Let this recall to all the yesteryear at William and Mary. To you who were participants of the campus life and to you at war who had only faint recollections or future dreams of the traditions, the 1945 COLONIAL ECHO is dedicated. When the present is sought in the future let this be the instrument of your recollections.

ADMINISTRATION

BOARD OF VISITORS

J. GORDAN BOHANNAN
Rector

The William and Mary Board of Visitors was headed by Rector Gordan Bohannan, assisted by Herbert Foreman, vice rector. This group of outstanding Virginians, appointed by the Governor, came from different parts of the state. They are Dr. Claude Coleman, Channing Hall, Otto Lowe, Francis Miller, Oscar Shewmaker, Robert Vaden, George Shackelford, Jr., and Mrs. Norman T. McManaway. Charles Duke, Jr., was secretary, and Dabney S. Lancaster, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, was member ex-officio. As a state-owned college, William and Mary has been placed under control of the Board which formerly owned it. Five times yearly the board meets to elect the faculty members, approve the funds, and consider college policies. To this active group the College of William and Mary owes its well-established, well-organized existence.

Seated: Foreman, McManaway, Pomfret, Bohanan, Darden, Bryan, Shewmaker, Coleman.
Standing: Duke, Lowe, Vaden, Shackelford.

SIR CHRISTOPHER WREN BUILDING

PRESIDENT OF THE COLLEGE

President Pomfret attends the play.

John Edwin Pomfret, president of the College, began his career as a leader in the field of education with a Bachelor of Arts Degree from the University of Pennsylvania. The following two years he remained at Pennsylvania for his Masters Degree. In 1928, he obtained his degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

At the University of South Carolina, Dr. Pomfret became Professor of History. He was next an Instructor in History at Princeton University. There he became first an Assistant Professor of History and then an Associate Professor. Later he was appointed Dean of Senior College and Graduate School at Vanderbilt University.

Dr. Pomfret held the position of the Fellowship Secretary for the Social Science Research Council, is a member of the American History Association, Southern Historical Association, Pennsylvania Historical Association, Association of Southern Graduate Deans, a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, a member of Phi Beta Kappa, and winner of the Tailteann Award of the Irish Free State for non-fiction in 1932.

THE PRESIDENT'S HOME

PRESIDENT

DR. JOHN E. POMFRET

Our President, Dr. John Edwin Pomfret, has won in his three years on campus a warm spot in the heart of each student. As a friend, as a faithful advisor, and as a great leader, he has made his place in our community. Known on and beyond our campus as an outstanding authority on education, author of several books, and receiver of numerous honors, he has served his country as well as his students.

ADMINISTRATION

The responsibility of orientation, regulation and future plans for the college lies with the administration headed by our president, Dr. John E. Pomfret. Dr. James E. Miller, Dean of the Faculty; Dr. George H. Armacost, Acting Dean of Men; Dr. Grace Warren Landrum, Dean of Women; Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts, Assistant Dean of Women; Dr. Earl Gregg Swem, Librarian Emeritus; Dr. Dudley W. Woodbridge, Acting Dean of Jurisprudence; Miss Kathleen Alsop, Registrar; Vernon L. Nunn, Auditor; Dr. Sharvey Umbeck, Acting Assistant Dean of Men; Miss Margaret Galphin, Acting Librarian, and Charles Duke, Bursar, are the members of the administration of the College of William and Mary in Virginia.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

As always, a vital part of the curriculum of the College of William and Mary was the Student Government. Its goal has been to bring the faculty and the student body into closer unity and to promote a better understanding between them, but since the beginning of the war it has had the additional duty of taking the lead in campus war activities. This task was performed by the General Cooperative Committee, the Senate, and the Assembly, in conjunction with the Women Students' Cooperative Government, and the joint Honor Councils.

The main legislative body was the General Cooperative Committee, headed by President John E. Pomfret, through which all suggestions introduced by the student body pass before becoming effective. The General Cooperative Committee was composed of the following: the President of the College, four Faculty members, the Executive Secretary of the Alumni Association, the Senate, the President of Inter-Fraternity Council, President of Pan-Hellenic Council, and the Editor of the "Flat Hat."

The Senate was made up of the presidents of the Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, and Senior Classes, the president and vice-president of the Men's Honor Council, the president of W. S. C. G. A., and the chairman of Women's Honor Council, chairman of Judicial Council, and the president of the Student Body. Its chief duty was to represent the Assembly at all the meetings of the Cooperative Committee.

The Assembly was composed of three men and three women from the Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes, and the ten members of the Senate. Once a month thirty-four students met in the Wren Building as members of the Assembly to introduce and discuss problems that presented themselves during the school year concerning the welfare of the Student Body as a whole. Many things were accomplished by Student Government in the past year. A club point system was introduced by the Assembly, and after much discussion, an Inter-Club Council was formed. A member of the Assembly was elected chairman, and the president of each organization in the council served on this committee. The council set up a standard of rules for the clubs to follow throughout the year.

Another committee was formed by the Assembly to take care of all complaints made about the dining hall and soda shop.

In the future, there will be a Men's Inter-Dormitory Council. Its members will be the presidents of the men's dormitories. A chairman will be elected, and he will be equivalent to the chairman of the Women's Judicial Committee.

These and many other tasks were accomplished by Student Government. In this manner these organizations separately and collectively worked to promote good conduct and behavior, honesty, fellowship, and leadership, the ideals which tend to make better men and women of our students.

WOMEN STUDENT'S COOPERATIVE GOVERNMENT

The Women Students' Cooperative Government Association was organized because women students wanted a greater voice and responsibility in the conduct of their affairs. The aim has been to make the community of the college a better and happier place in which to live. Such aims which involve a large group cannot be accomplished without the cooperation of every member. Thus the woman student, as a member, assumes an individual responsibility in carrying out the ideals and principles of student government.

The work of the organization is carried on by three councils: the Executive Council, the Judicial Committee, and the Honor Committee, together with the aid and advice of the Faculty and the Administration. The Faculty and Administration Committee consisted this year of Dr. Charles T. Harrison, Dr. Charles F. Marsh, and Dr. Harold R. Phalen.

On the first Monday of every month, the women students gather in Phi Beta Kappa Hall at seven o'clock for the regular meeting of the organization. Eleanor Harvey, president of the Women Students' Cooperative Government, conducted the business of the meetings and introduced various representative speakers of the clubs, war activity groups, and other campus organizations. The Representatives-at-large pass out attendance slips and paper for voting to the students as they enter the meeting.

Eleanor Harvey, as president of the Executive Council, was ably assisted by Edith Harwood, vice-president; Gunesh Guran, secretary; Pat Jones, treasurer; and Pam Pauly, Jane Eversmann, and Shirley Sprague as representatives-at-large. This year, as is the custom, delegates were sent to the annual meeting of the Southern Collegiate Association of Student Government which was held at Duke University, and these returned to give the women students an interesting account of the trip and of the various problems and aspects of college life which were discussed. Studies and comparisons were made of the different student government organizations of the colleges.

At the beginning of the year, all women students are required to take a test on the rules and regulations of the Women Students' Co-operative Government Association, which enables the association to be certain of giving each girl the opportunity to learn the rules of the College and thus be better able to comply with them. During orientation week, new students are divided into study groups with upperclassmen as advisors and sponsors. These groups are also conducted to the nine sorority houses during the course of the week.

The Judicial Committee has as its function the interpretation of the college rules and the responsibility of dealing with any violations. But this is not its only purpose. During each year the Committee makes a thorough study of the current regulations and suggests certain changes in them to meet changing conditions, to eliminate any undue restraint, and to clarify as far as possible the meaning of the rules. If approved by the administration, these revisions are voted upon by the students and are then embodied in the rule book for the next year. The Judicial Committee in this way attempts to see that each rule has a clear reason for existence and that the regulations are made as simple and as fair as possible.

Virginia Lee was chairman of the Judicial Committee, with Jerrie Healey as secretary, Dorothy Scarborough as the junior member, Susie Seay as sophomore member, Barbara Davis as freshman, and Jean Beazley and Grace Duvoisin as representatives-at-large. Presidents of the large dormitories automatically become members of the Committee. They have charge of the house rules and regulations and are assisted by committees which they choose. These committees include the hall proctors, who keep the halls quiet and assist in fire drills, vice-house presidents, and the fire chiefs. House presidents conduct the house meetings and in general see that things are kept in smooth running order. Repeated house rule violations are taken care of by the Judicial Committee as social rule violations. Jean Taylor was president of Chandler,

The Honor System which was adopted in 1779 has come to be a most important element in student government, and is one of the most distinguished priorities of the College of William and Mary. Upon entering the College, students automatically become members of the Honor System, are instructed in the principles of the Code, and are asked to sign a pledge stating that the Code is understood and that it will be upheld. With the new responsibilities that it entails, equally important privileges are gained which greatly add to the student's feeling of freedom, particularly during examination periods. Breaches of the Honor Code are stealing, lying, cheating, and failure to report an offense, and are punishable by dismissal from college. It is therefore necessary that all students become thoroughly acquainted with the Code so that it will not be violated through ignorance, for violation causes injury to the character, the reputation, and the future of the student. The success of the Honor System depends upon the support of each student, for it is always the Student Body which must suffer by the disgrace of any of its members.

Sunny Manewal headed the Honor Committee this year as chairman, assisted by Jan Freer, secretary; Nellie Greaves and Virginia Darst, senior members; Barbare Nycum and Ann Vineyard, junior members; and Nancy Easley, sophomore member.

Despite the greatly increased number of women students, the Women Students' Cooperative Government Association has carried out its work efficiently and effectively throughout the year, and has risen to the occasion many times to solve the problems with which it has been confronted.

BUSINESS STAFF

Each semester begins with a bang for the Business Staff. Freshmen, the new blood of the staff, spend hours sending subscription blanks to respective parents. Meanwhile, older staff members are busy getting semester contracts. Most of the staff can relax again until renewal of these contracts in February. A few are assigned weekly ads and spend Friday and Saturday getting those. By the time you're a Junior or Senior member of the staff, you've gotten used to the "but we have nothing to sell, so why advertise?" line, and keep in there punching, though it is discouraging at times. Saturday at one o'clock the list and size of the ads for the next issue must meet the deadline. Tuesday afternoon and evening are spent checking copy and rushing proofs of ads to the advertisers for final approval. One more issue goes to press and the work begins again.

CIRCULATION STAFF

Each week the FLAT HAT is distributed to approximately one thousand students at the college dormitories, and to the faculty and administration officers.

A staff of eight, headed by the Circulation Manager, wraps and mails each issue to two hundred and fifty outside subscribers including the alumni, advertising concerns, parents, and other colleges.

This year complimentary copies were mailed to former William and Mary students who are now serving in the armed forces.

Another wartime yearbook, the 1945 COLONIAL ECHO, has been achieved with work, headaches, and long hours. Marion Lang, editor-in-chief, had the task of coordinating the work of the Class staff, the Organizations staff, the Art staff, and the Make-up staff. She bore the brunt of the confusion when the copy wasn't sent to the printer on time, when the proofs didn't arrive from the printer on schedule, when the little mistakes were found. Joan Parker, associate editor, assisted in every possible way. The junior editors also proved able assistants.

Sue McGeachin led the work of the Organizations staff. She found out from the Business staff of the ECHO just how much space to allot for each organization's write-up. Her staff collected the write-ups and membership lists for each picture, and even wrote some of the copy. Sue saw that the organization pictures were scheduled and taken, and she helped to compose the captions beneath the pictures.

The Class staff, headed by Monie Price, had charge of all the class and sorority pages. They collected statements of the senior activities for the senior pages, and typed and checked all this copy. Monie was responsible for seeing that these pages, with the pictures, were sent to the engraver.

Glo Rankin, Art editor, did the drawing for the yearbook. Bill Wright, assisted by Lee Lively, was responsible for all the photography in the yearbook.

The make-up staff, under Deeks Phipps, checked and edited all the copy. This included "cutting" the copy when it was too long, "padding" it when it was too short, and counting each and every little character that went into the yearbook. This staff typed the final copies of the write-ups and it, too, wrote a few on its own.

Mr. Wayne Gibbs, financial adviser, was always ready with friendly advice. His aid was invaluable.

The annual was begun with close cooperation among the editors in weekly meetings. At these meetings, the important decisions as to the theme, the cover, and the dedication were made. Here, too, it was decided to reinstate the Beauty section, omitted for a year, and the judges were decided upon. Clever ideas were evolved for action pages. The lay-outs were planned by the editors, and then each editor turned to his staff and began the actual work of getting out a COLONIAL ECHO to compete with the fine work of past years.

Copy was assigned to writers in the different organizations and classes, and pictures were scheduled. Then the copy and pictures were chased for weeks. "I'll get it in tomorrow—or the next day—or maybe next Tuesday," became the all-too-familiar chant. With cooperation, material was accumulated on schedule and the typists began. Counting words and letters, the workers "made 'em fit" into the lay-outs.

The COLONIAL ECHO cameraman popped up at every big and little occasion to take pictures. Action pictures, romantic pictures, organization pictures—busy Bill got them all. The pictures were "cropped," in the vernacular, or cut so that only the required material showed. Then they were sent to the engraver, who sent back the proofs in plenty of time, though the staff had watched the mail anxiously for days before they were due.

BUSINESS STAFF

All of the business transactions and financial matters for the "1945 COLONIAL ECHO" were managed by Norma Keith Bradshaw. The work was easily accomplished because of the cooperation of the twenty-nine members of her staff. There were short but detailed meetings once a week at which time the various duties and phases of the work were designated to different members.

As in past years, the most important duty was the procedure for photograph appointments which included compiling a schedule of appointments for every student and a few professors, making certain that appointments were kept, and collecting money for the pictures. Other jobs included ordering pictures from the photographer, collecting money from the organizations on campus, issuing the COLONIAL ECHOs, and mailing ECHOs to those students who left college during the year to join the service.

Mingled with the duties of the staff, however, were times for fun! During the week that the pictures were being taken and the work was at its height, the photographer, Mr. Chidnoff, entertained some of the members at a dinner at the Williamsburg Lodge.

Much credit for the accomplishments of the Business Staff should be given to Barbara "Nicky" Nycum and Inez "Tommy" Smith, the assistants to the Business Manager, and to Mr. Gibbs for his helpful advice. The entire staff, consisting largely of freshmen, was always united by the feeling that they were working together to perform one important duty—the work of the Business Staff.

Deeks working with Make-up staff.

Organizations staff busy.

With flying colors, the staff met the April 1 deadline for getting copy to the printer. A collective sigh of relief was breathed and the staff settled back to wait for the proofs to trickle in. Sessions of proofreading followed—checking and double-checking: "Are you sure you spell Smith with an 'i'?" "Who is this Qwtpioeting character?" "My gosh, they've left out a full line of copy—I thought that looked funny!"

Days passed, weeks passed; the ECHO staff found out how it felt not to slave on Saturday afternoons and Tuesday nights—it was fun, but they missed the pleasant agony of wondering "when will we ever get those pictures?" Finally, the completed ECHO arrived. The Business staff distributed it. The Editorial staff admired it. Both felt the thrill of seeing the final edition. We presented it, with a prayer, to you.

The new "Royalist" celebrated its first birthday this year, and the general consensus was that its first steps were firm ones. We missed Mr. Jones' Advanced Composition class which contributed much of the material last year, but Mr. Jones again aided us untiringly with suggestions, criticism, and enthusiasm which was appreciated more than we can say. The A. S. T. P., which was disbanded, was also missed in its contributions, but the men students were nevertheless well represented. To stimulate student interest and contributions, our budget allowed us money for prizes. Eyecatching posters on campus advertised the contest now and again, and "The Flat Hat" cooperated in reminding the students. The judges for the January issue were Dr. John E. Pomfret as chairman, and Dr. Edgar Foltin, Dr. George Ryan, Mr. Thomas Thorne, and Miss Arlene Murray as judges from the faculty. Eleanor Harvey and Bill Williams acted as representatives of student opinion. They all were very helpful in giving their time and effort to award the ten dollar first prizes and five dollar second prizes in the fields of both prose and poetry.

We enjoyed our meetings which had their lighter and more serious moments. We exchanged magazines with various other colleges, and, after chortling over the quips and cartoons in "The Harvard Lampoon" and "The Log," we turned our attention back to the publications which had more emphasis on literary expression. For, after all, that is the policy and purpose of the "Royalist," as the sole outlet for the serious literary voice of the College of William and Mary. Our aim, therefore, is to represent that portion of the student body which experiments in creative writing, and to provide something of reading interest to everyone in the College.

Regular meetings of the literary staff were held at five o'clock in the Publications Office. Here we gathered around our two or three tables, the early comers being able to sit on our half-a-dozen chairs, and proceeded. The manuscripts, which were submitted to members of the staff or placed in the "Royalist" box in the Registrar's Office in Marshall-Wythe, were read by each and every one of us. The authors' names were obliterated, and the manuscripts were criticized by number in order to avoid prejudice or embarrassment when discussing the work of a staff member present. The staff kept written records of their opinions, and as the deadline drew near, we decided from these which were most worthy of publication from the standpoint of excellence of writing, form, content, and style. We were happy to note that every class was represented in contributing and in actual printing, even including a play by Mildred Oliver, who was a member of the class of '45, but who graduated in the summer session through acceleration. F E A T U R E S

It is with extreme pleasure that the 1945 Colonial Echo presents to you the five beauties selected from among the women students at the College of William and Mary. Three girls from each dormitory and one from each sorority house were selected by popular vote. The final selection of the Queen of Beauty and her four attendants was made this year by the staff of the Lucky Bag at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. We present to you the Beauties.

Beta Lambda Chapter

Well . . . there goes 1944-45. Just like every other year, it's been the BEST year. Fun . . . yes!!! With Sheila, our president, on hand as subtle prankster . . . and Aud "Ma Hudge" running around collecting pledges . . . and incidentally . . . Navy wings, men, and such . . . Gloria, juggling the budget and giving the word on the Seventh Air Force . . . Spooker, our eensiest, teensiest brainchild . . . Spanish Club Prexy, Marge Maroney (Yes, I DID make my bed this morning, Marge!) . . . Ruthie, of "Flat Hat" fame, who keeps the house in red roses . . . Ginny, off to wedding bells and Bill . . . Jeanne hostessing over Theta parties in true Southern style . . . Martha, the five-day boarder—(What's Norfolk got, Martha?) . . . Annis, the campus cutie—she's "just wild about Harry" . . . Would-be-grad, Barb, who left us for the pots and pans . . . Joyce and Patty conducting W'msburg tours—no wonder the sailors didn't look at the restoration! . . . Tillie, third of the trio, stepping lively for Dance Club . . . Harriet, of the tall Texas tales and snafued love affairs . . . Woody, alias Schaherezade, dividing her time between accounting lab and Bob . . . Petite haired Marnie, boy, is she chic!!! . . . pink-cheeked Joan, pulling down intramural honors . . . Dotty, the decorator, with plenty of oomph behind that demure manner . . . Sug, hair-cutter and rug-cutter supreme . . . Perk and Eleanor, our future Powers models . . . Sally, relinquishing her place as chapter baby to the freshmen . . . Marge, the "Cornflakes kid" . . . Mimi, taking time off from dining and dancing to collect her nine letters a day . . . followed closely by Dot (one letter a month) Shinn—don't sulk, Skin, there's always the movies) . . . Gin, "Champagne cocktails and dinners? Why, I'd love to" . . . Bobby Steely—we mention no names—she has trouble keeping track of them herself . . . Bobbie Lamont—watch your language, girls, she talks 'em all . . . lbbby, blond bombshell with the long Southern drawl . . . Jane, whose maximum speed is .0001 mph, but she really gets things done . . . Jeannie—she'll be a bridge fiend yet . . . Bland, that long, luscious drink—of water . . . Mama String sez all us chilluns gotta be in . . . soho . . . we shut the door on 1944, and this part of 1945.

"Praise Allah! the floors are fixed!"—our first words as we opened the front door this September . . . "Look, new furniture and a third living room," cried the nouveau riche . . . Gunesh and her ATO pin comparing notes with Shirley and her Beta . . . Russ, our post-grad, smirking at our painful undergraduate duties . . . "Glo, since you're a sociology major, why don't you make a survey of all the unattached ensigns and looies floating around Williamsburg?" . . . Dot J., debating whether or not to give back the SAE pin because of Don, the Yorktown ensign . . . Betty C. wandering about forlornly with the telephone bill, "Does anybody remember who put in a call to Washington on the 21st?" . . . Nan, the dear, helping everybody out in freshman math . . . Lavinia, our "femme de chambre," Phi Mu's jewel without price . . . "Hold on, everybody! Ellie's going to call one of those highly solemn and super-important house meetings" . . . "Mama, why is Marise so thankful for the Chaplain's School?" . . . Wistfully hoping that just one little tuft of grass will come up in that no man's land we call a front lawn . . . "Will you tell me why our gate was painted green?" "Silly, it's like that sect in Pennsylvania, to show there's a marriageable daughter in the house" . . . O-o-ohing and a-a-ahing over Millie's rock . . . Getting tired just watching Margie exercise . . . "Jeanne, it's a cinch you didn't get those wings from wearin' a halo!" . . . "Dottie G., you'll have to decide sometime, so why not draw straws?" . . . Stumbling down stairs at three in the morning for a glass of water and meeting Elaine and Gunesh just starting off the evening . . . Loving Sally Rue for just being herself . . . Being happy for Loise, who passed her bar exam and is getting married in February to a dream man . . . Wondering how we'll ever get along without Bette F., who has kept our money matters untangled for two long years . . . Stepping around the 26 pledges who swarm over the house waiting for their master's voice (that's Elaine) . . . Agreeing that Rennie has the prettiest hair . . . "Good news, Emily—Josephine's coming back in February . . . Admiring Mrs. Fleetwood's talent for arranging flowers . . . ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Beta Delta Chapter

Life progressed, and we came back to an almost new house, complete with those intriguing mirrors, and the piano which actually makes melody. It's all such fun; the Alpha Chis will always remember . . . Pam, our very super president, and one of those never-say-die Republicans . . . Kay and those midnight calls of hers . . . Marion, always remembering Pearl Harbour (and we do mean Harbour spelled with a "U") . . . Ginny, our lady of leisure, who never has a class 'til 11 . . . Jackie, dashing in from Dance Club to take time out for a bull session . . . Dot, our talented gal fresh back from Indiana . . . Katz with those beguiling brown eyes . . . Timmy pleading for Intramural volunteers . . . Dossie giving us a turkey n' all the stuffings for Thanksgiving . . . Sue, our "charging" modern dancer . . . Jeannie Boyle and her grain of corn straight from Iowa . . . Cecy, ring on finger and those thirty-two pictures of Scotty; she loves that boy . . . Betty Evans slaving hysterically over her surveys . . . Beth, dashing back and forth to lab . . . Joey asking tearfully, "Has anybody seen a pack of Chesterfields going south?" . . . Mary, her trip to California and her fascination for Mexico . . . Sharon, "Remember that the friends you make in your youth . . ." Ann, tinkering with her vic . . . Betty Marie, our Barrett beauty queen . . . Carol, efficiency plus charm . . . Brooksie with the ready smile . . . Sissy, our little party gal . . . Monie and Shorty, those smooth jitters . . . B. R. with her Kappa Tau pin . . . Glo, shaming us all with her French . . . Blubb of the golden hair . . . Betty Marker, our sophisticate . . . Joy and her accent on Sweden . . . Nancy, constantly raising the flag . . . Dotty Ann, her passion for the Navy (but, oh, haven't we all?) . . . June Haller, our gal with the grades, looks, and personality . . . Marilyn and her numerous expeditions to West Point . . . Pat, who can't wait for June . . . Jackie Barlowe, "Sweet and Lovely" . . . Dina, always ready, willing and able . . . Snookie, haunting the mailbox . . . Mrs. Pedigo, our gracious housemother . . . and all our wonderful new pledges . . . pledge points, lugging laundry for big sisters, a mad dash to answer the phone, dumping ash-trays . . . Oh, and we can't forget our "Puppy Dog" . . . those marshmallow roasts in the second floor fireplace . . . stumbling down to breakfast with the moon still shining . . . our bridge games which last indefinitely . . . our passion for silver wings and Navy blue . . . our hillbilly records, and 10 o'clock snacks . . . making memories . . .

Laughter, fun, friendship . . . and another year rolls by for the Tri Deltas. Looking back, we remember . . . Our able president, Elly, active in Mortar Board and president of W.S.C.G. . . . Easy going Dorie, playing teacher to 24 swell pledges . . . Active Ginny Darst, president of the senior class, and on the Honor Council, who kept hearing wedding bells all the time (lucky Bill) . . . "Typical dream girl" Milly with her ever loving Creek . . . June with her international interests . . . No one was safe from Betty's imitations, least of all her roommate, Lelia Ann . . . The $64 question, "Where did Jane get all those jokes?" . . . Katsy, Maggie, and "Lightbulb" Slosson who made the third floor a bedlam of activity . . . 14-letters-at-a-time-Beaz . . . Geronimo Jacy who kept 'em jumping . . . "The Delta Sisters," B. J., and Joyce always in perfect harmony . . . Tippy, literally keeping the house together with her hammering and painting, etc. (she also took it apart) . . . Tri Delta candidate for vocalist of the Salvation Army, Annie B. . . Capable Robby who kept the house on an even keel . . . The motto of our gal, Krotts, "Variety is the spice of life" . . . Dottie, who, although she spent a lot of time in the library, managed tall, dark, and handsome extra curricular activities . . . Our married members, Betty and Gidge, with their hearts thousands of miles away . . . Quite Anne Batchelder adding dignity to the chapter . . . Ginny Bourlay's low flying Air Corps men who kept W. and M's grass cut . . . Ginger's Marine, music, and newly acquired diamond . . . Nonnie, Barb, Gloria, and Ken who rivaled Culbertson when it came to a game of bridge . . . Barb Mitchell, our Army bratt (but still faithful to the Navy) . . . Her roommate, Fletch, gay as they come, but a solemn judge on Freshman Tribunal . . . The belle of Stony Creek, Liz . . . Nellie, with the Alabama accent, who will never forget her summer in Cuba . . . Admiral Cosby and her prize catch of the season . . . A-dentist's-daughter-but-no-grind-Evelyn . . . Walkie, talkie Mary Shipe in competition with Ginny Townes for possession of best looking male picture . . . Pat and Brenda, an unbeatable combination . . . Artist Margie with her tar-heel drawl . . . our grand pledge group lead by Mary Wood, Janet Wessling, and Fran Fleming . . . Will we ever forget . . . The night the pipes broke in the living room, midnight snacks and bull sessions, the seance at which the DDD ghost first made its appearance, and our very wonderful housemother, Mrs. Barnes?

1944-45, a year of work and happiness for more than sixty Gamma Phis . . . a year that the graduating seniors will look back on with a trace of homesickness for college . . . that excited thrill when we saw the first familiar face at the station . . . coming out on top in the swimming meet . . . the solemn beauty of the Founders' Day service . . . twenty-six pledges faithfully making beds and emptying ashtrays . . . writing letters to go overseas . . . Prexy Margy hibernating with her accounting book, emerging only when hunger strikes . . . Betty may making up her mind whether to wear her ensign's bar, her wings, or her Navy anchor to class today . . . finally deciding on her paratrooper insignia . . . Jean, chief spinner of yarns, amazing everybody with an uncanny ability to get into hot water . . . Edie subscribing to the Washington "Post" to follow the Nats, the only team in the American League—it says here . . . Mary Jane so overwhelmed by her surprise birthday party that she couldn't summon strength to blow out all her candles . . . Seely "sleeps like a kitten" any time . . . Gonzie keeping quiet for half an hour and everybody wondering if she's coming down with something . . .

Nellie conducting song practices with enthusiasm and digging pencils and playing cards out of the innards of the piano as part of her job as song chairman . . . The MacLeans, Mary Ellen and her real-life "little sister" Nancy, keeping our scholastic average up where it should be . . . Ginny concluding that the cards are stacked against her when basketball practice, choir, lab, and supper all come at the same hour . . . Rachel taking rushing too seriously and coming down with laryngitis for the second straight year . . . Dot receiving a grass skirt from Hawaii but coyly refusing to model it . . . Kay and Peggy, roommates from way back, giving all the new ensigns at Peary and Yorktown the once-over . . . versatile Norma, business manager of the ECHO and assistant in the chem department . . . "the Marine's have landed," and Reeder goes overboard . . . Hutch leaving in a flurry of bridal showers to go back to Panama and Bill . . . Alice and Betty Sue moving in with the new semester . . . Schwinnie looking demure in her pigtails and flannel nightie . . . exams come, bringing us back to earth with a jolt . . . and so another year ends, but that "certain something" that is Gamma Phi continues to live in all of us.

PHI DELTA PI

As we look back into the second year of operation for Phi Delta Pi, many things of untold amusement and joy come into our minds. First came the usual new crop of females and the quick change-over from last year's romances; leaving only the steady boys, Bob "Slats" Marion with his Theta and Tom "football hero" Mikula with his Chi O. As time progressed, operations began. With operations came new romances . . . to mention Bud "One Date" Jones, Whitey "Try Them All" Albertson, Harvey "B. H." Chappell, Tommy "Rough Boy" Thompson . . . and Austin Wright finally convincing Alice Lee . . . Eddie "Hit Parade" Dunbar trying to convince Bonnie . . . there is always "Snookie" Pete Quynn changing from Theta to Kappa, Kappa to Theta, etc. . . . "Lawyer" President Harvey "Teddy-bear" Pope just changing and in the process making more than his share of the dirt columns . . . All "Black Dog" Appell who finally gave in to Betty Mills and took her to a party . . . There is a rumor that Sonny "Questions" Davis and his Petersburg flame made that same party. The whole chapter was hoping for Jack Bruce to give us our first legacy, but a tough break for us—it was a girl. Everybody still remembers the Christmas Dance . . .

how could they forget those "ten gallons" of eggnog! We would now like to give a plug to our intramural man, Joe Rego, who always forgets when we have a game, Warren "Sinatra" Sprouse, Bill "Publicity" Greer, Rev. Eager Wood and "it's good to see you," "Phi Bete" Dick Quinn, Harry "Jitterbug" Stinson, "Lover" Conoles with his troubles. As usual, Phi Delta Pi was highly represented in varsity sports . . . Football—Stan "Dippa" Magdziak, Mackiewicz, Davis, Captain-elect Mikula, Mills, Bruce, Sherry, Thompson, Null, Pellack, Larner, May, Hoey, Thomas, Dunbar, Chappell "Doc" White, and Wright . . . Basketball—Phi Delta Pi occupied the whole starting line-up with Magdziak, Mackiewicz, Appell, Wright, and Bruce, until Austin and Jack received the call from their Uncle. Phi Delta Pi introduced to the campus its one and only night club, "Club 24." There was a gala opening . . . masters of ceremonies Bubby Vaughan and Dick Baker acquired talent from all over the country. Along with Frankie Davis, Fritz "Call Them All" Zepht and the boys are looking forward to the coming spring days when "knocking" will be in order. No one ever found "Joe" or "Mike." Remember, boys, every week is FYB week in Phi Delta Pi!!

Phi Beta Kappa

Phi Beta Kappa, the first Greek letter fraternity in the United States, was founded on December 5, 1776, at the College of William and Mary.

Alpha Chapter of Virginia elects to membership from the qualified members of the senior class, from the alumni of the college who have attained distinction in their professions, and from those who are distinguished in letters, science, education, or some learned profession.

Phi Beta Kappa Hall was built by the United Chapters to celebrate the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the organization which was founded as a social and intellectual fraternity at the Raleigh Tavern on the Duke of Gloucester Street.

On Tuesday, December 5, 1944, Phi Beta Kappa initiated the following members of the senior class, who were elected on the basis of their scholarship records during their first three years in College: Justine Dyer, Shirley Friedlander, Lillian Knight, Catherine Leavey, Marcia Manewal, Edith McChesney, and Julia Sullivan.

Carl Sandburg, well-known poet and Pulitzer Prize winner, read an original poem composed for the occasion, entitled "A Long Shadow of Lincoln: A Litany." Chauncey B. Tinker, Professor of English at Yale University and noted authority and writer on eighteenth century English literature, delivered the Phi Beta Kappa Address on "Byron's Suppressed Poems."

Faculty members are Kathleen Alsop, Alfred Armstrong, Martha Barksdale, D. J. Blocker, H. L. Bridges, Eleanor Calkins, David Camp, T. S. Cox, Edgar Darden, Donald Davis, Charles Duke, Jr., H. A. Mortar Board was founded in 1918 when delegates from Swarthmore College, Ohio State University, the University of Michigan, and Cornell University met and founded the first national honor society for women. The Chapter role has since grown continually until it now includes seventy-eight chapters with about ten thousand members. The William and Mary chapter of Mortar Board was founded in 1928.

Qualifications for membership are "service, scholarship, and leadership." Members, who are chosen from the junior class, are tapped at a convocation held in May.

Mortar Board's purpose is to "provide for the cooperation between societies, to promote college loyalty, to advance the spirit of service and fellowship among university women, to maintain a high standard of scholarship, to recognize and encourage leadership, and to stimulate and develop a finer type of college woman."

The chapter's program included many activities. In the beginning of the year, Mortar Board helped with orientation and assisted at the President's reception. The annual Mortar Board dance was a cabaret party. Mortar Board has arranged for persons recruiting for branches of the armed service open to women to meet interested students, has sold war stamp corsages, and has assisted in war loan drives. Mortar Board sponsors a tutoring bureau, gives annually a "smarty party" for the ten women students having the highest scholastic averages, and presents an award to the sophomore woman having the highest average. Mortar Board provides magazines for the women's dormitories.

The officers of Mortar Board were: Grace Duvoisin, president; Marcia Manewal, vice-president; Virginia Lee, secretary; Nellie Greaves, treasurer; Marilyn Kaemmerle, editor; Nancy Carnegie, historian.

Members of Mortar Board can be distinguished by their pin, a black enameled Mortar Board; and by the Mortar Board emblem worn on their academic gown at formal convocations.

President's Aides

In 1935 the president of the college, John Stewart Bryan, initiated the procedure of selecting men who are outstanding in the various phases of college life each year to act as President's aides. In recognition of this honorary appointment each man received a medal which was designed by the late President Bryan. The aides acted as receptionists and performed such duties as escorting the president and his party to the various college functions. In former years the sponsorship of the Homecoming Dances and the Final Dances were undertaken by the aides. During the first years of the war the President's Aides ceased to be a college organization but the group was reestablished by President Pomfret this year. William L. Williams was made chief aide and the other members included Thomas Dingle, Dale Myers, Fred Frechette, Thomas Mikula, Thomas Smith, Harvey Chappell, Austin Wright, Aubrey Mason.

The War Council is really the baby of all organizations on campus. It was set up in February, 1943, as a result of the growing need to stimulate interest and promote activity in the various phases of the war effort at William and Mary. The Council had eight administrative departments, ably headed by president Edythe Marsh; Secretariat-Treasury, Jeanne MacKay; Social Entertainment, Marylou Manning; U.S.O., Donnie Lepper; Child Care, Fran Loesch; Personnel, Mary Ellen McLean; Publicity, Harriet Irvin; Savage, Nellie Greaves; Stamps and Bonds, Joey Armstrong.

Under the newly elected officers the War Council began its work in February. There are on campus about five hundred Wams (War Activity Members), who are on the go continuously doing their bit to help in every way they can. The big events last spring and this fall were numerous. We gave a reception for Captain McAfee, who is Commander of the Waves. On February 12 we held our "Wam First Nighter." This was an exhibit and demonstration of all the work we do. We had movies, a snack bar, sold bonds and stamps. This officially began our Jeep Drive, and that one night produced a total of $675.00. Then there was the Scrap dance, and the Bond Queen ceremony; $9,000 worth of bonds and stamps were sold at this time. This past fall a picnic was held for the enlisted personnel of the Chaplain's School. Also a Barn dance for the entire student body was given, and a dance for officers from Langley Field. The Sixth War Loan Drive went over the top with $51,000 sold. These have been the main activities, but there was plenty to keep us busy in between. Stamps were sold regularly. We held "open house" in the lounge in Blow every Sunday night. We took charge of the Saturday night dances until the formation of the Student Dance Committee. We rolled bandages and we made arrangements for recruiting officers from all branches of the women's armed services. The Wams and the War Council have accomplished their purpose efficiently and enthusiastically—that of promoting war activities on the campus of William and Mary.

The object of Kappa Delta Pi, Honor Society in Education, is to provide a fraternity advancing education as a profession. Its purpose is to encourage professional, intellectual, and personal standards, and to recognize contributions to education. This year's president was Nancy Outland, and secretary-treasurer was Mildred Saroko.

The members of Kappa Omicron Phi, professional home economics fraternity, assisted in replenishing the national initiation paraphernalia as its year's project. Other activities included the Founders' Day Banquet and two sponsors' parties: a Christmas party held at Miss Cummings' home, and a Spring Party at Miss Stewart's home.

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club was founded in 1927 by Professor Castaneda. He and the charter members christened it "Los Quijotescos" in honor of Cervantes' Spanish hero, Don Quijote. The purpose of the club is to further interest in Spanish literature, to create understanding and appreciation of the Spanish speaking countries, and to unite in a friendly informal group the students who desire to know about Spanish customs.

Every meeting had an interesting program. Talks were given in Spanish by members of the faculty, explaining the people's way of life with humorous sidelines about their own personal experiences in these countries. Miss Murray told about the highlights of her trip to Mexico at one of the meetings, and Mrs. Victor Iturralde described her interesting visit in Spain. These entertaining speeches created the appropriate atmosphere for vocal selections given in Spanish by Helen Strickler and Marilyn Woodberry, accompanied on the piano by Virginia Wright. In order to become familiar with Spanish songs and to aid the members in pronunciation, each meeting is ended with the entire group singing their favorite songs, "La Cucaracha" and "El Rancho Grande," under the direction of Mr. Maximo Iturralde.

The officers for this year were Margaret Maroney, president; Sarah Mills, vice-president; Jean Kueffner, secretary; Ann Johnson, treasurer; Katherine Leavey, entertainment chairman; and Ann Anderson, refreshment chairman.

The Spanish Club is now one of the largest organizations on campus, because of its entertaining and interesting programs. In November, 75 new members were initiated; each was given yellow and red ribbons to wear for three days. The club chose these two colors because they are the same as those of the Spanish flag.

In January, a very entertaining dance was sponsored by the club in Blow gymnasium. Spanish music produced the fiesta atmosphere. The most enjoyable event of the evening was the conga line. The annual picnic in Matoaka Park culminated a successful year of "Los Quijotescos."

The French Club is officially named Le Cercle Francais and is under the sponsorship of Professor Pierre Macy, who generously gave his time and services in supporting and contributing to all of the programs. The officers who were elected last year are Gunesh Guran, president; Ruth Weimer, vice-president; Margaret Maroney, secretary; and Betty Wilcox, treasurer.

The programs are varied for entertainments, information, and amusement, and are the result of a student-faculty cooperative plan. Interesting and entertaining programs were planned, including French music, French plays, appropriate talks by members of the college faculty and student body, and recitations in French.

The meetings were held in Barrett Hall living room. For the purpose of aiding the new members in becoming acclimated, the first meeting in October was devoted to playing games in which simple French was used. At the second meeting in November the main part of the program centered around an original French play written by Dr. Macy from the book, "Toc, Toc, Toc," which was enjoyed immensely by all the members and their guests.

Ambitious plans were made for a club picnic to be held in the spring. The French Club and the Spanish Club worked together and sponsored a Saturday night dance in January, which was very successful.

The purpose of Le Cercle Francais is to bring together in an informal manner those people who are sincerely interested in the French language, the French people, and their history and customs.

In accordance with the policy of former years, the club extended invitations of membership to all who were interested in French and as a result the club maintained a large cooperative membership.

Y.W.C.A.

With a movie and coke party the "big-little sister program of the Y. W. C. A. began the present season. Upperclassmen big sisters, after meeting their freshmen little sisters, took them to a special showing of a film about Williamsburg, and a Merry Melodie cartoon.

The first meeting of the year was dedicated to a program of "Do you know your college facts and faculty?" The quiz program of big "sis" opposite little "sis" ended in a tie after some thought-provoking questions.

This year the Y. W. C. A. sponsored a drive for the World Student Service Fund, an organization which looks after students of all nations who are interned, evacuated, or prisoners of war. One evening was set aside for the International Festival which featured a Greek Exhibit, a Chinese chop-stick contest, and a radio skit. Alexandra Feldmahn, secretary for the World Student Service Fund, came to the campus for a day to speak to several campus groups.

A monthly chapel program has been another project this season. The "Y" also took the United Bible Study under its wing as an independent organization.

Two heaping baskets of food were packed and delivered to needy Williamsburg families on Thanksgiving morning.

At the close of the football season, the team was saluted for a year of victorious football with an Indian War Dance using the college motif of banners and freshman caps.

Just before Christmas, the "Y" sponsored the Tuberculosis Seal Drive. This year it surpassed the former goal by a wide margin through the efforts of hall representatives and the student body. Other projects included a party for hall representatives and the March of Dimes drive.

The officers are Beth McClelland, president; Pam Pauly, vice-president; Betty Marie Ellett, secretary; and Jean Beazley, treasurer. Committee chairmen are Donnie Lepper, Betty Cutshall, Trinka Robinson, Sally Reik, Lelia Ann Avery, Mary Baker, and Glo Rankin. The faculty adviser is Miss Dorothy Hosford.

For the first time in the history of the College, the separate men's and women's debate clubs merged into the William and Mary Intercollegiate Debate Council.

In the fall try-outs three boys and two girls were admitted: Ennis Rees, Robert Trigg, Richard Baker, Ann Batchelder, and Ann Anderson. The other members are Lelia Ann Avery, Peggy Darby, Betty Jane Taylor, Virginia Stephens, Betty Rose Marvin, Nancy Grube, Helen Staples, Janet Miller, Mary Raney, Anna Belle Koenig, and Marilyn Kaemmerle.

Officers for 1944-45 were Nancy Grube, president; Mary Raney, manager first semester; Virginia Stephens, manager second semester; Dr. Harrop A. Freeman was adviser this year.

The Council took two trips this year, the first since 1942. Besides these, several debates were held here with visiting schools.

In February, the affirmative team, composed of Virginia Stephens and Nancy Grube, first speakers, and Betty Rose Marvin, second speaker, traveled north. On this four-day trip, they visited the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Johns Hopkins University, Temple University, and University of Pennsylvania. In each debate, the national collegiate topic was used, Resolved: That the Federal Government Should Enact Legislation Requiring the Compulsory Arbitration of All Labor Disputes.

During March and April, teams were entertained at William and Mary. These were the Universities of North Carolina, Duke, South Carolina, Virginia, Richmond, Temple, Johns Hopkins, and Pennsylvania.

Traveling south in the latter part of April, the William and Mary negative team met the teams of the Universities of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Richmond, and Duke.

Although the topic most debated was the national one, others were argued, such as the adoption of the Dumbarton Oaks proposal, and the immediate independence of India. Both Oregon and Orthodox styles of debate were used.

In May, a banquet for the entire council was held at the Travis House.

Backdrop Club

The Backdrop Club was organized in 1937 for the purpose of presenting a varsity show to the William and Mary campus. Since that time varsity shows have displayed and fulfilled the various talents and interests of students such as writing script and music, acting, directing, constructing sets, making costumes, and handling publicity.

The first varsity show presented was "Spring Cleaning," and then followed "Set to Munich," "A Nickel Ain't Nothin'," "Peace Brother, It's Wonderful," and the latest show, given in 1941, "Take a Deep Breath." These shows were all very successful from both the financial and theatrical production standpoints.

This year, the third time, a varsity show did not materialize. With high enthusiasm, a group of students organized themselves into a cabinet and bucked the idea of a war-time varsity show. The script and songs went into production. Then the spring vacation was eliminated, the whole theatre program moved up a week, and it was rendered virtually impossible for a varsity show to be squeezed into the schedule.

The show, which was to have been given April 5 and 6, died in infancy, essentially because of over-organization, premature publicity, and the lack of sufficient script. The lesson the club members wish to humbly hand on to the ambitious theatre-minded of another year, is that the theatre, because of its own nature, cannot afford to be democratic.

The Backdrop Club still lives and has cooperated with the Fine Arts Department throughout the year in the presentation of the four annual William and Mary productions.

Eta Sigma Phi, National Honorary Fraternity for students of Greek and Latin, purposes to foster the study of the ancient classics, to enhance the appreciation of Greek and Roman culture, and to promote good will and friendship among classical students.

Eta Sigma Phi grew out of an undergraduate classical club founded at the University of Chicago in 1914, under the name of Phi Sigma. In 1924, the organization became national. With the nationalization the name became Eta Sigma Phi.

Members of Eta Sigma Phi are elected from advanced students of Greek or Latin who are of good academic standing.

The activities of the Fraternity began with the election and installation of the following officers: Justine Dyer, Prytanis; Judy Sullivan, Hyparchos; Constance Anninos, Grammateus; Richard MacCracken, Chrysothylax; and Betty Seely, Pyloros. Dr. George J. Ryan is the faculty adviser of the Fraternity.

On November 10, 1944, Dr. Charles T. Harrison was formally initiated as an honorary member. Following the initiation, Dr. Harrison lectured about the Hellenic influences on the Old Testament. Other fall activities included a reception for all students of Greek and Latin and the formal initiation of thirteen new members.

For the first time, faculty members and students were brought together through participation in a round-table discussion on the value of language study. Members of the faculty who took part included Dr. James W. Miller, Dr. Grace W. Landrum, Dr. Charles March, Dr. Pierre Macy, Dr. Jess H. Jackson, Dr. William G. Guy.

In the spring, a reception was held for Dr. F. A. Robinson, world famous archaeologist from Johns Hopkins University.

An exhibition of the archaeological collection of the Department of Ancient Languages was sponsored at an Open House in the Dodge Room. Movies and lectures by Dr. George J. Ryan and Dr. A. P. Wagener were presented at certain meetings. The chapter closed a highly successful year in May with a farewell get-together.

The German Club, under the able leadership of Mary Epes Raney during the first semester, played hostess to servicemen and civilians for the first dance of the season, the "Starlight Ball." The decoration committee achieved the starry effect by the use of softly dimmed spotlights, a blue crepe paper sky and shining star decorations. The atmosphere was conducive to a good time. The Colonials supplied the musical effects and rendered the theme song, "Stardust," for the dancers. German Club drags received watch fobs engraved with the William and Mary official seal as souvenirs. During the intermission the officers and their escorts led the figure, passing beneath a trellis and a large star at the end of the gymnasium. The favors were distributed while passing beneath the trellis.

February Officers Plan Spring Coeds with Miss Roberts.

Jean Boyle, vice-president, made all arrangements for the decorations for the evening and was assisted by Donna Lepper, secretary, and Mary Baker, treasurer.

Graduation took two officers and a second semester election took place during January. Donna Lepper was elected to fill Mary Raney's place as president. Mary Baker became treasurer for the second term, Glo Rankin, vice-president, and Carolyn Thomas, secretary. All were chosen for ability in organizing co-ed dances.

The German Club boasts the largest membership of any girls' club on campus. The membership goes through four years and the "Coeds" are awaited eagerly. Girl breaks are the "order of the dance" and "hags" take the place of "stags" for these two evenings of the year.

The dances are chaperoned by the administrative officials, including Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts, Dr. and Mrs. Pomfret, Dr. and Mrs. Phalen. It is the custom to invite the house-mothers for the evening.

Plans for the second semester German Club Coed Dance were kept a secret until the evening of the occasion but it was known that Glo Rankin, in charge of decorations, had tentatively planned a spring theme.

The success and enthusiasm of the bi-annual German Club dances rests upon the hard work done by the decoration committee and the ingenuity of planning. Each German Club member is asked to contribute her originality and "workmanship" to add to the success and the cooperation given the officers, which deserves to give the German Club the fine reputation for social functions enjoyed by all.

College Choir Rehearses.

College Chapel Choir

One of the oldest and most active organizations on the campus is the College Chapel Choir. Taking part in the Vespers held each Wednesday night in Wren Chapel, it has always played an important role in these traditional services. The group also sings for graduation ceremonies and all convocations, leading the academic processions from the Wren building to Phi Beta Kappa Hall. At Christmas they join with the other music organizations on campus to present the annual Christmas Concert.

This year there was also the candlelight vesper service at Christmas, during which appropriate selections from the story of the birth of Christ were supplemented by carols and other special numbers sung by the Choir. The Choir sang at the Dance Club's presentation of "The Juggler of Notre Dame."

The excellence of the Choir is kept up by using selection as the basis of membership. To remain in the Choir, a student must show his interest in the work and activities by his attendance. This year, under the direction of Mr. William Francis Vollmer, who replaced Mr. Allen Sly after his resignation last spring, the membership of the Choir has been increased to fifty members. Also through him they have increased their activities by combining with the Choir of the Bruton Parish Church to present the Christmas portion of Handel's "Messiah" in December. In April along with the William and Mary Chorus, the group participated in the Spring Concert.

During the second semester a new plan was created to increase interest among students in music and to give them credit for their extra work. Requirements for receiving credit for membership in the Choir are regular attendance at two rehearsals a week and passing an exam in Fundamentals of Music.

The planning of the various activities and engagements of the Choir is done by Mr. Vollmer together with the officers of the organization: Joyce Remsberg, president; Betty Jane Relph, secretary; and Marian Webb, treasurer. Marge Bowman, Janet Campbell, and Robert Trig were librarians.

Canterbury Club

The Canterbury Club is the association of Episcopal students at the College of William and Mary. This organization on campus is a chapter of the International Canterbury Club, which is the association of Episcopal students in colleges all over the world. The club was founded here several years ago and functioned unofficially for some time. In the spring of 1942 the club was given an official charter. The members meet once a month at a formal meeting in the evening and again once a month at a Corporate Communion held at the college chapel which is followed by a breakfast at Bruton Parish House. Sunday Night Vesper Services at Bruton Parish Church are also sponsored.

Before Christmas vacation a party was given for children of the Sunday School, and a tea dance was held for the students of the college.

During Lent the club sponsored Sunday afternoon teas followed by a forum discussion and also held Communion on Wednesdays in the Chapel. In addition to this, Dr. Edgar Foltin lectured to a Bible Study group.

The activities of the members included taking charge of the parish Sunday School, serving as acolytes, and doing Altar Guild work. The officers of the chapter were: Gunesh Guran, president; Joan Worstell, vice-president; Jackie Armor, secretary; Gloria McCawley, treasurer; Nellie Greaves, social chairman; Jane Eversmann, publicity chairman; Yvonne Sturtevant, choir; Joan Sayers, Altar Guild; Judy Sullivan, breakfast committee.

This year the Vesper Choir was very successful under the direction of Mr. Vollmer.

The Rev. Francis H. Craighill and Miss Constance Applebee gave the club throughout the year help and guidance in its activities.

The Pan-Hellenic Council is the nucleus of sorority organizations for the campus in all that pertains to the welfare of sorority women. Foremost in its activities is rushing for freshmen and transfers. The Council, composed of two members from each sorority, provided "mixers" for new students to acquaint them with rushing rules and procedure. These were followed by a mass meeting previous to formal rushing with Jan Mori, president of the Council, in charge.

The Council instigated a plan to promote scholarship among pledges of the nine sororities. A scholarship plaque was awarded to that group obtaining the highest average.

The Council presented a new system for rushing to the Administrative Council in preparation for the activities of the next year. The majority favored early rushing.

Each year the Council members are hostesses at a reception for the faculty. This year the event was given in the Dodge Room in February. The purpose of such a reception is to foster faculty-student relations on campus.

The Council endeavored to cooperate with the National Pan-Hellenic Congress by placing emphasis on the necessity of fraternity ideals of service and scholarship, and to further unselfishness of members on campus.

The William and Mary College Unit of the American Red Cross, which is one of the top four out of twenty college units in the Eastern Area, has been reorganized as a college unit for little more than a year. The unit has a Red Cross Room located in 214 Monroe Hall.

Two committees have been added to the unit: the Motor Corps and the Life Saving Corps. The girls in the Motor Corps collect flowers in Toano and Norge and deliver them to Camps Peary, Patrick Henry, and Fort Eustis. Their work also includes delivery of magazines and taking a group of girls to Langley Field on Sunday afternoons. The Life Saving Corps was organized this fall to supervise plunge periods in Jefferson and Blow pools.

The college girls have been working over in the Surgical Dressing Room and have been making knitted garments. The Staff Assistants are now working at the chapter office in town in the afternoons. The Publicity Committee has taken care of all announcements of future projects of the college unit. The most active group has been the Camp and Hospital Committee. Every Sunday afternoon a group of college girls goes down to Langley Field to help with a program in cooperation with Colonial Williamsburg. Also boys come up to Williamsburg Tuesday evenings and are taken through several of the Restoration buildings and are given a home-cooked supper at the various Churches in town. The Camp and Hospital Committee helps with this program, too.

Favors, tray covers, and nut cups for both Thanksgiving and Christmas were made for the wounded boys. Bingo prizes were collected, and ash trays and towels were also taken there. At Christmas time, boxes were made for the boys in service camps and hospitals.

The college unit has given the students a chance to give invaluable service in war activities and all those that have taken part have been paid many times over in the enjoyment they have received in doing this work.

The Monogram Club, with Martha Macklin as president, is an organization of girls who have earned a letter either by playing on or managing varsity hockey, basketball, or tennis teams; or those who have accumulated a minimum of 350 points through participation in the intramural program; or those who have earned 500 points in individual points.

This club gives two monograms: one for being a member or manager of a varsity team and one for 350 points in intramurals. Upon the accumulation of 500 points a Monogram Key is awarded. This is the highest honor a member can receive.

Early in the year the Monogram Club sponsored a tennis exhibition for the students and members of the faculty. The men and women's tennis teams combined to put on the exhibition which was well received. More exhibitions were planned for the spring. The Club also discussed plans for a tennis clinic and the possibility of having a national star come down to instruct those interested in improving their game.

The Monogram Club supported the student effort to have better Saturday night dances by combining with the International Relations Club and the Debate Council to sponsor one of the regular Saturday night dances in the fall.

Other projects included in the program of the Club for the year were a play day and a picnic. The Physical Education Department was also assisted by the Monogram Club in every way possible.

The officers were Martha Macklin, president; Ann Vineyard, vice-president; Barbara Black, secretary; and Sue McGeachin, treasurer. The members were Barbara Black, Fran Butler, Janet Campbell, Grace Duvoison, Barbara Grant, Eleanor Harvey, Sue Lamb, Betty Lawson, Marcia Levering, Sue McGeachin, Sharon McCloskey, Martha Macklin, Edythe Marsh, Flosse Metius, Gloria Rankin, Joyce Remsburg, Jackie Sanne, Ruth Schwartz, Mary Simon, Jean Taylor, Charlotte Timmerman, Ann Vineyard, Jane Atkinson, Nancy Fisher, and Jean Goodwin.

A REVIEW OF THE SEASON

William and Mary's Indians, displaying a wealth of backfield material and a fast charging line in the seson opener, trounced the Fort Monroe Gunners to the tune of 46-0 on the Redmen's home ground. Early in the first quarter Chester Mackiewicz, freshman fullback from Illinois, plunged over the four-yard line. Mackiewicz added the extra point. Later in the first half he again plunged and once more added the point to the touchdown. A recovery of the Fort Monroe fumble behind their goal line by Ed Hintenberger, William and Mary right end, and a successful conversion ended the scoring before first half.

Tailback Jack Bruce, freshman star from New Jersey, took up in the second half where Mackie-wicz left off in the first. He added two more touchdowns to the credit of the steam rolling McCray-men. Bob Piefke and Chick Chairmonte completed the scoring for the day.

The William and Mary undefeated and unscored-on Indians placed a spotless record before the powerful Pennsylvania football machine and came out on the short end of a 46-0 score at Franklin Field, in Philadelphia. The team, playing before thirty-two hundred fans, could not seem to get the offense rolling that earlier in the season had pulverized Fort Monroe and Hampden-Sydney. Tom Mikula, guard, and Tom Thompson played outstanding games against the Philadelphians. A tired Indian team ambled onto the field after the first half and in rapid-fire order the Pennmen pushed over three touchdowns through a wilting line that presented as the only obstacles Mikula, Thompson and Ramsey. Null, all-star prep school wingback, performed nobly on both offense and defense to turn in the best game in his short college career.

After taking their first loss of the season from the University of Pennsylvania, the William and Mary gridders prepared for their next game with the Richmond Army Air Base.

Then the Indians played the second game in the Southern Conference with the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Captain John Clowes played his position as guard, and Denver Mills was changed from blocking back to end. The team concentrated on offense for this Southern Conference game. The contest ended in a 0-0 score. The most serious threat of the day came when the Indians drove all the way to Carolina's four-yard stripe. Outstanding in this department for the Indians was Johnny Clowes. Henry Shook, at right guard and Tommy Thompson, as center and line backer, made it virtually impossible for Carolina to gain through the middle of the line.

The next week saw the Indians journey to Portsmouth City Stadium for the tilt with VMI. This resulted in a 26-0 win over the VMI eleven. Gridiron glory was given the Indians for the fine playing. A William and Mary drive at the end of the first and beginning of the second period carried down the Cadets' 12-yard line. After the ball was taken to the one-yard line on a 17-yard jaunt by Bruce, Mackiewicz plunged over and followed the touchdown with a conversion.

The traditional rivalry game with the University of Richmond brought down the final curtain on the 1944 season for the Indians. This was the forty-ninth meeting of the two schools since the series started. With this victory a fourth-place finish in the Southern Conference awaited the team. The final score was 40-0 in favor of the William and Mary Indians. First, second and

In the All-State Honors, John Clowes, captain of the 1944 team, was given a place as guard, chosen by all the coaches in the Old Dominion. Tom Mikula and Chet Mackiewicz received places on the All-State team as backs. Mills, end, Ramsey, tackle, Shook, guard, Thompson, center, and Bruce, back, were placed on the second team. REVIEW OF BASKETBALL SEASON

The William and Mary court season, with an exceptionally fine record, closed its heavy schedule with loud applause from the spectators. Coached by "Rube" McCray and Glen Knox, captain of the '42 team and All-Southern Conference winner in his senior year, the team went forward with only three hold-overs from the 1944 squad—Bill Pegram, Austin Wright, and "Doc" White, playing guard, center, and forward positions respectively.

The cagers improved steadily in each game with Wright, Magdziak and Appell's good scoring threats. The first six games of the season resulted in complete defeats, but that was considered our warm-up period for the North Carolina State game resulted in a 43-38 win. The Indians were never behind except for the first two minutes when State held a 2-0 edge. Stan Magdziak then made the next four points and the first half ended with a 17-15 advantage. The Indians made nine more points and in the final minutes the team displayed the technique of freezing the ball. High scorer for the game was Magdziak. Bruce took second scoring honors.

The Camp Peary game was a 60-47 victory for the Navy team.

The University of Virginia game displayed the towering centers of the opponents. Trailing 7-6, the Indians sank four field goals in succession to take the 14-7 lead. The visitors rallied to rack up six of the next seven points, and the Tribe left the floor at intermission with a 15-12 margin. Final score was 41-37.

February 3 brought the Kaydets from Virginia Polytechnic Institute to the home court. Throughout the thrilling game, the Indians showed excellent team work and beautiful playing which won them applause from the large number of spectators. This victory paved the way for the Southern Conference Invitation. The team faced the Citadel in the tournament and defeated the Bulldogs 54-41. Then they lost to the top ranking Duke team in the semi-finals 59-32. In the

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION ★ ★ ★

Physical education occupies an important place in the life of William and Mary coeds. Through the cooperation of competent staff members under the direction of Dr. Caroline Sinclair, Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts, and Miss Martha Barksdale, an interesting and enjoyable sports schedule was planned, culminating in a most successful year.

Working in conjunction with faculty members, the Women's Athletic Association for the 1944-45 season was capably headed by Susan B. Lamb, with Frances Butler serving as point recorder and Harriet Hockstrasser as secretary. Mary Simon was student manager of intramurals, heading another highly successful season full of keen competition.

Mary each fall for many years, returned once again this year to assist the coaching staff, and aided in providing a memorable hockey season. William and Mary is fortunate in having Miss Applebee to instruct, as it was she who first introduced hockey into the United States.

The Varsity schedule was active once again this year, contrary to the curtailment imposed last year by transportation difficulties. The Varsity Hockey Team tied Westhampton, and won one out of two games played with the Richmond Hockey Club. Varsity Basketball played both Farmville and Westhampton, and the freshman team played a very successful game with Norfolk Division. Tennis was one of the highlights of the Varsity schedule.

Intramural managers this year were Ann Vineyard, archery; Pat Jones, badminton; Joyce Remsberg, basketball; Ruth Paul, fencing; Betty Borenstien, hockey; Sue McGeachin, swimming; Martha Macklin, tennis; Mary Simon, dance; Glo Rankin, publicity; and Harriet Irwin, hostess.

WOMEN'S INTRAMURALS

The intramural program enjoyed active participation and interest under the direction of Miss Helen Black, faculty head of intramurals, and Mary Simon, student head of intramurals.

Intramurals started off last fall with tennis, under the management of Martha Macklin, who contributed greatly to the success of the season. A great deal of interest was shown by the vast number of people participating in the matches. The winners of the sorority "A" team leagues were Pi Phi first with 100 points, Chi Omega second with 80 points, and Kappa Alpha Theta third with 70 points. The winners in the "B" team league were Chi Omega first with 50 points and Tri Delt second with 40 points.

The winners in the dorm "A" team leagues were Barrett and Monroe tying for first with 90 points each, and Chandler and Jefferson tying for second place with 40 points each. Both sorority and dorm leagues had outstanding players which contributed to the interest and excitement of the tournaments. The tennis season was wound up with an exhibition put on by the champions and title holders now attending William and Mary.

HOCKEY

Hockey season, under the management of Betty Borenstien, was off to a grand start until the weather man intervened and cancelled all the games. Points for participation were given to everyone who had had the required number of practices.

SWIMMING

Next on the intramural slate was the swimming meet, organized by Sue McGeachin, swimming manager, and Miss Black, faculty head of intramurals. Miss Barksdale and Dr. Sinclair acted as judges for the meet. The events in swimming were a 40-yard free style, a 40-yard breast stroke, a 40-yard racing back, and an 80-yard relay race. The diving events consisted of three required dives—the front, the back, and the jack-knife—and one optional, some of which were the swan dive, the front flip, and the jack with one half twist.

The winners of the swimming meet in the sorority "A" team league were Gamma Phi first with 100 points, Pi Phi second with 80 points, and Tri Delt third with 70 points. The winner of the sorority "B" team league was Kappa Kappa Gamma with 50 points.

The winners of the dorm "A" team league were Monroe first with 100 points, Brown second with 80 points, and Chandler third with 70 points. The winners of the dorm "B" team league were Chandler first with 50 points and Monroe second with 40 points.

SONG CONTEST

This year the Song Contest was held in February instead of the week before Christmas. The attire of the participants ranged from Valentine's colors to pastel sweaters and shirts, and black dresses. The songs were a variety of original tunes and words concerning the college life and traditions of William and Mary. After the songs had been sung and after many minutes of suspense, the judges, Miss Althea Hunt, Mr. Stephen Merton, and Mr. Andrew Haigh, presented the winners to Mary Simon, head of the song contest. The winners of the sorority league were Chi Omega first, Theta second, and Pi Phi third. In the dorm league Chandler was first, Brown second, and Barrett third. Encores were given by the first place winners and the song contest was forgotten until another year.

BASKETBALL

Jefferson gym was packed for two solid weeks with ardent basketball fans and rooters. A keen interest was shown by all, from the girls trying out for ratings to the boys—just watching and waiting. Joyce Remsburg, basketball manager, with the aid of Jackie Armor, did a splendid job in arranging for games, scorers, and timers.

Competition ran high in all cases because of the evenly matched teams. In the sorority "A" team league, Alpha Chi placed first, Tri Delt second, and Chi Omega third. In the sorority "B" team league, Gamma Phi came in first, and Kappa Kappa Gamma placed second. In the hard fighting "C" team league Chi Omega came in first and Gamma Phi second.

In the "A" team league Jefferson's playing surpassed the other four dorms with tricky plays and accurate passes. Jefferson came in first, Monroe second, and Barrett third. Jefferson again came in first, in the "B" team league with Barrett trailing as second. Basketball season gave way to fencing.

FENCING

Fencing in intramurals was revived this year under the direction of Dr. Sinclair with Ruth Paul as manager. Participants were drawn from fencers of past experiences and fencers of this year's teaching.

In the sorority league, Chi Omega triumphed over Alpha Chi, and Tri Delt placed second and third respectively. In the dorm league, Barrett triumphed over Jefferson.

Fencing has been one of the major individual sports in past years and with the results of this year it is hoped that it will become a permanent part of intramurals.

BADMINTON AND PING PONG

Badminton and Ping Pong were under the direction of Pat Jones and Taffy Taylor respectively.

BRIDGE AND ARCHERY

Bridge and archery came up shortly after badminton and ping pong, and were directed by Mary Simon and Ann Vineyard respectively.

SOFTBALL

The intramural season came to a successful climax with softball, under the management of Fran Butler.

ORCHESTIS

The Dance Club opened its fifth season under the direction of Miss Moss. The club is divided into Orchestis and Dance Group. New members are chosen by tryouts.

Orchestis was founded by Margaret H'Doubler at the University of Wisconsin in 1917. It spread to other campuses. Orchestis is a Greek word meaning "the dance." In Greek plays the chorus played a definite role. They interpreted the drama. Modern dance has retained this expressive and interpretive quality.

Orchestis contributed to the Christmas festivities at the college. It presented "The Juggler of Notre Dame," and it took part in the Yule Log Ceremony. The club closed a successful year with its annual spring performance.

Mary Simon is president, Jacqueline Sanne is secretary, Joyce Le Crow is treasurer, Tillie Mills is historian, and Sharon McCloskey is costume supervisor. The members of Orchestis are Mary Simon, Eleanor Harvey, Joyce LeCraw, Florence Metius, Sharon McCloskey, Lucille McCormick, and Jacqueline Sanne. The members of Dance Group are Jean Beazeley, Marabeth Dowd, Eleanor Herman, Pat Martin, Jean McPherrine, Tillie Mills, Marjorie Sease, Carolyn Thomas, Virginia Turner, Lois Walker, Miriam White, Marilyn Woodberry, Ruth Thistle, Pat Dunn, Helen Thomson, Shirley Parrish, Daphane Andrews, Virginia Turstall, Sarah Folkes, and Jo Anne Prince.

In closing the 1945 COLONIAL ECHO, the staff would like to pause briefly to pay tribute to John Douglas Camp, former editor of the yearbook, who was killed in action over Belgium, December 19, 1944. A first lieutenant in the Army Air Corps, he was the recipient of the Air Medal, and full military honors were given his burial in an American cemetery in England.

 the second half of his junior year, and as editor of the 1943 COLONIAL ECHO, had to stay on the job day and night to meet deadlines before the book went to press. His fine example of journalism and ability as an editor won his yearbook a coveted place in the hearts of those who worked with him and those who enjoyed his production.

His enthusiasm as a student and leader on campus, his meritorious achievements on the field of battle, his friendship and personality, will never cease to hold a special meaning for all who knew him. The COLONIAL ECHO is especially indebted to his unsurpassed capability as an editor and will long benefit by his example.
