson for lunch in Williamsburg. Audrey and Buck were visiting in Virginia from Orlando, Fla.

In early November, while having lunch at the Country Club of Virginia, Ruth had a surprise visit with Lee Ann Avery Merrifield who was staying with her sister in Richmond and who was returning to Houston the next day.

The Prestons and Tillars got together in September after the Prestons had visited their son Bill and his family in Florida. Ruth also wrote that Cato is dedicated to golf these days and that she continues to be busy with all of her activities.

Martha Macklin Smith, our former secretary who served for so long and so well, attended her 50th high school class reunion not long after our 45th and found it not nearly so much fun as ours. Martha reports that 1991 was largely uneventful. She made lots of little trips, mostly to golf tournaments and won some prizes.

Very soon after my last deadline, I received a long letter from Edie McChesney Ker, too late to be included. I saved Edie's letter and early in December I received another.

In her first letter Edie wrote of a visit to Mary Ellen MacLean Hall in Albany, N.Y. They had seen the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown and also the Farmer's Museum there, as well as attended an open rehearsal of the Boston Symphony at Tanglewood with Peter Serkin as soloist.

Edie's big trip last year was a two-week cruise around the British Isles on Special Expeditions' small ship, Polaris. There were lectures by naturalists and an archaeologist and lots of shore visits. They were to board the Polaris at Dartmouth and traveled there by launch. En route to Dartmouth they encountered Force 7-9 gale winds and had to seek shelter a couple of times in calm harbors while the storm raged at sea. They had to travel part of the time with an alternative itinerary which included a visit to Waterford in Ireland an Irish fishing village and some of the Ring of Kerry and Killarney. Other visits included the Aran Islands, Iona off Scotland, St. Kilda, gardens on the Scottish mainland, the Orkneys, southern Shetlands, Fair Isle and the Isle of May.

Edie also traveled to Buffalo and in Canada to Toronto and Stratford, where she attended a superb production of Much Ado About Nothing. In November she and a cousin journeyed to Patagonia on a trip sponsored by the DuPont Country Club. The trip included a visit to Ushuaia, the most southern city in the world. Edie also manages a number of volunteer activities.

Mary Jane Chamberlain Howard and Vaughan visited Rachel Lyne Jorgenson and Bill during the fall. The Howards stopped for lunch at Edie's home and then all continued on to the Jorgensons' where they spent the night.

Lee Dorman also wrote me too late for his news to be included in my fall letter. Lee sold his automotive parts manufacturing business 11 years ago and retired to Naples, Fla. His hobbies are golf and boating.

Lee and his family summered at Walloon Lake, Mich., for about 25 years so that is really now "home." He and his wife turned over their home in Cincinnati to their eldest daughter, Lois Dorman Smith '68. Their youngest daughter, Leanne Dorman Kurland graduated from W&M in '75. Adria Dorman Herrmann, their middle daughter, graduated from the University of Kentucky in 1970. Her daughter, Christine, is now there. Lois' daughter, Sarah Ainslee, is a freshmen at Auburn. Lee also wrote that he sees George Blanford '43 and Nancy from time to time during the Dormans' annual treks to and from Naples.

Charley Harrington is enjoying retirement. Travel during the year included a trip to Yucatan in March with a University of Central Florida group out of Orlando and a week in Atlanta visiting an old friend and attending a Georgia literacy conference. Then a 10-day watercolor workshop at Ghost Ranch in the Chama Valley northeast of Santa Fe in August, an Elderhostel in Olympic National Park in Washington State. Charley spent Thanksgiving in La Plata, Md., close to D.C., and Christmas in Miami with his brother Fred and his wife Eoline.

Charley represented Louisiana in planning a regional National Audubon Society conference on population, held in Austin in September and took part in a one-week lobbying workshop which the National Audubon Society conducted in D.C. He keeps busy with an impressive number of volunteer activities.

Bill Fazell left W&M in June 1943 when the V-12 was called up. After the war he finished with a B.S. in civil engineering at the University of Colorado. Since graduation he has worked in the aviation industry, spending 35 years with Douglas Aircraft in Los Angeles where he manages the Airport Compatibility Group. Bill plans to retire in 1992, hoping to work part time as a consultant. He has been married for 45 years and has two children and one grandchild.

Dot Johnson Blom and John stopped overnight with Mary Jane Chamberlain Howard and Vaughan at their beautiful farm in Beaver Dam, Va., on their way to a wedding at the Wake Forest University Chapel. While looking through Mary Jane's college scrapbook the evening of Sept. 28, 1991, they found an invitation to President Bryan's freshman reception which was held Sept. 28, 1941!

Mary Schafhirt Barnes and Jack spent 51 days during the fall cruising around South America on the Regent Sea. They also traveled on the same ship in April from San Juan, Puerto Rico, to L.A. In June and July, Mary and Jack were away for six weeks attending Mary's 50th reunion from Wilson High in D.C., then went on to France and Spain. Other trips and destinations included visits to family in Ashland, Ore.; D.C. again; and San Antonio.

Jean Clark Ford and Virgil '43 live in Brockton, Mass., where Virgil is minister of music at the Central Methodist Church. Jean recalled hearing President Roosevelt's announcement that we were at war over the PA system in the dining hall freshman year. I am sure that most of us can still recall just what we were doing at that time. Virgil entered the Air Force after graduation. He received his commission as a lieutenant pilot and came to Williamsburg for our graduation. Virgil and Jean were married the evening before graduation in Wren Chapel. They lived in the Norfolk, Virginia Beach and Williamsburg areas for the first 43 years of their marriage, then moved to Massachusetts to be near their family. Their son David Ford was in W&M's class of '72 and now lives in San Francisco. Their daughter Donna and her family live in New London, Conn., and their elder son, a U.Va. alumnus, lives near Boston.

Slizie Jones Price, who designs and paints her beautiful Christmas cards, had a foot operation which kept her off her feet for seven months. The cast came off in time for Christmas. Slizie and Tom have 10 grandchildren who keep them busy. Slizie had seen Doris Brandt Bauer '46.

I was pleased to receive a card from Raymond Pearson who transferred from Hampden-Sydney in 1942, served in the Navy for three years, and graduated from W&M in 1947.

Kay Johnson Selton and Bob also spent time traveling. Their first trip in '91 was to California, including Carmel and Monterey, then on to Alaska for their annual trip there, which included a stay at Kulik Lodge in the Katmai. The Seltens flew around in bush planes photographing bears, fishing and rainbow and lake trout, and checked out some gold mines off the beaten path near Denali. In the fall they flew to Montana and drove to Glacier National Park, Calgary, Banff and Lake Louise, and returned to Kalispel. Kay and Bob celebrated Christmas with their entire family.

Sunny Manewal Murray Connor spent Christmas with daughter Leslie and family in North Carolina.

Jean Huber Nascimbene and Lee journeyed back east from Indiana for Christmas and stayed with old friends in New Jersey where they formerly lived.

Ruth Brooks Roth and George had Christmas with their Roanoke daughter and her family. Ruth and George share a home with a cat or two as does your secretary. She mentioned "cat-proofing" the Christmas tree, which sounds familiar.

Thanks to Jack Carter's '44 efficient and helpful secretary, I can report that Jack Fields and his wife Mary of Rochester, N.Y., were planning to live aboard their sailboat from mid-January to April, homeport, Fort Myers, Fla. Jack has another boat for use on Lake Ontario and the Thousand Islands part of the St. Lawrence River. Jack Carter and Joan hoped to see the Fields' during the winter. Jack Fields began college with our class, went into the V-12, and finished at Columbia with an engineering degree.

Bill Klein and Jimmy Ransome were featured in a story in the Richmond Times-Dispatch of Sunday, Sept. 3, 1991, with the title, "The Class of '41." The class referred to were both the classes of Thomas Jefferson and John Marshall high schools who were planning a joint reception.

Willie Anne Boschen Wright and Jack attended the wedding of their son Hank in Black Butte in the Cascades in Oregon. Hank and his wife Signe graduated as physician's associates and are now both working in Chapel Hill. Their son John Jr. lives in central New Jersey not far from your class reporter. Following Hank's wedding Willie Anne and Jack drove around northwestern Oregon, including the Columbia River Gorge and along the Pacific Coast, then flew to Montana and visited the Little Big Horn battlefield. Willie Anne fired away with her pinhole camera there and in Wyoming. The Wrights also traveled to Charleston and Beaufort, S.C. Holiday festivities included a reunion of their three children and families on Dec. 26. Both Willie Anne and Jack managed to come down with the flu.

Willie Anne reports that she has continued to be heavily involved with pinhole photography. During 1991 the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts acquired five of her photos — four of them are part of her "Civil War Redux" series. Two shows of that series are scheduled — one in '92 and one in '93. Your class reporter discovered that Willie Anne is included in Macmillan's Biographical Encyclopedia of Photographic Artists & Innovators, along with a large group of leaders in the field.

Ginger Prickett Cage celebrated the holidays with five of her six children, plus three spouses and 12 grandchildren, all at her home. In November she visited her eldest son and family in Alaska and attended a grandson's wedding.

Your class reporter is in the midst of making changes in her life. She was divorced in January and will be moving to the Sarasota-Bradenton area in Florida. She was given a farewell party at the Nassau Club in Princeton in January. Among the guests were Betty Wilcox D'Agostino, Flosse Metius Johnson and

Advance Orders Being Accepted for Tercentenary Book

TRADITIONS, MYTHS & MEMORIES
1693 · 1993
CELEBRATING THE TERCENTENARY
OF
THE COLLEGE OF WILLIAM & MARY

The Society of the Alumni will publish a special full-color, large-format commemorative book titled Traditions, Myths & Memories in connection with the College's Tercentenary, which will be celebrated in 1993. Beautiful as well as informative, the book will recall special stories associated with William and Mary's history, including memories provided by alumni.

For your convenience and to ensure that you receive a copy of this limited edition book, two payment options are available now.

In the first payment option, advance orders fully paid by check or credit card by June 1, 1992, will receive a $5 discount off the regular $35 price. Each order must include $3.75 for shipping and handling, and Virginia residents must add $1.35 sales tax. To take advantage of the discounted price, send your check made payable to Society of the Alumni to: Traditions, Myths & Memories, Society of the Alumni Gift Shop, P. O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100, or call 804/221-1170. Credit card orders must include the card number, expiration date and a signature.

In the second payment option, individuals who do not choose to take advantage of the early discount offer may nevertheless reserve a copy by paying $17.50 now (half of the total $35 price). Each order must include $3.75 for shipping and handling, and Virginia residents must add $1.58 for sales tax. The remaining $17.50 will be billed when your copy of the book is shipped in the fall. Send your order to the address listed above.

Any remaining copies available in the fall will sell for $35 each plus applicable tax and shipping charges.

BOTETOURT AFFAIR RAISES $38,000 FOR ATHLETICS

The third annual Lord Botetourt Affair, sponsored by the Athletic Educational Foundation to support grants-in-aid for William and Mary student athletes, raised $38,000. Held in the Botetourt Gallery of Earl Gregg Swem Library in February, the black-tie auction attracted 215 alumni and friends of the College who bid on donated merchandise. Nancy Wonnell Mathews '76, pictured in the accompanying photo with her husband Hal and "Lord Botetourt," chaired this year's function.

GRIMSLEY PROMOTED TO CHAIR OF EDITORIAL BOARD

Edward Grimsley '51 will assume the position of chair of the editorial board of the expanded Richmond Times-Dispatch when the Richmond News Leader and the Times-Dispatch merge into one organization in June. Editor of the Times-Dispatch editorial page since 1970, Grimsley formerly worked for the newspaper as a reporter and columnist for 17 years. Prior to his affiliation with the Times-Dispatch, he was a Richmond correspondent for United Press International and worked as public information director at the College. Grimsley and the newly appointed editor of the editorial page, Ross Mackenzie, will be responsible for the development of the expanded editorial section.

Dwight, and Marion Lang Van Dam and Ted. In November, Betty and I attended a concert by the Tommy Dorsey Orchestra, now led by Buddy Morrow, at the Peddie School in Highstown, N.J., and enjoyed a large number of our old favorites.

Big plans are afoot for the College's 300th anniversary in 1993, including the biggest Homecoming year. This year, the Society of the Alumni is celebrating its own 150th birthday as well. Stay tuned.

Please keep those cards and letters coming. My next deadline is April 10 for the June issue.

47

Mel Wright
Route 1, Box 1504
Kilmarnock, VA 22482

As I write this, Carol and I just attended weddings in New Jersey; Newport, R.I.; and Cincinnati. We spent last weekend at W&M and the prior weekend at my Bomber Crew (B-17) reunion in San Antonio. Loved it there and will return on a Time Share or Elderhostel.

I wrote two of my old retired F.B.I. friends, and I guess they will call collect. Four of us entered, in August of 1947, and Henry Schutz, Wink Jester and Garnett Tunstall retired, but I "bailed" out to stay in California. I hope to see Henry and Betty soon, but would like carrier pigeon news from Jester and Tunstall. Remember, fellows, how amazed the other 50-plus new agents were that little old W&M had four in the class with other schools only having one agent each.

I attended the Urbana Seafood Festival (with the Hoitsmas) and there was Henry cooking clam cakes for the Gloucester Lions Club. The form-fitting apron was evidence that Henry was sampling his own and possibly Betty's cuisine. I liked your cooking form, Henry.

I had a nice note from Jane Smith. I saw her and Bill at the Sandy Kelly tennis tournament at Homecoming. Last spring I mentioned the ex-Camp Peary sailor who dated a W&M coed named Barthold. (We were on the same cruise ship.) Seems Andrey Barthold Voyles of Bethlehem, Pa., was Jane's roommate, and my clipping is on her refrigerator door for her children to admire. Power of a W&M T-shirt!

The Sept. 8, 1991, issue of the Richmond Times-Dispatch had photos of Bill Klein and Jimmy Ransone taken recently and 50 years ago when Bill played for John Marshall High School and Jimmy for Thomas Jefferson High. Both attended W&M before World War II service. Bill returned to W&M while Jim went to Virginia Polytechnic Institute and optometry school. Bill finished a new home in White Stone, near here, and I wondered about all the brick. For a beginner, he did a good job. We had a local cement contractor do some work for us, and Bill was his instructor in Richmond.

I want to thank Dave Bucher for "inspecting" our roof framing — he lives up the road at Wicomico Church after a career of building homes in Richmond. Dave and Charlotte Seldon '49 have a beautiful retirement home which Dave built on the water. He went to John Marshall with Bill Klein. Dave, keep chlorine in the pool as Knox Ramsey might get tired of us next summer!

We attended the Delaware, Navy, James Madison, Richmond and Citadel games. Lots of memories at Annapolis as I "started" my first varsity game as a sophomore in 1942 (see the '45 yearbook) and W&M won:

3-0 on a Harvey Johnson field goal. Coach Voyles ordered our usual pregame meal of steak, lettuce, baked potato and hot tea. Out came mess boys with sterling trays of mashed potatoes, gravy, peas and other non-goodies. Coach Voyles said, "get the 'h' out of here as we won't lose the game in Bancroft Hall." We stayed with Patty Wattles and Ed Robie. Due to a pregame parking mix up, we found the two W&M party tents. Saw china in the first tent, and I knew it was the wrong one. Found the beer tent! Saw Snake Drake, George Heflin, Bill Rhodes, Boo Chappel, Margie Oakes Jolly and Bill and Jack and Charlotte Cloud. Jack had his huge College Hall of Fame ring on and what a pawn shop owner's delight. Jack earned it!

Carol and I played tennis at W&M on the Friday before the Delaware game. Played with Jean and Dennis Cogle '49, Penny '62 and Mickey '59 Simpson and Sunny Trumbo. Jane and Bill Smith coordinated the tennis and others playing or present were Martha and Buddy Lex, Marilyn and John Entwisle, Chuck and Barbara Riley, Helen Thompson and Harry Stinson. Millie West gave us racket "do-dads" to perfect control. Hope springs eternal! Saw Jim Macon, Henry Shook and the football team at the evening reception. Next day at the game we saw Bob and Mary Steckroth, Lucy and Bill Murphy and Betty Lu and Knox Ramsey.

At the Order of the White Jacket dinner during Homecoming weekend, we saw Don Ream, Tommy Martin, Surry and Bill Harrison, Hal King, Bobby Taylor, Joe Mark, Scotty Cunningham, George Hughes and George Heflin and Howard Smith (we were with the Hoitsmas). Wide variance on age, girth and hair among the attendees. Both Betty and Howard have overcome recent heart problems.

The Richmond game was "no contest"! Some of the Richmond people left at half-time when the score was 35-0. Sat with the Jane and Jack Freeman clan. Missed Bill Klein and Marvin "Gap" Graham, but did see the Bill Lucas', Henry Shooks', George Hughes and George Heflins. Crowd was smaller than usual, but it could have been the team records as the weather was beautiful.

Letters, letters! It's great to receive one letter, but two from the same person is even greater. Art Reisfeld '44 wrote twice. He lives in Roslyn Harbor, N.Y., and requested a copy of the newspaper article on Tex Warrington, which was in the October Gazette. Art mentioned that Tex was a wild left-handed pitcher and that he saw Tex play for Auburn in 1944 at Montgomery, Ala. Art should know about Tex's rising fastball as he was the catcher on the 1941 team. Art, I too was an Army Air Force pilot pre-flight cadet at Maxwell Field in Montgomery in early 1943. My old 1941 roommate, Tom Brown (played with the Steelers in '42), was there along with Joe Rego '48 and Dick Videto '46. Later missed Dick by three days in Italy in 1944 as he was shot down and killed in his P-51 while strafing a German ammunition train near Budapest. He couldn't open the canopy of his plane and went in with it. Returned to my base in Foggia and my v-mail letter to Pappy Fields was there marked Ad-dressee, Deceased.

Joe Rego is a retired civil engineer in Hudson, Mass., and sent me the October 1942 W&M-Harvard Football Program. Cost 25 cents. Such memories and great pictures! I remember the game and the 14-14 score. Some of the officials' calls were "somewhat different" as W&M wasn't about to win that game. The 1930 game was a 13-13 tie, so the 1993 game will be No. 3 and the Tie Breaker. Many thanks for the program, Joe. I will give it to the athletic department at W&M after "Coach" Don Ream looks at it. Dave Bucher was 22 on the game day according to the program! He had to be older.

Jack Hoey wrote and said it was the camera angle and not his jacket size that I commented on in the October issue. He only weighs 10 pounds more than his playing weight. Jack said he is excited about the April 1992 Bass-Tipton reunion and will be there. I was impressed with a brochure Jack sent of the Brothers' Brother Foundation, of which he is the chairman and CEO. The 1990 Money Magazine rates B.B.F. as No. 4 in the top 100 largest charities as to efficiency. Red Cross is No. 22.

Two letters from John Cocordas '49, who lives in Levittown, Pa. John was a freshman in '42 and was recruited by Pop Werner. He went into the Navy and played at University of Oklahoma in '43 and '44. Returned in '46 and wrecked his knee ending his football career. Loved the '42 team and the 3-0 win over Navy. Mentioned Basil Thompson's old gas station across from the stadium and how Knox Ramsey ate all of Basil's small cakes. P.S. Knox is my neighbor, likes food and is not undernourished. John comes to Williamsburg three or four times a year, looks for something of the past and is sad when he leaves. Call me on your next visit, John! Jay (Bird) Hardison wrote from Roanoke Rapids, N.C. He's a great W&M football fan and saw three games last fall.

Memories! Rainy football practice and going under the stadium with sawdust in your socks. Coach Voyles having us run plays in street clothes at the old Union Station in St. Louis in '42 on our way to play University of Oklahoma. Coach McCray telling the squad to back up and give me "R-O-M-(Room)"!

Christmas cards galore, and we love them. So nice to be near Williamsburg over the holidays with the Grand Illumination and all the activities. We rent a condo there to cut down on travel time.

Start courses in January at W&M under the Sir Christopher Wren Association for Lifelong Learning. Hope to see some familiar faces. We know Audrey Hoitsma will be there. She put us on the mailing list.

Being so close, our service to the school continues as Carol and I are the incoming secretary and president of the lower Northern Neck Alumni Chapter. We will serve with Austin Roberts III and Dr. Bill Bagley.

In February we head to Vicksburg and Gulfport, Miss., New Orleans and Wilmington, N.C., on Elderhostels (great) and Time Shares. Will be in England later on a bicycle tour. Have a great 1992 and write to Wright.

49

Alice Baxley Anthony
(Mrs. Charles Anthony)
53 Hickory Place
Livingston, NJ 07039

Thanks to those of you who answered my plea for news, I have something to report in this issue... I had a letter from Jim Macken who has been living in Vancouver, British Columbia, with his wife Maureen since 1951. Jim is now retired but is still an active tennis player. Last spring he was playing captain of Canada's Britannia Cup Team (those 65 and over) and traveled to Canberra, Australia, for competition. While there, he met Fred Kovalski who was representing the U.S.A. Although they hadn't seen each other since 1949, they recognized each other instantly and enjoyed a great reunion sharing many William and Mary memories. Jim would like to hear from class members by mail (7069 Cambie St. V6P3H2) or when passing through Vancouver.

I also received a letter from Woody Wayland who has retired from FMC Corp., where his last assignment was general manager of FMC Gold Company's Paradise Peak, Nevada gold and silver mining operation. His retirement was short-lived as he immediately entered public employment as commissioner of the West Virginia Department of Energy and has recently been promoted to special assistant to Governor Caperton. He's finding the work so dynamic that he's happy he didn't retire.

Sally Obitz Cannon is in Lawton, Okla., where she's an aerobic dance instructor, teaching more than 100 students in four classes. She enjoys playing in golf tournaments and is looking forward to playing at Camp Pendleton, Calif., this coming summer, where she expects to meet women from all over the world.

Elaine Campton Baker and Jim are continuing to enjoy the many pleasures that life in Williamsburg provides and have been active in alumni activities. Elaine has recently completed a term as president of the local William and Mary alumni chapter. She and Jim were involved last winter in the founding of a Williamsburg chapter of the Society of American Magicians.

Nat Allen is living in Leonia, N.J., where she's become active in the local chapter of the Philanthropic Educational Organization, which raises money for scholarships for U.S. and foreign women and encourages women to continue their education.

Mary Wilcox Rietman had a pleasant visit with Joan Stout Neighbors and her husband at their summer place near Charlottesville and also saw Jackie Freer Clark at the home of mutual friends.

Anne Williamson Hall and Dean made a trip in their RV across the southern part of the country from Tulare, Calif., where Dean recently retired as superintendent of schools. They have bought a retirement home in Bedford, Va., which they are working on but have taken time off from that project for other trips in their RV and plan to winter in it in Arizona.

Dot Detmer McLaughlin and Ben are enjoying life in New York City. She's working at H&R Block for a second tax season and is also doing volunteer work at Memorial Sloan-Kettering.

Keep those letters coming!

51

James W. Baker
510 Spring Trace
Williamsburg, VA 23188

Clyde N. Baker Jr. of Wilmette, Ill., who ran track and cross country at William and Mary, celebrated his 60th birthday by running 60 miles to raise funds for Alzheimer's research.

Clyde, who received his master's degree from MIT in civil engineering in 1954, is married to Jeannette Harcourt, a graduate of Earlham College in Richmond, Ind. They have three children and four grandchildren.

Clyde went to work for Soil Testing Services Inc. in Chicago in 1954 and has been there ever since. The firm is now called STS Consultants Ltd. and has a staff of 500. Clyde is technical chairman. "I have been fortunate to have been involved in most of the major downtown construction in Chicago since 1954," he says. In 1989, he was chosen as the Chicago Civil Engineer of the Year by the American Society of Civil Engineers.

He has just completed a year as chairman of the executive committee of the Geotechnical Engineering Division of the Society. During that year he made trips to Italy (twice) and to Chile to attend international conferences.

Nancy Barker Squire lives in Emporia, Va., the hometown of her husband, Peter Weaver Squire Sr., M.D. She and her husband went to Emporia shortly after graduation and stayed to raise a family of four sons, all married. The Squires have nine grandchildren.

Nancy says her time is now spent managing the couple's home and their Angus cattle farm. She is also serving her third four-year term on the Emporia City Council and is an elder at the First Presbyterian Church where she also serves on several committees.

Nancy, who transferred from W&M to Richmond Professional Institute, where she got a B.S. degree in nursing, says her nurs-

RETIREMENT DINNER FOR JOE AGEE '52

A retirement dinner for Joe Agee '52, professor of kinesiology at Williamsburg Mary, will be held at the Williamsburg Hilton on May 16, 1992. All alumni and friends of Agee, who will retire next June after 34 years on the faculty and 27 as men's golf coach, are invited to attend. For more information and to make reservations, call 804/221-3350.

CROW RECEIVES SCREENWRITING FELLOWSHIP

Peter M. Crow '64, editor and publisher with Sun Grove Co. Inc., has been presented with the Don and Gee Nicholl Fellowship in Screenwriting by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. One of five selected out of more than 3,500 applicants, Crow will complete a feature screenplay during the course of the fellowship year. Crow's manuscript is titled Trace. Crow currently is developing a sitcom titled SNIFF for Seine-Harbor Productions. Previously, Crow has worked as a television and newspaper reporter, covering topics ranging from numerous Space Shuttle launches to all national political conventions since 1976. He has reported for the Richmond Times-Dispatch and KSD-TV(now KSDK), St. Louis.

ing skills became rusty while she was raising her family. So several years ago she became a member of the local rescue squad where she serves as an officer and works every Monday.

Alan Fitzgerald of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., is president and chairman of the board of Aluminum Distribution Inc., a metal distributorship of 34 years. He is five years away from retirement. Alan and his wife, the former June Lee Garrenton '53, have two children, both of whom work for his company and are minority stockholders.

Alan says his present hobbies include hiking, camping, kayaking, biking, gardening, reading, boating and "hopefully, more travel, as time permits." In the past, he enjoyed flying, skin diving and scuba diving.

Imogene Prattle of Rock Springs, Wyo., wrote a brief note from Katmandu, Nepal, where she and a group of mountain climbers were making plans to hike on the slower slopes of Mount Everest. "One of the greatest thrills of my life," she wrote, "was taking a jeep to the top of a small mountain from where we watched the sun rise over Mount Everest."

Joe Benedetti of Richmond, a Republican state senator, received an award from two Italian-American organizations for his "lifetime achievements" in politics and public service, according to an article in The Richmond News Leader.

The award was made at a banquet at the Jefferson Hotel by Richmond's Giuseppe Verdi Lodge/Order of the Sons of Italy in America and the National Italian-American Foundation.

Evelyn Carr Fortna of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., lived on the West Coast from 1951 to 1958 where she worked as an associate chaplain to Episcopal students at the University of Washington in Seattle. She moved to New York City where she worked in schools and for the Diocese of New York and the National Council of the Episcopal Church.

In 1960 she married Robert T. Fortna. The couple moved to Poughkeepsie in 1963 and have lived there ever since except for five sabbatical years — three in Jerusalem and two in Southern Africa. The Fortnas have three grown children.

Evelyn worked as a preschool teacher and now is employed as a play therapist/family counselor in a preschool for children with special needs.

It was great to see so many of you at Homecoming last fall — our Big Four-Oh anniversary. I'm sure all of you who were there join me in offering three cheers to our class president, Jim Kelly, and his lovely wife, Bev '53, for all they did for us. Jim and Bev, it just couldn't have been any better. First class — all the way.

53 Barbara Jo Mott Woolston 1116 Talleyrand Road West Chester, PA 19382

Hello to everyone. I hope each of you had a delightful holiday.

The Philadelphia Alumni Chapter is planning an Admitted Students Reception this April and a Boathouse Row Party in May. If you would like to attend, I will have Chapter President Rob Fauber '77 contact you with information.

Thank you so much for your holiday cards and notes; it's not too late to drop me a line.

Bill Farley's card showed him in his role in Lend me a Tenor, in which he performed in Vermont. Chris '51 and Cadsie Forman Moe's card noted that Chris staged this same production, of course not in Vermont. He is welcoming his co-edited anthology, Eight Plays for Youth, now in print. The Moe's enjoyed a happy gathering at Jim '51 and Bev Simonton Kelly's home in Williamsburg during Chris's 40th class reunion last fall during Homecoming.

Jim and Barbara Schwartz Smith

hopefully have headed to Williamsburg by now. Jim retired in January and they are happily awaiting the sale of their home in Connecticut and the prospects of settling in familiar territory again.

Scott and Caroline Young Petrequin's holiday pictures of children and grandchildren were superb, as usual.

Dan and Emmy Ketterson Smith wrote from Durham, N.H. Emmy traveled again, this time to Wales on an interhostel trip. She enjoyed especially Tintern Abbey and many of the country's border castles. She and Dan still remain busier than ever with University of New Hampshire activities. They did find time to sing Mozart's Coronation Mass with the Seacoast Singers.

Bill and Ginny Campbell Furst spent holiday celebrations with their two children in Chicago. Somehow Jay and I hope to see them when we fly to Indiana to visit our son John and his wife. He is studying for the ministry there.

Ed '51 and Ginnie Gary Lupton had a good time at Ed's 40th reunion at the College, where he enjoyed the company of several ROTC summer camp friends. Sounds like '51 had a great turnout from all reports. Let's make ours even better in 1993. It's not that far away, so start planning now. You are the ones who make this column worth reading — please write to me.

55 Elaine Elias Kappel 104 Spring Forest Drive Pittsburgh, PA 15238

In March one's fancy turns to thoughts of spring and its joys. Please take a few minutes to reflect upon Santa, sleighs and the past holiday season as we share the gifts of Christmas card news from our classmates.

Helen Male Katze is extremely busy with a social worker case load of more than 100... she notes that "grannies are supposed to have unbound energy." Impending grandparenthood will occur in Helen's hospital! Daughter Nancy graduated from Iowa "with distinction" last May and is now at Syracuse working on her M.S.W. Son John had a fantastic spring semester in Cambridge, England, and is applying to grad schools to study geology. Daughter Margaret is still lawyering for Legal Aid. Helen also said she had a dream that she and I were chasing intruders on back stairs with golf clubs...reminded me of Ludwell days!

Elsa Stromberg Bandi and Fred are well and happy in Chicago. They fly to Fort Lauderdale every so often for some R&R.

Marge Willard Duer and Jack's card came from their new address. Marge, like a lot of others (ahem), was having a time of it getting it together for the holidays.

As always, Alison Sandlass Carr's artistic card was clever...on a bough of pine hung five gingerbread boys...their five grandsons! Al said she doesn't have much time for art anymore, but she did get to judge her first show and found it interesting and educational. Apparently in a previous column I predicted 22 grandchildren for the Carrs...Al says it "could be more truth than fiction!" Pat Sperb Waby and Dave sent a sleigh-full of good wishes for the holidays and 1992. Bunny Scheie Belford had a good year. She especially enjoyed Alumni College and attending her 40th high school reunion where she said she "surprisingly recognized and knew the names of almost everybody."

Joan Mattson said that this was her best year yet. She spent it being involved with her travel clubs, attending programs at the Academy of Music in Philadelphia and the local drama group and spoiling the neighborhood children...she enclosed a picture of herself and cousin Given.

Anne Meyer Steele and Jim noted that their family had grown by two this year...a granddaughter of Laura and Steve and a bride of son Mark. Daughter Jenny teaches and plays music and has three children while Becky is still working as a word processor. Anne and Jim spent three weeks in Scandinavia in June.

Yolanda Grant Harrell and Skip also attended Yo's 40th reunion in Norfolk and saw Bob Forrest and his wife Violet, Barbara Coogan Kledzik and Jane Kesler Upshur and husband Bill. The Children's Choirs at Yo's church were presenting a Christmas pageant Yo wrote for her Connecticut children a few years ago and she was anxiously awaiting their version.

Diane Broderick Hamilton and Will have retired to "the beautiful town of Ashland, Ore." They have an uninterrupted view across Bear Creek up to the Cascades and within walking distance of town. All four of their children are well and happy.

Florence Dehart Burne's grandchildren are 1, 2, 3 and 4 years old. The two boys who are 3 and 4 are in a Montessori school in Maryland and studying French...she says "grandmere is happy about that."

Anne Lunas Vincent and Jerry didn't get to Homecoming this year, what with one son living in the Washington, D.C., area and another in Atlanta and attending events such as niece Terry's wedding in Iowa. Anne took the International Child-birth Education Association written exam on December 12. It was the last step toward certification. In between a few rounds of golf, eating and touring during last fall's Homecoming, which I did attend, I checked the non-reunion board to see Milton J. Glasser, Darrell Wittkamp, Pete Freeauf, Bill Gatling, Bob and Sara Boyd's names listed...and I chatted briefly with Cynthia Kimbrough Barlowe.

Allan B. Roby Jr. of Simsbury, Conn., recently made a career change by accepting the newly created position for a life-health actuary in the state's Department of Insurance as the director of the life and health insurance division. An actuary and former CIGNA Corp. assistant vice president, Roby will be responsible for reviewing policy forms that insurers want to use and approving or rejecting rates they want to charge on individual policies, including Medicare supplement insurance. Roby is a fellow in the Society of Actuaries and has been involved in investment committees of the American Council of Life Insurance. Roby has participated in efforts to require insurers to maintain larger investment reserves which would serve to protect insurers from fluctuations in values of all types of investments, including real estate. After five weeks in his new position, Roby says he has found public service to be "both extremely stimulating and rewarding (as well as frustrating at times)."

In concluding I wish you would pretend that it is Christmas in July and send me a newsy card which I may share with our classmates. I'm waiting!

57 Lee Hammer Scott 1009 Regency Circle Penlynn, PA 19422

It has been a long time since my last letter, but that's due to the lack of news from all of you! I've had this job for 10 years now, and I really think somebody else should now take over. Does anyone out there hear me?

Mark your calendars — plans are underway for our 35th reunion on Oct. 15-18, 1992. Wayne and Janet Adams went to Williamsburg on Jan. 18 so Wayne and Gil Granger could attend the Reunion Planning Workshop sponsored by the Alumni Society.

Bill Armbruster, Jim Kaplan, Elaine Abbott Mook, Barbara Harding Hager, Wayne Adams, Gil Granger, Don Harris and Sue Jownee Lunsford have volunteered to help and I'm sure others of you will be asked. Let's all work to make this "A Class Act," which is the theme of this year's celebration.

Last September Jim and I drove to Richmond to attend the wedding of Bruce and Betsy Hathaway's son, Brantley — the most elegant affair I have ever attended. It was wonderful seeing our friends again, and believe me, Bruce gets younger every year. They had pictures of their new beach house. It looks fabulous.

In October we traveled to Texas to visit our Ken, who lives in Dallas, and Anne, who is in Houston. Our trip home was horrendous due to weather, and we ended up in Oklahoma City. Among other stranded travelers were Sue and Lowe Lunsford, trying to return to Houston from a business trip. We spent a wonderful half-hour catching up on 35 years and promising to keep in touch on our next trip to Houston.

Received a wonderful letter from Cara Smith Schefer '87 telling me of her marriage to Chuck Schefer '87, the son of Ed '57 and Fay Smith Schefer '56. The best man was another W&M graduate, Francis Schefer '85 M.B.A. The senior Schefers live in Westfield, N.J., when not enjoying their vacation home on Singer Island, Fla. Attending the wedding were Jim '57 and Jane Kaplan '56 — a real W&M gathering!

I received a Christmas card this year from Mac and Libby Craig Miller. I have known Libby since nursery school days in 1939! They now live in Baton Rouge where Mac is development director of Episcopal High School and Libby is the president's secretary at Olinde's furniture store.

Here's to the best in 1992.

59 Sollace Molineux Bommer 995 High Mountain Road Franklin Lakes, NJ 07417

Martha McCartney '59 is a free-lance historian living in York County and specializing in Virginia history. She has been commissioned by James City County to write a history of the area to be published in 1993. We'll be looking forward to the finished work.

Phyllis Garris Powers '59 is on an active W&M alumni board for the South Hampton Roads Center. They are looking for more members and would like to hear from anyone in the area. Phyllis lives at 2357 Hood Drive, Virginia Beach, 23457. Her son is in graduate school at the Naval Post and her daughter graduated last May from Radford.

Michael Colleton '60 and Bob Broglia '60 discovered last year at Homecoming that they have lived within three blocks of each other for the past 13 years. Since then they have become close friends — both having a wife named Maureen and both enjoying golf and gin rummy.

Peter and I were invited to a picnic last summer at the Broglia's where we met up with Gary Silver '69 and his wife Marsha Hoffman '61. Gary designs office space in N.Y.C., and Marsha has taught at Bard. (She looks like a coed still!) Marsha and Gary have two daughters — one living in San Francisco and one at home.

It was heard at a gathering that Bernie Goldstein '59 is in the New York Regional Counsel Office of the IRS. Many of us would like to know if that's true — so let us hear from you, Bernie.

Joe Ponie '59 is in Richmond, B.C., finishing up some education credits for his Canadian public school license. He's on the prowl for a new job if any of you know of openings.

Please keep the news coming.

WILLIAM AND MARY SCOREBOARD HAS NEW HOME

A relic from William and Mary's past has found a new home in Brooklyn, N.Y., thanks to the efforts of Robert S. Andrialis '65. After learning that the Parish of St. Martin of Tours had been forced to use funds previously earmarked for a new basketball scoreboard to pay for emergency roof repairs instead, Andrialis donated the authentic William and Mary scoreboard to the school. For years the scoreboard hung in Blow Gym. Prior to the renovation of the facility into office and classroom space, the scoreboard was donated to the Society of the Alumni for the 1990 New York Auction. Andrialis, a former William and Mary basketball player, was the high bidder at $800. The scoreboard was a conversation piece in his New York office for several months before going to its new home in Brooklyn.

61 Diana Titolo Alexander 6410 Forest Mill Lane Laurel, MD 20707

Hello again! There was something about Homecoming and seeing friends and classmates that didn't allow me to leave Williamsburg without signing up for another five years as class editor. There were so many people returning that I don't dare try to list them for fear of leaving someone out. As usual, the class of 1961 had a spectacular turnout — the largest 30th reunion yet!

I have changed careers in the past five years and am now the conference coordinator for the American Astronomical Society. I plan two meetings a year, which are held all over the country and of course that requires a lot of travel. If you're any where near the following cities, let me know and maybe we can get together: Columbus, Ohio; Phoenix; San Antonio; San Francisco; Madison, Wis.; Tucson, Ariz.; San Diego; and Boulder, Colo.

I just returned from a meeting in Atlanta where I spent a wonderful evening with Connie Quesenbury Fisher. Connie is director of the Office of Executive Programs in the business school at Emory University. After 30 years we still managed to talk until the wee hours of the morning.

Keep in touch. Let's keep this column active.

63 Judith Murdock Snook (Mrs. Donald Snook) 1029 Sanderling Circle Audubon, PA 19403

Dale Harris Cohen and Dick '61 spent two wonderful weeks in Israel in the fall and have plans to ski in Utah, Vermont and upstate New York this winter. Their two children are nearing the completion of their graduate degrees, Janice with an M.B.A. from Duke and Doug, a law degree.

Sally Siegenthaler Lichtenstein completed two years as president of the Rehab Center Auxiliary and will now continue involvement through writing and editing its newsletter. Sally went to Canada twice in the fall, once for hiking and vacationing and the other to see Phantom of the Opera in Toronto. Sally is enjoying the beauty of Mansfield, Ohio.

Pete Siegenthaler '61, Sally's brother, writes from Atlanta that all three of his sons are in Atlanta. Craig is a lawyer, Dave's a banker and John is at Georgia Tech.

Lee Williams McBride and her husband are finishing up a tour in Hong Kong. They'll be back in Washington next summer. Phil Albright '62 imports and sells Christmas trees in Hong Kong before returning for the rest of the year in the United States. Lee bought one of his trees — small world.

Rosemary Brewer Philips, Charlie and their son visited the McBrides in June. They also visited other Asian cities and came back via Hawaii during the eclipse. Lee had a fabulous trip along China's Silk Road last May from Xian to Kashgar. Her daughter Meg is at Connecticut College, and Kerry, their other daughter, is a State Department officer in Bamako, Mali.

At Thanksgiving we attended the wedding of Betsy (Liz) Holland Lunger and George Lunger's son. It was wonderful talking to Betsy and George, Betsy's parents and sister, Margaret Holland Knutson '64, who lives in DeWitt, Mich., plus George's sisters, and meeting the groom and bride. We really enjoyed sitting with and talking with Karen Harkavey Toker. Karen lives in Jacksonville, Fla., now with a very active pediatric practice.

Sherry Parrish Swan and Al just moved to Birmingham, Ala., this winter. Al changed banks and is now with American South. Sherry is still traveling all over the Southeast as a technical sales representative.

Jerry Van Voorhis, rector of Chatham

Hall, a girls' boarding and day school, went to Washington, D.C., in the fall to attend a series of meetings on current policy concerns, including education reform, tax policy and the economy. The occasion was the third Public Affairs Leadership Conference sponsored by the National Association of Independent Schools. Jerry has headed Chatham Hall for 10 years. He has taught and written in several areas, including modern presidential history and management, technology, bureaucracy, and corporate and defense affairs. He has chaired a national conference on trusteeship and fund raising for the Council for Advancement and Support of Education and helped launch the national Coalition for Girls Boarding Schools.

Diane Owen was a candidate for the commissioner's office in Williamsburg. Diane, who works in the Williamsburg treasurer's office as deputy treasurer, ran against the present commissioner of the revenue. She has also worked as an office manager of Binns Fashion Shop in Merchants Square and as a senior accountant for the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation.

Vi Sadlier Huse and Ron continue to work hard and enjoy their art gallery. They are both involved with the Ridgewood Arts Council which will sponsor its first arts festival in June. Their daughter graduated Phi Beta Kappa from Dartmouth and their son is presently studying forestry at the University of Vermont.

Rosemary Brewer Philips listed Thailand and Singapore as two of the countries they visited while in Asia. Charlie continues to officiate football at such places as Notre Dame, Penn State and Syracuse.

Susy Smith Carter and Warren teach young teens in Sunday School and serve as workers in the Jordan River Temple on Saturdays. They enjoyed the Utah Shakespearean Festival, Education Week at Brigham Young University last summer, missionary reunions in the spring and fall and seeing their daughters move out on their own; one works in Salt Lake City and the other attends Southern Utah University.

Martha Reynolds wrote to correct the college where she teaches. She has been teaching at the Chesapeake branch of Tidewater Community College for 17 years! She spent a week in Williamsburg at Old Dominion University's Summer Institute in June. She has had two poems accepted in SCETA, a Southern Community College journal. They appeared in the Spring 1991 issue.

I really enjoyed hearing from Jane Rothgeb Sears. Jane was at Homecoming and mentioned seeing Fran Newton Harwood and Glenn. She chatted with Ed Horton who is a pilot for American Airlines and lives in northern Virginia. She ran into Diana Titolo Alexander and Joy Cheatam, and Sam Sadler in sorority court. At the football game she talked at length to Judy Williams Cooter. Judy and Jane go way back — to junior high school. Judy and John Cooter '62 have two sons, one in med school. Judy is an interior designer. Jane and her husband had dinner with Jane Striker Bahn and Paul before returning to California. Jane hopes to return to Williamsburg for our 30th reunion and the College's 300th! I hope many of us have similar plans!

Floyd MacKenzie worked for an air-conditioning company, Carrier Corp., in Syracuse as a financial manager, then went to Bausch and Lomb in Rochester and was an assistant to the president for a division in Austin, Texas. Eventually Bausch and Lomb concentrated on its optical business and Floyd developed his own company, The Recorder Co., selling strip chart recorders and x-y recorders. He is located outside San Antonio. The company's products are sold worldwide with the majority of the business in the United States.

It was a pleasure to receive so many cards, notes and Christmas letters providing news for our column! Keep those letters coming!

SCOTT NAMED DEAN OF U.VA. LAW SCHOOL

Robert E. Scott '68 J.D. has been named dean of the School of Law at the University of Virginia, after serving as acting dean since last fall. A member of U.Va.'s law faculty since 1974, Scott previously was a professor at William and Mary and served as visiting professor at Columbia University School of Law during the 1987-88 academic year, where he was voted Faculty Member of the Year by the Columbia law students. He was appointed to U.Va.'s Center for Advanced Studies during 1988-90. Author of three books on contracts and commercial transactions, Scott has lectured on issues relating to his scholarship and is co-editor of an interdisciplinary journal, Research in Law and Economics. At William and Mary, he was editor-in-chief of the Law Review. Scott received two advanced law degrees from Michigan State University.

65 Susan Stevenson Landis 405 Lake Drive Daniels, WV 25832

Well, I did not need a larger mailbox to accommodate a flood of letters in response to my West Coast challenge! I was delighted to hear from Mary Erskine Jackson. Mary lives in Seattle and works on Bainbridge Island as a school counselor in a 500-student elementary school. She is doing lots of work with children experiencing divorce in their families and children who are affected by family drug or alcohol use. Mary's son Mike is a senior at Western Washington University, and Ben is a sophomore in high school. Kathy Wiese Astor was in Seattle for a conference and spent a day sightseeing with Mary. They also went to Tacoma and had lunch with Craig Carlson.

Martha Bean is in Santa Clara, Calif. She recently finished her Ph.D. in applied linguistics at the University of Southern California and is now an assistant professor in the department of linguistics and language development at San Jose State University. Martha is teaching a course in Intercultural Communication (no, that is not a required course for parents of teenagers). At Christmas, Martha visited with Jay Louise Weldon and Mike Wynne and their two sons, Brian and David. Their reunion was in New Jersey. Jay Louise is a consultant for a computer firm in Manhattan.

Jerry A. Wiseman attended the College and then went to East Tennessee State University, graduating in 1966 with a bachelor's degree in history and economics. He received an Air Force commission through Officer Training School and earned a master's in public administration from Golden State University in 1977. Air Force service has taken him to South Carolina, Okinawa, Korea, Texas, Virginia, Washington D.C. and Germany. Jerry assumed command of the 340th Technical Training Wing at Lowry Air Force Base in Colorado last August.

We all want to know what our classmates are doing — but seldom consider writing about our own news. Please take time to send a few lines. I particularly want to challenge our classmates who were members of the William and Mary Choir to send me an update.

67 Cathleen Crofoot Murphy 8422 Lakeshore Drive Chagrin Falls, OH 44022

I hope all of you are enjoying 1992 and anticipating our 25th reunion Oct. 15-18 (details forthcoming). Since my daughter transferred from the College to the University of Minnesota in the spring of 1990, I truly miss the trips to Williamsburg. Minneapolis is a beautiful city, but lacks the memories and old friends found in Williamsburg.

Ginny Dixon wrote last fall with news of future goings-on in her life. She returned to China in November (to Chonging in the southwestern part of the country) to conduct a management training program for the Carter Presidential Center's "Project Global 2000" for an audience of 82 provincial education officials from all regions of China. One especially exciting facet of the trip was bringing along her 11-year-old daughter, Cheryl, and her father, who was convinced that his 76-year-old arthritic knees still had one more good trip in them (until the next one comes along). Her daughter earned some of her spending money for the trip from selling fruits (approximately 140 of them) from Ginny's pomegranate tree which was planted when her house was built in 1925.

Leonora Owre wrote from College Station, Texas, where she is assistant principal of the Bryan Academy for the Visual and Performing Arts, the Bryan Independent School District's first magnet school serving third through fifth grades. Her son, Jack, is an eighth-grader at the Allen Academy, plays football takes karate, and enjoys all sports. She saw Gay Northway Green and husband Richard about two years ago when they were visiting Houston with their two sons. Their daughter, Laura, graduated from high school last year. Gay and her family live in Jordan.

I received a copy of an article about Ron Lovelace from a July 1991 issue of The News and Daily Advance in Lynchburg. Ron was elected to serve on the board of directors of the Greater Lynchburg Chamber of Commerce for the 1991-94 term. He was secretary-treasurer and a member of the board of Coleman-Adams Construction Inc. from 1978 through last June.

Joe Philpot was featured in a November article in the Martinsville Bulletin, which heralded his accomplishments in the banking industry. Joe is president of Crestar Bank in Martinsville. He and wife Carolyn have one son, Joey, who is a sophomore at Martinsville High School. He is a former president of the Radford Chamber of Commerce and Crestar Bank, Radford, and his hobbies include running, tennis, skiing and travel.

That's all the news for this issue. One of my hopes for this year is that some of the 95 percent of you who have never been included in our class column will take the time to send news to enlighten our classmates with even the most mundane morsels. I don't especially care to beg and scavenge for news, so please send a contribution... it's free except for a few minutes of your time.

69 Win Whitehurst 3200 Chamberlayne Ave. Richmond, VA 23227

Christmas has come and gone, but lots of nice notes arrived in the mail. Thanks to everyone who took time to drop me a line.

Phyllis Kline Appler takes the honors again this year with her Christmas in July, which arrived in September, I believe. She is teaching biology in New Hampshire, where Dave '68, is an optometrist. They have two high-school-aged children who are involved in sports and theater while Phyllis and Dave are very active in scouting and their church. Phyllis was named New Hampshire Juniors Outstanding Clubwoman for 1991 and is serving on the Christa McAuliffe Planetarium/Microcosmos committee to plan new programs dealing with microspace, rather than outerspace. She also took a biotechnology course last summer.

Carol Hamersen Garrard, her husband John and two daughters have returned to Arizona after a sabbatical at Oxford University. While they were in Europe they managed two trips to Russia — just before the August coup — and worked on two books which will be published in '93 and '94. They enjoyed life at Oxford and seeing the "real" England, but were glad to get back to the States. John has returned to teaching at the University of Arizona, and Carol to writing and research.

Woody Lookabill wrote me on Election Day as he was being elected to another term as county clerk of Pulaski County. Congrats, Woody. This summer he, his wife and daughter traveled to Boston where he discovered that you CAN get off the MTA — after seeing all the good sights. He talked to Charlie and Marilyn Kron Dent. Charlie is in the radio business and loves provincial education officials from all regions of China. One especially exciting facet of the trip was bringing along her 11-year-old daughter, Cheryl, and her father, who was convinced that his 76-year-old arthritic knees still had one more good trip in them

25th Reunion

SENIOR RECEIVES ROTARY HONOR

Douglas Stambler, a senior history major at William and Mary, has been selected as a recipient of a Rotary International Ambassadorial Scholarship for the 1992-93 academic year. He was sponsored by the Williamsburg Rotary Club and will take graduate courses in history, Spanish, music and art at the University of Salamanca in Spain. The Rotary International program is aimed at world understanding and peace through international and educational programs.

New England. They have a daughter Jenny who is nearly grown.

Katy Walline Brumfield kindly sent me Chris Sherman's address. He is food editor of a Florida newspaper. Katy is a Montessori teacher and does some speech pathology therapy on the side. Her husband Gary has been promoted at Colonial Williamsburg to museum administration (he was the master gunsmith), and son Aaron is now in the eighth grade, playing the drum and volleyball. Thanks for the info, Katy.

John Lowry send me a nice letter after Homecoming. He and Nancy have an 1880 house in the suburbs of Charlottesville, which they are restoring. John has passed his branch manager's exam with the NY Stock Exchange and is with Wheat, First. Their eldest son is a graduate of W&M (ouch!) and now a student at the Medical College of Virginia. Their second son is at U. Va., and their daughter is a high school senior.

I had a nice note from Jack and Jeanne Forrer McPherson. They own a mail order business specializing in military books, insignia, music and miscellaneous. They live on the edge of the Ouachita National Forest with two dogs and a cat. After graduation and Vietnam, Jack got his M.B.A. at Virginia Commonwealth University and they moved to Houston, where Jeanne worked on a master's in library science. In '81 they moved to "the country" and have loved it. They are active in the Sierra Club and other groups trying to protect the forests of the U.S. They would like to locate Robert Pollard — last known at APO San Francisco.

Susie Smith Stewart and husband Ron '70 are living back in Williamsburg, while Ron is stationed at Fort Monroe for one year. She is teaching at Walsingham ... again! and their kids are half-grown. Megan is a sophomore and Andy is in the seventh grade. Ron expects to be transferred next year, but they are already planning to "retire" to Williamsburg in a few years.

Carrington Sally Baker is back at work full time as a prosecutor in Florence, S.C. She is also president of the Junior League this year and chair of the board of her daughter's school. Meggie is in the third grade and active in all the normal kid's stuff.

Ellen Cooper Mathena has had an exciting year with her son making the V.P.I. football team as a walk-on and ending up playing on TV — twice! Daughter Amy is in high school, involved in sports and driving! Ellen continues to work part time at Tech and does a lot of volunteer work. Randy's business continues to thrive, even in the poor economy.

John and Ginny Nitol Matish '70 have a house full of teen-age daughters. Beth goes to U.Va. next fall and spent a month at Governor's School last summer, Joanna is a cheerleader at Great Bridge High, and Katie is involved with the yearbook. John stays busy with golf and racquetball when he can, and Ginny coaches tennis.

Jake '66 and Ginger Graef Smith are in Poquoson, where Jack has been re-

JAMES HOWARD '42 DONATES $108,000

James E. Howard '42 of Richmond has made a gift of $108,000 to the College as part of the Campaign for the Fourth Century. Howard's gift will establish an endowment that will provide a scholarship for a student-athlete on the varsity football team. John Randolph '64 commented, "Jimmie Howard has been a loyal supporter of William and Mary athletics for many years. We are very grateful for this wonderful gift from one of our outstanding former football players."

ected commonwealth's attorney. Ginger is a reading specialist at one of the elementary schools, and likes her new routine. The girls are in seventh and fifth grade and involved in everything. In their spare time they all sail, and are planning to run away to the islands with Milton and me when we get old!

Janet Berglund is working a killer schedule with the Department of Defense. She has been traveling every other week to a different installation to evaluate automated accounting systems for the last six months.

Quentin Van Meter and his wife, Kathy Clark '68, started my year off with a nice letter. Quentin has just retired from the Navy where he served as a pediatrician for 20 years. His last assignment was as chairman of the department and director of the Residency Program at the Oakland, Calif., Naval Hospital. They have now moved to the Atlanta area where he practices at Fayette Medical Center and holds a clinical faculty position in the pediatrics department of Emory University. Quentin does both general pediatrics and pediatric endocrinology. They have four children — ages 16 to 4. They hope to be able to see more of the Burg and old friends now that they are back on the East Coast.

Milton and I have had a nice few months. We took a vacation over Thanksgiving and went diving off Bimini. We're already making plans for a return visit in August. My new job seems less "new" now, as I approach the end of the first full year.

So, come on down, and let's make a deal! Let's locate the following: Danny Fore, Steve Jaggard, Jaqui Engle Long, Catherine Renfro, Barbara Sickles and John Weaver. And let's hear from: Pat Woody Belshe, Dave Daugherty, Keith Hamack, Marianne Brittingham-Fay, Edward Ritchie Jr., Judy Algatt Singleton, Bobbie Grove Thoman and Natalie Hill Zung.

I hope 1992 will be a happy, healthy year for you all!

71 R. Craig Windham
P.O. Box 9506
Washington, DC 20016

Our 20th Reunion was stupendous, but what do you expect from a class that includes a federal judge, a mohawk-coiffed massage therapist, and a "white [good] witch"? The festivities began with a party at the community clubhouse near Will and Pat Hausman's home (which was crawling with classmates all weekend). Will did an excellent job making all the arrangements for the weekend, and he managed to enjoy himself despite minor crises such as missing keg taps and hassles from certain authority figures. (He has now settled into a more sedate routine as chair of the economics department at the College.)

Saturday was sunny, mild and beautiful. Some stalwart 71ers got up in time for the Alumni Run and the Homecoming Parade. Even more were spotted at the game, which turned out to be the quietest on record after the PA system gave up the ghost while your reporter was announcing the pre-game show.

Our post-game Lake Matoaka bash was better than ever. There was even a special mystery guest: former class president Brian Festa, making his first-ever appearance at a reunion event. Festa is teaching math at an inner-city school in New Haven, Conn., and his hobbies (according to his wife) are "sales and bargains." But he hasn't lost his flair for politics. He was recently elected to his fourth term on the town council on the strength of slogans like "When Better Festas are Built, Festa Will Build Them" and "I Promise a Better Brand of Salsa." A man of his word, he carried in his pocket "the world's hottest red pepper."

The hot news story at reunion time was the Clarence Thomas controversy. My spies tell me that our very own Federal Judge

SHAKESPEARE FESTIVAL SCHEDULED FOR JULY 3-26

The 14th season of the Virginia Shakespeare Festival will open in Phi Beta Kappa Hall at William and Mary on July 3 with a performance of "Two Gentlemen from Verona," which will alternate with "Macbeth" through July 26. "Macbeth" will be directed by J. H. Crouch, founding director of the Colorado Shakespeare Festival and veteran director of the Oregon Shakespearean Festival. Jerry H. Bledsoe of the theatre faculty and executive director of the Virginia Shakespeare Festival, will direct "Two Gentlemen from Verona." Tickets, which are $10, may be purchased from the Virginia Shakespeare Festival Box Office, Phi Beta Kappa Hall, College of William and Mary, P.O. Box 8795, Williamsburg, VA 23187-8795.

Rebecca Beach Smith seemed concerned by the fact that Thomas had relatively little judicial experience. In fact, she has plenty herself, so why not a classmate on the high court some day? "I wouldn't turn it down if offered."

Jamie Cowles's platinum blond mohawk attracted a lot of attention. He has a thriving sports massage practice in Madison, Wis., and he's trying somehow to wangle his way to the summer Olympics in Barcelona.

Another free spirit from Cheddar-land and one of the stars of the reunion — was Selena Suzanne Marie Bissett Carpenter Fox (she's Selena Fox to Time and NBC, but we'll still call her Suzanne). She has become nationally prominent as a counselor, spiritual guide and one-time "white witch" who has been quoted in stories on everything from the new age harmonic convergence to Halloween (the Wall Street Journal ran one of those neat little etchings of her on the front page). But success has not spoiled Suzanne. Her aura was so blissful that she even managed to cancel out some of the negative Karma thrown off by the few chain-smoking Type A classmates who showed up.

Speaking of smoke, there was a minor ruckus at the Class Dance when some campus police officers thought they might have sniffed unique herbal aromas in the nearby hallway, but the matter was settled quietly, and the dance was a huge success.

Among the folks on hand: Susie Goodband, who is working for the Folkway Foundation, a non-profit corporation for the arts which operates a coffee house in Peterborough, N.H. Lyle Rosbotham is working for the new National Geographic Traveller magazine.

Working for the Commonwealth and digging it is Cathy Slusser, who is Virginia's official archaeologist. She says she's "having a ball in spite of all the budget cutbacks." One of her current projects is helping excavate a recently discovered 1620s colonial site called "Jordan's Journey." Unearthed so far: fabric, armor and chain mail.

Grayson Pannell and her husband Peter have a family medical practice in a different Williamsburg (Massachusetts). Peter is the doctor, and Grayson takes care of business. I ran into Grayson, Peter and their girls this winter on St. John in the U.S. Virgin Islands. We were all at an idyllic camping resort called Maho Bay (the upcoming movie Columbus was being filmed nearby, so we got to watch the Nina, the Pinta and the Santa Maria sailing around in the turquoise waters). Grayson had trained her daughters to run and fetch boxes of Ben & Jerry's Peace Pops when the midday sun would get too intense.

More on the reunion crowd next time. Drop me a line if you have a chance, and have a great spring.

P.S. from the Class of '72: We heard you had a great 20th reunion and we'd like to repeat such success. Join us this fall in our activities — Friday mixer, Matoaka barbecue and great dance at the Campus Center. The dates of Homecoming are Oct. 15-18. We'd love to see you too!

73 Jay A. Gsell
2007 Edgebrook Drive
Marshalltown, IA 50158

Friends, Romans and Classmates. It's 1992 and how many of your New Year's resolutions have you been able to keep so far?

Thanks to a "minor" investment glitch in California and a tad bit of fraud, Marshalltown is in rather dire financial straits along with 88 other units of government in Iowa and governments in 10 other states. Nevertheless, our son is anticipating high school graduation in May and our daughter is attempting to master the alto sax (ala Lisa Simpson). Ann Marie is in a Neil Simon play at a local dinner theatre, so at least their three lives have some sense of normalcy.

Ellen S. Mayo, now a science teacher at Douglas Freeman High School in Henrico County, recently received an NSC Presidential Award for Excellence in math and science (one of only 12 in Virginia for 1991). After W&M and a few lab jobs and a stint as a teacher in the late '70s, Ellen took some time to start a family — sons Scott, 12, and Lee, 10, who are now full-time students. In the mid '90s Ellen, armed with a master's from Virginia Commonwealth University, went back to the classroom and joined her language teacher husband Bob, her high school sweetheart, at their alma mater. There may be a Ph.D. in Ellen's future if she ever has any spare time after also coaching the school's academic quiz team.

Also in Virginia, Stan Vosper Jr., now an independent real estate broker in Alexandria, has taken a shot at the 30th District State Senate seat. Stan's uphill battle in the political arena follows a tour of duty in Hollywood as a screenwriter and a homebuilder/realtor in Colorado. As this column obviously is appearing after the election and I have no connection to voter tabs, I can only assume that Stan, his wife Aimee and 3-year-old son John are prospering and possibly arranging a political schedule for Richmond.

Two more Virginia-based alums, Mary Timmons Onderonk and Douglas Sankey were recently in the news. Mary collaborated with Martha Robinson '70 on a restaurant guide for the Hampton Roads area, titled Palate Pleasures. More than 150 eating establishments are mentioned. Mary's full-time pursuit is as the dining editor for Portfolio magazine in Virginia Beach. Doug, senior vice president of Banque National de Paris, participated in a W&M Graduate School of Business panel in October, on the future of banking and business.

Bobbi Miller Baca and her husband Jim are comfortably ensconced in Albuquerque, N.M. (3128 La Mancha N.W., 87104). Bobbi landed there right after graduation and got into more schooling in planning and architecture and then a second degree in civil engineering.

Son Justin, now 11, and daughter, Noelle, 6, are both in school full time, which helps out since Mom is the assistant forest engineer in the Santa Fe National Forest with the U.S. Forest Service — lots of mountain and trail time. Jim is the commissioner of public lands for the state, so obviously the outdoors and nature are in their blood. It must be tough to live where the sun shines 300 days per year, but Bobbi does hanker for the change of seasons and, we hope, Homecoming 1993 in the Burg.

Thank God for Christmas cards. Pete Dowd in Cincinnati has taken up running again, so he can keep up with wife Kathy's superior skills and passing shots on the tennis court. Daughters Erin and Katey are in 4th and 1st grades respectively. Another erstwhile trackster, Steve Snyder, and wife Beverly and three daughters have a new "country" address in Pennsylvania (2700 Schoolhouse Road, Middletown, 17057). Coincidentally, Pete and Kathy used to live on Schoolhouse Road, but in the Cincy area.

Margaret Ann Dahlman Martin and husband Ron '74 are charter members of a new North Carolina alumni chapter-Triad — along with Julie Christian Michael and Howie '71, another All American W&M runner, Charles Strode '72, ex-pole vaulter, and Steve Huebner '75 hospital administrator, Yankee fan and ex-thinlad. Ron is now running the sidelines as a soccer and basketball coach when Wrangler-Blue Bell gives him a free moment. Margaret Ann is teaching childbirth classes in the local hospital and gets her exercise horseback riding. Another ex-runner, Steve Noll '74, is now armed with Ph.D. and travel plans to Europe this spring to deliver a research paper. Wife Bev and kids Jody and Amanda hopefully helped Dad cheer on the home team Florida Gators

Reach 62,000
William and Mary Alumni, Parents and Friends
just like you.
Advertise in the William and Mary Magazine.
Call Charlie Kendrick
804/221-1170

CORPORATE CITIZEN AWARD

As he prepared to leave William and Mary for the presidency of the American Automobile Association, President Verkuil accepted one final and seemingly appropriate award: the Corporate Citizen Award from the Williamsburg Chamber of Commerce. Donald G. Pons '61, chamber president, presented the award to Verkuil and the College by saying that "The College and its graduates have significantly influenced the quality of life our area enjoys." Verkuil told the chamber that "Our overall objective—to be a high quality but relatively small institution of broad dimensions—has been achieved." He said during his administration that the quality of the undergraduate program had been maintained and improved, while new programs helped create a stronger university. The chamber award recognizes major contributions to the community.

against Coach Holtz and the Fighting Irish on New Year's Day.

Finally, my last W&M contact for this version of "All the news that fits I'll print" was Jim Bigger '72, still holding down the fort in D.C.

Let's make 1992 a year to remember. Drop me a line, a fax (515-754-5717) or a videotape (we have three VCR's ready). It's only 21 months to Homecoming 1993 — our 20th and the College's 300th, so to speak. Peace.

P.S. from the Class of '72: Join us for our 20th Reunion during Homecoming Weekend Oct. 15-18. We've planned a Friday night mixer, a Matoaka barbecue and a Campus Center dance with a great band. We'd love to see you too!

75 Linda Cool Larson 1305 Lakeshore Drive Beaver Dam, WI 53916

Greetings, all! Dave and I just arrived home from the best vacation we've ever had (post-children), cruising in the Caribbean doing nothing but sunning, shopping and of course, eating every two hours. But this should not make anyone feel bad, because as I write this, the temperature is 4 with a windchill of 30 below, and spring won't be here until long after you read this.

Thanks to all of you who sent Christmas cards and notes. As usual, Darr and Susan Harrison Barshis win the award for "Most Creative Use of an Animal" with their "We fish you a Merry Christmas." The picture shows Darr and Susan and two tropical fish, all with Santa hats on, smiling for the camera. I'm not kidding! Susan has a new job in electrical sales with a distributor out of Richmond. Her specialty is electrical controls for the automation industry. Darr is still involved in a blossoming real estate appraisal business in Williamsburg and hopes foreclosure work will turn to sales contracts in '92.

Paige Auer Winck and husband Mike get the award for "Most Creative Use of Force" in their card. Picture 7-year-old Ryder, dressed in a tux. (But they couldn't make him smile!) Adam, 10, looks like He-Man, holding five enormous fish. Paige says, "You name it — we play it, ride it, fish for it, pass it, shoot it, swim in it, or intend to buy it. And we have a different pair of shoes for every activity!" Sounds like paradise in Knoxville!

Payne and Marilyn Ward Midyette get the "Barbara Walters Award for Being in Touch," having sent the most news about classmates. Cindy Reasor Swinson lives in Chicago, has just started her own jewelry business, and has a 2-year-old daughter. Deborah Allen Hewitt just moved from Tokyo to Bangkok and continues as president of Claremont Economics Institute. She is the author of From Rust to Riches and has been seen on Wall Street Week and McNeil-Lehrer Report.

John and Lynn Melzer Dillon are living in Chicago where John is working in telecommunications and Lynn is still with First Chicago Corp. The Midyettes saw Mindy Wolff in Pennsylvania this summer. She was due to deliver No. 2 in November and was working for Rohm and Haas. They also saw Barb Ramsey, who is working for Thomasville Furniture Co. in Highpoint, N.C., and is responsible for government contracts.

Trudy Campbell Nix had baby No. 2 in March and continues to work as a loan officer for NCNB in Tampa, Fla. They saw Joe Stubbs, as well, who has three daughters and is a doctor practicing in Albany, Ga.

Thanks to the Midyettes for the scoops. They are still in Inverness, Ill., where Payne continues to work for LaSalle negotiating real estate investments for pension fund clients. Marilyn is due to end her family care leave-of-absence from U.S. Sprint. She has enjoyed her time at home with Payne IV, who sounds like a chip off the old block.

Clare Monahan Hamman and Boyd are thriving in Winchester with their four daughters. They managed a week in St. John, Virgin Islands, with children and baby-sitter. With two babies, Clare gets the "Busy Mother Award."

Wayne and Melissa Wright Johnson just moved onto 18 acres outside Lynchburg where Whitney and Reid can keep their pony. Melissa wants her own horse, and Wayne wants a John Deere tractor.

Shelley Nix sent her fifth Christmas letter from England. You guessed it, the "AT&T Long Distance Award." She spent the year learning the martial art, aikido, traveling in England, France, Bursells, Copenhagen, Venice and Spain, and of course, working for Metaphor Computer Systems.

"Mother of the Year Award" goes to Mrs. Fredna Prince who wrote not once, but twice, to send news of her son and new grandson. Bill Prince, wife Claire and baby Raymond (5/24/91), are living in South Carolina where Bill is an attorney with the South Carolina Hospital Association and Claire is an attorney with SC DHEC. Bill spent seven years on the staff of Gov. Dick Riley.

Gary Torrence has been named hotel manager of the newly renovated Natural Bridge Resort in Charlottesville. He is married and has two sons.

And finally, our own Mark Duffner gets the "Someday, the Superbowl Award" for being named New England Coach of the Year for the second time in six years. He was also voted 1991 Chevrolet Coach of the Year for Division I-AA. Mark is the nation's winningest active coach with a record of 60-5-1 during his six seasons at Holy Cross. Those of us in the Midwest hope he considers the Big 10 when the job offers start pouring in.

Hope this finds your '92 going well. Now that you know there are awards involved, some of you who have never written will no doubt be anxious to do so. Wish some warm weather my way!

77 Carol Baranofsky Pugh 3025 Crossfield Road Richmond, VA 23233

Believe it or not, nearly 15 years have elapsed since graduation! I hope that many of you have already begun to make plans to be in Williamsburg for Homecoming this fall. The date is Oct. 15-18. It would be nice to have a chance to gather news for this column in person!

Our reunion planning committee met at the Alumni House in January. If you are interested in serving on the committee or helping out, please get in touch with Cynthia Bennett Satterwhite. Her work number in Richmond is 804/697-1912.

I received a few responses to the last column. One was a letter from R. S. Trigg, a member of the Class of 1948 and stepfather of Sylvia Lundquist Hill! He provided an update on her activities over the past several years. After graduating from W&M, Sylvia got a master's degree at Oklahoma State University, where she met and married Doug Hill. Doug was hired by the Federal Aviation Administration last year. After he finished his training in Oklahoma City this past June, the family moved to upstate New York where Doug is assigned at Buffalo International Airport. Sylvia and Doug have two sons, Matthew and Jonathan.

I also received a letter from Anne Frost Waring in nearby Glen Allen, Va. She has worked in public relations with Reynolds Metal Company in Richmond for the past five years. She also worked as a radio journalist in Louisiana and South Carolina for five and one half years before moving back to Virginia to work in public relations at Children's Hospital and later Reynolds Metal.

Wesley Wornom has joined Dennis M. Girtz and Associates in Washington, D.C., as a financial planner. The firm is a division of IDS Financial Services Inc., an American Express company. Wesley was formerly the director of finance and acquisitions, Marriott Corp.

The rest of the news comes from the news clipping service provided by the Society of the Alumni. J. Mitchell Bean was admitted to the partnership at Goodman &

J. Mitchell Bean

Company Certified Public Accountants, Norfolk, Va., this past September. Mitchell is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA) and the Virginia Society of Certified Public Accountants and its local chapter. He serves on the Accounting Manual Advisory Task Force for the AICPA, as chairman of Goodman & Co.'s Financial Institutions Specialization Team, and on the board of directors for the Boys & Girls Club.

After graduating from W&M, Jefferson Teass earned his doctorate of chiropractic from Palmer College of Chiropractic in 1983. He is now practicing at Vinton Chiropractic Clinic in Vinton, Va., and was re-elected to a two-year term as vice president of the Virginia Chiropractic Association last fall. He and his wife Susan and children, Damon and Tyler, live in the Falling Creek subdivision in Vinton.

Karen Polk Gallego was inducted into the Glen Cove, N.Y., Sports Hall of Fame in October. Karen was rated Top Shot on the North Shore for the two years she was on her high school rifle team. She was a major contributor to the team's undefeated season and North Shore Division III title in 1973, and made the All-County Team the same year. Since graduation, she has served as a free-lance journalist for Newsday, Newsweek magazine, the New York Times, the Boston Globe and Newsweek International. Karen is now press officer to Gov. Mario Cuomo on environmental and budget issues and educational and social services.

Peter Garland, acting commissioner for higher education for Pennsylvania, was featured in a Richmond News Leader article last fall. The article dealt with a report issued by the presidents of Virginia's colleges and universities on the subject of alternative ways to finance state-supported higher education. One proposal in the report was to move to a system like the one that Peter oversees in Pennsylvania where some private schools receive state support in return for preferential admissions policies and/or tuition rates for in-state residents. Before holding his current position, Peter worked for Virginia's Council of Higher Education.

Lynn Roberts Dosey has been named vice president of the Personal Lines Department at The Harris Agency, an insurance company in Manassas, Va. Dosey will supervise the personal lines department, which is responsible for the sales and service of individual life, health, auto, homeowners and umbrella insurance policies. In 1985, Dosey joined The Harris Agency as personal lines customer service representative and was promoted to personal lines account manager in 1987. As account manager Dosey set the all-time annual sales record for personal lines sales for the company. Dosey was promoted to manager of the personal lines department in 1989. Active in industry affairs, she is a member of the Manassas Soroptimist Club.

Lynn Dosey

That's all I have for this column. Please write to me so that I will have some news to report in the June column; my deadline is April 10th. I look forward to hearing from you!

79 Mary E. Keen 3500 Colony Crossing Drive Charlotte, NC 28226

Apologies to all for my absence from the last edition. I will try not to let it happen again.

Anne Whitmire Dembinski and husband Tom are currently living in Hamden, Conn., where they both work in their own mechanical contracting company, M.J. Daly and Sons Inc. The Dembinskis have two children — Eric, 8, and Helen, 7.

Susan Arnot has accepted a position with Elizabeth Arden as public relations director. This is her first non-publishing job after 11 years in the world of books and magazines. Susan works to keep a good relationship between Elizabeth Arden and all media — providing information, developing stories, arranging interviews, etc. A March wedding is planned for Susan and fiancé Kevin Heaney. Kevin is a therapist at a psychiatric hospital and an actor/voice-over artist.

Steve Hintz and wife Julie welcomed their second child, Robert Thomas, on April 21, 1991. Their first son, Peter, is approaching the 3-year-old mark. Steve will finish his residency in diagnostic radiology at the Mayo Clinic in June 1992. He will then be a staff physician at the clinic's satellite practice in Scottsdale, Ariz. Steve worked as a newspaper reporter for three years after graduation and then returned to school, receiving his M.D. from the Medical College of Virginia in 1988.

Pernie Hatcher Forehand began work on her Ph.D. in English at Catholic University this fall. Pernie received an M.A. in English from James Madison University, taught at several universities and is currently employed by the federal government in the computer field.

Kristin Olen Just is a microbiologist working in cancer research at the University of Miami School of Medicine. Kristin is married to Dr. Eckhard Podack, a medical doctor, microbiologist and immunologist. They currently reside in Coconut Grove, Fla.

J. Andrew Lark married Kay Rouse '76 in March 1991. Kay is a vice president of development at Trillium Productions, a movie company. Andrew is a partner in the law firm of Lark & Sullivan.

Art Halpert formed a new CPA firm with two other partners. The firm, Snell, Levin & Halpert, is located in Houston.

Greg Bartholomew has been living in Seattle since two weeks after graduation, apart from a 20-month voluntary exile to Vancouver, Wash., in 1983-84. He is a partner in a civil litigation law firm and has been rowing with the Green Lake Crew program. Greg sang with the Seattle Men's Chorus and recently joined the Seattle Pro Musica.

Nora Bentley Dziuban welcomed her third son in May 1991. Matthew Robert joins siblings Michael, 5, and Daniel, 3. Nora claims that the Dziubans are "busy, but having lots of fun!"

Margaret Nelson Phillips continues to work as a prosecutor specializing in prosecution of sexual assault and juvenile and domestic violence cases. Her husband made partner in his law firm, so the Phillips spent 1991 remodeling, repainting, and wallpapering to prepare their townhouse for sale. They hope to move to a new house in the country outside Lynchburg.

Margaret was a bridesmaid in Karen Quigg's April 1991 wedding in Arlington.

15th Reunion

WILLIAM AND MARY STUDENT VISITS KUWAIT

Garrett Camporin was one of nine students from William and Mary, Harvard, Yale, MIT, Princeton, Dartmouth and McGill University in Montreal who visited Kuwait recently under the auspices of the National Council on U.S.-Arab Relations and the Kuwait-American Foundation. Camporin, who participated last year in a travel/study program at the American University of Cairo, Egypt, as a Malcolm Kerr Scholar, met with the minister of education, the rector and deans of Kuwait University, members of the ruling El Sabah family, officials of the National Assembly and the U.S. ambassador to Kuwait. He discussed post-war attitudes and the prospect for democracy in the future of Kuwait. The Kuwaiti government said it wanted to say "thank you" to America by strengthening bonds between the nations through educational, humanitarian and cultural exchanges.

Joining Margaret at the wedding were fellow Tri Delts Mary Ann Heyser Wright, Patty Pritchard Willis, Robin Ailstock McElhaney, Robin Hunger Pruit and Linda Layne Mallory. Margaret met Caryn Wagner and Patty Gibson for an afternoon at Phantom of the Opera in D.C., squeezing in high tea AND shopping.

Michael McFadden opened a sandwich shop in Baltimore with Cheese Shop owners Tom and Mary Ellen Power. Take It Away began operation in 1990.

Bruce Matson became a member of the law firm of Hazel & Thomas in 1991. Bruce joined the firm to establish its bankruptcy, reorganizations and creditor's rights practice in the firm's Richmond office.

William Mims was elected to the 32nd District seat in the Virginia House of Delegates in November 1991. Bill received 60 percent of the vote.

William Copan recently wed Kari Lauralyn Sessoms '83 in Williamsburg. William is employed by the College while Lauralyn works for the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation.

Ann Henley Robinson recently wed Ronald Radloff. Ann is employed as an evaluation specialist in the office of admission at James Madison University. Ronald is a math teacher at Turner Ashby High School. The Radloffs reside in Keezletown.

Nelson Adrian Blish '79 J.D. recently patented an invention. Nelson, a resident of Houston, Texas, patented his "variable intake and exhaust engine" in May 1991.

Kathryn Gorges is living in Sunnyvale, Calif., the heart of Silicon Valley, and working in marketing for Amdahl Corp. Kathryn went back to school from 1988-1990 and received her M.A. in philosophy from Stanford University. She is very active in the feminist community and NOW—her master's degree was focused on feminist philosophy. Kathryn was married in November to Bruce Wood, a graduate of the University of California, Santa Barbara. The ceremony was scheduled to take place in Yosemite National Park!

Kathryn issues a challenge for the former residents of the Botetourt Units to send their news to the Gazette. I would also like to hear from some of my Phi Mu sisters! Everyone take care and have a marvelous spring!

81 Pamela Pritchard Padgett 311 Ashbourne Drive Orlando, FL 32811

Was our 10-year reunion great or what? The weather was typical combination-Williamsburg, the class had a great turnout, the Dirty Deli sandwiches tasted the same and not one of us had changed a bit in 10 years!

I stayed at the Princess Anne Motor Lodge with Kira Rathjen Gruber and husband Conrad, Beth Forbes, Kate Morgans, Beth Scott Bednarek, Nancy Jennings Smith and Evy Lowenstern Severino. We met at the Dirty Deli Friday night with Dave and Sharon Bowen Grogan, Leisa Charlton Russell and husband Dan, Cindy Johnston Gill '82 and Suzanne Sellers '82. Suzanne lives in Roanoke and Cindy is in Boca Raton, Fla.

I sure wish in the brevity of our meetings that I could remember what everyone was doing and where they were living, but maybe this will encourage all of you to write and update me for the next issue! It was great to visit with Mark Gardiner, Tom and Dana Disque Hearn '82, Cooper Wamsley, John Holsinger, Dave Kelley, Kathy Sitterson, Lisa Best Morton, Lois Korb Peterson, Karen Clarke and Debbie Granin. A wonderful weekend once again came to a too-abrupt halt and we all came back to reality on Monday.

I accepted a position in July as an account executive with Kinney Wallcoverings division of Collins & Aikman. I stay busy traveling Eastern Florida from Daytona to the Keys. I enjoy getting together with members of the newly formed Central Florida Alumni Chapter. This includes Patty Stevens Hazard, president of the chapter, and a full-time mother, expecting her fourth child soon.

A lot of marriages occurred from our class in 1991. I was the matron of honor in the June wedding of Kira Rathjen to Conrad Gruber in Dallas. From the "Welcome to Dallas" Texas-style reception to the trolley car ride from the wedding to the reception and the margarita party at Casa de Gruber afterwards, we had a great time. Conrad lived in Colonial Williamsburg when he was young while his father, Ira D. Gruber, was doing a fellowship with the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation.

Not only was Our Gang in attendance, but we loved seeing Maureen Lauren

Allman '80 and Karri Fritz-Klaus '80. Maureen is an attorney in Lincoln, Neb., and Karri is an attorney in Milwaukee, Wis.

Also married this year were Mark Allen Alsobrook to LeAndrea Dawn Kidd on June 2 in Annandale. Mark graduated from George Mason University School of Law and is an attorney with the U.S. Department of Labor in Washington. His wife is a program analyst at the U.S. Department of Justice. The Alsobrooks live in Arlington.

James Guy O'Mara married Deborah Ellen Roy on Jan. 11 in West Simsbury Conn. James is a golf pro at Brooklawn Country Club in Fairfield, and his wife is an account manager at Aetna Life Insurance, Trumbull.

Margaret Reeder Donaldson married Jonathan Hawkins Hood on Oct. 12 in Richmond. Margaret is an associate at Baskerville & Son, Architects, Engineers and Interior Designers. Her husband is a partner of Gabbert-Hood Photography, and they live in Richmond.

Nancy Lynne Williams and Joseph Michael Russell were married in the Palace de Vecchio in Florence, Italy, on Sept. 4, and repeated their vows Sept. 28 in the Abby Aldrich Rockefeller Folk Art Center garden in Colonial Williamsburg. Nancy is a systems analyst at Anadac Inc. in Arlington, and her husband, a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, is an engineer for the Navy in Arlington. The couple live in Falls Church.

Earlier news from 1991 came from Leisa Charlton Russell who married her husband, Dan in May. Leisa works as the vice president of finance for Medlantic Healthcare Group, an 1800-bed hospital system.

Leisa wrote that Bonnie Newton Rossello lives in Old Town Alexandria with her husband Bill, and works with Bell Atlantic as a specialist in the communications area. Bill is a consultant with Cresap, a management consulting firm in D.C.

Sarah Baird Arthur and her husband Bruce live in Baltimore with their son Ean. Also, Carolyn Rasmussen Close and her husband Jeff are living in Chicago where Carolyn received her M.B.A.

Between Leisa and Beth Forbes, I found out that Sandra Harton McCluskey is still living in Alexandria with her husband Bill. In 1990, Sandra went to Paris for additional culinary education to pursue her initially part-time catering career. She and her husband opened Le Bon Cafe at 210 2nd Street, S.E., on Capitol Hill last summer. The espresso bar/cafe is open for breakfast and lunch, and Sandra cooks and runs her successful catering business from there.

Sharon and Dave Grogan have returned to the U.S. from Japan where Dave completed his three-year tour of duty as a naval attorney, and Sharon taught English to Japanese students. I saw pictures of their beautiful daughter Erin when we met at Homecoming. The Grogans were relocating to Jacksonville, Fla., BUT I need to hear from them with updates! We even drove through Jacksonville on our way to my in-laws in Beaufort, S.C., for the holidays. Let me know how to get in touch!

I was glad to get a letter from Cheryl Hogue with some W&M updates. Cheryl and Mike Duffy drove from North Carolina to northern Florida in 1990, visiting various national parks and wildlife refuges. After spending his sixth summer as a ranger at Alaska's Denali National Park (site of Mount McKinley), Mike relocated to San Francisco.

Cheryl wrote that she also visited the South Pacific that year. She visited a village in the Solomon Islands (on the equator, north of Australia) for 10 days, helping natives to build a church, and then left for a four-day roundabout journey across Australia to Bali. From there, Cheryl went to New Guinea for eight days to visit with Rebecca Young who works as a nutritionist in Indonesia.

HIGH ENERGY PHYSICS GAINS NSF SUPPORT

William and Mary's High Energy Physics Group has received a grant of $405,000 from the National Science Foundation for continuation of its research, bringing the total NSF support to more than $5 million since 1974. The project includes faculty members Morton Eckhause, John R. Kane, Robert E. Welsh and Rolf G. Winter, in addition to several graduate and undergraduate students. The project is titled "Interactions of Muons, Kaons, Antiprotons and Sigma Hyperons."

Once back in Maryland, Cheryl linked up with Catherine Holmes. Catherine runs her own mail-order catalog, The Virginia Gourmet, which features specialty foods from the Old Dominion.

Cheryl also writes that Deeme Katson and her band, "The Essentials," released their CD Beguiled in 1990 and play the D.C. club circuit. You may remember their 1978 premier at the Pub as the Katson Blues Band.

Cheryl has worked with fellow reporters and editors in the D.C. area, including Patty Logan '76 and Marcia Mjoseh '77. From time to time she also gets together in Northern Virginia with Ben Mays, Alleyn Dickens '80, Mary Jett Evans '80, Roy Evans '80, Craig and Valerie Mims Dykstra '80 and their child, Amy Mims, Stephanie Hughes '80 and her husband John Olsen, M. J. Pond '85, Joe Hoffman '83 and Mike Blanks '83. Bill Hays '83 came up for an April party from the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill, where he is working on his doctorate in comparative literature.

Through Craig Dykstra, Cheryl learned that Jonathan Cumming and Anne Buckelew Cumming have relocated from the University of Edmonton in Canada to the University of Vermont in Burlington, Vt.

Also Liz Hammer '83 and her husband Basaam Hitti visited Cheryl when they moved to New Jersey after three years in Switzerland. Liz works at an Asian art gallery in New York City.

I received a great letter from Angela Stanziano Daly, Gayle Montague Flynn, Charlotte Frye Freschi and Linda Skapars Herington, which they compiled when they got together at Angela's home in Rhode Island.

Angela received her M.B.A. from the University of Rhode Island in 1984 and took a position in product management with Bank of Boston. She married Joseph Daly in 1987 and settled in Narragansett, R.I. Angela became a full-time mom when their daughter Marguerite Elizabeth was born in July 1990.

Charlotte married her husband Brian in April 1988 with Linda, Gayle and Angela in the wedding party. They met at the University of Rhode Island, where Charlotte received her M.B.A. in 1983. They moved to New York City where Charlotte took a position as marketing manager, marketing planning with the Newspaper Advertising Bureau. She enjoys Manhattan life, living in the Upper West side, but manages to find time for skiing with trips to Kitzbuehel, Austria, and Beaver Creek, Colo.

Charlotte is a quick cab ride away from Gayle, who lives with her husband Richard Flynn '79 on Manhattan's Upper East Side. Gayle and Rick took a six-month trip around the world in 1989, visiting Fiji, New Zealand, Australia, Thailand and India. Gayle left her Wall Street law firm in 1990 to take a position as associate counsel with the American Express Company.

Linda met her husband Randy while working as a space reporter in Washington, D.C. They married in January 1988 and moved to Orange County, Calif., where Linda is associate for program development at the Beckman Center of the D.C.-based National Academies of Sciences and Engineering. She is making an adventure of balancing work with beaching and Pacific Rim vacations. Linda, I muse about Spring Break every time I pass the Sans Souci in Fort Lauderdale while working! Thanks so much for writing, you guys!

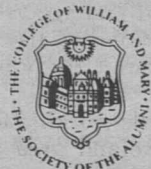

Trish McAuliffe Strauss writes that she finished a two-year fellowship at U.Va. in developmental pediatrics while her husband Rick was in graduate school. Just before they left Charlottesville, their first son Matthew Richard was born. They now live in Norfolk where Trish practices pediatrics part time. Trish recently saw Moirra Holly Monk and her husband, Moirra was recently made partner in her Maryland CPA firm.

MCI. A Tradition For The Future.

William and Mary alumni have always known that graduating from tradition was a good thing.

Soon, you'll have the opportunity to graduate from traditional long distance telephone service through a new savings program from the Society of the Alumni and MCI.

Coming this spring to your mailbox or telephone.

MCI

©MCI Telecommunications Corporation, 1991

'85 ALUMNA NAMED NPCC PRESS SECRETARY

Kirsten A. Fedewa '85 has been named press secretary to the National Republican Congressional Committee in Washington, D.C., effective Feb. 6. Fedewa served for two years as press secretary to Senator Robert Kasten, R-Wis., and for three years as press secretary to former Congressman D. French Slaughter Jr. of Virginia's Seventh District. She also served on the staff of Senator John C. Danforth, R-Mo. Fedewa is also past president of the Republican Communications Association which is the official professional organization for GOP press secretaries in the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives.

Trish also got a visit from Patty Lowe, who is busy working and traveling for a division of Macy's.

Dr. David Woodward has opened his office for chiropractic and related health services on John Tyler Highway in the Five Forks Area of Williamsburg. David received his doctor of chiropractic from Life Chiropractic College in Marietta, Ga., in 1989.

Marcia L. Norment recently moved to Jacksonville, Fla., after 10 years in Pennsylvania. She works as marketing manager for Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Florida.

Dr. Matthews Gwynn completed his residency in neurology at the University of Virginia Hospital in Charlottesville. He had previously completed a residency in internal medicine at the University of Alabama, Birmingham and is entering into private practice with the Atlanta Neurological Clinic group in Atlanta. He, his wife Beverly and their son David live in Buckhead of Atlanta.

On May 3, John P. Riley earned a master of arts in economics from Virginia Tech, Blacksburg. He was headed to work for the U.S. House of Representatives Committee on Agriculture.

Dr. Robert D. Richard Jr. received his medical degree from the Medical College of Virginia where he completed his residency. He earned his fellowship at U.Va. and has joined the practice of Hickman and Catalano in Richmond as a board certified doctor of internal medicine.

Mil Norman-Risch wrote with news of two big events. Mil and her husband Volkmar celebrated the arrival of their first child, Melanie Claire, on Aug. 16, 1991. Also, Mil wrote of the publication by Longman of the book she co-authored, America in Close-Up. The textbook is designed for use in secondary schools and universities by students learning English as a foreign language.

Mil Norman-Risch

The book focuses on contemporary American culture, with chapters dealing with different aspects of American society such as minorities, the economy, the global role of the U.S., and the mass media. The book is being marketed primarily in Europe and Japan, and more than 14,000 copies have been sold in Germany. Mil and Volkmar live in Goochland, outside Richmond, where she teaches English to high school students at Collegiate.

Beth Scott Bednarek, always full of news, writes that John Fessender now lives in San Antonio, Texas, and began teaching elementary school children this fall. Also, rumor has it that Mike Garrett and his wife had a baby girl born sometime around the Fourth of July. John went out to California to spend the Fourth with Bob and Kristi Wagner, and they called Mike Garrett collect from Dodger stadium during a baseball game. Hey, they were keeping in touch!

Hal Hicks has once again relocated to D.C. with his wife Nancy and son Joshua. They bought a house in Alexandria not too terribly far from Doug Ackerson '80. Hal works at Caplin & Drysdale downtown.

Beth keeps in touch with close friends Vic and Debbie Maccagnan '83 and their daughter Kate, and Jenny and Jeff Campbell '83 and their daughter. Beth already has the shivers thinking about the two girls out on the town together in about 18 years!

Beth says congratulations are in order for Clay Perfall '80 who made partner at Arthur Andersen last summer. Thanks for all your news, B.S.

Richard Leahy, alias Pompey in the 1980 production of Measure for Measure, is pleased to announce the completion of his M.A. studies in modern European history at U.Va. He joined the Jefferson Literary and Debating Society there and has been active in the promotion of the growing Virginia wine industry since 1986. His thesis subject was "Viennese Coffehouses in Contemporary Literature 1890-1930." Richard regrets being unable to attend the class reunion, but has accepted a teaching position at the American School of Madrid, teaching social studies on the high school level.

Last spring, the executive committee of Johnston Memorial Hospital's board of trustees named Clark R. Beil chief executive officer of the Abingdon, Va., health care facility. Beil joined the hospital as assistant administrator in 1989 and has been serving most recently in the capacity of acting administrator. Clark came to the hospital from King's Daughter's Hospital in Staunton, Va., where he served as assistant administrator. He earned a master's of health services administration degree in 1986 from the Medical College of Virginia and served as resident administrative assistant and director of personnel at the Guadalupe Medical Center in Carlsbad, N.M. He began his hospital career serving as emergency services registration clerk at the Medical College of Virginia Hospitals in Richmond and as a house orderly at the Commonwealth Hospital in Fairfax, Va.

I received a news release from Virginia Tech about researchers who received patents during 1990. Kimberly Bennett, along with a team of three other graduate students, developed an optical fiber splice which measures the temperature and stain of the spliced fibers and was recognized for his patent achievement in April 1991 at the Virginia Tech Intellectual Properties Awards Luncheon. Bennett earned both his master's and Ph.D. from Virginia Tech and is now with Lafayette College in Easton, Pa.

Susan Amato is the first female regional vice president for Centel Cellular Co. of Virginia. Susan began a position in 1981 in Centel's management training program in Killeen, Texas. Ten years and three moves to Chicago, D.C., and back to Chicago later, Susan is now based in Virginia Beach. Her region consists of Hampton Roads/Petersburg; Central Virginia; Tri-Cities, Tenn., and Pennsylvania operations in Harrisburg, York and Lancaster. Susan was recently named one of the Outstanding Professional Women of Hampton Roads in 1991.

Sisters Lorrie Bryant and Anne Merle Bryant are business partners in their company, In-House Productions, a writing and graphic design company that provides desktop publishing services from concept to production. The sisters are also marketing a line of greeting cards utilizing a Colonial Williamsburg theme that includes five and drum greeting cards, an oversized Governor's Palace Christmas card and a holiday Advent calendar. Anne-Merle, who attended Carnegie-Mellon School of Design, designed and rendered the cards in watercolors. You can find the cards in outlets in Richmond, Williamsburg, Charlottesville, Fredericksburg, Afton Mountain and Alexandria.

I want to thank everyone for their news and if I left you out of the Homecoming briefs, write and remind me I saw you! For everyone else, take just 10 minutes and one stamp to let us know how you are. That means you, Alicia Lawton, Bill McCulla and Biff Wittkamp!

83 Carolyn J. Martin
87 Remington Place
Ivyland, PA 18974

Happy New Year! Bryan and I rang in 1992 driving our new daughter Marissa Jo around the neighborhood, trying to calm a crying spell. Marissa was born Dec. 2, and life just hasn't been the same. Being on a child care leave of absence from Bell of Pennsylvania until July, I'm amazed how quickly the day passes — bathing the baby, sterilizing bottles, feeding (and burping)!

Also celebrating a new birth was Mary Louise Mitchell Barnett. She and husband Richard welcomed their second son Elliot Mitchell Barrett on Dec. 31, 1990. The Barretts live in Richmond where Mary Louise works at the University of Richmond as the assistant internal auditor.

The Alumni office send me a lovely news article about Karen Smith '84 and Kenny Martin. Karen is the owner-operator of Bright Horizons Learning Center, providing care for children ages 6 weeks to 12 years; Kenny is a mortgage banker. The article indicates that Karen is opening another learning center in Newport News.

I hope everyone's holiday season was joyous. Thanks for all the Christmas cards (but be sure to include more news with them). Bryan and I enjoyed a visit from Michele Martin Grossman and her husband Bob over the holidays. As a meeting planner with Merrill Lynch, Michele is gearing up for a major trip to Barcelona for the Summer Olympics. (Lee, and I get excited just getting out to the grocery store!)

That's all the news for now. I'm looking forward to receiving lots of letters by my next deadline of April 10. Take care and be good!

85 Janet Reed Davis
2912 N. Key Blvd.
Arlington, VA 22201

The Young Guard 1987-1991

87 Lisa F. Su
465 Virginia Ave.
Herndon, VA 22070

Believe it or not, our 5th year reunion is just around the corner! Mark your calendars for Homecoming 1992 (Oct. 15-18) and start talking to your friends. Special plans are in the works. To get involved, contact Christopher Bright, Karen Rodgers Calpin, Kathy Dunnington Bedard, Pat Sanembri, Ted Zoller or Beth Shapiro.

The new year has been really good so far — Matt and I were married the evening of Dec. 7 in Norfolk, and all went as planned. We were in Williamsburg for the rehearsal dinner and that was pretty apropos, as Williamsburg is one of our favorite places. Bridesmaids Amanda Meyers, Tracy Jolles, Marsha Fishburne Lycan, Liz Haddad Martin, Courtenay Jenkins and Holly Barrett '88 really added a beautiful touch to the entire weekend.

Other W&M friends in the wedding part included John Siegel '86 and Brent Fraim '93. It was really a fun weekend and we enjoyed seeing so many old friends again. We spent Sunday night in Williamsburg for grand illumination before departing on our honeymoon. Now, we are living in Herndon and I am still working for State Farm in Alexandria, and Matt is a project analyst at Freddie Mac in Tysons Corner.

On Dec. 8, I was looking in the Norfolk paper at the wedding announcements and was glad to see a familiar face above mine! Paulette Bryant '89 and Jimmy Skapars were married just across town in Norfolk just a few hours before Matt and I. It is not too often that there are two "double W&M" weddings on the same day in the same town! Best of luck to you both!

Patty Hanson and Chip Puskar were married Nov. 2 in Orlando. The following Friday, the newlyweds came to Old Town Alexandria for a party in their honor so their many friends who were unable to travel to the wedding could still help celebrate the happy occasion. The site was the Old Dominion Boat Club, and a great time was had by all!

Chip and Patty are currently on tour with the U.S. Tour of the musical The Buddy Holly Story. Chip plays the lead and it is a great opportunity to see him on stage again. The tour is throughout the U.S. from March through September. Stops include Chicago, Toronto, Philadelphia, Boston, Memphis and Tucson, just to name a few. They will be performing at the Kennedy Center in May and June.

MCCLINTOCK JOINS PHYSICIANS FOR PEACE IN MIDDLE EAST

John S. McClintock '83, a physician with St. Luke's-Roosevelt Medical Center at Columbia University, will travel to the Middle East as a member of Physicians For Peace, an organization which coordinates medical peace missions in areas of conflict. As part of a joint effort with plastic surgeons in Amman, Jordan, McClintock, together with a team of four other American plastic surgeons, will provide surgical aid to post-war victims and to those with congenital deformities. McClintock will be presenting lectures at the International Society of Plastic Surgery concerning his bone graft research. McClintock received his medical degree from Eastern Virginia Medical College in 1989.

Susan Cramer '88 is engaged to Larry and is in full swing planning her April wedding. Jamie Young '88 and JoAnn Keenen were married in Virginia Beach and Chris Neikirk and Dave O'Keefe were groomsmen.

A little bird had news that Mary Hazinski is also engaged and will be planning a late summer wedding. Best wishes, Mary!

Elaine Fry married Michael Reilly on Sept. 7 in Wilmington, Del. These two met while at Harvard Law School. Didi Facchina and Brock Romanek now live in the D.C. area after their wedding in October. Susan Payne wrote that she was married in September, and she and husband Christopher are in Brooklyn. Cynthia Dupuy and Dale Fennell were members of their wedding party. Cyn is in San Francisco where she is an employment specialist for the pharmaceutical firm, Syntex. As for Susan, she has spent the past three years teaching in the public school system after receiving her certificate in art education from the Pratt Institute. She is now preparing for graduate school. Chris is with Solomon Bros. in Manhattan and really enjoys working in a large firm.

Dale Fennell married Christy Mecca this summer just before Dale completed his five-year term as an officer on a nuclear submarine. After his release from the Navy, they moved to Ohio where Dale was offered a position in nuclear waste management for Martin Marietta.

Kevin Kingsbury '86 flew in for the wedding from California, where he is completing his Ph.D. in biochemistry. Dave Hillon received his M.B.A. in international finance from Georgetown, and has been acting manager of Chicago International Partner's Nanjing office since September. Dave is no stranger to China, as he taught English there for a time in 1988-89.

Anja Bergman is in her fourth year at Tuft's Medical School and will begin her residency this summer in Seattle.

This past July welcomed Bay Joseph Gabriel Prati into the proud of arms of Jose and Kim Powell Prati.

Sharon Meyers Levine and husband Ken sent Christmas greetings with news that they have finally made the big move out of New York City and into the suburbs of New Jersey. Sharon sees quite a bit of fellow W&M friends Sarah Wilson, Sandy Wall, Margaret Eklind '86 and Linda Habgood '88 at their New York book club meetings.

Suzanne McDuffy was pictured in the Washington Post business section with an article featuring news about the downfall in commercial real estate.

Jennifer Boone acquired her M.A. in history from Emory University this past summer.

John Black III joined Wheat First Securities as a financial consultant in the firm's Williamsburg office. John was formerly an assistant manager at Dominion Bank. Currently, John is also vice chairman of the Mathews County board of supervisors.

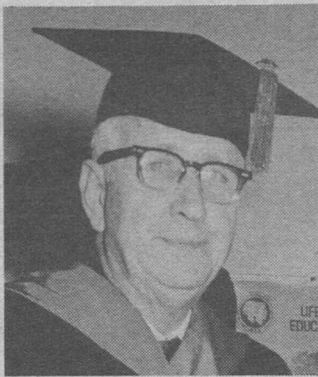

Bryan Grisso is working for Lubrizol Corp. in the Cleveland area as a Ph.D.

CLASS ACT
W&M HOMECOMING '92
OCTOBER 15-18

5th Reunion

ELAINE JUSTICE '75 JOINS EMORY

Elaine Justice '75 has been named assistant director of media relations at Emory University in Atlanta, Ga. Justice, who served on the university relations staff at William and Mary for 12 years, will be responsible for media relations for the professional schools at Emory, including the law, business and theology schools. Justice's last position at William and Mary was director of public information.

W. MELVILLE JONES PASSES

Former William and Mary faculty member and administrator W. Melville Jones, who retired from the College in 1971 after 43 years of service, died Jan. 10 in Williamsburg. A graduate of Allegheny College who received his master's degree from Ohio State University and his doctorate from Harvard, Dr. Jones joined the College in 1928 as a member of the English department. He served as dean of the faculty from 1958 to 1964, dean of the College from 1964 to 1968 and vice president for academic affairs from 1968 until he retired in 1971. He helped establish a student exchange program sponsored by the Drapers' Company of London in 1959. The Drapers' Company honored him with the Freedom of the Company award in 1970, and the College presented him with the Thomas Jefferson Award in 1966.

research chemist. He finished writing and defending his doctorate thesis in chemistry at Northwestern University in August. He and Jodi Wilker were married in June in Mankato, Minn.

Philip J. Infantino graduated from Washington and Lee law school and has just joined the Virginia Beach law firm of Pender and Coward. His areas of practice include commercial transactions, copyright and trademark litigation.

Christopher Bright earned a master's at the Woodrow Wilson department of government and foreign affairs at the University of Virginia. His thesis was accepted for publication in the World Affairs Quarterly. Chris recently made headlines in the Aug. 24 edition of The Virginia Gazette regarding his political beliefs and opinions.

Trish Powell has been keeping busy out in Boulder Colo. She spent last spring and summer training for and competing in many triathlons. She is devoting herself currently to studying art history at Colorado University and is learning to ski bumps at Vail and Mary Jane.

Jewell Lim Espisito is doing well in her second year of law school. She writes that she will be arguing for her school's tax team in a national competition this spring in either Miami or Buffalo. Her summer will be spent in Washington, D.C., at the firm of Dewey Ballentine.

I was happy to receive a letter from Kathy Redmond Schaum! She and Kent '86 are now living in Marin County, Calif. They are just north of San Francisco in Corte Madera. Kent is still with Amica Insurance in San Rafael, and Kathy is with Peat Marwick in San Francisco. They are just 15 minutes from the beach and five from windsurfing on the bay. They are anxious to see any other W&M folks in that area. They really love it and have had many visitors out there to share in the sun. Clem Chang '86, Chris Neikirk '88, Leigh Crummer Stefano and Dennis Whelan are just a few of the sunseekers.

Kathy and Kent have just started publication of a newsletter. I received a copy, and I can tell you that it is a great treat to read and a fun idea. It is especially a pleasure to read "What's Hot on the West Coast?" while I am in D.C. in 30-degree cold. Thanks, Kathy, and now that I know where to reach you, I will be in better touch!

Andrea Romig Burns and husband Brian are still stationed in Little Rock, Ark., but are happy to know that in April, the army is sending them to San Francisco to enjoy the West Coast as well!

Well, that is about it for now. I would like to thank all of you who have written with information. Also, I would love to hear from Danny Sheehan, Eric Fedewa and Tom Kennedy. Even though our weekly flag football games in Northern Virginia have gone by the wayside, I would love to know what you guys are up to! I hear that Scott Flynn, John Peluso, Sujit Mohante and Lisa Viviano keep up with quite a few Richmond-area alums so I guess I will receive an update from them soon as well. If any of you need information on alumni chapters or clubs in your area, just contact the Society of the Alumni. Well, we hope to see some of you at the upcoming Greater Washington, D.C. area chapter events. Enjoy your spring. My next column is due April 10 so let me hear about your exciting news! Take care!

89 Colleen Finnell Waggoner
8236 Oxer Road
Richmond, VA 23235

I hope the new year is finding everyone happy and healthy!

Maria Gapinski is making a huge career change and is very excited about it. She had been working as a budget analyst for the Defense Logistics Agency since the summer of '89. She has gotten to go on several business trips and even got to work at the Pentagon on rotation during the war in the Persian Gulf. Her new career is that she has been accepted as a candidate into the Carmelite Sisters of the Most Sacred Heart of Los Angeles. It's a religious order of Sisters in Alhambra, Calif., that wears the full habit and veil. The Sisters teach, work as nurses and also run a retreat house. Her entrance into postulant began Jan. 5 and lasts six months. After two more years as a novice, she will perform first vows and get the full habit. She hopes to teach religion after the formation period.

Kathy Rickard Benson wrote an encouraging letter to me before my wedding. She got married on July 6 and says that she loves married life and it is a growing experience. Karen Hojnacki was her beautiful maid of honor, and Pam Houdek was a bridesmaid. Several W&M folks were there including: Diane Preston, Betsy Gagliano and John Voorhees, John Fedewa, Paula Halesky and John Fletcher, Kim Pike, Greg Perigard, Vincent Howell and Jim Smith. They were married in Maryland and are now living in Indiana because her husband, Chuck, is a med student at Indiana University. Kathy is working at a new school as a developmental learning instructional assistant. She hopes to find a permanent teaching position next academic year. Good luck!

Marcia Weidenmier finished her M.B.A. at the University of Texas at Austin last summer. After taking a two-month break she started working for Price Waterhouse in Chicago. She is a staff consultant for the management consulting side. She was scheduled to spend the winter in sunny Tampa, Fla., but three days before she was about to leave, Price asked her to be one of the project team leaders at a telephone company in Minneapolis. She moved there in late October and quickly experienced her first blizzard - 30 inches of snow that aren't going to leave until May! So much for sunny Florida! She will be in Minnesota until April and then she is not sure where she will be.

David Martin '90 and Rachel McCaleb Watts were married in her hometown of New Orleans. Yvette Zaepfel and Jenna Wilson Lashley were two of her bridesmaids. Yvette then went on to join Jason Merritt '91 in Washington state. Jeanna's husband, Jeff Lashley '91 was also at the wedding. David and Rachel are now living in Salem, N.H., and are working in Massachusetts in residential programs for disturbed adolescents. Erin Kelly wrote Rachel and told her that she is spending October to May teaching English in a French high school just east of Paris. She is then marrying Scott Bradley on June 12.

Bethany Parker and Mark Freeman were married on Aug. 10 at St. John's Episcopal Church in McLean, Va. The maids of honor were Susan Parker '87 and Camber Parker '87. Among the bridesmaids were Kristie Jamison and Wendy Cutting, who is engaged to marry Van Wishard on May 23.

Michael Holtz had a busy summer and wanted to get in touch. He writes that many grads and students of the College of Knowledge were present for the wedding of Monica Sangen and Eric Oswald (a New York cop!) in Floral Park, N.Y. It was a regular APO, Alpha Chi, and Choir event. Cari Guthrie '90, Alpha Chi and Choir, was the maid of honor. Also in attendance were Harry '88 and Gayle Blevins Dennis, Carylin Miazga '87, Debbie Banas '87, Christy Osoling '87, Laura Dougherty (Monica's Big Sis), Maura O'Reilly Papas, Kendal-Leigh O'Rourke O'Neil '87, Jim Erskine '86, Kathleen Gelvin '90, Bill Oppelt '91, Jackie Lockhart '91, Britton Robbins '88, Doug Adams '90, and Pamela Nazareth '90. Monica looked beautiful and Mike congratulated the Sangens for their party-throwing ability! Speaking of party and matrimony, Mike said that wedding bells were ringing on Oct. 26 for Britton. As for Michael, he has kept up his singing within his church choir and he has also joined the ranks of the Reston Chorale where Mary Guzzo Nelms '86 is the vice president. They hope to see many alums at the chorales performances.

Anne Shearer and Jonathan Kajeckas were married in the Wren Chapel on Oct. 13. They have known each other since freshman year on Dupont 2nd, but they had not been dating for very long before they were engaged. Unfortunately, they missed Homecoming for the first time because they were still honeymooning in sunny Florida. Anne works in Herndon for a subscription vendor and is working on her master's in library science - which isn't as dull as it sounds! Jonathan is at the Democratic Study Group, which tracks legislation for the House side of Congress. Anne saw many W&M folks at the beautiful garden wedding of Kimberly DiDomenico to Steven Duty on Sept. 14 at her mother's home. Janet Reuther, who was the maid of honor, is a legal assistant in Philadelphia. Samantha Krumpe has moved to Delaware and is working in a social services agency. Lori Kogut was there with her fiancé, now husband - they were married October 12 on Long Island. No-longer newlyweds Ana and Mike Plechy were also there; it has already been a year for them. Ashley Klaus has recently transferred to the marketing department of NCBN in Charlotte and loves it. Anne wants to know when they get to meet the man, Ash? Adria Benner and Alicia Meckstroth were also there to celebrate with the happy couple.

Micheal Gilgore sent greetings from sunny California! He has been running 10 to 15 miles daily in training for two local marathons. The first was the Orange County marathon on Nov. 3. That was his first marathon ever, but not his first race. The Los Angeles marathon will follow in early spring. Last May he ran the Bay to Breakers fun (12K) in San Francisco. This world-famous race featured runners in various costumes. He ran as the Phantom of the Opera, complete with mask et al. In addition to all these races, he was involved in theater work and performed Cyrano - The Musical at the Newport Theatre Arts Center during the months of September and October. Singing and acting talent were not all that was required. He had to learn to sword-fight before the show opened and studied fencing for added realism. That marks his professional acting debut, although he has done several shows with various youth, school and religious groups. His ex-roommate, Ted Hsu '90 may be coming out to live with him. They are looking into beach houses on the prestigious Balboa Island just off the coast of Newport Beach, Calif. It's a great place to live if they can keep up the rent!

Announcing a New Service for William and Mary Alumni: The Tribe Classified!

The Society of the Alumni is pleased to offer a new service for and by alumni: The Tribe Classified. This new section will appear in each issue of the Alumni Gazette beginning in September. Alumni may submit classified advertisements in the following categories: For Sale, Vacation Rentals, Professional Services, Services Wanted, and Wanted to Purchase.

To take advantage of this new service and reach 62,000 William and Mary alumni, parents and friends with your ad, please follow the instructions below. Send us your classified ad today!

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

1. Type or print copy using upper and lower case letters.
2. Capitalize properly.
3. Include name, address and daytime telephone number with ad copy.
4. Total amount due is based on the total number of words submitted. Phone numbers and zip codes count as words. Checks should be made payable to Society of the Alumni.
5. Include full payment with order.
6. No ads accepted over the telephone.
7. Acceptance of any ad is at the discretion of the Alumni Gazette staff.
8. Indicate issue(s) in which ad(s) should appear.
9. Send ad(s) to Tribe Classifieds, Office of Society Services, Society of the Alumni, P.O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100.

RATE COMPUTATION

Base rate (up to 15 words)		$35.00
Number of words over 15 _____ x $1 /word	+	<input type="text"/>
Subtotal		<input type="text"/>
Times number of insertions _____	x	<input type="text"/>
Subtotal		<input type="text"/>
less 10% for 6 consecutive issues		<input type="text"/>
Total		<input type="text"/>

DEADLINES

Date	Issue
June 26, 1992	September 1992
Aug. 28, 1992	October 1992
Oct. 23, 1992	December 1992
Jan. 15, 1993	March 1993
March 5, 1993	May 1993
April 9, 1993	June 1993

MIKE D'ORSO '75
AUTHORS NEW BOOK

Mike D'Orso '75 is the co-author with the subject of a new book The Cost of Courage: The Journey of An American Congressman (Doubleday: 258 pages, $22.00) on former Democratic Congressman Carl Elliott Sr. of Alabama. The book chronicles Elliott's life from the log cabin where he was born to the halls of the House of Representatives where he was the primary sponsor of such major legislation as the National Defense Education Act. After 16 years in Congress, he was defeated and returned to Alabama where he ran for governor but was, according to D'Orso, sabotaged by the political forces of George Wallace. Elliott, an ally of President John F. Kennedy, received the first John F. Kennedy Profile in Courage Award in 1990. D'Orso is a Norfolk Virginian-Pilot feature writer, whose other books include Somerset Homecoming and Fast Takes.

JULY 4 BIRTHDAY PARTY WILL RECOGNIZE SOCIETY OF THE ALUMNI

Although merely a youngster compared with the College, the Society of the Alumni passes a milestone this July 4 when it turns 150. As part of the Society's yearlong sesquicentennial observance, the Williamsburg Alumni Chapter will host an old-fashioned July 4 birthday party on the grounds of the Alumni House. This informal, family event will include food, games, entertainment and door prizes. All alumni who live in the area or who may be visiting in the Williamsburg area are invited to bring their families and friends. For further details, watch the Gazette or call the Society at 804/221-1173.

Disgruntled by the high cost of living, the murder rate, job stress, and ridiculous traffic, Tom and Julie Wagner Stewart quit their D.C. jobs in the computer industry and moved to North Carolina. Tom works as a manager for an exclusive country club and Julie is contemplating future careers.

Other updates from Tom and Julie: William Baskett is selling sofas in Virginia Beach while he is putting together a custom recording business.

Greg Brookshech '88 and Katie Sweeney '88 got married Sept. 28. Katie graduated from George Mason Law, and Greg manages commercial properties in Arlington.

Adam Campbell '88 and Lauren Hargest '88 were married in December of 1990. They now live in Jacksonville, Fla.

Ivana Rubenstein '90 is in her second year of law school at Michigan. She worked in Chicago this summer and is loving life.

Eddie Phillips '90 and Tricia Holder '90 were married July 13, 1991. They are living in Greensboro, N.C.

Andy Lilienthal is up in Maine again and is getting ready to work for Sports Illustrated at the Olympics in Spain. He spent this last summer working as a camp counselor in Hawaii (rough life, Andy!). Bern Puc '88 is now working as a rocket scientist in Lanham, Md., at the Goddard Space Flight Center. Dave Calabrese '88 is still in New Jersey. He claims he would live nowhere else. Chris Kaczmarek '88 is in his second semester of law at American. Glenn Springer, by last count, is still alive (they think).

Anne Peter wed Edward Hoffer on Aug. 3 at the Wren Chapel. Anne is manager of the Backfin Restaurant. Ed is a pilot in the Naval Reserves and a hotel manager in Williamsburg. They took a cruise to Bermuda for their honeymoon and are living in Williamsburg.

On July 27, Emily West married Charles Viles at the Wren Chapel. Emily is at graduate school at U.Va. Charles holds a master's degree from W&M and is also at U.Va. grad school. They honeymooned in British Columbia and are residing in Charlottesville.

Amy Arlean Smith and Armstead Keith Jasper were married Aug. 3 in Newport News. Amy is a portfolio manager at United Way in Louisville, Ky. Keith is a financial analyst at General Electric in Louisville. They took a wedding trip to Hilton Head.

Laura Jarrait and Peter Flora were married on June 8 in Woodbridge, Va. Lauren is a 1990 grad and is pursuing her graduate degree at the University of Texas at Austin. Peter received a graduate degree in English from the University of Texas at Austin in '91 and is pursuing a doctorate of English there. They are living in Austin.

Karen Schultz and Stephen Dash were married on July 20 in Airlie, Va. Karen's maid of honor was Julie Perkins. Karen is a teacher with the Chesterfield County Public Schools in Virginia. Her husband graduated from the Charles Morris Price School of Advertising in N.J. and is director of visual merchandising for BEST Products in Richmond. They are residing in Richmond.

The marriage of Michelle Protz to Richard Hellier took place in September in Lynchburg. Richard received a M.S. degree in engineering physics from U.Va. They took a trip to Montreal and Quebec City for their honeymoon.

Sheri Henry and Scott Rohaley were married on Nov. 9 at St. Bede's in Williamsburg. Sheri is manager of the Gap and Scott is sales and marketing administrator at Coates & Clarke in Greenville, S.C. They took a trip to Jamaica following the wedding.

David Harris has recently returned from Europe where he participated in the "Youth with a Mission" program. The interdenominational mission program took him to Scotland and Ireland where he used his talents in ministering through music.

Preston Cleland was promoted to senior accountant at the Goodman & Company Certified Public Accountant firm in Norfolk, Va.

Liane Meacham Turner writes that she is living in Monterey, Calif., and was married two years ago to a Naval Academy graduate. They have been in Monterey one and a half years after residing in Norfolk. Liane is a graduate student at San Jose State University in the master of social work program. She and her husband will be moving back East to the D.C. area this summer, and they can't wait to be back near family and friends. News of other alumni: Stephanie Planck and her boyfriend, Jim, visited them over the summer. Steph graduated with her M.S.W. from Columbia last May. Jill Walker is a the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill in the M.B.A. program there. Tammy Filerant is in the Burg, working on her master's in art therapy at Hampton Roads Medical College. Ralph Moas is engaged to Elizabeth C.

Kara Knickerbocker Collins and Charlie Collins were married on Jan. 5, 1991, at Bruton Parish. Maria Topham '91, one of her bridesmaids, returned to her home state of Utah to pursue a teaching certificate. Another bridesmaid, Melissa Houser Boodee, and her husband are still living in Charlotte, N.C. After returning from their honeymoon in Utah, they drove from Virginia to Cambridge, Mass., where Charlie is working toward his Ph.D. in astrophysics. Kara found a receptionist position at MASSPIRG within two weeks of arriving. They had planned to follow Charlie's research adviser to Berkeley, Calif., in January but they decided it was not the best move for them, so after returning to Boston from their holiday vacation in Nebraska, they looked for a new apartment, and Kara looked for a new job. She is also hoping to go back to school for a master's in library science. They hope Charlie will be finished in less than two years and they will move to the Midwest to settle down. She had some other news:

Bobby Clontz started his master's program in environmental science at Duke in January, after more than two years at Ecolchem in Norfolk. He and his girlfriend, Andrea, came through Boston as they traveled to the Cape and then up to Maine in October. Rick Crane is in his second year of med school at the University of Pittsburgh. He's so busy that they have to ask two months in advance in order to make plans with him.

Heidi Erpelding Morse and her husband, Ron, will be moving to Charlottesville in the summer where he will be opening a second restaurant. The first, Baja Bean Co., as well as the 100% Natural Food store, are doing well in Williamsburg where Heidi has been teaching third-graders at a private school.

My mom threw a rockin' party on Nov. 9, when I married John Waggoner. Sean Murray was the best man. He and Kerry Ver Streate (a bridesmaid) were absolute saviours. Without them, we would be absolutely lost! Sean is at Dardin, working hard and he has secured a job over the summer with IBM. Kerry was promoted to manager at Circuit City in Richmond. Laurie Pearce was my maid of honor and my sanity. She is working in Yorktown using her vast archaeological knowledge and is hoping to have her thesis finished soon. Robb Dugan '87, Mike Plechy and Dave Fleming '90 were groomsmen. Robb is an attorney in Philadelphia, and his wife, Elizabeth Sinclair Dugan, is working for Prudential in the finance end. Plechy is still making that crazy commute from D.C. to Richmond. Dave is working as an auditor for Peat Marwick in Richmond and spends a lot of his time at track meets.

Sue Morrison, Maggie Margiotta '88 and Eleanor Carroll were bridesmaids. Sue is working in the marketing real estate division for Mobile Oil in Northern Virginia. Maggie is as busy as ever with her activities. She hosted the traditional Troy Street Christmas party and it was a huge success! Eleanor Carroll is taking New York by storm. She is still working for IBM in the Big Apple and can be seen doing the locomotion! Other guests included Rich Hurlbert '88, who is finishing his third year of law school and will be working for a law firm in Richmond after graduation. How is your ankle, Rich?

Louis and Beth Vogul Dudney were in attendance. Louis was promoted to executive consultant for Peterson Consulting (congrats!!)

Brandon and Anne Waleski Black were seen eating chocolate mousse, actually, quite a few of them! Anne is working for Reynolds Metals in Richmond, Brandon is working for Sovran and does quite a bit of traveling. Pam Ward '88 has gotten out of the auditing business. She left Coopers & Lybrand for a smaller company in Tysons Corner and is loving the change! Lori Corporan is finishing law school at Georgetown, and Matt Williams is working in Richmond for an advertising agency.

Roy Wright and Elmer Bigley provided the music during our ceremony. They did a fantastic job (if I do say so myself!). Elmer got engaged in October (to Melanie) and is planning a November wedding.

Special kudos to Ken Collins and Kim Streng. Kim artfully caught the bouquet and Ken the garter! Ken was also a saint as he volunteered to watch our 90-pound black lab while we were on our honeymoon. He confirmed the fact that the dog takes up half the bed and talks in his sleep. Ken is finishing up his LAST semester at W&M. As for Strenger, she is working in Northern Virginia for AMS and spends a lot of her time coaching gymnastics. We still have to break in those glasses, you guys!

Wags and I vacationed in Kauai for 10 days. It rained the first four, but it is still a beautiful place, rain or shine! We made the most of our days there (and nights!) and got back to Williamsburg exhausted and jet-lagged. Unfortunately, while we were on our honeymoon, my company, Thalhimers, was bought out by Hechts, both divisions of the May Co. I guess I should have been reading the newspapers over there because it came as a HUGE surprise. I called my boss and he said that my last day was Jan. 24. Great. Then we learned that Wags' company was closing its Virginia Beach office because it was too expensive to run. So here we are, in Williamsburg, commuting to Richmond! But we spent some time in Los Angeles in January because I was interviewing with another division of the May Co. While we were there we saw Liz Taylor, Burt Reynolds and Pete Rose. So who knows, maybe we will be in California in the future, maybe not.

One last thing, here's to good friends and sharing champagne out of a bottle! Happy 1992. My next deadline is April 10.

91 Trish Davis
5432 Bradford Court
No. 132
Alexandria, VA 22311

Hi, everyone, and a belated Happy New Year! It has been great hearing from all of you during the last few months — many of you have been doing a lot of fun and exciting things since graduation almost a year ago.

Speaking of the new year, it was great to see so many of you on New Year's eve! The fun started at Krissy Lucido, Jen Sinclair, Terri Geiger and Vicki Valandra's townhouse in Vienna, Va. I got to catch up with Laura Barchi '92 and Keri Shea '92 for a while — Keri already has a job with Arthur Andersen in D.C. (You know those accounting majors...) Laura and Keri report that the "Wall of Shame" at the Theta house is beginning to fill up with those job rejection letters already.

Jules Plati came down from Maryland where she is working for AT&T. It was great to see her and her old roommate, Bridget Weathington, together again. Bridget is working in a doctor's office in Hopewell and even gives people shots.

Michelle Desmond dropped in during the festivities for a while as well. She is living in Columbia, Md., and working for Citizens' Bank of Maryland. She was in the management trainee program and is now in the personnel department where she will be interviewing for the bank. She and Krissy Lucido compared notes since Krissy is doing the same thing at First Virginia Bank.

Later that evening everyone moved on to a great party thrown by Beth West, Noelle Chalifoux and Stacy Young. I was surprised to find almost all of my housemates from junior year there — Robyn Thompson, Debbie Levine and Beth Davis. (We missed you, Laurie Allison!) Robyn is teaching for the Fairfax County school system and is still seeing Dave Hausmann, who is working for a law firm. Debbie is teaching in the area as well. Beth is in graduate school at State University of New York-Albany, getting her master's in Russian Studies. She says it is very exciting with all of the changes going to Moscow in September to attend a university there. For the time being, she is working at a local radio station writing the news. I guess that Flat Hat experience is paying off!

Mark Toner is also using his journalistic expertise. He has landed a position in Staunton with a local paper there called The Daily News Leader. Mark is doing some editing, reporting, and even some radio spots.

Eric Kauders reports that our class gift pledges have now topped $70,000! Thanks to everyone who made a pledge, and to those who haven't, I'm sure it's not too late!

Hi again to everyone else there I spoke with on New Year's Eve — Kim Dietrich, Bob Coleman '92, Dave Marshall '94, Ho Jeong Lim '92, Mun Lim '94 and anyone else I have not mentioned. It was great to see you all again!

Beth Davis has been commissioned as one of 17 US-2s, mission workers on two-year assignments in the United States for the general board of Global Ministries of the United Methodist Church. She has been assigned to the Emma Norton Residence, St. Paul, Minn., a home for women in transition.

George Ecarma wrote from Japan with interesting news. There are seven of our classmates there working as assistant English teachers for the Japanese Exchange and Teaching Program. George is on the island of Kyushu with Mike Chadwicke and Dawn Field, while Michelle Bellanca, Holly Weymouth, Paul Flatin and Alicia Foltz are on Honshu.

Matthew Ritchie, a former ROTC student, completed the Field Artillery Officer Basic Course and the Survey Officer Course and will soon be finishing Air Assault School. He will attend Duke Divinity School in September. Matthew had the update on some others:

Matt Zolly cut his hair and is an officer candidate for the Marine Corps.

Mark Dole is in Germany with an Armored Cavalry Squadron. Laurie Kakel Green and husband Dan are in Germany also. She is a Patriot missile platoon leader and Dan is an Apache helicopter pilot.

Trisha Wakeham is a platoon leader with the 7th Transportation Group at Fort Eustis.

Billy Fondren wrote to say what a great time he is having in Vail, Colo. He is working in a restaurant on top of Vail Mountain four days a week and skiing the other

Beth Davis

ALUMNUS PUBLISHES BOOK

Dr. Michael J. Puglisi '82 M.A., who received his Ph.D. in history from William and Mary in 1987, is the author of a new book recently published by the University Press of America titled Puritans Besieged. The book explores the history of the New England Colonies in the 1600s after a period of conflict known as "King Philip's War" and is based on research completed for his doctoral dissertation at William and Mary. Puglisi, who is an assistant professor of history at Emory & Henry College, received his B.A. from James Madison University. He has taught at Emory & Henry since 1988.

three. Billy is in a new band there, but says they're nothing like his old group, R.M.O.

Phil Sprinkle is working for a company called Bankers Systems in his hometown of Bristol, Va. He is a sales representative and really likes his work. Phil also said that he had a great time at Homecoming, the highlight of which was wrestling with Rob Bagby and Mike Repke on the front lawn of the Alumni House. Several injuries resulted. Phil also ran into Professor Bryce of the School of Business at the Food Lion.

Hunter Creech and Tracey Gardner '90 were married Dec. 14. They honeymooned in Barbados and are now living in Williamsburg. Hunter is now working as an auditor for KPGM-Peat Marwick.

Kristen Jesulaitis is also living in Williamsburg. She is teaching kindergarten at D. J. Montague Elementary.

Michael Molloy is living in Richmond and is an agency management analyst with the Virginia Department of Alcohol Beverage Control.

Michael and Elizabeth Tan had their first child, Philip Michael, on Aug. 24, 1991. The Tans are at the University of Maryland where Michael is working on his Ph.D. in computer science. Elizabeth is staying home with the baby and teaching piano.

Sherry Harrison is back in Florida again. She is working for American Airlines as a flight attendant and is based in Miami. We miss you up here, Sherry!

Thanks to everyone who has taken the time to write and help me out. My next deadline is in the beginning of April, so drop me a line before then! Take care!

GRADS

Mary Spitzer Etter
486 W. Market St.
Harrisonburg, VA 22801

Katherine J. Thornhill '86 M.B.A. has begun studies at Southwestern University School of Law. The program leads to a Juris Doctorate. Katherine earned her bachelor's degree in economics from Randolph-Macon College in Virginia.

William L. Brauer '82 M.B.A. of Williamsburg has been named vice president for administration and finance at Christopher Newport College.

Michal Slavik '91 M.B.A. of Norfolk, has taken a position with Cox Cable, Hampton Roads, as Primestar project manager. Primestar is a new direct broadcast satellite service being introduced to Hampton Roads and northeastern North Carolina.

Bradley Lee Roberts '70 M.S., '74 Ph.D. is associate chair of the physics department at Boston University.

David Alan Garren '88 M.S. and Ph.D. in physics, is employed by the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington, D.C.

Emily West Viles '89 and her husband, Charles L. Viles III '88 M.S., are attending graduate school at U.Va.

J. Chester Gibson '79 M.S. has been named manager of quality management for the Lancaster staff organizations of Armstrong World Industries Inc. He began his Armstrong career in 1983 and most recently was a senior marketing representative for the Architectural Building Division in the Chicago area.

Carolyn Somma Howell '70 M.A., a 10-12th grade biology teacher at Palm Bay High School, was named a state awardee in the Presidential Awards for Excellence in Science and Mathematics Teaching program. As a Florida state awardee, she is now eligible to be selected as a presidential awardee. Carolyn has taught science for

J. Chester Gibson

21 years in public high schools and community colleges. She was judged on her ability to improve students' understanding of biology, her grasp of this subject area, and her educational leadership abilities.

John A. Hopke '80 B.S. and Michael A. Matthews '88 M.B.A. have joined to create a new architecture and engineering company in Williamsburg.

Jeffrey David Martens '86 M.S. is currently a doctoral student at Ohio State University in Columbus, Ohio.

Dane Belden '85 M.B.A. is head of Hartig plastics machinery, now a part of Bettenfeld Blowmolding Machines Inc. The company is seeking new markets in South America, Australia and New Zealand.

Jennifer Davis McDaid '90 M.S. is employed at the Virginia State Library and Archives. Her husband, Christopher L. McDaid '91 M.A. is employed at the Archaeological Project Center. He has a master of arts degree from the College.

Judith Jackson '81 M.B.A. has been appointed corporate training officer with Barnett Banks Inc. in Jacksonville, Fla. Prior to joining Barnett as a credit department manager in 1989, Jackson had more than seven years of banking experience, including regional credit manager for Florida National Bank.

Judith Jackson

Caroline Kunkel Kipps '90 M.A. is development researcher at the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation.

Tama Cathers '91 M.A. is a first-year student at Tufts University School of Veterinary Medicine in North Grafton, Mass.

LAW SCHOOL

Page Hayhurst
Marshall-Wythe School of Law
College of William and Mary
Williamsburg, VA 23185

Thomas G. Martin '51 J.D. of Warrenton, Va., has retired from the law firm of Martin & Walker, P.C. where he was one of the founding partners. He now has a private office and continues with a limited estate planning practice. Thomas is also commissioner of accounts for Fauquier County and plans to continue working for years to come.

Charles R. Cloud '59 J.D. of Norfolk has been appointed by Gov. Wilder as the first Native American to serve on the Jamestown-Yorktown Foundation as a trustee.

Edmund L. Walton Jr. '63 J.D. of McLean, Va., presently serves on the Virginia Mandatory Continuing Legal Education Board and the Board of the Virginia Law Foundation.

Robert E. Scott '68 J.D. of Charlottesville, Va., has been named the acting dean of the University of Virginia Law School.

Anita O. Poston '74 J.D. of Norfolk and her husband Charles Poston '74 J.D. keep busy. He sits on the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court and she serves on the Board of Bar Examiners and the Norfolk School Board in addition to working with the firm Vandeventer, Black, Meredith & Martin.

Louis K. Campbell '75 J.D. of Fincastle, Va., recently co-authored Risk Management in Chiropractics, which has been accepted as a required text at six chiropractic colleges in the U.S. and Canada. In 1988, the Virginia General Assembly elected Louis as a judge of the 25th Judicial District.

Elisa J. Grammer '76 J.D. of Falls Church, Va., serves on the board of the U.S. Energy Association and participates in the National Petroleum Council study of natural gas regulation. Elisa also chairs the environmental committee of the Federal Energy Bar Association.

USAIR DISCOUNTS AVAILABLE FOR EVENTS

Alumni returning to campus for special events and meetings are reminded that USAir, in cooperation with the Society of the Alumni, offers discounted fares on domestic flights into Richmond, Norfolk or Newport News/Williamsburg airports. Alumni, family members and friends are all eligible for a 40 percent reduction on regular coach fares or a 5 percent reduction on the lowest discounted fare. Olde Guard Day (April 8), Commencement/50th Reunion Weekend (May 8-10) and Alumni College (June 18-21) are among the upcoming events registered with USAir for these special discounts. For reservations, call USAir at 1-800/334-8644 and mention Gold File No. 693765.

Sharon E. Pandak '78 J.D. of Woodbridge, Va., is in her third year as county attorney for Prince William County. She was recently elected secretary/treasurer of the Local Government Attorneys Association. In December 1991, Sharon began a one-year term as president of the Prince William County Bar Association and she is a new member of the W&M Law School Association Board.

Julie P. Tingwall '82 J.D. of Brandon, Fla., was appointed Assistant United States Attorney for the Middle District of Florida, Tampa Division in October 1990.

Ronald M. Del Duca Jr. '84 L.L.M. of Pittsburgh has become of counsel to the Virginia Beach firm of Pender & Coward. His areas of practice include international law, tax planning and corporate law. Ronald is legal counsel for several professional tennis players including Boris Becker and entrepreneur Ian Tiriac.

Charles J. Bennardini '86 J.D. of Chesapeake, Va., has been assigned as senior government appellate counsel for the U.S. Coast Guard representing the U.S. before the U.S. Coast Guard Court of Military Review and the U.S. Court of Military Appeals in Washington, D.C.

Sonia Bagga '88 L.L.M. completes her two-year training with the United Kingdom firm of Slaughter and May in March 1992 and will qualify as a solicitor in England. Sonia passed the New York bar exam and spent six months in the New York office of Slaughter and May.

Paula A. Harrell '89 J.D. of Dallas has left the legal profession and a large Dallas firm to pursue her master's of science in human development and early childhood disorders at the University of Texas at Dallas. Paula plans to become a therapist working with infants and pre-schoolers with developmental disorders.

Jeffrey S. Craig '90 J.D. of Media, Pa., has moved to Vorhees, N.J., to practice with the south New Jersey office of Saul, Ewing, Remick & Saul. In August, Jeff appeared in the play Deathtrap in the role of Clifford Anderson. The play was staged by the Drama Ink Theatre Co. in Media, Pa.

Howard A. Kwon '91 J.D. of Alexandria, Va., was selected as the winner of the 1990 George E. Hutchinson Writing Competition for his article "Expanding the Exclusive Jurisdiction of the Federal Circuit" appearing in the inaugural issue of The Federal Circuit Bar Journal.

VIMS

Mo Lynch
Virginia Institute of Marine Science
College of William and Mary
Gloucester Point, VA 23062

The biggest item since the last column was the retirement of Bill Hargis in December. Stan Wilson '65 M.A. made it down from NASA in Washington, and Eileen Shea provided some reminiscences about student days during the ceremony and announced the drive for the Hargis Fellowship Endowment Fund.

December also saw the addition of eight more individuals to our alumni rolls. Joe Brown M.A. is staying in Gloucester and building up his wildflower seed business. Steve Gornack M.A. has taken a biologist position with Florida DNR. Kathy Kavanaugh M.A. and Lisa Ragone M.A. are staying on to work at VIMS for a while, and Chris Buzelli M.A. is continuing on in the Ph.D. program. Joao Vieira Ph.D. returned to Brazil where he has a faculty position at the University in Rio Grande. Jiangang Luo Ph.D. and Rick Rheinhardt Ph.D. are still available if anyone needs any fresh-from-dissertation scientists.

John Field '91 M.A. has taken a position with NOAA in Annapolis working on the Northeast ELMR (Estuarine Living Marine Resources) Program. VIMS has a small cooperative agreement to work on the Chesapeake Bay portion of ELMR that supports one Ph.D. candidate. On campus, alumni Jim Colvocoresses '73, '85 M.A., Ph.D., John Olney '78 M.A. and Mo Lynch '65, '72 M.A., Ph.D. have been involved in reviewing this project.

Dale Calder '66, '68 M.A., Ph.D. spent several days at VIMS this past October, working with Bob Diaz '71, '77 M.S., Ph.D. on problems of hydroid fouling in the rivers.

Jane DiCosimo '86 M.A. managed to spend a few days here on campus on her way back to South Carolina from a South Atlantic Fisheries Management Committee meeting in North Carolina (aren't hub airports convenient sometimes). Jane managed to catch a TGIF seminar and social (the last Friday of every month). She said she is really enjoying her work with the South Atlantic Council and spends most of her time on bill fish and snapper/grouper issues.

Kevin Kiley '80 M.A. visited with Jerry Illowsky '80 M.A. in Syracuse, N.Y., in October. Kevin went up for Jerry's son Paul's Bar Mitzvah. Jerry and family reciprocated with a visit to Gloucester Point over the December holidays. Jerry got to see the changes in the VIMS campus but didn't have a chance to see many familiar faces with the holiday shutdown. Jerry is still involved with programming and systems development with United Technologies, Carrier Division.

Jim Lanier '72, '81 M.A., Ph.D. and family stopped by the Point on their annual trek from Wilmington, N.C., to visit Hope's family in New England. Jim and I along with Charlie Barans '69 M.A. also got to spend several very nice days snorkeling and scuba-diving in Key Largo, Fla., this December as part of a meeting of the University of North Carolina, Wilmington National Undersea Research Center's advisory board. Bill Phoel '75 Ph.D., who is also a member of the advisory board, unfortunately had to miss this meeting.

By gleaning the many newsletters that I get I manage to keep track of the comings and goings of some of the alumni. My latest finds are a comment that Ken Beal '69 M.A. was elected president of the Northeast Chapter of the American Fisheries Society sometime in 1991. I also noted that Steve Szedlmayer '88 Ph.D. has joined the Auburn University Marine Extension and Research Center as a coastal resource specialist and will be working closely with the Alabama Sea Grant Extension Program.

If any of you come across little (or big) notes or stories about fellow alumni please clip and send them to me at VIMS. I'll summarize them in a future issue.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

Chris Gareis
School of Education
College of William and Mary
Williamsburg, VA 23185

Pete Fry '69 M.Ed., who had been the principal of Matthews Intermediate School since its opening, retired this year.

Mary Louise Shannon '67 M.Ed., was elected to both the executive board of directors of the National Association of Humanities Educators and a member-at-large position in the International Listening Association. Shannon also serves as vice president of the Northeast Florida Alumni Chapter, and is on the William and Mary Career Advisory Board.

James J. Bergin '74 Ed.D., was recently promoted to the rank of full professor at East Central University, and he also was recognized with an excellence in teaching award. Additionally, Bergin was named a National Certified School Counselor by the National Board of Certified Counsel-

MARYLAND PROFESSOR TO HEAD IEAHC

Ronald Hoffman, associate professor of history at the University of Maryland, has been named director of the Institute of Early American History and Culture at William and Mary, effective July 1. A 1964 graduate of George Peabody College who has taught at the University of Maryland since 1969, Hoffman holds advanced degrees from the University of Wisconsin-Madison. He has written several books and articles about the Chesapeake and the lower South in the 18th century and has directed symposia for the U. S. Capitol Historical Society. Founded in 1943 and co-sponsored by the College and Colonial Williamsburg, the institute has achieved international distinction as the leading organization dedicated to fostering research and publication about North American civilization to approximately 1953. George Healy, former provost of the College, has served as its interim director since 1990.

ors, and he currently serves as president of the Oklahoma Association for Counseling and Development.

Joyce Williams Bergin '74 M.Ed., is library director of the Robert S. Kerr Environmental Research Laboratory for the Environmental Protection Agency. Bergin also serves as immediate past-president of the Oklahoma Association of College and Research Libraries and is a member of that organization's board of directors.

Jean Story Black '72 M.Ed., is the chair of the education committee of the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce and the new program director of child and adolescent services for the Norfolk Psychiatric Center.

Marcia M. Fry '71 M.Ed., is retiring this year after 30 years on the staff at Mathews High School.

Ruth Cole Harris '77 Ed.S., Ed.D., professor and chair of the accounting department at Virginia Union University, received the Outstanding Educator Award from the Virginia Society of Certified Public Accountants (VSCPA). Harris has taught at Virginia Union since 1949, is active in several professional organizations, and has authored numerous publications, including a basic accounting textbook.

Keith B. Havens '79 M.A.Ed., is currently the athletic director and swim coach at Albion College in Michigan. Havens is also the 1991 National Champion in O-C2 whitewater canoeing.

Linda Fineran Kaminski '79 Ed.D., is the vice president for academic affairs at Westmoreland County Community College in Youngwood, Pa., and has been elected to the Western Pennsylvania Higher Education Council.

Ernestine Middleton '71 M.Ed., has been a librarian in the Virginia Beach City Schools for 14 years. She ran for the House of Delegates this fall as a Democrat in the 83rd District.

William R. Miller III '72 M.Ed., owner of the Duck-In Restaurant in Virginia Beach, is currently president of the Virginia Restaurant Association. Miller was formerly the assistant headmaster at Norfolk Academy.

Michael B. Sullivan '74 M.Ed., has, for the second time, been named Teacher of the Year in York County, Va., public schools. Sullivan is currently the drama and activities director at York High School.

Mary E. Vermeulen '79 M.Ed., a counselor and the coordinator of student activities at Black Hawk College, has been promoted to associate professor. She has also been named 1991 Woman of the Year by the Kewanee Area Business and Professional Women's Organization. Vermeulen is currently enrolled in the doctoral program in counselor education at Northern Illinois University.

Dorry Hallett '87 Ed.S., is enjoying her second year as a school psychologist at Clarkstown North High School in New York. She is also participating again this fall in the Mentor in Education Program at Teachers College, Columbia.

Helen Sutton Hamilton received one of Virginia's three Presidential Awards this year for Excellence in Science and Mathematics Teaching. Hamilton teaches science at Lafayette High School in Williamsburg.

Joanna Story Heath '86 M.Ed., mar-

HOWELL HONORED FOR EXCELLENCE IN SCIENCE

Carolynn S. Howell '70 of Melbourne, Fla., has been presented with the Presidential Award for Excellence in Science and Mathematics Teaching, the nation's highest honor for teachers of science and mathematics in elementary and secondary schools. A secondary school science teacher, Howell went to Washington, D.C., in March to attend a State Department dinner hosted by the National Science Foundation and an awards ceremony at the National Academy of Sciences. During her expense-paid week in Washington, Howell met with Congressional representatives and attended workshops and discussions with a variety of national education leaders. Recipients of the Presidential Award receive a $7500 National Science Foundation grant to be used under their direction at their respective schools.

ried John Heath in July and is currently a learning disabilities teacher at West Point Elementary School.

Hal Hedley '85 Ed.D., was a teacher, coach and principal in Virginia for 15 years. He is now director of the Community Coalition for Families Inc., a non-profit organization in Sarasota and DeSoto counties in Florida that administers programs to help abused and neglected children.

Lori Kulger '88 M.Ed., Ed.S., and her husband, Paul announced the birth of their daughter, Charlotte Diana, on Dec. 13, 1991.

Rebecca LaFountain '87 Ed.D., has recently been appointed an assistant professor in the counseling department at Shippensburg University in Pennsylvania.

David H. Lydick '82 Ed.S., is an assistant professor of business management at Paul D. Camp Community College.

Michael McDonough '85, '87, M.Ed., Ed.S., has completed the requirements for licensure as both a school psychologist and a licensed professional counselor, and he will soon be counseling in a private practice in southeastern Virginia.

Amy Pierce Otey '88 M.Ed., married John S. Otey and is currently a school psychologist for York County Public Schools.

Wylls VanDerwerker '82 M.Ed., '84 Ed.S., is a supervisor for exceptional children in the Lynchburg City Public Schools.

Jean C. Wyer '80 Ed.D., has been honored with the 1991 American Accounting Association Award for Innovation in Accounting Education. The award was presented in August to the Faculty Advisory Group to the Coopers & Lybrand Foundation's "Excellence in Audit Education Program." Wyer is a member of the Advisory Group.

Sissy Crowther '91 Ed.S., former editor of Update, is now director of assessment and technology support at Rappahannock Community College in Virginia and continues to work on her Ed.D. in higher education.

Lora Kliewer Howerton '90 M.Ed., married Howard Howerton in July and is currently a guidance counselor in the Hampton City Public Schools.

Michael T. Kelly '89, '91, Ed.S., is assistant dean of student affairs at the Chicago campus of the University of Illinois.

Michele Militti Mullins '90 M.Ed., married Timothy H. Mullins in May and is currently a teacher in the Richmond City Public Schools.

Darlene Swaffin Nonnemaker '90 B.A., teaches first grade in Northumberland County, Va.

Joseph Sawanovich '91 M.Ed., is currently a social worker with the Child Protective Services Unit of Newport News Social Services.

Richard M. Strum '90 M.Ed., now works in the education department of the Shelburne Museum in Shelburne, Vt., where he develops programs for children's workshops. Strum is also coordinating a special project to design and disseminate artifact kits that can be used for educational purposes throughout the state of Vermont.

Rosalie Y. Walsh '90 M.Ed., who became a guidance counselor at Poquoson High School this fall, was inducted last May into the honorary education society Delta Kappa Gamma.

VITAL STATISTICS

MARRIAGES

Virginia Hester '64 and W. Jeff Wood-dell, August 1991.

James Nichol Deinlein '67 and Elizabeth Anne McCluer, Oct. 20, 1991.

Edward Beth Spivey '80 and John Charles Buchanan, Sept. 28, 1991.

Margaret Reeder Donaldson '81, '90 M.B.A. and Jonathan Hawkins Hood, Oct. 12, 1991.

Stephanie Ann Karas '81 and Alvin Wesley Moore Jr., Sept. 14, 1991.

James Guy O'Mara '81 and Deborah Ellen Roy, Jan. 11, 1991.

Kira Sue Rathjen '81 and Conrad Edward Everett Gruber, June 1, 1991.

Lauren Reed '81 and Kevin Robert Braun, Sept. 15, 1990.

Amy Downing Arnold '82 and I. Joseph Upson Jr., April 14, 1990.

Kimberly Crase '83 and Joe Claytor '83, April 21, 1990.

Ann Elizabeth Durant '83 and Peter N. Martino, Sept. 7, 1991.

E. Lee Qualls '83 and Ann Morrison, Nov. 2, 1991.

Mary Patricia Canonico '84 and William Anthony Sybers Jr. '85, Nov. 9, 1991.

Glenn Robert Gormley '84, '88 M.B.A. and Catherine Marie Power, Nov. 3, 1991.

Amy Eliza Peters '84 and Keith Delano Jones, Oct. 5, 1991.

Carol Ann Epling '85 and Bradley Neil Gaynes, Sept. 28, 1991.

Susannah Wetherbee Kimball '85 and Ernest Francis Rosato Jr., Nov. 16, 1991.

Graeme Bruce Miller '85, '87 M.B.A. and Michele Gaetan, Oct. 5, 1991.

Craig Tiedke Smith '85 and Ann Ross Harrison '87, May 25, 1991.

Janet Michele Artman '86 and John Charles Hines, Oct. 19, 1991.

Janet L. Coryell '86 Ph.D. and James R. Smithe, May 18, 1991.

Donna Haygood '86 Ed.S., '88 Ed.D. and G. Richard Jackson, Nov. 9, 1991.

Susan Lynn Hopkins '86 and Vincent William Childress, Dec. 28, 1991.

Heidi Reihansperger '86 and John Patrick Fielding '86, July 21, 1990.

Anita Jane Rutkowski '86 and Edward Croft Wilson Jr., Nov. 23, 1991.

Matthew John Seu '86, '89 M.B.A. and Lisa Patricia Frain '87, Dec. 7, 1991.

George Aloysius Buckley III '87 and Julie Christine Frakes, Aug. 10, 1991.

Marsha Fishburne '87 and Daniel Lewis Lycan Jr., May 4, 1991.

Patricia Thelma Hanson '87 and Charles Esten Puskar III '87, Nov. 2, 1991.

Susan J. Hurrell '87 and Christopher Dessau Payne '87, Sept. 22, 1990.

Alan Joseph Reeves '87 and Karen Lynne Ritter '88, Aug. 4, 1991.

Andrea Romig '87 and Brian Jeffrey Burns, Aug. 24, 1991.

Karen Patricia Ashburn '88 J.D. and Gary Wayne Rucker, Oct. 26, 1991.

Julie Ann Cunningham '88 and Shane Shackford, Aug. 3, 1991.

Howard P. Estes Jr. '88 and Stephanie Hunter '89, Aug. 10, 1991.

Michael Dean Fabrizio '88 and Marlyn Kay Bess, Oct. 26, 1991.

Denise Ann Foster '88 and Raul Alfredo Fumagali, Oct. 26, 1991.

Robert Granville Herndon Jr. '88 and Katharine Armstrong, Dec. 1, 1990.

Shannon Dale Lucas '88 and Edward Manning, June 1, 1991.

Corey Rochelle Morck '88 and Christopher Wallace McDonald '88, May 19, 1990.

Anne Scott Obenshain '88 and Steven Branson Zumbro '88, June 15, 1991.

Amy Macpherson Reid '88 and Christopher Lee Dassler '89, '91 M.A., July 28, 1991.

Britton Gwyn Robins '88 and James King Trimble, Oct. 26, 1991.

Brenda Lisette Roesch '88 and Mark

Evans Harrison, July 7, 1990.

Julie Smith '88 and Gustave Dahik, Aug. 7, 1989.

Melissa Haven Smith '88 and Timothy Dean LaRose, Sept. 7, 1991.

Marcy Caroline Swilley '88 and David L.F. Messick Jr., Nov. 17, 1991.

Wendy Ann Warren '88 and Kenneth Irvin Heath, Oct. 12, 1991.

Sheri Lynn Henry '89 and Scott Matthew Rohaley '89, Nov. 9, 1991.

Robert Halprin Sweeney Jr. '89 J.D. and Patricia A. Jennings '90 J.D., Oct. 13, 1991.

Kimberly Ann Chasteen '90 J.D. and Stephen Douglas Bowmer, Nov. 16, 1991.

Thomas Andrew Denker '90 and Laura Anne Gill '91, Nov. 16, 1991.

Tracy L. Gardner '90 and F. Hunter Creech III '91, Dec. 14, 1991.

Rebecca Ham '90 and Brian Keith Griggs, Dec. 27, 1991.

Kristi Lyn LaCourse '90 and Donald Francis Lynch III '91, Oct. 19, 1991.

Brenda Chase '91 and Ted Hill, Oct. 12, 1991.

Joseph Franklin Dene '91 J.D. and Mary Leonard Morefield, Oct. 19, 1991.

Nancy Shannon Riley '91 M.B.A. and Nils Holman Okeson, May 25, 1991.

Bettrice Y. Webster '91 and Raymond Gray Jr., Oct. 19, 1991.

BIRTHS

To: Pamela Rarig Rinsland '72, second child, second daughter, Alison Whitney, Dec. 5, 1991.

To: Dorian Major Bennett '75, first child, a daughter, Delia Caroline, Nov. 22, 1991.

To: John H. Wulfken '75 and Kathy Lee Wulfken '92 M.B.A., first child, a son, Philip John, June 1, 1991.

To: Barbara Susan Camacho Clark '76, first child, a son, Jonathan Jay, Oct. 28, 1991.

To: Thomas B. Johnston '76, second child, first son, Cody Matthew, Dec. 6, 1991.

To: Sylvia Lunquist Hill '77, second child, second son, Jonathan Edwards, Aug. 26, 1991.

To: Edward L. Amos '78, third child, third son, Stephen Edward, Nov. 4, 1991.

To: Patricia Dunn Newell '78 and William Talman Newell III '79, third child, first daughter, Kelsey Caroline, Aug. 1, 1991.

To: Robert Scott Redderson '78, first child, a son, Christopher Kernachan, Aug. 22, 1989.

To: David Alan Samuels '78 and Patty Vallone Samuels '80, fourth child, third daughter, Laura Janine, Oct. 10, 1991.

To: Brenda Peacock Allen '79, first child, a son, Seth Edward, May 17, 1991.

To: Lori Nelson Boles '79, first child, a daughter, Caitlin Maureen, April 18, 1991.

To: Susan E. Malloy Chukinas '79, third child, third son, Austin James, Nov. 18, 1988; and fourth child, fourth son, James Jr., Feb. 8, 1991.

To: Nora Bentley Dziuban '79, third child, third son, Matthew Robert, May 1, 1991.

To: Elizabeth Scott Blair '80 and Mitchell Blair '82 J.D., third child, first son, William Mitchell, Aug. 23, 1991.

To: Leslie Fouts Bliss '80, first child, a daughter, Emily Faith, Nov. 11, 1991.

To: Peter John Pfeffer '80 and Kate Purtil Pfeiffer '81, first child, a son, Erich John, Aug. 13, 1991.

To: Diana Rhodes Smith '80 and Thomas Arthur Smith '81, second child, second daughter, Emily Blair, June 10, 1991.

To: Mil Norman Risch '81, first child, a daughter, Melanie Claire, Aug. 16, 1991.

To: Cathy Edwards Scaife '81, a son, Lincoln Folsom, April 29, 1991.

To: Marcus Aron '82, first child, a daughter, Hannah Bailey, Nov. 6, 1991.

To: Patricia Finn Rappaport '82, first child, a son, Ian Lawrence, Dec. 24, 1991.

To: Julie Brink Straus '82, first child, a daughter, Sara Eleanor, April 5, 1991.

To: Ted Fauls '83, '86 J.D. and Alison Vadvais Fauls '86 J.D., first child, a daughter, Hilary Joan, Oct. 27, 1991.

BOARD NAMES SCHIAVELLI INTERIM PRESIDENT

Melvyn D. Schiavelli, provost at William and Mary since 1986, has been named acting president by the Board of Visitors, succeeding Paul R. Verkuil '61 who officially ended his seven-year presidency on Feb. 8 to become president of the American Automobile Association. The bylaws of the board place the provost in charge of the university in the absence of a president, according to Hays T. Watkins, rector of the College. Schiavelli, a faculty member since 1968, is former chair of the chemistry department and dean of the faculty of arts and sciences. As provost, he has been responsible for the oversight of all academic programs.

STUDENT SELECTED FOR JEOPARDY

Billy Baxter, a senior at William and Mary, is one of 15 students nationwide named to compete for a $25,000 grand prize in the 1992 College Championship on the nationally syndicated game show "Jeopardy." Baxter, a government major, tried out for the show in October in Washington, D.C., where he passed all three segments and was selected as a finalist. This marks the second time in the tournament's four-year history that William and Mary has been represented. Two years ago, Katie Polk '90, currently a law student at Harvard University, won $5,000 as a semifinalist. This year's college championship will be aired May 4-8 and May 11-15. The winner will return to the show in the fall as one of 15 finalists in the $100,000 Jeopardy Tournament of Champions.

To: Sandra Cimerman Hirsch '83, first child, a son, Eytan Avraham, July 8, 1991.

To: Sharon Jones Bomgardner '84, first child, a son, Eric James, Nov. 8, 1990.

To: Phillip Buhler '84, first child, a son, Vincenz Arthur, Oct. 7, 1991.

To: Josh Slocum '84 and Phyllis Gallimore Slocum '84, second child, first son, Oliver Robert, Sept. 26, 1991.

To: Joan Folzenlogen Peterson '85, '90 M.S.T. and Paul Peterson '85, first child, a daughter, Alexandra Nicole, Nov. 29, 1991.

To: Julie Smith Dahik '88, first child, a son, John Stewart, March 7, 1990.

To: Lori Triff Kugler '88 M.Ed., Ed.S. and Paul R. Kugler II '88 J.D., first child, a daughter, Charlotte Diana, Dec. 13, 1991.

OBITUARIES

BEULAH CRIGLER HUBBARD '24 of Lynchburg, Va., died July 21, 1989. She was a retired schoolteacher, having taught for 35 years in the Lynchburg public school system. In 1948, she also earned a degree in library science at William and Mary, and was a graduate of the Stuart Circle Hospital School of Nursing in Richmond. In addition to teaching for four years at the Phillips Business School in Lynchburg, she had served as the city librarian for several years. Surviving are two sisters, two nieces and five nephews.

DOROTHY SPRATT BAUMGARDNER '25 of Waterford, Va., died June 14, 1991. She was a high schoolteacher in Loudoun County. She is survived by her husband, Pearly; two daughters; three grandsons; one granddaughter; and two great-grandchildren.

LUCY HODGES SHEPHERD '26 of Gloucester, Va., died Nov. 4, 1991. Survivors include a sister and a nephew.

JAMES ERNEST BARNES '27 of Emporia, Va., died July 26, 1989. He was a retired superintendent for Interstate Veneer Co. An honorary member of the Emporia Volunteer Fire Department, he also received the Silver Beaver Award from the Boy Scouts of America. He is survived by his wife, Juanita, a brother; a sister; and several nieces and nephews.

EMILY ELEANOR CALKINS '27 of Williamsburg, Va., died Aug. 13, 1991. She was a lecturer as well as an assistant and associate professor of mathematics at William and Mary before retiring as faculty emeritus in 1961 after 34 years at the college. She was a 1917 graduate of Columbia College and studied at the University of North Carolina and the University of Chicago before coming to William and Mary. While at the College, she was a member of Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Beta Kappa and the Mortar Board Society. In 1942, she earned her master's degree from the University of Michigan. During her retirement years, she was a recognized authority on medieval tapestry. She was a member of the Mathematical Association of America. Surviving is a brother.

NINA TREVETT MILES '27 of Onancock, Va., died Sept. 23, 1991. She retired in 1958 from the Department of the Navy, having been in personnel and employee relations in Chincoteague, Va. Her career also includes many years in personnel administration with the Bureau of Indian Affairs in Albuquerque, N.M. While at the College, she played field hockey and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and the Monogram Club. She is survived by four sisters and numerous nieces and nephews, including Nina Bowman Olander '55.

RICHARD MANN '29 of Winchester, Va., died Feb. 10, 1990. He was a retired executive vice president of the Conklin Mann

Advertising Agency in New York, having also spent many years with McCall's magazine. During his William and Mary years, he ran track. He was a member of the Sons of the American Revolution and the Winchester Historical Society. Surviving are his wife, Katherine Rhodes Mann '29; two sons; a daughter; two sisters; and six grandchildren.

WILLIAM HOWARD MEARS '29 of Richmond, Va., died Dec. 4, 1991. He had been an educator for 43 years, serving 36 years as an administrator or principal of several schools in Henrico County. In 1980, he concluded his career in education following an eight-year term on the Henrico County school board. At William and Mary, he was a member of the business fraternity Beta Gamma Sigma. In 1937, he received a master's degree in school administration from Columbia University. He is survived by his wife, Kathleen, and two sons.

MARY MATTHEW TAYLOR '29 of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., died Nov. 21, 1991. She was a retired schoolteacher. During her undergraduate years, she was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and the Mortar Board Society. A longtime and award-winning member of the South Florida Poetry Institute, she was also active in the World Federalists Association the Poinsettia Heights Civic Association and the American Merchant Marine Veterans-Gulfstream Chapter. Surviving are a daughter; a sister and a brother.

SUSAN CARPENTER CARTER '30 of Charlotte, N.C., died March 8, 1990. She had taught Latin and English at the former Clarksville High School. At William and Mary, she joined Chi Omega sorority and the Eta Sigma Phi fraternity for Greek and Latin enthusiasts. For several years, she had written a regular column entitled "Treasures of Gold," consisting of poems and other thoughts, for the News-Progress in Clarksville. In addition, she was recognized for many years of service to youth and other activities at the St. James Episcopal Church in Boydton, Va. She had held memberships in the Mecklenburg Historical Society and the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities. Her survivors include two sisters and three nieces.

DAISY SHAFER WILROY '30 of Norfolk, Va., died Jan. 30, 1990. She was retired from the Census Department of the U.S. government and also from Colonial Stores. She was active in state and local garden club activities in addition to the Eastern Star and King's Daughters. Surviving are several cousins.

NANCY OLIVER FOSTER '31 of Irvington, Va., died Jan. 3, 1992. She was a retired schoolteacher, having taught in White Stone and Williamsburg. A graduate of Mary Washington College, she was a member and past chairman of the Williamsburg City School Board for 15 years and also served as a hostess and travel office manager for Colonial Williamsburg. Because of her skill on the piano, she accompanied many choral groups from William and Mary. She is survived by two sons, Merritt Woodhull Foster '40 and Dixon Littleberry Foster '44; seven grandchildren, including Merritt Woodhull Foster III '73; and 11 great-grandchildren.

CHESTER HOMER PORTER '31 of Greenfield, Mass., died Sept. 11, 1991. He was a retired service representative for A.R. Sandri Oil Co. Inc. Previously, he had managed the Fuel and Tire Center in Greenfield and also was an officer with the Franklin Savings Institution. While at the College, he ran track and joined Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. An army veteran of World War II, he served in the Quartermaster Company of the 103rd Infantry Division in the European theater and received a Bronze Star. Surviving are a sister, a nephew and two nieces.

JOHN JOSEPH REID '33 of Williamsburg, Va., died Dec. 29, 1991. He had practiced optometry for 35 years, spending most of that time in Emporia before moving to Williamsburg following his 1987 retirement. After earning a master's degree from New York University, he received his medical training from the Northern Illinois College of Optometry. During his undergraduate years, he was an outstanding athlete, earning letters in football, basketball and track his freshman year. He was the school record holder and conference champion in the high jump. In 1985, he was inducted into the William and Mary Athletic Hall of Fame. He also was a member of the Order of the White Jacket. A World War II veteran, he had served in the Navy where he achieved the rank of lieutenant commander. He was a past president of the Emporia Shrine Club and the Emporia Lions Club. A member of the Virginia Academy of Optometry and the American Optometric Association, he had twice served as chairman of the State Board of Examiners in Optometry. He was selected for inclusion in Virginia Lives, Notable Americans and Who's Who in North America. Survivors include his wife, Lota Spence Reid '33; a son, John Spence Reid '65; and a sister.

JOHN WILLIAMS YEAMAN '33 of Martinsville, Va., died Dec. 22, 1989. He was Martinsville's first stockbroker and operated his own brokerage and real estate firm for 26 years. While at William and Mary, he was a member of the Bar Notes Association and Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. He also played varsity basketball and earned a letter in track. Active in his community's civic and charitable organizations, he also won many state golf championships and played with such golfing greats as Sam Snead and Jack Nicklaus. He is survived by a daughter, two sons, two brothers and a sister.

ALBERTA ALPERIN ROSENSTOCK '34 of Petersburg, Va., died Oct. 27, 1991. During her William and Mary years, she was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi and the Mortar Board Society. She also served on the Athletic Association, the Women's Dorm Association and the Student Association, and was active with the W&M Theatre. In addition to her career as a homemaker, she had served as business manager of the Petersburg Hospital Gift Shop for a short time. Surviving are a son and two grandchildren.

JULIAN B. WHITTINGTON '34 of Hopewell, Md., died Feb. 26, 1991. He was a retired manager of the Somerset County office of the state's Department of Economic and Employment Development. Survivors include his wife, Kathryn; and several nieces and nephews.

LOUIS ANTHONY ROSENSTOCK JR. '35 of Petersburg, Va., died May 8, 1990. He was a retired vice president and salesman for Kents Furniture in Petersburg. Surviving are a son and two grandchildren.

ARTHUR VERNON RATCLIFF JR. '36 of Crestwood, Mo., died Oct. 5, 1991. While at the College, he joined Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. A veteran of World War II, he was a member of the Masons. He is survived by his wife, Mary; three daughters; and two sons.

MARJORIE MILLER BATTY '37 of McCook, Neb., died Oct. 24, 1991. She completed training as a dietitian with a bachelor's degree from the University of Nebraska. While at William and Mary, she was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. She is survived by her husband, John; two sons; four grandchildren; and one sister.

ANNE SAUNDERS JORDAN '37 of Virginia Beach, Va., died Dec. 30, 1991. She was a retired English professor at Virginia Commonwealth University. A member of the Poetry Society of Virginia, she also founded VCU's Poetry Forum. She is survived by three sons, two sisters and seven grandchildren.

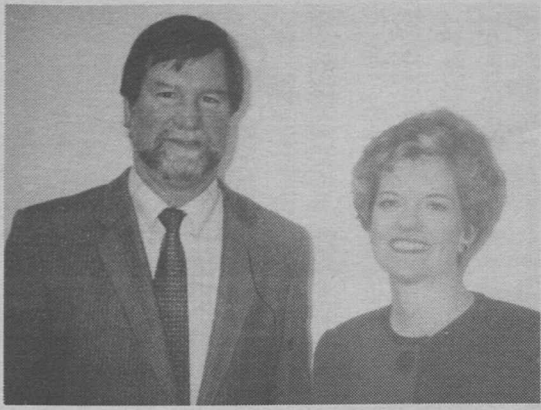

GEORGE HAYWARD GOTSHALL '40 of Royal Oak, Mich., died June 20, 1991. He was senior partner in the Detroit area law firm of Davidson, Gotshall & Kohl. During his undergraduate years, he was a member of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity and Beta Gamma Sigma business fraternity. In World War II, he served as a major in the Army Air Force. He earned his law degree from Wayne State University. The Cleveland native was a member of the Sutton Bay Rotary Club, an honorary member of the Bloomfield Hills Rotary and a member of Circumnavigators. Surviving are his wife, Mary; a son; a daughter; and four grandchildren.

ELIZABETH MUSSER SHEDD '41 of Willow Street Pa., died July 12, 1991. She has been a lifetime resident and a homemaker in her community. She had also attended Penn State University. Among survivors are her husband, Clifford; two daughters; two sons; a brother, William Musselman Musser '40; a sister-in-law, Minnie Dobie Musser '39; a nephew, William Musselman Musser III '72; and nine grandchildren.

CHARLES ARTHUR WARE '43 of South Boston, Va., died May 8, 1991. His varied business career included serving as president of South Boston Insurance Agency since 1945, vice president of Ware Oil Company of Dunnsville since 1959, secretary-treasurer of the Martinsville Convalescent Home from 1965-1980, and president of the former Randolph Motor Inn from 1963-1974. While at the College, he had joined the W&M band and Beta Gamma Sigma business fraternity. His professional years included board positions with the Chamber of Commerce, the Virginia Retail Merchants Association, and directorships with the Virginia Hotel and Motel Association and the Southern Innkeepers Association. He chaired the South Boston Planning Commission from 1973-1980. A charter member of the South Boston Rotary Club, he had maintained a perfect attendance record for 38 years. He is survived by his wife, Jeanne; a daughter; two sons; two sisters; and four brothers.

HANNAH LEONARD MERRICK '44 of Alexandria, Va., died Dec. 27, 1991. At William and Mary, she joined the Anthropology Club and the International Relations Club. Active in the Mount Vernon House and Garden Club, she also was a charter member of the Mount Vernon Hospital Auxiliary and the Naval Officer Wives Club of Washington, D.C. Survivors include her husband, John Leighton Merrick '45; one daughter; three sons; two brothers; and four grandchildren.

MARY JEANETTE SIMON BLEVINS '45 of Pulaski, Va., died Dec. 12, 1991. She was a retired teacher of the Mercer County school system. Her William and Mary years were filled with activities in the Backdrop Club, Monogram Club, Biology Club, Varsity Club, German Club and Canterbury Club. A member of the Women's Athletic Association in college, she participated in swimming and other intramural sports. She belonged to Orchesis, the YWCA, the Women's Dorm Association and Kappa Delta Pi education fraternity. She was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges. In 1974, she earned a master's degree from Radford College. She was a member of the Pulaski Eastern Star, the area's fine arts center and the Mercer County Teachers Association. Surviving are three sons, two daughters and eight grandchildren.

GLACEL AND DUNN COLLABORATE IN SOUTH AFRICAN ENDEAVOR

Barbara Pate Glacel '70, president of Pace Consulting Group of Burke, Va., and Monterey, Calif., and Bill Dunn '69, director of William L. Dunn Associates of Johannesburg, South Africa, have formed a joint venture to assist organizations in making the necessary transitions in the workplace in conjunction with the changing social, economic and political climate in Johannesburg. Pace Consulting Group Inc., which specializes in human resources planning, executive development and strategic planning, will work through William L. Dunn Associates, high performance management specialists, with TRANSNET of Johannesburg. TRANSNET is the organization responsible for all transportation systems in South Africa, including South African Airlines, oil pipelines and seaports. Glacel recently traveled to South Africa, where she led a weeklong senior management program with the company, and will return in May to assist Dr. Anton Moolman, managing director of TRANSNET, in further leadership management programs.

RICHARD DALE MYERS '45 of Tampa, Fla., died Sept. 23, 1991. He had spent his entire career as an attorney, beginning in the office of Judge Ted Dalton in Radford, Va. Later he moved to the firm of Arnold Schlossberg of Roanoke, then into private practice in Roanoke until his retirement in 1984. While at William and Mary, he was a member of Alpha Kappa Psi, the Men's Honor Council, the Dorm Council, the W&M Theatre and the International Relations Club. As an alumnus, he was a charter member of the Order of the White Jacket and served as its legal counsel. An active alumnus, he also served as president of the Roanoke Alumni Chapter. His law degree was earned at the University of Virginia. During World War II, he joined the USA Armored Corps, attending the Armored Training School in Fort Knox, Ky. He held membership in the American Bar Association, the Virginia Bar Association and the Virginia Trial Lawyers Association as well as bar organizations in Roanoke and Salem. In 1952, he was appointed state director for the Annual Celebration of American Art Work in Virginia and was awarded for Distinguished Participation by the American Artists Professional League. Surviving are his wife, Jean; two sons; a daughter; two grandchildren; and a sister.

HAROLD LEONARD NUNN '46 of South Boston, Va., died Dec. 6, 1988. A 38-year veteran of the tobacco industry, he was the co-owner and operator of Holland Tobacco Warehouse in Danville from 1958-1988. He was also the former owner-operator of Price Tobacco Warehouse in Darlington, S.C. He was a member of the Danville Tobacco Association. Survivors include his mother, two brothers and two sisters.

WILLIAM HARRISON WRIGHT '48 of Olney, Md., died Oct. 19, 1991. He was a physicist in the Johns Hopkins University Applied Physics Laboratory for 39 years until his retirement in 1990. His work there included projects involving missile guidance control systems. He had earned his master's degree in physics at the University of Virginia. A veteran of World War II, he retired as a major from the U.S. Army Air Force reserves in the mid-1960s. He was a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Among survivors are his wife, Shirley; a sister, Julia Wright Manering '42; and a niece, Karen Horneij Brown '66.

ANNE COOK SAGER '49, '66 M.Ed. of Front Royal, Va., died Nov. 13, 1991. She had retired in 1990 after 13 years as principal of E. Wilson Morrison Elementary School in Front Royal. Her 29-year career in education also included being director of instruction and a teacher in York County and Williamsburg. In addition, she taught graduate courses in early childhood education at the University of Virginia, William and Mary and Old Dominion University. In 1988, she was accepted into Who's Who in American Education, and was a member of Phi Delta Kappa, Delta Kappa Gamma, the Virginia Association and National Association for Elementary Principals and the Association of Curricular Development. She was one of the first women in Virginia to be placed on the State Superintendent Lists. At one time prior to entering the field of education, she had begun a career in medicine at Duke University and was the only medical laboratory technician at Bell Hospital in Williamsburg. She received her certification in educational administration from Virginia Polytechnic Institute. She is survived by a daughter, Kathryn Sager Iddings '76; a son; and three grandchildren.

WILLIAM WARWICK DAY '50 of Paoli, Pa., died Nov. 14, 1987. At the time of his death, he was employed as vice president of Fleetwood Snack Food Co. While at the college, he was a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. He was a veteran of World War II. Surviving are two sons, including Robert Warwick Day '69; one daughter; and two grandchildren.

CHARLES HENDERSON DUNCAN III '50 of Fairfax, Va., died Nov. 8, 1991. He was a physicist with the NASA Goddard Space Flight Center, retiring in 1981 and serving as a NASA consultant for the next five years. He also had worked for the U.S. Government at the Naval Electronic Laboratory in San Diego and the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington, D.C. A veteran of the U.S. Army Cavalry in World War II, he attended graduate school at the University of Illinois. He was a member of the American Society for Testing and Materials, the American Physical Society and the Optical Society of America. Survivors include his wife, Ara; a son; and a brother.

JAMES WESLEY HILL '50 of Mechanicsville, Va., died Oct. 31, 1991. At the time of his death, he owned and operated Hill Insurance Service, which he had founded in 1979. He had spent his entire career in the insurance industry, working in the sales, service and management aspects of such firms as Prudential, Fidelity Bankers Insurance Co. of Richmond and American General Life. He served on the board of directors of Jefferson National Bank. Survivors include two daughters and one brother.

CARRA GARRETT DILLARD '51 M.A. of Grafton, Va., died Dec. 31, 1991. For 25 years, she was a mathematics, art and social studies teacher at Matthew Whaley School and James Blair High School in Williamsburg. After her retirement in 1966, she was employed by Colonial Williamsburg as an interpreter. In 1919, she earned a bachelor's degree in English from Randolph-Macon Woman's College. She belonged to several community organizations in the Williamsburg area, including the Susan Constant Committee of the Colonial Dames of America. Surviving are her daughter, Carra Dillard Dewing '50; a son, James Hardy Dillard '59; a sister, Harriet Garrett Hodges '30; seven grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren.

LUCILLE STANLEY BOWIE '53 of St. Simons Island, Ga., died Dec. 30, 1989. She had lived in Ridgefield, Conn., for many years prior to moving to Georgia. Among survivors are her husband, Bobby Webb Bowie '51; and her father.

AUDREY PHILLIPS LUM '59 of Richmond, Va., died Sept. 6, 1991. In the 1960s, she had been employed as an eligibility analyst with the Virginia State Welfare Department's Quality Control Program. While at William and Mary, she was a member of Kappa Chi Kappa community service fraternity, the Student Education Association, the W&M Theatre, the Pep Club and Kappa Delta sorority. Also, she sang in the William and Mary choir and was named the sweetheart of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. Among survivors is a daughter.

LOUISE DASHIELL McCONNELL '61 M.Ed. of Sun City, Ariz., died Oct. 8, 1991. She was a professor emerita in Warrenburg, Mo., until her retirement. During her William and Mary years, she joined the Anthropology Club. She had earned her bachelor's degree at Central Missouri State University in 1934. A member of Delta Kappa Gamma, she also belonged to the American Association of University Women. Several cousins are among the survivors.

CAROL MAJETTE OLSEN '61 of Yorktown, Va., died Sept. 29, 1990. At the time of her death, she was on medical retirement from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Langley Research Center after 29 years of government service as a secretary. She is survived by her husband, George; two sons; and her father.

ROBERT EDWARD FRITH '65 M.Ed. of Hampton, Va., died Nov. 20, 1991. He had retired from the U.S. Army in 1963 after 28 years of service and achieving the rank of lieutenant colonel. He then taught in the Norfolk public school system for 10 years. A World War II veteran who served in the Pacific, he was awarded the Legion of Merit. He earned his bachelor's degree in engineering from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. Survivors include his wife, Katherine and a sister.

WILLIAM JOSEPH NORTON '66 M.Ed. of Denver, Colo., died June 11, 1991. At the time of his death, he was a self-employed psychologist. He had also taught at Wichita State University and the Shawnee Mission Schools. His bachelor's degree was earned at Indiana University in 1956. As a William and Mary alumnus, he had served as class agent. Among survivors is his wife, Elizabeth.

WILLIAM FOSTER SKYLES '66 M.Ed. of Grimstead, Va., died Nov. 30, 1991. He was a former principal of New Kent High School and also had taught at Mathews High in Virginia. After he left teaching, he started his own personnel services company. He had earned his bachelor's degree at the University of Tampa in 1963. A veteran of World War II and the Korean War, he was also a Mason. Surviving are his wife, Georgie; a daughter; three sisters; and a brother.

GEORGE ANDREW ARHARD '68 of Richmond, Va., died Oct. 25, 1991. He was employed in the shipping and receiving area of Codesco Inc. in Richmond. While at the College, he participated in the W&M Theatre and intramural sports. He also belonged to the Psychology Club, the Dorm Council and the Wesley Foundation. Survivors include his mother; a brother; a sister; an uncle, George Bennett McLaughlin '47; and an aunt, Dorothy Dettmer McLaughlin '49.

BETTY LOU NEWELL BRAGG '69 of Richmond, Va., died Nov. 22, 1991. She retired from the Hampton school systems as a teacher of English and mythology at Kecoughtan High School. She was a charter student of Christopher Newport College in Newport News, Va. Surviving are her husband, Leroy; two sons; two daughters; four grandchildren; a half-sister; and three half-brothers.

FLORA CARPENTER COFFMAN '76 M.Ed. of Manakin-Sabot, Va., died Nov. 5, 1989. She had been the director of the Virginia Vocational Curriculum and Resource Center since its opening in 1982. She received a bachelor's degree from Roanoke College in 1967. Her career in education began as a teacher and adult education program director in the Allegheny Highlands school system. Later, she held a variety of leadership positions in Hampton and Richmond in general and vocational education. Additionally, she had served as director of media and public relations for Delegate Rob James and as executive director of the Virginia Association of Rehabilitation Facilities. Surviving are her husband, Julian; and two brothers.

CLIFTON WALLER BARRETT '82 D.Lit. (honorary) of Charlottesville, Va., died Nov. 6, 1991. He retired in 1954 from North Atlantic and Gulf Steamship Co., a business he founded in 1932. This nationally recognized bibliophile had earned considerable renown for his immense collection of rare literature, which included more than 112,000 manuscripts and 35,000 books. He also wrote numerous scholarly volumes, papers and articles on bibliography, literature and literary figures. He served on the board of visitors of the University of Virginia, where he earned a bachelor's degree in English. In addition, he was a member of the board of trustees of the Virginia Historical Society, the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts and the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation. Among survivors is his wife, Cornelia.

DAVID MARK GILBERT '83 of New York, N.Y., died Sept. 24, 1991. He was employed in the general counsel's office of New York City Department of Health. Previously, he had worked for Herbert Rickman, special assistant to Mayor Koch. While at the College, he belonged to the Literary Society and participated in the Premier Theatre organization. As an alumnus, he assisted with the regional campaign in New York City. He was the founder of Southerners: Lesbian and Gay Men in New York, and was the New York area coordinator for W&M GALA. In addition, he co-founded the Stonewall Democratic Club. Surviving are his parents; his companion of nine years, David Caskie; and two sisters.

GRACE MURRAY HOPPER '85 LL.D. (honorary) of Washington, D.C., died Jan. 1, 1992. Known affectionately as "Amazing Grace," she was considered to be the mother of computerized data automation. She was a Vassar-educated mathematics professor and a Navy rear admiral who pioneered in the development of standardized application programming languages including COBOL, one of the most widely used computer languages in the world. She is credited with developing sophisticated technology that heralded the age of information. Commodore Hopper had received more than 40 honorary academic degrees.

FACULTY

ARTHUR WARREN PHELPS of Williamsburg, professor emeritus of law, died Nov. 23, 1991. After working for the government and private industry during World War II, he joined the faculty at William and Mary's Marshall-Wythe School of Law where he taught until his retirement in 1974. In 1948 he was inducted into Phi Beta Kappa as an honorary member. He helped to establish the Law Review at William and Mary and wrote a number of books on Virginia law. He held degrees from Washington and Lee University, Columbia University, Ohio State University and the University of Cincinnati.

We Would Like to Say 'Thanks'

To all of you who carry and use the William & Mary MasterCard.

Royalties from your MasterCard support Society of the Alumni programs and services like Homecoming, reunions, faculty and student awards, and this Alumni Gazette.

For more information and an application, please call or write us today.

Society Services
Society of the Alumni
P.O. Box 2100
Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100
Telephone: 804/221-1170

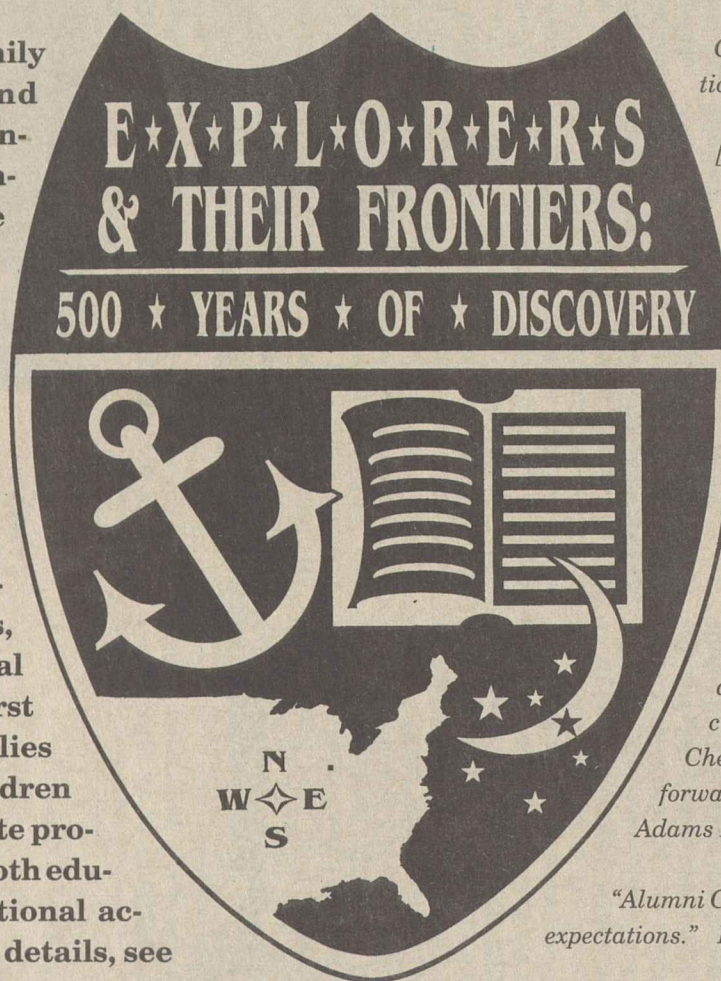

Alumni College 1992

Explorers and Their Frontiers:

500 YEARS OF DISCOVERY

June 18-21

All alumni, family members and friends are invited to return to campus for a unique learning vacation. "Explorers and Their Frontiers: 500 Years of Discovery" promises to stretch your mind and stimulate your senses with an interesting array of faculty, guest speakers, field trips and special events. And for the first time this year, families may enroll their children ages 6-12 in a separate program that features both educational and recreational activities. For further details, see page 3.

Comments from previous participants:

"After four straight [Alumni College programs], I expect excellence now and have not been disappointed." Bunny Scheie Belford '55

"William and Mary has such a wealth of resources and contacts and a truly unique setting. There appears to be a genuine willingness to share resources, time, expertise and talent by faculty and staff at the College with alumni friends and invited conference participants. Cheers! We loved it and look forward to coming again." Sue Adams Pickett '69

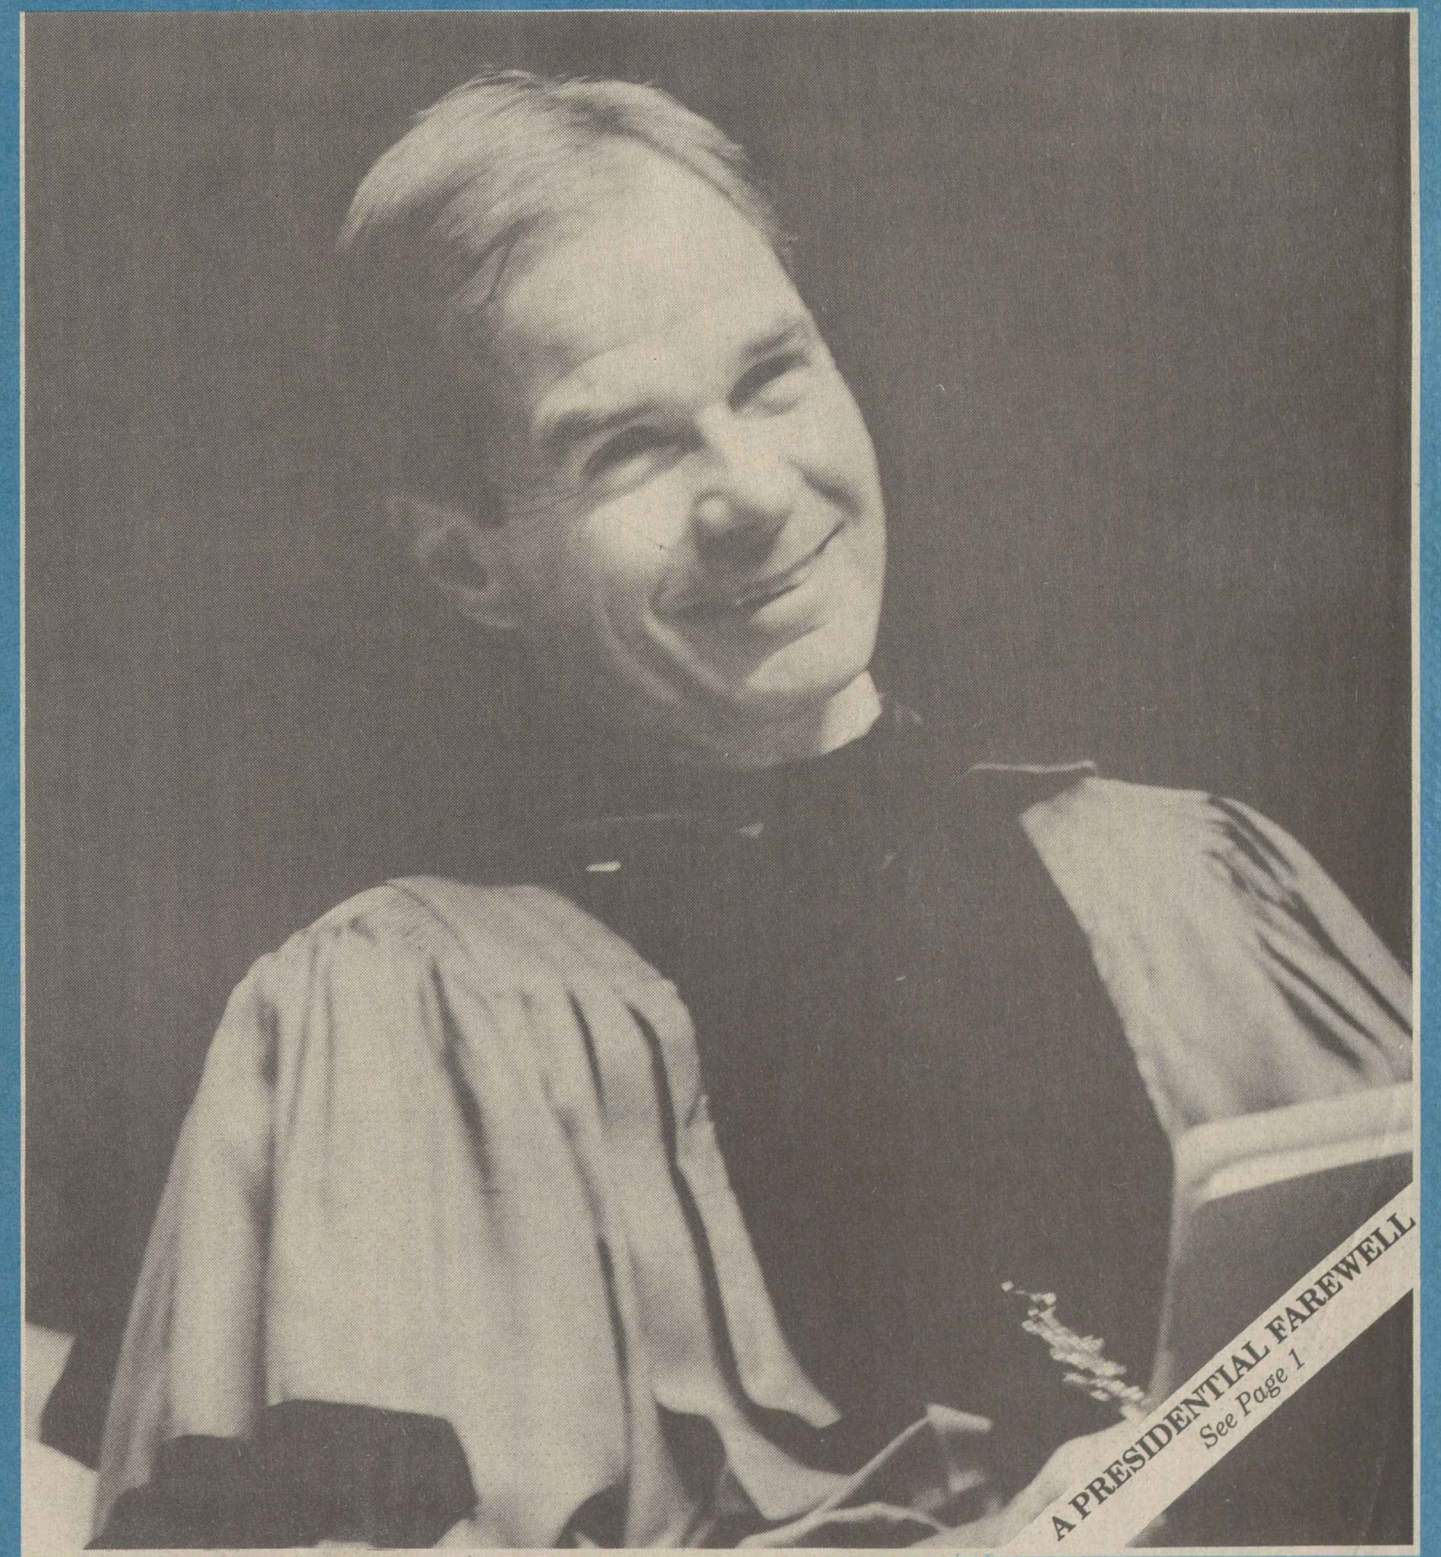

"Alumni College greatly surpassed our expectations." Kahtra Murphy Kayton '90

Alumni Gazette

THE ALUMNI GAZETTE

THE COLLEGE OF WILLIAM AND MARY

MARCH 1992 VOLUME 59, NO. 6

A PRESIDENTIAL FAREWELL
See Page 1

Society of the Alumni
P.O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100

ADDRESS CORRECTION REQUESTED

Non-Profit Organization
U.S. Postage Paid
Permit No. 1390
Richmond, VA