Dear Sir.

my pain to support such an immense family as mine - increasing every day by the unfortunate and progressive discredit of our paper, I'm in the necessity of selling two beautiful editions of the most curious kind, only remain of a very fine library I once possess'd. — I send you here an account of those two works and of the place where they are actually in Paris: if you know among the americans some body who cou'd desire to purchase them you'll oblige me sincerely. — it wou'd be sold the double in London for it is impossible to find the like, actually in Paris Eliza is in very good health, and I hope in a few months that she will be generally improv'd

Yours for life

G. C.
