Your very welcome lines, my dear Sir, arrived this morning, It was in March that I enclosed a letter for you to Carter Harrison — If Mr Le May pays this estate what he owes — we shall save this much loved beautiful spot which has caused so many falsehoods to be invented — $5,000 is the annual interest on D - M - O - I swindling my dearest husband said, when he detected the dishonesty of his ungrateful nephew, that we should have to live on very little if he recovered — It would indeed have been hard for him — but I was used to poverty — and very from my father's failure, to my happy marriage — very little is required by a child the age of my lovely amiable son — My friends servants offered to return but I could not take them this summer the Farm labor costs all I can muster — Mr. Morris's will shew that unbounded confidence in me which during his life alarmed the avarice of his relations — I glory in feeling myself worthy of it — M^r Kent justly observed he could not qualify as executor while my claims against the estate stood before the swindling debt — therefore having fondly loved the Husband not the property I gave up my claims except to this estate so that if M^r — he may fail I am left without a home — but, if he pays — Morrisania will be relieved from the mortgage to M^r — O — s creditors — History has never drawn so base a character as David M — Ogden — Even M^r — Rufus King has, I understand, yielded to evidence and pronounced him "a rascal"

I work so hard that my arms ache — we never pretend to have a Dinner table

With best love to your good wife and dear Polly I send you all three a kiss from my little Son —

Ever your grateful and affectionate

Ann C. Morris
