

Alumni Gazette

The College of William and Mary

April 1993 • Vol. 60, No. 7

Author Gives Firsthand Look at the '60s

By Mike D'Orso '75

This is what it was like to be a black journalist in America in the 1960s.

You were 22 as the decade dawned, a rookie at The Washington Post, the only black reporter on the entire staff, and you wanted to make a mark. So you went undercover, joined a little-known group called the Nation of Islam, attended their meetings and feared for your life. You met their leader, a man named Malcolm X, and wrote about it all that winter in a seven-part series, for which you were rewarded by being put on The Post's night shift, rewriting cop stories and typing church briefs.

A year later you packed your Rambler with notebooks and pens and pointed it toward Alabama and Georgia because, what else could you do? Where else could you go to find a story that meant more to your nation, to your people, that meant more to you than the movement for civil rights in the South? It was Freedom Summer, 1961, and you rode alone.

Yes, you had to take a leave from the paper because they wouldn't send you on their time; and, yes, you had to preach a sermon here and there to gather enough gas money to get you to the next town; and, yes, you carried a large cup in the front seat to relieve yourself because you weren't about to risk the restrooms or even the side of the road in a region where black men's bodies bobbed up from riverbeds and no one blinked an eye.

But you did it. You spent six years doing it, meeting the men who led the struggle, moving in the circles they moved in. Men like Malcolm and Martin. And Medgar Evers, who asked you one night over a meal at his home—you always stayed with Medgar when you were in Mississippi—what it was going to take to win this fight. It would take funerals, you told him. Hundreds of funerals. And you cursed yourself when the next funeral you wept over was his.

That was in 1963, the year of Birmingham and bombings and Bull Connor. Martin Luther King was there, and so were you, as a reporter for Time magazine. You and King were close by then. You'd watched him preach and he'd even watched you. When your first son was born early that year, King insisted on being the godfather. When King marched from Selma to Montgomery in '65, the combat boots he wore were bought by you. And when he was gunned down in '68, you wept again, half a world away, in a place called Vietnam.

You were chasing another story by then, the story of black and white soldiers fighting side by side in America's longest war. When you first arrived in '67, you liked what you saw. So did Lyndon Johnson, who invited you to the White House after reading your piece on racial harmony among the troops. Same mud, same blood—that was your theme.

Author Wallace Terry is giving students a firsthand look at the turmoil of the '60s in his course "An Eyewitness to History" as this semester's Class of 1939 Artist-in-Residence.

But a year later the story had changed. The rage exploding across America had spread to Nam. Cross-burnings, Confederate flags and Klan costumes had crept into the Asian jungle now. This time you had more than a magazine piece. You had the story of the decade. You had a book.

But no one would touch it. People were sick of the war. They didn't need more bad news. They didn't need to hear about angry black soldiers armed with guns. So they turned away.

But you couldn't. The book became a crusade. You brought it to more than a hundred publishers, and they each handed it back. Another decade came and went, the '70s, and still you kept pushing. Finally, the war became touchable. Vietnam books began to appear. Vietnam movies began to hit the theaters. In '82 your story got a nibble, and in '84 it was published.

"Bloods."

It became a best seller, but that wasn't enough. It spawned a stage show, speaking tours, more honors and awards than you could count, but were you satisfied? Hardly. Because by then you had been pushing so long, there was no way to stop. You'd put your three kids through college, launched them into a life made better by the struggle you had chronicled, and now there was no way to leave that struggle behind.

So you came back to college, to teach kids who weren't alive in the '60s why any of this should matter to them now.

Which is how you found yourself on the campus of William and Mary on a cold winter afternoon in 1993, hurrying to confront an auditorium full of undergrads who were waiting to hear just what it was that you went through 30 years ago. (Terry is on leave from the College's Board of Visitors in order to teach this semester.)

This is what it was like to be a black journalist in America in the 1960s.

And this is what it is like to be Wallace Terry today.

He's 54 years old, and he looks like a gangster on this winter afternoon, striding across the staid campus in his black shoes, black socks, black slacks, black turtleneck, black jacket and overcoat, black scarf and black wide-brimmed hat. Even his wristwatch is black, as is the Jeep Cherokee he's driven down from his home in Reston, Va.

Once a week he makes that 2 1/2-hour commute, to serve as this semester's Class of 1939 Artist-in-Residence at William and Mary. His class meets Thursday afternoons: History 491, "Eyewitness to the Sixties."

He thought he'd see maybe 20 kids in a small seminar. Instead 120 are enrolled, and even more are crowded into the school's Millington Auditorium as Terry enters the room.

Perched high in the back row is Mike Tomlin, a 20-year-old junior from Newport News.

"His name itself is enough for me," says Tomlin. "As a black student, to have a figure like him, a black figure, coming here is a rare experience. I mean, this man has had a life. He's been there. He knows things firsthand. How could I pass up an opportunity like this?"

Bridget Pool, a white 18-year-old freshman from Essex, Conn., feels the same way, but for a different reason.

"I think studying the '60s is the key to understanding the tensions that exist between the races today," she says. "It's easy to get textbook explanations and theories of the problems, but a man like Wallace Terry offers a personal perspective you just can't get from a book."

Terry's point exactly. Earlier in the day he had sat on a sofa in the basement of the school's English building, explaining to a group of students from the campus newspaper what sets his class apart from the half-dozen other courses already offered at William and Mary on civil rights, Vietnam and the '60s.

"What I'm focusing on is what I covered," he told them, "where I was and what I saw."

His bio—two pages, single-spaced—covers his career from Brown University to the seminary, from The Post to Time, from radio and television work to a stint as an editor for USA Today to his current job writing profiles for Parade Magazine. Then there are the half-dozen book and film projects he's got going right now, all subsidized at the moment by the salary William and Mary is paying him to teach this class.

When asked why, with all his royalties, he and his wife Janice rent their home in Reston instead of owning it, he says, "We didn't buy a house with our money; we bought three college educations."

Those would be for Wallace III, a 29-year-old graphic artist who followed his father to Brown; Lisa, a 28-year-old law clerk who went to the University of Virginia then Vanderbilt; and David '88, a 23-year-old sculptor with an art degree from William and Mary.

After making the front page of The New York Times in 1957 for getting an interview with Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus during the Little Rock showdown over school integration, after graduating from Brown with a degree in religion in 1959 and entering the seminary in Chicago, where he was ordained as a minister in the Disciples of Christ church, Terry joined the staff of The Washington Post in the summer of 1960.

He had no plans for a journalism career. There were precious few black reporters and no black editors or publishers in the mainstream press. Terry's plan was to write for The Post by day, take law classes at night and eventually go into politics.

"But that idea faded quickly," he says, "as I stepped into the most incredible decade of my life, the decade that has dominated the rest of my life."

***

Ask him why, with all the stories he broke during the '60s, from the rise of Malcolm X's Black Muslims to the birth of Stokely Carmichael's Black Power movement, from the Supreme Court nomination of Thurgood Marshall to the news that black and white U.S. soldiers were killing one another in Vietnam, he never became as fabled a figure as many of the white reporters beside whom he worked, and Terry says one reason is that his timing was bad. He found and wrote his stories far too early. Malcolm X was still unknown when Terry encountered him in 1960. No one understood what Black Power meant when Terry first reported on the shift in the SNCC movement in 1962. No one believed U.S. soldiers could actually turn on one another when Terry came home with that story in 1968.

"I believe I would have won Pulitzer Prizes for a number of pieces I did," he says, "if people would have realized what I was doing. They didn't know the impact or the power of these events. They didn't know what I had."

Terry stayed with Time from 1963 to 1971, filing memories for himself as well as stories for the magazine. He plans to share those memories in an autobiography he is now writing, a book called "Correspondent."

Cont. on P. 23

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- 1 Terry Teaches Class on Turmoil of '60s
Renowned black author recalls turbulent period.
- 2 Alumni Society Conducts Readership Study
Alumni offer feedback on Society publications.
- 3 Alumni Board Elects New Officers for '93-'94
Joe Montgomery re-elected as Society president.
- 4 "A Marriage Made at William and Mary"
100 alumni couples participate in Sweethearts Weekend.
- 7 SALC Hosts Alumni Children
32 high school students receive inside view of William and Mary.
- 8 Memories Are Made of This
Alumni recall happy times at William and Mary.
- 9 Tribe Baseball Coach Awakens Team Potential
15-8-1 record is best start in recent years.

The Alumni Gazette is published six times a year and William and Mary Magazine two times a year by the Society of the Alumni of the College of William and Mary. Address correspondence, Class Notes and Vital Statistics (Births, marriages and obituaries) to Alumni Gazette, P.O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100; Telephone 804/221-1842.

Executive Publisher Editor Managing Editor Editorial Assistant Editorial Intern Design Photography Composition Director of Alumni Records and Information Systems Director of Society Services Director of Alumni Affairs Assistant Director (Reunions and Campus Activities) Assistant Director (Alumni Records and Information Systems) Assistant Director (Chapters) Assistant Director (OWJ-1775) Assistant Director (Special Events)	W. Barry Adams S. Dean Olson Virginia Carter Collins '77 Stephanie Westdyke Terese Wilcox '94 June Skalak C. James Gleason Sylvia B. Colston Jessica Frank Charles L. Kendrick '82 Lee Johnston Foster Sherril Givens Holland '86 George Perry Jon Lever '91 Kristi Thornton Matthew B. Kirsner '92
--	--

BOARD OF DIRECTORS
Society of the Alumni

Joseph W. Montgomery '74, President Joseph J. Ellis '65, Vice President Anne Nenzel Lambert '35, Secretary Alvin P. Anderson '70, '72 J.D., Treasurer Robert S. Andrials '65 Joanna L. Ashworth '84 Constance Warren Desaulniers '75 Vincent T. DeVita, Jr. '57 Donald C. Fergusson '75 Barbara Pate Glacel '70 Lucy Jones Murphy '48 H. Mason Sizemore Jr. '63 Rebecca Beach Smith '71, '79 J.D. Henry T. Tucker Jr. '72 Sunshine Trumbo Williams '44 Carol Achenbach Wright '49	Williamsburg, Va. Holyoke, Mass. Williamsburg, Va. Williamsburg, Va. New York, N.Y. Charlotte, N.C. Williamsburg, Va. New York, N.Y. Libertyville, Ill. Fort Ord, Calif. Merry Point, Va. Seattle, Wash. Norfolk, Va. Richmond, Va. Norfolk, Va. Kilmarnock, Va.
--	---

RINGING FAR AND NEAR

Thinking Of You

By Barry Adams

House — providing essential assistance, without any recompense, in records maintenance, locating lost alumni, mailings, assembly of meeting/event materials and telephone coverage.

👑 To the Williamsburg Chapter that planned, organized and hosted the July 4th Celebration of the Society's 150th Year Anniversary.

👑 To Nancy Luzar '72, coordinator of the Alumni Admissions Network, and students, represent William and Mary at college fairs and work diligently to support the admissions office.

👑 To the hundreds of alumni who serve as speakers, panelists and resources for the Office of Career Services throughout the year. And to the alumni who provided students with the insiders' view via our Life After D.O.G. Street program.

👑 To our Student Alumni Liaison Council for a membership that is creative, committed and unlimited in zeal and for advancing new and expanded programs that build our community of scholars, staff, students, alumni and friends.

👑 To the class reunion committees who have been working for more than a year to make Homecoming a meaningful pilgrimage for all.

👑 To members of the Order of the White Jacket who accepted the challenge of promoting and sponsoring a "Luncheon Honoring Virginians" in public service as part of Homecoming 1993.

👑 To alumni chapters, and individually to each member, who volunteer time for community service. This past year alumni chapters have been actively involved in everything from the Adopt-A-Highway programs to Habitat for Humanity and from an AIDS Walkathon to the March of Dimes. These extensions of community service leave lasting impressions of the type of citizens who graduate from William and Mary.

👑 To the class reporters who faithfully meet deadlines and provide personality and flair through the "Class Notes" section of the Alumni Gazette. Of exceptional note are Mary Spitzer Etter '41 M.A.Ed., who served as the graduate arts and sciences reporter from September 1969 until April 1992 — 23 years. In her 23 years of service, she never missed submitting a column! Also, Betty Craighead Stousland '42 represents a throng of diligent class reporters. She recently retired after serving for five years, and made many efforts to locate and involve less active classmates.

👑 To the many independent groups from the Law School Association to the MBA alumni, from the Athletic Educational Foundation to the Friends of the Library and from the crew team alumni to informal and formal organizations that support academic departments, athletic teams, Greek life and a whole host of special interests that contribute to the richness of people and place that is William and Mary.

Thinking of you. Thanking you.

With National Volunteers Week being observed in April, the Society has been investigating ways to express appreciation to the hundreds of volunteers who unselfishly work on behalf of the College through alumni activities. There are now William and Mary alumni events, activities and meetings occurring every 12 hours, so the number of volunteers the staff works with can alter dramatically in the space between telephone calls — now numbering in the thousands per month!

The first-ever "Thank-a-thon" was conducted at the Alumni House on April 18. Perhaps you were called by one of our student or staff volunteers. The premise was sublime: "Let's call as many of our alumni volunteers as possible and simply tell them thanks for giving their time and energies in support of the Society and the College."

More than likely, however, our "in-house" volunteers were unable to reach everyone who has devoted a measure of hours and talents. If you weren't contacted but are in that category, please know that we are thinking of you and extend gratitude for your involvement.

There are a few "jewels in the crowns" worth special mention, a sort of coronation for volunteers who excelled in service and leadership.

👑 To the following alumni chapters for organizing newly admitted student receptions in time for the announcement to be enclosed with letters of admission: Los Angeles, Denver/Rocky Mountain, Southern Connecticut, Georgia, Chicago, Baltimore/Annapolis, Boston, Northern New Jersey, New York City, Metrolina (Charlotte), Triad (Greensboro), Triangle (Raleigh/Chapel Hill), Dallas/Fort Worth, Houston, Charlottesville/Highland, Loudoun County, Lower Peninsula, Lynchburg, Metropolitan Washington, D.C., Richmond, Roanoke, South Hampton Roads and Southside, Virginia.

👑 To members of the Association of 1775 board, perpetually optimistic and determined, for its sponsorship of a new speakers series on current military issues. Topics such as "Women in the Military" with speaker Catherine C. Colgan symbolize the search for understanding endemic to our educational mission, and for its generous garden plantings and annual student scholarship.

👑 To members of the Olde Guard Council Tercentenary Fund Committee who spearheaded a campaign to raise an endowment for the William and Mary Choir and provide funds for printing of the College's history. The Olde Guard responded generously with $131,000 in just a few months.

👑 To Harmon Hoffman '49 and Jean Dansby, retired Williamsburg residents, who both are volunteer workers in the Alumni

Readership Survey Highlights

Results Show Class Notes, College History The Big Winners

Sixty years ago this September, the Alumni Gazette began publication. In 1979, the William and Mary Magazine joined the Gazette in going to the homes of William and Mary alumni and friends. By 1993, more than 66,000 copies of each are being printed and mailed around the world.

What do alumni read most? How much do they read? What topics would they like to read about in the future? To seek answers to these and other questions, the office of alumni communications at the Society of the Alumni conducted its first-ever readership survey last fall. Nearly 13,000 active alumni received questionnaires along with their board of directors ballots. More than 2,300 returned the survey for a favorable response rate of 18 percent.

While it is virtually impossible to summarize all the survey results in a few short paragraphs, some of the more significant findings are highlighted here.

Who Responded

Of those alumni responding to the survey, 55 percent were women and 45 percent men. The average class year was 1968 for undergraduate alumni, and 1975 for graduate alumni. Forty-eight (48) percent resided in Virginia or Washington, D.C., while slightly more—52 percent—live outside this area.

The majority of respondents—58 percent—had visited campus in the past year and another 30 percent had visited in the past five years.

Overall Ratings

Of the total respondents, 66 percent said they read most or all of the Alumni Gazette. Alumni rate the writing in the Gazette most highly. Next highest rated are: alumni coverage, the cover and general appearance.

Readership of the magazine is somewhat lower. Fifty-five (55) percent of the respondents read most or all of the magazine. They rate the cover most highly, followed by general appearance, photography/graphics, layout/design and writing.

The survey revealed that respondents outside Virginia and Washington, D.C., are more likely to read the publications from cover to cover. This suggests, perhaps, that alumni farther away from Williamsburg are more eager for news from the College.

Comments about the magazine, and also the Gazette, indicated time pressures often keep respondents from reading all the articles in every issue. As one person commented, "I must be of the MTV generation—I am more likely to read the short articles."

Class News Near Top of All Lists

Not surprisingly, class news emerged near the top of most respondents' lists. Whether responding as a 1920s alumnus or a 1990s alumna, undergraduate alumni ranked Class Notes either first or second as the most thoroughly read portion of the Gazette. For earlier classes—the 1920s through the 1950s—obituaries ranked slightly higher than Class Notes.

Births and marriages were just behind Class Notes for '70s and '80s alumni, while '90s alumni listed Class Notes first followed by articles on College programs and events. Articles about alumni also received high marks, coming in No. 3 for most respondents across the various decades.

An analysis of the results by gender also showed Class Notes

Cont. on P. 3

Alumni Board Elects New Officers; Names Five Alumni Medallion Recipients

The board of directors of the Society of the Alumni held its spring meeting April 1-2 in Williamsburg. New officers were elected for the 1993-94 year. Joe Montgomery '74 was installed for a second year as president. Providing leadership in other positions are Joe Ellis '65, vice president; Anne Nenzel Lambert '35, secretary; and Alvin Anderson '70, '72 J.D., treasurer.

The board reviewed plans for Homecoming '93 and selected five alumni to receive the Alumni Medallion, the Society's highest award given for loyalty, service and professional achievements. The five alumni to be honored during Homecoming festivities are: Marshall Acuff '62, Glenn Close '74, John Entwistle '44, Howard Smith '43 and Tim Sullivan '66. Their personal achievements and contributions to William and Mary will be separately highlighted in a future issue of the Alumni Gazette.

Also honored during Homecoming '93 will be three grand marshals selected by the board: E. Ralph James '16, William and Mary's oldest living alumnus; Catherine Teackle Dennis '21, the College's oldest living alumna and a member of the first class admitting women; and Rolfe E. Kennard '24, who has attended 69 consecutive homecomings.

Special thanks were extended to retiring member Carolyn Todd Schaubach '59 of Virginia Beach for her six years of service on the board. Schaubach, whose husband Elliott '59 also served on the alumni board, provided leadership at various levels during her two terms. She served as secretary for two years and treasurer for one year.

Two new members were welcomed to the board and officially began their terms at the end of the two-day meeting. They are: Constance Warren Desaulniers '75, owner of By Design, a Williamsburg-based marketing firm; and Carol Achenbach Wright '49 of Kilmarnock, Va., a retired music and choral teacher.

Several members of the College community received special recognition during the board's dinner on Thursday evening. The following were presented with certificates of appreciation for their individual and departmental support, service and involvement on behalf of alumni and friends. Julius Green, director of operations for the College; Paul Morris, director of facilities management; Sam Jones '75, associate provost for planning and budget; John Freeman, director of the Bookstore; and Bill Lacey, director of Marriott Food Services.

At the closing luncheon on Friday, board members presented Melvyn D. Schiavelli with a framed resolution thanking him for his more than two decades of service to the College as a faculty member, dean, provost and, most recently, as acting president from February to June 1992. Schiavelli also was named an associate member of the Society of the Alumni.

Recently retired faculty members were named associate members as well. They are: Michael Castagna, marine science; Paul Cloutier, modern languages and literatures; George Grant, marine science; William Perry, Student Health Center physician; William Warren, business administration; and Rolf Winter, physics, who received the recognition posthumously.

The board approved Alumni Fellowship Awards for the following faculty members: Eugene Burreson, marine science; Lawrence Evans, government; Katherine Kulick, modern languages and literatures; Marc Sher, physics; and Ilya Spitkovsky, mathematics. The awards will be presented at the board's meeting in September.

Other actions taken by the board included:

- Review of the campaign plan for the Newly elected officers for the 1993-94 alumni board are Joseph W. Montgomery '74, president; Ann Nenzel Lambert '35, secretary; Alvin P. Anderson '70, '72 J.D., treasurer; and Joseph J. Ellis '65, vice president.

Alumni Center expansion project with President Tim Sullivan and Vice President of University Advancement Ed Allenby.

- Review of the 1992 readership survey conducted by the office of alumni communications.

- Adoption of a policy and related procedures outlining the Society's definition and support of alumni organizations and groups. The creation of a Graduate Alumni Council also was discussed.

- Establishment of the Alumni Service Award. This alumni recognition award will be given for exceptional service on behalf of alumni chapters, clubs, constituent organizations or associations, the Alumni Society, and in special instances, the College of William and Mary.

- Approval of the Society's 1992-93 operating budget, which includes a proposal to retain and convert two current but temporary positions that would support the growth in alumni chapters and constituent group activity.

- Establishment of a strategic planning committee, which will concentrate on long-term planning to carry the Society into the 21st century.

Survey Respondents Offer Suggestions for Subjects of Future Publications

Cont. from P. 2.

clearly the top choice among articles in the Alumni Gazette. Coming in No. 2 and No. 3, respectively, for men were articles on alumni and college programs/events. Women ranked obituaries and marriages/births as their second and third highest read sections.

In addition, the survey showed that alumni overwhelmingly read Class Notes for classes near their own. Of the total respondents, 83 percent said they read columns overlapping with their own class.

College History Gets High Marks

In rating the magazine (which does not include Class Note columns), survey respondents from all decades consistently listed "College history" as their No. 1 topic of interest. Likewise, an analysis by gender showed men and women clearly voting this as their top choice of magazine articles.

One respondent said: "Excellent, my favorite magazine. I especially like the articles by [retired history professor] Ludwell Johnson even though I failed his class."

Short news features covered in "Around the Wren" and "Focus on Alumni" also received high marks.

Suggestions for the Future

When it comes to suggesting topics for future coverage, alumni generally want more of what they are already receiving in the Gazette and magazine. Here's what emerged as the top suggestions among all respondents:

Topic Suggestions

1. Class News
2. Alumni achievements
College history
3. College programs/events
Homecoming events
4. Admission policies
Campus construction
Cultural events
National issues/trends from W&M standpoint

(Topics listed together numerically were equally ranked.)

Alumni College 1993

This year's Alumni College celebrates the life and legacy of a remarkable American—

Thomas Jefferson—in the 250th anniversary year of his birth.

For more information, write or call the Society of the Alumni, P. O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187; 804/221-1174.

From the Editors ...

First of all, thanks to everyone who responded to the Alumni Communications Readership Survey. Your feedback is important to us. The survey will provide a valuable guide in planning future issues of the Gazette and magazine and in setting priorities for the Society's alumni communication efforts.

We were gratified to read the many positive comments from alumni and were equally interested in those less-than-positive comments that indicate where improvements can be made.

Reading the comments sometimes brought a smile, a grimace, a smile—all in the course of a few seconds. Comments like the following, received in this exact order regarding the Alumni Gazette, showed the diversity of opinions among alumni readers:

- "Interesting and informative."
- "Dull, dull, dull!"
- "Love it. Gets better every issue. Keep up the good work."

Briefly, here's what spoke the loudest to us as we analyzed and reviewed the survey:

- Some confusion seems to surround both publications regarding the frequency of publication, the distribution and the purposes of each.

Both are sent to alumni, parents of current students, friends of the College, faculty and staff. The Alumni Gazette is published six times a year and carries more news-oriented articles: Class Notes, Vital Statistics (marriages, births, obituaries), news about the College, Society of the Alumni, events such as Homecoming, and individual alumni news and features. The magazine is published twice a year (January and July) and adopts more of an in-depth features approach to College and Society topics.

- Shorter is often better. Because of limited time, alumni don't always read lengthy articles.
- Class Notes clearly are popular and highly read. There's room to make this section even better and more responsive to alumni readers. As a means of generating news from more alumni, we have decided to include a "Class Notes clip-out" in periodic issues of the Gazette.
- News about alumni, including obituaries and births and marriages, are also highly read. Many survey respondents asked about including the cause of death in obituaries. We now do that, according to our editorial guidelines, when the death is untimely or accidental and we have the appropriate information.
- Many of our alumni live outside the Virginia/Washington, D.C., area. This factor is important in how we select, write and edit articles for both publications.

In coming months, we hope to implement some of your suggestions, and at the same time, continue to bring you those articles you enjoy most in the Gazette and magazine.

Our goal is to conduct a readership survey, according to random selection methodology, every two years. In the meantime, we always welcome your suggestions and comments.

"A Marriage Made at William and Mary"

Alumni Valentines Celebrate Past and Present During Charter Week Festivities

V

alentine's Day brought a heart-warming finale to Charter Week activities for more than 100 alumni couples who participated in the second annual Sweethearts Weekend sponsored by the Society of the Alumni. Joining together for Sunday brunch on Feb. 14, the group heard secrets to long-lasting love from guest speaker Judy C. Pearson, professor of interpersonal communication at Ohio University and the author of Lasting Love: What Keeps Couples Together. James '44 and Ann Edwards Harnsberger '44 were recognized for their 49-year marriage, while Jim '85 and Miriam Gavan, married in July 1992, were recognized as the newlyweds among the group. Phil and Bobbie Campbell Wenger '56 of Granada Hills, Calif., received a gift for traveling the greatest distance.

Prior to the weekend, some of the couples recounted how they met and reminisced about their days together at William and Mary. Here are a few of their stories, in their own words.

FORGET ABOUT JUNE

While strolling across campus one beautiful spring afternoon in 1970, Mary and I encountered President Davis Y. Paschall walking in the opposite direction. The three of us stopped to chat and we informed Dr. Paschall that we were to be married the upcoming December. We had gotten used to comments repudiating our choice of this time of year and braced ourselves for his reply. Much to our amusement, Dr. Paschall seconded our choice. He explained that he too had been married in December and reminded us that December has the longest nights of the year!

Dunbar '70, '72 M.B.A. and Mary Burrell MacNemar '71

NAIVE FRESHMAN MEETS WORLDLY SENIOR

We met my first week at W&M. I was a naive freshman; Rob was a worldly senior. In my naivete, I was convinced by my hallmates to attend Sigma Chi's champagne reception for freshman women (that's a dignified way of saying what the event really was: a chance for the frat guys to check out the new chicks on campus!).

Robert '76 and Anna Barron Billingsley '79

Despite the circumstances of the event, Rob and I met and hit it off. The rest is history.

We dated throughout my four years at W&M, one year of which Rob remained in the Burg waiting tables at Chowning's. . . Finally, after more than eight years of dating—most of it long-distance—we both ended up in Richmond and officially tied the knot. We got married New Year's Eve 1983. Many of our W&M friends, some of whom had just about given up on us, were in and at the wedding.

While ours may not always be a marriage made in heaven, it forever will be a marriage made at William and Mary!

LOVE AMONG THE FAUCETS

We met through the Baptist Student Union, at that time headquartered at the Williamsburg Baptist Church. I was singing bass in a newly formed quartet, and Jean was accompanist for the group.

It was one of those "love at first sight"

Dennis '49 and Jean Harrup Cogle '49

affairs. (Oh, we had a couple of spats—but even then, "making up" was so nice!) I spent many an evening at the Chi Omega sorority house, along with other couples, sharing the front porch in nice weather and the living room in not-so-nice weather! And, of course, we had our favorite steps in the Sunken Garden! (Let's face it—dating rules were pretty tight in the '40s!)

Then on Homecoming weekend in 1948 we became engaged. But that was not as simple as it might sound. I had the ring, which my minister had kept in his safety deposit box at the bank, and I knew it was the correct size. The thing I had not planned, however, was Jean injuring her "ring finger" while playing basketball, resulting in an enlarged knuckle!

I had arranged dinner at the apartment of married friends. The four of us enjoyed steak and champagne, then they (knowing my plan to give Jean the ring) went for a walk.

Came the great moment—and of course, the ring would not slip over the swollen knuckle! What to do?! Well, we went into the bathroom, soaped up the finger, and forced the ring onto her finger!

We, and those friends, have told the story many times over the years, and when we met their grown children for the first time several years ago, the "kids" immediately identified us as "the couple who got engaged in Mom and Dad's bathroom!"

Things progressed a bit better from that point on. We graduated in early June of 1949 and were married at the end of the month.

"NOT QUITE LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT"

George and I met on Feb. 26, 1950, when we both attended a Wesley Foundation supper and devotional in the basement of the Williamsburg Methodist Church which used to stand on that bare plot of Market Square across from college corner. Although it was not quite "love at first sight," he proposed (although he will deny it) on March 18 at the mid-winter's dance.

We had a wonderful courtship that spring and when he graduated on June 11 in college yard and we returned to our respective homes, I didn't know when I would ever see him again. The Korean war began that month and added to the uncertainty. . .

George '50 and Dianne Evans Conwell '53

We became officially engaged in September and I returned to William and Mary for my sophomore year. As often as he could, George drove to Williamsburg on weekends and we continued our courtship. Plans were made for a wedding in Williamsburg, and on June 9, 1951, we were married in the Wren Chapel by Dr. Brown, the Methodist minister. A lovely reception followed in the East Parlor of the Williamsburg Inn at a cost to my family of $1.00 per person with a 100 person guarantee!

BEST FRIENDS FIRST

Jim was our waiter in the main dining hall. He was pre-med and "over scheduled." Though in a hurry to get to labs and classes and various Restoration jobs, he always had a terrific smile. (I was impressed!)

Jim became one of my very best friends. We confided in one another; I "in love" with a hometown fellow—and Jim "in love" with a pretty blonde in Texas. We rode bikes together, worked on committees and sang in the Presbyterian Church choir. Jim and brother Hutch '44 had a 20-foot sailboat at Yorktown, and we spent many balmy and beautiful days sailing. Finding a crew was never a problem for those guys!

James '44 and Anna Edwards Harnsberger '44

Jim and I had talked of qualities we wanted for life's partners. Among Jim's list? Because of his fondness for singing, his wife must play piano.

Friends were aware of a change in our relationship before we were. I received my ring on a bright and sunny day in May. In January we married just as Jim entered the Medical College of Virginia and Navy V-12 program.

P. S. I PLAYPIANO!

"A GREAT ROLLER COASTER RIDE"

We met the first day of freshman orientation at the "mixer" at William and Mary Hall. . . As the evening progressed, we sat out on the steps of William and Mary Hall and talked for hours about movies that we had seen and liked. We both loved to talk and talk and over the next few days we explored Williamsburg and fell in love with the town.

Michael '77 and Marion Roby Lugar '77

On the fourth day, I got word from one of the guys on my hall in Yates that this girl wanted me to ask her to the reception at the Governor's Palace. It seemed like a good idea at the time so we went. The event was fairly boring so we picked up our mugs and began to explore some more. As fate would have it, we ended up on Crim Dell bridge (before it was dredged and improved) and continued to talk. Finally, the setting, the mood and the desire all came together for that first kiss! Playboy had just ranked Crim Dell as one of the most romantic spots in the country and all I can say is that it worked for me!

Four years later, I took her back there on the night I proposed. I didn't propose on the bridge because it would have been too obvious, but I couldn't leave Crim Dell out of the itinerary. She said "yes" and the rest is history!

We now have two children (girl and boy) whom we take to Williamsburg whenever we get the chance. We even carved our and their initials on a tree between Dupont and Lake Matoaka. It has been a great roller coaster ride for the past 15 years and I wouldn't have traded it for anything.

HAPPY AS CLAMS

We met in biology lab my freshman year (Joe's junior year). Joe was the lab assistant for the Monday-Wednesday lab at 1 p.m., the session in which I was enrolled. Every Monday and Wednesday, I had swimming at Adair Gym at 11 a.m. After swimming, I made a mad dash back to Jefferson, showered and washed my hair, and raced to Washington basement for my lab. In the rush, I didn't have time to eat lunch, so I always arrived out of breath and with a very empty stomach.

One afternoon, I arrived at the lab to find that our day's activity was to dissect a live clam, after breaking its shell against a brick wall. I watched person after person break open their clams and saw clam after clam ooze out of their shells. Feeling more than a little woozy, I announced to our lab assistant, Joe Nash, that I couldn't possibly crack open a clam and that I was going to leave. Joe patiently said, "Now wait a minute—it won't be so bad." He cracked open a clam for me and, with great fascination, gently showed me all the clam parts. I remember thinking that anyone who could care so much about a clam and who could so patiently explain how a clam works to an indifferent freshman must be special. Unfortunately, first semester ended and I had a different lab assistant second semester. As a result, I didn't see Joe again until two years later—October of my junior year. Joe, by that time, had graduated and was in the Army Reserve stationed at Fort Eustis. One Saturday in October, I was sitting at the counter of the "Clean Drugstore" on D.O.G. Street eating breakfast before catching a bus to Norfolk to see W&M play in the Oyster Bowl. All of a sudden, someone slipped up behind me and bopped me on the head with a rolled-up newspaper. It was Joe, of course, and he too was headed for Norfolk in his brand new '65 Mustang convertible. He asked me if I wanted a ride and. . . the rest is history.

Joseph '65 and Janis Callaway Nash '67

UPCOMING CHAPTER EVENTS

VIRGINIA

LOWER NORTHERN NECK—ANNUAL SPRING MEETING

May 11, Indian Creek Yacht and Country Club, 6 p.m., $17 per person. Contact Carol Wright '47, 804/435-0829 (days or evenings).

MIDDLE PENINSULA—CRAB FEAST

June 26, location, cost and time TBA. Contact Jay Black '87, 804/725-4024 (evenings).

RICHMOND—300TH BIRTHDAY PARTY AND ANNUAL MEETING

May 6, The Windsor House, 6 p.m., cost TBA. Contact Alan Jones '83, 804/360-4313 (evenings).

SOUTH HAMPTON ROADS—300TH BIRTHDAY PARTY

May 23, Virginia Marine Science Museum, 6-10 p.m., cost TBA. Contact Andria Forte-Turner '77, 804/855-2385 (days or evenings).

WILLIAMSBURG—ANNUAL MEETING

May 5, location and cost TBA, 6 p.m. Contact Jeanne Hopke '80, 804/565-0948 (evenings).

CONNECTICUT

SOUTHERN CONNECTICUT—ENROLLING STUDENTS RECEPTION

June 6, Home of Warren '60 and Nancy Taylor Joblin '60—81 Old Easton Turnpike in Weston, cost and time TBA. Contact Warren Joblin '60, 203/227-3747 (evenings).

GREATER METROPOLITAN WASHINGTON, D.C.*CHAPTER HOTLINE —703/979-1693

For the most complete and current information on Washington-area alumni chapter events.

D.C. CARES SERVATHON

May 1, Washington Monument, 8:30 a.m., no cost. Contact Maggie Margiotta '88, 703/841-3511 (evenings).

TRIBE THURSDAY

May 20, location and time TBA. Contact the Hotline, 703/979-1693.

ENROLLING STUDENTS RECEPTION

June 19, location, time and cost TBA. Contact Jeff Kelly '89, 703/908-0943 (evenings).

HAWAII

HAWAII—BRUNCH

May 16, Home of Guy Sibilla '76—3732 Lurline Drive in Honolulu, 11:30 a.m., $15 per person. Contact Martha Bell Laxson '62, 808/944-1660 (evenings).

ILLINOIS

CHICAGO—HABITAT FOR HUMANITY

May 15, 5530 North Winthrop St., 8 a.m. - 4 p.m., no cost. Contact Karen Yanity Darch '77, 708/382-1186 (evenings).

CHICAGO—BRUNCH AND TOUR OF FRANK LLOYD WRIGHT STUDIO

May 23, 951 Chicago Ave., 10 a.m., $20/person. Contact Michael Kelly '89, 312/996-4866 (days).

MARYLAND

BALTIMORE/ANNAPOLIS—TGIF LUNCHEON

May 7, Pizzeria Uno in the Pratt Street Harbor Place Pavilion, noon. Contact Lee Ann Robinson Sugarman '84, 410/547-4576 (days).

BALTIMORE/ANNAPOLIS—TGIF LUNCHEON

June 4, Pizzeria Uno in the Pratt Street Harbor Place Pavilion, noon. Contact Lee Ann Robinson Sugarman '84, 410/547-4576 (days).

NEW JERSEY

NORTHERN NEW JERSEY—TRIBE THURSDAY HAPPY HOURS

April 29, May 27, June 24; Edison, Hoboken, Matawan, Montclair, Morristown, Ridgewood, Summit, West Windsor and Westfield locations; 6 p.m. Contact Stephen '86 or Amy Thompson Furman '85, 908/755-8647.

NEW YORK

NEW YORK CITY—5K ALAMO RUN

May 1, Central Park, time TBA, no cost. Contact Ken Stuart '62, 212/644-4000 (days).

NEW YORK CITY—AIDS WALK

May 2, Central Park, 9 a.m. - 2 p.m., no cost. Contact Gary Cowling '84, 212/581-8394 (evenings).

NEW YORK CITY—SISTERS ROSENSWEIG

May 13, Barrymore Theater, 8 p.m., $43/dues-paying members, $46/non-members. Contact Gary Cowling '84, 212/581-8394 (evenings).

NEW YORK CITY—TRIBE THURSDAY HAPPY HOUR

May 20, Ruby's (92nd and 3rd), 6:30 p.m., no cost. Contact the Hotline, 212/969-8200.

NEW YORK CITY—TRIBE THURSDAY HAPPY HOUR

June 10, River Run (in Tribeca at 176 Franklin St.), 6:30 p.m., no cost. Contact the Hotline, 212/969-8200.

GREATER TAMPA BAY/SUNCOAST ALUMNI CHAPTER—Members of the chapter gather around their Tercentenary birthday card. The group spent their March 6, 1993, party honoring the College's 300th anniversary aboard the Starlight Princess.

NORTH CAROLINA

TRIAD—300TH BIRTHDAY PARTY AND ANNUAL MEETING

June 6, Oak Hollow Lake in High Point, noon-6 p.m., cost TBA. Contact Bruce Patterson '80, 919/721-4301 (days).

TRIANGLE—TRIBE THURSDAY HAPPY HOUR

May 20, Black Dog Cafe, 5:30 p.m., Contact Sandi Poteat '90, 919/859-0315 (evenings).

TRIANGLE—SUMMER PICNIC

June 5, Lake Crabtree—White Oak Shelter, 3 p.m., cost TBA. Contact Lynn Swanson '75, 919/846-0526.

TRIANGLE—ADOPT-A-HIGHWAY CLEANUP

June 12, Sorrell Grove Baptist Church, 10 a.m. Contact Lorrie Cone Pocher '76, 919/231-2571.

TRIANGLE—TRIBE THURSDAY HAPPY HOUR

June 17, Greenshields, 5:30 p.m., Contact Sandi Poteat '90, 919/859-0315.

PENNSYLVANIA

CENTRAL PENNSYLVANIA/KEYSTONE—300TH BIRTHDAY PARTY

June 12, Catalano's Restaurant—461 South Front St. in Wormleysburg, 1 p.m., $15/person. Contact Bill '56 and Angel Marfizo, 717/545-1900 (days).

PITTSBURGH—300TH BIRTHDAY PARTY AND CAMPAIGN FOR THE FOURTH CENTURY CELEBRATION

May 24, The Riverwatch, 6:30-8:30 p.m., no cost. Contact Matt Kirsner '92, 804/221-1208 (days).

WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON STATE—300TH BIRTHDAY PARTY AND SPRING BANQUET

May 6, Josephinum Cafeteria, 6:30 p.m., $12/person. Contact Gen Lo '75, 206/441-4436 (evenings).

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. —Nearly 100 members of the Triad Alumni Chapter gathered on Dec. 8, 1992, at the Graylin Conference Center in Winston-Salem for their Campaign for the Fourth Century Celebration. Seated: Bruce Patterson '80 (left) and President Timothy J. Sullivan '66. Standing from left: Jeff Oleynik '80, Jim Wall '86, Sara Seitz '90, Dan Berry '89, Barbara Ramsey '75, Richard Furr '65, Hada de Varona Haulsee '70, Rex Adelberger '61, Margaret Ann Harham Martin '79, 84 J.D. and Nicholas J. St. George '60, '65 J.D.

NORTHERN NEW JERSEY ALUMNI CHAPTER—Alumni celebrated the 300th anniversary of the College in style with a birthday party held on March 20, 1993, at the Metuchen Golf and Country Club. Pictured from left: David Carpenter '91, Chris Geschickter '87, Kay Rouse Lark '76, and chapter co-presidents Stephen Furman '86 and Amy Thompson Furman '85.

Fall Trip to New Orleans Planned

Live it up New Orleans style in the company of fellow William and Mary alumni and friends. From Sept. 17-19, William and Mary alumni are invited to travel to New Orleans and cheer on the Tribe football team as they battle it out against Tulane University on Sept. 18 at 7 p.m. in the Superdome. The trip includes roundtrip airfare, two nights accommodation at the Hyatt Regency Superdome, an exclusive pregame party with the New Orleans Alumni Chapter, game tickets, and a complimentary shuttle to New Orleans' social hub, The French Quarter. For more details, contact Annette Taylor, Society of the Alumni, at 804/221-1173.

Travis House Waiters Celebrate 50th Reunion

Thirteen alumni who worked as waiters at the Travis House during their college days gathered on Feb. 26 at the invitation of Colonial Williamsburg President Robert Wilburn. The celebration marked the 50th anniversary of the Work Study Program, a cooperative William and Mary-Colonial Williamsburg venture which continues to this day. The 13 men, all of whom began as freshmen in 1942, were in the original group of waiters hired for the February 1943 opening of the Travis House, an early Colonial Williamsburg tavern. All of the original waiters, believed to be a total of 17, went into the military service in the spring or summer of 1943. Some returned to the College after World War II to complete their degrees. For additional personal updates, please see Class Notes for 1946 in this issue.

The Travis House was eventually moved from its original location and now stands at the corner of Francis and South Henry Sts. where it is used as a Colonial Williamsburg office.

Pictured in front of the King's Arms Tavern where the reunion luncheon took place are, front row, from left: President Wilburn, Fred Frechette, Calvin Tiller, Philip Radding, L. Willis Dickerson, Robert Goebel, James Dobyns Jr., David Walker and W&M President Tim Sullivan. Back row, from left: Everett Baker, Owen Elliott, Ronnie Morton, Robert Porter, Theodore Horner and Robert Whitman.

NOMINEES INVITED FOR BOARD OF VISITORS

Each year, the board of directors of the Society of the Alumni submits a list of suggested nominees for the College's Board of Visitors to the governor of Virginia. This privilege is accorded the board by the Code of Virginia. The alumni board compiles the list at its fall meeting and sends it to the governor by Dec. 1. As part of the process, the board invites suggested nominees from the entire alumni body. If you would like to nominate qualified alumni candidates, please send their names and brief biographical information no later than July 15 to: Board of Visitor Nominations, Society of the Alumni, P.O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100.

Prospective Students Get In-Depth Look at W&M

By Phil Hatfield '94

For the fifth consecutive year, members of the Student Alumni Liaison Council (SALC) proudly hosted children of alumni who are prospective William and Mary students. On Thursday, March 25, 32 eager high school students (12 more than attended last year's program) arrived at the Alumni House in the early afternoon. Soon thereafter they were given a walking tour of the scenic campus.

After the tour, the students were greeted by their SALC hosts and shown their accommodations for the evening. These accommodations spanned a variety of college housing, options ranging from freshman dormitories to sorority and fraternity houses.

Following dinner, the students attended a panel presentation on various aspects of college life, organized by SALC member Lori Chaffin '94 who also coordinated this year's program. Speakers from Admissions, the Honor Council, Residence Life, Recreational Sports and the Inter-Sorority Council provided an in-depth look at college life and then answered questions.

After the panel presentation and an ice cream social, the students rejoined their hosts and were left free to experience a typical night at William and Mary. The nighttime activities ranged from a chorus concert to social events. All the prospective students had an enjoyable and enlightening evening.

On Friday, the students were given the opportunity to sit in on various classes with members of the SALC. The wide variety of classes attended was truly representative of those offered at William and Mary and provided the high-schoolers with a unique look into academic life at William and Mary. Friday afternoon the hosts bid farewell to their guests, assured that the students had received a close look at William and Mary that would make their college decision much easier and better informed.

Student Alumni Liaisons Honored

Members of the 1993-94 Student Alumni Liaison Council were honored by the Society of the Alumni at the annual spring banquet held March 30. Graduating seniors were also recognized with gifts. Seated, from left: Allison Wilder '95, Francesca DeMarco '94, Derek Gottschall '94, Heather Lyle '94, Deanna Buxton '94, Shawn Smith '95, Julia Murphy '95 and Jen Johnson '95. Second row, from left: Helen Jane Buchanan '95, Laura Storm '93, Phil Hatfield '94, Kay Mellander '95, Kelli Rettig '94, Katie Garrett '95, Amy Orange '95, Anna Dinuiddie '96, Mark Filippone '95, Cary Zimmerman '94 and Kathryn Deutsch '95. Third row, from left: Laura Bryant '96, Chris Lando '95, Brook Straeten '94, Lisa Hudson '95, Maddie Shapiro '96, Mark Dix '95, Tim Kelly '94, Stephanie Goode '96 and Kevin McDonald '94. Not pictured: Lori Chaffin '94, Wendy Cohen '94, Carol McCormack '94, Lisa Romano '95 and Mark Weiner '95.

Is There "Life After D.O.G. Street"?

By Terese Wilcox '94

The answer to that question is easy for all the seniors who participated in the Society of the Alumni's "Life After D.O.G. Street" Program. Four sessions featured alumni panelists answering questions about practical concerns that William and Mary's 1993 graduates will face in the future.

Many students learned that stretching a salary is not as easy as it may appear, in the "It Costs How Much?!" session on March 23. Tips for managing new-found independence, with an emphasis on budgeting and selecting benefits packages and insurance, was the focus. Alumni members included two employee benefits specialists: Sid Spencer '80 and Bob Spicknall '80 as well as Karen Coltrane '87, director of the William and Mary Annual Fund and a former bank officer.

The March 24 "For Women Only: Mapping Out Your Pathway to Success" program addressed women's questions about opportunities and alternatives in the working world and gave approaches on how to balance personal and professional commitments. The panelists suggested that many barriers can be overcome through networking in William and Mary alumni chapters. Participants included: Mary Lloyd Sinnott Parks '83, attorney; Anne Moore Pratt '70, associate director of the State Council of Higher Education; Jane B. Ferguson '77, chief of services at Navy Family Services Center; and Bess Littlefield '86, director of alumni affairs for the Medical College of Virginia.

During "A New Car! - Tips On Purchase and Maintenance" on March 31, students met car sales and repair professionals who guided them through the maze of purchase, finance and maintenance options. S. Bryan Chandler '68, new car dealer, and Williamsburg car repair specialist Billy Scruggs were the featured speakers.

"Minority Issues in the Workplace" provided an experienced perspective on the multicultural professional environment in the '90s. The April 7 discussion featured members of the Hulon Willis Association of the Society of the Alumni. Speakers were: Mitzi Stallings '81, who holds a master's degree in sociology; Gerald Carter '83, attorney; Michelle Ferebee '83, electronic engineer; and Elizabeth Gail McClenny '83, who holds a master's degree of library science and works at Old Dominion University libraries.

Members of the Student Alumni Liaison Council (SALC) hosted the fifth annual Student Host Program for children of William and Mary alumni. Among the many SALC hosts and 32 high school students attending were: Wendy Ark of Hackettstown, NJ, daughter of WongFu Ark '57; Cybele Phillips of Richmond, daughter of Michael W. Joseph '74; Deanna Buxton '95, recently elected secretary-historian for the SALC; Jeanne Brazell of Charlottesville, daughter of Karen Scheller Brazell '74, and Kelli Rettig '94, SALC member.

Memories...

With 1993 marking the Tercentenary year of the College, it is a time to look back and look forward at the events which make William and Mary an important part of our lives as students and as alumni. As a result of the book Traditions, Myths & Memories, many alumni have shared their memories of college days. Following are a few which did not appear in the book. We hope to share more of these special memories with you throughout 1993.

Alvin P. Anderson '70, '72 J.D. shares a letter written by his grandfather, Alfred S. Anderson '01. While at the College, the elder Anderson was a member of the football team. He later became a Presbyterian minister and sent four sons, two grandsons and a granddaughter to the College.

Williamsburg, Va.
Nov. 9, 1897

Dear Mother:

Your letter came yesterday with ever so much news in it especially about that wreck, that accounts for my not hearing from you I suppose. I did not get Sadie's letter at all; yours was the first in two weeks. I have not called on Meri for any money since leaving Richmond. My board is paid up to the seventh of November which was last Sunday; then for necessary articles such as composition books, paper and so on I owe forty-five cents. Professor Bird required all the state students to join a literary society which cost five dollars a year.

I am not obliged to pay the latter right away but it is through the favor of the President and the sooner it is paid the better.

The reason I did not write this before was because I was expecting to hear from you all on the subject and I thought you knew all the particulars.

When Papa gets back make him write me a letter telling all about his trip. Is cousin Meri going with him? I wish so much I could take that trip.

Tell everybody to prepare themselves for what is coming now, what do you think Professor Hall told me I was studying too hard and so did Dr. Hankins. Don't everybody think that is something remarkable. I think I am getting along very well in everything except math and moral science.

In math I always get the lesson and work all the examples but Professor Stubbs is so fast and accurate that when I come to class I can't keep up with him; but I can see an improvement in my self already.

I suppose you saw by the papers that W&M had a game of football with Columbian University on Saturday, which is next to the best team in the south. I was asked to play on Columbian as they lacked one man who had been hurt in a game with V.M.I. so I took his place and felt very grand as I stood up by the side of those giants weighing from 180 to 225 pounds. It was a fine game so everybody that saw it said. Not one man got mad or out of temper but played a fare and square game.

Goodbye. Your son,
Alfred S. Anderson

P.S. Give my love to all the Caffmans and cousin Meri. The score of the football game was 30 to 0 in favor of Columbian.

An early William and Mary football team poses for a photo in front of the ivy-covered Wren Building. Among them is Alfred S. Anderson '01, who stands on the back row, second from right. Anderson once played for the other team (Columbian), because their team was short one man; Columbian won the game 30-0.

Virginia Forwood Pate Wetter '40, remembers spending Saturday nights with eight other coeds during 1936-37. Pressures of classwork gave way as the group got together to talk and snack! Wetter is now chairman of the board at Chesapeake Broadcasting Corp. in Havre De Grace, Md.

During the term 1936-1937, a group of coeds living on the first floor of the West Wing of Barrett Hall found that they had much more in common than just being students at the College of William and Mary. As their friendships grew, they realized that there was an overriding commonality between them: they were overworked! So, every Saturday evening after curfew, they met for fun, and snacks, of course. They decided they needed a name (all being members of different sororities) and it had to go with the word "overworked."

Combing through the dictionary (in the o's, naturally), they settled on the word "okapi" and named themselves the Order of Overworked Okapis with absolutely no mission except to get together about midnight on Saturday nights, to talk, to eat, to relax and to have fun after a hard week. Their last meeting was May 15, 1937; and sadly, they have never all been together again at the same time. However, even the Washington Post took note of their brief existence!

The members were Mollie Waters '38, a junior transfer from Hood College in Maryland; Betty Oldfield '37, Ann Whitehurst '37, Kathleen "Cappy" Peak '37, senior transfers from the Norfolk division of William and Mary (this being the last year that students could spend three years at the Division and come up to Williamsburg for the senior year); and the following freshmen: Mildred Shepherd '40 from Virginia, Lee Phillips '40 and Lany Styer '40 from New Jersey, Dinny Forwood '40 and Jayne Magée '40 from Maryland.

Virginia Forwood Pate Wetter '40, as she appeared in the 1940 Colonial Echo.

The 1985-86 William and Mary Choir gather together in front of the Wren Building. Kristen White '86 appears on the front row, fifth person from right.

A William and Mary Choir member recalls performances past, and friends future. Since leaving the College, Kristen M. White '86 has served as class reporter since 1987.

We arrived at William and Mary from many walks of life and were each unique in our own special ways. But when we came together beneath the trees which bend over Ewell Hall, we did so because there existed among us a common thread: the desire to sing and make beautiful music for both ourselves and others to enjoy. William and Mary will always be near and dear to my heart, as it was there that I learned so much about both academia and living, and made so many new friends. My heart is full of beautiful memories of my alma mater, and many of the fondest of those are associated with those years during which I raised my voice in song with the William and Mary Choir.

Although rehearsals were sometimes taxing and often draining, and usually interfered with Friday afternoon "happy hour" activities, the end result was well worth the sacrifice and time. When many friends were finishing up their academic day at 3 o'clock each afternoon, I was making my way across the leaf-strewn brick pathways to Ewell Hall and choir practice. It was here that I learned about teamwork, perfection and the beauty of music.

The driving force behind our group was Dr. Frank Lendrim, an extraordinary professor and music scholar in his own right. When Dr. Lendrim shared with us his talents and imparted his wisdom, the result was a harmonious sound to be enjoyed by all who listened and took part. During Homecoming weekend, we performed at the Sunset Ceremony in Wren Courtyard. Later that semester, we shared an evening of song with those who visited for Parents Weekend. Later still, we sang tidings of joy before a full house at Phi Beta Kappa Hall, and later served as "backup" for President Graves during the reading of How the Grinch Stole Christmas. Each March found us traveling to new towns and cities for our annual choir tour. Then, just as our ties were strengthened, the year came to a close, and we sang the Alma Mater together one last time at the Commencement ceremony. We graduated and went our separate ways, but many of us continue to keep in touch, our love for music our common bond.

During my two years as a member of the William and Mary Choir, friendships were forged, memories shared and lessons learned about both music and life. Each year I relive those days when the William and Mary Choir travels to Northern Virginia as part of their annual Spring Tour. As the concert begins and lyrical music resounds throughout the auditorium, I am reminded of my days at William and Mary, of the many special people I met there, and of all that William and Mary offered me then and continues to do for me today. And at the evening's end, when the last notes are sung and the choir members have left the stage, I once again realize just how much being part of the William and Mary Choir meant to me.

Thanks for all the recipes and food memories

An update from Jackie Legg '60, editor of the upcoming William & Mary Cookbook

The cookbook committee has received many special recipe requests ranging from The Travis House Oysters, to the famous Rum Buns from Thieme's Inn, to Corner Greek's Cinnamon Rolls, King's Arms Peanut Soup, The Tin Roof Sundae from Rexall No. 1 or 2, Square Biscuits from the Chickahominy House, Christiana Campbell's Crab Imperial, Champagne Cocktails from the Williamsburg Lodge, Long Island Iced Tea from The Trellis, and Lobster Dien Bien from Nick's Seafood Pavilion. By far the most requested recipes have been for The Cheese Shoppe's world-famous House Dressing and for the secret to the mouth-watering taste of a Hot Holly from Paul's Deli!

Rice pudding is in a category by itself. We must have all eaten rice pudding all four years at William and Mary and everyone had their favorite! The requests plead for the authentic rice pudding recipes from Corner Greek's, Rousseau's and George's.

How we did love to eat! And our fond reminiscences of great meals seem to be among our most treasured college memories. Without your letters how would we have known that during the early days of the restoration John D. Rockefeller often walked over to Trinkle Hall and dined with the students in the special dining room, or about all the wonderful sorority house weeknight specials or about the "gourmet" dormitory hot plate dinners?

Who among you has even more food memories or has one of the requested recipes or knows of a contact for one of the long-remembered recipes? There is still time to send in recipes and dining reminiscences but the FINAL DEADLINE is June 1. Please call the Alumni House to get a recipe form, or to provide information about a requested recipe. Call 804/221-1164.

Your contributions have been superb, but we need more! It's your cookbook...help us make it great! Send in your recipes and memories TODAY!

Two-sport star Shawn Knight leads the Tribe baseball team at third base. During the football season, Knight stars at quarterback.

New Tribe Baseball Coach Awakens Team's Potential

By Bob Jeffrey '74

Jim Farr wants to awaken a sleeping giant. That's his metaphor for the potential inherent in William and Mary baseball.

"We've got so many pluses at this institution," said Farr, the Tribe's new baseball coach. "There are a number of kids out there who are both excellent students and top baseball prospects. Other top academic institutions like Stanford and Duke have shown that it can be done."

Long a poor relation among Tribe sports, the baseball team already picked up the new attitude from the coach. And it's only the beginning.

"This is a year in transition," said Farr, who came to the College after a big-league pitching career. "We've already snuck up on a few people this season."

"We're 15-8-1 right now, but we've dropped two one-run games and three two-run games. We've only been out of two games all season," Farr said.

Coming from a team that went 17-29 the previous season and had its best returning pitcher transfer out of the program, the turnaround has been striking.

"Our first priority was a change in attitude. We're trying to teach solid work habits and a sense of dedication to doing things the right way, on and off the field," said Farr.

"We've been very pleased with how the kids have responded. They're really playing hard," Farr said.

Farr himself is a good example of doing things right. After a stellar four years at Penn State, Farr was drafted by the Texas Rangers. He played in the organization from 1978-85, making it to the big leagues in 1982 and 1983. A relief ace, Farr compiled a 2.50 ERA in 1982.

After an elbow injury ended his major league career, Farr returned to Penn State as assistant baseball coach and instructor at the College of Health and Human Development. He moved to Old Dominion in 1988 where he acted as assistant coach and director of recruiting. The Monarchs achieved top 25 status during that period.

A highlight of Farr's rookie season as Tribe skipper was a victory over nationally ranked Duke, 9-8, in Durham. More recently the Tribe battled the 18th-ranked Blue Devils to a 5-5 tie at Cary Stadium before the game was called due to darkness.

The most dynamic addition to the squad has been the full-time availability of Shawn Knight, quarterback of the football team. A three-time all-district shortstop at Maury High School, Knight played only sparingly last season after nailing down the starting signal caller's job in spring football practice.

Baseball coach Jim Farr

"Our first priority was a change in attitude. We're trying to teach solid work habits and a sense of dedication to doing things the right way, on and off the field."

This year he's able to devote his athletic energies to the diamond and it's paying off. He's currently leading the team with a .328 batting average and has 18 stolen bases in 21 attempts.

"Shawn really gives us another dimension," said Farr. "With his foot speed and playing the middle infield he'll definitely get a look from the pro scouts."

"He's still a little raw and needs more work at the plate, but after another year he should get a chance to play professional baseball," said Farr.

Knight would relish that opportunity. "I guess that's every player's dream," he said. "I used to lay in bed at night and listen to big league games on the radio and try to picture myself in that type of situation."

Though he misses the camaraderie of his gridiron teammates, Knight feels that he has benefited from coach Farr's experience and philosophy on the diamond. "We've adopted a much more aggressive style of play. We're not just waiting to win; we expect to win and we're going out and making things happen," he said.

Knight isn't the only one running the bases with abandon. The team has swiped 76 bases in 21 games, to only 35 for the opposition.

"Coach Farr likes to put as much pressure on the opponent as possible," said senior third baseman Alex Creighton, an All-CAA selection last year.

Creighton is batting over .300 and leads the team with 10 extra base hits. He cited the positive effect of Farr's teaching ability. "There's a difference between being a good player and knowing how to teach the game. Coach Farr and coach (John) Cole are both really good at conveying their knowledge. They have lots of drills and plays, but they also have an overall system," he said.

Creighton recently enjoyed a dream weekend at the plate, going five for six in a double-header split against Richmond. He was two for three with a home run in a 7-3 loss in the opener, then went three for three in a 6-1 victory in the nightcap.

A pre-med student, Creighton is a candidate for academic All-America candidate as well.

The Tribe is showing a good offensive balance between speed and power. Junior Mike Ruberti has poked four home runs and has 26 RBIs. An All-CAA outfielder last season, Ruberti is seeing some time at first base.

Catcher Daryl Zaslow and second baseman Brian Jenkins have made the team solid up the middle, though Jenkins suffered a wrist injury sliding into second in a 14-2 blowout over Drexel.

With a former major league pitcher like Farr at the helm, it's not surprising that the Tribe's hurlers have shown improvement. "We've learned a lot in a short time," said Scott Spears, senior right handed hurler.

Spears is an apt pupil, having gone the distance in a 1-0 win over Liberty University, the first complete game shutout for a Tribe pitcher in five years. He followed up that performance with seven more shutout innings in a 2-0 win over Richmond. The senior transfer from Hampden-Sydney is 3-0 in 37 innings of work.

Sophomore Mike Ragsdale has been brilliant, going 4-0 with a 3.14 ERA. Farr is working to augment Ragsdale's pitching repertoire by adding a slider to his already formidable fastball and changeup.

Coming out of the bullpen are David Fletcher and Adam Butler. Fletcher leads the staff with a 2.08 ERA over 21 innings, while Butler is close behind with two saves to go along with his 2.31 ERA.

The squad shows promise with a multitude of talented freshmen and sophomores waiting in the wings. In the rout of Drexel rookie first baseman Mike Laskofski pounded a grand slam and a double in his first two at bats.

Sophomore catcher Greg Zulli is batting .316 while sharing time with Zaslow.

Next year's incoming class looks even stronger. "We've got an outstanding group coming in next fall. They'll understand the system even better," said Farr.

Farr realizes that developing the future potential of the program is dependent on recruiting. "We can have a successful baseball program here, but we've got to work to change things," he said.

The struggle, as always, comes with the limited level of scholarship funding. "The top schools are all fully funded. We're working with only about 25% funding where scholarships are concerned. It becomes difficult to compete when we're recruiting the top kids. We have so many attractive things to offer, but for the students and their families it usually comes down to dollars and cents," he said.

Meanwhile Farr has instituted some new initiatives to keep the ball rolling. The Tribe Diamond Club is composed of alumni, team parents and local community members who are working to help support William and Mary baseball.

A primary goal of the group is to upgrade conditions at Cary Field. Already a new scoreboard and outfield fence have been installed.

For the players Farr has founded the 3.0 Club, dedicated to encourage each student-athlete to earn at least a 3.0 grade point average. "We had 14 of 29 players make 3.0 or better in the fall, and the team GPA was 2.8," said Farr. "One of our goals, along with winning a CAA championship, is to get that team GPA up to 3.0."

Without a doubt, things are looking up for Tribe baseball. "In some ways I'm sorry I'm senior," said Scott Spears. "I think the program is going to get better and better. I'm looking forward to seeing it happen."

Like a lot of Tribe baseball fans, he wants to see the sleeping giant awake.

Tribe Women Reach CAA Final

The William and Mary women's basketball team showed promise of good things to come when it stormed into the Colonial Athletic Association tournament championship game after finishing seventh during the regular season. It marked the first time in CAA women's hoop history that a seventh seed had advanced to the title game, and the first time a W&M team had made it that far.

The Tribe women rallied from 11 points down in the second half to edge second-seeded James Madison, 60-58, in the opening round, then crushed American, 83-60, in the semi's to earn a berth in the final against top-seeded Old Dominion.

The regionally televised championship contest was close throughout, but the Monarchs finally pulled away for a 65-51 win.

In other firsts for the lady hoopsters, junior Ashleigh Akens was named first team All-CAA. Akens was the leading rebounder among State women, pulling down over 10 cars per game. Senior Rebecca Dayvault was selected to the All-Defensive team, and Yolanda Settles made the All-Rookie squad.

Dayvault is the only graduating senior, so the future looks bright for the Tribe.

Rebecca Dayvault

Golden Olympics Here in June

The College will host the 15th Annual Golden Olympics, an athletic/social event for Virginians over 55, this June 2-6. Sponsored by the Virginia Recreation and Park Society, the event features competition in track and field, swimming, bicycling, and other sports. Registration is open until April 30. Alumni or friends who wish to participate as competitors or volunteers should contact Andy Crane, Henrico Recreation and Parks, at 804/672-5156.

CLASS NOTES

28 Mary Land Gill
1658 Berkeley Ave.
Petersburg, VA 23805

The Olde Guard luncheon and our 65th class reunion were wonderful occasions. For our reunion, nice arrangements, room and refreshments were provided for us. Classmates who were present sent messages to you who were unable to attend.

Carlton Macon noted that he had "missed my sailing trip this year to the Bahamas. Had pneumonia twice this winter and lost 20 pounds." He looked well.

Elizabeth Glenn Hartman wrote, "We were glad to be able to make the 65th reunion. Now we can look forward to the 70th. Good luck to all of you." Her husband, George, was with her.

Dorothy Broughton Brennan said, "I'm so glad to be able to attend another Olde Guard Day and to see old friends. Hope to continue after our 65th."

Ruth James Turner: "So happy to be here. It's lovely to be in the Lodge. Thanks, Alumni Society."

Before leaving in January for Barbados, Malvern Omohundro wrote that he would be back for the Olde Guard luncheon, our reunion and Charter Day — he was. He then returned to Barbados, and I received a card from him on which he stated, "I enjoyed the Olde Guard luncheon and especially our 65th reunion. It was a great day, a day to be remembered. Charter Day was well planned and executed."

Robert Randolph Jones had his wife, Flo, with him. His update was "I go to the office and continue to practice law with our son, Sherwood Adams Jones. Our other son lives in Atlanta."

Virginia Vaiden Bowen wrote, "Can't see or hear and can't walk too well, but I'm so happy to be here with the Class of '28 and for the 65th reunion." Her attentive and helpful husband was with her.

Leon C. Hall was accompanied by his wife, Margaret. He said, "So glad to be back home once again." They live in Ocala, Fla., and don't come this way often.

Had a nice letter from Kitty Topping Hill, in which was enclosed a newspaper clipping about her volunteer activities in Plymouth, N.C. They have been many — in her church, community and beyond. She commented, "If the 65th is this great, I can't wait for our next reunion — and surely hope I make it! Remarkable that I can recognize so many after these many years — only changed for the better." As she has osteoporosis, which caused her hip to fracture, she has a walking problem. She doesn't drive any longer and her daughter brought her to Williamsburg. They were also in Williamsburg for Illumination Week, from Dec. 5 through 12, and for a family reunion.

John Lee Johnson was accompanied by his wife. He bought back the following memories, "You are not old, Dr. Pollard, you are ancient, the Davis-Matsu combination and the defeat of Harvard; the Philomatheon-Phoenix literary societies debate on abolishing the prohibition amendment, when one of the debaters passed out from taking a drink, his first; also Dr. Leslie Hall's classes." Nostalgic, aren't they?

Also Janey Anderson Davis joined us and commented that it was "a splendid day to be back."

Mary Ribble dropped by our reunion to say hello. She had been in the class of '27 but dropped out a year, returned and graduated in '28.

Received an interesting letter from Emma Waring Walbridge. She was sorry not to attend our reunion. From June to October she visits children and grandchildren and returns to Austin, Texas, for the winter. In June and July she was in Japan with her daughter and on her way over stopped in Hawaii for a few days. In September she traveled to France and Corsica. In Austin she keeps busy with volunteer work and enjoys two of her nine grandchildren.

The Charter Day convocation was impressive, dignified and very interesting. I felt it was an honor and a privilege to have been our class representative in the procession.

The 300th anniversary celebration was initiated the weeks of Feb. 8-13 with beautifully planned, well-executed and enjoyable programs. It will continue during Homecoming, Oct. 20-24. Plan to be there. Look for the special Homecoming supplement in the next issue of the Gazette. The supplement will contain complete details about Homecoming with a registration form and preliminary schedule.

Please send news for our next report.

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

30 Edward M. Trice
Box 64
Drewryville, VA 23844

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

32 Josephine Habel Bradshaw
509 College Ave.
Blackstone, VA 23824

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

34 Cecil C. Harper
Westminster-Canterbury
1600 West Brook Ave.
Apt. 220 ILU
Richmond, VA 23227

I will never forget the wonderful Charter Day celebration and other events celebrating the College's 300th anniversary. In my opinion, Charter Day was the greatest celebration ever held at W&M.

Olde Guard Day was Feb. 11 at the Williamsburg Lodge. Brad Pulley '39 and the William and Mary Choir were at their best. Brad headed the Olde Guard Tercentenary Gift Committee, which raised more than $137,000 to benefit the choir and the writing of the College's history.

Virginia Horton Beckett Swartz wrote from Clearwater, Fla., where she was married Dec. 12 to William L. Swartz. "The ramifications of changing your names at this state of life are many!" she wrote. Virginia was in Virginia in January visiting family and friends and attending a granddaughter's wedding in Warrenton. To her surprise, she and Addie Midkiff Lynes discovered each other living in the same area in Clearwater. They have become very good friends.

I hope to see you at Homecoming. Watch the next issue of the Gazette for complete details.

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

36 Eleanor Hooker Boisseau
8904 Wishart Road
Richmond, VA 23229

I do hope many of you were at the Charter Day exercises to enjoy the speaker, His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, who was given a royal welcome by 11,000 alumni, students and friends of the College. Prince Charles' speech was enjoyed by all as were the beautiful gifts he gave to the College.

It was the most magnificent celebration I have ever been to. It made you proud that you had been a student at this great university.

Each class was represented: George Mason Jr. was the one from our class.

Our new president, Timothy J. Sullivan '66, presided over the exercises. He was outstanding.

Olde Guard Day was that week also, but I couldn't attend so Bill Rhodes reported to me the ones present from our class. They are Margaret Van Ott Rastetter, Dr. W. C. Henderson, Frances Moreland Lewis, John W. Bunting, Janet Robinson Jordan, Margaret Peel Latton and James W. Savage.

I received from the College an update on our classmate, former Virginia Gov. Mills E. Godwin. Among his many accomplishments was being the first governor elected to two terms, the first as a Democrat, the second as a Republican.

Some new addresses of our class-mates are:

Dora Terrell Williams has moved to 200 El Dorado Drive, Richmond, VA 23229; 804/740-9888.

Anne M. Hooker Jones is now living in Vancouver, British Columbia. I don't know her address.

Jane Dumont Sands is now at 1711 Belevue Ave., Apt. 914, Richmond, VA 23227.

Get ready for Homecoming. It will be the biggest ever. You will receive more about that in your next issue of the Gazette.

Keep the news coming. This is a wonderful year for celebration: do come to some of the events. Have a great summer.

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

38 Jane Speakman Hauge
211 Willow Valley Square, Apt.
D105
Lancaster, PA 17602

Charter Week and our 55th reunion were magnificent, even though not exactly as planned. (My plans, that is. The College's planning and execution were superb!) In November Nick had cardiac surgery, and for some weeks I was not sure that I could go to the celebration, and I knew he could not. He wanted me to go, and since he was well enough by February for me to leave him, I followed my heart to William and Mary. It was truly a memorable occasion and I loved every moment.

I'll leave the telling of the Olde Guard and Tercentenary events to the editor, and report on our classmates. There were 21 of us there and 16 spouses — a good representation after 55 years.

Our reunion took place on Thursday at the Lodge immediately after the Olde Guard Luncheon and our class picture. We had a meeting room with champagne and much conversation, but the tidbits I'll recount took place during the whole four days. In no particular order, here they are. At the luncheon two in our class were named as having come the greatest distance: Doris Froehner Joslyn and husband Dick from California, and Jack Morpurgo and wife Catherine from England. Jack's book, Their Majesties' Royall Colledge, was cited at the faculty symposium as a source for the writing of the colonial period in the new College history. Jack has written four articles about the Tercentenary for publication in England and the United States in recent months. We are shocked and grieved to learn that Catherine passed away on Feb. 14, the day following the Charter Day ceremony. Our condolences and best wishes go out to Jack. For anyone wishing to contact Jack personally, his address is: 11 Laurence Mews Askew Road London, W12 9AT UK.

At one of the three tables for the Class of '38 at the luncheon, I chatted with Helen (Bunny) Wood Walker and husband George. They are enjoying retirement at Williamsburg Landing. Anna Roper Bruechert and Frank Ritter, with their respective spouses, represented members of our class from Norfolk Division who were in Williamsburg only during our senior year. Frank and his wife, Lucette, are still in the Norfolk area, but Anna and Carl, her husband, now live in Atlanta.

At the end of the luncheon, as we sang the Alma Mater, I detected Elizabeth Rumsey Weber's strong melodious voice above the others' at the table. C. R. Mirmelstein and wife Evelyn now live at Kingsmill in Williamsburg. They are active in the Christopher Wren Association and most enthusiastic about it. It is an organization for retirees that offers six-week courses on varied subjects, held at the College but administered and often taught by retirees. Sounds interesting!

I was happy to see Bob Sheeran seeming like his usual genial self in spite of a painful broken shoulder suffered in December. We watched with pride as Bert Sheeran in full regalia represented our class in the Tercentenary processional before Prince Charles' speech.

Fran Jenkins Taylor and husband Vaughn were delighted that their granddaughter Elizabeth, a freshman at the College, was able to meet them for lunch one day. The gal whom we had known as Ella Lee Fulton is now simply Lee Manning. She explained that "Ella Lee" was too difficult for many at their overseas diplomatic posts. Lee and husband Chuck, who accompanied her, divide their time between their Maryland and Florida homes.

I talked with Virginia Betts Chapman and husband Joel about the trials of bypass surgery. A sign of our age group perhaps? Sally Robbins Carmalt and I had not chatted at length since 1939, when we were both librarians in New York. Sally and husband Woolsey sat next to me as we waited for the Tercentenary processional, and we exchanged information about our families and our lives. The Carmalts live in Washington, D.C., in winter and spend summers in northern Pennsylvania. Sally reported that President Clinton had attended service at their Washington church, St. John's on Lafayette Square, the previous Sunday and that security then was much tighter than at William and Mary Hall for the Prince.

Bill Reynolds and wife Nancy left immediately after the convocation to drive back to Venice, Fla. Bill, a retired professor of economics, and Anne Reynolds Wood '37 recalled having sat next to each other in Chemistry 101!

I had only fleeting conversations with Mollie Waters Christie, Tom Crowson and wife Anita, and Margaret Brett Honn; I waved across the room to Charlotte Johnson Abel and Martha (Pete) Moreland Thomas; and I missed seeing Carney Pearce and wife Anne Cross Pearce '40 altogether, although they were named on the list of attendees.

Bill Anderson and wife Polly sat in front of us at the convocation, and at the end Bill said, "In 1938 could you ever have imagined that in 1993 we would be experiencing a ceremony like this?" It was indeed inspiring, and I wish you might all have been there.

Since the last letter our class has lost two faithful members and workers: Bob Dew and Mildred Albee Babb, both members of our 50th reunion committee. Bob was a most effective fund-raiser for our class and for Olde Guard, and Mildred wrote all the biographical sketches for our 50th reunion Colonial Re-Echo. They will be greatly missed.

A note from Gil Piquette in December asked for Florence Whitely Dickerson's address. She added: "I do miss attending Homecoming, but having to use a walker is just too cumbersome and folks unnecessarily feel sorry for me. Two ruptured spinal discs and two messy operations left me with a useless right foot. Otherwise I'm fine and busy in the field of philatelic and caring for a bevy of cats. I'm still at the family home and have plenty of room for guests." Later Gil wrote that she and Florence had chatted on the phone and promised each other to keep in touch.

In January Annabel Hopkins Mitchell wrote that she and husband Lee would not be present at our 55th reunion, the first one she has missed. The Mitchells spend winters at their home in Florida and felt they could not come north for the celebration and immediately return to Hollywood. We missed them and several other of our faithful attendees.

Tom Forsyth is found! He read in the last class letter that he was missing, at least from my files, and so sent his new address and some news. He has had severe health problems: recurring bouts with a leg injury suffered in the Korean War and, in 1987, a stroke which paralyzed his left side. He has partially recovered his mobility and last July moved from Florida back to Blowing Rock, N.C. He sent best wishes to all the Class of '38.

The next big Tercentenary event is Homecoming — Oct. 20-24. See the special Homecoming supplement in the next issue of the Gazette for details and registration forms. This will be an especially popular one, so make plans early.

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

40 Barbara Clawson Henderson
Box 186
Irvington, VA 22480

I'm grateful for all the Christmas messages I received, and though the news is dated I want to keep you posted on these faithful classmates.

Hope Hunt White has moved across the bay to: Freedom Plaza, 1010 American Eagle Blvd. #616, Sun City Center, FL 33573-5274, a life-care retirement high-rise sponsored by the Retired Officers Foundation. Son John retired after 24 years in the Army, and son Geoff and family survived "Andrew" with minimal damage, thankfully.

Len Owen wrote that Alice had her second knee replacement in August, followed by a three-week extension in the hospital due to a staph infection. Fortunately she was out in time to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary, a surprise given by their children and grandchildren.

Jeann Clarahan Bratton has now been in Emory, Va., for 14 years. She had a week at an elderhostel at Longwood College visiting plantations along the James, a trip to Nebraska to see daughter Anne and her granddaughters, a weekend reunion with 11 high school friends who came from six states, and three weeks in France in the fall. Her granddaughter, Liz, is to be married in July.

Helen Strange Patterson will be moving to King's Grant, a lovely country retirement village in Martinsville, where they have a private cottage in a wooded area. Their new address will be: 559 King's Way Road, Martinsville, VA 24112-6616.

Sally Bell Wainwright is still working half time but "moves slower than I used to — so does Thea, but we're OK."

Bobbie Milligan Molyneux enjoyed Greece last summer and found it very inspiring to see where so many happenings began.

Charlotte Bagot White says for one who doesn't get around too well she managed a few nice trips. In March she was in Florida for three weeks with her cousins in Boca Grande, she had three weeks with daughter Lynne in California, and her grand nephew was married in Brattleboro, Vt., on Aug. 5 so she stayed the rest of the month with her sister. She drove to Minneapolis in September with a friend.

A very newsy letter from Margaret Alley, Al's widow. She says that after nine years in Germany, son Bill returned to America for good in the middle of January. His future plans are indefi-

CLASS OF 1928 CELEBRATES AT OLDE GUARDE DAY

The Class of 1928 gathered at Olde Guarde Day 1993 for their 65th reunion. Row 1 (from left): Janey Anderson Davis, Robert Randolph Jones, Elizabeth Glenn Hartman, Dorothy Broughton Brennan, Virginia Vaiden Bowen. Row 2: John R. L. Johnson Jr., Malvern H. Omohundro Jr., E. Carlton Macon, Mary Land Gill, Ruth James Turner, Katheryn "Kitty" Topping Hill and Leon Curtis Hall.

ALUMNI INVITED TO SERVE AS CAREER PANELISTS

Organizers of Career Exploration Day, an annual program sponsored by the Office of Career Services and the Society of the Alumni, are lining up alumni panelists to speak at next year's program on Saturday, Jan. 29, 1994. Whatever your field or interest, if you would like to share your career path and insight into the world of work with current William and Mary students, please write Bob Hunt, Associate Director of Career Services, College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, VA 23187-8795 or call 804/221-3240.

nite, but he has applied to Westminster Choir College in Princeton, N.J., and for the sacred music master's program at Boston University. I'm sure things will work out.

Jane Brandt Wild has gotten back into tennis. After three years she was relieved to find she could still rush around the court. Congratulations!! She's really enjoying it in Jensen Beach.

"Cookie" and "Casey" Caldwell went to the Virgin Island of Tortola in June with friends to help them celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary. They spent a week in Tallahassee, Fla., and found it a really interesting city. They visited Casey's son Bill and family in California and had a great day seeing San Francisco from Alcatraz, of all places.

Also had greetings from Ginny Clauden Allen and Rose Ellis Long.

Frank and I attended the Olde Guarde Luncheon given this year at the Lodge Feb. 11. We mingled during the social hour and at lunch were seated at the table with Vance and Marj Fowler from Hilton Head, Jack and Ann Garrett, Noel Lambert from Atlanta, Lois Leach and Edythe Harris Langhorne from Norfolk. Others there were Betty Carter and Walt Zable from California, Nils and Gervais Wallace Brekke from Arlington, Ed and Dinny Foreward Wetter from Havre de Grace, Virginia Garrett and Chet and Helen Jones Baker of Williamsburg, Rosa Long from Buffalo and son Bob from Mexico, Stuart and Ann Seward Allen from Charlottesville, Howard Anderson from Halifax, Ann and Gordon Dorrier from Scottsville, and Bailey Wilkinson from Richmond.

We attended the Charter Day ceremony on Feb. 13. A personal note I must add. It was a totally thrilling experience. The entire program was outstanding. The senior class in cap and gown were so enthusiastic and spontaneous. The brilliant pageantry of all the academic robes of the faculty, 120 delegates of colleges and universities, the 20 delegates of learned societies and associations, and the class representatives from '16 through '92 (very appropriately Jack Garrett represented our class) all processing was indeed a sight to behold. It took 40 minutes for all to be seated. The Prince received a tremendous ovation — his speech was excellent. From start to finish, it was a really wonderful occasion.

Our next big celebration will be Homecoming, Oct. 20-24, and we'll be there for part of that time. Look for information in the next issue of the Gazette. Before then I hope to hear from many of you, so don't forget me even if your news is not earth-shaking. We're all interested.

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

42 Ginnie Sterne Herndon 1163 Winged Foot Circle East Winter Springs, FL 92708

This is my first column as your new reporter. We certainly have been fortunate to have had Betty Craighead Stousland do a fine job for six years. I guess my reaction to becoming a member of the Olde Guarde was that anyone that lucky should be willing to take a turn at keeping our class up to date. Since our four years at William and Mary were interrupted by World War II, it seems that the Class of '42 doesn't stay in touch as well as many earlier and later classes. Please send me your news. I'll be waiting to hear before my next deadline on June 25.

Jimmy Leftwich, who was in a rival high school from mine in Dinwiddie County, Va., wrote that he and his wife, Sue, have moved to Farrington Village south of Chapel Hill, N.C. They enjoy facilities for hunting, fishing and golfing there. A daughter, son-in-law and four grandchildren live only six miles away. They also enjoy visiting their son, a dentist, in New Orleans, where Jimmy and Sue lived for 10 years during the '60s and '70s. Jimmy gets back to the Dinwiddie area to see his mother, who is 97, and his two brothers.

Margaret ("Peach") Alexander Craig broke her hip at their cottage in Sandbridge in Virginia Beach. She is back home in Portsmouth and recovering nicely. A death in Jim's family kept them from our usual get-together in New Hampshire in September.

Emalee Ewing Durban and husband Sol went to St. Thomas in the U.S. Virgin Islands. Since they couldn't get a cruise from there, Sol bought her a beautiful diamond for consolation and had it set in Charlotte Amalie. Diamonds are good buys there. Are you husbands listening?

Dick and I were in New Hampshire for several months and then at our timeshare in Big Canoe, Ga., for several weeks. We decided to go to England for Christmas. Grandson Bill is working on his Ph.D. at Cambridge University, so he spent the holiday with us in our flat at Dolphin Square. In spite of miserable weather and frequent bomb scares we had a fine month, during which we visited and revisited favorite spots. I was thrilled to find some progress in restoring the Globe Theater.

Kitty Scott Turner lost her husband, Ralph, who fought a long battle against cancer. She helps with the two grandchildren, who live nearby with her daughter and son-in-law in Newport News.

Among the pleasures of the 50th reunion of the Class of '42 was seeing my former professor, Frazier Neiman, and meeting his lovely wife, Stella. Another very sentimental moment for me was marching together with Patricia Nichols Curcuro and Barbara Anderson Cook in the commencement ceremonies. It was hard to believe that many years had passed since the three of us lived as freshmen on the same floor in Chandler Hall in 1938. We strode as briskly as ever.

We'd love to see some of you on your visits to Florida and to hear from you. After 50 years we should keep our ties.

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

44 John Paul Carter 221 Tennessee Ave. Sewanee, TN 37375

This installment of the 1944 class letter was begun last November (it takes many weeks to "accumulate" a letter, so this won't be finished until early spring).

The plans outlined for the yearlong celebration of the Tercentenary are exciting and interesting. Joan and I plan to take advantage of as many of them as possible, and we hope you will do the same.

The whole year will afford us all an opportunity to think again about the central tasks of higher education and the pivotal role the College has played, is playing, and will play in defining these within our culture. It is important for us to understand that, in addition to all that we have received personally from William & Mary, its vocation is larger than that we are individually. And so, we all have our part in serving and furthering that vocation.

The next issue of the Gazette will contain materials about this fall's Homecoming, which will be a high point of the year of celebration.

The October issue gave the sad news of the death of Jim Glassman '43. So many of us knew him well and appreciated his gifts. Jane Saltzman, his first wife, died of cancer many years ago. Remember them gratefully.

We have seen good articles in both the New York Times and The Washington Post about the Feb. 13 Charter Day observances, with Prince Charles as the speaker. Marilyn Miller Entwisle marched in the procession as a representative of our class.

The record of gifts to the W&M Annual Fund shows that 98 of us were contributors in 1991-92. That is only one-third of our current number. I hope 1992-93 will show us doing even better. So make your contribution before June 30!

These days, Joan and I are celebrating our sixth grandchild: William Edward Carter, born in Stamford, Conn. Oct. 22, to our son Andy and his wife. It's a blessing, isn't it, to have children and grandchildren to leave the world to.

Elaine McDowell Fuerst and Bob, now living in Oldmar, Fla., after 22 years of teaching at the University of Guam, spent two nights of the Thanksgiving weekend with us. They were en route between visiting a podiatrist son in Winston-Salem, N.C., and an elderhostel program about writing mystery stories, near Hopkinsville, Ky. They are well and like their new abode. We had remembrance of old friends, of course; but Elaine says she has lost touch with many because of the long years overseas. She did give me Prickett Carter Saunders' new address: 691 Tennyson Place, Pensacola, FL 32503. The Fuersts are inveterate travelers and were in Costa Rica last summer, then in China in September and came home via Guam. Early in 1993, they expect to go snorkeling in the Caribbean.

It's good to know that Don Ream continues his work as a member of the governing board of the Order of the White Jacket. One of the great, democratic strengths of W&M has been the high proportion of students who have held jobs to support their education, and the College's encouragement of them.

Jim and Ann Edwards Harnsberger, still en-

One Hot Afternoon Down Under...

By Ray McAllister

Editor's Note: The following article about Bill '44 and Jane Spencer Smith '48 appeared in the March 12, 1993, edition of the Richmond Times-Dispatch. The author is a columnist with the newspaper.

Bill and Jane Smith traveled from Richmond to Melbourne a few weeks ago for a family visit. Yes, this would indeed be Melbourne, Australia. Not your usual weekend trip to see the kids.

The Smiths found themselves in Melbourne's Franklin Cafe, eating lunch on Saturday afternoon when the temperature outside hit 39 degrees.

And, yes, being Australia, this would indeed be 39 degrees Celsius. Meaning 102 degrees Fahrenheit. It's summer down there, remember.

Anyway, the Smiths are lunching when it staggers an overweight man. He gets a Coke from the fridge, but drinking it doesn't help. Not at all. His face is sweating. Soon he's making low, guttural noises. His head hits the table.

Bill Smith gets up from his lunch and quickly comes over to help. "Is it the heat?" he asks. "It's probably the heat."

The man mutters something. "Would you like a compress?"

The man passes out. When he comes to, Smith is holding a soothing clothful of ice on his neck. "Try it on your forehead and on your face," Smith offers.

"Thank you," the man replies in a muttered.

Smith stays until the man recovers. Needless to say, the man—Jim Schembri—was grateful afterward.

"When Jim had recovered enough he came to our table and asked our names leaving his on a slip of paper," Smith says now having returned to Richmond.

Bill '44 and Jane Spencer Smith '48 (right) are shown with friend Marilyn Miller Entwisle '44 at a recent Homecoming. The Smiths have coordinated the Sandy Kelly Tennis Tournament for a number of years.

"It was only when we returned to our son and daughter-in-law's home that we learned that he is a popular columnist with Melbourne's leading newspaper, The Age."

Indeed, two days later, came Schembri's explanation, for all to see, in his column.

He had been leaving the City Baths, overstepped the front steps and fallen, he wrote. He was howling in pain, his initial embarrassment overcome by agony. "The base of my spine had hit hard upon the concrete curb of one of the steps. I winced, got up and bravely continued on my way."

But within a few steps, he was hit full by the shock. He was dizzy. Crossing Swanston and Franklin streets, he began to lose his bearings. He staggered into the Franklin Cafe and got that Coke.

Let Schembri tell the story from here:

"My vision began fading, my head got lighter and the semi-circular canals in my ears [the ones responsible for balance] went haywire. My head hit the table.

"This is where the American came in. I felt guilty, ashamed, and waited for the cafe staff to kick me out. I must have looked like a drunken hobo. But the staff promptly obliged the American with the compress that prevented me from slumping to the floor altogether. I expected to be ignored or told to get lost. What I got was kindness from people I didn't know.

"Once my wits fully returned I thanked the staff and especially the Americans. Bill and Jane Smith, they were from Richmond, Virginia, in Melbourne visiting relatives.

"Said Jane: 'Are you okay? You look okay. We were so worried. You look much better than you did before.'

"I was better — both in body and spirit. It wasn't just the physical relief I had responded to. It was the fact that someone cared."

It was a small moment, perhaps, and in a place far away. But it was a generous human gift...and maybe not just for Schembri. Thanks to his column, it's a reminder of what's within us.

On behalf of all of us, thank you, Bill and Jane.

CLASS OF 1938 GATHERS FOR 55TH REUNION

Olde Guard Day 1993 was the scene for the 55th reunion of the Class of 1938. Row 1 (from left): Jack Morpurgo, Helen Wood Walker, Frances Jenkins Taylor, Virginia Betts Chapman, Anna Roper Bruechert, Jane Speakman Hauge, Bert Sheeran, C.R. Mirmelstein. Row 2: Doris Froehner Joslyn, Charlotte Johnson Abel, Ella Manning, Elizabeth R. Weber, Frances Schaaf Shepherd, Sally Robbins Carmalt. Row 3: Bill Anderson, Margaret Brett Honn, Martha "Pete" Moreland Thomas, Mollie Waters Christie, Bob Sheeran, E. Thomas Crouston and William A. Reynolds.

joying their farm near Hot Springs, Va., have been traveling quite a bit this past year in connection with Jim's duties as the president of the Shanghai American School Association. They also go back and forth to Lancaster County, in Tidewater area, where Ann owns rental properties. In December, they were on the West Coast to visit with "Hutch" and Doris Miller Harnsberger, both of the Class of 1943.

Jean Bulette Boggs and her Larry (he is a urologist in Charlotte, N.C.) have been globetrotting all the past year: Argentina, Antarctica, Holland for the Floriade (plus Belgium, Luxembourg and Paris), Charleston, S.C. (for a medical meeting and the Spoleto Festival), Aspen (another medical meeting), China and Tibet, Hilton Head, where they took part in a conference of a group called Renaissance, of which the Clintons are members and attend, and all this capped off by a January trip to England. When family duties and new grandchildren are added to the mix, you can see that they are truly on the go.

From Fort Myers, Fla., we had Xmas greetings from Wayne and Marge Retzke Gibbs, who continue their travels by Airstream trailer... Midwest, and then Switzerland/Germany/Austria. They report the numbers of W&M alumni/ae in the Fort Myers area are growing.

Jack Bellis continues his practice of psychiatry in Hamden, Conn., and reports that his son James (by first wife Liz Costenbader) is a lawyer for the Navajo Mission in Arizona, where Jack has recently been to visit. Jack shares my interest in the writings of Carl Jung.

Lloyd Clarke (partly in our class and partly in 1943) reports that he and Vera have retired to Grottoes, Va., after many years as an Episcopal priest. He also reports an interest in Jung. He says he'd like to hear from "Judge" Morris.

Dick Thomas' Xmas report from Wyoming, Mich., states that during 1992 "the Lord has smiled greatly upon me health-wise and business-wise."

Dr. Anne Smith Goldston reports that in 1994, she will close her pediatric clinic in Austin, Minn. and her husband will retire from 30 years at the Mayo Clinic, and they'll move to Virginia Beach. She was at the College for the inauguration of our new president, Timothy Sullivan, '66 in October, "a lovely, perfect day." She saw Sunny Trumbo Williams, Lois Spratley Donald and Walter North and his wife, Lois. During the time in Williamsburg, they enjoyed time with Dr. and Mrs. Kernodle.

Keep those letters and postcards coming!

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

46 Barbara Nycum Moore
Route 2, Box 161
Waverly, VA 23890

What a week! I am most fortunate to say I was among those gathered to celebrate the Charter Day ceremonies — from the dedication of the Wren Building postcard on Feb. 8 to the convocation on the 13th with Prince Charles presenting the main address, and also a few activities in between. All alumni are being urged to make reservations early for this year's Homecoming, due to an anticipated large turnout. Please refer to the special supplement in the next issue of the Gazette for further information.

Nancy Grube Williams and I had a rather lengthy phone conversation recently catching up on class news. Grube was our class representative in the processional for the convocation, and she remarked what a spectacular occasion and how very impressive it was overall. Between Christmas notes to Grubie and some to me (bless those of you who heeded my pleas!), I can assemble a bit of news. Grubie flew to California early this year to join son David for a special family event.

Olive Anne Hasty Shelor kindly sent her annual Christmas letter, which showed she and Roy '49 are busy folks in Thousand Oaks, Calif., just 50 miles north of the L.A. airport. They enjoyed a two-week western Mediterranean cruise in September, boarding in London with many interesting ports of call and ending in Venice. Shorty and Roy plan a weekend in Williamsburg visiting friends in the fall, but prior to Homecoming, due to the crowds.

If you recall, at our 45th we wrote a collective note to Tom Duncan and he sincerely appreciated it. He would love to hear from any and all of us. His address is: Northampton Nursing Home, Room 130, Bridge St., Northampton, MA 01060.

Ann Singer Banes and Roy celebrated their 40th anniversary early last year with a Caribbean cruise. In June, they returned to Cleveland for Ann's 50th high school reunion. Also in attendance for the reunion was Marilyn Wood Cushman from Sturgeon Bay, Wis.

From Knoxville, Tenn., another answer to my plea: Henry T. Ogle (rather, Squire), wrote of his plans to attend Homecoming with his new wife to see how many faces he can recall. They were anticipating the move into their new home the first of the year.

Another lucky touring class member was Marcia Levering Balzereit, who accompanied tour director Dottie Hammer on the canals in France. Dottie led six tour groups to Europe last year, including one to Russia.

Sue Claypool Vukich wrote that she would be heading for Israel and Egypt right after the Rose Bowl and would contact me upon her return. Still no contact, probably on tomorrow's mail.

Dorothy Fitzcharles Weber is excited about their granddaughter's, Kim McDonald '89, wedding scheduled for April in Williamsburg with the reception at the Alumni House. Dottie was very involved with the Winter Tea at the Muscarelle Museum on Valentine's Day, which I attended with Alice White Tomlinson.

From St. Simon's Island, Ga., I received a card from Emerson Perkins Barrett saying he and Ruth would be spending the winter there. Bucky mentioned he keeps a check on Grubie's tree (as do I occasionally) and "reports it in fine fettle."

Dick MacCracken and Marilli were in Williamsburg for the Charter Day gala and also after Homecoming in the fall. He had hoped we could have a '46 get-together, but to no avail. The crowds got in our way!

Doris Brandt Bauer keeps busy between Baltimore and Rehoboth, with elderhostel trips in between. As a fine arts major, she was contacted to put a piece of work in a fall exhibit, which she plans to do. Doris is involved with art leagues and fine arts exhibits at both locations.

Gloria Iden Giannestras has recently sold her hilltop condo in Cincinnati and bought an 1804 Federal townhouse in Lebanon, just 35 miles from the city. Glo plans to completely restore it, including the five fireplaces. She took an 18-day bus tour of Scandinavia in August, all the way to the North Cape with a return to Oslo. In September, Glo will return to Greece to conduct her fourth tour of two weeks, called "Greece with Glory," which will include a cruise of the islands.

I received a letter from Fred Frechette in Charles City County, Va., describing a luncheon held on Feb. 26 to honor the 50th anniversary of the opening of the Travis House with W&M students as waiters. This was also the beginning of the Work Study Program, a cooperative College-CW venture that continues to this day.

Thirteen out of 17 in the original group — all freshman in 1942-43 — were able to attend the luncheon. Fred supplied an update on their activities. Everett Baker is still working "for the fun of it," running a research lab for a small firm near his home in Wheeling, W.Va. Willis Dickerson is retired after a career in the railroad industry. He served with a number of midwestern railroads through the many mergers of the past 30 years.

Jim Dobyns '48 and his wife are spending full time restoring an 1840 house and its grounds. Before his retirement, Jim, a chemist, did research work for two different firms in the field of food flavoring. Ted Horner is still active in his own consulting business. Ronnie Morton '49, now retired, spent his career at sea — literally — as a cruise director. Owen Elliott '47 and his wife, Jill Stauff Elliott, are living in Juno Beach, Fla.

Bob Porter is an Episcopal priest in Kansas City, Mo. His brother Ken also attended the luncheon. Ken remained in the Navy after World War II and attained the rank of captain. His last five years before retirement were in command of nuclear submarines. Bob Goebel also attained the rank of captain, but in the Coast Guard. He retired to south Miami and was almost wiped out by Hurricane Andrew last fall.

Phil Radding earned his medical degree at Harvard and retired two years ago after a career as an orthopedic surgeon. Fred reports that "his sense of humor is just as acute now as it was as a freshman." Calvin Tiller '48, who was a research scientist for a number of firms, is semi-retired but having a great time teaching physics in a Richmond area private school.

David Walker, sporting a snow-white beard, is fully retired after a career in the furniture business. He and Bob Goebel came together to W&M from Johnson City, Tenn., and "had a great time holding a sort of reunion within a reunion." Bob Whitman '48 is retired from environmental work for the state of Delaware. Bob, Phil Radding and the two Porter brothers came to W&M from Springfield Classical High School in Massachusetts, and they also had a mini-reunion.

Don Anderson was unable to join the group because he is seriously ill with multiple sclerosis. Bob Barr, a retired dentist who finished his college education at Ohio State, has emphysema and was also unable to attend. He was a prisoner of war during World War II. John Farley couldn't make it because he and his wife had already paid their tuition for an elderhostel in Texas on the same date. A sad note: one of the group, Richard Bethards, died in 1987.

Fred reports that after the "stag luncheon," the reunion continued in an evening gathering at his home, with his wife, Caroline '50, and other wives in attendance.

For the Big Week, I had as my guests: Ellen Irwin Newberry, Alice White Tomlinson, Henrietta Kapler Margraf, Virginia Ratcliffe, Jean Taylor Delahanty '45 and Lucile McCormick Endler '45. We had a rousing good time and welcomed two of my daughters, Patricia M. Correll '72 and Kathy, for the event on the 13th. Our seats weren't the best, but great just to be a part of the history.

For a final comment, I have learned that Dick Baker has already made his reservations for Homecoming '93 — HAVE YOU???

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

48 Ann Potterfield Gregory
104 William Claiborne
Williamsburg, VA 23185

I know all of you were here in spirit if not in body on Charter Day, Feb. 13, when Prince Charles gave the convocation speech launching William and Mary's 300th anniversary. Dusty Ash represented our class in the procession, and I am sure there were many from the Class of '48 among the 11,000 in William and Mary Hall that morning. A bout with bronchitis kept me from standing out in the cold drizzle, but I sat glued to the television for two hours feeling so proud to be part of this great institution.

I did have the pleasure of attending the President's Council dinner with Ed Griffin, and that was an elegant affair. We enjoyed sharing a table with Tom Mikula and wife Elva. Later in the evening we stopped to chat with Hallie Rennie Martin and husband Joe, Phyllis "Shu" Struse Shook and husband Henry '47, and Jane Spencer Smith and husband Bill '44.

Don't despair if you missed that weekend. You can still look forward to our 45th reunion and a colossal Homecoming Oct. 20-24. Many of you have already registered; I'm sure there will be others before this issue comes out. Be sure and read the special Homecoming supplement in the next issue of the Alumni Gazette.

I recently heard about another reunion. In the fall of even-numbered years, those people who were living in Williamsburg at least 40 years ago get together (it's almost like a Matthew Whaley reunion). Last fall they held a tea at Matthew Whaley, a banquet at the Commonwealth Room and on Sunday a worship service at Wren Chapel. Ed Belvin, Frances Robb and Julia Woodbridge Oxrieder attended. Julia furnished me with this information and tells me that Frances helped plan this delightful weekend.

Not long ago I spent a pleasant afternoon visiting with Pat Keen Williams who lives in the Williamsburg area. She has one son, one daughter, and her granddaughter sings in the choir at Bruton Parish with my two granddaughters. Pat and I enjoyed playing the "Do you remember..." game and look forward to getting together again soon.

45TH REUNION

Finally, a news clipping from the South Boston Gazette Virginian via the Alumni Office: "Knox Ramsey, a former William and Mary and Washington Redskins football star, and a retired industrial company president, was one of the guest celebrities aboard the M/S Seaward on a Caribbean cruise. He was accompanied by his wife, the former Betti Lu Brann '50, a native of South Boston. On the cruise Ramsey was available for question-and-answer and video sessions for the ship's passengers."

Keep thinking and planning that big weekend Oct. 20-24. It's going to be memorable!

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

50 William R. Low
5015 Hartwell
Houston, TX 77084

Received a nice card from Phyllis Reardon Morrison, who is still in Jakarta, but by press time, she and Bob should be back in California. They became first-time grandparents in April and have bought a bay front home on Balboa Island, Calif. Sounds like they're ready for the good life.

Also received a letter from Ruth Barnes Jorgensen. She and Gordon celebrated their second anniversary in Switzerland, where they were married. They have finished their home in Rancho Santa Fe, near San Diego, which sounds great. Also made a trip to Fort Worth, Texas, to see Davis Cup finals and while there had lunch with Pat Jones Warner and Bill.

Again, I appreciate the mail from the "old" faithful and urge you all to take a moment to let me know how and what you're doing.

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

52 Ed Wisbauer
St. Mary's Rectory
Lake Shore Road and Warner Lane
Lake Ronkonkoma, NY 11779

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

54 Carol Raymond DeSamper
103 Cedar Court
Williamsburg, VA 23185

Christmas mail brought news from far and near. Thanks to all of you who kept in touch. The biggest news in Williamsburg since the holidays has been the beginning of our 300th anniversary. Charter Week was superb. I wish all of you could have been here.

Marguerite Huff Brown represented our class for the actual Charter Day festivities. We hope as many of you as possible will be here to represent yourselves at this year's Homecoming. Look for the special Homecoming supplement in the next issue of the Gazette.

Congratulations to Peggy Wells Stiles (Martha Bennett Stiles) for receiving a 1992 Al Smith Fellowship in the field of poetry and fiction. Peggy was one of 18 artists to be chosen from a field of 267 writers, composers and choreographers.

A special thank-you to Lisa Milkovich High '88 who wrote to share news of the Steve Milkovich family. Steve has been living in Oberlin, Ohio, since 1957 and owns several businesses. According to Lisa, the closest he will get to retirement is to sell some of his businesses — never all. Steve and his wife, Dona, have three children and three grandchildren. Linda and Mark are both married and living in Ohio, and Lisa, also married, lives in Hawaii. Steve and Dona are planning a trip to Hawaii this summer to visit Lisa. Sounds wonderful. Aloha!

Betsy Skinker Barnes and husband Ron '52 sent a Christmas note from Prescott, Ariz., and included the happy news of the arrival of their grandson last spring. Betsy stays wonderfully active, and enjoyed a Grand Canyon hiking trip with her brother Hap Skinker last September. They spent a week doing day hikes and capped the adventure with two nights at the bottom of the Canyon. They found the experience to be magnificent, breathtaking and, most importantly,

HART NAMED TO POSITION IN REYNOLDS METALS LAW DEPARTMENT

Brenda A. Hart '78, '82 J.D. of Richmond has been appointed chief securities and finance counsel of Reynolds Metals Company Law Department. Hart joined the Reynolds Law Department in 1982 and has been securities and finance counsel since 1990.

within their skill level — both having trained for the journey.

Had a wonderful card from Kay Sheild Puccia and husband Joe who live in Annapolis, Md. She writes that Joe has retired and really enjoys it. He is keeping himself busy building a small sailboat in their garage. Their four children are all thriving in today's business world. Mark is married, living in New Jersey and is a senior vice president for Standard and Poor's. David also lives in New Jersey, is married, has a 2-year-old daughter and is a vice president at First Fidelity Bank. Youngest son Peter has "retired" from pro soccer as goalie for the Arizona Condors. He is now working for a Southwestern architectural firm with offices in Arizona, New Mexico and California. Their daughter Karen is in sales in the trucking industry and loves it.

Bette Bodley Dunker wrote of a fascinating 10 days spent last summer on the Navajo Reservation in Arizona doing a service project for her church. Bette was part of a teaching team that put on a vacation church school for 60 Navajo children. She plans to return this summer. Bette has been studying Native Americans for about eight years and is "in love with the Southwest and the native peoples."

Bette wrote of attending a lovely reception in Winston-Salem, N.C., for William and Mary alumni. This is a truly special year for all of us. Make your plans now to be here for Homecoming. If Charter Week is any indicator of enthusiasm for the 300th, you will want to make your hotel reservations and order tickets for events as soon as they become available.

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

56 Mary W. Warren
RD 1, Box 4155
White Stone, VA 22578

President Timothy J. Sullivan '66 and his wife, Anne Klare Sullivan '66, '86 Ed.D., brought the celebration of the College of William and Mary's Campaign for the Fourth Century to the Northern Neck in November. The alumni event was hosted by Dixon '47 and Nancy Foster '44; Austin '69 and Barbara Roberts '71, and Raymond Waller '40. Approximately 125 people attended a video program followed by a sumptuous cocktail party. It was a gala evening.

Milt '55 and Alice Glasser Glover have been on the go. They visited Williamsburg a couple of times, plus junkets to Florida, Bermuda and England. Their grandsons are growing like weeds.

Louis (Bud) Fisher went to Moscow to participate in a separation of power conference and gave a lecture to the law school in Athens, Greece. He continues to work with the American Bar Association on constitution-writing in Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union. He's working on his second edition of American Constitutional Law, published by McGraw Hill. Busy Bud still works for Congressional Research Service (Library of Congress) and teaches part time at the Catholic University.

Dave and Ginny Ferre spent their holidays in the West Virginian Appalachians with their family, including grandchildren. They have traveled hither and yon, too, but the best news is that they hope to build their house here in Virginia in 1994. It's going to be very contemporary with lots of windows. Dave goes all over the state for New Jersey Bell. Ginny is currently implementing new accounting software for her law firm.

Bob Zahn wrote to say Bobby Jo has been having fierce health challenges. In spite of it all, they report having a great life.

Dottie Guthrie Wilson managed enough time away from her two grandchildren to go to Venice for a week and then to Sicily for 10 days. Dottie says she can't retire since she has to support her habit of gadding to far away places.

Bob '57 and Chris Schlatter are adjusting (more or less) to his retirement.

Lance and Jan Trusty are involved in his Northwest Indian epic, as well as with their family.

Laura Lou Struthers had a busy year reuniting with her kids and coping with numerous real estate deals. She is also tied up with church activities, including being responsible for all of the official records of her congregation. She continues on a Presbytery committee and on the board of a local mission union. If that weren't enough, Laura Lou is on the board of the PTA and active in her sorority alumnae group.

Russ and Pat Rainey were spared the worst of Hurricane Andrew. Russ celebrated 35 years with McGraw Hill. Son Rich is doing well in law school at George Washington, having made law review and clerking with a D.C. law firm. Dave and Sue are expecting in June. Russ and Pat stay busy with their church and bridge, and she has gotten into modeling as a new career.

Peggy Waring is working part time and playing tournament bridge. Her four boys are well, two of them married.

Alice Jordan Viessmann is busily organizing a special reunion for the Class of '56 for Homecoming Oct. 20-24, 1993. Rooms are being held at the Ramada Inn at 351 York St. Rates are $90 per couple, $140 for a suite. It's all part of the 300th anniversary, so call 1-800-446-9244 and ask for Group Reservations to line up accommodations. The weekend includes special events for everyone including a giant birthday party at Busch Gardens on Saturday evening, Oct. 23.

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

58 Peter Neufeld
410 W. 53rd St., Apt. 132
New York, NY 10019

Ray Colley, Ginny Fleshman Gada, John Stange, Lynda McCray Thomas '60 and husband Bob, Mary McWilliams, Diane Montague Belford, Bob Bradley, Eva Brooks, George Conger, Al Miller, Virginia Shine, Beverly Burgess Burchette and husband Bob, Jean Zwicker Durant, John Herring, C. S. Montague, Bevo Wilson Palmer, Polly Johnson Prinson, Jeanne Bolding, Wayne Pumphrey, Rev. Dick Clay, Sue Davis Addington, Barbara Turner Grant and husband Denys, Barbara Saunders Shively and husband Dick (who transferred to the party school and kept his tie over his shoulder ever after — but we forgive him), Bill Carter, Carolyn Fakadej, Joe Watson, Janet Kiernan, Nan Maurer Rosenbaum and husband Jim, Dick Sanders, Tom Lightner, Harry and Charles Cornell (no relation), Anne Tankard, Donald Belothe, Jean Elliott, Beth Meyer Fox, Alice Lucak, Rita Parish, Betty Bowser Pauls and husband Sid, Pollyann Stadel Wrinkle and your reporter have already made reservations for the Hospitality House for our 35th and 300th.

The Class of 1968, who are having their 25th at the same hotel, have already registered for 104 rooms. PLEASE make yours today. And also send me that 150-word contribution of your thoughts for the Re-Echo. And candid photos with names and addresses on the back of each so I can return them. I will not give up on this. On these topics I am like a dog with a bone. Or an agent with one client.

This is the truth. I was looking through a file of résumés for young singer/dancers for a musical I have on tour and came across one for Dick Sanders! It seems he sent it to me with a letter so I could combine it together, clearly for the Colonial Re-Echo, and it got misfiled. Dick — can you tap and what's your high note?

Ginny Fleshman Gada and husband Pres were biking this summer in Provence. Hands down I think, Ginny, that you win the award as our class's own Auntie Mame.

Bob Thomas granted permission (I know — not politically correct, but I haven't gotten him in trouble in months) for his wife Lynda McCray T. '60 to go to Bermuda with their daughter-in-law to baby-sit their newest and fifth grandchild, Michael.

One of the best arguments for including in the class students who were only with us a short time is Joel Engel, who left at the end of freshman year. We've been friends since pledging the same fraternity — or maybe it's because I badly wanted his yellow V-necked sweater. Time confuses these issues.

He had the unfortunate task of writing to tell

MACKLIN HONORED WITH ENVIRONMENTAL AWARD

Cheryl Macklin '74 of Springfield, Pa., has been named 1993 Environmental Woman of Action for Pennsylvania. She has been recognized for exploring new frontiers in teaching biology at Upper Darby High School near Philadelphia. Macklin takes her students out of the classroom and into the field where they help host environmental conferences for other high school students, work with local legislators on recycling, and clean up parks. It is her hope that students will realize that they can make a difference in the environment through individual actions. A teacher for the past 18 years, Macklin plans to use the $1,000 award to fund conferences and programs on the environment for elementary and middle school students.

me that another classmate from the same fraternity, Mike Alembik, has succumbed to cancer after a two-and-a-half-year battle. He was a senior partner in his law firm and a community leader in Atlanta for 30 years. Additionally, an associate editor for the W&M Law Review. He leaves his wife and two children.

John Morton and wife Roney Chesson Morton '59 plan to be at Homecoming. John has had his own architectural practice since 1972. Oldest son John is an '85 graduate. Elizabeth and Ralph went to universities of Alabama and Florida. (That's the most traditional announcement I've made in three years. But John, you're a traditional guy. Even if you do make midnight phone calls to Bob Thomas.)

A two-page, single-spaced letter from Sid Mook. Now owns additional TVs, VCR equipment of every conceivable talent. And Mr. Blandings is remodeling his entire house. He needs rocks to build walls. The sailing club at Michigan State University which he coaches has had its ups and down — but then what family hasn't. And he didn't get his boat in the water until July this past summer. (Damn!)

I condensed it.

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

60 Mary Ellen Coffey 14101 Manorvale Rd.
Rockville, MD 20853

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

62 Mrs. James R. Henry
(Nancy A. Sinclair)
1096 Meadowbrook Drive
Bedford, VA 24523

Yes, I was there for Charter Day. William and Mary Hall was packed. The ceremony brought tears to my eyes. It was the first time I had been back for a Charter Day since we graduated 30 years ago. The entire event was most meaningful. Prince Charles was charming, intellectual, thought-provoking in his address, and quite witty. The presence of honorary degree recipient Jane Goodall was another highlight for me. I am a great admirer of hers and was thrilled to get to see her in person.

My emotions were running high the entire morning, and when the William and Mary hymn was sung over and over as the procession walked in, my heart and soul were troubled. Memories flooded my head — 30 years had vanished and I was once again that youthful student of 1962. For all of you who missed this event, you truly missed an event!

I am sure there were many '62ers there. I saw

Sue Robertson Shephard and her husband, Bill, but in the crowd of 11,000 I couldn't get to them to talk. Paul Bankes represented our class in the procession.

Warren M. Billings is a professor of history at the University of New Orleans and is an expert on the history of colonial Virginia. He is the editor of Sir William Berkeley's papers. Last fall Warren spoke at Mary Baldwin College in Staunton, Va., as one of the guest speakers for the Mary Swem Carroll Lectures.

A postcard arrived from Carole Valdes Owens. She wasn't able to attend our reunion due to the fact that she is teaching in the Philippines at the International School Manila. She will be there for at least two years. She has done a lot of traveling — Hong Kong, Jakarta and Bali. She invites all to come to see her.

In January I received a notecard with Crim Dell on the front: I knew it had to be from one of us. It was from Judy Case Falkenrath. She wrote that her oldest, Michelle, was in London for a semester studying and doing a graphic design internship. She will stay after the semester is over to travel. Michael, her 19-year-old, transferred from Bridgewater College to George Mason University in Fairfax, Va. He is living at home in his own apartment. Judy was at home recuperating from some surgery and working on her dissertation.

One night right after I had written the last column about our reunion I received a phone call from Richmond. It was H. C. Thaxton. H. C. lives in Richmond with his family and has been with Paine Webber since 1967. He wanted to fill me in on some people whom he had seen at the reunion. So the following came from H.C.

Stuart Richardson Dopp and Danny Dopp live in Alexandria, Va., and have a condo at Wintergreen, a great ski resort here in Virginia. Fred Coddling and Judy Hawkins Coddling '63 came to the reunion from Fairfax, Va. Gordon Berryman lives in Williamsburg, where he is in the oil business. Gordon was very generous and gave the College a large monetary gift. Ernie Phillips drove all the way from Lansing, Mich., where he is a professor at Conley Law School.

I have requested that you send cards and letters so much that I now am going to use H.C.'s idea of the telephone and say call with your news 703/586-9242. I'll be there, or leave your news on the answering machine!

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

64 Ginnie Peirce Volkman
2400 Daphne Lane
Alexandria, VA 22306

What a glorious day was Feb. 13 and the Charter Day convocation. Williamsburg was as always hospitably receptive to all its returning visitors, even the royal ones, and the College was alive and overflowing with pomp and regalia on this occa-

MCI. A Tradition For The Future.

William and Mary alumni have always known that graduating from tradition was a good thing. Now, you have the opportunity to graduate from traditional long distance telephone service through a new savings program from the Society of the Alumni and MCI.*

For information on this exciting alumni benefit program, call:

1-800-688-ALUM.

©MCI Telecommunications Corporation, 1991

BILLINGSLEY EARNS TOP WRITING AWARD

Anna Barron Billingsley '79 of Richmond won the top award for daily newspaper writing in the Virginia Press Association's 1991-1992 competition. Billingsley took the best-in-show award for her article, "Sustained by Smiles," about the life and death of a 12-year-old girl battling leukemia. For that same article, she and her accompanying photographer were also awarded first place in the combination picture-story category. She joined the staff of the Richmond Times-Dispatch in 1992 when The News Leader merged with the Times Dispatch, to become only one of two reporters who cover health and medicine. Billingsley has a master's degree from American University in Washington, D.C., and is married to Rob Billingsley '76.

ision of her 300th birthday. And rightfully so. For this is truly a year to reflect on the "strength and inspiration of our history," as Prince Charles noted in his words to us, to celebrate the present and plan for the future.

As I stood in the line to enter William and Mary Hall for the convocation festivities, I had hoped to see many classmates, but among the 11,000 others also in line, none emerged. The hall was more than packed to capacity, bulging actually. I'm sure many of you were there and, as I, thoroughly enjoyed the day's activities. One for sure was Vee Jones Davis, who was our class representative in the convocation processional.

I did have the opportunity to talk at length with Steve Lopez '62, and Howard Scammon, who has grown a beard and was hardly recognizable, but it provoked some lively conversation as we stood in line for the convocation and reminisced about the old days of the William and Mary theater. Steve is a city planner in Fairfax County, Va. He has written several plays, one produced in California, another pending.

As I complete my first year of teaching after 19 years of semi-retirement and volunteerism, I find myself back in graduate classes for teacher recertification. It has been wonderful discovering other William and Mary classmates in these same classes; Bobbie Mulcahey Frazier and Sharon Morris Deppe both teach high school French in Fairfax County.

News of Doug Springmann comes via the Virginia Gazette. Doug, who works with Campus Resources, served as chief judge for the 1992 Williamsburg Christmas parade.

I look forward to more news from you for the fall issue. And mark your calendars now for Homecoming, Oct. 20-24. Plan ahead, register early (see the special Homecoming supplement in the next issue of the Gazette). This Homecoming promises to be the biggest and best 300th anniversary celebration a college could ever have! Don't miss it. I'll see you there.

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

66

Sharon Cosminsky Kern
708 Coleridge Drive
Greensboro, NC 27410

Charter Day 1993: How proud Dick '64 and I felt to be included in such a regal affair. Prince Charles was a crowdpleaser, and the pageantry, sophistication and ceremony made it a grand occasion. Students haven't changed over the years. As we waited in the long lines to enter W&M Hall, current students behind us commented that they would much rather have slept in on a Saturday morning, but their mothers would kill them if they didn't attend. I'm sure they were glad to have been there in hindsight.

Each class was represented by a delegate carrying a year banner: Walter Wenk represented '66ers. This procession was impressive, with members from almost every class since 1916.

Bob and Florence Fraser Gatten '68 also participated in the processional. Bob represented UNC-Greensboro, where he is head of the biology department, and Florence represented Bennett College as a trustee. Bob also represented UNCG at Tim Sullivan's inauguration. I called Bob, a fellow Greensboro resident, and got an update on the Gattens. After receiving a master's in biology in 1968, he and Florence married, and Bob went to the University of Michigan, earning a Ph.D. in zoology in 1973. He then taught in Ohio (College of Wooster and the University of Toledo) for five years before coming to UNCG. They have two children, David, 22, a UNCG communication theater major, and Elizabeth, 20, an education major at Stephen F. Austin. Florence has a marketing and public relations firm, Gatten Enterprises. Bob's hobby is the Lewis and Clark expedition, and in 1992 he found the previously unknown birthplace of William Clark in Spotsylvania County, Va., and has written an article on this find. Bob will speak at the Triad Alumni Chapter meeting in the fall on Lewis and Clark.

WILLIAM AND MARY FOOTBALL PLAYERS SPOTLIGHTED IN MOVIE

David Hickman '89, Jon Scott Perkins '89 and Jeffrey Alums, all former William and Mary football players, joined a group of more than 30 former high school and college football players as members of a football squad in the film "Foreign Student." The film is set in the 1950s and stars Richard Allen Johnson and French actor Marco Hofschneider, who plays an exchange student who learns to play football american. The choreographed plays are run with full speed and hitting, not to mention that no helmets are worn to recreate the '50s style. The movie is being filmed in Richmond and Farmville, Va.

The first thing everyone noticed at the convocation was the excellent report President Tim Sullivan has with the students. Over the weekend we heard many comments from students and parents about Tim and Ann Klare's popularity with the students — their approachability is appreciated.

While attending the President's Council Dinner Dance on Saturday night, we sat with Judy Poarch '69 and Pete Nance (1992-93 W&M Annual Fund Co-Chairs). Pete is still with General Reinsurance and Judy is a travel agent, enjoying some of the fringe benefits. Their daughter, Sarah, is a junior at Vanderbilt, spending her spring semester in France. Judy and Pete will meet her there later this spring.

Clyde '65 and Mary Ellen Coleman Culp were prominent members of the group when President's Council Chair, Doug Morton '62, called Clyde to the podium to lead the group in singing "Happy Birthday to the College" — Clyde's idea. Mary Ellen was heading to Colorado to ski, while Clyde was off to the boat show in Miami. While they live in Memphis, Tenn., their hearts are at their Annapolis, Md., home where daughter Kelly (U.Va. '88) is now living. Suzanne '91 lives in Northern Virginia and works for USA Today, and son Darby graduates from Blue Ridge Academy this spring.

Others at the dinner dance: Pete '64 and Mick Leaf Stout '65, Phil '64 and Mary Van Lear Van Kirk '67, Carol Covell '67 and Brian Chandler '68, Bobby '67 and Chris Coggins Rowland '67, Carole and Rich Kraemer '65, Sue Roach '64 and Ray Warner '63, and Joe Ellis '65. I enjoyed telling Joe that our son had a book Joe had written on an American history reading list!

Part of our weekend celebration was visiting with special friends. We caught up with Ann Marie and Kenny Williams '67 on their annual weekend in Williamsburg. Kenny continues teaching and coaching at Mainland Regional High School. They live in Somers Point, N.J. Ken had a "warning" heart attack last fall and is back to full speed now. Their son, Dennis (19), was in a serious car accident last fall and is recovering from a foot amputation with intense physical therapy. He'll return to Western Maryland College next fall. Daughter Pam is an education major at Eastern Stroudsburg University, and son Ken is a football player at Western Maryland. Ken and Ann Marie continue a 30-year friendship with former W&M baseball coach Joe Agee.

Also dropped in on Williamsburg residents

Gene and Betty Bishop Griffin '67. Betty is recovering from a serious car accident that occurred on Homecoming weekend. Their daughter, Beth, has transferred to the College this year and son John is a high school sophomore.

Thanks to Nancy Rhodenhizer Henderson, some Homecoming news. Nancy teaches math at Menchville High School in Newport News, and Arthur '65 is vice president of finance at Noland Co. Daughter Julie (Old Dominion University '92) is currently a nanny in Norfolk looking for a job in environmental health, and Michael is a high school senior.

Margaret Conn Walsh and Pat live in Pennington, N.J., with their four children. Pat commutes by train to NYC (4 hours a day) where he is director of human resources for Merrill Lynch. Marg works for a children's home society doing post-adoption services, helping adopted children search for their natural parents.

Betty Moyer Boggs and Chuck are in Virginia Beach, where Chuck is with C&P Telephone Co. and Betty teaches elementary school. Their eldest of three sons is at the Merchant Marine Academy.

Betty Staton Hogan and Ray were at the U.Va./W&M game. They live in Charlottesville, where Betty teaches Latin in a private high school and Ray is with Nationwide Insurance Co. They have four daughters, one a graduate of U.Va., two in college and one in high school.

Lynn Eford Burnet and Bob live in Niceville, Fla., where they have owned and operated a craft store for nine years. Bob is also chief flight instructor at the Eglin Aerial Club. Their daughter, Karen, has her master's degree in accounting, and son David is at Mississippi State University studying architecture.

From the '67 Re-Echo I culled the following information. John and Marilyn Day Benedict '67 and their three children live in Culver, Ind., on John's family farm. Both have master's degrees in education from Indiana University, with endorsements in gifted and talented education from Purdue. John manages the farm and teaches high school government and economics, and Marilyn teaches third grade. Their son Matt graduated from Indiana University, where daughter Katie is currently enrolled, and Rebecca is in high school.

Walter Bembenista and Janey Cooke '67 live in a "brownstone" neighborhood in NYC where Walter is a lawyer (UNC-Chapel Hill law school) and Janey is a health services consultant.

Larry and Kathryn Hill Court '67 live near Annapolis, Md., where Larry is with Procter & Gamble. They have three sons, Randy (Texas A&M graduate), Brian (Jacksonville '96) and John (Cornell '96). Stanley and Joyce Bushong Eastman '67 live in Tucker, Ga., and Mike and Julia Ann Dickinson Greenwood '67 live in Richmond where their daughter, Ann '92, is working.

Russ and Glad Bulwinkle Hatchl '67 live in Alexandria where Russ has a law practice in Old Town Alexandria. They have two sons, Brian (U.Va.) and Adam in high school. Glad is a school secretary in Fairfax County. I enjoyed seeing pictures of Glad and Linda Rains Ragsdale '67 from Homecoming, as we all went to high school together.

Mike and Kathy Hollingsworth Reese '67 are in Wilmette, Ill. Mike has his M.B.A. and is vice president of TIAA-CREF, the world's largest private pension system. Kathy has a Ph.D. in psychology and is the clinical director of the University of Illinois at Chicago Counseling Center. They have two daughters, Carrie (University of Missouri grad) working at Disney World, and Lori (University of Chicago).

Mike and Ellen Campana Weaver '67 are in Chantilly, Va., and both teach. Their daughter, Rebecca, is a U.Va. graduate.

Henry "Hank" Davis wrote me after Christmas to provide a news catch-up. Hank is an attorney in Chatham, Va., with wife, Hope, and three children, Paul, Janet and Rachel. He was elected a county supervisor in Pittsylvania County in November 1991.

Another Christmas note from Bill Rountree. Bill married the former Liz Wallace in May 1992 at their farm on Virginia's Eastern Shore with Bill's son Will, 14, as best man. Bill had surgery last fall and is currently on the mend.

Wilford Kale plans a May wedding to Kelly Hasty of Williamsburg. Kelly is the owner of Olde Towne Pharmacy Inc., and Wilford is employed by Richmond Newspapers Inc.

Recently I had lunch with Denny Taylor Kelly and shared 300th birthday pictures. Denny's son, Graham, graduates from UNC in May, and Shannon (UNC grad) works in Charlotte. Denny is very involved with the Big Brothers/Big Sisters program.

CLASS OF 1967 SETS GIVING RECORD

Members of the Class of 1967 have broken all previous participation records for a 25th reunion class gift program. As of early April, more than 29 percent of the class had made commitments totaling more than $185,000 for their 25th reunion class gift. Of the total, $100,000 will support Swem Library and $25,000 will go toward the proposed expansion of the Alumni Center in which the Class of 1967 Office will recognize classmates who served or died in Vietnam. The balance of the gift will fund a scholarship for students who experience a significant change in their financial situation while in school.

Our son, Scott, and wife, Annette, live in Raleigh, N.C., where Scott is a Ph.D. candidate in materials science and engineering at North Carolina State University. Michael is a sophomore mechanical engineering major at Clemson University. I've done some substitute teaching and continue volunteering.

Thanks to several sources and a trip to Williamsburg, this is a lengthy report. If you feel like you are the only one in the class of 1966 not to be mentioned, send me your news.

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

68

Sandra Abicht Simmermon
1145 Rockbridge Ave.
Norfolk, VA 23508

There is much excitement and activity surrounding the Tercentenary. Bob Blair ably represented our class at the Charter Day convocation. Susan Szadokierski Stone '67 joined me in a lower balcony to watch the festivities with 11,000 others.

Bob has appointed a committee to plan events for our 25th reunion. Dan and Cindy Jenkins are chairing the local activities for our class. Note: our class dinner dance will be on Friday night. Music from the 1960s will be featured. Johnne Wicker Armentrout is in charge of a "Big Chill" colloquium featuring '60s issues and their relevance today. Bruce Oliver is editor of the Re-Echo. Please watch your mail for more information.

Celia Anne Brown is looking forward to our 25th reunion. After graduating from college, Cealy moved to Washington, D.C., where she lived for eight years. She split her time between anti-war activities and Kennedy Center openings. After finishing a master's program in American literature, she headed west in search of her soul. For 14 years she lived in San Francisco, where she went back to school for more graduate work and became a licensed psychotherapist. She now lives in Beverly Hills and practices in San Francisco and Beverly Hills. She also has a consulting business in which she assesses, designs, develops and installs mental health programs for projects, organizations, companies, etc.

She is considered an expert in working with victims of violence, specializing in hate crimes — those people who are assaulted due to race, culture, religion, ethnic origin, and/or sexual preference. The recent riots in southern California have provided many opportunities for Cealy to be an integral part in the restructuring of the city and building of minority liaisons. She serves on a Lesbian and Gay Sheriff's Conference Committee in West Hollywood. She trains deputies on sensitivity issues regarding the gay community and is developing a program to handle gay bashing. She works with the Network Against Hate Crimes, which coordinates the County of Los Angeles' Human Relations Committee.

James E. Herring lives near Chattanooga in Ooltewah, Tenn. He is chairman of the board and CEO of United Knitting Inc., a mid sized specialty manufacturing textile firm. United Knitting manufactures spandex component fabrics and markets them to clients such as Nike, Jantzen, Danskin, Liz Claiborne, etc. His daughters, Jennifer and Deborah '92, graduated from college last spring. Deborah was a member of the W&M tennis team. Kathleen, a high school junior, also excels in tennis and is ranked nationally. Jim has a new wife, Darlene, and a new son, Matthew, age 2.

Haidee Ewell Allerton won a 1992 National Clarion award for communications excellence in her column "Working Life" in Training & Development magazine, a career development publication published by the American Society for Training and Development in Alexandria, Va. The column is about trends in work and lifestyles. Haidee is an associate editor of the magazine and a writer of free-lance pieces for The Washington Post.

25TH REUNION

To all of you who carry and use the William & Mary MasterCard

Did You Know?

Your support of the William and Mary MasterCard helps to support alumni programs and services like Homecoming, chapter events, faculty and student awards, and even this Alumni Gazette.

Thank you to all who carry and use the William and Mary MasterCard. For information on how you too can support William and Mary in this unique way, contact the Office of Society Services, Society of the Alumni, P.O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100 or call 804/221-1170.

OWJ ELECTS NEW OFFICERS FOR 1993

New officers of the board of directors of the Order of the White Jacket took office Jan. 1. Shown in the photograph, from left, are Denys Grant '58, president; Alfred J. Gross '54, first vice president; Everett P. Skipper '83, second vice president; Joseph S. Agee '52, third vice president; and Kenneth L. Roberts '90 J.D., secretary/treasurer. Alumni who worked in food service while at William and Mary are welcome to join OWJ at any time. Membership dues are just $25 a year and bring to you a quarterly newsletter and an invitation to all events. For more information contact Kris Thornton at the Society of the Alumni at 804/221-1204.

Dan Harvey, vice president and deputy publisher for G.P. Putnam & Sons, participated in the Ferguson Seminar on book publishing held last fall at the College.

Elizabeth Lee Vliet, M.D., has developed and been named program chair for the Southern Medical Association's conference, "Preventive Medicine: Taking Your Practice Into the 21st Century," held at Canyon Ranch Health and Fitness Resort in Tucson, Ariz., in January. The program will be repeated in July. Lee is clinical assistant professor for the department of psychiatry and family medicine at Eastern Virginia Medical School in Norfolk. She is also on the medical staff of Canyon Ranch. She lectures on perimenopausal mood disorders and alcohol and its effects on the menstrual cycle and fertility.

If you haven't made plans for our 25th reunion, do so today. Check the Homecoming schedule in the next issue of the Gazette.

Have a wonderful summer. Hope to see you in October!

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

70 Randy Pearson Van Dam 215 Myrtle St. Haworth, NJ 07641

During Charter Week at William and Mary, a historical commemorative service of Anglican Evensong was held at Wren Chapel on Feb. 8. The sermon was delivered by our classmate, Deborah Smith Rutter, a priest at Grace Church, Kilmarnock, and former chaplain at St. Margaret's School.

Navy Commanding Officer Capt. William "Chip" Boyd returned last fall aboard the guided missile cruiser U.S.S. Thomas S. Gates, home ported in Norfolk, Va., from a six-month deployment to the Mediterranean. The U.S.S. Gates participated in five multinational exercises, served as anti-aircraft warfare commander for operations in support of Operation Provide Promise relief efforts in the former Yugoslavia, and was instrumental in providing assistance to the Turkish warship Muavenet when it was tragically damaged during NATO exercises. A 1978 graduate of the Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, Calif., Chip had the opportunity to visit Spain, France, Italy and Monaco on the aforementioned deployment.

Promoted to manager of good manufacturing practices training in the GMP department at Whitehall-Robins, Joyce Stroop Winters was previously a senior GMP analyst with the company in Richmond. Joyce received a B.S. in biology at the College and a B.S. in medical technology from the Medical College of Virginia, and has been with A. H. Robins/Whitehall Laboratories since 1972.

Regarding the birth of his third child, Dallas attorney Cass Weiland sent the following update... "Lest anyone in alumni land wonder about a Class of 1970 birth, I think it appropriate to note in the Gazette that I'm still on my first wife... while my law partners are older and having kids by their second or third wives." Cass' third child, first daughter Kathryn Sibley, was born to him and his first wife on July 10, 1992!

Urbanna, Va., author Mary Wakefield Buxton has had her fifth book published, titled Sunrise on the Rappahannock, a river lover's guide to peace and happiness. The book is a whimsical collection of stories depicting contemporary life and love along the Rappahannock River. Her previous books include Rappahannock River Journeys, Help! I'm Being Held Captive in Virginia!, Return to the Rappahannock and To Love A Virginian. Mary also writes "One Woman's Opinion" column for the Southside Sentinel and is the wife of attorney Joseph T. Buxton III.

Linda Beerbower Burke was elected an assistant officer by Alcoa's board of directors last November. Linda has been a tax attorney for Alcoa (Pittsburgh) for 20 years and, I believe, the head of the corporation's tax division for the last several years. Also, as a national officer of Tax Executives Institute, Linda was involved in making recommendations to President Clinton's transition team ("probably more fun than influence...," to quote Linda) for key Department of Treasury slots. This year, Linda will assume presidency of the YWCA of Greater Pittsburgh for a two-year term. Meanwhile, husband Tim left the law firm of Klett Lieber after 15 years to join Tener, Van Kirk, Wolf & Moore, a smaller firm focusing on Tim's area of expertise, estate work.

Tim is an adjunct professor at University of Pittsburgh School of Law, where he teaches estate planning. Tim is also chair of the probate section of the Allegheny County Bar.

Bill '69 and Mary Ellen Allen Turville are back in Jacksonville, Fla., as of last fall. Bill is commander, Helicopter Sea Control Wing THREE, heads nine helicopter squadrons. Mary Ellen is back at work in accounting and taxation. Daughter Elaine is a freshman at William and Mary and pledged Tri Delta! Her sister Betsy is a high school junior and teaches gymnastics after school. Betsy looks forward to following her sister to W&M! Mary Ellen and Bill have plans to be at the 300th celebration at Homecoming 1993!

Pace Consulting Group, Barbara Pate Glacel's company, still maintains headquarters in Burke, Va., despite the Glacel's move to Fort Ord, Calif., last June. With Pace West operating out of their "quarters" at Fort Ord, Barbara anticipated the next Pace office to be in Seattle after their May move to Fort Lewis, Wash. Bob has been commander of the Army's 7th Division Artillery (a 1,500 troop division that deploys in 18 hours to trouble spots around the world) at Fort Ord.

For Barbara Burket, 1992 was another year of travel and work. Last winter's skiing was injury-free and the Olympic downhill slopes of France and Switzerland were humbling as well as exhilarating! Barb and Bob visited Denali National Park, Alaska, and flew Bob's plane to the Arctic Circle! Barbara's work schedule took her to Albuquerque, N.M., to live for five months, but she's now back in Santa Barbara, Calif., with DELCO. Until July, Barbara will be working on a commercial, rather than an aerospace, project which will take her frequently to Milwaukee.

I spoke with George-Ann De Vilbiss Gowan in March, and she was excited about being able to pursue her painting on a daily basis now. Currently, George is studying egg tempera painting with Robert Carroll in Kent, Conn. George plans to send one of her works to the College for the alumni art exhibition which is part of the 300th anniversary celebration at Homecoming.

Last October, George organized a De Vilbiss family reunion in Taft, Texas. "Everyone who was alive was there," according to George. Wish I had the space to relate the riotous tales of that celebration. A smaller reunion with George and Don's immediate families took place at George's cousin's house in St. Croix at Christmas... "the mornings out painting were superb!" George's latest convert to the arts is Whoopi Goldberg, who stopped by the Kent Bookstore and was assisted by George in starting a new hobby: painting!

My husband, Tom '73 J.D., celebrates his 20th reunion this fall, so we'll see you at Homecoming! Please refer to the Homecoming supplement in the next issue of the Gazette if you plan to attend this fall. Register early, as a large turnout is expected for the College's 300th anniversary!

Enjoy the summer!
There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

72 Peggy Corso Gould 13906 Edgcomb Court Centreville, VA 22020

Happy 300th, William and Mary! The Charter Week celebration, Feb. 8-13, sounds as if it was spectacular. Bruce Shatswell represented our class in the processional during the Charter Day convocation. If you plan to come to this year's Homecoming, make sure to register early. Watch for the special supplement in the next issue of the Gazette: it will be the only way to register. The turnout is expected to be very large.

I received a great newspaper article on the band "Cado Parish" that a lot of you may have enjoyed when they performed at Homecoming this past October. They got back together after 20 years, tuned up their instruments and took to the stage at the Ramada Inn.

Rhythm guitarist and vocalist Dave Lord is managing editor of a newsletter for executives, and he and his wife head a foundation that operates a famous folk music club in New Hampshire.

Lead guitarist Phil Bard is a commercial photographer in southern California; his work has appeared in Time and Newsweek.

Drummer Gunnar (known as Bob in college) Gelotte spent several years as a successful Nashville musician and now works in film and video production.

Bass player Dave Coppinger '73 owns Taproot, a Second Street store in Williamsburg specializing in outdoor furniture and wood burning stoves.

And Frank Thornton '73, keyboard player, still plays. Last summer he played with a band that opened on tour for artists like Charlie Daniels and Marie Osmond.

On a different musical note, Matthew Spady lived one of his dreams when he sang the title role for the matinee performances of Virginia Opera's Don Pasquale in November last year. The strong bass voice was his, but makeup and padding made him look like the large, pompous character he played. While he was in graduate school at the University of Virginia, Matthew appeared in his first opera production, Aaron Copland's The Tender Land, and he was in Verdi's Attila while he continued his vocal studies at the University of Cincinnati. Keep us posted on future performances.

I want to correct some misinformation that was reported in my last column. Anne Timpano is the executive director, rather than the curator, of the Columbus Museum. She was honored to be elected in 1992 to membership in the Association of Art Museum Directors, an organization that limits its membership to directors of the 200 largest art museums in the country.

Michael Swanwick has had two vintage years — 1991 and 1992. In 1991 he had three books out: Stations of the Tide, his third novel; Gravity's Angels, a short story collection; and Griffin's Egg, a novella published in hard cover by publishers in London and New York. In 1992 Stations was given the Nebula Award for best science fiction novel of the year by the Science Fiction and Fantasy Writers of America. It was also nominated for the Hugo Award and is a current nominee for the Arthur C. Clarke Award in England. All you science fiction addicts, check out Michael's book! On the domestic front, he married Marianne Porter in 1980, and in 1983 their son, Sean, was born.

Peggy Drake keeps me updated on her busy life in her Christmas letter. She enjoys living in Baltimore, where she is a senior planner for the Built Environment Division at Baltimore City Planning. She is a church elder and is involved in several other committees as well. Her volunteer work has included heading the Baltimore chapter of the Women's Transportation Seminar; she is president of the Patrick Allison House Board of Directors, which works with men in transition from homelessness to a self-sufficient life. On the social side, Peggy is a faithful member of the Steelers Fan Club of Baltimore, which can be found from time to time at the infamous Purple Goose Bar cheering on the team.

One last note on William Robert Beamer of Roanoke, Va. He left behind bachelorhood last September when he and Kathy Lynn Jones were married. He works for State Social Services, Division of Licensing Programs.

That's it for now. Have a super summer.
There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

74 Mary Miley Theobald 5 Countryside Court Richmond, VA 23229

Wherever you live, if you watched the national news on Saturday, Feb. 13, you saw W&M in the spotlight. Thanks to Prince Charles, our school received loads of publicity on the 300th anniversary of the granting of the charter. Virtually every class was represented in the processional during the Charter Day convocation: Craig Cornwell, who lives in Lexington, Ky., was there for '74.

Michael D. Wesson has just been promoted by First Union Corp. to Richmond area president, responsible for the operations of the merged Dominion Bank with First Union. Mike and his wife, Kathy Kammerling '78, '80 M.B.A., lived in Charleston, S.C., before his transfer. At the time I write this, they are house-hunting in Richmond and hoping to move soon. They have one daughter, Kathryn, age 2.

Biology professor Linda Newbern Cauley was chosen from some 70 applicants to be the director of the Central Shenandoah Valley Regional Governor's School in western Virginia. The school, which will open in September 1993, will accept gifted and talented high school students from Augusta County, Staunton and Waynesboro. Linda had been teaching at Lancaster Community College in Clifton Forge and serving as director of institutional research and assessment. A biology major at W&M, she obtained a master's degree in botany at Virginia Tech in 1978. She has also had eight years experience in research, statistics, and training in Africa and southeast Asia.

Last Jan. 2, Tom Langhorne was married to Martha Ciesielski Kerschensteiner. Tom's roommate, Bob Snead, flew in from Colorado to be in the wedding in upstate New York. That was the first time they had seen each other since about 1976. The Langhornes live in Endicott, N.Y.

Nat and Nancy Sloan Hamner have a new baby in the house: Anne Castleton was born just in time to join her big sister Catherine, 2, for Christmas. The Hamner family lives in Richmond's Fan District.

I received a nice letter from Dr. Eve Earley, a chiropractor in Indianapolis for the past seven years. She and her husband, David, have been living in the farm country to the north of the city for four years now. Their renovated farmhouse heats with wood, so Eve says this time of year things are getting cozy around the fireplace. She had a two-week trip to Hawaii recently (part business, part vacation) and was ready to stay. She especially loved the ancient hula dancing, the volcanoes, and lounging in the hot tub listening to the fruit fall off the trees! Eve is already planning to attend the 20th reunion in 1994.

Speaking of the 20th reunion next year, if you know in advance that you are planning to attend, please drop me a line and I'll list the names in future issues. Maybe that will encourage fence sitters to Come On Down!

Bonnie Thacher Guari wrote from Minnesota that she spends much of her time trying to keep her family organized and on schedule. They have two children: John, 8, and Carly, 5. Bonnie volunteers a lot at their schools, and friends have been urging her to run for the school board, but she hasn't decided yet. She started a small business out of her home — what sort of business, Bonnie? — and is learning to use a computer. Bonnie had an idea for our 20th reunion: soliciting reminiscences from classmates about the four years we spent at W&M, sort of like the new book out for the Tercentenary, but our own class version. Remember curfews? Flipping your cards at Dupont? Your favorite professor or class? Madame VonDubell's photos? Your favorite deli? Remember your post office box combination? Dinner at the Commons? If you want to participate, please drop Bonnie a line: 4705 W. 60th St., Edina, MN 55424.

Cary Hoagland and husband Alan Hemphill bought a house in Tacoma Park, Md., and are preoccupied remodeling it. Cary would appreciate it if anyone in the area who could recommend good, honest contractors: call her at 301/270-3131. She also asked if anyone knows the whereabouts of Christine Storeide. On a trip to England last August, Cary attended the J.R.R. Tolkien Centenary combined with the annual conference of the Mythopoeic Society, a fantasy and sci-fi book discussion international group. She got to see where Tolkien lived and met his relatives. In 1994 D.C. is hosting the annual national conference, and Cary wants anyone who is interested to call her.

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

76 Robert S. Cavaliere 3807 Keith Ave. Fairfax, VA 22030

Greetings, classmates. How are those Little Leaguers doing? Hope you're having a great spring.

I don't travel much, but on my last two trips out of town I ran into some fellow '76ers along the way. After Thanksgiving, on the way back to Northern Virginia from my 20th high school reunion in Connecticut, I ran into Paul Abbott and his wife at the Vince Lombardi rest stop on the New Jersey Turnpike. They were in Connecticut for the same reason and were on their way back to Virginia Beach. Those of you who are familiar with the rest stops on the turnpike can see that none of us got too far from Connecticut before having to make a pit stop. In February I had the honor of attending the Charter Day ceremonies at W&M Hall. Afterwards, while at one of the delis on Scotland Street I ran into Teresa Sulich Scofield. Teresa lives in McLean, Va., but was in the Burg in search of a decent deli sandwich. While in town, she also dropped in on Charlie Woollum '64 M.Ed., head coach of Bucknell University's men's basketball team was named All-Patriot League Coach of the Year. This marks the fourth such honor he has received in his 18-year career in Lewisburg, Pa., as he was named the East Coast Conference Coach of the Year in 1984, 1985 and 1987. During the 1992-93 season, Woollum achieved two career milestones. He coached his 500th Bucknell game in late January, and recorded his 300th victory a week later. Woollum led the Bucknell Bison to all six of its 20-win seasons and recorded the first back-to-back 20-win seasons in the school's history this year and last. He also led the team to NCAA tournament appearances in 1987 and 1989 — the first two in school history — and this year's Patriot League regular-season title is Bucknell's sixth conference regular-season crown in the last 10 years.

the Charter Day festivities. And speaking of Charter Day, Nancy Turrentine Thompson had the honor of representing our class in the academic procession.

Debbie Limburg Mefford was kind enough to include me on her Christmas mailing list. Debbie re-entered the job market in 1992, as an elementary teacher's aide at her children's school in Cincinnati. She has recess duty, lunch duty, teaches kindergarten P.E. and tutors some first-graders, so that the teachers can refuel. Her kids are in fifth and first grade, respectively.

Andrew Ferguson was elected by the membership of the Virginia College Placement Association to serve as a director on the state board for 1992-93.

Paul Jost was in the news again regarding his Dallas-area project for converting run-down government-subsidized housing into condos which low-income people can afford to buy. He is looking for properties in D.C. and Richmond and is also pitching his concept to the Clinton administration.

Well, take care. Drop me a line while you're on summer vacation.

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

78 Margaret Bowen
8713 Rolando Drive
Richmond, VA 23229

Are you ready for Homecoming — our 15th reunion — Oct. 20-24? You should have received a recent letter highlighting plans for our class party and hospitality suite and other exciting events throughout the weekend. Remember to send in your reservation to Fort Magruder as soon as possible: space is limited and response has already been tremendous. Those of us who have been helping in the planning process are already excited — it will be a great weekend! Our Friday class night will be relaxing, casual and lots of fun. Remember Greg Greenway from our freshman year? He will be joining us and providing acoustical entertainment to help us reminisce. We hope all of you will be able to attend!

Congratulations are in order for Cathy Learnard.

Cathy just accepted a new position with Jefferson National Bank in Richmond as vice president in market research. Her responsibilities include analyzing the bank's community reinvestment lending activities. She recently did a little investing herself when she purchased a home in Petersburg.

Rolfe Carawan sends greetings from the Seattle area. He and his wife, Leah, have been on the West Coast for about three years. They live in Renton with their two children.

Deborah Gordon Drissi and her husband have started a new business in Herndon, Va. She said "it's been quite a roller-coaster ride," but they have enjoyed putting all the details together for their retail home improvement venture. They stay quite busy at home with four children. The latest, baby Adam, joined the family in August '91. Deborah has also been working in an immigration law office on a part-time basis. They hope to move from Woodbridge to Herndon in the near future.

It is with great delight that I share the following update with all of you: "We joyfully announce the arrival of our son, Graham Kenneth, born Sept. 9, 1992, joined our family Sept. 13, 1992; Greg and Martha Blus." What a happy ending to their search reported in our previous column!

My thanks to Faith Paulette Hurley for writing again. I did not receive the first letter but am very happy to share your news this time. Faith and her husband, John, recently moved from Annandale to Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, where John holds a position with the Joint Economic Commission. If there are any alumni groups in Riyadh, please contact Faith. Prior to the move, Faith had divided her time between her job as reference librarian at George Mason University and her children, Jordan and Ellen. Faith also sends news about Wayne and Glenda Long Humphreys. They are living in Virginia Beach, where Glenda serves as associate director of personnel at Old Dominion University. Glenda also attended classes at ODU and completed her M.B.A. there in 1990. Wayne is senior vice president, commercial lending, with Commerce Bank. Lisa Biordi married Maximum Bob Miller in 1990, and they are now living in their newly purchased home in Ashton, Md.

Gene LeCouteur completed the M.B.A. program at Cornell University. While in school, Gene continued his choir interests in the business school a cappella group, the Sound Investments. He shared the stage with Barbara Daniel, a fellow graduate student and member of the Class of '87. After completing school, he and his wife moved back to Baltimore, where he started a new position as research associate for Matthew Greenwald & Associates, a Washington, D.C., market research firm.

Beth Howell Groundwater sent a delightful Christmas letter. They are enjoying their new home in Colorado Spring, Colo., including the local wildlife that visit their backyard. Neil is involved with SunSoft's next-generation administrative tools at the SunSoft Rocky Mountain Technology Center. Beth took a leave of absence from SAIC to get settled with the move and now is back at work part time on a research project to develop an automated tool for validating object-oriented systems. She is looking forward to getting back into full-time work as the lead software engineer for a map-graphics-based decision support system for USAF base planners. They are only two-plus hours away from their Breckenridge condo and plan to be enjoying more ski trips.

Another Christmas writer was Brenda Hiatt Barber. She enclosed a clever bookmark advertisement for her latest literary works: "Escape into the pages of the latest HIATT REGENCY for sparkling romance and a rollicking good time!" Her latest Harlequin romances include Gabriella, The Ugly Duckling and '93 releases Lord Dearborn's Destiny, Daring Deception and Christmas Bride. In addition to these she is negotiating on two more works — a double time travel romance tentatively entitled Take Time for Love and a modification of her first novel, Azalea. Keith is still very busy studying in law school, and their two daughters are very involved with school and extracurricular activities.

Karen Lee Weise has been enjoying some maternity time off from her job as manager of health planning and administration with American Airlines. She is planning to return sometime in April. She and her husband, Tom, and daughter Kendra welcomed the new baby, Kevin, on Dec. 23, 1992. Tom is with Felcor Inc., specializing in buying and revamping distressed hotel properties. They are living in Dallas.

Chip Delano and his wife, Mary Ann '82, are proud parents of a second son, John Robert, born in March 1992. They are living in Richmond, where Chip is a shareholder in the law firm of Sands, Anderson, Marks & Miller, specializing in civil litigation.

Dave Herndon, in his first letter for our column, shares the news of his marriage to Cynthia Anne Kirsch in May 1992. Dave completed an M.A. in religion in 1986 at the University of Chicago and a D.M. from Meadville/Lombard Theological School. From 1986 to 1990 he served two Unitarian Universalist churches in London and Waterloo, Ontario. Since 1990, he has been serving the First Unitarian Church of Pittsburgh. Last summer he visited with Jonalu Johnstone '77, who is also studying for the Unitarian Universalist ministry at Harvard Divinity School. He is also a neighbor to Sharon Jackson Witkin '77, who is a psychologist in private practice in Pittsburgh.

Barbara Logan was featured in a recent article in the Daily Press, recapping her comeback from the horrible attack and accident she survived while in college. She is now living in Peoria, Ill., with her husband, a professor at Bradley University. She completed her master's work at the University of Massachusetts and worked as a counselor for high school and then college students. Her experience helped her deal with certain students: "When people have lost something, I can say that I know for sure it gets better." Most recently she has been taking classes for a teacher's certificate. She has become an advocate for stricter gun control laws and has been featured in two books, one on gun control and another on female athletes. She continues to pursue her love of sports by swimming regularly.

B. J. Pryor rekindled his interest in Colonial

John Eller '92 has been responsible for organizing a special exhibit in honor of two William and Mary alumni who went on to serve as presidents of the United States. The exhibit at Ash Lawn-Highland in Charlottesville opens in April, which marks significant anniversaries in the lives of both men—Thomas Jefferson and James Monroe. April marks the 200th anniversary of Monroe's purchase of Ash Lawn-Highland and the 250th anniversary of the birth of his neighbor at Monticello, Thomas Jefferson. The exhibit, "Monroe and Jefferson: A Society to Our Taste," will include furniture, china, documents and jewelry associated with Monroe and some Jeffersonian items. The exhibit will be set up in a reception room of the main house at Ash Lawn-Highland, which is owned and administered by William and Mary. Eller currently works as a guide at Ash Lawn-Highland.

Williamsburg in 1979. He began working at the book bindery and moved into the role of character interpreter. For the past three years he has portrayed the Rev. Samuel Henley, who in 1772 was a professor at the College and a minister in town. He has learned that a successful interpreter must look at the world through the eyes of someone else. Last fall he spent his vacation in the English county where Henley was born and raised. He hopes this will enhance his portrayal of the character.

Michael Gray Perrow married Linda Ferguson Junghans '79 on Sept. 12, 1992, in the Washington National Cathedral. Michael received an M.F.A. degree in English from the University of Massachusetts in Amherst. The couple are living in Nanjing, China.

Watch your mail and future Gazette bulletins for more information on Homecoming and our reunion. Call or write if you have questions or need information. See you in October!

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

80 Pam Lunny
749 Boston Ave.
Bridgeport, CT 06610

Hello, again! Here's hoping that 1993 has been good to you thus far. I'm going to dash off a quick summary since, as usual, I'm running late. Work just always seems to get in the way!

Just a reminder — since 1993 is a very special year at W&M, and Homecoming will be jam-packed, it is suggested that you register early. Look for the special Homecoming supplement in the next issue of the Gazette — this will be the only means by which you can preregister.

In the last column, Chris Wenzel Stenroos asked where all of the rest of the Deutsches Hausers were. Well, I have an answer from one. Elaine Walker wrote from Durham, N.C., having just returned from an international tour through eastern Europe with the Duke Chapel Choir. To go back a bit — Elaine graduated magna cum laude with a master of divinity degree from Duke Divinity School, after which she worked for several years as a technician in the cardiology lab at Dartmouth. At the same time, she took some premed courses at Colby-Sawyer College, where she found she wanted to become more involved in the medical field. Next step was the completion of the physician's assistant program with a concentration in surgery at Duke Medical School in the summer of 1991, after which Elaine worked at Duke on the cardiac surgery team. She is now settled in internal medicine at the Rehabilitation Hospital of Wake Forest in Raleigh and deals primarily with brain-injured patients. On the home front, Elaine is or was in the process of buying a house in Cary, N.C., and is active playing ice hockey with the Raleigh Adult Hockey team. A rather lengthy response, but then we had a few years to catch up with!

Deborah Baird Bragg has made quite a few changes lately! First, last May she left her job as recreation director at the Radisson Suite Resort in Clearwater Beach, Fla., and moved to Richmond to begin graduate school at the University of Richmond. She'll graduate this August with her master's in teaching with endorsement in learning disabilities. In September, Deborah married Randy Bragg '79. When she wrote, Deborah was looking forward to visiting Mary Shultz '79 in Alexandria. Mary works for WETA, a PBS station.

I received an article which mentioned that Charles D. Kurtz, who I think is known as Dean (if I am wrong, please accept my apologies), was recently promoted to vice president of regulatory policy for Centel Corp., a Central Telephone company. Dean and his wife, Cathy, live in Tallahassee, Fla., with their four children.

Dave Garland joined the law firm of Grotta, Glassner & Hoffman in Roseland, N.J., where he specializes in employment discrimination and wrongful termination litigation. Dave received his law degree from George Washington University National Law Center, and before entering private practice, he was an assistant to Sen. Bob Dole and to Gov. Thomas Kean of New Jersey. Dave has been a member of the faculty of the American Law Institute — American Bar Association and is currently council president for Caldwell, N.J., and a board member for the United Way of Essex County. Dave and his wife, Felicia (Lanosga), are the proud parents of Jonathan.

That's all for now, folks! Please keep me in mind — I need your news! Take care and see you at Homecoming maybe?

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

82 Nancy Conlon Herzog
20 Jennifer Drive
Wrentham, MA 02093

By the time you read this, I hope the Northeast will have thawed out. We've had snow on the ground nearly all winter, and everyone I talked to is definitely ready for spring.

If you're planning to attend Homecoming '93 commemorating the College's 300th anniversary, be sure to look for the special insert in the next issue of the Gazette. Because of the anticipated large turnout, this supplement will be the only means of registration, and you are encouraged to respond early.

The week of Feb. 8 marked the official celebration of W&M's founding in 1693. Senior class president and 10th-reunion organizer Laura Brewer served as our class representative during the proceedings. I'm sure you'd agree that Laura's continuing service to our class is greatly appreciated by us all.

Turning to class news, Becky Millard has joined the professional organization "Women in Film and Video" in Washington, D.C., to support her burgeoning screenwriting career. Becky also writes that her former roommate Jan Mallison Brashear has a baby due in June.

Keith "KiKi" Dalton and his wife added a second child to their family. The past year also meant a new house and a new position for KiKi as Sony's national sales manager for government systems. He has also become a bit of a celebrity. Through his work with Sony and as a director for the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children, KiKi developed an "age progression" computer system to locate children missing for an extended period. This technology has supported the recovery of 17 children so far. The system has also been featured on several national TV programs, and KiKi himself has appeared on America's Most Wanted. He has been honored by the Department of Justice, the Fraternal Order of Police and the NCMEC for his work.

Gus Griffin has been promoted once again by Brown-Forman Beverage Co., this time from associate brand manager for Southern Comfort to brand manager for Southern Comfort Cocktails. Gus joined the company in 1986, after completing his M.B.A. at W&M, and is currently based in Louisville, Ky.

Effective Jan. 1, George Boatright received a promotion to controller of Richmond Newspapers Inc. Since 1986, George has served as the organization's assistant controller. Prior to that, he spent four years with Media General's internal audit department. George received his master's degree from the University of Richmond.

Singer/songwriter Kim Kalman has released her fourth independent recording project. "Heartbeat" represents a significant achievement for Kim, as this is her first album of all original tunes. She was kind enough to send me a copy, and I have truly enjoyed it. To obtain "Heartbeat" for yourself, call 818/594-2542.

Another performer, singer David Niebuhr, is working as a tavern musician in CW. After graduation, Dave began a career in marketing and public relations. But in 1987, he returned to

15TH REUNION

David W. Garland '80

Gus Griffin '82, '87 M.B.A.

ALUMNI NAMED SENIOR ATTORNEY AND ASSOCIATE

Neil V. Birkhoff '80 J.D. and Abigail L. Perkins '92 J.D. have been recognized as senior attorney and new associate, respectively, to the law firm of Woods, Rogers & Hazlegrove in Roanoke, Va. Birkhoff joined the firm in 1987. He served as a trial attorney in the tax division of the United States Department of Justice, law clerk to the Honorable George Willi, United States Claims Court, and law clerk with the Supreme Court of Virginia before joining Wood, Rogers & Hazlegrove. While at Marshall-Wythe School of Law, he served as executive editor of the William and Mary Law Review. He is a member of the Roanoke, Virginia, American and Virginia State bar associations as well as the Roanoke Valley Estate Planning Council. A contributing author to Benders Federal Tax Service, he is also editor of the Virginia Tax Law Newsletter. Perkins is also a member of the Roanoke, Virginia and American bar associations along with the Virginia Women Attorneys Association. She received her bachelor's degree summa cum laude from James Madison University, where she was a member of Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society.

W&M to attend the School of Education. To support himself, Dave waited tables at the King's Arms, where the manager overheard him harmonizing with the tavern musicians. He arranged an audition, and Dave was hired to sing and play the lute. Dave taught biology and chemistry for two years at Lafayette High School, and is currently studying at W&M yet again, this time at the School of Marine Science.

Two classmates in the armed forces sent letters from overseas. Capt. Richard Corns has been stationed in Mogadishu, Somalia, and will likely be there through early April. Richard was pleased to read in my last column that Judy Cowling's business in Newport News is doing well, and he sends her his regards.

As of October, Dr. Chris Benjamin was in Saudi Arabia as part of the Air Force deployment still known as Desert Storm. On the bright side, the Air Force has returned Chris and his family to the United States after a lengthy assignment in Germany. The Benjamin's have settled in New Mexico, where Chris got to spend a few months before receiving orders to deploy temporarily to the Middle East. He and his wife, Stephanie, now have three children: Laura, 5; Kirsten, 3; and Karl, 5 months.

Megan Beth Lott '82 is celebrating her 10th year as executive director of National Teenage Republicans, where she has brought 1 million young people into the GOP!

I have a number of engagements and weddings to announce. First, Linda Secrist has become engaged to Roy Dwyer. After graduation, Linda received her master's degree from Hollins College. She is currently employed by Mental Health Services of the Roanoke Valley. Her future husband, a graduate of Montclair State College, is with Allstate Insurance Co. A fall wedding is planned.

Also engaged are Rebecca Pagans and Michael Brooks, who have a late-May wedding scheduled. Like Linda, Rebecca received her master's degree from Hollins College, where she is also employed. Rebecca's fiancée graduated from Virginia Tech and is a C.P.A. and partner in the accounting firm of Kennett & Kennett.

Susan Gray is betrothed to Carl Prestipino of Spartansburg, S.C. Susan is with the South Carolina School for the Deaf, while her future husband, a University of South Carolina graduate, is employed by R. R. Donnelly. The couple plans to wed in April.

Finally, Dr. Karen Reeks and Dr. Sterling Ransone Jr. '86 were married last October. The reception was held at the Hospitality House. After graduation, both Karen and Sterling attended the Medical College of Virginia, where Karen is now a resident in pediatrics. Sterling is a resident in family practice at Riverside Regional Medical Center. After a wedding trip to Florida, the couple settled in Williamsburg.

I hope all is well with you and yours. Please drop me a line — it only takes a few moments, and it means so much to old friends who'd love to know what you've been up to.

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

84 Joanna Lee Ashworth
3015 Hampton Ave.
Charlotte, NC 28207

Big doin's in the Big Apple on Jan. 30! Noah Levine celebrated his 30th birthday in style at a surprise birthday fete given by his incredible wife, Jackie! Fellow classmate Tim Watson made the trip up from Northern Virginia.

News from Tennessee came at the holidays, with lots of wonderful updates from Michael Foster. After marrying his wife, Mary, in 1988, he completed his Ph.D. at the University of North Carolina in 1990. He and Mary spent two years in Philadelphia, at the University of Pennsylvania where Michael was a postdoctoral fellow and lecturer in economics and demography.

In April of 1992, he and Mary welcomed their first child into the world, Hannah, who is now almost a year old! At the time Michael wrote in, Hannah had one tooth and was trying to walk. She was falling down a lot, and Michael was not sure how much longer the tooth was going to last! In September of 1992, Michael joined the faculty at Vanderbilt University, where he is an assistant professor of public policy and economics. He is associated with the Vanderbilt Institute for Public Policy Studies. He and his wife enjoy living in Nashville and are quite glad to have left the life of the apartment-dweller behind. Tom Williams '86 was the first W&M grad to visit them in their new house, and they toasted their new abode with some W&M mugs! Michael and Mary hope to have more W&M visitors!

Ann Kolmer Brooks writes of a very happy occasion — the birth of her second daughter, Caroline Lee, on June 19, 1992. She and her husband, Cameron, already have a 3-year-old daughter, Allison, and are living in Salem, Va. They celebrated the marriage of Deborah Sleeper and John Lannen in Salem on Sept. 19. Patricia Whitmer Puglisi '83 and Ann served as attendants. Mark Gianturco '86 and his wife, Kathy Warren Gianturco '89 were unable to make the wedding due to the birth of their new baby girl. Other wedding guests included John's sister, Jill Lannen Jensen '76, Jerry Barnett '67, Bob Beckwith, Alice Sue Hodge '66 and Elmer Hodge '66, Leslie Levy Lesch, Gordon and Mary Trigg MacArthur, and David Seamon '83. A wonderful time was had by all at the reception at the Patrick Henry Hotel! After a honeymoon to Maui, newlyweds Debbie and John returned to live in Salem. Deborah is a graduate student at Virginia Tech and John is employed by Medco Security Locks. Thanks for the update, Ann!

Steve Simoneaux wrote from nearby Atlanta, where he is doing a fellowship at Egleston Children's Hospital at Emory University. After finishing his residency in Miami and passing his radiology boards, he and his wife, Irene, moved up to Hot-lanta. Irene transferred to the corporate offices of Holiday Inn Worldwide. Now Steve is busy looking for a "real" job since the fellowship will only last one year. Steve and Irene spent one fall weekend with Lynn and George Cruser, at George's parents' house in Savannah, Ga. This was the second year in a row that they've planned the fun weekend, and this year Mark Forde and Mary Obata joined them for the getaway. They hope to make that an annual tradition. George and Steve are already making plans for the Homecoming/Tercentenary. I hope you are too!

Melanie Morgan and her husband Nick Anich, sent a delightful birth announcement with a special delivery notice from Santa: Clair Morgan Anich, born on Nov. 28, 1992! They are enjoying their beautiful little girl very much. Nick will be going to school and taking care of Claire, and Melanie is returning to her job as corporate lawyer at Frito-Lay. Melanie adds that Anne Kirk Gensheimer just had another baby, Caroline, in July of 1992. This is No. 4 for Anne — surely she deserves some sort of award for this! Congratulations!!

Terri Watson writes from the western part of the country. After five years in the Army, "CPT Watson" now lives a very different life. She began work on her Ph.D. in satellite remote sensory geographical information systems integration at Oregon State University in 1990. She also began working for the National Outdoor Leadership School during the summer she left the service — a "temporary" job. She is now in her second full year of teaching with NOLS, and instructs on such things as technical skills in mountaineering, rock climbing, sea kayaking and coastal sailing, as well as teaching folks how to make extended wilderness expeditions.

She says that all together, the package truly challenges in all aspects like she has never been challenged before! Terri has also been selected to be sponsored on a five-week expedition crossing the Gulf of California twice in a 19-foot open sailboat and exploring Baja and the mainland of Mexico. Terri has bought a house in Lander, Wyo., although these days she spends most of her time in Mexico and Alaska. In closing, Terri mentions that anyone who wants a place to stay in Wyoming is welcome to the guest bedroom, just two hours from Jackson Hole and Yellowstone!

Did you know that John Berger founded Direct Marketing of Williamsburg Inc.? John founded the organization in 1983 when he was a junior and it continues to thrive and do well! What is DMV, you may ask? It is a two-credit, Special Projects course offered through the School of Business Administration. It is a student-run Virginia corporation that provides professional marketing services — from concepts and layouts for pamphlets to creation of logo designs — to the local business community, including Xerox and Exxon. Currently, 37 students from all areas of study at the College operate the corporation.

More happy news — Vanessa Griffith has become engaged to Dennis Kerrigan '91 J.D.! Vanessa earned her law degree at Marshall-Wythe in 1991 and is an attorney in the corporate office of United Technologies Corp. in Hartford, Conn.

Dennis received his undergraduate degree from Holy Cross College in 1988 and is an attorney with the law firm of Hebb & Gitlin in Hartford. They have planned a November wedding in Williamsburg.

News of another Williamsburg wedding to report — that of Colleen Patricia Kearns to Thomas Francis Killilea of Jan. 30 at St. Bede's, followed by a reception at the Coast Guard Officers Club in Yorktown. Colleen received her juris doctor degree from the Marshall-Wythe School of Law and now works as a senior assistant commonwealth attorney in Hampton. Thomas attended Christopher Newport College and is working toward his master's thesis in psychology at W&M and is employed by the Hampton Police Department. After a wedding trip to the Poconos, the Killileas returned to live in Hampton.

Monica Johnson Deaver, our '84 class agent, writes from Gainesville, Fla., where she is in graduate school. She wanted everyone to know that she was at Margee Mulhall's wedding, too, although she was not included in the letter sent to me regarding the big event!

News from Denison University is that Rob Garnett has joined the staff as a visiting instructor of economics. Rob is a doctoral candidate at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. He taught at the University of Southern Maine from 1990 to 1992. Rob's research interests include the intellectual basis and consequences of the disciplinary separation of economics from the humanities and other branches of social inquiry, and the relationship between monetary and "real" determinants of microeconomic behavior and macroeconomic performance. Rob is living in Granville with his wife, Enid Arvidson, who is completing her Ph.D. in economics and urban studies at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst.

Holiday greetings arrived from around the globe. Sarah Williamson writes from the Big Apple. She spent her holidays down South with her parents in Aiken, S.C. Amy Marcos made the big trek from her home in San Francisco to Connecticut to celebrate Christmas with her family. Alison and Greg Miller, and their daughter, Samantha, sent a big hello from Gainesville, Fla. They will be moving up to North Carolina in the summer, which will be wonderful for us — lots of visits!

Beth '83 and Thad Weaver and little Robert spent the holidays in California with Beth's parents. Beth has decided to leave the bank and will now be a full-time mom, which she truly enjoys. Thad's job has kept him traveling a good bit, especially to Austin and Houston.

Carl Adkins sends greetings from the Philadelphia area. He recently visited Jeff Cole in his snappy new condo in D.C., and they rendezvoused with Ed Healy, Richard Hill and Chris Hambleton.

Carl Becker sent a very kind holiday note from the Northern Virginia area as well. He works for a computer company, RTSI, in Tyson's Corner, and also jointly owns a beach shop, Sierra Moon, in Rehoboth Beach, Del. His computer work has taken him on some interesting travels — he just returned from a month in Hong Kong! We spent New Year's Eve with Betsy and Jeff Bishop in their home in Jefferson, Va., outside D.C. Their two new cats are keeping them busy, and we had fun ringing in the New Year with good food and good friends!

Greg and Kim Staples Hundley are enjoying life in Dallas, with Greg working hard on his fellowship in cardiology. Kim continues to enjoy her job as well.

Susan '85 and Bill Garvey '85 have moved into their delightful new home in Dilworth, a wonderful neighborhood in Charlotte, N.C. Billy served as the general contractor on the huge addition and renovation project, and the house looks truly incredible. They should be very proud. Another '85 grad just visited me in Charlotte, Jill Bobbin, and we tried to attend the Cross Stitch Festival in Winston-Salem, but the big blizzard kept us away! Jill is off to the Bahamas next weekend to celebrate her 30th birthday!

I hope that many of you were able to attend the Charter Day celebration in Williamsburg. It was a very special weekend. I had an especially good time, because my college roommate, Annie St. Clair, and I met up in the Burg for a bachelorette weekend and went to all of the events together, including a trip to Gambols at Chowning's!

Fraser Hudgins marched in the procession to represent our class, and I was awfully proud to see the many school representatives, students, professors and guests who had made the trip to Williamsburg to join in the celebration. Anne is doing well, and is living in Oreland, Pa. Her husband, Scott, has started a new career in the desktop publishing business, specifically a service bureau. Their two sons, Hunter, 4, and MacKenzie, 1-1/2, are just adorable. Annie has started her own business as well, Wordsmiths. She does typesetting and layout work on her computer and hopes to expand the business to include designing and writing services.

David and I just returned from a great trip to Memphis, Tenn., where we visited with Anne '83 and David Brand in their wonderful new home in the Central Gardens section of town. We truly enjoyed seeing the wonderful renovations and furnishings in their 40-year-old home. We ventured down to Ole Miss and Faulkner's home, as well as into Arkansas where we saw the big sign "Welcome to Arkansas, Home of President Clinton." It was a fun weekend with good friends.

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

86 Kristen M. White
3492 Martha Custis Drive
Alexandria, VA 22302-2118

Hello to everyone once again! Hope springtime has finally arrived in your corner of the world. I'm definitely ready for warmer weather. Even though summer is not yet upon us, I hope all of you are thinking about fall and have made your reservations for Homecoming '93. It's sure to be a great time! Check out the supplement in the next issue of the Gazette for further details. Hope to see many of you there! As for details about your classmates, read on!

Special congratulations are in order for Anne-Jarrell LoCasale and husband Greg '85, who welcomed baby Michael Thomas into the world this past January. Little Michael arrived slightly early, so life has been a whirlwind for Mom and Dad ever since! Michael is such a cute baby, and Anne-Jarrell and Greg are thrilled to be parents! Congratulations!

Kitty Penney Phillips sent me a note recently and enclosed a photo of her adorable son, born last June. Kitty tells me that she and husband Dan are enjoying parenthood here in Northern Virginia.

Beth Burger Baule wrote from Evansville, Ind., where she and husband John are busy enjoying the newest addition to their family, baby John Gerhard (otherwise known as Jack). Beth and John are both working for Bristol-Myers Squibb, John as an international auditor, and Beth in human resources. Many thanks for writing, Beth!

Scott Richter called in answer to my where-are-you-now inquiry and filled me in on his life. He's busy hitting the law books at the University of Wisconsin Law School. Scott tells me that Khaki Crosswhite is still putting her computer expertise to good use in Richmond. Thanks for the phone call, Scott!

Dave Maxwell is busy practicing law in the litigation section of Atlanta's Alston & Bird.

Elizabeth Flamm Grissom dropped me a line to say that she and husband Ed are enjoying their new home in Chesapeake. Elizabeth loves her teaching job, while Ed continues to work hard as an attorney.

Pam Tolbert Hanback is practicing law at Schwartz, Simon & Edelstein in Livingston, N.J. Pam graduated from George Mason University's School of Law last year. Pam and husband Larry are living in Morristown, N.J.

As always, there are many weddings and engagements to write about. Sutton Stephens and longtime beau Jeff Hamlin (a U.Va. grad) will take their vows in June in their hometown of Dallas. Sutton and Jeff are currently living in Boston, while Jeff works on his M.B.A. at M.I.T. Sutton is taking graduate courses at Tufts and is doing well!

Larry Patish and Dana Unger will tie the knot in November in Norfolk, where Larry, a graduate

Dave Maxwell '86

William and Mary will hold its May 16 commencement ceremony in Walter J. Zable Stadium because of the unusually large size of its 300th anniversary graduating class. "The number of students who wanted to take part in the College's Tercentenary commencement ceremony is truly remarkable. William and Mary wants as many family and friends to share in this event as possible, so moving to Zable Stadium for one year was the only viable option," said W. Samuel Sadler '64, commencement committee chair and vice president for student affairs. In recent years, commencement has been held in William and Mary Hall and each graduate was given five guest tickets. But with the graduating class this year expected to be about 2,290 instead of the 1,990 in last year's class, William and Mary Hall cannot accommodate 300 additional graduates and 1,500 of their guests. That would have meant graduates would get only four tickets. As a result, the College has decided to move the ceremony for this year only to Zable Stadium. In case of inclement weather, the ceremony will move to William and Mary Hall, where only four guests per graduate can be accommodated, said Sadler.

of Emory University's law school, is practicing law. Dana (a Norfolk State grad) is the director of social services at the Hillhaven Rehabilitation and Convalescent Center. Congrats to you!

Linda Habgood '88 and Gary Zanfagna '88 announced their engagement this past December. They'll be taking the plunge sometime in late 1994. Linda continues to work at Chase Manhattan in New York; Gary will earn his law degree from U.Va. this month. Best wishes!

Debra Lynn Creasy and Kendal Warren Carlson were married in March in Danville, Va. Debra is an attorney in the law office of James Goodson III, and a part-time instructor in real estate law at Danville Community College. Kendal, a graduate of Park College in Colorado, works for Microsoft Corp. in Charlotte as a technical support engineer. Congrats!

Thomas Bert Weidner and Cynthia Colbert tied the knot last October in Tucson, Ariz. Tom graduated from U.Va.'s law school and is now practicing law with Kaestner, Spieth & Gays in Richmond. Cynthia, a Northwestern University grad, is a senior sales executive at Travelers Insurance Co. in that city. Best wishes to you both!

Congrats to Mary Boyes, an English teacher at Liberty High School in Bedford, Va., who was recently honored by her students, who selected her to be teacher of the month. As if she weren't busy enough, Mary is also working on her master's degree in English and fine arts at Hollins College. Also in the teaching field, Mary Meade has joined the faculty of Waynesboro High School where she teaches biology and chemistry.

Susan Zanetti Harrison called to catch up with me this past February. She and husband Rich are busy with their brand new home in Fredericksburg, where Sue continues to enjoy the challenge of teaching fourth grade. Never a dull moment, she tells me! Jane and Mike Shuler '83 visited Sue and Rich recently; Sue reports that baby James Parkman Shuler (who recently has had his first birthday) is lively and adorable!

Lynn Hale Riggs continues to work hard at her job as a Henrico County reference librarian. She tells me that Lucinda Snyder Whitehurst's baby girl is absolutely adorable. Lynn reports that Cathy Creekmore Decker and husband Ted '85 are working hard in Pittsburgh. Ted is finishing up his M.B.A. at Carnegie-Mellon, while Cathy continues to work on hers at the University of Pittsburgh. All this and full-time jobs, too! Lynn added that Margaret Eklind is in Atlanta, where she has a wonderful job with United Parcel Service.

Julie Wallace Dunn has landed an impressive job with that widely read publication, The New Yorker. She's currently doing marketing for them, and tells me that she loves the job. Julie and Tom '87 (and their beloved puppy dogs) are finally settled into their new apartment and are truly enjoying New York. Tom is working long hours at Cravath, Swaine & Moore, but tells me that he really enjoys his work in the firm's corporation section. Julie tells me that she's seen Alison Sellin '85 frequently, and that Alison has done a great deal to help acclimate her (and Tom) to the Big Apple!

Did you see Chip Esten '87 in his guest appearance on that popular sitcom, Cheers, this past January? (If you missed it, try to catch the re-run. It's the episode where Cliff and Norm videotape an anniversary party.) And how many of you were among the more than 100 million people who watched Mark Kelso '85 (of the Buffalo Bills) in this year's Super Bowl? Now I'm wondering, how many of YOU in OUR class have been on television? Write if you have!

Steve Richards sent me a postcard from the Caribbean, where he spent the month of December sailing around the islands and getting rid of stress! A nice relief from Chicago's miserable winter weather! Steve and Dan Weber are trying to juggle options trading and home ownership in Chicago. When is the bachelor pad ever going to be finished?

As for the where-are-you-now paragraph, I'm wondering about Steve Alexander, Liddy Allee, Scott Coval, Susan Doyle, Ann Drake, Ron Gillam, Tony Hahn, Molly Harris, Andy McCulla, Beth Monin, Shelly Raby, Karen Robertson and Amanda Wilson. Please write and let me know what you're up to!

As for the update on my life, I'm still here at Akin, Gump (what else is new, right?) toiling away in the legal field. Graduate school continues to keep me busy, and I'm looking forward to earning my master's degree in the spring of 1994. It will be a nice way to celebrate turning 30 (which, for most of us, is right around the corner. Sorry I mentioned it!). As for excitement, I spent a week in March at Club Med's resort in tropical Martinique having an absolute blast in the sun. It's the perfect antidote for whatever may ail you!

Sure do hope many of you will drop me a line when next you find a spare moment. The deadline for the next issue is June 25, so please write (or call) with news before then! Also, if any of you wish to include information on weddings or births for the Vital Statistics column, please be sure to send me all the details and I'll see that the information is printed in the Gazette. Finally, I run into many of you who tell me that the Alumni Society does not have your correct address. For those of you who fit into that category, please feel free to send me your current address information, and I'll be sure that the Alumni Society receives it!

Hope you find plenty of time to enjoy barbecues, fresh air, more hours of sunlight and all of those other wonderful things that the summer months have to offer! Keep in touch!

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

The Young Guard 1988-1992

88 Suzy Houbé
666 West End Ave., Apt. 17T
New York, NY 10025

Hello! I hope all is going well with you! Thank you for the notes, letters, postcards, phone calls, etc., that came in for this issue. Keep up the good info!

And don't forget our fifth year reunion from Oct. 20-24 (not to mention Homecoming and the 300th Anniversary of the College!) The reunion committee is being headed by Class President Tim McEvoy, and we've planned some great events including a dinner/dance/party at the Hospitality House on Friday, Oct. 22. Please watch for the special supplement in the next issue, and respond quickly! Also, the hotels in the area are filling up fast, so book your room now!

Pamela Hodgkinson wrote in response to the "Where in the World are They?" section to say that she's alive and well and living in Stamford, Conn. She's working for a marketing company which keeps her very busy.

Pamela says that she spends a lot of time with Andrea Danese and Karen Wallace. Andrea is doing well in the publishing field and is enjoying the fast pace of the city. Karen is working hard as an attorney at Mendes & Mount in New York. Her big news is that she tied the knot on April 30 to Rob Walter, an old co-worker of Pamela's from Greenwich. Both Andrea and Pamela were bridesmaids, and Debbie Smith Geisler and Vaughan Gibson were among the wedding party.

Vaughn is currently working as an attorney at Walton & Adams in Northern Virginia and is living in Alexandria. Debbie and her husband Eddie are anxiously awaiting the arrival of their first child. Until then, Debbie keeps busy working for her father's heating and air conditioning business.

Bonnie Bishop is living and working in Tampa. She just started a position with Sallie Mae and gets the opportunity to travel quite a bit.

Carla Montague Hartman and husband Scott '89 are living in Richmond where Carla is a manager at a Charter Club store and Scott is a teacher and coach at a local high school. Carla has also been going to night school to get her M.B.A. They've bought a great house which they share with their golden lab, Alex.

Francoise Alberola '89 is living in D.C. and Pamela says she is constantly entertained by Francoise's stories about her first grade class. She loves teaching and the kids seem to love her too.

Maria Manos is living with Mimi Capalaces in Northern Virginia and works for NationsBank. Every now and then, Pamela says she hears rumors of her moving up to the Big Apple.

Karla Campbell '89 started a new job in the travel industry in government procurement. She's also studying to become a veterinarian.

Pamela says that NYC is filled with W&Mers (she's right!) and that she, Karen and Andrea are constantly running into Eddie Robinson '86, Erick Pickens '85, Jon Doyle '87, Bobbie Zaccanino '86, and several other Pi Lam's.

Hello to Lina Milkovich High who wrote from Hawaii where she and husband David are living.

Greg Greenway '75 has been nominated for two 1993 Boston Music Awards. The "Best Folk/Acoustic Album" nomination is for his A Road Worth Walking Down and the "Best Song/Songwriter" nomination is for Free at Last, which he composed along with Ron Curcio. Greenway will perform in Boston throughout the year and will appear in Washington, D.C., this spring. He is scheduled as entertainment for the Class of 1978 reunion during Homecoming in October. Compact discs and cassette tapes can be ordered through: Face Productions, P.O. Box 426, Astor Station, Boston, MA 02123-0426.

David, a company commander in the Marine Corps, and Lina, who recently accepted a job as a lease marketing manager for GECC Financial, are living on the windward side of Oahu, in a city called Kaneohe.

Lina says that she ran into Chris Sailor '86 at the Honolulu Airport on New Year's Day. He has lived in Hawaii for five years, managing the Chart House restaurant. Todd Eddins '86 is also living in Hawaii. He is an attorney for the public defenders office of Honolulu.

Lina also said that she heard from Karen Shultz Dash '89 who just moved into a new home in Glen Allen, Va., with her husband Steve. Karen will be teaching through the end of this school year, and beginning in June will be providing day care out of her home.

Jean Pommerening recently bought a townhouse in Arlington, Va., and is still working for Crestar.

Susan and Chris Amorello '86 had a baby girl, Blair, this past fall. They are living in Birmingham, Mich., where Chris is in the insurance business.

Pamela Sutton Brill wrote that several of the '88 Phi Mu House sisters got together down in Williamsburg over the '92 Memorial Day weekend. She says a great time was had by all as they reminisced and shared all the events that had happened to us since graduation.

Christy Blanchard-Alworth was married to husband Bob in a candlelight ceremony in December 1990. She is living in Baltimore while pursuing a master's degree in human resource management at Towson State. She is working as the aerobic director at Sinai Corporate Health and still feeling like a newlywed!

Sue Campbell is living in Arlington with Sue Wilson. She is the consumer marketing coordinator at the Discovery Networks.

Joyce Anzolut Colburn '90 joined the Phi Mu's as well. Joyce married Billy Colburn '90 at the Wren Chapel last December and is living in Blackstone, Va. She just landed a great new job as the director of annual funds for Longwood College.

Tracey Ball Jerome traveled extensively in Europe after graduation, where she met husband David, currently at attorney in Washington. They were married in July 1989, are now residing in Alexandria, and celebrating the birth of their first child, David, born in August '92.

Karri Powers Johnson was married to husband Gregory in August 1989. She is a senior underwriter for State Farm insurance. The Johnsons finished building a new home in Charlottesville last spring.

Donna Romankow graduated from Indiana University Law School in Bloomington in May 1991 and is now working for Garrubbo and Romankow in Berkeley Heights, N.J.

Maria Santucci, another law schooler, graduated from Villanova University in May 1991. She is living in Voorhees, N.J., in a new apartment. She is an attorney for the Defense Logistics Agency in Philadelphia.

Juli Winkler is living in Richmond and is the regional health promotion coordinator for Continental Health Promotion. She received her masters in sports management from the University of Richmond in August 1989.

John and Kerry Danisavage Ferrell joined the Phi Mu clan at Paul's Deli along with baby Vic, born in April. The Farrells were making the move from Charlottesville, where John had just finished medical school at U.Va. and Kerry was working as a mathematician for the Department of the Army, to Pittsburgh where John will pursue his internship in pediatrics at Children's Hospital.

As for Pamela, she and husband David celebrated their second anniversary with a cruise to the western Caribbean. They are living in Lanexa, Kan. (a suburb of Kansas City) and working for Hallmark Cards Inc. She and David are also expecting their first child in February.

Speaking of babies, Craig Elander wrote that he and his wife Kim are now the proud parents of Kaitlin Jean Elander, born on Oct. 11, weighing in at 8 lbs., 7 oz. Proud pop says that all three are enjoying Philadelphia.

Patricia Olivo Howes is also celebrating the birth of her first child, Jonathon James, on Dec. 15, 1992. She and her husband Bo are living in Hillsborough, N.C., where Patricia is working as a veterinary technician. She has applied to veterinary school at NC State while Bo is finishing up his final semester of law school.

Steve Brachtel wrote that he got married on Nov. 15, 1992, to Roberta Greaves in her hometown of Boston. Two weeks after their Caribbean honeymoon, they moved from D.C. to Chicago, where Steve is the latest W&Mer to join Trust Trading as a futures trader.

Emily Deck wrote from Columbia, S.C., where she is working as the appeals deputy for the entire District of South Carolina, which means that she handles all cases (both civil and criminal) when they get appealed to the Circuit Court of Appeals. One of the people she talks to rather frequently is Mike Radday '86, who is case manager. Emily is also doing some community theatre work with the Workshop Theater, a small 25-year old organization.

Her big news, though, is that she'll be marrying Paul Harrill '86 on May 1, 1993, in Charlottesville. Paul is an attorney for the McNair Law firm in Columbia. Steve Cornelius '86 will be the best man and Dan Scerbo '86 will also be in the "party."

Emily talked to Kirsten Schmidt, who is still at Fordham University in New York, and is now pursuing her Ph.D. in political philosophy. Kirsten recently went to Germany to spend time with Elizabeth McNeil, whom Emily believes is at the London School of Economics.

Emily went to the U.Va. vs. W&M game in Charlottesville in October with Doug Gray and Julie Janson. Doug is getting his master's at U.Va. in public administration, and Julie is teaching second grade in Leesburg, Va. (after getting her master's at Kent State University in 1990).

Heather Taylor Miller is living in Richmond with her husband of 1-1/2 years, Jeff. She is a tax senior for Peat Marwick and Jeff is an insurance agent for Northwestern Mutual Life.

Heather was the matron of honor at Marci Wetsel's Dec. 5 wedding. She married Carl Miller and is an audit senior for Coopers & Lybrand in Richmond. Her co-workers Steve Baker '87, Julie Warren Andrews '87, and Mike Walsh '87 attended the wedding. Also attending the wedding was Erin Brennan, a recent bride herself.

Sherri Find Radday and husband Mike '85 are living in Richmond. They recently bought a house and now have a place for their four pets.

Beth Meeker recently finished law school and is living in NYC and working for a prominent judge. She sees Marilyn Jentzen often.

Anthony Royer lives in Daytona Beach and is working as an insurance agent for The Prudential.

Maria Scott is in downtown Richmond working as a paralegal. She was married Dec. 19.

Mark '87 and Emily Powell Boddy are living in Richmond. He is an insurance agent for Northwestern Mutual and they have a new daughter, Olivia.

John Vanderhyde '85 and wife Sarah are also in Richmond. John is an insurance agent for Northwestern Mutual and they have a 1-year-old son, Douglas.

Keith Reagan, former assistant director at our Alumni Society, recently joined Wheat First Securities as an investment consultant in their Williamsburg office where he joins other alumni: Bill Barnes '82, Doug Myers '78 and Joe Montgomery '74, president of the Society of the Alumni. Congratulations!

Well, it took a bit of translating, but I think Steve Molseed has been promoted to captain in the 141st Signal Battalion in Germany. He is also completing his master's of science in systems management with the University of Southern California, and is keeping up with his running, having returned to Berlin to complete his fourth annual 25k race.

The news from the Alumni Society adds a long list to our "Just (or going to get) Married" group:

Griffin Willoughby Ferndandez and Louise deKoven Pelton '87 were married on Sept. 26 in Charlottesville. Louise is pursuing a doctorate in educational policy at the University of Virginia, and Griffin is a lawyer-editor at the Michie Company.

Kevin Lewis married Kathleen Milam in March 1993. Kevin is president of Lewis Construction in Virginia.

5TH REUNION

A William and Mary faculty member has won the Ambassador Book Award from the English-Speaking Union, an educational non-profit organization based in New York which promotes international understanding through the medium of the English language. The organization honored Scott Donaldson, the Louise G.T. Cooley Professor of English Emeritus, for his biography Archibald MacLeish: An American Life, published in 1992 by Houghton Mifflin. Winning authors receive a cash prize and the E-SU also distributes their books throughout Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand, India and Canada. Donaldson has written biographies on John Cheever, F. Scott Fitzgerald, Ernest Hemingway and Winfield Townley Scott, as well as MacLeish.

Amy Christine Gibbons married Benjamin Raymond Humphreys of Richmond in April 1993. Amy is employed by Ralph Lauren Fragrances, a division of Cosmair Inc.

Also, Mary Ann James '89 married Matthew Clarke in April. Mary Ann is working at Mount Vernon College and Matthew is working at First American Bank in Reston.

John Daniel Cudzik recently became engaged to Kim Margaret McCrann. John is working for Albright and Wilson Americas, and the couple plan an August wedding.

Mike Clemson also recently proposed to Christine Marie Heyn. Mike is working at CBA Inc. in Los Angeles, and the couple plan a September wedding.

As for me, well, no weddings in the near future, but I hope to see all of you at Homecoming! Have a safe and happy summer! Take care and keep in touch!

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

90

Stephanie Goila Padgett
4123 Fox Run Trail, No. 4
Cincinnati, OH 45255

Greetings from Cincy! Tim and I are doing well. I've heard from lots of you in the past months. Thanks for your notes. I can't do this without you.

We were excited to attend the Charter Day celebration back in February. It was strange being back. One student we met at Sakura pointed out to us that he was in seventh grade when we were freshmen! That aged us quickly.

It was quite an affair. Lisa Stewart represented the class at the Charter Day ceremony. We saw several other people around town. We ran into Jack '88 and Kahtra Murphy Kayton and Wally '89 and Jen Burgess Welham at the Trellis. Both couples have bought houses and are doing well. Kahtra and Jack are busy with their cute baby boy, who is growing quickly. Jack is finishing up dental school this year, and Kahtra continues to teach. Jen and Wally are living in Northern Virginia. Jen is with an environmental consulting firm, and Wally is in sales.

Lewis and Kristine Long Nelson are now in Charleston, S.C. Kristine is working at the University of Charleston as an assistant dean, and Lewis is at an architectural preservation firm. According to Kahtra and Jen, they are enjoying their new surroundings.

Deb Ansbacher is still in the Big Apple and has moved in with Anna Maria DeSalva. Anna Maria, at last count, was working in public relations at Olgivy & Mather. Deb is working in the financial industry.

We also had a chance to visit with Colin '89 and JoAnn Adrales Ruth '89. Colin is working on his M.B.A. at the College. JoAnn is still working at Central Fidelity. They are both doing well.

We also found a new hot spot in the Burg. Classmate Ed Beardsley has purchased O'Callaghan's, a bar/restaurant. It's out on Longhill Road, so it's reserved for those privileged few with cars. I strongly recommend the Irish nachos and any mixed drink.

We had a great time there with Beth Speakman Bortz '91 and husband Dave. Ed treated us with great service and music. He's doing well and learning lots about the Williamsburg community that extends beyond the world of W&M. Drop by and support Ed's business next time you're in the area.

I briefly saw Ken Miller at O'Callaghan's but didn't get to say much more than hello. If you read this, Ken, drop me a note!

Now for other news people have shared with me. First the plethora of couples who have been or will be married. It would be interesting to know what percentage of our classmates are now married.

Ginny Jamison and Kevin Walter are engaged and plan to be married this month. Ginny is working at White and Case law firm. Kevin is working at Morgan Stanley and Co. Drew Geary and Jennifer Schlegel are engaged and will marry in June. Jen is going to the University of South Carolina graduate school. Drew finished his degree at Virginia Commonwealth University.

Brad Haneberg and Vicki Lawton are planning to wed this month. Vicki earned her master's degree from the University of Tennessee in Chattanooga and works for Sertoma Center in Knoxville. Brad is attending law school at the University of Tennessee.

Cameron Dahl is engaged to Mary Beth Hall. The couple plan to marry in January 1993. Cameron is an ordained minister and serves as the minister of music at the Yorktown Baptist Church. He is also working on his master's in church music. Mary Beth graduated from Bryan College and currently works in Louisville, Ky.

Toby Texer and Meaghan Rusk should be married soon. They announced their engagement in November and plan a May wedding. Toby is working for the Texer Group, while

As part of the Tercentenary celebration during Homecoming '93, the Order of the White Jacket will honor distinguished alumni leaders from Virginia who have made significant contributions through public service. OWJ will honor these distinguished Virginians during a luncheon on Oct. 22. This year only, the special luncheon will replace OWJ's annual banquet. OWJ is now seeking nominations of Virginia alumni to be honored at this luncheon. Those to be honored will include alumni with distinguished careers in education, local or state government, environmental services or those who have made significant contributions through civic volunteer activities. Nominations should include the full name, class year, occupation and brief summary of the nominee's activities, accomplishments and public service record, both volunteer and professional. Nominations along with the name of the person submitting the nomination should be received no later than June 1. Please mail to: OWJ Nominations, Society of the Alumni, P.O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100. For more information, call the OWJ office at 804/221-1204.

Meaghan is finishing up at the College.

Sarah Coleman married Richard Jarvis in April. Sarah is working at Willow Run Properties. The couple lives in Richmond. Elizabeth Engelken married Tim O'Connor in November. Father Kelly married the couple at St. Bede's. The O'Connors are living in Williamsburg. David Hood married Christina Courtney on Sept. 26 at the Wren Chapel. Christina graduated from Randolph-Macon. David is attending grad school at W&M.

Katherine Bryan married Ted Larrieu on Sept. 5. They married at Katherine's parents home in Stonewall, Va. Katherine is an environmental specialist with the Virginia Water Control Board. Ted is a geologist with Resource International Ltd. consulting firm. They live in Richmond.

Melissa Callison married Scott Brooks on Sept. 26 in Bristol, Va. Michele Pontillas and Mary Converse were bridesmaids. Melissa is working for Southern Progress Corp. Scott works at the Norfolk Navy Shipyard. They are now living in Chesapeake.

Tina Voerman and Bill Gill married on Oct. 17 in Norfolk. Stacey Stanish, Sam Hancock Collins, Kevin Collins, Lewis Nelson and Mark Peters were all part of the wedding party. I heard through the Kappa Delta connection that it was quite an affair! Tina and Bill are now living in Virginia Beach.

Stephanie Snead married Donald Potter on Dec. 19 in Covington, Va. Stephanie is working as a school psychologist intern for Suffolk schools. Donald is the owner of Muscles in Motion, S.H. Barner Inc. They live in Smithfield, Va.

Anne Lynch married Dave Smith '89 in the Wren Chapel on Jan. 9. Maureen Flaherty was the maid of honor. The Lynches live in Williamsburg.

Cheryl Weiss married Lyle Moffett on Dec. 27 in Staunton, Va. Cheryl is completing her master's in physical therapy at Thomas Jefferson Medical School in Philadelphia. Lyle is working as the corporate assistant secretary of Fisher Auto Parts.

Keisha Ferguson and Kevin Mitchell were married on Dec. 5 in Helen, Ga. They are living in Duluth, Ga.

Congratulations to all the newly married couples! I apologize if I've left anything or anyone out. These items are compiled from clippings provided by the Alumni Society. Feel free to drop me a note if you have anything you would like to add about any of these festivities.

Douglas Powell has been hired by the Nelson County Board of Supervisors as the assistant county administrator. Doug earned his master's in public administration from VCU. He previously worked in Fluvanna County as assistant to the county administrator and served as an intern in the Goochland County Planning Department.

Scott Moyers spoke at the Ferguson Seminar on Book Publishing at the College this fall. Scott is an assistant editor at Doubleday Publishing.

Congratulations to Greg Johnson and Kathleen McCauley, who have just started law studies at the Dickinson School of Law in Carlisle, Pa. Welcome back to the world of exams! Gray Lambe is through with exams, but still deserves kudos. He has been promoted to audit senior by the Norfolk office of Ernst & Young.

Tedd Roseberry is working on a master's in music at the University of Michigan. Before going back to graduate school, he taught math, music and computer science at Christ School in Asheville, N.C.

Ronda Ellcessor married Brian Anthony back in June 1991. They are living in Chester, Va., where she is working in advertising and marketing for Sirius Systems, a software engineering firm. She enjoys her job and married life.

My apologies to Chris Weesner and Kathy Norton. I reported that they were married on Jan. 1 in Alexandria. In reality, they will be married June 19 in Annandale. Poor Kathy probably had a mild heart attack seeing that date. Stephanie Groot, Sue Gordon '91, Cathy Clayton Boon '91, Karey Entress '92, Dave Futrell, Andy Stross and Jon Williams '89 will be in the wedding party. Again, my apologies, and best of luck to Chris and Kathy.

Jennifer Stephens dropped me a note from her home in Connecticut. She moved to Paris after Christmas to work with the NYU Study Abroad program. She received her M.A. from NYU last May and has worked with the program for three years. Jennifer has run into several W&M classmates while recruiting students for the NYU program. Drew Dervavich and Paul Robertson are both in Boston. They toured the West Coast this past summer. Molly McFarland is at Harvard Business School. Christine Grahl is at Harvard Law. Jennifer pulled them away from their studies to grab a bite to eat while she was in town. Sara Wilson is in D.C. working for the government. Chelsea Gilfoil '91 is in Philadelphia working for an ad agency. Alina Sabia '89 and Jennifer caught a West Point football game in the fall. Alina is working for IBM and living in New York.

Jennifer also reports that Jill Howard '89 and Nancy Saltzman keep the NYC W&M crowd together with numerous happy hours and other events. Nancy is living with Leslie Arcesi and Catherine Ewald in Greenwich, Conn. Through the events, Jennifer sees classmates: Dickson Benesh, Mike Scheu, Greg Scharf, Scott Fogelman, Andrew Kaneb; 1989 grads: John Wendt, Dave Daigle, Theo Davis; 1991 grads: Chris Walters, Mark Ludvigson, John Hudlick, Scott Macasey and Jen Tepper.

Beth Hadd wrote from Seattle where she is working part time with American Management Systems. She moved from Arlington to the great Northwest and loves her new home. She is playing soccer and taking cooking classes. For fun, Beth traveled to Roslyn, Wash., where Northern Exposure is filmed. A friend owns the cabin used as Maggie's home in the show. Over the holidays, Beth saw several classmates in Virginia. Jennifer Hess is living with Mate Converse in Alexandria. Jen is attending George Mason Law School. Jen visited Becca Fitzgerald at her new home in Birmingham, Ala.

Beth attended the wedding of Jon Birdsall '92 and Betsy Carroll '92 in Williamsburg. Tom Deutsch, wife Jeannie and son Stephen were also there. Beth ran into Steve Erickson who is now the assistant manager of King's Arms Tavern. Amy Stamps and Billy Stimmel traveled to Graceland this summer, but Beth did not mention what tacky souvenirs they brought back.

Leslie Ann Lunsford sent me a postcard from London, where she spent a semester studying law. She is in her third year at Pepperdine University — tough life studying in Malibu! Bill Wood is a year behind Leslie at Pepperdine Law and also went to London. The pair traveled throughout England, Europe and Russia. They saw lots of "Wren" buildings all over England, which made them miss the Burg.

Dara Levy wrote that she will be marrying Hugo Woerdeman this month. They met while she was earning her master's in chemistry and he was teaching math. Dara is now pursuing her doctorate in chemical engineering at Johns Hopkins University.

Sam Hancock Collins dropped me a Christmas card. She and Kevin are doing well. They've been busy attending weddings. Jeanine Burgess and Joe Gilson were married in September. Caitlyn Jones married Ray Bixler in December. Sam's brother Jason Hancock '91 married Melinda Summerlin '92 in November. Sam and Kevin were also in Bill and Tina Voerman Gill's wedding. Hope you guys are done for a while. I know what an expense all these trips can be!

Alexi Papandon, who has sent me a record three notes, is enrolled at Marymount University in Arlington, where he is working toward a master's in education. David Masri and Patty Gomez are also in the program. Alexi is living with Andy Treichel and John Tisdale '89 M.B.A. Andy works for the IRS, and John is at York Telecom. Alexi sees Jen Palmer '89, who is now working at Freddie Mac. Ed Mitchell was supposed to visit Alexi and crew, but decided to travel to Florida where he donated his time and energy to help clean-up and rescue efforts after Hurricane Andrew. He was publicly honored by former president George Bush for his efforts. Congrats, Ed! Alexi also traveled to San Francisco this summer and saw Patton Oswald's show. Alexi stayed with Pat Swart '88 while on the West Coast. He also managed to camp on top of a mountain in Oregon, which he described as nirvana!

Lynn Markovchick '91 wrote that she and Stephen Gregory Smith were married last June. Tim Doyle and Mark Bittner were in the wedding. The couple now lives in Burke, Va.

Kimberly Gorman Vaughan is living in Virginia Beach and would very much like to hear from Amy Reynolds. Amy, if you're reading, Kimberly is at 4317 Cambria Circle, Virginia Beach, VA 23455.

Lynne Birdsall dropped me a line from her home in Augusta, Ga. She is applying to the Medical College of Georgia. She is looking for Stephen Ray Staples. If you have Stephen's address, please drop me a note so I can give to Lynne. Lynne says hello to Marcia, Mary-Alice, Colleen, Sharon and Mindy.

Meg Madoc-Jones is doing well in New Orleans. Kristin Palm visited Meg for Mardi Gras. I haven't heard all the wild stories, but knowing

Charter Day 1993

Preserved on Video by the College of William and Mary

Relive or experience for the first time the pageantry, spirit and warmth of historic Charter Day 1993 in this official videotape produced by the College of William and Mary in coordination with the Society of Alumni. This moving tribute features the Charter Day ceremony, the keynote address by His Royal Highness The Prince of Wales and other highlights of this momentous day in celebration of the College's 300th anniversary. VHS format, approximately 75 minutes.

$19.95 plus $4.00 shipping and handling, Virginia residents add 90 cents sales tax.

To order, send your check payable to Society of the Alumni, Alumni Gift Shop, P. O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100. VISA and MasterCard orders may be placed by calling the Alumni Gift Shop at 804/221-1170.

Television journalist Roger Mudd spent two days at the Marshall-Wythe School of Law this spring as the 1992-93 Carter O. Lowance Public Service Fellow. Mudd delivered a public address on "The Floating Ethics of the American Press" on March 31 and then participated the next day in a student symposium, "Censorship and Music: Rock, Rap and the First Amendment," which explored issues relating to censorship in music records and video. Mudd, who chaired a panel on higher education during Charter Week, is the Ferris Professor of Journalism and Public Relations at Princeton University and a special correspondent on the McNeil/Lehrer Newshour on PBS. The Lowance Fellowship was established in 1989 by friends of the late Carter Lowance, who served as principal assistant to five governors and as executive vice president at William and Mary.

BOLGER WITH PEACE CORPS IN ARMENIA

Daniel Bolger '91 is one of 35 volunteers in the first Peace Corps unit in the republic of Armenia. He has signed on for a two-year commitment to teach English to Armenian high schoolers in Yerevan. He has asked that fellow graduates write him at: PCV Daniel Bolger, c/o Peace Corps-Armenia Desk, 1990 K. Street N.W., Washington, DC 20526.

those two, I'm sure there are some juicy tidbits. Especially since Meg is now driving an old pickup with fuzzy dice in the window! Kristin is back in D.C. working for the government. She will be leaving for Sri Lanka this summer for a two-year stint with the State Department. I will see both of them, and several others, at our Beach Week reunion over Memorial Day. Several of us from our Lodge are gathering for a weekend of R&R.

Sophie Lee was also at Charter Day. While I didn't see her, she gave me lots of news of Pi Phi's and others. She was with Audra Lalley and Chrissy Morton. Audra is working with General Electric Capital Asset Management. Chrissy is working for Morton Publishing in Denver. Barbara Grandjean is finishing her third year of law school at the University of Colorado. She will be working at Ballard, Spahr, Andrews and Ingesoll in Denver after graduating. Sophie is living with Janice Losquadro. Janice is working for Ernst & Young. Sophie is working as an office manager for a software consulting firm in Rockville, Md. She also volunteers as a docent at the Washington National Cathedral and gave a tour to the D.C. Alumni Chapter.

Jeff Hartman is working as the assistant to the president of the Natural Gas Supply Association in D.C. He moved into a townhouse in Arlington with Sandy Banerjee, who is taking graduate classes at American University.

Susan Chirico married Brad Tombs and lives in Point Pleasant, N.J. She and Brad are remodeling their home, which they share with a cat. Suzanne is working as an internal auditor for a large construction company in the area.

Sissy Estes threw a huge Christmas party, according to Sophie. She also volunteered at the Arkansas Inaugural Ball and crashed the MTV bash, where she literally ran into Michael Bolton, Kenny G, Michael Stipe and Natalie Merchant. Guess no one told them she was once an officer for the College Republicans!

More updates from Sophie: Amy Luigs is finishing her last year of law school at Vanderbilt. After graduation she plans on moving back to Indianapolis.

Betsy Bittenbender is in London attending school. She was going to join the Army until they told her she would have to jump out of a plane. She had the option of jumping or taking an honorable discharge. She took the discharge. David Criscitelli has moved from the Big Apple to Beantown for a time. He's working for Group W radio selling advertising time for D.C. affiliates. Ellen Lewis Gilliam and husband Frank have purchased a house in Richmond. Thanks for all the updates, Sophie!

Jim Welch is at the University of Delaware studying marine biology. He's working on his Ph.D. and hopes to graduate in 1995. Before entering school, he received his U.S. Coast Guard Captain's License and spent a year sailing. In the summer he taught sailing and skipped chartered sailboats in Annapolis. If this wasn't fun enough, he spent the winter in the British Virgin Islands sailing people around the islands in a charter boat! Jim, who cares if you're not making money — you're enjoying life!

Jennifer Saunders Grossnickle wrote a long note updating me on the Delta Gammis. She married Alan Grossnickle in November. Missy Anderson, Diane Dickey and Amy Stamps were in the wedding and did a good job decorating the car. Missy is at Sentry Insurance and is living with Debbie Gates '89. Diane is at T.C. Williams Law School in Richmond. Janet Aigner, Eric and Michelle Stross, Rebecca Matney, David Williams, Andy Stross, Jayne Ware, Fred Rexroad and Sharon Siebenaler were all at the wedding. David Williams is at U.Va. medical school. Fred and Sharon have purchased a condo and are both working in Northern Virginia. Rebecca Matney is engaged to be married this spring. Several DGs gathered for a reunion which included: Missy Anderson, Kathy Handron '89, Kathy Flinger, Kirsten Cherry '91, Jennifer Mussinan '91, Laura Friedman, Michele Banas and Debbie Gates. Jennifer is enjoying married life. She's having fun with her cat and is learning how to cook a good pot roast! Thanks for the update!

And remember, if you don't see any names you know, it's because you haven't written to tell me what's up! I haven't heard from any Thetas, Kappas, Sigma Chi or PiKas. If you have an alumni newsletter, send it to me.

Until next time, have a great summer. There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

92 Melissa Cales
4112 Swannanoa Drive
Portsmouth, VA 23703

Hi y'all! How do you feel now that you've been college graduates for almost a whole year? It's really hard for me to believe. Everyone has been really great over the last few months sending me tons of information about classmates working around the globe. You should definitely keep sending all your news my way.

From what I've heard, the last six months have been pretty hectic for almost everyone. I know they have been for me. Since January, I have been living in Washington, D.C., and working up on the Hill. It's been challenging and lots of fun, but since I've only got a couple of months left before I start law school, I plan to make the most of my last little bit of freedom.

I'm sure Aaron Martin and Bob Coleman must have been especially busy finishing up their first year in law school. Aaron, along with several other W&M alums, attends the Dickinson School of Law in Pennsylvania, and Bob is at the University of Dayton. I also understand Nik Woo, who is at New York University, has also managed to successfully survive her first year in law school. Nicole Brenneman and Robin Kelly also decided to start law school last fall. Nicole returned to the Burg where she is studying at Marshall-Wythe, and Robin enrolled at the University of Indiana.

Wendy Long, who recently started her job as a financial analyst with Hecht's (a job that not only pays well and has great benefits but, more importantly, comes with an employee discount), informed me that Paul Cummings, ever the over achiever, plans to receive his M.B.A. sometime this month from the University of Georgia.

Does it seem to you that everyone is in grad school of some sort? Every time I turn around I hear that someone else decided to go back to school. Christie Hunter started the master's program in behavioral science at Johns Hopkins, where Kerry Ambrose plans to join her this fall to get her master's in health care administration.

Kevin Smith is in the computer science master's program at George Mason University, and Chris Debusk is at the University of Maryland getting his M.B.A. Not to be outdone, Sharon Boston is working on getting her master's in journalism in Chicago, and Tracey Weinstein has dedicated herself to pursuing her master's in biology and her teaching certificate at Virginia Commonwealth University.

Steve Stanziale, Robert Orcutt Northway III, Scott Taylor and Elizabeth Wolff are among those many grads who decided to study medicine. Steve is in Nashville at Vanderbilt University, and Robert is back home in Atlanta attending the Emory School of Medicine. Elizabeth loves her program at Cornell in New York. Scott decided to stay in Virginia where he is doing well at the Medical College of Virginia.

Jeff Davis '92.5 will be joining Scott next fall. Jeff has been accepted into a pre-dental program at MCV and will be moving to Richmond in late summer following another season as coach of the award-winning Ben Loehman Flying Ducks, a youth swim team in Manassas, Va.

Brian Hightower and Terry Wise were among those alums who opted for a more adventurous route — they joined the Navy. Both completed basic training in Orlando, Fla., last fall.

Another adventurer, Sarah Wesner, spent the fall working in Brussels, Belgium, and then moved on to Prague in the Czech Republic, where she is teaching English. Rebecca Holmes and Katie McGovern are also enjoying Europe. They traveled for two months before beginning their year of teaching in Turkey, where Allison Gildersleeve and Mike Scott dropped by for a few days during their holiday from their art program in Florence, Italy.

Mary Gillespie decided to combine her interest in service with her sense of adventure. She is on a two-year volunteer program with Heather Bonin '91 in Tacna, Peru, with the Jesuit International Volunteers. LeAnn Neubert also decided to dedicate a year to helping others. She is working with Volunteers for Educational and Social Services as a child-care worker for St. Theresa's Children's Home in Fort Worth, Texas.

Everyone I've heard from seems to be making the transition into the real world quite smoothly. In a postcard from New Mexico, Amy Smithers informed me that she loves her job teaching English and U.S. history to "hormonal" sixth-seventh- and eighth-graders at the Mehai School in Albuquerque. I also heard that Tracy Beck has been working as a field representative for the Newfound Harbor Marine Institute in Florida.

As far as life in the real world goes, last January at Tom Stoudt and Mike Rodgers' apartment-warming party in Alexandria, I ran into a number of people who were doing quite well for themselves out on their own. Tom has been getting the most of his finance major working at the American Council of Life Insurance in Washington, D.C., while roommate Mike has been working doing research for Columbia Law School. Fraternity brother Steve Jones is employed as a "benefit payment analyst" by a rural electric trade association in D.C., and if you're asking yourself what a "benefit payment analyst" is, Steve tried to explain it to me but I still don't quite understand. Among the people I ran into at Tom and Mike's were Glenn Kaylor, who had just started his job as an accountant with the FDIC; Charity Kirby, who loves her job working in a vet's office and the fact that boyfriend Phil Sharkey is now on the East Coast; and Todd Tarkenton, who has decided to pursue a career in sports medicine.

I have received a lot of mail over the last six months from all over the world. It really is a nice vacation from the bills. Heather Rupp managed to drop me a line last fall and was, I think, the only response I got to my postcard campaign to get a greater variety of sources. She and Steve Rottenborn are planning to tie the knot next month. Steve is working on getting his Ph.D. in biology at Stanford, and Heather has been working for an environmental program. Her engagement was not only the news Heather sent me, though. Holly Bienia and Jason Elliott were scheduled to be married last January. Natonya Zalubowski is planning a July wedding to Daniel Barchi, W&M classmate Laura Barchi's older brother. Heather also informed me that Wendy Jaskowiak plans to wed sometime this month.

Cynthia Smerdzinski also found time to write me earlier this year. She is teaching eighth-grade English at her old intermediate school, Henry David Thoreau, in Fairfax County, Va. Cynthia lives right outside of Old Town Alexandria with fellow alums Michelle Manning and Katie Lambrew, who has been working as a legislative assistant for Sen. Cohen from Maine. Not far away live Jan Freitag and Marcy Hawkins.

Cynthia informed me that Rachel Kalison is living in Atlanta and working as an accountant for Ernst & Young, and that Melissa Agnor is employed by NationsBank. She had also recently hear from Ann Leddy, who has been teaching English in Beijing, China. Ann has been enjoying herself and traveling a great deal, but she still misses home.

Lisa Johnson Gardner wrote that she and new husband Gavin were moving to Germany on Jan. 22, but not to Bad Kreuznach as originally planned. Instead, they will be residing in Wuerzburg, which is about an hour from Frankfurt.

Before she left, she spent one last afternoon at the Leafe and the outlets with friends Michelle Roach, Erin Jeffords, and Tracy Perkins. Michelle is working in the accounting department at a large health laboratory in Reston, Va. She and Jeremy Normand are still together even though he is down in Texas. Erin works for a defense contractor in Crystal City, and knows more about destroyers and the Navy than she ever dreamed. Tracy is a new U.Va. convert. She has been working very hard getting her doctorate in anthropology. Lisa also informed me that her maid of honor, Yvonne Michael, has been working for the American Lung Association in Richmond and had a great apartment in the Fan. Yvonne does volunteer work at a homeless shelter in her free time.

Beth Shiner joined W&M alums in Richmond when she finally decided to leave Roanoke. She conscientiously sent me a Christmas card telling me what was up. She plans to get a job as a patient representative in a hospital, but until then, she is working in a psychologist's office getting experience.

Cindy Paseur joined Billy Baxter as one of W&M's winners last fall. Billy, who you may remember won Jeopardy's College Championship, appeared on the show again last fall in the Tournament of Champions. Cindy ran in the Marine Corps Marathon, finishing 61st out of 2,600 runners!

Speaking of athletics, Kathy O'Brien and fellow W&M alum Cliff Krug have been taking time from their busy schedules to coach a high school basketball team together. Kathy's sister Eileen O'Brien is working in New York City and living in New Jersey with Claire Ludvigsen, who also has a job in the city.

Probably the busiest people of all during the Traditions, Myths & Memories:

"A Book That Defies Description"

We wondered how good Traditions, Myths & Memories: 1693-1993 is, so we asked an alumnus for his reaction. Here is what he said:

"This book defies description. Whatever the era, you are there! And those you knew are there! Like no other, it captures the golden thread of Spirit that unites and links the generations each to each."—Davis Y. Paschall '32, President Emeritus

Send $35 either by check or credit card. Include $3.75 for shipping and handling for each order. Virginia residents must add $1.58 sales tax. Send your check made payable to the Society of the Alumni Gift Shop, P. O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100. Credit card orders must include the card number, expiration date and signature.

ORDER YOUR COPY TODAY

Please reserve _____ copies of Traditions, Myths & Memories, 1693-1993 for shipment immediately. I understand my credit card will be charged $35.00 per book, plus $3.75 per address for shipping. Sales tax for Virginia residents is $1.58 per book.

ORDERED BY:	SHIP TO (only if different):
Name _____	_____
Address _____	_____
City, State, Zip _____	_____
Please charge my <input type="checkbox"/> MasterCard <input type="checkbox"/> VISA	Signature _____
Account number _____	Expiration Date _____

LYNN REDGRAVE VISITS CLASSROOM

Lynn Redgrave, who was on campus this spring to present a one-woman show, "Shakespeare for My Father," in conjunction with the Tercentenary celebration, took time out to share her experiences with students in an acting class in the department of theatre and speech. Miss Redgrave explained that her show was a "living memorial to my late father, Sir Michael Redgrave [who] was one of our greatest classical actors, particularly in the theatre, and was knighted by Queen Elizabeth."

THE BATTLE OF DUNKIRK DISPLAYED AT THE MUSCARELLE

The Muscarelle Museum of Art has placed on view The Battle of Dunkirk by John Singleton Copley. This important painting was the gift in 1937 of John Stewart Bryan, then president of the College. The painting is an unfinished panoramic historical scene, probably one of the last works by this artist. It has just been returned after several years of study and treatment at the famed Art Conservation Program of the University of Delaware/Winterthur Museum. Since the canvas was more than 175 years old, it required extensive conservation to return it, as much as possible, to the original condition or intent of the artist. Viewers who saw the work before it underwent treatment will be amazed at the difference. The Battle of Dunkirk is on display in the second floor galleries of the Muscarelle Museum of Art, along with other selections from the permanent collection.

last few months have been those alumni who have been planning their weddings. Scott Binns has been planning his since last November while still remaining busy with his job as the Virginia State Corporation Commission. He and W&M sweetheart Catherine Hugo '92 should be walking down the aisle sometime next month.

Kimberley Russell also announced her plans for a short engagement to Leonard Clayton earlier this year — the announcement was made in January and the wedding was set for March 6, 1993. I hope everything went off without a hitch.

Melinda Summerlin and Jason Hancock '91 managed to make it to their honeymoon in Jamaica following their Nov. 21, 1992, wedding ceremony. Nik Woo, Anne Kerr '91 and Wendy Blades '91 were among the W&M grads in the wedding party. Melinda and Jason are now living in Manakin-Sabot, Va., and both work in Richmond. Melinda is employed by Deloit and Touche, and Jason works at Trinity Episcopal School.

Vickie Linkous had a December wedding in Newport News, Va. She wed U.Va. graduate Timothy Reynolds on Dec. 12. Jenny Sheehan also tied the knot on Jan. 2 to Jeffrey Dick. The happy couple are now living in Germany.

I hope everyone had the opportunity to make it back to Williamsburg to see Prince Charles at the Charter Day ceremonies in February. I had a great weekend although it seemed rather rushed. I ran into a number of fellow '92 grads while waiting in line to get into the ceremony, a line which incidentally circled the entire Hall. Those loyal alumni included Bedford Lydon, Sarah Stroh, Brooke Loth and Betsy Willcox. I managed to catch a distant glimpse of former senior class president John Hubert Graham as he processed down the aisle as a member of the official party representing the Class of 1992. Well — if you couldn't make it in February, you should definitely not miss going to Homecoming next fall. I know you're thinking that this is a little early to be worrying about October, but all of you with real jobs probably have to request time off and stuff like that. Be sure to watch for the special Homecoming supplement in the next issue of the Gazette.

Keep the details coming! My next deadline is the end of June, so time is short. Hope you have a great summer, and if you manage to make it to the beach, look me up in person.

There's still time to be part of the William and Mary Cookbook! Send your favorite recipes and W&M food memories to the Society of the Alumni. See page 8 for more details.

VITAL STATISTICS

MARRIAGES

Tom Langhorne '74 and Martha Kerschesteiner, Jan. 2, 1993.

Gail Patricia Sealey '75 and Patrick H. Stockman, Dec. 31, 1992.

Randy Bragg '79 and Deborah Baird '80, Sept. 5, 1992.

Raymond Manuel Souza '79 and Heidi Eger '92, Dec. 19, 1992.

Tracy A. McNeil '82 and Leonard Carter Wines, Dec. 5, 1992.

Tracey Lucretia Murphy '83 and Michael James Gaffey, Sept. 6, 1992.

Kenneth Shae Murphy '83 and Paulette Blair '91, Feb. 13, 1993.

Vanessa Wynne Griffith '84, '91 J.D. and Dennis Francis Kerrigan Jr. '91 J.D., Dec. 19, 1992.

Colleen Kearns '84, '87 J.D. and Thomas F. Killilea, Jan. 30, 1993.

Deborah Sleeper '84 and John Lannen '84, Sept. 19, 1992.

Margaret Scott Harwood '85 and John Andrew Cowan, Feb. 20, 1993.

Cynthia E. Parsons '87 and Michael Edward Kane, Feb. 27, 1993.

Wendi Lewis Willard '87 and Henry Cannon Spalding III '88, Oct. 31, 1992.

Steve Brechtel '88 and Roberta Greaves, Nov. 15, 1992.

Sandra Marie Onks '88 M.A.Ed. and Jerry Edward Fain, Feb. 14, 1993.

Keisha Lynn Ferguson '90 and Kevin Mitchell Long, Dec. 5, 1992.

Robert Frazier '90 M.B.A. and Susan Elizabeth Larson, Nov. 7, 1992.

Anne Elizabeth Lynch '90 and David Patrick Smith, Jan. 9, 1993.

Jennifer Louise Saunders '90 and Alan Scott Grossnickle, Nov. 21, 1992.

Stephanie Snead '90 and Donald Potter, Dec. 19, 1992.

Julee Wallace '90 and James P. Kaplan '92 M.B.A., March 6, 1993.

Cheryl Elizabeth Weiss '90 and Lyle Anthony Moffatt '90, Dec. 27, 1992.

Rebecca Ann Beebout '91 and Reginald Mark Jones '91, Nov. 27, 1992.

Kevin David Bell '91 and Lauren Elizabeth Yolken '93, Jan. 3, 1993.

Jason Robert Hancock '91 and Melinda Anne Summerlin '92, Nov. 21, 1992.

Jennifer Lynn Sinclair '91 and Steven Grover Snipes '91 M.B.A., Dec. 5, 1992.

Vickie Caroline Linkous '92 and Timothy O. Reynolds, Dec. 12, 1992.

Michele Scudder '92 M.A.Ed. and David S. Buchanan, June 27, 1992.

Jenny Sheehan '92 and Jeffrey Dick, Jan. 2, 1993.

BIRTHS

TO: Nancy Louise Sloan Hamner '74 and Nathan Carlisle Hamner '75, second child, second daughter, Anne Castleton, Dec. 21, 1992.

TO: Susan Hetherington Vierick '75, '80 M.B.A. and Robert Kenneth Vierick '81 M.B.A., first child, a son, Robert Scott, July 6, 1992.

TO: Karen Yanity Darch '77, fourth child, third son, Kyle Evan, Oct. 7, 1992.

TO: Robert Scott Benson '77 and Audrey Pinkham Benson '79, second child, first daughter, Jessica Lynn, July 5, 1992.

TO: Martha Blus '78 and Greg Blus '78, first child, a son, Graham Kenneth, Sept. 9, 1992.

TO: Joseph J. Brennan Jr. '78, first child, a daughter, Kerry Anne, July 23, 1990; second child, second daughter, Morgan Elizabeth, Jan. 16, 1993.

TO: Donna Paxton Campbell '78, first child, a daughter, Emily Allyn, Oct. 5, 1988; second child, second daughter, Charlotte Hope, March 24, 1991.

TO: Mary-Paula Allegaert '79, first child, a son, Pierre Julius, April 24, 1992.

TO: Mary Ann Wright Dodge '79, second child, second son, David Andrew, July 13, 1992.

TO: Lela Early Martin '79 and Harold G. Martin Jr. '79, third child, first daughter, Katherine Leigh, Sept. 25, 1992.

TO: Ann Reardon Gregory '81, '84 J.D. and Richard Wayne Gregory '83 J.D., second child, first daughter, Erin Marie, Aug. 23, 1992.

TO: Russell W. Hicks Jr. '82 and Elizabeth Foor Hicks '83, second child, second son, Daniel Allen, April 3, 1992.

TO: Ruth Ann Fuqua Clark '83, first child, a daughter, Emily Martin, Jan. 11, 1993.

TO: Conrad Hertzler '83, '88 M.B.A. and Patricia Carroll Hertzler '87, second child, first daughter, Emily Carroll, Feb. 12, 1993.

TO: Mary Papan '83 and John Whitelaw '83, first child, a son, Simon, May 9, 1991; second child, first daughter, Michaela, Oct. 17, 1992.

TO: Ann Komer Brooks '84, first child, a daughter, Caroline Lee, June 19, 1992.

TO: Tracy Marblestone Bryant '84, second child, second son, Matthew Alan, Feb. 16, 1993.

TO: Melanie Morgan '84, first child, a daughter, Claire Morgan, Nov. 28, 1992.

TO: Candice Wallin Barfield '85 M.B.A., first child, a daughter, Zoe, June 1991.

TO: Maryellen Walsh Bergen '85, and Douglas Bergen Jr. '85, second child, first son, John VanArsdale, Aug. 16, 1992.

TO: Gregory Thomas LoCasale '85 and Anne-Jarrell Raper LoCasale '86, first child, a son, Michael Thomas, Jan. 15, 1993.

TO: Elizabeth Burger Baule '86 and John Frederick Baule '86, first child, a son, John Gerhard, Oct. 21, 1992.

TO: Dan Gallagher '86 M.B.A., second child, second daughter, Erin Elizabeth, Oct. 15, 1992.

TO: Elizabeth Scott "Bess" Littlefield '86, first child, a son, Jack Henry Edwards, Feb. 9, 1993.

TO: Charles Hampton Brown III '87 J.D., first child, a son, Taylor Hampton, Dec. 9, 1992.

TO: Kim Elander '88 and Craig Elander '88, first child, a daughter, Kaitlin Jean, Oct. 11, 1992.

TO: Patricia Olivo Howes '88, first child, a son, Jonathon James, Dec. 15, 1992.

TO: Amy Creech Huesman '88, '92 M.A.Ed., first child, a son, Jacob Andrew, Feb. 27, 1993.

TO: Clayton Beck '89 M.B.A., second child, second daughter, Audrey Anna, Aug. 21, 1992.

TO: Steven A. Rubin '90 M.B.A., first child, a son, Spencer, Aug. 19, 1992.

TO: Paul J. Carstensen '92 M.B.A., second child, second daughter, Katherine Anne, Oct. 4, 1992.

OBITUARIES

MARYEVANS HOLMAN CURD '22 of Richmond, died Feb. 27, 1993. During her William and Mary years, she belonged to Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and Mortar Board. Also, she was president of the YWCA. She is survived by a daughter, three grandsons and three of her seven sisters (six of whom attended William and Mary), including Margaret Holman McCoy '27, and Emma Linton Holman '31.

KATHARINE SEAGER CROFUTT '24 of Verona, N.J., died in March.

RUDOLPH PERCIVAL WALLER JR. '24 of Reedville, Va., died Feb. 5, 1993. He had retired in 1986 as the owner-operator of R. P. Waller Inc. oil distributorship after operating the firm for 50 years. He then became president of Smith Seafood Inc. for six years. Actively involved in his community, he was a member of several Shrine clubs and was a charter member of the Norland Shrine Club and the Fairfield Volunteer Fire Department. Surviving is a brother, Raymond Taylor Waller '40.

LUCY ANN GILMER TAYLOR '25 of Richmond, died Jan. 19, 1993. She was a retired science teacher at Chandler Junior High School in Richmond, and also had taught in Livingstone, Mont., as well as in several elementary schools in Richmond and at Varina High School in Henrico County. An active undergraduate, she belonged to the Audubon Society, the Monogram Club and played women's field hockey and other intramural sports. Also, she was a member of The Flat Hat staff, the Literary Society, Delta Omicron music fraternity, and was tapped into Phi Beta Kappa. She received a master's degree from the University of Virginia. From 1961-1971, she traveled with Moral Rearmament and tutored in its "Up With People" program. She was a member of the Richmond and the National Retired Teacher associations. Survivors include a sister, three nephews, six nieces and many great-nieces and great-nephews.

REVA PAYNE JOHNSON '26 of Sarasota, Fla., died Feb. 2, 1993. She was a reference librarian for the City of New York Public Library and later taught public school and served as school librarian in New Jersey for many years. While at the College, she was a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority and Phi Beta Kappa. In 1957, she earned a master's degree from Seton Hall University. She is survived by her husband, Reverdy, a daughter, a son, a sister, five grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

MARGARET GORDON KERR '26 of Greensboro, N.C., died Jan. 3, 1992. She had worked with the Federal Housing Authority, the U.S. Army Headquarters as a civilian secretary and the U.S. Internal Revenue Service. Also, she had taught school in Florida. During her William and Mary years, she belonged to Phi Mu sorority. Surviving is a daughter.

MARY HESS ROWE '27 of Hampton, Va., died Feb. 22, 1993. She had retired in 1965 after 40 years as a teacher with Hampton city schools. At William and Mary, she joined Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. She is survived by a daughter, a son and four grandchildren.

GEORGE ROBERT WHITLEY '28 of Hampton, died Nov. 12, 1992. He had retired from the General Accounting Office in Washington, D.C., after 30 years of service. He was also a master sergeant in the Army Reserve for 30 years and had served in World War II. As an alumnus, he was a regular member of the President's Council. He was a member and past commander of American Legion Post 48 in Falls Church, Va. Survivors include several nieces and nephews.

WILLIAM EDWARD WARREN '29 of Norfolk, died Feb. 19, 1993. He was a senior vice president with Virginia National Bank, now NationsBank, where he served until his retirement in 1973. He had begun his career in the banking industry in 1938 when he joined Merchants and Planters Bank of Norfolk. In 1957, he was elected senior vice president of the national Bank of Commerce and its advisory board, and became senior vice president of VNB in 1963. He remained a member of the bank's board of directors until 1978. During his William and Mary years, he was a member of Alpha Kappa Delta sociological fraternity, Sigma Nu fraternity and the Phoenix Literary Society. He also served on the Colonial Echo staff, played baseball and belonged to the Order of the White Jacket. As an alumnus, he was an active member of the Olde Guard. He held board positions in several business associations including the South Norfolk Bridge Commission Inc., the Chesapeake Savings and Loan Association, the Life Savings Bank and the Security Insurance Agency Inc. He also served as treasurer of the Girls Camp Fund Committee for several years and was a member of the American Bankers Association, the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce and the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce. Survivors include his wife, Lois, a daughter, two sisters, a brother and two grandchildren.

RICHARD J. JONES '30 of Greensboro, N.C., died Sept. 22, 1992. He was a vice president and director of Group Underwriting of the Pilot Life Insurance Co., having worked for Pilot Life from 1949 until his retirement in 1971. He graduated Phi Beta Kappa from William and Mary. Active in many business and civic organizations, he belonged to the Gate City Kiwanis Club, the American Academy of Actuaries, Health Insurance Committee of the Association of North Carolina Life Insurance Companies, and the Committee on Aging of the Greensboro Community Council. He is survived by his wife, Ruth, a daughter, two sons, a sister and four grandchildren.

LINNEA SJOSTROM SHAFFER '32 of West Hartford, Conn., died Feb. 6, 1993. While at William and Mary, she joined Phi Mu sorority, the German Club and the Monogram Club. She also played women's field hockey. Among survivors is her husband, Wayne.

RUTH ELIZABETH PERSONIUS '36 of Waverly, N.Y., died Jan. 16, 1991. As an undergraduate, she joined Chi Omega sorority, the Biology Club, the German Club and the Monogram Club. She played lacrosse, women's field hockey, participated in intramural sports and belonged to the Women's Dorm Association and the YWCA. Surviving are friends and several cousins.

ROY CAROL '37 of Delray Beach, Fla., died Feb. 10, 1993. He was the retired owner of Carol Printing Co. At the College, he was a member of Phi Alpha fraternity. He is survived by his wife, Klipp, three daughters and four grandchildren.

JOHN MELVILLE WILLIS Jr. '37 of Hampton, Va., died Feb. 27, 1993. He had retired in 1971 as a real estate broker after 25 years with Harrison and Lear Co. During his college years, he ran track and belonged to Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. He was a former board member of the William and Mary Athletic Educational Foundation and was a Navy veteran of World War II. Surviving are his wife, Mildred, three daughters, including Nancy Willis Companion '67, and two grandchildren.

STUDENT WINS 1993 TRUMAN SCHOLARSHIP

Kristin Loerzel, a junior majoring in public policy at William and Mary, has been selected as a Truman Scholar for 1993. She will receive $30,000 to complete her undergraduate studies and undertake two or three years of graduate work. Loerzel has also received a Renick Scholarship which she will use for a public service project this summer with Amigos de las Americas, a non-profit association that initiates public health projects in Central and South America. The daughter of Ken and Kris Loerzel of McGaheysville, Va., and a graduate of Spotswood High School in Penn Laird, Va., she has also been selected for membership in Mortar Board at the College.

HARVEY WILLIS ROBERTS '38 of Norfolk, died Feb. 18, 1993. He was a certified public accountant and a partner in Roberts & Speece Accounting Firm. He was a member of the Norfolk Yacht and Country Club and the Tidewater Estate Planning Council. Surviving are a daughter, a son and six grandchildren.

ELBERT GOODWIN SLAUGHTER '39 of Bedford, Va., died March 4, 1993. He was a retired charter life underwriter with United Services Life Insurance Co. As a student at William and Mary, he belonged to Alpha Kappa Psi fraternity, Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, the Glee Club and the Student Association Environment Committee. He also was a member of the track team and the W&M Theater. He had served with U.S. Army Intelligence during World War II and was retired from the Army Reserve with the rank of colonel. A longtime resident of Norfolk, he was the city's first Eagle Scout and later served as a scout master. A past president of the Norfolk Chapter of the Charter Life Underwriters Association, he was a former deacon and treasurer for 10 years of Bedford Baptist Church. He is survived by his wife, June, two sons, a daughter and a granddaughter.

FRANCES JOURDAN HOLMSTROM '40 of St. Petersburg, Fla., died Nov. 1, 1992. She was retired from Connecticut General Life Insurance Co. While at the College, she was a class officer and a member of Chi Omega sorority. She also had served as a Wave officer in the U.S. Navy for three years. Among survivors is her husband, Carl.

FRANKLIN PIERCE PULLEY III '41 of Richmond, died Feb. 17, 1993. He practiced law in Virginia for 28 years, having graduated summa cum laude from the Virginia College of Commerce & Law. As an undergraduate, he was a member of Sigma Pi fraternity and the Abelian Society. He served four years in the U.S. Army during World War II. Survivors include his wife, Ann; two brothers, Ragan Bradshaw Pulley '39 and James Reid Pulley '48; four sisters, including Carolyn Patricia Pulley '53; two nephews, Ragan Bradshaw Pulley '70 and Lawrence Butt Pulley '74, and a niece, Louise Bradshaw Pulley '78.

CHARLES ROBERT BUTLER '42 of Manila, Philippines, died July 19, 1992. He was the president and owner of Philippine Acetylene Co., which he founded in 1947 as a manufacturer and distributor of industrial gases. During his years at the College, he joined Sigma Pi Sigma physics fraternity, Phi Kappa Tau fraternity, the Glee Club and the Backdrop Club. He also was a member of the swim team and the tennis team. A Navy veteran, he was active in a number of clubs and civic groups in the Philippines. He is survived by his wife Carolyn, a sister, Marietta Butler Raab '38, six children, including Susan Butler Niblock '80,

GLENN CLOSE TO APPEAR AT WILLIAM AND MARY

Glenn Close '74 will discuss her acting career during "A Conversation With Glenn Close" at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, April 29, in William and Mary Hall. The event—part of the Tercentenary Lecture Series—is free and open to the public. No tickets are needed, and William and Mary Hall will open at 8 p.m. Close will be interviewed on stage by Robert P. Maccubbin, an English professor at the College and editor of the journal Eighteenth Century Life. Maccubbin first interviewed Close three years ago for a special issue of the journal which focused on "Les liaisons dangereuses," an 18th-century novel which has received two recent screen adaptations. Close received a 1989 Academy Award nomination for her starring role in "Dangerous Liaisons." Close has returned several times to William and Mary since her graduation, most prominently as commencement speaker in 1989, when she received an honorary doctor of arts degree.

and eight grandchildren.

LENA BEATRICE MONELL COLE '42 of Ticonderoga, N.Y., died Jan. 2, 1993. She had taught school at various levels in Norfolk until moving to Tarrytown, N.Y., with her husband to become the office manager of his orthodontic practice. An avid horticulturalist, she became a landscape design judge and master flower show judge in the Federated Garden Clubs of America. Her many travels throughout the world were always based on the desire to see plants in their native settings. She was an active member and past regent of the Ticonderoga Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution and of the Adirondack and Essex County branches of the American Association of University Women. At William and Mary, she played women's basketball and field hockey and also belonged to the Monogram Club. She is survived by her husband, Robert, a daughter, a son, a sister, a nephew and a niece.

WILLIAM KASE DIEHL '42 of Lynchburg, died Jan. 7, 1993. He was the sports editor of The Ledger-Star newspaper in Norfolk from 1942 until 1957 and was one of the founders of the Norfolk Sports Club and its first president. From 1942-1944, he served as a merchant marine in the Atlantic. At the College, he wrote for The Flat Hat, played tennis and football, and belonged to the Men's Honor Council and Phi Sigma biology fraternity. In 1976, he earned a bachelor's degree from Edison College and, in 1982, a master's degree from Lynchburg College. At one time, he ran radio stations in North Carolina and Florida. He was appointed managing editor of the Culpeper Star-Exponent in 1964. He ended his career as an editorial page columnist for The News and The Daily Advance in Lynchburg and as a journalism teacher at Marshall University in Huntington, W.Va. Survivors include his wife, Dorothy, two daughters, four sons, including Daniel Curtis Diehl '84, a sister, and six grandchildren.

JEAN MARGARET BENHAM CARTER '43 of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., died Feb. 23, 1993. A homemaker, she was involved with the board of managers for the Children's Home in Poughkeepsie and various volunteer activities in the area. During her years at William and Mary, she joined Phi Mu sorority. Survivors are her husband, Norman, two sons, three daughters, a brother, a grandson, and several nieces and nephews.

JOHN EVERETT MCKINNEY JR. '45 of Portsmouth, Va., died Jan. 5, 1993. At the time of his death, he was retired. He is survived by two nieces and two nephews.

FRANK GARLAND LAINE JR. '47 of Keysville, Va., died Feb. 24, 1993. He was a retired Methodist minister, having worked at the Scottsville United Methodist Church, the Boonsboro Church and the Fairview Methodist Church in Lynchburg. At William and Mary, he belonged to Kappa Sigma fraternity, the Anthropology Club and the International Relations Club. He graduated from the T. C. Williams School of Law in Richmond, and was a Purple Heart veteran of World War II. Survivors include his wife, Beverly, four sons, two daughters, 10 grandchildren, a sister, Betty Laine Putney '49, an aunt and his stepmother.

DAVID CLARENCE PULLEY '48, '49 M.A. of Greenville, S.C., died Feb. 27, 1993. He was a professor of education at Furman University in Greenville, S.C., and had also been a dean of graduate studies at Yale, where he earned his Ph.D. degree in 1953. As a William and Mary student, he was a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity, the Audubon Society and the Baptist Student Union. He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth Richardson Pulley '48, two brothers, Ragan Bradshaw Pulley '39 and James Reid Pulley '48, a sister, Carolyn Patricia Pulley '53, two nephews, Ragan Bradshaw Pulley '70 and Lawrence Butt Pulley '74 and a niece, Louise Bradshaw Pulley '78.

HELEN FRANKLIN RAYNES '48 of Kingston, N.C., died Feb. 14, 1993. At one time, she had been a third-grade teacher at the elementary school in Varina, Va. While at the College, she joined the Audubon Society. Surviving are her husband, Selden, a son, a sister, Dorothy Franklin Eckles '51, a niece, Diana Eckles Majette '76, and a nephew, David Franklin Eckles '78.

ROBERT EINAR BJORHUS SR. '49 of Boston, died Feb. 26, 1993. He had retired in 1985 as executive vice president after 36 years with The Travelers Insurance Co. He joined the company in 1949 as a pension underwriter and served as secretary for group underwriting, vice president in the marketing and pensions division and senior vice president. Also, he was president and director of The Travelers of Bermuda, and director of The Travelers of Canada, The Travelers of Asia, The Plaza Corp. and Travcan Limited. In the 1960s, he was a member of a presidential task force that formulated a policy on aging that became the basis for the President's Council on Aging. He participated in the first Public Affairs Fellowship Program at the Brookings Institute in Washington, D.C., in 1961. An Army veteran of World War II, he was a member of the Health Insurance Association of America, the Council of Life Insurance and the Greater Hartford Coalition on Health. Survivors include his wife, Elizabeth, his parents, a son, three daughters and 11 grandchildren.

WILLIAM PATERSON KERR '50 of Waynesboro, Va., died Dec. 15, 1990. He had retired in 1990 as vice president of industrial projects for American Safety Razor Company. He had worked for the firm in its New Jersey offices and also for Philip Morris in New York. As an undergraduate, he joined Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity and belonged to the swim team. He was an Army veteran of World War II. Surviving are his wife, Anne, two sons, a sister, a granddaughter, three nieces and one nephew.

HILLSMAN VAUGHAN WILSON '51, '53 B.C.L. of Timonium, Md., died Feb. 14, 1993. He retired in 1987 after 32 years with McCormick & Company, the nation's largest spice company. From 1987 until the time of his death, he served as McCormick's president and chief operating officer. While at William and Mary, he joined Sigma Rho fraternity, Sigma Nu fraternity, the Society of Scabbard & Blade and the Order of the White Jacket. He was active on the Interfraternity Council and ROTC, and played football. As an alumnus, he was made an honorary lifetime member of the President's Council, a founding trustee of the Law Foundation and was a past board member of the Society of the Alumni. In addition to being an alumni chapter officer and a class agent, he established two scholarships at William and Mary. Among survivors are his wife, Anne Steuart, and daughter, Pamela Hunt Wilson '75.

CHARLES RAYMOND DANIEL JR. '57 of Lynchburg, Va., died Dec. 10, 1992. He was a certified public accountant with his practice in Lynchburg. He belonged to the American Institution of CPAs, the Virginia Society of CPAs and the Central Virginia Chapter of CPAs. While a student at William and Mary, he was a member of the Accounting Club and the Dorm Council. He regularly attended Homecoming weekends as an alumnus, missing only three times in 39 years. A Past Exalted Ruler of B.P.O.E. Lynchburg Lodge No. 321, he was a member of Lynchburg Sports Club, where he was past treasurer and a board member. In addition to his wife, Dawn, and parents, he is survived by a daughter, Sharon Dawn Daniel '91, and two sons.

MICHAEL D. ALEMBIK '58, '61 B.C.L. of Atlanta, died Feb. 5, 1993. He was a founding partner of the law firm Alembik, Fine & Callner, P.A., where he specialized in the areas of estate planning and administration, business organization and taxation. He practiced in Atlanta for more than 30 years and was active in numerous professional and civic groups such as the Atlanta Estate Planning Council, the Atlanta Tax Forum and the Kiwanis Club of Atlanta. As a law student, he served as an associate editor for the William and Mary Law Review. He was active in alumni affairs, having served as a class agent and as a member of the organizing committee for the Atlanta Alumni Chapter of the Law School Association. Survivors include his wife, Vicky, a son and a daughter.

ADELAIDE RUSSELL ATKINS '58 of Wilmington, Del., died May 7, 1992. She was a teacher at P.S. du Pont Elementary School until May, 1991. While at the College, she joined the W&M Chorus, Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, Kappa Chi Kappa community service fraternity and the Red Cross Club. Also, she was active in the Student Education Association and the Backdrop Club. Her involvement with the Junior League of Wilmington Inc. included serving as president in

Hark Upon the Gale

For a limited time, a copy of this illustrated history of the College can be yours for only $22.50. If you haven't reminisced through the timeless illustrations presented in this beautifully bound edition, now is the time! Wilford Kale '66 presents this classic pictorial. In 1993, it's important to understand William and Mary's first three centuries so we can fully appreciate where the College is headed in its fourth century.

Please send me _____ copy (copies) of Hark Upon the Gale. Enclosed is $22.50 per copy plus $4.00 postage and handling. Virginia residents add 4.5 percent sales tax per copy.

___ Check enclosed. (Make payable to The Society of the Alumni.)

___ Charge my MasterCard ___ VISA ___

Card Number _____ Expiration Date _____

Signature _____

Daytime Phone _____

Ship To: Name _____

Address _____

Send to: The Alumni Gift Shop, Society of the Alumni, P.O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100.

EWELL LOBBY DEDICATED FOR ANNA BELLE KOENIG-NIMMO '45

President Sullivan presents Anna Belle Koenig-Nimmo '45 of Arvada, Colo., with a certificate at the dedication of Koenig-Rowleigh Lobby in Ewell Hall in March. The lobby was decorated with a mural, the work of Barbara Lawless '46 of Palm Beach, Fla., a friend of Mrs. Nimmo who is a generous benefactor of the department of music, which is located in Ewell Hall. The lobby is named in memory of Mrs. Nimmo's parents, the late Anna May and Robert F. Koenig, and her grandparents, Minnie Bell and William T. Rowleigh and Carrie and William Koenig. Active in the life of the campus, especially in the areas of music and theatre, Mrs. Nimmo has continued her association with the College through the years. Scholarships in her name benefit students in both music and theatre.

1974 and 1975, as well as holding numerous other offices on the board. During her tenure as an officer, the league was instrumental in developing several programs related to art and education for children. She is survived by two sons, a daughter, her father and stepmother and a sister.

MARTIN LUTHER HARVEY REYMERT '58 of Paris, France, died July 29, 1992. An expert in 19th-century drawings, he co-founded the Shepherd Gallery on New York's Madison Avenue in 1966 and was its co-director until 1986. The gallery is esteemed for its shows of lesser-known 19th-century artists and a series of accompanying catalogues. At William and Mary, he joined Phi Delta Kappa fraternity. In the late 1960s and 1970s, he acted in, directed and designed sets for many Off-Off-Broadway productions for the Jean Cocteau Repertory Theater and other companies. As an owner of Gallery Productions, a theater group, he produced the premiere of Robert Patrick's "Haunted Host" and presented "Desire Caught by the Tail," a Surrealist play written by the artist Picasso in the 1940s. Surviving are two sisters.

MAX TONGIER '63 of Newport News, died Feb. 2, 1993. At the time of his death, he was employed by the Veterans Medical Center as an administrative officer for research and development. As an undergraduate, he belonged to the Dorm Council, Theta Delta Chi fraternity and the Royalist group. A former resident of Williamsburg, he had joined Bruton Parish Church where he was a vestryman and Sunday School teacher. In Newport News, he was a member of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church. Also, he was active in the Jaycees. He is survived by his wife, Gene Birdsong Tongier '65, a daughter, Elizabeth Tongier Leenhouts '90, two sons, his parents and four brothers.

STANLEY J. WOJNO JR. '69 of Los Angeles, died Feb. 1, 1993. At the time of his death, he was self-employed. During his undergraduate years, he was a member of the French Club, Sigma Chi fraternity, the Pep Club and the Dorm Council. In addition, he belonged to the Student Association, the International Circle, the Political Science Forum, WCWM and Young Republicans. Among survivors is his mother.

WILLIAM DUDLEY GORDON '72 of New York City, died Dec. 28, 1992. He was a marketing executive with Gucci Inc. and later a marketing consultant. As a student at the College, he joined the Canterbury Club, the Debate Council and Premier Theater. He also was active in the Political Science Forum and Young Democrats. In Manhattan, he was a member of St. Thomas Episcopal Church. Surviving are his parents, a brother, several nieces, a grandfather and a godson.

HARRY WILLIAM "HUCK" SNYDER IV '75 of Lansdale, Pa., died Jan. 23, 1993, after a prolonged illness. He was an artist and designer of vivid stage settings for dancers and performance artists, collaborating on many projects with artist John Kelly. He conceived, directed and designed "Circus," a performance-art piece presented in 1987 at La Mama E.T.C. His paintings and installations have been exhibited at galleries throughout the United States and in solo and group shows in Europe and Japan. In addition, his theater work received New York Dance and Performance, or Bessie, Awards in 1985 and 1991 and a 1988 Obie Award for sustained excellence in scenic design. He was nominated for American Theater Wing Awards in 1987, 1988 and 1991. While at the College, he was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, the cross-country team and the Black Students Organization. He is survived by his parents and two sisters.

HELEN HAYES '81 D.H.L. of Nyack, N.Y., died March 17, 1993. Known as the first lady of the American theatre, Miss Hayes received an honorary doctor of humane letters degree from the College at commencement exercises in 1981. Her ties to the College also included honorary chairmanship of the Shakespeare Festival. In 1986 she became the first honorary chair of the Lord Chamberlain Society, which supports the Virginia Shakespeare Festival.

CATHERINE LYNN HERSTROM '89 M.S. of Grafton, Va., died Feb. 12, 1993. At the time of her death, she was a computer scientist for NASA

Langley Research Center in Hampton. Survivors include her husband, Frederick, her father, a stepmother, three brothers and a sister.

ARTHUR ROBERT ASHE JR. '91 L.H.D. of New York City died Feb. 7, 1993. A world-renowned tennis champion who had won both Wimbledon and the U.S. Open, Ashe was presented with an honorary doctor of humane letters degree from William and Mary at the 1991 commencement ceremony. After he publicly disclosed his infection with the AIDS virus, he pressed ahead with involvement in a variety of causes, among them AIDS awareness, immigration policy concerning Haitians, the treatment of South African blacks and education endeavors, such as the Virginia Heroes Inc. project that linked black professionals and scores of others with approximately 600 Richmond sixth-graders. He is survived by his wife and a daughter.

FRIENDS OF THE COLLEGE

ALEXANDER I. KURTZ of Williamsburg died Feb. 4, 1993. He was associate professor of modern languages emeritus at the College, retiring in 1975 after serving as a member of the department of modern languages from 1962 to 1975. Known as an accomplished teacher and scholar, he was remembered in a citation as a teacher who "exposed students to the inspiring aspects of German literature, and brought to the College a traditional classic education in the old European sense." He received a diploma from the Teacher

College of Budapest and became a licentiate from Leopold Francis University, Innsbruck, Austria in 1931, and received his Th.D. in 1935 from the institution. Also, he received a master's degree from Rutgers University in 1959. A specialist in German culture, literature and music, he wrote many newspaper articles for Hungarian publications in the early 1940s, and his special interests were the literary aspects of Gustav Mahler's works and the history of the Budapest Opera House. Survivors include his wife Maria, a brother, a niece and a nephew.

WILLIAM WARNER MOSS JR. died March 6, 1993. He was John Marshall Professor of Government and Citizenship Emeritus, having been a member of the department of government from 1937 until his retirement in 1972. He served as chair of the department from 1937 to 1966. Before joining the faculty at the College, he had taught at Williams College, New York University and the University of Virginia. A graduate of the University of Richmond, he held master's and doctoral degrees from Columbia University. He also was an Honorary Research Fellow at the University of Manchester, England. In 1966, he became director of the Marshall-Wythe Institute for Research in the Social Sciences and he received the Thomas Jefferson Award in 1992. He was a member of the American Association of University Professors, the American Southern, and Virginia Political Sciences Associations, and the International Studies Association. During World War II, he held posts with the Office of Price Administration, the Office of Strategic Services and the Rationing Board. Survivors include two sons and a daughter.

Terry on Turmoil of the '60s

(Cont. from P. 1)

Malcolm X will be in there, of course, along with King and the man Terry was drawn to most, Medgar Evers. All three had an aura about them, says Terry, an allure that made other men want to follow them. But their styles were totally different.

"Medgar was the kind of guy you wanted to go hunting with," says Terry, "the kind of guy you wanted to play some pickup basketball with.

"And what I liked most about him was he was fighting on his own turf in Mississippi, the worst state in the nation. . . . Martin visited Mississippi, but he never led a movement there because he knew how dangerous it was."

Terry admired King and Malcolm X as well, but he never felt the connection to them that he felt with Evers.

"Martin, though he wasn't much older than me, always seemed so old. He had this overpowering presence and this incredible voice, one of the great voices of this century. Sitting down with him was like sitting down with your father.

"Now Malcolm, he was the guy I wanted to walk the streets with, no question about that. He had this degree of confidence in any kind of environment. You always figured no matter where you were with Malcolm, you were safe. He knew his way around."

By 1968, Terry had seen something even more unimaginable—a race war among the American troops in Vietnam.

The man Time had put on its cover for Terry's first story in '67 found a cross burned outside his tent soon after the piece was published. Another man, a soldier named Leroy Pitts, who had been Terry's guide a year earlier, died after covering a grenade with his body to save the soldiers around him.

Terry

It was because of these two "bloods," and thousands of black soldiers like them, that Terry turned a single story into a lifetime mission.

"I'd already had the idea of writing this book, but now it became even more important, because now it was going to be a tribute to guys like these, so they wouldn't be forgotten."

It has been 25 years since Terry brought his story back from Vietnam, a quarter century for the military to deal with racial tension within its ranks, and Terry is the first to say the situation has dramatically improved.

"The very fact that you've got more than 100 black general officers and Colin Powell (whose children also attended William and Mary) sits at the very top means that there are role models for black advancement like you can't find in any other industry in this country, except maybe entertainment. And there, blacks are basically the performers. They don't control the industry."

As far as Terry is concerned, it was men like Leroy Pitts who paved the way for a man like Colin Powell.

It is for men like Pitts that Terry continues to write books—three more volumes of "Bloods" are in the works, as well as a history of black journalists since World War II and two children's books on the contributions of black Americans.

It is for men like Pitts that Terry wants to make movies—he is meeting with Spike Lee this month to discuss a film version of "Bloods."

And it is for men like Pitts that Terry teaches classes like the one he faced late on this January afternoon.

He spent the first hour covering the blackboard with the names of dozens of men and women who shaped the civil rights movement in America both before and during the 1960s.

Names like Sojourner Truth and Hosea Williams. Frederick Douglass and Morton Delaney. David Walker and Ida Wells Barnett.

He didn't put his own name up there, but perhaps someone else will one day, maybe 50 or 100 years from now.

TRIBE CLASSIFIED

FOR SALE

TIME SHARE. Oceanfront at Virginia Beach. 1BR, week No. 33. Annual fee $250. Price $9,000. Ann-Meade Simpson, William E. Wood & Associates. 804/428-3516 or 804/403-4161.

PROFESSIONAL SERVICES

1993 TAX PLANNING STRATEGY. Since 1976, TransCapital Corporation has been offering programs that generate significant tax and earnings benefits. Join the many banks and corporations that have increased earnings and have reduced taxes through TransCapital Investments.

We recently adopted a policy for 1993 that provides for contributions to William and Mary to be generated from your investments. Ask us about how your corporate investments can help your alma mater. Joe Campagna '55, president, TransCapital Corporation. 703/790-8210.

VACATION RENTALS

FLORIDA KEYS CONDO. 2 BR, 2-1/2 baths, pool, private beach, $550-$750 weekly. 812/476-1800.

ISLE OF PALMS, S.C. (near Charleston). Oceanfront, 3 BR beautiful home; sleeps 11. Alumni/owner rental discount. 919/484-3585.

KEY WEST. 1, 2 or 3 BR home with jacuzzi. Lush, private compound. Historic Old Town. 305/296-7012.

WILLIAMSBURG. Condo near everything. Campus vicinity. Fully equipped. Privacy suite plus 2 BR, 2 baths, sleeps 7. DW/AC/TV/cable/phone/fireplace/balcony/pool/tennis. Call Annapolis for discount. 410/266-8523.

WILLIAMSBURG. Fully equipped condo units - all amenities. 1 BR - $900, 2 BR - $1,100. Week 6/19-26 information, Chuck 614/927/8075. Week 6/26-7/3 information, Tom 614/239-7650.

WILLIAMSBURG MANOR BED AND BREAKFAST. Restored to original elegance. Furnished with exquisite pieces. Accommodations with TV, AC, private bath. Adjacent to College - St. Bede's. Available for social functions, weddings, private parties, dinners and meetings. Full catering service by the Catering Service of Williamsburg. 804/220-8011 or 800/422-8011.

WILLIAMSBURG SAMPLER BED AND BREAKFAST. Antiques, pewter and samplers complement elegant 18th-century plantation style colonial. Across from College. Accommodations—king or queen-size poster beds, TV, AC, private bath. Famous "Skip Lunch" breakfast. 804/253-0398 or 800/722-1169.

For information on how you can place an ad in the Tribe Classified, contact the Office of Society Services, Society of the Alumni, P.O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100 or call 804/221-1170. Deadline: June 25 for September issue; August 27 for October issue.

Watch Your Mailbox

In just a few weeks, the May/June issue of the Gazette will arrive in your mail. Watch for it! Save it! Use it! It will be your only means to register for Homecoming '93 and join in the College's grand 300th anniversary. A special supplement will carry complete details and a registration form for the hundreds of exciting events planned throughout the five-day, campuswide celebration. Don't be disappointed! Register early through this special issue.

For hotel reservations for non-reunion classes call 1-800/446-9244 (Williamsburg Hotel and Motel Association) or 1-800/231-4198 (Colonial Williamsburg facilities).

*William & Mary
★ Homecoming '93
★
October 20-24*

Society of the Alumni
P.O. Box 2100, Williamsburg, VA 23187-2100
ADDRESS CORRECTION REQUESTED

Non-Profit Organization
U.S. Postage Paid
Permit No. 1390
Richmond, VA

Alumni Gazette

THE ALUMNI GAZETTE

THE COLLEGE OF WILLIAM AND MARY

APRIL 1993 VOLUME 60, NO. 7

