When my dear Friend last favored me with a line (March 29) M<sup>rs</sup>. Tucker was not well and I have been unable since to hear one word respecting her - I, however, trust she is well, and conclude she will ere long go to Warminster. We go on as usual - varying the scene only by company at home, or a visit to the city. M<sup>r</sup>. Le May's family will soon be with us - they are to bring us some good domestics from France - he, is proprietor of Chaumont castle, on the Loire, mentioned by M<sup>r</sup>. Kinloch in a letter to M<sup>rs</sup>. Nelson - his whole family staid here the three first months of my residence with M<sup>r</sup>. Morris. his wife was very kind to me - When last in New York we called on the French minister and his wife - having known that amiable couple when they were here in exile it delighted me to see them under circumstances so much more happy for them.

My husband writes with me in best wishes and regards for you and yours - our Darling grows in Grace and favor - he says it is impossible for me to spoil him because you wrote me not to do it. He is

Thank God! amiable and intelligent

I hope your amiable daughter M<sup>rs</sup>. Cabell pardoned the liberty I took in sending the greasy little Grouse - it was a trifling offering of gratitude for the kindness she shewed to a houseless, desolate wanderer - The distraction implicated long in my mind and memory has germementally injured them - but - not worn from my heart the traces of kindness shewn by any one -

Yours most gratefully and affectionately

Ann C. Morris
