My ever dear Friend Your kind favor was this moment brought me - it had been misssent to Norfolk - I rejoice that your wife has comfortable health - she deserves it - God Grant yours may be better - Your charming Poley would find "Pomset" Tea, very beneficial - This Herb is called by Botanists "Eupatorium per-foliatum (I am not certain that I spell it right) - never mind - you may get hold of it so - The Day Star never brought a hotter Sun than shines today -

Mede informed me that your N George was again deranged unfortunate and harshly being - may beaver mitigate his sufferings - My dear Sil - if you could take care of himself I should rejoice to follow his dear Father - but - the death bed charges always vibrate on my ear - "My love - exert yourself for our child's sake" - He is perfectly amiable and obedient - in trifles I give him liberty - but not in any thing of consequence — he never equiv-

:cated in his life —

As soon as I have a little leisure I want to write more My Child has been always taught to venerate you and yours — he remembers Polly very well — His likeness to his father is greater than ever since he shed his front Teeth — you no doubt remember Mr Morris's Mouth and teeth —

Present us tenderly to your good wife — dear Polly and her good husband —

Yours most gratefully and affectionately
Ann C. Morris
