Edinburgh June 20th 1807

My Dear Sir

I arrived safe here without any accident, and immediately sent your letter and packet to M^r. Trotter

I still flatter myself you will in the course of the summer endeavour to pay us a visit at Nooar, where you will meet with a cordial reception, and make me most happy. In the meantime I beg my affectionate compliments and best wishes to M^{rs}. Monroe and the young Ladies, and believe me to be with sincere attachment. My Dear friend

Yours very faithfully
Munro
