COLLEGE OF WILLIAM AND MARY

WILLIAMSBURG, VIRGINIA

R. BRUCE CROWELL, EDITOR
THOMAS L. OWEN, MANAGER

The class of 1951 bears a special affinity to you, Miss Jeffers. For, when you were a newcomer to William and Mary, we were newcomers also. In the four years since then, our class has progressed and developed; and in the same four years you have effortlessly succeeded in winning your way strongly into our hearts. Because you have constantly felt yourself to be a member of our class; because we have been proud to claim you as part of us; because your interest in us has been strong, sure, sympathetic, and understanding; because each of us in the class has felt himself just that much better a person for having known you; because we were Your Class and you were Our Dean, we feel humbly grateful in being able to dedicate this, our yearbook, to you.

TO THE CLASS OF 1951:

The Class of 1951 has been noteworthy for its spirit of leadership through four years. It was comprised of students who for the first time in a decade were able to spend four uninterrupted years at the College. Unfortunately with its graduation the College enters upon another period of instability, but the example of unity and purpose set by the Class will be long remembered on the campus.

The College has grown not only in numbers but in reputation since the war years. To this reputation the Class of 1951 has added immeasurably by its large contribution to student morale. Your senior year, the session 1950-1951, has been a memorable one because you have evidenced a regard for excellence in all undertakings, academic and otherwise.

As Alumni you should again set an example for others to follow by insisting that William and Mary represent excellence and high standards in all that she engages upon. The College will be known by the uses to which your education is put and by the high purposes to which you aspire. May the lasting friendliness of the College abide with you through the years to come.

John E. Pomfrey
President

Lyric Soprano to Perform At Wednesday's Concert

A rich program of all-time German lieder and works by the French Impressionists will characterize the third concert of the William and Mary Concert Group next Wednesday evening at 8 p. m. in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

The concert artist that night will be the celebrated young lyric soprano Sara Carter, who achieved success on Broadway last season in the musical drama Palatinus, an operatic adaptation of Lillian Hellman's Little Foxes.

Gardner Will Sing, Rife Will Play Piano In Student Concert

Carol Gardner and Gay Rife will present the first student concert of the Phi Beta Kappa Society with a program of vocal and piano selections. Gardner, an Alpha Chi Omega and a member from Silver Spring, Md., has studied voice with Carl Fehr for several years. She is a fine arts major, and plans to go into teaching or choir directing after graduation.

Working in the Common Glory this summer and directing the choir at the Presbyterian Church have given her some experience in this field. She has also been a member of the William and Mary Choir since coming to college.

Carter's program will include a group of Italian numbers, a German song cycle by Schumann which tells the story of two lovers following their love until the American revolution, one song by Schubert, and several songs by Brahms. The concert will be held in Phi Beta Kappa Hall at 8 p. m. next Wednesday.

Miss Carter has been heard, but not seen, in local theaters by movie-goers who may have thought they were listening to the voice of Greer Garson or Joan Fontaine. Actually, the soprano voice used for both these stars belongs to Miss Carter. Miss Carter was engaged to sing before long in Hollywood when her voice was recorded on sound tracks which were later "dubbed in" for Garson and Fontaine.

Musical Theater Star

While singing for the movies, Miss Carter also performed leading roles in the Hollywood productions of the American Music Theater. These operas included Fugate Overland, The Marriage of Figaro, Tales of Hoffman and Menotti's The Old Maid and the Thief.

Last season, in addition to performing in Palatinus, Miss Carter starred as Anna in Lawrence Tibbett's television production of La Traviata and was also engaged to sing at a school in the Moscow-Termack's performance of The Messiah.

During the past summer Miss Carter has been singing the lead soprano part in new operas by the Phi Beta Kappa Society which were performed at the Berkshire Music Festival in Tanglewood, Mass.

Chapman Lectures On Austen's Works Monday Afternoon

Dr. Robert William Chapman, one of the foremost scholars of English literature, spoke on Jane Austen's works in Phi Beta Kappa Hall here yesterday.

Addressing an audience of students, faculty and instructors, Dr. Chapman presented an account of Jane Austen's letters, including an explanation of their content and their historical value, and what the letters reveal concerning the author's personality and her life and her own view of the world.

Chapman's lecturing was his second in a series of lectures on Austen's works, which he has given at various points in his career. He is currently a professor of English at the University of California, Berkeley.

Frosh Select Josh Thompson To Serve as Class President

Other New Officers Picked at Polls by Class of 1951 Include Jack Parker, Bette Bodley, Marguerite Huff

Josh Thompson, of Lower Merion, Pa. Wednesday was elected by his classmates president of the class of 1954. The freshman took to the polls brought to an end several weeks of vigorous campaigning among five candidates.

Portrayed is Josh Thompson, who last week became president of the freshman class through student vote.

Convocation to Take Place Tuesday in Phi Beta Kappa

Presenting the new members of the Phi Beta Kappa Society and the announcements of the Merit Scholars, the fifty-first annual Honors Convocation will take place on Tuesday, November 13 at 11 a. m. in Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium.

President John B. Dunstree will preside, while James E. Hartigan, Jr. will deliver the National Institute of Education address. The convocation will include the traditional military exercises, the presentation of the Phi Beta Kappa award, and the reading of the Phi Beta Kappa Oath.

Bette Bodley, of Hallowood, Pa., was elected vice-president. Jack Parker, of Arlington, Va., was elected secretary-treasurer and Marguerite Huff, of Arlington, Va., was elected secretary. The other officers are: Martha Austin, of Hallowood, Pa., secretary-treasurer; and Marguerite Huff, of Arlington, Va., secretary.

THE SENATE

The student senate is an organization which has no jurisdictional powers, but is called together by vice-president, Doug Weiland, to discuss any controversial questions which are to be brought before the student assembly. These discussions are necessary to make certain that all important points of the issues and problems are brought to the assembly's attention in correct and clarified form, thus eliminating unnecessary discussion.

The most important job of the senate this year has been to serve as the student ring committee. This committee selected a standardized school ring from drawings and samples submitted by the various large jewelry companies. The ring chosen by the senate was unanimously approved by the assembly.

THE ASSEMBLY

This year, for its first project, the student government, in conjunction with other student groups, aided in producing one of the better homecomings in school history.

A very energetic assembly, aided by information obtained by assembly president Jim Rehlaender, approved plans for the building of a boat-house on Lake Matoaka, a project long desired by the student body. The boat-house, when completed, will have anchorage space for rowboats (for those who prefer fishing) and will also contain canoes available for the use of each of the classes during the warm months.

The controversial cafeteria situation was greatly improved by the appointment of a cafeteria committee. This group met once a week for dinner and discussed any student complaints which arose regarding the cafeteria. The committee attempted to work out satisfactory solutions to these problems without causing any undue friction between the students and cafeteria management.

schools were vastly improved by the new policy of sending student government delegations to those state schools that we played in football. These delegations made speeches to the student bodies and checked on preparations for the game. Student leaders from those schools visited were invited to William and Mary to exchange ideas and information.

The once tense telephone tie-up during the late hours was alleviated by the placing of student government notices by each telephone. These notices were effective in reminding the student to limit his conversation to five minutes between the busy hours of 9:30 to 11 p.m.

Projects scheduled to be brought up later on the agenda include reseeding of campus lawns and the possibility of starting a campus radio station.

THE GENERAL COOPERATIVE COMMITTEE

Any decisions and recommendations from the assembly regarding the school are passed on to the general cooperative committee. If this group approves, they are sent through the proper channels to be executed.

This year, as a result of co-op action, students will be walking on dry, raised walks which are also to be broadened in busy sections.

Male students will experience less trouble in getting their dates in on time at night due to a co-op plan to supplement the warning bell with the flicking of campus lights when the late hour approaches.

Popular and inexpensive pocket edition books have been added to the college bookstore stock due to student demand for these handy aids to classroom work and outside reading assignments.

PEP COORDINATION COMMITTEE

One of the many committees under the jurisdiction of the student assembly, this group was set up to coordinate the rapidly expanding pep activities on campus. The band was represented by Jim Anthony and Mr. Stewart, the cheering squad by Bob Boyd, who served as chairman of the committee, the faculty by Dr. Kernodle, and the student body by Jim Rehlaender.

This committee published schedules showing the arrival and departure times of the football team so that students could be on hand to give vocal support. Stickers and posters were printed for games and a paper was published by this group which successfully publicized and stirred up spirit for the Virginia game.

A chartered train was secured for the Virginia game and chartered buses were obtained for the North Carolina game by the chairman.

As a result of the improved activities coordinated by this group, school spirit is at its highest level in years.

MEN'S HONOR COUNCIL

The Honor System was established at William and Mary in 1779, and has been in effect ever since. The basis of the Honor System is individual responsibility—every student is expected to have an intrinsic sense of honesty and integrity with which to conduct his scholastic and social relationships with fellow students, the faculty, and the College itself.

The Men's Honor Council, acting as a court and judge of evidence, investigates and tries reported breaches of the Honor Code, which are cheating, lying and stealing.

The members of the Men's Honor Council are elected by the student body. In order that the principles of the system be completely understood by all, the Council provides a thorough orientation program, explaining all phases of the Honor Code and System for the incoming students.

Chairman of the Honor Council for 1950-'51 was Christian Moe; William Watson, vice-chairman; Bernard Wittkamp, secretary. Other members were Richard Carter, George Zupko, Harry Wirth, and Layton Zimmer.

WOMEN STUDENTS' COOPERATIVE

The Women Students' Co-operative Government Association was organized to further self-government and student responsibility in the management of women students' affairs. The success of the three student councils depends upon each member's assumption of responsibility and cooperation in the spirit and ideals of the organization. Our aims can be accomplished only by the efforts of the women students to keep this association worthy of their confidence. Student government exists because we believe in it and attempt to maintain it at a high level of efficiency.

Upon her entrance in college each woman automatically becomes a member of W.S.C.G.A. Its work is carried on through three councils of elected representatives: the Executive Council, the Judicial Committee, and the Honor Council. A faculty committee composed of Dr. Adair, Dr. Fowler, and Dr. Gordon meets with the Executive and Judicial Councils to co-ordinate the ideals of the faculty, administration, and students.

The first Monday of each month is devoted to discussing the business of W.S.C.G.A. in meetings in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. This year the meetings have been efficiently conducted by the president, Sarah Enos. Speakers are introduced, new legislation is started, discussed by the women and sent to proper channels, and announcements are made. Other members of the Executive Council are Rusty Davis, vice-president; Pat Hedman, secretary; Ginny Campbell, treasurer; Kitty Nottingham and Teddy Nicas, representatives-at-large; and Betty Bodley, freshman representative.

In addition to its usual program, the W.S.C.G.A. continued the publication of student directories, as well as the scholarship fund of at least one hundred dollars per year to be used by a woman student of the college. The study rooms in the dormitories were redecorated and automatic washing machines were installed. The May Day program was also enlarged.

The W.S.C.G.A. is a member of the Southern Intercollegiate Association of Student Governments.

Judicial Committee

The purpose of the Judicial Committee is to uphold and maintain the social rules and good conduct of the women students of the College of William and Mary. It is the duty of the Committee to deal with those cases reported to it and to give a penalty in proportion to the offense.

The activities of the Judicial Committee are not limited, however, to regulatory functions. The Committee attempts through educational means to arouse the interest and personal responsibility of the women students toward student government. By bringing attention to the rules, the Committee prefers to prevent trouble rather than to hand out penalties.

Social rules, unless otherwise provided for by the administration, are formulated by the women students with the approval of the Judicial Committee's faculty advisors. Suggestions for changes in rules are given to the Judicial Committee by the women students at large. These suggestions are then voted upon by the students. Those receiving an affirmative vote are acted upon by the faculty advisors with the Judicial Committee, and in conference with the president of the college if necessary. Results are reported back to the women students with an explanation of any change or rejection of rules.

The Judicial Committee consists of a chairman, a secretary, all house presidents, representatives of each class, and a representative-at-large. The house committees are also part of the Judicial Committee. It is through them that the Committee has its closest contact with the women students.

W O M E N ' S H O N O R C O U N C I L

The Honor System, which was founded by the students of William and Mary in 1779, is one of the most important priorities of the college and still plays an integral part in college life. Many privileges are to be gained from it, which in return require the cooperation and support of the students.

Violations of the code include lying, cheating, and stealing, and in extreme cases they are punishable by dismissal from the college. The student has one of two alternatives in reporting a violation: she may challenge the accused and offer her the opportunity to resign from college immediately or to report herself. If the accused fails to report herself, the accuser is obliged to notify the Council immediately. But on the other hand, the student may report the suspect directly to the Honor Council.

The Council is a judicial body which investigates and tries cases placed before it. It also attempts to educate new students as to the concepts of the code and to remind all students of their individual responsibility.

Every phase of college life comes under the Honor Code, and this code offers a means of protection against those who would disregard the standards of honest living under which we desire to live.

The members of the Women's Honor Council who were elected by the women students are: Lee Renander, chairman; Carolyn Forman, secretary; Melissa Warfield and Mary Anne Woodhouse, senior representatives; Elizabeth Beard and Claudia Richmond, junior representatives; and Jean Madsen, sophomore representative.

PUBLICATIONS COMMITTEE

The Publications Committee elects the editors of the three student publications as well as the business managers of the COLONIAL ECHO and the Flat Hat. In addition, the committee reviews the elections and appointments of other staff members, and concerns itself with staff organization and cooperation. It has no voice, however, in the editorial policy of any student publication. The committee this year was supervised by Mr. Alexander Kallos, and was composed of Hugh Moore, Editor of the Flat Hat; Bruce Crowell, Editor of the COLONIAL ECHO; Dick Lee, Editor of the Royalist; and Jim Rehlaender, President of the Student Body.

Moore, Crowell, Rehlaender, Kallos, Lee

The "Flat Hat" staff—campus representatives of the fourth estate. The job of putting out a campus newspaper is no less difficult than that of a big daily, when one considers the multitude of other activities in the average week at William and Mary. Classes and homework assignments often go undone when there is trouble at the office or print shop. "The paper has to come out Tuesday night—the classes will have to wait."

This year was the fortieth year for the "Flat Hat," and everyone on the staff holds the opinion that it was the best year. But that has probably been cultivated by every other editor and staff during the past 39 years.

This year was fun, but quite trying and hectic at times, too. Photographer problems began in earnest when the staff photographer was drafted. It took a month to iron that situation out satisfactorily; meanwhile, pictures were coming in each week in a most haphazard fashion.

Editor Hugh "Egg-head" Moore bemoaned the fact that his cartoon staff outnumbered his news staff; a morgue staff had to be organized on an entirely new basis; the hour that the paper was ready for distribution Tuesday night ranged anywhere from 4 p.m. to 11 p.m., much to the disgust of Mark McCormack and his circulation staff. After a good part of the year had gone by and the circulation typists had worn their fingers down to the second joints, an addressograph was added to the equipment of the paper.

None of these problems, however, can overshadow all the good times of the year; the work and horseplay of Friday and Sunday afternoons spent in the office, the gleam of triumph at the completion of each paper. Each week there was the hope that something unusual would happen. Managing Editor Moore spent the weekends praying for the Fine Arts building to fall down so he would have a good front page story. Sports Editor Francis constantly kept one ear to the ground over at the Athletic Association office in hopes of uncovering an unsuspecting skeleton in the closet. He found quite a few of them just sitting around in the corridors and put them right to work.

Mary Alice and her faithful make-up staff and headline writers spent a good deal of each Sunday afternoon checking on all events to be put in the college calendar while Bob Hedelt did a fine job of supplying news in answer to the frequent, urgent calls of, "I need a story to fill a five inch hole. Write one for me right away."

Jane Hale's feature stories, the work of Jane Gross and the unheralded morgue staff, and the articles of a score of reporters and other staff members all contributed to the efficiency of the paper.

More fond memories: Dave "Moneyman" Hall's careful budgeting; the news editor's weekly maddening problem of Cynthia Cohn and her 12 pages of advertising; and the weekend of turmoil when Moore boarded in the infirmary after a head-on collision on the intramural football field.

Others will always remember the picnic, the President's Dinner, and the weekly meetings when no one knew for certain whether Moore was going to tell jokes or raise the roof and tear his hair.

As expected, additional worries were furnished by the print shop. Dean Mitchell and John Guppy scurried around each week trying to get the type in the forms, while pressman Mac harried them with his impatient, "When do you plan to belch forth your fiery message—today or next week?" Today was the deadline, we hoped, and had to make!

THE ROYALIST

DICK LEE
Editor-in-chief

"Sue, can you have all the art work done by next Monday?"

"Good heavens, this is worse than last year! I'll try, though."

It came to pass that with these axe-like words, exchanged between Editor Dick Lee and Art Editor Sue Wiprud, the first issue of the 1950-

1951 "Royalist" took its final step toward literary birth. There remained only a session with the printer, who didn't know exactly what he had bargained for when he gave us the go-ahead for our now infamous black cover. That was odd enough; some of the staff's inspirations for the inside were even more typographically upsetting.

The Staff

But there it was, the first of three (or was it to be four?) issues of the campus magazine, the result of many harried Thursday afternoon rat-races in our Marshall-Wythe third floor white tower (unpainted variety), the scene of many a battle royal over this or that piece of manuscript, and marked by either no material at all one week, or an unexpected (but welcome) flood the next.

and the relatively sane voting of the rest of the staff, have come this product of student literary effort, "The Royalist."

Not to these alone is the magazine indebted. To Mr. W. Melville Jones of the English Department go our special thanks for his constant guidance and inspiration. Appreciation is due in large measure to those English "profs," especially Dr.

THE COLONIAL ECHO OF 1951

Had we been able to put in this write-up the exact sentiment; we feel at this moment, you should have heard, immediately upon turning these pages, the most lengthy sigh of relief ever sighed. Oh yes, they all say that—every year it's the same thing; trouble here, trouble there, deadlines here and deadlines there, here a snag, there a snag, everywhere a snag, snag. Old McEcho had its trials, eeny miney moe, And so forth. Laugh, you fools laugh but never let them cut a month off your photographic deadline. We had that happen to us, you know. Seems like there was a war going on someplace in Korea, and the government needed copper like mad. So do yearbooks—even more like mad. So all we had to do was beat the government copper cut-back and maybe we'd have a yearbook. But not being able to get photographers for the longest time—our original photographer got drafted at an inopportune moment—and then not being able to get enough darkrooms for our photographers once we did get some, and then having to race to beat Uncle Sam . . . well, put them all together, they spell Migraine, the kind of headaches you get staying up nights wondering about things. But if you are able to read this write-up at all, it means that in spite of communists and copper-shortages, we got a yearbook out after all, which is probably not as great a surprise to you as it is to us. Oh, we had our troubles.

But we've got orchids and laurel wreaths to pass around. First must come our noble photography staff, who somehow managed to get a normal two months work done in three weeks. They got us out of the hole, so to speak. The hours these people put in were ferocious. Under Charley Streich our competent Photography Editor, they managed to pull something like three hundred photos out of the fluid in sensational time. To Bill Makel'm and Nancy June, who turned up with the right pictures when we wondered what was going to "go in there"; to George Haycox, Tex Wilde, and Joe Clark who did the work of nineteen men when the chips were down, with nary a grumble; to these people go our profuse thanks.

To Bill Wilson, our Art Editor, and his invaluable assistant Ken Hackler, go our thanks again for a job nobly done. Through their efforts we have been able to try a few tricks we hope you enjoy—they're a little different. Dot Ginnie, and Bob didn't get too much to do, but that's always the way in the Art Department. Your turn comes next year.

Probably the most efficient sports staff in many years operated this year under the able hand of Mark McCormack, Sports Editor. The copy he and his henchmen, notably Dick Sayford, turned in, has been some of the best we've seen. The "Two Hugh's," Moore and DeSamper, did fine work, too. Thanks to Mack, Bernie, Ed, Andy, Betty Hicks and her gals, Marge and Peggy, the rest of the work, including Women's Sports, was well done and in on time.

Under Joan Kohler (repeater from last year), the class staff—Jayne and

The Junior Editors

Photography Staff

Boots and Peggy; Frankie, Blanche and Muriel; Ann, Bessie, Evelyn, Ginnie and Shirley—managed to sort, classify, and send off the largest batch of student photos taken in many a year, plus faculty. Good job, girls.

Adelaide Jennings did her usual fine job with the Organizations Staff, and with her ready assistant, Peyton, the staff—Barbara and Roger, Janet, Ann, George, Retta, Reba and Connie—got the organizations copy all in in plenty of time, got their pictures taken, and retaken when necessary, despite late photographers and rainy days. Thanks for a job well done.

Betty Hicks served as Make-up editor, and gave a fine performance. She's responsible for lots of mistakes not being in this book that would have been in otherwise. With her noble band of typists—Bobbie and Doris, Sarah-dean, Madge, Carol and Bob, Bruce and Ralph, Nan, Margie and Doris H.—the group wrote and rewrote, organized and structured grammar—"you don't end a sentence with 'should of.'"—hounded Jim Rehlaender to death for his gov't article [Who finally wrote it?] and did a commendable job.

To our fine Associate Editor, Don Ashby, go thanks for the long hours spent proof-reading, and his valuable assistance given Mark in helping get the Sports department rolling.

Tom Owen was, of course, indispensable. It would be hard to find a better Business Manager. Lots of things were handled much more efficiently, from money-taking to bill-mailing, and at the end of the year we weren't faced with such a mass of unfinished business. Pam Hall was his right-hand helper, but the whole staff gets a lot of credit for a highly successful job—Marshall and Wayne, Nixie, Nancy Lee, Jan, Dick and John, Walt, Betty, Jean and Kathy, Dave and Annette.

That completes the list of credits. But we had our Picnic, too, don't forget. For once it didn't rain on Saturday afternoon. In fact it was so hot that the beer they poured down our necks really felt pretty good.

INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Interfraternity Council is an organization made up of the president and one representative of each fraternity on campus, with three officers elected by the fraternities.

The objects of the Interfraternity Council are to promote cordial interfraternity relations, to encourage interest in scholarship, to co-operate with the college administration in promoting the general welfare of the college, and to establish rules governing fraternity activities. Further, it serves as an organized vehicle for integrating fraternity interests with the general program of student life on campus.

The Pan-Hellenic Council is composed of two delegates from each of the nine sororities and two alumnae representatives who act in an advisory capacity. The purpose of the council is to foster relations among the sororities and to encourage high ideals of scholarship throughout the college.

The main function of the Pan-Hellenic Council is the compilation of rules governing rushing, pledging, and initiation for sorority women on campus. Other functions include the sponsoring of a Pan-Hellenic workshop and the awarding of a plaque to the sorority whose pledge class has attained the highest scholastic average.

PHI BETA KAPPA

Mortar Board, national senior honor society for women, was founded at Syracuse, N. Y., in 1918. The Alpha Club on campus at William and Mary became a member of the national organization in 1928.

Its members, elected on the basis of outstanding service, scholarship, and leadership, participate in various important college activities throughout the year.

Mortar Board assisted with the fall orientation program, continued the tutoring bureau, repeated the spring training program for campus officers, awarded a scholarship plaque to the sophomore with the highest average, and sent a booklet on the social aspects of William and Mary to the freshmen.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary leadership society for men, was founded at Washington and Lee University in 1914, the first college honor society of national scope to accord recognition for eminence in extra-curricular activities. The Eta Circle was chartered at William and Mary in 1921.

ODK recognizes and encourages outstanding achievement in scholarship; athletics; social and religious affairs; publications; and speech, music, and dramatic arts. ODK has a three-fold purpose: to recognize high achievement and efficiency in collegiate activities; to bring together representative men from all phases of college life; and to bring together members of the faculty and student body on a basis of mutual interest and understanding.

ROBERT A. DOLL Vice-President
J. WILFRED LAMBERT Secretary-Treasurer

In 1935 John Stewart Bryan, president of the college, initiated the procedure of giving recognition to certain men students who were most outstanding in the various phases of college life. He appointed a group known as the President's Aides, the selection of which individuals has become an institution at the college. In 1948 President Pomfret established a precedent when he included women in his selection to provide a wider and more democratic representation.

These men and women serve primarily as the president's personal aides in receiving and entertaining guests of the college. They occupy a position in the academic procession, and in recognition of this honorary appointment each member receives a medal designed by President Bryan.

The President's Aides for the 1950-'51 session were: Sarah Enos, Sidna Chockley, Lee Renander, Melissa Warfield, Joan Carpenter, James Kelly, Robert Hackler, Hugh DeSamper, Douglas Weiland, Christian Moe, and James Rehlaender, Chief Aide.

The start of the Korean War and the imminent threat of a Third World War about to break at any moment has brought about a large enrollment of college students into the Reserve Officers' Training Corps throughout the United States.

William and Mary's ROTC Unit boasts the largest in its history. Its basic function is to train men as reserve officers in the Field Artillery. Seniors and juniors in the advanced course are the cadet officers and non-commissioned officers. Classes are held twice a week in which are taught the fundamentals and technology of field artillery and related subjects which all officers should know. On Wednesday afternoons, the unit, split up into two sections, Battery A and Battery B, drill for two hours. Here the cadet officers get an opportunity to use commands and become acquainted with the handling of a group of men. The cadets learn to march, obey commands, and learn the rudiments of making a good officer.

Colonel Polk J. Atkinson is the new Professor of Military Science and Tactics at William and Mary. Other training officers are Major George L. Anderson and Major Philip Miller.

This year, due to the grave military situation now facing us, a one year, stepped-up course has been made available to senior veterans who will receive commissions this summer after completing the six weeks course at Fort Bragg, North Carolina. This six weeks course is a pre-requisite to receiving a reserve commission and offers to the cadet practical work and military tactic problems which he will face while serving on active duty.

Not only is the 1950-51 enrollment the largest in the history of the William and Mary unit, but this year also marks the beginning of a Drum and Bugle Corps, under the direction of Robert (Bullet) Lawson, which has added new interest and zest to the weekly drill periods of the unit and is indeed a credit to the corps.

The College of William and Mary is proud of its ROTC Unit and the part it has played in the campus activities during the past year.

THE VARSITY CLUB

The Varsity Club is composed of those men who have received letters in any of the intercollegiate sports sponsored by the college. Its purpose is to further interest in these athletic groups.

INTER- COLLEGIATE DEBATE

In addition to formal debating, open-panel discussions were held with a great deal of success this year discussing pertinent national and campus topics.

The away-from-home schedule included four principal trips. Locally, in addition to sponsoring the fifth annual Marshall-Wythe Debate Tournament, the council met schools from every section of the country

STUDENT RELIGIOUS UNION

The Student Religious Union is the inter-denominational organization composed of representatives from the various religious youth groups of Williamsburg. It stimulates religious life and coordinates religious activities on the campus. Each year S.R.U. sponsors Religious Emphasis Day, Union Suppers, and weekly chapel services for the students.

The Balfour-Hillel Club holds weekly meetings, discussion groups, and Friday night services in the Wren Chapel which provide a religious outlet for the Jewish student. In addition, the social aspect is included by means of inter-faith dinners and picnics.

NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Club is an organization of Catholic students on the campus. The purpose of the club is to help them in spiritual matters. Its program for this year included discussions on topics of interest to Catholic students, communion breakfasts, and a series of informal socials.

The fundamental purpose of the Wesley Foundation is to keep the college student in touch with the church. This it attempts to do through Sunday morning and evening services, and with guest speakers discussing religious and current topics. Opportunities for fun and recreation are found in the Wesley Lounge and at the Sunday night suppers.

THE BACKDROP CLUB

Since the Spring of 1938 when the Backdrop Club presented the first Varsity Show, it has grown in popularity until it is now one of the most anticipated events on campus. The Varsity Show is also becoming well-known off the campus, being rated eighth in the country among student written, directed, and produced musicals.

The war caused the club to be disbanded, but in 1946 the few old members remaining formed the nucleus of a group which has been presenting bigger and better extravaganzas with the passing of each year.

All of the members, whether they work on the stage or behind it, consider it well worth the hard work, when, on opening night the show is received with a roar of applause. The Varsity Show always plays to a full house in Williamsburg and is also well received when it is produced in Richmond, the annual "on-the-road" trip.

This year the club's production was directed by Joe Benedetti, who

Joe Benedetti, president and director

Dick Lee and Dick Hutcheson, script-writers also filled the job of president of the organization. Once again Dick Hutcheson wrote and arranged the stirring music. Jean Farley originated the choreography and Jan Noyes did the designing of the costumes, lights, and scenery. The financial end of the production was handled by Walt Milkey, and Don Lawrence took over as Technical Director.

But the show—this year something different again. The script was written by Dick Hutcheson and Dick Lee, and the plot centered around the circus theme, with odd mixtures of angels and heaven pervading. Jeep Friedman, his usual inimitable self, portrayed the bungling little angel, Hopalong, who manages to get the circus out of one mess into another.

Picture a stage which is bedlam. Amid props, the clamor of hammers and saws, shouts of direction, dangling ropes and towering ladders, blinking lights, dancing, singing, and general uproar, the Varsity Show begins to take form. Within a month or so, it emerges before an eager audience—bright, shining, and a success.

Once again the Backdrop Club looks forward to another year and another show, this time the screwball "Heaven Help Us," which promises to be another strong link in the unbroken chain of successes.

"K" Company, 8th Regiment of the National Society of Scabbard and Blade was chartered on this campus almost three years ago. It is the product of a parallelism which existed between its own aims and ideas, and those of the Centurion Club, an organization founded by early members of the Reserve Officers Training Corps on this campus.

SCABBARD AND BLADE

The Society is dedicated to the propagation of military education, national preparedness, and increased understanding and liaison between the military and non-military elements of the population.

Since its reorganization in the fall of 1949, the Indian Band has progressed steadily, until now it ranks among the top college bands in this part of the country.

Placing high in competition at the Apple Blossom Festival last Spring and the Tobacco Festival last Fall, the band has also appeared at all home football games and pep rallies.

Under the auspices of the Athletic Association, the band traveled to the games with the University of Virginia, the University of North Carolina, and North Carolina State University.

WILLIAM AND MARY BAND

Singing in the choir involves hard work, but under the direction of Carl Fehr it has brought a deep satisfaction to its members and to the student body as a whole.

The events which climaxed the year were the recording of an album of songs and the concert in the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D. C. In addition, the Choir is remembered for the inspiring Christmas and Spring Concerts, the weekly chapel services, convocations, and graduation.

WILLIAM AND MARY CHOIR

WILLIAM AND MARY CHORUS

The William and Mary Chorus, composed of over one hundred women's voices, has proved to be an asset to the musical life of the campus. Director Carl Fehr, who returned to William and Mary after a year's absence, has made an impressive organization of the aspirants to the William and Mary Choir. The group was heard in several Wednesday evening chapel services, in an excellent Christmas concert in collaboration with the Choir, and in the Spring Concert.

MISS ALTHEA HUNT

Miss Althea Hunt, a graduate of Allegheny College and Radcliffe, came to William and Mary twenty-five years ago. So this year is her anniversary too. Her job is the all-embracing one of Director which entails four full-length plays a year, numerous one-acts, supervision of the Theatre Institute, and a full teaching load in the Fine Arts Department. To her, and her alone, must inevitably go the credit for bringing the William and Mary Theatre from a single course in the English department up to its present distinguished rank in college theatre.

As assistant director we find Howard Scammon a graduate of William and Mary and Northwestern. Mr. Scammon came to the Theatre in September 1948 and since that time has proved indispensable in his contributions. Aside from serving as the right hand to Miss Hunt, he directs the Restoration Comedies, and serves as Director of the famous Common Glory, Williamsburg's summer pageant.

The position of Designer is splendidly handled by Roger Sherman, a graduate of Vesper George School of Arts, Yale University. Mr. Sherman became a member of the William and Mary Theatre in 1946, and his imaginative, colorful and striking set-designs have become a trademark of our Theatre.

Al Haak, a graduate of Lawrence College, is the one-man stage crew who does such a fine job in the role of

WILLIAM AND MARY THEATRE

The twenty-fifth birthday of an institution is always somewhat of an occasion. And this year marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of the William and Mary Theatre. Four people form the body of instructors in Theatre, people who perform four different and essential jobs in producing the college theatrical presentations. We shall begin with the Director.

Technical Director. Al entered the ranks of the W & M Theatre in September of 1947, and since that time has proved himself highly capable of constructing the difficult stage settings often decreed by director and designer. Under his watchful eye, bands of students in his stage-craft classes handle building and painting, lights and properties, for the numerous plays.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS IN THE WILLIAM AND MARY THEATRE

Today the William and Mary Theatre is a well-established extra-curricular organization providing entertainment for campus and community; educational, creative experiences for all participants; and practical work as a laboratory for classes in theatre.

During its twenty-five years it has developed from an activity derived from one class in English called Play Production with one faculty member on its staff to its present status in the Department of Fine Arts with a dozen courses and four specialists on the faculty.

From 1926 to 1935 the Director, with the devoted cooperation of students, planned and carried out all phases of production from advertising to acting, from sawing to sound effects, and from painting to patrons' lists.

Throughout its two decades and a half, the theatre has offered opportunities to all qualified students. Try-outs for casts on a competitive basis, volunteer work on design, costumes, construction, make-up, properties, and publicity are open to the whole campus.

In 1935 a designer was added to the staff, and the following year the theatre and its faculty of three became a division of the Department of Fine Arts. Since 1935 eleven designers have worked with the Director in making productions outstanding as college theatre.

One hundred and fifteen major productions and scores of one-act programs have been given in this period. At least 2000 students have been active participants—most of them in several phases of theatre arts. A brief list of outstanding titles make up the honor roll of plays most frequently recalled with pride and pleasure: 'Candida,'

'The Royal Family,' 'Outward Bound,' 'Volpone,' 'Tom-tuffe,' 'Juno and the Paycock,' 'Noah,' 'Murder in the Cathedral,' 'School for Husbands,' ten plays of Shakespeare, 'The Little Foxes,' and 'The Father.'

Tours to Wellesley College and to the Schenectady Woman's Club, participation in the Yorktown Sesquicentennial Pageant, production of the Sixth Book of the "Aeneid" for the Alpha Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa to celebrate the Vergilian Bimillennium, period plays for Colonial Williamsburg, major roles and staff positions on "The Common Glory" by Paul Green, and the Institute of the Theatre in the summers of 1948-49-50 made possible by a grant from the General Education Board, are special events belonging to this organization.

With a loyal following of patrons in town and on the campus the William and Mary Theatre has always been self-supporting.

For six years, 1930 through 1935, the theatre conducted a tournament of one-act plays among high schools in Tidewater, Virginia. From 1947 to 1951 the annual Shakespeare play has been given for two extra nights to hundreds of high school students who come from this area.

In January 1949 the first production of "The Candidates," written in 1770 by Colonel Robert Mumford, was performed for a guest audience of historians, archivists, and theatre lovers. On December 13 and 14, 1950, "Here We Are" by Wilford Leach, class of 1949, was given its premiere, the first full-length play authored by a member of the William and Mary Theatre to be presented here.

ATHLETICS

T H E I N D I A N S

The fortunes of 1950 William and Mary football failed to follow the pattern set by recent Big Green elevens. For the first time in ten seasons, the Indian's final record was a losing one—four wins against seven defeats. It was the first McCray-coached team which failed to finish a winner.

This was just one of those years when no matter how injuries and a smile of fortune, it is doubtful that the Indians of 1950 could have been comparable to the bowlers of '47 and '48 and even last year's 6 and 4 eleven.

The Indians were led by Co-captains Joe Mark and Vito Ragazzo throughout the entire eleven-week campaign. Fullback Ed Magdziak carried the brunt of the offensive load and was voted the "most valuable" back. Defensive hard the team and coaches tried, the victories failed to come the W & M way. The Indians were 62 strong at Spring practice time and appeared able to cope with the long and grueling eleven-game schedule which was studded with such luminaries as Michigan State, Virginia, North Carolina and Wake Forest. But before the first kick-off, the squad was down to 42, and Co-captain Vito Ragazzo and Wingback Ed Weber had been injured. The injury to Weber hurt the team badly as it was never able to use the new "Y" formation. Then came the customary injuries which accompany every season, some minor and some major, but always crippling. But even with no in-

End Leon Goodlow was a standout the entire season and was named the "most valuable" lineman on the team. The triple-threat play of Tailback Dickie Lewis was prominent throughout the season, and was most promising for the 1951 edition of Big Green. Tackle Ronnie Gonier a 60-minute man, and Tackle John Kreamcheck formed the nucleus of the W & M forward wall. Other outstanding backs were Ed Mioduszewski, Paul Yewcic, and John Flanagan. John Kirk, Joe Megale, Ted Gehlmann, Bob McNamara, George Zupko, Tom Reinerth, Hilly Wilson, Don Layne and Russ Clements contributed greatly to the strength of the line.

COACHING STAFF

Coach R. N. (Rube) McCray, possessor of one of football's better coaching records, believes in supplying himself with ample aides in whom to entrust the responsibilities of molding strong young men into a polished football machine.

McCray, an old master from the school of single-wing, retains final say-so on coaching procedures, but does out specific coaching chores to men also well-versed in single-wing arts. Of the eight youthful assistants surrounding the head man, six spent their undergraduate days here at William and Mary and another is a graduate of Duke University, also a single-wing power.

Born in Greenville, Tenn., 45 years ago, McCray made the All-American basketball team as a scholastic and went on from there to become an outstanding three-sports star at Kentucky Wesleyan. Upon finishing at Kentucky Wesleyan he entered the highly competitive coaching field as head man at Tennessee Wesleyan. He never lost more than two ball games a season during a nine-year tenure there. Then he came to William and Mary as backfield coach, succeeding to the top job in 1944. Since that time McCray has piloted one Southern Conference championship club and sent teams to the Dixie and Delta Bowls.

Marvin Bass, head line coach and right-arm man to McCray, is a 1943 graduate of William and Mary and captained the 1942 conference champions. Considered one of the nation's most promising young coaches, the popular and affable "Moose" holds the distinction of having eight times been named to the Virginia All-State team, first at Petersburg High, then at W & M, and later at Richmond while serving with the Navy.

Eric Tipton, another Petersburg native and an alumnus of Duke, tutors the backs. McCray's one gripe on that score is that "Tip" is away playing baseball for St. Paul of the American Association until after fall practice begins. Tipton's punting and all-round play put Duke in the Rose Bowl and his football know-how is now being passed along to his backfield Indians.

HEAD COACH R. N. McCRAY

The man who carries on with the backfield before the arrival of "Tip" is Barney Wilson, a gentleman who triples as head of the physical education department and head basketball coach. Chief Rube relies most heavily on Wilson's excellent scouting tactics.

A 1950 addition to the W&M staff, Newell (Red) Irwin tutors the ends. He got first hand training for that job by playing the position with the great 1942 team.

Another former Indian great, Tom Mikula, helps out with the backfield, and especially concentrates his efforts among the blockers. A top-flight blocker himself, Mikula helped his team win its second conference championship in 1947.

Lou Hoitsma co-captained the 1948 team that finished the year as Delta Bowl champs. The great end coaches the frosh footballers. He received help from Buddy Lex.

Dick Simonson is the likeable trainer who also spent his collegiate life on the Reservation. William S. (Pappy) Gooch is business manager of athletics, the dean of athletic figures at W&M with 23 years service in the books.

If cheerleading had been the determining factor on the football field and on the basketball court, William and Mary teams would have had few blemishes on their records. Spirit and pep hit a new high at the Reservation this year. Responsible for this rejuvenation and vast improvement was the squad of cheerleaders under the supervision of Head Cheerleader Bob Boyd.

This group, which put in many long hours in gaining its goal, included Nancy Lee Hall, Martha Ann Hogshire, Rosie Dwyer, Dottie Bailey, Molly Weaver, Becky Roche, Bob Parker, Ed Pierce, Dave Wakefield and Roy Anderson. Not only did the cheering squad function at all home games, but it travelled to the V.M.I., North Carolina, Virginia and North Carolina State football games. They also added sparkle and color to the Tobacco Bowl Festival in Richmond.

Boyd and his squad set up the Pep Club, had more and better rallies, and stood behind all the athletic teams. With the Athletic Association and the coaching staff aiding the cheerleaders, the squad's task of improvement was greatly eased.

The cheerleaders did a remarkable job this year. Who will ever forget all the flips, the portable amplifier and that new cheer—"sound off . . . WILLIAM . . . sound off . . . MARY . . . sound off . . ."

PEP RALLIES

This year, led by the band and cheering squad, the students of William and Mary tied up traffic on "Jockey Corner," shook the walls of Phi Beta Kappa Hall, and trampled the new grass seed behind the Wren Building during their seven Pep Rallies given to inspire both the team and members of the college. The rallies before the Homecoming and Oyster Bowl games were sparked by bonfires in front of the stadium and snakelines through the streets and businesses of "Billsburg." As per usual, many of those in the struggling line just happened to drop from sheer exhaustion while going through the Corner or Middle Greek's.

In previous years, because of the apparent lack of interest and enthusiasm toward school functions, Bob Boyd, our Head Cheerleader, had become very discouraged. This year he sought to remedy this by the formation of the Pep Club. Like all good things, it started relatively small, but shows all indications of growing and making itself felt by everyone on Campus. Those in the Pep Club have a hard and thankless job. How many realize that someone had to spend entire afternoons gathering the wood used in the bonfires, or that others stayed up most of the night making signs for rallies and games?

The Pep Club is open to any and all students, so in future years it should grow in membership, importance, and prestige, until it reaches a level at least equal to the other interest groups on Campus.

In the opening game of the 1950 season, V.M.I. provided an indication of things to come by whipping the Indians 25-19. It marked the first loss against state opposition in a period covering ten years, during which W&M teams were victorious in 44 straight games against state competition. The Keydets, smarting from massacres of past seasons, scored in the final 60 seconds to win in the night game at Roanoke's Victory Stadium. Fullback Ed Magdziak tallied twice for the Indians, and Co-Captain Vito Ragazzo scored on a 62-yard pass play.

Against a strong, well-coached Cincinnati team, William and Mary played a spirited and determined game to defeat the Bearcats 20-14 at Cary Field. Behind 13-14 in the fourth period, a pass from Ed Mioduszewski to End

George Hefflin provided the Big Green with its winning margin. Aerials from Paul Yewcic to Ragazzo and from Mioduszewski to Yewcic had accounted for the two previous touchdowns. Defensive End Leon Goodlow was the outstanding lineman on the field.

But there was little joy in Williamsburg a week later when Wake Forest's Deacons exploded against the Indians with a 47-0 avalanche, and it was Homecoming, too. The defeat was the worst ever suffered by a McCray-coached team, and the first shutout since 1945. It also marked the first time that Ragazzo had failed to score in 12 games.

A crowd of 38,000 watched a dead-game, badly crippled William and Mary eleven battle Michigan State. a team rated eighth in the nation at the close of the season, all the way before losing 33-14 in Macklin Field Stadium. Ed Magdziak was the Tribe standout as he passed to Dickie Lewis for one TD, and it was his running which kept the Indians threatening throughout and earned him a position on the Spartan all-opponent team. Yewcic passed to Heflin for the final tally.

At Blacksburg the following Saturday, the Indians crushed Virginia Tech 54-0. Dickie Lewis and Magdziak led the Tribe as the team ran-up the largest score ever in the 25 year old feud. Lewis scored three times, Yewcic twice, Magdziak ran for one and passed for another, and Ed Weber tallied once.

The Big Green's winning ways were short lived, however, as an alert North Carolina eleven turned back the Indians at Chapel Hill 40-7. Tar Heel runs of 100, 83, 78, and 75 yards nullified the spirited play of the Tribe. An eight yard pass from Lewis to Ragazzo in the opening period provided W&M with its lone marker.

A field goal set the Indians back 16-14 for the fifth time of the season at Fenway Park against Boston University. Lewis and Magdziak scored the touchdowns for the Indians.

November 11, Armistice Day, the afternoon had finally come—William and Mary versus Virginia on the gridiron again after a lapse of 10 years. A record state throng of 33,000 witnessed the renewal in Scott Stadium as the Cavaliers defeated the Tribe 13-0 in a bruising game. The Indians had their chances as Lewis and Magdziak paved the way, but could not score.

Mark makes a hole for Lewis

Saturday number nine found the Big Green in Texas facing the University of Houston and absorbing a 36-18 setback. Lewis, Ragazzo and Weber accounted for the W&M touchdowns. Tackle John Kreamcheck stood out for his fine play in the line.

A freak storm of high winds, snow and freezing cold hit Norfolk as the Tribe, 14 point pre-game underdogs, completely stymied N.C. State in the Oyster Bowl to win 34-0. Lewis and Magdziak each scored twice and reeled off runs of over 80 yards. Weber had put W&M ahead with a touchdown in the first quarter. The entire team played well in defeating the Wolfpack.

The 1950 football season came to an end as the Indians routed Richmond 40-6 at Cary Field. Dominating the play throughout the game, the Big Green led 19-0 at halftime. Lewis led the scoring parade with two touchdowns, and Weber, Magdziak, Mioduszewski and Ragazzo followed with single tallies. It was another team victory as Co-Captains Joe Mark and Ragazzo, Goodlow, Magdziak, Guard John Kirk, Heflin, and Guard Bob McNamara played their final game for William and Mary.

Coach McCray with co-captains Mark and Ragazzo

Large gaps have been opened up in the Big Green line-up due to the loss of ten men by graduation. All were stellar performers and some have made many of football's mythical teams. These men will long be remembered for their fine contribution to William and Mary's football reputation, both in and out of the Southern Conference.

Gone are such men as Co-captains Vito Ragazzo and Joe Mark. Ragazzo was honored by being placed on the mythical All-Time Virginia team and holds a national record by being on the receiving end of fifteen touch-downs passes in one season. Also missed will be such stars as Leon Ace Goodlow, George Hefflin, Ted Gehmann, John Kirk, Ed Magdziak, Harry Hilling, Bob Finn and Bob McNamara. Several of these men were mentioned on the all-state and all-southern teams while performing for the Big Green.

These men will be hard to replace, and the Tribe will have to go far to exceed the performances of these players.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

The William and Mary freshman football team, under the tutelage of Lou Hoitsma, had its ups and downs this past season, and was unable to win until the last game of the year. Undertaking one of the most formidable schedules it has ever undertaken, its season's record shows one win and four losses. Several of these losses were real heart-breakers when the Papooses outplayed their opponents only to lose on fumbles, jitters, or bad breaks.

The young Indians opened their schedule by dropping a close, hard fought battle to the University of Maryland's Baby Terps by the score of 13-7. This was followed by the only big score run up on the little Braves, when after travelling to Wake Forest, the Frosh ran afoul of a strong freshman team of the Demon Deacons and went down to defeat to the tune of 32-7.

Making their first appearance of the season at Cary Field, the Papooses met the Blue Imps of Duke University. Playing on a wet field and during a rainstorm, the Imps emerged victorious 20-14, winning in the last quarter. Several long runs by halfback Bill Bowman kept the Little Green in the game all the way.

This was followed by an extremely tough loss to the Georgetown University freshmen by the score of 6-3. The Papooses outplayed the Hoyas but continuous fumbling was very costly.

In the last game of the season, the William and Mary stars of 1953 helped dedicate the Richard A. Parker Field for the University of Richmond and also celebrated their first victory. Playing good ball all the way, the Papooses defeated the Baby Spiders 13-0, with Buck Hines kicking two field goals and one extra point.

The Frosh showed a great deal of future talent this season. The line play of such men as Lou Corbett, Andy Rutherford, Jack Lewis, Carl Jesse, Steve Milkovitch, John Bednarik, Mel Hines, Tom Hamilton, Jack Rook, Bob Lusk, and George Parazzo was outstanding; in the backfield the play of Charley Sumner, Tommy Koller, Bill Bowman, George Herr, Danny Calabrese, Ed Saffko, and Swede Olson excelled.

Many things happened between the advent of the 1950-51 William and Mary basketball season and the close of it. Surprising things, mostly. Ardent and die-hard followers of the Indian cage sport for many years could see only gloom and despair lurking at every turn for the hardwood Braves.

They reasoned that Chet Giermak, the backbone of the club for four glorious years, was gone; that Jere Bunting, co-captain with Giermak, also had graduated; that the upcoming sophomores might be good basketball players, but they were most inexperienced; and that any number of misfortunes could befall the Indians because of these circumstances.

Coach Barney Wilson was hesitant to predict great things. He didn't know quite what to expect, either. One gathered from Coach Wilson's pre-season conversation that he harbored a sense of foreboding.

But a large part of the worries went down the drain when the team began winning. Co-captains Ed (Fuzz) McMillan and Bob Benjamin came through as hoped. Bitsy Lewis blossomed into a top defensive performer, and a couple of sophs and first line reserves filled in the gaps that built a winning combination.

B A S K E T B A L L

Nobody made anybody forget the great Giermak, but a lanky sophomore came forth shortly before mid-season to spark the Indians and contribute a 20-point per game total for the last 20 games. He was Bill Chambers, of Lynchburg, a six-foot-three, 180-pounder, who succeeded in shaking off the sophomore complex early enough to do some good.

All told, William and Mary battled a stiff schedule for 20 wins and 11 defeats. The slate included state, southern, eastern and mid-western opponents. Probably chief among the Tribe's accomplishments for the year was the 88-78 shellacking they handed North Carolina State's Southern Conference Champion Wolfpack. Those 88 points were the most ever scored against the 'Pack in a single game.

The Braves annexed the Virginia State and Big Six crowns along the way with an overall 10-1 mark within the Old Dominion. Triumphs came at the expense of Richmond, Washington and Lee and Virginia Military twice each, and Virginia Poly, Virginia, Hampden-Sydney and Randolph-Macon, once. The lone setback in the State was administered by VPI in Blacksburg, a three-point affair.

William and Mary went unbeaten on its home floor in Blow Gymnasium, racking up exactly half its wins at home. Two impressive victories over Hampden-Sydney and N. C. State came on neutral courts.

In the Southern Conference the Indians terminated regular season play with a 13-6 record, including wins over all members of North Carolina's Big Four, and Coach Wilson herded his boys off to Raleigh at tournament time for the fourth straight year. At Raleigh the basketweavers breezed through the first round with a scintillating thrashing of West Virginia, 88-67, setting a new tournament single-game scoring record.

The old second-round jinx that has plagued the Williamsburg boys in the past appeared again, however, and a jump shot by All-American Dick Groat in the final seconds gave Duke a 71-69 victory in the semi-finals.

McMillan and Chambers were honored by being named to the All-Tournament first team, McMillan unanimously. Both McMillan and Chambers were named to the Associated Press All-Virginia five.

In driving to a successful finish, the Redskins piled in the points at a 66.5 per game clip, at the same time limiting the opponents to 59.5 points per game. Chambers' seasonal mark of 17 points per game paced the individual performers. McMillan tossed in 13 markers per game. Chambers totaled 532 points on the season, McMillan added 398, Lewis chipped in with 242, Joe Agee had 221, Benjamin collected 171, and Jerry Harris rounded out the better-than-100 performers with 150. All members of the 15-man squad saw some action and all scored.

The 1950-51 season was highlighted by adventures into distant parts. The Indians opened the year with their first invasion of Madison Square Garden, there losing to St. John's, 63-47. Later they ventured into the midwest, whipping Marshall and Morris-Harvey and dropping decisions to Louisville and Cincinnati. After the conference tourney they went north again and lost a game to Villanova.

With the closing of the campaign, four William and Mary seniors completed their college careers. They were Co-captains McMillan and Benjamin, Lewis and Freddie Allen, a front-rank reserve all year.

Other members of the club who will return to the hardwood next year are Juniors Agee, Dick Forrest and Jim Butler; and Sophomores Chambers, Harris, Willie Clark, Howie McCallen, Pete Markos, Rhea Lazarus, Milton Maddox and Al Kersey.

Coach King and three 1954 All-Americans

Take one new coach and 20 hustling youngsters and what do you have? In this case, the finest freshman basketball team ever assembled on the Reservation. A team that took on all comers and won 14 of 16 games, losing the two by a total of eight points. The Papposes also scrimmaged the varsity under game-like conditions and lost by only eight points.

Hal King, tutoring frosh basketball at William and Mary for the first time, spent a good deal of the season trying to establish to his satisfaction just who among the brilliant 20 were the best five. At season's end, he still did not know. Through as much as half the season he used the platoon system, running a different five each quarter.

Many of the basketball freshmen were home-grown. From Portsmouth's Wilson High came Dick Savage, from Norfolk's Granby came Dave Berry and Bob Foxwell, from Williamsburg's Matthew-Whaley came Tam Stubbs, from Richmond's Benedictine came Herb Klapp, from Lynchburg's Glass came Bob Bailey and from Staunton Military Academy came Bruce Rhea.

Other performers with the twice-defeated outfit included Howard Bollerman, at six-eight the tallest man ever to wear the Indian colors, Chick Cornell, Lennie

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

Drake, Joe Hume, Warren Rutledge, Alan Canfield, Bill Patton, Paul Furlong, Dan Hopkins, Bill Maciowski, Claude Wertz and Bill Twomey.

For the 1950-51 Papposes, the word 'regular' meant any one of the top dozen or so men on the squad. Cornell, at center, led the evenly divided scoring for the year with 155 points, less than 10 points per game average. Only other men to break 100 were Klapp with 146 and Hume with 138. Drake and Bollerman threw in 92 each, Berry totaled 80, Savage got 74, Stubbs garnered 72, Foxwell made 63, and Rutledge had 58 to round out the top 10 scorers.

High point of the season came on a trek into the Tar Heel state. The Papposes coolly invaded the sanctity of North Carolina State's Reynolds Coliseum and made off with the collective scalps of the State frosh, an unheard of occurrence. To the Pappoose outfit, it was routine.

Among other conquests were the top service teams in the area and clubs from other schools. The freshmen played as a high-scoring unit that liked to run. Fast breaks, coupled with excellent outside shooting, produced a 72-point per game average. Varsity mentor Barney Wilson rubbed his hands with delight in anticipation of future varsity teams.

B A S E B A L L

Faced with an ambitious 1951 schedule and only a bare nucleus of returning veterans, Coach Howard Smith found himself in almost the same uncoveted situation that he had experienced the year before in his first season as head baseball coach.

Prospects, however, did loom a little better as the '51 campaign rolled around, what with eight lettermen on hand and a half dozen promising sophs up from the '50 yearling outfit. When Coach Smith greeted his first below normal support at the plate and in the field, managed to chalk up five wins against twelve defeats.

Only one Indian regular batted above .300 in 1950, he being Captain Olaf Hedman, with a .350 mark, an outfield mainstay for three seasons. Hedman also paced the club in runs batted in, seventeen, and home runs, four. There was much lineup juggling throughout the season, with the infield most often looking like Bob Ward, Paul Webb, Paul Yewcic and Ed Magdziak from first to team last year, he could sort out but six monogram wearers among an accumulation of diamond aspirants, and there were no upcoming freshmen from which to choose replacements for departed members. Especially lacking was the mound corps, which sported only one vet. He was Hi Wardwell, who carried the heaviest load and won two of the five games the Indians captured. Gone were such established hill artists as Bob Gill, Jim Stewart and Randy Mallory.

Coach Smith converted Eddie Watts, Ed Spencer and Paul Walzak into pitchers and added Bill Stone, who had hurled some ball two years before. That staff, with third, and the outfield variously including Captain Hedman, Jim Onove, Ken Maddox, Tommy Martin and Sam Lupo. Yewcic, Harry Hilling and Larry Crum handled the backstopping duties.

The five William and Mary victories of 1950 were over Norfolk Naval Air Station, 5-4 and 11-10, Virginia Military Institute, 17-5, Washington and Lee, 6-3, and Apprentice School, 19-5.

As Coach Smith locked over his 1951 candidates, he noticed that Hilling and Martin had departed school for military duty, with other front line men standing in danger of a like fate before completion of the campaign.

Coach Howard M. Smith

Magdziak and Webb

First base was vacant with the graduation of Ward, the whole outfield needed rebuilding, the pitching staff stood in need of at least two more first line men and the catching department was sadly depleted.

Practice time, indoor at first, rolled around in the early spring of 1951 and Coach Smith busied himself with the task of shaping a potential winning club. First he set to work with his pitchers, Wardwell, Watts and Walzak back for their last year, and counting heavily on two newly-turned sophomores, Al Kersey and Jimmy Carter. Only game experience would tell if they measured up to varsity calibre, the two sorely needed starters.

Maddox, who came from high school a first baseman but played outfield last year, showed promise of moving back to the initial sack and handling it properly. Larry Fones offered competition. Sophomores Ed Mioduszewski and Bob Mitchell showed up to lend battle to Captain Webb and Magdziak for infield berths. Reserve Henry Moughamian and Transfer Joe Agee also pitched in to make the bid for starting positions a keen one.

In the outfield, it appeared that Magdziak, Yewcic and Hardy Cofer, another hard-hitting second-year prospect, might land the first-string jobs, with all the infield reserves as possible replacements.

Jimmy Smith, out all last season with a knee injury, was back in uniform for a try at catching, and Julius Poms, a soph., was also giving the backstop duties a go.

All in all, the horizon loomed brighter in 1951 than it did in 1950 and a winning season appeared at least possible. Coach Smith, not given to undue optimism, was nevertheless hopeful of things to come. His chief hope and at the same time chief cause for worry was the development of the glittering sophomores, who the year before had run up an impressive freshman record against the better area opponents.

The 1950 edition of the William and Mary Golf team in all probability will be the winningest Indian team for the second year in a row.

Last year's swingers dropped only two matches out of twelve encounters and the prospects for an undefeated season this year are very high.

The linksmen will tee off against fifteen topflight opponent including Navy's Eastern Intercollegiate Champions and the Southern Intercollegiate Champions of Wake Forest; the schedule also includes matches with such formidable opponents as Cornell, Amherst, Maryland, Virginia, and North Carolina State.

Five lettermen will form the nucleus of the squad and with the help of several promising sophomores should easily keep things well in hand.

Last year's top three players Doug Weiland, Mark McCormack, and Jim Weeks, along with little Freddy Allen and long-hitting Lloyd Adams are the five monogram winners; they will receive strong aid from senior Bob Epstein, junior Bob Sessions, and sophomore Larry Stewart.

William S. "Pappy" Gooch will coach the fairwaymen through their longest and most rugged schedule in history; a schedule that also includes such teams as

JIMMY WEEKS

Weeks, Weiland, McCormack, Allen

Washington and Lee, VMI, Georgetown, VPI, George Washington, Richmond, and Randolph-Macon.

Weiland, a senior from Phoenixville, Pennsylvania, who had an average of 75.1 last year, will be one of the toughest competitors in the nation this season. He was the medalist in the Philadelphia Amateur, and runner-up for the Pennsylvania State High School Championship in 1947. He is also the holder of the Williamsburg Inn Course Record with a sizzling 66.

McCormack, also a senior, hails from the windy city of Chicago, and has been called one of the most promising amateurs in the Midwest. His 74.1 average was the best on the team last year as was his won-loss record, where he was only defeated twice in twelve matches. He finished sixth in the Midwest Amateur last summer and is co-holder of a course record in Michigan with Joe Kirkwood Jr., having shot a seven under par 64.

Weeks, a 25-year old veteran from Roanoke, Virginia, is one of the toughest men on the squad to beat. "Snake", who hits as long a ball as has ever been hit in this part of Virginia, boasted a 76.2 average last season and shares with Norfolk's Lloyd Adams the title of the father of the golf team.

Allen, a junior from the Blue Grass State of Kentucky, is the youngest member of the squad. A sturdy competitor in the National Junior for the past three years his early-spring golfing is usually hampered by the fact that he is a member of the varsity basketball team until the middle of March.

These men round out the core of what will undoubtedly be the most powerful golf team in the history of William and Mary.

As Coach Lou Hoitsma begins his second year at the helm of the W&M cindermen, he faces the problems of replacing Co-Captains Sam Lindsay and Clyde Baker, Dick Scofield, and Bill Garrison, star distance and middle distancemen who ran roughshod over state opposition for three years. Also lost via graduation are the Rosenfeld twins from the sprints, weightman Don Ryan and high jumper Cecil Moore.

Several more men on whom Coach Hoitsma had counted for points this year have dropped out of school. However, the 1951 team should exhibit better balance than last year's team, which won two dual meets and lost five, despite the efforts of the best distance corps in recent Virginia history.

Co-Captain-elect Bob Lawson will take up much of the slack in the distances, aided by Bill Simonson, Tex Hopkins, Leo Spencer, Dave Berend and John Barry. John Munger, a sophomore, looks like a potential star in the 440 and half-mile, while Pete Brady and Bill Allison should be the top sprinters.

Irv Rascob, the other Co-Captain-elect, will be around to head the broad jumpers, and Bob Batchelder and Jim Kelly return for the 440 and relay. Tyler Deierhoi, Bob Landen and Mont Linkenauger will provide the high jumping.

Shot-putter Tom Burke showed promise last spring, and should be the top weightman this year, with Dick Forrest and Bill Wilson looked to for points in the discus. Roy Meredith will probably hold forth alone in the pole vault, as will Ed Aubin in the javelin throw.

Hurdlers fighting for points will be Dwight Babcock, Bill Farley and Bob Landen, while Coach Hoitsma hopes for added help in the sprints from some of the football backs. The team has nine dual meets scheduled, opening against the Apprentice School, and following up against Hampden-Sydney, Randolph-Macon, VPI, VMI, Virginia, Richmond, North Carolina State and W&L. The Big Six and Southern Conference Meets offer top competition for the better trackmen on the squad.

William and Mary tried a new formula this year, when senior Bob "Bullet" Lawson was appointed student coach of the cross-country team. Under his able tutelage, the harriers posted a 4-4 record, finishing third in the Big Six and seventh in the Southern Conference Meets.

Lawson ran number one, pressed closely by soph John Munger. Junior transfer Dave Berend turned out to be a steady number three man. The next four positions resulted in a season-long dogfight between co-captains Bill Simonson and Hugh DeSamper, and Leo Spencer and Tex Hopkins. Results in the meets were so varied that no definite numerical positions could be determined.

George Southwell, Don Darnton and Mark Eubank completed the squad.

High points of the season were the Tribe's upset win in the Davidson-Virginia triangular, the consecutive shut-out victories over Richmond and Randolph-Macon, and Lawson's fifteenth place finish in the Southern Conference Meet, which earned him an eight-inch trophy.

The harriers will lose Lawson, Simonson, DeSamper and Hopkins through graduation. Their places are expected to be filled by Bob Larsen, Graham Palmer, Kingsley Allen, John Barry and Pete Brady, mainstays of the freshman team that won three meets and lost one. Palmer pulled a big surprise in the State AAU Meet, finishing fourth in a field of 60 junior division runners.

VARSITY TENNIS

A new coach, a new winning streak, and several new faces will mark the beginning of the 1950-51 William and Mary tennis team. Last year saw the longest winning streak ever recorded in intercollegiate athletics—82 consecutive wins—snapped at the hands of a strong Miami team. The team still ended up second in the conference, while losing matches to North Carolina and Duke. They won ten matches, including victories over powerful Cornell and Davidson.

This year the job of guiding the team will be taken over by Hal King, an alumnus of William and Mary who replaces Bren Macken. The team again faces a strong schedule, meeting such schools as Cornell, Princeton and Miami.

Gone is the number one man, Howe Atwater and moving into this position will be the capable Tommy Boys. "Dugan" is a tournament-wise junior and last season was ranked number four in the Conference. During the summer he received valuable experience and is a nationally ranked doubles player. He should be the top ranking player in the South this year.

Also in line for much of the singles duty is Captain Ronnie Barnes. He will add strength in the singles and he and Boys teamed together will be tough to handle in the doubles. George Larkin swings a good racket and will help in giving the Big Green strength down the line. The team will be rounded out by such men as El' Richards, Lou Compo, Terry Mahloy, Wes Richardson, Roy Slezak and George Gondelman. These men will attempt to start a new winning streak for the William and Mary tennis team.

SWIMMING

Swimming stock took a big jump during the 1951 season, as the tankmen won three meets—more than the past two years combined—and dropped five. While this is not an outstanding record, Coach Howard Smith's men were much stronger down the line, and had the spirit of champions.

Victories were over Randolph-Macon, 48-27, Davidson, 38-37, and a forfeit win over George Washington, Duke, N. C. State, VMI, VPI, and Washington and Lee downed the Indians. The W&L loss was a 38-37 heartbreaker—so close, yet so far.

Free-styler Vic Janega was the top man of the team, scoring over 65 points to take the high point trophy with ease. Senior Vic was beaten only once in his specialty, the 100-yard dash, and also added many points in the 60 besides anchoring the 400 relay every meet.

Dick Forbes, distance swimmer, Charlie Smith, breast-stroker, and Bryan Kent, backstroker, all up from the Norfolk Division this year, added considerable strength to the squad.

Much improvement was shown by soph Norm Risjord, who took over in the backstroke, an unfamiliar event, and worked until he became a steady pointmaker. Improvement was also shown by sophs Don Woulfe, Scotty Petrequin, John Kris and Ray Peck. Coach Smith looks to four members from the freshman team to help out next winter—sprinters Jim Duff and Pete Crenier, diver Bob Wallace, and breaststroker Joel Blenden.

The nine members of the team who received letters for the season were Captain Ed Friedman, Janega, seniors, and underclassmen Forbes, Risjord, Kent, Joe Hawkins, Tom Burke, Jim Stone, and Petrequin.

A new high in the number of events listed on the intramural calendar helped to make this year's season one of the finest and most varied ever offered at the College. Sixteen activities including four not previously held—place-kicking, badminton, individual bowling and individual golf—along with the stand-by handball, tennis, volleyball, softball, table tennis, horseshoes and others made up the agenda.

Sigma Rho retired the Athletic Supremacy Trophy last year by winning a third and final leg. A new trophy is being vied for now.

M U R A L S

Doug Weiland was the first individual winner, copping the place-kicking tourney. Sigma Rho again won the touch football flag behind the league's most valuable player, Paul Webb, defeating both SAE and PiKA in a playoff after the regular season had ended in a triple tie. SAE also retained its swimming title although closely pressed by KA and Theta Delt. These events keynoted the leaders in early season's play.

With the large number of events listed in all sports, individual and keen competition were the by-words for the very successful 1950-'51 year.

Joint Committee of the Women's Athletic Association

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Below: Intramural Representatives
Bottom: Managers' Board

The Women's Athletic Association, composed of faculty members and women students, provides a planned program of sports at William and Mary. A joint committee conducts all business and promotes intramural and varsity competition. The intramural program enables every girl to participate in many sports, while varsity activities are limited to five: hockey, basketball, swimming, fencing, and tennis.

Mike Warfield served as president of the Women's Athletic Association for 1950-51. Point recorder was Katie Byers, while Bebe Hammond and Doris Hamilton served as secretary and member ex-officio respectively. These officers work with a faculty committee headed by Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts to direct the activities of the Women's Athletic Association.

Monograms are given to students for sufficient participation on varsity teams and for varied participation in intramural sports.

Coached by Miss Martha Barksdale, and managed by Anna Inge, the Squaw basketball team ended its 1951 season with four wins, six losses, and one tie.

Bebe Fisher, for the second season, captured the scoring honors, averaging twenty points a game. Shirley Haabestad, a newcomer to the squad, showing great promise, secured the runner-up position.

Betty Riggins, captain of the team, stole the spotlight in the guard division, because of her timely interception plays.

The squad, composed mostly of sophomores, produced a see-saw record, but capped the season by winning its last two games, downing Manhattansville College and Notre Dame of Maryland, 39-28, and 55-42, respectively.

The William and Mary varsity Hockey Team coached by Miss Marion Reeder, began the 1950 season with an 11-2 loss inflicted by Madison College.

Tink Bell led her team in losses against Beaver College, 7-1, Ursinus College, 5-0, and Westhampton, 4-1. Although losers in all four of their games the squaws gained needed experience and played good hockey.

In the Virginia State Hockey tournament, held at Sweet Briar, the varsity played Sweet Briar, losing by a score of 6-0, and the Allied West Team, composed of girls from Hollins, Randolph-Macon, and Sullins College, and were downed 3-1. The final game of the season resulted in a victory for the co-eds against R.P.I. by a score of 9-1.

The 1951 co-ed varsity tennis schedule will begin on April 28 when the Squaws travel to Sweet Briar. Following this game they will participate in the Middle States Tennis tournament to be held in Philadelphia on May 4, 5, and 6. On May 12 William and Mary will play hostess to the Westhampton team. Matches with Manhattansville, Mary Washington, Madison, and Notre Dame have yet to be arranged.

Headed by Mrs. Evelyn King of the Women's Physical Education Department, the well-organized women's intramural program promoted much inter-group competition and sportsmanship in 1950-51.

The tennis tournament opened the intramural program in October. Kappa Delta, Pi Beta Phi, and Ludwell won in their league and competed for the championship. Ludwell defeated Pi Phi in the finals for first place, while Pi Phi was victorious over Kappa Delta for second place. The third team league winner was Chi Omega, while Kappa won in the fourth team league and Theta was the fifth team winner. In the final tabulation of points Pi Phi was at the top of the list with Kappa and Ludwell close behind.

Kappa Softballers

According to points Kappa was the overall winner in intramural basketball while Jefferson was the runner-up.

In the open tournaments sponsored by the WAA, five sports were contested. In field hockey, Jefferson and Barrett were winners in their leagues. Didi Harris became the new ping pong champion as she defeated Beth Forester, the runner-up. The badminton tourney was played in February with fifty-nine contestants. Sarah Dean Spangler took first place in this tournament by defeating Penny Hutchinson. Archery and fencing were battled off in the spring in open competition.

Swimming and softball were contested in organized dormitory and sorority leagues in March and April.

The fall of 1950 saw a new organization established on campus with the purpose of promoting student interest, spirit, and support of college activities. Under Bob Boyd, the Pep Club sponsored such activities as pep rallies, dances, movies, and served as a nucleus cheering section. Membership is obtained by application. Officers for the club are: president, Tex Willingham; vice-president, Magee Hult; secretary, Marilyn Ellsworth; and treasurer, Dick Fowler.

Orchesis, under the direction of Miss Lorna Burdsall, offers an opportunity for work in modern dance on a higher level than in the classes and tries to stimulate appreciation for the art. The annual recital was held in March, consisting of a variety of numbers composed by the director and the members.
