

University of Va. Sept. 22. 1850.

My dear Sir

The Proctor has handed me yours of the 10th inst. & requests to me to say that all the Law rooms, 10th single & double, have been already taken & that as all the other rooms are similar, he is at a loss how to make a selection for you & thinks it better that you should come on & choose for yourself. All the vacant rooms open on the street & are in a measure obnoxious to the objections of being exposed to the "dust". Under these circumstances we thought it likely that you would prefer boarding at one of the precincts of the college. It would be well for you to come on at your earliest convenience.

I am very respectfully yours.
