

July 28, 1820

My ever dear Friend

A life of constant drudgery alone prevents my writing to you the last throbs of my heart (except maternal tendernefs) will be gratitude and affection toward you and Mr. Tucker -

As you were induced by Watkins Leigh to think my husband's family could bear me down - I take the liberty to send you the enclosed - Their eyes are now open to the matchless baseness of David B. Ogden -

My pen will scarcely make a letter -

Present me cordially to your good wife and dear Polly
God bless you all -

Yrs with fond affection
A. C. M.

July 28 - 1820

Received of

[Faint, illegible handwriting, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page]

Francis Morris,
July 28th 1820.

Am^t Rec^d: 15⁰⁰

11

July 28 - 1820