My dear Dad:

No news, but I thought I would send just a line to let you know that I am well. The weather was just a trifle colder, today. Had a flurry of snow. Yesterday, I was on N.P., and believe me, I ate enough, to make up, for all the scant meals which had been served, to date. At one time, we used to look at N.P., as a punishment, but now, it is a mighty lucky man who is fortunate enough to be appointed.

As yet, I have received no mail. Some of the boys, did get a letter, or two today, but I was not lucky, in that respect. As the mail which was received was about five weeks old, I trust that you will write frequently, so that whenever I do get some mail, it will come in a bunch.

We are kept busy every day, and are out on the field about all day. We have every other Thursday off, that is one day out of fourteen.

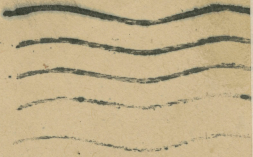

As there is no news, which would get by, I will close, with lots of love, for all,
 from your own son
 Richard.
