Grateful indeed, am I, for my most dear friend's two last letters, they were, as usual, a cordial to me = Our beloved Jan could only spend one day here, as Mr. Coulter was in haste to reach Staunton - we were sadly disappointed, having fondly indulged the hope of detaining her some weeks = You have been unnecessarily alarmed on account of her health - I think no doubt, dear Sir, she will return to you perfectly well, in December = My dearest Mrs. Tucker will also regain her strength ere long - I trust =

My poor Judy's looks keep me with the heart ache continually - I think her health fully as delicate at present, as it was when she went to the Springs - she unites with me in every assurance of fond affection for you, Mrs. T. Henry, and Polly = God bless you! it is quite dark and Beverley leaves us in the morning - A. C. B.

B. B. Our love to Charles
