

Saint George Tucker Esq^r

care of
Col. Francis Williamsburg

Henry Burdette
May 20. 1795.

Richmond May 20th 95.

I intend'd writing to my beloved friend, immediately after my arrival here but have been too much indispos'd ever since. at present I have scarcely time to thank you for your Letter, which [to my great mortification] Mr. Thompson has lost.

Oh! how fortunate should I consider myself, if it were possible for me in any degree to alleviate your distress. believe me dear Sir, whatever misfortunes assail you, I must feel most acutely, even if there be no selfish motive for regret. my love to all the family yours with the warmest affections.

A. B. R.

Handwritten notes in cursive script, possibly including the words "Handwritten" and "Notes".

